Enemy Routed With Heavy Loss-The Matter of Indomnity Discussed-American Statements Hotly Criticised.

London, April 29.-A Pekin dispatch, dated yesterday, says: Nine Chinamen will be executed tomorrow in the American district for highway robbery and violence. The men in question were tried and sentenced according to Chinese law, but they are the first of such sentences to be approved by Gen.

Gen. Gaselle, the British commander, he officers of his staff and the entire British contingent gave a farewell entertainment to the American officers last night, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. It is stated at the German headquarters that the brigade of Ge Mettler is returning to Pao Ting Fu. While the first train from Pekin to Tien Tsin was traversing the bridge between Lo Fa and Yang Tsun Sunday morning it was derailed through the collapse of a culvert. Eleven Chinese were killed and 40 Chinese and 2 Americans injured. One of the Americans cannot recover.

Gen. Voyron intimates that he intends to evacuate the neighborhood of Shan Ting and return to Pao Ting Fu. His extreme outposts remain at Sin Lei. I am keeping a force at Ansuling Pass."

London, April 27.—A Reuter dis-patch from Pekin says the headquar-ter's staff has received a telegram from a British officer accompanying the Franco-Russian expedition, to the effect that on April 23 the Germans crossed into Shan Si through the Kuk Nau and Chang Cheng Lia passes in pursuit of the retiring Chinese, whom reports to the war office from Pretoria, ger will leave for the United States at they followed 18 miles, fighting a Starp action. Chinese police. INDEMNITY CLAIMS.

Berlin, April 27.-Cable dispatches from America, especially those reprint-ed in England, imputed to Germany Shylock-like tendencies as insisting on the pound of flesh in China, and also representing Germany's indemnity as higher than the facts warrant, have created here, both officially and privately, disagreeable surprise. Officially it is pointed out that the figures all along quoted in the American press are wrong. The correct indemnity figures are those given out April 13 showing Russia demands 360,000,000 The correct indemnity marks; France, 260,000,000; Germany, 240,000,000; the United States, 100,000,-000, etc. Germany's official figures presented to the Reichstag show Germany has already spent more than she asks. The above figures do not include the private claims put forth by the various powers. How large those will be nobody yet knows. The view prevails here that the American reproaches and family run back into their rooms intimations against Germany are unjust. Official circles here say they are inable to account for "the systematic ill-will in the matter shown by the United States press."

Speculation as to the Probable Duration of the Present Parliament. Ottawa, April 29.-The probable duration of the session is a question which is now engaging the minds of politicians. Thre dates were named in the hearing of th dates were named in the hearing of the Globe correspondent as likely to see the close of the house—May 15, May 29 and June 15. The first and last of these dates may be dismissed as improbable. About the 29th of May is the most likely, although the policy of the opposition in talking to an unnecessary degree scarcely seems to justify the view. This is, however, a strong desire among the majority of members to wind up business and go home before the Queen's Birthday.

BRITISH COLUMBIA LEGISLATURE. BRITISH COLUMBIA LEGISLATURE.

Vancouver, B. C., April 29.—The government has offered to reduce the percentage of gross earnings of the railway company from 4 to 2 per cent, as the share of the province, and other concessions are suggested. The probability now is that the whole question will lay over to a special session of the legislature in July or August, called for the purpose of discussing this subject. Only estimates for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1902, were brought down on Saturday. The receipts are placed at $2,140,751, and the expenditure at $2,475,335. Budget speech today.

The Spring Medicine That Doctors Endorse

Because it is Not a Weakening Purgative, but a Blood-Enriching, System-building Restorative.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is just such a medicine as the best physicians prescribe for patients who complain of the depressing ills of spring, thin, watery blood and exhausted nerve force. If a committee of the most skilful physicians were to meet to formulate a tonic and restorative especially suited to the needs of the human system in the spring they could not do better than to use the formula of this famous food cure. Doctors are slow to recommend other remedies than their own, but there is not a doctor of any reputation in this country but will tell you that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is as good a spring medicine as it is possible to obtain.

Many of them prescribe this treatment, knowing that the name of Dr. Chase is the strongest guarantee that any medicine can bear. So popular has this remedy become that it seems as though nearly everybody is using it this spring. Ask your neighbors about it, ask your druggist, ask your doctor. When the ills of spring discourage you and you drag yourself about with aching head, irritable, nervous and despondent, you can resort to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with positive assurance that it will rekindle the vital spark of life by purifying and enriching the blood and instilling new nerve force into the weakened system. Nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of energy, ambition and the power to concentrate your thoughts, nervous headache, dyspepsia and neuralgic pains all point to an exhausted nervous system and foretell the approach of paralysis, prostration or nervous collapse. This is the most trying season of the whole year, but you avoid serious disease and keep the vitality of the body at high-water mark by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the favorite prescription of the world-famous physician and receipt book author. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or EDMANSON,

WINDUP OF THE TORONTO HORSE SHOW.

Results of the Military Tournament-The Pony Prizes-Annual Meeting of Canadian Hunt Association.

Toronto, April 29.—Saturday was the last day of the horse show and military tournament, and the attendance was the greatest of the week. The military performance consisted of the naval drill, an exhibition of gmmnastics by the cadets from Kingston, while several of the finals in the different contests were run off. The event that got the most applause was the riding and jumping by officers by the bridle. Such an exhibition as this has never been seen in Toronto before, and two such clever riders as Major Peters and Cadet McParland have seldom come together. The cadet beat Major Peters by a couple of points at jumping the double. The drill by the jackies and cadets came in for a liberal share of applause at both the afternoon and evening per-formances. The military championship was won by Captain Panet, R. M. C., Kingston, he proving the best allround man in the tournament. The wrestling on horseback afforded great amusement to the crowd, while the musical ride and drive by the dragoons; and artillery were thoroughly en-joyed. In the first round of the wrestling, the men of A Battery, R. C. A., and the Royal Canadian Dragoons vanquished all corners. In the final tug-of-war for officers and teams of men and a captain, the cadets of the Royal Military College, Kingston, won easily from the 48th Highlanders, Toronto. Captain Panet, of the R. M. C., won the final contest in the tentpegging. The classes finished up today and brought out some good horses and the entries were all large, not one of the exhibitors dropping out.

