MID-DAY STORM SWEETS DISTRICT

Senator Pardee To Speak At Liberal Convention Saturday

DARKNESS AND RAIN GRIP CITY

Unprecedented Noon-Day Blackness Engulfs District as Fore-runner of Storm.

Nothing But Low, Heavy Rain Clouds, They Say—District Damage Feared.

Unexpected and unannounced, a greater degree of darkness than was noticeable at the much heralded total eclipse of the sun seen here in January, plunged London into darkness at 2 o'clock today.

At 2:15 to the accompaniment of a sharp crack of thunder the rain poured down. Communication with the surrounding district was temporarily cut off, and it is believed the gale was widespread, and that there may be heavy damage from lightning at points east and west.

Dr. H. R. Kingston of the university, who is an authority on the phenomena of the heavens, said that the storm would continue to revolve in spite of the fact that it looked pretty black.

Only a big storm, "There is a big storm somewhere in the vicinity," said Dr. Kingston, and even as he spoke a reverberating crash just above the whirring lightning striking through the heavens. Before it had half died away the rain pelted down.

Miss Dewar, of the local weather bureau, said that there was nothing unusual in the barometer reading taken at 2 o'clock. It had dropped five points since 8 o'clock this morning.

At 8 o'clock the reading was 29.35. At 2 p.m. it was 29.31. This of course indicated a storm, but not a violent one. The temperature was 60.

A slight break appeared in the clouds soon after, and it began to assume an aspect of twilight. At 2:30 London's visibility was equal to that of late afternoon.

Dark at 1:30. At 1:20 heavy clouds banked up over the city, darkness unbroken over the district. At 2 o'clock motor cars and street cars and shops carried all the lights used at night.

The cause of the storming more formidable than a heavy cloud formation thick enough to block out the light of the sun, according to local scientists.

"Do not worry. Nothing startling is going to happen," was the advice given out by Prof. J. W. Russell, geologist of the University of Western Ontario.

Dr. Russell added that nothing unusual was expected in a scientific circle. The storm was shut out by unusually heavy clouds.

As darkness fell, telephone lines hummed with anxious inquiries concerning the quick change from day to night. All over the city the electricity and gas was turned on, causing peak load hours before the usual time.

Reports from St. Marys, Port Stanley and other points showed a big Page 4, Column 4.

LABORITES AND TORIES TO NOMINATE TONIGHT

Frank White, M.P., Practically Certain To Be Conservative Choice at Convention.

LABOR UNDECIDED. Ex-Mayor H. A. Stevenson Most Likely To Be Chosen For Race.

Candidates of two parties, Conservative and Labor, will be chosen in London tonight. The Tory nomination will be in Central College. The Labor choice will be made at a meeting in the Labor temple.

Little doubt surrounds the identity of the Tory candidate, Frank White, prominent manufacturer and present member for London, will be urged to carry the Conservative colors once more. S. F. Lawrance, chairman of the board of education, is favored by many Conservatives and Col. W. G. Coles is also mentioned prominently. But it is generally accepted today that the nomination will be tendered to Frank White when the curtain rises up tonight.

In the ranks of Labor there appears to be no nominating machine active. Mooted candidates range in color from the extreme right to a very deep shade of red, from independents who have a good following outside the accredited ranks of Labor to the Communist element.

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, former mayor and member of the Ontario legislature, is declared today to be the most likely choice for the Labor nomination.

At the same time, union men such as John Colbert, Frank McKay and L. R. Menzies have also plenty of supporters. Arthur Mould, Labor candidate in the 1921 election, still retains much of his support amongst Labor men here.

Many supporters of Labor believe that by adopting a broad policy, choosing a man like Dr. Stevenson and appealing to the entire electorate rather than to union men alone, much success will be met. In the last election Arthur Mould polled 4,500 votes, the largest Labor vote on record, except in the last municipal election, when large percentages of the vote were given to candidates for alderman and board of education posts.

CITY HAD BIG 1924 DEFICIT

Spending Bodies Doing Better To Make Ends Meet This Year.

Spending bodies of London's municipal government are keeping fairly well within their estimates this year, though complete figures of expense during the first nine months are not yet available. According to city officials indications are fairly good that the city will "make ends meet" in 1925.

