CORRESPONDENCE

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our correspondents.

To the Editor of the Monitor—

The sentence as quoted by the London Times and the correction made by that paper, to which you refer in the last Monitor, are, in my judgment, alike ambiguous. The intention, I have little doubt, is to say it was the "witness" who went to Perkins'. I would remove the ambiguity in each case by the transposition of a clause, as follows:—

"Witness began by saying that previously to going to Perkins' he had met deceased."

"The witness" began by saying that previously to his going to Perkins' he had met the late Mr. Blank."

"Without professing to be a student of rhetoric I submit these corrections.

Some Well-Known Nova Scotia Ministers.

(Hants Journal.)

Rev. Henry Dickie, M. A., now located at Woodstock, Ont., has received official notification from the Presbyterian College, Montreal, that he has been successful in his examinations for the D. degree.

The many friends of Rev. J. M. Fisher will be glad to learn that his health has improved, and that he intends to take a circuit at the coming Conference. At last Conference he was placed upon the Supernumerary list. It is understood that he will go to Lunenburg, to supply for Rev. J. Appleby, during his absence in attending the World's S. School Convention to be held at Rome. Mrs. Fisher, who has been under medical treatment for some time, is recovering, and will visit relatives in New Brunswick for awhile.

It is reported by the Hantsport Advance that the Rev. E. B. Moore, one of Hantsport's former pastors, now at Wolfville, has purchased the house on Avon Street, near the County line, recently owned by William Cole. The purchase, it is understood, includes the furniture also. Should Mr. Moore retire from active work, we shall have two supernumerary ministers of the Methodist Church here, the other being Rev. J. G. Bigney, who has just purchased the property owned by Rev. J. G. Angwin, of Sydney, was in Hantsport Thursday, in connection with the transfer of his property at Hantsport, which has been sold to Rev. J. G. Bigney.

This property was bought from the heirs of Capt. Treby about nine years ago, and was occupied by Mr. Angwin and family until 1903, when Mr. Angwin removed to Sydney to take a position as manager in J. E. Burchell's insurance office, which position he still holds. He returned on Friday, intending to stay a day or two with his daughter, wife of Rev. Alfred Lunn, at Mulgrave.

The latest news from Dr. Trotter is that expert examination of his case in a hospital in Ohio has revealed the distressing fact that sciatia was only a secondary thing as the surgeons found that the hip and thigh were inflamed and that he was suffering from disease of the periosteum of the thigh bone. He is neither to sit nor stand for long periods and must avoid any muscular action. After three weeks in the hospital he is at his home in Toledo.

IMMIGRANT MINERS.

Stated That Dominion Coal Company Has Made Contract With C. P. R.

Sydney, April 3.—It is understood that the Dominion Coal Company have completed, or are entering upon, a contract with the Canadian Pacific railway for the importation of labor from the United Kingdom. The coal company are to pay a stated sum per capita for labor brought out and landed in Glace Bay. The immigrants are to be of a superior class, and adapted for the company's works in Cape Breton. The first batch will probably arrive shortly. Although negotiations to this end have been going on for some considerable time, and long before the trouble now pending was thought of, it is believed that this contract will have a determining influence upon the settlement of the labor problem now being confronted. There is nothing new in the situation respecting the difficulty, if any, between the P. W. A. and the coal company. Scores are joining the lodge, caught while asleep and roasted to death. So rapidly did the fire spread that it was impossible to do much in the way of rescue and even when the fire apparatus arrived the blaze was so fierce that the firemen were hardly able to place ladders against the walls. They did, however, manage to save a number of people in the very top story. The majority of the laborers were hurt in leaping from the upper windows. A number of women are reported to have been in the building and all of them are believed to have perished.

BISON FOR CANADA

DENVER, Cal., April 6.—Howard Eaton, of Wolf, Mont., announced today that a herd of 430 bison, owned by Michael Pablow, now at Flathead Reservation, 25 miles west of Missoula, Mont., is about to pass into possession of the Canadian government, to which Pablow has given an option for the purchase of the animals. Some time ago Eaton procured an option on the herd at $300 a head and presented it to the United States government. President Roosevelt was desirous of preserving these to the United States, the herd comprising half of all the bison surviving in this country, Mr. Eaton said, but no appropriation was made for the purpose.

MOTHER RESCUES CHILD.

Mrs. Kane, of St. John, Rushed Through Flames to Save Baby.

St. John, March 31.—A daring rescue was made in connection with a fire which did great damage to a tenement building on the corner of St. Paul and Winter Streets tonight. The flames had made great headway, surrounding the room in which the infant child of Mrs. Patrick Kane lay sleeping. Mrs. Kane, who got the other three children to the street, suddenly thought of the child and rushed to the room through the smoke and flames. Both mother and child got out alive, but had a close call.

QUEEN GOES TO MEET KING EDWARD

LONDON, April 5.—Queen Alexandra, the Dowager Empress of Russia, and Princess Victoria, left London for the continent today. The queen and her sister will separate at Calais. The former and Princess Victoria proceeding to Toulon, where they will join King Edward, preparatory to the meeting between the latter and King Alfonso at Cartagena. The Dowager empress will go to Biarritz.

