RAPID GROWTH OF UNIVERSITY VITAL TO CITY

VOTE FOR BYLAW MONDAY

Here's Reasons Why Citizens
Should Give Proposal Overwhelming Majority.

What a vision of the future was in the minds of those old Londoners in 1878, when they founded Western University! The path of progress of this institution, so long as it remained under denominational direction, was difficult in the extreme. A new light dawned in 1908, when it came under provincial, municipal and public control. During the great war the university was depleted of the majority of its male students, about 450 having been trained for overseas service. Many were able to qualify for commissions and served with credit and distinction in the Canadian and British armies. Notwithstanding these difficult years, the university continued to grow.

The Medical School, which has been evolving for nearly 40 years, has reached the limit of its development under the handicap of its old building, and meagre equipment. A new building became an absolute necessity, and was undertaken and completed in spite of the difficulties experienced in construction work during war years.

Proud of Medical School.
The city of London invested $100,000 in the new medical school building, which was a little more than one-fifth of its cost. Today every citizen is proud of the fact that we have one of the best medical schools in the world on this continent. This building and the work that is being done there mean great things for every physician in Western Ontario. No one can estimate how much they mean to the people who are sick. Western University is rapidly enhancing its reputation for work in medical science and public health and London and Western Ontario are reaping the benefit. The city investment in the Medical School was $100,000; probably four times this amount is being returned to the city through the presence of the Medical School. For decades to come, the city will receive similar benefits.

Two of the three faculties of Western University, namely, public health and medicine, have adequate buildings for accommodation, but the arts faculty which is by far the largest, is laboring under the severe handicap of wholly inadequate accommodation.

Growth of Enrollment.
During the last six years, the enrollment of the college of arts alone has grown from 33 to 364, while that of the university as a whole has grown from 122 to 748. The accommodation for the students in arts is scarcely tolerable; classrooms are provided in the old building of Huron College, in an adjacent barn belonging to the same institution, in a private residence on St. James street, which also accommodates a part of the library, and in the old medical school on the corner of York and Waterloo streets. Then an old public school building on Cheapside street is used and is packed to the ceiling with books. Here is probably one of the most valuable collections on the continent of America. Sir John Willison, a member of the royal commission, when visiting the university not long ago stated that in his opinion the university library would be consulted in years to come by students from every part of the continent, and that in all decency this part of the institution at least should be well housed.

How the university is expected to do its work properly with the buildings, class rooms and laboratories scattered about the city, it is difficult to say. These conditions were fully understood by the board of governors some time ago, and it was decided to purchase the Kingsmill farm, north of the city, which would provide ample accommodation for the new arts and science buildings and enable the institution to grow.

Commissioner's Report.
In the autumn of 1920, the minister of education for Ontario, recognizing the demand for higher education in all parts of the province, and realizing the peculiar situation in Western Ontario, where Western University was striving to meet a positive need for better educational facilities, secured the appointment of a royal commission on university finances to investigate the claims of Western, Toronto and Queen's.

Municipal Polls Will Close Monday At 5 o'clock

ON SATURDAY morning Mayor E. B. Talbot issued a formal proclamation asking the various concerns of the city to grant their employees sufficient additional time on Monday next in order that they may cast their vote at the municipal polls.

It is pointed out that hundreds of voters, with only the usual dinner hour at their disposal would be unable to go a long distance to the subdivisions in which they live and return in satisfactory time.

Another point that is emphasized is that on Monday the polls open at 9 a.m. and close promptly at FIVE o'clock, but on the succeeding day, for the federal poll, the booths are open from 8 o'clock until SIX o'clock. Considerable misunderstanding on this point has prevailed.

There will be no polling at five of the city schools, Egerton, Colborne, Knollwood, Quebec and Charles.

RECORD CROWD HEARS APPEALS OF CANDIDATES

Attendance at the Masonic Temple Civic Meeting
Largest For Five Years.

WENIGE GETS AUDIENCE

Chairman Prevents Disorder
Which Marked Previous Gatherings of Campaign.

The possibility of another boisterous meeting, equal if not greater than the one at Talbot school on Wednesday night, packed the ground floor of the Masonic Temple and a good portion of the gallery, at the final meeting of the series of four on Friday night.

If the large mixed audience was out "to see the fun," it was more or less disappointed. If it was out to hear a real straight discussion of municipal questions it was amply rewarded.

Somehow the people have been stirred up on municipal matters during the diving days of the campaign, for the audience which turned out Friday night was equal to a total of the number of people who have attended civic election meetings in the last five years.

It was a fair audience. It applauded the utterances of each speaker with considerable vigor. True there were a few who were there with pointed, personal or catch questions. They were held to their question by ex-Ald. S. R. Manness, the chairman, and not satisfactory answers or as good as the speaker could give.

School Trustees Absent.
There was some disappointment over the fact that not one member of the board of education, seeking re-election, was on hand. Evidently some of the audience wanted to hear something of school board matters, as they proposed at the outset of the meeting that the school trustees be heard first, that there might be a full discussion, and not have the trustees shelved to the last, when everybody was ready for home.

Not a trustee responded to the call of the chairman to come forward and give an account of his stewardship. Three aspirants for office on the board were at hand, and concisely placed their stand before the meeting. But Turn to Page 4, Column 5.

TRAFFIC THROUGH SOO SHOWS GREAT DECLINE

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 3.—Freight traffic through the St. Mary's River canals during November amounted to a little more than one-third of the traffic of November, 1920, according to the monthly report made public today.

The total freight movement east and west for last month was $2,547,476 short was for November of last year it was $4,195,580.

O'CONNOR MADE SURE OF 'PLUM' FROM TORIES

Started Some Years Ago To Insist On Recognition of Services.

TO KILL MURDOCK

Admitted That Is His Mission
During the Present Campaign.

W. F. O'Connor—"this man, O'Connor," as he was contemptuously referred to in government circles during one of his periodic times of recalcitancy—is to address a meeting in London tonight in the interest of the government candidate.

The measure of belief that is to be placed in Mr. O'Connor's defence of the government against Mr. Murdoch's charges, may be gauged by a review of Mr. O'Connor's past performance.

Wanted His Reward.
In the 1911 campaign he was a supporter of Sir Robert Borden in Halifax. Immediately after the election he started out for his reward. He wanted a judgeship, a senatorship at the first vacancy. His claims were not very seriously considered by Sir Robert until Mr. O'Connor turned from persuasion to threats. It is well known in Ottawa and in Halifax that Mr. O'Connor openly declared that if he did not get what he wanted he would do his utmost to defeat Sir Robert at the next election.

He was placated finally by being given a well-paid commission in the justice department at Ottawa.

Placated Again.
After a time he became restless again. He wanted something better. He was again placated by being made a commissioner to investigate the high cost of living. But his desire for the limelight soon got him into difficulties with the government's friends, whose profiteering he was supposed to investigate "with discretion." Soon he was at odds with his minister, Hon. T. W. Crothers. A big row developed and Mr. O'Connor was fired from the job. Threats of reprisals from Mr. O'Connor followed and he had to be placated again.

He was put back in the justice department as a special counsel. Later on he was made chief electoral officer to carry out the War Time Election Act. He served the Government well in this capacity and after the election of 1917 he was returned to the justice department at an increased salary. Finally, when it was thought he was properly in hand, he was appointed a member of the board of commerce as a colleague of Mr. Murdoch.

A Troublesome Man.
Again Mr. O'Connor's limelight proclivities got him in wrong with the government, and he was let out. More threats of reprisals and a journey to West Peterboro in quest of a nomination against the government in the by-election of last year. Neither Liberals nor Conservatives would take him up, and he returned disgruntled to Ottawa.

The present election campaign came on, and Mr. Murdoch's charges of a thwarted investigation and gross profiteering under government protection needed rebuttal. Mr. O'Connor has been again placated and is for the time being again defending the government. A dispatch from Ottawa a few days ago noted that a bill of $5,000 had been paid to Mr. O'Connor for services rendered. Probably also the judgeship originally demanded is also in the offing.

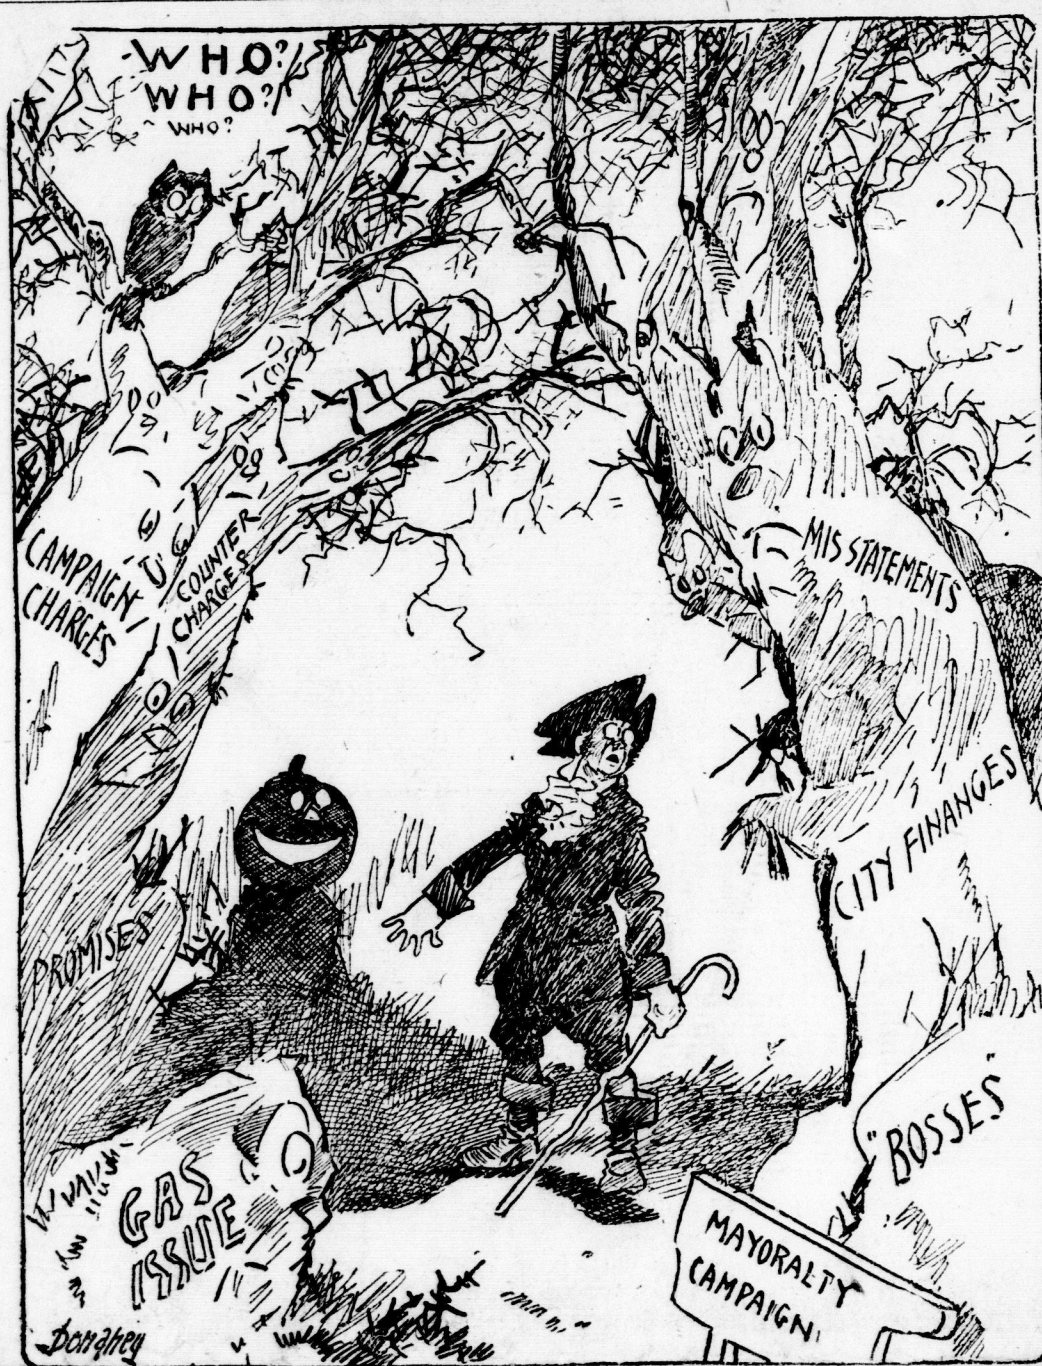

Some Questions.
Mr. O'Connor is brought to London ostensibly to offset Mr. Murdoch's charges. While here will he answer the following questions recently put to him publicly by Mr. Murdoch:

After stating that Mr. O'Connor's opinion of the board of commerce is now at variance with his views of June 24, 1920, Mr. Murdoch asks Mr. O'Connor:

1. Will you kindly give me permission to make public the unsolicited letter which you wrote to me on Oct. 26, 1921, and which you signed "W. F. O'Connor"?
2. Will you advise your audience fully what protection the people of Canada have at present against combines, monopolies, trusts and mergers, that they do exist to exist in the public interest?
3. Will you also advise who prepared the defence which the Canadian sugar refiners had printed in their hands to present at the public hearing on the sugar question which was held in the

ADVISES START ON RIVER DRIVE

Ald. Ashton Has Scheme To Relieve Local Unemployment.

Ald. John Ashton, who has been making a survey of the civic works situation, with a view of finding something that would insure work for all unemployed, comes out with the following scheme:

"Start on a riverside drive, the city to pay one-third, the province one-third, and the other third to be raised by private subscription. The amount of the drive to be done will depend on the total subscription."

"I have heard much about beautifying London, making it a good place to live in. The idea is a good one, but you have got to start on having a competent people first, and with 1,200 men walking the street, hungry, their children hungry, not a dollar in their pocket, no work to do, you are going to have a hard job in making them agree that London is a good place to live in."

"I have resided in London 27 years, and I have never yet seen the case where people were appealed to in behalf of some good cause that they did not give a generous answer. I think such would be the result in this case."

"It has been proposed many times that the Times be beautified. This is the largest task that I can see in sight. It would provide work for all it can be launched quickly, as the plans are all ready, immediately the cash to start it is provided."

Ald. Ashton stated that there are several places along the river where the work could be started, and a real lasting improvement made. He also pointed out that opposite Riverview there are fifty acres that could be served by this road and which would make an excellent golf course.

"There is the idea, I believe it is a good one. If someone will start some money going the work will be under way," said the alderman.

REPORTS CONTAGIOUS DISEASE LIST NORMAL

Scarlet fever, diphtheria and chicken-pox, with the same number of cases, 22, led the list of communicable diseases during November in London. For what is usually the first month of winter the figures last month were fairly low, according to Dr. W. S. Downham, M.O.H. Figures for the year show that 2,345 cases came under the notice of this officer. What this means in visits can be gathered from the fact that he visits every case twice, and in some cases, diphtheria sufferers especially, he makes as high as seven visits.

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION at Ottawa, through the minister of customs, has made two appointments at the London customs house. W. R. Roome has been appointed as appraiser of drugs, jewelry, boots and shoes, books, etc., in place of Archibald Sharp, who left the customs house at the end of October. The other appointment is that of B. C. McLean, who has been made supervisor of examiners. The appointments to these positions will take up their new duties immediately.

War Widows Will Make Wedding Trousseau of Princess Mary

LONDON, England, Dec. 3.—Canadian Press Cable.

Princess Mary's trousseau for her marriage to Viscount Lascelles will be made principally by the widows of officers killed in the war. Many towns in Great Britain are promoting subscription lists for wedding gifts, the greater portion of which, however, at the princess' earnest desire, will almost certainly be devoted to philanthropic efforts, such as hospitals and kindred institutions.

Parliament, upon King George's accession to the throne, decreed that the princess should receive £5,000 per annum during her life.

The betrothal of Princess Mary, only daughter of King George and Queen Mary, to Viscount Lascelles, was announced on Nov. 22. No official information has yet been given regarding the date of the wedding, but it is believed that the engagement will not be a prolonged one, and that the ceremony may occur before Lent. If the wedding took place this early the Prince of Wales, who is now in India, might not be able to attend.

CANDIDATES STATE 'DRY' LAW POSITION

Forty-Three Federal Aspirants Favor Dominion-Wide Prohibition.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—The Dominion Alliance for the Suppression of the Liquor Traffic has polled candidates of all parties in all parts of Canada in the present Dominion elections on the question of whether, if elected, they would work and vote to promote the enactment of Dominion prohibition of the manufacture, importation, exportation and inter-provincial transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes.

Forty-three candidates, without any reservation, many of them with enthusiasm, gave adherence to the alliance position. Seven replies were friendly and offer no objection whatever to the alliance program, but are milder in their endorsement of it.

