It appears that Gien Tyler, driver of Butler Bros.' delivery wagon, entered an outhouse on the premises of a family named Hulbert. The mistress of the place, probably annoyed by what seemed to her a case of trespass, picked up a pail of boiling water, and emptied the contents upon the unfortunate young man. During General Buller's Recent Attack.

Half the Gunners of the Bethel Commande Killed-Returning Canadians Foted.

London, Tuesday, Aug. 28-4 a.m.-During Gen. Buller's recent attack, according to the Daily Mail's correspondent at Lorenzo Marquez, the Boers lost heavily. Half the gunners of the Bethel commando were killed, as well as its commander. Commandant Von Dalwig, a cousin of Herr Krupp.

"A council of war of the Boers at Machadodorp," says the correspondent, decided against the advice of Commandant-General Botha, to return to the original plan of retiring on Lydenburg." Former President Steyn and Commandant Delarey are reported to have had an interview with Mr. Kruger last Saturday at Watervalonder.

A deputation of German subjects, residing in the Transvaal, has arrived at Berlin to lodge a complaint with the foreign office regarding alleged cases of cruelty at Johannesburg. They assert that fonty German subjects of both sexes were arrested there and sent to a seaport, from which point they were shipped to Flushing, where the British landed them penniless.

STUBBORN FIGHTING. London, Aug. 27 .- The following dispatch was sent today by Lord Roberts: the enemy the greater part of the day over a perimeter of nearly 30 miles. Lyttleton's division and two brigades of cavalry, all under Buller, operated southwest of Dalmanutha. French, with two brigades of cavalry, moved northwest of Belfast, driving the enemy to Lekenvly, on the Belfast-Lydenburg road. As soon as French reached Lekenvly. Pole-Carew advanced from Belfast in support. The enemy, in considerable strength, opposed Buller's and Pole-Carew's advance. He brought three Long Toms and many other guns and pom-poms (quick-firing guns), into action. The firing until dark was hot and persistent. Buller hopes his casualties will not exceed 40. Pole-Carew has not yet reported. "The Boers are making a determined stand. They have a large number of guns, the country is difficult and wellsuited for their tactics, and is less favorable to cavalry than any we have hitherto worked over.

Difference Between Wages and Salary -Where "Brotherhood" Comes In.

BROTHERHOOD OF MEN. "I stood on the front steps of the wide vestibuled combination coach next to the engine tender," said the observant traveler to the Pittsburg Post man. "The train was late and making sixty-five miles an hour. I could perceive the work of the engineer and fireman in their efforts to make up the lost time. How skillful, careful and friendly they were. They worked together like the giant arms of the machine they were operating. The fireman watched the smoke from the stack while he put in the coal, and kept his eye on the steam gauge at the same time. When he took his seat for a brief moment he would lift his hand to indicate the position of the semaphore arm, and the engineer would answer him with a similar motion. They would occasionally speak a friendly word to each other across the space between their seats and the smile and nod indicated that mutual good feeling and understanding which made me feel that they had the true religion—the 'Brotherhood of men and the Fatherhood of God.' as Henry George would London, Aug. 27.—Pte. Man and Team Killed by Lightning-Tornado in Missouri Wrecks a Number of Buildings.

Guelph, Ont., Aug. 28.—Charles Tait, who resided near Waldemar, in Amaranth township, was engaged Saturday evening hauling oats, and when putting on a load in the field, he and his team were struck by lightning, and instantly killed. The load of grain and wagon took fire and were totally destroyed. Sedalia, Mo., Aug. 28.—A storm, bordering closely on a tornado, struck this city yesterday. Three brick buildings on Main street were blown down, Woods' opera house was practically unroofed and dozens of smaller buildings were damaged. Thousands of shade trees were broken and torn up by the roots. Street car traffic was suspended, and telegraphic and telephone communication was interrupted. There was a terrific fall of rain, and the water in many of the streets ran up to the doorsteps of the residences. No loss of life is reported.

Milverton, Ont., Aug. 28. - During a terrific storm lightning struck the barn of G. Riddel, on the tenth concession of Mornington, and everything was consumed. The barn was full of grain at the time. Hespeler, Aug. 28.-This section of the country was visited Sunday night by one of the severest thunderstorms of the season. Lightning struck the barn of Wm. Mader, about six miles from here, totally destroying the building, together with its contents, which consisted of the season's crops, as well as some of last year's grain, and religion of life which teaches men to some live stock. The barn was one of act for each other's good. It struck me, the largest in the neighborhood and the loss is very heavy.

Formosa, Ont., Aug. 28.-During a heavy thunderstorm that passed over this part of the country early on Saturday morning Anthony barn, about a mile south of this place, was stuck by lightning, and both building and contents, including this year's crop, were completely destroyed. The loss is estimated at $2,000. Teeswater, Ont., Aug. 28. — A terrific electric storm, accompanied heavy downpour of rain, visited these parts Sunday night. Several accounts of damages have been reported, the fication sent to the government by the most serious of which was the burning of Mr. Pennit's barns and their contents, on con. 10, Kinloss, about seven miles northwest of here. Mr. Pennit's entire crop had been harvested, and threshing was to have commenced in the morning. The threshing machine, together with all its appliances, was consumed.

Welland, Ont., Aug. 28. — A barn owned by Mr. Hays, a few miles northwest of here, was struck by lightning and burned with contents yesterday

Fitzsimmons, with his manager, Percy Williams, of Bergen Beach, met Wm.