Last year there was an actual deficit of $24,740.08, a sum which is being taken care of out of the taxes for 1925. The deficit was not stated at the end of 1924.

The deficit for 1924 has not previously been made public. At the close of the regime of last year's council a surplus was confidently expected, and much was said during the last election that mooted excess of receipts over expenses.

When estimates were struck the 1924 financial statement was not yet ready. The synoptical statement for 1925 has been prepared by James S. Bell, city treasurer, and is shown in the printed estimates for the year, which were just finished by the printer this week.

Now it appears that the deficit for 1924 is sufficient to provide a percentage of 1.0195 of the net charges to the council.

It is still too early to secure a definite forecast of financial conditions for this year's government, though taxes and other revenue are expected to meet current demands.

RAMSAY MACDONALD FLAYS LURID WRITERS

Says He Will Not Lend His Name to Yellow Journalism.

Liverpool, Oct. 2.—J. Ramsay MacDonald, former premier, whose profession outside of politics is admittedly journalism and nothing else, uttered some caustic sentiments in the Liverpool Press club last night with regard to press contributions from public men.

"The whole idea of selling one's name and nothing else is detestable," Mr. MacDonald said. "You can write nonsense and superficial, commonplace stuff, without either style or distinction in form or thought, and if you happen to be the chief hanger-on of a generation you can get £1,000 for an article, whereas if you are a poor hard-working journalist you may not get a guinea. Such things are a disgrace to the profession, a degradation to the press, and an insult to the public."

"I am a good enough journalist to decline, as far as I possibly can, to lend myself to that sort of thing."

COL. CANTLEY CHOSEN. Picton, N. S., Oct. 2.—Col. Thomas Cantley of New Glasgow, N. S., who contested Picton against Hon. E. H. MacDonald in the federal elections of 1921, was nominated by Conservatives of Picton county in convention here yesterday.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE ENDS. Associated Press Despatch. Shanghai, Oct. 2.—The strike of Chinese telegraphers, which crippled communication throughout the country for several days, has been ended.

OUTSIDE CAPITAL FOR BUSES

Manufacturers Hold Conference With Promoters and Aldermen.

NEW OFFER MADE. Company With New Proposal Controls Bus Lines Elsewhere.

Outside capital to control a new bus company in London is offered today following conferences between manufacturers' agencies and local promoters. Representatives of a bus firm were in the city for a short time this morning. They conferred with local bus promoters and several aldermen.

It is understood that some of the local capital available for a bus project some weeks ago is no longer offered, since negotiations with the Mack Trucks of Canada, Limited, ended.

Today prospects for the organization of a bus company here seemed brighter, with L. H. Douglass, M.D., at the head of the project. It is possible that another contender for the honor will be Col. Clifford Reason, who has received endorsement from Liberals in East London, and from a soldiers' committee, headed by John Rawlinson. There is also the possibility that the convention may find a dark horse, who has taken no active part in the political field, but the present probabilities point to Mr. Little as the final choice.

An Excellent Candidate. There is no doubt that Mr. Little would make an excellent candidate and, if elected, an aggressive representative of London's interests. He is young, vigorous, experienced in public affairs and has a deep understanding of political responsibilities both by inclination and by environment, as the son of the late Col. J. W. Little, who was recently selected as the greatest citizen in a civic sense, whom London has produced.

Whatever happens at the convention tomorrow night and whoever may be chosen as candidate will prove a rallying ground of all the Liberal forces in London to a degree which spells the fighting spirit of Liberalism throughout the Western Ontario ridings.

RUSSIAN-GERMAN ISSUE UNSOLVED

Stresemann and Tchitcherin Confer on Vital Questions, But Fail to Agree.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—The negotiations between Foreign Minister Stresemann and M. Tchitcherin, the soviet foreign minister, who is visiting here, lasted until 4 o'clock this morning, but failed to result in a solution of the proposed Russo-German commercial agreement which the Russians desire to have signed immediately.

The Germans are hesitant, fearing that conclusion of such an agreement on the eve of the Locarno security conference would be interpreted as a demonstration against the allies. The main obstacle, however, appears to be the question of the loan which Russia seeks for the purchase of agricultural and other machinery. The Russians want two hundred million marks, while the Germans are not willing to grant more than one hundred million.

A commission from the German foreign office is proceeding to Moscow at an early date in hope of arriving at a satisfactory conclusion.

