WILSON WILL NOT REPLY TO BRYAN

President Rests His Case on Note Berlin Gets Today.

ANSWER READ TO BRYAN

Courtesy Accorded Ex-Secretary of State on Wilson's Direction.

[Special to The Advertiser by John Edwin Nevin.]
Washington, June 10. — President

Wilson will rest his cause in the German-American controversy on his note to be handed to the Berlin Foreign Office late today.

He believes the note will entirely justify his position. Consequently neither he nor his friends will answer ex-Secretary of State Bryan's explanation of reasons why he resigned from the Wilson cabinet.

Methods. Objectionable.

The President is understood to have taken the position that it was not the killing of 115 Americans that made the Lusitania incident the cause for the note of May 13, but rather the method by which they were killed. The United States, in its original note of February 10, emphasized that if Americans were sacrificed as victims of the German submarine policy, this Government would hold Germany to strict accountability.

Reply Unresponsive. In pursuance of that announcement the note of May 13 was dispatched. The President considered the German reply unresponsive, and the note now believed to be in Berlin plainly says

It was learned today that after he had signed the note as Acting Secretary Counsellor Lansing presented it to Secretary Bryan to be read over. He did this as a courtesy by direction of the President, as the understanding between the President and Bryan was Official Statement Praises that while his resignation had been ted, it did not become effective until after the note actually had been started for Berlin.

Stands Pat.
There had been some change made in it, but on the question of Germany's responsibility for observing national law the President had "stood pat." There is no alternative proposition contained in the note. Germany is furnished with facts on record in Washington concerning the Lusitania

Edward G. Clissold, for 33 years in the service of The London Advertiser, who was pensioned by this newspaper eight years ago, died early this ing, aged 82, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Blount, of Ottawa. The Advertiser was informed of Mr. Clissold's demise in a telegram from George Buskard, former city editor of The Advertiser, now secretary to Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works. Mr. Buskard stated that Mr. Clissold had not been in good health for a couple of months, but that his death was unexpected. And although he was a man long past the alloted span of years, The Advertiser, with which he kept in close touch always, was of the belief that he was in his usual good health. Orders Published in Paris Show Rapid German Advance Interfered. [Canadian Press.]

Paris, June 10 .- A series of documents, principally orders issued by Gen. Joffre, showing how preparations were made for the battle of the Marne, is published by the Bulletin Des Armees. These papers seem to establish that Gen. Joffre's object from August 25, the date of the first order, was a defensive and not an offensive action. With this end in view, various dispositions of troops were ordered and carried out between August 25 and September 4. But the rapidity of the German advance, the Bulletin says, together with delays occasioned by the necessity reinforcing and completing the British army as well as transport difficulties occasioned by an exodus from Paris forced part of the troops sent from the east to reinforce Gen. Maunoury, com-manding the Allies' centre, to detrain farther south than was at first in-

WATCHMAN MOST SCARED

'My God, Ain't You Killed,' He Asked Spryest Man in London.

W. D. Benson, 359 Dufferin avenue had a close call to death yesterday afternoon at the Adelaide street crossing of the Grand Trunk Railway. He had left his home and, riding a bicycle, an inseparable companion of the old gentleman when he is away from home was on his way to some handle work in London East. At the Adelaide street crossing a freight train was passing, and the gates were down. He took up his bicycle beside him. He waited until it was time for the train to have passed, and then looked up and saw the caboose just going over the track. It stopped again, however, but he considered he had enough time to get safely over besaid that half the money charged to the administration of the church funds fore the van got back if more shunting was to be done. I was alert to my temerity in going around the tail end of a train, but thought I had given enough time to the trainmen to get their cars past the crossing. Just as the irst wheel of my bicycle had crossed the north rail of the north track the impact came. I was knocked over and my bicycle went beneath the wheels. I fell to the side of the track, but managed to keep hold on thought that if I could keep a clutch or it I might save it from annihilation. Of course, when any man of normal inellect is in danger of his life by remaining in a certain spot he naturally takes for the tall timbers. I kept my self out of danger, but still held my wheel. More Than Score of Men Come to Camp Here to Join Present Battalions During Past 24 Hours, Indicating Spirit of District in Enlisting.

