It was thought by some that many of the thousands of volunteers in camp from various parts of Western Ontario might decide to ride, as a matter of convenience-they not being citizens of London. But already their sympathies are as strongly manifested as if they were residents-and they are not riding.

Once more, we venture to suggest that in our opinion the only sensible, practicable, and Christian method of settling the difficulty, is now to start afresh from the ground floor, and submit all matters in dispute to impartial arbitration.

In another column we give a couple of additional replies by Mr. Smallman; but we do not see that anything there advanced can be taken to show that the true and only method of settlement now possible is not settlement by conciliation, consultation and arbitration.

If anybody else can see any other solution that is likely to be permanent, he must be wiser than The Adventiser.

Carelessness That Should Be Remedied.

At the Board of Health last night, Prof. James H. Bowman complained strongly of lax enforcement of the regulations with respect to scarlet fever. According to his statement, many city physicians are remiss in reporting these cases, and are therefore contributory to a dangerous state of affairs. We trust the number of practitioners who deserve this censure is not large. The majority doubtless adhere to the rules and are glad to cooperate with the Board of Health in every possible way. At the same time, Prof. Bowman has done a public service by directing attention to a grave question. A great deal of carelessness is often allowed in connection with scarlet fever and other contagious diseases, but the physicians are not the most culpable parties. In scarlet fever cases, especially, the parents and householders are chiefly to blame. It often happens that a child in the first stages of the ailment continues going to school, and exposing others to the infection, before a doctor is called in. The parents either ignore the child's condition, or mistake the symptoms for a cold. It behooves parents to be very watchful. The approach of scarlet fever is marked by feverishness. sore throat, and perhaps a little sickness of the stomach. The light rash

American Arbitration Scheme Finds Favor at The Hague.

DOINGS AT THE HAGUE. The special dispatch from The Hague to the morning papers agree that the American scheme meets with general favor as being eminently practical. Sir Julian Pauncefote, the head of the British legation, has modified the British proposal, and now suggests that the administrative council should not be international, but should be ap-pointed by the government of the country where the permanent court assembles. According to the correspondent of the Daily News the arbitration committee has unanimously recommended the American scheme to the SENSATIONAL REVELATIONS. The sensational revelations brought out in the trial of the action against the proprietors of the Nellfield cemetery, for alleged interference with a grave in which the plaintiff claimed right of burial, resulted in an action against Wm. Coutts, the superintendent of the cemetery, which is now before the public. A former assistant in the cemetery testified that upon one occasion, when he was working in the strangers' burying ground, he unearthed a box and asked the superintendent what he would do with it. "Oh," replied the superintendent, "she must come up." The body was taken up and placed in a barrow, and of a grave, into which the contents of the barrow was emptied. The coffin was burned. It was a common thing, the witness said, to have two interments in one grave on the same day. The first would take place, for instance, at 1:30 o'clock. After a few shovelfulls had been thrown upon the coffin, the mourners would leave.

When they had gone the coffin would be taken out and put in the tool house, so that the grave would be ready for

The procurator-general wound up with an emphatic declaration that there was nothing in the secret dossier to incriminate Dreyfus. Continuing, M. Manau remarked: "Of the three secret documents by which M. Cavagnac, former minister of war, sought to jestify the condemnation, two were forgeries, and the third does not apply to Dreyfus." M. Manau went on: "We assert that several new facts exist, of such a nature as to prove Dreyfus' innocence. MASS MEETING

Trades' Unionists Discuss the Street Car Trouble,

And Resolve to Aid the Men in Their Fight for Recognition-Resolutions Passed-Big Demonstration To Be Held Next Tuesday.

Fully 1,400 trades unionists attended the secret mass meeting in the Jubilee Rink last night, and probably a more enthusiastic and determined lot of men have never before assembled in this city. Only individuals who could produce their union working cards, or who were vouched for by representatives of their union, could secure admission, and it was surprising the number of men who carry the little pasteboard in their vest pockets. The president of the local Trades and Labor Council occupied the chair. stated that the object of the meeting was to get at a thorough understanding of the street railway situation, and to inaugurate a systematic plan to carry on the existing struggle to a successful conclusion.

Rousing addresses were delivered by several prominent labor cham and the enthusiasm which they evoked was ample evidence that organized labor in London was thoroughly aroused. A large amount of the business transacted was of a private nature, but the appended resolutions, which have been given out for publication will show that the unions are preparing for a long struggle, if necessary, with the street railway corporation.

The matter of forming walking clubs in the different wards of the city was referred to the executive of the Trades and Labor Council. Arrangements were also commenced for a monster procession and mass meeting, to take place next Tuesday evening. It is expected this demonstration will eclipse anything of the kind ever held here before, and it is proposed to have every facthe assistant was ordered to take it tory and workshop in the city turn out to the tool house. Another man was en masse. It is also expected that about ordered to dig a hole at the west end | 1,000 wheelmen will be in line. W. D. Mahon, president of the International Street Railway Employes' Association, and Mr. Joseph Woods, international organizer of the Cigarmakers' Union, will likely be the principal speakers.

As will be seen by reading the resolutions, it is proposed to levy a voluntary assessment on members of the different organizations, to be paid weekly, and this act alone shows their determination not to allow the Amalgamated Association to be crushed for lack of financial assistance.

Such a meeting for such a purpose should be full of significance to the directors of the London Street Railway Company, for, large as the gathering proved to be, yet hundreds of members engaged on the railroads and in other occupations requiring late hours were unable to be present, but they will be reached by the agencies at command of the various unions. There is no doubt ting on a couch with blood streaming whatever that organized labor will strain every nerve and leave no effort untried to bring the strike to a successful end. This is the first time in the history of the city when a secret mass meeting of union men has been held, and this fact alone is significant. The following resolutions were moved in the regular order, and carried with great enthusiasm. They require no explanation:

"Resolved, That the present street railway strike is not only the battle of the employes of the London Street Railway Company, but of every wage earner in the city, and the time has come when the grinding oppression of the great corporations and trusts must be met and checked, in the interests of humanity and civilization; therefore, be it resolved, that each labor organization in the city be requested to call a special meeting as early as possible to take steps toward the formation of a permanent defense fund to sustain the men who are now on strike, by a system of voluntary weekly assessments on each member, so that the members of the Amalgamated Association will feel that organized labor has taken a share in this conflict with a determination to prosecute it to the bitter end, even if con-

"Resolved, That committees be appointed to organize walking clubs every ward of the city, the said clubs to contribute a voluntary weekly donation for the sustenance of the men now on strike, and that subscription lists be prepared in order to give the citizens generally an opportunity to subscribe to the fund."

Resolved, That whereas, the Municipal Council of the City of Toronto, and other public bodies, have brought representation to bear upon the G. T. R. authorities in regard to the strike of the trackmen on its line; be it resolved, that in the opinion of this meeting the Municipal Council of the City of London should take similar acployes who have been forced by in-human conditions to go on strike." "Resolved, that this gathering of organized wage-earners, in mass meeting assembled, hereby desires to place on record its hearty appreciation of the splendid services rendered to the public at large, and to organized labor in particular, by The London Advertiser, in exposing the bogus interviews prepared in the office of the London Street Railway Company, with the aim and intent of misleading the people and molding popular sentiment against the employes, and that we recommend the paper as one that has dealt fairly with organized labor, and refused to sell out or wear the corporation collar of the London Street Railway Company."

Other resolutions were also passed and referred to the different unions for further action. Some of these will be given publicity at the proper time, and as dealt with by the different bodies. The thanks of the street railway employes and the union men generally were tendered to Mr. C. W. Smith for the free use of the Jubilee rink. Mr. Smith very generously opened the building, with light and attendance, for the use of the meeting, and would not accept proffered compensation. STRIKE NOTES. It has been decided to hold mass meetings in Hamilton on Wednesday night, and in Toronto on Thursday night of next week to discuss the London street railway strike, and with a view of eventually securing co-opera-tion amongst the street railway employes of all Canadian cities. Lodge British Lion Pledges Support to Strikers.

At a regular meeting of Lodge British Lion, Sons of England Benevolent Society, held on Wednesday night, the following resolution was unanimously, adopted by a standing vote:

"Resolved, that whereas the grinding monopoly in the form of the street railway company is trying to crush their employes in their honest endeavor to obtain fair conditions, and the recognition of the right to organize themselves into a lawful society, that we, the members of Lodge British Lion, S. O. E. B. S., tender to said employes our heartiest sympathy in their present struggle, and pledge our undivided support to them in their present trouble, in every possible manner, to the best of our ability. We further pledge ourselves and families to positively and absolutely refuse to patronize the cars until the street railway company recognize the right of their employes as Canadian citizens and British subjects to lawful organization. CAN'T RUSH THE GROWLER

Major-Gen. Hutton Closes Up the Camp Canteens.