PREVENT RUM-RUNNERS FROM DESTROYING BOAT

Fifty-Eight Are Placed Under Arrest at Burlington, N. J.

Burlington, N. J., Oct. 2.—Fifty-eight prisoners, taken in a raid at Masonville on a barge containing a half million dollars worth of liquor, were brought to the county jail today. Efforts of the barge crew to burn the boat were frustrated by the state police.

Due to lack of cell accommodation many of the prisoners were held at the city hall.

Masonville is at the head of navigation on the Rancocas Creek, which empties into the Delaware river at Riverside, 12 miles below.

The creek is filled with barges used for transporting sand dredged from the creek bottom and taken from its banks. Camouflaged as a sand barge the rum boat was towed up the Delaware river to the scene of the raids.

EX-MAYOR LITTLE LIKELY TO BE LIBERAL CHOICE

Convention Saturday Night Will Be Rallying Point For the Forces of Liberalism.

SPEAKERS ANNOUNCED. Senator Fred Pardee May Be Accompanied by Hon. Duncan Marshall.

The Liberal convention in Hyman hall tomorrow night promises to be one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of London Liberals in many a long day.

Delegates are ready in almost every subdivision of the city, and the convention hall is likely to be crowded to capacity. Senator Fred Pardee of Sarina will be the chief speaker of the evening, and Hon. Duncan Marshall may also be present.

From present indications, E. S. Little, ex-mayor of the city, and prominent in London's public activities, is likely to be the convention's choice as Liberal candidate. James Gray, Dr. W. J. Stevenson, Jared Vining, A. R. Livingston and Ray Lawson are also possibilities, but it is believed that each of these men favors Mr. Little's nomination, and will lend support in that direction.

It is possible that another contender for the honor will be Col. Clifford Reason, who has received endorsement from Liberals in East London, and from a soldiers' committee, headed by John Rawlinson. There is also the possibility that the convention may find a dark horse, who has taken no active part in the political field, but the present probabilities point to Mr. Little as the final choice.

An Excellent Candidate. There is no doubt that Mr. Little would make an excellent candidate and, if elected, an aggressive representative of London's interests. He is young, vigorous, experienced in public affairs and has a deep understanding of political responsibilities both by inclination and by environment, as the son of the late Col. J. W. Little, who was recently selected as the greatest citizen in a civic sense, whom London has produced.

Whatever happens at the convention tomorrow night and whoever may be chosen as candidate will prove a rallying ground of all the Liberal forces in London to a degree which spells the fighting spirit of Liberalism throughout the Western Ontario ridings.

CALLAUX PARTY ON WAY HOME

French Debt Commission Have Left For Home, Disappointed.

AMOUNTS FAR APART. Paris Government Will Be Asked To Pass On U. S. Proposals.

Associated Press Despatch. Washington, Oct. 2.—Continuity of the debt funding negotiations between France and the United States holds today only by the uncertain link of a tentative arrangement brought forward as a last resort to prevent complete collapse of the effort to reach a permanent settlement.

Finance Minister Callaux and his associates on the French mission have departed for Paris, not with program of permanent settlement for which they expressed hope, but with a five-year payment proposal which in effect defers for that period a settlement of the thorny problem of how much France shall pay.

Proposed by the United States debt commission after a week of negotiations has demonstrated the utility of efforts to agree on a settlement at this time, the arrangement which M. Callaux has agreed to leave behind his government would call for annual payments of forty million dollars from France for the next five years. Agreement on a program of final settlement to succeed the preliminary arrangement of the debt commission would be left for negotiations to continue in the interim.

The proposed five-year payment plan not only would be considered as a lieu of all interest on the debt for that period, but which in effect would amount to an interest of 100 per cent annually on the principal of the debt. The payment of $200,000,000 on the debt for purchase of war supplies.

The proposal as it now stands does not bear the signature of M. Callaux, who explained that in view of his commission to sign only a final settlement, he questioned his own right to act on a provisional arrangement. In agreeing to lay it before the United States commissioners here that it would meet with its approval.

Associated Press Despatch. Madrid, Oct. 2.—Spanish troops entered Ajdir, capital of Abd-el-Krim, the Rifian leader, at 11:30 o'clock this morning, according to official advices from Morocco.

