General Warren is Advancing Steadily—Boer Commandant Reports That the British Bombardment of the Entrenchments was the Most Frightful Ever Witnessed on Land—General Buller was 12 Miles From the Belaguered Garrison on Thursday.

Lord Dundonald with a body of mounted troops came into action on Thursday afternoon with a force of Boers west of Acton Homes. After a fight he occupied several kopjes, which he is still holding.

Boer accounts of the passage by the British forces across the Tugela River have been received from Commandant Viljoen's Camp. On Jan. 17 (Wednesday), at 5 a.m., a siege battery opened on the Boer position.

London, Jan. 20.—(4:30 a.m.)—Every hour that General Buller delays his combined attack makes his position stronger. The transports continue to arrive at Durban, and fresh troops are being sent up the line.

London, Jan. 20.—A Durban special, dated Thursday night, says: "It is reported here that Lord Dundonald has smashed a Boer convoy. Gen. Buller is said to be within 12 miles of Ladysmith, and Gen. Warren to be about 6 miles to the rear."

LADYSMITH ON WEDNESDAY. The Garrison Heard the Sound of the Relief Guns From Springfield.

Ladysmith, Wednesday, Jan. 18, via Spearman's Camp. The position is unchanged and there is very little bombardment. The welcome sound of the guns of the relief column was heard yesterday from Colenso and Springfield. The heat is intense, but there is no increase of sickness.

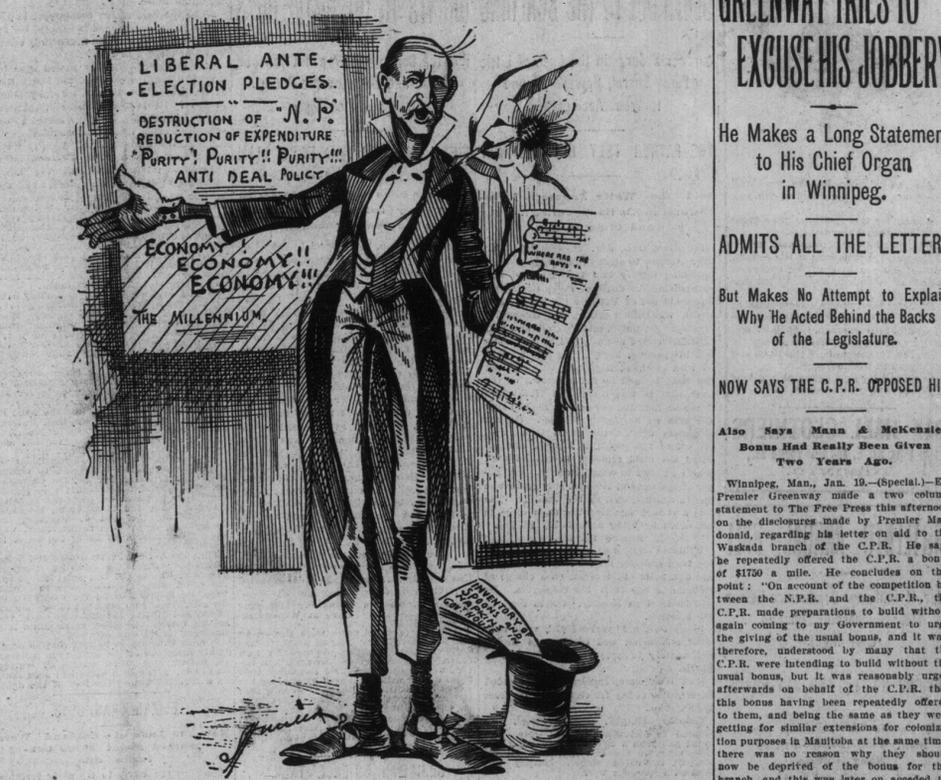

BOERS EVACUATED COLENSO TO REINFORCE THEIR TROOPS AT SPEARMAN'S CAMP—HEAVY GUN FIRE AT LADYSMITH.

