Mr. F. D. Monk, M. P., for Jacques Cartier Raps Government's Policy of Naval and Military Defence.

PUBLIC PRONOUNCEMENT FIRST REQUIRED

Special to The Standard. Montreal, Nov. 8.—Mr. F. D. Monk, M. P., for Jacques Cartier and the French Conservative leader was the guest of honor at a banquet given to him by the electors of Jacques Cartier at Lachine and in a very important speech, expressed his views in no uncertain manner in regard to the Government's policy for the construction of a Canadian navy.

Laurier's Attitude. Mr. Monk referred to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude on the question of the colonial conference and the sudden change that had taken place in his views, and also scolded the Government for not submitting to the Canadian public, the report of the delegates to the recent conference in London.

The New Duty. In conclusion Mr. Monk said the new duty of defending all parts of the Empire without any right whatever to participate in their decisions, decisions, negotiations, treaties is new.

Our Freedom. Again we are told that we owe our freedom to Great Britain. The policy of the Mother Country in the 19th century and since, has been broad, magnanimous, wise and Liberal.

TWO KILLED IN MONTREAL FIRE

Burning Structure Collapses Letting Out the Lives of Two Firemen and Seriously Injuring Three Others—Chief Holds City To Blame For Non-Enforcement of Laws.

Special to The Standard.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Two firemen killed and three injured, together with several civilians more or less bruised, was the result of a collapse in the structure of the premises of Messrs. Rolland Freres, mattress and spring-mattress manufacturers, of 111 Windsor street, during the progress of a fire in that building this morning.

Starling Suddenness.

The collapse came with startling suddenness and was wholly unexpected. Several of the brigade crews were getting ready to return to their respective sections, a few minutes after ten o'clock, when, with a crash and a sound of splintering wood, the whole of the fourth story flooring collapsed and fell through the lower stories to the basement, burying beneath the weight of scores of tons of bundles of pressed wood fibre the bodies of the firemen working below.

Buried Beneath Debris.

Captain Brunet was buried beneath the fallen wood fibre and timber, and it took an hour to dig him out. He complained of internal injuries, and was taken to the hospital also. Both Fireman Hollock and Fireman Martin were dead from suffocation when finally dug out. Fireman E. Poirier, of 29 Workman street; Fireman Rioux, of No. 12 Station, and two civilian employees of the firm, H. Martin, of 46 Workman street, were also caught in the collapse, and both suffered minor injuries to hands and wrists.

Chief Trembling is Indignant about the condition of the building, and attributes the loss of his men's lives, directly to such a building being allowed to stand.

The building in question is an old six-story brick and wood structure, erected a quarter of a century ago, and was occupied by the firm of Rolland Freres as a factory where they made furniture, spring-beds and mattresses. The fire broke out shortly after 9 this morning, and an alarm was immediately rung in. The fire crews from stations Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 12 and 25 replying, with a total strength of 75 men, operating two engines and four hose wagons, in addition to two water towers. The eruption to two water towers. The eruption was enabled to leave the building in a laudable way, as the fire was confined to the two upper stories, having broken out on the sixth and never spread beyond that, being easily confined by the prompt efforts of the brigade.

IMMIGRATION TO PROVINCE ON INCREASE

Premier Hazen at Montreal Tells of What the Provincial Government is Doing in the Development of N. B.

NORTHCLIFFE AND THE INTERCOLONIAL

Montreal, Nov. 8.—At the Windsor Hotel this morning, the spectacle might have been witnessed of an exchange of greetings between two provincial Premiers, who are usually separated about three thousand miles, namely, Premier Scott, of Saskatchewan, and Premier Hazen of New Brunswick.

All Crop.

"It is all crop, crop, crop with us in the west," said Premier Scott, in the course of a short chat, "and I expect you people in the east have heard enough about that during the past few weeks." On no other subject would he say a word.

New Brunswick.

In regard to the outlook in New Brunswick, Premier Hazen said that there was every prospect of much greater immigration into the Maritime Provinces in the future. The work which the government of New Brunswick has inaugurated this year in Great Britain he said had resulted in expressed among many people a belief that the work of advertising the province had been started on a good foundation.

Gun-a-Noot.

Gun-a-noot, a notorious Indian outlaw, who has evaded the police for the last three years, is said to have taken part in the fight. The trouble originated through the Skeena Indians, the related tribes number four thousand odd, being brought close to starvation last winter by the enforcement of the game and fishing laws, which made it impossible for them to store their usual provisions.

