Assassination of Rathenau an Act of Vengeance.

Wild Scenes in Reichstag—Helferich Accused of Murder—Lloyd George Expresses Horror—Chinese Mutiny Costs 4,000 Lives.

ANOTHER FOUL MURDER.

BERLIN, June 24. Dr. Walter Rathenau, German Minister of Foreign Affairs, was shot and instantly killed as he was leaving his residence this morning for the Foreign Office. The assassin escaped. The murderer, who was driving a motor car, stopped up as he approached the Reichstag, and fired two shots which took immediate fatal effect. The assassin got on high speed and escaped. There was no clue to his identity at noon. The assassination followed hard upon a vitriolic attack upon the Foreign Minister by Dr. Karl Helferich, Nationalist leader, who grilled the Government generally, and Dr. Rathenau in particular concerning the Cabinet's reparations policy and its attitude towards the populations of the Rhineland and Saar Valley. When Chancellor Wirth announced the assassination, the Reichstag pandemonium broke out, and two Socialists jumped up shouting to Dr. Helferich "you are the assassin." They threatened to pounce upon him and Dr. Helferich hurriedly left.

WILD SCENES IN REICHSTAG.

BERLIN, June 25. Dr. Walter Rathenau, German Foreign Minister and more closely identified than any other German with efforts at rehabilitation of his country since the war, was shot and killed by two or more unknown assassins while on his way from his residence yesterday morning to the Foreign Office. The Minister was subjected to a veritable hail of bullets, one striking him in the throat and passing upward to the brain while others struck him in various parts of the body. Hand grenades also were thrown almost wrecking the car in which Dr. Rathenau was riding and inflicting further injuries on the Minister. Chancellor Wirth's Cabinet is marshalling the nation's Liberal elements to the defense of the young German Republic and organized labor in both Social parties is again first to buckle on the armour just as it did during the Kapp revolution. The announcement is made that the Government will establish extraordinary courts for trial of Nationalist plotters and that State emergency for Prussia will be proclaimed. All regimental reunions and military demonstrations are to be prohibited. Yet despite the vociferous cries of "long live the Republic" which resounded through the Reichstag Chamber at the close of the memorial session to Rathenau, thoughtful men of all ranks and parties were silent but gravely apprehensive for the Nation's fate. The emotion which marked the brief addresses of Chancellor Wirth and President Loeb before the Reichstag reflected sentiments which were shared by many others, while the rioting of the Radicals throughout what was to have been decorous memorial to the dead Foreign Minister, reflected feelings of the unrelenting vengeance vowed in behalf of the German proletariat. Never did the Reichstag witness such scenes of turbulence and excretion. Dr. Karl Helferich, Nationalist leader, who had attacked Dr. Rathenau in a savage speech in the Reichstag yesterday sat curled up in his seat far to the right of the House. He appeared to be in a very depressed and somewhat fearful state. The uproar was primarily aimed at Helferich whom Socialists and Communists wanted to force out of the Chamber through cries of "Murderer, assassin."

LLOYD GEORGE SPEAKS.

LONDON, June 25. In an address at the Welsh Chapel to-day Premier Lloyd George said Dr. Walter Rathenau, one of the most able Ministers in Europe, was doing his best to restore the good relations between his country and the nations she had wronged. He was doing his best, said the Premier, and that was why he was murdered. I can only express the deepest horror at the outrage and I trust Germany will not suffer for the wrongs these people have inflicted upon their country by this dastardly outrage upon one of their most distinguished citizens. Speaking on the general question the Premier urged the necessity to get a temper for peace among the nations. He said unless the nations could be prevailed upon to turn their faces against war it would be useless to bring them into the League of Nations for that would only help them to intrigue for war positions. But, he added, we want the whole world there including Germany, the United States and Russia, who good-will will be established among men.

LABOUR TO FIGHT REACTION.

BERLIN, June 25. The General Federation of Trades Unions at a meeting in Leipzig to-day proclaimed a twenty-four hour strike throughout Germany next Tuesday with the purpose of manifesting the determination of labor to contest reaction.

RESULT OF EXPLOSION.

ONEIDA, N.Y., June 25. One person is dead, two apparently fatally injured, two children missing and fifteen cottages in ruins as the result of an explosion of two powder barges at Verona Beach, nine miles from here, on the Barge Canal and Oneida Lake, early to-night. Property damage is $500,000.

WILLIAM ROCKFELLER DEAD.

TARRYTOWN, June 24. Wm. Rockefeller, Oil Magnate and brother of John D. Rockefeller, died here to-day from pneumonia.

QUADRUPLE TREATY APPROVED BY JAPAN.

TOKYO, June 24. The Japanese Privy Council to-day approved unanimously the quadruple treaty recommended by the Washington Arms Conference, and the Prince Regent promised to ratify it. Japan will evacuate Siberia by October 30th, it was learned to-day.

SIR GEORGE PARKIN DEAD.

LONDON, June 25. Sir George Robert Parkin, author and lecturer, died to-day at his home in Chelsea Court.

AMBUSHERS KILLED.

BELFAST, June 24. Four Irish Republican Army men were killed and several wounded in South Eastern Antrim last night when they ambushed a party of military and Ulster Constables. The Crown forces sustained no casualties.

CORK RESULTS.

CORK, June 24. The Irish election results for Cork show Michael Collins and two other Pro-Treaty candidates, two Anti-Treaty and two Labor men elected. The defeated included Mary MacSwiney, Anti-Treaty, sister of the late Lord Mayor, and Patrick O'Keefe, Pro-Treaty and Secretary of the Sinn Fein Organization.

CANADIAN CONSOLIDATION LOAN.

OTTAWA, June 24. A Bill authorizing a loan of $350,000,000 to retire outstanding loans and treasury bills was passed by the Commons last night without debate.

BLAMES BRITISH SOLDIERS.

DUBLIN, June 24. DeValera in a statement to the press, disavows any knowledge of the assassins of Marshal Wilson or of their motives. "It would appear the men were British Soldiers" he said, "I know bold men abandoned by the organized defence of the state, will be driven to defend themselves by deeds of desperation. I know life has been hell for the Nationalist Minority in Belfast. For peace, and an end to the horror, it is only necessary for statesmen to be fearlessly just."

GAINS 15 LBS. AND IS NOW IN BEST OF HEALTH

Arthur Hillier Says His Wife Eats Anything On The Table Since Tanlac Completely Ended Her Ten Years Of Stomach Trouble.