Rondeau, Ont., April 28.—A large buck was taken from Long Point to the Provincial Park here, and turned over to Chief Ranger Herbert Gardiner. The buck was placed in an inclosure formed by a wire fence seven feet high. The buck did not take kindly to captivity, however, and when approached cleared the seven-foot fence with apparent ease. This incident occurred nearly two years ago, and the buck isn wild in the bush of the park until a short time ago, when Ranger Gardiner, after working for nearly a week, succeeded in decoying him into the inclosure again. KNEW HIS BUSINESS.

Knew Something Besides What He Read in Books.

The wise, up-to-date, modern doctor is no longer tied down to the hard and fast rules of what his medical books say he shall use and what he may withhold in treating his patient.

The successful doctor nowadays is the one who is quick to avail himself of any remedy, new or old, which holds out a chance of cure, no matter whether it is Allopathic, Homeopathic, or neither one.

Dr. Jennison, in an interesting article on indigestion and dyspepsia says: "Ninetenths of all people who apply to me for advice and treatment think they have this ailment, or that ailment, but I find that on close examination that their whole trouble arises from poor digestion. "They have little appetite and if they do have an appetite the food they eat does them no good. Why? Because it is but half digested, causing thin blood; weak nerves, sleeplessness, aching bones, pains in chest, formation of gases, belching, etc. They tell me they believe they have consumption or heart disease, rheumatism, nervous prostration, in fact, most every disease but the right one.

"In reality the whole trouble is in the stomach and nowhere else. Now what do I do with such people? I don't feed them on predigested foods like babies, nor "stomach bitters," nor patent nostrums which I know nothing about. No honorable physician will prescribe a remedy unless he knows what it contains and its probable effects. For all such patients I have but one prescription, I advise them to go to the nearest drug store and get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I use them with remarkable success in all cases of indigestion and stomach trouble, because I know what Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets consists of and what they will do. They contain the vegetable essences, diastase and government-test pepsin which are the things every weak stomach lacks to restore natural digestive vigor, and if I had dyspepsia myself it is the one remedy I should take.

"When a patient comes to me complaining of dull headaches, sour stomach, bad taste, nervousness, belching of gas, or heart trouble which is generally caused from indigestion I tell him to take one or two of Stuart's Tablets after each meal and as often during the day as he has any trouble, and I feel confident that I have given that patient the best advice I could give."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, containing diastase and pepsin combined with fruit and vegetable essences. They are not cathartic and do not act on any particular organ like ordinary drugs but simply act entirely on the food eaten. They are a natural digestive, pure and simple.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package throughout the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

The H. H. Cook Slander.

With the exception of a few mutter-ings that savor of disappointed expectation, the Opposition journals are for the most part disposed to get away from the whole subject with as little damage as possible to themselves and those with whom they are associated. And no wonder, for even apart from the specific denials, under oath, by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright, the whole case conjured up by opponents of the Dominion Government speedily fell to pieces under the Ithurial spear of Mr. S. H. Blake's cross-examination. 1. The accusation on which the committee of inquiry was granted, was that an agent of the Government had offered Mr. Cook a senatorship for $10,000. The accuser says thist agen was the late M. C. Cameron. The charge therefore is made by Mr. Cook, that the Hon. M. C. Cameron offered him a senatorship for $10,000. This is the crime laid at his door. It is utterly an immaterial issue, so far as the late Mr. Cameron is concerned, whether he paid this money to A or B, handed it over for party purposes, or paid it partly for such uses, and partly for his own election expenses. The gist of the whole charge is that he commit-'ted the improper act of offering a senatorship for $10,000. Mr. Cook has presented this and has made it public. No member of the Government has had anything to do with this charge except to repudiate it. 2. After the accuser and his witnesses had been examined, and the case closed so far as the accuser and the accused are concerned, Mr. Ritchie, the counsel for the committee, fairly stated as a result of the case as follows: "I do not see what could be gained by calling these witnesses (that is Messrs. Biggs and Preston), in view of the positive denial by the Ministers, because, supposing he did make this approach to Mr. Cook, it must have been without authority." This was a fair summing up of the evidence, which might well then have been adopted by the committee.

3. The only evidence adduced subsequent to that statement was the testhat certainly did not add in the least to the case of the accused, but, on the contrary, appeared to remove absolutely any credence that might otherwise have been given to his testimony. The further letters produced strongly corroborated the statement of Sir Richard Cartwright, and explained more fully the various circumstances which caused the difficulties in the way of Mr. Cook's appointment. There therefore existed no reason for recalling the absolute statement made, so well borne out by the evidence given up to that time, and so much strengthened by the further testimony called for by the committee.

That British Budget.

In this year of grace nineteen hunfired and one it may be safely said that no public man excited less envy than the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach; everybody admitted that he was in a tight place, and that the very best he could do would be to make the best of a bad job. The time had come for "pay, pay, pay," in grim earnest. The little war turned out to be a big war, a war to which there seemed to be no end . The expense is enormous, and the treasury must keep on pouring out its millions. Finally it turns out that, for the present at least, the Transvaal is ruined, and the British taxpayer, with all his other loads, must shoulder this tremendous burden.

The immense army still in the field, with all its accompaniments, baggage trains, ammunition columns, hospitals, etc., the maintenance of Boer women and children, the care and support of thousands of prisoners. It requires keen thought and quick imagination to understand all that this means; but one thing that will certainly help the taxpayer to understand is the present budget. The income tax, which was thought to be pretty high in Gladstone's days at sixpence, is now fourteenpence, and many think that in proportion to other things it ought to be more. The export duty on coal is a new thing for the present generation in Britain, and will no doubt produce some disturbance in trade, and thus bring home the war tax to another class of people.