Reward Still Holds Good.

Mr. Sumner says this reward still holds good, and if the Creamer children are actually located there is this much easy money for somebody. Mr. Sumner says he is firmly convinced the children were foully dealt with. There were circumstances as related by the older sister of the missing children that pointed to foul play and there is a feeling that the provincial authorities of that time were remiss in their duty that they have not taken the matter up and made a thorough inquiry.

Miss Wright's Views
On Women Aviators

England Has An Overdose and the Women's Clubs Generally Are Working Overtime In Its Remedy.

London, Nov. 8.—According to the estimates of the British census statisticians the superfluous women for whom the delegates to the National Conference of Women Workers at Southsea tried to plan a happy future numbered 1,244,553 at the middle of the present year.

The problem of the superfluous woman by no means troubles every town in England. In Devonport, for instance, there are 81 women for every 1000 men, in Barrow-in-Furness 328 and in Rhondda only 825, while the feminine element is in a minority in other important centres of industry—the city of London, Southwark, Wool-wich, Poplar, Stepney, West Bromwich, St. Helen's, etc.

Pleasanter Places.
The superfluous woman makes her home in pleasanter places—in health resorts on the south coast; in Bath, the city of fashion, and in royal borough of Kensington, where there are 157 women to every 1000 men.
In Bournemouth the disparity between the sexes is even greater, the women numbering 1709 to each 1000 men.

If England has its superfluous women, however, the Colonies have their surplus men, as the conference match-makers pointed out. There are more men than women in every state in the Australian Commonwealth. According to statistics for the quarter ending with June, men predominate to the number of 232,396 in the antipodes.
They are distributed as follows:

Surplus Men

New South Wales	102,834
Queensland	51,380
W. Australia	42,568
S. Australia	27,668
Tasmania	5,299
Victoria	2,749

In Canada, according to the latest statistics, there is a surplus of 123,100 men. The superfluous women might also turn their attention to South Africa, with the exception of the Orange River colony, where women are in a majority.

What George Meredith Famous Author Said About the Suffragette Movement Before He Died.

London, Nov. 8.—Frank Cole, for thirty years George Meredith's faithful servant and devoted friend, living in a flower-decked cottage in the village of West Humble. A mile away, at the foot of Box Hill, is the house in which the poet and novelist lived a large part of his placid, beautiful life. For an hour, the other day, a reporter talked with Mr. Cole about his memories of Meredith. All round in the parlor of the cottage were the debris of the great man who passed his days near by in these blue Surrey hills. The very table at which they saw George Meredith's dining table. Mr. Cole was wearing a tie of democratic red that had been given to him by "the master." On a shelf at their back was a set of Meredith's novels given to him by his master.
"I asked Mr. Cole," says the reporter, "about the manuscripts he has sold to Mr. Pierpont Morgan for £800. "It must have been about twelve years ago that they were given to me," he said. "They were lying on the master's bookcase, and he said to me, "Cole, I'm going to give this to you." A day or two afterwards he told me I had better take the parcel home."

More Than Gardner.
"Mr. Cole was much more than Meredith's gardener. He was a body servant and general handy man, and in the poet's after years took him for his daily airings. First Mr. Cole supported his master with his arm, then came a Bath chair period, and finally a donkey chaise. Meredith was very fond of talking, and if only Mr. Cole had been a Boswell a glorious book could have been written about the life of the poet."

"Mr. Cole also accompanied the master in the latter's frequent journeys. They always travelled third-class, and Meredith did not like the accommodation. "Why don't you go first class, sir and let me go third?" the servant said. "No," said the master, "I'd rather have your company than travel first-class."

"Meredith often talked politics. But I mustn't repeat what he said on that subject," Mr. Cole declared. When I pressed him however, on a particular point, he told me that Meredith had said shortly before he died, that the Suffragettes had ruined their cause by their violent methods.

"Sometimes," Mr. Cole said, "when I worked for him first, he would write all day, and other days he would do little or nothing. He never seemed to care about his own comfort. He used to sit up all night long, and finally the little chalet near his house, and he would get out of bed every morning to let me in until I suggested that he would save himself from catching cold if he gave me a key. His only luxuries were good wine and good cigars, and he was a splendid judge of both. Every now and then he would have a bit of luck and get hold of some extra precious wine, and this always delighted him."