London, Jan. 20.—The Daily Mail publishes the following despatch, dated Thursday, from Spearman's Camp: "It is rumored that the Boers have evacuated Colenso, in order to reinforce their troops here. Heavy gun fire was heard from Ladysmith this morning. Buller Gives Warning. 'General Buller's order instructs the men to heed the white flags of the Boers only when they lay down their arms. It also instructs them to beware of false bugle calls.'"

HOW BOERS DESCRIBE IT. Gen. Buller's Bombardment of the Enemy's Trenches the Most Fearful Ever Witnessed.

London, Jan. 20.—The Boer accounts of the passage of the Tugela River are given in the following two reports from Commandant Viljoen's Camp. On the Upper Tugela, via Lorenzo Marquez, Jan. 18.—"Jan. 16.—Buller's second move was a reconnaissance in force, with an armored train and a large body, supported by cannon toward Colenso last night. A heavy bombardment ensued, and thereupon the British retreated, having wounded one of our men. No reply was made. This was a ruse to cover extensive movements up the river. Kaffirs on this side of the Tugela have been warned by the British to have their kraals, as the fight will commence shortly."

The correspondent then goes on to say: "Some 10,000 Boers arrived in the vicinity of Bogriet's Drift on Thursday and Friday of last week, and began the erection of extensive and formidable lines of trenches for their position, and apparently could only be turned from the west by assailing the high ridges of the Spreon Kops."

GREENWAY TRIES TO EXCUSE HIS JOBBERY

He Makes a Long Statement to His Chief Organ in Winnipeg. ADMITS ALL THE LETTERS

But Makes No Attempt to Explain Why He Acted Behind the Backs of the Legislature. NOW SAYS THE C.P.R. OPPOSED HIM

Also Says Mann & McKenzie's Bonus Had Really Been Given Two Years Ago.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 19.—(Special.)—Ex-Premier Greenway made a two column statement to The Free Press this afternoon on the disclosures made by Premier Macdonald, regarding his letter on aid to the Waskada branch of the C.P.R. He says he was repeatedly offered the C.P.R. a bonus of $1750 a mile. He concludes on this point: "On account of the competition between the N.P.R. and the C.P.R., the C.P.R. made preparations to build without again coming to my Government to urge the giving of the usual bonus, and it was, therefore, understood by many that the C.P.R. were intending to build without the usual bonus, but it was reasonably argued afterwards on behalf of the C.P.R. that this bonus having been repeatedly offered to them, and being the same as they were getting for similar extensions for colonization purposes in Manitoba at the same time, there was no reason why they should now be deprived of the bonus for this branch, and this was later on acceded to, and in addition a promise was made on behalf of the C.P.R. to extend the same branch still further westward from Waskada, to the convenience of settlers in that district."

THINGS GETTING WARM IN THE NEW CMC PILE

Mayor Macdonald Casts His First Double Vote at the Board of Control and All the Committee Chairmen are in Opposition.

Spence and Sheppard Stood Together—Big Time Over the Early Closing Bylaw—Both Sides are Heard—Overdrafts Must be Paid Out of This Year's Taxes—An Expert Will Examine the Piers of the New St. Lawrence Market.

Mayor Macdonald has planned his faith and affixed his signature to the draft resolution that the Attorney-General issue the writ of the Government, making the province a party to the suit of the city against the Consumers' Gas Company. A petition has been drawn up and addressed to Hon. Mr. Gibson, asking for the writ. The Mayor signed the document yesterday. This is the course recommended by Mr. Christopher Robinson and held by the legal advisers of the city to be the right plan of action. The city and Attorney-General would be joined by an individual consumer. The petition has been forwarded to the Attorney-General by Mr. Caswell.

For an unorganized body the opponents of the early-closing bylaw made quite a scientific fight last night. The Retailers' Association had legal talent at their back and had not neglected these opportunities since the temporary suspension of the bylaw was favored in Council. But the anti came into the field with the enthusiasm of camp fighting for life and liberty and carried things before them. At the same time both deputations conducted the case with admirable good spirit. Aid. Leslie was an excellent chairman for the occasion.

In referring to the City Engineer at the Board of Control meeting on Thursday, what the Mayor said was that Mr. Rust is not an architect.