"It has been several months since Tanlac overcame my wife's troubles after she had suffered for ten years, and she is still in perfect health," said Arthur Hillier, a well-known carpenter of 25 Dawson St., Dartmouth, N.S. "Her digestion was so bad that nearly everything she ate gave her pain in her chest and stomach. Many a night she was in such misery I had to be up for hours trying to help her get relief. She was badly constipated, subject to severe headaches, her nerves were wretched and she was far under weight. Many times she could hardly walk. "When she saw Tanlac recommended by several of our friends we decided to give it a trial. She took six bottles, has gained fifteen pounds and eats anything on the table. She is doing the housework now and never complains of her old troubles. Tanlac has certainly been a blessing to her." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

PATRIOTIC FUND GRANT.

OTTAWA, June 24. An Act to grant $500,000 to the Canadian Patriotic Fund was given a third reading in the Commons last night.

FOUR THOUSAND VICTIMS.

SINGAPORE, June 24. Casualties in the Klang mutiny are estimated at 4,000 dead in Klang, Wantana and Langchuan. The greater portions of these cities were destroyed. It is believed no foreigners were slain or taken captive.

The Age of a Fish.

How can one tell the age of a fish? Some one may say by its size or weight, but length or avoirdupois has nothing whatever to do with its age. Just as a tree tells its age by rings, so does the fish, which has its annual rings, not on its body, but on the scales which protect the body. If a fish scale is put under a magnifying glass it will be found to be covered with little rings, some almost together, and others farther apart. In times of scarcity of food and cold the fish grows slowly, and the rings are close together, but in times of plenty and when the weather is warmer the growth is more rapid, and the rings are wider apart. The rings represent one year in its life. Another way of tracing the age is by following the markings on what are called the cartilages of the fish—the little hard things that get in its inner ear. When these stones are put under the microscope they will be seen to have tiny light and dark rings. Each light ring represents one year's growth.—Canadian Fisherman.

Nailing a Falsehood.

With a scandalous disregard for the truth, our evening contemporary permits a statement in its columns on Saturday, a statement that cannot be allowed to go unchallenged, because of its utter falseness and unblushing insincerity and perversion of the truth.

It is odd that the Advocate never approaches discussion of a subject from a straight direction. It twists and turns and sides toward the objective it sets out for itself, and looks for something out of which it can manufacture a story which will be sensational and create suspicion and hostility in the minds of the men it professes to serve.

Obituary.

CAPT. JOB VINE, R.M.C.
 One of the oldest and best known Newfoundland Masters died Saturday in the person of Capt. Job Vine, M.C., who passed away at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J.P. Kelly, at St. John's. The late Capt. Vine was many years connected with the Cross Line and sailed as mate on the Libia, Florizel and Stephano, before that he was master of several sea-going vessels. During his later years he was an efficient and obliging customs official. Two daughters, Mrs. Blackader, and Mrs. J.P. Kelly, were left to mourn him. The funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence of Mr. Kelly, Southside. The Telegram extends its sympathy to the sorrowing relatives of the late Capt. Vine.

Presentations to Athlete.

"COKE" CASHILL GETS REAL SENY OFF.
 The strains of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" sung by nearly everybody at the pier, followed a. R. Bessie until she was out of earshot when the ship left on Saturday for the popular "Coke" Cashill to St. John's. Previous to the ship's departure, Capt. Jack Higgins and the members of the St. Bon's Hockey team and about forty old boys of the college waited on their adopted schoolfellow and presented him with a large framed portrait of the team as a token of their appreciation of his services to them. A splendid dress case, an appreciation of the old manager. In a brief, characteristic speech, "Coke" expressed his thanks and told how sorry he was to leave. Cheers were then given with will for one of the best sports that ever came to Newfoundland.

That Artificial Lake.

Dear Sir,—In Saturday's issue of your esteemed paper I noticed a letter suggesting a small artificial lake in Bannerman Park for the use of the children who could not go to the beach during these hot summer months. This good idea originates, I understand, from a group of pensioners including some others who are hoping to also become pensioners. They are at the Park to enjoy that quietude and sociability which they feel due them after having "borne" the heat and "burden of the day." I am sure the City Council would advance the plea of shortage of funds if approached on this matter. However, a lake could easily be constructed at little cost if these gentlemen would go somewhat further and assume the scheme in a practical way by donating the proposed site, which I am sure they would be only too pleased to do under the supervision of the City Engineer. Besides earning the gratitude of the public for their timely suggestion they would thus also benefit themselves by the healthy exercise which would ensure them a long life in the enjoyment of their well earned leisure. With a little persuasion they could possibly be induced in addition to help along the scheme in another way. Some of the more enthusiastic members of the group might be persuaded to instruct the children how to sail their little boats explaining to them meanwhile the respective merits of the square-tigger, and the head-sailer. In this way utility and pleasure would be happily blended and who knows but some future day may be able to trace the success of his success to the early lessons gleaned from some of the naval experts who met together in the days in Bannerman Park.

Yours truly,
 GRANDPA

St. Bon's Association.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

A large gathering attended the adjourned annual meeting of the St. Bon's Old Boys' Association yesterday forenoon. Routine business being disposed of, the election of officers took place and resulted as follows:
 President—W. R. Howley, K.C.
 1st Vice-President—J. G. Higgins, B.A.
 2nd Vice-President—Rev. J. Pippy.
 Treasurer—P. K. Devine.
 Secretary—T. Scanlan McGrath.
 Sir Michael Cashin, who through press of other duties was obliged to resign from the Presidency, was tendered a vote of thanks for his work during the many years which he held the office. The annual Re-union and Breakfast will take place as usual on St. Bonaventure's Day, July 14th next.
 Sir Michael Cashin tendered his resignation in the following letter to the Honorary President, which was read by the Secretary:
 "Cambrol," Circular Road, St. John's, N.F., June 24, 1922.

Rev. Bro. J. B. Ryan,
 Hon. President,
 St. Bonaventure's Alumni Ass'n.,
 St. Bonaventure's College.

Dear Bro. Ryan,
 As I find myself unable to be present at to-morrow's meeting, I write now to reiterate my decision to withdraw from the Presidency of the Association, to which the members were good enough to nominate me again last Sunday.

In doing so, I wish, in the first place, to thank them all very gratefully for the tributes of confidence in me which this represented and to say how much I appreciate this, as well as all the other evidences of support and co-operation extended to me while I filled that position.
 In the second place I desire to record the regret which I feel in withdrawing from the Presidency of the Association, a step which I am only taking because I am firmly convinced that it is in the best interests of its future welfare that new blood should be introduced into its executive and new men given an opportunity to show what they can do to promote the interests we all have at heart.

