LLOYD GEORGE ON CHURCH'S DUTY

Coal Strike and the Irish Question.

Addresses Welsh Calvinistic Methodists— Holds That Church Should Not Interfere in Politics; Disappointed at Nation's Attitude.

London, June 16.—"What should be the attitude of the churches towards politics at the present time?" was the question of Lloyd George's address to the General Assembly of the Calvinistic Methodist Church, held at Port Madoc yesterday.

Dealing with the discussion on the coal strike at the Upper House of the convocation, Lloyd George said that was an example of interference by a religious organization in the task of the government, which, if followed, would be replete with mischief to both the church and the state.

Coming to the "great issue of the gospel of peace on earth and good will amongst men," Lloyd George said here was a task, indeed, for the churches. "I am all for the League of Nations," he said, "but that is not enough."

COMPANY'S SIDE IS PRESENTED

P. W. Thomson on Street Railway Case.

Suggestion to Settle on Basis of Halifax Wage Scale to be Considered This Afternoon— Demonstration of Remodelled One Man Car

The company's side of the case was presented to the board of arbitration sitting on the street railway dispute in the board of trade rooms this morning. Percy W. Thomson, the company's general manager submitted a lengthy statement of the company's position and announced that a demonstration of the one-man car would be made this afternoon.

At times during the discussion there was a possibility of a possible settlement of the differences might be made before the finding of the board could be made public and to this end the suggestion of W. Frank Hatheway, one of the board members, that Mr. Thomson meet with Messrs. Sinclair, international union representative, and Ira D. Farris, president of the local union this afternoon to try and reach a settlement was agreed to. This action was taken after Mr. Sinclair had suggested a settlement on the Halifax rates of wages.

Judge W. B. Chandler presided, with W. Frank Hatheway and C. W. Burpee, members. Besides Messrs. Thomson, Farris and Sinclair, others present were Thomas Frott, vice president and Percy Moore, secretary and treasurer and F. A. Campbell, of the men's union. Mr. Sinclair presented a copy of a letter sent out by the company to the men individually while the negotiations were pending, claiming that it was intended to undermine the union. The letter asked the men to report to Superintendent Chambers before June 10 or somebody would be secured to take their places. The letter said that the places could be filled easily.

Mr. Sinclair said that the cost of a meal for a family of four according to the experience of one of the men, cost $1.00. He said this would be $3.00 a day for meals leaving less than $1.00 for other household expenses from the total of $4.05 a day.

LINK WITH SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL

Decision of National Council of Women.

Canadianization of the Immigrant— Women Officials for Institutions and Juvenile Courts—Discussion on Education.

Calgary, Alta., June 16.—The question of federating with the Social Service Council of Canada came before the National Council of Women yesterday. Dr. Stowe Gullen of Toronto presented a resolution in favor of this. It was seconded by Mrs. Allen of Moose Jaw, and carried.

One of the chief questions dealt with in the report of Dr. Stowe Gullen was not enough elasticity, and deals with Canadianization of the foreign born who comes to this country. She said that the question of whether these people will be an asset or a deadweight would depend entirely upon the justice and wisdom with which Canadians meet them.

The report also favored strongly the appointment of women probation and parole officers, juvenile court judges and women physicians attached to all institutions for women.

CHALLENGE

The Canadian Clavers wish to challenge the Leopards to a game of baseball to be played on the Clarence street diamond Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

Could be obtained for 1901, 1902, 1908, 1910, 1919, 1920.

The chairman said the board had to make a recommendation on three proposals—wages, one-man car and the 80-day termination clause. The matter of the company's refusal to recognize the union was a point of fact, he said, replying to Mr. Thomson.

Mr. Sinclair said that when the board opened there were only some points on the proposed agreement. What was the point since the company refused to agree to any of the sections, he thought the board must deal with every section of the proposal.

The chairman asked Mr. Hatheway to get into the act by the Public Utilities auditor. Mr. Thomson said that these reports would show that the company failed to earn eight per cent last year by $94,000.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I planted some lettuce and some beet seeds in my garden. I planted some other seeds, but the three mentioned are the source of my grief. The plants came up, I saw them and rejoiced. A week later I saw them and I was not so pleased. They were a phantasm—a tale that is told. What do you suppose happened to them?"

"Then there cut-worms an' other pests had 'em fer breakfast," said Hiram.

Tell the United States government that we are willing to sign the reciprocity treaty now and I am satisfied they will accept. MAJOR E. O. REID ENDS HIS LIFE

Official of Office of Ontario Public Trustee

Pathetic Letter to Wife Found in Pocket—Body on Brow of Mountain, Poison Bottle by His Side.

Toronto, June 16.—"The sun has set on this dreadful day," wrote Major E. O. Reid of this city, chief accountant of the office of public trustee for Ontario, in a pathetic letter to his wife just before killing himself near Lewiston, N. Y., yesterday afternoon by drinking poison.

His body was found by a motoring party from Rochester, on the point of the brow of Lewiston Mountain, just opposite the Niagara Falls Country Club where the party had gone for a picnic luncheon. Beside the body was a bottle that had contained poison. In a notebook, in his pocket was found the pitiful note to his wife, beginning with the words quoted. In the note reference was made to his four children, and the farewell message was brimming with affection for his wife and family.

"I know I am much better off of your life," it said, and expressed a hope that "the good Lord" would send some one who would be worthy of his wife's affection and kindness. The tragedy of yesterday had its origin a little more than a week ago, when "irregularities" were discovered in Major Reid's accounts, according to Attorney-General Raney. It is said that the amounts which he was supposed to have short were not more than one or two thousand dollars.

MAJOR REID'S TRAGEDY

If Not, Don't Fail to Enjoy Her Great Singing Offering at Opera House Tonight—Other Good Acts—New Programme Tomorrow.

There are five highly entertaining vaudeville offerings at the Opera House tonight, which include Margaret Ford, a singer who has won fame on the concert and vaudeville stage throughout the world; Eugene and Finney in a feature comedy acrobatic bar act; The Menke Sisters in a singing and dancing act; Al and Angie Knight in a feature comedy sketch; and Victoria, a clever dancer. There is also the final episode of the serial drama "Fighting Fate," featuring William Duncan.

The regular change of vaudeville programme at the Opera House tomorrow afternoon offers a light and breezy entertainment to suit the season, with Bobby Adams and Jewel Barrett, in "Personality Plus," a novel instrumental and vocal offering; Professor Peak's classical blockheads and Punch and Judy show; Moore and Fields offering "A Few Moments of Darkydom"; Jim and Gladys Guilfoyle, in a comedy singing and talking sketch; Lysis and Lea, in a comedy perch and ladder act, and the second episode of the new serial drama "The Purple Riders," beginning tomorrow afternoon 8:30, evening 7 and 9, also on Saturday and Monday.

MARVELOUS MIND READER COMING TO OPERA HOUSE

The Opera House has had several extraordinary mind readers and fortune tellers of the future, in Madame Ellis, Anna Eva Ray, Princess Wabaska, but on June 28, the feature attraction of the programme will be Lore, considered to be the most marvelous mind reader before the public at present time. She has lately returned after a long tour around the world, and it was only from the fact that the New York representative of the Opera House made certain inducements that she has been persuaded to come up here for a short engagement.

Press reports from big cities where she has appeared say that she is starting in her readings—answering all kinds of questions rapidly and she astounds the sceptics by the uncanny way in which she reads their minds.

TICKETS FOR THE KING'S COLLEGE PLAYERS NOW.

Tickets are on sale in Nelson's book store and also at Gray & Ritchie's for "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," the splendid comedy offering of the King's College Varsity Troupe, who will play at Imperial Theatre next Wednesday evening after the first show. This company has been making a huge success of their play in other parts of the maritime provinces and their coming here is being anticipated with much pleasure, especially amongst the Anglican people, the sponsors of their college. Indeed, the tour of the collegians is in support of the King's College campaign movement and as a consequence their efforts are being tangibly appreciated all the more.

BRITISH PICTURE GREATLY ENJOYED

The Imperial is offering its third British Mastercraft Production for the last time today in the well known novel, "The City of Beautiful Nonsense," E. Temple Thurston. Yesterday those who saw it were greatly pleased with its purity of story, novelty of plot and the marvelous scenic worth of the six reels. Watchers were transported from England itself—charming Old Country out-of-doors and interiors—to the canal city of Venice where the action of the story is laid and enacted. To wind one's way through the water-streets of this gorgeous metropolis, to visit its fanciful architectural haunts and actually live, as it were, amongst the Venetians whilst the hero and heroine proceeded with their romance, was a new thrill of delight in movie-dom.

HANDSOME TOM MEIGHEN HERE TOMORROW

The popularity of Thomas Meighen as a motion picture performer will be attested again tomorrow at the Imperial when he plays the leading role in one of DeMille's splendid Paramount features, "Conrad in Quest of His Youth." This is another of that engrossing series in which Mr. Meighen has played a stellar part, such as in "Male and Female," "Don't Change Your Husband," "Civilian Clothes," etc. The serial story will be extra for those who are following its adventures.

HARBOR MATTERS AT CITY HALL

Commissioner Jones' Motion is Voted Down—Inquiry Into Fish Selling.

The proposed plebiscite on harbor commission was one of the main topics discussed at a committee meeting of the common council held this morning. The subject was introduced by Commissioner Jones who said that as the citizens would have to vote on the question some competent person should secure required information regarding the condition of the wharves, warehouses, etc. He moved that the city engineer be directed to proceed forthwith to examine into, and to report as soon as possible on the condition of all harbor property owned by the city together with an approximate estimate of the cost of whatever repairs, alterations or improvements, in his judgment, may be necessary to be made to the structure at present in use and to render them capable of affording such a condition as may reasonably meet the increasing demands of the future.

Commissioner Prink said that reports regarding the valuations, condition of wharves and warehouses had been submitted by government engineers and others and he could not see what could be gained by going all over it again.

Commissioner Bullock felt that the matter should have been taken up with him. He did not think that alterations would be able to report what alterations were needed or extensions made.

Commissioner Thornton expressed surprise at the resolution. He said that there were reports before regarding valuations and facilities to meet the requirements.

Commissioner Jones expressed surprise to hear such statements from the other commissioners. He asked if there was one who could inform him what it would cost to put the wharves and property in shape. He could not understand Commissioner Bullock's objection as he said he felt he had not done anything improper. He felt he was entitled to the information.

Commissioner Bullock said that the information could be secured from Hans Mayor Schofield said that there was no object in prolonging the discussion and put the motion to the meeting. Commissioner Jones was the only one voting in favor of it.

Commissioner Prink read a communication from George McAdams regarding a retaining wall at the corner of Duke and Germain streets. The matter was referred to the Commissioner of Public Works and the road engineer to report back.

He also read an application from the New Brunswick Telephone Company in which were submitted blue prints of an anchor base, which the company proposes placing in Autumn street to support poles. The matter was referred to the Commissioner of Public Works.

Commissioner Thornton said that he had received some complaints against a man who was selling fish from a boat house at the head of South Wharf. He was decided to ascertain if he had a proper license and if he was entitled to sell in this manner. The meeting then adjourned.

