DELAY IN G. T. R. ARBITRATION CALLS FOR DRASTIC ACTION

Announcement Is Made of Many Changes in the British Cabinet

STEEL INDUSTRIES CLOSE DOWN PLANTS THRU MINERS' STRIKE

Engineers Still Standing by Pumping Machinery and More Optimism Prevails—Strike Differs From Previous Dispute in That No Negotiations Are Afoot—Comes at a Serious Time for Industry — Parliament Will Meet Earlier to Deal With Situation.

London, April 1.—The country-wide cessation of coal production thruout Great Britain's coal area today because of the miners' strike thus far has not been productive of trouble in any of the mines, where the enginemen are reported to have stuck to their posts to prevent the pits being flooded. This raised the belief in some quarters that the fight will not be long, especially as the miners lack the funds necessary to continue a long struggle.

Meantime certain of the big iron and steel industries, in order to preserve the works from the consequences of a stoppage of coal supplies, closed down today. Others on the northeast coast of England are expected to shut down early next week.

So far as negotiations between the mine owners and the men are concerned, some members of the coal owners' association, with authority to negotiate, have remained in London, while Frank Hodges, secretary of the miners' union, is here, authorized to treat for the men if a favorable opportunity occurs.

Government circles are reported to be slightly more optimistic regarding the situation in view of the action of the owners and others in safeguarding the pits from flooding.

No Government Intervention.

The universal cessation of work by the coal miners has taken effect with remarkable quietude and under circumstances in strong contrast with all recent labor disputes, whether on the part of the railwaymen, the miners or industries, which were characterized by active conferences and negotiations between the parties concerned and ministers or other members of the government, all of whom displayed anxiety to find a path of settlement.

On this occasion there has been nothing of the kind since Thursday's meeting of the board of trade. Neither side has made the least approach toward negotiations. This is explained partly, as far as the government is concerned, by the fact that abolition of control of the coal industry is considered to relieve the ministers of the responsibility of intervening in the dispute. The government holds that it is a matter to be settled between the miners and the mine owners.

Up to the present the order withdrawing the engineers and pumpmen from the mines has been largely ignored. Whether this is with the cognizance of

LAPSE FLIN FLON OPTION.

Winnipeg, April 1.—Word reached this city tonight from Toronto, that the New York syndicate, headed by Col. W. B. Thomson, holding an option on the Flin Flon Mining property in The Pas district of Manitoba, had allowed it to lapse. The low price of copper and the financial situation generally, were given as the reasons.

STEAMER CUT DOWN; TEN ARE MISSING

Seven Passengers and Three of Crew of Pacific Liner Unaccounted For.

Seattle, Wash., April 1.—The Pacific Steamship Co., this afternoon announced that a complete and careful recheck of survivors from the steamer Governor, sunk off Point Wilson early today after a collision with the steamer West Hartland, showed seven passengers and three members of the crew unaccounted for.

The West Hartland, which arrived here today with survivors, struck the Governor in a slanting direction, according to ship's officers, crumpling the freighter's bow, and cutting the passenger boat almost in two from the starboard side.

According to passengers, the West Hartland partly supported the Governor with her nose driven deeply into the Governor's side, but as soon as the freighter backed clear, the passenger vessel began to sink.

The collision occured less than a mile off shore, directly opposite the Point Wilson lighthouse, near Port Townsend, in the Strait of Juan de Fuca. The Governor is believed to lie in about twenty-five fathoms of water. According to Purser Holzer, the Governor was on her course, it being customary to steam close to shore in making the Point Wilson light.

Ship's officers declared the night

Child, Bomb, Policeman Cause of Fatalities

Dublin, April 1.—A child found a bomb today in the ruins of the Rosscarbery police barracks, the scene early yesterday of a Sinn Fein attack, and handed it to a policeman, who, seeing the pin was missing, threw it into the street. It exploded, killing two persons and seriously wounding three others. Several persons suffered minor injuries.

PROHIBITION PEOPLE DISAPPOINTED OVER REGISTRATIONS MADE

Colonel Biggar's Ruling Upsets Many Plans Made by Committee.

LAST DAY TO REGISTER

The last day but one on which voters had an opportunity to register at the revision courts showed a considerable speeding up of applicants. All the centres had a consistent stream during the hours that they were open, but, owing to the arrangements made for lining the applicants up and thus avoiding crowding at tables, the work proceeded with a regularity that was unobservable in the early days of the week.

Despite the fact that all the courts are doing good business, it is an open secret that the Referendum Committee are sorely disappointed at the small number of applications for votes, when placed in comparison with the lists that had been prepared with a view to placing the names on the voters' register. It was stated yesterday that, up to the present, not one-third of those on the original list have as yet applied to the revision officers.

Took Much Trouble.

The Referendum Committee had taken the trouble to trace all removals, both in the city and from it, and had a most complete list to place upon the register. But all this was knocked on the head by Colonel Biggar's ruling that each applicant must

WILL REDUCE WAGES ON AMERICAN SHIPS

Conference of Owners With Shipping Board Decides on 10 Per Cent. Cut.

Washington, April 1.—Decision to reduce the wages of the 60,000 men employed on American ships operating out of Atlantic and Gulf ports, was reached today at a conference of representatives of the American Steamship Owners' Association and Chairman Benson of the shipping board. Agreements under which the seamen are now working expire May 1, and the steamship owners sought the approval of the board to appeal for an adjustment of wages and working conditions. The board, however, declined to approve any specific plan, Chairman Benson said, and the terms of the wage reductions proposed by the owners were not made public.

The negotiations, board officials explained, affected all marine engineers, firemen, seamen, cooks, stewards and wireless operators on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. Working agreements with the masters and mates, it was said, do not expire until August 1.

Negotiations to readjust wages of seamen on the Pacific coast, officials said, probably would be started upon completion of the eastern conferences.

RED CROSS TO GATHER COMPLAINTS DURING WAR

Geneva, April 1.—The Red Cross Assembly, which held its closing session here today, adopted a proposal by R. G. Bennett of Canada to nominate a commission to gather complaints of national Red Cross associations during the next six months against the belligerents during the war.

The commission, which will be composed of six of the most prominent delegates to the assembly and representatives of Holland, Switzerland, Spain, Sweden, Norway and Denmark, all neutral during the war, will get explanations from the various governments and publish its conclusions.

GOLD FROM LONDON.

New York, April 1.—The Adriatic today brought here $1,100,000 in gold consigned to the National Bank, and $250,000 for Kuhn Co.

French to Resign Viceroyship; Horne Appointed Chancellor

FIELD MARSHAL LORD FRENCH.

SIR ROBERT HORNE.

London, April 1.—Field Marshal Viscount French of Ypres will be succeeded as lord lieutenant and governor-general of Ireland by Lord Edmund Bernard Talbot, who has held the post of joint parliamentary secretary for the treasury.

The appointment of Lord Edmund was due to the necessity, under the home rule act, of appointing a civilian viceroy.

Lord Edmund Bernhard Talbot was born in 1855, the youngest son of the thirteenth Duke of Norfolk. He is the uncle and heir presumptive of the present Duke of Norfolk. He assumed the name of Talbot in compliance with the will of the seventeenth Earl of Shrewsbury in 1856. Lord Talbot's wife is a daughter of the seventh Earl of Abingdon.

Sir Robert S. Horne, president of the board of trade, has been appointed chancellor of the exchequer in succession to J. Austen Chamberlain. Stanley Baldwin, parliamentary secretary to the treasury, will become the new president of the board of trade.

These changes necessitated a considerable reconstruction of the ministry. Among the changes and new appointments are:

Dr. Christopher Addison, the minister of health, is made minister without portfolio.

Captain Frederick Guest, aide-de-camp to Field Marshal French, becomes air secretary.

Sir Alfred Mond, first commissioner of works, becomes minister of health.

Viscount Peel, under-secreeary for war, becomes chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

The Earl of Crawford, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, becomes first commissioner of works.

The Right Hon. Frederick G. Kellaway, head of the overseas trade department, becomes postmaster general.

Charles A. McCurdy, food controller, becomes joint parliamentary secretary to the treasury.

Major Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme, parliamentary secretary to the board of trade, becomes director of overseas trade.

There are also a number of changes in the minor posts.

Albert H. Illingworth, who held the post of postmaster-general, is retiring on account of ill-health.

Andrew Bonar Law's unexpected retirement as lord privy seal, and from the government leadership in the house of commons has led to a complete reconstruction of the government on a much larger scale than had been expected. The most remarkable appointment is that of Robert S. Horne to the chancellorship of the exchequer. In parliament only two years he succeeds to the most important position in the cabinet after the prime minister. Several of the score of new appointments are new men who will be obliged to seek re-election.

VIVIANI SEEKING THE MORAL SUPPORT OF UNITED STATES

Former French Premier Assured That Sanction of Allied Program.

NO AID TO GERMANY

Washington, April 1.—Conferences were continued today between Rene Viviani, envoy extraordinary from France to this country, and members of the Harding administration in an effort on his part to obtain the moral support of the United States for France in working out her problems of peace and reconstruction.

Following his conference last night with prominent senators and officials, the former French premier conferred with Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, at his home today, as well as with other government representatives, and advanced particularly his discussion of the problems France is confronting in her relations with Germany.

It was said authoritatively today that M. Viviani's visit is not for the purpose of discussing the financial affairs of this country and France. On the other hand, it was said that in addition to taking up the question of moral support for France in its relations with Germany, it has in view as a corollary consideration of the possible termination by the United States of the war with Germany by a separate peace resolution.

Questions of industrial reconstruction are also said to be under discussion, involving possibly an invitation for the United States to send an agricultural mission to France.

Will Not Aid Germany.

Altho Republican senators, who have participated in the discussions, said today they doubted whether M. Viviani's visit would affect the international policies of the United States, and those who favor a separate peace with Germany let it be known that they would still press such action upon congress, the former premier

TURKS AND FRENCH FIGHT IN CILICIA

London, April 2.—Fighting between the Turks and French, in which the latter lost heavily, is reported in messages from Cilicia, Asia Minor, forwarded by the Constantinople correspondent of The London Times.

The news appears to confirm persistent rumors of repudiation by the Turkish Nationalist administration at Angora of the Franco-Turkish agreement concluded in London.

GERMANY MUST PAY HER DEBT IN FULL

Attitude of U. S. Is That She Must Accept Responsibility for the War.

Washington, D.C., April 1.—Rumors via London, of conversations between Germany and the United States as to reparation payments brought an authoritative statement from administration officials today that the attitude of the United States toward Germany is that she must accept her responsibility for the war and pay her obligations to the fullest extent she is able.

The London advices from Berlin say it was understood Germany had made certain proposals to the United States regarding reparation payments, including a suggestion that she assume liability for part of the debts of allied powers to the United States. There was no confirmation of the receipt of any such proposal, altho Commissioner Dresel at Berlin has reported on conversations with German officials in which the reparations question came up. The nature of these conversations was not disclosed.

EX-KAISERIN TAKES TURN FOR WORSE

Doorn, Holland, April 1.—The condition of the former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany took a turn for the worse today, according to a statement issued from Doorn Castle this evening.

Her illness is serious, physicians reported.

Find No Sign of Poisoning, Is Hastings Case Report

Dublin, Ont., April 1.—At the adjourned inquest here today into the circumstances surrounding the death of Daniel Hastings, whose widow "confessed" she poisoned him with strychnine tablets, the doctors who performed the post-mortem examination stated that they were unable to find any signs of strychnine poisoning effects. The inquiry was adjourned until the report from the provincial analyst on the contents of the deceased's stomach could be obtained.

Doctors Murray and Smith testified that, while they discovered no signs of poisoning, they found congestion of the lungs indicated and said this condition seemed to be chronic with Mr. Hastings. Dr. Murray also said 15 ordinary strychnine tablets would be required to cause death, whereas only two were given, according to Mrs. Hastings.

Mrs. Hastings did not appear today. Neighbors said Hastings seemed to die an easy, peaceful death.

EVENTS PRESAGE AN EARLY CURTAIN ON HAPSBURG PLOT

Charles Realizes Futility, and Will Soon Depart From the Stage.

MONARCHISTS ANXIOUS

Vienna, April 1.—Overnight developments presage an early curtain on the last act of the drama of Steinamanger, and the way is all prepared for the former Emperor Charles' departure. Reports from inside political sources in Budapest indicate that persons who gravely compromised themselves in the adventure already are seeking a way out. The firm attitude of the entente and the menace of the military power of Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Rumania, are said to have brought even the maddest monarchists to sanity. Altho militarily impotent, Austria's uncompromising attitude showed them they could look for no aid here.

It is learned that diplomatic circles here this morning received assurances from Budapest that Charles now realizes the futility of his hopes, and is prepared to return to his Swiss exile. It is understood he will await the action of the Hungarian parliament this afternoon and bow as gracefully as possible to its constitutional decree against him, which already has been foreshadowed in the Vienna monarchist organs.

The police are endeavoring to learn where Charles spent Good Friday night, but as the caretaker of the palace of Count Erdody, one of the former emperor's supporters, is the count's father-in-law, it has been difficult to make him talk about visitors to the castle.

It was learned today that a few days preceding Easter at least twenty young aristocrats and former officers applying for permits to travel gave Steinamanger as their destination and snipe shooting as the object of their trips. It has been noticed that many aristocrats have been prolonging the

AMBASSADORS' COUNCIL CUTS OFF DISCUSSION

Paris, April 1.—Further discussion by the allied control commission of decisions on the manufacture of arms and munitions by Germany, has been refused by the council of ambassadors in a letter signed by Aristide Briand, president of the council.

The letter was sent to Germany Tuesday. It said the matter had been settled by the supreme council January 28.

HEAVY CASUALTIES BY CROWN FORCES DURING PAST WEEK

Numbered Forty-Six, According to Dublin Castle Report.

MORE SINN FEIN RAIDS

Dublin, April 1.—The week's casualties among crown forces again were heavy, says the official weekly review, which places them at 46. Nineteen casualties were sustained by the police, five of them being men killed and fourteen wounded. The military had 13 killed and 14 wounded. There were 26 attacks on the crown forces, of which 22 were ambushes. Sinn Fein assassinations of civilians, the motive for which, according to the review, was friendly relations of the victims with the police and military, numbered nine.

Fourteen raids by armed masked men on clerks of the county petty sessions courts were made last night and today for the purpose of seizing funds realized from dog licenses. A large number of similar raids were carried out earlier in the week, resulting in hauls estimated at nearly 1,000 pounds which, it is declared, is being handed over to the Dail Eireann.

Owners of dogs recently were warned not to pay for licenses on the ground that the government would use the money to fight the Irish people.

A former soldier whose home is in Cork was fired upon today by four civilians. Tho seriously wounded he escaped by jumping into a river, from which he was rescued by boatmen.

Thirty bombs and many appliances for their manufacture were discovered in Dublin stables today.

Irish Census Deferred.

The Irish census, which was to have been taken in May, has been indefinitely postponed. Dublin Castle, announcing this decision today, states that under present conditions the returns must be incomplete and misleading.

The Dail Eireann, at its last session passed a measure authorizing the Sinn Fein minister of home affairs to forbid the census "as an invasion by alien authorities on the Irish people's rights."

Dublin Castle points out the matter is one to be decided by the Irish parliaments when they are established.

J. J. O'Kelly, Sinn Fein member of the British parliament and editor of The Catholic Bulletin, was released today after three weeks' detention. No reason was given for his arrest at the time he was taken into custody early in March.

RAILWAY PROBLEM NOT YET SOLVED

More Information Needed Before U. S. Cabinet Can Decide on Steps.

Washington, April 1.—Financial and industrial subjects, ranging from foreign loans to the domestic agricultural situation, were discussed at length by President Harding and his cabinet at today's regular meeting.

It was indicated that no definite conclusions resulted and that the railroad question among others, still awaited a solution, which can be worked out only when the administration has gathered more complete information.

The discussion of European loans, outstanding as a result of the war, was in connection with the approach of the time for an interest payment. It is understood that the president and his advisers talked over the feasibility of converting the loans into some sort of long term negotiable bonds, but that a decision was reserved.

In its consideration of the railroad problem the cabinet had before it detailed information given the president yesterday by Chairman Clark, of the Arbitration Delayed by Railway and Award Will Not Be Ready in Time—Government Could Extend Period, Give Company Maximum Provided, or Take Over Road at Once—Borden at Caucus Points Out That Acquisition Is Essential to Success of National System.

BY TOM KING.

Ottawa, April 1.—Tonight the government of Canada stands at the parting of the ways. The Grand Trunk officials have forced a situation which calls for immediate and drastic action. That a crisis was approaching has been suspected for some days. The nature of it became more or less public property when The Ottawa Evening Journal this afternoon announced that the Grand Trunk situation had been the sole topic of discussion at the parliamentary caucus of government supporters, held this morning. Tonight, the railway situation is the only topic of conversation, and senators and members of parliament are discussing it freely. Premier Meighen admitted that the subject is before him, but declines to say anything for publication. It is known, however, that he called his followers together in caucus this morning for counsel and it is pretty well known that they gave him a free hand. Whatever action he may take, however drastic, will be ratified by parliament.

To explain the situation it is necessary to recall the bargain made by the government with the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway system. That bargain, or agreement, was to the effect that the government should take over the road by acquiring all

HOUSE DISCUSSES THE WHEAT BOARD

Crerar Charged With Having Opposed Continuance of Its Activities.

Ottawa, April 1.—A somewhat monotonous session of the house in supply on the department of trade and commerce estimates today was illumined with a lively dispute between government and Progressive members, whether or not the suspension of the activities of the Canadian Wheat Board had lost $100,000,000 to farmers of the west. The flicker of drawn steel occurred when a vote of $1,175,000 for administration of the Canadian grain act was under discussion.

Col. J. A. Currie (North Simcoe), had charged the Progressives with not supporting the wheat board, intimating that as a consequence, British purchased grain in the United States when the business should have come to Canada. Hot blood was further stirred by Mr. Morphy (North Perth), who declared farmers were clamoring for free trade in everything that did not affect their own bread basket.

W. D. Cowan (Regina), asserted that Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Progressives, had opposed the continuance of the board.

Defends His Leader.

Levi Thomson (Qu'Appelle), Progressive whip, defended his leader Mr. Crerar, so Mr. Thomson said, had only opposed the board's permanent continuance. J. A. Maharg (Maple Creek), challenged government members to prove their assertions, while Dr. Michael Clark (Red Deer), doubted if the wheat board had been of any use to the western farmers.

During a discussion on general trade conditions, H. B. Morphy (North Perth), declared the time was opportune to launch an aggressive drive for United States trade. Americans were exploiting Canadian trade, and at the same time making Canadians pay for the expenses of their consular services.

Major Mowat urged the appointment of a large and efficient force of Canadian trade agents in the United States.

Sir George Foster agreed that the United States system, of charging $2.50 on each invoice passed, more than paid the entire cost of the American consular and trade services in this country. But for Canadian trade agents in the United States to make charges on invoices would involve adoption of a similar course in other countries. However, the question would be considered.

The prime minister announced his intention to move for a special committee on government-owned railways and merchant ships, and the house appointed a special committee to consider Canada's future fuel supply.

HON. G. H. FERGUSON FLAYS GOVERNMENT

Claims They Spend Money Like Water and Retain Patronage System.

That the U. F. O. government promised the electors of the province to lop off the patronage system and have had an excellent opportunity to do so during the past eighteen months, but that they have spent more money in their first year of office than any government spent in any two years in the province of Ontario, was the emphatic declaration of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, M. L. A., leader of the Conservative group in the local legislature, at a meeting of ward one Liberal-Conservative association, held in St. Barnabas' parish hall, corner of Hampton and Danforth avenues, last night, with James Brown, president, in the chair. Mr. Ferguson made a slashing attack upon the government, guided by the selected trinity of handpicked men—Premier Drury, Attorney-General Raney and Hon. Manning Doherty.

The premier had, said the speaker, with his visionary style of ruling the province, undertaken to run the affairs of Great Britain as well. A great budget was brought down at the commencement and the business of the government was to be expedited upon the American plan, but this scheme was destroyed by the Conservative party in the house. Attorney-General Raney was the most irrepressible man in Queen's Park and was the most active in suppressing facts, declared Mr. Ferguson.

Back to Old Party Lines.