"No word yet of the new battalions." an official call to arms the recruiting in This is the official word handed out at divisional headquarters today. Save for the press dispatches concerning the two new infantry units that are to be raised in this division, nothing has been heard of them by the headquarters

Just as a sample of how it would be possible to raise these new units, the officers are pointing to the way recruits are coming in for the present battalions. Twenty-one more recruits were sworn in by the 33rd yesterday and this morning. At a rate such as this it would soon be possible to raise two or twice two battalions, for there is no active recruiting propaganda, the men being taken on simply as they come to the mobilization camp. With a score and more daily applying for enlistment at one centre alone, it is pointed out that with recruiting offices over the entire division and

each Troubles Due to Acidit

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST. co-called stomach troubles, such as igestion, wind, and stomach-ache are probably nine cases out of ten simevidence that fermentation is takplace in the food contents of the mach, causing the formation of gas acids. Wind distends the stomach, causes that full, oppressive feeling netimes known as heartburn, while acid irritates and inflames the deligible lining of the stomach. The trouble entirely in the fermenting food, in fermentation is unnatural, and do formation is not only unnatural, may involve most serious consences if not corrected. To stop or vent fermentation of the food contes of the stomach and to neutralize acid, and render it bland and harms, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnia, probably the best and most serious corrector of acid stomach own, should be taken in a quarter of lass of hot or cold water immediately er eating, or whenever wind or acidis felt. This stops the fermentation, I neutralizes the acidity in a few ments. Fermentation, wind and dity are dangerous and unnecessary.

plain mulsified cocoanut of (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorand abundant.

Surely try a "Danderine hair cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just molsten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Transport Mosel Also Captured and Garrison at Amara Surrenders.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, June 9.-8:10 p.m.-The Turkish gunboat Marmaris has been sunk and the Turkish transport Mosul has been captured, according to an official statement given out this evening by the British Government. The action took place in the Persian Gulf region.

The text of the statement follows: Fuller reports of our advance up the Tigris River and the occupation of Amara show that as the result of an action on May 31 and June 1, the enemy's force, which had been threatening Kurnah for some time, became completely demoralized.

"No resistance appears to have been offered to the small party pursuing by river, the Turks trying to escape as fast as they coud in nahalas and steamers. The former surrendered on being vertaken, while the Turkish gunboa Marmaris was sunk and the transport Mosul captured.

Although the strength of the force which arrived at Amara in the Comet launches was quite insignificant, the entire garrison, which numbered over thousand, surrendered, including the Turkish civil governor of Amara, Halim Bey, the commandant of the force recently opposing us at Kurnah, Said Ullah, commandant of two are brigade battalions.

Shortly after our occupation of Amera the advanced guard troops of Daghastani's column, which had hastily retreated from the Kherka Valley, enered the town and were captured. The remainder of this force, estimated at about 2,000, fled, leaving a heavy gun

The remnants of the enemy, who so far have escaped capture, are retiring In a state of disorganization, many having discarded their arms."

Turkish gunboat Marmaris displaced 492 tons and carried a complement of 66 men. She was 174 feet long and was armed with four 9counders and two 1-pounders. She tube. The Marmaris was built at Le-Creusot in 1897.

CLEANSING THE STAGE.

FOLLOWERS and supporters of what best on the modern stage, the clean, the wholesome, the inspiring, have been pleased to note that of late the salacious and disgusting has fallen into noney-maker, the cabaret performance is disappearing and the indecent spectacles which we formerly counted by the score have dwindled to the few required to shock the jaded palate of the feverish all nighter of Broadway. This is a good sign but a still better one is that several of the biggest producers and booking agents in America have rewith the unclean play or act. Notable on Calais, the British and French nongst these is the case of F. F. Alpany, through which the great vaudeille circuits secure their acts. He has ust refused to book the appearance of Mrs. Flora Cameron recently acquitted of a sensational murder charge. Mrs. ameron is absolutely without theatrical experience. The move to place her on the stage was just another brazen the many cases of which in the last few years have given the stage a bad Cameron's agents that acts of that acter if offered in the future would nsidered an insult. Hats off to Mr. Albee, and may the revolt that he has launched spread until it includes all types of theatrical entertainment.