DR. TOLMIE IN ENGLAND ON CATTLE MATTER

London, June 16—(By Grant O'Leary, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture for Quebec last night made an important statement respecting the embargo in Great Britain against Canadian cattle.

In his address, Tolmie was made by the Empire Parliamentary Development Committee, presided over by Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Dr. Tolmie made it known that while the Canadian government had for many years aggressively pressed its protests in a proper constitutional manner against the embargo, it was in no way responsible for the propaganda along this line in England, nor for the interference or attempted interference with election or politics in England.

Mr. Tolmie is in London to present the case for Canada on the embargo question before the Royal Commission investigating the subject. The meeting of the Empire Parliamentary Development Committee, at which he spoke last night, was attended by several members of the British cabinet and by Premier Massey, of New Zealand, Smuts of South Africa, and Hughes, of Australia.

The remarks of Dr. Tolmie were received with approval. "The Canadian government," said Dr. Tolmie, "pressed its argument with such success that in 1917 the strength of its case was actually conceded and a definite promise was given that the embargo would be removed after the war. It is on the strength of our case and upon the dependability of the promise given that we now rely."

"If as appears to be the case today there is resentment against unauthorized methods adopted, I want you to understand that we are not parties to those methods and I am sure that neither the British people nor the British government will permit feelings of resentment to deter them from the course of justice or good faith."

Dr. Tolmie expects while in London to present fully Canada's position on the embargo before the inquiry now in progress on the subject. He has no intention, however, of carrying on the controversy through the columns of the British press.

DEATH OF JOHN WADDINGTON.

Death today entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waddington, 40 Wentworth street, and took from the family circle their second son, John, a jovial, likeable young man in his 21st year. He had been ill since May, 1920, when he underwent an operation for appendicitis. Born in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, he came here with his parents twelve years ago, and had gathered about him a large number of friends. He was on the Dominion Express Company staff. The musical gifts of his father, who is director of the City Cornet Band, had descended to the son, and he was a proficient clarinet player. Besides his parents, one other son, William, survives. The funeral will be held at half-past two o'clock on Saturday afternoon. Many friends will deeply sympathize with those bereaved, in their great loss.

LET THE ACT SPEAK

The Globe assures its readers that the harbor commission is a very simple proposition. Why, then, does the Globe not understand the proposition? That it does not understand would seem to be apparent from what it says in the following paragraph:

opposition of others. The "self starting citizen" does not wait to be coaxed or shamed into action. His example is worth a great deal more than he realizes, and his efforts are not in vain. Today the world is seething with unrest. There has been a reaction from the exalted idealism of the war period. There is a degree of disillusionment because hopes cherished in that period in regard to the coming peace time have not been fulfilled. There is not, however, any reason for despair. Conditions might be infinitely worse than they are today, and improvement is on the way. So much depends upon the mental and moral attitude of the individual that each may well do a little heart-searching and bring his or her conduct to the touchstone of right living, high thinking and loving service. The golden rule has not been abrogated. It offers the solution of the problems of the time, and only because it is not made the inviolable rule of life does danger threaten from within or from without. In it lies the power to transform the industrial, social and political life of the world. It is the inspiration of the model citizen described by President Faunce.

"The city is not specially concerned as to what these means shall be, so long as the shipping of the port is not overburdened, and that the necessary improvements to the harbor are provided." There is not a word in the commission act to provide that the shipping of the port will not be overburdened. Why does the Globe, if the matter is simple, fail to understand it and make it clear to its readers? Our contemporary goes on to assert that the whole case is involved in the question: "Shall the city bear the expense of maintaining a national port, or shall the responsibility be placed on the shoulders of the nation as a whole?" This is not the question. There is not the slightest approach to nationalization in the harbor commission act. The harbor would simply be taken over by a commission which would make such expenditure as the traffic would bear—and the government itself would not spend one dollar. That and that only is what the commission act provides, with the single exception that it guarantees payment of the interest and principal of the $877,282.45 in twenty-five year debentures the city is to receive. In the event that the commission should fail to get enough out of harbor revenue to pay the bill. On the other hand, the commission would have to pay to the government three and a half per cent per year on the cost of construction of the grain elevator, marine wharf and other government wharves already in existence, besides providing for interest and sinking fund on all new construction—raising all the money by charges upon shipping. Why does not the Globe quote the act for the information of its readers? For example, the following: "Sec. 20—The principal and interest of the sums of money which may be borrowed by the corporation under this act, and the principal and interest of the debentures to be issued under the authority of this act, shall be repaid out of the revenue arising out of the rates and penalties imposed by and under this act for and on account of the harbor or out of any other revenue vested in or coming to the corporation, and the lawful charges upon the said revenue shall be as follows, and in the following order, that is to say: (a) The payment of all expenses incurred in the collection of the said revenue and other necessary charges; (b) The defraying of the expenses attendant on keeping the wharves and the other works vested in the corporation in a thorough state of repair; (c) The payment of interest due on the debentures issued by the corporation to the city under the authority of the act; (d) The payment of interest due on all money hereafter borrowed under this act; (e) Providing a sinking fund for paying off all money or the liability for the payment of which is assumed by the corporation; (f) The cost of operating docks and wharves and otherwise carrying out the objects of this act."

"(a) The payment of all expenses incurred in the collection of the said revenue and other necessary charges; (b) The defraying of the expenses attendant on keeping the wharves and the other works vested in the corporation in a thorough state of repair; (c) The payment of interest due on the debentures issued by the corporation to the city under the authority of the act; (d) The payment of interest due on all money hereafter borrowed under this act; (e) Providing a sinking fund for paying off all money or the liability for the payment of which is assumed by the corporation; (f) The cost of operating docks and wharves and otherwise carrying out the objects of this act."

A HOME THRUST

"Where is the spontaneous, self-starting citizen, who does the right because he sees it to be right, and gives simply because he loves the cause?" This question was asked last week by President Faunce of Brown University, in the course of the annual baccalaureate sermon. The question is a home-thrust. If democracy, upon which President Faunce insists the world must not turn its back because of its abuses, is to realize the hopes that are cherished, it must do so through the acts of individuals who do right because it is right, and serve because they love to engage in a noble human service. It is because so many fail to do right, or deliberately do wrong, or are prompted by purely selfish motives, that so much legislation is necessary and the great charities and philanthropies go begging for support. We need "the spontaneous, self-starting citizen," who is not so absorbed in selfish concerns that he cannot interest himself in worthy causes in his community and in the world at large.

To make a limited application of this thought, how quickly would the aspect of city life change if every citizen did right, and rendered service that would advance some worthy cause or causes in the community. That there is joy in service those who render it will testify, even when they find their efforts made less fruitful by the indifference of others.

Only the other day the most influential delegation of business men that ever went from the Maritime Provinces to Ottawa, made the journey to protest against the manner in which these provinces are treated. Yet there are people in St. John who would propose a child-like trust in Ottawa in relation to the control and development of St. John harbor.

Give away the harbor and trust the government at Ottawa—does that appeal to St. John people?

TO A RUINED PAGODA

I do not know why tears are in my eyes Nor why, at sight of your gray, dream-sleep A throb of beauty and of pain should keep Me silent by your crumbling balconies. Pain is not here. Only the red deer go Through the still wood. The yellow jesamine Cloaking your broken porch will never glow On fragrant, faithless brow again, nor twine In childish hands. No wild, disturbing praise Of pilgrims, swarming on your cements will echo like harsh pipes upon the air To make the goldfinch and the linnet cease Their gentle-mannered song. The sleep Holds you so kindly that I do not know Why tears are in my eyes—unless it be That by each broken plank and frieze, I see Deep-serr'd rank of peoples, row on row, Wraths of all commoners and hinds, and lo, Great lords and kings of mighty dynasties— All, all who build upon this earthly sod Or deep in heart, a temple to some god, Yearning, like small, lost children, far from home. For some kind father-friend to take them home. —Harold Speakman.

Good Cause For Excitement A pawbroker's shop was on fire, and the onlookers were much amused by the antics of an excited woman. Every few minutes she would urge the firemen to more strenuous efforts. "What's the matter, missus?" shouted a bystander. "There ain't no one in there. What's all the fuss about?" "Fuss! There ain't no fuss at present," shouted the woman; "but there will be if they don't get the fire out soon. My old man's best Sunday suit is in lock there and he doesn't know it!" —Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Worm Turned

Mr. Bully Rag was cross-examining a down-trodden witness. "Now, sir," he thundered, "you have stated under oath that this man had the appearance of a gentleman." "Well, — a gentleman looks like a —" stammered the poor creature. "With unmerciful sarcasm, the counsel plunged to attack again. "I don't want any of your 'sir, sir,' and remember you under oath! Can you see anybody in this court who looks like a gentleman?" The witness eyes for the first time showed anger, and he blurted out: "Stand out of the way, and then I dare say I can. You're not transparent!" —London Ideas.

An Englishman visiting the U. S. attended a dinner given by a hostess whose hospitality is notoriously inadequate. Her dinners have often been referred to as "samples," and invitations to them are not accepted with alacrity the second time. Her wealth is large, however, and her social persistence is untiring, so there are usually some guests at the table. This dinner was of the usual inadequate kind. It served merely as an appetizer to the hungry Englishman, and when the coffee was served, indicating that the dinner was at an end, his evident dissatisfaction was amusing to the other guests. The hostess did not notice it, however, and said to him, amiably: "Now, do tell me when we may expect the pleasure of having you dine with us again?" "Immediately, immediately, madam," was the unexpected reply.

WORKING GIRLS CAMP

Forty-four Acres at Peckskill Accommodates Fifty at One Time. (N. Y. Times) Camp Josephine, at Peckskill, N. Y., a vacation camp for working girls, was opened officially last week. In opening the camp Mrs. Harmon Spencer August is carrying out the will of her mother, Mrs. Della Schoenberger, who left $80,000 to various charity organizations here. Mrs. Schoenberger was always interested in working girls and had hoped to open such a camp herself, but she died, three years ago, she directed her daughter to carry out the work. Her aim is for educational, recreational and physical improvement. The camp covers forty-four acres, and there is a concrete swimming pool and a vegetable garden. A trained athletic director has been provided for the summer by Mrs. Irene Untermeyer. Domestic science courses have also been arranged and any who wish to may go into the kitchen and learn the secrets of real southern cooking, according to the most improved methods. Fifty girls may be accommodated at one time. Among the board of directors for Camp Josephine are Mrs. Sidney Borg, Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, Mrs. Alexander Kobus, Mrs. Charles Richards, Mrs. Aaron Norman and Mrs. Samuel Bloomington.

DOLLAR A TON FOR STEAMSHIP

DARK DAYS FOR THE SEAL FISHERS

No Market for Newfoundland Catch, as Last Year's Remains Unsold—Use of Airplanes Unsuccessful.

(By P. T. McGrath.)

(Special Correspondence of the N. Y. Evening Post.) The Newfoundland seal fishery for 1921 has closed with a catch of 101,452 pelts for the nine steamers engaged. This total is considerably above those for the two years previously, but is still far below what would be necessary to make the season's venture a successful one. The pelts consist of the skin with the adhering fat, and after they are landed the fat is removed from the skin, quickly made into oil by steam heat, and then shipped to Europe and America for use in a variety of ways—to illuminate remote lighthouses, as a basis for high-grade soaps, and as a substitute for olive oil or cod liver oil for medicinal purposes—while the skins are salted and shipped to the same destinations to be made into leather.

