TWO FIRES ON SUNDAY MORNING

Barn of Elias Ramey Destroyed, House Damaged and Store of Wm. Howse Threatened

The barn, with all its contents but live stock, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Sunday morning and his residence in close proximity was seriously damaged by fire, the house gutted and his furniture completely destroyed by fire, water and handling. The loss would run up to about six thousand dollars, Mr. Ramey believes, while the insurance carried only totalled $7,500.

Mr. Ramey put his horses in the stables as usual early in the evening and returned from his place of business about midnight and retired. Everything was evidently all right at that time.

About 4.30 in the morning he was awakened by the noise of a horse tramping around the house and on getting up was surprised to see the barn just at the rear bursting into flames fanned by a South West wind. This breeze carried sparks on to the roof of the house and the back part of the building had also caught fire. He hastily aroused his wife and the children, two of whom as well as his wife and himself, slept in the front of the house. The others were sleeping in the back rooms. He hastily got them out, and none too soon. Then he rushed into the stable, brought out the other horse and two pigs. It was then impossible to save anything in the way of implements, and attention was devoted to saving furniture in the house.

The fire department arrived promptly but the flames were spreading rapidly. The barn was doomed, but fire in the house was gotten under control, but not before furniture was destroyed, as stated above.

Had the wind been a few points more to the South there is no doubt that the house would have caught much sooner and very possibly a terrible tragedy ensued where the greater number of the children were sleeping.

The cause of the fire is at present unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Ramey and family have the sympathy of the community in their heavy loss.

After the firemen had the fire in Mr. Ramey's house completely under control a second alarm was heard, this time from the store of Wm. Howse. Here the fire started in some sawdust banking in the rear of the store and burned up into a beam above which however was concrete wall. It is thought by some that sparks from the first fire were carried and lodged setting the second. Mr. Howse does not entertain that opinion.

He had no insurance on the property and his escape from serious loss was a narrow one. It is thought that some person must have entered Mr. Ramey's barn during the night and carelessly thrown a match or cigarette but around when it finally caught the blaze. Another fire took place a short time ago under somewhat similar circumstances and these occurrences suggest the wisdom of keeping barns locked at night.

FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR REV. H. P. AND MRS. PATTERSON

Rev. H. P. and Mrs. Patterson received a very agreeable surprise on Friday evening, June 30th, when the ladies and gentlemen of the Methodist Church and friends of the Baptist and Anglican denominations gave them a farewell reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Amberman.

After some time spent in conversation and music Mrs. Williams, on behalf of the ladies of the Methodist Woman's Auxiliary and of the congregation, presented Mrs. Patterson with a purse of money. The young ladies of the "Volens" Mission Circle, of which Mrs. Patterson has been such a faithful leader, presented her with a life membership in the Circle, and a folding sewing table. Mrs. Patterson expressed her great appreciation of both these presentations and of the kindness which prompted the giving of them.

The gentlemen presented Mr. Patterson with a sum of money, the equivalent of a silk umbrella. Mr. Patterson thanked the gentlemen for their kindness and went on to speak of the pleasant four years which he and Mrs. Patterson have spent in Granville Ferry.

Refreshments, ice cream and waters were then served.

This pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again".

All regret having to part with Rev. and Mrs. Patterson who have fitted so nicely into the life of the village, and have taken so great an interest in all that pertains to the welfare of the village. ## DROWNING AT LAWRENCETOWN

Ben Prince, Popular Young Man Meets His Death. W. Phinney Has Narrow Escape

Benjamin Prince, a popular and highly esteemed young man of Lawrencetown, lost his life by drowning on Friday morning last and his companion, Willoughby Phinney, son of Dr. W. S. Phinney, had a narrow escape from death at the same time.

Both young men had spent a portion of the morning canoeing on the big power plant pond and engaging in the dangerous but exciting sport of running the chute or fall over which the river, swollen by heavy rains, discharged its floods over the dam. At first they tried this in turn and made a number of trips without accident of any kind. On the last and fatal trip they got into the canoe together and glided down the fall. Whether from extra weight or from some other cause yet to be explained, the canoe, on making the plunge, swerved and both young men were hurled into the boiling torrent when separated they struggled for life in the torrent more than half blinded by spray and foam. Both were strong swimmers but they were in a most perilous situation and were whirled around swiftly by the eddy which drew them in toward the back of the fall. Phinney, it appears, finally, after striking rocks in the course of his being buffeted about in the torrent, secured a foothold on a rock and nearly dazed, finally succeeded in reaching the shore. Prince was not noticed, during his struggle, to throw up a hand and at once sunk and was seen no more. As he was a strong swimmer his death is thought to have been due to effects of striking a rock or else to a weakness of the heart. The men both at intervals disappeared under water and came in the course of some moments again to the surface, the whole sad tragedy occupying but very few minutes.

Since that, and until the time of writing, constant effort has been made to locate and secure the body of Mr. Prince. Efforts have been secured from Bay Shore ports and the river dragged for a long distance down. The canoe was later found at Paradise. A reward of one hundred dollars had been offered by E. L. Stevens for the recovery of the body, and the matter of securing the services of a diver had been taken under consideration. About three o'clock on Monday afternoon eager searchers who had been indefatigable in their efforts located the body nearly half a mile below the scene of the accident and lodged up against the bank of the river by the current. A small portion of the young man's shirt showing gave first indication of the presence of his body.

The untimely death of this popular young man at the early age of twenty-two has cast a gloom over the community where he was so highly esteemed. He was an honor graduate of Mt. Allison University this year, a winner of the Yale Scholarship, and had expected to carry on his studies at that University this autumn. An overseas man with splendid record, he enlisted with the R.C.R. at Halifax and served with them in France. He was highly popular in social and athletic circles, prominent as a hockey and football player and his sudden passing is deeply regretted.