Compliments for the First Hussars From Commanderin-Chief soldiers Forbidden to Wear Unauthortzed Badges-Brigade and Division Orders-An Uneventful Day.

Yesterday was an uneventful day at the military camp, having been devoted to putting the finishing touches on, squad and section drill. All day Gen. Hutton rode through the lines and over the fields, inspecting the movements of the several battalions. Perhaps the most interesting thing to the soldier is the loss of his beer. The canteen privilege is one that, as a rule, has been greatly abused. A rushing business was done on Tuesday night, the first night in camp, and Gen. Hutton, as usual, was around "taking in the sights." The commander-in-chief issued an order to have every canteen closed at once, which was done to the great surprise of those brave defenders who were afflicted with a deep thirst.

The First Hussars were put through a number of movements yesterday afternoon by Gen. Hutton, and Lieut.-Col. Gartshore was congratulated by the general on the proficiency of the men. They were addressed by Gen. Hutton, when he told them that he had come among them to help them, and not to discourage them by criticism.

FIRST BRIGADE ORDERS. Major Stuart, of the Twenty-sixth, was field officer today, and Major Kittermaster will perform that duty tomorrow. Capt. Waldo, Thirty-second Bruce, will be brigade captain. The Twenty-first furnished the duty band, lying-in picket and brigade guard today, and the Thirty-second Battalion will perform these duties tomorrow. Orders will be issued from the brigade marquee at 12 o'clock noon. Grocery rations will be served at 6 a.m. in future instead of 6 p.m.

The orders for the second brigade are issued by Lieut.-Col. Buchan, commanding officer. Major Moscrip, Twenty-eighth Perth Battalion, was field of-ficer today, and Major Allen, Wellington Rifles, will perform this duty tomorrow. Brigade captain, Capt. Quinn, Oxford Rifles; brigade quartermaster, Capt. Wissler, Wellington Rifles. The Twenty-ninth Waterloo Battalion will furnish the duty band tomorrow.

The wearing of civilian hats or any article of civilian clothing by non-commissioned officers or men in camp is strictly prohibited.

The bands of the brigade will be massed for practice of regimental marches at forenoon and afternoon parades (9:45 and 2:15 respectively), in rear of lines of Thirtieth Wellington Rifles, under the direction of Bandmaster Trendell, Wellington Rifles.

At all drills men will not be permitted to lie down while standing at ease, except at the periods which will be designated by the bugle call down." On the bugle sounding up," drill must be resumed at once. Mail will be collected at the officers' marquee of each battalion at 8 am. and 1 p.m., and delivered at 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Farthing, chaplain of the Oxford Rifles, will hold a service in the lines of that battalion every morning, at 6 o'clock, lasting for ten minutes only. All officers, non-commissioned officers and men wishing to attend will be cordially welcomed. DIVISION ORDERS.

The following orders have been is-sued by General Hutton: Non-commissioned officers and men are not to leave the bounds of the camp unless properly dressed, and are not to be absent after tattoo without a pass in writing. The bounds of the camp are the fences surrounding it.

The attention of all ranks is called to paragraph 1,953, Queen's regulations, and orders for the army, relating to the wearing of unauthorized badges.

Hospital Sergeant Copeman has his hands full these days. He is short three orderlies, and has but one assistant. His duty is the care of the sick in the hospital, and the latter consists of five bell tents and two marquees, containing eight beds each.
Lieut. Burnham, I. C. R., has been attached to the brigade for duty, and will assist the brigade major in musketry Instruction.

OXFORD RIFLES. The Oxford Rifles, under the command of Col. Hegler, of Ingersoll, is a heavy-weight battalion. Oxford, on this occasion, has turned out a battalion of men who are a credit to the county, and an honor to the brigade. Within the ranks is to be found the tallest and the shortest man on the grounds. Quartermaster A. S. Ball promises the boys a good time, and the officers intend them to have it. after drill is over. The battalion staff is: Lieut.-Col. Hegler, Major F. W. Macqueen and Major Knight, adjusters W. F. Mackey Winger, of the Macqueen and Major Knight, adjutant, W. F. Mackay, winner of the gold medal at the Toronto University this year; quartermaster, Major A. S. Ball; Surgeon-Major, A. T. Rice; Surgeon, Lieut. J. M. Rogers, and Rev. J. C. Lieut.-Col. J. H. Scott, of Kincar-dine, D. G. M. of the Orange Grand Black Chapter, is attending the convention in Toronto, and consequently the command of the Thirty-second Bruce Battalion devolves upon Major Adam Weir, of Walkerton. The officers in this corps are the folliest set of fellows on the grounds, and a host of friends are always lying in weit for friends are always lying in wait for them. It is three years since the Thirty-second came to London, and the boys enjoy the visit. The battalion is one of the finest in Ontario, being composed of men of fine physique and capable of great endurance. The staff of the battalion is: Lieut.-Col. J. H. Scott; Majors Adam Weir and Hugh Clark, of the Kincardine Review; adjutant, Capt. Sherman, Paisley; quartermaster, Capt. W. M. TRACKMEN'S STRIKE

Dominion Government Are Inquiring Into the Matter.

A Discussion on the Alien Labor Law - The rrinciple of Ministerial Responsibility.

Ottawa, June 1.-Mr. John Ross Robwere called, asked the attention of the government to the enforcement of the alien labor law in this country. the alien labor law in this country. He asked if it was intended to enforce the law as regards the importation of aliens from the States to take the place of the striking trackmen on the G. T. R. He read a report of an interview with Inspector DeBarry, of Buffalo, in which the inspector stated most emphatically that the alien labor law was still in force, and so far as he knew there had not been any talk of suspending it. Mr. Robertson said the strike was a justifiable one, and he denounced the G. T. R.'s "miserliness." The men whom the G. T. R. were importing were not native Americans, and there was no large force of public opinion in the United States which would offer one word of protest if the Canadian Government had only the courage to do what was right in this matter. Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressed regret that so grave an issue should be approached in a manner calculated to inflame passion. His own sympathies, he said, were just as strong with the strikers as were Mr. Robertson's, but he would be sorry to prejudice the question until he had heard both sides. Why should he not wait to hear the defense of the Grand Trunk before pronouncing judgment? Mr. Robertson, added the premier, warmly, was over-zealous in this matter, not so much because of his sympathy with the strikers, as to make political capi-tal. When the government had a demand from the men themselves to enforce the alien labor law, and the gov-ernment refused, would be time enough to complain, and up to the present moment no such demand had been made.

"Therefore," said he, "under the circumstances Mr. Robertson is simply over-reaching himself for the purpose, not of favoring the interests of the men whom he pretends to serve, but simply to gratify his own political spite. Now, with regard to the law itself, let me say that we have not an official understanding with the American authorities that the alien labor law is to be suspended. A law cannot be suspend-

MUST GO ABROAD

To Learn About Your Home. "A short time ago I was visiting in New York State, Massachusetts and Connecticut, and I was particularly impressed with the number of times I was asked what I knew about Postum Cereal Food Coffee, made at Battle

"I generally replied that I had never used Postum, but knew of a good many who did, and I knew that it was made by men who devoted their time and study to the perfection of food and food beverages.

"One of my former classmates, Mrs. E. Kinsley, of Westfield, Mass., seemed greatly surprised that I had never used Postum. The family were very enthusiastic over its effect upon them. Said they could not enjoy life without it. The physician had recommended total abstinence from coffee, as she had injured her digestive organs by using it, and was considered a confirmed and incurable dyspeptic, but when put upon Postum Cereal Food Coffee she immediately began to get well, and left off the drugs and coffee. Now she is able to eat anything she likes without the least symptom if disease. Her life before had been one of suffering, and it is now one of enjoyment. She said it would be impossible to speak too highly in its praise.

When I visited Westfield eight years ago I visited Mr. Albert Atkins, who was then a very great sufferer. Both he and his friends did not think it possible for him to live more than a short time. I found him so well on this visit that I insisted upon knowing what made the change. He said he had visited every point of the compass, and tried almost everything he had ever heard recommended, but all of no avail, until he was led by the Postum Cereal articles to suspect that the little coffee he drank was really poisoning him day by day, and from the very time he quit coffee entirely and began to use Postum he began to get better. He is a very wealthy man and travels a great deal, but says he never leaves home for one night without his outfit of Postum. While at Jamaica Plains, Mass., I visited a retired sea captain's home. He said in all his experience, far and near, on land or water, he had never found any beverage that would compare with Postum Cereal Food Coffee. While he used to drink coffee he suffered with headaches, drowsiness and an unnatural thickening of the blood, but since quitting common coffee and using Postum he was free from all his drank my first cup of Posailments. tum with him, and, to my surprise found it a very delicious, palatable drink, which I have since used with favorable results. I cannot tell half of what I heard in praise of Postum during my visit in the East. It is sufficient to say that Postum has a very firm foothold among my Eastern

"I wish to add that on one or two occasions I have had Postum served to me rather flat, but always know in such cases that it is simply because it has not been allowed to boil long enough to bring out the delicate and well-known flavor."