In the third place, I cannot allow the occasion to pass without tendering my sincere thanks to yourself, Brother Culhane and the community of Brothers at the College, for the uniform courtesy and kindness always accorded to my colleagues and myself, and to attest by this letter how much our labors were lightened by the enthusiastic assistance always given us by the Brothers.
 Finally, I wish the new officers to be elected to-day a very successful term and would assure them that it will be a pleasure to me to do anything in my power to assist them in the objects they have in hand.

With all good wishes for the future of St. Bonaventure's Association,
 Believe me,
 Dear Sir,
 Yours very sincerely,
 M. P. CASHIN.

To-Night's Extraordinary Movie Attraction

LOCAL FANS WILL LIKE "MADONNAS AND MEN."

It has been said that the hardest audience to please in moving picture entertainment is a Newfoundland audience, and the Nickel management has exercised great discretion in the selection of that renowned photoplay triumph "Madonnas and Men," which will be shown to-night. It goes without saying that there will be crowded houses at each show. "Madonnas and Men" is considered the greatest picture since "Quo Vadis." The picture opens in ancient Rome, and shows a beautiful Christian girl about to be thrown to the wild beasts to satisfy the unlawful entertainment of the Emperor. The cruel deed is however held up, while a thrilling story of the future is being told. This story takes the spectator to modern New York, with its gay night life, and sparkling cabarets. Finally the audience is again taken back to where the story opens, and witnesses most remarkable climax. No enthusiastic movie fan is going to miss this attraction to-night, at the city's most popular house of photoplays.

Wedding Bells.

WINDSOR-SPRACKLIN.

St. Philip's Church, Aquaforte was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when on the afternoon of Thursday, June 22nd, Miss Anna Jennings, eldest daughter of Mrs. H. C. Windsor, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. George Spracklin, of North Sydney, by the Rev. Canon Hewitt, of Petty Harbor. Precisely at four o'clock the wedding party entered the church which had been tastefully decorated with white flowers for the occasion. The bride, who was given away by her brother, looked charming in her bridal gown of baronet satin with veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss Daisy Windsor, sister of the bride, carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas and was attired in a peach colored crepe de chene with hat to match. Mr. Jack Windsor ably supported the groom. As the bridal party left the church the Wedding March was played by Miss Beatrice Morry, of Ferryland. The groom's present to the bride was a pearl and diamond necklace, to the bridesmaid a pearl and onyx ring, and to the best man, a silver cased fountain pen. After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the bride's mother, where a reception was held. The presents received were numerous and costly, including a number of cheques, testifying to the high esteem in which both bride and groom are held, and many congratulatory messages were received during the evening from friends at home and abroad. The happy couple leave by the express on a honeymoon tour through Canada, after which they will take up residence at North Sydney, N.S.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, June 26.
In hot weather heat rashes, due to overheating of the body, are rather common, and some simple, cooling medicine is virtually a necessity. One of the simplest, yet most pleasant and most effective cooling medicines, is Montserrat Health Salts, flavored with the genuine Montserrat Lime Fruit Juice, and admirable for this purpose, as well as being a good remedy for biliousness, and slight disturbances of the liver and stomach generally. Price 40 cents a tin.

WEEKLY OUTINGS RESUMED.—The B.S. weekly outings to Donovans which were so popular last year will be resumed this season. The first outing will take place on Thursday evening. A special orchestra has been engaged for the occasion.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CONFIRMATION.

NEW YORK, June 24.
The postal cable system has brought from the Government of Newfoundland the submarine cable from Canso to Newfoundland, it is announced to-day. Clarence K. McKay, President of the Postal Telegraphs also made known the traffic agreement, taking effect in July, by which all traffic into and out of Newfoundland, handled by Government lines, will be exchanged between the two interested parties. The agreement will restore a competitive service between United States and Newfoundland. For three years there has been no competing service.

SIXTEEN MISSING.

HALIFAX, June 24.
Captain J. R. Thomas of the schooner Puritan, wrecked off Sable Island on Friday evening, in a message received here to-day, expressed doubt as to the safety of sixteen missing members of the crew. He saw one of the dories capsize. U.S.S. Tampa, which proceeded to the scene of the wreck, last night, reported from Middle Ground this afternoon that there was no sign of the missing dories. Names of crew of the Puritan were—Mate Dennis Doucette, Peter Thomas, Christopher Johnson, Anthony J. Burke, Peter Bushoe, Thomas DeLourie, Eleazer Amero, William Maise, Joseph Dalton, Matthew Young, Alexander Young, Wallace Hubbard, Abel Louis Boucher, Luxine Doucette, Israel Larkin. All at present of Gloucester, Edward Surret of Melrose, and Emil LeBlanc of Wakefield.

IN NO HURRY.

DUBLIN, June 26.
Complete returns for the Irish elections show 68 pro-Treaty representatives, 36 anti-Treaty, 17 Laborites, 7 Farmers, 6 Independents and 4 Members from Trinity College, elected. Although the meeting of Parliament is only a week off, and the need for combination to resist disorder urgent, nothing has been done towards forming the proposed coalition cabinet. Republicans say the first move is with the Treatyites and the latter are in no hurry to ask help.

ALL RESCUED BUT ONE.

HALIFAX, June 26.
Fifteen of the missing men of the schr. Puritan of Gloucester, were landed at LaHave, N.S., this morning by the fishing schooner Coral Spray. One man, Christopher Johanson, was drowned. This accounts for all of the crew, which included the following natives of Newfoundland: Abel Maise, Alex. Young, Luxine Doucette, Dennis Doucette and Matthew Young.

IMPERIALIST MOVE.

LONDON, June 26.
Apprehension exists in Holland, lest former Kaiser Wilhelm attempts to slip from Doorn into Germany, in the event of a royalist uprising, following the assassination of Foreign Minister Rathenau according to the Hague correspondent of the Daily Mail. Secretary Kahn of the Dutch Home Office, however, says such an apprehension is groundless.

ALL SETTLED NOW.

OTTAWA, June 26.
The Canadian Parliament, on Saturday ratified the Peace Treaties with Hungary and Turkey.

Putting the Reids in Their Place.

