THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

The Sun is the source of light and heat to our system. Its true diameter is upwards of 887,000 miles, its bulk is 1,384,000 greater than the Earth, and 700 times greater than that of all the planets and satellites together. It revolves on its axis in about 25 days 7 hours and 48 minutes.

Mercury is the nearest planet to the Sun, being about 36,890,000 miles from it. It performs its revolution round the Sun in 87 days 23 hours, which is the length of its year. The diameter of Mercury is about 2,950 miles; its bulk 1-16th of the Earth.

Venus.—Distance from the Sun 68,000,000 miles; the length of its year is 224 days 16 hours; the rotation on its axis is 23 hours 21 minutes. Its diameter is about 7,800 miles; its bulk is about 8-10ths that of the Earth.

The Earth is also one of the planets that revolve about the Sun. Its mean distance is about 95,000,000 miles, and its diameter about 7,912 miles.

Mars.—Distance from the Sun 145,205,000 miles; the length of its year is 686 days 23½ hours; its true diameter is about 4,500 miles, which is rather more than half the diameter of the Earth.

The Asteroids.—Very small planets between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter. Up to this time 62 have been discovered, of which Vesta, Juno, Ceres, and Pallas are the largest; but all are invisible to the naked eye. They revolve at the distance of two or three hundred millions of miles from the Sun, and in periods of from three to five years.

Jupiter.—Mean distance from the Sun 495,917,000 miles; performs its revolution in 4,334 days 15 hours; its true diameter is 88,000 miles, and its bulk is 1,281 times that of the Earth. Length of its day, 9 hours and 56 minutes. Jupiter has four satellites or moons.

Saturn.—Distance from the Sun about 909,000,000 miles; the length of its year is 10,755 days; its true diameter is 73,000 miles; its bulk is 995 times that of the Earth. Saturn has eight satellites and is also surrounded with a double ring.

Uranus.—Mean distance from the Sun about 1,829,000 miles; it performs its revolution in about 84 years. The planet has six satellites.

Neptune, the most remote and latest discovered planet, is 2,864,000 miles from the Sun. It is 35,000 miles in diameter; revolves around the sun in 164 years; and has at least one satellite,

TRUE TIME.

Two kinds of time are used in Almanacs; clock or mean time in some, and apparent or sun-time in others. Clock-time is always right, while sun-time varies every day. People generally suppose it is twelve o'clock when the sun is due South, or at a properly made noon-mark. But this is a mistake. The sun is seldom on the meridian at twelve o'clock; indeed, this is the case only on four days of the year: namely, April 15, June 15, September 1, and December 24. In this Almanac, as in most other Almanacs, the time used is clock time. The time when the sun is on the meridian or at the noon-mark, is also given under the head Sun slow or fast of clock. This affords a ready means of obtaining correct time and for setting a clock by using a noon-mark, adding or subtracting as the sun is slow or fast.

Old-fashioned Almanacs, which use apparent time, give the rising and setting of the sun's centre, and make no allowance for the effect of the refraction of the sun's rays by the atmosphere. The more modern and improved Almanacs, which use clock-time, give the rising and setting of the sun's upper limb, and duly allow for refraction.

ECLIPSES.

There will be five Eclipses this year, as follows:

- I. A total Eclipse of the Moon just before and after midnight of June 11. Size, 14. 4 digits. Commencing 0 32, ending 3 40.
- II. A partial Eclipse of the Sun, June 27, in the morning. Invisible in America, but visible in the Indian ocean.
- III. A partial Eclipse of the Sun, November 21. Invisible in America, but seen in the great Southern ocean.
- IV. A total Eclipse of the Moon early in the morning of December 6. Visible. Size 16.98 digits. Commencing 1 35, ending 4 17.
- V. A partial Eclipse of the Sun, December 20. Invisible in America, but visible in Asia generally.

WELL, here we are, brother farmers, at the beginning of another new year! Thank God for the infinite mercies of the past, but remember we are to act in the living present—to prepare for a happy future by filling every day and every hour with active duty. No matter what that duty may be, let the motive be good and noble, and the doing of it in the proper spirit will bring along some degree of satisfaction and happiness. But idleness and mental inactivity breed only discontent and remorse. Be industrious, be frugal, be honest, for these habits imply a whole train of noble virtues, which do much to insure happiness, not to ourselves alone, but to all about us.