The same extraordinary precautions were taken for the safety of the Dowager Empress as made on her arrival in England. No one was admitted to the railroad station except on written authorization and the railroad from here to Dover was closely patrolled. A number of Russian who have arrived in England since the advent of the Dowager Empress, have been kept under close surveillance since their landing.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

Do not put left overs away on a tin plate. There is sometimes danger of poison from the tin. Save plates that have been nicked for this purpose. Large, smooth clam shells found on any beach make excellent dishes to bake left overs in. Food should never be put in the part of the refrigerator where the ice is kept. It is apt to become more or less tainted by coming in contact with ice. If broths are to be kept for two or three days they should be placed next to the ice. But they must be poured, into glass jars with tight covers.

When the drawers of bureaus, tables or other furniture stick, or cannot be open or shut without difficulty, try wetting the surface with a piece of common soap and rub it over the parts that stick. This will make the wood slippery and in most cases the trouble will be remedied. This is also a remedy for doors which in new flats or houses are likely to settle or rattle to scrape at the top as the building settles. Use soap on them and it will save the trouble of calling in a carpenter.

It is a good plan to wash figs and dates before giving them to children, or, for that matter, to any one. Their sweetness attracts insects and their stickiness makes them a perfect home for dust and its undesirable germs. Yet most people seem never to think of this at all. Washing will not impair the flavor; on the contrary, it makes them more agreeable to the sight and touch, as well as to the taste.

Tea leaves are invaluable as a means of cleaning varnished paint. When sufficient have been laid aside, they should be placed in a tin basin full of water, and soaked for half an hour. The tea when strained should be used instead of soap and water to clean the varnished surface.

Dirty hair brushes are an abomination. As hot water and soap soon softens their bristles, and rubbing completes their destruction, use soda dissolved in cold water. Soda having an affinity for grease, cleans the brush with very little friction.

To remove tea-stains, apply equal parts of yolk of egg and glycerine to the stain and allow to dry. Rub well in clean, cold water. This will be found excellent for an afternoon cloth, which must not be boiled on account of its delicate coloring.

A good floor stain that goes right into the wood and is very durable, is made of linseed oil colored with burnt sienna. Rub thoroughly into the boards with a flannel pad, and next day polish with beeswax and turpentine.

Should grease be spilt upon the floor of the kitchen, cover it at once with cold water. This hardens the grease and prevents it from soaking in. It can then be easily scraped up.

When making white cake use one-half a teaspoonful more of cream of tartar than usual, and this extra amount of the cream of tartar makes the egg whites stiffer.

If the kettle in which syrup is being boiled is rubbed with butter, to the depth of an inch or so from the top, the syrup will not become sticky.

If sponge cake is mixed with cold water it will be yellow, but if it is mixed with boiling water it will be white.

Cream and acids do not curdle where milk and acids will.

work table, spreading over it a coarse cloth, similar to the duck used for dresses, then passed a wet sponge across where the hem came and pressed it with the hot iron, changing the pad about until every part had been reached. Lastly, he turned the legs and pressed the hem on the other side in the same way, excepting that he did not dampen them so much or press so long.

This gave me a new idea entirely as to the way to use the tissue, and pressing in general. I never had much success in using the tissue, and I now see why, as I did not use a damp cloth or a pad to press on. The pad keeps the marks of the rough edge from showing on the garment. Occasionally we women folks have a job of this kind to do and I see no reason why we could not make a substitute for the pad, as there is not enough of such work in an ordinary family to buy one.

An odd, faded table scarf of felt wrapped smoothly around a thin board, such as can be got at any dry goods store and fastened at the edges, would answer the purpose, or one made of old flannel would be almost as good. I fancy such a pad would be a great help in pressing the seams and pockets of the men's suits, doing away with the shiny marks so often resulting from home pressing. I feel very much elated over this "find," in my few moments of waiting.

GOOD ENOUGH

The colored preacher closed his sermon on the new theology thus:—"An' brethren, I wish to say that when Bill is said and done the bell of my fathers is good enough for me."

THE MODERN INSTANCE.

"Go insane, Bill!" yelled the look-out. "Go insane!"

"Wot's eatin' yer?" growled the burglar who was stuffing swag into the sack.

"Go insane, I tell yer. Yes!" comes the cop's.

NOT ALARMING.

"Delia," began Mrs. Newfield, timidly, "I don't suppose—that you would—object to my getting an alarm clock?"

"Not at all, ma'am," replied the sleepy cook; "them things never disturb me at all."—Philadelphia Press.

FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT.

"What are they moving the church for?"

"Well, stranger, I'm mayor of these dignities, an' I'm for law enforcement. We've got an ordinance what says no saloon shall be nearer than three hundred feet from a church. I gave 'em three days to move the church."

ATHESISM.

The new boarder at Miss Straightface's "sneet boarding house" didn't seem to take much interest in the prayer at table. Indeed, he did not even bow his head. This went on for several meals, and, finally, Miss Straightface, looking him squarely in the eye, said in her most sarcastic tone, "Atheism, Mr. Smith?"

"No, boll," he replied meekly.

JOHN CHINAMAN.