The division of the Board of Control yesterday upon the Mayor's draft bylaw giving him power to call meetings of committees is sure to make a big splash in Council. The different chairmen do not conceal their common feeling in the least. They say they are willing to call meetings at any time at the request of the Mayor. But the bylaw would put them aside altogether, and this they will resist, while giving the Mayor full credit for the best of good intentions and the division in the Board of Control was not anticipated. It was thought the three controllers would have taken the view that they were not personally committed to the principle of the bylaw by a recommendation to Council. The stand of Controllers Spence and Sheppard presaged a pitched battle on Monday.

ARCHITECT GRAY IS NAMED

As an Expert to Examine the Piers of the New St. Lawrence Market.

Even a more interesting meeting of the Board of Control than Thursday's, which created a sensation, was held yesterday at 2 o'clock. Messrs. Spence and Sheppard, under a mistake about the hour of meeting, were on hand at 1.30, and again at 2. The first matter was the request for an expert investigation concerning the safety of the new St. Lawrence Market.

An Outside Expert. Controller Sheppard said that, in conversation with Mr. Siddall, the architect, that gentleman had said the piers would stand a strain of 20 lbs. to the square foot. But before the Board of Control yesterday he only said 10 lbs. If Mr. Lennox would not act, it would be better to get an outside expert.

Controller Spence: I think we should have an independent expert.

The Mayor: The distinguished architect of the city are few.

Mr. Barwick: I would suggest Mr. McCullum and Mr. Rust. This is an engineering question.

Controller Sheppard: It appears to me to be an architect's job.

Controller Spence: We have Mr. Smith in Mr. Rust's office, who is supposed to be a very clever man.

Wilson Gray Named. The Mayor: When you name the Engineer, it includes all in his office.

His Worship suggested the name of Mr. Wilson Gray.

Mr. Gray: I would suggest Mr. McCullum and Mr. Rust. This is an engineering question.

Controller Sheppard: It appears to me to be an architect's job.

Controller Spence: We have Mr. Smith in Mr. Rust's office, who is supposed to be a very clever man.

Mr. Caswell: It is too serious a matter to discuss at a moment's notice. But it seems to me if the work is properly authorized and must be done it cannot make any difference to pay for it this year or last.

The Mayor: This particular Council had nothing at all to do with it.

Mr. Caswell: The Council is of course a continuing body. Sometimes we know that this thing becomes necessary. There are balances on one side and on the other to be carried over from year to year.

The Mayor: We were understood to say he had never heard of a surplus.

Mr. Caswell: The accounts never come out exactly straight, and sometimes there is a surplus.

The Mayor: Were the members of Council not personally liable for exceeding the estimate?

Mr. Caswell: I am not prepared to recommend it.

Controller Sheppard: I can only consent to the bylaw going on to Council.

Controller Spence: There is the point of the bylaw. I am not prepared to recommend it.

The Mayor: I am not prepared to recommend it.

Controller Sheppard: I am not prepared to recommend it.

Controller Spence: You are not refused access, Mr. Mayor. The committees are now called at what is considered the most convenient time. But if you cannot attend any meeting, the chairman will, I am sure, after the time to suit you.

The Mayor: There are important matters I would have to lay before the committee. How could I do that if I have access to the committee?

Controller Sheppard: The committee meetings are arranged, I feel sure, in the least complicated way possible.

Controller Spence: I am not prepared to recommend it.

whole matter sooner or later and might as well fix upon our policy now. It ought to be an easy matter to deal with, unless we are willing to take the odium of taxing the people 20 mills on the dollar.

Controller Spence: These accounts have not been paid?

The City Treasurer: They are not yet paid, but are recommended for payment.

The Mayor: I think the members of the old Council are personally responsible for this matter of overdraft a plain, straightforward business statement, showing the levy of this year separately and those accounts from last year, distinct in themselves.

Controller Spence: It appears to me to be an architect's job.

Controller Spence: The work had to be done, and was done.

The Mayor: Had we not better see the Controller Sheppard? It devolves upon us to do something to pay our debts if lawfully contracted, and if the City got the value of the money.

RIGHTS OF MAIL STEAMERS.

Herr Moeller Says Germany Must Vigorously Express Indignation Over Seizures.