"I have never known," said the speaker, "in my experience a man so unfair and warped in judgment for party advantage as Mr. Raney, and will later on prove my assertion. We have in no sense a good responsible government, and must get back to the old party lines." Continuing, the speaker outlined the group system, which he asserted was dangerous and prevented assimilation of the various classes of the community, which should be moulded into one whole uniform citizenship for the integrity of the empire and British traditions. No matter what course the Conservative party took it was never found disloyal to the British Crown. The speaker referred at some length to the heavy burden on the people since the advent of the Drury government with its multitudinous commissions.

Direct Taxation Possible.

"You cannot go out and buy a vacant lot without being taxed, and we are now in danger of direct taxation thru these apostles of economy. In one single year 500 new positions were created and friends of the government members put into them, and the cost of administration has advanced 35 to 30 per cent.

"There should be farmers in the legislature," said Mr. Ferguson, "as well as all other classes, but the people as a whole should be fairly represented."

In conclusion the speaker touched upon the administration of the Hon. Peter Smith, who sent a friend to England on government business whose expenses amounted to $80 a day. He also spoke on the road program of the Hon. Mr. Biggs and the effort to thwart Sir Adam Beck and the Hydro radials.

Major Lewis, M.L.A., who introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, said the Conservative group made a wise selection in appointing Mr. Ferguson party leader in the house. "Mr. Raney," said Major A. C. Lewis, "runs the U. F. O. government. He is the attorney-general and his department is being neglected, owing to the fact that he devotes his time to the enforcement of the O. T. A."

To Throttle Hydro Radials.

Mayor T. L. Church, who was given a rousing reception, claimed the farmers' government was spending the people's money like water. It's whole game was to throttle Hydro radials. The mayor paid a tribute to John O'Neill as the only good Hydro radial Liberal in the house. No other Liberal voice is raised at Queen's Park in strong support of Sir Adam Beck.

The winners in connection with the Sons of Scotland, Christy Camp No. 163, euchre contest, held recently in Playter's Hall, Danforth avenue, were as follows: Gentlemen, J. Welch, W. Calder and N. Kitchin. Ladies, Miss Nellie Smith, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. McKinnon.

Among the guests were Bro. John Roxbury and members from other lodges. There were 240 present.

Several new members were initiated at a well attended meeting of Christy Camp, Sons of Scotland, in Playter's Hall, Danforth avenue, last night. William Murray, president, occupied the chair.

The hand worked wicker baskets and collar boxes won in the L.O.L. Torbay Lodge, No. 361, euchre contest recently, held in Playter's Hall, were made by Brother Crowne, an inmate of Davisville Hospital, and were donated to the lodge.

Four-year-old Herbert Bruce, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Foote, of 413 Pape avenue, died on Thursday from sleeping sickness. He had been ailing for a month and last week lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he never recovered.

The Saunders bowling team, which came off victorious in the international bowling tournament at Buffalo, were, with some of their friends, the guests of Ald. Frank Johnston at a luncheon yesterday.

48TH HIGHLANDERS HAD FINE TURN-OUT

The Regimental Strength Has Been Raised to Over Five-Hundred Mark.

All expectations were exceeded by the splendid turnout made by the 48th Highlanders when inspected by Major-General V. A. S. Williams, C.M.G., general officer commanding, military district No. 2, at Toronto armories last night. The regiment showed a strength of 436 officers and men, while so many recruits joined up at the conclusion of the inspection that the regimental strength was raised over the 500 mark.

General Williams, in addressing the regiment, declared that the turnout had been simply magnificent. A short time before he had not believed such a showing by a militia regiment as possible, but he had to admit that the showing made by the "48th" was far in excess of anything he had anticipated.

It was the esprit de corps that had made the 48th Highlanders the fine regiment they were previous to the war, which had enabled them to make such a gallant war record and which was today enabling them to make such a fine showing with the reorganized regiment.

He assured them that limited regimental equipment of pre-war days was a thing of the past, and that the reorganized militia units were to be furnished with the machine gun and other modern equipment, as possessed by the overseas battalions during the war.

The general hoped that the former members of the 15th, 92nd and 134th Overseas Battalions, which had been recruited from the 48th Highlanders, would once again join up with their regiment, and fully expected that the not distant future would see this unit at two-battalion strength.

Col. Warren in Command.

Lt.-Col. C. Warren Darling commanded the regiment last night, with Lt.-Col. K. R. Marshall, C.M.G., D.S.O., second in command. The unit was in full highland uniform with kilt and khaki tunics made a very impressive appearance when they performed the formal march past in review before the general officer commanding this military district. The brass band numbered forty pieces, and was led by Bandmaster Captain John Slatter. The pipers, 27 strong, were led by Pipe Major Fraser.

The company officers were as follows:

No. 1 Company was commanded by Major John P. Girvan, D.S.O., M.C.; 2nd in command, Capt. Frederick W. Macdonald, and Lieutenants E. W. Bickle, J. H. Chipman, M.C., G. Machell, R. E. Haldenby, M.C., and Hugh A. Barwick.

No. 2 Company was commanded by Major Wm. Mayvin, M.C., M.M.; Capt. Geo. M. Alexander, M.C., 2nd in command, and Lieutenants H. Cassels, G. M. Malone, M.C., H. H. Donald, A. R. Ramsay, G. Heyworth and G. H. S. Dinsmore.

No. 3 Company, commanded by Major Geo. A. McLaren; Capt. Francis J. Smith second in command, and Lieut. W. H. Hamilton-Beswell, W. B. Lawson, D.F.C., K.B. Maclaren and W. C. Gordon, M.C.

No. 4 Company commanded by Major Ian McL. Sinclair, D.S.O., M.C.; Capt. Robert Y. Cory second in command, and Lieuts. C. L. Clark, A. F. White, G. R. Murani, S. H. Crawford and L. M. Murray.

SIR SAM SCORES OLD UNION DEPOT

Personal Experience Makes Him Yearn for Opening of New Station.

There have been many and varied complaints received regarding the old Union Station from numerous sources but it is seldom that an out-of-town man gives expression to it. Last night, however, no less a personage than General Sir Sam Hughes gave vent to an expression that the old building was a disgrace to the city, and that the government, the C.P.R., or whoever was responsible, ought to see that the new building was opened up. He realized that the city had done its part, he said, but it was now up to the other contracting parties to "come thru and clear up the confounded nuisance."

Perhaps Sir Sam's feelings towards the old building may have been slightly due to the manner in which he arrived in the city last night for a short visit. In the first place it was a long train and in the second place the old station was so crowded with trains that the one which had the honor to be carrying the former minister of militia was not able to get right into the depot. Sir Sam, therefore, found himself out somewhere in the yards, and as he said "he was not very much up to walking."

"That station was in such a mess you could hardly wade thru," he said. "I had to get off away down the yard and it seemed to me I had to climb over the top of several coaches and a few freight cars to get anywhere near the exit. I felt as if I had done a hard day's work. Something certainly should be done about opening the new station and forcing the C.P.R. to live up to their contract regarding the building of the viaduct."

Sir Sam Hughes did not appear to be in very good health, altho he assured The World that he wasn't feeling so bad.

EVENTS PRESAGE AN EARLY CURTAIN

Easter stay in their country homes despite the chilly weather.

Already on His Way?

Paris, April 1.—A despatch to the East Europe Agency from Budapest says former Emperor Charles, accompanied by two British officers, has left Steinamanger for Switzerland. There is no confirmation of this report from other sources.

The attempted coup d'etat of former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary has been a complete failure, according to the impression prevailing in French official circles this evening. While not yet officially determined, the officials believe that the effort of Charles to regain the throne of Hungary has been successfully blocked. This view is based on despatches from diplomatic sources in Hungary, and the opinion is that the former ruler will soon be escorted thru Austria and back to his Swiss retreat.

Four French officials say they have found it impossible to locate the army of 15,000 soldiers reported to be marching on Budapest. If such an army existed, the French say, its movements were amazingly well concealed.

Austria Grants Safe Conduct.

Vienna, April 1.—Austria has granted a safe conduct to former Emperor Charles to go to Switzerland, not only in principle, but in fact.

The British, French and Italian ministers called upon Chancellor Mayr this morning and presented the protest of the powers against a Hapsburg restoration.

Clings to Kingship.

Steinamanger, Hungary, April 1.—Former Emperor Charles declared here this morning that his departure from Hungary would be conditioned upon permission to issue a proclamation to the Magyars explaining the "unfavorable circumstances" compelling his withdrawal and saying that he, as King, temporarily confirmed the regency of Admiral Horthy.

The former ruler made this declaration upon receiving a refusal from Admiral Horthy, the regent, that if he allowed to return to Budapest, coupled with a threat of military measures against him.

MEAT SHORTAGE IF STRIKE OCCURS

Outlook Is for Cessation of Work at the Packing Houses.

A deadlock was the result of yesterday's conference between the packing house workers and the employers; but as a last attempt to arrive at a settlement, another conference is to be held today. Should this fail to bring any change in the situation, a mass meeting of the workers will be held in the National Theatre, on Dundas street, tomorrow afternoon, when it is expected the men will decide to strike.

Business Manager L. Braithwaite of the Packers Union stated to The World last night that the packing houses had refused yesterday to change their offer of a 12½-cent-an-hour reduction in wages. He thought that if the employers still refused to better their offer today it would be hard to hold the workers from deciding upon a strike on Sunday.

He pointed out that, while there was a fairly good supply of bacon and such products on hand, the amount of fresh meat possessed by the packers was very limited, and that a strike might be followed by a great scarcity of fresh meat in this city. The workers, on the other hand, could hold out on strike for a month or more, if necessary.

TORONTO MINISTER AIDS PROVE ALIBI

Says Allan Coleman, Charged With Montreal Murder, Was in Pew at Time.

Montreal, April 1.—The outstanding feature of this morning's session of the trial of Allan Coleman, alias Dr. Durand, etc., charged with the murder of Constable Thomas Chicoine on June 13 last, was the establishment of an alibi for the accused by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Huntley, First avenue, Toronto, who swore that her son was at home in Toronto from June 9 to 14

Minister Testifies.

Rev. Dr. W. T. Graham, pastor of First Avenue Baptist Church, Toronto, called as a witness by the defence, supported Mrs. Huntley's evidence. He testified that he had seen Coleman at his church in Toronto on Sunday, June 13, the day of the murder of Constable Chicoine in Montreal.

The court adjourned until tomorrow morning.

is understood to have received assurances that the new administration does not intend to cease to hold Germany accountable for the obligations incurred by her to the allied and associated powers in the war.

Whatever form the conclusion of peace between the United States and Germany may take, he is said to have been informed, it will be so framed as not to weaken in any way the morale of France, or to give aid or comfort to Germany.

M. Viviani is also understood to have received the assurance that the moral sanction of America will not be lacking for any program of the allies looking to the exaction from Germany of adequate and just reparations.

PASTOR CALLS PASTOR "THAT POOR PRUNE"

London, Ont., April 1.—Rev. G. A. Leichliter, pastor of Adelaide Street Baptist Church here, scathingly condemned the action of Rev. L. S. Hughson of Stratford, who resigned his pastorship recently on doctrinal grounds. At the annual gathering of the men's brotherhood of his church today, Rev. Mr. Leichliter referred to Dr. Hughson as "that poor prune up at Stratford," and said it was a reflection on the Presbyterian Church, to which he was going.

MAN SHOT AND KILLED; BOY BADLY WOUNDED

Montreal, April 1.—Nikolai Strinka was shot in the breast by holdup men, in his room, 313A Cadieux street, this evening, and died instantly, and Jacob Lublinsky, a six-year-old boy, was shot in the groin and is lying in a critical condition in the general hospital, by a bullet fired by one of the assassins in making his escape.

MANY CASES OF RHEUMATISM NOW

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry, Avoid Exposure and Eat Less Meat.

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat less meat, drink lots of water and above all take a spoonful of salts occasionally to keep down uric acid.

Rheumatism is caused by poisonous toxin, called uric acid, which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity, in damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

P. C. HARPER SHOT BY LIQUOR THIEF

Booze Stealers Surprised in Convent Grounds, Turn Guns on Police.

Disturbed in the act of burying a quantity of stolen liquor in a hole made for the purpose in the northeast corner of St. Joseph's Convent grounds, St. Albans and St. Vincent streets, at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, an unknown gunman opened fire with a revolver at Plainclothesman Joseph Harper of West Dundas street police station, one of the bullets lodging in the fleshy part of the left leg just below the thigh.

An operation was performed at St. Michael's Hospital yesterday afternoon, but the bullet was not located, altho The World was informed at a late hour last night that the wounded officer was resting quietly.

Shortly before 4 o'clock a telephone call came into West Dundas street police station that two men were seen entering the convent grounds with three sacks in their arms. Plainclothesmen Harper and Skinner and Constables Ward, Knox and Garrioch were immediately sent in the police auto to investigate. Arriving at the grounds, which are surrounded by a seven-foot fence, the officers entered them off Breadalbane street and spread out to make a thoro search. Harper proceeded along a path to the eastern section of the grounds. He had not proceeded far when he saw a man running towards the northern end of the grounds. He gave chase and was overtaking his man when the latter dropped a sack he was carrying.

Shots Were Exchanged.

Harper, in recounting the incident, stated that he loosened his revolver from its holster and fired at the retreating figure. As he neared him, he said, the man turned and opened fire. When about five yards from the fence at the north of the grounds, a second man, who was acting as lookout, also commenced to fire.

"I heard the bullets whizzing past me," stated Harper, "when, all of a sudden I felt my leg go limp and I was unable to proceed further. They fired six shots in all at me. I believe that one of my shots found its mark. By this time Skinner and the other men came on the double towards me."

Harper was moved to St. Michael's Hospital in the auto by one of the officers, while the others secured the prisoners. They were soon joined by Sergt. Tucker, who arrived in another auto accompanied by several policemen. He had arrived on the scene in response to another phone call that shots were heard in the vicinity of the convent grounds.

Liquor Found in Hole.

Three sacks, containing 65 bottles of whiskey and a gallon demijohn, were found near the hole, which had been freshly excavated. The liquor, it was found later, had been stolen from the home of Mrs. Emma Sheard, 56 Grosvenor street. A "jimmy" and flashlight had also been left by the burglars in their flight.

Harper joined the force in June, 1910. He lives at 5 Wroxeter avenue.

ST. ANDREW'S COLLEGE OLD BOYS GATHER

Old boys of St. Andrew's College turned out in great force last night to attend the fifteenth annual dinner of the college old boys' association, held in the college hall. Toasts and speeches were the order of the evening, which took the form of a happy family reunion.

Dr. D. Bruce MacDonald, headmaster, in response to the toast to the college, stated that this year was his 21st year of service in the institution. During that time more than 2,000 boys had passed thru his hands, many of whom were holding big positions today. He stated that the board of directors, in discussing the proposed new building, had decided that it would not be wise to build at present in view of the existing price inflation of material.

Toasts to the old boys were proposed by Col. A. E. Taylor, Percy Robinson and Ernest Fleming. All eulogized the work done by Dr. MacDonald.

Lyman Howe, who served last year as secretary-treasurer of the old boys' association, was elected president for this year. Ed. Whittaker was elected to the position vacated by Lyman Howe. The new president made a presentation of a fine bracelet to Miss Daisy Brooks, who has been connected with the college for some years.

interstate commerce commission, and Chairman Barton, of the railroad labor board, in addition to a mass of other data which has been collected by administration officials.

Although the discussion developed that the administration was working toward a solution, it was made known afterwards that further facts would be collected before a rehabilitation policy was adopted.

Employes Want Conference.

The point that wage and other contracts entered into when the railroads were under government control are still in force was raised in a telegram received today by President Harding from the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor, which proposed that employers and employes be called into a general conference on the subject of railway reorganization. The president had not replied to the telegram tonight, altho there were indications that he has no plan for a general conference now in mind. Officials close to the executive expect him rather to work out his policy thru individual consultation with the managers, stockholders and employes.

In the discussion of the question of continuing wartime agreements, it was brought out that the issue involved the right of negotiations between the roads and men on many wage disagreements.

In its general review of business conditions the cabinet took particular notice of agricultural productivity.

WILLING TO "SPLIT" WITH HON. F. C. BIGGS

Garage Employe Tells Public Accounts Committee That He, His Employer and Minister of Public Works Were in Combinaton to Secure Motor Truck Contracts — Heard Warning "Keep Your Mouth Shut"—Some Serious Accusations Relating to Commission.

Accusations of a serious character made with a frankness that was amazing, seeing that he was implicated in them, were hurled at Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public works at yesterday's meeting of the public accounts committee of the legislature. The details of a contract for $117,000 worth of motor trucks were under fire, and Roy Mitchell, an employe of L. C. Parkin, a Dundas garage owner, was the witness who gave the somewhat startling evidence. The seriousness of Mitchell's statement resulted in the committee deciding to waive the usual rules regarding the admission of evidence, and the inquiry was wide open. This step was taken after J. W. Curry, the chairman, had ruled several questions out of order. The Conservative opposition members protested, and demanded and secured an unrestricted inquiry.

R. L. Brackin, the Liberal member for West Kent, much to the surprise of many acted as sort of government counsel at the sitting.

The evidence of Reynolds was frankly given even tho it did not place him in a particularly enviable position. He admitted that he was a party to a deal or undertaking, in which he was joined by Hon. F. C. Biggs, and his employer, Parkin, to secure government contracts, and adding that he had been willing to give the minister part of his commission on the sale of motor trucks. Witness also testified that Hon. Mr. Biggs told Parkin that they all keep their mouths shut in connection with the matter.

Minister in Garage.

On December 20, 1919, Reynolds testified he first saw Mr. Biggs talking to Parkin in the garage at Dundas. The minister was there the following Saturday when Parkin told him he would like to tender on the trucks, but he could not compete with such concerns as the National, who could give a discount of 25 or 30 per cent.

Parkin told Mr. Biggs he could only give him 10 per cent. discount to make money, "I said, why would you sell to the government at 10 per cent. discount, I would rather charge 10% per cent."

Mr. Biggs said to Parkin: "Listen to Reynolds and let him fix up the deal." The minister also said there would be more tenders if we knew enough to keep our mouths shut, said Reynolds. A lawyer drew up the tender and Mr. Biggs called for it on Monday morning, December 29.

Drove to Hamilton.

Parkin drove Mr. Biggs to Hamilton that morning and in the evening the minister called up by phone, and Parkin told witness they were going to Toronto the following morning. They went as arranged, and saw Mr. Biggs in his private office at the parliament buildings about 9 o'clock. The minister then said Messrs. Hogarth and McLean were not there. Later, the deputy came and Mr. Biggs spent five minutes with him in the other room.

Mr. Parkin followed later when Mr. Biggs called him, and remained about 10 minutes. When they left, Parkin had the contract in his pocket. Witness and Parkin subsequently went to the Grace Motors. The following Sunday the secretary went to Milwaukee and received assurance of delivery by March 1. Mr. Parkin said to the Milwaukee advertising agent: "This is the government's first order. I have just got the thin end of the wedge in. I am first starting to drive."

Reynolds said that when he severed connection with Parkin on March 6, 1921, Parkin asked him what share he expected of the government deal.

He answered, 3 1-2 per cent. Parkin asked him what he figured on giving Mr. Biggs.

Willing to "Split."

"I said, 'about $3,000 in all, I'll give him my share,' I said, 'I'll give him 5 per cent. of what I get, and you'll have to give about 20 per cent.'" Parkin said Grace Motors in Toronto had trimmed him out of $4,000 by raising the price on him afterward.

"I told Parkin I thought he was going to double-cross me. I had had lots of money when he was short, and had never hesitated to use it. He said he didn't think I should get 3 1-2 per cent. on the government deal. I said I would meet him half-way.

"Parkin said we would have to wait until future time to approach Biggs, as the papers had made such a fuss over the deal. I went to Buffalo, and when I came back he sent me a letter with two cheques, one for $459.62 for ordinary sales commission, and the other for $400, which was a tip to be a good fellow. My lawyers advised me not to take this."

Reynolds said his commission on the government deal should be close to $5,000.

Did Not Understand.

Cross-examined by R. L. Brackon, Reynolds said he did not think Parkin was on the level.

"When Parkin offered the 10 per cent. discount, Biggs didn't grasp at it" said Reynolds.

"Do you believe that Mr. Biggs would rather have made the deal without a discount?" asked Mr. Brackin.

"Yes. That's what I think."

"When you made out the contract, did you allow a discount?"

"No."

"You included in the contract the full price?"

"Yes."

"Do you mean to say you and Parkin intended to give the minister $3,000 as a bribe?"

"I was not going to approach him myself. I think we both figured we had something coming to us."