MISS KATHERINE WRIGHT.

Declares Upon Return From Abroad That Science of Aeronautics Is Not For Women Folks--Too Much Publicity She Thinks--Has No Use For Suffragettes.

By Elizabeth Gregory.
Special Correspondence.
New York, Nov. 8.—The Wright brothers may be up-to-date but the Wright sister is not.
She is proud of the fact, too.
Katherine Wright doesn't believe in women riding aeroplanes. Perhaps "I may be old fashioned. Perhaps I am," she explained to me. "But I don't think a work woman ought to do anything that will make her conspicuous."

She has just landed in New York after her trip to Germany with her brother Orville.
"Won't you telling make woman conspicuous?"
"Most assuredly it will." "And," she added, "I don't even approve of the Orange River colony, where women are in a majority."

Women Aviators.
"I haven't. I don't approve of women aviators. I've ridden only once with my brothers and it directed so much attention to me that it was far from pleasant."
"What difference is there between a woman who drives an automobile and a woman who drives an aero-plane?"
"There isn't any difference, I think," she said, smiling sweetly.

CONVERSION OF
MISS MARY GARDEN

Famous Comedienne Tells of Her Transfer of Allegiance From Protestantism to Rome
--Will Not Quit Theatre.

London, Nov. 8.—A French newspaper takes up the reported conversion of Mary Garden to Catholicism, and sets us right about it. Born in Scotland, Miss Garden, says this paper, is naturally a Protestant. An interviewer at once called at her sumptuous place in the Avenue Malakoff to learn the particulars of her change of faith.
"I can divine what you have called to ask," said Miss Garden, opening from a rehearsal at the opera while her interviewer waited. She laughed gaily. "You want to know if it is true that I have turned Catholic."
"Then the report is true?"
"Perfectly."

And with great volubility, says the interviewer, and in most charming fashion, she proceeded to explain her position. "You see," she said, "I was born a Protestant, but the rites and ceremonies of the cult were not satisfying to me. I had no love for the Protestant Church. It seemed cold and fading. But when I went to the Madelaine, or attended a mass at Notre Dame, the ceremony filled me with a strange fervor that touched and penetrated my very being. Last year I had occasion to make a journey to Italy. I visited the most celebrated churches of the country, and my enthusiasm forced me into accord with these beliefs that exalt the imagination and elevate the heart. I talked with friends one day, of these new emotions, these new sensations of the heart that I had experienced, and one of them burst out:
"Why do you not mean to embrace the Catholic religion?"
"I said I certainly would when my resolution reached the sticking point, and I felt moved to make the change."
"But you do not mean to quit the theatre surely?"
"Not as long as I live!" said I. "I love my theatre, but I don't see why one can't be at the same time a good conscience and a good Catholic."
"There are examples of course," observed my friend.
"There certainly are. At any rate I intend to obey the dictates of my conscience."
"And when do you expect to put your project into force?"
"On my return."
"Dr. King of Kingston is in attendance." Mr. O. W. Wetmore is spending a few weeks in Carleton and Victoria counties.

MARIA EDGEWORTH
LETTERS DISCOVERED

Valuable Literary Treasure Brought to Light in Geneva
--A new link between Maria Edgeworth and E. Dumont.

London, Nov. 8.—If we leave the old Edinburgh reviews of a century since, says the Tablet, and turn instead to the current number of the Dublin Reviewer we come upon a delectable discovery on Maria Edgeworth and Etienne Dumont, that links their names together in a new way and throws some welcome and unexpected light on the history and personality of the Irish writer. For lovers of literature this is surely one of the most important articles that have appeared in the Dublin Review or in any other critical organ for some time past. For the writer, Mr. Rowland Grey, has had the rare good fortune to make a real literary discovery. It seems that he was lately in Geneva when one who is amassing materials for a biography of the very jurist said to him, "We have lately acquired a number of letters from your Maria Edgeworth to our Dumont, bequeathed to a member of his family." Hastening to the Museum, Mr. Grey proceeded to examine these manuscripts and found them to be a literary treasure-trove which must have surpassed in importance any other discovery of the kind. The full significance of the discovery may be seen in the Dublin article in which the writer says emphatically that in spite of all that has been written about her by "three admiring biographers, yet, on a fortunate morning some morning it seemed to me as if I met the real Maria Edgeworth for the first time, for all her shy reticence." And again: "But in turning over the yellowed sheets, and deleting their excess of politics, and of her father-toujours le noir geant out of a horizon—surely the experienced eye will find very pretty traces of something like an 'Amour d'Autonne,' of which the writer herself, so innocent in such matters, despite the 'Presbyterian Cupid' of her novels, is winningly unconscious."

