SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN

New! New lines, new design, new comforts! If these phrases can still mean anything when applied to a motor car they most fully describe the new Chevrolet.

So often are yearly models introduced by such descriptions that they have automatically lost some force. That is, as ordinarily used.

In connection with Chevrolet, however, the phrases are filled with meaning. For the Chevrolet about to be revealed is new, actually new, in practically every feature.

It is hard to realize, in this age of rapid automotive development, that a great deal of improvement can be made in a car at one time. But Chevrolet engineers have apparently evolved a state of development hitherto considered impossible in the small, relatively inexpensive car.

The new Chevrolet at the least merits new consideration. By its startling improvements it will repay the curiosity of even the most casual. And for those interested in the small, light car, it may easily have a great deal to offer.

"I was Greatly Distressed With Pains in the Back"

Mr. Alfred McNeill, Chapel Rock, Alta., writes: "During the winter of 1920-21, I was greatly distressed with pains in my back and felt tired and depressed most of the time. Particularly during the night I was troubled with frequent urination, some nights having to rise almost every hour. I tried several different treatments without success, until finally I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they relieved my condition before I had finished the first box. I am feeling better this summer than I have for years, and although in my 67th year, can work all day without any undue fatigue."

The Heir to Beecham Park

CHAPTER XVII. "Thank you, Stuart," responded Sir Douglas, quietly. "I felt—I know you would answer me so." He paused a little, then went on slowly. "I leave England again at the end of the week on a search that has lasted my lifetime—hopeless, alas, in the years that are gone, but touched now with the blessedness of hope! Yes, thank Heaven, I have a clue!" Stuart looked in wonder at his cousin's face; it was illuminated with color and there was an unusual glow in the eyes. "I cannot bring myself to speak to you now, Stuart, on this subject; but, if I am successful, I will open my heart to you; if not, and anything should happen to me, this letter"—taking an envelope from an inner pocket—"will tell you all—will give you the secret of my life. Guard it well, and, if the time should come, swear to do what I have asked you to do."

WORKING GIRL'S EXPERIENCE

Read how She Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Amherst, Ontario.—"I must write and tell you my experience with your medicine. I was working at the factory for three years and became so run-down that I used to take weak spells and would be at home at least one day each week. I was treated by the doctors for anemia, but it didn't seem to do me any good. I was told to take a rest, but was unable to, and kept on getting worse. I was troubled mostly with my periods. I would sometimes pass three months, and when it came it would last around two weeks, and I would have such pains at times in my right side that I could hardly walk. I am only 19 years of age and weigh 115 pounds now, and before taking the Vegetable Compound I was only 105 pounds. I was sickly for two years and some of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I had taken a bottle of it I felt a change. My mother has been taking it for a different ailment and has found it very satisfactory. I am willing to tell friends about the medicine and to answer letters asking about it."—Miss HAZEL BERNETT, Box 700, Amherst, Ontario.

summer, he has told me many times, has tried him terribly, and your accident was a shock. "Yes, you are right," responded Stuart, gloomily, after a moment's pause. "I will stay here. And yet it is hard." Sir Douglas did not catch the last words. "I have always loved Sholto," he said, "and to rob him of you would be cruel. No, Stuart, your place is here." They moved on and approached the house; but before they entered, Sir Douglas stretched out his hand. "Heaven bless you, lad!" he said, tenderly. "We may never meet again. May you have all the happiness and sunshine in your life that a man such as you ought to expect! Remember your promise." "I have sworn, and I will keep it." They returned to the castle; and, soon after that, Sir Douglas Gerant left for London. His cousin's visit broke the spell of Stuart's morbid inactivity. The monotonous quiet of Hurstley seemed suddenly to appall him. He could no longer sit and nurse himself; he was restless, almost feverish in his movements. He went out early in the morning and did not return till the day was spent; and, though he tried to banish every memory of his brief dream from his mind Vane detected the nervous restlessness in his face. In her heart she rejoiced at these signs of awakening; they were but the forerunners of that proud, contemptuous mood which she had longed to see reveal itself. Life was dull at the castle; but, though she yawned and was inexpressibly bored, she did not intend to give way; and at last she had the satisfaction of feeling that success was hers when her aunt announced that Stuart wished the whole party to leave Crosbie and go to London. If he remained much longer at Hurstley, Stuart said to himself, the monotony and inactivity would drive him mad. So, to Vane's and his mother's delight, he proposed a fortnight's stay in town, a round of theatres, and such gaieties as a slack season offered, and then a return to the castle with a large party for the shooting.

"After taking Two Bottles my wife made rapid progress back to health." Carnol is one of the finest remedies ever discovered for use by the expectant mother. There is no time in a woman's life when it is so vitally necessary to safeguard her health, as at a most trying period, but she must consider also the health of the unborn child. Read what Carnol did for Mrs. Perry. "My wife, about two years ago, just before our baby was born, was suffering from anemia and indigestion. She could keep nothing on her stomach. We tried a great many so-called remedies, phosphates and even beef-tongue and wine tonics, but to no effect. One day I went into one of our local drug stores, Crawfords by name, and asked him to give me a reliable tonic for my wife. He handed me a bottle of Carnol, commending it highly, and told me to give it a fair trial. After taking two bottles my wife made rapid progress back to health. The colour came back to her cheeks and her appetite was completely restored. We find Carnol almost invaluable for our baby. It serves as a useful medicine, especially at teaching time, and we are never without a bottle in the house. It gives me a great deal of pleasure to recommend the merits of Carnol. As a body-builder, nerve restorer and a wonderful restorative in all run-down conditions, I don't think there is any medicine anywhere equal to Carnol."—Arthur J. Perry, 327-10th Street, Brandon, Manitoba.

the memory of Margery, and set his foot, as he thought, firmly on the grave of his love; he even thrust recollection from him; he laughed, roared, chatted with Vane, and gradually her influence made itself felt. If, in the night, visions of his love floated through his dreams, pride in the morning dispelled his weakness by recalling her falseness; and he turned to Vane as a woman whom, though he could never love, he could respect and trust. To the world his devotion had but one name, that of a tutor; and, heedless of people's tongues, heedless of Vane's triumphant eyes, Stuart went on his way, living for a time in a dream of reckless excitement that would soon pass and leave him plunged in as deep an abyss of despair as before. It was in one of these moments that Margery had seen him beneath the trees bending his handsome head to gaze into Vane's eyes. The action meant nothing to him—Vane was his cousin, his confidant, his friend. Had his gaze but wandered to the carriage drawn beside the rails, and rested on the sweet face, pallid and drawn by the agony of pain that had come to her, he would have forgotten his cousin's existence, and rushed with a madness of joy, a delirium of happiness, to Margery's side. But Margery was unseen; the couples paced by slowly, and the image of that face, that form with the right arm still hung in a sling, those eager eyes, was graven on her memory in characters the clearness of which tortured her, and the steadfastness of which nothing could remove.