Witness denied he had proposed the amount to be given to the minister and said he had remarked it would look very bad to give him a new car, and that it would cause trouble.

Keep Mouths Shut.

"When the deal started the three of us were to keep our mouths shut, I did but Parkin didn't."

In his lawyer's office witness had agreed to accept $3,000 commission.

The premier: "Had you any reason to think this $3,000 you talk about would ever get to Biggs?"

"He never approached me."

Witness said he went to Biggs to mediate between himself and Parkin. I said to the minister: "Frank, whatever is coming to you I will give my share," and he said nothing.

Mr. McLean, deputy minister of highways, and Mr. Hogarth, engineer, will be subpoenaed for the next hearing.

EXTREME MISERY DAY AND NIGHT

Follows a Breakdown of the Nervous System.

Misery day and night is the lot of hosts of men and women who are today the victims of weak nerves. Thin, pale, drawn faces and dejected attitude tell a sad tale, for nervous weakness means being tortured by morbid thoughts and unaccountable fits of depression. These sufferers are painfully sensitive and easily agitated by some chance remark. Sleeplessness robs them of energy and strength: their eyes are sunken and their limbs tremble; appetite is poor and memory often fails. This nervous exhaustion is one of the most serious evils affecting men and women of today. The only way to bring back sound, vigorous health is to feed the starved nerves, which are clamoring for better blood. This new blood can be had through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have a direct action on the blood, and through the blood on the nervous system. That a fair use of this medicine will bring satisfactory results is shown by the experience of Mrs. Marsh, Bass River, N.S., who says: "Following a run-down condition, I became practically a nervous wreck. The doctor who was called in said the trouble was inflammation of the nerves. It grew so bad that practically I had no control of my lower limbs, and had to go about with crutches. Quite aside from my suffering I had a small family and a baby in arms to care for, and I became much discouraged, as I did not appear to be growing better. One evening my husband met an aged doctor on the street and told him of my condition. He asked my husband who was attending me, and when told said, 'I don't want to interfere, but why not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.' My husband got me a supply of these pills, and after taking a few boxes I was able to go about with the use of one crutch. Continuing the use of the pills, I was able to discard the other crutch as well, and was as active as ever I had been. There are many in this neighborhood who know what my condition was when I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and who know what this medicine did for me, and I hope my experience may help some other sufferer."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LABOR MINISTER FOR MASSEY HALL

Workers' Pastor Is Also Member for Brandon in Manitoba House.

Three mass meetings will be held under the auspices of the Dominion Alliance during the present referendum campaign. The first meeting will be held on Sunday afternoon in Massey Hall, when Rev. A. E. Smith, M. L. A., of Brandon, Labor member of the Manitoba legislature; Major B. S. Wemp, D.F.C., and Matthew Parkinson will be the principal speakers. The attorney-general, Hon. W. E. Raney, will take the chair.

A program of music will be provided by the Victoria Church Choir, and Miss Jevohn Nicklin, L.T.C.M., will render selections on the violin. At the meetings following, W. E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson the world-famous prohibition advocate, and Dr. C. W. Saleeby, noted British scientist and chairman of the national birth-rate commission, London, England, will be the speakers.

Mr. Smith, the speaker for tomorrow, was a prominent minister of the Methodist Church in the western provinces, and attained the rather unusual distinction of being for two successive years the president of the Manitoba conference. Two years ago under the stress of the labor situation in the west, he resigned from the Methodist ministry and organized a Labor Church in Brandon, of which he is still pastor, in addition to his being member of the provincial legislature of Manitoba.

WILL OPPOSE DELAY IN BUILDING VIADUCT

CONTROLLERS BUSY CUTTING ESTIMATES

Thirty-Two Mill Rate Now Thought Likely for Present Year.

After several secret sessions the board of control have finally got this year's tax rate down to about 34 mills and an effort will be made next week to further cut the estimates to the extent of two more mills, leaving perhaps a 32-mill rate for the year. The board cut the fire department estimates yesterday by $81,000, the street cleaning department by $150,000 and the property department by $106,000. The parks and abattoir estimates will be revised on Monday, and on Tuesday morning at 10.30 o'clock the public revision of the budget will be started.

The assault on the estimates of the works department has been particularly vicious. The works committee cut off $6,000,000 mostly from capital account, and the board of control on Thursday made a further reduction of $700,000.

Estimates Exceeded.

Mayor Church referred yesterday to the expenditure by the street cleaning department in 1920 which he said had exceeded the estimates by about a quarter of a million. The auditor, he said, had allowed this to be done without the authority of the board of control. Most of the additional expenditure last year was for increased wages. Following are some of the cuts made in this year's estimates to date: Hospitals, $100,000; hospitals, special grants, $78,863; mothers' pensions, $53,379; juvenile court, $1,541; life-saving, $16,788; city clerk, $5,000; city council, $2,500; debt charges, $109,813; police department, $157,759.

The board of control will be urged by Ald. Burgess to go ahead with the construction of a police administration building equipped with cells. With such a building available he figures the city would be able to close the Toronto jail and save maintenance expenses of $40,000 or $50,000 a year. He also contends that police stations one and two could be closed.

Mayor Church said yesterday that enabling legislation would be sought to permit the building of a police administration building without a vote of the people, but they probably would get no further than the purchase of a site this year.

JUDGE CONSIDERATE FOR FARMER JURORS

Immediately upon the opening of the court of general sessions yesterday Judge Denton addressed the petit jury. There was an immense amount of work to be done by the court, he told them, but the authorities were quite aware that at this time of year, many farmers were greatly inconvenienced by jury work. He asked those farmers, who were so situated that their presence was urgently necessary on their farms, and who had no help, to stand up. The 16 who stood up in response, he promised would be released from duty on Tuesday night.

THREE SHARE ESTATE.

Mrs. Rhoda Simonski, Edmund and Isadore Scheuer share equally under the will made November 12, 1914, by their father, Benno Scheuer, a jeweler and leader of the choir in Holy Blossom Synagogue, who died Feb. 12, leaving $7,105 insurance, $300 in personal effects, $1,589 in stocks and bonds, $5,719 cash, and an equity of $2,000 in 692 College street.

MEETING OF COUNCIL WILL BE DEFERRED

Important Matters Held Up by Postponment Until Monday Week.

There will be no meeting of the city council on Monday, the regular day, and the reason, according to Mayor Church, is that the estimates are not ready to lay before the aldermen. The board of control expects to clean up everything next week and send their final revision to council on Monday, April 11.

Two other important matters are held up by the postponement of the council meeting—the Singer charges and the report of the special committee which is recommending the abolition of the social service commission. The board of control insists on naming the judge who shall conduct the enquiry into the Singer charges, altho the attorney-general is not bound to accept the suggestion of the board in that regard. It is likely that the petition to the lieutenant-governor-in-council to appoint an investigating commission will not be sent on until council has recommended the name of a judge to fill the appointment.

The Italian Aid and Protective Society of Ontario have forwarded a petition to the city council asking for a wide open investigation into the record of the police court interpreters and others. The document states that complaints have repeatedly been made to the city that foreigners were being imposed upon in the manner suggested in the charges filed by Ald. Singer and that in the interest of law and order the probe should be hurried along.

The CITIZEN'S LIBERTY LEAGUE

Stands for

by

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

The Citizen's Liberty League is an organization comprising men of highest standing in the professional and business life of the Province,—men who are not interested either directly or indirectly in the manufacture or sale of liquor, and whose demonstrated integrity and sincerity afford sufficient guarantee as to unselfishness of motive. The members of the League are devoting their whole effort towards obtaining what they conscientiously feel will prove the soundest solution of Ontario's liquor problem—viz., Government control.

By placing the responsibility entirely in the hands of the Government, the people of Ontario may rest assured that the sale of alcoholic beverages will be safeguarded and regulated in every direction consistent with life in a democratic country.

The League's views on temperance and its attainment are embodied in the Memorial here reproduced, which every serious-minded man and woman is asked to study with deliberation before making any decision.

Signatures are being obtained throughout the Province for the following Memorial, which is to be presented to the Ontario Government. Copies can be obtained from the Secretary, 104 Mail and Empire Bldg., Toronto.

A Memorial

To the Honorable the Premier of the Province of Ontario

We, the undersigned residents of the Province of Ontario, believers in temperance and moderation in all things, hereby desire to express our very grave concern at the prospect of any legislative enactment being placed upon the Statute Book of this Province which will not be binding upon the conscience of a great mass of the people and must be enforced by excessive penalties with armed inspectors and an army of spies and informers.

Many serious-minded and well-informed citizens, including ministers of the gospel and men holding the highest positions in the community, while fully appreciating the material benefits which might be gained from the total prohibition of the sale of liquor, agree with the view that there is a proper limit to interference by the State with individual conduct. They believe that a temperance country can be more surely obtained by evolution, than by legislation and that total prohibition is inconsistent with true temperance and opposed to Christian morality, which is based not upon the manufacture of new crimes for punishment but on the stronger force of love.

Democracy sprang from a desire for individual liberty. Stabilized democracy depends upon the security of individual liberties properly used. There can be no security for the observance of a law dictating what men should eat or drink unless it has the support of a substantial majority not merely of those voting on a Referendum, but of all the people in the Province whose support is necessary. Especially is this true when the prohibitory forces are highly organized at the polls. If one law is not enforced, all law is brought into contempt and democracy itself may be imperilled.

It is a fundamental of democratic government that things innocent in themselves should be regulated against abuse, not prohibited. It is well recognized in law that a municipality cannot extend a mere power to regulate into a power to prohibit. If past generations allowed the open bar to become a menace, that is no reason why we should shirk the difficult duty of making wise regulations to govern the liquor traffic, and blindly throw to the winds an elementary principle which has hitherto been considered a necessary safeguard to democratic civilization.

We believe that the cause of Christian temperance and of stabilized democracy can best be served,—

(1) By Government control of the sale of spirituous liquors, and, if necessary, a wisely devised licensing of individuals to purchase spirituous liquors.

(2) By the treatment of those who have not the strength to take care of themselves under such conditions, as patients, not as criminals.

(3) By permission to purchase beer and wines under a system to be devised by the Government, thus minimizing the evil of illicit stills and the illegal sale of spirituous liquors and drugs. We are not advocating a return to the "open bar."

(4) By the formation of a voluntary organization similar to the Blue Ribbon Army in Great Britain, whereby all available energies and funds may be devoted to the promotion of true temperance by education and example.

We ask that you provide a means for an expression of opinion on the question of Government control.

We further ask that the Ontario Temperance Act be amended as above, so that the conscientious scruples, rights and liberties of the people of this Province may be fully protected against an organized minority, and accused persons shall not be deprived, as they are now, of the sacred right of every British subject to be considered innocent until he is found to be guilty.

Total prohibition is as unnecessary in Ontario as it is unethical and impracticable and you are urged to stand by the League in their fight for

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

CELLS AT MERCER HAVE NO WINDOWS

Many Women Depend Upon Corridors to Let in Little Light.

ANTIQUATED HOME

The Woman Superintendent Agrees That Location Is Bad for Inmates.

Comment on the address of Miss Violet Trench before the Neighborhood Workers Association has brought out two statements which do not agree. One is from the provincial secretary, Hon. H. C. Nixon, who is quoted as saying in reply to Miss Trench's assertion to the contrary:

"All the cells have doors and windows, and lead out into lighted corridors." On the other hand, Mrs. O'Sullivan points out that, while on the south side there are rooms with windows, "on the north side are cells with iron barred gates, which depend for light and ventilation in daytime on large, well-lighted and well-ventilated corridors. These are used for the 'overflow'—twenty inmates at present—of a total of ninety-two."

The cells which Mr. Nixon had in mind are in all probability those on the south side, while those that were censured by Miss Trench are the cells which, according to Mrs. O'Sullivan, have no windows, but depend on the "well lighted corridors." As there are twenty women in these windowless cells, the foundation seems to have been quite sufficient for the statement of Miss Trench. Mrs. O'Sullivan also agrees that the location is bad, and that the thing required is an old-fashioned farm house, where the girls could be restored to normal conditions under normal surroundings.

Favors Woman Doctor.

Regarding the statement that undesirables associate with girls of sixteen, a slight difference in statement exists between that of Miss Trench and that of the superintendent of the reformatory. That the inmates are associated in the workrooms, tho under close supervision, in the dining-room, but at separate tables, and in the chapel, is the statement of Mrs. O'Sullivan. Miss Trench seemingly thought only of the fact that association to some extent does exist. Mrs. O'Sullivan is also in accord with the idea that a woman doctor is preferable in an institution where there are all women.

The statement that a woman doctor is being considered by the government is sure to give satisfaction to women who advocate this as an appointment most desirable. As The World learned that Miss Trench is out of town for a few days no further statement could be got from her on the subject.

Advocates Cottages.

In connection with the remarks of Miss Trench, Mrs. W. A. Kavanagh, who, for twenty years was secretary of the institution when her mother, Mrs. O'Reilly was there as its first superintendent, gave some suggestions in an interview with The World.

"We knew years ago that the reformatory should be moved from where it is," said Mrs. Kavanagh. The women should be placed in cottages in the country, about ten to each cottage, where they could live like one family, with a matron to every ten. If a woman gives any trouble she should be degraded to another cottage. In the cottage system grading would be possible. The women, too, should have a garden where they could work.

The Mercer Reformatory was built forty-one years ago.

The address of Miss Trench, which has created such widespread public interest, was published exclusively in The World.

PLAYER-PIANO WEEK.

April 2nd to the 9th has been proclaimed national player-piano week thruout the Dominion. Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Co., Limited, 193-197 Yonge St., Toronto, are making a splendid display for this week and offering special inducements to purchasers.

The strong feature of the player-piano is that whilst it possesses all the attributes of a regular piano and can be so used, at the same time its construction is such as to permit anyone to play on it, tho they may not know a single note of music. It has been well said that any member of the family, from the little tot up to grandma, can sit down before the Heintzman & Co. player-piano and enjoy some of the finest music that has been produced anywhere. It will be interesting to step into the warerooms of this firm and ask for a demonstration of the player-piano and learn of the splendid inducements that are being offered for the week opening April 2 and closing April 9.

The girls of St. Francis Sodality, who have charge of the bazaar now in progress in the parish hall, Grace street, are doing strenuous work to make it a success. Booths, gaily decorated, and smiling faces behind the counters, add to the attractions of the various offerings—fancy goods, children's wear, candies, groceries, statuary and aluminum articles—last and by no means least, an appetizing tea for their patrons. A bumper house is expected tonight when the bazaar closes.

The High Park Club held a smoking concert last night in their club house on Indian road, when about 50 members, who had joined this year, were given a warm welcome. There were about 175 present, and the musical program, buffet luncheon and "sing song" proved highly enjoyable. Among the entertainers were Frank Oldfield, baritone; Ben. Hokea, Hawaiian ukulele player; James Reid, character singer, and Archie Swan, monologist. James McLaren, chairman of the house committee, occupied the chair. President Bertram Neild gave a short address on improvements planned by the club to accommodate the increased membership.

B.O.T.A. CONVICTION QUASHED.

Justice Rose yesterday at Osgoode Hall quashed the conviction of Chas. Patton of Dunnville, who was charged with having kept liquor for sale. The case was heard at Dunnville by Magistrate Goodwin, who succeeded Magistrate Hastings, and a fine of $500 was imposed, while 30 cases of liquor, valued at $1,500, were confiscated. Justice Rose, in quashing, said that the convicting magistrate had not a proper appreciation of the law.

BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SPRING

The Spring is a time of anxiety to mothers who have little ones in the home. Conditions make it necessary to keep the baby indoors. He is often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catches colds which rack his whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. This will prevent colds, constipation or colic and keep baby well. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NEXT WEEK'S BILLS AT LOCAL THEATRES

"Robin Hood" at Princess—"Beggar's Opera" for the Royal Alexandra.

"Robin Hood," the most popular and best light opera, has been revived this season and will be offered at the Princess Theatre next week. The performance is most favorably spoken of and gives promise of quite a treat. The Rochester Post-Express says: "Ralph Dunbar has provided not only a capable cast, but a chorus of young singers, who have voices and know how to use them. The concerted numbers go well thruout the performance; the pretty music is sung expressively; there is good balance and the choral director gets the right musical effects. The trios, quartets and larger concerted numbers by the principals are a joy to hear in a theatre. The cast has some good men singers in it. Robert Brainerd, James Stevens and George Shields are a trio to revive old memories of 'Robin Hood' and this means something when the old Bostonian casts are recalled. Miss Ayers, Miss Campbell and Miss Howe are capable, too. The stage sets are well designed and the whole business is in good taste; it is produced as a comic opera and mighty good, too. De Koven's music is heard again with pleasure and appeals as of old as a superior piece of music writing of its kind, not highly original, but excellently chosen and made to fit a wholesome, lively little romantic story."

"The Beggar's Opera."

Toronto theatregoers will have an opportunity next week when "The Beggar's Opera" is seen at the Royal Alexandra Theatre Monday, to draw the "deadly parallel" between "plays with music" of the early eighteenth century and the productions of the present day. This rollicking old work of John Gay, which was first produced in 1728, was the forefather of all comic opera. It is distinctly Gilbertian in vein and so strictly does the present production adhere to the original that one is really wished back two hundred years and given a true taste of that period when periwigs, billowing fathingaled skirts and unexpurgated dialog were the order of the day. To be more certain of a retention of this atmosphere than even the strictest adherence of costuming and settings could make it. Ye Olde Masters Producing Company brought to this country the same cast which appeared in Mr. Nigel Playfair's famous London production. They are all members of the noted Beecham Opera Company of Covent Garden, London, and will be seen here by special permission of Sir Thomas Beecham, Bart. The return engagement of one week is made at the special request of Toronto music lovers. Seats are now selling.

"Mecca" at the Royal.

"Mecca," the magnificent, hailed by eminent critics as the crowning climax of stage achievement in recent years, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Royal Alexandra Theatre for one week, beginning Monday night, April 11. The coming of this gigantic stage offering, in eleven scenes, employing nearly 400 people, with a ballet and Bacchanale devised by Michel Fokine, the famous Russian master of the dance, is a noteworthy event in the realm of the theatre. "Mecca" was written by Oscar Asche, the celebrated author of "Chu Chin Chow," and was intended by him to be the successor of that celebrated stage offering at His Majesty's Theatre, London.

"The Girl from Vagabondia."

A Canadian production in every sense of the word will be the offering of the Princess Theatre for the week of April 11, when the first presentation of Wilson Macdonald's (the Canadian poet) musical comedy, "The Girl From Vagabondia," will be seen. A well told story, filled with laughter and tunes that are of the whistling kind and more beautiful girlies who know how to sing, dance and wear charming gowns, have been promised.

"French Frolics" at Star.

Harry Fields, one of burlesque's most popular comedians, is with the "French Frolics," who present "Here, There and Anywhere" at the Star next week.

Billy Watson at the Gayety.

Billy Watson and his "Parisian Whirl," which was admittedly the biggest success on the Columbia circuit last season, will be seen here again next week at the Gayety Theatre. It is reported that Billy Watson, who is the sole proprietor of this organization, and who has gained widespread reputation for the excellence of his productions, has this year overstepped all of his previous endeavors, and gotten together a show which when once seen will not soon be forgotten. The company consists of forty-five people, thirty of whom are little French girls, and are said to be the swellest and best looking chorus of any show en route. Besides, the only and original Billy Watson, the following well-known principals are in the cast: Billy (the original "Grogan") Spencer, Edgar Bixley of vaudeville fame, Roy Burke, Frank Hanscom, Mabelle Courtney, Anna Armstrong and Patsy Ayer. As an extra feature Mr. Watson is presenting Martini Sanai in a most sensational musical act. Billy Watson is reported to have spent a small fortune this year in the embellishment of his "Parisian Whirl" and to have supplied costumes, scenery and an electrical equipment which must be seen with one's eye in order to be fully appreciated.

"The Kid" at the Strand.

Those who saw "The Kid," with Mr. Charles Chaplin, at Pantages, the Regent and Strand this week, came back next day with their children. In order that they may bring any other little folk who haven't seen the picture, it will stay at the Strand next week, accompanied by another laughter picture, Dorothy Gish in "The Ghost in the Garret."

"Inside of the Cup" at Regent.