(Cheers.) And if we are to endition of things in this country; for all these Canadians who now find a living in Detroit will have to remain on the Canadian side and lose their work." The government, he said in conclusion, were endeavoring to have a better understanding between the two countries, and when the men engaged in the negotiations were doing their best to have this obnoxious law removed was no time to inflame passion, as Mr. Robertson would have the government

"As I said yesterday," concluded Sir Wilfrid, "I beg to repeat, that at this moment the matter is engaging the attention of the government, and we are applying ourselves to it. I repeat that when the trackmen come to us and make their complaint we will hear that complaint and give it every possible consideration and attention."
Sir Charles Tupper accused Sir Wilfrid of losing his temper. He complained that Canada was not receiving justice. We had suspended the operation of the alien labor law, but the United States law continued to be enforced against Canadians. He could quite see the reasonabless of the government of the United States and the Government of Canada doing all they possibly could to remove every source of irritation between the two countries pending these negotiations, but the Government of Canada should take that this should not be a onesided arrangement, and that while they, in good faith, were observing the understanding, the United States should be required to observe it also.

Mr. George Taylor dwelt on the danger to the traveling public, and said the government would be responsible for any accident. Mr. Blair said that if there was any way in which the government could be satisfied that they could efficiently interfere in this trouble they would be only anxious to do it. He did not know how it would be possible for them to interfere with any effect at all in the present juncture, or how he could make this end in a satisfactory way to the people concerned.

Various other speeches were made, including one by Mr. Logan (Lib.), who said it was disgraceful that in this Canada of ours we should have thousands of operatives who were on strike because they received only the mean, insignificant salary of 97 cents

Sir Charles Tupper moved a resolution affirming the principle of ministerial responsibility. It read partly as follows: "This house is further of the opinion that the ministers of the crown, having entire control over the public departments, they are bound to assume responsibility for every of-ficial act. This house is further of the opinion that ministers of the crown should not permit blame to be imputed to any subordinate for the manner in which the business of the country is transacted, except only in cases of personal misconduct, for which the political heads have the remedy in their own hands."

THE PROPOSITION IS ALL RIGHT. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he noticed with great pleasure, yet without any surprise, that when his right honorable friend has a sound proposition to offer to the house he can do it in very few words. (Hear, hear.) When he has an unsound proposition to make, his remarks are very long, apparently in an effort to convince the house. On this occasion, however, he could not find any fault with the proposition laid down, which embodied the A B C of parliamentary government. He could not be expected to offer opposition to the motion, any more than he could had the proposition been to put upon the re-cords of the house the Ten Command-ments. It was within the recollection of the house that in the early part of the session an honorable mem-ber attempted to hold the government responsible for the alleged misconduct of officers of the government. The honorable member for Pictou attempted to hold the government responsible for charges which were made against Major Walsh of misconduct while he was administrator of the Yukon, According to the principle here laid down, how could the government be responsible for personal charges against Major Walsh? As Sir Wilfrid elaborated this neat point he was loudly cheered and Sir Hilbert Tupper attempted to re-

The resolution was unanimously agreed to.

The act to amend the adulteration act, referring to drugs, was also read a third time and passed. Dr. Roddick explained that the measure merephysician or purchaser orders a certain drug it must be supplied according to the British pharmacopoeia, unless the order specifies a preparation under some other pharmacopoeia. There was nothing to prevent druggists from preparing drugs according to any formula they chose, but if they do so they must specifically label the article, showing the particular formula under which it has been prepared.

ELOPEMENT FRUSTRATED

Thomas Asked Mary to Begin Life's Voyage in a Boat.

Windsor, June 1 .- Thomas Carswell tried to elope with Mary Mulcaster, of Sandwich, Tuesday, but relatives of the girl interfered with the plans of the young couple. As a result, Mary is now at her father's home, locked in her room, and Carswell has not been seen since.

Carswell, it appears, had been paying court to the young woman for some time, but the father did not take kindly to the young man, and ordered him from the house. Then Carswell conceived the idea of carrying his sweetheart away in a boat and made his plans accordingly. He rowed the boat to a point near Mulcaster's house and had the girl and nearly all her clothing in it when an elder sister, accompanied by a constable and several neighbors, arrived on the scene. Carswell showed fight at first, but decided to leave his sweetheart.

NEW WORLD'S RECORD. Waltham, Mass., June 1.-The national cycling races at Waltham race track drew ten thousand people. Verett B. Ryan, of Waltham, broke the world's amateur record for the ten-mile paced race, in 19:59%, the previous record of 20:01% being held by F. B. Beauregard, of Fall River, Mass. He won from Chas.

At Ithaca, N. Y., the Cornell University and Pennsylvania boat race was won by fully half a length in 11:261/2.

Pennsylvania's time was 11:28. A very interesting affair took place Tuesday at Toronto, when the first of the new defenders or the Canada cup to be launched slid from the ways into the water. The new boat is owned by the J. Wilton Morse syndicate, and is the only vessel of center-board type in the two contending fleets for the cup. Her spars are of Oregon pine, and her sails are of English manufacture. She will be cutter-rigged, and will be in sailing condition in plenty of time for the trial races, which commence in

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29 .- No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually, than is Mr.

John N. Babcock. Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words: "After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me." Cheerful looks make every dish a LIFE SAVED-Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians.

A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

London, Thursday, June 1, 1899.

An Under-Handed Game. We should like to know what permanent benefit to their country certain United States, politicians and newspapers hope to gain by misrepresenting the position of Canada in relation to pending international disputes. The truth, no doubt, will be forced upon them bye and bye. It cannot always be kept in the background because of diplomatic usage, and it would have been better to entirely refrain from discussing the matter if the facts were not attainable. When all is made known it will be shown how grossly the Government and people of the Dominion have been maligned. The object is apparent. It is intended to prejudice British opinion against Canada, and, if possible, to compel pressure to be brought to bear upon our rulers to surrender what they hold to be the rights of their country. The British Government know that the attitude of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues has been most conciliatory. Especially in regard to the question upon which a deadlock took place in the international commission, no fairminded person can find cause to cavil at the Canadian contention.

The question of what is the true boundary between Canada and the United States Alaskan territory, is one upon which statesmen in both countries hold strong views. The mischiefmakers over the border tell the world that the international commission was unable to agree because the people of Canada insisted on getting a piece of Alaska. The Canadian people insist on nothing of the kind. Our rulers hold that the boundary line should be fixed further to the west than the line drawn by the United States. That is all. Indeed, the only difference between the parties is that while the Canadian authorities assert that they are ready to submit the whole matter to arbitration, the United States Government have so far refused to let the case go to the arbitrators, except with reservations which would insure to the United States a large portion of the disputed territory. We do not assert that the United States authorities well know that their claims will not stand investigation by independent arbitrators, but they certainly act as if they feared it. Indeed, as long ago as 1896, an eminent United States authority, in discussing the question, bewailed the short-sightedness of President Cleveland and his cabinet in insisting on Great Britain submitting her Venezuelan boundary claims to arbitration. This well-known author foresaw a condition of affairs such as has now been brought about, and argued that if the United States desired to retain hold of the disputed territory on the Alaskan border, the less her public men and newspapers said about arbitration the better. He summed up the case in the following terms:

"We (the United States) have thrust ourselves into a controversy over a boundary line on another continent in which we can have no interest, except perhaps that which grows out of a very foggy and uncertain sentiment. We have assumed that a European power is about 'to extend its system' to a part of the western continent, or that England is on the point of 'oppressing' the people of a South American republie, or of 'controlling the destiny of their Government.' Against this we have made an active and aggressive protest, and have clearly intimated that if Great Britain does not submit this boundary question to arbitration we shall make trouble. In so doing we have once more put ourselves exactly where far-sighted English statesmanship would have us. Under ordinary circumstances our attitude on this question would be considered as almost an offense, and the channels of correspondence would not be as clear and uninterrupted as they now are.