THE FOILED PROMISE OF THE PREMIER.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—"Putting the Reids in their proper place" in a council meeting is found to be a much harder task than saying that it can be done from a political platform. Those who know the Government know that the Government is as powerless in the hands of the R.N.Co. as a mouse in the claws of a lion; and any talk from the Government about what it can do with the R.N.Co. should be considered as nothing more than chaff for the people, to blind them to the fact that the Government is nothing more than a medium through which the R.N.Co. imposes its will upon the people. I wish it to be understood that not an ill-feeling towards the R.N.Co. enters the convolutions of my psychoplasia. The Messrs. Reids are no more than any other group of capitalists. They are in business for the same reason that other capitalists are in business—to get what they can out of it in whatever manner it can be gotten. If the R.N.Co. gouge millions out of this country, it is not the fault of the Company but the fault of the Government. But strange to say, the blame is placed at the door of the R.N.Co. instead of on the shoulders of the Government. This suits the Government nicely because public attention is diverted from the Government to the R.N.Co.; so that when the Government again comes to ask the people for their votes, the Government will be in a position to tell them about all the money there was extracted from them by the R.N.Co., and that "if you elect us to power we shall see that the Reids are put in their proper place." In a case of this kind, a pertinent question to ask would be: Why did you not put the Reids in their proper place during the last few years? And how comes it that the Reids put the Government in such an awkward position in connection with railroad matters? And since you so utterly failed to do so, what assurance have we that you will do so if we elect you to power?

A few weeks ago, in the House, the Premier nuncupated, with the determination of a Pitt, that no more money would be paid the company. But what do we see? Well, we see the Government entering into an agreement with the company to pay all losses on operation without even knowing what agreement it is entering into; for we are told that the details of the agreement are to be worked out later. Now, I would very much like to know how we know what we are agreeing to unless we know the details of the thing agreed to. The details are the concrete things from which the abstractions are derived. The abstraction is the agreement in general terms; and unless we know the concrete things from which the abstractions are derived, we do not understand the abstractions. The fundament of all science consists in the understanding of the thinking process. Thinking means to develop from the material facts, from the concrete, an abstract generalization. The material fact is an indispensable basis of thought. It must be present, before the essence, the general, or abstract, can be found. But it appears the Government has entered into an agreement of abstraction without knowing anything about the concrete things from which they are derived. As a result of this lack of knowledge on the part of the Government, the agreement must necessarily be one sided; or, in other words, favourable to the Company, which means unfavourable to the country.

Paragraph 11 of the "agreement" reads in part thus: "During the said period the railroad... shall be operated under the management of Richard C. Morgan and Robert G. Reid."

Paragraph 12 reads in part thus: "R. C. Morgan shall have the title and all the powers of General Manager but no charges in operating policy shall be made without the joint consent of the said Richard Morgan and Robert G. Reid."

As for Mr. Morgan's management of the road, we need not look for any better results than if he had never entered the country at all. We can remember something about Mr. Morgan's former attempt to manage the road, and we can also remember hearing that someone said something about throwing some one out the window when some one said something about reducing expenses by cutting the salary of some one.

We do not believe that Mr. Morgan can do anything in the way of reducing expenses, because paragraph 12 provides that "no change in the operation of the road can be made without the consent of Mr. Reid," and unless a radical change in operation is effected, there will be no change in the cost of operation, and the cost of operation is all that matters to us.

It appears to me that part of paragraph 12 was inserted by the Government and part of it inserted by the R.N.Co. The Government wants it to be understood that the presence of Mr. Morgan is an indication that the Government has made good its claims with regard to the R.N.Co. But when we consider the circumstances under which Mr. Morgan held office before, as evidenced by the Premier's utterances in the House, to the effect that the R.N.Co. could be induced to allow Mr. Morgan to function only by threatening to withhold the money, we are pretty safe in saying that Mr. Morgan, has as little authority now as he had then; and therefore can do no more than he is allowed to do by the higher authority, who is none other than the Messrs. Reids.

As long as the people can be made to believe that the Government has done something to bring about a reduction in operating expenses, no matter whether the expenses have actually increased, the Government is satisfied. The Government hopes that by putting Mr. Morgan in as a nominal manager, the people will be convinced that the Government really has power over the R.N.Co. when, if the truth were known, it would likely be found that the R.N.Co. allowed him to function for reasons altogether inimical to the interest of the people of this country.

While we believe Mr. Morgan is a good railroad man, it is too much to expect that he would favor the people of this country by bringing about a reduction in the operating cost of the road and thus work against the interest of his co-workers in the railroad world. Mr. Morgan is a railroadman, and as such he has that feeling for the railroad business that is engendered by the railroad, which every railroadman feels that has worked on the job, and which no politician knows anything about. Therefore our politicians need not expect that Mr. Morgan is going to do anything that would be disapproved of by his co-workers.

Take paragraph 14. You start off reading in the indicative mood, when you are told that the Directors are to get no fee, and you are beginning to believe this to be true when all at once you stumble against a phrase at the end of the paragraph, which, when taken at its true meaning, shows you plainly that the Directors are to get their fees, and, no doubt, good ones at that. Such phrases, clauses, and model adverbs, which modify and suck the blood out of other words, are what the late Mr. Roosevelt called "weasel" words. And rightly so, because they certainly make the meaning altogether different from what the casual reader draws from written words. Governments, as well as lawyers, know that the average man is a casual reader, and that he scarcely ever pays any attention to the grammatical meaning is often allowed to escape the notice of the reader. This makes it easy to slip in a word, phrase or clause, as the case may be, that sucks the very life out of the meaning that is intended for the common herd. Hence, the modifying phrase that concludes paragraph 14, and enables the Directors to get their salaries.

Before writing the last paragraph I should have written the one that I just started, because, in this paragraph I want again to refer to Mr. Morgan's position. Mr. Morgan could be used for the interest of the road as well as used by the Government to make the public believe that the Government is "putting the Reids in their proper place"—and he could be used in this way.

The officials of the road have always maintained that they are operating the road as cheaply as it is possible to do so, while others claim (the writer included) that the road can be run on its own bottom under proper management. Now, Mr. Morgan is considered a good railroadman (which is quite a different thing from saying that he understands the needs of our railroad, as I shall show in a subsequent article), and if he cannot bring about a reduction in operating expenses, it must be accepted that the road has been run as cheaply as anyone can run it, and, therefore, demands on the Government in future for funds will be justified.

Remembering Mr. Morgan's connection with railroads, it is not to be expected that the cost of operation for the next five months will be less than the cost for any five months in the past. I should be surprised to find the contrary; but would not be surprised if it is found to be higher than any five months in the past history of our charge (excepted). And here let me say the reason I am expecting the cost to be higher the next five months is for a reason similar to that which made the cost so high under the Commission.

Yours truly,
W. L. BUTLER.

Produce and Provisions.

(From Saturday's Trade Review.)

Codfish—Five cargoes of fish were cleared for market during the week. Schr. Harriet took 2000 quintals from J. & W. Moore of Carbonar, the F. R. Forsey 4,941 quintals from Pat'au and Forsey of Grand Bank, the Ronald M. Douglas 3,540 quintals from T. Garland of Gaultois, and the Suelen 3,300 quintals from the Nfd. Produce Co. of St. John's all for Oporto. In addition to these, the Faustina is loading from Penny of Ramea the Little Princess from Balne Johnston & Co, and the Russell S. Zinck from Hickman's and will be ready to sail to-day. The schr. Dalbe also sailed during the week, taking 1,444 quintals from Campbell & McKay for Barbadoes.