For a story that pretends to deal seriously with modern social problems, "The Inside of the Cup" has been read by more people than any other book. The high purpose with which Mr. Winston Churchill wrote the book, did not prevent it from being dramatic, forceful and human. And to realize the power of this story, it is only necessary to see it when it is presented at the Regent Theatre next week. Today is the last opportunity to enjoy Mr. Charles Chaplin in "The Kid" at the Regent Theatre.

English Players in "East Lynne."

The talented organization of old country players who have been presenting standard plays at the Grand Opera House and delighting large audiences will present next week, by special request, the English version of the world-famous dramatic success, "East Lynne." It is seldom that local theatregoers have had an opportunity of seeing such a company of artists in the old plays, and in the revival of "East Lynne" they are assured of a real treat. A special scenic equipment has been provided, and the settings will be in keeping with the high standard of the performance. Harry Lonsdale, Frederick Ross, Norman Cannon, Peggy Bryett, Mildred James and Dorothy Reeve will portray the principal roles, and the interpretation, in such capable hands, will be a notable event in local theatricals. During the week matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday. For the closing week of the engagement, commencing April 11, the company will present "The Light That Failed."

Loew's Theatres.

As a special attraction for Monday and Tuesday, April 4 and 5, in addition to the feature picture and six vaudeville acts, Loew's Yonge Street Theatre and Winter Garden, also Loew's Uptown Theatre, will have three stars of motion pictures making personal appearances. They are Martha Mansfield, Eugene O'Brien's leading woman; Katheryn Perry, co-star with Owen Moore, and Audrey Maple, star of the musical comedy stage. The three will offer an act, and endeavor to make an appearance at each performance in both theatres, Uptown and Downtown. There will be no advance in prices.

Lots of Laughter at Pantages.

Today Charles Chaplin will be seen for the last time in "The Kid" at Pantages. Commencing Monday, more big crowds will assemble to see a great vaudeville bill, headed by the greatest of kiddie acts, entitled "The Rising Generation." In the cast are ten of the cutest kids ever seen on the stage and they will more than entertain all who see them. Other acts to satisfy the most critical are Frank Morrell, famous tenor; "Saint and Sinner," a dramatic sketch; Pert and Sue Kelton, Mason and Bailey and Kenny, Mason and Scholl. The feature picture is a dandy too, "Paying the Piper." Friday afternoon next will be given over to the National Vaudeville Artists, to whom all receipts will go. Some extraordinary features have been arranged for.

Baby Left on Doorstep Of Children's Aid Society

Thursday evening about 9.15 a man was noticed walking up and down Simcoe street with a bundle, and later was seen depositing the bundle upon the doorstep of the Children's Aid Society.

The people who observed him immediately came down the steps and found a baby, and pulled the bell of the Children's Aid Society and informed the officers of the contents of the bundle, which was immediately taken in the house and examined, and found to contain a two weeks old baby boy weighing about five or six pounds, apparently healthy, clean and in good condition, with a note pinned to the baby, "Please be good to baby; we have neither money nor work and cannot support him."

The note was well written and in a lady's hand. The officers immediately informed the police, who took the baby to the Infants' Home, and are now tracing the parents of the child.

BUILDING TIED UP IN MANY CITIES

Workers Refuse to Accept Reductions in Effect Yesterday.

Chicago, April 1. — Construction work in a number of middle western cities was halted following the refusal of building trades workers to accept reductions in pay, scheduled to take effect today. Most of the reductions averaged twenty per cent.

Wage cuts of about five per cent., affecting 25,000 persons, will be put into effect Monday by the Western Electric Company, it was announced today. The cut also will either abolish or reduce by 50 per cent. the surplus war wage weekly bonus, which the company has granted.

Rochester, N.Y., April 1.—Complete tie-up of building operations in the city resulted this morning thru the failure of contractor members of the builders' exchange and union workers affiliated with the building trades council to come to terms on the 15 per cent. wage reduction proposed in the 1921 agreements. It is estimated 3,000 union men are affected.

Springfield, Mass., April 1.—Building trades workmen in this city, Chicopee, Holyoke and Greenfield, went on strike today rather than accept wage reductions. In all, about 3,500 men are affected.

Worcester, Mass., April 1.—Practically all the building work in Worcester was suspended today when members of the organized building trades struck against a reduction of twenty per cent. in their pay.

Lawrence, Mass., April 1.—Refusing to accept a wage reduction of 20 per cent., more than 2,000 building mechanics failed to report for work here today.

Schenectady, N.Y., April 1. — The Schenectady Railway Company, in letters received by union officials today, announced that on May 1 it would cut wages 25 per cent.

Union officials say they are confident the wage question will be submitted to arbitration.

Favors Automatic Telephones For Use in Large Cities

The use of the automatic telephone in large cities such as Toronto, Montreal and New York was described by W. C. Adams, chief engineer of the Northern Electric Company, Montreal, in an illustrated address before the Electric Club yesterday.

Mr. Adams said Canada had 50,000 to 60,000 automatic lines. The automatic system as applied to cities like Toronto, he considered, would be greatly superior to the present manual system. Calls could be put thru on an average of six seconds each. There were two automatic systems, the power driven and that driven by the pulses of the dial. The former would be more satisfactory for places like New York and London. The latter had terminals each of which served 100 subscribers.

BREACHES OF LIQUOR ACT AT MINIMUM IN HULL

Ottawa, April 1.—The campaign against liquor selling in Hull, as waged by agents of the Quebec government, has been a most remunerative one. Liquor cases settled out of court this morning brought in a gross revenue of $6,000

P. A. Juneau, government agent, announced this morning that the illicit selling of liquor had been reduced to a minimum.

MONTREAL BUSINESS MEN FAVOR TURNOVER TAX

Montreal, April 1.—At the meeting of the board of trade yesterday Wm. M. Birks, who presided, announced the result of the questionnaire which was sent to all the members in order to get their views on taxation questions. Out of 520 replies received, 455 had replied in favor of a general turnover tax. In answer to the first question sent out, namely, "Are you in favor of the retention of the business profits tax?" 22 had answered in the affirmative out of the 520.

Belleville, Ont., April 1—(Special).—License Inspector Collison of East Hastings had five parties summoned before Magistrate Jarman of Bancroft for a violation of the Ontario temperance act. Thos. Turripp, Henry P. Conlin, Daniel Papp and Charles Stoughton were fined $200 and costs, which was paid. Emma Creighton of Bancroft denied selling liquor, was convicted, and fined $200 and costs. In default of payment of fine she was committed for three months in the county jail.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

ENJOYABLE RECITAL BY BORIS HAMBOURG

'Cellist Delights a Large Audience in the Margaret Eaton Hall.

Boris Hambourg gave the first of his series of three 'cello recitals at the Margaret Eaton Hall last night to a large audience, which demonstrated enthusiastically its appreciation of the magnificent program provided.

Every phase in the development of the 'cello music was represented and admirably performed. A sonata, by Galliard, air and variations by Haydn, melodies by Hure, Max Reger Arensky, and a particularly attractive thing exceedingly difficult one by Vincent d'Indy would have in themselves made a delightful musical evening, especially as two of them, the Reger and the d'Indy pieces, have never yet been played here in public. The outstanding achievement, however, was the superb reading given by the famous 'cellist of still another novelty, the second concerto in D minor, opus 119, by Camille Saint-Saens. Its conclusion and the brilliant and thrilling Cadenza were a splendid climax. George Reeves played the piano parts in characteristic perfection.

FINE PIANO RECITAL BY MISS PEARL BURFORD

That much was expected from the young artist, Miss Pearl Burford, who gave a piano recital at the Toronto Conservatory of Music last night, was shown by the large audience that attended to hear her program, and, however high expectation had been raised, it was satisfied to the utmost. Miss Burford, who is a pupil of Mr. Ernest Seitz, gave selections from eight composers, opening with the Beethoven "Menuet in E flat major," and the Sonata Op. 57.

The work of the player was marked by a liquidity of tone and an ease and fluency of fingering that would have done credit to a player of much more maturity, while appreciation of shading, time and rhythm were all exceptionally pronounced. The Chopin group, which followed, was introduced by the Fantasie Impromptu Op. 66, and was given graceful interpretation, in which passages executed with sparkling brilliancy gave warmth and color. Others of the group were the "Two Preludes," and the "Sonata in B Minor, Op. 58." A varied group, which gave opportunity for variety, opened with Glazounow's Gavotte in D major, and ended with the taxing "Moto Perpetuo," by Weber. Applause and handsome floral offerings rewarded the player, whose unassuming manner was of the kind that promises big things. Miss Burford expects to continue her studies in New York.

Arthur Flood, no home, was arrested last night by Detective-Sergt. Hazelwood on a charge of theft of $33 from Charles Hood, 16 Miller avenue. A second charge of fraud in connection with an alleged unpaid board bill of $23, also stands against Flood, a warrant charging this against the man having been sworn out by Hood some time ago.

CHARGE OF SHOPLIFTING.

Clara McCarthy, 52 Robinson street, and Maude Ferguson and Jennie McLean, both of whom gave their address as 139 Fern avenue, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective-Sergts. Croome, Carter and Ward on charges of shoplifting from the Robert Simpson Company store.

TRADE IMPROVING THO GRADUALLY

Merchants Feel Way Carefully, But Wholesalers Appear Optimistic.

Winnipeg, April 1.—(Canadian Press.)—The general trade situation thruout Canada might be summed up in two words, "gradual improvement," states the weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association.

Montreal and Quebec province advices say wholesale houses are finding the improvement maintained, but more gradual than expected. The improvement also, is by no means general. Merchants seem to be buying very carefully and ordering in small lots only. Costume manufacturers are, however, busy, and of the other trades, boot and shoe manufacturers report an improvement.

Wholesalers Optimistic.

Weather in the east has, as a whole, been fair and springlike, and merchants report a good Easter business which, altho slowing up a little after the holidays, seems to be continuing so that the wholesale trade as a whole is optimistic.

Winnipeg and Manitoba find trade a little better in the larger cities and towns, but quiet in country towns owing mainly to heavy snows. The change to springlike weather which has taken place this week-end is expected to have a beneficial effect on business.

Saskatchewan and Alberta trade is still quiet. Merchants in these two provinces are, as a rule, still endeavoring to sell on the old basis rather than on replacement value, and buyers are hesitating in consequence. Collections thruout Canada are, while a little better, still slow.

WHOLESALE EXECUTIONS REPORTED IN KRONSTADT

Helsingfors, Finland, April 1.—Three workmen who made their escape from Kronstadt arrived at the Finnish frontier last night. They reported that the communists when they left were executing every other man and every fourth woman in Kronstadt.

The refugees already here are greatly aroused over this report, many of them having been forced to leave their wives and children behind when they fled from Kronstadt.

A Finnish patrol on the Russian frontier was fired upon Wednesday night, apparently by Bolshevik guards who were searching for men making their escape from Kronstadt.

BOGUS DIVORCE MILL IN NEW YORK STATE

White Plains, N.Y., April 1.—At least 26 alleged bogus divorces and annulments are known to have been sold by Herbert F. Miller, now being sought as the alleged operator of a "divorce mill" in Manhattan, Assistant District Attorney Walter Ferris announced today.

District Attorney Lee Davis said that a clerk employed by Miller had given him further evidence and that indictments would be sought against Miller on charges of forgery in the second degree, perjury and the misdemeanor of practicing law in this state without being admitted to the bar here.

Word was received here that officials and clerks in the undefended divorce part of Brooklyn supreme court were convinced that Miller has been working the same game in Brooklyn. An investigation, it was stated, will be made at once of all the undefended divorces granted in Brooklyn in the last two years.

The tug Earl King, of the Russell Wrecking Company, had the honor of being the first vessel to clear from this port. The vessel cleared for Toronto today.

SECOND NEW PROVINCE IS CALLED FOR IN WEST

A deputation which recently waited upon the Bell Telephone Company from Woodbine Heights district, requesting telephone service, was informed that the company had no money to lay a cable from Danforth avenue to the section, which is but a short distance north of that thorofare, according to the report of J. Bond, convener of the deputation, submitted at a well-attended meeting of Woodbine Heights Ratepayers' Association, held in the Mission Hall, Savoy avenue, last night.

The report aroused considerable indignation, and a lengthy discussion ensued. It was suggested that the matter be taken up with the federal government, as the Bell Telephone Company was a public utilities corporation and bound to give service to the public, according to their charter.

J. Bond, a member of the deputation, further stated that the excuse was put forward by the management that the cost would amount to approximately $85,000, and that when the automatic exchange was erected, at a date not specified, the installation, if now proceeded with, would be scrapped.

The meeting felt that telephonic service was badly needed, and prompt measures will immediately be taken to compel the company to act.

The matter of increased school accommodation was discussed at some length. The chairman stated that a general meeting would be held next week to authorize the issuing of debentures for a new ten-roomed school. The septic tank recently installed in Plains Road School, it was reported, was working satisfactorily.

Under the auspices of Danforth Avenue Methodist Epworth League, a concert was given by the Sunday school orchestra. Features of the evening were the solos contributed by Jessie Alexander and J. Hallman. The proceeds will be devoted to the league funds.

Arrangements were made at a recent meeting of Danforth Poultry Association executive committee for an address by T. B. Cleave at the next regular meeting of the association in Frankland School, Logan avenue, on Monday next.

Under the auspices of Simpson Avenue Methodist Mission Circle, a well-attended meeting was held in the parsonage, when Miss Howe of the Fred Victor Mission gave a brief talk on "Some Phases of My Work." Miss Brickell, vice-president, occupied the chair.

Rev. John J. Coulter, pastor of Danforth Avenue Methodist Church, who has been spending the past few days visiting at his home in Thornbury, has returned to town.

Start Work Monday on School for New Toronto

Work upon the new school in the west end of the town is to be commenced on Monday and the contractors have promised to employ only local men. The school is to be of red brick with stone trimmings and will have four class rooms, teachers' room, principal's office, medical inspection room, janitor's room, library and board room. It is hoped to have the work completed by August.

JUNIOR TEMPLARS ELECT OFFICERS

Hope of Earlscourt Lodge, I. O. G. T., Name 1921 Officials—Other News.

EARLSCOURT

Officers for the juvenile branch of Hope of Earlscourt Lodge, I.O.G.T., for 1921, are as follows: Sister Jean Dargie, chief Templar; Lily Salisbury, past chief Templar; J. Black, vice-Templar; Mary Black, chaplain; N. Donald, treasurer; B. Goodfellow, financial secretary; James Salisbury, secretary; M. Gardiner, guard; J. McMartin, marshal; F. Dodgson, deputy marshal.

As a contrast to the "father and son" banquets, so much heard of nowadays, the Canadian Girls in Training of Earlscourt Central Methodist Church held an enjoyable 'mother and daughter" banquet on Thursday evening.

Tables and hall were decorated tastefully, and nearly all the younug girls of the church united with their mothers to make the evening one of entertainment.

Arrangements were superintended by Deaconess Manuel, who is in charge of the girls' clubs. A program of music and games was enjoyed after the banquet.

Interesting addresses were given by J. Harry Flynn and Herbert Capewell of the G.A.U.V. advisory board at the recent social gathering of the Earlscourt G. A. U. V. in Creber's Hall.

The speakers outlined what the association was doing to assist in protecting dependents of returned men, and in forwarding the aims of the veterans themselves.

During the social, which was a "hard-times" affair, prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. Harrison and George Strachan for the best "hard-times" costumes.

Under the auspices of St. Clare's Social Club, a well-attended informal dance was given at Kenwood Hall last evening, for which special music was provided. During the dance the older guests played euchre in another part of the hall. Valuable prizes were awarded to the winners at the close of the evening.

Mrs. Page, secretary, Women's Missionary Society, delivered an impressive address on "The Bible" to the juvenile missionary band of St. David's Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon. Preceding the address, the junior members entertained the W.M.S. Miss A. Hicks presided over the proceedings.

Wychwood Presbyterians Enjoy Mock Parliament

The young men's club of St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Wychwood, presented an interesting entertainment last evening in the form of a mock parliament, in which several "bills" were discussed and debated upon. The part of lieutenant-governor was ably taken by Rev. W. A. MacTaggart, and that of premier by Walter Frisby, secretary of the mothers' pension board. The speaker of the house was W. A. Douglas, a Parkdale lawyer. The leader of the opposition was Donald Findlay. The members made the most of their opportunities and got in many humorous broadsides, which were much appreciated by the large audience present.

Gibson to mark his election as grand third principal to the Grand Chapter of Canada, when he was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses. The speaker of the evening was Rgt. Ex. Comp. Henry T. It was decided to invite Hon. G. S. Henry, Col. Price and other prominent speakers to be present, who will address the meeting on the many questions of the day.

The executive of York Masonic Lodge, A.F. and A.M., met last evening in the Masonic Hall when the final arrangements were made for the ladies' night to be held in the Masonic Temple, Yonge and Davenport road, next Tuesday evening, April 5. It was decided that the chief speakers would be F. W. Harcourt, grand master of the Grand Lodge of Canada; Garfield Hood, district deputy grand master, and R. J. Gibson, grand third principal of the Grand Chapter of Canada.

Todmorden Annoyed At Water Service Delay

Dissatisfaction is generally expressed in the eastern section of York township regarding the delay in the installation of the long-promised water service.

According to the opinion of a well-known Todmorden resident, neither the water nor sewer service will be installed until the district is annexed to the city of Toronto. "It is stated by York township officials that the contracts are let for laying the water mains," the speaker explained, "but up to the present no action has been taken to start the work."

Fairbank Presbyterians Hold Fine Box Social

Members of Fairbank Presbyterian Church enjoyed a well-arranged box social, held last night under the supervision of the women's association. After a miscellaneous program of music and entertainment the choir leader, W. F. Miller, was presented with a magnificent piano lamp, in appreciation of his services.

Give the Children More

MILK

Milk is the Perfect Food

TWENTY-ONE thousand school children in this city are suffering from malnutrition chiefly because their parents are ignorant that the absolutely indispensable food for growing children is milk.

If you want to stunt a child's growth and sap his God-given vitality, feed him on dead, denatured foods, and deprive him of milk.

If you want children to live and to thrive, give them plenty of milk.

Milk Campaign Week

April 4-9

Next week is Milk Week in Toronto. Let everybody drink more milk. For one week let us emphasize the food value of milk in every possible way, and bring the facts about milk home to everybody.

Comparing foods by their nutritive values in relation to their cost, the cheapest food you can buy is milk.

Serve an extra supply of milk in your home. Ask for milk and milk dishes at the restaurants. Give the children plenty of milk to drink. Make milk soups, milk puddings, milk custards, milk sauces, and milk dressings.

Milk gives life and health and growth. Milk gives energy and rosy cheeks. After the age of one year, every child should take a quart per day of whole milk—milk with the cream left in.

Try it next week. Give the children more milk. Drink milk yourself. Serve milk. Use milk—plenty of milk. Next week is Milk Week.

Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden? YES X

ALCOHOL, as a beverage, has proved itself to be the enemy of the human race.

Alcohol is a fruitful source of insanity, criminality, immorality, delinquency, disease, brutality and death.

Alcohol lowers vitality and decreases efficiency, while ignorance, poverty and misery follow in its wake.

Alcohol is a waste of food stuffs, of money, of time and of life itself.

Alcohol is a wrecker of homes, a curse upon the mother and child, a burden upon society and an embarrassment to both capital and labor.

The world is organizing against alcohol and its reign is doomed. The dethronement of "King Alcohol" is the reform that will mark the 20th century.

Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the province be forbidden?

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 2.

British Exchange Improving.

Notwithstanding the extraordinary state of affairs in Britain the exchange rate as between London and New York continues to indicate a certain and sure progress towards a return to natural conditions. From the low point of $3.19 the sterling exchange rate recovered to about $4.00, and then receded somewhat, but lately there has been a steady improvement, and even with the threat of a practical tie-up of business in England because of the big coal strike, the sterling rate yesterday was quite firm at about $3.92. The ramifications of the finances of Britain are so varied and extensive that they are almost impossible to follow, and many of these invisible sources of income and revenue are undoubtedly working to bring about a return to the old gold standard. Leaders of British financial and commercial undertakings may be trusted to be working along lines to produce this result in the quickest possible time, and will adopt measures conducive to that result, altho they may entail hardships and difficulties in carrying them out.

Will Help Northern Ontario.

The closing down of many of the copper mines in the United States is of interest to the developers of northern Ontario. The Calumet and Hecla copper mine has just joined the long list of suspending copper mines, and this is the biggest dividend payer in the world. The Creighton mine of the International Nickel Company at Sudbury has reduced its working force to seventy men, or about ten per cent of normal.

