Whosever has read the Palmist's span of life having shared in some agriculture has been in confinement—or ought to have been. He is eating the fruits of an orchard which was planted by the labor of his hands and which he has cultivated with the sweat of his brow.

A work is just fresh from the press which reads "Sixty Years of an Agitator's Life." The author was a member of the front rank of the great battles of liberty in those years.

Mr. Hawks in his book knows little of his character or his work. Although a slim, cadaverous looking, fragile being, with a voice and gentleness almost feminine, he had the courage of a hero, and the self-assertion of a martyr.

He was born in 1817, when Christianity was at such a low ebb that he was brought up to regard it as a dead issue. To him, more than to any other writer, is owing the present activity of the churches in those social reform activities which have redeemed them from the reproach of having no interest in the welfare of man in this world.

When young his use of some of the words on the right of two men to free speech caused him to be cast into prison, where the conduct of his clerical prosecutors helped to deepen his heterodox views.

He makes fun of his evil associates; sixty-four of his friends, like Montgomery, the recently poet, were jailed for using language now common in every newspaper. His pleadings for free speech caused a repeal of the law making speculative opinions penal. To him is also largely owing the repeal of the "Licensing Act," such as the stamp duty on newspapers, which made papers like "The World" possible.

When "Napoleon le Petit" cut the throat of liberty in France his enemies took refuge in England. Lord Palmerston, to please the Emperor, brought in a Bill to suppress them, which passed its first reading by a majority of 200. Mr. Holyoake, at once called a meeting in his office of distinguished men, by whose activity the Bill on its second reading was killed by an overwhelming vote.

Mr. Holyoake has written to me recently and is asking for dictation that "Pam" was driven into political exile. Our young men should read this book to get a personal view of Garibaldi, Kossuth, Louis Blanc, Mazzini, the leaders in the revival of thought against the old regime.

FOOTBALL PLAYED INDOORS.

RIVAL Y.M.C.A. TEAMS RANG AT THE BASKET.

A Novel Game with the Round Leather makes its initial appearance in Toronto. The match consisted in a draw. About a thousand spectators were present.

The rival teams from the Central and West End Y.M.C.A. met in the gymnasium, Yonge and McGill streets, and engaged in an interesting and remarkably evenly balanced contest.

The defence on each side played so strongly and tantalized the attack so persistently that the leather did not land safely in the basket once during the game. After 35 minutes of vigorous kicking the contest was declared a draw by Referee Dan Leobin.

RULES FOR CYCLISTS.

Important Results of the English Conference—Their Regulations.

That London conference for the purpose of establishing the International Cyclists Association and world's championships, in addition to conferring its highest honor upon the American delegate, Mr. Raymond, and selecting Chicago as the theatre for the first meeting, has formulated a set of special racing rules which are highly interesting. The most important of them are here given.

Unions desirous of sending competitors must notify their intention together with the names of the competitors, to the honorary secretary of the union managing the meeting, in sufficient time for him to receive the entries not later than seven days prior to the date fixed for holding the meeting.

No union or governing body of the International Association shall hold, or recognize within its territory, any race which shall be announced as "the championship of the world," or a "world's championship," other than the races held by instruction, and on behalf of the International Association, and every union in the International Association shall be liable to disaffiliation.

Any objection respecting foul riding during a race shall be made in writing to the judge as soon as possible after the race, and shall be considered by the board of management of the meeting at the earliest opportunity—possibly, on the ground.

Attendants at the meeting, as well as competitors, must keep both feet behind the mark. Should the attendant cross the mark while the competitor is starting, such competitor and the competitor shall be liable to disaffiliation.

None but the officials of the meeting, the press, the competitors and attendants shall be allowed within the inclosure, except by special permission of the secretary or referee of the meeting.

Every competitor must wear a scarf or color or colors distinctive of the country represented, and also a number corresponding with his number on the program, the ticket bearing the number being placed on the back of the competitor's jersey.

Competitors may dismount during a race at their pleasure, and may run with their machines, but they must keep to the extreme outside of the track whenever dismounted.