BRITAIN ACTED ARBITRARILY

In Seizing and Holding the Bundesrath, He Said, and Should Be More Considerate.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—In the Reichstag to-day the debate on Herr Moeller's joint interpretation of the Government regarding the seizure of German steamers by British warships was opened. Herr Moeller said vigorously that the rights of mail steamers, the indignation felt at the fact that the subsidized line to which the seized vessels belonged had observed the strictest neutrality, and expressed the opinion that the matter should furnish the opportunity of defining the rights of mail steamers. The unloading of the Bundesrath, he added, could have been effected with a few days' delay and showed want of consideration for international courtesy, and it should be made incumbent upon the British officials to announce whether, and to what extent, their views in regard to those rights had been changed. The action, the speaker continued, appeared arbitrary, and it was Germany's duty to demand security for her ships in the future from all maritime nations. Germany, he pointed out, was so neutral that even her arms factories had been prohibited from supplying the belligerents. The present case afforded a rare spectacle of the unity of all parties. Great Britain had not always maintained the neutrality marking Germany's present attitude, and Englishmen should take care not to draw on themselves the hatred of the world.

This statement was greeted with loud cheers. Von Buelow Replies. Count Buelow, the Foreign Minister, replied. He said the House would understand that, in view of the serious nature of the affair as well as of consideration for the seriousness of the whole political situation, he should confine himself to facts. The situation had been well set forth by the interpolator. It had been repeatedly proposed that the points of international maritime law now in dispute should be settled by international agreement, but attempts in this direction had always failed, owing to the difficulties arising from the divergent rules of the powers. As recently as the Hague Conference, an attempt had been made to consider these questions, with the result that it had been ultimately decided to endeavor, thru international conferences, to regulate on the one side the rights and duties of neutrals, and on the other the question of private property at sea. The German empire would not withhold its concurrence with other powers in any possible plan to get nearer a settlement on the disputed points of maritime law.

Count Von Buelow, in conclusion, said Germany would maintain friendly relations with Great Britain, but the Government hoped that such incidents would not recur.

cur, to make it impossible for the good relations to continue.

Sir Matthew White-Ridley Says the Cabinet Have Been United

London, Jan. 19.—Sir Matthew White-Ridley, the Home Secretary, speaking at Blackpool last evening, said: "On behalf of my colleagues and myself, I would say that we all share the full responsibility for the Cabinet, like the nation, has been united from the beginning. There is no doubt that when the proper time comes for the Cabinet to justify its course, the justification will be sufficiently ample. "What gives me the most pleasure is the determination of the country, no less than the Government, that, having a quarrel forced upon us, we must bring it to a successful issue. "It is not the business of the press to criticize the actions of our gallant generals in the field. There is none of them who does not possess the full confidence of the country and the Government."

CARNEGIE'S IDEA OF CHARITY.

Let the Submerged Man Sink and Help the Chap Who Has His Head Above Water.

New York, Jan. 19.—Andrew Carnegie, in addressing a Bible class last night, said among other things: "It will indeed be a sad day when poverty is no longer with us. Where will your inventor, your artist, your philanthropist, your reformer, in fact anybody of note, come from then? They all come from the ranks of the poor. The best pleasure derived from riches is the good we can do for our fellow-men. Of every thousand dollars given to charity, nine hundred and fifty cents go well to the submerged man. Give your aid to the man who is fighting with his head above water." John D. Rockefeller was present and listened to Mr. Carnegie's words.

MR. ALLEN WANTS TOO MUCH

Nebraska Senator Asked to Have the Diplomatic Game Explained at Any Stage,

BUT SPOONER CALLED HIM DOWN

Said the President Had the Authority and That Diplomacy Must Be Kept Secret.