The Oporto market is still taking the bulk of our old fish shipments and the past week's consumption shows a decided improvement over that of the week before, having increased from 3,343 quintals to 10,457 quintals, while the stocks on hand showed a decrease of nearly 6,000 quintals.

There now remains very little old fish to be disposed of and exporters say that the new fish, when it begins to come in, will find clean stores.

Codfish—There is no change in the present condition of this market, the drop of $50.00 per ton announced last week, being the only decline that has taken place, and it is thought $90.00, the now prevailing figure will be sustained, although the future of the market is very uncertain and dealers are not inclined to make any prediction. During the week 15,000 gallons were shipped by the steamers Sachem and Belvernon cleaning up the bulk of remaining old stocks.

The price of new oil will depend on the prospect for Fall Sales. The indications are that these will not be large because of two facts. In the first place the leather industry is not at all what it has been reported and activities therein are greatly restricted. Secondly, the output of domestic or Pacific Coast oil for the American market is expected to exceed that of many years back. There is no reason as yet, however, to fear any immediate reduction beyond $90.00.

Loabsters—This article is now in good demand and during the week the price has advanced from $21.00 per case to $24.00, a figure which is confidently expected will keep up for the balance of this month and throughout July. The English market is particularly anxious to secure our lobsters and London buyers are prepared to pay an even higher price than that named above if their requirements can be met here.

Flour—Latest market reports available show good business in flour during the week and prices have a stronger tendency. Considerable quantities of wheat sold for export and this is expected to continue for some time so that stocks will be well down before the new wheat is on the market. There is however, no fear entertained for an actual shortage. Latest quotations show an advance of ten cents, making the total advance for the week about fifty cents with the prospect of further immediate increase.

Local stocks were increased by imports per Mapledawn amounting to 5,000 barrels. Leading brands are quoted this week at $9.70, and other qualities from $9.20 to $9.50, a reduction of thirty cents from last week's quotations.

Perk—This market shows little or no change. Prices are holding firm and there was very little buying during the week. Imports by Rosalind and Belvernon amounted to about 1,000 barrels and there is now a fair demand for present local demands. Fat back is being quoted at $29.00, Ham Butt at $29.50 and Grocers Family Mess at $42.00. All supplying is now completed and seas have been quiet or than the previous week.

Beef—This market continues somewhat weak but will, as usual, become considerably stronger during July. There have been few local transactions during the week just closing and the demand has dropped off, following the close of summer out-fitting. Imports by steamers arriving since last report consist of 200 barrels by Sachem, 500 barrels by Belvernon and 500 barrels by Rosalind. Large shipments are to arrive within the next fortnight, but in the meantime there is sufficient to supply local demands. Quotations are the same as last week, namely: Bos Flank $28.00, Family Special $30.50, Boneless (New York) $19.50, and Boneless (Morris to arrive) $18.00.

Molasses—Stocks have been aug-

Standardized Cod.

Reference was made in our last issue to legislation in Norway, effective on May 1, compelling the curing of cod according to fixed standards and under government inspection. More recently the government of Iceland has passed a law prohibiting the export of fish from that country except under government inspection. There is no restriction as to the price but exporters must have all shipments inspected and branded as their quality merits. During the past winter emigrants from Iceland have been sojourning in the various markets of Europe making a study of the requirements of each and the legislation above referred to has been the outcrop of their representations. And the government was enabled to move with confidence in view of the fact that these investigators were all thoroughly practical men including two long-trained in the export business and ten expert curers.

Heretofore Norway and Iceland have been formidable rivals for trade in the markets which consume salted codfish, and it has been no secret, at least to foreign buyers, that their product, as a general rule, has shown a higher standard of quality than ours. Logically Canada should have been the very first to compel her curers to prepare and grade their product according to fixed standards. Not only have we neglected to do this but we continue to delay that action which Norway and Iceland, already producers of a superior quality to ours, have found necessary.

It is too often urged in Canada in connection with proposed legislation that "the people are not ready for it." It is difficult to comprehend just what that means. If we are to wait to introduce standardized cod until each and every fisherman and curer in the business sees the urgency for it, our fish is going to present a pretty spectacle in competition with standardized Norwegian fish. Legislation is, or at least should be, designed to do the greatest good for the greatest number. There will always be found individuals who will suffer in pocket for the time being, but this trade is valuable to Canada and we must exert an effort to retain our legitimate proportion.

It may be advanced that the compulsory standardizing of our competitors' fish may have the effect of improving the quality of our. We doubt if that contention will hold water. Since the return of European competition in the West Indies and South American markets, has the quality of our fish improved to meet that of other countries? Is it likely to improve in the future unless a strong hand is used? Our very system of marketing does not place this moral responsibility on the man who must sell the fish. The responsibility comes where it is just a matter of dollars and cents—different cure, just good enough to get by—where the policy seems to get the maximum of care. The actual exporters are alive to the situation and even a reward in the form of fifty cents or a dollar per quintal more has failed to stir those responsible.

The course is clear. There is no alternative to obscure the path. Our exporters who handle our foreign trade must be armed with a superior commodity if they are to be protected from discouraging rebuffs. They are incapable of overcoming the evil themselves except in a few instances where the curers are employees of the exporter. We are a bit late with our standardized cure, but better late than never.—Canadian Fisherman.

Surgeon's Knife Restores Limbs

OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS VICTIM.

(From the World.)
Little Grete Christensen, daughter of a druggist in East Rutherford, N. J., was carried aboard a ship bound for Copenhagen just a year ago. For eleven years, since she was two, she had suffered from the aftermath of infantile paralysis. She had never taken a step without the aid of crutches.

Late last night, May 29th, a smiling, happy girl—the same Grete—danced down the gangplank of the Scandinavian-American Liner Hellig Olay, and ran to the arms of her father in a little group of relatives.

She had returned alone from Copenhagen after having been pronounced cured, after three operations by Dr. H. C. Sloman, the famous Danish orthopedic surgeon, who has a clinic in Copenhagen.

So remarkable has been the effect of the operations by Dr. Sloman that little Grete has gained many pounds in weight and continues to improve each day. She still carries a cane, although it is not actually necessary.

able to go about with a cane. Within a few weeks it is expected Grete will have been entirely cured. Her right leg is entirely well, but the left still is a little stiff, due largely to the transplanting of muscles, most of which were put in this member.