News of the victory was received here with great rejoicing. Flags were flown from most of the houses in Madrid and King Alfonso appeared at a window of the palace to receive an ovation from a great crowd which gathered there.

The king and the military director sent telegrams of congratulation to General Primo de Rivera, head of the directorate, who has personally been directing the Moroccan campaign.

DEATH OF EDWARD HARRIS, 95, REMOVES PIONEER SURVIVOR

Author and Philosopher Succumbs at Home of Nephew, Ridout Street.

BORN IN NORFOLK. London a Village of 400 When Edward Harris First Came Here.

Edward Harris, one of Canada's grand old men, author, philosopher, and former distinguished athlete, died at the home of his nephew, Ronald Harris, "Eldon House," yesterday.

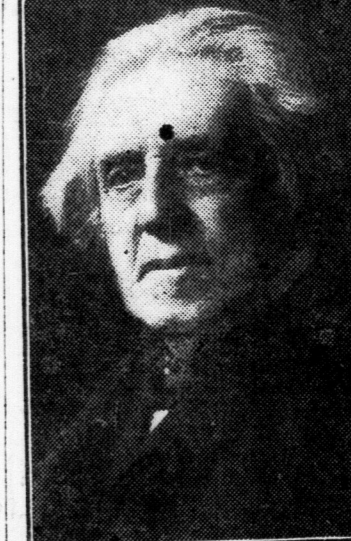

Mr. Harris lived for the past 25 years in Toronto, but spent the greater part of his early life here. He was 95 years of age.

Coming to London on Aug. 1 for a month's visit, his health, which had been of exceptional strength throughout his life, suddenly failed. In his passing yesterday, Canada lost a link between the past and present, a survivor of true pioneer days and one who contributed greatly to the development of his country by faithful and enthusiastic citizenship.

He was born at Woodhouse, County Norfolk, Ont., in 1832. His parents' home for many years. He was the second son of John Harris and Amelia Ryerse, United Empire Loyalists, and members of distinguished families both in England and later in pioneer Canada. He came to London with his parents at the age of three years, at the time his father was appointed treasurer of the London district. It was then that "Eldon House," one of the oldest and most picturesque residences in the city, was built by John Harris.

Edward Harris was educated at Bailey's grammar school in London from which many of the city's most distinguished and venerable citizens of a decade or more ago gained their early education.

London was a village boasting 400 inhabitants at the time Edward Harris attended school here. And it is to men of his age, with character and ability, that the city owes its successful development. For a particular of four years young Harris attended the University of Toronto as a law student, upon his graduation he returned to practice in the firm

EDWARD HARRIS, who died at Eldon House, Ridout street, this morning at the age of 95.

Johnstone had planned to leave Toronto today. His large travelling bag was loaded with costly jewelry and other valuables which the police believe to be worth well over $100.

WINTER PROGRAM AT GRAND IS SET

Plays Will Be Run First Half of Week, With Burlesque in Latter Half.

The Grand Opera House this morning made announcement of its winter program of entertainment, which, in response to local request, will include burlesque attractions and some of the finest plays and musical comedies touring Canada this season.

Through the efforts of N. L. Nathanson, managing director of the Famous Players' corporation, and J. R. Minchin, manager of the Grand theatre, it has been arranged to have musical revues or burlesque, shown here for the latter part of each week commencing the week of Oct. 15. The original plan was to run plays and musical comedies throughout the winter for the last three days of the week, but arrangements, completed yesterday, call for the change of program where the plays and musical shows will be shown the first half of the week and the burlesque for the following three days.

The Mutual burlesque association has some shows which will be seen in London. They are of the finest quality, having enjoyed capacity houses in other Canadian cities where presentations have been made, and judging from their popularity in London in former years, they will again enjoy wide patronage.

The burlesque entertainment and the other shows will form a complete bill at the Grand for the remainder of the season. The Grand Famous Players' corporation, has been promised some of the outstanding New York plays including Ross Marie, Is Zat So, Faversham in his latest play, The Student Princess, and many others. Sir John Martin Harvey in a series of plays will also appear in London this year.

LAPINTE CONDEMNED

Minister of Justice Opens Campaign in His Own Constituency.