A. Brady, representing Jeffries, at a newspaper office on Park Row this afternoon. Last Saturday Fitzsimmons deposited $2,500 to bind a match between himself and Jeffries for next Friday night, and Brady sent word that range for a battle between his man, Jeffries, and the ex-heavy-weight champion. Fitz said he was ready and willing to meet Jeffries on Friday night before the 20th Century Club, under any conditions as to the division of the purse or gate receipts which would suit Brady. He said he would be satisfied with the winner to take all or to split the purse in half or to give 65 per cent to the winner, or in fact any terms possible, so that he could meet the present champion before the expiration of the Horton law. Brady, in reply, said that Jeffries was in no condition, as he had quit training several days ago. He said it would be unfair for Fitz to force a match with a man physically unfit for such a contest. Fitz replied that Jeffries had plenty of time to get into condition, and said that although he had gone through two very severe battles during the last two weeks, he was on edge now and ready to fight to regain the championship.

Brady was obdurate, and said it was impossible for a fight to take place between the men on the date mentioned, but that he would put up a forfeit at once to bind a match between the two, the fight to take place within three months from September 1, and a side bet of $10,000. Fitzsimmons would not listen to this proposition, and said it was only made for advertising pur-poses. When he saw that Brady would not agree to this proposition to fight this week, Fitz then made the statement that he was through with the fighting game, and would retire from

Of the 12 men played this year, 8-Edwards, Jamieson, Andy Gunn, John Gunn, Kennedy, Campbell, Finan and Morganwere born in the village; McKay has lived there for 30 years, Mahler for seven and Bachus for three, while Barnes was born in East Williams and within three miles of Ailsa Craig. The Stars' winning percentage for 1900 is 800, or eight games won out of ten played, and they are anxious to add the scalp locks of the Knox and Pastimes, but have so far been unable to arrange a game with either of those clubs. The Stars pay no salaries, and while willing to pay traveling and hotel expenses, will not furnish money to enable visiting teams to "fill up" with professionals, as did the Alerts, in 1899, when they played on the field Mohler, Cope, Lohman and Seivers, and then only won by one run in the ninth inning, the Stars leading to that time. On Saturday the Stars defeated Stratford by one run, and while the game was exciting from start to finish, the excitement reaching a climax when in the ninth inning the Stars went in with four runs to tie and five to win, which they accomplished without the loss of a man, it was the most ragged exhibition of baseball seen there Providence ..3 4 0 0 0 0 2 0 *- 9 12 this season. The Stratfords made five errors, from which the home team pulled out six runs, while McLaughlin's charities became, by good base-running and timely hits, five runs, and the balance of five runs were earned by the local players. The Zondon Adbertiser. ESTABLISHED BY JOHN CAMERON IN 1863.

Managing Director John Cameron and Editor,

London, Tuesday, August 28.

The Confession of Wm. Smith. It is announced by a local paper that Mr. William Smith, who has been chosen Conservative candidate for South Ontario, has been receiving the congratulations of the leaders of the Opposition. In view of this fact, it is not out of place to look into Mr.

Smith's antecedents. At the election trial at which it was his seat taken from him by the grossly corrupt practices of his political opponents. Mr. Smith was a central figure. Up till 1896, he had been M. P. take the rebuke then administered to him by the electorate, but immediately dollars that were used to corrupt the | it is hardly likely that he will do so. electorate, so that the defeat of Hon. John Dryden might be accomplished. Indeed, this man seems to have spent so much money corruptly in that contest that he lost all count of it. In the official report of the trial, we find Judge Ferguson-Can you tell us how much more than $900 you paid?

Ans.-No. I can't. Can you say not as much as $1,200? A.—It could not be more than $1,200. Will you say that it was not more

A .- No, I cannot Judge Osler-You don't seem to be ashamed of it?

A .- It is not an honor to me, sir. Judge Ferguson (sarcastically)-If it is done in a wholesale way it is a credit? A .- No sir.

The conduct of Smith was so reprehensible, and his confession so remarkable, that the trial judges were asagent of the Conservative party named Luke, and another named Baker, who aided him in corrupting needy electors. Luke was fined $200 and costs or six months in jail, and Baker was fined $800 and costs, or six months in prison, both being adjudged guilty of bribing electors in the interests of the Conservative candidate. Mr. Justice Ferguson, in passing these and other sentences, spoke of Mr. Smith in the following terms:

"I do not know that I have to say I have nothing to say to him, but that his own evidence is the most glaring piece of corruption I ever sel tried to palliate his conduct by as-Mr. Justice Osler promptly retorted, "I should call it brazen."

All this happened but nine months bing up as the Conservative nominee for the House of Commons in the forthcoming general elections, and receiving the blessing of the Opposition leaders. Dr. Sproule being sent as a special missionary to the convention to give the boss briber of South Ontario the blessing of Sir Charles Tupper and his associates.