Revival of Canadian Cheese Trade

Campbellford, May 11.—"At today's meeting of the cheese board 440 cheese were boarded; all sold at 18 7-16 cents." The foregoing dispatch, clipped from the daily press of May 12, tells the whole story of the revival of the cheese trade. It is not long since cheese sold so low as about seven cents per pound wholesale, at which price farmers were producing milk at a loss. In the early part of the last two seasons, 1913 and 1914, prices were ranging around 12½ cents which was considered a good price for fodder and fodder-grass stuff. When over six cents per pound is added to the price paid during what were considered two fairly good seasons in the cheese trade, we can readily understand that it has caused a movement among heese-milk producers, cheese manufacurers, and cheese-buyers, such as is apprecedented in the trade. Farmers resecuring all the cows possible, in oder to send large quantities of milk to left send the price of accounting all the cows possible, in oder to send large quantities of milk to left send large quantities of milk to lef

"What's the game?" he asked. Then, 1904 we had reached our maximum in cheese exports. That year we sent, chiefly to Great Britain, 233,980,716 pounds, worth a little over twenty-four "Go easy, Wally," I said. "You over-looked one bet. I happened to meet Barnes in Switzerland—" millions of dollars. In the previous year, the production was not so great by about three million pounds, but the total value was $24,712,943, which was the year of maximum value. From 1904, the exports began to decline, until ten years later; 1914 the exports of cheese had dwindled to 144,478,340 pounds (nearly 100,000,000 pounds less than in

Men who had invested money in the business who had spent years in learning the methods of making cheese, saw the business slip away from them, and they were obliged to go elsewhere or take up a new line. The town and city milk and cream trade, together with the cream-ery and the condensery, got the patronage formerly seen at the cheese

In fact, American export cheese trade, which was practically dead, is sharing in the revival started in Canada. So long as "Just forget all about this after ten o'clock tomorrow," I said. "If you don't, I'll hear of it, and I'll come from the ends of the earth to get the care of the care of the earth to get the care of the care of the war continues there is likely to be a good demand for Canada. Back of all this is the fact readily recognized by the belligerent powers, that cheese is a concentrated, healthful that cheese is a concentrated, healthful food, especially well suited for army purposes, as it is very compact, does not readily spoil, is always ready for eating, requiring no preliminary cooking, and even at the present high prices is the cheapest concentrated food which can be purchased. At 20 cents per pound cheese furnishes over two and pound cheese furnishes over two and a half times more food value, as measired by calories (heat units) than does ured by calories (neat units) than does beefsteak at 24 cents per pound. Cheese is relatively much cheaper than meat at present prices. In addition, this fact should be borne in mind—the protein (muscle-forming) material in dairy products, in all probability, has a higher food value than has proteid compou in any other class of foods. After the War-What?

Announcing a Marriage.

My Dear Miss Grey,—Having received help from you before, I come again with a few questions:

1 Which is the correct form for marriage announcement cards? The bride being an orphan, she is keeping house for a bachelor brother. Also how would you announce the engagement? Would greatly appreciate an early reply. Thankling you, I beg to remain, sincerely yours, MRS. O.

2. A very nice way for announcing an engagement is at a luncheon or tea given by some friend of the bride-elect. Just her dearest girl friends should be invited; the refreshment may be very simple, and the decorations as dainty as you wish, preferably flowers, of course. And I have a household problem, too which I would like to place before you. We live in a small, country village, are plain living family and circumstances nake it necessary for us to keep help make it necessary for us to keep help in the house. I have had several adver-tisements in London, as well as local, papers, but have not succeeded in get-ting anyone yet. We understand times are dull and work is scarce in cities. spray of flowers should be laid at each place, and tied to them with a white ribbon, a small white envelope. Near the close of the luncheon, the hostess may bid the guests open the envelopes, which are found to contain the cards of the bride and groom elect. The hostess may then stand and propose a toast to the guest of honor.