CHAPTER XIX. "Man's love is like the restless waves, Ever at rise and fall; The only love a woman craves It must be all in all. Ask me no more if I regret— You need not care to know; 'A woman's heart does not forget— Bid me good-by, and go. You do not love me—no; Bid me good-by, and go. Good-by, good-by—'tis better so; Bid me good-by, and go.'" Margery moved dreamily; she opened her eyes. A flood of glorious sunshine filled the room. She felt strangely weak; her hands were almost numb, her head was heavy; she could do nothing but lie back and rest—rest, and listen to the sound of a rich voice singing, somewhat near, a plaintive, sighing song: "You do not love me—no; Bid me good-by, and go. Good-by, good-by—'tis better so; Bid me good-by, and go." Margery moved again. This time her eyes wandered round the room; it was strange to her. Where was she? What place was this? While a look of perplexity and pain was dawning on her pure, pale face, some one bent over her. "Miladi is better?" "Where am I?" asked Margery, faintly. "Miladi has been ill," replied the quiet, soothing voice—"very ill. She is by the sea now. Does not Miladi hear the waves?" A faint rippling sound was borne in on the silence, mingling with the song without. "The sea!" murmured Margery, vaguely. "Where? Am I dreaming?" "Miladi does not forget me? I am Pauline." (To be continued.)

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOLVING CROSS-WORD PUZZLES Start out by filling in the words of which you feel reasonably sure. These will give you a clue to other words crossing them. A letter belongs in each white space, words starting at the numbered squares and running either horizontally or vertically or both.

Household Notes. Try lemon and salt for removing mildew stains. A rack of paper towels is handy in the kitchen. Use a radiator brush to clean a coil spring bed. Try sautéed pears served with chocolate custard. A good mock Russian dressing is made by adding chili sauce or catsup to mayonnaise.

The Men and Dogs of the North. The story of the race for Nome made by the men and dogs with the diphtheria serum is one of vivid interest. Where all were so brave and showed such determination, it is hard to discriminate, but all reports are united in holding out the palm to Balto, the long-haired Siberian sled dog who, when his driver, snow-blind, had lost the trail, guided the team with its precious freight safely into Nome. Gunnar Kassen, the driver, says of his trip, and his brief words are a volume in themselves: "I couldn't see the trail. Many times I couldn't see my dogs, so blinding was the gale. I gave up and they turned back. Balto, my lead dog, his head and neck thrusting forward, never once faltered. It was Balto who led the way. The credit is his." Reports that Balto had died from frozen lungs, which came from Fairbanks, Alaska, have since been denied. He is named after a pioneer. Balto is a dog who has won a distinction all his own. In 1915 he was Kassen's leading dog in the Moose eweepstakes, which he won; he also was the leader in the team that carried Amundsen back to the Pole by airplane—he should have trusted to Balto, who adds sagacity to strength and intelligence. Balto is half-wolf and of that strain of Siberian dogs noted for their strength and power of endurance. Of this Siberian strain were a majority of the dogs who took part in this race from Nenana to Nome, a breed that is distinguished by a great lung power and a tenacity of purpose bred from long ago sires who either got their quarry or died in the chase. They know no turning back. These dogs of today are trained in the Nome derbies in which thousands of dollars are said to change hands. But apart from this the men know the dogs, and when the call for volunteers to go to Nome was sent out the men of the North were united in offering their assistance and were sure of the ability of certain dogs to win through. It was a big thing that was done in this race, because the men knew the dangers they were facing, the possibility of blizzards, the dangers that lurk in the North where cold and exhaustion take a sudden toll of life. Those who car-

Just Folks. By EDGAR GUEST. I sing the meals we have along. The pickings from a chicken feast. The stuff warmed over, beef or fish. The relics from our last week's feast. Forty-Seven Foot
Hair-Covered Animal and Whales Battle

The sea serpent being "out of season" a South African correspondent of the Daily provides details of a new sea monster hitherto unidentified by science.

H. C. Ballance, of Margate Estate, South Coast, Natal described to local newspapers a battle he witnessed between two whales and an animal resembling a Polar bear, but equalling an elephant in size, some 1,500 yards off shore. The animal "bucked out of the water fully twenty feet and struck repeatedly at the whales, but seemingly with no effect," says this observer. "After an hour the whales made off to sea and the incoming tide brought the monster within sight," says Mr. Ballance. "I say that the body was covered with hair eight inches long, exactly like a Polar bear's and snow white. Next morning I found the carcass lying high and dry on the beach and on measuring it found it was forty-seven feet from tip to tail.

"The tail was ten feet long and two feet wide and where the head should have been the creature had a sort of trunk five feet long, the end being like the snout of a pig. The back bone was very prominent and the whole body covered with snow-white hair."

Mr. Ballance seems to have allowed the body to remain on the beach for ten days, but he says: "On the eleventh day there was not a sign of the creature." He adds that he met some native fishermen "who told me they had seen the monster go out to sea, going up the coast," and that was the last heard of it.

South African waters are known to be the home of occasional visiting ground of strange monsters. A ten-tonned "octopus" was recently seen off the Natal coast.

WOMEN MEMBERS MAY SPEAK IN BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS WITH BARE OR COVERED HEADS.
LONDON, Feb. 12.—(Can. Press)—When Ellen Wilkinson, the titivating Socialist Miss, from Middlesbro East, who startled the House of Commons Tuesday night, by bursting in upon the solemn debate on the endowment of the Church of Scotland bill, arrayed in a diaphanous gown of a sea green hue, and with her auburn hair all shingled and shorn, rose in her place in the Commons yesterday to submit a question she was attired in a black gabardine frock, but without a hat. Col. L. V. K. Appin, of Enfield, evidently remembering Miss Wilkinson's impression upon the House last night, appealed to the Speaker and asked:

"Is this honorable member permitted to address the House bare headed in view of your ruling that ladies may address the House with their heads covered?"

"Look at the members opposite," interrupted a Labor member, "aren't they a lot of snobs?"

Mr. Speaker replied that Miss Wilkinson was quite in order and the member for Middlesbro East then put her question.

When Lady Astor first took her seat in the House of Commons she wore a toque, but other women elected later, preferred to attend the House without hats. However, it was considered likely that women would generally enter the House with their heads covered and the Speaker ruled that they might so address the chair.

Miss Wilkinson said yesterday that her green dress which caused such a sensation was made by herself at a cost of ten shillings. She had her auburn tresses shingled just one hour before the House assembled.

Giant Devil Fish
YORKSHIRE VISITOR PICKLED IN ALCOHOL.

A visitor with a strange history has just paid a flying visit to the London Zoological Society. She arrived in a leaden coffin filled with alcohol and was exhibited to the Fellows at their scientific meeting. She is a giant squid (cousin to the octopus, or devil-fish, and from her tail to the end of the longest tentacle she measures 7ft.

1½ in. The coast-guards near Withernsea, Yorkshire found her stranded on the beach after a N.W. gale. Her arrival was reported and she has now a permanent billet at the British Museum of Natural History. She is the only one of her species that has ever visited England.

Mr. Guy Robson, of the British Museum (Natural History), described her to the meeting as the largest of her kind on record. When found her body was a rich blackish purple, fading to a lighter tint on the sides and underneath. Under the head the color was a rich chestnut.

Her arms carried suckers, some as large as an inch in diameter. Small teeth within the suckers helped further to grip any slippery fish that might be seized. A second squid, rather smaller in size, came ashore on the same part of the coast, but was washed away before it could be landed.

Never garnish salads until after they have been dressed. Chicken a la king can be served in a ring of boiled rice. Freshly scoured cream gives soup an especially savory taste. Crisp slices of bacon make a good garnish for creamed eggs. A dish of hot cheese sauce will be appreciated with boiled rice. Frozen plum pudding is good served with hot fruit sauce. Creamed or candied sweet potatoes go well with fried ham.