Unfavorable Market. Last year's catch was small, but most of it remains unsold both in skin and oil, and the outlook for the marketing of the present season's product is not at all favorable. But for the necessity of giving stimulus to the general fishing operations this year, the ships would probably not have been sent to sea. The owners were, however, induced to undertake the unfortunate venture, though they did some-what better than was expected early in the season, when the ships were for nearly a fortnight shut off by the ice flows from access to the herds and only contrived to reach them a few days before the young seals, which are the principal quest, had taken to the water. They are next to impossible to come in contact with after this occurs.

Doubt is expressed now as to whether the fleet will attempt the seal hunt at all next spring, and it is altogether unlikely that it will attempt a substantial increase in the value of the products. This provides the consolation that the herds will have a renewed close time in which to increase and multiply again.

For years past the minds of all engaged in the industry have been seriously concerned over the prospect of the seals being rapidly exterminated. Precautions seemed necessary lest they be killed out, as the whale and walrus have been in these northern waters, and the industry be brought to a sudden end, which might, if properly conserved, be continued indefinitely. There is abundant evidence known about the habits of the seals, and opinions in regard to conservation were almost as numerous and varied as those of the individuals who discussed the subject. It was made this year by means of an airplane to scout for the seals, locate them if possible, and disseminate their numbers and general determination as far as possible the entire features which were undertaken to be intelligently undertaken for the future. But the airplane project failed of any practical results, largely led by the lateness of the date when work was begun. It is intended to repeat the experiment next year.

Ships a Problem

Probably, however, the policy adopted next year by the seal ship owners will be to abstain from engaging in this venture at all, but to utilize the information obtained by the airplane, if it is successful, in new legislation under which the industry could succeed. The type of ship most suited for this venture is an old style wooden ship of great strength of hull and low power, the same type as the Arctic whalers, in which venture many of the Newfoundland ships also engaged in the past until the killing out of the Arctic whale rendered it unprofitable.

To construct such ships is no longer possible, because of the immense cost of the oak of which their hulls were made, and steel boats, suitable as cargo carriers, were tried a few years ago, but these were not successful either. It looks now as if the future of the industry would be insured through the devising of a smaller type of steam vessel suitable for mail service around the Newfoundland coast during the rest of the year and employed for this work in March and April. These ships could be secured through co-operation between the government and the steamboat contractors, but it is not likely to happen until the price of ships drop to a much lower figure than those which rule at present; and until then the industry is likely to be a transitory character, depending in no small measure on the ruling prices for the products obtained.

AMERICA'S LOST TRIBES

(Chicago Daily News.)

Letta Parsons, aged 13, wife of John Parsons, and stepmother of his two children, is on trial in Missouri for killing one of them. She is an illiterate child born in the Ozarks and deserted by her parents. After a childhood spent working as the common drudge of various households, she married a wood-chopper. The question arises as to the measure of responsibility that can be assigned to the acts of a child doomed from her birth by her social environment.

More than 3,000,000 Americans of pre-Revolutionary stock live in the Appalachian highlands and in the Ozarks in a cultural state that hardly equals the European peasantry of two centuries ago. Out of contact with the massive developments of the United States, illiterate and mute, these lost tribes have been left to their fate. Of a stock which America cannot afford to lose, and possessing many of the finest qualities of the race, they, nevertheless, will be lost, says President Frost, of Berea College, Kentucky, if help is not given in the generation. The responsibility is broader than their own community. It is an American responsibility.

A recent book, "The Southern Highlander and His Homeland," by John C. Campbell, is issued by the Russell Sage Foundation, is the first authoritative study of a 12,000 square miles of upland country. For the unprivileged people of the rural districts as well as those of the cities, Americans have a definite responsibility. Appalachia, the beautiful southern uplands, needs help.

SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY

Edmonton, Alta., June 16.—Claimed to be the only complete specimen in the world, the skull of a Stegasaurus was recently unearthed in the bad lands of the Red Deer valley by an expedition led by Charles Sternberg, expert vertebrate paleontologist, collecting fossil specimens for the University of Alberta. Up until the discovery of this skull the Stegasaurus had been described only by a very small fragment of its head. This specimen will be sent to the university at Edmonton. Mr. Sternberg estimates that fifty per cent of the fossils in the United States museums have come from the Red Deer field. This year there are only three parties operating in this field, the other two being in charge of brothers of Mr. Sternberg, who are collecting for Ottawa and Toronto.

KILLS 14-YEAR-OLD WIFE AND THEN HIMSELF

Hamilton, Ont., June 15—Karnelo Sechuk, killed his wife today and then ended his own life. Sechuk recently returned from the West. The pair have been quarrelling ever since. Sechuk fired three shots through his wife's breast and then turned the weapon on himself, firing a bullet which pierced his heart.

A pathetic feature of the double tragedy is the fact that the woman was only fourteen years of age. She married Sechuk just one year ago. Mrs. Sechuk's mother, after hearing the first shot, ran into the bedroom where the young couple were and saw the murderer turn the revolver on himself.

RECENT WEDDINGS

In the presence of a large number of invited guests. The bride looked charming in a wedding gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bride's attendants were two flower girls, little Miss Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell, of St. John, and little Miss Logie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Logie, of Chatham. RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. Maria Spicer. Parrsboro, June 15—The death of Mrs. Maria Spicer, widow of Fletcher Spicer, of Advocate, occurred at her home in Main street on Monday, June 14, after a lingering illness. The late Mrs. Spicer, who was seventy-four years of age, was the daughter of the late Captain George and Mary Newcombe of Parrsboro. Although a resident of Advocate and New York for many years, she had many warm friends to greet her when she returned to her native town a few months ago. She is survived by five daughters: Mrs. John Saunders of Leominster (Mass.); Mrs. John Thorpe of Malden (Mass.); Mrs. John Halliday, of Maine; Mrs. Alexander Manage of Parrsboro; Mrs. James Ellery of Brooklyn (N. Y.); four sons: Captains John, Charles and Gordon Livingston, of St. John, and Clarence Livingston of Brooklyn (N. Y.). One sister, Mrs. William Mott of the late brother, Captains Charles Joseph and George Newcombe, also survive. The funeral took place from St. George's church on Tuesday. Rev. C. R. Harris conducted the services.

He was seventy-four years of age and leaves to mourn, his wife and nine children. The sons are Benjamin Hillgrave, William of Sunny Brae, Nelson of Kinnear Settlement, Earl of Moncton, John and Peter of St. John, Percy of Salisbury, and the daughters are Mrs. Ralph Lamb of Portland and Mrs. Roy Grey of St. John.

LONGER SKIRTS, HIGHER NECKS

These are Fashion Indications from Paris for Next Fall—Frocks Will Cost More, However.

Paris, June 16—Longer skirts and less décolleté is fashion's edict for next fall according to the dictators of what women should wear, who fix the styles from Paris. But this radical change in returning to pre-war modesty in dress is considered in some circles as a direct result of the campaign against the free exhibition of nature's charms, which was started here by the Roman Catholic Church. "Yes, there is some protesting heard," one Rue de la Paix expert told a correspondent for the New York Herald, "but it will die down quickly, as society leaders have decided they cannot show too much independence so far as the church is concerned, as despite the reputation of the French for atheism and free thinking, the social caste here is determined largely on the old Catholic basis. Therefore, if the Church decides that nothing be revealed above the ankles or below the collar-bone, Paris, as a rule, will cross its fingers and hope the extremists will not reach the styles of the last century."

Husbands, however, can be congratulated, as the new styles end the rage for costly silk stockings. Manufacturers here are already bringing out short-hose, made of cotton above the line of vision. On the other hand, dressmakers say that fuller and longer skirts and colored waists will result in increasing the materials used, and that unless the price of cloth declines another 30 per cent.

GETTING READY FOR NIAGARA CAMP

Advance Guard is Putting Things Into Shape.

St. Catharines, Ont., June 16—Niagara camp will open next Friday and the advance guard there under Lieut. Col. Sampson is getting things in shape for the eight units which will spend two weeks under canvas on historic soil. There is uncertainty as to the length of the camp this year, but placards announce that the Militia Department has ordered that no cows shall pasture on the military common between June 9 and July 31, so it is expected that other troops besides those arriving next Friday will be brought here. The first camp will consist of three thousand or more men, but all depends on the enlistments in the various units. The Cadet Camp, consisting of several thousand school boys, will likely close the camp at the end of next month.

To Calgary and The National Council

(Special Correspondence Evening Times) (No 3)