There is no better time than this to make up our plans for the year. Map out the farm and settle what is to be done with each lot, how it is to be planted and cultivated, where the manure for it is to come from, and estimate the cost of all operations connected with it. A liberal outlay for manure and labor will pay a larger outlay than the reverse. Don't forget to take good care of the stock this cold weather. Have regular hours for feeding them. Warm but well ventilated barns and good care do much to bring the cattle out well in the spring.

OVER every day's life let us write the twofold inscription, "Not slothful in business;" and, "Continuing instant in prayer."

An ounce of essence is worth a gallon of fluid. A wise saw is more valuable than a whole book and a plain truth is better than an argument.—Haliburton.

SHERIDAN once remarked:—"Instead of always reading think, think, on every subject; there are only a few leading ideas and these we may excogitate for ourselves."

PRESERVATION of Milk.—Milk may be preserved in thick, well-corked, and wired bottles, by puncturing the cork, and heating the milk to boiling-point in a water-bath, by which the small quantity of enclosed air becomes decomposed.

Cows in milk must have good feed, and plenty of it, this cold weather. We can't be too careful, indeed, in the management of all stock at this season of the year; but milch cows are most sensitive to exposure and hard fare. If feeding for quantity, give them moistened food at least once or twice a day. Hay cut short and mixed with Indian meal or shorts, with a little hot water poured upon it, is excellent for this purpose. If put into a tight vessel when the hot water is on, and covered up to stand a little while, the result is still better as it gets a partial steaming. For improvement in the quality of milk, we may feed Indian, linseed or cotton-seed meal. It pays to keep up the condition of the animal while she is giving a good supply of milk, and she will pay from day to day in proportion to the richness and quantity of food given to her.

Don't try to keep more stock than can be kept well. If allowed to run down to low condition now, it will take a long and hard struggle to get up again after going out to grass. There is no profit in such management. It is the most shiftless practice, this half starving of cattle or stock of any kind, and the farmer that tries to get on thus does not deserve to succeed.

To Extricate persons from broken ice.—Let two or more persons hold a rope or ropes, at both ends, stretched over the broken ice; so that the person immersed will catch hold of it.

To Exterminate the Turnip-fly. Dust the young plants with lime when still wet with the morning dew. Do this on successive mornings, and as soon as the plants appear.

It is said there are seventy thousand persons in the city of London who rise every morning without the slightest knowledge where they shall lay their heads at night.

If woman was first in the world to sin, it was on her breast also that its Redeemer was nourished, who has atoned for sin.

It is about time to begin to bestir ourselves. Is that manure forked over? I take it you have a barn-cellar. Who would be without a barn-cellar in these days, unless he has covered sheds over his whole barnyard as some do? There is some objection in keeping hay and live stock over a tight barn cellar, after all; but it is infinitely better, on the whole than throwing out the manure to lie under the drenchings of the eaves, to smutch up the sides of the barn. An abundance of absorbing material, like dry peat, muck or loam, will obviate the difficulty of the cellar in part, and proper ventilation and a tight floor will also help.

Now is the time to feed out the mangolds. I suppose you have some ruta bagas and carrots left. A daily feed of roots to cattle and sheep is very grateful at this season.

It is a good plan to start some early potatoes in boxes, or a hot-bed, to be transplanted when the weather permits, in the month of April or May. Look out for the sheep and lambs. The woodpile may need attention, too; it is n't best to leave this to bother us in the midst of spring work, when it may be easily done now.

WHEELS ON PLOWS.—The best way to secure a uniform depth in plowing is to use a beam under the end of the beam. An unskilful plowman can make better work with this addition, than a good hand without it.

A man who covers himself with costly apparel, and neglects his mind, is like one who illuminates the outside of his house and sits within in the dark.

The road ambition travels is too narrow for friendship, too crooked for love, too rugged for honesty, and too dark for science.

HE that avoideth not small faults, by little and little falleth into greater.

As a man drinks he generally grows reckless. In his case, the more drams the less scruples.

Well, here we are, with a prospect of spring at last. Sunshine and shower is the order of the day. Take it as it comes and make the most of it. But it's time to strip off jackets, and seize the handles of the plough. A straight furrow and a deep one,—that's the true doctrine; but go down by degrees, an inch lower each year, and every time you plough, and not bring up too much of that yellow stuff at once. It needs an airing before it will give you good crops; but up with it a little at a time, and mix it with the richer surface soil, and you'll find it'll begin to pay. A loamy subsoil, that has never been exposed to the action of the atmosphere, when brought to the surface, absorbs many fertilizing gases, and becomes more and more valuable. But if you have ploughed but five or six inches deep, it is a mistake to go ten or twelve all at once. Take time for it, and you can work down easy, and not sacrifice your crops while you're about it.