I only wish I could really help you to get rid of the trouble. Some find it helpful to rub in an ointment composed of plain vaseline and sulphur; this is not pleasant, but is said to give excellent results in destroying the dandruff. Daily rubbing of the scalp, followed by firm brushing, also helps. ## NEEDED FOUR RUNS TO WIN AND WENT AND GOT THEM

London Rallied in Ninth and B eat Senators Out By Scoring Four Runs-Eckstein's Single To Right Scored the Last Two.

OMETHING simply shocking scantily sums up what our Tecumsens swiftly staged in the ninth session of yesterday's scrimmage with Shaughnessy's Senators. Slabster Shocker's salivary slants were shattered scandalously and sent steaming screechingly into the scenery. The Shagmen stumbled from a seemingly safe and secluded margin of victory into a seething swirl of runs in a short space of seconds. When Reisling's gang went to bat in the concluding chapter it looked as if nothing short of a miracle could happen to prevent them leaving the field defeated. Shocker was speeding along with a 5 to 2 score under him and the Tecumsehs had been doing little or nothing since the second spasm. What occurred in the ninth sent a crowd of London since the second spasm. What occurred in the ninth sent a crowd of Londor fans raving riotously supperward and nearly caused a fistic encounter between shaughnessy and Shocker

What Transpired. The Ottawa pitcher had shown signs of weakening in the eighth when the ocals combed a couple of safeties off him after two were out. Nothing came him after two were out. Nothing came of these because "Doc" Reisling proved an easy victim. The heavy end of the local batting order had to be disposed of in the ninth, though. Myers started the "blow-up" when he got a life by being dented in the legs by one of Shocker's spitters. Whiteraft followed with a swat to centre; and when Powers pulled down Schaffer's fly, Myers romped to third. Eddle Lamy drew a pass, and the cushions were choked. This brought old Cy Reidy up in the biggest pinch he has ever tried to deliver in. It is a position that Cyrus is getting himself position that Cyrus is getting himself into frequently these days. The fans pleaded for a hit. Cy's effort was a tiny roller to Bullock. Everybody starttiny roller to Bullock. Everybody started to run. Myers crossed the pan and Reidy was almost at first base before Bullock reached the ball. "Dasty" then uncerked a beautiful wild pea in an attempt to get Reidy, and Whiteraft registered, while Lamy took third and Reidy went to second. The pastime only survived a few seconds more. Eckstein walked into the breech and, despite the fact that he had been an easy victim to the deceptive hops of Urban Shocker in previous paragraphs, he smote the agate right on the seam and drove it into right field out of Dolan's reach, Lamy and Reidy reporting with the tieing and winning counters almost before the ball encountered Kubat.

Shag Was Chased. cuit, easily won the handicap which featured the card at Blue Bonnets. Packing 134 pounds to the 103 pounds carried by her strongest rival in the race, Carbide, Pan Zaretta made her own running practically from the start. Carbide in second place kept close to Pan Zeretta until the turn into the stretch, when Turner, who had the mount on Carbide, had to use his whip. Deposit had little difficulty in finishing third.

Shag Was Chased.

It was a thrilling wind up to a game that had few feadules and little of anything else to brighten it. In the eighth Umpire Bedford got so tired of having Shaughnessy umpire the game contrary to him that he banished the Ottawa manager after a wordy interview, and despite Shag's threats to have him fired out of the league. Both teams made numerous kicks, but Bedford had a better day than any he has officiated in heretofore this season. After the game, Shag and Shocker, both of whom were in fighting moods, had a few words concerning the latter's pitching. No blows were struck, but a lot of nasty looks were exchanged. Mr. Shocker kept close to the bats.