Fifteen are "on the fence"; they do not offer an opinion, some even resent being asked to state their opinion; others courteously declined to do so. Eleven were frankly not in favor of the policy of the alliance, but were desirous that some legislative action should be taken.

Two were straight-out in opposition to prohibition. Many have not replied.

3 DIE IN IRISH SEA COLLISION

Sinn Fein Delegates, Returning Home, Delayed When Steamer Sinks Schooner.

Belfast, Dec. 3.—Three members of the Sinn Fein peace delegation, bound for Dublin from England, were turned back on their voyage today when the steamer Cambria, on which they were traveling, collided at 1 a.m. with a schooner soon after leaving Holyhead, England.

The schooner was sunk and three of her crew drowned. The Cambria, although reporting only slightly damaged, was obliged to return to Holyhead. Four of the schooner's crew were rescued by the Cambria's lifeboats.

The Irish delegates on board the steamer were Michael Collins, Sinn Fein minister of finance, George Gavan Duffy and Erskine Childers. They were on their way from London after the recent conference with Mr. Lloyd George and his advisers, and had been expected to take part in today's consideration by the Irish Executive authorities of the British government's latest proposals for a peace settlement.

The Cambria is a twin-screw steamer of 3,300 tons, 357 feet long, and of steel construction. Her wireless calls for aid brought British coastal lifeboats to the scene.

SWING OF SENTIMENT STRONGLY IN FAVOR OF LIBERAL CANDIDATE AS SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN CLOSES

Persistent Attempts To Drag Free Trade In as an Issue
Have Failed—Mackenzie King's Wartime Trials.

THE SOMERVILLE CAMPAIGN goes well. The whole drive against him is based on an attempt to tag free trade on his appeal. Mr. Somerville is known in London, he is a man of his word. He states point blank and unreservedly that he is not a free-trader.

How can Mr. White, as man to man, say that he is?

The swing of sentiment is toward C. R. Somerville in a very decided way. Come in with the winners and make his majority a real one.

JARED VINING faces the civic elections on a sick-bed, being unable to deal personally with the issues. His standing in the community is sufficient guarantee of his election, as also is that of Philip Poeock.

EVERY Liberal candidate in Western Ontario who could be reached by wire last night stated, over his own voice, that he was not in favor of free trade, nor was he connected with a free trade party. Arthur Meighen started the campaign on that line in London, and it has been absolutely repudiated. It is not possible any longer to put words in a man's mouth, and on that dodge fool an intelligent electorate.

LONDON VOTERS should remember, in all the whirl of election with which they are surrounded at present, that the University Bylaw awaits their sanction on Monday at the polls. They are asked to show by their votes that they endorse the granting of $250,000 to the completion of this great school. When this move has been made there are other grants, running past the million mark, that become operative. Vote for that bylaw.

OPONENTS of Hon. Mackenzie King seem determined to force the issue on his war record. It is small politics—in fact, it is not politics at all.

Through the persistent and malicious persecution of those who have sought his political overthrow, and because of the heartlessly cruel attempts to drive him from public life in Canada, Mackenzie King was forced to do a thing he would otherwise have refused to do, viz., lay bare his family ties, and expose to public gaze the agonies through which he and his loved ones had passed during the years of the war.

The London Advertiser has refrained from using this material because this paper knows its republication is distasteful to Hon. Mackenzie King. But when the Meighen organ in London refers to him as "the original guy from the United States who won the war," and when it asserts that "he spent his time during the war in the United States in the pay of the Rockefeller Foundation," no other course is open to this paper than to bring into print Mr. King's own story, or at least that part that has a direct bearing on the case in point:

"There remains the statement that I was young, and a bachelor. I am now in my 46th year. When the war commenced I was in my 40th year. Shortly before that time, my father, a barrister and solicitor, and one of the lecturers at the Law School in Toronto, was stricken with blindness, and obliged to give up the practice of law and lecturing at the Law School. He and my mother and unmarried sister lived together at our home in Toronto. My brother, who for a number of years was a practicing physician in this city, some little time prior to the war, after an attack of influenza, complicated by double pneumonia, developed tuberculosis, and was obliged to give up the practice of his profession, and for the greater part of two years to spend his time in a sanatorium. Later, he and his wife and little children took up permanent residence in Colorado. There was no one left to share the responsibilities of our home under these sad and trying circumstances but my married sister and myself. My married sister had, as well, her own family to consider.

"On April 4, 1915, within the first few months of the war, my unmarried sister died. That left my father and mother alone. On August 30, 1916, my father died. After spending a few weeks with my invalid brother in Denver, and two or three months with my married sister, my mother came to reside with me at the Roxborough, here in Ottawa. My mother was critically ill most of the year she was with me, and on December 18, 1917, she, too, died. My brother, I rejoice to say, though still an invalid, has fought his disease so successfully as to be able to publish a book, entitled 'The Battle With Tuberculosis and How to Win It,' which has found a place in our military hospitals. The inscription of this volume, 'Gratefully and affectionately dedicated to my wife and to my brother,' speaks for itself.

"As I look back upon those years of war, so full of poignant suffering for the whole of mankind, I cannot but experience a sense of gratitude, that in that world ordeal it was given to me to share in so intimate a way the sufferings of others, and with it, all so large a measure of opportunity to do my duty, as God gave it to me to see my duty, at that time."

Words fail to express the contempt that is felt for the London Meighen organ, which in a last desperate attempt to besmirch Mackenzie King, and with the history of his Gethsemane before it, refers to him as "the original guy from the United States who won the war."

Complete Election Returns Will Be Given By The London Advertiser From Its New Home

IN ITS new home, at the northwest corner of Richmond and York streets, which will be the most modern newspaper plant in Western Ontario when completed, The London Advertiser intends, rain or shine, on Monday and Tuesday evenings next, to furnish the general public with complete detailed results of the polling in the city and federal elections.

As the returns are received by special messengers direct from the polling booths and over special wires into the editorial office from outside points, they will be immediately flashed on a silver screen hung on the opposite building, the Grigg Hotel.

In order also that citizens may be provided diversion, the Magnavox, utilized by The London Advertiser during the last world baseball series, will again be pressed into service to announce details of the vote throughout the country.

RAIN OR SHINE—In the event of inclement weather the public will not be placed to any disadvantage, as the uncompleted foyer of the new Advertiser building will house a thousand persons with comparative ease.

An added feature both evenings will be many musical selections amplified by the Magnavox.

COURTS LACK POWER TO COLLECT IRISH CLAIM

DUBLIN, Dec. 2.—Recorders and judges are daily awarding thousands of pounds as compensation to people who have suffered loss or injury during the fighting with the British forces; but few of these awards seem likely to materialize in hard cash. There is no money with which to pay them.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, secretary of state for Ireland, answering an inquiry in the British House of Commons, put the total amount of awards to Sept. 30 last at £8,000,000; but the amount involved in the 26 southern counties is at least £10,000,000, while another £2,000,000 has to be added for the area in Ulster.

Some of the claimants are Sinn Feiners and others are business men who took no part in politics.

When an award is made, the local authority is supposed to levy a special tax for the purpose; but since Sinn Fein assumed political control of the country no local authority in Southern Ireland has imposed such a tax.

For the great mass of sufferers there is no prospect of relief, and how the thousands of claims already granted are to be met puzzles everybody, including the claimants.

GERMANS SEEKING LOAN FROM BRITISH BANKERS

LONDON, England, Dec. 2.—Former German Minister of Reconstruction Rathenau is negotiating with Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, and with officials of the Bank of England, for a loan of £50,000,000 to Germany.

it was learned on high authority here today. It was understood here Rathenau would be given a definite answer today, which a high official said would probably be in the negative.

DEMOLISH MEIGHEN'S "FREE TRADE" BOGEY

WESTERN ONTARIO LIBERAL CANDIDATES PROVE TORY CAMPAIGN CHARGE FALSE

Defeat Desperate Efforts of Meighen Cohorts To Misrepresent Them As Free Traders and Wreckers of Industry To Electorate.

WESTERN ONTARIO Liberals deny point-blank the charge that is being levelled against them that they are industry wreckers, and that their coming into power on Dec. 6 will mean the closing of factories all over Canada.

Never before has there been such a concerted attempt made to belound an issue as that launched by the Meighen campaign in the appeal that is being made to the people just now.

The London Advertiser wired Liberal candidates in Western Ontario to state their views on the matter of free trade, having in mind the nation-wide campaign that is being waged to brand every Liberal candidate as a free trader, following a free trade platform. In some cases it was impossible to get in touch with the candidates, as they were at points in their ridings where they would not be reached before we went to press.

The sum total of their pronouncements is that the Liberal candidates are not free-traders—they are not industry-wreckers—they have no intention of interfering with any legitimate industry in this country. But they are mindful of the mass of the people. They do insist on consideration for the consumers as well as for the producers, and in this insistence they are standing squarely behind one of the fundamental principles of the Liberal party.

NORTH OXFORD has as its Liberal candidate in this contest Dr. D. J. Sinclair of Woodstock. North Oxford is traditionally Liberal; in fact, it has never been anything else, with the exception of the break that was made at the time Union Government was formed. Dr. Sinclair has a keen appreciation of the needs of the riding to which he is appealing for support in that instance. Here is his message:

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 2.—"I do not believe in free trade, nor does the Liberal party believe in free trade. We believe in a tariff for revenue only—a tariff which will give adequate protection to industries earning a legitimate profit, but which will discourage the creation of monopolies and prevent the extortion of profits which weigh heavily on the consumer."—D. J. Sinclair.

That is the platform on which Dr. Sinclair is appealing to North Oxford, and he has the same platform for every class. He rails the statement hard that he is a free-trader.

GEORGE P. GRAHAM, Liberal candidate in South Essex, has been in public life for years. He was a trusted friend of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, accompanying him on many of his campaigns. He knows just where the Liberal party stands on matters of tariff, and he is competent to speak on that matter. Mr. Graham wires:

WINDSOR, Dec. 2.—"Free trade for Canada is an impracticable idealism. I am in favor of a revision of the tariff after impartial investigation into all the activities of the Canadian people, based on the principles which underlie the tariff adopted by the Liberals after the election of 1896, under the operation of which Canada experienced an era of contentment and prosperity unequalled by any country in the world."—George P. Graham.

WHEN we are in the Essex district, take the other, viz., W. C. Kennedy, in North Essex. He made a memorable run there against heavy opposition in the last general election, taking the seat from a Conservative member and restoring it to the Liberal column, where it had been ever since the year 1891. Mr. Kennedy draws his support from all classes and all callings. His last majority was 446, and when the returns are counted on the night of Dec. 6 that figure will be outdistanced. On the question of free trade Mr. Kennedy wires The Advertiser as follows:

WINDSOR, Dec. 2.—"I am not and never have been a free-trader. On the contrary, I believe in a tariff for revenue, which will adequately protect the industries of this country, and likewise afford ample protection for labor employed therein. Any tariff change made by the Liberal party will be of a constructive nature. They are not, and never have been, wreckers of the industrial life of the country."—W. C. Kennedy.

There are the candidates in North Essex and South Essex, and in neither case have we any germs of industry-wreckers about which the Meighen campaign has so much to say.

DUNCAN ROSS is the Liberal candidate in West Middlesex. The Advertiser happened to catch him on the wire just after returning from one of the greatest successes of his campaign in the rally at Parkhill. He has been one of the outstanding men in the house, notable at all times for his devotion to his riding. Duncan Ross is outspoken in his attacks on the interests that seek to build up monopolies, but he cannot be classed as a free-trader. Here is his statement:

STRATHROY, Dec. 2.—"I am not an out-and-out free-trader; neither has any Liberal government I have ever supported been a government of free-traders. I believe in a tariff for revenue at the present time; in a tariff that will bear as lightly as possible on the common people, and in a tariff that will give the farmers the opportunity they must have if we are going to have a well-to-do rural and urban population left in Ontario."—Duncan C. Ross.

EAST MIDDLESEX has a Duncan Ross in this contest as well as the west riding. Major Duncan Ross is not dodging the issue. In fact, in his last meeting in his own town, Leamington, Conservatives took the platform for him, satisfied that he understood the tariff issues sufficiently to take care of the interests of the riding. Here is Major Ross' views on the matter:

LUCAN, Dec. 2.—"I am not a free-trader, nor is the Liberal party a party of free-traders. I believe the tariff should be used primarily to secure revenue to finance the needs of the government. The tariff should be revised to take the load off the common people, and give the soldiers and agricultural interests a chance to go ahead and develop."—Duncan Ross.

Major Ross has a lot of votes right round the city of London. He is not an industry wrecker, and no person voting in East Middlesex need pay any attention to all the dust that is being blown in the air about the depression that is sure to follow the defeat of the Meighen candidate in East Middlesex. Major Duncan Ross is emphatic and safe on tariff matters.

D. EULER is contesting historic ground in North Waterloo, where

HOW CAN ANY MORE PROOF BE ASKED?

FOR weeks past, in fact ever since the inauguration of the Meighen campaign in Canada, the most determined attempt has been made to drive electors to regard Liberals as free traders and wreckers.

In this campaign of deception, in which every possible whisper and insinuation has been called into play, Premier Meighen set the pace, for right at the outset he made that his line of argument, and the lesser lights were quick to follow his lead.

The London Advertiser considers that the Liberal candidates of Western Ontario understand thoroughly why they are in the field—they understand the stand they are taking on tariff matters, and they understand what the party is going to do when it is called upon to deal with tariff adjustments.

This paper has to admit defeat, for it did not find a Liberal free trader, nor a Liberal wrecker of industry in all Western Ontario. Electors have the signed statements of the candidates on this page. They made these statements knowing they were going before the reading public of this province a few days before the taking of the ballot.

The Liberal candidates, the Liberal leader, give serious and emphatic denial to the efforts that have been made to misrepresent them.

Can any more proof be asked by any reasonable man?

Properly revised, I believe that to be the position of the Liberal party, and would oppose any other policy."—W. D. Euler.

So there's no free trade in the Liberal candidate in North Waterloo. The Meighen campaign says there is, but there is the word of the man who is running as the King candidate, and his word can be accepted at par.

WEST ELGIN has seen notable elections. For a number of years the seat went regularly to Hon. T. W. Crothers, who has retired to the Senate. A determined fight is being made for the seat this time, and Wm. Tomlin is the Liberal there. Is he a free trader? Here's his own word for it: ST. THOMAS, Dec. 2.—"I am not and the Liberal party is not in favor of free trade. After ten years of Tory rule the financial condition of this country is such as to make free trade absolutely out of the question. I favor a tariff that will bring the revenue we require."—Wm. Tomlin.

In City of London

Straight enough for any reasonable man. Mr. Tomlin realizes the debt that has been piled up against the credit of this country, and he knows that there must be revenue to meet it. From that basis he will build his tariff ideas.

COMING to London, we find a straight city proposition, where the Meighen campaign has made a dead end to make it appear that the Liberal party is out for free trade. Meighen candidates in London have been unfair to the limit of their knowledge in efforts to fasten the idea of free trade and industry wrecking on the platforms of the King candidates. C. R. Somerville, the Liberal candidate for the city of London, gives the answer:

LONDON, Dec. 2.—"Free trade is a bogey that exists only in the minds of the Meighen government candidates and press. It is not now and never was an issue in this campaign. My attitude on the tariff is summed up in the phrase 'a just balance between the selfish high protectionist and the impractical free trader.'"—C. R. Somerville.

That message is exactly what C. R. Somerville has been giving all the way through his campaign. He has not one through his message today and another one for the next. He is not a free trader, nor an industry wrecker. He is deeply interested in the welfare of all institutions here, and can be trusted to look after London's tariff requirements.

BRANTFORD is another city riding, and a place where a determined effort has been made by the Meighen campaign to cry "wreckers" at the Liberal camp. W. G. Raymond is the Liberal candidate in that riding. He is a student of history and of events, and his platform is one of the best pieces of constructive criticism that has been placed before the electors in this contest. Mr. Raymond understands what Brantford needs in the way of tariff treatment. Here is his wire to the Advertiser:

BRANTFORD, Dec. 2.—"I stand for revenue tariff. Free trade has been absolutely and emphatically repudiated by Mackenzie King and every other Liberal candidate from coast to coast. It will go down to posterity as the smoke screen or camouflage designed to confuse the real issues, but the keen eye of Canadian common sense has pierced the disguise, and perceives clearly the 'deeds of the blackest politi-

Stalwart Champion of Liberalism

HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING.