Washington, Jan. 19.—At the conclusion of morning business in the Senate to-day the resolution of Mr. Allen (Nebraska), calling upon the Secretary of State for information as to whether any representatives of the Transvaal applied to the United States Government for recognition, and if such application had been made, if it had been accepted, and, if not, why not, was laid before the Senate. "Mr. Spooner (Wisconsin) moved that the resolution be directed to the President, and that he be required to furnish the information, if not incompatible with public interests. "The Senate had no right to demand information from the President, but the President was the absolute judge as to whether it was proper to communicate the information needed. He utterly repudiated, he said, the doctrine advanced repeatedly by Senators, that the people were entitled to information from day to day regarding the conduct of our foreign business. It was perfectly manifest, he said, that it was to be successful, must be secret. It was quite sufficient, too, that from the status of foreign relations the Secretary of State was the servant of the President, and not of Congress. "The debate continued, Senators Allen, Spooner, Teller and Hale taking part. The resolution was finally amended so as to call upon the President, "if not incompatible with public interests," to supply the information.

The irregular life necessary for him to lead in his business produced a serious derangement of his stomach and digestive functions, which caused him a great deal of apprehension. The particular form of pain to which Mr. McLaughlin was subject was a dizzy headache. The torments in his head would sometimes fairly drive him mad. He would be nearly blinded by a swirling, blood-specked mist which appeared before his eyes. These attacks would leave him very weak, and his mouth would become filled with a sour, galling taste. If he did not carefully watch his diet a recurrence of the trouble would follow immediately. Mr. McLaughlin had Hutch recommended him by a very old friend of his, and he says:— "Bijou Theatre, Toronto, January, 1900. I take pleasure in recommending Hutch to any one troubled with sick headaches. I have taken Hutch for dizzy headaches, and I have not been troubled with any since. I always carry a box in my vest pocket, and I would not be without them. Respectfully yours, Jas. McLaughlin, 152 Centre Avenue, City. Offices Bijou Theatre. N. B.—This is for publication. Hutch is a tablet heavily coated with chocolate. It is a most delicious treatment for dyspepsia, and the marvelous cures recorded vouch for its wonderful power. A steady treatment of Hutch will cure the most obstinate stomach disease. Hutch assists the secretion of the gastric juices, promotes assimilation of good nutrition for the body and expels all offensive matter from the body. It's a doctor for ten cents. In the Famous Yorkton District, Western Canada.

An interesting conversation which took place upon this subject at Winnipeg during the Provincial Exhibition, held at that city in July of 1898, will afford valuable information for the intending settler who is thinking of moving to Western Canada.

An Ontario tenant farmer, returning home after having looked over a portion of Manitoba, met a settler from the Yorkton District at the Brunswick Hotel, Main-street, Winnipeg, when the following conversation took place, and while it is not necessary to give the names of the parties, we will for the sake of convenience call the Ontario tenant farmer "Ontario" and the Yorkton settler "Yorkton."

"Ontario—Why do you people up here hold your Exhibition in the middle of the summer?"

"Yorkton—"I presume you come from the east and do not understand our position up here. You see our harvest is nearly a month later than yours, and this is really our slack time; after we start cutting we cannot let up or look behind. Fall rains here, as you have them in Ontario, would likely be a failure. I suppose you have been over at the grounds. How do you like the show?"

"Ontario—"A very good show, indeed! I spent yesterday looking over the horses and cattle, and this morning I took in the grain and roots. It puzzles me to know how you get the roots so large at this season. I don't think your horses and cattle are up to ours, not for breeding anyway, but you have great size and weight for the age."

"Yorkton—"That's what we go in for here. Weight means dollars and cents, and still we don't neglect the breeding, as we are constantly getting fine, young short horn bulls from the east; but we must have weight. Say, you ought to have seen a train load of three-year-old steers shipped from the Yorkton stock yards last fall to Montreal. They averaged 1500 pounds and they never tested grain. I never saw anything like it in Ontario. They were all raised by ordinary farmers in the district, and there were no marks of any scrub bull being around."

"Ontario—"Well, I don't mean to say for a moment that your cattle are not well bred, but you could hardly expect in a new country to have as much care taken as in Ontario. I don't, however, understand how you get a three-year-old steer weighing over 1500 pounds, without being grain fed, and without doubling your word at all. I would like to see it if you will."

"Yorkton—"Well, now, I take from you that you are taking an interest in our country, and as I am returning home by the next train, I would like you to come along. I have eight three-year-old steers myself already sold to Tom Meredith, a buyer for Gordon & Ironsides. I think they will weigh 1500 pounds each by the 1st of September, and as I raised them myself, I know they have eaten no grain. Come and see them and I will show you plenty more belonging to my neighbors."