Early next morning at North Bay we revelled in the freshness of verdant woods, and in the joyous carolling of the birds. An interview with the agreeable station agent (they are all agreeable), a comparison of watches, with scanning of time tables and brisk walks, speeded our waiting. Then we hastened to where our car had been with its long train—and lo, only one empty car was there, quite deserted. Someone reminded that our quarters were in the "Coburg", and being quite familiar with our porter's features, we were soon on the other side of the track, where we found him urbane smiling at the steps of our car, and I must confess amused. We welcomed him joyfully and scrambled aboard. We found our car was attached to another train, which had mysteriously arrived from somewhere, and soon were on our way west again. Later we passed Cobalt, then Abitibi, a name familiar to us, for there one of our returned boys was carving out his way in life busily and manfully in the pulp mills. We would have enjoyed seeing him, but this was not, as a little girl had once remarked "our 'ceiving day,'" and trains like time do not wait for the world's afternoon tea. Then up came the dust, and clothed all the denizens of the observatory platform alike in a mantle of gray, and in despair I sought the comfort of my Turkish veil, as our party laughingly christened it. And later, at Cochrane, the "Turkish lady" with her veil gracefully dipping to the wind as we walked the platform heard a villager with eyes agone in breathless accents exclaim, "W-h-a-t i-s she?" We enjoyed dinner that night, moving past silver lakes, with the shadows of great trees trembling in their midst. As we lazily dipped our fingers in the finger bowls, wondering what our next interest would be, three ladies on the way up the aisle accented one of our party—"Are you Nationals?" A gay assent, and we found our second link with some of the Ottawa party—Mrs. Thorburn, the national treasurer; Mrs. Jean Muldrew, whose clever stories and well balanced addresses, have made her an always welcome visitor to St. John; and another lady, who carries weight like John Gilpin of renown—as she carries with her stacks of information on national affairs. The agenda was eagerly discussed, and the compliments paid to our dear old Loyalist city for last year's hospitality were almost embarrassing to its modest representatives. "Do you know," said one member, "in what words Mrs. Wilson of the Ottawa Council prefaced her report to her local Council last year? Now I can understand why St. John women admire and honor Mrs. Atherton Smith, their Council president." Now, was that not a tribute to rush back home on the keys of your typewriter? It was a "stormy night at sea," often heard on an ocean voyage, and I was almost inclined to be commonplace with regard to our journey, through the starlit country of last night—for we were hustled and hustled in the berth, jostled, and rocked, until fear assailed me and longitude and latitude threatened. But a sane conviction that I was headed west, still traveling in a complete unit of humanity, jolted my wavering thought to dreamland. Watches turned back one hour brought me to observation car, alas, at the next morning, and courageously I again had time move backward in its flight. After breakfast of deliciously fried bacon and sparkling coffee we came to a little station called "Bucke," so we climbed down on the platform for a few moments of air. Now why stop here, but our porter could not just commit himself, so we interviewed the three or four loitering villagers. "Well you see, ma'm, it may be that the engine wants a drink," and gravely one of our party responded, "but isn't this a prohibition town?" A Huron Bay settlement of Ojibway Indians was further up the road, and we learned they had returned from their hunting season and were preparing for the blueberry crop. Now a gathering here fills my vision, such speckled skirts, and vistas of burnt land and limestone hillocks. Many are on the trails, and so sweet and smiling, quite as amiable as the war babies, who helped to make our Eastern gates famous for their number, amiability, and placidness in the hands of our historic port workers. One in her soft frock of blue and gray, and dainty shoes in perfect girlish taste, and a halo of tithan hair that sparkled in the morning sunlight, as she slowly turned away on the platform from our interested gaze. "Take good care of her on life's so often tempestuous sea, she is so young, so frail a bark on its wide great water! We have journeyed far enough now to be beyond the Englishman's conventional horror of striking voices. "I have not been properly introduced," and men may come and men may go with a question of journey or time, like ships that pass in the night, but always bringing a new interest through the contact of departure when I confess I strolled just a little way along the platform with a fellow traveler yesterday, as we consulted watches, and became absorbed in the exigencies of variegated, subdivided condition of time. In the days before we started Calgary-wards, conventional conversation dated its beginning in weather predictions and forebodings, but "nous avons change tout cela," and now another lake, and I cannot find its name, and our porter says in answer to my question, "I know so little of the country—my work is everything." An certainly he is a Spartan boy. What he endures in response to repeated calls for his help to find some missing article, to tell us the time, to set up a table for that typewriter, and ad finem, with a ready smile and courteous response, that makes us regret the parting of the ways. For we are in the midst of change every two days, and variety is surely the spice of transcontinental life. Really our party is the most congenial trio (the porter has now been eliminated from this page) and any one of us will be qualified to publish "Aids to Harmony on route" when we return to St. John. We borrow, we lend, we dip into a common fund when we order our meals, and the clever little mathematician of our party straightens up accounts; when we all pay up, and start over again a new debit and credit sheet. Needles and thread are common property, and always a willing hand to fasten a refractory hook or adjust a straying earl. Today the edict went forth "you must not wear a belt." Weakly I protested, but I look like a Chinaman, and so I was no longer allowed to wear those gaily embroidered vandykes under a belt out of sight—and the word was law. Then "you must not stand in the sun" out on the platform. "Consi-ously, don't you know we have to present you in respectful order for the National minus sunburn. Again another weakly lodged protest, and I realize that like a gladiator, I am being prepared for that arena. These I remember fearfully and forebodingly the evening glory ahead of me by twenty-four hours in a trunk wrapped in sheets of tissue paper—of Mrs. Loughlin's coming reception. Physically I shudder. Mentally I vision a combination of glowing green and a sunburned countenance. Rapid calculation in time, and hasty merging of green and red, and the result? and I sink into helpless submission. "Verily it is a blessed thing to have a Mentor in the party." Another expansive lake, and now a mere man with a bulldog pipe is smoking contentedly, while disparagingly I inhale the fumes of tobacco-tinged dust. Really I must hunt up my Fidas Aches, and get information on atmospheric conditions, nicotine and vocal organs. I am beginning to wonder if the problem of representing our brilliant president, now journeying leisurely in Spain, is not an Utopian idea in its accomplishment. Why not be just a care-free delegate, and be dusty, sunburned and etherized with a nicotine neighbor? Surely baths, shampoos and a visit to the manure will work wonders. Shall I recklessly paraphrase the words of the drunken philosopher? "I'm dusty, I know I'm dusty, I'm glad I'm dusty. I'll be dusty anyway." But, alas, the Canadian Women's Association destroys my dream of independence—for you would not dare carry its credentials for seven votes and a discussion when attractions are hors du combat. Now we are cogitating on the personality and appearance of our unknown courier at Winnipeg—will he be tall, short, gay, sublime? We ask the other delegates if they were being officially met en route, and we have joyfully accepted the supposition that all this courtesy emanates from the St. John office, and is a tribute to New Brunswick Council work. This is epoch-making history building, and we are on our mettle to achieve, in representing St. John intelligently, learnedly, wisely and superabundantly, and to bring back from the National unselfish effort and acquired knowledge for our civic housekeeping as it touches and concerns women and children. Twenty minutes at Sioux Lookout, and a welcome stroll on the platform—while Mrs. Muldrew relates one of her ready stories. While passing Quiver we were at lunch, now back to observation car, and we go through tunnels, past a chain of lakes. Gathering speed now, and out on the platform the momentum has turned over a man and his chair, almost into the lap of a vivacious widow. I laugh and laugh, and the tiny baby opposite on its father's arm, stares with deep blue tenacity of wonderment at me. At five we call for tea in the observation car, and at little gaily drawn up in cosy array we enjoy tea, thin buttered bread and plum cake. The porter or steward in charge is sublime, quite the "old Virginia" matter—and he brings into the service of our tea party a geniality and refinement which almost eliminates the speeding train and carries us to Dixie Land. Surely an old family servant. So we question him: "We like your tea. It is so delicious—two days the same delightful service—tell us, were you not a butler?" "Yes ma'm, yes ma'm," came the smiling half-bowing response, "butler to Mr. John Jacob Astor." "And your name?" "Josiah Stanley, ma'm, yes, ma'm." "We want to send an appreciation of you to the C. N. R." "Thank you, ma'm, yes ma'm, Josiah Stanley, butler in the old Astor family." I had been favored with a peep into his little buffet pantry, all so neat and shining, when we had seriously considered the question of cake, and the possibilities of his cake box, and I had gaily exclaimed, "Why, it is plum cake," and he smiled appreciatively, "Yes ma'm, yes ma'm." There is a little sick girl on board, brought aboard this morning by an anxious parent—en route to Winnipeg hospital, so the Pullman butler, with his air of quiet dignity, took a tray with tea and cake, on the request of our party, to the tired little mother, and the quiet smile of gratitude later made us proud of that little woman who wore so unostentatiously her W. A. pin of gold. We are in Manitoba now, and are nearing Winnipeg, and are at Fort Garry Hotel, a good dinner at Fort Garry Hotel. A. PAULINE RAYMOND.

London, June 15.—(By Canadian Press.)—Steps are being taken to establish a permanent British organization for the purpose of developing cotton growing within the empire. This permanent body, incorporated under royal charter, will be known as the Empire Cotton Growing Corporation. One of the first objects of the corporation is to secure a provision of £50,000 sterling for the development of cotton growing in the empire as compared with the item of £10,000 sterling appearing in last year's budget. It is understood that one of the first steps to be taken by the new corporation is the selection of cotton experts—men of wide experience in tropical agriculture. The stimulation of cotton growing within the empire represents a reaching out toward economic independence in the matter of raw material. Cotton manufacturing is one of the fundamentals of Britain's industrial power. Other European countries have gradually developed cotton manufacturing, but Great Britain lacks the lead and its industry is increasing. In the twenty years preceding the war Great Britain's spindles had increased 16,700,000, as compared with an increase of 15,200,000 in the United States and 13,800,000 in all Europe. Roughly speaking, three-fourths of the cotton spun in the United Kingdom is for export trade. Out of £411,000,000 sterling total manufactures sold abroad in 1913, £121,000,000 sterling consisted of cotton yarn and goods. Throughout the last 120 years, or since the cotton industry was first organized in factories in England, Britain imported approximately three-fourths of the total quantity of its own cotton supplies from the United States; the remaining one-fourth came from India, Egypt and the British West Indies. By increasing the yield of raw cotton within the Empire, Great Britain will become economically less dependent upon the United States, and an important step will be taken toward uniting the constituent units of the empire through the exchange of products.

Under normal conditions India ranks second after the United States in point of cotton production with an annual crop running to some four or five million bales of 400 pounds each. The cotton is inferior in quality, and but little India cotton is employed by Lancashire spinners. Experts, however, are of the opinion that a quality of cotton suitable for the cultivation of high-grade cotton adapted to the needs of Lancashire. Dating thirty years back, when British engineers began to effect a true cotton of the Nile for irrigation purposes, the Egyptian crop steadily increased until a total of over 2,500,000 cantons were attained. A canton, roughly, equals 100 pounds. During the war production fell to 5,000,000 cantons, and this probably represents a fair average of what can be expected from Egypt until some remedy is found for the unsatisfactory condition of drainage in the Delta. Experiments are of the opinion that when reclamation and irrigation projects now under consideration have been put through the Egyptian production may be raised by some 3,000,000 cantons. A beginning has already been made of cotton growing in the Sudan. The most promising latent and undeveloped territory lies immediately south of Khartoum in the alluvial triangle of land situated on the banks of the Nile. This area, known as Gezira, is regarded as one of the most promising districts for the development of cotton growing. A barrage of the Nile is to be undertaken which will in time render possible the irrigation of some 300,000 acres of land in the Gezira as a first installment, and a further increase to about 1,000,000 acres suitable for cotton growing. Assuming a production of 300 cantons to the acre, which is not extravagant, this area would add 225,000 bales of 400 pounds each to Egypt's crop. A fine type of sea-island cotton to the amount of about 5,000 bales a year is grown in the British West Indies. The sea-island cottons from the West Indies are consumed almost entirely in Lancashire and in Lille, where many of the finest mills work in close alliance with British firms. As a result of a comparatively few years' work a crop of 25,000 bales per annum may be counted on in Uganda, British East Africa. M. W. McConnell, chairman of the Fine Cotton Spinners and Doublers Association, estimates that a crop of 1,000,000 bales may be expected before many years from that remote time when the possibilities of the Empire. He speaks of the possibilities of Nigeria as being practically limitless from the standpoint of cotton growing. Beginnings have also been made in cotton cultivation in Nyassa and Rhodesia and the Union of South Africa. The main difficulties about agricultural production in equatorial Africa have to do with labor and transportation. It is extremely difficult to interest people of low culture in any enterprise that does not yield immediate results in increasing their food supply; as cotton cannot be eaten, its production holds small attraction for the natives. The lack of transportation facilities for an article so bulky as raw cotton calls for no special comment. Cotton is being grown experimentally in Mesopotamia. Seed farms have been laid out for the purpose of providing sufficient supply of commercial seed for the commencement of cotton growing on a large scale in 1921. Experimentally a cotton not unlike the best Egyptian strains and altogether suitable to Lancashire has been grown in Mesopotamia. Climatically and from the standpoint of soil and irrigation, there seems to be no special obstacle to the production of cotton in the valleys of the Tigris and the Euphrates comparable to the types produced in Egypt.