Called to Ontario.
The Presbytery of Miramichi met last week to consider calls recently extended to Rev. A. D. Fraser, of Blackville, who has been invited by the congregations of Lorneville (St.
John county) and Glassville, N. B., and Midland, Ontario. Permission was given Mr. Fraser, and he has accepted the Midland call. A call from Carleton, P. E. I., for Rev. J. M. McLeod, of New Mills, was laid on the table till next regular meeting.

SHUN POLITICS
SAYS CORELLI

Well Known Author Sides With the Man Who Says "Stay at Home and Mind the Baby."

London, Nov. 8.—Miss Marie Corelli, writing on "The Problem of the Sutfrage" in the current issue of the London Magazine, says:—
"My sympathies are with all women who work, chiefly perhaps with the brave and patient heroines among the poorer classes who bring up their children in the midst of harrowing difficulties and who love their husbands faithfully through all trial and temptation. These I look upon as the weavers of the threads on the loom which makes the fabric of the nation.
They are too busily laborious to look about for 'rights' other than they possess."

Mere Dabblers.
"Next I truly sympathize with women in the arts and professions, that is, if they really are in earnest about their work and are not mere dab-blers. To follow art or literature adequately means for either man or woman a taste of martyrdom, and I admire all those irrespective of sex who clasp the cross to gain the crown."

"But I have no sympathy whatever with woman in politics. There she is utterly out of her sphere, and I am wholly with the 'brute' man who, seeing her rushing into such a tumultuous vortex, cries:—'Stay at home and mind the baby.' For politics are no longer dignified; they have become vulgar. And it is better to stay at home and rear one life to possible good issues than mix in a fray of contradictory propositions concerning the lives of millions, especially as those millions generally take their own way in the end."
"If each woman honestly devoted herself to the proper bringing up and education of her children her training so administered would work all the reforms she needs in the social laws concerning her sex."

Doak Settlement Woman
Smashes Bottles of Lager Consigned to Alleged Vendor--Three Charges Laid.

Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 8.—After the police have been working for some time in order to get sufficient evidence to lay a complaint, John Dougherty, of Victoria Mills, has been convicted to the provisions of the Canter Temperance Act, and is to appear in the police court tomorrow to answer the charge. Dougherty has been conducting a milk business, and the police allege that he has also been selling liquor on the side. The attention of the police was first drawn to the case when a woman with an angle laid in ambush not long ago at Doak Settlement Station, and when two cases of bottled liquor were put off the train there she rushed out and smashed boxes and bottles with her axe in true Carrie Nation style. These cases of liquor are alleged to have been consigned to Dougherty, and since then the police have been businessly endeavoring to get evidence against him.

Methodist Ministers Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Methodist Ministers, yesterday morning, a vote of thanks was extended to the W. C. T. U. delegates who occupied the pulpits of the churches on Oct. 30. George A. Ross, president of the Epworth League, submitted for consideration a proposed programme for the convention of the Epworth League workers to be held in the city from Nov. 19 to 25. It was decided to do everything possible to make the evangelical campaign in February a success.

Albert, Nov. 8.—Peter Miles Geld-art, blacksmith, assigned to Sheriff Protache Saturday. His liabilities are about $500 with assets less than half that amount.
The farm and premises of the late Nathaniel Reck, deceased, were sold Nov. 6th at auction, pursuant to an order of Willard O. Wright, Judge of Probate. A written protest on behalf of the heir in possession was served on the auctioneer, M. D. Fullerton, and the attorney of the administratrix, prior to the sale, on the grounds of irregularities in the procuring of the license to sell real estate before exhausting the personal property, and further, that no bond was given as required by the statute.
E. E. Rock, the heir in possession of the property, informs the writer that writes out of the Supreme Court will immediately issue against the auctioneer and administratrix.
Isaac C. Prescott bid in the property at the price of $925, the sale being subject to a mortgage of about $600.
A meeting of the creditors of Chas.
W. Garland is called for the 12th inst., at the sheriff's office at Hopewell Cape.