It don't pay to stop and lean over the wall, talking hour after hour with neighbour Doolittle. It don't pay to waste time in April. Plant pease and potatoes, sow beets and carrots, as soon as you can after the middle of the month.

TO PRESERVE MILK.—Provide bottles, which must be perfectly clean, sweet and dry; draw the milk from the cow into the bottles, and as they are filled, immediately cork them well up, and fasten the corks with packthread or wire. Then spread a little straw at the bottom of a boiler, on which place bottles with straw between them, until the boiler contains a sufficient quantity. Fill it up with cold water; heat the water, and as soon as it begins to boil, draw the fire, and let the whole gradually cool. When quite cold take out the bottles and pack them in sawdust, in hampers, and stow them in the coolest part of the house. Milk preserved in this manner, and allowed to remain even eighteen months in the bottles, will be as sweet as when first milked from the cow.

A Busy month, indeed! Work enough on hand. There's the ploughing and planting going on. If we don't fly round at planting, we might as well sit on the rail at harvest. Then up early, and down late. Spring comes but once a year, and we must make the most of it. It's the mode of ploughing, planting and cultivating, that decides the abundance of the crop, quite as much as the extent of land.

The trees in the orchard need looking after. It isn't best to trim them much yet, but a thorough washing down with strong soap-suds is good any time.

Have an eye to the garden, too. A good kitchen garden is one of the handiest things on the farm. There is nothing like garden sauce to save the dollars at the store. You'll be wanting green pease by-and-by, and early potatoes, and nothing is better than rhubarb sauce and rhubarb pies, either for health or relish, at this season.

If the garden spot is very old, and very rich from over-manuring, just take off six or eight inches of the top, and spread it on your grass land, and you'll find it'll be good for both. Some gardens are overloaded with vegetable mould. Don't begrudge the girls a little lot for flowers!

NOW!

"Now" is the constant syllable ticking from the clock of time. "Now" is the watchword of the wise. "Now" is on the banner of the prudent. Let us keep this little word always in our mind; and, whenever any thing presents itself to us in the shape of work, wether mental or physical, we should do it with all our might, remember that "now" is the only time for us. It is indeed a sorry way to get through the world by putting off till tomorrow, saying, "then" I will do it. No! this will never answer. "Now" is ours; "Then" may never be.

STRAWBERRY time is at hand, and we're about making up our minds to have more of them next year. After this delicious fruit is picked and eaten, or sold, give the runners a chance to spread and strike into a deep rich soil, and thin out the weak ones, so as to give the rest plenty of room. Do you know that the strawberry can be raised at a profit at less than two pence a quart? Think more of the smaller fruits. They put money in your purse if you are near a market, and give you and your family a royal luxury, at small cost, if you can't sell them.

When raspberries are done bearing, the old fruit-stalks ought to be at once cut out, and many of the weaker suckers also. Allow only six canes to a square foot to stand to perfect themselves for fruit bearing next year.

The gooseberry likes a moist atmosphere and a little shade. Dry and hot weather is apt to give it the mildew. A heavy mulching of straw or swale hay round the roots is first rate. Use much old hay or straw about all shrubs and trees. It enriches the land, and prevents the effect of drought.

TO REMOVE GLASS STOPPERS WHEN FIXED IN BOTTLES.—Everybody has experienced the difficulty of removing the stopper of a bottle, when it has become fixed, apparently, immovably. To do this, all that is needed is to pass a piece of woolen cloth around the neck of the bottle, and pull it quickly by the ends backwards and forwards for a few moments, when the glass will expand and release the stopper.

At what time of day was Adam created? A little before Eve.

I ALWAYS took pride, in mowing, never to let them cut my corners if I could help it. I could mow as well as any on 'em,
 but I always liked a smooth clear field and heavy grass to pitch into. Times are changed now. I had to swing the scythe, and I'd stump them to beat me with that.

 But the mowing-machine and I had a trial against time, and I got beat. It went against the grain, but I had to knuckle.