House of Assembly Proceedings

MONDAY, Feb. 23rd.

The House opened at 3 p.m. and nearly all the afternoon was taken up by the members of the Opposition in debate on the Speech from the Throne. A slight amendment to the Loan Act was made and eight bills were given first reading.

After the Minutes were adopted, Mr. Scammell presented a petition from the residents of Grey Islands asking that the place be made a scheduled port of call for the Prospero during the summer. The petition was supported by Mr. E. Brown and also the Minister of Agriculture and Mines, Mr. W. J. Walsh. The latter said he was personally interested in the people of Grey Islands and had early in his career spent a couple of years there as a resident fisherman, consequently he knew of the many disadvantages which the fishermen there had to contend with so that he had much pleasure in endorsing and supporting the prayer of the petitioners. Capt. W. Winsor, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, likewise supported the petition. Several times last season he was requested to have a steamer call at the Grey Islands and he complied. He felt sure that the Government would not fail to have the place made a regular port of call this summer.

CAPT. WINSOR on behalf of the residents of Governorown, Bonavista Bay asked that a public wharf be erected there. The cost he thought would not exceed $500 including a shed in which luggage could be placed.

MAJOR P. CASHIN presented a petition from the people of Willess

Bay, asking for a breakwater, and also a public wharf. He asked that the Government Engineer be sent to inspect the condition of Lower Pond Gut. The petition was referred to the proper department.

A petition from the inhabitants of North River and Otterburg asking for a public wharf. "Passengers to this place had to land under extremely unpleasant conditions," said Hon. F. G. Bradley in presenting the petition.

MR. C. J. CAHILL asked leave to present the report of the Select Committee. Receipt was deferred till later.

SIR JOHN CROSBIE asked leave to introduce a bill to amend the Loan Act of last year by inserting after the words "the said loan shall be raised," the words by issue of bonds. With the unanimous consent of the house the bill was put through all its stages and ordered to be engrossed.

The Colonial Secretary tabled a report of the commission on logging conditions.

The Minister of Justice gave notice of a bill relating to fire arms.

The Prime Minister gave notice of bills relating to vehicles and speed on highways and construction and maintenance of highways.

The following bills were introduced and read a first time—

The Minister of Marine & Fisheries—Bill entitled "An Act respecting the Lobster Fishery."

The Minister of Marine & Fisheries—Bill, entitled "An Act to Amend Chapter 25 of the Consolidated Statutes (3rd Series) entitled "Of Light Dues."

Hon. the Minister of Justice—Bill, entitled "An Act to Amend 11 George V. Cap. 45, entitled "An Act to Incorporate the Women's Patriotic Trust Fund and for other Purposes."

Hon. the Minister of Justice—Bill, entitled "An Act Further to Amend the Act 61 Victoria Cap. 47, entitled "An Act relating to the Constitution of the Supreme Court, and the Acts in amendment thereof."

Hon. the Minister of Justice—Bill, entitled "An Act respecting Companies."

The Minister of Agriculture & Mines—Bill, entitled "An Act to Amend Chapter 124 of the Consolidated Statutes (3rd Series) entitled "Of the Operation of Saw Mills."

The Minister of Agriculture & Mines—Bill, entitled "An Act Further to Amend Chapter 129 of the Consolidated Statutes (3rd Series) entitled "Of Crown Lands, Timber, Mines and Minerals."

The Minister of Posts tabled replies to questions by Messrs. Scammell and Brown.

Owing to the absence of the Minister of Public Works replies to questions 3, 4 and 11 on order paper by Mr. Hallyard were deferred. Replies to questions 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 were furnished.

In reply to Mr. Hickman's request for a list of all convictions under the Prohibition Act and Alcoholic Liquor Act from 15th June 1924 to 15th February 1925. The fines imposed and the amounts collected and what portion of each fine went to the informer, the Minister of Justice stated it would take considerable time to collect all the information but for any particu-tar case he could furnish it at once.

The Prime Minister informed Mr. Hickman that his question No. 14 should be directed to the Minister of Finance. He tabled the correspondence in reference to the hotel as asked for by Mr. Hickman.

In reply to Mr. Ashbourne, the Minister of Justice said the appointment of a Magistrate for Twillingate was having the consideration of the Government.

The report of the Select Committee was received, after which debate on the Speech from the Throne was taken up.

MR. SCAMMELL expressed doubts that the House should be called upon to adopt the address in reply until they were informed of all the details of matters mentioned in the speech. He wished that tradition would be thrown to the winds and the address in Reply left left legislators to complete. He congratulated the mover and seconder on their excellent addresses and then referred to the address given by Mr. Warren.

He expressed himself in accord with the leader of the independent party in his reference to the West Coast disaster. The fund had not been subscribed to as it should be. He never- theless felt sure that Mr. Chambers had done all he could to build up the fund. In regard to the prosperous condition of the country, he believed it was a source of gratification to the Government but he thought the foundations of the prosperity were laid by the previous administration. He regretted that more reference was not made to the codfishery in the Speech as he believed that the surplus of men relieved from the Humber would not be absorbed by the industry this year. He thought that the Government of the day had nothing to be ashamed of in this matter. He urged that same form of bonus should be given to insure good cure of fish and he thought the Government would not be for wrong if they re-introduced the standardization rules. He thought the removal of duties from pork, beef, and kerosene oil was good in itself, and thought that the regulations in regard to the lobster fishery as far as they applied to St. Barbe, should not be enforced for another year. He urged that the regulations prohibiting the slaughter of deer should not apply to St. Barbe district. The bounty which the Government proposes to grant for the repair of vessels would be of material benefit to the fishermen. In regard to the abolition of the income tax he was in full accord except that he felt it should be made retroactive from December, 1924.

MR. GODDEN, (Oppos.) made a brief reference to the matter of employment at the Humber and then referred to the delegates visit to Canada. He thought it was a source of great gratification that the delegates had not committed themselves to any definite arrangement without first consulting parliament. It was, he said, quite welcome news that the duties were to be removed from pork, beef, kerosene oil, but he thought that in future due notice of removal of duties should be given importers. In the matter of relief of destitution, he did not think that the Government measures were adequate and he urged that something more might be done. The need of good roads was apparent to everyone and he hoped that the Government would put trustworthy men in charge of the proposed highway improvements. The proposal to incorporate municipalities, he thought was a wise one and would be productive of much good. The step taken by the Minister of Agriculture and Mines in consulting with the farmers in order to formulate an agricultural policy, was very commendable and he urged that the Minister would keep in touch with those whom he consulted. Mr. Godden paid a special tribute to Sir John Crosbie on his activities and energy as Minister of Justice and Customs. He noted with pleasure that his earnest effort to trace delinquents did not let personal feelings interfere with his duty.

MR. K. BROWN, (Opp.) referring to the prosperous outlook for the colony expressed the opinion that much of this was due to the Humber. He desired to know if the Newfoundlanders working there were being treated squarely and if they were being paid for their work at logging. He wondered why some five to eight hundred French Canadians were engaged at this work when so many of our own men were seeking employment. This country is to be or may be called upon to pay 5% interest on the N.M. guarantee and he thought that labor should be given to those who will have to pay the bill. He had been informed that Stadler did not think too highly of the Newfoundland workmen or at least he thought that they were not up to the scratch. He was also informed that the steamers to carry the paper would be operated from New York. He did not, however, blame the government in these matters. Commenting further on the unfairness to the Newfoundland workmen at the Humber, Mr. Brown said he knew of outsiders receiving 45 cents per hour for performing works similar to that for which the Newfoundland workman received 25 cents per hour.