How to Bathe the Baby

Baby's skin is very sensitive to soap; some soaps soothe and nourish, while others inflame and irritate.
It is of the utmost importance that you know what soap to use, and to do this you must know what is in the soap.
So let us explain how we make Infants' Delight.
We first go for pure vegetable oil to France. There we pay often double what we might pay. But the oil we get is pure enough to use on your baby.
Then we go more than 12,000 miles to the isle of Ceylon for pure coconut oil. Both oils are carefully tested by chemists and doubly boiled.
Next they go through our own special milling process and fall like flakes of snow into enormous bins.
Then they are crushed under a weight of 30 tons to press out the moisture.
Finally they pass through granite rollers and come out in miles of silky ribbons. Then they are dried eight times and stamped into oval cakes that just fit the hand.
Isn't it worth while to have soap like this for your baby? Why risk using common soaps when this excellent kind costs no more than others?
This lovely soap leaves the baby's delicate skin as soft as velvet and as smooth as silk. Even the baby knows the difference in this delightful soap—so we call it Infants' Delight.
Baby will like the perfume too. It is so dainty and fragrant—only the exquisite scent of the rose. If this soap is pure enough for the baby's skin it surely is best for your own. Try one cake—you owe it to baby and yourself.

Old Lady of 79 Enters College As Freshman

MRS. A. D. WINSHIP AT HER STUDIES.

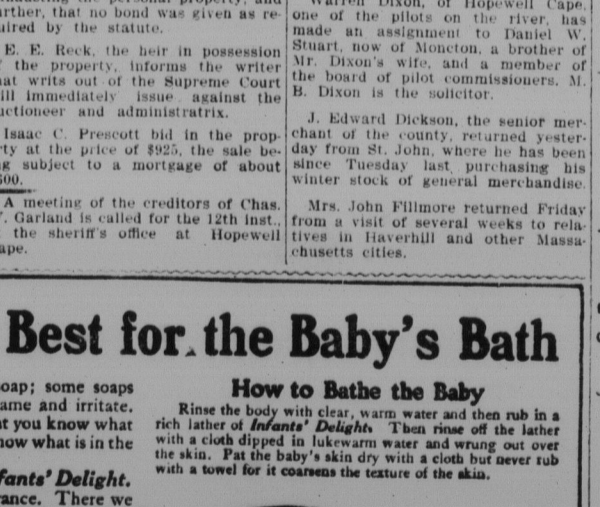

Mrs. A. D. Winship of Racine Undaunted by Weight of Years Enters Western University In Search of Knowledge--To Graduate at 82-- Taking Up Psychology and English Literature.

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—Can you imagine a nice, gentle old lady of 79 years, wearing spectacles and with gray hair smoothed over her forehead, suddenly rising from her seat and exclaiming:
"Wahoo! Wahoo! Rip! Zip! Baroo!
I yell! I yell! For O. S. U!" Would sound rather peculiar, wouldn't it?
Well, that's just what Mrs. A. D.
Winship, of Racine, Wis., does every time there's a football game here, for she's one of the most enthusiastic freshmen in the school.
There are not many college freshmen aged 79, and none other woman that old in school at all, so Mrs. Win-ship has a distinction that she knows is remarkable.
Two years ago she visited friends here and attended a lecture on psychology by one of the professors at the university. It was her hobby—this study of the mind. She always had been interested in the material effect of mental effort.
She had a dream that generally only comes to a person in youth; it was a dream of knowledge.
"I have a motto that rules my life," she explained. "It is: 'To live that my attending angel be no less than an angel for his walk with me.'" She has registered this year for two courses in psychology and one in English literature. She has no dread of mid-term or final examinations, and is an ardent rooter for the football team. She attends all the games and, notwithstanding her marvelous career, is just as humble as any other freshman.
Mrs. Winship is living in the now and in the future. She says she will live long past 83. If she reaches that age and all goes well, she will get her diploma.

Don't think the Standard team is disheartened because they came out a paltry points to the good in the of the Newspaper League yesterday noon. There are still a good of games and The Standard just striking the golf string as it is attested by thirty-five pins. This was point, while the Star won first two strings and all on the point for the highest McKinnon had the highest day and played with luck. McDade was bowled and the pin boys were dodging the flying pins which knocked down a strike.

What happened to the pin? McDade was bowled. There was an admiring spectators and some of it felt very nervous. At least the excuse given. The non-contending teams looked gloated over the wild effort of the players to knock down No. 2 only, while the bowling Robb was particularly good fancy work.