There is no doubt that the stagnation in the copper and nickel markets will release many men for the gold mines, and Americans coming into Canada will profit by the exchange at a rate which they cannot obtain in their own country. As there are no great prospective gold fields in the United States, such as for instance northern Ontario, we will look for a considerable accession of capital from across the border, and if the provincial government adopts a progressive policy for the northern Ontario mining district, the amount of outside capital might be greatly increased. Care should be exercised also at the present time in changing mining legislation by which taxation would have any adverse effect upon any development which might be forthcoming in the Ontario gold camps.

Labor and Trade Difficulties.

What looks like one of the biggest labor conflicts in history commenced yesterday with the strike of the coal miners in the old country. For the last three or four years difficulties with this class of labor have been continually cropping up, and adjustments, largely in the interests of the workers, have been granted. On the present occasion, however, the situation is somewhat changed from that in the past. The British export market for coal is now seriously curtailed because of German and other European production, while the United States is also now quite a factor in supplying some of the European coal markets. The men contend that the cost of living demands a higher scale of wages, and look to the government to maintain that standard by subsidies. The government has refused to do this, taking the attitude that the coal mining industry must carry itself as other industries have to do.

The readjustment period is producing all kinds of difficulties thruout the world, and we are still a considerable distance from normal. In many directions the way to lower prices is only by the acceptance of losses, and it is contrary to human nature to accept these without protest. The farmer does not like to see the prices of his products go down, the manufacturer naturally resents making reductions, and the laborer takes the same attitude in regard to his wages. We will get out of the tangle by due process of time, but a much quicker solution would be reached if everyone could be led to take a less selfish attitude than that of his own viewpoint. The various governments now confronted with these after the war problems will find that legislative action cannot be made the sure cure for trade conditions, and that much will have to be left to the natural regulations of commerce.

OTHER PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

The World will gladly print under this head letters written by our readers, dealing with current topics. As space is limited they must not be longer than 200 words and written on one side of the paper only.

THE DRINK BILL.

Editor World: I see by this morning's edition of your paper that my letter has been considered worthy of notice by two, at least, of your readers, and I should be highly flattered. I fail, however, to see where the impertinence comes in. Men in public often have their utterances criticized, and I know I only expressed the feeling of many people of the highest repute in Canada. Whether they are mistaken or not, there are a very large number of people in Canada who feel very strongly on these matters. I have met with them and heard them give utterance to sentiments the same as expressed in my letter.

Now, I did not refer at all to the sentiments either for or against prohibition in the British Empire as a whole, but only as regards Canada. Canada is only one of the many dependencies of the British Empire, but a very important one, and its importance is growing daily. Tho I am glad to say the great majority of Canadians are very loyal, yet there are among us some who would not mind seeing her an independent nation, and great care should be taken by those in high position in public life in the empire not to do or say anything that would play into their hands. As to England's drink bill: I have just been reading a little magazine called "Overseas," and see a statement there that in 1919 it was £836,000,000 (not dollars), and that the figures were likely to be considerably higher for 1920. How this compares with the expenditure in Canada on chewing gum, sundaes and such like, I cannot say, but I do not think there are any cases on record of a man abusing his wife and children as a result of chewing gum or drinking sundaes. Now, as to my statement that Baron Birkenhead's investments might depreciate in value if prohibition went into effect in England, I think the nature of the banquet where he delivered the utterance referred to justified me in coming to my conclusions. Yes, there are many who, like myself, can enjoy a glass of beer, who are willing to give it up for the sake of others. The main point of my letter, which touched on the so-called personal liberty, they have not attempted to reply to.

A. MacTavish.

GIVES HIS REASONS. 6

Editor World: Permit me once more to express myself more fully on the question of prohibition. Altho I believe in temperance, I am, however, opposed to prohibition for the following reasons:

1. Because liquor is of inestimable value to many people, and makes them strong and vigorous.

2. Because thruout the centuries, it has relieved sickness, made the weak strong, and quickened the heart to action. (See Prov., 31, 6, 7 and I. Timothy, 5, 23.)

3. Because the Great Architect of the universe commanded His people to offer Him wine. (Exodus, 29, 40, and Numbers, 15, 5.)

4. Because liquors of various kinds were used by all the great patriarchs of the past—Abraham, Noah, Solomon, David, and a host of others mentioned in the Bible. Liquor, then, is a blessing when used in moderation. (Gen., 14, 8; Psalm 104, 15; St. John 2, 7, 8.)

5. Because all the hospitals in the civilized world use some brand of distilled or fermented liquor for medicinal purposes.

6. Because it is absolutely essential in times of great epidemics, and prevents disease from spreading.

7. Because there is no necessity for stopping importation. That would create a shortage. Vote "No."

Rhyming Views On Daily News

By GEORGE H. DIXON.

Now, will they fire the teachers, and tie to them the can,
Who have the great, good fortune to own
at least one man?
Or will they keep on working—these schoolma'ams who are wed—
And tell the agitators to go and soak their head?

The board of education are on the pro
them now, and every time it's mentioned, it always starts a row. Some say a married woman should not retain her place, as, when she has a husband, the home she ought to grace. There are too many others, who must themselves support, whom married lady teachers should leave to hold the fort. But other members differ, and say that wedded dames don't have to change positions because they change their names. For many married teachers are up against it bad, and find out when they're wedded they must support the lad. They say that many schoolma'ams could never get a mate unless they would support him in his accustomed state. And also that, as teachers, they beat the single crew, because, if they can get a man, they must be smarter, too, it is an awful problem, and one to make you think. Oh, should a teacher beat it if she has got a girlk? For, if the latter happens, we'll hear them give a sob, and they they'll all be crying: "A husband or a job?"

We think that they'd do better if husbands they would shirk,
If, after they are wedded, they have to go to work.
But, if our recollections of teachers we
We do not need to worry—they seem to know it all.

was fairly clear with a light for overhanging. William G. Thomas, keeper of the Point Wilson lighthouse, who was in his tower at the time of the collision, said he plainly heard the crash and could see the two ships together from his window.

Purser Holzer saved only the log and the payroll of the ship's papers. Other records, including the passenger list, went down in the purser's safe which also contained a considerable amount of money, Holzer said.

Good Order Maintained.

An anxious crowd gathered at the pier here as the West Hartland, her deck crowded with a huddled throng of survivors in a motley of blankets and borrowed clothing, warped into the slip.

A cold drizzling rain added to the misery of those on the big freighter's deck thruout most of the slow journey from the scene of the collision. Few of them had been able to escape completely clothed. A number were in their night clothes, and some were wrapped in blankets lent by members of the West Hartland's crew.

Neither Captain E. P. Bartlett, of the Governor, nor Captain John Alwen of the West Hartland, would discuss the affair, except to say order was maintained on the sinking vessel.

Grant Christensen, second assistant engineer of the Governor, is believed by the ship's officers to have gone to his death when he insisted on going down to the engine room to see if he could keep the ship's engines running.

Several children, at least two of them babes in arms, were included among the survivors and were brought off the West Hartland swathed in blankets.

ROLLING BILLOWS QUELLED REVOLT

Sea-Sickness Aided Captain of Ship Bearing Deported Russian Reds.

New York, April 1.—The story of how seventy undesirables, deported to Russia on the steamship Esthonia last February, revolted on the high seas under the leadership of a woman, Rosa Oradovsky, was told here today by H. J. Skeffington, immigration commissioner of Boston, who returned from England on the Adriatic.

Conditions became so bad that the captain at one time considered wirelessing a United States war vessel for assistance. Instead he had painted on the deck white "deadlines" beyond which the radicals were warned not to advance on peril of death. These lines were guarded by sailors armed with revolvers, and ordered to shoot if their commands were disobeyed.

Finally Neptune came to the captain's aid. A gale carved furrows in the ocean, and seasickness quelled the fire of revolution.

PROHIBITION PEOPLE ARE DISAPPOINTED

appear in person. Of course, many of the names on the Referendum list are already on the register, and they may on polling day turn up to record their vote. But withal, there is an air of disappointment surrounding the Referendum Committee authorities.

The city hall had the best day yet yesterday, but many of the applicants were already on the register. An example of this was shown by a lady who approached a city hall official and asked her way to the revision court.

"Did you vote in 1919?" asked the official.

"Yes," replied the lady, "but I have been married since then and have a baby."

"Oh, you have the vote, alright," returned the attendant, "but I don't know about the baby. You had better see the Referendum Committee in regard to it."

It is a great pity the public have not better informed themselves, or have not been better officially informed in regard to what is required from them. If this had been done, the registration would have been an easy matter. As they stand at present, if a big rush comes today—absolutely the final day, when all the offices close at 9 p.m.—and the non-informed appear in goodly numbers, many persons entitled to their vote will be unable to register.

The city hall office was opened yesterday morning an hour earlier than usual, so as to allow the members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons stationed here to register their names.

Offices at Hospitals.

So that soldiers in the Davisville Hospital and the Christie Street Hospital might not be left off the register, special offices were opened in both these places yesterday, so that all the soldiers might be placed on the register. On polling day, special booths will be opened in both hospitals for the use of the soldiers.

Both the Citizens' Liberty League and the Referendum Committee are making preparations for a big rush of applicants today and have every hope of successfully coping with the situation. Yesterday, nine new registration offices were opened for the benefit of the public, the addresses being as follows:

West York: W. J. Irwin, 426 Quebec avenue, Jct. 7849.

Parkdale: Harry R. Bulmer, 78 Dorval road, Jct. 2008.

West Toronto: Thos. R. Young, 9 Constance street, Jct. 725.

Centre Toronto: Russell Nesbitt, Crown Life Bldg., M. 5707.

North Toronto: Lt.-Col. Newton Young, Excelsior Life Bldg., M. 963.

South York: Wm. J. Hill, county registrar, Berti and Richmond streets, M. 2032.

South Toronto: Thomas B. Galt of Blackstock, Galt & Co., 49 East Wellington street, M. 5465.

East Toronto: George Stagg, 150 Morse street, Ger. 2424.

East York, Charles Miller, 1878 East Queen street, Beach 1822.

There were 598 registrations yesterday at the office at 131 Broadview avenue.

The World's Weekly Novel — KLEATH

By Madge Macbeth

Copyright, 1917, by Small, Maynard & Co.

"In which case, you would not accuse the prisoner of striking the blow?"

"Certainly not, sir."

"Then," cried the young man, excitedly, "how can he be accused of assaulting a man when evidence has established the fact that he did not do it?"

"You choose to quibble, Mr. Loomis," said his lordship. "The prisoner at the bar, shown to have abetted the assault and failing to establish the identity of the actual offender, stands accused. Proceed with the evidence."

Tisdale was the next witness, a most unwilling one. His testimony established Kleath's unusual ability in the manipulation of intricate mechanism.

Next Sam Duford, taking the stand, testified that Kleath had not slept in the hotel on the night of Wednesday, the 18th. Several witnesses gave evidence that Kleath had been seen in the "Hall" during the early part of the evening.

The toils seemed to be drawing closer about the prisoner.

Hargis drew a deep breath and stood up.

"That, my lord," said he, "is the case for the crown."

The attention of the room was again entered upon the dock. Loomis squeaked across the floor and consulted with his client, evidently trying to persuade him to take the stand in his own defense. With unmistakable finality Kleath shook his head. Loomis returned to his place before the court.

"There is no witness for the defence, my lord," he announced, irritably.

Kleath's friends groaned. Goldie's face was drawn and very white. At Loomis' announcement, the girl moaned, swayed and fell against Lizzie, who was sitting next to her.

At this moment, the judge looked toward Hargis, who rose.

"Gentlemen," he said, "it is not necessary for me to consume much of your time in reviewing this case. We have shown you conclusively that a cold-blooded and premeditated crime has been committed.

"You have heard the testimony of the witnesses, testimony which I am bound to admit was wrung from the majority of them unwillingly—so strong a hold had this supposed upright citizen upon a warm-hearted, generous-minded public; a man of resource, gentlemen, of education and pleasing address; the most dangerous kind of a criminal, gentlemen, I need scarcely point out.

"Do not overlook, gentlemen, the very significant fact that even my learned young friend was unable to produce any witnesses for the defence. I leave this case with you, gentlemen of the jury, confident in the belief that at the hands of a fair-minded and impartial jury, the highest justice will be done between the crown and the prisoner at the bar."

The defence was feeble and halting, but not without convincing points. Loomis closed rather dramatically in these words.

"Gentlemen, who can say that the prisoner, whose defence has been entrusted to my inexperienced advocacy, is positively guilty? Look at the prisoner, gentlemen! Is he the type of man who abuses the trust placed in him, or is he, rather, a man of chivalrous instincts and quixotic principles who takes the burden of a crime which he has not committed upon his own shoulders, instead of allowing a weaker person to suffer? I beg, gentlemen, that you give these points due consideration before making your just decision."

To offset the influence of Loomis' plea, his lordship's charge was unusually harsh and stern. The jury did not even leave the room. The foreman rose.

"Have you reached a verdict, gentlemen?"

"We have."

"What is your verdict?"

"Guilty!"

A woman's sharp cry split the silence like the report of a gun.

"Fools!" she shrieked, "you are condemning an innocent man!"

Instantly the room was in an uproar. Goldie's protest, which followed the verdict of the jury, was drowned in the tumult and confusion.

"No, no! He is not guilty! Let me speak!" she cried, frantically, but even Lizzie, standing at her side, had not caught the words. His lordship leaned far over his desk and searched the throng of wildly excited people for the speaker.

Kleath, for a moment forgotten, leaped up between the two warders and gazed down upon the frenzied scene with horror written plainly upon his blanched face.

Duke slipped his hand into the pocket of his coat and wriggled toward the open window. Haynes, his back against the wall, glared about him with burning eyes, like an animal at bay. The judge signaled a woman to approach, evidently thinking her to be the one who had cried out.

She slouched forward, smeared loose-hanging lips across the cover of the book, and took the stand. With a start Goldie recognized her as the same woman she had encountered the morning after her imprisonment in the road house, the one whose inexplicable look of hatred had so frightened her.

The witness did not look at Kleath; she turned her back upon the court and stood silent a moment, sweeping the sea of upturned faces with a glance from which two men quailed. Any pretensions she may have had to beauty had long since disappeared.

"My name is Nell Kleath," she said, huskily. "I am Chris Kleath's wife."

"What's that?" asked the judge, bending forward.

"I am Chris Kleath's wife," repeated the woman, "and just out of the 'pen' six months before my time—for good conduct."

She paused and looked defiantly toward the spot where Duke stood.

"I was known in the profession as 'Sesame Nell' . . . my business was safe picking. Three of us worked in a team—Cully Conrad, Joe Leroy, sometimes called the Duke, and myself. Cully and I did the dirty work. Cully used lead pipe when it was necessary and I worked at the combinations. Joe distributed the long green. He always got away with it without a hint of suspicion.

"I met Chris in Chicago. I had a job in a safe factory there, and he was sent on from New York as superintendent of the works. Only a kid he was, too, but he knew the business from start to finish. I saw he took a fancy to me and—well, I married him. He knew nothing about the team.

"After I married Chris, it was easy to 'work.' I could always find out where our safes had been sold, then Cully and I went on and ripped them. I used to tell Chris I was visiting some relatives or other.

"One day we shipped a safe to a big lumber concern in Cincinnati, and the boys went to find out when it would be full of cash, pending the payment of their employes. They sent me a wire and I went on . . . 'to visit an old aunt.'

"We were caught red-handed, Cully and I. We were tried and convicted before we could turn around—ten years' sentences. Joe Leroy, the skunk, helped to send us up and saved his own hide—damn him!" She cursed like a man, deaf to the severe reproof from the judge.

"I thought it was funny Chris didn't show up at the trial. Chris, you see—" she glanced at the dock for the first time, and looked quickly away—"was a sort of extraordinary fellow, and I kind of expected him to come!

"The reason he didn't was because he had met with an accident—and was in the hospital with concussion of the brain. Didn't know anything about me for weeks. As soon as he did find out, however, he took the first train to me—I was glad to see him," she added simply. "He said he would go somewhere and make a home for me, where I wouldn't be known and where we could start over again. He wrote me regularly and sent me money. At last came a letter from this place.

"Well, anyway," she broke off, harshly, "I got out six months before my time and started west, meaning to surprise him. My money didn't last half as long as I thought it would, and by the time I got to White Horse, I had only enough for lodging and a few meals. So I tramped in.

"Got to a road house one afternoon and found it empty. Too tired to take another step I crawled in to rest. Hadn't been there long when up came a buggy and a man got out. The buggy drove on. More afraid of being told I couldn't stay than anything else, I hid, but on peeping out I nearly died of amazement, when I saw the man was Joe Leroy!

"I kept out of sight. I don't know why, except that you get into the habit of keeping mum in the place where I've been living lately. I saw Joe go upstairs and heard him do a lot of scraping and hammering. When I took a look around, I found he'd fitted the door with three locks, and had boarded up the window.

"Next day, as I was walking back to Bull's Gulch for food, I met the stage. Who was the first person my eyes lighted on? You've guessed—Cully Conrad! 'Another good conduct release,' I said to myself. 'But it's queer that he should be making for Dawson!'"

"Will you let me sit down?" she asked, and collapsed into the box.

"I began to worry about Chris. It seemed more than an accident that Joe Leroy should be here, and that Cully Conrad should be here—even if neither of them knew that Chris was in Dawson. I lay down on the floor in the roadhouse and slept soundly. . . . That was the night of Wednesday, the 18th of March," she said, and paused.

"Well?" snapped his lordship, impatiently. "Well?"

"A noise woke me. It was about midnight," I judge. A covered buggy had stopped at the door and a girl got out. Her hands were bound behind her. She was followed by Cully Conrad and a very fat boy. Between them they dragged someone who might have been doped upstairs. There was a good deal of scraping with locks, and Cully and the boy came back, got into the buggy and drove away.

"I crept upstairs and listened. The girl was crying. Then, all of a sudden, I heard her say—'Chris—oh, Chris!' Could it be my Chris, and why was he locked in that room with a girl whose hands were bound, and who did nothing but cry?

"I could have picked them out, but I didn't. Pretty soon I heard picking on the other side of the door. At that I could have sworn it was my Chris, but still said nothing. At dawn he came out. If I had seen him make love to that girl I would have killed him!"

She controlled herself quickly, and went on. "I couldn't get a line on what Cully and Joe had to do with the kidnapping, even after I had heard Chris talk to the girl. He asked her not to tell. He promised he would not. . . . By God, you men . . . he has kept his promise . . . !

"She walked off with her yellow head in the air and started in the opposite direction. I followed the girl to Dawson. I learned about the robbery. Then it was as plain as day to me—that kidnapping of Joe's.

"I came here this morning expecting that white-faced little coward"—she pointed an accusing finger direct at Goldie—"to clear him—but she's dumb.

A gun barked from somewhere in the rear. The woman flung up her hands and made a gurgling noise.

"One of 'em got me!" she gasped, and fell forward out of the box.

Duke withdrew his hand from his smoking pocket, dropped from the window and started to run. But from the court room there suddenly came a roar which sounded like the voices of many hungry beasts, and the air about him was filled with bits of whistling lead.

CHAPTER VII.

Timothy Meadows sat in quilted majesty at the open door of his cabin. He was grappling with a problem. He was thinking of Goldie, and for the first time in nineteen years his thoughts of her were not tinged with pleasure and pride. On the contrary!

"Daughter, dear!" he said, amazed at the weakness of his voice.

"Feel better, Dad?" she asked.

He was not only better—he was well. Tim declared, with affectionate vehemence. There was no further cause for worry. She must get out in the sunshine, so that the roses would bloom again in her cheeks.

"Where's Kleath? Will he be up today?"

She—she didn't—er, think so . . . No.

Her manner struck him as being peculiar. Why didn't she know? What the devil did she mean by saying she didn't think so?

Then, bit by bit, he dragged the story from her—the kidnapping, her promise to Kleath, his oath to her, his arrest, the trial, her silence.

"Good God, Goldie!" shouted Meadows. "Do you mean to tell me ye would see the man go to jail? Where is he now?"

She faltered on. There was his wife—whose wife? Kleath's wife? He couldn't believe Kleath had a wife! She had cleared him, and Duke had shot her, only to be riddled with bullets himself as he tried to make a get-away. Haynes had returned the money and was awaiting his trial. Mrs. Kleath had been buried several days ago, but Kleath had not been to the cabin. Her voice trailed off in a sobbing whisper.