HON. MR. SULLIVAN interrupted and asked the speaker to state a specific case so that it could be enquired into and remedied.

MR. BROWN said he could not then furnish the particulars, but he believed the matter to be as stated. In reference to Bell Island, the speaker congratulated the Government on the stand taken to bring the Besco officials to their senses and he urged that the export tax should be put on if they failed to come to satisfactory terms.

MR. DUFF congratulated the mover and seconder on their able addresses and also the Prime Minister and Minister of Marine & Fisheries, on their election in the recent Bonavista bye-election. In regard to the proposed redistribution legislation, he thought that the present representation should be reduced to 50 members. He likewise did not see eye with the government regarding the tourist traffic. He had noted that people had for years past been coming to the country but they seldom paid a second visit. He would like to see more attention paid to the encouragement of the fisheries. The removal of duties from pork, beef, and kerosene oil was good in itself, and thought that the regulations in regard to the lobster fishery as far as they applied to St. Barbe, should not be enforced for another year. He urged that the regulations prohibiting the slaughter of deer should not apply to St. Barbe district. He wondered why some five to eight hundred French Canadians were engaged at this work when so many of our own men were seeking employment. This country is to be or may be called upon to pay 5% interest on the N.M. guarantee and he thought that labor should be given to those who will have to pay the bill. He had been informed that Stadler did not think too highly of the Newfoundland workmen or at least he thought that they were not up to the scratch. He was also informed that the steamers to carry the paper would be operated from New York. He did not, however, blame the government in these matters. Commenting further on the unfairness to the Newfoundland workmen at the Humber, Mr. Brown said he knew of outsiders receiving 45 cents per hour for performing works similar to that for which the Newfoundland workman received 25 cents per hour.

HON. MR. SULLIVAN interrupted and asked the speaker to state a specific case so that it could be enquired into and remedied.

MR. BROWN said he could not then furnish the particulars, but he believed the matter to be as stated. In reference to Bell Island, the speaker congratulated the Government on the stand taken to bring the Besco officials to their senses and he urged that the export tax should be put on if they failed to come to satisfactory terms.

MR. DUFF congratulated the mover and seconder on their able addresses and also the Prime Minister and Minister of Marine & Fisheries, on their election in the recent Bonavista bye-election. In regard to the proposed redistribution legislation, he thought that the present representation should be reduced to 50 members. He likewise did not see eye with the government regarding the tourist traffic. He had noted that people had for years past been coming to the country but they seldom paid a second visit. He would like to see more attention paid to the encouragement of the fisheries. The removal of duties from pork, beef, and kerosene oil was good in itself, and thought that the regulations in regard to the lobster fishery as far as they applied to St. Barbe, should not be enforced for another year. He urged that the regulations prohibiting the slaughter of deer should not apply to St. Barbe district. The bounty which the Government proposes to grant for the repair of vessels would be of material benefit to the fishermen. In regard to the abolition of the income tax he was in full accord except that he felt it should be made retroactive from December, 1924.

MR. GODDEN, (Oppos.) made a brief reference to the matter of employment at the Humber and then referred to the delegates visit to Canada. He thought it was a source of great gratification that the delegates had not committed themselves to any definite arrangement without first consulting parliament. It was, he said, quite welcome news that the duties were to be removed from pork, beef, kerosene oil, but he thought that in future due notice of removal of duties should be given importers. In the matter of relief of destitution, he did not think that the Government measures were adequate and he urged that something more might be done. The need of good roads was apparent to everyone and he hoped that the Government would put trustworthy men in charge of the proposed highway improvements. The proposal to incorporate municipalities, he thought was a wise one and would be productive of much good. The step taken by the Minister of Agriculture and Mines in consulting with the farmers in order to formulate an agricultural policy, was very commendable and he urged that the Minister would keep in touch with those whom he consulted. Mr. Godden paid a special tribute to Sir John Crosbie on his activities and energy as Minister of Justice and Customs. He noted with pleasure that his earnest effort to trace delinquents did not let personal feelings interfere with his duty.

St. Paul's Cathedral

The announcement that Sir Christopher Wren's masterpiece, St. Paul's Cathedral, is in imminent danger of collapse, owing to structural weaknesses which have been discovered in the piers supporting the dome, has been received with apprehension not only in Great Britain but throughout the world.

At present a great controversy is going on as to what must be done in order to make it safe. Certain repairs were effected in 1915. At that time Mr. Alexander Drew, a consulting engineer, expressed the opinion that the work done was useless.

Individual architects, however, have reported to the contrary, and so firmly convinced is Mr. John Todd, the District Surveyor of the City Corporation of the precarious condition of the building that he has declared it a dangerous structure, and has ordered it to be closed to the public.

The Cathedral authorities seem disinclined to accept his views, and hold that by grouting the piers, that is, by forcing cement into them, so as to solidify the rubble which forms the cone of the piers, sufficient support will be given to the dome to insure its safety.

When first the condition of the piers was discovered, The Times made an appeal for funds in order to effect repairs. The estimated cost was £200,000. Within a fortnight it was subscribed. The undertaking insisted upon by the architects would cost approximately £2,000,000 and would take about twelve years to complete.

The Southern Shore train left Beauséjour on time, and was expected to reach town at 2.30 p.m. The east bound train left Port aux Basques sometime before noon hour. The express went out at 1 p.m. The Carbonar train arrived, 1.30 p.m.

A. Fraser, Secretary of the Board of Managers, on the needs of the C. of E. Orphanage, and by Hon. Dr. Mossell on the organization, achievements and aims of the Orphanaid Club. The following message from the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland was also broadcasted:—

"The Bishop of Newfoundland wishes to commend to the people of his Diocese the noble effort of the Orphanaid Club to erect and equip the first portion of the new Orphanage which is to be built in the grounds of Exon. This effort is worthy of the whole-hearted sympathy and support of all and especially of our own people. The members of the Club have raised a considerable amount of the money required and have undertaken to procure the balance as speedily as possible. Plans are being prepared, and it is hoped that the work of erection may be commenced in the coming spring. I earnestly trust that this praiseworthy effort, to provide more adequate accommodation for the fatherless children committed to our care may make a strong appeal to the Christian sentiment of the community, and that all who can do so will crave the privilege of having a share in bringing this charitable project to full fruition."