He leaves a mother, one sister, Alleen, one brother, Gordon, at Lawrencetown, and another, Wilfrid, at Kentville in the United Fruit Company's office to mourn their loss.

Accordingly, at a meeting of the Aberdeen Hospital Medical staff, Dr. John W. Mackay moved, and Dr. H. Kennedy seconded the following resolution:

Resolved that we, the undersigned doctors, hereby pledge ourselves not to write more than twenty prescriptions for alcoholic liquors in one month.

Further resolved that we request the Inspector in Chief to notify the local vendors to this effect.

ODDFELLOWS DECORATE GRAVES OF DEPARTED BRETHREN

Not only during the life of its members does Oddfellowship abound in deeds of thoughtful kindness but the dead are not forgotten.

One day each year is set apart for the purpose of decorating the graves of members who have left the ranks and joined the immortals.

On Sunday last some eighty Oddfellows and Rebekahs met at the Lodge room laden with beautiful flowers in wreaths, bouquets, crests, links and crosses, and marched to Riverside cemetery where some sixteen brothers and sisters lie buried. After opening with prayer and singing, the members formed in a circle around each grave where a hymn was sung and an appropriate quotation was read by one of those present.

Death has taken a heavy toll from our membership during the past year. Five have been buried in this cemetery since last decoration day.

The ceremony passed off very successfully. The attendance was large and the supply of flowers greater than in any previous year. Our thanks are due to many who donated flowers and to brother and sister Peters and sister Hayward and others who made up several beautiful floral emblems.

Bro. A. G. Walker conducted the march in his usual efficient manner.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the decorating committee of which brother R. J. Messenger was chairman, and to all who contributed floral offerings.

LOCALS DEFEAT THE IMPEROYALS

Bridgetown Nine Wins Easily by a Score of 7 to 1. The Game Was a Pitcher's Contest

The Bridgetown baseball team had a rather easy time of it on Saturday afternoon with the Imperoyals, winning handsily with a score of seven to one and an inning to spare. While the score did not perhaps represent accurately the respective merits of the teams as a whole, it did illustrate the merits of the pitchers. Malcolm pitched a splendid game throughout and while striking out fourteen men allowed only five hits. Toat struck out three men and was severely battered by the local players all of whom did some safe hitting and some of whom sweated in terrific style.

Both teams gave excellent support to their batteries and only one error was scored against each. Grimshaw's batting was an outstanding feature of the game, while his work at second is always so glib edged that it is always taken as a matter of course, the same as Austen's behind the plate. The game was a good clean one and enjoyed by the fans. About thirty accompanied the players from Dartmouth among them being a number of the Imperoyal officials. In the evening the boys enjoyed a dance at the Court House. The Dartmouth players and friends motored home Sunday.

FIRST ENGLISH SETTLERS HERE

Graphic Account From Pen of Dr. M. E. Armstrong Concerning Their Arrival

Below is given an interesting account from the pen of Dr. M. E. Armstrong concerning the first English settlers at and about Bridgetown, with many details concerning their arrival and the way in which they made for themselves homes in the Valley.

Following the expulsion of the Acadians in 1755 came the siege and capture of Louisburg, Cape Breton, in 1758. In this successful expedition, 160 vessels, engaged in the project in one way or another, and together sailed out of Halifax harbor on Sunday, May 28th, 1758, and after two months' siege, Louisburg was captured.

The following year, 1759, on Sept. 18th, the fortress at Quebec was captured by the British forces and the fall of this stronghold of France was a turning-point in the history of the whole Continent. It is interesting to note that the news of the capture of Quebec was eleven days reaching Nova Scotia on that occasion a marked contrast to the rapidity of news travelling in our times. These two important events had a very important bearing on the attitude of both the Indians and refugee Acadians left in this country and they very soon abandoned all hope of our province becoming a French colony again, and assumed a friendly attitude ever hereafter, and there were no more surprises and tragedies such as had marked the previous forty years.

Lieut.-Col. Chas. Lawrence, Governor of the Province, at once took steps to bring English settlers into the Province to occupy the lands vacated by the Acadians.

It was the intention of the British Government to settle these vacant farms with disbanded soldiers but Gov. Lawrence persuaded the authorities differently, contending that soldiers were not farmers or planters and could not make farmers for a long time, and he favored getting New England settlers. Moreover the New Englanders had been here in vessels or as soldiers at the capture of Port Royal, and at the deportation of the Acadians, and had carried word back to their kin and neighbors of the beauties as compared with the rough and untillable New England hills as a farming country, so that many from there were only waiting for a chance to come here to better their condition, as soon as they could be assured that they would be protected from outrages by Indians and enemies.

The offer made to them was a free grant of one hundred acres of our lands to a master or mistress of a family, and fifty acres to every man, woman, or child, white or black, of which such master or mistress household might consist at the time of coming.

Needless to say that many of our progenitors claimed a dozen or even more of these fifty acres additions for their good sized families and it looks from the genealogical lists as if it were only those with large families that were drawn this way by this offer of fifty acres extra for each child. Further, they were to be free from taxes for ten years and after that they were to pay one shilling a year for each fifty acres they owned.

Full religious liberty was guaranteed to all Protestants; Lutherans, Quakers and Calvinists, dissenting from the Church of England were to have full liberty of conscience and erect meeting houses for worship as they choose, and elect ministers and administer sacrament according to their conscience and custom. Townships of 100,000 acres were to be formed and as soon as a township had fifty families they were to have representatives in the Provincial Legislature which was first formed in 1758.