"I am not, the Liberal party is not, in favor of free trade. 'What the country needs is a group of the ablest men we can get whose collective wisdom will guide the ship of state through the years of stress. Should I be entrusted with this higher office—and I believe I will—I will do as Sir Wilfrid Laurier did, surround myself with the ablest men and seek to restore confidence in this country.' The issue of protection vs. free trade is being taken as an insult to the people which will destroy the government. No legitimate industry earning legitimate profits need have any fear of injury from a Liberal tariff."—Mackenzie King at Brantford.

cal infamy" of the Meighen administration." W. G. RAYMOND. "Absolutely and emphatically repudiated." That is what the Liberal candidate in Brantford has to say to the charges that Liberals are free traders and industry wreckers. Brantford is a city of factories, and the Liberal candidate there has spoken very plainly and very consistently from the very start of his campaign. He does not stand for free trade, neither does he represent a free trade party. So much for free trade in Brantford.

SOUTH PERTH has always been good fighting ground, and it is no exception this year. Wm. Forrester has covered most of the riding, which takes in both towns and rural districts. He has no dual message for the people of various sections of the riding. The Advertiser wire reached him as he was leaving Mitchell to address a gathering tonight. Here is his reply:

MITCHELL, Dec. 2.—"All talk about free trade is deception and camouflage, made for the purpose of deceiving the innocent and uninformed. Canada needs to exploit every avenue where she can fairly raise revenue, and under present conditions all talk of free trade is utter nonsense."—WM. FORRESTER.

When a man refers to a thing as utter nonsense, and knows that his views are going before the people on the eve of election day, the chances are that he is sincere. Wm. Forrester is not a free trader, nor does he have any hesitation in saying so.

GO INTO the north riding of the same county, and see if there is any better success in finding Liberal free traders and industry wreckers. Dr. J. P. Rankin, Liberal candidate in North Perth, came back quick and strong when he was asked for his views on this matter. He replied as follows:

STRATHROY, Dec. 2.—"I am not a free trader. Free trade would be just as absurd and impracticable as high tariff as a policy for the Canadian nation as a whole. The Liberal party does not advocate a Sarnia are going to be swept into the river or into United States where the barriers are taken down. But who is going to take them down? Is F. F. Pardee? He is the Liberal candidate in that riding. He was, perhaps, as close to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as any man could be, and he understands Liberal tariff principles. Is he a free trader? Mr. Pardee answered the question himself from Sarnia:

SARNIA, Dec. 2.—"I am not a free trader, and never have been. The Liberal party does not stand for free trade, nor, in my opinion, is it even heading for free trade. Without some kind of a bogey cry the Tory party would be literally wiped out. You still can fool some of the people some of the time, however."—F. F. PARDEE.

F. F. Pardee is not a political juggler. When he says a plain "No" to free trade talk Canadians are going to believe it. So it is necessary to pull out of Sarnia without having discovered a free trade Liberal candidate or an industry wrecker.

JAMES MALCOLM is a manufacturer, running as Independent Liberal in North Bruce. Is he not afraid of being wrecked by the Liberals? No. Here are his tariff views:

KINCARDINE, Dec. 2.—"Any accusation against the Liberal party that it favors free trade is not founded on facts, or on any utterances from any Liberal platform that I have read.

As I understand the Liberal policy on tariff, the spirit of it is: For reduction on implements of the four basic industries to assist in the production of natural wealth. 2. To revise the tariff so that it will produce the best possible revenue for the country's financial need. 3. To give adequate protection to industry, but not to be framed to protect excessive profits.

The performance of the Liberal tariff from 1896 to 1911 should be sufficient security for an sane manufacturing industry. I cannot see how any one can argue in favor of the Meighen policy of protecting industry first, and natural wealth after. Where is the industrial prosperity to come from if Canada cannot make her producer prosperous and a vast in finding a broader market for the surplus that exists? Every year that we have had business prosperity in this country it was founded on the fact that we had prosperity among the producers first.

The failure of the Canadian government to ratify the reciprocity pact on natural products, which brought forth the Fordney emergency tariff, cannot be answered by the Drayton tariff against American goods, but can only be answered by a renewal of the trade agreement, whereby the Fordney emergency tariff bill would be side-tracked.

I argue that as the United States is a greater consumer of natural products than we are, therefore, we could not help but profit by an exchange of natural products, and as a manufacturer I am satisfied that our business will prosper by assisting the producer more than by any other policy.—James Malcolm.

SOUTH OXFORD was the last place The Advertiser could reach before press time. It was hopeful that in this last place it might be possible to scratch up a Liberal wrecker, or find a Liberal who believed that Mackenzie King was a wrecker. We were really anxious to find something to hang all the Meighen campaign on. So here is M. G. Dean, clean-cut, honest and industrious mayor of the Town of Tillsonburg. Is he a free trader following a free trade leader? Let him answer:

TILLSONBURG, Dec. 2.—"I hereby state to all electors as the Liberal candidate for South Oxford, that I do not stand for free trade, nor is the Liberal party headed for free trade. But we do stand for a moderate tariff such as would give the necessary protection to any legitimate industries of our country in a full measure to all the Canadian people."—M. G. Dean.

So there have gone over fifteen ridings in Western Ontario. They are not hand-picked. We took them as they came, some city ridings, others rural, and many of them mixed. We confess defeat, for we did not locate a free trader in the whole outfit. We give their own statements, signed by the men themselves. Can anything be done to give a more embracing or a more emphatic denial to the desperate effort that is being made to tag Liberals as free traders and wreckers? The Meighen campaign is utterly repudiated by the Liberal candidates in Western Ontario.

Who's Who In London's Municipal Race Monday

A Brief Summary of the Various Candidates For Mayor, Aldermen, Utilities Commission and Board of Education.

MAYORALTY.

Harley, Frank E., lumber merchant, lives at 45 Gerrard street, South London. A member of the city council for five years, ex-chairman of the finance committee, a member of the unemployment committee and the town-planning committee, and first vice-president of the Ontario town-planning body, and holding the same position with the Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association, director of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, and leading exponent of a juvenile court for London.

Wilson, Dr. J. Cameron, surgeon, 265 Dundas street, a member of the council for two years; was prominent among the war veterans. He served overseas from 1914 until the end of the war, going over with an ambulance corps. He is a son of the late Dr. J. D. Wilson, one of the foremost medical practitioners of his time, and ex-mayor of the city, and a leader in other public matters. The late Dr. Wilson was one of the prime movers in the Western University, and his son is a graduate of the university and a teacher at the medical school at the present time.

Wenige, George A., proprietor of the Bicycle and Motor Sales, lives at 27 Erie avenue, a member of the city council representing Ward 1. Mr. Wenige is one of the leading men in the country in his line of business, and was recently elected vice-president of the International Cycle and Bicycle Association at Chicago.

Vivian, Joseph, insurance agent, 54 Elmwood avenue. He is making his first attempt at aspiring to public office.

He is also a member of the court of revision, a member of the Rotary Club, for two years a director of the Chamber of Commerce, and one of the foremost boosters for a juvenile court in London. Mr. Vining's campaign has been marred by the fact that since the first municipal election he has been confined to his home through illness.

BOARD OF EDUCATION. Casselman, Ward A., a member of the firm of Casselman Bros., shoe dealers, and residing at 48 Dufferin avenue, is seeking office for the first time. He is an old member of the Canadian Club.

He was a candidate for the chairmanship last year, and will likely try for that post again this year. If returned, he has come into prominence during the last days of the campaign over what has been termed the hasty placing of contracts for school supplies. He has declared for "everything in the open."

Campbell, Bryden N., insurance agent, residing at 94 Richmond street. Physically he is one of London's biggest men, and has been to the forefront on many occasions as an able-bodied candidate, but says that his heart is with the schools of the city.

Cooper, Gordon M., associated with his father as diamond merchant, resides 534 Waterloo street. He was defeated for the board by eight votes last year. Refuses Morse Right of Entry to France

Paris, Dec. 3.—The French ministry of the interior today issued an order denying Charles W. Morse the right to land in France, and requiring his return to the United States on the first available steamer, which would be the Paris, sailing on Monday from Havre.

The representation of the French foreign office to the United States embassy this morning. The interior department has the right to refuse entry to any foreigner whom it judges undesirable.

The representations in the case by the United States embassy were regarded by the interior department as ample reason for its action. Ordinarily the case would require protracted negotiations, occupying probably two or three weeks.

The embassy cabled the Washington authorities this morning that in view of the interior department's action Mr. Morse could be expected to arrive at New York aboard the Paris on that liner's next trip.

Denies Riordon Owes Quebec Govt. $556,000

Montreal, Dec. 3.—Speaking in support of Herbert Marler, Liberal candidate in Laurier-Outremont division here last night, Hon. Walter Mitchell, ex-provincial treasurer of Quebec, denied the reported statement of Sir Henry Drayton that the Riordon Company owed the Quebec Government $556,000. It owes, he said, the sum of $127,000 on current account, and a note was never taken from the company by the provincial government.

Vote on Large Items.

In answer to a question he declared his intention to placing items of more than $25,000 in the City of London bill. Rather he would have the people vote on such items. He said that he did vote for one larger item, a $50,000 grant to the University, and he was proud of the fact.

Ald. Frank Harley, in declaring that he appealed to the people on the grounds of his experience as an alderman, added that Ald. Wilson would make a good mayor—in a couple of years. Ald. Wenige also might be a mayor with some more experience.

The speaker touched briefly on the unemployment and street railway questions, and came out in favor of a return to the policy of electing the aldermen at large instead of by wards. The present system, he said, created a certain amount of ward-grabbing, and one of the aldermanic candidates, H. B. Ashplant, and one utilities commissioner candidate, Philip Pocock, responded to the chairman's call.

The majority aspirants were out in force, however, and their outline of their policies was along much the same lines as at the other three meetings. Unlike the Talbot street school meeting the personalities were left severely in the background, although they were brought to the front by some of the audience in questions.

Dr. Wilson Begins.

Ald. Cameron Wilson started the mayoralty talkfest, it being agreed that he talk first. Ald. F. E. Harley second, and Ald. George A. Wenige third, and the first two to have a few moments, if they desired, to reply to anything brought out by Ald. Wenige.

Dr. Wilson's outline of his platform was almost identical with his previous utterances. His solution of the high taxes problem is economy and trenchancy. This would bring about a re-organization of the city forces, a reorganization of the various offices, if need be, and have the city treasurer as an adviser to the hands of departments on their expenditures.

The candidate outlined his opposition to the increase in the gas rates, and declared that he would enforce the present bylaw in so far as it could be enforced to time. He declared that the street railway solution was one that had to be faced, and he thought the question of a solution of the city's transportation problem could be placed in the hands of a committee of the council, assisted by experts to advise them.

Vote on Large Items.

In answer to a question he declared his intention to placing items of more than $25,000 in the City of London bill. Rather he would have the people vote on such items. He said that he did vote for one larger item, a $50,000 grant to the University, and he was proud of the fact.

Ald. Frank Harley, in declaring that he appealed to the people on the grounds of his experience as an alderman, added that Ald. Wilson would make a good mayor—in a couple of years. Ald. Wenige also might be a mayor with some more experience.

The speaker touched briefly on the unemployment and street railway questions, and came out in favor of a return to the policy of electing the aldermen at large instead of by wards. The present system, he said, created a certain amount of ward-grabbing, and wards that have not a grabber representing them do not fare very well.

Ald. Harley went into an explanation of his sales of lumber to the city, showing that he was within his rights, and also that he was doing the department a favor when he made the initial sale.

Several questions dealing with minor matters, mostly about unemployed and unemployment, were hurled at the alderman.

Wenige Well Received.

There was a slight tendency to give Ald. Wenige a rough passage right at the start, but the chairman was equal to the occasion, and the speaker got a good hearing and a good reception. At the conclusion of his speech, the question of his naturalization was again raised by a Mr. Ball, who had raised it at Talbot Street School.

He again asked the question and was told "a couple of years ago."

Mr. Ball contended that at the Talbot Street School meeting Mr. Wenige had said seven years.

An uproar started, but the chairman, assisted by Ald. Wilson, stopped it, the latter after shaking Wenige by the hand, declared that the matter raised was not an election issue. The three men running for office had placed their platforms before the audience, that was what they should be judged on, he said.

Disparages Seniority Claim.

Ald. Wenige said that if the audience was to listen to Ald. Harley's claim for seniority for office, Ald. W. A. Wilson should be the next mayor, as he had sat on the council ten years. He proceeded to outline the reasons why he was presenting himself for election, and then went into the gas question, blaming the 1920 council for most of the city's troubles. He told his hearers that there was real necessity for a fighter or the company would get rates higher next year. He pointed out that there would be at least six new aldermen, perhaps seven or eight in the council, and said this new blood, with a fighting mayor, might be able to accomplish something.

He contended that though his opponents said that it would take fifteen years to institute a pay-as-you-go system he believed that it could be started in five minutes.

Ald. Wenige was asked if he had criticized men in the city's employ for wiping their faces?

Before he could answer a voice asked: "Where'd they get the sweat?"

Wenige asked: "Who ever heard of sweating on any corporation job, any place in the world?"

RECORD CROWD. sh m f waoi

J. H. Laughton said that the acts of a responsible trustee should be measured by the good it does for the boys. The collection of taxes by the council is only a matter of economy, the trustees are responsible for the money spent. He told his hearers that so long as there are complaints of insanitary schools, he would not agree to the spending of one cent on a Technical School auditorium, was coming to it, and that was quite little.

He replied to remarks of Trustee Eggett, who complained that Kitchener had permission to erect a 21-room school on a site, while London was allowed only 16 rooms. The speaker had been in Kitchener on Friday, and found that the site there was 5 acres, also that Kitchener had received no more privileges than had London.

Brydon N. Campbell said he was interested in the educational welfare of the children, he has four at school. In the matter of purchases, he declared in favor of regular tenders for all amounts of any size. Mr. Campbell laid considerable emphasis on the necessity of supporting the University bylaw. Speaking of school buildings, he thought that these structures should be as nearly fireproof as possible.

Voices West London Need.

A speaker asked why not a good school for West London, where they have good honest mind that school. Mr. Campbell said he would not overlook West London if elected.

R. H. Hessel said he would do no fault-finding. He had one promise, to straighten out the matter of contracts for school buildings and purchases. There seemed to be irregularities. He would not say that money had gone into wrong channels, but he thought that every merchant should have a chance to tender on them.

As to the high school contract, the speaker said that the Kingston Construction Company came here to build the schools with plans to pay a minimum wage, and he contended that in doing so the company was taking more than a fair share of the money out of the city. He called for a minimum wage clause in all contracts, and urged that local contractors should be given a chance. He thought the utilities complaint over not getting the contract to wire the high school a just one. The people's money should be spent in the people's own store.

Philip Pocock Speaks.

Philip Pocock was the only one of the trio out for the utilities commission present. The department with which he was connected had proven an even greater success than expected; all showed a substantial surplus. There was a good prospect of a continued good water supply. Mr. Pocock said there were no good playgrounds in sight in the north, and while there were such good school grounds he favored their use for the kids. He said that if flats were to be made a suitable place for the grown ups.

"Why were married men laid off to make a place for footballers?" a man, who said he was an employee, asked.

"I don't think it was done; no complaint has ever been made."

H. B. Ashplant, seeking election once again, said he was chairman of the high cost of living committee, that fought the Gas Company, and had the service charge upset. He would see that, if elected, the company got all that cent on a Technical School auditorium, was coming to it, and that was quite little.

CAN'T EXPLAIN WHY FIXTURES WERE REMOVED

Chairman Hayman of Board of Education Declares Original Ones in Use.

SCHOOL RENOVATED

Board Will Spend Part of $12,750 On School Alterations.

"Clear as mud" would be an apt characterization of the tangle that has developed in board of education circles since the question was put by J. B. Wright, trustee and member of No. 2 committee, as to who gave the order to remove hydro fixtures in the Wortley road schools and replace them with those of another company.

At a special session of the committee on Friday afternoon Trustee Udy referred to recent statements in the press by Trustee Wright wherein it was explained that certain fixtures, including those of the hydro department, were placed in the Wortley road school for consideration by the committee. Trustee Wright held that the committee decided that the hydro appliances were to be left, and explained that to his surprise, at a subsequent visit to the school they were gone and others replaced.

"Such was not the case," said Chairman Harry Hayman at Friday's meeting. "You selected the lights that are in place now."

"But was the matter ever brought before this committee?" he was questioned.

"Why you remember that we held a meeting over at the school after dark one evening, and you picked the fixtures that are in place now?"

Trustee Wright explained that he was under the impression to the best of his recollection that it was the hydro type that had been chosen.

Trustee Mrs. John L. A. Hunt also held to this opinion, and explained further, despite the assurance of Chairman Hayman that she was mistaken, that she inquired about the change, and L. E. Carrothers, school architect, had told her that the last fixtures were placed because they were 25 cents cheaper.

As the discussion progressed the recent award of the electrical contract for the new collegiate institute to a Galt firm came under fire. Trustee Wright stated that he had been informed that the hydro people and others had not been afforded a proper opportunity for submitting tenders.