At this convention, Mr. Smith expressed surprise that some of his former party friends were not at the convention, betokening that they looked with disfavor on his being chosen the Conservative candidate. In this crit-1cism of the very natural conduct of those who could not condone such doings as he had been guilty of, Mr. Smith once more exhibited his moral blindness, for it could surely not be expected that all the Conservatives in South Ontario were ready to forgive wrongdoing, such as he had been guilty of, and to elevate to the highest position in their gift the leader in the bribery crusade In the constituency. To all such Conservatives-let it be hoped for the good many-Mr. Smith had a ready, if an extraordinary rejoinder. He said:

"I will not apologize for what I did In a certain election. I was wrong; I thoroughly awakened as that other did wrong. But I have sworn to the facts in a court of justice. I ask no member of the Conservative party to apologize for my acts. But the deeds that I did, and for which I have been in a degree punished, were done in public life. It strikes me that it is fitting that if any atonement is to be made, I would like to make it in the full glare of public life. In trying to forward into the future, I feel that I would like to meet my Liberal friends and say that the corruption rampant in South Ontario elections in the past should be put down. There is tter way of doing it than by the unked efforts of the leaders of both

Again and again, Mr. Smith declared that he would not apologize for his colossal wrongdoing, and that he wanted no one to apologize for him. He seems to regard it as a particular wirtue that he should make no apology done wrong, do not apologize for me, for we are going side by side to atone for all the shortcomings of the past." | allowing herself to be committed to a

Surely not by being preferred above all others in the constituency for the high position of the representative of the people in the national legislature. South Ontario, we take it, is a self-respecting constituency, and it ought to act at the icoming general election in a manmer to show that it is determined to found that Hon. John Dryden had had be regarded a self-respecting portion of the Dominion. If that is to be its verdict, the people must say by their votes that Wm. Smith shall apologize for his wrongdoing-that his atonement must not be the acceptance of for the riding, but he was defeated in a seat in Parliament, but relegation that contest. "The Chinese Revolt."

This title, which Frederick Greenwood gives to a recent article in the Nineteenth Century, shows the view this record of his examination on oath: | that is now taken of the movement in China. It is not a rebellion of Boxers against the Chinese Government, but the revolt of China against foreign invasion and European influence. In 1891 this gentleman wrote: "It is a nationalist agitation. No matter how these riotings arise or how provoked, or by whom favored, they marked the beginning of a nationalist movement for the expulsion of foreigners. A time will come when 'China for the Chinese' will be sounded from one end of the land to the other, in palace courtyards, tounded. He had dealings with an likelihood of an intention to pursue the as in city slums. Not that there is any long-cherished object by an open and continuous line of policy. To go slowly persistently, continuously, is the Chinese way. To halt now and then, or even to retreat a little, does not disturb their plans of advance, whatever design they may wish to achieve, and we shall probably see the same haltings and retreatings in this case." After pointing out how well this prophecy has been justified. The writer takes the position that the defeat of China by Jaany more, excepting that speaking for pan in 1895 was not the curbing of myself, I have some regrets that this China, but simply the awakening of pan in 1895 was not the curbing of large offender, Mr. Smith, is not before China. But all old policies and plans have fallen to pieces, and what is t obe done now? What London Lacks.

If we had a weekly collection of garbage, by civic co-operation, as they have even in Hamilton, this already very healthy city could have better health yet. With garbage and other waste removed every few weeks, instead of accumulated for months, or years, as in some cases, the people would not be at any more expense, and they would have less to pay to doctors and undertakers. London has long since passed the village stage in all matters but this.

A Timely Reminder.

Through the dropping of a line in preparing for the press, a mistake was made in the editorial note in Friday's issue. The note, which it will be well to have repeated, should have read:

The men, who, when in power, used every artifice, fair and unfair, to injure the old Liberals, cannot now be trusted. Liberal veterans will hardly listen to the coaxing tones of the Opposition manager today. It would look too much like turning not only the other cheek but the entire face to the crafty smiter.

A comparatively short time must elapse before the general election takes place, in any case. No one interested in maintaining good government, and in continuing the prosperous times that have come from lowered taxation, economical administration, and cordial co-operation in trade with the Motherland, can err in taking every necessary step to secure a continuance of this condition of affairs. Readiness for a fight is half the battle.

BOERS' LINES WERE BROKEN

Fighting With Botha's Commandos Resumed.

Bergenda. Captured by Buller's Forces -French and Baden-Powell Busy.

London, Aug. 28 .- A special dispatch from Pretoria, dated Aug. 27, says: "It is stated that fighting with Botha's commandos was resumed this morning. The Boers' lines were broken and the enemy is falling back. The British casualties are reported to be considerable."

Lord Roberts reports under date of Belfast, Aug. 27, as follows: "Our movements are slow, on account of the extent and nature of the country. Today we made a satisfactory advance and met with decided success. The work fell entirely on Buller's troops, and resulted in the capture of Bergendal, a very strong positon, two miles northwest of Dalmanutha

"I met Buller at Bergendal shortly after it was reached by our troops. I am glad to find the occupation cost less than was feared, on account of the advance being across an open glacis for 2,000 or 3,000 yards, and the determined stand of the enemy. The Inniskillings and Second Rifle Brigade formed the attacking party. The latter suffered most. I hope the casualties do not exceed fifty. ceed fifty or sixty. One officer was killed and two were wounded. A good many Boers were killed, and a pompom (quick-firing gun) was captured. "French advanced on the left to Swartzkopjes on the Leydenburg road, and prepared the way for the move-ment of Pole-Carew's division tomorrow.

"Baden-Powell reports that he occupied Nylstroom without opposition. As the country where he and Paget are operating is dense bush and veldt, it is not desirable at the present to proceed further north, and their troops are returning to Pretoria."