Under these favorable terms part of this county, and both ends of the Valley received a goodly number of immigrants from 1760 to 1764. They came from Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, by vessels and landed at Annapolis and at Cornwallis and Horton and extended their settlements inward from both ends of the Valley.

The eastern group reached well out to Berwick and those in this county reaching as far east as Bridgetown. They drey lots for their first grants

Then She Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES" And Has Been Well Ever Since

MADAM SLOAT

PERTE JUNCTION, N.B., Jan. 22nd, 1920

"For many years, I was a great sufferer from Indigestion, Constipation and Rheumatism. My Stomach was weak and gave me constant distress, while Rheumatism in my joints made me almost a cripple. I was treated by two different doctors but their medicine did me no good.

Then I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and at once that fruit medicine helped me. Soon the Constipation and Indigestion were relieved and the Rheumatism began to go away, and in a few months entirely disappeared. For twelve years now, my health has been first class, and I attribute it to the use of "Fruit-a-tives" which I take regularly.

of lands and some that were not well suited exchanged or sold out and moved to new grants where they were better suited.

As the vessels in which they came were small they could not bring any great quantity of household effects with them, even if they possessed them. A few brought calves, pigs and cattle and a few horses. However as the woods here sheltered lots of French cattle and horses that were turned at large there was all the stock the first settlers could take care of to be had, for the catching right on their lots or near at hand.

The great majority of our Valley people are descendants of these early New England settlers who came here from 1760 to 1764. Sometimes called Free-loyalists or early planters to distinguish them from the loyalists who came twenty years afterward. They were altogether from the farming classes and no doubt in most cases were from the poor people who could pick up and move on without much sacrifice.

New England or Massachusetts was not a farming country, as a whole, and much of it, is even yet untilled and will never be much different from lots of our lands between Annapolis and Liverpool. These people had struggled along under these conditions for a hundred years or more and were ready to move on to more fertile areas and "green hills far away", such as Nova Scotia at that time was offering on such easy liberal terms.

The first to arrive were settled along the river on both the Annapolis and Granville sides, but the lots where Bridgetown now stands did not appear sufficiently attractive to any of the first to take them up. On the south side of the river the Rices, Beriah, Asaph, Timothy, Stephen, and Judah were granted everything reaching from a little east of Carleton Corner to Bloody Creek and probably further. The first Longleys were next east and beyond that the Morses were given nearly everything on the south side of the river from Carleton Corner to Paradise Lane.

On the north side lots 129, 130 and 131 which reached from the home of Mr. G. O. Thies to the Baptist Church were granted to Capt. Robt. Geo. Bruce and Frederic Rudolph Bruce, the former was Chief Engineer of the Annapolis garrison, the latter probably his son. They held 1500 acres; to the westward of them was Solomon Farnsworth, while next to the east was Capt. Elias Weir, who lived on the James DeWitt place and further east on the Pratt hill side the first Hicks, John by name, was given 1000 acres. Now, east of the Hicks lots came Christopher Prince who extended beyond the Ruffee hill and called his place thus early Mount Pleasant. Beyond Mt. Pleasant farm came the large grant of Lieut. Henry Munro's. Henry Munro was a native of Scotland and was a Lieutenant of the 77th Highland regiment which came to Annapolis to assist at the siege of Quebec. His regiment was later disbanded and he came to Nova Scotia, being retired on half pay. He at first leased from Capt. Bruce the 1500 acres that was granted to Bruce, and a few months later was granted 2000 acres to the east of the town and resided where W. B. Price now lives about the centre of his large grant. He named his place "Brae Moor". His lots extended to the Bent road, the township line and beyond that were unsurveyed new lands that were later to become the township of Wilmot.

Capt. Bruce's farm in the centre of Bridgetown was called "Henley". We therefore have, reading from east to west, "Brae Moor", "Mount Pleasant" and "Henley", three pretty names that deserve perpetuation in some manner, in honor of these pioneers.

It was quite the custom in those early days to give a name to a farm or home.

John Hicks seems to have been lacking in sentiment of this kind and the fact that he was a devout Quaker, a native of Rhode Island may account for his placé being nameless; the Quakers not believing in setting too much in terrestrial things. Anyway he did not remain very long on this side of the river for in 1775 he bought from the Rices all the property from the Morse Road that goes to Dalhousie, to the Walker brook on the west and reaching from the river five miles back on to the south mountain.

At this time there was no bridge across the river and we can well imagine the farms here of no particular interest or attraction above any other part of Granville.

Capt. Bruce leased his big place in the fall of 1763 to Lieut. Henry Munro, he evidently finding it difficult to farm and be Chief Engineer at Annapolis.

He must have been quite fortunate in gathering in Acadian stock, if not other stuff, for while he had only had the place one season he was able to turn over to the lessee, two horses, thirty-one head of cattle, and five hogs, hens, turkeys and geese, nearly forty tons of hay, a elder mill, a cheese press, and large quantities of oats, barley, rye, turnips, potatoes, onions and cabbage, and an abundance of farm machinery such as those early days afforded. Lieut. Munro was to pay forty pounds a year, rental for this completely equipped "farm at Henley" and at the end of seven years was to return to Capt. Bruce the amount of stock and the bushels of grain and vegetables and the barrels of cider he had received at the beginning.