Great Generalship. Smith showed great generalship in keeping his score as low as on the second string as he called away to attend a fire and agreed that he should be same score as Smith on 10. Otherwise, Smith played a except that he did not have the ball.

"Dutch" Ervin was certain in hard luck. He lost a spare first string by fouling and in the middle of the second string he respond to a fire all. He returned a score of 48 and he had the string was finished was to account 45 as his mark. Tough and Dutch immediately to make up for lost time. Caught him as he was making with the first ball, but he was to keep up the pace and to towards the end of the string.

Smith's Only Fault was that he had no control of the himself.

MILFORD FERRIS ANOTHER VICTIM ON RODNEY WHARF

Missing Footing in Dark and Fell Into Slip Last Evening—Threatens Action Against City.

The absence of a light or railing at the end of North Rodney wharf, which has already proved fatal to one citizen and has caused a number of others to have narrow escapes, came near causing the death of Mr. Milford Ferris, of Sheriff street, last evening. He was about to board a car on the wharf about 7.30 o'clock, and mistaking his way stepped off the wharf. The tide was high at the time or he might have been killed. As it was he struck his leg against a projection while falling and hurt it severely.

Mr. Ferris started to swim as soon as he struck the water and managed to catch hold of the wharf from which position he was assisted to safety by Mr. Frank Theal and Mr. John White. He was placed on board the ferry boat and was brought back to this city where he was put on a car and driven to his home.

When seen by a Standard reporter at his home last evening, Mr. Ferris stated that he intended to bring an action against the city for the injuries he sustained.

Too Dark to See Anything. Mr. Ferris was on his way to visit friends in Carleton when he met with the accident. He started to board the car from the wrong side and when the conductor motioned for him to go round to the other side, he started round the end of the wharf. As it was dark he could not see where he was going and was suddenly precipitated over the edge of the wharf.

In falling he struck his leg against a piece of piling and injured it severely. His knee is somewhat strained and also his hip and it will be quite a few weeks before he is able to be about again.

Mr. Ferris started to swim as soon as he struck the water but as it was dark he swam away from the wharf for quite a distance before he noticed his mistake. He then swam back again and clung to the edge of the wharf in an exhausted condition until he was rescued. He was taken into the gatekeeper's shanty and was assisted on board the boat and to his home. Dr. Pratt who examined him stated that although no bones were broken, Mr. Ferris' leg had sustained a severe wrench and he will be laid up for some weeks.

POOL ROOM FIGHT ENDS IN ARREST OF JOVEY SHUMICK

Charged With Malicious Assault by E. W. Wilson—Lively Affray On Sperrake's Premises Yesterday.

As a result of a pool room fight yesterday afternoon, E. W. Wilson is suffering from a cut and bruised behind the bars. Shumick was arrested last evening between 6 and 7 o'clock by Officers Harry Linton and Geo. Henry on a warrant sworn out by Wilson charging him with unlawful and malicious assault.

It appears that Wilson went into Sperrake's pool room, and in company with Louis Jones, a colored man started in playing dice, and Shumick who is an employe connected with the pool room, ordered them to stop. This brought forth some heated remarks from Wilson, who ceased playing dice and played pool. After this Wilson got into an argument with another of the employes about paying for his games of pool, and both men started in to emphasize their remarks with their fists, and in the scuffle that followed rolled on the floor.

It was then that Shumick evidently came to the rescue of his friend, and according to Wilson gave him a vicious kick. In the fight that followed Wilson's head came in contact with the corner of one of the pool tables, inflicting a severe wound. Wilson was roughly ejected from the building.

It is stated that before swearing out the warrant Wilson told Shumick that if he would pay for the damage done his clothing he would not say anything further about the affair. This Shumick refused to do. The case will come up in the Police Court this morning.

BARN ON MILL ST. DESTROYED BY FIRE EARLY LAST EVENING

About six o'clock last evening fire broke out in a barn in the rear of Carpenter's meat store on Mill street, owned by Mr. Carpenter, and almost totally destroyed the building. How the fire originated is a mystery, but it is thought by some, that the fire was caused by boys who were smoking in the barn. An alarm was rung in from box 132 and a few minutes later an alarm was sounded from box 8. Nos. 3 and 4 engines responded together and with No. 2 chemical and the fire was extinguished, but not until after it had practically destroyed the premises.