Captain Kidd's Good Intentions.

When Captain Kidd of piratical fame, sailed off in his ship the "Adventure," he carried a commission to act against the French and to seize pirates. Reports after Kidd had cruised to Madagascar that he and his men had become arch-pirates themselves, resulted in his arrest at Boston in 1699 and his execution at London in 1701. But although his name has become synonymous with freebooting and although ghastly charges were made against him, and treasure worth 17,000 pounds was recovered from him, Kidd was never convicted of piracy. His sentence was imposed for the killing of one of his seamen, William Moore. Some authorities believe that he accepted his commission to fight piracy in good faith, but forgot his good intentions after he reached Madagascar, as piracy was such a temporarily profitable business in those days.

The Modern Telephone.

NEWSPAPERS HAVE AUTOMATIC EXCHANGE.

At the head offices of the "Liverpool Courier and Express," in Victoria St., on January 16th, Sir William Noble, M.L.E.E., Engineer-in-Chief to the British Post Office, opened a new automatic telephone exchange, linked up with the public services, which had been laid down for the use of these journals, and took the opportunity of addressing a number of representative business men on its significance in relation to the development of telephony in England. This new Exchange, it should be explained, is the pioneer newspaper installation of its kind, and marks a further advance on the part of the Courier and Express in making their equipment the most efficient and up-to-date that science can devise. Not only is every department, and indeed, every apartment throughout the entire building in instant automatic communication with every other one, but it can also establish equally immediate automatic communications with the private manual switchboard for outgoing and incoming messages.

BY BEING HAPPY.

There are two ways of being happy. One is by Doing something. The other is by Being something. Some people, of course, help both ways but that is too much to expect of everyone. I have met a woman recently who seemed to me, at first, to in no way earn her place in the sun. She is married but has no children. She does not keep house, does not sew, does not do any but the most casual of reading, does not do any social work, or club work, or philanthropic work. She does not even go around with her friends, shops, chats over the telephone, goes down town for afternoon tea, dines with her husband and then helps him fool away the evening.

Like a Parasite.

At first it seemed to me as if this woman were a thoroughgoing social parasite, taking everything and giving nothing. But as I grew to know her I found that she did give something. Because she did not spend her energy in any way she was full of vitality and "pep" and because it was her natural disposition she was full of gaiety. And just by being this way she vitalized everyone with whom she came into contact. Her husband adored her. He would sink back wearily in his chair when he came home from work and listen to her as she effervesced over some of her day's experiences. For a time he would say almost nothing. Then gradually he would seem to become recharged with energy from the battery of her vitality and he would begin to throw a word here and there into the conversation.

Appealed to Men.

Both men and women liked her. Her attraction for men was difficult to understand until I realized her charm, for she was not pretty, she had no figure at all, was not witty or fascinating. But she charmed them in the same way she did her husband by her vigor and her gaiety. She was always quick to laugh heartily at their feeblest jokes, she was always kind hearted and sympathetic, she was always ready to go anywhere or do anything—motor, walk, dance. And she was always happy. Never any cynicism, any mood of depression, any anxiety or irritation. Just happiness, gaiety and light heartedness.

Double Honors Due.

Of course the world could not afford too many of these people who do their share simply by being happy. But we do need some of them. Or at least, we need the Happiness. If it can be combined with other gifts, so much the better. Even as I write, I think of another woman who is just as full of pep and happiness as this first woman and who in addition does her share of the world's daily work, and on top of that is always doing public spirited things. She earns double honors, of course, but let's not forget to give some honors to the woman who helps by being happy.

Loss of the Victoria.

An appalling naval disaster occurred to the Mediterranean fleet on June 22, 1893, while off the coast of Syria, under command of vice-Admiral Sir George Tyrone, K.C.B., whose flagship was the Victoria. The squadron had been steaming in two parallel lines, one led by the Victoria, and the other by Rear-Admiral Markham in the Camperdown. The order was given to turn sixteen points inward, which involved a little chance of collision, provided the proper distance were kept, but Admiral Tyrone had ordered it at six cables distant instead of eight. Rear-Admiral Markham saw that a collision was imminent, and kept his flag at the dip to show that he did not understand. Admiral Tyrone semaphored "What are you waiting for?" and as he was a strict disciplinarian, Admiral Markham had no choice but to obey. It was not long before the inevitable occurred. The Victoria moved across the Camperdown's path and was hit on the starboard bow by her ram. Within thirteen minutes she turned bottom upwards and sank in twenty fathoms of water. Never in the proudest annals of our navy was more splendid discipline and heroism shown. Not a man flinched; all stood ready to do or die, as might be required of them; not one made an attempt at self-preservation, 'till the gallant Admiral, telescope in hand, gave the order. Admiral Tryon declined to quit his post, and sank with the ship, leaving a farewell to Rear-Admiral Markham, as the Victoria went down. The total loss of life was 23 officers and 337 men, of whom some were drowned, and others cut to pieces by the revolving screws as the Victoria sank. When she disappeared there was a sound as of muffled thunder, the water above her was violently heaved up, and a cloud of steam burst forth, telling that the boilers had exploded.

Helps digestion —and cleans a coated tongue

Thousands of men and women have found relief from various digestive disturbances by eating Fleischmann's Yeast. It is human nature to want to find out "why." So far as science can tell us this is the reason: Fleischmann's Yeast is a food abundant in certain elements which are necessary to health and life itself. It promotes the flow of bile and pancreatic juice. It has a remarkably beneficial effect on the whole digestive process. It cleans a coated tongue. Try Fleischmann's fresh yeast in orange juice or in milk. Men like it in milk shakes and malted milk. Women like it spread on bread or crackers. Keep your digestion in the pink of condition and your health bright and healthy by eating 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast, fresh everyday before or between meals. Buy only Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer today.

GENEROUS MEN.

WALT MASON

Few of us are sordid misers when good counsel should be heeded, and as walter-weight advisers we all wield a fluent tongue. When a man comes up and hits me for a loan of fifty cents, oftentimes my conscience twits me, for I'm prone, like other gents, to indulge in long discourses on the folly of his way, till my lawyer's score and horse is, and my hair is turning gray. And I mark the victim listen to my words of golden worth, and I see his teardrops glisten as they trickle to the earth. Always I feel ashamed and bitter when I've rounded out my spiel, and dismissed the wayworn critter with a gulder or a wheel. If another seedy caller at my wigwag door appears, I will give him half a dollar and not lecture him to tears. For I know that words are useless when a hungry man comes by; they are stale and flat and juiceless, and won't take the place of pie. But the love of declamation gets me when the bo arrives, and I hand him an oration 'stead of honey from the hives. And my ardor's not diminished by the thought that I'm a bore; and the bo, when I have finished, will receive two bits or more.