Christ Church, Quidi Vidi

Despite the unfavorable weather on Sunday evening, the little church at Quidi Vidi was well nigh filled with worshippers, and conspicuous amongst these were the S. S. children, all eager to hear His Lordship's words of advice and counsel. He preached an extempore sermon from Acts 24 verse 16: To have always a conscience void of offence toward God and toward man. His Lordship emphasized the fact of how important a good conscience was in the making of a good Christian. He mentioned several great characters in the Bible, such as David in the Old Testament; but more particularly St. Paul in the New Testament, men of extraordinary achievement, whose life's great work had been governed by a good conscience. His Lordship urged upon his hearers the great value of Church going and church work, while they had the opportunity, because no one had a guarantee of life, it was strewn with uncertainty. He cited an instance of a man whom he knew well some years ago, a very robust man who could do a day's work with any one. He always had the habit of putting off religious duties for a more convenient time. A little while ago his Lordship saw him stricken with paralysis, and even though that man wanted to go to church now he could not. His Lordship closed with an appeal to his hearers to make a right use of the opportunities which the church wisely offers to her people during the present Lenten season in order that they may well and truly examine their lives and so endeavour to create a conscience void of offence towards God and towards man. Immediately after the sermon his Lordship presented the Sunday School prizes in the following order:—

SUNDAY SCHOOL PRIZE LIST.

1st Class—1, Ada Martin; 2, Mildred Pynn; 3rd, Rita Horwood.

2nd Class—1, Mary G. Snow; 2, Hannah Horwood; 3, Margaret Morris.

3rd Class—1, Edward Cook; 2, Clifton Martin; 3, Maxwell Pynn.

4th Class—1, Arthur Amminson; 2, Douglas Cook; 3, Gerald Morris.

After the presentation his Lordship congratulated the winners and told them that prizes were not usually given for nothing, but that they must have worked hard in order to win them. To those who had not won prizes we wished to say do not be downhearted, strive harder in the coming year, be more regular in attendance and faithful in learning lessons and it will be your turn to win a prize next year.

We should like to take this opportunity of extending our sincere thanks to those kind friends who gave us books and donations of money for prizes namely: Mrs. Geo. H. Cook, Mrs. E. B. Lewis, Mrs. Geo. R. Cook, Ed. Willis and S. J. MacNeill. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for publication of same.

Social Evening

On Wednesday evening, Feb. 18th, at 27 Field Street, there was held what proved to be a very sociable and enjoyable evening for all who were privileged to be present as the guests of Miss Alice Wagg of the Fever Hospital. Fun and frolic in games and recitations was the order of the night until about midnight when all partook of a most bounteous spread provided by Miss Wagg and some of her lady friends. After supper some few hours were spent at games, etc., amongst which was a very amusing game called "The Queen of Sheba," in which every one taking part was knighted with cap and regalia to match, and as these were of different colours and shapes the effect was most pleasing. The "Belle of the night" was Miss Wagg, who wore a cap which was an emblem of her profession. Recitations were rendered by little Misses Phyllis England and Maggie Hudson, and these two little maidens added much to the amusement of the evening. Just before the party dispersed to their homes a hearty vote of thanks was proposed by H. F. Hudson, the chairman of the evening, and seconded by the genial Leonard M. Knight, in a way of his own added much to the merriment of the party, and the response to this was the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" when all present wished their hostess "good-night."

THE ETERNAL REDEAL.

"Every day is a fresh beginning. Every morn is the world made new."

Some weeks ago I sang the romance of the big city shop, speaking particularly of the air of good cheer and cordery that pervades the shop early in the morning when the force comes together again and exchanges greetings and reminiscences of the night before, while it arranges its coiffure and cheerfully greets that wise old bird, the early customer.

And as I wrote I fell to thinking: "But, of course, the big shop is a jolly place to be in early in the morning. Why shouldn't it be. What place isn't?"

Don't you love the morning? Not the very earliest morning, the time when your mind is painfully trying to get your body out of bed, but morning as it looks after you have gotten the sleep out of your eyes and are really ready to face the day.

Is there any pleasanter thing in life than a daintily laid breakfast table with the sun lying across it, and a coffee-urn dominating it, and a comely woman in crisp pink or blue morning dress presiding at the coffee-urn; and the heavenly smell of coffee reinforcing the pleasures of the eye, with the pleasures of the nose, and giving happy promise of the pleasures of the palate to come?

How cheerful even the prosaic business office can look in the early morning when you enter it full of hope and courage.

For morning is the time for courage.

The Tide of Power Rises.

The tide of new power seems to rise in our veins with the rising of the sun. The fears that overpowered us if we were foolish enough to think of our troubles in the middle of the night seem ridiculous now. We feel sure that the things we dreaded will not happen and that even if they do we shall be able to deal with them competently. With the passing of darkness hope has driven out fear, and courage has taken the place of apprehension. Praise God for mornings!

If He had so chosen we might have had no such things as sleep or the divisions of night and day. Life might have flowed on and on without any break. But aren't you glad it wasn't so? I am. I am glad that He chose to give His beloved sleep, not only because of the deliciousness of sleep, but because of the joy of waking up and having a brand new day to use.

Almost Anything Might Happen. A new day in which one can put behind one the disillusionments and sorrows of yesterday, a new day when almost anything wonderful might happen.

As Emily Dickinson puts it in a note of morning greeting to her beloved sister: "A fresh morning of life and its impregnable chances, and the dew for you."

Praise God for mornings, the eternal redeal in life.

"Every day is a fresh beginning. Every morn is the world made new; So in spite of old sorrow and older sinning And troubles forecasted and possible pain, Take heart with the day and begin again."

Last Night's Entertainments

B. I. S. DANCE

A successful dance was held at the B.I.S. club rooms last night, under the auspices of the Society's Ladies' Auxiliary. The attendance of dancers was very large, and an evening of pleasure was derived from the dance programme which followed, to the splendid strains of the Prince's Orchestra. A pancake supper was served by the ladies, and much amusement and laughter was provided over the hidden button and ring. The dance ended at an early hour this morning.

AT THE STAR HALL.

The card party, supper and dance, held at the Star Hall last night, under the auspices of the Star Ladies' Association, was largely attended and proved a complete success. The card tournament began at 8 o'clock, and was participated in by upwards of 80 players. The prize winners were Mrs. Colton and Miss Canning. Following the serving of supper, dancing was indulged in to the music supplied by the C.C.C. Orchestra, and an enjoyable evening was spent by the gathering. A feature of the programme was the Elimination Dance. Special prizes were awarded to T. Rowe and Miss Tilly.

GAIETY DANCE.

Upwards of 180 people attended the dance at the Gaiety Hall last night. The arrangements were carried out without a hitch, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all. The Mount Cashel Orchestra furnished the music for the first part of the programme, while the second part was supplied by the Arlie Marks Orchestra, which made its appearance in a city dance hall for the first time. The dance selections were played in a manner which pleased the entire assembly, who showed their appreciation by calling for repeated encores.

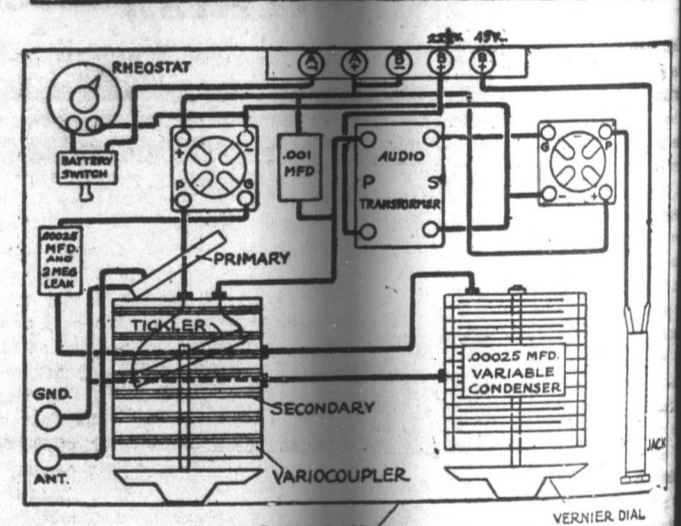

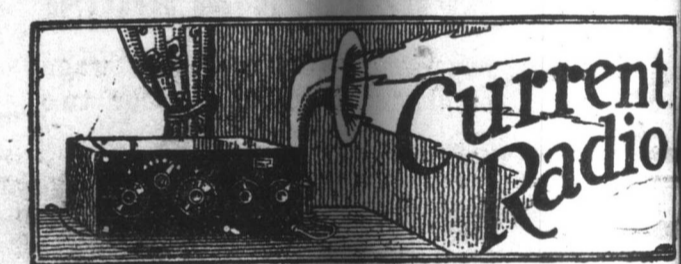

ST. JOSEPH'S CONCERT.