CONSERVATIVE NOMINATIONS. South Brant Conservatives have nominated Mr. Robert Henry, Brantford, for the commons. Mr. W. S. Stewart, Q.C., is the Conservative candidate for the commons in West Queens, P. E. I. SIR ADOLPHE CARON TURNED DOWN. Montreal, April 28.-Sir Adolphe Caron, who represented Three Rivers in the commons, has been turned down by the Conservative Association. According to Le Journal, Mr. P. E. Panneton, a well-known banker of Three Rivers, and vice-president of the Exposition Company, held two meetings yesterday in response to the requests of the majority of the party in these places, and accepted the nomination. Le Journal adds that Sir Adolphe will run this time in Quebec East, against Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT. Ottawa, Aug. 27.-Sir Richard Cartwright has returned to Kingston, and will go on Thursday to the convention at Norwich. The speech he will deliver there is awaited with great interest, as he is known to hold strong views against the double-barreled campaign methods of Sir Charles and his party. The premier leaves tonight for Montreal and Quebec.

OUTLOOK FOR THE LIBERALS. The outlook for the Liberals is bright in the group of counties lying between Addington and Renfrew (inclusive) and the eastern boundary of the province. This section sends nineteen representatives to the Dominion Parliament, inclusive of the cities of Kingston and Ottawa. At present ten of these seats are held by Conservatives eight by Liberals, and one, Frontenac, by an Independent. There is little doubt that the Liberals will retain the eight seats they now hold, and there is every chanc eof their winning three now held by Conservatives, and a good fighting chance to capture several more.

WEST HURON CONSERVATIVES. Dr. Sproule will be the principal speaker at the Conservative reconvention for West Huron at Smith's Hill, on Friday next. Mr. Robert McLean, who was defeated in the bye-election, is again to try conclusions with Mr.

THE DEMON DYSPEPSIA. - In olden time it was a popular belief that demons moved invisibly through the ambient air, seeking to enter men and trouble them. At the present day the demon dyspepsia is at large in same way, seeking habitation in those who by careless or unwise living in-vite him. He that finds himself so possessed should know that a valiant friends to do battle for him with the Callum, of the township of Storrington, unseen foe is Parmelee's Vegetable died here Sunday from the effects of Pills, which are ever ready for the trial.

PAMPHLET NO. 6

Conservative Testimony That Their Party Organizer Issued It.

Montreal, Aug. 27.-It is useless for the Conservative papers of Ontario to pretend that pamphlet No. 6 was not issued by the party organizers here, because Le Journal, established by Sir Charles Tupper himself, says that it was. Other French Conservative papers also back up its arguments. Under a contemptuous, heading, which might be freely translated "Childlike Simplicity Which Is Astonishing," Le Trifluvien, the Conservative paper of Three Rivers, says: "It is stated that Sir Charles Tupper has repudiated pamphlet No. 6, published by the electoral agents of the Conservative party in the Province of Quebec. This is the one which blamed Mr. Laurier for his imperialistic policy and his conduct in sending the contingents to Africa. It is to be supposed that the old chief has allowed himself to be tricked in this matter by some of his English partisans, and that he accepted with confidence what they told him. At any rate, he has not acted for the best, so far as the success of his campaign in the Province of Quebec is concerned, for it is perfectly useless for him to attempt to reconcile, on this question, the sentiment of the Province of Quebec with that of the English provinces, We hope that this pamphlet will not be withdrawn, but that, on the contrary, it will be spread profusely in our province, for it is one of the best." therefore quite evident that the Conservatives have determined to knife Sir Wilfrid Laurier in this province, if possible, for his devotion to the interests of the empire.

LIBERAL CONVENTIONS. The following Liberal conventions have been summoned to nominate candidates: Aug. 30-East Simcoe at Orillia. Aug. 30-South Oxford at Norwich. Sept. 1-South Brant at Brantford.

A horrible accident befell Mrs. Isaac Hilborn and daughter on Friday evening. They had been to St. Jacobs, and on their way home the horse became frightened and ran away. Mrs. Hilborn was thrown against a buckthorn wire fence, lacerating her face terribly, severing the nose in two, and at the same time breaking and severing it from the face. The cheek was torn open from the mouth back to the ear. Mrs. Hilborn is in a very precarious condition and slight hopes are held out for her recovery.

There is a tobacco war on over the Empire Tobacco Co., of Toronto, being purchased by the American tobacco trust. The Empire people are the only Canadian dealers who can purchase the American cigarettes, and it is alleged that the wholesalers were warned that they could not purchase those articles if they bought tobacco any other Canadian firms. The fac-tories at Leamington and Kingsville at once placed travelers on the road, and are now selling direct to the retailers. The claim is made that there is such a demand for the brands from these factories that the orders cannot be filled, and plants will be enlarged this fall.

THE STING OF A BEE.

It Is a Curious Little Weapon and Wonderfully Constructed.

The sting of the bee is a weapon only too well known. There are few of us probably who have not at some or other felt the effect of a sting from a bee or wasp. The bee is not generally so easily excited to sting as the wasp unless it is much provoked or has a decided prejudice against some particular person, which is occasionally the case, but when it does it is usually with the sacrifice of its own life, as it generally Scale Can Be Seen at Advertiser leaves its weapon in the wound, with the little sack of poison attached to it. We need not wonder that it is difficult to be withdrawn when we read the account of the shape of the sting of the bee.