"Been to the—he hasn't been—" Meadows raised himself to a sitting posture and spoke with bitter violence. "What did ye expect he would come to the cabin—after this? Do ye expect him?"

She shook her head.

Meadows' hand fell heavily on her shoulder as she crouched at his bedside.

"Tell me this, now, would ye have cleared that boy before he left the dock or not? The truth, girl . . ."

"Yes—yes— Oh, Dad, a thousand times yes! I did call out, but no one heard me."

"I've got to see Chris," he decided, at last, "even if I do nuthin' more than thank him for the way he behaved to you."

Meadows made his preparations for the street with feverish haste. He cursed the wobbling state of his limbs as he skirted the back streets in an endeavor to reach a certain inconspicuous spot where he would be protected by a fence and where he could anticipate Kleath's home-coming from the plant.

He had not long to wait. Kleath wheeled round at the sound of his name and grasped Meadows' hands in a cordial clasp.

"I am glad to see you about again, Tim," he said. "How are you feeling?"

"I may recover, but I'll never be the same," answered the other, with an awkward attempt to appear at ease. Then from force of habit, "Will ye have a drink at the 'hall'?"

He stole a glance at his companion. Kleath's face was pale and tired-looking. His eyes had that strained appearance one sees in persons who try to bear pain without flinching.

They spoke of casual, inconsequential things until, seated in the little office behind the "Hall," Tim said with considerable emotion.

"I want to thank ye, Chris, for the courtesy ye showed to Goldie. Believe me, when I tell you I appreciate it."

Kleath rose and walked about the small room. "It was nothing," he said, shortly. "The fact that I was called upon to do nothing but sit still and be acquitted, robs me of any heroism you good Dawson folk try to fasten upon me."

"That ain't the idea at all," argued Meadows, with great earnestness. "Everybody knows what ye war prepared to do—an' that's where the hero act comes in. But what's eatin' me, Chris, is that nobody knows any Goldie kept her mouth shut an' now they think of the girl as such a little coward."

"No! No!" cried Kleath.

"Of course. Why not? Ain't that your opinion?"

Over Kleath's face a flush of anger spread. His eyes narrowed and became harsh and cold.

"You speak like that about your own daughter?" he demanded. "Damn me, Tim Meadows, but I have a half a mind to thrash you!"

Meadows tried not to show his exultation. Kleath, then, bore Goldie no grudge, no ill-will.

"She thinks it is," he muttered.

"Will you tell her," he asked, "that nothing is farther from my thoughts?"

"She won't believe me! Oh, I say, Chris," he suggested. "What would ye think about tellin' her yourself?"

Kleath hesitated a moment, then consented. They left the "Hall" together, the younger man so preoccupied with his thoughts that he did not see what the older one saw—Goldie crossing the little bridge and turning along the river front to the "San Domingo." She walked with her head bowed and she did not see the two men.

Meadows did some rapid thinking and decided to take a chance.

"Chris!" he said, suddenly. "Meeting you drove out of my head the very thing I went to the 'Hall' for! I wonder—would ye mind steppin' back to the office, lookin' in the cupboard an' fetchin' me that bottle of peroxide? I don't relish the prospect of too much exercise. And I can tell Goldie ye are comin."

Kleath hurried thru the bar, into the passage and burst into the little room.

"Good God," he said, and stopped on the threshold.

Goldie was crouched on the floor in a tempest of weeping, mingling her tears with a dark brown stain which marked the spot where he had fallen over Haynes' lead pipe.

All the words he meant to say to her went from him. He did just what he had sworn a hundred times he would never permit himself to do. He seized her in his arms, crushed her to him and kissed her over and over again.

"Then you don't hate me—you don't hate me," she murmured as she clung to him.

"I hate myself," he said, presently, and put her from him. "I am weak, spineless, a coward. I knew I ought to go out of your life without seeing you again, yet I have hung around Dawson these last few days in the hope of getting even a glimpse of you in the distance. But I will take comfort in knowing you can forget the blots I have brought into your life."

"Chris!" The cry was wrenched from the very depths of her being. "I don't know what you mean! If you feel like this—why did you not come to me. . . ."

"Come to you? Because I knew I was weak. You must loathe my deceit. You must see, as I do, now, that even loyalty to the unhappy girl who was my wife, is no excuse for having dragged you into the cursed tangle of my life."

"Chris," she asked, "do you love me?"

He turned roughly away.

"Don't play with me," he muttered. "I'm not."

She came to him timidly, and laid her hands against his breast.

He resisted a moment. Then, with a low cry his arms folded round her.

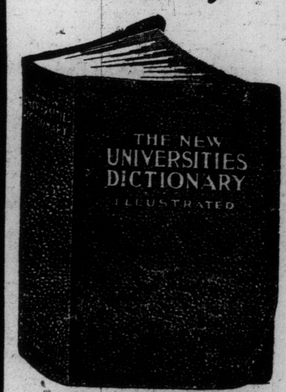

"Oh, Goldie, woman-of-mine," he breathed against her lips, "how you turn misery into joy, darkness into light, Dawson into Paradise."

THE END.

WARNING SENT TO THE HOCKEY CLUBS

The O.H.A. have sent the following notice to clubs: Under separate cover birth certificates registered with the Ontario Hockey Association for the playing season of 1920-21, are being returned to the clubs. Please note that when applications for playing certificates in the junior series of the O.H.A. are being put next season new birth certificates will be required for all players, including those registered in past seasons, and new ones who intend to play in the association for the first time.

Your particular attention is also drawn to "Clause 14" of the regulations of the Ontario Hockey Association which reads as follows:

"Each club shall have a set of books setting forth the receipts and expenses of each year in detail, which books may be examined by the O.H.A., or any of its officers appointed for such purpose at any time. The set of books is to consist of cash book and ledger, and a complete, detailed statement of receipts and expenses for the season must be filed with the secretary of the O.H.A. on or before the 15th of April following, by each club in the association. The first of such statements is to be filed by April 15, 1921. Failure to comply with this clause automatically suspends the club from membership in the association."

There shall be no exception made in enforcing this regulation and this notice must be taken as final.

LOOKS LIKE VANCOUVER TO LIFT STANLEY CUP

Vancouver, B.C., April 1.—In the most strenuous hockey battle of the present world championship series, Vancouver defeated the Senators of Ottawa, 3 to 2, here last night, and opened up the race for the Stanley Cup. It was the fourth game, and each team has won two. The final game will be played on Monday night, under Pacific Coast Hockey Association rules, with Skinner and Mackay playing their regular positions on the local line-up. The millionaires played a bang-up brand of hockey, and carried the play right into Ottawa territory. The Senators lost because Vancouver attacked close into Benedict before essaying to score. The Senators excelled in combination, especially during the first two periods, and, while the play was about even during the two sessions, the last period saw the locals having an edge on the play. There were eleven penalties during the game, and no less than twenty-nine switches of players.

Never was a hockey game harder to "dope" than that which is to be played here on Monday night next to decide the championship of professional hockey. Both teams will be at full strength, it is expected, and the odds would seem to be in favor of the Coast champions, at their own game and on home ice. But Ottawa has carried off one game under western rules in this series, and, allowing for local prejudice, there is a lot of opinion here at this stage of the series that the Senators will keep the Stanley Cup for another season. Upwards of 30,000 persons have witnessed the series so far.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM WIN THE GAME, BUT LOSE THE ROUND

Varsity, intercollegiate champions, turned the tables on Central, O.B.A. winners, in the return basketball game last night at Hart House, but the margin was only 5 points—30 to 25, and, as the students lost last Tuesday, 36 to 10, the Y. boys win the round by 21 points, and are now ready to play the final for the Canadian title with Ottawa or M.A.A.A., who meet tonight. The teams lined up as follows:

Central — Forwards, Johnson, Reeves; centre, Wells; defence, Boland, Ginsberg; spares, Johnson and Webster.

Varsity—Forwards, McLean, Urquhart; centre, Bell; defence, Ragan, Graham; spares, Gill and Dixon.

Referee—Buscombe.

In a preliminary game Varsity II. beat Central II., 40 to 28.

Jock Hutchison Makes Pinehurst Golf Record

Pinehurst, N.C., April 1.—Jock Hutchison of the Glenview Club of Chicago established a competitive record of 69 for the difficult number three course here today, playing his second round in the north and south open golf championship. Hutchison tied with George Frothering-ham of Brettonwoods in leading the field of eighty players for the first 36 holes, both doing 144.

Other crack players were within a few strokes of the leaders, and an interesting competition was promised for the final 36 holes on the championship course tomorrow.

J. W. Kirkwood, the Australian champion, played well thru the green, but could not get the touch of the sand greens and was 76-78—154, the same figure as Walter Hagen. There were ten scores better than this.

Hutchison's record was scored over a 6223 yard course, par, for which is 71. His card:

Out .....4 4 4 3 4 3 3 5 5—35
In .....3 4 4 5 3 3 5 4 3—34

Oxford and Cambridge May Come on Later Date

Cambridge, Mass., April 1.—Oxford and Cambridge Universities are anxious to accept the invitation of Harvard and Yale to a joint dual track and field meeting to be held at the Harvard Stadium, but would be unable to compete before late July or August. This word was received today by Major F. W. Moore, graduate manager of athletics at Harvard, in reply to an invitation cabled the English universities a week ago for a joint meeting here on June 18. The athletic authorities at Harvard and Yale were disposed at first glance to consider the proposed postponement impracticable. Major Moore conferred over the telephone with A. C. Gilbert of the track advisory committee at Yale, and it developed that both felt that the dates suggested are too late to make it possible to hold the American College athletes in training. The postponement, however, will be considered more fully at a conference later.

CHIEF SPONSOR'S ODDS.

In answer to subscriber Chief Sponsor won the Goodwood Plate, first day of the O.J.C. meeting last spring, May 22, beating Assyrian Queen, the Ross entry, at odds 4430 to 100.

BRITISH RUGBY FOOTBALL.

West of England Rugby Football Club will hold a special practice Saturday afternoon at Riverdale Park, 2.30 sharp. Per kind favor of Great War Veterans' Association, Riverdale branch, players may change at headquarters, Riverdale and Broadview avenues. All members please turn out. Any new members will be made heartily welcome. Secretary, F. C. Carter, 52 Monarch Park avenue, phone Ger. 1134, will be glad to furnish any particulars.

BASKETBALL AT LONDON.

London, Ont., April 1.—Windsor Collegiate tonight defeated Brantford by 42 to 16 in the final for the western Ontario interscholastic championship, the Western University Trophy and sterling silver medals. Brantford eliminated Strathroy in the semi-finals, and Woodstock went down to Windsor. The teams were:

Windsor—Howell, Dowd, McConnell, Perry, Stevenson, Philip.
Brantford—Lambert, Adams, Bice, Wallace, Rogers, Zeigler, Middlemiss.
Referee—A. T. Taylor, Judge—G. M. Brook.

THE LEAFS PLAY SOLDIERS TODAY

Pitchers Snyder and Thompson Continue to Show Improvement.

Columbus, Ga., April 1.—(Special.)—With the return to form of Billy Snyder and Harry Thompson the Leafs' pitching prospects are greatly enhanced. Both these sterling performers warmed up with much vigor today and are apparently almost ready to start. They may be given a chance in tomorrow's game with the soldiers, which will be the last the club will play here, as on Sunday afternoon the players will entrain for Spartanburg, where two games will be played Monday and Tuesday.

Warfield, the Baltimore boy, will probably be sent home. His arm is still stiff and sore. The major league managers so far have turned a deaf ear to Larry Doyle's appeals for help, but he is sanguine that he will receive some favorable reply before long.

No fault could be found with the weather today and both practices were full of action. The surprise of the day was the debut of Joe Wagner as an outfielder. If he shows any dexterity in handling the high and lofties he may get a regular berth as a fly-chaser on account of his batting skill. The Leafs need a hard-hitting fielder. Gonzales, according to the dope, is billed to understudy Doyle, who at present is limping badly as a result of a strain.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

St. Francis, Western City team, practice this afternon at Bellwoods Park. Old and new players are asked to turn out.

Herzl Zion team will hold a practice Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Ramsden Park. All players are requested to be there on time, and also asked to get in touch with Manager Epstein at Ade. 1956 before 1 o'clock.

St. Anne's junior and intermediate baseball teams will play a practice game at Dufferin Park today at 2 o'clock. The following players are requested to turn out: C. Newby, M. Newby, Rae, Crossley, Wray, Boynton, Creamer, Pearce, MacDonald, Morrison, Towler, Jameson, Cannon, Reeves, McCarthy, Balard, Mc. Fadden, Towers, Nichols, Hadlward, Black, Rathe and any others wishing to make the teams.

Williamson road bantams practice this afternoon at 2 o'clock. All players wishing to join, especially pitchers, will be welcomed.

Moss Park juniors and juveniles will practice at the flats at 2.30 today and the midgets at Harbor Square at 2.30 today.

Frank Hallinan has been reappointed as umpire in the Western City Senior League again this season. Hallinan is rated along with the top-notchers in that line and his style in handling games has always proven satisfactory and of high quality. The league will meet next Wednesday at 62 Pauline avenue at 8 o'clock and Hillcrests, Moore, St. Francis and Monarchs are requested to have their representatives on hand early.

The Hillcrests of the Western City League practice at 2.30 this afternoon at St. Michael's College.

The Imperial Oil, Limited, Baseball Club was reorganized for the coming season at a meeting held in room 301, Imperial Oil Building, 56 Church street, on Tuesday evening, March 30, 1921. The following officers were elected: Hon. president, C. O. Stillman; hon. vice-presidents, G. H. Smith, G. W. Mayer, A. M. McQueen, Jas. Archbold, G. I. Hambly, Dr. P. F. Sinclair; president, L. Van Wort; 1st vice-president, D. T. Cummings; 2nd vice-president, G. L. Thompson; secretary, C. W. Curran; treasurer, E. A. Gallighen; manager of team, P. A. Brawley.

The team is considerably stronger than that which won the championship a year ago, and will be there or thereabouts when honors are being handed out for 1921.

Cub Rookie Allows Only Seven Hits in Thirteen Innings.

The first extra inning game of the Cubs' training trip brought Alec. Freeman, Cub recruit pitcher, into the limelight. He allowed only seven hits in the thirteen-inning game against Oaklands of the Pacific Coast League, a single in the 13th, scoring the winning run for Oakland, 3 to 2. The veterans, Arlett and Krause, were effective for the Oakland team on the mound.

A new pitcher, capable of taking his regular turn on the mound for the reorganized Sox, has been discovered, Manager Gleason believes, in Dominick Mulrennan. He held the Fort Worth team to three hits and one run for six innings yesterday, while the White Sox sluggers hit three doubles and eleven singles, against strong pitching.

The Cleveland Indians finally ran against a pitcher who could stop their slugging. Olin Voight, a New York Giant recruit, loaned to the San Antonio Texas League team for the season, had the champions at his mercy during the four innings he worked yesterday. The Indians won the game, 8 to 4, scoring their runs before Voight went to the mound.

The St. Louis National League team arrived in St. Louis yesterday from their spring training camp, ready to meet the St. Louis American League entry in a series starting Saturday afternoon. The American League team returned home Wednesday.

The New York Americans broke their spring training camp at Shreveport, La., yesterday, and proceeded to New Orleans to join the Brooklyn Nationals for an exhibition tour northward. "Babe" Ruth, who has been suffering from a sprained wrist for several days, played part of the game Thursday against the Shreveport team. Manager Egan of the Milwaukee American Association team is reported to have called on Manager McGraw of the Giants at Mobile and demanded two New York players, one a catcher, as part payment for Alex. Gaston, the catcher obtained from the Brewers last fall.

The Philadelphia American League baseball team has broken camp at Lake Charles, La., the first team having left for Mobile, Ala., where two games will be played with the New York Nationals.

Development of an ability to garner extra base hits is reported among members of the Boston National League team, training at Galveston, Texas. This is an indication, leaders of the Braves believe, that the team will be one of the contenders this year for the pennant. In an exhibition game with the Galveston Texas League team the Braves got 15 hits, many of them for extra bases. Billy Southworth gathered two home runs, one with two on the bases and the other with the sacks filled. The Braves won, 12 to 7.

INDICTED BALL PLAYERS WANT SMALLER BAIL BONDS

Chicago, Il., April 1.—Carl Zork and Ben. Franklin, St. Louis men recently indicted in the second grand jury investigation of baseball scandal and said by state officials to have organized the alleged conspiracy for Chicago White Sox players to throw the 1919 world series to Cincinnati, are expected to surrender here tomorrow and give bail, Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, said tonight.

At the same time it became known that most of the other sixteen men indicted with Zork and Franklin are ready to surrender if bail could be fixed at what attorneys termed "a reasonable figure." Bail for each indicted person was fixed in indictments at $40,000.

Thomas D. Nash, attorney for Buck Weaver, Swede Risberg, Happy Felsch and Fred McMullin, four indicted White Sox players, announced tonight that he would go before Judge C. A. McDonald Monday and make a motion that the bail be made lower than the amount set after the first investigation. Each person indicted then was required to furnish $10,000, except Eddie Cicotte, who was released on $5,000 bonds. Mr. Nash said that Weaver, Felsch and Risberg were "close to Chicago" and ready to surrender if reasonable bail could be arranged. McMullin, he said, was on the Pacific coast, but would come here any time he was wanted.

BROADWAY ATHLETIC CLUB.

The Broadway Social and Athletic Club smoker held last night surpassed all expectations. Six bouts of boxing by Henning, Cryne, Smith, Davidson and others furnished the patrons with a good night's entertainment alone. All the other items too numerous to mention were of an excellent character. Several of the well-known sporting gentlemen were there, including Mr. Walter Trivett and members of the boxing commission, who complimented the club officials on the excellent manner in which they conducted their club. If the boxing of last night be taken as a criterion, it is almost certain that some of the U. S. A. champions at Boston will find a home at Toronto. The Broadway S. and A. C. heartily invite any one interested in amateur athletics to come in and join this go-ahead club.

PLAYERS WANT REINSTATEMENT

Tweddle and Stroud Played With Rosedale Lacrosse Club Years Ago.

Harry Halpin is calling an organization meeting of the Shamrocks at the Empress Hotel on Thursday night of next week. Several of his last season's stars are again ready to take up the game in the interests of the Irish squad, while players formerly connected with the Dominions and Carlisles will be made welcome. Shamrocks will likely be the only team operating intermediate in Toronto and there is no dougt plenty of boys too old for junior and not sufficiently experienced for senior who would like to link up with the Shamrocks.

The executive of the O.A.L.A. are holding a preliminary meeting at the Empress Hotel on Friday of next week. Several important items in the interest of the game will be up for discussion.

Ernie Tweddle and George Stroud are making application for reinstatement. These players took part in one or two games for the Rosedale Club several years ago, since which time they have been out of al laport. Their application will likely be referred to a sub-committee for investigaton, and then sent on to the registration committee of the Ontario branch, C.A.A.U.

Birth certificates must be produced by all junior and juvenile players before playing certificates will be issued. The boys should get busy on this very important item.

A new playing certificate, after the form of the O.H.A., will be in use by lacrosse clubs this season. Secretary Labett expects to have these ready for distribution some time next week.

The Maitlands will likely practice and play their games at Ramsden Park with their lockers and dressing rooms close by or at Aura Lee. The Maitlands officers are: President, C. Canning; vice-president, A. Rowland; treasurer, C. Cody; secretary, W. Lillie; managers, seniors, J. Garlick; junior, M. Johnston; juvenile, J. Newell; midgets, R. Ross.

WON AMSDEN AND GOODALL TROPHIES

Whist Congress Prizes Captured by Woodstock and Toronto.

At yesterday's session of the Canadian Whist Congress the Amsden and Goodall trophies were decided, the former going to Woodstock, represented by Dr. Jupp, Mrs. W. H. Sears, W. E. Byrne and Mrs. Sinclair, and the latter to the Toronto four, Beharriell, J. F. Connolly, Jacobson and Connor.

In the afternoon a progressive auction bridge game was an innovation. It introduced a goodly number of new players to the congress. The North and South had the best end of the 24 deals played. Top score on the side was made by Mrs. Davern of North Bay, with her partner, Miss Ullyot of Trenton. While for the East and West Harry Landerkin and Horace Leger got the honors.