To tax the poor man's sugar instead of his beer will be more of a domestic trouble, and its influence will reach to ney, at which it was decided that she the children who like sweet unings now and then. In this budget the Boer had been confined in a cell together, but Friday the sheriff removed her to a in some cases hits them very hard. We cell in the steel rotary, owing to her inare not now discussing the policy which ability to agree with the other prisonled to the war; we are merely stating a fact. Supposing the Boer to have been all wrong, and always wrong, the fact is that he has been able to ruin his own country and involve Britain in enormous loss of life and almost incalculable expense. If that is the case, it makes one wish that the Boer had an island in the sea all to himself.

We can not open up that question, but at least the budget does one thing for us, and for the world; it shows us that war is now a horribly expensive game, and that our leaders will show their statesmanship in finding a better solution of difficult problems.

Patriotism in the Schools.

At the close of the eighteenth cen-ury there was a strong wave of cosappelitanism, and in many countries men professed to have learned the nobler than even the grandest naion. The close of the nineteenth entury was marked by an equally trong wave of nationalism and atriotism in the narrower sense. These two forces are both needed, and ne of the problems of the highest civilization is to blend them harmoniously. It is well for us to remember what an important fact the instruction given in youth plays in preparing men o deal with these important ques-

We hear a great deal just now about patriotism in the schools, and we are all prepared to admit that young people should be taught to understand the acrifices by which their country has een built up, and that they should thus be trained to make the needful acrifices when the time comes. But this can be done, like everything else. in a right or a wrong way. We have sometimes thought that much of the anti-British feeling among our neighbors can be accounted for from the way in which their school books have been written. We shall do well, then, to look to ourselves, and see that historical subjects are treated in our schools in a judicious manner, and with a fair spirit.

A well-informed Frenchman, writing recently on the relationships of England and France, makes this significant statement: "It is quite natural that a confession of ignorance should be the final result when a Frenchman is pressed as to what he thinks of the English. But more frequently the man we are examining, having had some instruction, will say that he dislikes the English as a nation, even if he likes them individually. The time will come, perhaps, when there will no longer be a good reason for such an answer. But at this moment it is only too significant. The teaching of history, as it is given in all the schools of Europe, is the glorification of one's own country in opposition to other countries. The history we teach our children is the history of wars. Certainly war-history has so far been part of the history of humanity. But to make children study from a patriotic point of view, the quarrels of the past, seems to me the urest way of causing strife among men in the future. given to school children about foreign countries is very like the tales which Corsican mothers tell their children about the families with whom they have a vendetta to settle." There is too much truth in this, and ve can well share the hope of this writer when he says: "We must hope that the day will come when such stories will be archaeological curiosities, and when we shall leave off compiling reasons for mutual hatred as the breviary of future generations."

Discontent Among Advocates of Army Reform.

A Public House Trust-Prospects of International Arbitration.

London, April 29.-English politics are in a transition stage, where the unexpected may happen any day. The chief safeguard against a crisis in the relations of parties or ministers is the South African war. Important changes in the leadership of the commons or the premiership are deferred, while the slow but steady progress of British arms is maintained, and the Liberals, while deriving partisan enjoyment from harassing tactics and the cutting down of government majorities are not prepared to take the responsibility of winding up a campaign which the nation is bent upon finishing. The government is in no danger, even if the majority fell to 33, with 21 Nation alists absent, but while its supporters Boys' Heavy Ribbed Cotton Hose, can be rallied with better whipping, sizes 6 to 94; yery special, at the party lacks unity of direction and strength of leadership and there is INTENSE DISSATISFACTION among the old Tories over the stale ness of ministers and the lack of efficiency in the administration. The rumors of cabinet intrigues are ground less, but the diplomatic, financial and military methods of the government are exciting harsh criticism and dis

ARMY REFORM.

There is also much discontent among military reformers over the feeble Ladies' Plain Cashmere Hose, fine in which the government is playing with the issue of army reform raised in the lest elections. Spencer Churchill, who is coming to the front with long strides, has proposed and amendment to Mr. Brodrick's army resolutions, and may bring on an important debate. He takes the sensible view that the proposals for six army corps will involve heavy expense for barracks and other arrangements, when there is no reason to expect that recruits can be obtained and the skeleton organizations filled out. He, therefore, suggests postponement of the army scheme until quiter when something less illusive and panicky can be worked out. If his views are shared by a considerable body of Conservatives, the bottom be knocked out of the government plan for army reorganization Mr. Brodrick, meanwhile, is plodding on in the war office. He has acted with discretion in appointing a strong ommittee of inquiry into the methods of military education at Woolwich and Sandhurst, and the processes of obtaining army commissions, but his main scheme for the reorganization of the service remains unreal and of doubtful utility. JINGOISM CENSURED.

The spring meetings of the non conformist bodies have been largely attended. The Wesleyans, Congregationalists and Baptists have avoided discussion of the South African war as far as possible, but criminated between an empire of jingoism and an empire of Christian brotherhood, and have deplored the lack of interest here in the appalling problem of dealing with and convertblack races of South Africa. Dr. Dunning has been the most prominent American speaker at these re

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION. Frederick William Holls, who is in Petersburg and The Hague, expressed yesterday the opinion that the South African war had enforced the moral phase of the congress of The Hague and had imparted a great impulse to the cause of international arbitration. His argument was that the risks and the cost of the war should be demonstrated with convincing force, since the resources of defense, estimated by experts at the congress at three to one, had risen to ten to one, and England's experience in fighting the Boers had powerfully impressed continental nations with the necessity as well as expediency of international

North Carolina Boy Kills His Friend on the Stage-Bad Fall From a Theater

Burnsville, N. C., April 29.-While the tragedy "Lost Upon the World," in the closing exercises of the Stanley McCormick high school, at Burnsville, was being given, a real tragedy was enacted when R. N. McInturf, one of the students, was shot and killed by Bacus Bailey, another student, both representing characters in the play. When it became necessary for Bailey in his role to defend himself with a revolver against a drawn knife in the hands of McInturf, he used by mistake a loaded pistol, and in the presence of several hundred persons, McInturf was shot on the The boys were room mates and stage. special friends.

In the safe was found a book containing blank stock certificates of the National Herkimer County Bank, of this city. Seventeen of the certificates had been used, and some of the remaining certificates had the names of William G. Milligan, president, and Albert Story, cashier, forged thereon. It has infested the blood of humanity from ancient times down to the present minute.