A competitor passing another must allow him to pass, and if he does not, he must be a clear machine length ahead before overtaking in front of his opponent. The inside man must allow room for his opponent to pass and may not be guilty of foul or unfair riding shall be liable to disaffiliation.

Here is the definition of an amateur: An amateur is one who has never engaged in nor assisted in nor taught any athletic exercise for money or other consideration, nor knowingly competed with or against a professional for a prize of any description, or in public (except at a meeting specially sanctioned in writing by the union of the country in which he resides), or who is recognized as an amateur by the ruling body of his country.

MILLIONAIRES ON THE TURF. George Gould may soon buy a Racing Stable—He Was Always Lucky.

George Gould, heir to Jay Gould's many millions, may purchase a racing stable and will soon be on the turf. George has always had a fondness for the running horse, and at Saratoga a few years ago said that if he were only his father's opposite which prevented his becoming the owner of a big stable.

A friend of young Gould said that three years ago his father had positively prohibited him from going on the turf. Jay Gould carried nothing at all for horses. He would let George do as he pleased in his business interests in what he himself regarded as a perfunctory way.

It is rather odd that so few millionaires in this country have become turfmen compared with the same class in England and France, says The N.Y. World, and continues: "In 10 years there have hardly been any more turfmen in this country than in 1880."

Don't Listen to the Dealer Who Is Bent on bigger profits. The thing that he wants you to buy when you ask for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the "Favorite Prescription." Proof of this is easy. The only guaranteed remedy for all the ailments of the female system is the "Favorite Prescription."

Our accumulation of complete stocks for the holidays is a marvel—not two weeks for Christmas buying—you're not waiting until the last hour—you do wisely too—shop as early as possible—there is more to select from to-day than there will be later and shopping is more comfortably to-day than waiting until it is nearer the time—take this hint for your own and our obligation.

Beautiful albums in plush and leather, fancy articles of every description—toys, dolls, Xmas cards, booklets, toy books, story books—the store is a children's paradise—bring them in to see it.

If you're looking for more practical lines in suitable holiday gifts we suggest a nobby dress length of fashionable materials—three to five dollars give a hint of some of the better lines—we've reduced the prices in our mantle department, which makes it an object in buying just now.

It is easy to call prices "low," "cut prices," "great bargains," etc., but we prefer to tell you the exact price and leave you to say. Read along this list and I think I can see what your answer will be.

Remember all our goods are new of best makes. As you read, Boys' and Girls' Own Annual $1.49, Chatter-box 60c.

We have some rare toys. Genuine Elephants will stand on their hind feet; are not alive, but look like it, 24c each, regular price 50c.

Some elegant sets of Toilet-ware, 11 pieces, $1.94, regular price $4. We will say these are the cheapest goods we have ever shown, wholesale or retail.

Dolls' Carriages, best make, with steel wheels, $1, regular price $2. Games of every name and kind at half usual prices.

Purses, the best assortment we ever carried—the largest syndicate of buyers of toys and games in the Dominion.

In fancy baskets, elegantly lined and upholstered, we have a complete assortment. Baby baskets, some of them large enough for two babies and yet not the price of one.

So if you want two babies it will not cost more than one, as heretofore. The same may be said for dolls for the babies. We sell some days 100 dolls per day and yet we have enough; 1c up to $1.99, regular price 5c to $5.

We have told you of our Book Albums, Scrap Albums and Autograph Albums.

In Push and Leather Goods we are not behind. 700 pieces of expensive goods in this line we show you, regular prices $2 up to $10, but our prices not quite half as much.

Window blinds 42c each, best of goods, with Hartshorn spring rollers complete. Eddy's best Wash-tubs 49c, 59c and 69c, regular price 75c, 85c and $1.

The best Royal Canadian Clothes Wringer, solid white rubber, double-gear tire, press screws and all modern improvements; fully warranted for one year.

Now for the best offer we ever made—the beautiful Empress Sewing Machine worth $80 for $17. Not twice in a lifetime does such a chance occur.

Space is up. More next time. Come and see, W. H. BENTLEY.