There's the sickle too! I've reaped many an acre of as fine
 wheat as ever stood out doors;
 but the reaper takes me right down. It's no use to stand out against facts; might as well knock under with a good grace; so keep up with the times. A good mower in the hay-field, and a good horse rake to follow, will put through the work of July in double quick time, and give time to do a little draining over there in the swamp, and to spruce up a little about the place. These labor-saving machines in the field, the workshop, and the house, are helping on the civilization of the nineteenth century at a rapid rate.
 A good and substantial sewing machine in the house is as much help all the year round as a Wood's mower or a McCormick's reaper in the field in summer.

TO-DAY AND TO-MORROW.

Do not tell me of to-morrow,
 There is much to do to-day,
 That can never be accomplish'd
 If we throw the hours away!
 Every moment has its duty,—
 Who the future can foretell?
 Then why defer till to-morrow
 What to-day can do as well?

ALL things work together for good to them that love God."
 Rom. 8: 28.

WEALTH, as a power, is a tremendous power; as a means, it is a tremendous means; as an end, it is good for nothing.

WELL, now, I suppose it would be a good plan to top-dress the mowing lands after haying. It pays well, better than six per cent. stocks or notes, if it is done judiciously. Now is a good time to do it, and a good compost may be made of muck, road scrapings loam and what manure can be scraped from the yard. Top-dressing will enable you to keep down longer to grass, with large paying crops, without drawing too hard on the land. Don't fear the loss of well-composted manure on the top. It is better than burying too deep, and the waste is less. Nature always top-dresses, and keeps the roots of most trees, and plants near the surface.

You may top-dress later in the fall with the coarser manures, but a good dressing of loam and compost, after haying, preserves the roots. Besides, it acts as a kind of mulching for the ground. Shade acts somewhat like manure. A surface deeply shaded or covered, rots like a manure heap, and is fitted to sustain and feed plants. Darkness, moisture and air promote vegetable decomposition. Turn up a board that has lain a long time on the ground, and see if the soil is not mellow and richer than when it was put there. The effect of surface manuring is similar.

COURAGE.

Have the courage to tell a man why you will not lend him your money.

Have the courage to wear your old garments till you can pay for new ones

Have the courage to pass the bottle without filling your glass.

Have the courage to speak your mind when it is necessary that you should do so; and to hold your tongue when it better that you should be silent.

Have the courage to discharge a debt while you have the money in your pocket.

THE low grounds are now drier than usual, and it is a good time to cut drains. Drainage is one of the most useful inventions of modern times. It makes lands earlier, warmer, healthier, and more productive. The tile drain is the cheapest, and thorough or under-draining the most effective.

Now is the time to get in the grass seed. Grasses do better, on most soils, to be sown the last of August, or in September, than at any other time, since there is less danger, in an average of years, of being killed by the severity of winter than the droughts of summer. Don't sow any grain with your grass seed. The grasses do better alone, especially if sown now. If obliged to sow in spring, barley is the best crop to sow grass seed with, and oats about the worst.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.

LET the business of everybody else alone, and attend to your own; do not buy what you do not want; use every hour to advantage, and study to make even leisure hours useful: think twice before you throw away a shilling, remember you will have another to make for it; find recreation in looking after your business, and so your business will not be neglected in looking after recreation; buy low; sell fair, and take care of the profits; look over your books regularly, and if you find an error, trace it out; should a stroke of misfortune come upon you in trade, retrench, work harder, "but never fly the track;" confront difficulties with unflinching perseverance, and they will disappear at last; though you should even fail in the struggle, you will be honoured; but shrink from the task, and you will be despised. By following these rules, however, you never need say "fail;" pay debts promptly, and so exact your dues; keep your word.

Have the courage to obey your Maker, at the risk of being ridiculed by man.

Have the courage to provide an entertainment for your friends within your means, not beyond.

O, WHAT a glorious month!—
What showers of golden and crimson leaves! What a profusion of mellow fruits! How richly the wild fruit hangs from the forest trees and the walls, by the side of many a winding stream! How gorgeous the foliage along the valleys and the hill-sides of our Island! And then, too, the fine, bracing air, infusing vigor and strength into every limb!

But work still presses. There are the potatoes to dig, the apples to pick, the corn to get in,
and the big yellow pumpkins.
The harvest is not ended, and I'm afraid it won't be unless we be-stir ourselves.

Are you raising any calves this year? If so, remember these cold, damp, chilly nights are very bad for them, and you had better get them in, as well as the milch cows. Cows in milk are apt to fall off, about this time, unless well cared for, and it is very hard to get them up to a good yield after it.

So, you see, there is enough to do this month,—much which let me say, cannot be left undone without injury. It is rather late to sow grass seed and winter grains; but, if you couldn't do it last month, it is better now than to wait for spring.