Canadian Press Despatch. Quebec, Oct. 2.—Opposition to the plan propounded by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen during the latter's tour of the maritime provinces, when the opposition leader announced that he would return to power he would insure an adjustment of freight rates that would enable the "feeder" portions of Confederation to market their goods in Canada's centers of population and that the adjustment would be supported from the central provinces, was voiced last evening at a public meeting in Quebec East, when Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, opened his electoral campaign in his own constituency.

"Speaking in the name of the province of Quebec, I am opposed to this solution. The rates should be equalized, but we shall not pay for the others," declared the minister. Mr. Lapointe declared the work of the government and while proclaiming his loyalty to the British Empire, he felt that Canada's future lay on this side of the Atlantic and that it was his duty as a Canadian to decide matters affecting their own country.

The minister recalled the Chanak episode of 1922 and said that Mr. King's Canadian would decide that not a soldier would be sent until the people were informed of all the circumstances surrounding the case. Sir Clifford Curran, credited Mr. King with preventing war at that time, said Mr. Lapointe, while he charged Mr. Meighen had gone to Toronto and had charged Mr. King for being a "rebel." The leader of the opposition had said, declared the minister of justice, that had he been in power he would have sent troops.

Steady Prosperity Seen In the Prairie Provinces

Financial Men Comment on the Economic Sanity of West.

PROGRESS APPARENT

Western Canada is this year displaying little of the spendthrift tendencies which had blossomed in the wake of good crops of other years, according to Stanley Aylesworth, assistant general manager of the Huron and Erie Mortgage Corporation, and D. McEachern, secretary of the same firm, who have returned from a month's tour of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

A keener perception of the value of money has displaced the usual procedure of exchanging grain earnings for long-denied luxuries. The London financial men state. Autos, pianos, radios and other modern trappings are still being bought, but with far less abandon than in the big years of 1916-1919.

The cities, too, reflect the general trend toward greater economic sanity with a prosperity that is quiet and steady rather than booming. "The change of attitude in the farmer struck me forcibly on my trip this year," Mr. Aylesworth said. "He has brought himself to a more economical base, and is more concerned about his debts than about the chances of having a better autumn."

"With the 1923 crop bringing the biggest net return to the farmer of any yield of recent years, an unprecedented improvement in the financial situation of the west is inevitable."

Mr. Aylesworth remarked upon the steady trend of Manitoba toward mixed farming. Everywhere he went, he said, he saw signs of competition with grain, and he believes that eventually Manitoba will be a province of mixed crops and cattle and poultry raising.

"A very substantial progress is apparent in all the cities," Mr. McEachern declared. "Western prosperity now seems to be of the solid, longer-lasting type, and does not give the impression of a boom."

Mr. McEachern and Mr. Aylesworth travelled 1,900 miles by automobile during the course of their tour of the three provinces.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL TRADE BOTH STEADY HERE

Reports to Bradstreet's say that there is little fresh to report here as regards the business situation. Wholesale and retail trade are running along steadily with some tendency towards improvement. The weather of the past week has been favorable to a better movement of fall goods in the city and the surrounding country, and merchants not only in London but at outside points are looking for a good volume of trade this year. The agricultural production has done well and it is expected that there will be a strong reflection of this in the demand for goods at retail stores. The industrial working plants are busy, and there is good demand for motor accessories. Collections on the whole are completed in time for the various bills harvested, and generally speaking the year was a satisfactory one.

Ceiling Decorations Likely To Be Complete by Christmas.

Twelve artists are now employed on the work which is to make St. Peter's cathedral one of the most beautiful churches in Canada. Six painters are at work in the building, and an additional six are designing wall canvases in New York.

Rev. Dean Stanley said this morning that the ceiling decorations would likely be completed before Christmas. It is expected that the scaffolding will be removed by that time.

Through the maze of timbers which support the ceiling, platforms may now be seen, the work of which are going into the interior decorations. The copper roofing will be finished in ten days' time. All metal roofs have been renewed. The slate portions will be left as they are, said Dean Stanley.

GODERICH REORGANIZES MILITIA HOME TRAINING

Goderich, Oct. 1.—Militia home training will be renewed with the reorganization of a company of the first Huron regiment, under the command of Major A. F. Sturdy. Sections are also organized for training of signallers, Lewis gunners and stretcher-bearers. A ten-week program has been arranged, with two nights weekly for training. At the conclusion of the course an inspection will be held by the officer commanding military district number one.