The building was used by Mr. Carpenter to store his wagons and hay in, but there did not happen to be much hay in at the time and the wagons were got out before they were much damaged. The loss is covered by insurance.

A still alarm was rung in yesterday morning for a fire at 178 King street east, where a tablecloth in the house of Mr. Thomas Kee had caught fire. No. 1 chemical engine and No. 2 hose reel responded and the blaze was easily extinguished.

NO DEFINITE WORD YET RECEIVED AS TO HESTIA ENQUIRY

Charge That Old Proprietor Buoy Was Unfit Confirmed Yesterday—Lighthouse Keepers Submit Affidavits.

No further word was received here yesterday with reference to holding an inquiry into the wreck of the steamer Hestia here or at Montreal, or of the disposition of the survivors. Capt. Lugar will not reach Ottawa before this morning and will then probably receive instructions regarding the intentions of the Marine Department.

Confirmation of the charge that the Old Proprietor buoy was out of condition at the time of the wreck, was found yesterday, when Mr. J. A. Lesere, acting marine agent, tested the buoy outside Partridge Island, it having been brought here by the Government steamer Lansdowne. Mr. Lesere found that the sound of the whistle was very faint and not by any means satisfactory as it should have been. Repairs will be made here and a spare buoy is now in position on the Old Proprietors.

Mr. John Kelley, inspector of lights, has in his possession affidavits made by the lighthouse keepers in Gannet Bay, stating that one of the whistles of the Rock, denying the sound of the whistle, or that they told any one that they refrained from firing the guns, because they were afraid to awaken the doctor. The story that the halcyons were not in position is also denied, as well as the statement that the lightkeeper was absent from his duty. There seems to be a general denial of any dereliction of duty on the part of the lighthouse men. They say they did not see the light of the Hestia.

In this connection Mr. George Dunlop, of the Donaldson Line, wishes it to be known that he did not make the statement attributed to him that he had a conversation with a lightkeeper. What he said was that he heard that the lightkeeper had made the statements now denied in the affidavits.

MRS. W. W. M'MASTER REMEMBERED BY LADIES OF CHURCH

Purse of $145 and Handsome Satchel Presented Yesterday—Many Expressions of Regret at Coming Departure

The ladies of the congregation of Germain street Baptist church assembled yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the church and through Mrs. David McLellan presented Mrs. W. W. McMaster, wife of the retiring pastor, with a purse containing $145 and a handsome hand satchel of leopard skin. About sixty ladies were present, including Mrs. A. A. Graham, Mrs. D. Hutchinson and Mrs. A. B. Cohoe, who are personal friends of Mr. and Mrs. McMaster, and were present as invited guests.

In making the presentation Mrs. McLellan said that she voiced the sentiments of the congregation in saying that she regretted very much the departure of Mr. and Mrs. McMaster. Their work among them had been very much appreciated. Mrs. McMaster made a suitable reply. Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Cohoe also spoke feelingly, expressing their regret at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. McMaster. This afternoon the retiring pastor and his wife will be at home to their friends, and on Thursday afternoon will leave for the C.P.R. train for Toronto, where they will remain for a time. About the first of the year Mr. McMaster expects to go to British Columbia. He has no settled plans for the future as yet.

WEST SIDE E.D.C. AND CARLETON BAND BURY THE HATCHET

Joint Meeting with Sub-Committee of Safety Board Last Evening—Agreement To Be Drawn Up.

There is a likelihood that the outstanding difficulties between the Carleton Cornet band and West Side Every Day Club, with reference to the club's rooms in the Carleton public hall being used by the band will be amicably adjusted. At a meeting in city hall last evening, attended by representatives of the band, ex-Ald. Baskin for the Every Day Club and by Ald. Scully and Kelley as a sub-committee of the Safety Board, the matter was discussed at length and it was finally decided to have committees from the two West Side organizations meet in Carleton on Wednesday evening, and, if possible, draw up an agreement.

Since their appointment by the Safety Board to act in the matter, Aldermen Scully and Kelley have interviewed the parties interested and find that a spirit of compromise will likely prevail. The meeting last evening was a direct result of their report to the board. The discussion waxed very warm at times, the best of feeling was in evidence.

Ald. Baskin presented the case for the Every Day Club, while Messrs. Langon, McLeod and others looked after the interests of the band. When Messrs. Scully and Kelley submit their report to the board they will probably be able to state that the matter has been settled.