The sting of the bee is not, as it might or a bayonet. It is in truth something much more formidable, rather resembling those frightful engines of destruction which the common consent of civilized tion has been examined by Mr. Dear- nations has excluded from the practice

The tip of the tongue possesses the present the twig with San Jose scale has the living yellow larvae running over it. Examine your trees, and if you are in doubt as to what you find, call at this office to see the specimens of compasses, the points of which are body is best measured by means of a pair tipped with cork.

The tip of the tongue can distinguish two distinct impressions when the compass points are only half a line, or the twelfth of an inch, apart, the tip of the finger when they are one line apart. Other spots vary still more widely; this distance at the lips is two lines; the tip of the nose, three lines; the cheek, five lines; palm of the hand, five lines; forehead, ten lines; back of the hand, 14 lines; chest, 20 lines; back and thigh, 30

If, however, this experiment is repeated with a pair of compasses capable by slight pressure of pricking, it will be found that there is no corresponding difference between the parts in their sensibility to pain. On the contrary, in places where the sense of touch is most keen, the sense of pain is in the first instance callous in discriminating the double touching points are by no means the least alive to the sensation excited by their pressure.

The tip of the tongue has 50 times the tactile discrimination of the arm, but the arm is more sensitive to a sharp point applied with moderate pressure to the skin than either the tongue or the finger and is at least as alive to the presence of a very light body, a hair or feather, drawn along the surface. Curiously enough, the right hand, which is more sensitive to touch than the left, is less sensitive to temperature. If the two hands are dipped in two basins of water at the same temperature, the left hand will feel the greatest sensa-.. 34 tion of heat.

The Third South African Hero Arrives Home.

Experiences of a New York Englishman Who Enlisted in London.

Shot at Paardeberg-Varied Hospital Experience-Praise for the Nurses-The Canadians of Hyde Park.

Private Joe Day was the third London man to return from South Africa. He came in at 11:30 o'clock this morning on the C. P. R. Although the crowd was not very large, probably on account of the time and the fear of another disappointment, he was given an excellent reception. One of the first to greet him was Pte. Harry Chapman, his old comrade, and together they drove to the Chapman home, where Pte. Day will stay for a while.

Pte. Day is only an adopted son of London, although one of whom the city is very proud. He is a young Englishman. When the war broke out he was living in New York, and he at once solicited the aid of certain Can-adian friends, by whose help he became a member of B Company. He is typically English — tall, broad-shouldered, with fair hair, blue eyes, and a fair skin that the sun of South Africa has not darkened. At present he is in excellent health. He intends to make London his home in the future. Pte. Day was in the thickest of the Paardeberg fight, and when the day -The following visitors registered in closed it found him lying with

After Paardeberg, he was sent to Jacobsdal hospital, then on to the one at Modder River, to the Orange River, Rondebosch, Naauwpoort and Cape Town. He was eventually invalided to England, where he received the same excellent treatment that was meted out to all Canadians. After leav- urgent. ing the hospital at Devonport, he spent some time in Essex. The weeks that he passed with his friends in Essex were very happy ones. He spoke of the report of the Canadians having to sleep out in Hyde Park. This, he says, is undoubtedly so, but it was through no fault of authorities. All who were granted furloughs were given sufficient funds to keep them, and those who had to sleep out in the park had "wasted their substance in riotous living." He knew of no Ontario men who had acted so fool-

SERGT. BARNHILL ARRIVES HOME

Sergt. John Barnhill, who left London on Jan. 5 with the Royal Canadian Artillery returned to London this morning by the G. T. R. express at 11 o'clock. He returned from England on the Dominion liner Cambroman, leaving Liverpool on Aug. 16, and artain small changes are made. Unless riving in Quebec on Saturday last. He came from England alone, meeting the other Canadians who have just returned in Quebec. His coming this morning was a complete surprise to his many friends in London, as it is only a few days since the newspapers conon a charge of defrauding Contractor tained the news of his being invalided to England, and his arrival in Canada was not known to any of them. leaving Cape Town, the battery with which Sergt. Barnhill was connected, made a trip in the northwestern part of the Free State to suppress a rebel rising.

Sergt. Barnhill did not, however, have the opportunity of taking part in any of the important engagements in which his battery was engaged, as he was taken sick at Orange River on May 20, and his battery left there for the front early in June. Sergt. Barn-hill was first in Orange River hospital, being removed from there to Wynberg, EVELYN CHURCH ANNIVERSARY, and leaving for England on July 16, on the Castle liner Avondale Castle. In England, during his convalescence, he was in Connaught hospital at Allast, when excellent sermons were dershot. He expresses himself as preached, morning and evening, by having no cause for complaint as to his treatment in the various hospitals he was in. In England he saw Sergt. Bowden, of Windsor, and about a dozen other Canadians.

Speaking of the jealousy said to have been shown toward the Canadians by the regular English troops, Sergt. Barnhill says that one cause of jealousy seemed to be that the Canadians were able to move so much more quickly and intelligently than the British regulars. His own and the other Canadian batteries, the sergeant says, could, after receiving an order to move, get away from camp half hour before the imperial batteries could get away. He expresses himself as well catisfied with his experience in serving his country, and says he would be quite willing to go again should

"Annette, can you keep a secret?" "Oui, oui, mademoiselle; I betray, never."

You are sure that I may trust you?" 'Ma foi; oui, mademoiselle." I have something very important, Annette, that I wish to consult you about, but if you should betray me you would do me an irreparable in-Jademoiselle has done me much kindness. I shall forget it never; try me, dear lady; my heart is yours.' said the girl, while tears sprang to her dark eyes and rolled over her cheeks, which, even yet, had not regained their usual rounded contour after her long illness. 'I believe I will try you," Mangaret returned, gravely; "but, first, are you very courageous, and have you strength to do something very disagreeable for me?"