"The truth is that Great Britain is meeting our wishes in this matter with almost indecent haste, because the arbitration of the Alaska boundary line, by which she hopes and expects to obtain an open seacoast for her great Northwest Territories, to weaken us by breaking our exclusive jurisdiction north of 54° 40′, is enormously more important to her than anything she is likely to gain or lose in South America. Having driven her to accept arbitration in this case, it will be impossible for us to refuse it in Alaska. arbitration in this case, it will be impossible for us to refuse it in Alaska, and we shall find ourselves again badly worsted by the diplomatic skill of a people who, as individuals, have developed intellectual activity, manliness, courage, unselfish devotion to duty, and general nobility of character, else where unequaled in the world's history, but whose diplomatic policy as a nation is and long has been characterized by aggressiveness, greed, absolute indif-ference to the rights of others, and a splendid facility in ignoring every principle of justice or international law whenever commercial interests are at stake."

The last sentence is only half a truth. If Great Britain had been as rapacious as here represented, if in the past she had stood up for the full extent of her rights, the state of Maine would today be a part of Canada, as would also the greater part of Michigan, of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Oregon and Washington. Was the relinquishing of all that territory without a struggle evidence of greed, rapacity and indifference to the rights of others on the part of Great Britain? The United States was a vast gainer by this benevolence of the Motherland, and Canada was a great loser, but that is a thing of the past. We do not intend to permit a repetition, even in a small way, of such kindness to our neighbors, and yet they are inclined to blame us.

We expect our neighbors to show some little regard for consistency, and to agree to the same course in the settlement of this dispute as they insisted on, even with threats of warfare, in the Venezuela question. If our neighbors are fated to be badly worsted by arbitration it will be because they have taken up an untenable potation. It take if troubled with indigestion.

sition. A proud nation can afford to be beaten, but it cannot afford to stultify itself by repudiating a principle which it forced another nation to accept. We hope the United States will spare the world such a revelation of hypocrisy. Meanwhile, if the question must be discussed in the absence of the protocols, let the truth be told. Nothing is to be gained by misrepresenting the attitude of the parties to the International Commission.

The Yukon Inquiry. Mr. Ogilvie, the Commissioner of the

Yukon, has submitted the report of his inquiry into the charges of corruption made against officials in Dawson City. The report is accompanied by copies of the evidence submitted to the court of inquiry, so that the public may judge for themselves whether the actual state of affairs in Dawson was as bad as has been painted. On Feb. 7, Commissioner Ogilvie issued printed notices inviting any party or parties having charges to make against any government employe or official, to present the same in writing. Five weeks were allowed wherein to register such charges. The response was not very great. A few charges, however, were presented, including some by the Klondike Nugget, the yellow journal which had been shrieking corruption for months. Every facility was accorded the Nugget in the collection of evidence. Mr. Ogilvie gave the editor, Mr. George, a number of blank subpoenas, with which to summon witnesses, and representatives of the Sun were also permitted to enter the gold commissioner's office to examine records. The net result of the whole inquiry must be very disappointing to those who hoped, from motives of their own, to see the officials besmirched as a class. A doorkeeper named Villeneuve, who was employed as a special constable in the Northwest Mounted Police service, and who had been for some time a dog driver, was proved to have accepted money for admitting people out of their turn into the office. No one else was implicated in any way. $150,000 FOR except that some of the evidence showed that clerks had received pay from outsiders for attending to work done before and after office hours. This was so usual an occurrence that it was readily admitted; no one attempted to deny it. Beyond this there was not a scruple of testimony which reflected on the probity of any government official. The spirit of dissatisfaction in the Yukon, which led to so many reckless accusations being bandied about, is easily explained. The authorities, in deciding among rival claimants-the rivalry was general and intense-necessarily made enemies of the unsuccessful parties, who straightway cried corruption and fostered agitation against the Yukon officialdom. The proceedings before the Royal Commission show that the Yukon scandal socalled was mostly built on this foun-

Shall Canada annex the West Indies? This may become a live question in the future, but just now the annexation of a slice of Alaska is more alluring.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's statement on the Alaska boundary question has brushed away the fog which settled on the British mind. London papers which attacked Canada on the strength of lying dispatches, are apologizing. London papers are old birds to be caught by such chaff as was sent out from Washington. They will know better in future.

GRAND LODGE.

At the Grand Orange Lodge yester-day a deputation from the Sons of England, consisting of D. Hodgetts, grand president; G. W. Carter, grand secretary, and Barlow Cumberland, past grand president, attended and extended a cordial welcome to the Grand Orange Lodge. Grand Master Wallace replied in appropriate terms.

The report of the finance committee recommended a grant of $250 to the True Blue Orphanage, $50 to the St. James' Methodist Church fund, Montreal, and $100 to Rev. R. Cobourn, the blind preacher, of Toronto. Adopted. The question of the future representation of grand lodge was referred to a special committee to be dealt with.

The Orange Grand Lodge of British America will meet next year in this city. The choice was made unanimous.

MISSIONS

Closing Sessions of the Baptist Convention at Toronto.

Toronto, May 31 .- The Baptist convention continued its labors yesterday. A resolution was passed recommending the churches to raise $150,-000 in the next eighteen months for general missionary work.

The first business taken up at the morning session was the reading of the report on the Grand Ligne mission, presented by the Rev. W. T. Graham.

During the year there had been 37 baptisms, beside 14 other converts from Romanism. Speaking generally of the work of the Anglican churches in the Province of Quebec, Mr. Graham pointed out that of a population of 1,500,000, the Protestants only numbered one-seventh. There are now some 15,000 French Protestants in the province. There are 900 places where French worship The report of the Sunday schools showed that in the association there were 35,258 scholars—a decrease from last year, and 4,272 teachers and officers. During the year the total collections reached $20,458, an increase of nearly $2,000. Most of these collections were devoted to missions. A resolution was passed indorsing the action of the Lord's Day Alliance in submitting a case to the courts for the due interpretation of the Lord's Day act, respecting which varied decisions have been given, thereby almost rendering the act inoperative.

A resolution submitted from a committee was passed, stating that the support given a large number of the pastors is insufficient, and that while the committee doubt whether it would be advisable to establish a definite minimum salary for all the ministers, they urge upon the churches the duty and privilege of insuring to all experienced pastors a salary of $700. Rev. D. Hutchinson said he was prepared to give up some of his salary to help the poorly-paid pastors. committee was appointed to take the matter into consideration.

The question of the twentieth century fund came up. The sense of the convention on Monday was that the Troubled for years. Sore All Over. Could not use them. Spread over Arms, Neck, and Face. Smarted Like Fire. Physicians no Benefit. Tried CUTICURA. Immediate Belief. Permanent Cure.

I had been troubled with tetter for several years. At times my hands would be sore all over, so that I could not use them at all, and were so tender that clear water, even, smarted like fire, and it spread over arms, neck, and face. I had been treated by physicians, but without benefit, when I began the CUTIOURA remedies. I found when I began the CUTIOURA remedies. I found relief before I had taken the first bottle. I used three or four bottles of CUTIOURA RESOLVENT, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and one box of CUTICURA (ointment), and it has never troubled me since. ELLA CURZON, Eppingham, Ill. March 10, 1898.

BLOOD POISON CURED By Cuticura Resolvent

One of my children ran a rusty nail into his foot, which was most painful. His blood got out of order, and sores broke out on his hands and feet. I gave him one bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT and used one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, principally as a saive, and the child recovered.

LIME FRUIT JUICE

No other brand of Lime Juice can compare with "Montserrat" for purity. It has many imitations but no equals. Some other brands have even gone so far as to collect old "Montserrat" bottles and fill them with their inferior article in order to get sale for it.

High class grocers everywhere sell and recommend "Montserrat" Lime Fruit Juice above all other brands. Always ask for "Montserrat."

Baptist Church could not without overstraining itself raise the special sum suggested of $100,000, and the recom-mendation to that effect was referred back to committee. The committee reported yesterday recommending that the church raise $150,000 during the next eighteen months for all missionary work, namely, $60,000 for foreign missions, $50,000 for home missions, $22,-500 for Manitoba and British Columbia, and $17,500 for Grand Ligne. The total of $150,000 will, however, include the regular revenue of about $80,000, so that only $70,000 additional is thus asked. In the afternoon a meeting was held, Mr. H. L. Stark presiding, in reference to the young people's movement. Mr. E. L. Hill gave an address explaining why the movement is needed. Rev. W. T. McAlpine spoke on "What the movement had accomplished." Rev. Dr. Thomas said that he had never received so much sympathetic help as from the young people's societies. (Applause.) Rev. Dr. Goodspeed was appointed delegate to the English Baptist Union convention.