For the past two years this method of training has been employed by the regiment instead of summer camp training, and the results proved satisfactory. Uniforms have already been issued to those who previously trained, and a call for recruits is expected.

MEN AND HORSES

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.

Doctors and veterinarians are often times surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ailments of man and beast.

Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many everyday ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment—Absorbine Jr.

Absorbine Jr. first discovered by a very close student of the horse, W. F. Young, and by him, devoted to its cause. Its very exceptional benefits, however, were promptly seized upon for the human race and, in a milder form, the preparation is sold all over the continent today as Absorbine Jr. It is used for men, women and children everywhere as a positive germicide—a germ killer—and a prompt and certain healer of all hurts. It is useful not only for the purposes served by ordinary liniments and embrocations, but as a mouth-wash and for anything else where a germicide is needed. Don't wait until you need it. LOEW'S THEATRE

The Unholy Three.

The Unholy Three, a mystery picture that is off the beaten path and is a thrilling as any melodrama, was featured at Loew's theatre yesterday, with Lon Chaney in the main role. The Unholy Three can justifiably be described as one of the best pictures the screen has ever known, and Lon himself as one of the greatest American character actors.

The story is a most unusual one, dealing with a trio of freaks—a giant, a midget and a ventriloquist—who forsake their life in a dime museum to pursue a career of robbery and murder.

The trio cover up their misdeeds by running a bird and animal store, and succeed in escaping detection after each crime until two of them murder a wealthy clubman after looting his home.

After shifting the blame on another they flee to the mountains. Fearful of the strength and cunning of his confederates, the ventriloquist brings a gorilla with him for protection. How the gorilla fulfills his mission, how the innocent culprit is defended by the agency of an undetected midget, and how the mystery is cleared up brings the picture to a thrilling and satisfying end.

The Unholy Three is remarkably well photographed, and is presented by an unusually capable group of character actors. Lon Chaney, of course, is outstanding.

Loew's presents three excellent vaudeville acts along with The Unholy Three for the program of the latter half of the week. The acts

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1925.

The Stomach of the Free Press.

The Free Press, taking its lead from the Mail and Empire of Wednesday, used an editorial on Thursday about the attitude of Mr. Sparks of Ottawa, a former Liberal, who is out to do all he can to defeat the King government. The Free Press thought it worth while to use black face type on the following statement of Mr. Sparks:

"I have reached the conclusion, after a great deal of thought, that the whole industrial future of Canada is threatened by the return of the King government."

Despatches in the last two days give evidence about the way in which the industrial future of the country is being threatened by the King government. One is:

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—Exports of Canadian products during the twelve months ended August 31 last were valued at $1,130,753,557. This is an increase over the preceding twelve months of $70,648,075.

Another point in the same direction: Hamilton, Sept. 30.—Officials of the Canadian Cottons Limited have been instructed by the head office of the company in Montreal to put the local plant, which employs 800 hands, on full-time work until further notice. While the Hamilton executives of the company were not inclined to discuss the reasons underlying this order, they stated that it was obvious that improving times are being reflected by increased business for Canadian Cottons. The company makes many yarns for knitting fabric, and the local plant has not been running on full time for some months.

The reports of Massey-Harris Company operations in the last four years show:

1921, loss	$1,456,000
1922, loss	643,000
1923, loss	409,578
1924, profit	$7,711

It's a thankless business trying to paint a blue ruin picture when the evidence is pointing in the opposite direction. The Free Press knows very well that conditions are very good in Canada, and it is only because there is an election on that it refuses to come right out in the open and say so.

We are not seeking to put words in the mouth of the Free Press that it never uttered. There was a time, on the 20th day of June, 1923, that it gloried in the way this country was going ahead. Here is the way it gave voice to its exuberance:

"Today we are having glorious summer weather, the country never appeared more beautiful, the grain is jumping ahead, the farmers are smiling and that old optimistic air is returning."

"Anyone who is in the dumps these days should have his stomach examined by a medical expert. Not only are the prospects good for fine crops all over Canada, but there are no sound grounds for anyone being pessimistic in regard to the Dominion, Canada has what the world needs and nothing can keep the Dominion back...."

"Where is there a country in the world where conditions are as good as in Canada, and where is there any spot in as happy a situation as Western Ontario? Let us look ahead and up, not back and down."