It can be cured by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla faithfully and persistently. We know this, because Hood's Sarsaparilla has done it.

It will cure you if you give it a trial. You should begin to take it today.

In the first place it may as well be said that the truth of this story is affirmed by City Treasurer Pope and a whole bevy of city hall officers. A citizen brought two large and handsome perch to the hall today. On the noon train from the west he had received a box of fish that were caught early this morning in Lake Erie, south of Dutton. When he removed the lid the live perch moved, so he took them to the hall to be placed in the acquarium. THE CHARITIES ORGANIZATION. The fifth annual meeting of the Charities Organization Society, which was held yesterday afternoon at the city hall, was attended by a considerable number of prominent citizens, who were apparently well satisfied with the excellent showing made by the various reports. Mr. Sanders presented the scretary's and Treasurer Labelle the treasurer's report. The former's tesseason at the old cove ranges was held tified abundantly to the good work being done by the society. The woodcutting scheme and potato-patch plan have been effective modes of helping worthy people to help themselves, and will be followed again. More than 200 cords of wood were cut since Jan. 1, and $160 paid in wages. Only five or six tramps accepted the wood-cutting coupons, but they did not appear at the pile. In fact, tramps have been remarkably scarce here of late. Several good patches of land for potato growing are at the seciety's disposal, and will soon be alloted to the various applicants. No playhous in London equals the Imperial in prettiness and good taste, while the series of pictures of Paris and Versailles, is staged with a completeness and richness unsurpassed, though the play itself is considered by critics not to be Next in interest to Mrs. Langtry is assuredly Edna May; and despite the marks of disapproval which were manifested in some parts of the house at the first appearance of "The Girl from Also Funds to the Amount of $20,000 to Up There," and the generally cool criticisms, people are crowding to the Duke of York Theater. The nightly advance sales amount to over $15,000. The disturbance on the opening night is a danger to all American productions run here, and one for which the overzealous themselves are responsible. The American colony in London and American visitors generally are intensely loyal to their own country's productions, and when an American company comes over they generally fill the theater on the first night, and applaud everything and everybody with indiscriminating enthusiasm. This produces the impression of an organized clique, interrupts the performance, and unduly prolongs it by encores not desired by the rest of the audience. If American managers in London could induce their supporters to be more discreet in their expressions of partiality on first nights they would have have no more difficulties with the pit and the gallery.

Mr. Charles Frohman had another financial and artistic success Wednesday, when he produced "Sweet and Twenty," at the Vaudeville Theater.

with Ellaline Terriss, and Seymour Hicks in the cast. Capt. Hood's play is generally acknowledged to be one of the most charming little love plays een here in a long time. Gertrude Elliott's first appearance in London since her marriage was not auspicious. Forbes Robertson's production of "Count Tezma" at the Comedy Theater, is generally condemned.

LAUNCHES ON THE THAMES

Hamilton Firm May Introduce Them at Springbank.

How the Island Might Be Utilized to Encourage Boating-The Springbank Club.

Anyone who has read Jerome K.

Jerome's criticism of the steam launch probably formed an antipathy toward steam launches in general, and the river variety in particular. But the steam launch has its place in summer recreation; and if suitable arrangements can be made with the water commissioners, a Hamilton firm will probably place several launche on the river at Springbank. A more perfect stretch of river for boating purposes than the Thames from the waterworks to Byron could not be imagined. The water is deep, the current scarcely strong enough to be noticeable, and the scenery on either bank charming. Just why boating has not been encouraged at the beautiful river resort is inexplicable. At the present time there is no accommodation for boats at the park, and no matter how much the visitor yearn for a paddle down stream, he must content himself with staying on dry land. A well-known gentleman made suggestion the other day which, if carried into effect, would greatly add to the popularity of Springbank. If, he pointed out, the commissioners wish to make the park the delightful recre ation ground it should be, they should convert the island opposite the present pavilion into a landing place for boats. An attractive boathouse, that would completely cover the island might be conducted at a small cost with convenient landing slips encircling it. The roof of the boathouse could be converted into a bandstand, and numerous electric lights convert the place into a veritable fairy land at night. Landing places might be constructed at different points along the park front from the waterworks to Byron, and boating-providing the found the facilities at handwould thrive as it has not done in London in many years. An evening regatta, with music and illuminations would no doubt prove an attractive feature of the Old Boys' entertain-

Springbank will this year be more beautiful than ever. The commissioners have at present a large force of men at work in different parts of the park, and the street railway company will undertake many improve ments, including a new band stand near the river and a covered pavilion for shelter during inclement weather The Springbank Club, the organization which will make its home in the beautiful new club house built by Mr. Pocock on the north side of the river, is looking forward to a prosperous season. The club recently purchased complete set of gymnastic apparatus, and will construct a new building as a gymnasium. The club will also go in for boating and other out-of-door

MARVELOUS DISCOVERY

How Children Born Blind Can Be Taught to See.

New York, April 27.-According to a Vienna dispatch to the World an epoch-making discovery in training children born blind to see, has been made by Director Keller, of the Institute for the Blind, Vienna. He has just exhibited before the Physicians' Society a 7-year-old boy, who was born blind, but with perfectly formed eyes -brain blind, as the doctors call itwhom he has taught in fourteen months to discern colors, forms and objects, and to read with his eyes. The method consists in first teaching a child in a perfectly dark room by means of a movable disc of light to distinguish light from darkness, the child being "unable to see" perhaps. This is developing a faculty of which the pupil is not conscious, and takes months of patient treatment. Next, objects which a blind person knows by feeling are placed against a lighted disc and the child is told what they are called. Colored glass placed before a lamp teaches him colors. Geometrical figures on a disc are shown, and the teacher passes slowly on to forming letters, and then reading is taught. Then the disc is removed, and objects are shown in a dark room with rays of light falling on them. From this point the sight i gradually accustomed to the daylight. Director Keller has received gratulations from all the university and medical men who have heard of

The Hot War Now Being Waged and the Chances of a Crash-Boom at Its Apex.