A prominent lady in San Francisco engaged a Chinaman as cook. When the Celestial came, among other things she asked him his name.

"My name," said the Chinaman, smiling, "is Hang Shoo, Wang Ho."

"Oh, I can't remember 'all that,'" said the lady. "I will just call you John."

John smiled all over and asked: "What your name?"

"My name is Mrs. Franklin Preston Denton."

"No no 'member all that," said John. "Chinaman he no say Mrs. Franklin Preston Denton. I call you Tommy."

THE SHORT TON.

In a small town in Pennsylvania are two brothers who are engaged in the retail coal business. A noted evangelist visited the town and the elder brother was converted.

For weeks after his conversion he endeavored to persuade his brother to join the church. One day he said to him: "Why can't you, Richard, join the church as I did?"

"It's all right for you to be a member of the church," replied Richard, "but I join who's going weight the most!"

WHAT A JUBILEE IS.

Some years ago, before Queen Victoria's death and about time that the Queen's jubilee was to be celebrated, the following conversation between two old Scotchwomen was overheard one day on a street corner in London.

"Can ye tell me wumman, what it is they call a jubilee?"

"Well, it's this," said her neighbor. "When folk has been married twenty-five years, that's a silver wuddin; and when they've been married fifty years that's a golden wuddin. But if the mon's dead, then it's a jubilee."

THE YARMOUTH TURNED BACK.

Four Hundred Passengers on Steamer Refused Permission to Land at Digby.

St. John, April 3.—The Dominion Atlantic railway steamer Yarmouth, which left here for Digby with about four hundred passengers, returned here to-night with them. They state that at Digby a board of health officers said that if they landed they would be put in quarantine, so all returned. It is said, however, the mails were gotten ashore, but no freight was landed. There have been some cases of small-pox in the lumber camps some twenty miles from St. John and a few days ago a lumberman who had had the disease, but still showed signs of it, was found on the Yarmouth of Digby, having eluded the examining doctor here. He was returned to St. John and placed in the isolation hospital and the steamer fumigated. To-day was her first trip since. It was said by the officials of the line that the Digby authorities announce they will not let any passengers from St. John land unless satisfactory evidence of successful vaccination is given.

THE JOYS OF CUDDLETIME.

As the evening shadows gather, Then 'tis cuddletime, I know, When my baby, dressed for Dreamland, Comes a-rumping to me so; Comes and begs of me to hold him On my knee and "rock-a-bye." As the purpling sun sinks lower In the gleaming western sky, And he cuddles to me nearer, As the firelight softly glows, And across the dusky portals Ghostly, flickering shadows throw; And two dimpled arms about me Are clasped tighter for a kiss— And, was ever richer necklace Placed about one's neck than this? Soon the drooping, drooping lashes Cover up two eyes of brown, And the tousled head so golden On my breast sinks lower down, Ah, the sweetness of the pleasure, Making life one golden rhyme, With a dimpled smile to fondle When it comes to cuddletime!

A TRICK WORTH KNOWING.

(N. E. Homestead.)

I learned something worth while the other day by going with one of the men folks to buy a suit of clothes. When the selection had been made it was found that the trousers were too long and had to be shortened by the tailor of the establishment. He said it would take but a few minutes, so we decided to wait.

It so happened that I sat where I could see the operation, which was a revelation to me. I was surprised to see a common, old-fashioned flatiron, instead of the usual tailor's "goose," put to heat. Then he cut off the needed amount, using a curved measure as a guide. One could make such a measure out of heavy pasteboard, taking the bottom of a pair of trousers to get the shape. He then proceeded to turn up the hem over a strip of "tissue," which he had on a large spool, and having it in place. When this was done he took a felt pad, an inch thick and about fourteen inches long, the width of the bottom of the garment, slipped it inside and laid it on the you on the street, to rise when you enter the room, to place a foot-stool for his grandmother, and to carry any bundle or parcel not too heavy for small hands. A little fellow who is permitted to wear his hat in the house sees only his mother and sisters are present cannot be expected to take it on because visitors have arrived.

"Freddie, why do you stand there with your hat off?" asks the mother severely, when Freddie thus transgresses property, and the minister's wife or the lady from Baltimore or the aunt from Philadelphia is in the room. If Freddie had been taught always to stand bare-headed in the house if it were his custom to pull off his hat whenever he met a lady or an older person of his own sex out of doors, the act would be automatic. Let your boy wait on you. Do not rush willy nilly to him. Let him button your shoes, put on and take off your rubbers, perform little services at home. If you are wise you will send him on errands to your friends, give him notes and messages to carry, and otherwise make him at ease when obliged to address some one he knows slightly. Margaret E. Sangster in Woman's Home Companion for March.

Shoulder to Shoulder

The young pastor stood by the gate and shaded his eyes as he looked down the road. As the approaching figure came a little nearer, he understood the obliquity of its appearance. There were two men, and one of them was carrying the other on his back. When they reached the pastor the burden bearer paused. He was a stout fellow of more than medium height. "Hoody, sir," he said in a deep voice, "I trust you are quite well?" "Quite well, thank you," the young pastor replied.