Lieut. Henry Munro, of Scotland; John Hicks, Quaker of Rhode Island, and Christopher Prince, described as merchant of Boston, were then neighbors, and were men of distinction and probably as different in type and customs as any could be, yet these contracts made them mutual friends and we would not have selected a better combination of elements for the foundation of a new settlement. The grit and bravery of a Scot, the daring and venture of a Boston trader, and the piety and honesty of a humble Quaker. Each of them was elected as members or representatives of the Provincial assembly and went to Halifax to represent the township of Granville in those early parliaments when, I do not think members received any pay for their services, or if any, it was very little. Henry Munro being member from 1765 to 1768. John Hicks 1768 to 1770 and Christopher Prince from 1772-80. Those were important parliaments; for the new settlements which began to spring up in the older counties had needs in the way of roads, bridges, schools, etc., beside the plans for further development of the Province. They were the true path finders and trail makers of those pioneer days and we scarcely appreciate their painstaking efforts and self-denial and hard ships to do these public duties, that the times and conditions of our Province demanded. Let us honor the names and perpetuate memories of these first representatives of old Granville!

Col. Munro died quite suddenly in 1781 and was buried on his own lot near by his residence. He had married after coming here, Sarah Hooper, a daughter of one of the New England settlers on the south side of the river. He left, besides his widow, five children, John, Robert Pointenfield, David Davidson, Elizabeth, wife, Wm. Ruffee, and Sarah, wife of James Hendricks.

All or about all the Munros of this county are descendants of this Scotch pioneer who played an important part in this vicinity from 1763 to his early and sudden death in 1781. His estate was administered on by his wife and was of considerable value. He seems to have possessed more than the usual amount of personal property, as his wearing apparel alone was appraised at twenty-five pounds, his furniture at twenty-nine pounds and three desks at seven pounds, a silver tankard and a complete set of silver knives, forks, spoons, great and small, all in a chest, all helped to swell the value of his estate and if his descendants only had them to-day they would no doubt be many times more valuable. His widow married again in 1783. George Newton, but the second husband turned out bad and the former appointed an administrator of her husband's estate found it necessary, for her children's sake, to ask the court to appoint some one else to look after the Munro estate as George Newton had turned out to be a very profligate and abandoned character and great waste and destruction was likely to happen to the Munro property. John Harris, Benj. Lea, Samuel Willett, John Bath and Samuel Chesley, all of Granville, were accordingly appointed administrators for the estate in place of Sarah, and thus saved the estate for the children and from their wayward stepfather. Christopher Prince had formerly been a merchant in Boston, and I think, came down here first as a trader with a vessel and eventually settled here. That he was a successful farmer is shown by a return in 1767, when he was living at Mount Pleasant and had twenty-five cows, six oxen; twenty-three young cattle, four horses and twenty-seven sheep.

FIRST SUCCESSFUL ENGLISH SETTLERS

His first wife was a Foster no doubt related to the Granville Fosters and it may have been her connections here that helped to locate this important pioneer in this country. Until his death about 1800 he was prominent in many lines and held many important positions of a public nature. Like John Hicks he moved across the river near his former neighbors, purchasing the farm now owned by B. Dargie, in 1777, while John Hicks lived where F. H. Fowler now resides.

Price later sold to the FitzRandolphs while he moved to Lawrence town where he died about 1800. John Hicks had been a man of some prominence in Rhode Island before coming here and had been appointed a Justice of Peace in that colony. He continued a faithful member of the Society of Quakers until his death in April, 1790. His Will is framed in the reverential phrases characteristic of Quaker "wills". His neighbors, the FitzRandolphs, and others, were of the same faith and the homes of these two families for a half century or more continued to be a meeting place for this Sect, that gradually died out or were absorbed by other denominations fifty years and more ago.

The Rices were an industrious and honorable and hardy race—one of them later went to Digby County and Brierley Island is named for Beriah Rice, an early settler at Bloody Creek. In a Rice genealogy written some years ago, the ancestors of this family are spoken of as distinguished for two things—large families and, honesty.

It was said in the early New England churches that a man could not qualify for a deacon unless he was like Jacob, the father of ten or more sons. The early Rices nearly all qualified for deacons; and they were reported honest enough to never want to get more than "two hams out of a hog or 'porker'".

The Rice homestead at Bloody Creek have now been in continuous possession of this name for more than 160 years—not a very common occurrence in our restless age.

The section on the south side of the river was known as Hicks Ferry, while the settlement along the north side in early days was spoken of as Henley in some old documents.

Interesting notes could be written of most of these early grantees and first settlers, but as it will carry one too far afield it will be necessary to stick quite close at present to Bridgetown.

Christopher Prince sold his Mt. Pleasant farm to Peter Pineo Jr., an early settler of Cornwallis, in the spring of 1777, for 470 pounds, when he moved over the river along side of his former neighbor, John Hicks, and for some years thereafter Peter Pineo was the most prominent and outstanding character here.

He is described by the Church Missionary as "friendly and obliging although esteemed vain and conceited and self important, these shades in his character were without any mixture of ill-nature insolence or severity." As he had gone out to meet the parson and his family of six and invited them all to come and stay at his dwelling we can see his hospitality is to be commended even in our day.

Pineo continued at the Ruffe place for several years and then sold to Joshua Temple de St. Croix, a Loyalist from New York for 1200 pounds, he then bought the "farm of Henley" where Bruce had been the first owner. Capt. Bruce had sold it to Hon. Hugh Wallace of New York and Wallace sold it to Peter Pineo. Pineo at this time lived in the so-called "Clay" house that stood near the river where the residence of H. C. Morse now stands. Mr. Pineo carried on quite a general real estate business, buying and selling places throughout the county, he was also a merchant, a lumberman, shipbuilder and a Justice of Peace, a leading man of the county. In 1789 he built a vessel at Clarke's Ferry (Upper Granville) and in this brig he sailed away to the West Indies in 1790, with a cargo of lumber,

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn.—"I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

he going as supercargo, as he had invested much of his capital in the enterprise, both vessel and cargo. Neither the ship or Peter Pineo was ever heard of afterward. His farm on which the centre portion of the town is now built had been mortgaged to John Pills for 500 pounds more, and two years later the mortgage was foreclosed and the place bought by Pills for 520 pounds more.