"Ontario—"If I am sorry I can't accept this time your very kind offer to a stranger, as I have now been three weeks away from home and I must get back within the month. Where is your place?"

"Yorkton—"I live in the Yorkton District. We can take the train to Yorkton and then drive out six miles to my homestead in forty minutes. Wait, I'll have you plenty on my pocket. See, we go out west to Portage la Prairie, and without any change of care we take the Manitoba and Northwestern to Yorkton, passing through Gladstone, Neosawa, Minnedosa, and Selkirk. I think you would enjoy it as it is a nice park, prairie country."

"Ontario—"No, I don't like this time. We people come up here and make the great mistake in supposing we can look over the whole country and get back in four weeks. I have heard a great deal about the Yorkton country, and I did intend to see it before deciding upon a location, but the news has been so full of the Donkeybush being at Yorkton that that settled me."

other half will buy a few good yearlings. But this is rather going into the future. I must keep down to experience and facts. I like this place."

"Ontario—"It is all very interesting to me; but let me enquire how the Colonization Co. got hold of the land. I thought you got yours from the Government free as a settler?"

"Yorkton—"I will explain that. You know our survey. I presume, each township is 36 miles square, and contains 36 sections, each section being a mile square, and containing 640 acres, which is divided into four quarters of 160 acres each. These sections begin with No. 1 at the S. E. corner, and number right along going west and east until section 36 is reached at the N. E. corner. Now two of these sections belong to the Hudson Bay Co. and two other sections in each township are set apart for school purposes. Now the York Farmers' Co. bought from the Government the odd numbered sections in each township, sixteen in number, but the even numbers were all left open for free homesteading."

"Ontario—"You mean that rather a quarter (160 acres) any person 18 years of age can get a free homestead here?"

"Yorkton—"But doesn't it keep the country back to have these alternate sections held by the Hudson Bay Co. and the York Farmers' Co.?"

"Ontario—"No, the very opposite, we have the full use of this land and the Company has to pay taxes on the land. The second year $2.50 for statute labor for each quarter section and about two and a half cents per acre for school tax every year. The homesteaders have no taxes on their land."

"Ontario—"Are the Company making any improvements?"

"Yorkton—"Not lately. The President, Hon. Clarke Wallace, was here about the time I came in, and he spent quite a time at Yorkton, but I think it was mostly to get acquainted with the country. Everybody even Manitoba knows him."

"Ontario—"Indeed I do. We know him very well, but we are getting on our feet and want to hear how the country is getting on. I am going to get some more land, and I am going to get some more land, and I am going to get some more land."

"Yorkton—"Yorkton is a prosperous town. It is the Government headquarters for all the transactions covering a large district. It is the commercial centre, and has large stores which have a large trade. It has a daily cash market for every thing that farmers have to sell. Spacious streets, a handsome hotel, and a fine school. A new school costing $5000, built this year. The water brick made at Yorkton. Capitalists visit with each other to loan money to build this school at a price of $10000. Then there are Banks, Brokers and Yorkton has a stock exchange in Canada, $200,000 worth of cattle, chiefly for export, were sold in Yorkton in 1898. The Hudson Bay Co. went to the west, making butter for export to Liverpool and British Columbia. I think I have a copy of the Yorkton Enterprise, a live newspaper. The advertisement in the paper will give you an idea. You can take it home with you. I can't begin to describe the town and its soil. Just stay two days there and see the business that is done and the people who do it, and you will come to the conclusion that there must be a fine country not far away. Then drive out among the farmers and see their homes (some of which are brick), their surroundings, their stocks and grain, their herds and flocks. Go to Staples and Bulls, two fine farmers close to the town. You would think they had been driven forty years to look at their places. Drive round and see Sharn, Thompson, Wilby, Foster, Bigby, McMillan, Smith, Peaker, Heaman, Sanderson, Healy, Heil, Ferns, Langstaff, Reilly, Brown, Beck, Schramm, Dwyer, Garry, Peavey, Reid and scores of others. Cream separators everywhere. See a herd of twenty cows discharging from well filled udders their rich milk, to go warm to as many quarts as the cream which has been recently separated by going through a cream separator driven by a gasoline engine, and is now on its way down to the creamery at Yorkton. Skimming, churning, packing and marketing in the old-fashioned way, involving a lot of hard work for the thrifty west of the Yorkton farmer is going out of date."