"The burden on the stout man's back squirmed uneasily. 'Lemme down, Tom,' it said. 'I am tired,' said the burden-bearer. 'You ain't a bit heavy, Phil. Don't you get down unless you're tired of riding.' 'Friend of mine who's a little bit under the weather,' the stout man explained. 'Got a bit tired coming up that long hill, and that's how I happened to be totting him.' The pastor looked at the stout man's friend. He was only a boy of eighteen, perhaps, whose appearance showed the ravages of a wasting disease. 'Phil ain't what you'd call pretty robust,' the stout man somewhat hastily explained. 'He's a little shaky about the legs and wants fleshing up a bit. All he needs is a breath or two of this mountain air, and a platoon of good country beef.'

"To the village. There is trouble 'Trouble! What sort of trouble?' 'A farmer on the west hill was shot this afternoon by some unknown person and badly wounded. A colored man was seen lurking in the neighborhood. He was taken to jail, and there may be an attempt to lynch him to-night. And the sheriff is away, and just expected home until to-morrow. But he has been telegraphed to return at once. He knows how to handle them.' 'Better keep away from this, pastor,' the stout man cautioned. 'No doubt the fellow is guilty and mobs are a bad proposition. Somebody is pretty sure to get hurt.' The young pastor shook his head. 'I hope I am a good citizen as well as a clergyman,' he said. The stout man grumbled beneath his breath, but he kept step with the pastor. 'Where are you going?' the latter presently asked. 'With you,' was the curt answer. The village seemed quiet as they crossed the park to the low building used as a jail. The jailer was alone there, an elderly man. 'The sheriff can get back inside of an hour,' he told the pastor, 'and I guess there won't be nothing dreadful happens in that time.'

PUZZLE CORNER.

Dear Boys and Girls—We are glad to find so many of you becoming interested in this corner. We are hearing from quite a number of you each week, but there is always room for more in this corner. Quite a number have responded to our requests for contributions of puzzles. Now we are going to ask you to write us some letters. Just tell the boys and girls about something that interests you in work, school or play. For the best letter, accompanying a correct solution of this week's puzzle, received before April 17th, we will give a nice book. If you cannot solve the riddles and puzzles yourself you are quite at liberty to get some older person to help you, but the letter must be your own, and you must give your age.

Yours truly The Puzzle Editor. HIDDEN ANIMALS. I.—It is better to do good than evil. II.—It was encouraging to see how the public attended the recital. III.—I abhor sending him away but must do it. IV.—Do you think the game Buncos will take well with the people? V.—He paroled little Eli on his shoulder and marched away. VI.—They went for a ride, Ernest accompanying them.

ENIGMA. I.—I am composed of nine letters. My first is in summer but not in spring. My second is in round but not in ring. My third is in gutter but not in eaves. My fourth is in branch but not in leaves. My fifth is in plate but not in dish. My sixth is in smelt but not in fish. My seventh is in night but not in day. My eighth is in frolic but not in play. My ninth is in strong but not in weak. My whole is something all should seek.

A SWARM OF BEES. I.—Take 'B' from a leaf, and leave what does not with a book. II.—Take 'B' from a vehicle, and leave you and me. III.—Take 'B' from an account, and you leave poorly. IV.—Take 'B' from a color, and note something missing.

ANSWERS TO PUZZLES OF MAR. 29. I.—Fowl—Owl—Wolf. II.—Fifteen apples. III.—The letter J. IV.—A midsummer night's dream. V.—Mar-tin-gale. VI.—Correct solutions to puzzles of Mar. 29th, have been received from Claire Parker, Alfred O. Foster, Owen Graves, Shannon Trench. A number of others have sent partly correct answers.

Contributions of puzzles have been received from Avard Longley, Gladys VanBaskirk, Charlotte Dargie, Willie McLean. We shall select the best to appear later. The stout man wrung the pastor's hand as he departed. 'Good-by,' he cried.

WEEPING COUGL. I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, my family in cases of whooping cough, and want to tell you that it is the best medicine I have ever used. W. A. WARREN, Penco, Va. This remedy is safe and sure. For sale by W. A. Warren, Pharm. B.

In a Class by Itself

It is quite true FERROL is an emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and a particularly good one at that. But it combines Iron and Phosphorus with the Oil, and these are just what are needed to make the emulsion perfect and they are just what all other emulsions lack.

is unique because It combines Iron and Phosphorus with Cod Liver Oil. It is pleasant to take and easy to digest. It holds the record for increasing the weight (50% lbs from the use of 25 bottles). The formula is freely exposed and its bona-fides are vouched for by eminent analysts in Canada, the United States and Great Britain. It is endorsed by prominent physicians of all schools. It is used in all the leading Hospitals, Sanitariums and other Public Institutions. The London (Eng.) Lancet, after careful analysis in its own laboratory, fully endorses it. We are prepared to substantiate all the above statements. FERROL is the embodiment of health, strength and vitality.

