Winnipeg, Aug. 1 .- A Whitemouth dispatch to the Free Press says further inquiries regarding the large baloon which was seen passing in a northeasterly direction on the ing of July 29, three miles from Whitemouth, have elicited the fact that the evening was remarkably calm and ing at the door of his barn, and was taking a glance around the sky, when he saw a large, oblong object sailing across the horizon. Gradually he made out the car, when he saw a large sail swing into view. Astonishment held him spellbound, and again and again a ghost-like sail swung and ibbed in full view, showing its enormous proportions, and then slowly drifted out of sight in the twilight. Mr. Henderson, on returning to his house, consulted a newspaper having a picture of Andree's balloon, and declares the airship he saw is of the same character. The balloon was floating very low, and Henderson says it could not have been more than half a mile away. He could see no signs of life, and it showed no lights. Young unmarried women, especially, do not like to confide their troubles of this nature to their home doctor. They shudder at the thought of the examinations and local applications to which they may have to submit. These are entirely unnecessary, and all letters addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., are held in the most sacred confidence. Dr. Pierce has been for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., one of the greatest medical institutions in the world. His neighbors made him congressman and he was a per-sonal friend of the martyr-president. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs of femininity, upon which depend a young woman's health. Honest druggists don't substitute.

"I have recommended your 'Favorite Prescription' to a great many of my friends, and there has not been a single lady who used it, but was cured by it. who is in close touch with Senor Canovas del Castillo, the Spanish premier, information the Spanish premier, the Assignment will remove a cause of hot discussion between the United States and Spanish ministry is in a very tight place. He says: "We can keep up the war in Cuba only so long as our funds last, and the time when they will fail is almost in sight. When it comes, we must give up the struggle. Now, we are too proud a race to do so at anybody's demand; but we can do so by pleading force majeure in a war with the United States. Such a result naturally would be very unpleasant to us; but in order to prevent a revolution in Spain and the overthrow of the monarchy, war is the only way out. The premier knows from President McKin-ley direct that the president personally does not want war and wishes to save us from the cost and bloodshed. But his cabinet only partly shares his views, while the Senate, the House of Representatives, the American press and the people of the United States favor a settlement with big guns. Preshrinking from war if peace measures fail. This is the position, and naturally lends strength to the independent course which Gen. Woodford will pursue. His instructions will be at the outset to attempt to obtain for Cuba the peaceful means of Cuban independence. He is destined to be defeated in his proposal the moment it is made; for Spain would infinitely prefer war, with or without the encouragement of other nations, to any surrender on the Cuban question. This is the fact, and shrinking from war if peace measures fail. This is the position, and na-

The character of the conference as a voluntary body without the power of enforcing its resolutions has not been changed. A resolution has been adopted in favor of forming a central consulta-tive body, and the Archbishop of Canterbury has been empowered to take steps to carry it into effect. But this can hardly be described as a form of centralization in church government. Synods or other church authorities can ask for counsel or information if they choose, but they will remain at liberty to accept or disregard it at their own pleasure. On the other hand, the oath of obedience of the colonial bishops to the Archbishop of Canterbury will be made less rigor-ous, if the recommendations of the ous, if the recommendations of the conference be carried into effect, and their dioceses will be rendered more independent of control than they now are. One excellent bit of work has been the action in favor of readjusting missionary jurisdiction in China, Japan and elsewhere, so that only one bishop, whether English or American, can be in a single district. The prevailing excuse for disaffection is the alleged harshness of the measures adopted by the Anglo-Indian authorities to put down the plague by isolation of those affected and other stringent regulations. This suggests the question whether or not it is worth risking the inauguration of a rebellion to save such people.

Everybody knows the origin of the dawn, and that Africa comes from a Phoenician word meaning a black man, and is literally "the land of the The Latin word australis, southern, gives a name to Australia. The ancients knew only the lands around the Mediterrean, and for this reason considered that sea "in the middle of the world." The Adriatic is named from the city of Adria, the black town, which was so called be cause it was built upon the black soil brought down by the River Po.

The origin of the name Canada is unknown. Mexico comes from Nexitl, the Aztec war god. Honduras means deep water; Costa Rica, rich coast, and Nicaragua, sweet water. Venezuela, meaning Little Venice, was so named because some of its people built their houses over the water, as the Venetians did. When the Spaniard asked the Indians of a part of Central America the name of their country, they answered: "Junca tan?" ("What do you say?") and the country was called returned from a three weeks' visit with Yucatan in consequence. Many of the familiar old faces were gone, landmarks effaced, and the city presented a strange aspect at first. But there were none of the visitors who did not quickly find some among the citizens with whom they could be reminiscent. Reminiscences were in order, and as the mind dwelt on former times the city presented striking improvements and extensions. Nowhere were the changes for the better more patent than at Springbank Park, where the Toronto visitors and their London entertainers, to the number of several thousands, gathered on Saturday afternoon. The recently contructed double track electric railway, with its excellent service, was highly praised. The visitors looked upon the beautiful river park as a recent discovery, which it practically is, made known to the public by the electric road. The value of the discovery was never set forth to greater advantage, for the day was perfect, and the park never looked lovelier. The excursionists rambled about in the sheltering shade of the countless Mary McGrath, a Domestic, trees, climbed the breezy heights, listened enraptured to the rich melody the Forty-eighth Highlanders' band, and incidentally took in the baseball match or followed every move of the ball game and enjoyed the band music.