"Doc" Reisling was out there pitching for London. Until the fifth inning, but Herbert's one bad inning the fourth, allowed Rochester to score its four the fifth was unfortunate. The Senators had tallied one in the first, when Bullock got a double on a fly that Lamy fell in fielding. Shaughnessy singled and scored him. Dolan and Lage had been expunged in the fifth, when Reisling and Bowden jointly conspired to get Shocker around. Doc' issued a pass and Jimmy had a passed ball. Frankle Fuller, who showed nothing at all in this game but an inclination to pose, got a Texas leaguer that Shocker counted on. Fuller stole, and Bullock walked. Shaughnessy produced a wallop that scored Fuller and Bullock counted when Bowden threw to Myers to catch Shaughnessy stealing. In the seventh, Shocker's single, Fuller's sacrifice and an infield hit by Bullock, scored the fifth run for the visitors. In the eighth the Shagmen threatened again, Powers and Rooney singling, with one out. Rooney was forced at second on Smykal's hit, and Powers was nabbed at the plate trying to score when Myers threw to Merritt to get Smykal.

CONNOLLY, THE BATTING SENSATION OF AMERICAN LEAGUE.

[BY HUGH FULLERTON.]

Connolly, the college youth who is making his sensational debut as a member of the Washington Senators, is declared to be one of the greatest hitting youngsters who ever broke into the game. Besides that he is the second "find" of old Bill Peet, the Washington baseball writer. Peet is becoming one of the foremost scouts in the country. He uncovered Joe Boehling. This spring Peet and Tom Kirby tipped off Griffith that Connolly was a corking ball player and one of the hardest hitters they ever saw. Griffith took the tip, signed Connolly, and he has started out with a torch to set the American League afire.

MCCLAREN WON CANADIAN TRAP SHOOTING TITLE

OTTAWA, June 9.—Ben MacLaren of Calgary won the Canadian amateur championship at the Dominion trapshooting tournament here today. In two events at twenty-five birds each MacLaren turned in two perfect cards. His fifty straight comprised a record for the tournament. MacLaren was favored by a heavy wind, which blew up after he had completed and thus made things bad for the other shots.

Montreal, Hamilton and Toronto men were well up. Bills, the Chicago professional, had a 49. Plummer of Swan River was also right behind the Calgary man with one break. Joe Jennings of Toronto, won the sweepstake prize with George Barnes of Hamilton, second. Barnes and Jennings also won the high gun events. Walter Ewing was among the leaders.

ARBITRATION

Ex-Secretary of State At Washington Tells Why He Resigned.

[Canadian Press.]

WASHINGTON, June 9 .- Secretary Bryan's personal statement on the reasons for his resignation, issued this afternoon, contends the difficulties between Germany and the United States should be investigated by an international commission and that Americans should be warned to keep off belligerent ships or those carrying ammunition through the danger zone.

In his statement Mr. Bryan says: My reason for resigning is clearly stated in my letter of resignation namely, that I may employ as a private citizen, the means which the President does not feel at liberty to employ. I honor him for doing what he believes to be right and I am sure that he desires, as I do, to find a peaceful solution of the problem which has been brought about by the action

Two Points of Difference. "Two of the points on which we dif-fer, each conscientious in his convic-

"First, as to the suggestion of investigation by an international commission, and

"Second, as to warning Americans against travelling on belligerent vessels or with cargoes of ammunition.
"I believe that this nation should frankly state to Germany that we are willing to apply in this case, the principle which we are bound by treaty to apply to disputes between the United States and thirty countries with which we have made treaties providing for investigation of all dispute of every character and nature.

treaties, negotiated under this administration, makes war practically impossible between this country and these thirty governments representing nearly three-fourths of all the people

Germany Accepted Principle

"Among the nations with which have these treaties are Great Britain, France and Russia. No matter what disputes may arise between us and these treaty nations, we agree that there shall be no declaration and no commencement of hostilities until the matters in dispute have been investigated by an international commiss and a year's time is allowed for investigation and report. This plan was offered to all the nations without exceptions whatever, and Germany was one of the nations that accepted the No treaty was actually entered into with Germany, but I can-not see that that should stand in the way when both nations indorsed the principle. I do not know whether should, in my judgment make the offer.'