Chairman Hayman held that the tenders were open to all, and told Trustee Mrs. Hunt not to mind what she read in the papers.

Mrs. Hunt retorted in conclusion that there should be a better community spirit prevailing between the London hydro department and the board of education.

A deputation from the Y. W. C. A. voted upon the committee, explaining that in September last they made application for the use of the swimming pool at the Lord Roberts school, but had not as yet received a reply. Mrs. Henderson, one of the two representatives, contended that the cost, according to reliable estimates should be only about $4.75, as against the $10 estimate submitted by the school architect. The matter will be considered by the board next Tuesday.

May Make Alterations. It is now possible that the proposed alterations at the Victoria school may be undertaken. Suggestions by Chairman Hayman as to a feasible manner of providing two dressing rooms that were not included in the original contract will be considered. The school architect will submit plans for this purpose.

A report prepared by Inspector Greer disclosed the fact that of the sum of $12,750 authorized for the school, there is yet $2,750 uncommitted. That a portion of this sum should be utilized for the alterations, was the unanimous contention of the committee.

Upon direction of the board, School Inspector Greer presented a report from the various mothers' clubs intimating that each club would not require the use of the school at the most, more than twelve nights a year.

Trustee Wright, in recognition of the value of these organizations in the promotion of the community spirit, they should be permitted to make use of the school more frequently.

Use School More Frequently. Chairman Hayman held that one would not know where to draw the line. "Before you get through," he said, "you will be having union meetings and gatherings of benevolent societies and what on. They will say they have the right as well."

"So they would have," rejoined Trustee Wright, "and as a matter of fact it is coming to that. The community spirit is fast developing."

Chairman Hayman, behind the times, declared Mrs. A. Hunt. "We do not use our schools near as much as we could, and as they do over the line for this purpose, we should promote the community spirit to a greater degree. We must use the schools. It can't be done in the churches."

THE RESIDENCE of Mr. McNiven, 256 Wortley road, was entered by thieves Friday night during the absence of the family. As much as could be learned nothing was taken. The police have been notified.

RAPID GROWTH OF UNIVERSITY

results of these investigations have been made public, and are now generally well known. The royal commission recommended that Western University should have a capital account for buildings urgently needed, and $200,000 a year for two years and $25,000 a year for three following years for maintenance.

At the end of the five-year period, another review of the whole situation will be held for the purpose of determining what amounts of money should be appropriated for the next period. The recommendations so far as Western is concerned have been accepted, while Premier Drury has promised "that the government will stand behind the board of governors of Western University in completing their building program."

When the governors of the university requested the city council to recommend to the electorate, the bylaw which will be voted on Monday next, they explained the whole situation to the council. In order to get the $800,000 from the Ontario Government necessary for a great deal of preliminary work to be done on the new building site, and to do this work, $250,000 will be required. The county of Middlesex has made a grant of $100,000 to the university, but this money will not be paid over until the first buildings are completed. It is estimated that approximately $2,000,000 will be spent on university buildings within the next two years. This will mean that we shall have on the north borders of the city the beginning of one of the best educational institutions in Canada. The site itself has been recognized by those who have visited it, including the minister of education, as one of the best of its kind in Canada. The affiliated colleges intend to erect new buildings of their own, and will spend probably $1,000,000 additional on neighboring sites.

Acres Insufficient. There are a few people in London who have questioned the advisability of purchasing so large a tract as 220 acres for university purposes, but as soon as they realize how much ground is required to develop a modern university, they have withdrawn their objections.

London is located in the center of one of the richest agricultural districts on the continent of America, and in all probability almost at once Western University will be called upon to give courses of instruction which will be of value to people who are interested in our great basic industry. If this demand develops, as it promises to do, the 220 acres now included in the university site will be insufficient. In the meantime, the ground will be needed to provide room for games and athletic sports of all kinds. The ideal before Western University is that every student in the institution shall actually participate in games and exercises which shall mean the maximum of physical development. This is a British ideal in education which Canadian universities desire to carry into practice.

Western University should avoid the mistake that the University of Toronto has made in building on too confined a space. At one time the college of arts at Toronto seemed to have plenty of ground around it, but today the campus is crowded with buildings. Space for athletic or other university purposes is so limited that development is impossible.

Growth of University. In view of the fact that the University of Toronto has already reached its maximum in student accommodation, and that Queen's University at Kingston is full, who can tell how soon Western University will have more students than even our new buildings will be able to accommodate. It is almost a certainty that the enrollment will increase more rapidly than the building accommodation can be provided. It should be remembered that six years ago there were only 122 students in the whole university, while today there are 748. If this rate of growth continues, it will not be long before there will be 3,000 students. Even then the higher educational needs of the city of London and Western Ontario will not be fully met. There are at present 12,000 pupils in the secondary schools of Western Ontario, about 1,200 of these go to Toronto, some go to McGill, some to Queen's, while a number go to the United States, but the vast majority do not receive a university education. If we are to develop a true democracy in the Dominion of Canada, the universities must endeavor to reach and help larger numbers of men and women to get the best education obtainable. Education for citizenship is a much higher ideal than vocational training.

For Western Ontario.

Western University is intended to satisfy the diversified educational requirements of the people of Western Ontario, and as the buildings become available and the demand is apparent, additional chairs, departments and faculties will be added, while courses of study will be added for resident and non-resident students, and extension, extramural and correspondence courses will be offered until the whole field of higher education is covered. The university will not fulfill the desires of those most interested in its development until it provides facilities for the best education for every boy and girl within its constituency. It is intended to secure London as an ideal city near which to build a great university. It is not too big. It has developed local pride, enterprise and public spirit. It is a city of homes and churches, and therefore stable in its social characteristics. It has enjoyed years of unknown prosperity and has developed an atmosphere of culture and refinement.

Value to Community. To have a first-class university close at hand solves several of the big problems of a community. Continuity of residence is secured, as it is necessary for parents to send their children to school and move to some other place. Commercial and industrial expansion is made possible. The families of their employees may find adequate educational facilities. An institution of higher education not only contributes directly to the physical, social and intellectual well-being of all classes, but it enhances individual and community efficiency, broadens and deepens the moral and spiritual life of the people, and at the same time stabilizes the institutions and customs that are vital to national growth and permanency.

Every class of the community will benefit by having a great seat of learning developed here. Already families are seeking an opportunity to come to London that their growing sons and daughters may receive a university education. This desire of parents to education their children has contributed materially to the growth of the city of Toronto. Therefore property owners in Toronto, and everywhere else, will be one of the first groups who will benefit from the purchasing power of the city population will be greatly increased. The workingmen of London will benefit in several ways: (1) All the buildings under construction aggregating $3,000,000 in the next two or three years; (2) this large expenditure of money will mean increased demand for labor in scores of other lines; (3) the labor in scores of other lines will absorb all the value of education to people in all walks of life is better understood. The university cannot stand still, it must have a backward movement be contemplated. Why should people be denied a higher education, or be forced to go away from home to get it? The city of London has already felt the need of a growing institution of higher education in its midst. The university quickens, estimates and inspires the intellectual and social life of the community. The university helps business. Crisis in History. Western University has reached a crisis in her history. It has been shown that the institution is meeting a real demand for student accommodation. The demand for student accommodation will grow from year to year in the value of education to people in all walks of life is better understood. The university cannot stand still, it must have a backward movement be contemplated. Why should people be denied a higher education, or be forced to go away from home to get it? 7% First Mortgage Collateral Bonds

Canada Steamship Lines, Limited

Incorporated under the Companies' Act of Canada.

Interest payable half-yearly on the 1st of March and September of each year.

Denominations: $100, $500, $1000, $5000.

Maturing in varying amounts from Sept. 1st, 1924, to Sept. 1st, 1931.

From a letter signed by J. W. Norcross, President of the Company, we summarize the following:

BUSINESS AND PROPERTY:—The Canada Steamship Lines was formed in 1913 to acquire the undertakings of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company, (established in 1845), the Northern Navigation Company, Limited; Inland Lines, Limited; Canada Interlake Line, Limited; Quebec Steamship Company; Ontario & Quebec Navigation Company, Limited; Thousand Island Steamboat Company and the American Interlake Company.

The Company has continued to add to its fleet of ships and its terminal facilities, and amongst other properties has since acquired the St. Lawrence and Chicago Steam Navigation Company, Limited, and the Montreal Transportation Company, Limited, with the result that to-day it is by far the most important Company engaged in the lake and river transport of Canada, and is one of the largest inland water carriers in the world.

Its fleet consists of thirty passenger carrying steamers; forty-seven bulk and miscellaneous cargo steamers, and sixteen sundry Lake and River vessels and eight ocean-going steamships. The Company owns valuable terminals on inland lakes and rivers which were chosen with great foresight many years ago, many of which could not be duplicated to-day. It also owns and operates grain elevators, ship-construction and repair works, hotels and amusement parks.

SECURITY:—The $6,000,000, of 7% First Mortgage Collateral Bonds now being issued are a direct obligation of the Company and are specially secured by the deposit with the Trustee of $8,400,000, of 5% Consolidated First Mortgage Bonds, so that the present issue has behind it 140 per cent. of its par value of First Mortgage Bonds.

ASSETS:—The Company's fixed assets are valued on its books at $29,207,131, after deducting $6,261,584, of depreciation reserves. Accordingly, the $5,516,877, of Consolidated First Mortgage Bonds now outstanding, and this issue of $6,000,000, are secured nearly three times by fixed assets. That the Company's valuation of its assets is conservative is shown by the fact that the Canadian Appraisal Company as of June 30th, 1921, valued its fixed assets at $41,870,848, or over $12,000,000 above what they are carried on the Company books.

REAL ESTATE:—The Company's real estate, buildings, docks, etc., are valued by the Canadian Appraisal Company at $12,154,124, or more than the total outstanding bonds of the Company.

EARNINGS:—The net earnings of the Company in the five years ended December 31st, 1920, averaged $4,120,707, or over six times the interest on the outstanding bonds. In no year in the five-year period did net earnings fall below $3,937,000, which is equivalent to five and one-half times the total bond interest.

Worst Storm of Season

Raging Over Upper Lakes

SOO, Mich., Dec. 3.—With the worst storm of the season raging over Lake Superior and Upper Lake Huron, mariners here last night expressed concern over the safety of the steamer Philip Minch, which went aground on Holdridge Shoal yesterday. The vessel was abandoned late yesterday by the lighter Reliance and tug Iowa, which went to her assistance, due to the storm. The tug and lighter, however, are standing by in readiness to take off the crew in case this is necessary. The storm is said to be beating the Minch severely.

For not sending their children to school, and that Saturday morning was the first time a fine had been registered against any of them.

CITIZENS ARE WARNED by the police not to leave baby carriages on their verandas over night. Mrs. Day, 378 York street, notified the police department Saturday morning that a baby buggy had been stolen from the veranda some time during the night.

M. C. DEACON, 48 Gerard street, has reported to the police that his Red Bird bicycle was stolen from the corner of York and William streets between 5 and 6 o'clock Friday afternoon.

There is a general spirit of optimism among the delegates, however, and the gloomy view which has been expressed in some quarters is discounted by officials. The Far East committee was called into session at 11 o'clock this morning for further discussion on China's affairs. The Shantung question will not be formally debated by the Chinese and Japanese today, yesterday's meeting having been adjourned to Monday. Mr. Balfour goes to New York tonight to be absent until Wednesday morning, and several other delegates will be away over the week-end.

Addressing a gathering of newspaper correspondents last night, a high official of the United States administration emphasized the necessity for caution in representing matters connected with the Washington conference, particularly regarding rumors of friction and misunderstanding among delegates.

O'CONNOR MADE SURE OF "PLUM"

Hon. Arthur Meighen's office, then prime minister, on Oct. 20, 1921. You recall, I talked to you at length that morning before going to attend the hearing, which, however, I was unable to attend, nor could I get within five feet of the door of the prime minister's office, which was occupied by the sugar refiners and their friends, reading the prepared and printed document, which I allege had been prepared for the purpose of making ridiculous (as it was) the action of the board of commerce, which succeeded us.

Advise your audience, please, who prepared that private document and set the stage for that splendidly-planned farce to fool the Canadian people. 4. Please advise your audience in whose employ you now are, or in whose interests you are now working. 5. In your letter of Oct. 20, 1921, and marked private, you stated that "you would keep any little confidence of mine; you had." Please feel free to lift the lid entirely and give to Canadian citizens the benefit of all you may know.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan for making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, soothes the membrane, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

The Guardian's View.

The Christian Guardian does not often turn to politics, although it is to its credit that it is not afraid to do so when an issue comes up that has a great moral point in it.

The Guardian speaks of the Rirdon case as follows:

"Mr. H. M. Ellard, Progressive candidate in Wright County, has startled the general public by charging that the Rirdon Company owes the government of Canada today about $800,000 for excess profits taxes for the years 1916-17-18-19-20-21, for which the government holds nothing but the company's promissory notes. At first the correctness of Mr. Ellard's charge was doubted, but Sir Henry Drayton has practically admitted that the charge is correct, and he justifies the government's action on the ground that the company is now, and has been, unable to pay the assessment; and he implies that the government has followed the same course with other large firms. And the public takes it for granted now that in the cases of large concerns or wealthy individuals the government has exercised what it would term a 'wise discretion' in the collection of the taxes. But what about poor men with large families and heavy expenditures who have been taxed on income? Did the government exercise 'wise discretion' in such cases? We can scarcely imagine a better way of playing into the hands of their political opponents, and of proving to the average voter that the 'big interests' had a strangle hold upon the government than this very policy of dealing gently with the big men and compelling the little fellows to pay up promptly. And the fact that Charles Rirdon, president, and Carl Rirdon, vice-president, of the Rirdon Company, are also president and vice-president respectively of the company which publishes the Mail and Empire, does not make the matter look any better. Mr. Drayton may be satisfied with his action, but upon the country at large the facts will make a most disagreeable impression."

Comment on the Guardian's view of the case is quite unnecessary.

Who Got the Rake-Off?

W. G. Raymond, Liberal candidate in Brantford, has been asking some pertinent questions regarding grafting on the pay of soldiers while on duty overseas.

"When war broke out the government of Canada laid down a scale of pay for the army which should have been maintained, regardless of where that army was serving. For instance, a private soldier serving in England was most assuredly entitled to $1.10 per day, or the amount of English money which $1.10 would buy. However, instead of following this principle, the method adopted was this: The Canadian government would purchase the pound sterling at the current rate of exchange (which at times was as low as $3.95), and charge it to the soldier's account as $4.86. My question is: Who got the difference?"

"Mr. Raymond declares that when the pound sterling could be bought for $3.95 in Canada 'someone was sipping 20 per cent of the pay of every officer and man overseas.' Surely so sensational and specific a charge merits a reply or an explanation. In the Globe of November 24, Mr. Fred Jarrett, who was overseas and worked in the London pay office, put the same question. He said:

"If we take the cost of the English pound at an average of $4.60, spread over the duration of the war (it would be an easy matter to get the exact average), and if Canada bought $121,000,000 worth of English money, with which to pay Canadian soldiers, this would amount to $26,304,348. This was charged to Canadian soldiers at $4.87 per pound, apparently a profit of 27 cents per pound, which amounts to more than $7,000,000."

"Is it a fact that the government made a profit on exchange at the expense of the Canadian soldiers overseas? Did the Canadian soldier in Great Britain receive less British money than the $1.10 a day promised him would buy at the same time in Canada? These are plain questions, and the soldiers are entitled to plain answers."