The Toronto Whist Club entertained at dinner in the Prince George the out of town players. About fifty sat down, headed by John Hall of Woodstock, the president of the Canadian Whist League. Mr. Brown of Cleveland, and Mr. Fry of Chicago replied briefly to the address of welcome, after which Mr. Lenz of New York entertained and mystified the gathering with some marvelous card tricks. STEEL INDUSTRIES ARE CLOSED DOWN BY MINERS' STRIKE the miners' federation leaders owing to the general deprecation against removing the men on the part of the newspapers is not known, but the general belief expressed is that the men have not been withdrawn owing to a desire not to prejudice the situation pending a conference between labor's triple alliance next Wednesday. Until then events probably will mark time.

A minor sequel to the dispute is that the house of lords will reassemble eight days before the time stipulated for them to do so.

The house of commons had adjourned until April 4 and the house of lords until April 13. By the emergency proclamation the government is bound to convene parliament within five days. Hence a royal proclamation as issued tonight convening both houses for Monday.

Liberals Blame Government.

Lively debates are anticipated in parliament as not the laborite, but the Liberal press, while conceding that the miners under the present exception] depression must expect some reduction in wages, throw the whole blame for the dispute upon the government on the ground that the abolition of government control of mines five months before the proper time merely because the industry is suffering adverse conditions is unjustified and unfair toward the miners. It is also argued that instead of the mine owners having given the miners an ultimatum to accept wage reductions settled by the mine owners themselves an opportunity should have been given for joint discussions.

Swells Ranks of Unemployed.

The coal strike will come at a difficult time for industry generally. Official statistics show there has been an increase of 30,000 in the ranks of the unemployed this week as compared with last week. The total on the registers of the unemployment exchanges is now nearing 1,600,000, exclusive of more than 800,000 who are on short time. These have been increased more than a million in the coal fields.

John J. Jones, Labor member of parliament, in a speech at Ilford tonight, asserted that within recent weeks notices have been issued in sixty industries that wages were to be reduced by from ten to twenty shillings per week.

A conference in the shipbuilding trade was held at Carlisle today to discuss the claims of employers for a reduction of six shillings on time rates and fifteen per cent. on piece work. The workmen demanded that the matter should be submitted to arbitration unier the industrial court act. The employers refused to entertain the demand, and the conference ended without a settlement having been reached. The workmen are now asking the ministry of labor to intervene, but it is expected a strike may result.

GOVERNMENT IS FORCED BY G.T.R.

outstanding preference and common stock. The government was to assume the liabilities of the company, guaranteeing the interest on the "guarantee stock," and pay for the preference stock a sum to be fixed by arbitration. It was further provided that the arbitrators should make their award within nine months after their appointment unless an extension of time was granted by the government. While the arbitration was going on, the Grand Trunk was to be operated by a board of management to be jointly named by the government and the railway company. Upon the coming in of the award, the government was to take possession of the railway and absorb it into the Canadian National Railway system.

G. T. R. Arbitration Delayed.

Three arbitrators were appointed last July. The government named Sir Thomas White, the Grand Trunk named ex-President Taft, and Sir Walter Cassels, judge of the exchequer court of Canada, became, under the Grand Trunk purchase act, the third arbitrator. The arbitrators should have heard the case and had their award ready by Saturday, April 9.

As a matter of fact, they have not heard the entire case and are unable to make an award by that time. This condition of affairs has arisen thru the action of the Grand Trunk officials who have not gone ahead with their side of the case and have delayed the proceedings in every way.

Several courses are open to the government. The government might extend the time for making the award, but this would mean more delay and a further postponement of the coordination of the old Grand Trunk upon which the success of the National Railways so largely depends. The government is inclined to refuse this extension and it is said that the majority of the members at this morning's caucus took the same view. The government feels that the Grand Trunk officials will delay the case indefinitely if an extension be granted and yet if an extension be refused they will claim that the shareholders are being deprived of their property without full and fair hearing before the arbitrators. Moreover, the arbitrators themselves may refuse to make any award unless and until they have heard all the testimony that the Grand Trunk officials have to offer. It is pretty well known that Chairman Smithers of the Grand Trunk has been sending fiery cablegrams of protest to members of the government and to the arbitrators, and he will no doubt attempt to stir up feeling in the mother country against the government if the delay he is seeking be refused.

Sir Robert Borden's Views.

It is known that Sir Robert Borden addressed the caucus this morning and what he said there can be fairly inferred from what he said in public. Sir Robert believes that the government should not trifle with the situation and that the acquisition of the Grand Trunk is essential to the success of the National Railway system. He is quoted as saying at the caucus this morning that his government would not have entered upon government ownership of railways had it not confidentially anticipated absorbing the old Grand Trunk into the National system. He is said to have vigorously combatted some pleas for delay put up by some members who favored a timid policy in dealing with the Grand Trunk situation. He denounced the insidious suggestion that the government call the whole deal off and permit the Grand Trunk to go into liquidation.

It is said that the Grand Trunk management would be glad to back out of the bargain with the government, tho how on earth the road is to function without financial help from the government no one can imagine. If the road went into liquidation and were sold under the hammer the shareholders would get nothing. It would mean that the system would be dismembered and that the best portions of it would be purchased by the Canadian Pacific. To avoid this some members of parliament suggested that the arbitrators be authorized to give the company the maximum amount permissible under the Grank Trunk act, which would be practically a four per cent. return upon the capital sum of one hundred and twenty-five million dollars. The government, however, has no intention of being rushed up, and does not regard either the preferred or common stock as having much value.

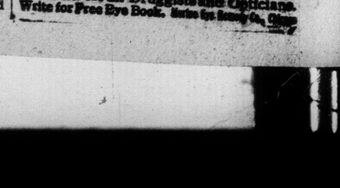

May Take Possession of Road.

One thing the government can do, and that is by order-in-council, to take possession immediately of all the Grand Trunk lines within the Dominion of Canada. Such action would be ratified by the Dominion parliament, and care could be taekn to ensure a fair compensation to the shareholders for their interest in the property. Indeed, this seems the one way to straighten out the tangle created by crafty officials and slow-moving arbitrators. In any event, the public can rest assured that Premier Meighen will not put up with any unfair dealing by the Grand Trunk management. He is not likely to let the road go into liquidation or fall into the clutches of the Canadian Pacific. If necessary he will take possession of the road and parliament will stand by him.

SAY THEY KNOW WHO BOMBED WALL STREET

New York, April 1.—Agents of the department of justice have known for some weeks the identity of the radical group responsible for the Wall street explosion last September, William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation, declared here tonight.

He asserted that it was the same group which had plotted the widespread bombing of 1919, when explosions occurred in Washington, New York, Boston and other cities, and the home of former Attorney-General Palmer was attacked. Its members have scattered and some are in foreign lands, according to Flynn, who added that his agents were pressing their hunt for the fugitives, both in the United States and abroad.

REAL ESTATE BUSINESS GROWS ACTIVE WITH SPRING

MANY PEOPLE NOW IN MARKET FOR HOUSES

Real Estate Men Also Report Very Active Demand for Office Space—Accommodation Booked in Buildings Now in Course of Construction — Rentals Said to Be Stiffening, Owing to Poor Outlook for Lower Taxes.

Real estate men report a very active demand just now for office space, especially in the close-in business district. All the large buildings in the vicinity of King and Yonge streets are fully occupied, and considerable space has already been booked in buildings now in course of construction. Office rentals are said to be stiffening rather than weakening owing to the poor outlook for lower taxes. Some of the best offices in the large buildings are now renting around $3.50 a square foot, which is more than 100 per cent. over the rates for the same offices before the war.

The World was told yesterday that the demand for offices was greater now than in 1920. Factory and warehouse space is available at present at advantageous rates, and there is more of it offering now than in months.

Messrs. Goulding & Company report that there are a large number of people in the market for houses. Owing to the difficulty in renting a house at a reasonable price people are finding it more advantageous to buy.

On Yonge and Bloor.

The plans for the widening of upper Yonge street and Bloor street close-in is probably responsible for the number of inquiries received by real estate men from investors concerning available properties on these streets. It is understood that any land at a reasonable price on Bloor between Sherbourne st. and Spadina ave., would find a buyer without difficulty. Yonge street frontage between Shuter and Gerrard streets is said to be most in demand just now.

The Zimmerman Reliance Knitting Co., who sometime ago purchased the factory building at the northwest corner of Portland and Stewart streets, for $30,000, have resold to Business Systems, Limited.

The property changed hands in 1912 for $70,000.

M. P. Warran has sold to Messrs. Hughes and Company, cloth shrinkers, the four-storey factory at 786-8 West King street, for $28,000.

The lot is 52 feet by 95 feet. This sale was made by E. and J. Flanagan, who also report the following sales:

The sale of 26-30 Britain street to the Allatt Machine and Tool Company for $18,000. The vendors were the Green estate. There is a solid brick factory on the lot, which has a frontage of 45 feet on Britain st. and 15 feet on Queen.

A two-storey factory and lot 29 by 198 feet, was sold to the United Hat and Cap Company by the Manor estates. The price was $22,000. There is an apartment at the front of this lot facing College and factory at rear.

The store at 570 College street has been sold to H. Weinburg for $10,500, the deal having been negotiated by Messrs. Pote & Rogers.

Attitude on Building Lots.

Messrs. Pote & Rogers also report that since the first of the year there has been a great change in the attitude of the public towards building lots, and that everything points to a big business this spring. They report the following sales recently:

Vaughan Road Heights: 75 feet on Snider avenue, at $18 per foot, to J. Fleetwood. W. Wainright, J. Fairthorn; 110 feet, Schell avenue, at $20 per foot, to S. Long, C. Ellis and J. Fleetwood; 100 feet, Fairbank avenue, at $22 per foot, to F. Beauchamp and F. Coffin; 50 feet on Chamberlain avenue, at $20 per foot, to J. Berry; 27 feet on Elizabeth street, at $22 per foot, to F. Conlin; 50 feet on Eglinton avenue, $40 per foot, to W. Taylor.

McMaster Heights: 50 feet on Heddington avenue, at $22 per foot, to E. W. Cullen; 55 feet on Spurgeon avenue, at $25 per foot, to B. Archibald.

Regents Park: 125 feet on Westbourne avenue, at $12 per foot, to A. Johnston, A. Norman and L. Cotton; 92 feet on Broadview avenue, north of Danforth, at $65 per foot, to W. Gordon, C. Webb and A Norwich; 50 feet on Spadina, near Forest Hill, $40 per foot, to F. H. Shortt; 90 feet on Avenue road, at $20 per foot, to E. Watson.

Suburb of Islington: 100 feet, by a depth of 400 feet, at $15 per foot, on Islington avenue, to H. Bishop 100 feet on Botfield avenue, at $7 per foot, to J. Pritchard 45 feet on Jopling avenue, at $9 per foot, to Mr. Webb.

The city has several thousand feet of building land for sale, and Assessment Commissioner Forman said yesterday that the market was beginning to move. A number of sales have been closed up this week, some thru agents and others thru the department direct.

BUILDERS ARE BUSY OBTAINING PERMITS

City Architect Predicts Building Active Thru April, May and June.

Toronto house builders are now taking out permits at the rate of about 15 a day. In the month of March permits were issued for 310 brick buildings, and there were a few frame dwellings. Eighteen stores were also started, the cost of which will be $55,000, and permits were also issued for 255 garages at a cost of $74,650. The total value of the buildings for which permits were issued in March is close to $1,825,000. Last March's total was $2,062,747.

The cityarchitect's department did not begin to get real busy until well on towards the end of the month, but the pace is now increasing. City Architect Price predicts that building will be very active thru April, May and June.

The city architect's department issued the following building permits yesterday:

John Keens, brick dwelling, 201 Inglenook drive, near Lighthall ave., $12,000.

S. McWhitter, dwelling, on the west side of West Lynn ave., near East Lynn, $3,500.

T. Gresswell, dwelling, west side of Jackman ave., near Playter cres., $5,500.

M. De Jonckheir, two dwellings, south side of Colbeck ave., near Jane st., $9,000.

W. T. Bennett, residence, 55 Rose Park drive, $4,500.

W. C. Sancto, dwelling, east side of Clifton road, near Glenrose ave., $6,000.

Grimshaw Bros., three detached dwellings, west side of Oakdene cres., near Strathmore boulevard, $12,000.

One dwelling on Oakdene cres., near Glebeholme boulevard, $5,000.

HYDRO COMMISSION WANTS BLOCK OF LAND

Rumors current some weeks ago that the Provincial Hydro Commission were after a block of land fronting on York street for a radial up-town station have been revived, and it is understood prices on the several pieces affected have been obtained.

The World was told yesterday that the owners were asking prices that were considered exorbitant, and that there was every possibility of expropriation proceedings being launched. Connection with this station will, it is understood, be by tunnel from the main station on the waterfront.

HOUSES BUILDING WILL GIVE PROFIT

Controller Hiltz Says Homes Will Not Be Drug on Market.

The West Toronto branch of the Toronto Home Builders' Association was addressed last evening by Controller W. W Hiltz, who gave a very interesting talk on the growth of the city. Mr. Hiltz stated that the population of Toronto had doubled every fifteen years during the last century and would probably grow faster during the coming years. This would mean that one hundred thousand houses would have to be built in the next fifteen years, or to strike an average, about six thousand houses per year. He stated that no builder need have any fear that houses would be a drug on the market, for that houses would have to be sold at a loss. As only about 1,500 houses were built last year the shortage is very acute.

Controller Hiltz urged the importance of considering the beauty of the city at large in all plans for house building, and requested the association to use its best efforts to promote the building of more artistic homes.

It was inferred from what Controller Hiltz said that he did not anticipate any material drop in the price of houses for some time to come, and that the builders need not hesitate to build to the limit of their ability.

LOCAL ASSESSMENTS FOR WIDENING YONGE

Between 2,000 and 2,500 residents of North Toronto will be assessed locally for the widening of Yonge street and the work will affect all properties within 500 feet of Yonge street.

The assessment commissioner's department is working on the report at present and will have the bylaw authorizing the work ready by the middle of the month.

OWN YOUR OWN HOME

THERE is no better time to begin acquiring a home than when a couple is young and without the incumbrances which come with later years. During the time that a husband's ambition is at its height and it is possible for him to save a good part of his earnings, he should take the first steps toward owning a home. Unless these steps are taken when the opportunity is good, it is found later on that decreased earning power and a larger family compel folks to pay rent for the rest of their lives.

ST. LAWRENCE AND PRODUCE MARKETS

High Freight Rates Act as a Deterrent to Business.

Business, generally speaking, at the St. Lawrence market is quiet these days, with prices for most all lines of foodstuffs pretty well maintained. Eggs continue very weak at prices quoted, and it looks as tho we had not yet touched bottom. Butter holds fairly steady, with receipts of Ontario fresh-made increasing and quality generally good.

In the wholesale sections trade in most all lines is reported as very good with an average turnover in all lines.

Fresh strawberries of more than average quality are coming in from Florida and Louisiana, and are retailing to the trade at 21c to 22c a box, mostly the former price. In most all lines there is a good all round demand, and the wholesale fruit men are not making any complaints about business.

One thing that militates greatly, of course, against freer buying and selling is the enormous freight rate paid by the wholesale men on the southern stuff, amounting in some cases to double and treble the first cost of the goods, say in Florida or California. One wholesale firm cited a case of celery to The World, the cost of which was three times its value at the point of shipment. The freight rates are practically eating up everything.

Take a car of oranges for instance, the cost of which a year or two ago ran around $400, is now $800. So far there is apparently no redress.

NEW LOWER LEVELS IN WINNIPEG GRAIN

Wheat Prices Slump Over Five Cents Under Selling Pressure.

Winnipeg, April 1.—Continued selling pressure, coupled with the general bearish conditions existing, sent wheat prices to lower levels again today. After advancing to $1.72⅝, after the lower opening, May wheat reacted sharply and fell to $1.67½, advanced from this figure again to full away until $1.65¾ was reached, at which figure it closed. This represents a slump of about 18c in four days, and a decline of 5¾c from yesterday's close. July acted with May and at the close showed a decline of 6¼c from the previous close.

The cash situation showed some improvement today with a strong demand and an increase of 3½c in premiums. Offerings, however, continued to come out slowly.

The coarse grains all showed the weakness in wheat. Oats closed 2¼c to 2½c lower; barley, 3⅝c to 4¾c lower; flax 10⅝c to 11c lower, and rye 5c lower.

CATTLE BREEDERS WAIT ON TOLMIE

Seek an Improvement in Conditions Governing Raising and Sale of Stock.

Ottawa, April 1.—With a view to bringing about an improvement in conditions governing the breeding and sale of cattle, an influential deputation composed of representatives of different cattle breeders' associations in Ontario and Quebec waited on Hon. E. C. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, this morning, and outlined their demands.

The deputation asked for an improvement of the accredited herd system for the freeing of herds of tuberculosis, a better control of tuberculosis and other drugs used in tuberculine testing, which are often converted to purposes derogatory to those intended.

Members of the deputation explained that the Canadian condition worked a hardship on Canadian cattle breeders. Under the present regulations, when Canadian cattle are shipped to the United States, one reactor among the cattle exported would hold up the whole consignment indefinitely.

Deputation's Suggestion.

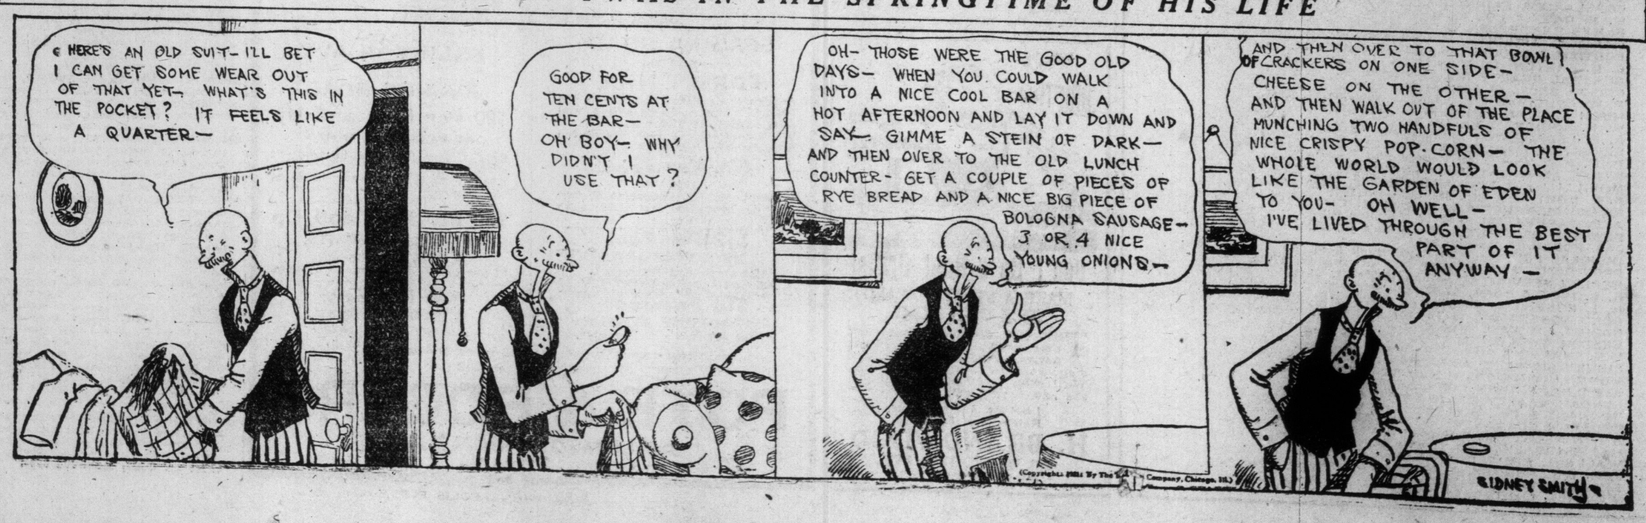

In place of these regulations, the deputation suggested that regulations similar to those in effect on the United States' side be applied. Under the American regulations, when a reactor is found, the reactors are returned to the loading point and the balance of the cattle which make up the shipment are allowed to go forward.

The Minister assured the deputation that an opportunity would be afforded them to meet a select committee of the cabinet, which would include Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance.

THE GUMPS—'TWAS IN THE SPRINGTIME OF HIS LIFE

OIL STOCKS ARE WEAK IN NEW YORK MARKET

Atlantic Gulf Breaks More Than Six Points on Heavy Selling in Closing Hour—Some Stocks Finish Session With Net Gains.

New York, April 1.—In its salient and more material characteristics, trading on the stock exchange today covered the ground made more or less familiar by recent confusing and wavering tendencies, losses predominating at the irregular close.