THE LONDON CONFERENCE

Minutes of the Ministerial Session-Transfers Affecting the London Section. WEDNESDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Windsor, June 1.—The ministerial session of the London Conference of the Methodist Church convened in the Windsor Avenue Church at 9 a.m. yesterday. The Rev. W. Rigsby, president of the conference, was in the chair. Hymn 753 was sung, and the secretary, Rev. R. D. Hamilton, read II. Timothy, ii., and Revs. Thomas Jackson and J. W. Robinson led the conference in prayer. At roll coll 102 members answered to their names.

Question-What ministers or probationers have been transferred to or from this conference?
List of transfers affecting the London conference:

Out of the conference-Into Toronto Conference, Charles Smith, to take effect June 7, 1899, at 9 a.m. Into Hamilton Conference, A. I. Snyder, to take effect June 1, at 9 a.m. Into Manitoba, W. Oliver Coleman, to take effect

Into London Conference-From Hamilton Conference, Robert Phillips, to take effect May 31, at 9 a.m. From Hamilton, Theophilus Hall, to take effect forthwith. From Toronto, W. G. Howson, to take effect May 31, at 9 a.m.

Rev. J. P. Westman has been transferred into the British Columbia Conference, and Rev. D. M. Kennedy has been transferred to Manitoba, since the regular meeting of the transfer committee. Rev. W. Williams, D.D., Rev. John

Kennen and Rev. W. S. Pascoe, D.D., were recommended for superannuation, and Revs. John Russell, E. Kershaw, W. Hayhurst, W. B. Creighton, B.A., and W. Fansher were recommended for superannuation for one year. On his own request, Rev. J. B. Freeman, B.D., was granted letters of standing. The afternoon session was opened in the usual way, and the time devoted to the probationers for the ministry. A lively time is expected when the heresy case of Rev. B. F. Austin, late of Alma College, comes up. Rev. Mr. Ware, of Detroit Conference, was introduced, and addressed the conference.

An invitation was extended to the conference to visit the free library, and free use of its rooms. by the management.

THE WORKMAN HERESY CASE. Belleville, Ont., June 1.—At the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference, the Workman heresy case was brought up. The report being asked for, Dr. Carman said he would refuse to receive a report, as the committee had no power to deal with the matter. Dr. Burwash expressed dissent from this ruling, and may probably appeal against it.

Local Market.

London, Thursday, June 1. The offerings at today's market were light, but sales were brisk. Green stuffs were not as plentiful as on Tues-day. There was no change in prices. Eggs and butter remained the same as on Tuesday. Not much of either came in. Meats were dull, with little change in prices. Some poultry was offered and went at 50c for old birds and 65c to 75c for spring chickens. Only a few loads of hay offered and sold slowly. Flowers were plentiful and sold readlly at good prices. Striking Linemen and Telephone Officials at Detroit Still at Odds-Montreal Molders Get an Advance.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 1.—Employes of the Cleveland, Akron and Columbus Rallway, Ohio, have had a ten per cent advance in wages, restoring the cut of Kingston, Ont., June 1 .- A crowd sympathizers with the Grand Trunk Railway strikers attacked a car containing non-union men from Montreal at Kingston Junction, and a small riot ensued. Shots were fired, but no one was injured.

Saginaw, Mich., June 1.—A conference committee is considering the schedule of wages presented by Michigan coal miners and operators. There is a wide difference, and prospects of an agreement on all points at issue without a week's session of the convention are remote. Later, the miners will probably spring a resolu-tion that none but union men be employed, which will be the biggest snag The operators had accessions to their numbers yesterday morning.

Detroit, June 1.-A committee appointed by the striking telephone linemen called at the office of the Detroit Telephone Company yesterday, for a conference relative to the appointment of a new arbitration committee to adjust the existing differences. The officials of the company informed the committee that a new arbitration would be agreeable; also that the linemen return to work pending the arbitration report. But this offer was, it is claimed, refused by the strikers, who want an eight-hour day or nothing. The company refuse an eight-hour day under the present conditions.

Buffalo, June 1.-With the exception of a few men at the central freight house, all the freight handlers on the docks went on strike again at 6 o'clock last night, 2,000 men being involved. The strikers held a meeting at 8 o'clock at which it was announc-ed that if heir grievances are not settled today the grain shovelers will quit work in sympathy with them. scoopers' organization was represented at the meeting by a committee. Trouble started early in the day at the Lehigh Valley freight house, where the men claim that a boss ordered them to take larger loads on their trucks. The men refused to do so, claiming that an agreement existed by virtue of which they were to carry a certain load, and they would carry no more.

When the freight handlers at other docks heard of the strike at the Lehigh freight house they became uneasy and wanted to quit at once. They were, however, kept at work until 6 o'clock, when they quit in a body. The men claim that many of the non-union men are employed along docks, and this seems to be the principal cause of the present trouble. This, however, is denied by Lehigh ey officials.

Montreal, June 1.—The molders' strike at Montreal is off, and the men will at once return to work. The men claim to have gained important con-

Formerly Incurable Bright's Disease Was the Stumbling Block of the Medical Fraternity.

Mr. R. F. Colwell Had Bright's Disease and Tried Many Remedies but Only One Cured Him-Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Walkerville, May 31.—It is a singular fact, but it was not thoroughly understood here until elicited by discussion following the publication of Mr. Colwell's case, that before Dodd's Kidney Pills were put on the market there was no known cure for Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. That such is a fact attaches a remarkable value to Dodd's Kidney Pills in the minds of Walkerville people, nor is their opinion of this great medicine weakened by the knowledge that there is still no remedy for either Bright's Disease or Diabetes. Walkerville being so closely connected with Windsor, Mr. R. F. Colwell, the jeweler, of No. 9 Ouellette street, in the latter city, is naturally well known here. It will be remembered Mr. Colwell stated: "I have endured for two years the greatest torture from backache and pains in the loins. A puffiness appeared under my eyes, my limbs bloated and my urine was of a dark, unnatural color and bad odor. I tried many remedies, but all failed to help When I ascertained that I had Bright's Disease I became thoroughly alarmed. I was told of the efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills in all kidney diseases, and commenced to use them. After the first few doses I began to improve. The pains left me, my sleep became sound, puffiness and bloating Bank, Winnipeg, has been chosen as vanished, my urine resumed its normal came all I could wish it to be. I used only a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney being Sea patrol fleet to leave, has sailed from Seattle. She will be followed by the Grant. Pills, but they cleared my system thoroughly of that dread curse—Bright's Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are equally sure in all other cases of Bright's Disease, and in Diabetes, Dropsy, Gout, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Diseases of Women—in fact, in all trouble arising from disordered kidneys.

A "SOCIETY" THIEF

Detection of Ottawa's Highwaywoman -The Fair Culprit Confesses. Ottawa, June 1.-The social "highway woman" is known. Suspicion has led to the detection, and detection to confession. An afternoon tea was held recently in an Elgin street residence. The social highway woman was one of the guests. While the guests chatted she quietly withdrew to a dressing-room with the pretense of attending to her toilet. There she found herself alone. A purse was exposed to her view, and instantly a $10 bill was stealthily extracted. The social event was scarcely over and the last of the guests departed, when the lady whose purse had been robbed, missed her lucre. She immediately reported her loss to the lady who had been entertaining, and the latter was naturally much chagrined and annoyed. However, the actions of the social highway woman had not escaped suspicion, and she was at the first oppor-tunity accused of the theft. This she at first stoutly denied. Her husband was then informed of the suspicion resting on his wife, and eventually she confessed to him, whereupon he promptly refunded the stolen money. While it is not likely similar thefts will be repeated by the same party in the near future, it is thought there should be a prosecution in the case. The police have not yet been asked to look into the matter.

Liberals Choose Officers and Express Confidence in Their Representative.

The annual meeting of the West Elgin Provincial Reform Association was held in Dutton yesterday, Mr. D. Ferguson in the chair. There was a large attendance and much business transacted. The following officers were elected: James Beattie, Dunwich, president; J. D. Blue, Dutton, secretary treasurer; conveners for Aldborough, D. J. Shaw, barrister, Rodney; Dunwich, W. A. Galbraith; Dutton, D. Black; Southwold, Ewen Cameron;

St. Thomas, Peter Stewart. Resolutions were passed, expressive of the continued confidence reposed in the Laurier and Hardy administra-tions, of their confidence in Mr. D. Decide to Oppose the Redistribution Bill at Every Point-Talk of an All-Summer Session.

[Special to The Advertiser per C. P. R.] Ottawa, June 1.-A Conservative caucus was held in room 6 today. The subject discussed was the redistribution bill. It was decided to oppose the bill at every stage. One of the Conservative members said after the meeting was over that every constitutional means at their disposal would be taken to block the measure, so as to prevent its going through this session. The meeting was without doubt very unanimous on this point, and those who predicted that parliament would not be prorogued before snow flies may have known what they were talking about.