Why Go to College? Should we send our boys and girls to college? Now-a-days the thing of going to college or not is discussed a great deal and we hear many arguments both for and against a college course. As to the propriety of it, let it be said that it all depends on a number of circumstances that no direct answer is impossible. That every young man or woman should go to college is just as nonsensical as that no one should go at all. Real genius is independent of all conditions, and hence some of the world's greatest men never entered a college door. It seems to us that a college education sometimes cripples and spoils the genius with which some are born, but on the other hand all other things being equal, a college education is necessarily of great value. Because a few or even many college graduates are "asses" is no argument against the college or education. The college cannot change the nature of men or women, if they go into college without brains they will as a rule come out the same. A college develops, but does not create. It is an artificial institution and not a supernatural one. The question of going to college or not can only be solved by knowing the individual, the college and the circumstances incident to the case. Here, as in all cases, every bit must stand on its own bottom. Individuality must be consulted. Many persons will not take an education any more than some coarse, rough stones will take a polish. To attempt to educate them is to throw away time and money. It is to encourage false ambitions and to breed disappointments. On the contrary, supposing the possession of a good mind and character, there is nothing that can add to its power and usefulness like a college education. Here the mind is taught to work. The foundation may be laid for all future growth and development. A college education of the right kind and in the care of the right person is capital invested and well invested too. It is not simply a money investment, but also a mind and heart investment and brings pleasure and enjoyment to all the subsequent life. In conclusion we say to the young man or woman, if you have the inclination, go to college, if at all possible.

GREAT BRITAIN'S NAVAL PLANS SECRET.

LONDON, April 6. — The naval officers attached to the embassies and legations accruing to the court of St. James have found difficulty of obtaining information with regard to Great Britain's naval plans, growing so great that it is next to impossible to penetrate the veil of secrecy maintained at the British naval yards.

Great Britain is adopting the policy of her far eastern ally. When the battleship Dreadnaught was launched the naval attaché did ascertain some of the secrets of her construction, but that was Great Britain's first attempt to prevent foreigners from gaining information regarding her new ships. A second and more successful attempt is being made in connection with the three giant cruisers Invincible, Inflexible, and Indomitable. The first two vessels are now under construction and the Indomitable was launched recently at Glasgow.

As is customary upon such occasions, all the naval attachés were invited to the launching of the Indomitable. They attended, but under Great Britain's changed policy the attachés were placed under the guidance of an officer who kept them in the specter of the boiler shop while they were eager but too polite to suggest visiting the Indomitable before the hour of launching. They did reach the ship's side in time to be present at the baptismal ceremony and see the vessel slide into the water, but with this exception everything remained a government secret. The space in which the armor is to be placed was covered with planking, so there was no means of even guessing at the thickness of the armor.

The admiralty has issued orders that the same secrecy be maintained regarding all new ships, and that the staff entrusted to carry out details of construction be placed upon oath to divulge nothing.

EXPERIMENTAL TRAIN RUNS

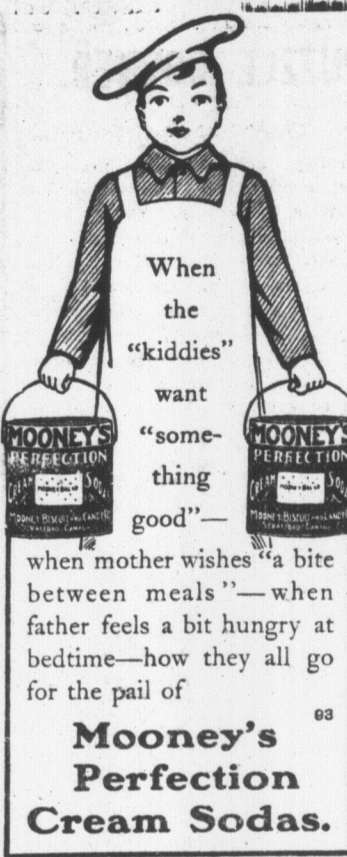

NEW YORK, April 5.—An experimental train, duplicating as nearly as possible the New York Central's Brewster express that was derailed in the Bronx on February 16, killing and injuring many passengers, was run safely over the scene of the disaster yesterday at different rates of speed. The runs were designed by the New York Central authorities to prove that the wrecked express was not going at an excessive rate of speed and that the roadbed is able to withstand the weight of the heaviest locomotives and cars. Among those on board were Job E. Hedger, special counsel for the state railroad commission in its present inquiry into the disaster, and a number of New York Central officials and employees.

The speed attained yesterday under the conditions in which the engineer testified he handled the wrecked express, was 62 1-2 miles an hour on straight track and 48 on the curve where the train left the rails. Another run was made at 66 1-2 miles as the maximum speed to be obtained on the straight track and 56 1-2 on the curve. After the experiments, the railroad officials declared that it was demonstrated that there was no reason for charging the wreck to the new type of motive power and equipment.

The last of a series of entertainments given by the ladies of the Baptist Church will be given next Monday evening. The entertainments have been a success, both financially and socially.

An ice-cream and cake social will be held in the vestry of the Baptist church on Monday evening, April 15th; also a sale of useful and fancy articles by the ladies of the sewing circle. Doors open at six o'clock.

John Millard, the lumber king of Queens County, is reported by an exchange as making a tour through Kings and Annapolis Counties inspecting farms with a view to purchase. Mr. Millard would do well to inspect those advertised in the columns of the Monitor this week.