IMMIGRATION INTO CANADA (Special to The Times) Ottawa, June 16.—In April and May the first two months of the fiscal year, 30,000 immigrants came to Canada. Of the 15,052 who came in May the British Isles provided 8,476. The United States 5,033 and other countries 154. To the end of March, last year, saw an inflow of 146,477. Of these 100,418 came through ocean ports and the remainder from the United States. In 1919 the total was 117,236, but only 67,180 came from Europe. The movement is thus steadily growing. Nearly one third of those presenting themselves at the Canadian border last year were refused admission mainly on account of lacking the necessary amount of money and others because they were really making an indirect passage to Canada from Europe through the United States. QUEBEC FOREST FIRES ARE UNDER CONTROL Quebec, June 16.—(Canadian Press)—The forest fires which have been raging for the last few days in the neighborhood of Chandler, are now reported under control. Only excellent work by the employees of the Chicoutimi Pulp Company, it is said, saved the whole district. Manitoba Methodists, Winnipeg, June 16.—Rev. R. E. McCollough of Roland, Man., was elected president of the Methodist laymen's conference yesterday. Dr. C. W. Saleeby, a noted British scientist, spoke on prohibition and later left for Ottawa.

RUSSIAN FOREIGN TRADE ENDANGERED Committee to Combat Outer Revolution Uses Draconian Measures—Holding 1 Refugees. Riga, Latvia, May 25.—(A. P. mail).—Newspapers in the Baltic states say that, regardless of reforms recently made in Russia by the Bolshevik regime, the power of the "Tchechevaliki," Extraordinary Committee, to combat counter revolution, continues to grow. It has become a menace even to foreign trade relations of Russia. This organization, commonly known as the "Cheka," acting independently of all other government departments, credited by the papers here with power to throw suspected persons in jail without preliminary trial, and to order their execution with little or no hearing. "In regard to the relations between the Soviet government and foreign countries," says the Riga Rundschau, "most understand that as long as the Extraordinary Commission continues to act with supreme power and even the right to oppose the plans of 80 Russian government institutions, trade and other relations concluded between Russia and the west can never be definite or regular results." "If the Extraordinary Committee would confine its arbitrary activity to internal affairs only, we might overcome the existing difficulties, but it is in regard to the fulfillment of its duties without preliminary trial, and its almighty institution interferes with humanity. It is not necessary to enunciate the various cases which justify its assertion. Hundreds of war prisoners, who, by virtue of peace treaties, are released are kept prisoners by it of that body. Dozens who are freed and other agree to leave Riga. Trains with refugees are held up by it of this institution, revisions are made and many persons ordered to leave trains."

STUDENTS UNFAIR AT EXAMS AND 8 ARE EXPELLED

Five Others Suspended from Toronto University—Impersonating and Copying. Toronto, June 16.—Eight students have been expelled from Toronto University definitely and five others have been suspended for varying terms for impersonating and copying at the spring examinations. The names are not mentioned. In the case of the expelled students the examinations of the present year are cancelled and they are debarred from registering in any other department of the university. Some are refused registration for the sessions of 21-22 and 22-23. Three of the expelled students, according to a statement issued by the caput of the university, secured a copy of the paper on which they should have written and on the excuse of writing on another subject left the university halls, elsewhere, and in the confusion at the close of the period of examination submitted their answers to the presiding officer. The university authorities explain that the irregularities were due in part, to the large numbers of students writing on examinations and the impossibility of having one seat assigned permanently to each student. Steps are being taken to prevent a recurrence of such irregularities. At the same time the caput, expresses the conviction "that the overwhelming sentiment of the students in colleges and faculties is thoroughly honorable."

S., was cheered for still stronger unity for the purpose of peace between the two nations. His address was given at the commencement exercise of Elmira College for Women. He spoke from the pulpit of the late Rev. Thomas K. Beecher. He left last night to continue a brief speaking trip in the Middle West.

WESTERN CROP REPORT BETTER

Winnipeg, June 16.—During the last week the weather has been ideal over the three western provinces for rapid growth of the crops and soil moisture and other conditions continue excellent. It is said in the weekly report of the Grain Trade News today. "The banks, railways and government reports all state that prospects at present are better than they have been any year since 1915. Reports of damage by grasshoppers in all three provinces and cut worms in Alberta are fairly numerous and scattered, but an excellent organization has been built up for fighting these pests and no alarm is felt."

EAST END CASE

Policeman Lindsay on Stand Yesterday—More Evidence—Judgment on Friday.

The case against Frederick Hayes, charged with assaulting Policeman Lindsay while the latter was in the discharge of duty on the East End baseball grounds on June 7, was before the police court again yesterday afternoon. Two witnesses swore that they had smelled opium on the breath of Officer Lindsay the night in question. One witness placed on the stand who denied that there was any odor of liquor on Lindsay's breath on the night that the incident occurred and Lindsay himself swore that day. The defence brought out the fact that Policeman Lindsay had been dismissed from the force about 18 years ago for fighting. The magistrate said that Lindsay had hit Lindsay on the mouth and had thrown him into a building. He said that in the arm room when he called the officer the latter had struck him, knocking him down. Lindsay, when recalled, admitted that he had been requested to sign from the force for fighting with a citizen about five years ago, and that was off the force about one year before he was reinstated.

At Ambury, N. The men, members of the Eagle Hose and Engine company, a volunteer organization, were on their way to a small warehouse when the accident happened.

A LUCKY BABY THAT IS BORN ON THE OCEAN—London, June 16—Expectant mothers are taking transatlantic trips in order that their babies be born at sea, the Cunard line has offered. The reason is that invariably a collection is made for the baby, sometimes as much as $2,500 is handed to the mother. Such money, properly invested in the child's best interests, totals a small fortune after the age of twenty-one years.

EVER-BEARING ORANGE TREE PLACED UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Tampa, Fla., June 16—An ever-bearing orange tree which citrus fruit growers believe is destined to revolutionize the orange industry of the state if not the entire country, has been discovered by horticulturists in a small grove at Avon Park, near here, and to protect the specimen its purchasers have placed around it a heavy wire fence twenty feet in height and stationed guards day and night.

The tree has been in bearing continuously eight years but until recently its existence was known only to the owner and several neighbors who, according to citrus experts, did not realize its value but regarded it merely as a freak of nature. Several of South Florida's largest citrus growers have organized a syndicate, purchased the tree, leased the ground upon which it stands and already are taking steps to develop its possibilities by propagating it through budwood, with the expectation of having 250,000 trees ready for setting out in groves by 1922.

The ever-bearing tree is about fifteen years old but its origin is a mystery. Like the famous Temple orange tree discovered some years ago on the estate of the late W. C. Temple, one time National League baseball magnate, the new specimen stands alone as the first of an entirely new branch of the citrus family and its owners believe it will bring forth stock true to the parent tree and, as in the case of the Temple tree, be worth millions to the men who had foresight to grasp its possibilities.

Apparently authentic records show that for eight years the tree has bloomed and borne fruit continuously and that at no time during that period has it failed to have blossoms and fruit at all stages of maturity. Its outward appearance the fruit is a Valencia except that it is slightly more oblong than that variety. The meat in texture and flavor is that of a perfect Valencia, the variety that brings the top price in the markets.

The ever-bearing Florida lemon has been common for many years but citrus experts here declare they never before have known of an ever-bearing orange.

HARRY FLYNN HAS RESIGNED

Quits as Organizer of G. A. U. V. at Request of Executive of Association.

Toronto, June 16—Harry Flynn, Dominion organizer of the Grand Army of United Veterans, has resigned his position at the request of the executive board. Announcement was made last night by the board that Flynn was granted thirty days leave of absence on account of ill health, but was asked to tender his resignation first. Flynn returned to his home in Massachusetts a few days ago, and was last night struck off the rolls of the G. A. U. V. as an executive officer.

Herbert Capewell, who accompanied Flynn on his organizing tours, was also struck off the rolls.

INCREASE IN B. C. GOLD PRODUCTION

Vancouver, B. C., June 16—British Columbia's output of gold is expected to reach a value of $25,000,000 in 1921, an increase of a million dollars over 1920. The Rossland mine, which yielded $6,000,000 last year, are expected to yield $1,500,000 this year. The Surf Inlet mine, on Princess Royal Island, should run to $1,000,000 and the Premier Mine on Salmon River, should get into full operation very soon. The Granby Smelter at Anxoy, will probably produce $200,000 worth of gold as a by-product of its copper ores, and there are several gold mines now in operation, such as the Sheep Creek, Bridge River, Bedwell River and Coquihalla River properties.

DOG SAVES BABY.

Winnipeg, June 16—Snatched from danger of death beneath a railway train by a big St. Bernard dog and restored to his parents' arms by his owner was the thrilling end of two-year-old Leo Savoie's ramble through the woods near his home in St. Boniface recently. The little lad was found fast asleep on one of the Union Stockyard's tracks by the St. Bernard, and with all the instincts of a true dog rescuer, the St. Bernard picked the child up and carried it out of harm's way to his master. Leo wandered away from his home at ten o'clock in the morning and was not found until 4.30 p. m. The child was saved from death by a narrow margin as the regular train would pass over the track about five o'clock.

THIS CANINE LANDED IN CLOVER SURELY

Vancouver, June 16—Such a strawberry shortcake as small boys dream of was to have graced the banquet table of the Merritt board of trade recently. And what befell the confection was like a small boy's nightmare. Six feet in diameter and two feet high, the cake contained bushels of strawberries covered with whipped cream a foot thick. As they bore it from the tray to the banquet hall, a big collie dog leaped from the sidewalk into the lake of whipped cream and fruit.

TOO MUCH SALT BAD FOR PHYSICIAN

Chicago, June 12—Beware of too much salt. Use the salt shaker sparingly at mealtime, if you would travel far and not fall by the wayside. Excess of salt is the cause of the inflammatory stages of many diseases that appear in the human body.

That is what Dr. Charles Woodward of Chicago told the Illinois State Electric Medical Society. "Fifteen to thirty grains of salt a day," he added, "is the maximum amount that should be taken into the human system."

The Premier left Battle Creek, Michigan on Sunday night and was expected to arrive in Montreal last night. He was accompanied by Mrs. Murray with their son, Mr. Wilfrid L. Murray, Barrister. It is expected that the Premier will return to Nova Scotia by the end of the week and will be in Halifax yet whether he will come into Halifax or proceed to his home in North Sydney. Mr. Murray has been nearly two months in the Sanatorium at Bath, England, where he has greatly benefited from his rest there.

TANK THAT SWIMS

Paris, June 16—By imagining a tramway car with a tank superimposed you have a picture of the amphibious vehicle designed by a French engineer, M. Freppinon. Carrying five passengers, this machine climbed various obstacles ashore and then, sliding down a bank into the sea, made a "voyage" driven by a propeller. Reaching the shore again, it climbed back on dry land.

DRINK BAN IN WILL

London, June 16—In his will the late C. O. Atkinson stipulated that bequests to his two sons were conditional on their sobriety. Both sons are teetotalers.

CELEBRATION CALLED OFF

The celebration in commemoration of the signing of the Magna Charta by King John of England on June 15, 1215, which was to have been held on the King square last evening, was called off on account of the fact that His Honor Lieut.-Governor William Pugsley and His Honor Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen, two of the principal speakers, were out of the city. C. W. Romans, secretary of the local Canadian Club, who was promoting the celebration, said last night that in view of the absence of these men and of the inability of Premier W. E. Foster to attend he had thought it better to cancel the event.