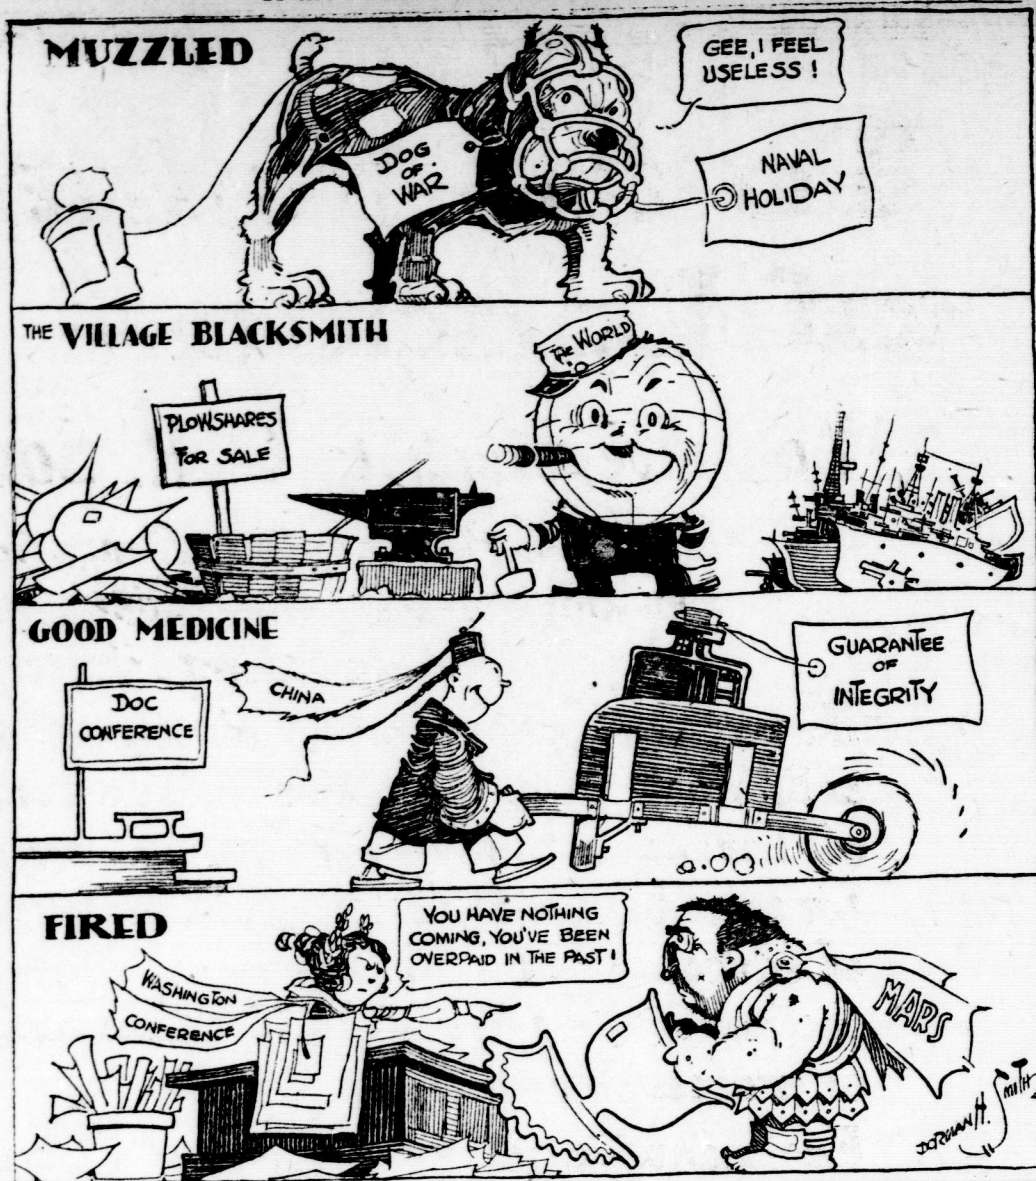

The Returned Soldier.

The "Tin Hat Review," a soldiers' paper, which commends Major J. E. L. Streight to the West York electors, notes that he gained the Queen's medal with five bars and the King's with two in the South African war, as well as the Military Cross in the great war. As a captain, he led the first two hundred men to leave Toronto for Valcartier. He was three years a prisoner in Germany. There may be some who would give such a candidate "nothing but praise," but others will be proud to endorse him with their votes.

But what?

There we have the record of a

If the Arms Conference Makes Good!

brave soldier, who is nominated as a Liberal candidate in West York.

The Meighen campaign makes a big bid for the soldier vote. It professes ardent love for the returned man, and makes an attempt to lead voters to believe that no other political organization has any concern whatever for the returned man.

Well, here's a case where we can find out how this ardent love works out in actual practice.

What happened?

The Conservative machine, driven by the Toronto ring, took control of the situation. It was necessary to find a seat for Sir Henry Drayton, who, up to a few days ago, was wandering around with his political heart pinned to his sleeve.

So the government machine kills off the Tory candidates in the field, and throws all its weight and prestige behind Sir Henry Drayton in an effort to kill off the returned soldier.

The Meighen love for returned men finds expression in strange and unthinkable ways.

Two Explanations.

Frank Glass spoke at a meeting at Pottersburg, and talked of many things.

Finally he came around to his pet recitation about the industries. And so he dragged the Ruggles truck factory into the business again, and his own organ reports him as follows:

"Pointing to the industrial development in and around Pottersburg, the government candidate declared that to substantially reduce or remove the tariff would spell loss of prosperity to Pottersburg. He referred to the Ruggles Truck Company, and stated that it had a great future ahead of it, but was holding up further development to find out what was to be the fixed tariff policy of the country."

Get that clear now. The Ruggles concern is held up because the people behind it are afraid of tariff changes.

As a matter of fact, the Ruggles Truck Company has more business now by far than it had a month ago, having received some very satisfactory orders.

But for the present, just for the sake of argument, let that slide.

Mr. Glass is not alone in making these scare charges, or in declaring that industry is in a state of suspended animation waiting to hear the outcome of the election. Some person advised the Meighen party that was a good line to take, and so it has been followed.

Very good. Remember now, you have the explanation of Mr. Glass.

On the same platform was another speaker for Mr. Glass, in the person of S. F. Lawrason. Here is his explanation:

"He then reminded his audience of the war years and conditions arising therefrom. He pointed out that the present unsettled conditions were a natural outcome. There were some 700,000 employees engaged in munition plants throughout the country. When the armistice was signed these men were all thrown out of employment. Other industries were able to go on for a time, as there was much to be supplied to the men returning home from Europe. These men, however, were also without work, and unemployment was the natural outcome of the fact that some 400,000 men who had been non-producing for some four or five years were suddenly placed on the labor market."

So there you have it another way. Mr. Glass says industries are holding their breath, and men are out of work in consequence, waiting for the vote to be known on December 6, while a little later another speaker from the same platform says present industrial conditions are the natural result of the war.

If this campaign were going to last much longer it might be well for Mr. Glass and his oratorical batteries to sit down in the kitchen some night, pull the blinds, and come to some mutual conclusion as to what is wrong with conditions.

The variety of explanations is tremendously unconvincing.

Disarmament.

Everyone will hope for the success of the disarmament conference. Col. John McCrear wrote:

"If ye have righted all the wrongs of earth,

Lay by the sword,
Its work and ours is done."

We cannot claim in the present confused state of the public mind the world over that we have righted all the wrongs of earth, but we would like to see a change in the instrument to be used. The sword has been tried long enough—it may have done much good, as well as harm in its day, but is there no substitute? Must the sword remain the only court of justice to which nations can appeal?

Must we consider still that arms is the only honorable occupation for any man? We hope not. We believe not. We believe that a truer democracy is dawning, and that by a combination of nations, with Great Britain leading, and the United States a good second, followed by France, Italy, Greece and others, the cause of the brotherhood of man will make a great advance as the result of the disarmament conference.

As Edwin Markham puts it:

"The crest and crowning of all good,
Life's final star, is brotherhood."

NO. 51—THE CROWN OF JUSTICE

The crown of justice here referred to is not a figurative reward of a virtue. It is the possession of certain mental faculties on which the sense of justice is founded. It's a bump in a certain location on what is known as the crown of the head.

Suppose you put a No. 2 hat on a No. 7 head, or a rather large cup, or a small bowl. Suppose you placed it squarely on top of the head, and then shoved it backward to a slight tilt. Now observe the head from the side, and note where the middle of the rim of the "crown" comes. That's where the bump of justice, or as it is sometimes called, conscientiousness, is located in making a study of a stranger. It is, of course, advisable to do all this mentally to save him embarrassment.

When the head is well developed at the point indicated, you can make up your mind that the person is conscientious.

But don't assume that this person would carefully refrain from all actions which you yourself would consider dishonorable, unfair or inconsiderate. A person can be conscientious only in the light of his understanding, his training and his experience, and before you can forecast with any great accuracy what he will do under given circumstances, you must find out something of his "principles." What the bump indicates is that he has them. People whose heads are poorly developed at this spot are those who are not bothered greatly by "principles," though very often they have a good substitute in a keen sense of self-interest, which keeps them from doing many things which others avoid as a matter of principle.

- $250,000 voted on December 5th next means immediately:
- $800,000 pledged by the Ontario Government.
- $100,000 granted by Middlesex County.
- DURING THE NEXT TWO YEARS:
- $2,000,000 spent on university buildings.
- $1,000,000 spent on affiliated college buildings.
- $1,500,000 spent by students and faculties.
- $600,000 spent for maintenance.
- TOTAL FIVE MILLIONS IN TWO YEARS.

THE BENEFITS

- To the children and the parents of London, highest educational facilities at minimum cost.
- To the businessman, the property-owner, the tradesman, the working-man, through big pay rolls, maintenance and students' expenditures.
- To London itself, in the very largest sense as a great educational center.
- To Western Ontario and to the nation.

THE NEED

The university, London's greatest institution—more valuable to the city than many industrial plants—must either expand now or go backward. Every department except medicine is now full or grievously overcrowded. Its buildings are inadequate and widely scattered. The work is hampered by all these conditions.

YOUR VOTE

on December 5 will help to make these figures a realization. It will help to bring the great benefits flowing from the development of the Western University.

It will help to supply the great and pressing needs of the university.

It will help London by helping the university.

TO RELIEVE CATARRH,
CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises, will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them, and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home, and is made as follows: Secure from your druggist 1 ounce Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.
Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.
Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.—Advt.

To the Mothers of London—

You owe much to C. R. Somerville.

He more than any other man is responsible for the organization, growth and success of the Western University.

He has given generously of his time, of his business ability and of his money to provide for the people of London and of Western Ontario an opportunity for their boys and girls to obtain the largest measure of education fitting them to enter, without handicap, the competition for success in business, industrial or professional life.

For many years he has labored to bring a great university to your doors.

His pioneer work is now crowned with success.

He now asks opportunity for public service in a larger field.

On the personal side alone, you owe him your vote, your only tangible expression of reward for his past services.

He has devoted long years to constant and unselfish service for his fellow-citizens.

As mayor he gave London an efficient and honest administration. As chairman of the board of health for three years he reorganized the department, extended its scope and efficiency, helped to organize the child welfare work, etc.

For many years he was a leading member of the board of education.

His record of war work and of war sacrifice is known to all citizens.

Public-spirited, absolutely honest, thoroughly capable---no man has served London better or more faithfully in the past.

You have now an opportunity to let him serve you equally in national affairs.

UNHEARD of—but the wonderful carbonating process makes possible a positive guarantee.

Silverwood's Carbonated Butter is guaranteed to keep its original delicious freshness until the last ounce is used.

It is the ten per cent air in ordinary butter that makes it turn rancid; bacteria, the enemy of all food, thrive in air.

"Carbonated" simply means replacing the air with an atmosphere 1000 times purer than air---an absolutely sterile germ free atmosphere in which no bacteria can exist---hence the butter cannot turn rancid, and we can guarantee its appetizing freshness---always.

Silverwood's Carbonated Butter retains its full original flavor and quality to the last ounce. It is delicious, delightful in its freshness---always.

All we ask is one trial.

Once used---always demanded and thoroughly enjoyed. Keep asking for "Silverwood's Carbonated Butter."

WOMEN'S HOME AND MAGAZINE PAGE

CITY COUNCIL NEEDS SERVICE OF WOMEN

Says Toronto's Charming "Alderwoman," Mrs. Sidney Small.

"Charming" You said in The Advertiser that the Kiwanis Club would find me charming? An alderman charming, and especially a woman member of a city council? How could you think of saying it when everybody is convinced that a woman alderman must be about the most terrible thing in the world? I'm sure they are expecting a hatchet-faced individual."

A rippling laugh brought to a close the bantering remarks of Alderman (Mrs.) Sidney Small, of Toronto, just after she stepped off the 11:40 train on the Kew Road branch at the subject of the Juvenile Court and the relation of the Big Brother and Big Sister movement to its successful operation.

It was far from a hatchet-faced, grim individual who smiled at the women's department of The Advertiser, from beneath the most beautiful of feathered hats. The face of the "Alderwoman" was almost child-like in its contour, the features regular and superlatively feminine, the brown eyes kind, clever and tremendously sincere. And the voice entirely in harmony with the winsome personality, lilting and sweet.

"Has woman a definite service to render on the municipal council as on the school board?" was a question first asked by Mrs. Small, who has completed her first eleven months of experience as an alderman. She was ready for it.

Men.

"She assuredly has," was her answer. "After almost a year on the Toronto council I am just beginning to sense the need and importance of the experience, knowledge and viewpoint of women in the realm of municipal affairs. There are so many problems to be dealt with that are distinctively within women's realm, for example, health, nurses, improvement of parks and playgrounds, furnishing of recreational facilities, town planning, housing assuredly, juvenile courts.

"In my experience, I have found men most open-minded with regard to receiving suggestions and recommendations from women, and acting upon them.

"So many things come up in the council which the men take for granted should be turned over to me as woman's work, that I would be loaded up far beyond my capacity if I accepted them all.

"How do I like it? And again came the rippling laugh that is one of the alderwoman's many charms. "I have enjoyed every moment of it, and every fight I have had."

COOKING FOR TWO

HE woman who has cooked for many persons finds as much difficulty in preparing the right amount for only two as the inexperienced housekeeper. After mixing batter for six or even four it's amazing how little it takes to make enough and no more for two.

Perhaps these rules will help you to gauge proportions.

White Muffins.
Two tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, ½ cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cream butter and sugar. Add egg well beaten. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Beat well and pour into buttered and floured gem pans. Bake 25 minutes in a hot oven.

Graham Gems.
One cup graham flour, ½ cup white flour, 1 dessertspoon sugar, 1 dessertspoon butter, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk. Mix and sift white flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Mix with graham flour. Add gradually the milk and butter (melted). Beat well and pour into hot buttered gem pans. Bake in a hot oven 25 minutes.

Popovers for Two.
One-half cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ cup water, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 egg. Small iron muffin rings are best for popovers, although earthen custard cups may be used. Heat muffin rings very hot and butter well. Put all the ingredients into a mixing bowl and beat with a strong dower beater until very smooth and full of bubbles. Turn into the rings which must be hissing hot and bake half an hour in a hot oven. Serve at once.

Griddle Cakes for Two.
One cup sour milk, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cornmeal, flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Put sour milk into mixing bowl. Stir in soda. Add egg well beaten. Add salt and cornmeal and sift in ½ cup flour. Mix well and add more flour slowly until the batter is about as thick as heavy cream and very smooth. Add the baking powder with the last flour put into the batter. Bake on a hot, well greased griddle.

Over there is the mine of golden-glitter, beyond that is the mine of silver-sheen, across from that is found the green-glow, and on beyond is where we get the blazing-blue, Ruby-red and sapphire-shine are also popular colors for Christmas trees, and we have a wonderful lot of them."

"Do we have to have the enchanted shovels?" asked Nick. "I'm a fine digger!"

"That may be," answered Pim Pim, shaking his head, "but it wouldn't help any here. Dear Miss Grey—Could you send me a good comic recitation for a boy of fourteen years? If you haven't any, perhaps one of the Boxites might have one. Also have you any songs suitable for a boy, something good and lively preferred? If anyone has something like this I would exchange with them. I mean a song with the music.

HUCKLE BERRY FINN.

Dear Miss Grey—This is my second letter to your page. I am very busy these days making Christmas presents, and how the time flies! I haven't my Christmas cake made yet, but must get at it. I must close now, or my letter will be getting too long. QUEENIE.

Many thanks, Queenie, for the inclosures, which many have asked for.

A Splash of Color

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Occasionally a splash of color against the blackness of the model.

Orange velvet in long, straight lines, high throat and fur waistband give this gown a quite distinctive charm.

The skirt, a trifle full, ventures nearly to the ankles. The bodice, exquisitely plain and slit at the top front to show a fascinating bit of white throat, is ornamented with a strand of pearls.

Embroidered panel effects flare a trifle over the hips.

The hat—another enchanting touch—is red velvet.

ENTERTAINS BABIES' MOTHERS.

Mrs. W. D. Beamer, president of the Cradle Roll of New St. James' Church, welcomed the mothers of the members of the Roll yesterday afternoon, when a tea was given in their honor. During the afternoon an interesting address was given by Rev. Mr. McKay on Chalmers House, Montreal, in which the Roll is greatly interested, and for which they have done a great deal of work, supplying clothes and sending boxes from time to time. A delightful program was also given; those taking part were Mrs. Houston, Mrs. A. E. Chapman, Mrs. F. Milroy, after which tea was served. Mrs. Alex. McDonald and Mrs. V. Reid pouring at a table decked with lovely flowers. The Cradle Roll has accomplished great things, having installed a baptismal font in the church, which was dedicated last Sunday.

A large number of beautiful and useful articles have been secured through showers held at the homes of fifteen of the members, these including handkerchiefs, kitchen ware, and all manner of novelties suitable for Christmas.