Among the farms disposed of which have been advertised in the Monitor this spring are the farm at Carleton's Corner, occupied by Mr. Margeson, purchased by Jacob B. Whitman, of Annapolis, and that of A. S. Bull, Clarence, which has been sold to Harry and Frank Marshall of Round Hill.

The annual meeting of St. James' Church Miss Society is called for next Friday afternoon at 4.30 in the school room, and the adjourned Easter meeting of the congregation takes place the same evening at 7.30. A large attendance is hoped for in each instance. The confirmation class this week will be on Saturday evening at 7.30, followed by choir practise at 8.30.

There is nothing slow about the Annapolis Board of Trade. At their meeting on Monday night, among the subjects up for discussion were the government engineer's report on the condition of the Granville Ferry slips, report from G. E. Corbett, lately returned from Ottawa on the probable shipment of iron ore from Annapolis, the combination of the present passenger and freight stations, school matters, etc. We understand they are issuing an attractive booklet for Annapolis Royal, in the interest of the tourist trade, for which the town is admirably adapted, as it possesses natural charm and attractiveness in a high degree, and these advantages are enhanced by the care and attention bestowed upon the appearance of the town in general and the hospitable instincts of its citizens.

The death of W. A. Cathers, of St. John, for twenty years the well-known traveller for J. M. Humphrey & Co., was heard last week with regret by many maritime province people. Mr. Cathers has been in failing health for about two years. He is survived by a widow, two daughters and a son. The Yarmouth, reported to have had forty or fifty passengers on board from St. John, was refused landing privileges at Digby on Wednesday, the mails only being received there. On Thursday Digby's health officer allowed the Prince Arthur, substituted for the Yarmouth, to land her passengers. The St. John Telegraph says:—

The decision on Wednesday created a great deal of inconvenience and trouble, as well as some hardship, and judged by the experience of St. John with smallpox the action of the health officers seems to have been unnecessary; indeed, it looked something like a case of fright.

Views of Rev. R. J. Campbell, of London City Temple

Much Discussion: Some Very Recent Sermons, Has Been Cracked: New Theology of a Noted Preacher—Main Conclusions Reached in Recent Sermons Containing His Views of the Christian Religion.

Throughout the country much discussion is taking place regarding the views of the Christian religion that have been expressed by the Rev. R. J. Campbell, of the City Temple. These are his main conclusions, says Lloyd's London Weekly:

"To say that Jesus was born without a human father is untrue. 'Whatever Jesus is now, He certainly was not co-equal with God when on earth. 'We believe that the story of the Fall, in a literal sense, is untrue. It is literature, not dogma, the romance of an early age used for the ethical instruction of man. 'We reject wholly the common interpretation of the Atonement—that another is beaten for our fault. 'We do not believe in Eternal punishment. Ultimately every soul will be perfected. 'Preaching to a crowded congregation at the City Temple recently, Mr. Campbell said views varied greatly as to the scope and functions of the society founded by Jesus. He was perfectly sure Jesus appointed neither bishop nor priest to carry on any mere mechanical machinery. Such a foundation was too flimsy. 'In the primitive sense of the word,' added the preacher, 'I am a bishop. I do not say that the sacerdotal view is wholly had, but it has wrought much harm. We want a Christian federation to take in all—even the Church of Rome—united for common action.' He did not believe in eternal damnation. Man was constituted for immortality. The true Church of Christ existed to make the world better and gladder—to make it the kingdom of God. The Labor party believed in making the world better. The spirit of brotherhood was necessary. To achieve anything men must get together—must form a society. 'In an exposition of his views given at Tynesmouth Congregational Church Mr. Campbell emphasized the difference between religion and theology. The starting-point of 'the new theology,' as it had been called, was belief in the immanence of God and the essential oneness of God with man. There was no real distinction between humanity and the Deity. Our being was the same as God's, although our consciousness of it was limited, and His was not. Every man was a potential Christ, and all that could be said about the love of Christ must be said about all the humble sons of God. Jesus came to call us up to God. The 'new theology' looked upon evil not so much as a positive, but as a negative term—a shadow where light should be. While recognizing the value of the

TO MOUNT RUWENZORI

DUKE OF THE ABRUZZI TAKES GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.

Lectures Before King Edward, Who Pays Him a Splendid Tribute, on His Nile Discoveries—Royal Explorer's Thrilling Account of His Recent Explorations of the Snowy Mountains in the Heart of Africa.