A delightful concert was held at St. Joseph's Hall last night to a capacity audience. Among those present were Rev. Fr. Pippy, the Parish Priest, and Rev. Father McGettigan. The programme opened with chorus singing by the pupils of St. Joseph's Convent, and was followed by solos by Misses Carrie Walsh, K. Conway, M. Doran, Messrs. Dillon, J. Canning, T. P. Halley; Duets, Misses Conway and Walsh and Mr. Canning and Miss Howlett; French Horn Solo, Mr. Darcy; Recitation, Miss R. Fitzgibbon. The entertainment was most enjoyable throughout.

Ham and potatoes are excellent baked in casserole with milk.

A great comfort in the kitchen is a stool of just the right height.

Cabbage is excellent creamed with celery and served on toast.

A Simple Three Circuit Receiver PART TWO

EDITED BY JOHN M. CLAYTON.

The apparatus should be screwed to the baseboard with round head brass machine screws. Number 6 screws one inch long will be right. The various parts should be mounted in the approximate positions shown in the picture-diagram above. The variable condenser can be mounted on four small brass angle brackets— $\frac{1}{2}$ inch by 1 inch—and also the battery switch and the terminal block. The set should be wired up exactly as shown. Note that the variable condenser should be connected to "ground" binding post. If this is done, very little trouble will be had with body capacity effect. A hole can be drilled in the frame of the jack and the jack screwed to the baseboard with one of the wood screws. Mounting holes will be provided in the "variocoupler," it merely being necessary to screw the coupler frame to the base.

It is important that the wires be run in as nearly the same manner as shown as is possible. In soldering the connections be sure that the soldering iron is held on the connections until the solder flows freely, otherwise the wires will not attach properly to the connections. Also be sure to use ONLY resin-core solder as any acid-core solder or acid paste will corrode the connections. After the set has been wired, and the batteries and antenna and ground connected to their binding posts, insert the two UV-301-A tubes in the sockets, push the battery switch of the "ON" position, turn the rheostat about half way around and

Produce and Provisions

(Trade Review).—The foreign markets continue weak in Italy and Greece in wheat, fish, where a slump in price has taken place in the past few weeks. Spain has not fairly well for good shore fish. Portugal is a few shillings higher than it was at New Year. There are 27,111 quintals of ours in this week, but the consumption is over 2,000 quintals less than last week, viz., 3,085 as against 5,085 quintals. The S.S. Julia has arrived there this week with her cargo of 26,970 quintals, but only 1,722 quintals of fish will be landed there. The rest is taken to Spain and up the Atlantic. The West India market is very good and has an upward tendency at Porto Rico and Barbados. Retail market is not quite so good as it was at the beginning of the year, but the few Newfoundland cargoes that have been sent there are being marketed at a fair margin of profit. Cheap fish from Scotland is what is doing the mischief to the possibility of getting better prices. Our exports to all markets since last issue totalled 25,965 quintals, as follows: by schr. Olive Moore, 2,480 qts. to Barbados from A. E. Hickman; by S.S. Silvia, 6,264 qts. to New York from various shippers mainly for transportation to the West Indies; by schr. General Smuts, 2,468 qts. from Geo. M. Barr and the Monroe Export Co. to Ponce, Porto Rico. The second bulletin of the Norwegian fishery returns so far that came in this week reverses the position of the first report and shows a shortage of 600,000 fish as compared with an excess of 600,000 the previous report. It is possible that there has been a mix-up in the figures. Here is this week's report:—

Lofoden	400,000
All others	2,000,000
TOTAL	2,400,000
1924
Lofoden	700,000
All others	2,300,000
TOTAL	3,000,000

This shows a shortage of 600,000 fish for 1925 so far. S.S. Digby took out this week 9,103 qts dried codfish to Liverpool from various shippers to different markets up the Mediterranean. The S.S. Rosalind also took to New York and Halifax 5,450 qts from various exporters to the West India market.

Common Cod Oil—There is no change in our local market. At this time of the year there is no cod oil moving and very little is being exported. Reports from New York state that there has been a very fair fall in the quotations worth while since January. A moderate amount of business is doing in Canada amongst the provinces in car lots. The home grown hays stocks in and around St. John's are now running low and the farmers are buying imported more extensively. Present prices will likely not decline until April. S.S. Digby brought in some 500 hales from Halifax last trip, but as the freight is higher on winter shipments of hay we hear that this will not be sold much under $36 per ton.

Oats—White oats are quoted this week at $4.25 per sack of four bushels in the local market and $4.40 to $4.50 for P.E.I. black, which are very scarce. The local trade is rather dull this week and owing to the higher freight rates very little stock is now being imported. It is generally believed amongst importers that prices will hold about present levels until the opening of navigation.

Improved Conditions of Newfoundland Railway
Figures published in the Evening Telegram of St. John's, Newfoundland, record a very welcome improvement in the affairs of the Newfoundland Government Railway. Around the contract under which this railway was originally built in the closing years of last century there centred some of the keenest controversy which Newfoundland has ever experienced. Though built for the Government, it was operated by a company at whose head was Sir (then Mr.) Robert Reid, a very powerful and able personality imbued with great projects for Newfoundland development, and it is worth remembering that in a memorandum written at the time Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, then Colonial Secretary, pointed out the risk that might occur through the contract passing into the hands of persons less capable and less interested in the development of the country. The whole history of the railroad it is unnecessary to trace here, but it may be said that, following the death of Sir Robert Reid and for a considerable period prior to the last year or two, the railway has been anything but a source of profit or pride to Newfoundland. Lacking the fruition of the great development and colonization plans which inspired its original projector, the railway's traffic was quite inadequate to the cost of maintenance and operation, which cost was enhanced by the difficulty of operation under winter conditions. In fact, it is hardly too much to say that the railway was regarded as an evil which, though necessary in itself, was unnecessarily costly and inefficient.—Canada.

Wedding Bells
PYNN-CARTER.
On Feb. 17th a very pretty wedding took place when Lella, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pynn, of Petty Harbor, was married to Mr. Roland Carter, of Westleyville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. S. Sayers at St. Andrew's Church, Petty Harbor. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, and was very prettily attired in a dress of fawn crepe de chine with hat and veil to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet of carnations, tulips and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Beryl Pynn, who looked pretty in a dress of fawn silk with hat to match. Mr. Percy W. Osmund, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony the happy couple proceeded to the home of the bride's parents where lunch was partaken of. Immediately afterwards the bridal party drove by sleigh to the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. James Sturge, this city, where supper was served to over thirty guests and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The bride received many valuable presents including gold pieces and cheques from the bride's parents. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Roland Carter may have a long and happy wedded life.