A TORNADO'S WORK

MR. SMALLMAN ON THE UNION

reply to Mr. Garnett's letter in yesterday's Advertiser:

To the Editor of The Advertiser: In your issue of the 31st.

nett remarks as follows: "Mr. Small- Railway Company. man claims that to recognize the union would be to hand over the managea matter of fact, such is not the case." Will Mr. Garnett kindly explain what other interpretation could be put upon the following clause in their document: "Clause 2—All conductors and motor-men employed by the said company shall become members of Division 97 of the Amalgamated Association of he desires, to the directors. Street Railway Employes of America, and before a man commences training he shall take out a permit card from the secretary of this division. After 30 days, if satisfactory to the company, he shall become a member of this association." The second clause in the of the company shall have full liberty to affiliate with any lawful association employes? The last clause in our agreement of October last read thus: "This agreement to be in force for six months, or for such further period as the employes remain in the service of the company." Thus plainly indicating that the company were bound indefinitely, but that the employes could either leave the company's service or arbitrate any grievances they might have. We have repeatedly offered such arbitration. Again in the demands which the employes made recently: "This agreement to be binding upon the parties hereto for the space of one year." Thus leaving the matter subject to other demands at the expiration of that time.

Mr. Garnett further says: "Where the union is recognized, it is responsible for the character and conduct of its members, and is careful to see that the men are courteous to the officials and live up to the rules of the company." My opinion is that it is the duty of the management to see to these matters. At an interview with Mr. Garnett and others at my residence some days ago, a Mr. Lee, a Yankee organizer (who is no doubt well-paid for his efforts), stated that if the company only knew the benefits conferred upon them by the union, they would recognize it. which I made the following reply: "We have within the last six months failed to see any benefit; but on the contrary noticed a marked change for the worse in many of the employes, and when they can demonstrate the benefits of the union it would be quite time enough for us to recognize it." Mr. Westby, one of the committee, who was present at that interview, said: "We know we have some bad ones in the union." When I replied: "Then in evidence of your good intentions, give us the names of the bad ones, and enable us to weed them out," his reply AT TOLEDO was: "Oh, we can't afford to do that."

London, Ont., June 1, 1899.

The following letter from Mr. Smallman explains itself: To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Office—OVER Can. Bank of Commerce, London. Funds to loan, 5 per cent. Phone Nos 690 and 1107. It has been suggested that since certain of the steam railroads recognize unions in dealing with their employes, Mr. Smallman makes the following the London street railway employes are justified in demanding to be treated, not as individuals, but as a body Reflection will show, however, that the positions of the employes of a steam railroad is essentially different to that of the employes of the London Street Railway Company. The former are scattered over hundreds, or perhaps thousands of miles of territory, and ment of the road to the employes. As the individuals have no opportunity of dealing directly with the management. They, therefore, secure a hearing through a representative committee In the case of the London Street Railway Company, every individual employe can at any time appeal personally to the manager who engages him, or if Moreover, I understand, nobody is admitted to railroad unions without being qualified by knowledge and experi ence to perform the duties of his position. In nearly all such unions, a long term of service and the passing of an examination are necessary qualificaold agreement read: "2. All employes tions. In a measure, they are on the same footing with experienced mechanics, who spend years qualifying themor club, and shall not be required to selves for their positions, whereas a sign any document abridging their full street railway motorman or conductights under this agreement." Can anything be fairer than the above to the mechanic, as a few days' training will make any intelligent workingman an efficient motorman or conductor. Consequently their union has none of these claims for existence.

It appears to me to be merely an effort on the part of certain "walking delegates" to obtain an arbitrary power over the company, and that the fear of the most merciless persecution has forced many of our former employes into the strikers' ranks against their will. Sincerely yours,

T. H. SMALLMAN,

AFTER THE DERBY. London, June 1.-The sporting newspapers and all the others deplore the

The Sporting Life says that when the accident occurred Holocaust was certainly going well. Flying Fox had taken the lead and then pulled out and again took the lead, Holocauste going splendidly, without urging. I am convinced he had all the steam necessary to win the race easily, but suddenly I felt him going down. He did not throw me. I got both legs on one side of the saddle, when I found one foot caught in the stirrup. I knew if he fell I would go under him, and held on to his neck with both arms until I pulled up enough to dismount.

"The leg had been broken clean off, so that the horse was jamming the stump on the ground at each jump. I never saw such a sight, and yet the horse was so game that I think he would have kept on in the race if it had been physically possible. It is impossible to tell how the accident occurred, though the turf was very hard and he may have turned the leg on some obstacle. Of course, there was nothing to do but to kill the poor fellow, who had lost his life in the gamiest race I ever rode."

JESSAMINE.

After all, however, his brightest bays were gained in his character as carpet knight. Trained coquettes and professional fiirts, hushed by a long course of victories, had put confident lances in rest and run vain-glorious tilts with him. He was always ready to accept the challenge; ready to become for a few days, or, in exceptionally tough cases, a few weeks, the apparent captive of the ambitious belle. The epproach of proud humility than which nothing could have been more opposed to servility of spirit or demeanor; the gradual and finally apt absorption of his every faculty and sentiment into his unspoken adoration of her whose chains he wore; the deticate appreciation of each shade of feeling and thought, and prescience of each desire—above and beneath all, his sin-gular faculty of adaptation to the various phases of character that were set for his reading—could hardly fail, first, to disarm, then to flatter, and finally to captivate.

Up to this period of his career, when he had entered his nine-and-twentieth year, nopody said openly of him that his business in life was to win hearts for the pleasure of breaking them. If he had broken any, his victims made no moan. In the cases of veteran co-quettes alluded to just now, sympathy would have been thrown away. There were stealthy whispers to the effect, however, that others less wary, had been drawn into his snare; had dreamed of love, and, awakening to anguished preception of their folly, had shroudbleeding hearts in robes of pride or Christian resignation, and lived on outwardly as little changed by the ex-perience as he was. It is superfluous to remark that these cautious rumors lent lustre to his fame instead of tarnishing it; that dozens of intrepid damsels were wrought by the hearing into a Curtius-like spirit of self-immolation; panted to leap, bedecked in their bravest array, into the gulf which yawned to destroy the safety and peace of mind of the whole sisterhood of marriageable women in the classic town of Hamilton. Neither the envious, nor the prudish, stigmatized him as a lady-killer. The coarse term would be an insult to his refinement, his not-able honor, and equally notable kind-ness of heart. He was, beyond, ques-tion, the most charming of men, a so-cial diamond of the first water, although the obtuse daughters of the simple-hearted tenant of the Dundee manse had not at once discovered it.

What wonder that he, sitting among the roses in the arbor, found infinitive diversion in the recollection that he was pronounced by Jessie "positively homely"—utterly unattractive beside her handsome lover, and that her more discreet sister had mildly echoed her disappointment? He enjoyed the novelty of the incient and the laugh it gave him-was incere in the half-spoken regret— What a pity it is that I cannot venture to publish this verdict, and the nanner of its delivery, in Hamilton? With that he pulled down a branch of musk roses nodding above his head: broke it, pulled off the petals until he face in the odorous mass. Roy came up with him as the sound of low, sweet singing moved the stillness of the garden and the sunset into music. The songstress was Jessie, lying within her oriel-window alone, and gazing at the amber ocean billowing above the purple hills at the outlet of the valley. Her rich contralto voice was like the colored light and the musk roses, Orrin thought, in no wise tempted to dislike or underrate her because she did not value him aright. That mistake would rectify itself, by and by. He could stay a fortnight in Dundee as well as not. Roy had pressed him to do so, and he began to think he would.

This was what Jessie sang, never dreaming of the audience, fit, but few, hidden in the blossoming thicket:

Sleeping, I dreamed, Love-dreamed, Love of thee; O'er the bright wave, Love, floating Light in thy fair hair played the soft Gently around me thy white arms were twined: And as thy song, Love, swelled o'er Fondly thy blue eyes beamed, Love, on

Neither of the cousins stirred until the song was finished, when a robin in the nearest elm began his vespers. "This is Arcadia!" said Orrin, rav-ishing another spray—great white roses this time, with creamy hearts. "It is home!" replied the other softly.

Orrin appeared not to hear him.

GIVE

ice's rare early roses to pieces to satisfy your destructive proclivities, Orrin, we will go in," he said, pleas-

Something in his friend's eye and tone disince dealing to pursue the theme. He could not suspect of an intention to ridicule Jessie or her home, but he felt the absence of sym-home, but he felt the absence of sympathy with his own mood.

"Are they hers?" asked the other, brushing the wasted leaves in an unheeded shower to the floor.