The Free Press was not in consultation then with the political prophets; there had been no instructions given to pull down the blinds and tumble around in the dark. The paper was trying then to give joyous interpretation to what it saw ahead. There were no political censors standing at the editor's elbow ready to cry out, tut, tut, that won't do."

Then there were "no sound grounds for anyone being pessimistic in regard to the Dominion." What's more, if there were a pessimist around, or one who was "in the dumps," he could have his stomach examined by a medical expert. The Free Press would not tolerate room at all. If such a person were located he would be taken by the scuff of the neck and hustled right off to the doctor, because there must be something wrong with his stomach. There was nothing wrong with the country because "Canada has what the world needs, and nothing can keep the Dominion back."

And the Free Press was chanting its little psalm of "Everything's Fine" when the King government was just getting down to business in Ottawa. The Massey-Harris Company was going at a loss, and today at a profit. Our trade balance then was $165,300,000, today it is over $300,000,000. Our trade balance with United States was $700,000,000, against $75,000,000 according to the returns. There is more employment in Canada today than when the Free Press found it for such high hope; not half as many went from Canada last year as in the year when the joyful Free Press was clapping its hands and calling for another brass band and fireworks to play in its prosperity band.

So what's come over that poor old paper? Simply this—an election is on—Hon. Arthur Meighen has said that things are very bad indeed, and there can be no joy in the land. So, obedient to orders, the Free Press no longer lifts for the stomach pump for those who are in the dumps; it has swallowed its own prescription, pump and all.

W. D. Euler For North Waterloo.

When W. D. Euler of North Waterloo spoke the house of commons he was always given attentive hearing; very seldom was there an interruption from any source. The reason is that Mr. Euler generally had something to say. He was never regarded as a partizan who sought merely the glorification of party, nor did it make much difference to him whether his views ran along on the same rails as those of the government he supported.

Much the same spirit ran through his nomination speech at Kitchener. On the eve of an election he was prepared to follow the same course that he had mapped out for himself after he had been entrusted with the confidence of the electors. He was at times critical of the government's method of senate reform, and he was not convinced that the King ministry had gone far enough in securing co-operation between the C. P. R. and C. N. R. to eliminate duplication of service.

Mr. Euler, as chairman of the railway committee of the house, has an intimate knowledge of what has taken place, and on that knowledge bases the statement that the railway situation is more important than the tariff. He fails to see where the Canadian National Railways can get fair consideration from Mr. Meighen. He puts it this way:

"I would like to believe that Mr. Meighen is still a friend of our railways. It was he who figured largely in the taking over of these roads. I believe at heart he is friendly to public ownership. But he has such a feeling of intense hostility toward Mr. King that in order to direct a blow at the premier he is willing to have its force partly fall on our railways if only thereby he can injure the prime minister."

Mr. Euler points out that while Mr. Meighen has been criticizing the King government for allowing Sir Henry Thornton to spend so much on equipping the road, the Conservatives spent $300,000,000 as against the Liberals' $200,000,000. He sees in Mr. Meighen's attitude now a move to hamstring the Nationals so they cannot compete with the C. P. R. Coming to the Scribner property in Paris, a deal denounced by Mr. Meighen, Mr. Euler sees in it a good stroke of business whereby the C. N. R. get on the "front street of Europe for business" and secure their premises rent free. Petty criticism about golf links for the C. N. R. has come to the front in many of Mr. Meighen's speeches. Mr. Euler knows what the cost was, and he also knows the revenue that came from it, and his deduction is that it was good business because "this year the whole enterprise produced a handsome profit."

Mr. Euler is Liberal in thought with a strong dash of independent thought in his make-up. He has represented his riding well—none could have done better. North Waterloo will do itself and the country at large a good service by returning him by a very substantial majority.

The Season Is Here.

Right at the outset of the hunting season attention is directed to a tragedy in the Quebec woods, where the father of twelve children was shot and killed in mistake for a moose by two friends with whom he was hunting.

The trouble with much of the fall hunting is that it is done by men who have had little experience in the woods or with firearms. It is never recorded where one woodsman shoots another in mistake for a wild animal. That comes as the result of habit and knowledge. Those who have not these traits should see that they make up for them with a rare amount of discretion.

No Fear of U. S. Courts.