Montreal, April 27.—The following opin-on of the Star's Wall street correspon-lent, dated New York, April 26, will be f interest: "The authorities in Wall street do not believe that there is any danger of a panic, although reactions in prices are expected and to be looked for, on account of the extremely high level which values have reached. The street is now going through the second boom since the reelection of President McKinley in November last, and it is now probably at its apex. Speculating on last Friday, Saturday and Monday was at a dangerous pace, and had it continued in that way for a week the outcome would have been serious indeed, but on Tuesday more normal conditions were reached, and there was a marked decrease in activity. The course of the market in the near future cannot be positively outlined, but there are indications that there will be a gradual decline in prices, followed by another rise, and then the usual midsum-"The authorities in Wall street do not ual decline in prices, followed by another rise, and then the usual midsummer dullness and low water mark of values, but no one anticipates that the market will be as stagnant again as it was previous to the presidential election."

A San Francisco telegram says: It is stated in railroad circles that President Hays, of the Southern Pacific, is about to inaugurate a radical change in the management of the system. He will form a cabinet of advisers, to be composed of the heads of practically all the principal departments of the road with the single exception of the law de partment.

EIGHTY CHURCHES

ARE INVITED

The Detroit Federation Is To Be Formed May 3-Convention Will Decide as to Unitarians and Universalists.

Detroit, April 27.—Friday, May 3, at 8 p.m., in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, has been et as the time and place for the assembling of a convention to organize he federation of churches in this city This was decided at a meeting of the ederation committee held yesterday afternoon at which were present Rev Nehemiah Boynton, Congregationalist P. C. Curnick, Methodist; Rufus W. Clark, Episcopalian; D. D. McLaurin Baptist; C. B. Newnan, Church of Christ, and John McDowell, Presbyter-

Letters will be sent inviting about 8 of the Protestant churches, including the German Lutheran and Protestan Episcopalian churches, to join. It wa lecided after considerable deliberation not to send invitations to the Unitarian and Universalist churches. Whethe they will be finally left to the conven tion. While a great many of the mer bers were in favor of asking the Un versalists and Unitarians to aid it the work, it was not thought wise fo the committee to do so, as it was fear ed that a number of the orthodo churches might in that event refuse to join the federation.

Two propositions were considered at the committee meeting yesterday. first was to work only along education al and moral lines, the second to include religious work. The latter pla was adopted, and this led to the deter-churches. Evangelical associations, such as the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. AND PROPERTY A., will be asked to join.

A general constitution to submit to the convention was also decided upon. The organization will be called "The Federation of Churches in Detroit," and its work will be the spiritual, moral, social and educational improvement of the city.

COL. DENT AT LISTOWEL. Listowel, April 26 .- Col. Dent, Major Gore, and Dr. Fraser, president of the Royal Victoria Veterinary College, London, arrived from Toronto today, and purchased 75 horses for shipment to R. Hay, of this town. They will continue the inspection tomorrow mornwas damaged; E. L. Stevens lost his ing, and expect to secure about 100 more. Col. Dent, though well satisfied with the horses shown, expresses the opinion that they are not as good a lot as shown last year, owing to the animals in the farmers' hands becoming scarcer, and reincrates the opinion that farmers should pay more attento breeding the class of horses suitable for army remounts. Col. Dent sent a number of thoroughbred stallions to the Telfer-Climie Company, Montreal, last fall, selected by self, that ought to be more suitable for breeding the class of animals now in demand, and it is to be hoped that more general use of these horses will be made. Ballymore, the thoroughbred

Mr. McRobert's Reply Mr. Hodgins.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Having seen Mr. J. R. Hodgins' statements of April regarding the smallpo, epidemic, I feel it my duty to Dr. Mc-Neill, medical health officer for London township, to make the following statement: Mr. Hugh Morkin, hay presser, came to my house and prevailed on me to allow my son Edmund to go with the hay press for a few to so with the hay press for a few days. I consented, and my son went the first half-day to Mr. H. Bilyea's, or the first half-day to Mr. H. Bilyea's, on con. 14; from there they went to Mr. J. R. Hodgins', arriving there late at night on Feb. 19, it being cold and very stormy. After the horses were stabled Mr. Hodgins invited them into the house, if they were not afraid of chickenpox. My son replied he was not afraid of anything, as he was cold, wet and hungry. He slept in one of the beds that had been occupied by Mr. Hodgins' children. After pressing Mr. Hodgins' hay my son came home, having been at no other place with the hay press, and in thirteen days from that press, and in thirteen days from that time he sickened with this disease. press, and in thirteen days from that time he sickened with this disease. The other five of my family previously having had chickenpox, we joked Edmund, saying: "He escaped it before, when the rest had it; he was in for it now." But the disease did not stop there, for the rest of the family, as well as myself, contracted the disease. My as myself, contracted the disease. My eldest daughter went to Clinton, to visit her uncle, on Saturday, March 23, and on Sunday sickened with the disease. Dr. Graham was called in and became alarmed as to the nature of the disease, and subsequently called Dr. Shaw, medical health officer, in consul-Shaw, medical health officer, in consultation, and after due consideration pro-nounced it smallpox, and placarded the house. Dr. Bryans, of Toronto, at specialist on smallpox, was called at my request, and confirmed the diagnosis. My son Edmund had not been nosis. My son Edmund had not been away from home, except to Lucan, since Christmas, and that was in January. If Mr. Hodgins considered it chickenpox merely, why all this renovating and housecleaning, as stated in the newspapers, and why were the boys sent the second night to sleep in an sent the second night to sleep in an unoccupied house, where there was neither furniture or clothes? Considering the control of the control o ering the loss and inconsenience to myself and family, as well as my bro-ther-in-law in Clinton, not saying anyther-in-law in Clinton, not saying anything about the danger to the people at large, it ill becomes anyone to interfere with the medical health officer in the discharge of his duty. Truly any man who would endanger the lives of his fellow-citizens and regist the automatical states. of his fellow-citizens and resist the authority of the health officers in stamp-ing out this loathsome and dreadful disease is most selfish and cruel, and is not a friend to his fellow-man or deserving of citizenship. Thanking you,

Mr. Editor, I remain, yours truly,

Amusements.