FORMS ST. JOSEPH'S UNIT.
The Mothers' Unit of St. Joseph's School was formed on Thursday by the Southern Branch of the League, under the supervision of Mrs. J. B. Leach, second vice-president of the league. BAZAAR NETS $700.
Seven hundred dollars was the splendid sum realized by the Princess Patricia Chapter, I. O. D. E., from the bazaar given Thursday. The chapter has now reached its objective, $25,000 for the Sick Children's Hospital.

RIDOUT STREET BAZAAR.
The bazaar held in the Sunday school of Ridout Street Methodist Church on Friday was a great success. The booths were artistically decorated with bright colored streamers and flowers, with their wares all temptingly arranged. One of the most attractive booths was the handkerchief booth in charge of Mrs. F. J. Martin, which formed a circle, and was decorated in pink and white. The teum, which was very attractive, its tables decked with bronze mums arranged in silver bowls, hidden behind a lattice work of green and white, was presided over by Mrs. McKinnin and Mrs. Larking. The various booths were in charge of the following ladies: The white elephant, Mrs. J. A. Agnew; candy, Mrs. W. G. Bender; aprons, Mrs. Oke; fancy work, Mrs. Perrin; baby booth, Mrs. S. Wilson; ice cream, Mrs. P. R. Taylor; home cooking, Mrs. Proctor and Mrs. Snyder. A delightful program was given during the evening, the following artists taking part: Misses Ger. Deacon, Heximer, Bove and Proctor, and Mrs. Pellow, Mrs. Deacon and Mrs. Hodgins. The success of the bazaar was due chiefly to the efforts of the general convenor, Mrs. E. M. Russell.

RED CROSS HOLDS CONFERENCE.
The main branch of the Red Cross invited the various branches, namely, the North, East, West, and South branches, the Catholic and London Junction branches, to attend a conference after the regular meeting held on Thursday at the home of Miss Shaw-Wood. This conference was to suggest the forming of a conference in which all the members would be registered under heading of the work they were best adapted to, which would be very useful in emergency cases, or in the case of an epidemic. The suggestion was met favorably by the representatives, and it is expected that this record will be started immediately. A committee is being formed by the younger members to make arrangements for the forming of a junior Red Cross. The society has commenced preparations for the usual Christmas cheer given to the Byron Sanatorium and Westminster Hospital. Ronald Harris gave an interesting report of the sale held by the St. Thomas Red Cross of work done by the soldiers at Westminster. The hostess, Miss Shaw-Wood, served tea after the business part of the meeting.

WINTERY WEATHER PUTS STOP TO VIENNA RIOTING

Vienna, Dec. 8.—Advent of real winter weather has served better than the police to restore order in Vienna following the serious rioting of Thursday when mobs pillaged hotels, stores and restaurants, and robbed and beat all who presented an appearance of prosperity.

As a result of the disorders a general exodus of profiteers and idlers is taking place, every outbound train being crowded.

A total of 174 stores were completely wrecked and looted.

GRAIN IN ELEVATORS IN DOMINION INCREASED

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—According to returns received at the Dominion Bureau of Statistics for the week ending Nov. 25, 1921, the quantity of grain in store at the different elevators throughout Canada has increased by 2,248,143 bushels, made up as follows: Wheat, 1,655,302 bushels; oats, 100,664 bushels; barley, 492,177 bushels. Flax and rye indicate decreases of 14,562, and 102,866 bushels, respectively.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—At least twelve husbands who served in the U. She is now arrested, alleged to have married husbands from many different parts of the country, divorced none, and received approximately $400 a month from the government for the past three years.

FORESEES REVIVAL OF FIELDING FISCAL POLICY

MONTREAL, Dec. 2.—"The policy that the Liberal party is going to give to the people of Canada after Dec. 6, when the Liberal party will be sent back to power in Canada, is a fiscal policy that is going to be nothing more and nothing less than the Laurier-Fielding tariff." Sir Lomer Gouin declared last night in addressing a gathering of electors of the Westmount-St. Henry division in support of the Liberal candidate, Paul Mercier.

He added that the Liberals were prepared to do at Ottawa what they had done at Quebec to bring about unity and harmony.

School Board

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF LONDON:

I had the honor of serving the city on the Board of Education for four years, 1914 to 1917, inclusive, being forced to withdraw owing to the pressure of private business. During these years several of London's finest schools were built.

I have been solicited by several local organizations and numerous friends to re-enter the Board of Education.

It is generally recognized that during the coming year the board will be faced with several of the most difficult problems in its history, and for that reason I have consented to again stand for election.

If my former record on the Board of Education and in connection with the business life of the city is such as to merit your confidence and support, resulting in my election, I can assure you that all the problems of the board dealing with primary and secondary education will receive my most careful consideration.

Yours faithfully,

Mr. Somerville, Mr. King and Free Trade

Here Is the Record Can Mr. Somerville Deny It?

The London Advertiser says Mackenzie King is not a free trader. Mackenzie King was chosen leader of the Liberal party at a convention in Ottawa in 1919, at which the tariff policy of that party was set forth as follows:

"That wheat, wheat flour and all products of wheat, the principal articles of food, farm implements and machinery, farm tractors, mining, flour and sawmill machinery and repairs, parts thereof, rough and dressed lumber, gasoline, illuminating, lubricating and fuel oils, etc., nets, net twines and fishermen's equipment and fertilizers should be free from custom duty, as well as the raw material entering into the same; that a revision downward should be made, and substantial reductions should be effected in the duties on wearing apparel and footwear, and on other articles of general consumption (other than luxuries), as well as on the raw material entering into the manufacture of the same; that the British preference should be increased 50 per cent of the general tariff."

"That the Liberal party hereby pledges itself to implement by legislation when returned to power."

Now Where Does Mr. King Stand? Let Him Speak for Himself

In Hansard's Official Debates of the Canadian Parliament, 1920, volume 3, page 2292, Mackenzie King is recorded as follows:

"I was chosen for the responsible duties that I am seeking to discharge, at the Liberal convention at which the platform of the Liberal party was laid down, and by that platform I intend to stand or fall."

Mr. King, adept and shifting as he is, cannot deny this statement, for it is officially recorded in the archives of the country.

Mr. Somerville Supports Mr. King

Mr. Somerville's press agent in the advertising columns of The London Advertiser, says "A VOTE FOR MR. SOMERVILLE MEANS A VOTE FOR THE LIBERAL LEADER."

This means that the Liberal candidate in London supports the Liberal leader and the Liberal leader's policy. And as already shown the Liberal leader himself declares that he supports the Liberal platform and says that by it he is prepared to stand or fall.

Mr. Somerville Supports Mr. King, Mr. King Supports Free Trade---Therefore If Mr. Somerville Is Not a Free Trader, What On Earth Is He?

The PLAYHOUSE and the MOVIE THEATRE

EDITED BY HELEN McMILLAN.

London Becoming Center of Big Screen and Stage Attractions

Regarded As City of Discriminating Theatre-Goers, Who Desire Only Best Producers Have To Offer Public.

LONDON is more and more becoming a center for big attractions. The people are yearly showing greater evidence of culture, and they demand the best that there is in dramatic and musical productions. The big artists who come to London say that they feel an atmosphere of culture in their audiences, and they love to play to them because they know that their best art is being appreciated. "If we can put a play across for a London audience we are convinced that our play will be a success," declared a distinguished actor who came here not so very long ago. This actor has a profound respect for the judgment of London theatre-goers.

Next week London will have the privilege of seeing one of the most-talked-of productions of the season, the screen portrayal of Vincente Blasco Ibanez's famous novel, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," which is being presented at the Grand Theatre throughout the entire week. The coming of the marvelous picture to London so shortly after its release is but another indication that London is fast becoming a center for the showing of what is best in drama.

A thrilling picture of a north woods scene, "Conflict," comes to the Allen Theatre for the first four days of next week, while Gouverneur Morris' delightful story, "Ace of Hearts," will be screened there on Friday and Saturday. At Loew's, there will be seen the fascinating movie star Nazimova in "Camille," for the first half of the week, and Wm. S. Hart, in "Three Word Brand," on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with splendid vaudeville all week. The Grew Players will present the new comedy, "Scrambled Wives," at the Majestic Theatre for the entire week.

"FOUR HORSEMEN" AT GRAND.
"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," the most sensational picture of the decade, opens at the Grand Theatre for a week on Monday night. Monday evening will be the official opening of the engagement. The Chamber of Commerce directors will attend in a body, for they realize that London will benefit in a business way from the presence of this picture, which will attract visitors from outside cities and towns. James Gray, vice-president of the organization, will officially open the engagement. London has a unique opportunity given her in visiting "The Four Horsemen," as London will be the only city in Ontario, west of Hamilton, in which it will be seen.

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," has created a distinct sensation wherever it has been seen. This is not surprising, for it is much more than a moving picture—it is an epic of the screen.

It has originality quite peculiar to itself. Those who have read Vincente Blasco Ibanez's book express astonishment at the vivid way in which the author's story has been preserved. This is not only true of the "continuity" of the plot, but also in the preservation of the characters drawn by the Spanish novelist. Madalena, the Centaur, is just such a character as Ibanez drew and as nine-tenths of his readers would mentally visualize; Julio is the gay, thoughtless tango-dancing boy of the author's imagination; Marquerite is just as volatile; Laurier just as jealous, and Marcel Desnoyers just as foolishly persistent in his fond of collecting curios of inestimable value as Ibanez depicted. It is all like reading the book over again on the screen.

A notable thing about the picture, however, is the fact that a previous reading of the book is not necessary for a thorough understanding and appreciation of the screen story. The tale starts on the pampas of the Argentine, with the self-complacent Madalena contemplating his countless herds, takes up the lives of those related to him and carries them through a series of cumulative human experiences, until, merged into the greatest tragedy of modern times, personality is lost and the big and great things in life are revealed.

"The Four Horsemen" is not only a wonderful study in character and in human motives, but is also the greatest sermon against useless wars that has ever been written or screened. And with this it is a pictorial preaching for patriotism as opposed to selfishness and individuality.

"CONFLICT" AT ALLEN'S.

A rushing and roaring of waters, filled with timber crushing and grinding all before it, with the heroine leaping from log to log to rescue her sweetheart, is one of the big thrills in "Conflict," the feature attraction at the Allen Theatre the first four days of next week. "Conflict" came to the attention of thousands of readers when it was published in the Red Book Magazine from the pen of the celebrated author Clarence Buddington Kelland. The story concerns Dorcas Remalle, a society girl forced by her father's death to go and live with her uncle, a mysterious recluse and lumber baron.

"ACE OF HEARTS" AT ALLEN'S.

A powerful story with an unusual twist is the latest Gouverneur Morris story, "Ace of Hearts," which will be the feature attraction at the Allen Theatre Friday and Saturday of next week. As the title suggests, the most romantic card in the deck plays a large

AVERT OPERATIONS FOR APPENDICITIS—INTERNAL BATHS

Hundreds of surgical operations for appendicitis have been avoided by the timely employment of the J. B. L. Cascade. Most troubles arise from the accumulation of waste in the colon, or lower intestine, from which poisons spread.

Cleansing of the intestinal tract with pure warm water, supplied with the J. B. L. Cascade, removes the causes of a large number of common ailments—constipation, indigestion, headache, loss of energy and rheumatism.

Mr. James McLaughlin, 91 Evanston street, Winnipeg, writes: "I bought a J. B. L. Cascade for the cure of a bad case of appendicitis. My doctors told me I must have an operation at once. I had spent more than fifty dollars in doctors' bills, but the Cascade completely removed in a few days every trace of soreness and pain. I eat and sleep well now, and have regained my former weight, and am now in perfect health."

The J. B. L. Cascade is being shown at Standard Drug Company, Limited, London, Ont., who will gladly explain to you its simple operation, tell you why it is so certain in its results and give you free an interesting booklet by Dr. Charles A. Tyrrell, who was a Specialist on Intestinal Complaints 25 years. Ask for booklet or write Dr. Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 253 College street, Toronto.—Adv.

MOTHER!

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. NAZIMOVA AT LOEW'S.

Nazimova, in her elaborate production of "Camille," for Metro, will be seen at Loew's Theatre the first half of next week. The wonderful gowns alone, which the star wears in this picture, make it exceedingly popular. For one garment alone a French fabric maker was called into conference to plan a new material, Parisian looms were called into service to weave it, and Miss Nazimova desired it. It will be seen for a few minutes only. Because of the distinctiveness of the material and design, it is unlikely that it will ever be worn again.

Fifteen costumes worn during the different stages of the production are unique in their originality. They are typically Nazimova gowns, each portraying the fascinating personality of the great Russian artist.

For the opera scene, Nazimova will wear an opera gown of gold metallic cloth. Fashioned of one straight piece of the material, it is wound about the body and caught over each shoulder with a narrow strap. One single fastening holds the gown in place. Two silver camellias are the only adornments to the costume.

With this gown is worn a striking opera cloak of black and silver cloth, studded with heavy silver camellias—the garment that required the especially designed and woven material. In the gambling scenes, Nazimova wears a stunning gown of black velvet, having a solid jet bodice. A large camellia in cut steel beads, worn in front, is the only ornament to the costume. For the garden party, light summery frocks are worn.

In addition to the screen numbers there will be excellent vaudeville.

"SCRAMBLED WIVES" AT MAJESTIC.

"Scrambled Wives," one of the most delightful of the more recent releases in comedy, will be the offering of the Wm. A. Grew Players at the Majestic Theatre for the first part of the coming week. The original company, with which it was produced in New York, has just finished a long and brilliant run, so that London theatre-goers are assured of something absolutely new and yet very amusing. The same play was also made a triumphant success in Toronto, where it was played by the Robins Players for three weeks at the Royal Alexandra Theatre. This is its very first appearance on a London stage.

The scenes are laid at the summer home of Benjamin Halsey on the Thousand Islands. John Chivrick and his wife, great friends of the Halseys, are invited to their summer residence for a short vacation, but on their arrival Chivrick is confronted with his divorcee wife. Trouble in the very worst form immediately begins to brew, and the situations that ensue are mirth-provoking in the extreme. Chivrick tries to lure "Wife No. 1" away and thus avoid any further trouble. But on every attempt someone arrives just in time to upset his plans. Finally he succeeds, and everything sails serenely on, much to his own satisfaction.

Robt. Hyman, the leading man of the company, who delighted so many audiences at the first of the season, will be back, and will be seen at his very best as John Chivrick. Mr. Hyman has made some splendid interpretations of very difficult parts before the London public, and Hamilton papers report very favorably of him in this play. Playing opposite him in the role of "Wife No. 2" is Miss Rose Macdonald, the pretty little ingenue of

BRIAND STATES FRENCH FORCE VITAL MATTER

Opposes Reduction of Armament Because of Situation in Germany.

FAVORS CUT IN NAVIES

Havre, Dec. 3.—Premier Aristide Briand returned home today on the steamer Paris from the United States, where he has been in attendance at the conference on armaments and Far Eastern and Pacific problems at Washington.

At the city hall the premier delivered a lengthy speech in which he outlined the results of his mission to the United States, which he declared had been most successful.

"I went to Washington," said the premier, "bearing a lawyer's brief in pleading the cause of France. The most mediocre lawyer could have pleaded it successfully. I have full confidence in the future."

"The premier left for Paris at noon. Replying to a speech of welcome today, the premier declared that he had had an easy task at Washington owing to the excellent arguments he had been able to put forward."

Favored Naval Cut.
The premier told his auditors that he had not rejected any proposals made at the conference for an equitable limitation of naval armament. Concerning land armaments, he added, the situation was different. He declared that he did not suspect the intentions of the leaders in Germany and did not desire to believe they were leading their people toward "the temple of war." He described the forces Germany still had at her command and her big factories which, he said, could make machine-guns, rifles and cannon. These circumstances, he declared, denoted a situation which made vital the question of France's land armaments.

M. Briand said the words of France had been sympathetically received in Washington, and that when he left there "some of the prejudices, some of the errors which malignant propaganda had impressed on certain minds had cleared away."

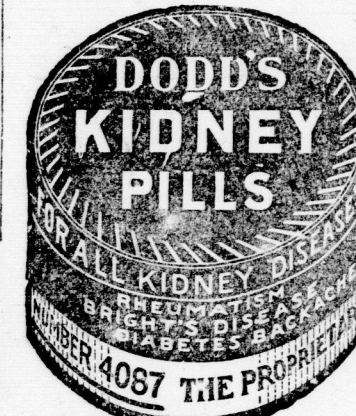

France, he said, was passing through

Gas, Indigestion, Stomach Misery —"Diapepsin"

"Pape's Diapepsin" "really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and flatulate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous—and the joy is its harmlessness. A large sixty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the most efficient antacid and stomach regulator in the world.