John Pills' daughter, Charlotte, was married to Capt. John Crosskill and the place here, including three lots of 500 acres each, was given to Mrs. Crosskill, by her father about 1796.

There were in the township of Granville between Victoria Beach and Paradise about 400 families in all, and Rev. Mr. Bailey a pioneer missionary at Annapolis Royal speaking of their religious sentiment says it would be impossible for a place to be more divided.

About half of the 400 families are Church of England although subdivided into Deists, Socinians, Methodist and Unitarians. The other half are made up of Lutherans, Calvinists, Presbyterians, Swedenborgians, Congregationalists, Anabaptists, Quakers, Every-thing-arians, Mystics and Newlights.

We can thus see that our first English settlers were a religious people. That they used their Bibles we may judge from the many biblical names given their children but as they did not seem to discriminate between good and evil characters in selecting names, as well informed in Bible history as we have been sufficient for them to know the name was in the GOOD BOOK.

The patriarchs, judges, prophets, major and minor were all represented, Jacob and his many hard named sons, Athaliah; the daughter of Ahab, Shadrach, Abednego and even the dirty but sacred Jordan could be found in one family in Granville; Zerrubal or even Ichabod were also used to round up names in a family of a dozen or more of these first families of the new settlers.

It is interesting to the curious, of us, to know what was the general opinion of these early relatives of Bridgetown.

ours, who came here to seek their fortunes at this time.

These opinions are often based on difference and must not be taken too seriously by the serious or pessimistic, and if taken at their face value, we can claim great improvement in the century and more since that time. The early Church Missionaries reported that they were often "ignorant indolent erratic, carried away by a religious like zeal and misled by delusions."

A commissioner sent here from England in 1788 to take evidence among the Loyalists as to their losses, said of these early settlers that "they were mostly the scum of Connecticut brought here to enjoy the highly cultivated lands of the French."

Even Bishop, Charles Inglis, writing in his Journal in 1788, after visiting Nietaux and inspecting the iron furnaces erected there, says he visited about fifteen families of the early settlers there and found them "like the other first settlers indolent and different farmers". Rev. Jacob Bailey visited some of them near Annapolis and found them "mostly husbandmen and laborers living in miserable habitations built of sods, where men, women and children, pigs, fowls, fleas, mosquitos, bugs and other insects mingle in Society and where the "Missionary is constrained to enter, eat, and often to sleep or to neglect his duty".

The Rev. John Wiswell found in Wilmot that "they were generally very poor, living mostly in huts having none of the conveniences and few of the necessities of life and being so long habituated to what may be called a savage life, that it is very difficult to civilize them."

No doubt many of them were very poor and with their large families it took them many years to obtain a fair start, as our best lands would not yield more than a bare livelihood for many years. In spite of these drawbacks and seeming vicissitudes, in our more vigorous climate they soon overcame their laziness and indolence and their clearings echoed with industry and labor and the sons of even the first generations showed metal and push in almost every department of art and science and industry, that was quite the equal of any country.

Rev. Chas. Tupper was a son of these early planters and while supplying a circuit that covered half a county he taught himself nine different languages and was able to write in his journal that he had read the Bible through in the whole nine languages. Chipmans, Morses, Whitmans, Longleys, Saunders, Borden, Eatons and many others show that pluck and energy and genius and wisdom was born and grew in many of these humble first English homes, here, and replaced very soon any apparent indolence and indifference that was more apparent than real in the necessary poverty of the first settlers for the first twenty years of their life in the burndowns and early clearings of the Valley. Getting something for nothing may have spoiled them at first but they soon recovered and like bees went heroically to work.

The first records show that most of the New England settlers were able to write which is quite wonderful considering the few schools or educational advantages of even New England at that date. It is almost impossible for us to realize the simplicity of these ancestors lives compared with ours to-day with our electricity, our wireless telegraphy, gasoline and thousands of inventions they never dreamed of. They made fires without matches, they knew of no better light for darkness than a tallow candle. It took news, now flashed across the ocean in an instant, from six weeks to three months to reach them, they were without post offices or postage stamps or mails. Yet in spite of the absence of hundreds of conveniences we now possess from wire nails to automobiles they were richly endowed with honor, courage, hospitality and energy, and other virtues that were bound to tell on their children in this "land of Cannan" to which they had come.

Mrs. John Hayden and Mrs. Joseph Anthony went to Boston for a short visit on Saturday.

"THE QUEEN OF THE BASIN"

May I, as correspondent to your valuable paper, on this, my initial appearance, be permitted to express my ideas on the place of your paper in pressdom and on our position as a locality and on our position as a correspondent? First, then, there is such a wonderful and glorious opportunity for bringing our natural beauty and resources to the notice of the eager and responsive public in this county, province and abroad, that one almost trembles at the enormous responsibility a paper that deals only in local chat and chitney is, worthy to be classified as a social directory or catalogue, and suffers a premature death. While, if it takes a vital interest in making known local needs, aspirations and ambitions, in exposing needless waste and exploitations regardless of political criticism, will obtain and maintain a healthy and robust growth, striking its roots deep in the hearts of the only public worth-while, i. e. the thinkers. This latter, I believe, to be the object of this paper.