Last Person Punished by Pillory.

On Tuesday, June 22, 1830, Peter James Bossy was placed in the pillory for the crime of perjury, which was the last occasion on which anyone received that sort of punishment at the Old Bailey, in London. This penalty consisted of the condemned person standing on a small platform with his head and hands thrust each through its separate hole in a perpendicular board above, so that he was rendered utterly helpless and defenceless, and as this was usually outside the prison walls, he was exposed to the insults and assaults that amused or indignant crowds might direct at him. Many offenders who were pilloried died through being struck by missiles by crowds. This punishment, whose name is of very uncertain origin, commenced, probably, before the Norman Conquest of England, and continued to be inflicted for this form of felony, and also for libel, seditious writing, using false weights and measures, and other offences, especially political ones. It was also inflicted on women who were "scolds," or boisterous ones, and for brawling, or noisy quarrelling, by either sex. By 1815 it had been done away with in British Dominions for all offences except perjury and subornation. In inducing another to make a false oath; and in 1837 an Act of Parliament abolished it altogether in this country.

Strange Wolf-Man on Pacific Coast.

A real wolf-man has just been found among the Hesquiat Indians on the lonely west coast of Vancouver, Canada. This creature is called Kilm-th-ka, which means wolf-man in the Indian tongue. The wolf-man is now estimated to be seventy years of age, but so remote in the place where he dwells that only recently he received scientific attention. The ethnologist who investigated the man learned from the Indians that in the days when the wolf-man was born wolves were very plentiful on the coast, and at times attacked people.

Whether this is the cause of the man's animal like state, the fact remains that in everything except form, Kilm-th-ka is a wolf. He never stood in human fashion, but always on all fours. He cannot articulate any human sound, but growls like a wolf, and eats like one, and indeed, where human beings have eye teeth he has canine fangs. Attempts to show these by a photo failed. When the wolf-man sits erect he has never stood in his four feet, five and a half inches tall. He will eat raw or cooked meat, and is regarded with great awe by his tribesmen, a common thing among primitive people who very often venerate any human being different from the ordinary. Kilm-th-ka is kept in a kennel at the rear of a house of a guardian appointed by the tribe. The guardian feeds him and keeps clothes on him as much as possible and saves for occasional disrobing. Kilm-th-ka is fairly tractable, and accepts semi-domestication, which is about his only human trait. Whatever the cause of his origin, he is among the world's strangest creatures.—Francis Dickie.

Ted Lewis "K.O." Francie Burns.

ENGLISH CHAMPION PUT AUSTRALIAN AWAY IN THE ELEVENTH ROUND. LONDON, June 19.—Ted "Kid" Lewis, English middleweight champion, knocked out Frankie Burns, Australian middleweight champion in the eleventh round of their bout here to-night. The contest was for the middleweight championship of the British Empire. At the sound of the gong, both men began fighting in earnest. Burns had the worst of the in-fighting, Lewis was the better man at close quarters, but Burns was his superior in long-range work. In the fifth round Lewis landed some terrific blows. Burns vainly tried to hold off his opponent, but the English fighter would not be denied. The referee in the seventh and eighth rounds repeatedly ordered Lewis to break away in the clinches. In the ninth Lewis landed a hard left to Burns' jaw, scoring the Australian. Burns took a long count, but was groggy when he arose. Just as the bell rang he received a hard uppercut which shook him up badly. In the eleventh round the Australian was showing considerable speed in his foot work when Lewis landed a right hand punch to the jaw which sent him down and out.

Fads and Fashions.

Gray is favored for footwear. A row of tiny buttons may mark the shoulder line. Dresses of white foulard have designs in crayon red. Summer frocks show a preference for two materials. The low waistlines are emphasized by bib fronts and sashes. Black taffeta is used for some of the smartest bathing costumes. Machine stitching in black is smart on a skirt of white sponges. The raglan blouse in peasant effect is good with the slip-over frock. The Russian closing is a feature frequently noted on the new models. Many straight frocks for sports wear show the panel front and back. The open-work hem has been adopted for frocks of crepe de chine. A small black coche hat has a huge bunch of red-brown poppies over one ear. A dress of yellow crepe de chine has panels and wide sleeves of brown lace.

GUARDS-CADETS TO-NIGHT.

What will likely be a most important factor in deciding the 1922 championship is the outcome of to-night's game between the Cadets and Guards. Both are regarded as legitimate pennant contenders, and the two points netted this twenty-sixth of June are going to look rather large when the first of September comes. In eight. That is why both teams are straining at the leashes anxious for the fray to be finalised one way or the other. And it's surely going to be like old times on the sidelines to-night with one half yelling the other half's head off. Only one change is reported, and that is in the Cadet back division, where Morris will replace Meadus. The former is a chartered accountant with G. N. Reed Son & Watson and has the rep of being a real soccer expert. The Guards will present the same team as in their initial appearance, but Charl. Quick has them positioned differently in the hope of making their attack still more deadly. This ideal playing weather will doubtless draw the largest gate for the season for the public seems to be about as tired of football as John D. Rockefeller is of Standard Oil. Just a word to worthies of the League, who manage things at the field. Now that the ubiquitous small boy is admitted free (just as if he ever paid anything since the wire fence were erected) it is to be sincerely hoped that the Boy, Spectator and Player will be protected from injury in the one case and inconvenience in the other as all were in the days when the redoubtable Tom Stamp and Dick Keefe used to wield their gads to good effect.

BASEBALL SURGERY.

When a baseball star is ailing, and he feels his arm is falling, or he lacks the vim and vigor of his youth. He requests an operation. To relieve his situation: Or he has a dentist jerk an opponent's tooth.

There are cases where a sawbones, by removing ribs or jawbones, may rejuvenate an old and feeble guy. But in all this wide creation there is not an operation. Can rejuvenate a faded batting eye.

CANUCKS VS. LOCALS.

Do Players Know the Rule?

There is no rule that is less understood by the average spectator. Players offend constantly, of course, but their offence is scarcely so much a matter of ignorance of the law as of the positions in which the players find themselves in the progress of the game. From the players' point of view, all that is required is a constant watchfulness, a continuous care to keep oneself outside and in play. For on the face of it the rule is simple. Either keep behind the ball when in your opponents' half of the field, or keep three of your opponents between yourself and your opponents' goal. There are, of course, many "ifs" and "buts" to affect the application of the law, but as a general principle the foregoing may be applied.