URGESTEACHING OF "THE GAELIC"

Highland Association Advocates Instruction of Ancient Language of Scotland.

WEALTH IN GAELIC SONG

GLASGOW, Scotland, Dec. 1.—The 25th annual Mod promoted by the Highland Association (An Comunn Gàidhealach) was recently held in Glasgow, and at the opening session the Rev. J. W. Mackay of Killin, Perthshire, the president, said the objects of the association were to encourage and promote the teaching and use of the Gaelic language, the study and cultivation of Gaelic literature, history and art, and to do it anywhere in Scotland, not only in Inverness and Oban, but also in granite Aberdeen, in the capital city of Edinburgh, and in the mighty industrial center of Glasgow.

He hoped the day might not be far off when thousands to whom the Gaelic tongue was at present unknown, and its literature and culture a sealed book, might be induced, although inhabitants of the south, to learn, study and appreciate the treasures that lay so near them. The revelations of the census had shown them how serious was the situation from their point of view. Gaelic was vanishing rapidly from many parts of the mainland; but Gaelic need not vanish if they were all in earnest and prepared to do their best in the work.

Their national music ought to be an indispensable part of their national education, and it was of the utmost importance as a means of culture, and recreation that Gaelic song should receive a satisfactory place in every school. There was a wealth of beautiful melody, a storehouse of singular charm in Gaelic song, and their hearts warned at the possibility of thousands of Gaelic-speaking children and of children learning Gaelic going forth from their schools carrying with them a treasure that would keep them enriched all their life long.

In certain districts the Highlands of Scotland were becoming a huge wilderness. They would not willingly see their heritage go; rather they would put forth every effort, to living down unimpaired the wealth of living speech in the Gaelic language and its living culture to those who came after them. At a concert in connection with the Mod, Ian Macpherson, who appeared in the Highland dress of the clan Macpherson, said he was a Gaelic-speaking Highlander, able to read, write and speak the great and ancient language. The object of An Comunn Gàidhealach, he took it, was not so much to preserve throughout the whole empire the ideals of the Celtic race. It was a matter of fact that there were far too many in the Highlands today who were ashamed to own the Gaelic.

He could not understand that feeling. No portion of any empire ever paid so much for the security of liberty and honor as the Highlands of Scotland. They could take it from him that the bilingual child had a better chance in life than any other child. Such a child had at once two ways of looking at things. Too many parents when confronted with the choice would prefer French or Italian rather than Gaelic for their children.

NOVEL SCHEME AID TO BETTER SPEECH

"Tag" Game Proves Success to Improved Use of English.

Akron, Ohio, Dec. 1.—Akron public school authorities found a new way of stimulating interest in better English among public school students last week.

In observance of "Better English Week," a system of tags was used. Every time a student made a grammatical error, he or she was tagged by the schoolmate first detecting the error. This applied also to teachers. Many teachers were tagged during the week by their pupils and by fellow-teachers.

As penalty for the grammatical mis-take each student or teacher tagged was compelled to wear the tag all week. This meant that by the end of the week some of them were wearing half a dozen or more tags.

The campaign was not so much aimed at inexcusable grammatical mistakes constantly warned against in the school room, but was conducted to discourage the little unconscious habits acquired such as saying "uhuh" and "yeh" for "yes" and "no." The comparatively common and unconscious habit of always starting a sentence with the expression "Why-a," and slang phrases such as "You tell 'em" and "I'll say," also came under fire during the week.

Different colored tags were used each day in the week.

Monday's tag, printed in red, announced the beginning of "Better American Speech Week." All tags were three inches square.

"Avoid saying 'John he done it' for 'John did it,' 'he don't' for 'he doesn't,' and 'it's me' instead of 'it's I,'" read the Monday tag.

Tuesday's tag urged all its wearers to join the "Do Without Club" by doing without the phrases, "Say, listen," "You tell 'em," "I'll say," "An' everything," "I was to a show," and "I know sumptin'."

The Wednesday tag read: "Do without: 'I could of' for 'I could have,' 'set' for 'sit,' 'goin' for 'going,' 'I ain't got no problems' for 'I have no problems,' 'Why-a' instead of beginning your sentence at once, 'kin' for 'can,' 'git' for 'get,' 'lay' for 'lie,' 'drownded' for 'drowned,' 'runnin' for 'running.'"

Thursday's tag reminded its wearers to do without "the bell has rung," for "the bell has rung," "I take a study 'off' instead of 'from' a certain teacher," "will you let me go," the words "son" and "kinda," and "uhuh" and "huhum" and "yeh" for yes, and "nope" for no.

Friday's red tag worn as the culmination of a series of slip-ups read: "Beware! Tags for bad English are about, and they will get you if you don't watch out."

According to school authorities, nothing has stimulated interest in better English more than the week's game of tag. Pupils naturally took particular delight in tagging their teachers, and the teachers took just as much delight in tagging some fellow-teacher.

"It was surprising how many little unconscious habits we all had formed, and which we are now trying to correct as a result of the system," says School Superintendent Carroll Reed.

"Everybody is on the alert, for every one is watching everybody else, and we're all trying to catch the other fellow in some 'stake.'"

NEWSPRINT PRODUCTION IN 1921 SHOWS DECLINE

Output of Canadian and American Mills Decreased 24 Per Cent.

New York, Dec. 1.—(By Canadian Press).—Forty-four newsprint companies in the United States and Canada comprising more than 90 per cent of total, reporting to the Newsprint Service Bureau, for October, had an output of 156,844 tons of paper. Shipments amounted to 155,385 tons. Production includes 1,713 tons of hanging paper usually classed with newsprint.

October production was 13,372 tons (9 per cent) increase over September output. Shipments increased 22,912 tons, or 16 per cent. There was one more working day in October than in September.

Production by United States mills, according to the bureau, during the first ten months of 1921 was 252,161 tons, or 24 per cent less than the corresponding period of 1920. A strike, which tied up some mills for more than two months early this year, restricted output. Production of Canadian mills for ten months of 1921 decreased 79,447 tons compared with 1920, a decline of 11 per cent. Combined decline in production, both countries, was 33,598, or 15½ per cent compared with 1920.

Total stocks at mills October 31, 1921, were 31,990 tons, equivalent to about four days' production. Stocks at the end of October were 8,640 tons less than Sept. 30.

Finds Stars' Salaries and Film Rentals Too High

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—There is a slump in the movie industry. Many within the industry thought it would end with the passing of summer. The last summer was the worst season the business has known.

Business has picked up some since amusement parks and outdoor attractions have been closed, but it is not yet up to the standard of previous autumns and winters.

Movie houses in all parts of the country are closing.

This condition results from high admission prices to motion picture theatres, that and nothing else.

When the admission price is lowered more people will attend the picture theatres. The total receipts will be higher. The industry will be more prosperous.

There is evidence, plenty that too much is being charged for admission to movies. In some places in the southwest patrons of theatres are given charge accounts. They go to see a movie and pay when they get the money.

Business slumped at a $300,000 theatre in Brooklyn. The manager brought the price down to 10 cents. Then he charged 1 cent for the second admission. In other words, two for 11 cents.

Why are the movie admissions high? Exhibitors are little to blame. Many of them are conducting business at a loss.

The main fact in keeping movie admissions at the present level is the high salaries being paid to stars. In some cases rentals of films are not in proportion to the cost of production.

This writer has information at first hand that one film actor who has been featured for only a few films and received $500 a week for one of his recent pictures, asked five times that amount for his next picture.

Much of the blame for high rentals of pictures also rests upon the shoulders of the producers and distributors. Some of the foreign films prove that they were bought for a song, comparing their cost to the cost of pictures made in this country.

Were rentals for these pictures lowered? Were admissions to see them lowered? Not by a jug full.

Mae Busch is the new style of screen vamp, the Theda Bara style now being passe.

Rudolph Valentino. He jumped to fame in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse."

In some cases the prices to see foreign films were advanced beyond the usual admission prices!

The day of the nickelodeon and the 10-cent picture undoubtedly is past. The public demands better pictures than can profitably be shown at those prices.

However, pictures are not five to ten times better than they were when admissions were one-tenth to one-fifth of what they now are.

The motion picture industry will continue to be in a chaotic state until it is run on the same basis as other industries, a certain percentage of profit on the capital invested, with a sane scale of salaries to players who make the pictures.

"The Man of the Forest" At Allen Easily Grey's Best

Of all the writers of western tales there is none probably that has attained such popularity as Zane Grey. There are few, if any, lovers of adventure and romance who have not already read some of the powerful Grey stories of the past, such as "Riders of the Dawn" and "Desert Gold," but "The Man of the Forest," his latest, which is appearing at the Allen Theatre this evening, is one of the best of his work.

Patrons of the movie in the city will appreciate the fact that the cast in this stirring tale of the foothills of Arizona has been carefully chosen and does credit to Benjamin B. Hampton, the producer.

Carl Gustav, formerly a light opera baritone singer of merit, takes the leading role as "Milt Dale," the man of the forest, a keen, virile, deep-chested

MERLYN POCOCKE SCORES TRIUMPH

Mezzo-Soprano Achieves Artistic Success At Wesley Hall Recital.

Though not a large audience, it was a very enthusiastic and sympathetic one which greeted Merlyn Pococke, mezzo-soprano, late of Chicago, when she appeared Thursday night in recital in Wesley Hall in her own home city.

She was happy in having as her associate artists, Leo Smith, Mus.Bac., cellist, of Toronto, and A. D. Jordan at the piano.

Miss Pococke is remembered in her early years of recital-giving as a contralto (just a few years ago at that), and as recently as two years ago as a mezzo-contralto.

The development of her upper tones has given to her voice an added color and sparkle, her unusually wide range and fine control making possible the success she achieved vocally, as well as artistically, in the presentation of a most exacting program.

A thorough musician, she is at the same time a most conscientious artist.

A genuine triumph was achieved in her singing of her third group, including "Hedge Roses," Schubert; two Brahms songs, "Love Song" and an exquisitely done "Cradle Song," and finally on ecstatic outburst of melody in Wolf's "The Spring."

A group of French songs, "Celle Que Je Prefere" (Fouldrain); a clever bit of dissonant, modernist, "L'Enfant" (Liszt), and a Debussy recitative and aria from "L'Enfant Prodigue," revealed fine dramatic appreciation and the ability to feel in French as well as to pronounce it. The English songs were the first appearing in the program was by Miss Pococke's own.

Three big numbers had the usual place of prominence, "How Changed the Vision" (Handel), "Caro Mio Ben" (Gloriani), and "L'Enfant Prodigue" (Meyerbeer). After the final group in English, among which was a delicious moral "Rain," by Curran, Miss Pococke was obliged to respond to a double encore, electing to give a couple of pieces bubbling with humor, "The Lilac Tree" and "The Big Brown Bear." The words of another encore, "The Words" were by Bliss Carman, set to music by Binder.

Leo Smith is always a welcome acquisition to a London recital, his playing marked by bowing that is a miracle of dexterity, fluency and suavity of tone perfection of finish and an abandonment to his art that captivates his audience and imparts to it something of his own musical vision and enthusiasm.

There was "Chanson Louis XII et Pavane," by Couperin-Kreisler, in the classical mode; a Romance by Campagna, and a familiar "By the Fountains" (Davidoff).

Quite as much an artistic achievement as that of the recitalists was Mr. Jordan's part in the role of accompanist.

Miss Edna Marshall, who scored such a signal hit in "East Lynne," earlier in the week, proved that she can handle comedy just as well as tragedy. As Mamie, the maid of all work in the Hotel Hiltmore, Miss Marshall provided a fund of real comedy and humor and well deserved the applause that was invariably the rule on her appearance. She was undoubtedly the star of the evening.

The company was larger than usual, the work of John Todd being specially good. Mr. Todd is becoming a real favorite with the patrons.

A Chester outing picture, depicting interesting and edifying views of China, a real Al Christie comedy, "The Reckless Sex," and the weekly news budget, always up to the minute, round out the bill neatly. Special music by the Allen organ features all performances.

Carl Gustav, formerly a light opera baritone singer of merit, takes the leading role as "Milt Dale," the man of the forest, a keen, virile, deep-chested

figure of the great outdoors. Claire Adams, who also has attained much prominence in other leading parts, plays the opposite feminine role. Frank Hayes' personality adds marvellously to the characterization of "Les Vegas," which readers of this Zane Grey novel will remember, is one of the splendid figures of the story.

The remainder of the cast is equally adapted for their respective roles and have obviously been chosen only after keen deliberation. Without a doubt supporters of Zane Grey will find that "The Man of the Forest" measures up to expectations.

RAYMOND HOLDS FINAL BIG RALLY

Crowds Brantford Hall When Last Campaign Appeal Issued.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 1.—Victoria Hall was crowded to the doors tonight, when in the interests of W. O. Raymond, Liberal candidate for Brantford, a mass meeting was held, with the candidate and Mrs. Grant-Needham, vice-president of the Toronto Women's Liberal Association, as the chief speakers.

This is the last general rally for the Liberals held before election day, but Mayor T. L. Church of Toronto will address a Conservative gathering here on Friday night.

R. W. Brooks, for 40 years an Odd-fellow here, for 25 years an insurance agent, and for 50 years a resident, during which time he was a keen supporter of the Horticultural Society and a grower of rare blooms, died today.

He was one of the founders of Sydenham Street Methodist Church and was active in many organizations.

Appeals for Funds.

The G. W. V. A. today issued the annual appeal for the Christmas treat for the widows and orphans of the men who fell overseas.

There are 16,307 voters for the federal elections in Brantford city, with a total of 18,497 in the whole of the riding. Twenty thousand ballots have been ordered.

To the Rotary Club today, Dr. Edgar Allen, president of the National Society of Crippled Children of Ohio, of Elyria, Ohio, told of the work being done. Afterwards he addressed a joint gathering of society representatives interested in the work locally.

Playing Their Parts

Just as Sir Harry Lauder has brightened the lives of millions the world over, so the pen he uses—

Ready to write instantly anywhere, its smooth, tireless action puts real pleasure into handwriting. It relieves its user from the limited environment of a desk, or inkwell, and by saving time, labor and waste, makes itself indispensable for the greater efficiency of the individual.

There is a size and a type that fits the personal requirement of all business men and women, doctors, lawyers, statesmen, students, draftsmen, composers, stenographers, bookkeepers—everyone in fact who has use for a pen.

Individual preference in the choice of nibs is practically unlimited.

REPORT FAILURES ARE ON DECREASE

Trade Authorities See Little Change in Canadian Business.

Winnipeg, Dec. 2.—(By Canadian Press.)—Little change is reported in Canadian business conditions, and perhaps owing to the general election activities, little information is forthcoming on which to base an authoritative opinion.

Reading between the lines, however, it would seem that the improvement noticeable during the last month was more "seasonable" than otherwise, and while certain wholesale houses are satisfied with the present turnover, many have cause for concern, states the weekly trade review of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association.

Montreal and Quebec Province advices indicate very little change. Wholesale drygoods business has dropped off, this being usual in this line as Christmas approaches. Hardware houses remain good business, especially in small lines, and grocery houses report big holiday activities. Manufacturers in the East are busy filling orders on winter lines, including rubbers, felts, men's and women's heavy wear.

Failures are showing a tendency to decrease, and collections are fair to slow.

Retail Trade Active.

Ontario reports state that wholesale trade in groceries, boots, shoes, hardware, furniture and musical lines is more brisk than of late. Retail trade shows the usual holiday activity. Collections slow.

Winnipeg—the index finger of the West—finds wholesalers extremely cautious in the granting of credits to outside points, and this is having its consequent effect on business. In certain quarters orders are numerous, but many are not being filled for this reason. Activity is being shown in felts, rubbers and heavy footwear, grocery lines, women's and men's wear of seasonable lines. Drygoods houses are quieter, as are many other lines, and, taking the situation generally, wholesale business is not in a very satisfactory condition.

Trade, on the other hand, is brisk in cities and larger towns, merchants reporting satisfactory business.

Further west, in Regina and the northern portions of Saskatchewan and Alberta, wholesalers report a very noticeable increase in orders. Retail trade, too, is looking up. Collections are slow and credit business holding back, indicating improvement in business.

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—Yusuf Kemal, the Turkish Nationalist foreign minister, has sent to the allied high commissioners who have been endeavoring to secure peace between Greece and the Nationalists, a note stating that Turkey is anxious to become a peace instrument; that she does not desire to prolong the struggle, which is merely a defensive one, and expressing the hope that Great Britain and Italy may come to terms with Turkey by means of mutual concessions.

The moment the Greeks accept a pact with the Nationalists, Turkey will cease to be an obstacle to the conclusion of peace, adds the note, but Turkey will insist on reparations, as the Greeks indulged in "unjustifiable devastations."