Secondly—The natural beauty of this locality, "The Queen of the Basin." The gem of beautiful spots in the unrivalled "Basin Bungalowland," needs to have its charms brought to the attention of nature lovers and of those seeking restful repose and life giving recreation under sunny skies, amid whispering summer zephyrs—where gorgeous sunsets over distant hills and shimmering wavelets, safely lead the mind to happiest thoughts and highest heights. We naturally desire that others should enjoy all these delights and through the medium of his public it can be largely accomplished.

Thirdly—Your correspondent is a busy man, but never too busy to do anything for the benefit of another, or for the good of the country and especially for the "Queen of the Basin," but no one man can do all—so he hereby requests each citizen of Clementsport and vicinity if they have anything for the good of the community to send same to him, and to assist him in making the Bulletin the voice of Clementsport, so much so that the paper will be such to absent friends instead of letters so far as matters of general interest is concerned.

Watch the Bungalows rise in the Queen of the Basin. Notice the increase of happy faces—listen to the growing volume of laughter of happy families thronging to our cosy retreats, as each season comes—and feel as you draw your chair this winter before your glowing grate, "Well I did my part to bring others to Clementsport last summer"—Now is the time.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for this space.

A. W. L. SMITH, Correspondent.

The bungalows are filled and many summer visitors are boarding or staying with their friends. We cannot in this issue give anything like a complete list of the visitors here, but among them—

Mrs. Fred Lane, from Bath, Maine, is visiting Mrs. Fred Morse.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw and family are in their bungalow where they will spend the summer.

The tourist traffic is now in full swing. The big bus from "The Pines" went through here for the first time on Saturday.

Mr. Fred Jones has let his new bungalow to Mr. Warren D. Chase, barrister of Plantville, Conn., who is here with Mrs. Chase.

Mrs. S. T. Porter and daughter Lily, are home from Boston—glad to get away from the heat and enjoy the cool breezes of the Basin.

Mrs. R. E. McNinch who with her baby is visiting her mother-in-law at the parsonage, has just returned from a short visit to Granville.

Mrs. MacDonald, of Halifax; Miss S. MacDonald, of Toronto, and Alfred MacDonald and a friend are at their bungalow at the Hill Crest.

The Misses Wards, of the teaching staff of the Halifax Ladies' College, are spending their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward.

Mrs. (Dr.) Clark S. Gould and son, Mr. Joseph Gould, of the staff of the New York Herald, have taken rooms with Mrs. Jas. Dittmars for the summer.

Mr. L. V. Shaw's "Chapel" has been taken as last year by the Rev. Canon Morris of Middleton. At present Mr. Andrew Morris and bride of Toronto are spending their honeymoon here.

Mr. H. Deam and family, of Halifax, are in their summer home—a beautifully situated bungalow on a gentle elevation in the rear of Mr. Chas. Stronach, commanding an extensive view of the basin.

At "The Rest", The Misses Fitch, of St. John, are again with us, ever welcome, being here for several years it is a regular home coming. Miss Hanford, of St. John, is here for the first time and is delighted with our natural beauty.

Mr. O. H. Ford, who is operating at Round Lake, is shipping the lumber through Clementsport by motor truck and teams. At present the truck is making two and three trips a day to Annapolis Royal to load the schooner, O. H. Longmire. The cut will be in the vicinity of a million ft.

Mr. Avarad Beeler and Dr. Armstrong have been spending every minute they can get from their work in busy Bridgetown to come to beautiful Clementsport, and they are true advocates of the "Queen of the Basin". The Covert brothers are also in love with their new bungalow which is situated near to Rev. I. D. Lytle's house.

Councillor Elias Rawding is in receipt of a telegram announcing the sad news that his nephew, Mr. Frank Rawding, of Calais, Maine, was killed there July 7th, in an automobile accident. Funeral on Sunday or Monday. No further particulars have been received. Mr. Frank Rawding, was son of Capt. Fletcher Rawding, a young man of thirty years and 2nd mate of a steamer sailing out of New York. Sincere sympathy is extended to the relatives.

Mr. Forbes Tupper, who for seven years has been with H. Hicks, has severed his connections with the business. Mr. Tupper will be greatly missed in the store. His genial manner and thoughtful treatment of every one made him a general favorite. Mr. Tupper felt the confinement in his doors was detrimental to his health and decided to try the open air. We are glad to know that Clementsport is to be his home still, and that we may have the advantages of his public spirited advice and ever ready help. Our best wishes go with him in his future work whatsoever it may be.

The Rev. C. A. Munroe, minister of the Methodist Church here, has left for his new charge. During his four years association with the people here he has proved himself a thoroughly public spirited man, alive to the physical, social and mental welfare of his flock as well as to their spiritual. He will be greatly missed and the best wishes of all go with him and Mrs. Munroe in their new field of labor. We take this opportunity to welcome his successor, the Rev. Mr. McIntosh, who was lately inducted at Annapolis Royal, and to assure him a cordial reception in Clementsport and to wish him every success.

The school meeting which was held the last Monday in June was one of the best attended for years, and yet there should have been twice as many there. It is the bounden duty of every citizen who really loves and values his children and child life to see to it that he is present at the annual school meeting. The work was expeditiously done. The unfortunate method of having to do the financial work of 1921 in 1922 which pertains in most sections is a serious drawback, and we trust the time will come when it can be remedied. Mr. Fred Jones retired as trustee, Mr. Forbes Tupper was elected. The Secretary, Mr. S. T. Porter, presented his report which was a good one and unanimously adopted. Letters of appreciation of the excellent work done were sent to the two teachers, Miss McFadden and Miss Ruggles, who are leaving this year. The school house is to be painted and other repairs made.