WHERE MONEY FAILS

New York, June 16—Lugi Seriano spent eighteen years running a barber shop in Omaha, and piled up a small fortune, but neglected to learn to read or write. He went back to Italy in 1919, spent his money so freely that he became a social lion and lingered on for more than a year. When he returned he found himself held up by his lack of education. He promised to go to night school if admitted, and his case will go before the board of inquiry on Ellis Island.

COMPANY'S SIDE IS PRESENTED
 P. W. Thomson on Street Railway Case.
 that the cost of living had declined twenty per cent from a year ago.
 He mentioned a statement made by Mr. Sinclair that motormen and conductors earned $44,400 a year; he said that the average wages earned by men was less than $1,000 a year and yet people were complaining.
 Regarding capitalization he said the company was allowed by the legislature to earn eight per cent on the base rate set by them but during the last year they had failed by $94,000 to earn this amount. The loss in the gas services was $124,000. The company carried 22 per cent fewer passengers in May, 1921, than in the same month last year and there was an indication that the traffic would be further reduced. Montreal differed from St. John in that here one-fifth of the population was carried daily while in Montreal the number carried was equal to the population. Since June 18 the losses per diem had been $477, $475, $402, $510, $470 and $480. Only one day showed a profit—$44.
 He gave a statement of the wages paid to motormen and conductors since 1918. From 1918 to 1919 the rate had been 20 cents with four cents extra for training students and snow removal; 1917, 25 to 30 cents an hour, same rate for special service; 1918, 30 cents, with four cents for snow removal and ten cents for training; 1919, 45 cents, no change for special service; 1920, 55 cents with ten cents extra for training and snow removal. The suggested rate was 48 cents with five cents extra for the one man car operation and 10 cents for training and snow removal.
 Mr. Thomson said that if the present employees did not want to work under the new rates and conditions he could fill their places as he had been offered sixty-five motormen and conductors yesterday. He said that the proposed cut in the street railway men's wages was about 11 per cent and in the mechanical department about 20 per cent.
 He said that unless the company could effect a saving the public would be compelled either to do without the street car services or else agree to increase their taxes to have it taken over and operated.
 The company contended, Mr. Thomson said, that living expenses had been reduced more than twenty per cent, that fewer passengers were traveling on the cars, that wages had been reduced in other industries, and that the street railway was not paying its way. He said that the C. P. R. proposed a twelve per cent reduction on July 1.
 He said the company had found it impossible to make any arrangement with the union. Some of the members, however, had expressed their willingness to complete an agreement with the company and the situation must eventually come to the operation of an open shop. He said that he would have the one man car at the foot of King street at 3 o'clock to demonstrate it to the members of the board.
 Referring to Professor Kierstead's report, Mr. Sinclair said the government statistics did not show the living cost reduction as shown by the professor. Mr. Sinclair presented a statement from Forestell Bros., grocers, that the cost of living had not declined more than five per cent since January 1, 1920.
 Mr. Sinclair said that he understood the company had men in the city now who were learning the ropes in the operation of a one-man car. He said that a strike was bad for both the company and the men.
 Mr. Farris said that the employees did not object to a properly equipped safety one-man car. He claimed that the proposed reconstructed car was not safe. He thought it was a matter of safety the men were fighting. He said that the Birney car was allowed to carry thirty-eight passengers, while ninety to 100 passengers were carried at one time here. In a survey made in the city, Mr. Farris said, eighteen out of 10,000 people signified their willingness for the operation of a one-man car, and three voted for a two-man car at all.
 Mr. Thomson said the Birney car cost $10,500 this year; in 1917 it was $6,500; next year it was expected that the price would be back to $6,500. The company was not in a position to buy these cars at present.
 Mr. Sinclair said he could not see how economy could be obtained if the full staff as at present was retained and $800 was spent on remodeling each car, as the overhead costs would be the same.
 Mr. Sinclair asked if the company would be willing to offer fifty-seven cents to the men if the one-man car was operated, the same as now paid in Halifax. He thought the matter should be settled with as little trouble as possible. He thought if he could get some reason for the assurance that none of the men would lose their positions, that the right to choose runs should be as at present, according to seniority, some settlement might be reached. He said it was possible that the one-man car would come to St. John, as it had come to other places. He said he was making this proposition on his own initiative. In the matter of elimination, he thought the last men hired should be the ones to be placed on the spare list.
 To the chairman, Mr. Sinclair said the men in Halifax got fifty-two cents for operating a two-man car and fifty-seven cents for a one-man car. He said there was no indication there would be any change this year.
 F. A. Campbell said Halifax was operating thirty to forty cars. Here there were thirteen cars usually operated. Today the number was fifteen, on account of the street work going on.
 Mr. Sinclair said the agreement should extend over at least one year. He said that if the men were agreeable to his suggestion it would naturally mean that they were willing to recognize the one-man car.
 Mr. Hatheway suggested that Mr. Sinclair, Mr. Farris, Mr. Thomson and Mr. McLean, the company superintendent, meet together this afternoon and discuss the offer of Mr. Sinclair. They agreed to meet at two o'clock.
 Mr. Farris said so far as he was concerned it was more a matter of safety than of wages.
 To the chairman, Mr. Thomson said that the company could not agree to the Halifax scale.
 Mr. Sinclair said that when the wages were according it was customary with street railway companies to try for a long term agreement.
 The board adjourned until three o'clock, when a test will be made of a reconstructed one-man car from the foot of King street.

More of Those Popular Whitney Go-Carts!
 Glance in at our window as you go by and note the attractive solidness of these crack new Whitney Go-Carts. They are displayed there for your attention.
 Just two colors—Ecu and Gray. Some of them have auto hoods and some are without.
 Some with stationary back; others with the drop back and adjustable footrest—to make a full sized carriage for a larger youngster.
 A pleasing feature is the new idea in brakes. A downward motion of the foot puts brake in use or releases it. No longer necessary to spoil a good shine to release the brake.
 Also the Whitney is a roomy affair, and the last word in travel comfort for the precious burden it is intended to carry.

THE C. P. R. BRIDGE

Sir:—On March 14th last the federal department of public works ordered the C. P. R. to suspend work on the new railroad bridge over the reversing falls because of the statement that the new bridge would be 5 1/2 feet lower than the present railway bridge at 75 feet from the centre line of the highway bridge. The department has failed to prove the above statement to be wrong, therefore it remains a fact that the new bridge will afford less clearance than the old in spite of the repeated assurance that it would be 2 1/2 feet higher, there is certainly no law to permit of the placing of a new bridge so as to give less clearance than there is at present. The minister declared that there must be as much clearance as is now there but this is not being carried out.

WANTS STANDARD OF CHILD HEALTH

Doctor Gives Mississippi's as a Model—New York's Anti-Diphtheria Campaign Described.

For popular interest the sessions of the section of the American Medical Association in session in Jordan Hall, Boston, last week, which come under the head of "preventive medicine and public health," held first place in importance. There was a meeting at the Harvard Medical School and Dr. Edith B. Lowry of St. Charles, Ill., opened with a paper on "The State's Standard of Child Health." Her main point was the present lack of any standard of good health. It would be, she said, like telling a child, "Study arithmetic," but to give it nothing in particular. So it is when the State says, "Be in good health," but gives no idea what is the test of being in good health. Here is the standard adopted by Mississippi, which is approved by Dr. Lowry as much better than the lack of standard in most States:

- Ears: (a) hearing normal; (b) no evidence of disease or inflammation. Nose: (a) no adenoids; (b) no other obstruction. Throat: (a) no diseased or enlarged tonsils; (b) no inflammation. Mouth: (a) no unfilled cavities in the teeth; (b) teeth clean, evidencing daily care; (c) gums healthy. Skin: (a) no eruption; (b) scalp clean; (c) scalp free from pediculosis. Lungs: (a) no evidence of disease; (b) chest expansion at least two inches. Vaccination: (a) smallpox; good scar or certificate of recent vaccination. Nutrition: (a) weight normal or not more than 10 per cent. overweight; (b) free from hookworm; negative laboratory report. Dr. Lowry told of shocking conditions

EGG OF BLUE GOOSE IS SOUGHT IN BAFFIN LAND

A hunt for the egg of the blue goose will be one of the odd errands of the Donald B. McMillan expedition to Baffin Land this year if the hopes of ornithologists are realized. The adult blue goose is a variety with a grayish brown body that gets its name from the blue-gray of its wing coverts, is not uncommon in the United States, but its breeding haunts have been a subject of much speculation among bird lovers and its nest and eggs have never been observed. An announcement by Dr. McMillan that on his last trip to the Arctic he had noticed fledglings of these great varieties which interested students of bird life, with the result that one of the scientists who will accompany the present expedition will be commissioned to hunt for the egg of the blue goose.

GERMANS ARE SKEPTICAL OF RUSSIAN PACT

Cologne, Germany, May 30.—(Associated Press, by Mail)—German business interests and the German press are extremely skeptical about the value of the preliminary trade agreement entered into with the Russian Soviet Republic by the German government, and frankly declare there is little reason to hope for immediate trade with Russia on any considerable scale. The fact that the Soviet Republic still insists upon monopolizing all import and export business and had the preliminary trade agreement written with that object in view confuses German business men, who profess to be unable to comprehend the document.

Ottawa, June 16—(Canadian Press)—For the first time since before the war the re-organized batteries of the Canadian artillery have resumed their annual field firing at Petawawa. Mothers! This will interest you. This is how we safeguard the health of you children! Children are the greatest consumers of ice cream, and they should be for it is the finest food they can eat. To make it 100 per cent. safe for you, and your children, we are spending thousands of dollars manufacturing ice cream under the patented Heathmade Carbonated method, science's newest and greatest contribution to food sanitation. We consider the added cost worth while because it makes it 100 per cent. safe for you and your children. Heathmade Ice Cream is always the purest. Prof. W. P. Heath, a specialist in food purity, discovered that he could increase the purity of ice cream to an infinite degree by freezing it in a sterile, germ-proof atmosphere instead of with air, which is never perfectly pure. We have secured the rights to manufacture our ice cream under the Heath patents. This super-pure ice cream is what we offer you. Do you know what makes Ice Cream smooth? If you examine ice cream under a microscope you'll find it is full of tiny air cells, or bubbles. It is these minute cells of air which make ice cream eatable instead of being frozen hard like ice. Ordinary ice cream is frozen with air. Air is always dangerous in food. When you put up fruit you fill the jars full, then you sterilize them to drive out all air and seal them tightly with rubber rings to exclude all air. If you don't you know they will spoil. The air which will spoil canned fruits or vegetables should not be used in making ice cream. So we freeze our ice cream in a sterile atmosphere of pure, germ-proof gas. We substitute carbonation for aeration. So we add a final safeguard around this delicious product. Purity Ice Cream's Carbonated. Carbonating ice cream increases its flavor and richness. You may have noticed how carbonated water brings out the flavor of fruit juices and syrups in your ice cream soda. Carbonating ice cream has the same effect. It makes a richer, more appetizing, smoother ice cream. An ice cream you will like much better and which the kiddies will love. Give them all they want of this wonderful ice cream. It is splendid food for their growing young bodies. It will make them ruddy with health and strength. NOTABLE RECORD OF COMMUNITY WORK

What East End Improvement League Has Done Since May, 1919.

A Fine Example—Commissioner Frink Misinformed as to City's Part in the Work—The Members Themselves Did It.