The Duke of the Abruzzi is only 34 years old, but he has already won distinction in the Arctic zone as well as in equatorial regions. He is pale, thin, and good looking, with flashing black eyes, and a charming manner of speaking English. He called his recent lecture, delivered to the Royal Geographical Society, 'The Snows of the Nile,' and gave a thrilling account of his recent exploration of the snowy summits known as Ruwenzori, in the heart of equatorial Africa, and between two of the great lakes of the Nile sources, the Albert and Albert Edward. The range, he said, was probably seen for the first time by Europeans by Sir S. Baker in 1864, and later by Geasi in 1876. Neither traveler formed any exact idea of the importance of the range, and to Sir Henry Stanley was reserved the distinction of being the true discoverer. Stanley saw the mountain in 1888, and on the following year traversed its western slopes, while one of his companions, Louis Stairs, climbed to a height of 16,577 feet on its northwestern spurs. From among the various native designations of the range Stanley chose that of Ruwenzori, which means 'Rainmaker,' and he identified the range with the Moon Mountains of the Moon. Ruwenzori was the only snowy range in the Nile basin, added the duke, and therefore the only mountain that met Ptolemy's statement that the Nile was fed from mountain snows. After describing previous attempts to explore the mountain, the duke told how, on April 16 last, his expedition started from Naples to Mombasa, and went by rail to Kisumu or Fort Florence, saving made in 48 hours a journey which a few years ago took three months to accomplish. Thence they traversed Lake Victoria by steamer, arriving at Entebbe, or Fort Alice, on May 7. A week after a formidable caravan of over 400 native carriers, soldiers, 'boys,' and women set out on a 16 days' march to Fort Portal.

After describing the big game observed on the march, the games and dances of the natives, the visits of chiefs to the expedition's food (carried by women), the young explorer told of his first glimpse of the snow-capped peaks of Ruwenzori, and an excellent photograph of the view was thrown on the screen to awaken applause. Thence afterwards, though the duke did not say so, it was a dogged climb upwards to Ibando and Sibanza, which later is 6,320 feet above sea-level. Here are the last bits of the Bakonjo mountaineers, of gentle manners and peaceable habits, who, despite the rigors of the climate, go habitually naked. There were slippery descents into villages, climbs up steep spurs, wrestlings with swamps, drenchings by rain and moisture. The duke spoke cheerfully of them as being all in the day's work. Some of the native followers stuck bravely to the expedition until a height of 13,750 feet was reached. Then they were left behind. For the three days of June 12, 13, and 14 rain kept the expedition prisoners at Bujungo. 'We remained during these three interminable days confined in the narrow dungeon and buried in dark, dank fog. 'It was 11.30,' continued the duke, 'a fresh breeze blew from the southeast, the clouds swept past but a few yards under us, leaving clear only the two peaks, that we had left and that on which we were standing, and to these summits, the only ones in view at this moment which crowned my efforts, I gave the names of Margherita and Alexandra. 'Acting on his prerogative as the first successful explorer of Ruwenzori, the duke said he proposed to call by the name of Mount Stanley the mountain or mass of which carries the two highest peaks—Margherita (16,510 feet), Alexandra (16,590 feet), Diana (16,500 feet), Savoys (16,540 feet), and Moebius (16,527 feet). To the second group in order of height he gave the name of Epke, the discoverer of the origin of the Nile; to the third, the name of Mount Baker (15,990 feet) he named after the King of England. 'His Majesty King Edward paid, at the conclusion of the lecture, the following graceful tribute to the young explorer and his work: 'I feel convinced that I am expressing the wishes of the Royal Geographical Society, as well as those of this large assemblage to-night, when I tender our thanks to his Royal Highness the Duke of the Abruzzi for the interesting and exhaustive lecture which he has just given us. He has traveled a long way for this purpose, and it has been, no doubt, a great strain on his voice. I feel sure that all of us will go home fully impressed with the able manner in which this expedition was fitted out, and the successful results which it has attained. 'We have been interested and helped by the lantern slides which have been taken from the splendid photographs of the distinguished Mr. Stella, who accompanied the duke on the expedition; and I am sure everything we have seen has brought before us, as vividly almost as if we had been with him, the successful adventures which he encountered, and the success in surmounting those high peaks of the Ruwenzori. 'That his royal highness is a great traveler and a great explorer. He has done more even than he has told us to-night. If I refer back 10 years ago, he organized an expedition to attempt to ascend the still unclimbed peak of Kinchinjunga, the second highest mountain in the world; but owing to the outbreak of plague in India, difficulties arose, which led him, I believe, to leave Darjeeling, and turn his attention to Mount Elias in Alaska, over 18,000 feet in height, which he was the first to ascend. 'In 1899 and 1900 the duke led an admirably organized expedition in an attempt to reach the North Pole. One branch of this expedition attained a latitude of 30 miles nearer to the Pole than the record established by Nansen and his crew, and the other branch, which has since been attained by Commander Peary. 'Our distinguished lecturer is, fortunately for him, a young man, and I hope he has a long life before him in which he will continue to make explorations which are of such value both to science and geography. 'He belongs also to an illustrious and distinguished race—I am happy to think good friends and allies of ours (cheers). 'Above all things he possesses great courage, great coolness, and great will. These will, I am sure, carry him through any further expeditions or explorations he may make. 'I thank him again in the name of us all for his lecture, and I wish him continued success in the course of any future expedition he may attempt. Loud cheers greeted the conclusion of his majesty's remarks, which were of quite an impromptu character. In replying to the King's speech the Duke of the Abruzzi said that no praises could be more fitting than those coming from the Sovereign of the nation which had always taken the lead in every kind of daring discovery and geographical enterprise over land and on sea, from the Equator to the Pole. The recognition given to him in Great Britain by his majesty and the Prince of Wales and the Geographical Society would remain one of the dearest recollections of his life, which he deeply appreciated by all Italians.