BAXTER'S SLATE

Sydney—President Baxter is at last receiving nominations for the U.M.W. district election which takes place August 15th. Harbor local was the first to endorse the Baxter slate which reads: For President, Robert Baxter; Vice-President, Alonzo Hall, Stellarton; Secy.-Treasurer, W. P. Delaney; Glace Bay; International Board Member, Silby Barrett; Tellers, Joseph Moss, Andy Hogan. Mechanics local has created something of a surprise by endorsing the MacLachlan new pastorate at Truro. A large slate which is opposing President Baxter.

JUNIORS DEFEAT ANAPOLIS 9 TO 1

Bridgetown Junior baseball team had a week of varying record. At Halifax they were beaten 7 to 0 by Bridgewater team. The South Shore High School boys have a wonderful pitcher in Pamester but the showing of the local boys according to advices was due to insufficient practice, some overconfidence. The result while not satisfactory was no doubt more or less salutary. Some of the boys made the same mistakes that older players make. That is only a detail which may be overcome. On Friday they had an easy victory in a seven to one score over Annapolis. Roberts struck out six men; W. B. Ritchie four. Hits off Ritchie eight; off Roberts seven. Ritchie pitched good ball was unfortunate in pinches. The visitors had quite an error list while the local boys gave their pitcher excellent support. McPherson got a two bagger for Annapolis and was the only member of the team to score. Line up as follows: Bridgetown—Hoyt (c), Todd (2 b), Troop (c.t.), Longmire (s.s.), Fay (1 b), Gatti (r.f.), Little (3 b), McLaughlin (l.f.), Roberts (p). Annapolis—Wier (2 b), McPherson (s.s.), McClafferty (1 b), Durling (l.f.), H. Miller (c.), Rippey (r.f.), Wilson (3 b.), W. L. Ritchie (c.t.), W. B. Ritchie (p).

OBITUARY

Atherton E. Marshall died at his home in Clarence on the 4th day of July at six o'clock in the morning and was buried in the Riverside cemetery the following Thursday. The funeral was under the direction of J. H. Hicks & Sons.

Rev. Clyde Robbins, Rev. J. H. Freestone and Rev. Dr. Jost conducted a service at the house, while the members of the I.O.O.F. read their beautiful ritual at the grave. The floral tributes were beautiful and choice.

The late Mr. Marshall was born November 18th, 1867, and lived his fifty-three years upon the homestead. His gentleness of disposition, uprightness in dealings, and honor ableness in the respect of the community. In fullness of strength and in the middle of his years he was stricken. That one so strong and vigorous was falling came as a great surprise to everybody, and every effort was made to discover the secret malady that was preying upon him.

It was thought that an operation at the Peter Brigham Hospital, Boston, might save him, but all was of no avail, and he sank swiftly to his death. He leaves to mourn their loss, a wife, Cora, daughter, of Mr. Israel F. Longley, of Granville; a father, Mr. Newcomb Marshall, of Clarence; one sister, Mrs. John Wilkerson, Burlington, Ont., and five brothers, Melbourne C., of Stoughton, Mass.; Elbridge G., of Dundas, Ont.; Frank E., on the homestead; Dr. Albourne N., of Ottawa, Ont., and Havelock B., of Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Corbett, Mr. Hallett McLaughlin, of Bridgetown, and Mrs. Corbett's father, Mr. Forrest Bishop, of Kentville, returned on Wednesday last from a motor trip to Antigonish. Mr. and Mrs. Corbett's daughter, Miss Gladys, who is principal of St. Ninian's St. School in the Cathedral town, returned with them and is spending the vacation at her home.

Dartmouth Citizen Says He Suffered From Indigestion But Was Finally Restored by Tanlac.

"In telling how Tanlac helped me I feel I am only doing my public duty," declared Peter Nielson, highly respected citizen of Dartmouth, N. S. "For nearly fifteen years I was troubled with indigestion. My food would form gas that caused me sharp pains across my chest and almost out of my breath. My kidneys also were out of order. I had a pain in the small of my back and if I stooped over I could hardly straighten up again. "Of late years my chief trouble was rheumatism. Sometimes I could not use my arms and shoulders. Then it seemed to settle in my legs. I got so bad I could not walk to business. "Finally I decided to try Tanlac and to-day I am a well man. My rheumatism is gone and I am able to walk back and forth to work. My indigestion has been overcome and I feel just fine. I think Tanlac is a wonderful medicine." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON FORESTRY

(By Canadian Forestry Association.) Q. Can you give me some information as to how many trees are distributed to the prairie farmers each year from the Dominion Government Nursery Station at Indian Head, Sask? A. The average number of applicants for young trees from the Indian Head Station of the Dominion Government is 8,000 and from three to five million seedlings and clippings are sent out annually to prairie farmers. The average number per applicant was about 500 last year. Q. Is there any service open to the ordinary citizen by which he can promote forest conservation? A. By all the means the Foremost service that the ordinary citizen can do for the forests of Canada is to prevent forest fires. As compared with our annual forest fire damage any conceivable governmental effort at restoration by tree planting appears trivial. For example, one forest fire this year started by a cigarette carelessly thrown away destroyed twenty-five million feet of pine in one district. We are destroying our forests at least four times as fast as Nature at best can restore them and if we include forest fire damage we are probably killing off our forests each year ten or fifteen times faster than the natural regrowth. As a matter of saving our industries and retaining our forest inheritance, the business of forest fire prevention out-ranks every other public concern. How do the forest resources of Canada compare with those of other parts of the British Empire? A. Canada is the only part of the British Empire containing a really large stock of coniferous timber. This classification refers to such woods as pine, spruce, fir, hemlock, etc., of the cone-bearing trees—Australia and New Zealand and South Africa are wood-importing countries. The British Isles themselves contain a smaller proportion of timber growing land than any other part of Europe except Portugal. The pine, spruce and fir forests of this Dominion, therefore, represent the only reliable source of commercial timber within the Empire.