To The Editor of The Evening Times:—Sir—The East End Improvement League held its regular meeting on Monday evening at which the several committees submitted their reports which showed the League to be in a flourishing condition. The grounds committee reported they had extended the grounds about 25 yards more, built a new grand stand, transferred the old one, and laid out a new diamond on the South end corner of the field. When the fence is completed the East End League will have a playground second to none. The committee also reported the equipment for the children's grounds was being manufactured and would be in place for the grand opening July 1st when children's sports, races and refreshments will be furnished by the League. During the meeting the report, published in the daily papers of Friday June 10th, of the city council's meeting, and Commissioner Frink's remarks at same in particular, were discussed, and exception taken to the commissioner's remarks as to the city supporting or financing the East End Improvement League grounds. A short statement regarding the East End grounds, the help received from the city since its beginning, its aims and objects, was given by the executive and the same is left with the public to decide as to how far any assistance was received by the League outside of the efforts of its own members. On May 12, 1919, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Belding called a meeting of citizens of the East End for the purpose of forming a Community League. This meeting was fairly well attended and from the outset considerable interest was manifested by those present. After stating the object of the meeting Mr. Belding said the Playgrounds Association had secured the field in the rear of Thorne Avenue. At this time it was one of the worst dumps of which our city could boast. In fact the Board of Health had seen fit to close it up, as it was beginning to be a menace to the health of those living in the vicinity. Mr. Belding offered this field to the East End to improve and make into a playground for the East End. A few evenings after the above meeting the male members of the newly formed League assembled with picks, shovels, etc., and began a task which has never been surpassed before or since by voluntary labor, to transform a dump into an up to date playground. The encouragement received at this time could be measured with an inch rule, as we except the Playgrounds Association and the founder of the League, Mr. Belding. The knackers we had always with us. During 1919 the members of the League worked every evening, both before and after ball games, always striving to enlarge the grounds and make them a place where the citizens of the city could enjoy an hour or two of sport at very little cost. The finances which the League had to start with on May 12 were exactly $3.95, proceeds of a collection taken up at the first meeting. Membership tickets were issued and sold at a very small sum, just about sufficient to pay for printing them, but they served the purpose of letting the public know there was an East End League in existence. During our improvements Commissioner Fisher sent the city scrapper with four horses and two men, and one single team with driver, for three nights. This was the extent of the city's assistance during 1919. In the winter of 1919 the League tried to make a skating ring on the grounds, but owing to the soft condition and the tides from Courtenay Bay undermining the material this could not be done. In 1920 the Playgrounds Association requested a grant from the Council of $500 for the South, East, North and West End Improvement Leagues, which was granted; but with a string to it providing that receipts and bills of the League must be presented to the commissioner of public works before the grant would be approved. Our League carried on in 1920 and made sufficient progress, out of our dump to have the Olympic trial 15 mile road race and other field sports, under the direction of the Playgrounds Association, held on our grounds. Our children's playgrounds were opened on May 24th with flag raising, singing by the children, and children's sports, for which prizes had been procured by the League and its friends. From this on during the season the "older children" enjoyed games by the city league and intermediate league, while the "kiddies" enjoyed their own games and sports on their own grounds separated entirely from the athletic field. The city's assistance during 1920 was a scrapper and four horses with two men, one cart and driver. We paid the men time and one half for every hour they worked on the grounds. In fact on two occasions we've practically held up, until this was paid. In order to get the $500 grant already referred to, through the commissioner of public works, it was necessary for our treasurer to produce the receipts and bills for expenditures for the season to the commissioner in order to show how our money was being handled. However money was being handled. The playgrounds Association for the Boys' Club, on City Road. We were able to do this by having run a fair on the fits to be derived by the city by having the show on our lot, we did not hesitate long before deciding what to do, and made our own terms with Mr. Warner. Our league in the past has stood for a lot of cheap advice from would-be advisers and critics, but we think the time has come to call a halt. For the information of whom it may concern we would state that our league meets on the second Monday of every month, and if there is any advice or criticism to offer we will be only too glad to receive and act on same. We are out for good, clean sport for the children and grown-ups, and trust that the public will see their way to support us in the future as they have done in the past.

PROJECT TO RECLAIM SOME 800,000 ACRES
Winnipeg, June 16—With the object of reclaiming about 800,000 acres in Carrot River district for cultivation, a survey has been started by the Dominion government, according to Hon. Edward Brown, provincial treasurer, who returned from The Pas recently. The territory in question is subject to periodical flooding by the Saskatchewan river, which overflows its banks for a distance of about fifty miles in some parts of the north. The prevention of flooding is an engineering problem, and if it can be solved splendid results should accrue, said Mr. Brown. A big staff has been put on to the survey. Mr. Brown stated that Professor Wallace, commissioner for the Northwest, had gone to the Opasquah district with a representative of the Saskatchewan government to investigate the oil discovery made there recently. The district, part of which is in Manitoba and part in Saskatchewan, has every appearance of being an oil-bearing district, said the minister.

grounds during August, at which our friends saw fit to patronize and assist, and which went a long way to relieve the strain taken on themselves by the members of the League. During all this season from April to October the members were still working on the grounds, always extending the grounds and better them not for personal interests but for the good of the community in general and clean sport in particular. If the work done by the members of the East End Improvement League was summed up in dollars and cents the $10,000 voted to Mr. Frink for the Rockwood playgrounds would sink into insignificance and still he admits those playgrounds are not ready and will not be ready by July 1st. In the early part of 1921 the Maritime Amateur Skating Championships were held on our Rink the first time these races were skated out of doors. Our rink was patronized by thousands of children and citizens from all parts of the city and everyone seemed pleased with our efforts to provide them with a recreation centre.

During the years 1919 and 1920 the income derived from the grounds was simply voluntary collections, which sometimes did not amount to enough to buy a ball. At other times, of course, our collections were fairly large, and this helped to balance things. During the present year our assistance from the city has been the loan of a scrapper for three days. We paid for horses and drivers for the time the scrapper was in use, and paid city men time and a half for one night. The above is a summing up of the activities of the East End League, and the help financial and otherwise, received from the city, although, as is reported, Mr. Frink said the city financed the work. The actual friends of the East End are the drivers of teams who went out of their way many times to dump their loads into the lot; the friends who assisted in many ways the building up of the grounds; the ball players who came

MAN O'WAR MAY BE RETURNED TO THE TRACK

Reported That Samuel D. Riddle is Considering Racing His Great Colt Again.

The public interest in the recent reports that Man o' War might be brought back to the races this season has been so great that it may bring about a decision on the part of Samuel D. Riddle and the members of his family to put the great son of Fair Play into training again, says the New York Times. Man o' War is at present in the stud in Kentucky, but efforts have been made to induce the owner to change his plans, and the subject is now getting serious consideration.

Another factor that may influence a change in the plans is the lowering of some of the records which the great horse made last year. Two of these marks have already been eclipsed in a season that has only fairly started. Audacious lowered the mile record of 1:35 4-5, and Goaler lowered the mile and a furlong mark of 1:40 1-5. There was naturally some pride felt by Mr. Riddle over the fact that his horse made such records, and it is known that he would be pleased to have Man o' War come back and establish some new marks. There is little doubt among horsemen that the cold could set new records.

It has developed that Louis Feustel, trainer of the Glen Riddle Farm Stable, is anxious to have Man o' War race again. Not all the members of the Riddle family have agreed to the suggestion, however, but it is said that a conference will be held soon at which the matter will be considered.

There is no reason why Man o' War should not come back and be as great as ever. A short season in the stud should not necessarily have any effect upon his racing ability. There have been many examples of horses coming back under such circumstances and racing to their best form. Pontiac and Ogden were among the horses that have made such comebacks successfully.

Man o' War was slightly injured in his match race with Sir Barton at Windsor last October, a wact that remained a stable secret until the present. He bruised a tendon in running over the uneven track, but did no serious damage, and he has long since recovered. There seems no doubt that he could come back as sound as ever.

Louis Feustel would like to have Man o' War try for a mile record against time, with the hope of lowering the mark made by Roamer when he made the distance in 1:34 4-5. Feustel believes that over the Belmont course in its present condition and carrying the same weight as did Roamer, 110 pounds, Man o' War could cover the mile in very close to 1:32. It will be recalled that the day he set his mile record of 1:35 4-5 he was galloping through the stretch and was never let down. It was evident at the time that he could have made much better time had he been extended.

Those who have seen Man o' War in the stud say that he has not become gross, and that the task of preparing him would be comparatively easy. Under such circumstances it would not be difficult to bring him back to the races in the autumn.

HOW BODIES FALL.

Answering the question, "Why is it that falling bodies in the air manage to reach a spot directly below them if the earth is in continual motion?" Edgar Lucien Larkin, in the New York American, says:

"They do not fall on a spot exactly below the point where released and let fall. Go up to the centre of the dome of the capitol at Washington, or centre of the interior of the Washington monument, and drop an absolutely round ball in absolutely still air, and it will strike the floor slightly to the east of the precise vertical. The earth revolves from west to east, therefore dome and top of monument traverse wider circles than do their bottoms, hence move faster. The ball, having motion of starting point, falls to the east of base—vertical—point True of all points on earth except at poles."

SUFFERED DAY AND NIGHT

The Tortures of Dyspepsia Relieved By "Fruit-a-tives"

Little Bras D'or, C. B. "I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches and did not sleep well at night. Finally, a friend told me to try "Fruit-a-tives." In a week, the Constipation was corrected and soon I was free of pain, headachy clear, and miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous." ROBERT NEWTON, 406, a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

as good as at any time this year, and crop reports are quite uniformly favorable. Indeed, reports from the biggest winter wheat growing areas are better than they were at the date the latest government report was gathered. Unemployment returns show a slight increase, but the bulk of this increase is of a voluntary character, in that it is due rather to strikes than to forced shutdowns. At an increasing number of points, however, there is evidence that acceptance of reduced wages, this especially in the building trades, the railroad situation is not entirely clear, owing to the talk of possible resistance to the reductions ordered in railway wages. In an allied line of industry, car building, however, the employes have decided to forego a strike vote. Complaints as to retail traders' resistance to lower prices holding up readjustment are no less numerous, but everywhere the tone of reports varies, with retailers and department stores in large centres more aggressive in seeking business, while small-town retailers and country merchants are sending less favorable reports. More and more it is becoming evident that there is considerable potential demand where prices are made attractive and publicity is given the off springs. Differences of opinion as to the matter of possible stabilization still exist, but the decline in prices in May was small, both here and abroad. The trend of food prices is still upward from the low levels of a few weeks ago. Bradstreet's Weekly Food Index making a further gain, but in prices as a whole decreases still exceed gains two to one.

The stock market has tended downward with new lower levels reached in industrial stock everager. Exchange has weakened on German reparation payment arrangements. Call money has eased, following first of month activities and French loan payments. The money is still firm. The week's fall-ure total is large, due to a full week following a holiday period and inclusion of numerous embarrassments growing out of the Tulsa fire.

BIG LUMBER YARD FOR PARRSBORO, N. S.

(Record.) The storage at Parrsboro of four million feet of lumber, owned by the British government was arranged for this week and the collection, transport and yarding of this will commence in a few days. Detailed instructions are received from Montreal.