ONE WHO WAS THERE

Little Jack Rabbit
by David Cory

As soon as school was over Little Jack Rabbit tucked the envelope in which Professor Jim Crow had placed the bill for the broken pitcher in his pocket and started off for Mr. Buck's house in the Whispering Glen far from the homes of the hunter men. Clippety clip, lipperty lip, hopped the bunny boy, almost forgetting for the moment that he must go to Photographer Crane's studio to have his picture taken.

"I mustn't stay long," he said to himself on hearing the little house in which Mr. Buck lived. But, dear me! In answer to his knock Mrs. Doc said that Mr. Buck was not at home; only she and little Miss Fawn; but that they would be glad to have him make a call.

"Thank you, but I mustn't wait. Mother sent me to have my picture taken by Photographer Crane. Here's a letter from Professor Crow for Mr. Buck," and politely doffing his khaki cap, the little bunny hopped along with a whistle and a song and by and by, in not so very long, he reached the photographer bird's pretty studio.

"Hello," exclaimed the picture taker, as the bunny boy hopped in with his muffer tied under his chin. "haven't seen you for a month of Sundays. How's Mother?"

"She's as well as she can be. But wants a picture of little me."

answered the bunny boy in poetry. "Isn't it wonderful to hear a little rabbit speak in rhyme? Well, I guess yes, unless, of course, you've been to Rabbittland. Poetry there is in the air here and there and everywhere."

"Well, take off your coat and hat. Smooth your hair with the brush by the mirror. I'll get the camera ready, and away bustled the old picture bird on his long legs.

ready in a week. Shall I send them to Lady Love?"

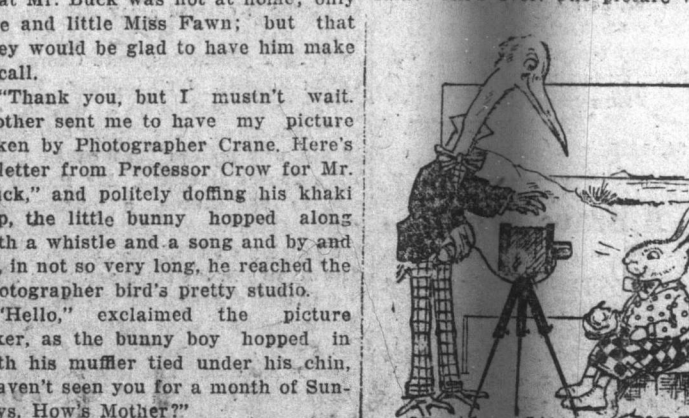

"Yes, of course," answered the bunny boy. "And be sure the pink inside color of my ears shows."

"I'll paint it in if it doesn't," answered the kind old Crane with a smile. "Give Mother my best regards. Come again, but never when it looks like rain."

"Goodbye," answered the happy Little bunny, and away he hopped into the next story.

Pork—the duty on pork was taken off this week which makes a difference of $3 per barrel in favor of the consumer. This comes at an opportune time on the eve of outfitting for the fishery Fat Back is now $32.25; Short Cut Clear, about the same; Ham Butt, $31.50; and Spare Ribs, $22.50. Stocks in the local market are low but importations will now likely flow in more freely under the new tariff.

Beef—Barreled beef was also included in the commodities of which the duty was taken off this week by the Minister of Finance. Straight duty was $1 per barrel and additional taxes brought it up to $2.50. This is the reduction that was made this week by the leading wholesale houses that import this commodity. Bos Flank is therefore $25.50; Extra Family, $22.00; Naval Beef, $24.25; Boneless Flanks, $18.50; and other qualities are reduced accordingly.

Herring—The total catch for the season, beginning in November, to date is about 37,200 brls., of which 12,400 barrels were Scotch Pack; 6,000 from Bay of Islands; 2,400 from Green Bay, 2,500 from Trinity Bay; and 1,800 from Placentia Bay. The rest were salt bulk 12,000, split 5,000, and frozen 1,200. The local price ruling were $11 to $12 per barrel for medium and large, $8 for mottle full and $5.50 for split. In a few cases $6 was paid for the latter.

Sugar—The sugar situation continues fairly firm and the demand is keeping the market free from any great weakness so that there is very little change either in refined or raw. A very large quantity, however, will shortly be coming on the U.S. market from Cuba, for sale, which will, no doubt, make a distinct difference in the situation. Buyers realize that the future is bound to bring some downward changes and are operating only

Suggestions Regarding the Dock

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—I have read several reports or comments on the unsafe condition of our Dry Dock and the need of repairs which, it is said, is estimated to cost in the neighborhood of about $4,000,000 to put it in good condition. The present Dock cost to build and equip $550,000. It is not too much to build a new one at a cost that will cost $4,000,000 to repair it. In view of this enormous expense and the congested condition of the western portion of our harbor regarding shipping, I would like to throw out a suggestion in reference to building a new Dock of stone or cement which I believe would not cost near the above amount. We have all the stone we need near at hand and very easy to obtain as the South Side hill is close by, and we need not put our present Dock out of commission for a whole year, which, it is said, will be the time required to repair it.

The late Commander Robinson when taking soundings above the Long Bridge discovered that we had 25 to 27 feet of real mud bottom, which would be very easily dredged out, and he suggested (if my memory serves me right) building the Dock above the Bridge so as to give all the waterway possible to the harbor, knowing full well that we would need it in the future. Our Government of that day, unable to see no further than their nose, and believing that our city would never make any advancement, insisted in having the Dock built where it is to-day, to the injury of our harbor. If I mistake not it was said that a Dock of the same dimensions as the present one could be built of stone for the said $550,000, which would have stood for all time, and would have cost very much less for its upkeep.

I have been told that the Halifax Dry Dock, which is much larger than ours and built of stone, costs less money and requires practically no repairs. Now if our Dock is going to be repaired, why not build it above the Bridge in the vicinity of the Gas Works? Built of stone or concrete, I think it could be very satisfactorily done and just as cheaply (provided it was put up tender), because on the Southside it would need only to be faced up with stone against the bank, and the north side could be faced up the same way, and the refuse or clay could be thrown on the bank. A Dock could be built on the same plans as the one we have at present, but somewhat larger.

Then again I believe a Dock could be constructed so that a ship could be lifted up with say three or four locks, and the said locks could be supplied from the ponds on the hill which could be tapped so as to fill the locks. In addition the Waterford river could be used for the raising of ships from sea level, thereby eliminating the need of power for pumping water out of the Dock as in the present case. The dumping that is now on the South Side road could be dug back and faced up with a stone or concrete wall which would give ample space for ships to pass up and down to the Dock entrance. The present machine shops could remain as they are at present, and the old Dock and coal sheds could be turned into whatever would be thought suitable. With the old Desola removed and a draw or swing bridge replacing the Long Bridge, ships could pass up and down to their destination. I hope that a more abler pen than mine will throw some light on the matter, as I am an amateur on construction work. Trusting I have not trespassed too much on your valuable space, I remain,

Yours sincerely,
ADVANCEMENT.