Stephen C. Foster's beautiful song, "The Old Folks at Home," or, as it is better known, "The Suwanee River," has long been one which arouses the pathetic side of almost every nature. There is in its quaint melody and mournful words a life-picture of the sunny south, of which so many in the north know very little. The late Wm. E. Stirling, the author of "On the Suwanee River," now in its fourth season, which comes to the London Opera House on Tuesday, April 30, has taken as the locality of this play, the region about the little village of Suwanee, on about the little village of Suwanee, on the banks of the famous old stream, and he presents to us the story of the family of Clayton, one of the first settlers in Florida. Reports of this new attraction are favorable. SEEMS LIKE A DREAM

To Be Now Entirely Free From Asthma After Eight Years Suffering-That Is What a Vancouver Lady Says-After Being Cured by Clarke's Kola Compound. If the person who suffers from Asthma

If the person who suffers from Asthma could only see the thousands of letters on file at our different offices he would no longer doubt that Asthma can be cured by Clarke's Kola Compound.

Mrs. J. Wise, Mount Pleasant, Vancouver, B.C., writes: "I have been a most unfortunate sufferer from Bronchial Asthma for the past eight years, and I don't unink any person with this disease could have suffered more during that time. Many times for weeks I could not lie down at all. My doctor told me I could never get better. Just then I heard of a Vancouver gentleman who had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound, so I tried it. The first bottle did not relieve me much, but soon I began to improve, and before I had finished the fourth bottle the attacks ceased altogether, and during the past six months of damp, cold and foggy weather have not had a single attack. It seems like a dream to be free from this worst of all diseases after so many years of suffering. I have since regained my lost strength and weight, and don't think I ever felt better than now. I consider Clarke's Kola Compound a marvelous remedy, and would urge any person suffering from this disease to try it."

There was a moment of silence. Then madame said in a terrible voice—terrible because it was so deadly calm from massion:

You will do as I tell you, or-" "I cannot, even though you send me from you," Shirley reiterated more firmly than before, as she paused, too excited to go on. Then lifting her clear eyes to the angry woman's face she continued, appealingly: "Madame Marton, pray stop and think a moment; do you wish me to tell this—lie for you?" Madame started as the obnoxious word smote her ears, and a flush of shame dyed her face and neck.

She stood as if fascinated by the girl's gaze for a moment, then turning abruptly away she left the room without a word and went downstairs to receive her caller.

Shirley went slowly across the hall to her room, feeling greatly depressed over the recent exciting interview with madame. She was indignant also over the fact that she had been requested to take a message of such a deceptive character to any one.

"Oh, dear!" she sighed, as she opened the door and her eyes fell upon the pretty new rug, "why must this disagreeable affair happen just after she had been so good to me? If she sends me away—and I will not remain to violate either my conscience or my self-respect—she will feel that her money has been spent for naught."

feel that her money has been spent for naught."

She dreaded to meet the woman again, for she feared that she would be so angry and unreasonable, because she had dared to openly oppose her, that she would at once dismiss her, and the thought of going back to hot, dusty New York, with Clifton away, was not an inviting prospect one of the had but known that madame dreaded the thought of parting with her even more than she mourned over such a possibility she would have been greatly cheered in thus realizing how necessary she had become to her.

Madame was, indeed, fast experiencing a deep attachment for her bright and charming companion, although she would have scorned to own the fact to any one, and took considerable pains to conceal it from those around her; but it had been a great departure for her to go off by herself and purchase the rug to give the girl a pleasant surprise. She had never been known to do such a thing before, while the other innovations which she been known to do such a thing before, while the other innovations which she was contemplating were likely to paralize her household with astonishment when they should be discovered.

However entaged she might have been at the time of Shirley's refusal to take her false message to Mrs. Sandland, she appeared to have entirely recovered from her violent mood when she met her at supper-time, and the subject was not referred to by either of them.

This was a source of great wonderment to Shirley, and she was even more astonished when the next morning madame commanded her to get ready early for their shopping expedition to Quebec.

They started forth on the most amicable terms, and Shirley gratefully accepted the situation, and exerted herself to be agreeable to her employer.

Upon arriving at the great carpet store to Quebec a handsome rug was selected.

Upon arriving at the great carpet store in Quebec a handsome rug was selected for the drawing room, and then madame decided that she would have another for the dining room and a couple for the hall, then some draperies were added to the other purchases, and Shirley, upon making a rude estimate, was amazed to find that the woman had spent more than fifty pounds.

"I hope you will not hold me responsible for having led you into this extravagance," she laughingly remarked, but flushing sensitively when madame called upon her to decide between the patterns of two sets of expensive draperies which were spread out before her

"You just let me alone," the strange—woman retorted sharply, but not illmaturedly; "I won't have my place meddied with; my companion, let me tell you, is not going to have the only attractive room in the house."

So Shiriev said no more, but though secretly delighted to have these beauti-ful things added to their home, she hardly knew how to take madame in this un On their return from their shopping expedition Shirley found upon her table a quaintly shaped basket containing a great bunch of long-stemmed roses of various sinds, together with a mass of the largest and most beautiful pansies she had ever

Attached to the handle of the basket there was a card, upon which was simply written, "Compliments of Neil Wallace."
"How kind!" cried the delighted girl, her face all aglow with pleasure, and longing to have some one share it with her she tripped across the hall to madame's room and set the basket on the table before her, hoping that she would enjoy it also.

Then she suddenly checked herself and remarked indignantly: "Well, I won't call them worthless trash, since they have made your face shine like that, so take them away to your room, child, and enjoy them to the top of your heart." Shirley's fair hands fluttered among the bright blossoms for an instant, then se-quoted Shirley, with a rougish twinkle in her eyes as she caught up her basket and danced out of the room without waiting to note the effect of her act.

Madame Marton sat looking down upon the flower for several moments, a peculiar expression on her aged face.

"What has come over me?" she mutliar expression on her aged face.