"Such an offer if accepted, would at once relieve the tension and silence all the jingoes who are demanding war Germany has always been a friendly nation and a great many of our people are of German ancestry. Why should we not deal with Germany according to this plan to which the nation has pledged its support?

Travellers Should Stay Home.
The second point of difference is as which should be pursued in regard to Americans travelling on belligerent ships, or with cargoes

Why should American citizens permitted to involve his country in war by travelling upon a belligerent ship when he knows that the ship will pass through a danger zone? The question is not whether an American citizen has right, under international law, to travel on a belligerent ship; the question is whether he ought not, out of consideration for his country if not for his own safety, avoid danger when avoidance is possible.

"It is a very one-sided citizenship that compels a Government to go to war over a citizen's rights and yet relieve the citizen of all obligations to consider his nation's welfare. I do not know just how far the President can go in actually preventing Americans from travelling on belligerent ships, but I believe the Government should go as far as it can, and that in of doubt it should give the benefit of the doubt to the Government. But even if the Government could not legally prevent citizens from travel-ling on belligerent ships, it could and in my judgment should earnestly adnerican citizens not to risk themselves and the peace of their country and I have no doubt that these warn-ings would be heeded. "President Taft advised Americans leave Mexico when insurrection broke out there and President Wilson has repeated the advice. This advice in my judgment, was eminently wise and I think the same course should be followed in regard to warning Am-

Would Not Carry Munitions.
"I think, too, that American passenger ships should be prohibited from carrying ammunition. The lives of passengers ought not to be endan by cargoes of ammunition, whether that danger comes from possible explosions within or from possible attacks from without. Passengers and ammunition should not travel together. The attempt to prevent American citizent from insuraing these sights to extend the continuous contracts. from incurring these risks is entirely consistent with the effort which our ernment is making to prevent at-

"The use of one remedy does not ex-clude the use of the other. The most familiar illustration is to be found in the action taken by municipal authori-ties during the riot. It is the duty of the ties during the riot. It is the duty of the mayor to suppress the mob and prevent violence, but he does not hesitate to warn citizens to keep off the streets during the riots. He does not question their right to use the streets, but for their own protection and in the interest of order, he warns them not to incur the risks involved in going upon the streets when men are shooting at each other.

DESOLATION ON ALL SIDES

Londoner Lived in Inferno of Shell Fire for 48 Hours.

In a letter from France to his mother, who resides at 528 Horton street, Pte. James Allen, of the 2nd Infantry Brigade. Headquarters' Staff, France, tells short narrative of five days' fighting which Canadians played the chief role some ways it was worse than Ypres he states. On the 24th of May the reops at the front celebrated with real live fireworks. The part of the letter referring to the work of the Canadians was written on May 23, and while writing, the incessant roar of artillery and other fire was heard.

"The Germans are. I believe, attacking our troops," he states. "The King Ed-ward Horse, the Strathcona Horse, and R. C. R.'s are in the trenches, and are temporarily under the command of Currie, of the 2nd Brigade, Our 1st Brigade are on left of Strathconas On Telephone Duty.
"We moved up to our present position

Wednesday, the 19th, at 4:30 p.m. On arrival at brigade headquarters, I was detailed to go on to the 8th Brigade headquarters for telephone duty, the 8th being in reserve. The captain and a lineman accompanied Southern and I to locate the lines, etc. The 10th Brigade were on our right, and had no telephone communication with brigade headquar-ters. The captain desired me to go to the 10th Brigade headquarters and find the O. C. and get two orderlies from him to carry messages from phone at 8th and 10th headquarters.

road, so as not to be a mark for snipers. It was then almost dark. On my way I passed through a village literally wrecked by artillery fire. What a scene of ruin and desolation! I saw what had formerly been a church, then nothing but four bare walls. The horror of modern artillery bombardment is every where apparent. Making a turn to the left I walked along a road for some little distance passing some British troops, engineers' supply wagons, etc. Snipers on Alert.