In a letter to the Northern Rice Lake Fur Company, Mr. Mills says the department has no objection to the propagating of beavers and muskrats when fences are erected as inclosures. Hereafter the department has refused the company the right to propagate beavers under any conditions.

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—Yusuf Kemal, the Turkish Nationalist foreign minister, has sent to the allied high commissioners who have been endeavoring to secure peace between Greece and the Nationalists, a note stating that Turkey is anxious to become a peace instrument; that she does not desire to prolong the struggle, which is merely a defensive one, and expressing the hope that Great Britain and Italy may come to terms with Turkey by means of mutual concessions.

SHOOTS MASKED BANDIT IN FLIGHT

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 2.—After holding up the Security State Bank at Robbinsdale, a suburb, an unidentified man was shot and killed by Justice of the Peace V. D. Crandall, while attempting to escape.

The man entered the bank masked and brandishing a pistol, ordered two bank employees to throw up their hands. He obtained a small amount of money.

6 FAMILIES LOSE
ALL IN FLAMES

Montreal, Dec. 2.—Six families were burned out, two stores destroyed, and damage estimated at between $5,000 and $100,000 was caused by a fire which destroyed a three-story building at the corner of Esplanade and Laurier avenues early this morning. The building was composed of two stores, an ice cream parlor and a needlecraft shop.

OFFICER FIGHTS BAND OF THUGS

Toronto, Dec. 2.—In a running gun-battle with four burglars on Dunbar road, Rosedale, early this morning, Constable Arthur Rundle of Belmont police station, had a narrow escape from being shot.

Rundle, while patrolling his beat, came upon four men on the lawn of 81 Dunbar road. He called upon them to tell who they were, and the four men opened fire on Rundle. Rundle drew his gun, and although outnumbered four to one, he closed in on the men, who fled, shooting at the constable. Rundle fired at them, but in the darkness they escaped over a fence.

The Correct Policy For Canada

The tariff policy of the National Liberal and Conservative party says to the manufacturers of the United States:

"If you want our trade you must do your manufacturing here."

Crerar and Wood, the Western Farmer leaders, with Mackenzie King trailing behind, say in effect to the United States manufacturers: "Don't bother coming over here. We will make it unnecessary for you to do so by lowering our tariff walls."

S. FRANK GLASS, Meighen Candidate

CANADA NEEDS MEIGHEN EAST MIDDLESEX NEEDS FRANK GLASS

For sixteen continuous years, as member of township and county councils, and later representative of East Middlesex in the House of Commons, and during the year 1913 as alderman for the city of London, his efforts have been directed to giving service—real service to the community.

His activities and close personal efforts were successfully directed to the establishment in Middlesex County of the two-million-dollar Psychiatric Hospital in the township of Westminster, the maintenance of which involves very large expenditures for food supplies, the products of the farms, and other commodities the products of industry.

It was directly due to his personal efforts that the Ontario Bureau of Labor was established in London at a time when the demand for aid in agriculture, as well as industry, required prompt action in order that labor and employment might be efficiently brought together.

His association with the flax industry in Canada and his activities in promoting its development is well known to have been an important factor in providing necessary supplies of fibre for the Imperial army in the manufacture of aeroplane linens.

It was directly due to his efforts that the flax spinning industry has been established in the Dominion, so that now the slogan he fathered, "Flax from the field to the loom," is now an accomplished fact, and the manufacture of linens in Canada now gives promise of becoming one of her prominent industries.

He supported in the House the establishment of government terminal elevators in

IN THE YEAR 1907, his fidelity to duty and his efficiency as a county councillor was fittingly recognized by the members of the county council, when at the June sittings a resolution moved by T. G. Turnbull, reeve of Lobo, and seconded by W. F. Hill, reeve of Strathroy, concluded with these words: "We also acknowledge his ability as a municipal officer and trust he may long be spared to render his valuable services to the county." At the December sessions following, his services were recognized in the following resolution: "That we, the members of the county council of Middlesex, wish to express our hearty appreciation of the very efficient services Councillor Glass has rendered to the council."—Carried unanimously by a standing vote. Later during the same session, an address was presented to him by the members of the council, which was subsequently ordered, by resolution, to be printed in the minutes.

In the same sittings of December, 1907, at its concluding session, Mr. Glass was presented with a diamond ring and an address, as follows:

To S. F. Glass, Chairman of Finance Committee, Middlesex County Council:

Dear Colleague,—As our relations as fellow-members of the county council of the county of Middlesex are about to terminate for the year, we wish to place on record our appreciation of your services as chairman of the finance committee and secretary of the good roads committee. The generous and unselfish manner in which you have devoted your time and ability to the work of the council could not fail to win the esteem and appreciation of all of your associates. We wish you to accept this ring as a slight token of the bond which we trust will always bind together the members of the Middlesex county council of 1907. We have no doubt that the qualities you have displayed during this term will win for you increased success in the future, and we hope that your efforts will always be crowned with the results your merits deserve. Signed on behalf of the council of 1907: Samuel Oakes, S. R. Gillies, J. C. Knapton, C. W. Hawkshaw, Wm. Sullivan.

Such an elevator may well be called the farmer's hospital for damaged grain, as well as the proper source from which he may derive the maximum value from the product of his toil.

He defended the Dairy Industry against the encroachments of foreign oleomargarine.

He supported and was active in promoting the measure for standardization of agricultural implement parts.

He was the active spirit on the movement to remove the last remnant of toll gates in the county of Middlesex, and the burning of the Proof Line toll gates on the cross roads at St. John's in London Township, 1907, will remain an outstanding historical event.

He promoted and was successful in securing large appropriations for the development and improvement of Port Stanley harbor, the completion of which, when fully accomplished, will practically have the effect of putting London and Middlesex on the water highways of the Great Lakes leading to the ocean.

He organized and was first president of the Middlesex Publicity Association, by which London and Middlesex have become advertised and known throughout Great Britain and Ireland, and many settlers on the farms in Middlesex have

At the first sign of hoarseness the child subject to croup should be given Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Even after the familiar rough cough appears the attack may be warded off. COUGH REMEDY

Lauder Still Master of Sorrow and Joy At Grand

Endears Himself More Than Ever To London Theatre-Goers in Delightful Program of New and Old Songs.

Sir Harry Lauder, prince of Scottish entertainers, endeared himself more than ever before to London theatre-goers, when Friday, in matinee and evening performances at the Grand, he offered an inimitably delightful program of new and old songs, interspersed with quaintly rendered reflections on war, love, peace and human brotherhood. He apologized for having been so long away from London and charmingly informed the audience that he would often come again, this being only the first of twenty farewell tours he planned.

He hoped for the success of the disarmament conference at Washington. "We have tried war and that's all wrong," he said. "Time and again he made the audience sing with him, and the evening passed as pleasantly and informally as if the crowded theatre had been a little gathering of neighbors at some cotter's fireside in the ever rejuvenescent land of the Heather.

One of the numbers which moved Sir Harry's hearers most to tears, and laughter in quick succession was "Softest of the Family." Schooldays came back vividly to old and young as the joys and pathos of boyhood were poignantly presented. "I Know a Lassie Out in O-H-I-O," his opening number; "O'er the Hill to Arden," "There is Somebody Waiting For Me," "When I Was Twenty-One," "I Think I'll Get Wed in the Summer-time," and "Wee Hoose Among the Heather," were other favorites.

The assisting company provides vaudeville of the highest class. The Novelty Clowns offer a remarkable jumping act; Cleo Gascoigne, the diminutive prima donna, sings very charmingly; W. E. Ritchie & Company add variety in the line of a comedy bicycle act, and Kharum, the Persian pianist, a quite brilliant musician, was recalled many times by insistent applause.

Harry Moore, in a clever paper-tearing act, added decided novelty and unusual cleverness to the program. The scenery and landscape drops also contributed appreciably to the general excellence of the bill.

LONDON POULTRY WINS MANY PRIZES

Guelph Winter Fair Opened To Public Friday Morning.

GUELPH, Dec. 2.—Poultry was king today at the Winter Fair, which opened its gates to the public this afternoon, and some 6,000 feathered creatures of top-notch quality made their presence known by a variety of lustrous cackles and crows. Judging of the birds commenced at 3 o'clock this morning, but only a few awards are available tonight. Among the earlier classes judged, London birds are taking their share of the prizes. In White Plymouth Rocks, Fred A. Andrews and C. T. Butler (Plymouth Rocks, Columbian), and A. Plawn (Black Wyandottes). The poultry judging will not conclude until late Saturday night.

Despite a drizzling rain a large number of visitors, mostly poultrymen, visited the fair today and many congratulatory comments were heard regarding the improvements to the buildings, which are looking better than they have for some years.

A record crowd is expected Monday, when the big show will be officially declared open by Lieutenant-Governor R. M. Berry (Silver Leghorns); H. C. Whiting, London Junction (Game Bantams); C. T. Butler (Plymouth Rocks, Columbian), and A. Plawn (Black Wyandottes). The poultry judging will not conclude until late Saturday night.

An innovation this year, which will be greatly appreciated by the press, is a large and separate booth in the seed department, which is in charge of W. Dawson, an ex-newspaperman and publicity man for the show. The exhibit in the seed department slightly outnumbered those of previous years. The feature of the exhibit this year will be a new entry, known as the commercial class, made up of five bags of barley and oats. The corn and potato exhibits are of exceptionally good quality, and excel anything shown at the fair before. One exhibit of potatoes came from North Brunsford, while there are the usual large number of exhibits from Northern Ontario, and root seed exhibits have come from British Columbia.

GIVE MAJOR ROSS BIG WELCOME AT LAMBETH

The electors of Westminster Township turned out en masse to the meeting held at Lambeth, Friday night, in the interests of Major Duncan G. Ross, Liberal candidate in East Middlesex. The candidate was supported by Major Rippen and other speakers. Dr. Routledge of Lambeth presided.

Dr. Rankin, who declared that up till this campaign he had been an adherent of the Conservative party, made a strong appeal to the electors in favor of Major Ross. Major Rippen took issue with several of the statements made by Mr. Glass at a meeting at Pottersburg recently, and showed that he was endeavoring to create a wrong impression.

Major Ross presented his platform and refuted several attempts to mislead the electors made by the leaders of the Conservative party.

NO EXCUSE FOR APPENDICITIS

Carelessness and Inattention To Internal Cleanliness Responsible for the Trouble

"Fruit-a-tives," the Preventive

When Appendicitis became recognized as a definite and dangerous disease, many theories were advanced as to its cause; the presence of grape seeds and cherry stones in the appendix being widely broached; but after several thousand operations for appendicitis, without finding seeds of any kind in the appendix, this theory was discarded.

Physicians know absolutely that appendicitis is as much a "filth disease" as is Typhus and Diphtheria. They know that Appendicitis is caused, in practically every case, by chronic constipation. Waste matter, which should be eliminated every day, is allowed to remain in the bowels three or four days.

Refuse from the lower bowel work into the appendix, rot there, and inflame the appendix. Sometimes, pus forms and the appendix bursts, bringing on peritonitis.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES," the wonderful fruit medicine, is an absolute corrective of constipation. It acts directly on the liver, stimulating the flow of bile and strengthening the bowel muscles, so that the waste matter is eliminated regularly.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid by FRUIT-A-TIVES, Limited, OTTAWA.

It was not long till the rash began to disappear, and I used three cakes of Soap and four boxes of Ointment, which healed me." (Signed) W. M. Hymers, Paris, Ont., Sept. 12, 1919.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR DIVORCE

Application to Parliament

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, at the next session thereof, on behalf of the City Gas Company of London, for a special Act for the following purposes:

1. To amend the Statute of 6 Edward VII., Chap. 123, passed on the 1st day of May, 1906, entitled an Act respecting the City Gas Company of London, by repealing and striking out Section 7 of the said Act and substituting therefor the following: "The said Company shall from and after the passing of this Act be authorized and empowered to charge for gas supplied to consumers within the limits of the City of London, as now existing, or hereafter extended, at one dollar and forty cents net per thousand cubic feet of gas, whether used for illuminating purposes or otherwise; that is to say, the Company may charge one dollar and seventy cents for each thousand feet of gas, subject, however, to a discount of thirty cents per thousand, to be given to the customer who will be entitled if the amount due by such customer be paid within twenty days after the same becomes due, and shall continue thereafter to sell gas to all such consumers at a rate not greater than the said rate."

2. To amend Section 2 of the said Act, by striking out the figures "$400,000" in the fifth line thereof and substituting "$1,000,000", and also to amend Section 9 of the said Act by striking out the figures "$50,000" in the fourth line thereof and substituting the figure "$500,000". The effect of which amendments will be to make it lawful for the Company to increase its authorized capital stock by $500,000, and its borrowings on debentures or bonds by $250,000.

The reason for requiring the said amendments is that the cost of material and labor has increased to such an extent that the figures mentioned are necessary to enable the said Company to remain in business and supply gas to its customers, and the said Company required further capital to carry on the said business.

THE CITY GAS COMPANY OF LONDON, By its Solicitors, GRAYDON & GRAYDON, Bank of Montreal Building, London, Ontario.

Dated at London this 11th day of November, A. D. 1921.

ACQUIT PROGRESSIVE IN LIQUOR KEEPING CASE

Manor, Sask. Dec. 4.—O. R. Gould, Progressive candidate for Assiniboia, was yesterday acquitted of the charge of keeping liquor in a hotel here.

The defence set up the contention that the bottle of whiskey found in Gould's room was put there as a "plant."

The justices of the peace said there was no evidence to show how the bottle got into the room, and dismissed the case with costs. A charge against Gould of consuming liquor on the public highway was postponed till Friday—three days after elections.

AWAIT VERDICT IN ARBUCKLE TRIAL

Anxious Crowds Throng the Courtroom To Hear Jury's Decision.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 2.—The manslaughter case of Roscoe C. Arbuckle went to the jury at 4:15 p.m. Arbuckle is accused of having fatally injured Miss Virginia Rappe, a motion picture actress, in the Hotel St. Francis, Sept. 5.

The case has occupied the court for approximately three weeks. Today's entire session was taken up with final arguments, instructions to the jury, and jury deliberations.

Gavin McNab, chief defence counsel, opened the session today with a continuation of his closing argument. He was followed by Milton U'Ren, assistant district attorney, whose summing up lasted nearly an hour.

The courtroom was crowded throughout the day and the adjoining corridors also held an anxious, crushing crowd. Arbuckle appeared to show deep interest in the arguments.

Asked at the cessation of the final arguments what his future plans were, Arbuckle said he would make no statement, "until the thing is out of the way." The prosecution reiterated its hope for a speedy conviction.

Alternate Juror Hopkins said that the jury had been watched closer than any other in San Francisco for 25 years.

"They censored our mail both incoming and outgoing," he said. "We each had a separate room at the hotel, where we were watched like hawks by four deputy sheriffs."

NOT FOR SALE.

The opinions, judgment and influence of Dr. L. S. Holmes are not for sale. If elected alderman in Ward 4, he pledges untiring effort for the good of all the people all the time.—Adv't.

TORONTO, Dec. 2.—A hush fell on the woman's court this morning when Mrs. Louis Leslie of London, Ont., was brought from the cells and Clerk Childs read the charge sheet, which alleged briefly that she did "contrary to law murder Ellen Lyons."

W. K. Murphy, defending, requested a remand till Dec. 8. Mr. McElduff, who had the case, was ready to proceed on that date.

PARIS, France.—A black satchel containing $55,000 was left in an omnibus and taken to the lost and found department of the transportation company. The bank messenger who had forgotten it recovered it among other lost articles.

WEAK HEART NERVES BADLY SHATTERED

Many a woman who should be strong and healthy, full of life and energy, is bound by the shackles of ill-health. Some disease or constitutional disturbance has left its mark in the form of a weak heart, shattered nerves, impoverished blood and an exhausted condition of the whole system.

In MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS they will find a remedy that will supply food for the exhausted nerves, one that will strengthen and regulate the weak heart and invigorate the whole system.

Mrs. W. W. Pearce, 14 Seaton street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I was left with a weak heart and in a run-down condition from the 'flu.' My nerves were badly shattered, and I had such pains around my heart I could not sleep much at night. I took several doctors' medicines without getting any better. My husband got me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I took one box I got relief, and after taking six boxes I have been well and not bothered since."

Price, 50c a box, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv't.

-the wisdom of Mohammed

B READ for the body or Bread for the soul—both are essential. Even Mohammed, the prophet, could not feed his soul alone and live, so he asked also for the simplest food to sustain and nourish his body. The wise philosopher made no error in placing at the head of all needs that most wholesome and universal of foods—Bread.

No other food but Bread contains all the elements needed to repair and sustain the body. No other contains so large a proportion of nutriment—with nothing to irritate or tax digestion. Even back in the days of Mohammed this was recognized.