This lumber is a part of that delivered to the British government under the B. L. Tupper contract and it is at present stored at different points along the Bay Shore.

The intention is to collect all these small stores and concentrate them at Parrsboro for shipment.

The property just inside the Coal Company's shipping pier has been arranged for and considerable improvement will be made to it. A heavy plank will be placed over the pier and the old wharf, holding gears and other machinery placed in position in order to handle the lumber cheaply and quickly. Yard room aggregating 40,000 square feet will be necessary to accommodate the whole consignment.

The hoisting engine, gears and other necessary machinery for operation which is now lying at the wharf will be used for this purpose, the necessary adjustments for it having been concluded with Mayor Handley, Engineer Brown, who operated the engine at the wharf, will be in charge of the machinery at the yard.

The lumber will be brought to Parrsboro by lighter, which in itself will provide considerable employment both here and at the different points along the Bay Shore.

It is probable that the larger proportion of this lumber will be disposed of in European markets, while the remainder cargoes for a number of vessels. The property chosen was selected to provide both rail and water facilities, and lightering.

CANADIAN ZINC PRODUCTION QUADRUPLED SINCE 1916

London, June 16—(Canadian Press)—A report issued by the Imperial Mineral Resources Bureau shows that the output of zinc from Canadian mines has more than quadrupled since 1916.

Previous to that year the output was negligible and the Bureau did not keep a record of it. According to figures given in the report the output from Canadian mines in 1916 was 2,655. In 1919 production had jumped to 11,000 tons.

Reporting on the deposits within the Empire the report attached special significance to the zinc-lead-silver ores in British Columbia and to the development of proper handling facilities at Trail, B. C.

Much still remains to be done before the British Empire can be considered self-supporting in the matter of spelter production, the report stated. In this connection the construction of a successful electrolytic-treatment plant at Trail, with a capacity of 15,000 tons of spelter, a year, was given as a hopeful indication.

HAIR THE SHORT SKIRT.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson Declares It's the Outcome of Woman's Freedom. "Everybody is picking on the woman these days because of their abbreviated skirts," the physician-lecturer-author

DECLARED

"Folks are also complaining of her Amazon-like development, her determination to take part in the world's affairs and her refusal to admit herself the inferior of man."

"The short skirt is the outcome of two of the most serious movements in the last forty years. There was a time when people held up their hands in holy horror if a girl so much as climbed a tree or jumped over a ditch. For a girl to take exercise was terrible. A girl's dress was abominable. I am glad to say those days are gone, never to return."

"Now girls dress for their games, and they're better, happier and more wholesome than ever."

"The second movement was freedom from home drudgery," he continued. "Housework is a relic of the Dark Ages. Women rebel at it, yet I admit dishes won't wash themselves and even a vacuum cleaner has to be guided. A girl's graceful costume which has built itself up around it, is the healthiest, most beautiful and most artistic gown woman has ever worn," the doctor declared.

He added that men were worried because women were "giving them a run for their money" in business life, and he added the prediction that in this field also the "female of the species" would give the male even more to worry about in the next generation than in the present.

GREATEST GATE IN SPORT HISTORY. Million Dollars Receipts Expected for the Dempsey-Carpenter Bout—$650,000 in Already—The Willard-Dempsey Encounter Netted $452,000.

New York, June 15.—The Dempsey-Carpenter boxing bout for the world's championship at Jersey City, July 2, will draw the greatest "gate" in the history of sport.

A month before the fight, Promoter "Tex" Rickard announced that the seat sales totalled $650,000. Since that day, the sale of all seats has gone on briskly.

Those figures will eclipse by far all previous records for ring contests or any other sport in this country. The Willard-Dempsey battle at Toledo, O., which established the previous record, drew $451,000 at the box office, a puny figure as compared with what the coming spectacle will attract.

THE BOLSHEVIK SYSTEMS OF PROPAGANDA

Children, Even Those of Anti-Communists, are Taught Doctrines—Classes for Political Prisoners.

Riga, May 30.—(Associated Press, by mail.)—Most of the younger generation of Russians are Bolshevik, says Captain Merton C. Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., the American flyer who was captured by Russians while serving in the Polish army and recently escaped from a Moscow prison. He attributes this to the Bolshevik educational system, under which Communism is taught in the schools.

"The schools are all read," he said, "and the educational programme prescribes that the first thing to be developed in the mind of the child is the 'revolutionary conscience.' In prison, I saw, several times, children visit their parents, the latter being anti-Bolshevik. The children were 'reds' and accepted their parents' imprisonment philosophically, wondering how they could go against the tenets they had been taught to absorb in the class room."

Visiting with this system of educating the children, said Captain Cooper, is the wonderful propaganda system by which the Bolsheviks attempt to convert the adults.

"Their Communist lecturers work even in the prisons, trying to convert the prisoners," he continued. "They even tried it on me. There were lectures or classes held very frequently. If a man said he was converted and could convince the prison committee of that fact, he generally was released.

"Further in the line of skilled propaganda was the excellent treatment of the Polish war prisoners just before they were returned to Poland, under the repatriation agreement of the Polish-Russian peace treaty. Before each bunch was repatriated all of the soldiers in it were given new clothes and new shoes, being well fed for several weeks, so that when they arrived in Poland they looked well fed, well dressed and, in short, were walking advertisements for the government."

Generally, Captain Cooper said, conditions in the prison were very bad from the standpoint of diet, but that he received no personal ill-treatment.

DEFINITE STEP FOR A CANADIAN LEGION

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Toronto, June 15.—A definite start toward the formation of a Canadian legion of war veterans for the purpose of uniting all ex-members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force into one organization was made today when five veterans at a meeting decided themselves to undertake to bring about a union of returned men. The five leaders of this movement are Robert H. Harrison, A. M. Hunter, J. L. Howe, J. Fred Marsh and P. O. G. Wood. Although all are members of existing veteran organizations, they were not authorized by their societies to take the step they had.

NO SHORTAGE IN THE TABERNACLE BUILDING FUNDS

Trustees and Present Pastor Hold Meeting and Issue Full Statement Explaining the Situation—Better Book-keeping Hereafter.

The trustees of the Tabernacle Baptist church building fund at a meeting last night considered the accounts and found that all monies had been accounted for. The board of trustees issued the following report, which explains the situation:

"Inasmuch as there has been considerable dissatisfaction arising, both within and without the church, respecting monies raised, and purported to be raised, for the New Soldiers' Memorial Tabernacle building fund, under the leadership of Rev. F. P. Dennison, we, the pastor and members of the board of trustees of the Tabernacle Baptist church, having examined all material at hand in connection with the fund raised, submit the following report:

"First—All books, letters and receipts available were looked over and as far as possible audited.

"Second—The records being incomplete, because (a) the major portion of the funds received were unthinkably entered into the record book in a lump sum by the treasurer, and receipt cards, for convenience and to save expense, being sent, left no vouchers or stubs on hand. (b) About one-third of the letters received did not specify the sum included, and had to be rated by the auditors as per the rank of the soldier whose name was sent in, consequently an accurate audit could not be made.

"Third—Letters received by the treasurer in almost all cases contained very small amounts, where specified. Only one or two containing $20 and $25, a number of $5, but mostly $1 and $2 each. The amounts being small counted slowly, and so far as can be ascertained less than $400 came through the mails, accompanied by the names of soldiers, which we still retain for record in the new building when completed.

"Fourth—Mr. Dennison's receipt books show an amount of nearly $400 received income. These books contain some blank stubs, and it is known that a number of those contributing did not receive receipts, some not wishing one and others being overlooked.

"Fifth—That $409.06 were taken in: through special offering June 17, 1917, $208; July 7, by pie social, $55; July 22, Y. P. S. C. E., $49.06; and on the 18th Aug. from the S. S., $17; and $100 through a special gift, making in all $409.06. The total sum received from the campaign was $1,421.56, thus leaving about $200 unaccounted for over and above the vouchers and letters in hand, that is, about $200 more in hand than we have records of.

Treasurer's Explanation.

"Sixth—That the definite personal explanation made by Messrs. Patterson and Pitt, secretary and treasurer respectively of the fund, clearly set forth all financial dealings with Mr. Dennison as perfectly satisfactory and straight. And that Messrs. Patterson and Pitt enjoy the confidence and esteem of the church they serve, being returned as members of the board of deacons by a large vote in the last church elections.

"Seventh—That the expenses of raising the money was $418.80, and the explanation why more money was not seured from the amount of advertising done, was the direct and indirect opposition to the scheme as projected. $1,000 was paid on the property acquired adjoining the church for building site.

"Eighth—That in addition to the above mentioned fund, the sum of $458.28 from the will of $500 less expenses, of the late Mr. Shaw, secured through Mr. Dennison, was paid into the hands of the trustees after Mr. Dennison's departure, and placed in the bank.

"Ninth—That we believe various false statements have been spread abroad making it appear a much larger sum has come to hand, (a) through definite false statements, or (b), through the fact that certain men of the city had promised a considerable sum when the work was started.

"Tenth—That we deprecate the situation which has placed our church under suspicion, and hereafter shall take all precautionary measures to prevent the recurrence of any such conditions.

"Eleventh—That the building fund as carried forward under our present pastor, Mr. Tedford, has been audited and found correct. The sum of $1,079.88 having been received and placed in the bank of Nova Scotia, Haymarket square. And since time of Mr. Tedford's leaving for the west one year ago, $110 has been added to the above amount. At the present time there is on hand the sum of $1,100.

"In conclusion, we desire to express our sincere appreciation to each and every one of the constituency whose gift has come in for helping forward the work in this section of the city, and in the course of time, just as soon as possible, we anticipate the erection of a commodious church home.

"Respectfully submitted,
"REV. A. LAWRENCE TEDFORD,
"Pastor.

An Unclean Mattress is a Menace to Health

PERHAPS you have sometimes wondered what becomes of all the old mattresses—Mattresses you and your neighbors have thrown away—

Mattresses discarded by hospitals, and by homes visited with infectious disease—

But the chances are you have never dreamed how many such mattresses are taken apart, the stuffing "renovated," put into fresh ticking and slipped back into the stores by irresponsible manufacturers.

Canada has no Dominion-wide pure bedding laws—nothing but the conscience of the maker to assure you of mattresses well-built—sanitary all the way through.

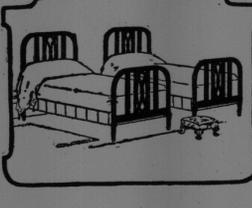

Simmons Limited are the originators of Beds, Springs and Mattresses built for sleep!

As the largest single factor in the bedding business, we are concerned for the integrity of the industry, and the consequent well-being of the people of Canada.

We are concerned to protect you against old materials, dirty materials, infected materials in your mattresses.

We guarantee that every mattress bearing the Label of Simmons Limited is built for sleep, of pure, clean, new cotton. Sealed in a carton roll in our great, sun-flooded work-rooms. Delivered to your dealer sweet and clean.

Canada has no Pure Bedding Laws—but Simmons Limited has!

NOTE
The responsibility of a manufacturer does not end with making a mattress clean and pure. It must be delivered to your home in a dirt-proof package, sealed by the manufacturer in the factory.