Dui, mademoiselle; I am strong; I am well; new life there is in me since the bad illness: a good heart, too-courage. you call it-I will do anything for mademoiselle.'

Margaret smiled, more at the girl's eager face and manner, than at her earnest words, which, however, had the ring of truth and real affection in

She had returned to her duties in the family nearly a week previous, and was, to all appearance, entirely recovered. She was very devoted, appearing to feel as if she could not do enough to show her appreciation of all the kindness she had received from Mrs. Houghton and her daughter during her illness. It was three days since the fete, and the Houghtons' visit to Arthur Aspinwall, and Margaret had been very busy during that time laying plans for future action.

The very next morning after the fete she had gone out by herself and ordered two keys to be made from the impressions that she had taken of those two in Arthur's writitng-desk,

Today she had been out again to get them, and half the world's vain possessions would not have purchased the two precious bits of steel from her. She had already planned a bold course of action for the coming evening, if she could only secure Annette's co-opera-

Does mademoiselle still fear to trust? Ah, no!" timidly pleaded the girl after waiting several minutes for Margaret to goon, during which she had been carefully brushing the abundant hair which fell in waves of sunshine over the maiden's graceful shoulders. "No, I told you I would try you, Annette," she said, adding: "I want you to go out with me alone tonight." 'Alone, mademoiselle?"

"It is not etiquette for young ladies to go out in the evening unattended by a gentleman."
"We must ignore etiquette for once."

"Where will mademoiselle go?" 'To the Rue de Blanc."

"Rue de Blanc?" repeated the girl, "Yes, but do not question me further now. I shall go with you to the door of your home and leave you there for a while; you will go in and make a little visit to your mother, and at the end of an hour you will come out again; you will find me waiting for you; or if you do not, wait a little for me. Now this is all that I can explain to you at present; if you do as I request, and say nothing, I shall reward you generously; but if you have not the courage or inclination to go with me, say so frankly, and forget that I have made the proposition."

"Is mademoiselle's heart set upon going to the Rue de Blane this evening?" Annette questioned.

"It is absolutely necessary that I go." "Then I will go also; and mademoiselle may trust me fully. I will not be-

"Thank you, Annette. I shall never forget it of you, if you stand by me faithfully in this. Attire yourself very plainly," Margaret continued, after a moment, "in dark clothing, just as soon as you have finished dressing mamma for Madame Dupre's reception, and then, when she and papa have gone, we will start out without letting any of the servants know that we are going." "I will be ready," said Annette, and then, hearing her mistress' bell, she Margaret had also received an invitation to Madame Dupre's reception, but had framed some excuse for not attending. Still, she urged her parents to accept, contending that for all three to absent themselves would be apt to give offense.

Shortly after eight o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Houghton left the house. Margar- by arms, if necessary. Many public et accompanied them to the door, watch- meetings were held on Saturday ed them get into the carriage and drive ayay, then hastened to her own room, to prepare for her adventure.

Fifteen minutes later Annette entered her young mistress' room and found Margaret all ready and waiting for

She had arrayed herself in a simple dress of dark brown, with plain linen collar and cuffs; drawn smoothly back from her forehead and put on a simple felt hat.

Her form was somewhat concealed by a dark cloth mantle, and there were a pair of coarse walking shoes on her small feet; in fact, she had endeavored to make herself look as nearly like an humble servant as possible. She was clad even more simply than

Annette, but there was nevertheless an indescribable air about her that gave the lie to her disguise, while the beauty of her face alone shone forth even more prominently in contrast with her coarse apparel. "Mademoiselle must wear a veil," said Annette, remarking it.

"I dislike a veil so much, Annette." "But mademoiselle's face will surely betray her; there are no waiting maids in France with faces like that," and the girl pointed to the reflection of her figure in the glass near which they were standing. Margaret glanced at herself and smiled slightly. Her face was like some rare pearl, and all the more conspicuous from its somber, almost ugly, surroundings. "The night is dark," she said, the thought of a veil still distasteful to

"Oui, but Paris is like a ball-room, "Oui, but Paris is like a ball-room, with its thousands of lights. Mademoiselle will at least tie the veil about 1,565,000 quarters, so 4,300,000 quarters leave it up, as she may have need," the maid persisted.

Margaret submitted to this arrange- crop. ment, though she observed that she BEEF FOR THE CZAR'S BRA ight her companion was over-particular. "Pretty girls, unattended in the streets, should mask," Annette replied, sententiously. Now the gloves," she added, her cauremarking the young girl's delicate hands.

"I have them here; but stay, I have a pair of dark silk mittens-they will do even better. "Oul-but the diamond-the beautiful ring! Take it off," said Annette, catching the flash of the brilliant stone. "No, no!" Margaret cried, in a voice of pain, "I could not do that, and no one will see it with my hands covered," and she hastily drew on the mittens as she spoke.

The very thought of removing the ring, that precious pledge of love that Louis himself had put upon her finger, was like a knife in her heart.