Wink at small injuries rather than avenge them. If, to destroy a single bee, you throw down the hive, instead of one enemy
you make a thousand.

It is time to pull turnips, ruta bagas, mangolds and carrots, and to store them in the cellar. A feeding once a day of these roots promotes the health and condition of all kinds of farm stock. Feed out the English or round turnips first, then the ruta bagas and carrots, and last, towards spring, the mangolds. All these roots are most excellent for sheep, especially towards the latter part of winter.

It is time to shelter cattle, especially milch cows, carefully, nights and stormy days. It is time the boys were off to school. Don't neglect the school. It is time to start the meetings of the farmers' club. It is time for a hearty thanksgiving!

MAKE A BEGINNING.

REMEMBER in all things that, if you do not begin, you will never come to an end. The first weed pulled up in the garden, the first seed put in the ground, the first shilling put in the savings bank, and the first mile travelled on a journey, are all very important things. They make a beginning, and thereby a hope, a promise, a pledge, an assurance, that you are in earnest with what you have undertaken. How many a poor, idle, erring, hesitating outcast, is now creeping and crawling his way through the world, who might have held up his head and prospered, if, instead of putting off his resolutions of amendment and industry, he had only made a beginning!

We pass our lives in regretting the past, complaining of the present, and indulging false hopes of the future,

Some men are drones in the honey-cells of to-day, who fill the honey-cells of to-morrow and a thousand morrows.

The ground is closed in the chilly grasp of winter; but there is no time for idleness. Be sure you have a good supply in the woodhouse. Then there are the chores to see to. It won't do to neglect the chores. Suppose we take a look at the shovels, hoes and harrows, carts and ploughs, to be used in spring. Some of them may need mending. Now let me tell you, a good, well furnished tool-house saves more than the interest on its cost—saves many a little bill at the blacksmith's and wheelwright's, and gives work for many a cold and rainy day. Besides, it makes the boys handy in the use of tools.

But the days are short now, and the evenings invite to reading and mental cultivation. There is the farmers' library with new and instructive works on agriculture, and the agricultural papers and journals. Don't merely glance over a good book. Study it, think of its contents and digest them, so as to make them a part of your own mind. What a world of interesting and suggestive thought may be stored up by the careful study of such a work, as the American Agriculturist, for example. Always have a good modern dictionary at hand.

INDUSTRY AND ITS BLESSINGS.

—People may tell you of your being unfit for some peculiar occupations of life; but heed them not. Whatever employment you follow, with perseverance and assiduity, will be found fit for you; it will be your support in youth, and your comfort in age. In learning the useful part of any profession, very moderate abilities will suffice; great abilities are generally injurious to the possessors. Life has been compared to a race; but the allusion still improves by observing that the most swift are ever the most apt to stray from the course.

THE OCEAN.

Sea Water contains 220 parts of common salt; 33 parts of sulphate of soda; 42 parts of muriate of magnesia; and 8 parts of muriate of lime.

The Ocean, inland seas, &c., cover 147,800,000 square miles; a little less than three-fourths of the world is covered with water, and rather more than one-fourth by land. An average depth of 2 miles would give nearly 300,000,000 square miles of water. At 5,000 fathoms depth in some parts, no bottom has been found. Light penetrates it to the depth of 120 fathoms. A wave moves at the rate of about 2½ miles an hour.

THEIR CONSEQUENCES.

IT IS A FACT that W. E. DAWSON'S HARDWARE and GROCERY ESTABLISHMENT, in GIBSON'S Brick Building, Corner of Great George and Water Streets, is the CHEAPEST in the City.

It is a fact that Nails, Spikes, Saws, Planes, Chisels, Screws, are there to be had, as very many of the best Carpenters can testify.

It is a fact that it is the best place to buy Paints, Oils, Glass, Putty, Locks, Hinges and all requisites of that kind required for House building and finishing.

It is a fact that there is to be had the cheapest Blacksmiths' Bellows, Anvils, Vices & Files, and any other files that may be required.

It is a fact that there the Shoemaker can purchase the cheapest Hemp, Flax, Sparables & Pegs.

Finally it is a fact that in General Hardware and Ironmongery goods, Groceries & Womens' & Childrens' Boots & Shoes it is the best place to buy.

The practical result to be deduced from these facts is that every Mechanic and Householder will consult their own interests by giving him a call.
W. E. DAWSON.