OVERWORKED NERVES

The Most Successful Treatment is Through the Blood. The early stages of nervous debility are noted by restlessness and irritability in which the victims seem to be oppressed by their nerves. As the trouble advances, common symptoms are a tired feeling; weakness in the knees and ankles; headaches, backaches and sleeplessness. The matter requires immediate attention, for nothing but suitable treatment will prevent a complete breakdown. The nervous system governs the whole body, controlling heart, lungs, digestion and brain, so that it is not surprising that nervous disturbances cause acute distress. For troubles of this kind Dr. Williams' Pink Pills succeed when other treatment fails, for these pills make new blood, enriched with the elements on which the nerves thrive, and in this way reach the root of the trouble. In proof of this is the statement of Mrs. Dockertill, Stratford, Ont., who says: "My daughter, Matilda, was suffering from nervous debility, and the usual remedies did not seem to help her. I was advised by a friend to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and soon we found they were doing her a great deal of good. She complained of pains in the stomach, and a severe fluttering of the heart, with a general weakness. Under the use of these pills she continued to gain, and I believe they have saved her from going into a decline." You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ANNUAL MEETING UNITED FRUIT COS.

Success Reported in Every Branch of the Companies Operations.
Faith in Future Industry

The tenth annual meeting of the United Fruit Companies of Nova Scotia was held at Kentville Tuesday. Delegates were present from all of the forty-nine subsidiary companies making up the United Companies. Altogether there were about 300 in attendance. President F. W. Bishop was in the chair, and beside him was the Vice-President, Ernest Johnson. Unusual interest seemed to be manifested in the early reports, as nearly every branch of operation proved very successful. Better results may have been expected as regards the marketing of potatoes and in placing of fruit in the Western Provinces. The large potato crop here and elsewhere affected the farmers, and high freight rates made it difficult to compete with Ontario and British Columbia in the Prairie Provinces. The United Companies now number forty-nine, there being an unusual increase in new companies during the year. Seven co-operative companies applied for and were granted stock, becoming members of the shareholding concern.

President Bishop gave his annual report reviewing the year's business. His successes and shortcomings. Where conditions were adverse he drew particular attention to the more satisfactory business conducted in Great Britain with the firm of J. and H. Goodwin, Manchester, and the placing through that port of over twenty-five per cent. of all apples exported. He reminded the apple growers present that the Annapolis Valley was without doubt the most desirable apple district in Canada, and the acquiring of large orchard areas by foreign capital and speculators is an index to that fact and should increase the faith of all fruit growers in the future of the industry.

N. A. Osborne, of Waterville, called attention to the pre-cooling of fruit as mentioned in the President's report, and he spoke of this new operation for use at Waterville when the fruit season opened in August. General Manager A. E. McMahon said the companies had no responsibility financially for the pre-cooling station to be considered. Two-thirds of the cost was being paid by the Federal Government. He considered that cold storage was a necessity of the fruit crop and must be established right in the Valley where the warehouses were. The pre-cooling experiment would no doubt do much in helping to market the softer fruit.

General Manager McMahon presented his annual report. He dealt with market conditions, shipments made, transportation, etc. As regards the latter, he stated that he Furness Why Company had during the last year provided the best transportation that the companies had ever enjoyed during any season since incorporation. The company exported the large quantity of 527,397 barrels, nearly half of the apples exported and over one-quarter of all fruit grown. Better packing had been maintained and only six per cent. of all fruit exported was reported as stinks. The United Fruit Companies' brand is now well established on the export market and is in good demand.

Professor Blair was called upon to give his report on fruit conditions as he found them while in England attending the Imperial Fruit Show, and he most satisfactorily dealt with the following six subjects:—

- 1.—Whether Nova Scotian apples as at present packed are likely, in the future, to return profitable prices to the growers.
- 2.—The possible effect of the English apple grower as a competitor with our growers in the British markets.
- 3.—Whether any of the English varieties of apples, particularly those of more recent introduction, are likely to be of value for planting in Nova Scotia in order to meet the English competition.
- 4.—Whether more attention should be given to the box apple trade.
- 5.—Whether improvement in methods of marketing and distribution may be brought about.
- 6.—Whether additional information likely be secured above what we now have.

Professor Blair gave a further report on the Imperial Apple Show held in London, England, October 28th to November 4th, 1921. There was a very important and practical value to all. The reports on motion were adopted, coupled with a vote of thanks to Professor Blair. The reports were quite fully discussed and much information gained for the members.

President Bishop, as the Halifax representative, submitted his report. He referred to some of the difficulties met in unloading cars and loading ships, but on the whole matters were improving there and transportation companies were co-operating as far as possible.

Reports were also presented by S. S. Seifridge, representative sent out to the Western Provinces; Inspector Rumsey, Inspector Westcott on potatoes, and R. N. Clark, representative who annually visits Havana, looking after the potato shipments. Capt. J. W. Salter was able to report a very good year in the business of the canning factory and cider plant. All these reports were received after discussion.

The election of officers following and all were re-elected. There was only one nomination for President, but an election was held for Vice-President, the two nominated being Mr. E. H. Johnson and Mr. Frank Foster. The result was as follows:
President—F. W. Bishop.
Vice-President—E. H. Johnson.
Secy.—Treas.—K. L. Pineo.
Auditors—Messrs. Oxley and Johnson.

The directors appointed for the different companies were the following:

Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets.