Shares of the same class frequently moved in opposite directions. Only in a few noteworthy instances was there any evidence of more than professional or speculative interest, many of the investment rails reflecting further neglect.

Trading was most active in the last hour, when heavy selling of Atlantic Gulf at a net loss of 6 1-2 points was the outstanding feature. The stock was freely offered on reports that the company had failed in its negotiations to sell some of its oil holdings and tankers to the Mexican Petroleum Company.

Oils, as a class, were heavy thruout, the so-called Doheny group reacting 1 to 3 points, with General Asphalt, Texas Company, Royal Dutch and others of less prominence.

Studebaker, Harvester, United Drug and Laclede Gas, at net gains of 1 to 5 1-2 points, comprised the few elements of comparative strength. Sales amounted to 575,000 shares.

Time Funds Firmer.

Latest financial and industrial advices offered no incentive for public participation. Time funds evinced a firmer tone on less liberal offerings and labor conditions here and abroad became more involved or unsettled.

London's market was depressed by the strike of the coal miners, and the decision of the Manchester spinners to continue short time in mills using American cotton was not without effect on that staple in home markets. Dealings in foreign exchange were curtailed and rates on London and other European centres were inclined to ease.

The bond market was dull, with price changes narrow in the main. Pennsylvania Railroad 6 1-2's made yet another low record at 95 3-4. Liberty issues and foreign war flotations were somewhat mixed. Total sales, par value, aggregated $8,875,000.

PUBLIC UTILITY SHARES SHOW MORE STRENGTH

The Toronto stock market was inactive again yesterday, altho in some sections of the market the undertone was stronger. This was the case in the traction stocks and other public utility issues. Duluth-Superior made a further advance to 19 1-8.

Steels were only steady. The statement of Steel of Canada had very little effect upon the shares, altho it was considered a good statement under the commercial conditions which are ruling. Dominion Steel was a fraction lower than the day previous. General Electric was heavy and down to 110 1-2. C.P.R. was firmer with the New York market. The investment department practically represented no change in quotations, with dealings only to a moderate extent.

NEW LOW RECORD IN MONTREAL SALES

Montreal, April 1.—A new low record turnover for the year was registered today in transactions on the local exchange, and on this a few stocks were prominent by reason either of substantial gains or losses, but the bulk of the list was notable only for its extreme dulness and lack of feature. The largest gain was scored by Bell Telephone, which netted 4¼ points, including its dividend at 108.

Only Laurentide furnished a sale of board lot size among the paper stocks. Sugar was the least inactive stock, dealings amounting to 655 shares, with selling more urgent than buying, and the price registering a net decline of 1¼ points.

Steel of Canada was half a point up, and Iron was unchanged. The bond list was again irregular and without much change. Total sales: Listed, 2893; bonds, $309,900.

PROVINCIAL NOTES GET READY MARKET

Messrs. A. E. Ames & Co. syndicate managers for the $6,000,000 six per cent. treasury notes of the Province of Ontario, reported an excellent demand yesterday for the offering which is being placed at par to buyers. A large part of the notes are being taken by local financial institutions. Associated with Ames & Co. are Messrs. Wood, Gundy & Co., Dominion Securities Corporation, A. E. Jarvis & Co., and twelve other houses.

FIRST LOAN RETIRED.

Ottawa, April 1.—It was stated this morning that the balance of the Canadian external loan of $25,000,000, which matures today in New York, and on account of which $10,000,000 in gold was recently shipped, has been retired out of Canadian bank balances in New York.

NEW YORK CURB.

New York, April 1.—There was a firm tone to prices on the curb at the beginning of today's session, but during the afternoon, initial trading quotations receded in various stocks. South American oils headed by Maracaibo declined slightly. After selling up to 29 5-8 from the opening bid of 29 this stock reacted to 28 7-8. Carib was very active and sold at 8 5-8 from the initial price of 8, but reacted to 8 1-4. Among the mining shares Eureka Croesus was again the centre of activity, ranging from 86 to 91. Virginia Cons. sold up to 7 1-4 when it was announced that the mine had opened up four feet of $1,800 ore, three feet of $300 ore, making seven feet of bonanza ore on the 1,600 foot level.

MINES DIVIDEND.

Hollinger one per cent. March 25, 1921, to shareholders of record at close of business on March 10. Ex-dividend March 10.

Dome Mines, 25c per share, payable April 20 to shareholders of record at close of business March 31. Ex-dividend March 31.

Kerr Lake, dividend No. 10, 12 1-2 cents per share, payable April 15 to shareholders of record at close of business April 1. Ex-dividend April 1.

LONDON OILS.

London, April 1.—Calcutta linseed, £16 5s. Linseed oil, 26s 6d. Sperm oil, £40. Petroleum—American refined, 2s 3¼d; spirits, 2s 4¼d. Turpentine spirits, 48s 6d. Resin—American strained, 13s; type G, 14s 6d. Tallow—Australian, 37s 6d.

HOLLINGER HIGHER; ATLAS TAKES A DROP

There was considerable increase in the volume of business on the Standard exchange yesterday, with total sales amounting to over 90,000 shares. With the exception of Atlas, which had a serious break at 9, the market was steady to firm. Nothing came out to explain the break in Atlas, but it was surmised to be the closing out of some of the New York long accounts on this stock.

The feature of the better class securities was the activity in McIntyre, with sales of 6,900 shares. A large part of this transaction, an amount of 4,500 shares, was, however, in one trade. This block of stock represented an arbitrage deal between here and New York, the sale in New York having been made at $1.90, and the same amount bought here at $1.98. This was estimated to represent over $600 made in the deal.

Hollinger sold up to $7, and Dome was strong, but not active, with a sale below the New York price.

The silvers had a little more business, but no great strength. Beaver was slower at 33, as was also Trethewey at 13 1-4.

B. A. Nickel Corporation Will Start Up Later On

Meetings of the gold bondholders and the debenture stockholders of British-America Nickel Corporation, Limited, took place yesterday, and at these meetings a scheme of refinancing was approved by very large majorities. The present bad situation of the metal market has caused all the nickel manufacturing companies in Canada temporarily to considerably reduce their production or to shut down, but the refinancing scheme for British-America Nickel Corporation Limited, which now has been adopted by the bondholders, will put this company in a position to restart its operations as and when it may be found desirable. The company's mine property, its different plants and refining processes, have recently been reported upon most favorably by various groups of eminent independent experts.

AUDITORS' REPORT

In accordance with the provisions of sub-sections 19 and 20 of Section 56 of the Bank Act, 1913, we report to the Shareholders as follows:

We have audited the above Balance Sheet and compared it with the books and vouchers at Head Office and with the certified returns from the Branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and are of the opinion that the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

We have checked the cash, and verified the securities representing the investments of the Bank, at its Chief Office and principal Branches at a date other than that of the verification at the Chief Office on the 28th February, 1921, and found that they were in agreement with the entries in the books of the Bank relating thereto.

In our opinion the Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the Bank according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Bank.

ANOTHER TUMBLE IN GRAIN PRICES

Prospect of Great Crop of Winter Wheat Gives Bears Decided Advantage.

Chicago, April 1.—Every commodity on 'change fell today to the lowest prices yet this season. Prospects of a bumper yield of winter wheat were largely responsible. Wheat closed heavy, 3½c to 5¼c net lower, with May $1.34¾ to $1.35, and July $1.14½ to $1.14¾. Corn lost ⅞c to 1¼c, oats 1⅜c to 1¾c to 1⅞c, and provisions 35c to 95c.

Altho profit-taking by shorts gave the wheat market an appearance of strength at the opening, general bearish sentiment was obvious and values soon began to break. Nervousness was evident regarding European political and economic developments, especially the British coal miners' strike, and there was no confidence on the bull side, when the attention of traders became focused on crop estimates issued by two authorities here. Both estimates pointed to a yield of winter wheat much in excess of lost year's total. On the ensuing sharp declines, export demand broadened out, and had some temporary effect in rallying the market, but investors seemed to have been scared away, and in the absence of any good general buying the close was near the bottom figures of the day.

Liquidation on the part of holders was a depressing factor in the market for corn and oats. The weakness of wheat appeared to be the chief immediate incentive to sell.

Provisions gave way with grain and hogs.

CLOSE DOWN NICKEL PLANT.

Ottawa, April 1.—In preparation for the eventual closing down of the plant, due for May 1, the British-American Nickel plant at Deschenes is gradually reducing its staff of employes. Last week in the neighborhood of three hundred men were let go, and the plant is now only working on part time. The reason giving for the closing down of the plant by the general manager is the lack of a market for its nickel products.

WAGES ARE CUT.

London, April 1.—The National Wool Allied Textile Industrial Council has decided upon another reduction in wages in the woolen industry of 3s 6d a week, making a reduction of 11s since the beginning of the year, bringing wages back to the level of last June.

FRUIT STORES MAY STILL REMAIN OPEN

Legislature Declines to Bring Them Under Early Closing Bylaw.

FIXING RAILWAY FARES

Bill to Give Provincial Board This Power Is Discussed.

The legislature yesterday rejected the bill of A. C. Lewis (N.-E. Toronto) providing for the early closing of fruit and vegetable stores. It was argued that the fact that these stores were allowed to remain open worked a great hardship on the grocers who were at present required to close their places of business at an early hour.

Street Car Fares.

The bill of Chas. McCrea (Sudbury) authorizing the Ontario railway board to fix fares on electric railroads in spite of any agreement that may exist with the municipality came up for a second reading. Mr. McCrea said a great deal of misapprehension existed with regard to the proposed measure. The time had come when a board should be in existence with power to fix railway rates where they are a matter of contention. The bill would be fair to the capitalist who had his money invested in a railway. He did not particularly desire to bring Hydro or municipally-owned railways under the provisions of his measure.

Principle Is Approved.

R. L. Brackin observed that the government had already approved the principle of the McCrea bill because the minister of mines already had a bill before the house fixing the scale of gas rates.

A. C. Lewis opposed the bill. Had its provisions been in operation last year the Toronto Street Railway Co. would have had an application in for permission to raise their rates.

The bill was read a second time and sent to committee.

R. R. Hall Complains.

Before the orders of the day R. R. Hall, the Liberal member for Parry Sound, paid this compliment to The Toronto Telegram: "I do not consider this paper a fit and proper one to bring into my home." Mr. Hall was complaining about an article containing the statement that he as former mayor of Parry Sound was responsible for the wasting away of the power dam there because he would not let the Hydro commission do the work. "As a matter of fact only 53 ratepayers in the whole town voted to have the Hydro do the work, and the council accordingly had the work done by a firm of eminent engineers. Mr. Hall positively objected to the statement that he had sold certain lands necessary to the town's power system and the paper's statement to this effect he described as a "flagrant falsehood." He proposed, he added, to get redress" for this abominable falsehood.

The house agreed to refer the matter to the committee on elections and privileges.

Insurance Amendments.

Hon. W. E. Raney introduced a bill to amend the Ontario insurance act. It is based on recommendations made by Justice Masten.

The government are not to press this bill beyond the second reading during the present session.

A bill to amend the Ontario public trustee act was also introduced. It provides that the public trustee will look after the case of persons who die friendless.

Bill is in Order.

Speaker Parliament ruled the objection taken by Charles McCrea, of Sudbury, to Premier Drury's bill to amend the public inquiries act. In the course of his judgment he said: "Where charges to be made in a bill in committee are so extensive as to amount substantially to a new bill the proper course to take is to withdraw the first bill and introduce a new one. There is no rule or custom which restrains the introduction of two or more bills relating to the same subject—and containing similar provisions—much less is there anything to prevent the introduction of two or more bills dealing with the same subject—in an entirely different manner. Bill No. 55 proposes to deal with a certain situation in one way. Bill No. 193 proposes to deal with the same situation in another way. Bill No. 55 was withdrawn without the house having passed upon the principle involved, but even if a vote had been taken and the motion for second reading defeated, there would have been nothing to prevent bill No. 193 being introduced and considered—they are entirely different measures.

"While the English authorities are clear, it may be added that the practice followed in the present instance has been adopted in numerous instances in this legislature, so that the practice is well settled here that a member may, with the consent of the house, withdraw a bill at any stage and substitute another containing similar, or as in this case, totally different provision."

HALF-CENT A MILE ON ELECTRIC LINES

Low Passenger Rates Possible, Witness Tells the Radial Commission.

Passenger rates of half a cent a mile are possible on an electric railway. This fact was brought to the attention of the Sutherland radial commission by Charles Cheval, auditor of the National Railway, which operates between Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

Mr. Cheval stated that his company sold a 61-ride book of tickets for $8, which worked out at 13 cents a ride, or a half a cent per mile, between Buffalo and Niagara Falls. The same half-cent rate was also available between Buffalo and Tonawanda.

A high wage scale was paid by this line, trainmen receiving 55 cents to 60 cents per hour, engineers, 57 to 62 cents; conductors, 56 to 61 cents, and brakemen, 53 to 58 cents. There was an agreement with the workers insuring them 10 hours work a day, which made the average pay about $6 per day.

Despite high wages and a half-cent fare, the 1920 revenue was eleven million dollars against operating costs of eight million dollars, which, with taxes, brought the total operating costs around the nine million dollar mark. As a result of the construction of the high speed electric line in 1918, thirty minutes was cut off the time of the journey between Buffalo and the Falls, and 700,000 more passengers were carried. The trip, which formerly took an hour and a half, was cut to one hour.

For Quicker Loading.

Regarding freight traffic, T. H. Stoffel of the United States highway council, maintained that electric cars could be loaded much more quickly than steam railway cars, because they could be more conveniently placed and because there would be no necessity of carrying freight thru one or more cars before it reached the car in which it was to be shipped.

The witness further pointed out that steam railway switching costs amounted to four cents per hundred pounds. An electric line could cut these costs to a cent and a half per hundred pounds, or less than half the cost of steam lines.

"Do you think that electrical interurban lines ought to have the privilege of traffic arrangements over steam lines, whether the steam railway wished it or not?" asked Commissioner Bancroft.

"Yes," was the reply, "they should have equal opportunities for interchange." The witness added that he believed congestion could be relieved if Ontario electric lines had such a traffic arrangement with steam lines.

In speaking of motor trucks, Mr. Stoffel made the interesting statement that American express companies were doing away with motor trucks in smaller towns and making their deliveries by horse truck.

EXONERATE DRIVER IN RUNAWAY FATALITY

Samuel Handley, a market gardener of Humber Bay and driver of the team of horses which ran away on the morning of March 29 and instantly killed Andrew Reddick, aged 72, 79 Gore Vale avenue, at the corner of Niagara and Queen streets, was completely exonerated from all blame in the verdict of accidental death, which was brought in at the inquest held last night by Coroner C. H. Gilmore.

Handley testified that he had wound a 30-pound weight around a Hydro pole to make sure the horses did not run away again, as they had done six weeks previously on College street, but they had become frightened, and, in some manner, had unwound the weight and had dragged it with them. When the horses were caught, no mark could be found on them or on the overturned wagon. It was also established that Mr. Reddick's hearing was impaired. A. J. Lester appeared for the crown.

POINTS TO JAPAN AS BIG WORLD POWER

Bishop Lee at Rotary Club Makes Plea for Better Understanding.

Among the many distinguished guests at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday were Bishop Lee, of Khu Shu, Japan, and the past international president of Rotary, Rev. Leslie Pigeon, of Winnipeg. In a most impressive and eloquent address, Rev. Mr. Pigeon welcomed seven members in o the club. The emblem of Rotary was the cogwheel, said he, which was essential to the machine, and without it the machine was useless. So Rotary, by enlisting men from every business and profession, was essential to the community in which the club existed, as a body for the betterment of society. He recalled the formation of the first club in Chicago by a body of men who were enthused by the ideals set forth by a man who was perhaps a dreamer, but who had wonderful ideas for the uplifting of society. Today, Rotary stood as the greatest power for good in any centre in which a club was situated.

A strong appeal for a better understanding of Japan was made by Bishop Lee. It was an isolated country, where there was not enough room for the inhabitants on account of the mountains, and in comparison to the population, Ontario would have some 160,000,000 people. From that some idea could be gained of the conditions under which the Japanese lived. With her people crying for room, she was exploited by certain parties filled with ideas of commercial dishonesty and militarism. This was partly due to the fact that she had been too successful in her undertakings, and to the fact that, as a result, she was altho isolated, one of the great powers in the world.

Loyal in Friendship.

Japan, the bishop added, needed our sympathy as she had only been converted to Christianity within the last 50 years, and the result of her commercial contact with the world, had been most unfortunate for her in that she was possessed as a nation of great penetration and adaptability. But, she had been loyal in her friendship as was instanced in the Anglo-Japanese alliance. It would mean a great deal to Japan that she had remained loyal at a time when it had been put to the test. The spirit of Rotary, he hoped, would be applied in a large measure to the far east.

A special Rotary train of eight cars leaves North Toronto station on Thursday, April 7 at 7 p.m., for the fourth district convention at Ottawa, on April 8 and 9. Almost all the reservations have been made, and every convenience is being provided for the members and their wives, including a club car where refreshments will be served. The train will leave Ottawa on Saturday night and will arrive in Toronto early Sunday Morning, April 10.

The club was indebted yesterday to the Glee Club, under Dr. Fricker, for two excellents selections, and for a whistling solo by Rotarian Fred Buller. Some 317 members were present.

TO ERECT MEMORIAL TO ALEXANDER MUIR

Official sanction was given yesterday afternoon by the board of police commissioners to Dr. J. L. Hughes for the holding of a tag day to secure funds towards the erection of a memorial to the late Alexander Muir, composer of "The Maple Leaf." The tag day was granted on the grounds that the memorial's erection was a national undertaking in honor of the memory of a very patriotic citizen.

Patrol Sergt. Bolton was promoted to the rank of full sergeant, and Detectives Dawn, Hazelwood and Tuft were promoted to detective-sergts. Constable Parker (18), who recently caught two shopbreakers, was granted a merit mark, and three junior constables, McIntyre, Austin and Holden, resigned owing to physical disabilities.

Gets Benefit of Doubt In Charge Under O. T. A.

Magistrate Jones yesterday in the police court decided to give Harry Jordan the benefit of the doubt in a B.O.T.A. charge. A jar containing liquor was taken from Jordan's premises, which, on analysis, showed proof spirit somewhat above strength. The jar was taken away unsealed by the police, hence the doubt in the mind of the accused as to whether the contents of the jar when analyzed were the same as taken from him.

The magistrate concluded that Jordan's action in preparing the concoction was a mere boyish attempt to experiment upon a recipe of his late mother.

CEASELESS CHANGE LAW OF UNIVERSE

Radicals of One Period, Orthodoxy of Next, Says Rabbi Brickner.

Rabbi Brickner of the Holy Blossom Synagogue last night described Isaac Myer Wise the man who started the reformation of the Jewish Church, as "the master builder of the house of Israel."

The rabbi, who addressed a large congregation, took as his subject "Jewish Reformation." He declared that the only fundamental thing in the world today was change, and it always followed well-defined periods. Change, he said, was the law of time and the law of God. Darwin called change social adaptation—it was a law of nature. The white bear of the North Pole was only the black bear who had adapted itself to its environment.

The radicalism of one generation was the orthodoxy of the next, and this had led one great writer to say that the minority were always right.

The speaker next referred to the prophets mentioned in the Bible. In their day they were considered radicals and were imprisoned. Today they are the orthodoxy of the religious world and its moral teachers. The nineteenth century, he said, saw the dawn of democracy, but at that time Jews all over the world were in the middle ages. Thanks to their social group habits, they cling together, but with the advent of Perris and other students, the shell burst and the Jews of the world had a mind revolution and it became, with the change, a joyous and happy religion.

Change in Religion.

Rabbi Brickner next described the change in the Jewish religion brought about by Isaac Myer Wise. He told how he had been expelled from his Albany pulpit for preaching revolution of orthodoxy and how eventually, with the assistance of one Hurst, he had won his battle and obtained alterations in the Jewish prayer book and gave to women their proper place in the synagogue. Wise, he said, also altered the dietary laws of the Jew so that he would enjoy the social intercourse of his neighbor's table. Many of the main features of the Jewish faith were coming back to them after the "revolution," and even the radical rabbis of today were coming back to national observances and ceremonials. The Jew could always adapt himself to the modern spirit of change, declared Rabbi Brickner. If he had not done so in the various parts of the world in which he resided, he would have been swept away.