"What has come over me?" she muttered at length, while she shrugged her shoulders impatiently. "There is no fool like an old fool, it is said, and I begin to believe it. Yesterday she kissed me, this morning she wheedled me into spending more than fifty pounds, and now she ends by pinning a rose upon my bosom and making a guy of me."

She lifted her hand as if to snatch the gleaming blossom from its place, then tried not to mind the smirks and smiles which the sight of it caused among the servants; but when she went back to her room again she carefully removed the beautiful bud, and laid it in a tiny box, which she shut away in a bureau drawer, something very like a tender smile wreathing her thin lips while thus engaged.

which she shut away in a bureau drawer, something very like a tender smile wreathing her thin lips wifile thus engaged.

Truly, for once, the "leopard" seemed likely to "change his spots."

The next few weeks passed pleasantly to Shirley, or at least they would have been delightful if she had not been secretly anxious over the sudden cessation of Clifton's letters.

She continued to write to him, however, thinking that the fault might be with the mails, but as time passed and she still heard not a word she grew distressed and even alarmed.

It was totally foreign to her nature to be suspicious, and she refused to doubt his fidelity; but she could not understand her lover's long-continued silence, and she would have been something more than human if she had not at last experienced something of wounded feeling and even of indignation over having her many letters ignored.

Thus, after a time, she ceased writing to him, and tried to be contented with her present duties and surroundings, while she could not fail to be interested in the changes going on around her.

Madame Marton, having once instituted a new departure, would not be satisfied with half-doing anything, so made thorough work of beautifying her home.

It was strange to see how she consulted Shirley, and yielded to her on almost all points which required taste and skill in arrangement; and by the end of a month from the next day when the young girl had surprised her with the changes in her own room, the grand old mansion presented a very different appearance from what it had worn when they arrived from New York.

There were bright rugs scattered all about, while rich and beautiful draperies had been hung at the doors and windows.

The pictures also had been rearranged—some of them newly framed—and with

CHARGE AGAINST A PALMIST. Calgary, N. W. T., April 29.—A case of considerable interest was concluded in the police court here, when the charge against Madame Rheo, palarist, for telling fortunes, was dismissed. The chief of police went to her room at a hotel and had his hand read, being told that he would be more likely to die of apoplexy than consumption, and he arrested her. After hearing the evidence the magistrate held that she did not under-take to tell fortunes. He pointed out that the evidence showed that she only said lines on the hand indicate that; such and such should be the case, not that such and such will happen.

SOMETHING MORE THAN A PURGATIVE.—To purge is the only effect of many pills now on the market. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are more than a purgative. They strengthen the stomach, where other pills weaken it. They cleanse the blood by regulating the liver and kidneys, and they stimulate where other pill compounds depress. Nothing of an injurious nature, used for merely purgative powers, enters into their composition.

Constipation

According to the best medical authorities, fully three-fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from costiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. Aside from creating impurity of the blood, it gives rise to headaches, piles, foul humors, fevers, debility, etc. Therefore, it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used, and rich food and stimulants of all kinds avoided. This, with the use of Burdock Blood Bitters to regulate the bowels and establish healthy action of the stomach, liver and kidneys, cannot fail to perform a complete cure, even in the most obstinate cases. B.B.B. is a natural remedy for constipation, and its reputation is one of continued success, proved by the overwhelming evidence of thousands of testimonials.

Dyspepsia

Full and proper nutrition depends upon the action of the stomach. If the action of the stomach is wrong, the best of food cannot properly nourish the body, while with a healthy stomach even coarse food furnishes strength and vigor to the body. With good food and good digestion the highest health is obtained, pure blood is formed and disease quickly cast off. The grand secret of life and health rests, therefore, in good digestion making pure blood.

To secure these requisites, the use of B.B.B. is indicated wherever dyspepsia or impure blood is present, and there are but few who do not suffer either occasionally or chronically from these complaints. Prominent symptoms of dyspepsia are variable appetite, faintness, heartburn, sour stomach, nausea, headache, dizziness, fluttering of the heart, coated tongue and bad taste in mouth, costiveness or diarrhoea alternately, low spirits, tired feeling, etc. Burdock Blood Bitters is guaranteed to cure dyspepsia in any form, having cured cases of twenty-five years' standing which had resisted all other treatment.

In Spring Time

No other remedy possesses such perfect cleansing, healing and purifying properties as Burdock Blood Bitters. It not only cleanses internally but it heals, when applied externally, all Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Scrofulous Sores, Blotches, Eruptions, etc., leaving the skin clean and pure as a babe's. Taken internally, it removes all morbid, effete or waste matter from the system, and thoroughly regulates all the organs of the body, restoring the stomach, liver, bowels and blood to healthy action. In this way the sick become well, the weak strong, and those who have that tired, worn-out feeling receive new vigor and buoyant health and spirits so that they feel like work. If your appetite is poor, your energy gone, your ambition lost, B. B. will restore you to the full enjoyment of happy, vigorous life.

Skin Diseases

Many skin diseases, including Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Tetter, Shingles, Eruptions, Scurf, Itching and Burning Rashes, Sores, etc., are caused by bad blood, and their cure depends upon the purification of the vital fluid by the prompt and faithful use of a powerful alternative, blood purifier and tonic like Burdock Blood Bitters. This medicine not only counteracts the poison in the blood but, by unlocking all the secretions, it completely removes all poisonous waste or impure matter from the system. In skin diseases, the use of Burdock Healing Ointment is of value as a soothing application, to exclude the air and hasten the healing process. It is claimed for B.B.B. on unmistakable evidence that it cures all blood diseases from a common pimple to the worst scrofulous