Roy paid no regard to the emphasis. He was strangely averse to talking about Jessie at that moment.

"They are," he said, leading the way to the house, Orrin treading on the scattered flakes of fragrance to gain the door of the bower. "She is an able florist. There is not another garden florist. There is not another garden like hers for many miles around."

No one excepting Jessie observed that Mr. Wyllys did not accost her of his own accord while they were at tea, which was set out on a small table near the large window in the parlor. She, used to petting, and what might have been considered by an impartial judge more than her share of general attention, and a trifle nervous withal, in her desire to produce an agreeable impression upon Roy's kinsman, did remark it, and was conscience-smitten by the fear lest her chagrin at beholding a man so unlike her pre-conceived ideal, had been reflected in her manner. She seized an opportunity, there-fore, when Roy rolled the table to its accustomed place in the middle of the apartment, to court Orrin's notice. So you ascended our Mont Bianc this afternoon?" she said, smiling en-gagingly. "I must retract my saucy innuendoes touching your fondness for

He was quite near her, but he must have been inattentive, for he turned his face to her, with—"Pardon me! I did not catch your observation!"

"It was nothing so dignified as an eservation," she retorted, coloring and observation,' laughing. "If I were to repeat it, you would be reminded of the poor girl whose complaint-'The soup is hot,' uttered confidently to a deaf old lady who chanced to sit next her at a dinner party, was the signal for the solemn production of an ear trumpet, and the remark-audible to all present -'A very profound and interesting observation. I doubt not, my dear! Will you oblige me by repeating it?" Mr. Wyllys laughed in well-bred moderation that, somehow, made Jessie feel that her little story was not very amusing, and had been tamely told. "I submit to the consequence of my deafness, rather than annoy you by the ear-trumpet," was the answer. Bowing deferentially, in quitting her, he followed Mr. Kirke to another window.

"We were speaking of Ruskin's 'Stones of Venice,' today," Jessie heard him begin.

She had read the book, and would has enjoyed listening to their discussion of it, as did Eunice, to whom Mr. Wyllis appealed at her re-entrance, setting a chair for her by her father's, and establishing himself in front of them

Roy apparently did not object to this arrangement, for he drew a stool to the sofa, and talked to Jessie, aside, of things that would have interested her beyond all other subjects, but for the sight of that group in the moon-light that now flooded the room. It kept astir the uneasy sensation produced by Mr. Wyllys' marked avoidance of her at tea time. While her hand lay within her lover's, and her ear drank in all he said, and her heart beat, fast and warm, as he only could make it pulsate, she was ashamed to eatch herself watching the slender figure, bending easily forward, his el-bow on the table at his side, his chin upon his hand, now in an attitude of had a double-handful, and buried his respectful attention, while her father or Eunice spoke, again talking earnestly—she was sure, eloquently also—in the low, eleverly modulated accents of which he was the consummate mas-ter. Did he then regard her as a feather-brained rattle? a forward school girl, of whose prattle he was already weary, and whom he adjudged incapable of entering into, or appreciating intellectual conversation?

"Oh, dear!" almost unconsciously escaped her, when she reached this point in the train of thought that was rapidly passing through her mind, as she lay apparently listening with the utmost attention to what her lover was saying.

Roy looked amazed, almost aghast, as well he might. He was in the middle of a description of their future home, prefatory of a hint he deemed It best to drop relative to a petition he had laid before the trustees of the college in which he was professor. This asked a year's leave of absence, that he might pursue the study of the German language and literature abroad with one or two other branches of his profession. Orrin Wyllys had brought him letters of approbation from the body named, and the time had come when he must feel his way gently and cautiously to the announc-ment of the approaching separation. "My darling," he said, in reply, as it were, to her ejeculation. "What is it? Are you in pain?" (To be Continued.)

The cut is after an old painting of a man gambling with Death with his life the man stands his good angel striving to save him.

This game with life as the stake is the every-day game of men and women.
Behind the player stands the good angel Nature, striving to preserve the life. Even when the game is almost the man who turns to Nature and lets her help him may yet save himself. Medical science knows this, and its highest authorities affirm that the utmost medical skill can do is to help Nature.

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden

Medical Discovery in curing wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of this fundamental scientific truth. "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body building, tissue repairing, muscle making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the strength to throw off diseases of the lungs, heal the sick stomach, restablish the discretization and nutritive organization. establish the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purify and enrich the blood, and nourish the nerves.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better for him; it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just es good" for you. Say so.

In a letter received from A. D. Weller, Esq., of Pensacola, Escambia Co., Fla. (Box 544), he states: "I have, since receiving your diagnosis of my case as stomach trouble and liver complaint, taken eight bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and must say that I am transformed from a walking shadow (as my friends called me), to perfect health. I value your remedles very highly and take pleasure in recommending them to any and all who suffer as I did. Four months ago I did not think to be in shape to assist our 'Uncle Samuel' in case of hostilities, but thanks to you, I am now ready for the Dons!"

Supplied Daily to the Residents of London,

And in Large Quantities—The Average Consumption Is Half a Pint of Milk Per Capita-Individual Reports.

London's milk supply is good-the best in Ontario. So says the medical health officer in his semi-annual report, just issued. The average percentage of butter fat is the highest in the country-a standard that speaks volumes for the efficient work of the Saul. M. H. O. and the honesty and skill of the dairymen. Londoners realize their good fortune, for Dr. Hutchinson's re-port shows that the consumption of milk in the city is exceptionally high per capita. The report is as follows:

"The Chairman and Board of Health: Gentlemen,-I have the honor to lay before you a report of the inspection of herds and dairies and quality of milk sold in the city during the last six months.

"The herds and dairies are arranged in three classes—A, B and C, and the milk also in three classes—1, 2 and 3.

"The regulation prescribes that in class A the buildings shall be properly constructed as to accommodation, protection and ventilation, the walls being whitewashed, and the floors of non-absorbent material, and the entire equipment without fault. In class B and C are entered those cases of a less degree of perfection. Class 1 includes all samples of milk containing four per cent and upwards of butter-fat; class 2, from 3½ to 4 per cent; class 3, from 3 to 3½ per cent. Many of the herds in class B were in faultless condition; in fact, better herds and strains of cattle would be hard to find. Still, under the regulation, they are obliged to take second place.

"Eight thousand quarts are sold in the city daily, exclusive of families who keep their own cows. This gives the large average of eight ounces nearly half a pint a day to each of the forty thousand people in the city. This is well, for in sickness or in health there is no better or more wholesome food than pure milk.

The average percentage of butterfat of all the samples was within a This is a higher fraction of four. average of market milk than is reported from any other municipality in Ontario. The number of persons employed in supplying the city with milk is increasing annually. There are now one hundred and thirty living in five Irwin townships.'

Worn Out Women

FIND HEALTH AND STRENGTH IN MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

Women are more and more coming to recognize Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as their greatest friend and bene-

From girlhood to old age, through all the trying times of a woman's life they are her standby. To pale, thin bloodless cheeks they bring the rich red hue of health. To tired out, weak, worn, rundown girls and women, they give strength and energy and revive their drooping spirits. They banish head-aches, backaches, sideaches, nervous spells, heart fluttering and palpitation and make life worth living.

Mrs. Clara J Dupay, St. Anthony, Kent Co., N.B., recently made the fol-lowing statement for publication; "I had been troubled with palpitation and weakness of the heart for some time, till at last I could hardly drag myself about. "I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills curing so many that I thought I would try them. "I must say that they did me good from the outset, and have so improved my health in every way that I feel like a new woman. I do not know what I would have done had it not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which cured me when I was in a serious condition.' Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, 50c.

up, what is the result? You must remove the stuff or it will decay and fill your house with evil odors of putrefaction. That's precisely what happens in your own body when you become constipated, and the poisonous matter is taken up by the blood and carried back into your system, only it is much worse, because you are unconscious of the effects, but every one who comes near you literally smells you. I know, slightly, two ladies, both of them amiable and attractive women otherwise, who are veritable walking charnel houses! Could I use a more expressive or truthful term? These ladies are so saturated with the poisonous effluvia from their internal economy that they are habituated to it; their sense of smell is blunted. I wonder how their husbands endure them! Both of these women suffer from Constipation; their complexions are muddy and their breaths nauseating to sensitive people. I wish I knew them intimately enough to advise them to try Karl's Clover Root Tea, the most wonderful medicine I have ever known for the regulation of the bowels, purifying of the blood and sweetening of the breath.

My dear sisters, I wish to tell you that your health depends entirely on the state of your blood. Your blood makes you whatever you are, for through the blood every organ in your body is kept in repair. If your blood is poisoned by the waste material that is retained in your body because of your constipation, you are not being built up as you should be.