For players to stop playing in order to appeal to the referee for off-side against an opponent is the height of folly. The referee is the authority and the sole judge in the matter. If he thinks a man is off-side, he will blow his whistle fast enough, but unless he does the game will go on and the forward run in and put the ball into the net while the defence stands appealing, and the referee will give a goal. The only safe play is to play to the whistle.

Off-Side Position Not Off-Side.
The first point to be noted is that it is not a breach of the law for a player simply to be in an off-side position, but only when in that position he causes the play to be affected. A player in an off-side position "may not touch the ball himself, nor in any way whatever interfere with an opponent, or with the play." So long as he leaves the play alone, does not affect the play of others, or in any way influence the game, a player in an off-side position cannot be penalized. He is simply out of the game. The law does not say he "is off-side"; it says he "is out of play." His side is playing without him, and his presence on the field is not interfering with the play of his opponents.

This is an extremely important point. The International Council has found it necessary on various occasions to hand out special and definite instructions to associations, clubs, and players that play must not be stopped and a player given off-side simply because he is in an off-side position. The evil is that when a man is espied with only one back and the goalkeeper in front of him, let us say (though the law does not state that the three men between him and the goal must be the two backs and the goalkeeper—it simply says three men, and they may be any three of the side), there is an immediate outcry from a section of the spectators for off-side. So long as that man, however, takes no part in the play, directly or indirectly, he is not penalized, but an inexperienced referee unfortunately is influenced by the shouting of the crowd, and for the sake of peace stops the play and gives a free kick against the player for being in an off-side position. It is quite wrong and cannot be justified. Of course, by being in an off-side position the player is very liable to be penalized, and the wise man will extricate himself from such a position as quickly as possible, so that his play may be of benefit to the side whose club colors he wears.

The International Board has made it plain that a player who is in an off-side position is bound to keep out of the way of the play, and that he is liable to be penalized if in any manner his presence causes any interference with the play.

The second list of about 3,500 names is alphabetically arranged and comprises all contributions of one dollar or more. I remain,

Rugby Football.

GUARDS WIN TROPHY.

A number of city gentlemen, desirous of stimulating the game of Rugby Football at the Methodist College, have signified their intention of presenting a Trophy, to be contested for by the M.C. Team, and a picked team from the Methodist Guard's Comrades Association, yearly. The trophy will be awarded on the result of three games. Owing to the lateness of the season, it was decided that the trophy be awarded for this season on the result of one game, which was played on Saturday last, on the Methodist College grounds, ending in a victory for the M.C.A., by a score of 10 to 3. The game was well contested throughout, the Methodist College having a slight advantage in the first half, during which the M.G. C.A. team played rather loosely. The College boys went across for the only score in this period; owing to the high wind it was not converted.

The next period found the Guards playing better together, and making repeated assaults on their opponents, being successful in obtaining a drop-over after ten minutes play. The M.C. scrum was healing well, but the three-quarters lost many opportunities by too much punting to the lines. The Guards three-quarters were playing well together during this period, and went across for two touches, which they failed to convert. The ball was kept in M.C. territory for the remainder of the game, but no further scoring was done. Mr. Cramm, of the Methodist College staff, was referee.

Tourist Traffic.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S OPPORTUNITIES.

Our High Commissioner in England, Sir Edgar Bowring, loses no opportunity to boost Newfoundland's attractions for tourists. A conversation between him and a staff writer in the "Financial Times" was recently reported in that paper. Sir Edgar expressed the hope that in the not distant future it will be possible to go to Newfoundland from this country (England) by a regular aerial service for week-end trips. Newfoundland's attractions are further advertised by the following quotation from J. G. Millais' book on sport in this country: "In reality, Newfoundland is a most attractive place, with its thousands of lakes and pools, picturesque streams teeming with salmon and trout, great open moors and marshes dotted with the over restless herds of caribou. A wild seacoast inhabited by thousands of sea-birds; dense forests of varied and beautiful trees, all contribute to make the island one of the most delightful of all wild countries to the sportsman and the lover of Nature." Major Hesketh-Prichard, the well-known novelist, who died recently, wrote: "In a fairly wide experience I have never enjoyed any sport and life so greatly as I have during my three autumns spent among the woods and barrens of Britain's oldest colony."

Plucky Rescuer.

A NEWFOUNDLAND WAR VETERAN

(From the Boston Post, May 23.) Harry A. Gordon, 22 years old, of 9 Garden Street, Rosbury was drowned, and his companion, Joseph Hennessey, 23 years old, of 24 Stanford Street rescued only through the bravery and presence of mind of a passer-by, when their rowboat capsized in the Charles River basin shortly after noon yesterday.

The accident occurred about 30 feet from the Cambridge shore of the river in front of the Arthur D. Little Company building.

Hennessey's life was saved by William Richards, a veteran of the Canadian army, of 173 Bluehill Avenue, Roxbury. Richards was returning to his task as press feeder for Ginn & Co. after his lunch, when he heard Hennessey's cry for help. He ran to the protecting rail and saw Hennessey struggling in the water about 15 feet from a capsized rowboat.

Richards threw off his coat, dived from the rail and swam to the boat, which he righted. The caps had floated away, so he tore one of the seats of the light craft loose and used it for a paddle in propelling the boat to Hennessey. Richards dragged Hennessey into the waterlogged boat and paddled it to a ladder upon the stone facing of the basin. Here a crowd of several score people had already collected and Hennessey, crying for someone to save his chum, was lifted to safety.

Hennessey had become strangled in his vain attempt to save Gordon before his own rescue, and he was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital for resuscitation.

After rescuing Hennessey, Richards, his clothing still dripping from his plunge, was driven to the Ginn & Co. plant by Lieutenant Albert H. Chapman of the Metropolitan police. Here he borrowed some dry "jumpers" from a fellow workman and plunged into his afternoon's work.

(The young man Richards, whose plucky deed is reported by the Boston Post, is ex-pte. William W. Richards, 1st Nfld. Regiment, son of Mr. W. J. Richards, Pennywell Road. Previous to the war Billy as he was popularly known here worked on the Evening Telegram and later with the Herald as pressman. Since leaving this city he has resided in Boston where he holds a position in one of the great printing offices.)

Last Night's Fire.

HAMILTON ST. HOUSE GUTTED.

The upsetting of a kerosene lamp, which stood on a dressing table, started a fire last night which practically gutted the house of Mr. Mitchell, a locomotive engineer living on Hamilton Street. At 10.50 p.m. the Central and West End fire companies received a call, and on responding found the residence of Mr. Mitchell in a blaze. The firemen worked hard to subdue the flames and at 11.30, the "all out" was rung in. As far as can be learned no insurance is carried on the dwelling and the loss is a severe one to Mr. Mitchell.