McNally to the application of Rev. R. Mosig for papers of naturalization. The judge has set Friday as the date of the hearing. At the opening of the sessions yes-terday, D. Robertson, K.C., as senior member of the bar, congratulated Judge Klein, on behalf of his fellowarristers, on his recent promotion to the senior judgeship of Bruce County. The judge appreciated much their goodwill and wishes, and particularly as coming from Mr. Robertson. They had met as young men 47 years ago, and their professional lives had been much in contact all that time. In many legal contests they had been strong rivals, but in all he had always recognized him as a worthy fighter.

WALL STREET.

New York, June 10—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The unsettlement in the stock market resulting from Secretary Bryan's resignation seemed to have dissipated itself today. Shares of various classes opened with substantial gains, war specialties again leading. Bethlehem Steel began with a 1 point gain, which it soon increased to 4; General Electric rose 3½, and Westinghouse, Crucible Steel and Pressed Steel Car advanced a point or more. Coppers and Motors rose 1 to 2 points, while Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Reading bettered their position to a similar extent. United States Steel, on its first sale of 1,800 shares, rose a point over yesterday's close.

Trading the first hour's busines amounting to only about 120,000 shares. Coppers as a whole were the strongest issues, with average gains of about 2 points, and a new high price for the metal. Bethlehem Steel, preferred rose to the record quotation of 11s, and General Electric increased its gain 6 points to 170¼. The Pacifics and Reading were strongest of the railway group. Bonds were firm.

739 p.m.—During the mid-session specialties like Federal Mining, common and preferred, National Lead and American Can, added materially to early gains, and there was further inquiry for Steel and Coppers at higher prices. Forgets His Own Name. Drink plays havoc with a man's con titution, but it is not often except in the advanced stages of alcoholism that it makes a man forget his own name. This was the effect it apparently had on William Grant. When arrested last night he gave the name of William Smith, and when arraigned in police court today on a drunk charge, and asked if that were his real name, he frankly confessed that it was not, addng very ingenuously: "Did I give the name of Smith last night?" He was allowed to go with a warning.

Unbidden and Unwelcome the fact that last night he was an unbidden guest in the stable of John lughes. But for the fact that he had een drinking and was not aware exactly where he was, he declared, he would never have chosen that particular stable for a resting place.

The man declared in court that the boy was absolutely beyond his control. When asked if he would undertake to have the youngster in court at 10:30 on Saturday, he confessed doubt of his ability to carry out such an assurance. When the magistrate threatened to have the boy arrested on a warrant on a charge of vagrancy, however, the father thought he might manage to comply with the court's order. In the meanime his own case will stand.

John Stuart moved and D. Gordon seconded that the bridge be built, and that tenders be received at the December session. Duncan Brody spoke for the deputation, and declared that along a twelve-mile road, only one bridge crossed the river and that crossings at all other places must be made by ford-ing. The bridge was started in 1888, but has not yet been completed. Twice, the question has been voted upon, but travelers are still fording the river at that spot, Mr. Stuart said, in reviewing he history of the agitation. The House of Refuge Committee ecommended the payment of accounts aggregating $1,812.09. Of this sum $800 was left over from the previous year's expenditure. The building of a silo was left in the hands of the officers of the

Miss Josephine Glass Writes From French Hospital to Parents in London.

S. Frank Glass, M.P., of this city has received a letter from his daughter, Miss Josephine Glass; who went with the overseas division of the Canadian Red Cross, telling of her safe arrival. She is stationed at No. 8 Military Hospital at Rouen, France.

Wounded Canadians bear up wonderfully, Miss Glass stated. Their one desire seems to be to leave the hospitals as soon as possible to get into the thick of the fighting again. The letter confirmed stories of atrocities to wound-ed British soldiers.