Karl's Clover Root Tea is a truly wonderful tissue builder. It produces healthy digestive organs, allowing your food to nourish you, and induces sound, Ask your druggist for a sample, or write to S. C. Wells & Co., 52 Colburn Street, Toronto, Ont., who will mail you one. Sold in the United States and Canada at 25c. and 5oc., and in Eugland at 1s. 6d. and 2s. 3d

M. C. R. OBJECT

To the L. E. and D. R. R. Extension From Ridgetown to St. Thomas.

Ottawa, June 1.—The contention of the M. C. R. regarding the proposed extension of the Lake Erie and Detroit Railway from Ridgetown to St. Thomas was presented to the minister of railways by a deputation headed by Mr. Nicol Kingsmill, Q.C., and General Superintendent Morphy, of the Canada Southern division. A statement was submitted designed to show that the company did not discriminate against local freight, and that ample accommodation was given for the district. The service given by the Canada Southern division was pronounced satisfactory by Mr. Laing, of Essex; Mr. Schreipoff, of Bismarck; Mr. James Russell, jun., and Mr. R. H. Russell, of Highgate; Mr. Warwick, of Shedden; Mr. McLardres, of Dutton; Mr. Shields, of Ridgetown, and Mr. Taylor, of Dutton. Mr. Leahey, traveling freight, agent of the Canada Southern division, stated that his instructions were to give every attention to local traffic, and that it was not unusual to stop fast through freight to pick up local freight. Mr. Kingsmill said that in conversation with Mr. Ledyard, president of the Michigan Central, the latter had said that, if anything, preference should be given to local traffic. Mr. McGregor, M. P. for North Essex, and a number of other representatives of the Lake Erie and Detroit Railway, were also present. Mr. Z. A. Lash, Q.C., Toronto, who represented them, asked to be allowed the privilege of examining the schedule of rates submitted. Mr. Blair granted the request. Decision was de-

Gates, manager of the Canada Life Assurance Com-pany, of this city. Mr. Gates is in Hamilton.

WHERE IS IT? An esteemed subscriber to The Advertiser suggests a conundrum, Where is it? He says: "In an obscure village in the north side, county of Middlesex, of less than 400 inhabitants, I find fifteen men and women whose united ages sum up 1,237 years—an average of 82 and nearly a half years-all living within half a mile of each other, only two who are distant 11/2 miles or less." Disregard the Scarlet Fever Regulations.

Medical Health Officer Not So Much Alarmed as Is Prof. Bowman-The Market Is Sanitary After All-House to House Inspection.

The board of health met last night and appointed a committee to investigate the cause or causes of the present prevalence of scarlet fever in the city. The members present were ex-Ald. Taylor (chairman), ex-Ald, Stevely, Mr. Pritchard, Mr. Blackwell, Prof. Bowman, Dr. Campbell, Dr. Hutchinson, M.H.O., Inspector Bell and Secretary Bell.
Prof. Bowman brought up the question of checking the spread of the fever. He had heard that the doctors in the city were not obeying the regulations governing the treatment of scarlet fever; that in order to humor some of their patients they allowed the disease to spread. It was a crying shame. He named ex-Ald. Stevely, Dr. Campbell, Chairman Taylor and the mover a committee to Stevely, investigate and report back with reference to the cause or causes of the present epidemic in the city.

In the discussion which followed it was stated by Prof. Bowman that there were 200 cases of scarlet fever in the hospital and many more in the homes of the city. Ex-Ald. Stevely understood that at Colborne street school many children who had the fever were going back to school before they should.

Dr. Hutchinson, the medical health officer, would not go so far as to say there was an epidemic in the city. The city physicians were complying with the regulations far better than they did a year or two ago. He had just visited the schools, and had it in writing that only three children were absent from the Colborne street school with scarlet fever. When a child with the fever was sent to the hospital the house was not placarded. The number of houses placarded in the city since January was 80. Up to May there were only 3 deaths, the cases being of a mild nature. Long periods of wet weather always increased the number of cases of scarlet fever. One cause of its spreading was that children were sent to school when they were really ill, but before the fever had fully developed. He had found only one case in the last two months where a physician had not reported the case. The patient was in the Salvation Army Home, and the physician had not reported because he believed the home to be in the nature of a hospital.

Prof. Bowman urged that the regulations be strictly enforced. An ample of one or two physicians and one or two families would have a good effect. It was murder in the case of persons who knew, as physicians did, and allowed innocent children to bewho has been abroad for some time, come infected. He thought it was a criminal case, and should be treated

The motion to appoint the committee passed.

City Engineer Graydon reported that he did not consider the market buildings or square in an unsanitary condition. He suggested that the hay market be removed, and strongly admised that permanent walks he laid on vised that permanent walks be laid on the south and west sides of the square. McCormick, F. J. Darch and George Rowntree complained of the disgraceful condition of a lane at the rear of their premises, on the east side of Richmond street, between King and York streets. A sub-committee was appointed to take the necessary steps to abate the nuisance.

Inspector Bell reported having completed the house-to-house inspection The number of premises visited were 9,342; closets reported dirty, 1,678; yards reported dirty, 404; cesspools reported dirty, 10. All the premises have since been cleaned, and the work of having the back lanes cleaned up is in progress. The cost of inspection was $153. The number of premises visited was 1,104 more than last year.

CHEERING LETTER TO THE TRACKMEN

Men's Demand's Go Up a Cent a Day, Says Grand Organizer Rowe.

Grand Organizer A. B. Lowe has issued an encouraging open letter to the striking trackmen, in which he says, in

"You know we tried all means to avoid this strike. We were refused a second interview with Mr. Hays, and when we wrote almost begging him to see us before the 19th, we were met with a contemptuous silence. Brothers, I tell you they could have settled with us cheaper on May 10 than on May 27. Don't doubt that. Every day another cent goes on!

"There has never been known in any strike such a splendid standing together as we, the poor unfortunates, as we were called, have shown, and this morning we are still the same. One gang at Sherbrooke, between Portland and Montreal, 297 miles. One gang at Maitland, the industrious Flannigan, between Montreal and Toronto, 333 miles. Our western record is just as good. Bros. Pole and Harris are confident you will stick to them till they and someone for the company sign an agreement, containing, as these brothers have already told you, a clause to cover all who have gone out whether members or not. And let anyone who might be tempted to yield to threats or promises think how much these would be worth without an agreement to protect us, yes, and I will add, a solid organization ready at the first attempt at revenge to apply a dose of the old remedy. Their latest silly move is to put a lot of carpenters, special constables, and I don't know what, to patrol the track. Fancy the G. T. R. being inspected by men with guns instead of track wrenches, and then I think you can reckon how long it will be till the company tires. Meantime, don't forget it, our pay goes on. This frolic was not of our seeking. Mr. Hays forced us to it, and will pay the piper.

REV. MR. SHAW SPEAKS. At Old St. Paul's Church, Woodstock, on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Shaw referred to the trackmen's strike on the G. T. R. He spoke of the seeming injustice that some men should get only 97c or 98c a day, while some officials draw as much as $40,000 and $50,000, but he made the cheering statement that justice would be meted out to all alike in the next

Mining Notes.

The Phoenix, Ariz., Republican of Wednesday, May 24, contains the following mining news. The Garcia mine is well known in this city, on account of being controlled by Londoners:

"Word comes from the Garcia that the mine is developing well. A shift of ten men is employed, and the number will be doubled soon. A ten-stamp mill is in operation, and the camp has a good water supply piped from the Hassayampa, eight miles away. This mine was placed in the control of inexperienced people a year ago, and it now requires work to remedy the resulting evil. Fresh easterners had been converted into full-fledged western min-ers in a short space of time, and the camp was noted for being one of few in Arizona where almost everyone displayed a brace of six-shooters. The stock, which was placed in eastern markets, soon ran down, necessitating a reorganization of the company. Since the change the work being accomplished is gratifying. The quality of the ore is good, and it will be unexpected if the quantity is not in propor-

Best value of all in a piano, at any time, is the instrument of our own manufacture. This is no idle boast, for no piano in Canada has been eulogized as has this.

-"The tone is noble and sweet, not losing its musical quality even in the utmost fortissimo."

DR. EDWARD FISHER, Con. Music.

Allow me to express to you my appreciation and astonishment at your wonderful concert grand piano used by me at Massey Hall. I had not the slightest idea such a magnificent instrument as this was manufactured in Canada. Its sympathetic richness and brilliancy of tone and its wonderful singing quality, combined with delicacy of touch, easily place your instrument in the front ranks of the leading ARTHUR NUTINI, piano manufacturers of the world."