With it still there she somewhat felt as if she was yet linked to him; to take it off would seem as if she was volun-tarily separating herself from him. "Now I am ready," she said, and the two girls stole softly out of the room, sped swiftly downstairs, and were soon

Here Margaret at once realized the wisdom of Annette's caution regarding the veil, for there were many people abroad, and the streets were almost as bright as day. Annette chose by-streets as much as was possible, for she was very nervous and anxious upon her young mistress' account; she was only too conscious of the wickedness that lurks everywhere at night in gay but corrupt Paris.

But they went safely on their way, no one appearing to heed them, and at length turned into the Rue de Blanc. "We are nearly there," the faithful girl whispered, as she came into the familiar locality. She had no fear now, because she was almost at home. "Oh, how dark it is!" cried Margaret, ander her breath, her heart beating like a frightened bird's, for there was only now and then a light to relieve the intense darkness, and the street was lonely and almost deserted.

"Oui, it is dark; mademoiselle was insane to come here at this hour." "But I had to come, Annette-I had to come. You are so good to come with me. Annette, I will tell you a little I have a suspicion-something that I must discover; no one else must know-I must find it out for myself. If there is nothing in it, no wrong will b done—no harm or injustice; but if what I believe prove true—if I succeed, then justice shall fall where it is merited.' Margaret spoke in a low, excited tone, and her companion could feel she was trembling in every limb. "Is it-the suspicion-connected with the-unfortunate monsieur?" she asked. gently.

"Yes," and a sob accompanied the "Ah! But tell me-I will do anything for you, mademoiselle-what has it to do with this lonely, wretched street?"

"It was here that I discovered something one day while you were sick," Margaret explained, craving sympathy, now that the supreme hour of her triai

But how will she enter?" "I have keys to one of them."
"How will she see?" "I have a candle and matches."

"Mademoiselle will be careful about fire?' said Annette, anxiously. "Oh, yes. But this is the place where I must go," Margaret said, stopping as they drew near the alley before mentioned. "It is very near your home. Go, Annette, and make your call. Do not say or do anything to arouse the suspicion of anyone. Stay one hour, then come out, and I will meet you

Rome, Aug. 28.-A circular note from the Vatican has been sent to all Catholic governments in regard to the change on the Italian throne, which declares that the Pope renounces none of the papal rights over the Rome provinces comprising the patrimony of St. Peter's. It affirms that since 1870 the condition of the papacy under Italian rule has always been growing worse. The religion of the ministers and the pope himself has been at the mercy of fanatical sectionaries favored by the Italian government. pope invokes the assistance of Catholies and Catholic states to relieve him from the intolerable situation, and concludes that until Italy recognizes the rights of the holy see the pope will not recognize the new king as King of Italy, but only as King of Sardinia, Tangier, Aug. 28 .- A United States warship has arrived here to support the claims arising out of the murder last June of Marcos Essagin, a naturalized American citizen, who was the manager of the Fez branch of the French firm of Braunsweig & Co. Essagin, while riding on horseback through a narrow street in Tangier, jolted against the mule of a Moorish religious fanatic, and a dispute ensued, the crowd siding with the priest. In self-defense Essagin drew his revolver and fired, wounding a native. This was the signal for a general attack upon the American, who received dozens of knife wounds, and whose body was burned, according to some accounts, before life was extinct. THE PLAGUE IN GLASGOW. Three persons, father, mother and child, who have been certified to be suffering from bubonic plague, have been placed under the care of the medical authorities in Glasgow.

HAVE THEY MADE UP AGAIN? Paris, Aug. 28.-Clara Ward, formerly of Detroit, Mich., is now here. She is rather conspicuous about the fashionable places. Two papers print reports sent from Egypt, where the former Princess Chimay has been lately living with the gypsy Rigo, stating that the lovers have been definitely separated. This assertion derives some color of truth from the fact that Clara Ward has been seen driving with her two boys by Prince Chimay, who certainly would never allow the children

Lehigh Valley Railway Will Abolish Newsboys on Trains.

The Grand Trunk earnings from Aug. 15 to 21, 1900, $489,295; 1899, $466,744; increase, $22,551. Chicago and Grand Trunk earnings omitted. Some of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe directors say that the gross earnings of this system for the current fiscal year will reach $50,000,000. It has been given out that Fort Wayne will shortly be made a division point and headquarters for the Wabash Railway. The construction of the proposed Butler-Fort Wayne line will make this change possible, and even necessary. Passengers on Lehigh Valley trains will not be able to purchase newspapers, fruit, candy, etc., on the trains after Sept. 1, as it has been decided to abolish the custom of carrying newsboys on trains. Many complaints have been made about the manner in which the boys peddle their goods, and it is believed that they are more of nuisance than an advantage to passengers. In a suit against the Northern Pacific the Supreme Court has rendered an interestin gand important decision relative to the non-payment of a child's fare. It is held that the law implies a contract on the part of the parent who enters a railroad car with a child subject to payment of a fare, but not legally supposed to be capable of acting for himself in the matter, to pay the fare of such child. If payment is refused, both may be ejected from the train, even if the parent tenders payment of his own fare. The removal of the child operates as a removal also of the parent, and if the latter has paid his fare in advance of the ejectment the full amount of the unearned value thereof must be returned as a condi-tion precedent to the removal.

RAILWAY WITH ONE RAIL. An exhibit at Paris which excites much curiosity is a single rail railway, and about the only single rail construction that ever had any chances of success. Briefly stated, it is a railway system for lines where the cheapest construction is desired, and where animal traction and not mechanical motors will suffice. The cars are balanced over the rail and a light frame is secured to one side of the car. In this frame is placed a horse or mule and a suitable saddle and girth transfer any unbalanced weight of the car to the animal's body. Both passenger cars and freight cars of various sorts are shown, all of small size, of course, but the system of transportation is designed for places where nothing in the shape of rail transportation has before been applicable.