A Brave Act

On the roll of peace-time heroes let the name of Louis Pruitt, veteran engineer of Oklahoma, be emblazoned. A defective switch derailed the train which he was driving, and, true to the traditions of his calling, he "rode his engine down" when the plunger from the tracks, scalded by steam and with blood spurting from cuts and bruises caused by the wreckage, Pruitt's first thought was towards his company and of the possibilities of further loss of life. The wreckage of his train littered up the tracks and a hot express from St. Louis to San Francisco was due. Pruitt staggered forward, faint from loss of blood and from the pain of his burns, for three-quarters of a mile, when he flagged the oncoming express, and in all probability saved the lives of many of the 100 persons who were riding unheeding to possible danger in the coaches of the express. Then the veteran engineer collapsed and he is now lying in a hospital dangerously ill. Loyalty to his company, a power to think quickly and clearly in face of danger and indifference to his own sufferings qualify Mr. Pruitt, engineer, for a place on the roll of golden legends.—Montreal-Star.

Dramatic Moment Intensified in Great Play 'Monna Vanna'

AT THE MAJESTIC.

With the prayers and cries of suffering from thirty thousand starving people surging about her, Monna Vanna walked through the gates of the city of Pisa to sacrifice herself for the sake of her people. She was required to visit the tent of the Emperor, alone and clad only in a cloak and if she appeared at the proper time food and ammunition would be sent to the besieged city.

Vitelli, the hired mercenary in charge of the invading troops, had heard that Monna Vanna was the most beautiful woman in all Italy. When the senators of Pisa called upon him to treat for capitulation, he refused to consider any ransom except that Monna Vanna visit his tent alone.

Against the threats of her husband Monna Vanna heeded the pleading of the populace and volunteered to make the sacrifice to save the city. She knew little of the Florentine general except that he was a mercenary hired by their traditional enemy. Some said he was young and handsome while others said he was a cruel old man and a barbarian in every respect.

Then followed the meeting of Monna Vanna and Vitelli in the Florentine camp and this interview is one of the most dramatic scenes ever presented on the stage or screen. Maurice Maeterlinck's drama after a successful stage career has been presented on the screen by William Fox and is now being shown at the Majestic theatre.

Last night the large audience at the Majestic declared the feature the best ever shown in this city and the orchestra effects which added greatly to the production. To enable those who cannot attend the afternoon and evening performances a special matinee will be given this afternoon.

Arлие Marks Co. in Artistic Production

A DELIGHTFUL PERFORMANCE OF GEO. M. COHAN'S MASTERPIECE.

The Arlie Marks Players were greeted by a bumper house at the Casino last night, when they presented for the first time in Newfoundland, the original play "45 Minutes From Broadway" with musical trimmings. The setting is a revelation to the eye, having the imprint of artistry and directorial skill. Nothing is overdone—everything is so real that the spectator is carried away and can almost imagine he is witnessing the New York production, with George M. Cohan himself, for Lindsay Perrin certainly appears to be a double of that gentleman. The writer can easily see why he has been called Canada's George M. Cohan. Mr. Perrin is seen as Kid Burns, a quick-action prize fighter whose natural instinct for keeping on the level makes him firm friends in the story and wins him the hearty approval of the audience. The part might have been written for Mr. Perrin, so completely does he make it his own. The love interest is delightfully woven in by Miss Arlie Marks, who, as Mary Jane Jenkins is seen in a most lovable role. The perfectly natural way in which Miss Marks plays her role has made for her a legion of admirers and her work in this bill is excellent. Miss Agnes Stutz as the kensip was a scream. Not only is Miss Stutz a clever character woman, but a splendid comedienne. Paul Brady and Ray Wasmund were seen to excellent advantage as David Blake and Tom Bennett, the millionaire. Jas Daley was "true to life" as Ben Biglow, the Sheriff. Mickey Kane was exceptionally good as The Reporter. Merrill Scott as the mother played her part well. W. L. Phillips plays a splendid character, that of Andrew Grey, the Butler. The remainder of the company were right at home in their individual roles and the whole performance went with a delightful swing.

The vaudeville was all changed and the numbers rendered were vigorously applauded. Billy Phillips got a wonderful reception in his musical monologue. Mickey Kane and Jas. Daley were also accorded a big ovation. Peppy Logan and Susie Mc-

Have You Seen "Chu Chin Chow"?

THE WONDERFUL FILM NOW AT THE NICKEL.

Our old friends of childhood days, All Baba and the forty thieves furnish the basis for "Chu Chin Chow" the gigantic film now at the Nickel.

The story is one of the most colorful and romantic of the Arabian Nights tales and the screen version is adapted from the play of the same title which enjoyed a long run as a huge spectacle in the larger cities of the United States and England. It concerns a beautiful Arabian girl, stolen by the leader of the thieves on her wedding day, sold to a wealthy miser in Bagdad and who finally outwits the robber band, killing the leader after she has disposed of the forty thieves she found hidden in jars.

There are quite a few big sets, one of an Arabian village with its quaint domed buildings, one of the interior of the money lender's palace and a big scene in the market place of the city in which a large mob of extras is employed.

Scientists Will Seek Giant Squid

Set Sail To View Terrors And Wonders of Sargasso Sea.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Equipped with submarine windows, a species of "cow-catcher", glass-bottomed boats, and a complete scientific laboratory, the converted pleasure yacht Arcturus sails to-day with a party of scientists bound for the Sargasso Sea—a mysterious ocean "jungle" midway between Cuba and Africa.

In this sea, which is formed by slowly revolving waters that drag in rare vegetation, fantastic sea monsters and the hulks of dead ships, lives the giant squid, about which little is known, except that it fights whales and occasionally drags small vessels down to destruction.

It is this squid, the most dreadful of nightmares of the deep, in which Dr. William H. Beebe, who heads the expedition, is particularly interested. He will seek to bring back a specimen.

Dr. Beebe, and his companions on the cruise, also hope to capture the self-illuminating fish prevalent in the Sargasso Sea. Some of these fish resemble a whole set of traffic signals, with red, green, and yellow lights on their bodies and heads.

The Unkindest Cut of All

London Morning Post: When Parliament approved the principle of the best-sugar subsidy, it did so under the impression that a new British industry was to be promoted. But that impression seems to be quite ill-founded.

The idea which possesses the official mind is that if a British industry is to be established, it must be by the employment of Dutch capital and machinery. A group of Dutch capitalists, which is already controlling two existing beet factories, is erecting a third one at Ely, and is projecting two others in other parts of England. The lure of the bounty of 19s. 6d. a ton accounts for this enterprise, the effect of which will be to transfer not to British but to Dutch pockets large sums extracted from the taxpayers of this country. . . . What makes sugar complaisance to foreign interests the more discouraging, is that it should have occurred under a Conservative Government, specially concerned to safeguard British industry. It is the sort of thing that might have been done by a Labor Government, of stupidity; or by a Liberal Government out of sheer doctrinaire conservatism.

Making Friends and Keeping Them.

There's little satisfaction in coaxing customers in one day with the bait of some "scheme" or deal, only to lose them to-morrow, when someone else does the same thing. That's not the kind of customers that make for permanent success of the grocer.

If we have Babbitt's Borax right one day and "almost as good" the next—sold it on a "drive" one day and at the "regular price" the next—there wouldn't be any "regular price"—or quality either.