Queen Helena of Italy. In 1899 Prince Victor Emmanuel, now King of Italy, married Princess Helena of Montenegro. The royal couple have three children, two daughters and the little heir apparent, Prince Alexander, who is just two years old. Queen Helena is devoted to her children, whom she is bringing up in a Spartan-like manner, and is very hardy. Many a Canadian child of even moderately well to do parents enjoys far more luxury than is permitted to the little Italian princesses and their brother. They must wear short socks even in winter, and they are obliged to have a cold bath every morning. They must stay outdoors a good part of every day and be trained to robust physical exercise. They also have German, French and English governesses. Princess Yolande, the oldest, not quite six years old, is already an admirable linguist, speaking English perfectly. 'The somewhat natural prejudice which exists against vipers is extended, unfortunately—though not, perhaps, unnaturally—to everything resembling a snake, and on this account the common grass snake is often needlessly destroyed. It is perfectly harmless and in its fresh grayish green skin is quite unmistakable, yet if suddenly encountered in a bedchamber or leaning from a ditch death is generally its portion. The way in which, on its own account, it deals death to frogs is somewhat awful in the denouement. The victim, seeming to realize the hopelessness of any attempt to escape, becomes hierarchically paralyzed with fright and, leaping with enfeebled power, is soon seized by a hinder leg and drawn into the jaws of the enemy. The adder's method of feeding is similar, but death is more speedy from the wound inflicted by its tubular teeth. The grass snake altogether lacks these teeth and swallows its prey alive. A frog has been heard to scream after being entombed.—London Times.

It isn't Dues. 'I wouldn't marry the best man on earth.' 'Well, don't worry. It isn't customary for the bride to marry the best man.'

DEEP BROOK.

Mr. P. F. Nichol went to Boston last Saturday.

Thomas J. Deane died last Sunday afternoon at the home of his daughter Mrs. James B. Vynne, in the age of eighty-seven years.

Mr. Deane was born in New York, and was a member of the Methodist Church of Montreal. His wife passed away very suddenly of heart disease about five years ago on board the train en route for Halifax. His body will be forwarded to Halifax on Wednesday.

The annual Easter meeting of the parishioners of St. Clement's parish was held in St. Matthew's, Deep Brook, on Easter, Monday. All the officers were re-elected except that W. M. Romans was appointed to fill the place of L. J. J. as vestryman.

Quite an interesting coincidence occurred on Easter Sunday. While the pastor was preaching on the doctrine of the resurrection from the dead, a beautiful butterfly was noticed sitting in front of the pulpit, apparently taking in the sermon, and at any rate illustrating the subject of discourse by its own resurrection into a beautiful body after its long winter's sleep.

A special collection will be taken next Sunday evening to provide funds to assist the Lord's Day Alliance in prosecuting certain railways and tramways that have been doing business on Sunday.

Miss Grace L. Woodward, who is teaching at Kingston Station, accompanied by her friend, Miss Hattie Spiny, of Torbrook, spent Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert I. Woodward.

Some more of our young men leave in a few days for the North-West. Soon be none left. It seems a great pity.

The many friends of Ralph Bent, of Tapscroville, were pained to learn of his sudden death last week. Mr. Bent was a former resident of Belleisle and had many friends here.

Your correspondent was pleased beyond measure on reading in the last issue of the Monitor that the "Boys of the Band" had taken down their harps from the willow to play again the sweet strains of yore. You did just right, boys—keep up the tune.

The annual business meeting of St. Mary's congregation was held in the church after the Easter-even service. The chapel-wardens accounts showed a balance on the right side in respect to "current expenses." All the officers were re-elected, viz.—Charles Wale and William E. Bent, chapel-wardens, and A. J. Bustin, clerk.

Benjamin Goldsmith, of Anceville, Bigby Co., has been spending a few days with son, Charles.

The church of St. Mary presented a beautiful appearance on Easter Sunday.

Large quantities of fruit have been shipped from here lately for the English market, via St. John.

He went to spend his birthday with his aunt, Mrs. Harris, the birthday of each occurring on April 1st. He informed your correspondent that for forty consecutive years they had spent that day together.

Mrs. Harris is eighty-six years of age, some two years her husband's senior. They have resided in the one home for nearly sixty years, and in all that long interval of time, not a birth or a marriage or a death has taken place within its walls.

CURED OF RHEUMATISM.

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually let me and the strength returned. It troubled with rheumatism had disappeared and has not since returned. I tried with rheumatism a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. The S. S. Ruby L., of Margareville, will call at this port Monday and Wednesday of each week on the route between Margareville and St. John, commencing Wednesday, April 10th. Our community was saddened last week by the death of Elias, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiab Sabean. He was taken ill Tuesday and every effort was made to relieve him but he passed away Thursday afternoon. His kind and genial disposition won the affection of all his associates. The deceased was 22 years of age and leaves father, mother, four sisters, two brothers, besides many other friends and relatives to mourn their loss. Much sympathy is felt for them. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon, the service being conducted by Rev. H. Saunders of Paradise. Being a member of the North Division, Sons of Temperance, the Division walked in the procession in regalia.