"Ontario—"You seem to be forging ahead rapidly for a new place. Could you secure me a quarter (160 acres) at $2 to $4 an acre, on easy payments near your place and the Hudson Bay Co. Monasteries, Episcopal Church, Yorkton—"What for? I understand you are going to settle on your land, and if so, you want to homestead, not to buy. There are plenty of first-rate homesteads near Yorkton or Selkirk. Just write Sutherland, the Government agent, and he will send you a list and a map, and if you decide to come on, Jim Cremer, who is the Government locating agent will drive you to inspect the lands free of cost, and when you have decided Cremer will drive you back to Yorkton and you pay $10 entry fee at the land office, for which you will get

THE STORY OF A RHEUMATISM BELT

I have taken the entire testimony received during 1899 and compiled from it a story of average experience, which is submitted below. Over 7,000 indorsements of the

with suspensory attachment were received during that period. A composite statement of such experience would read something after the following manner:

DR. C. T. SANDEN: COAL CREEK, QUEEN'S CO., N.B.

Dear Sir—I have used your Electric Belt with wonderful results. For years I had been a great sufferer from rheumatism and came to look upon it as chronic. I became so bad that I was laid up, and for some weeks was unable to move. I believe I would have still been helpless if I had not seen an advertisement in one of our weekly papers of the merits derived from your Electric Belt, which induced me to try one. All other remedies had failed; physicians were unable to cure me, and I had given them up in despair. I had used the Belt but a short time when I began to find relief and this made me hopeful, and I persevered in its use until the cure was complete. The change wrought in me by the use of your Belt is as delightful as it is marvelous, and for the first time in years I find myself free from pains. I was weak, helpless and hopeless; doctors and other remedies had done me no good, but your Belt had restored me to health and strength. The rheumatism has disappeared, which I had come to regard as incurable. This may seem to be enthusiasm, but I have the right to be enthusiastic after what the Belt has done for me, and I strongly urge those affected with that disease Rheumatism to try the Belt, which I consider the greatest of modern inventions.

Very truly yours, H. D. CAPEN.

I am a neighbor of Mr. Capen, and know the above statement to be true in every respect.

Price list revised daily by James Hallam & Sons, No. 11 East Front-st., Toronto.

Mr. Eben James today received the following cable from Woodall & Co., Liverpool, that the market there is no longer in a condition of panic, but is gradually recovering, closing with a 1/2 cent decline.

The run of live stock at the cattle market today was fair, 55 lots all told, consisting of 600 cattle, 2143 hogs, 350 sheep and 1000 calves.

The quality of fat cattle generally speaking is only medium, but there is no outlier finished class again coming forward.

The market for hogs was very quiet, and prices are going still lower, owing to the fact that there is no outlier at present for shipping cattle or sheep for meat purposes.

Many of the drovers stated that it was the heaviest market they had seen in a long time, and they were undoubtedly correct.

The export dealers were all loaded up with cattle and sheep, and therefore were in a position to operate, as they otherwise would, had there been plenty of shipping space in sight.

There were a few lots of export cattle sold at $4.00 to $3.50 per cwt., while light stock at $2.75 to $2.50 per cwt.

Multi-heavy export hogs sold at $4 to $3.50 per cwt., while light export hogs at $2.75 to $2.50 per cwt.

Loads of good hogs and exporters, mixed, sold at $3.75 to $4 per cwt.

Butchers' Cattle—Choice pocket lots of butchers' cattle, mixed in quantity, were sold at $4 to $4.25 per cwt.

Common butchers' cattle sold at $2.25 to $3, while inferior lots at $2.00 to $2.25.

Feeding Bulls—Bulls for the byres sold at $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Buffalo Steers—Yearling steers, 500 to 600 lbs., in weight, are steady at $1 to $1.25 per cwt.