Biliousness

The liver secretes bile, the natura cathartic; it also filters and purifies the blood. When torpid or inactive, the bowels become costive; when too much bile is secreted, the subject becomes bilious and has diarrhoea; when the bile overflows into the blcod, we have jaundice, with sallow skin and yellow eyes, Signs of liver complaint: Foul, coated tongue, sleepy, weary feeling, aching shoulders, headache, nausea, irregular bowels, depression of spirits, dull, yellow eyes, bad breath and general prostration, burning feet and hands, etc. Regulate the diet: Take ripe fruit and vegetables, with simple, plain diet; avoid all stimulants; take Burdock Blood Bitters, the great anti-bilious vegetable compound, that acts at once upon the stomach, bowels, liver, kidneys, skin and blood; opens all the sluiceways or outlets of disease, and at the same time strengthens the entire system. Burdock Blood Bitters thus cures even the worst forms of chronic liver complaint, from which relief often seemed impossible. Many thousands of bottles have been used for liver diseases, and we have yet to hear of a single com-

BASEBALL. GREAT IS FRISK. If anyone ever doubted the ability of

Emil Frisk, the ex-Canadian Leaguer, to both pitch the ball and hit it when occasion required, let him stand forth in the false prophet class. In the opening game of the American League at Detroit, on Thursday, Miller, who has been looked upon as Detroit's star pitcher, was put in to win the game from Milwaukee. The eyes of ten thousand Detroit fans were en Miller, and so were the eyes of the Milwau-kee batsmen. He lasted three in-nings, when Frisk was substituted. Here is the rest of the story as told by the Detroit News: When Miller gave way to Frisk, confidence seemed to be passed along the line, and the playing was sharp enough during the rest of the game. Miller thought he would be able to steam the ball over as well as ever, but found so soon as he tried it. ever, but found so soon as he tried it that he was shy on strength and other requisites. Because of his nerve Miller had been selected to open the season, and, unfortunately, this was about the only thing he had with him. Frisk, who took his place, pitched a good game, although he was hit hard in two innings. Had he started off and been supported as he was in the six innings during which he officiated, it is doubtful if Milwaukee would have made half as many runs. During the spring work has been noticed Dillon is getting back to the batting form w hich made him great in 1899. He has been meeting the ball nicely and getting results, and in the opening game he accomished the rare feat of making four wo-base hits, two of them in the ninth inning, and winning the game. He scored three times himself and bated in five runs, being responsible for nore than half of the Detroit tallies. Elberfeld, Holmes, Gleason, Casey and Frisk also met the ball nicely and with

Bailey, died on Saturday, at the familye residence, on Philip street, after a very short illness. She was a daughter of the late Richard Hoskins, the ter of the late Richard Hoskins, the well-known builder and contractor, and was a native of Cornwall, England. She had been a resident of this city since early childhood. Besides her husband a family of seven daughters and one son survive. They have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their bereavement. their bereavement.

-Prof. Ballantyne, of Knox College, Toronto, occupied the pulpit in the First Presbyterian Church yesterday, at both services. In the morning he preached from John, 4th chapter and 42nd verse: "Now we believe, not because of thy saying: for we have heard him ourselves, and know that this is indeed the Christ, the Saviour of the world." Many Christian men are ac-cused of having a religion that is in-herited. The accusation is to a large extent true. We believe and worship as did our fathers, and rejoice in the fact; we accept such a godly inheritance and are not ashamed of it. Prof. Ballantyne dwelt upon pure religion as a result of personal experience. It is Ballantyne dwelt upon pure rengion as a result of personal experience. It is something that must be felt in order served on the lawn. Then all adjourned to the understood. A man might know journed to the church, where addresses something that must be felt in order to be understood. A man might know all the reasons that could be advanced in behalf of Christianity; he might be thoroughly conversant with all the history and philosophy of religion and still miss the essentials of true christianity. "The tree of knowledge," said the preacher, "is not the tree of life."
To quote the words of Paul, "He that increases knowledge, increases sorrow." Men shrink from attempting to express religious convictions and in-cur experiences which seem so difficult from April 1 to 10 in the River Thames; to adequately reveal. "Words suggest and arouse thought, but do not express it," hence the experiences of the true follower of Christ must be accepted on the testimony of one who feels the truth of what he states even though he fail to transmit their vital meaning to others. The sermon throughout emphasized the paramount importance of personal experience as opposed to intellectual theorizing regarding Christianity. The church was well filled both morning and evening, thus testifying to the popularity of this old-time London preacher.

FISH-SPEARER FINED. On Saturday afternoon, Frank Elson, of Byron, appeared before Squires Lacey and Smyth, charged by Inspector Jury with spearing a muskallonge at Byron on Thursday. Elson was found guilty and was fined $10 and costs, making $15 85 in all.

RAILWAY MEN REMOVING. Twelve G. T. R. employes-engineers and firemen-will be shortly removed from London to Sarnia tunnel. This step is taken by the railway authorities in consequence of the placing on the road of engines of increased power and size, which will be able to make the run of 180 miles from Sarnia to Niagara Falls, instead of having trains change engines here. These large en-gines will probably be placed on the through express trains, Nos. 1, 3 and 5, for the west, and Nos. 2, 4 and 6, for the east. PROPERTY CHANGES. The following changes of property have taken place in London township within the past few weeks: John Conner has bought the 50-acre farm from Percy Dewan for the sum of $3,400; Thomas Stevens bought Wm. Nixon's hundred-acre farm on con. 7 for $4,600; Mr. S. Wheaton, J. P., has leased his farm, lot 13, con. 3, to Mr. Waters, and will shortly move to his new brick residence on Richmond street north; Joseph Bere sold his farm on con. 8 to Mr. Hobbs for $4,200. The Cummings farm at Ettrick was bought by Wm. Needham, of Ilderton, for $4,575. Gardner Tuckey, of Hyde Park, has rented the Birr hotel and taken possession. LONDON'S OLDEST RESIDENT. A woman, who was probably London's oldest surviving resident, passed away on Saturday evening at Mount Hope, in the person of Mrs. Mary Henry. Mrs. Henry was born in county their future home. Armagh, Ireland, in 1799, and consequently has lived in three centuries and seen the reign of five British sovereigns. With her husband and one child she came to London about 75 years ago. They first settled on a farm at Merrickville, in Leeds county, afterwards purchasing and removing to a farm about two miles north of Nilestown. Here Mr. Henry died in 1863. Their family consisted of five sons and three daughters, of whom Bernard, John, Miss Annie, and Mrs. McIntyre are since deceased, the sur-