The rail is very light, weighing not more than eight pounds per yard, and is supported on square blocks placed about two feet apart. The cars have one wheel in front and one in the rear, and the wheels have deep flanges, so that derailment cannot occur. Each ries a load of 3,000 to 4,000 pounds. The car runs as easily on a curve as on a straight line, and no matter how crooked or wavy the rail, the wheel will follow it.-Engineering News.

He had been in Buffalo for 33 years, most of that time in the real estate business. He did not take ill until last Sunday afternoon, and on Monday he took to his bed, never to rise again. The cause of his death was diabetes. Robert Ferguson was born near London, ottage, Port Stanley, has returned to Ont., 65 years ago, and educated in the public schools of that section. When -A. E. Then he went into real estate, and while he did not amass a fortune, he made enough so that he could be considered comfortably well off. His judgment in business affairs was much sought after. Mr. Ferguson was a member of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church and was deeply interested in the charities of that denomination. He was kind and generous to all in distress and especially faithful in his devotion to an invalid sister in Canada, whom he supported. He never held political office, although he had pronounced views on political ques-tions, and often took an active part in political movements. Pte. Harry Chapman of "B" Company Arrives Home.

Was Welcomed by Thousands of Enthusiastic Citizens.

Some Interesting Experiences Related by the Returned Soldier-Was in Eight Hospitals-Words of Praise for Officers in Command and for Hospital Nurses.

Londoners have been on the qui vive since last Sunday, when Pte. Harry Chapman, of the First Canadian Regiment, telegraphed to his relatives here that he would be home the next day. The train upon which he was expected was met by a crowd of the young soldier's admirers, eager to welcome him home. At his home everything was in readiness for his return, and flags and bunting were the outward evidences of inward joy. All were disappointed, and neither Pte. They saw not the bronzed boys they desired, but carloads of amazed faces peering out of the windows in open-eyed wonder at the crowd. Another train was to come soon after, so the people waited, the number being increased each moment by new arrivals. More than 2,000 were dy and three small children were standing on the platform when the drowned. headlight of the International Limited flashed about the curve of the yards, and as the snorting engine stopped they surged along beside the cars and eagerly scanned the windows. R. station an hour later it gathered and jostled and waited. Pte. Harry Chapman was on the 8 o'clock train, and when he was recognized great cheers rose from the growd who crushed about the car. His friends finally forced a passage, and the young soldier was transferred to Tom Morkin's cab. The people seemed anxious to take the horses out of the cab and pull it themselves, but the driver whipped them up and left the cheering ones to follow as best they The demonstration was remight. peated at the Chapman home on Queen's avenue, where a throng of people had gathered. Pte. Chapman appeared at the door and was greeted enthusiastically. He excused himself from speaking because of his fatigue, but the people pelted him with questions about his comrades, and his answers caused much merriment. The young soldier then held an informal levee, and shook hands with numbers of his admirers. Pte. Chapman is looking strong and robust. He is stouter than when he went away, and his face is darkly bronzed. He made the home trip with Ptes. Archie McMurphy, Sam Crockett, Ed. Taylor and Joe Day, all of this city. He and Pte. Day left Montreal sooner than the others. They were separated at Woodstock, where they were given a reception. Pte. Victor Odlum was met there by a brass band and a crowd of citizens. Pte. John Smith, who was supposed to have been killed, traveled with them as far as Thamesford. He has with him a softnosed bullet that entered his hip and came out at the knee. He was shot at Paardeberg. Pte. Day was shot through the apex of the lung. Pte. Chapman was in eight hospitals, and in common with other returned Canadians he is no grumbler. They were as good as it was possible to make them. He always received the best of treatment, and the nurses especially were wonderfully patient and kind. He says that they cannot be praised too highly. Pte. Chapman speaks, also, with soldierly-like approval of his officers. He regarded Capt. Stuart as a thorough gentleman, and the best of officers. He won the hearts of his men by his unselfishness and the trouble and expense he went to to secure comforts for the sick that were lacking. The idol of the regiment was Col. Buchan, whose courage and personality won the admiration of all the men. Pte. Chapman said that wherever he went he found that the regular Tommy hated the Canadian soldier. This was so in South Africa and in England. In the hospitals it was the same. They had the idea that the volunteers got the pick of the jobs, and that they themselves were the ones who got the dangerous work. Pte. QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

DUMP.-The owner of a vacant lot allows it to be used as a dump, and the sidewalk is almost always littered with droppings from the wagons. Can he be compelled to sweep it, as it is a nuisance to all persons having to use that part of the street? Ans.-He cannot be compelled to sweep the sidewalk, but he is liable to be fined for breach of the city bylaws prohibiting rubbish of any kind being deposited on the streets. That prediction does not appear to have been fulfilled. > A MAGIC PILL.-Dyspepsia is a foe with which men are constantly pling but cannot exterminate. Subdued, and to all appearances vanquished in one, it makes its appearance in another direction. In many the diges-tive apparatus is as delicate as the mechanism of a watch or scientific instrument in which even a breath of air will make a variation. With such persons disorders of the stomach ensue from the most trivial causes and cause much suffering. To these Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are recommended as