United States government has made a drive on warring Chinese factions, chiefly in New York, Boston, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Chicago and Pittsburg. In New York alone 1,200 members of the Hip Sing and the On Leongs were gathered in, and 265 who could not prove their citizenship were deported.

Meanwhile the leaders of these tongs met in session together and agreed to issue orders to their followers to cease killing each other on the public highways. The Springfield Union sees in the deportation proceedings the strongest move United States can make, and adds:

"This is the most effective way to deal with the tong problem and other forms of lawlessness among the Chinese. Chinese criminals have little fear of the courts, but they have a wholesome fear of deportation."

The Springfield paper only scratches the surface when it says that Chinese criminals fear deportation, but do not fear the courts of United States. The obvious thing is to ask why they fear being sent out of the country more than they do staying in it and being dealt with by the courts.

An able jurist in United States only a few weeks ago addressed a bar association and pointed to the astounding total of 150,000 unpunished murderers running at large in that country. The Chinese are probably as quick to become aware of that condition as any other race. If Chinese criminals have little fear of the courts, then the criminals of other nationalities probably entertain the same view.

It may be a very heroic gesture for Uncle Sam to round up 265 Chinese for deportation, but it is highly superficial unless he couples with it a regeneration of his courts to the point where Chinese or any other brand of criminals will fear them.

On Bill's Farm

I used to think he knew a heap until I saw his place one day, sow-thistles wrestled with his oats, and burdocks battled with his hay.

When I lived on concession ten there was a neighbor close at hand, who always criticized and scoffed and blew his horn to beat the band. His name was Bill and he was sure most every time you talked to him, to have a brickbat here and there and hit some neighbor on the shin.

He always knew just what to do, and likewise how it should be done, and him that differed much with Bill he classed him as a shiftless bum.

Bill he could run the township too, and show the school board how to work, yes he could run a parliament and strip the britches from the Turk. He knew just what the matter was when we had crops that petered out, and he could tell just what to do if fever touched a Yorkshire snout.

To hear him talk you'd think how Bill was rated up outlandish high, that he was cultured to the ears, a real important sort of guy.

I mind I took a chance one day to go and see if Bill was home, I had an itchin' in my mind, a strong desire sat in my dome. For surely he would have a place where things was bred like apple pie, so I dropped in to where Bill lived just when I was a-passin' by.

The burdock wrestled with the hay, sow-thistles smote upon his oats, his brindle cows was thin and weak, about the size of billygoats. His horse was thin as it could be, its ribs ranged like a washboard too, his speckled hens had scaly legs, his pigs they were a wicked crew.

But I've met other folks like Bill who belch out wisdom from their pores, they talk so much they haven't time to stay at home to do their chores.—ARK. (Copyright)

Editorial Opinion

THE HOME-COMING.

(From the Guelph Mercury)
 AMONG the immigrants entering Canada from the United States for the four months ending July 31, there are 12,179 classified as Canadians returning to their homeland after having been for six or more months resident over the border—for reasons satisfactory to themselves.

The news is certainly good to Canadians. Perhaps they are coming back to record their votes where they think they will do most good, and they may be bringing home some U. S. money to spend here, which will also give cause for considerable rejoicing. However, the fact is they have come, and there are prospects of their staying, seeing that business conditions are on the mend.

Since April, 1923, 55,945 Canadians are reported as having returned to Canada, to remain permanently. This is a quite encouraging figure, and shows that industrial conditions are sufficiently improved to promise work for those who may have been compelled temporarily to change their places of abode, but preferred to retain their citizenship under the British flag.

A LLOYD GEORGE STORY.

(From the Hamilton Herald)
 WHEN David Lloyd George, ex-British premier was a young country solicitor in Wales, he was riding home in his dog-cart one day and came upon a little Welsh girl trudging along so wearily that he offered her a ride. She accepted silently, but all the way along, although he tried to engage her in conversation, he could not get her to say anything more than a timid "Yes" or "No."

Some days afterward the girl's mother happened to meet Lloyd George, and said to him smilingly, "Do you remember that my little girl rode home with you a short time ago? Well, when she got home she said, 'Mamma, I rode home from school with Mr. Lloyd George, the lawyer, and he kept talking to me, and I didn't know whatever to do, for you know Mr. Lloyd George charges when you talk with him and I hadn't any money.'"

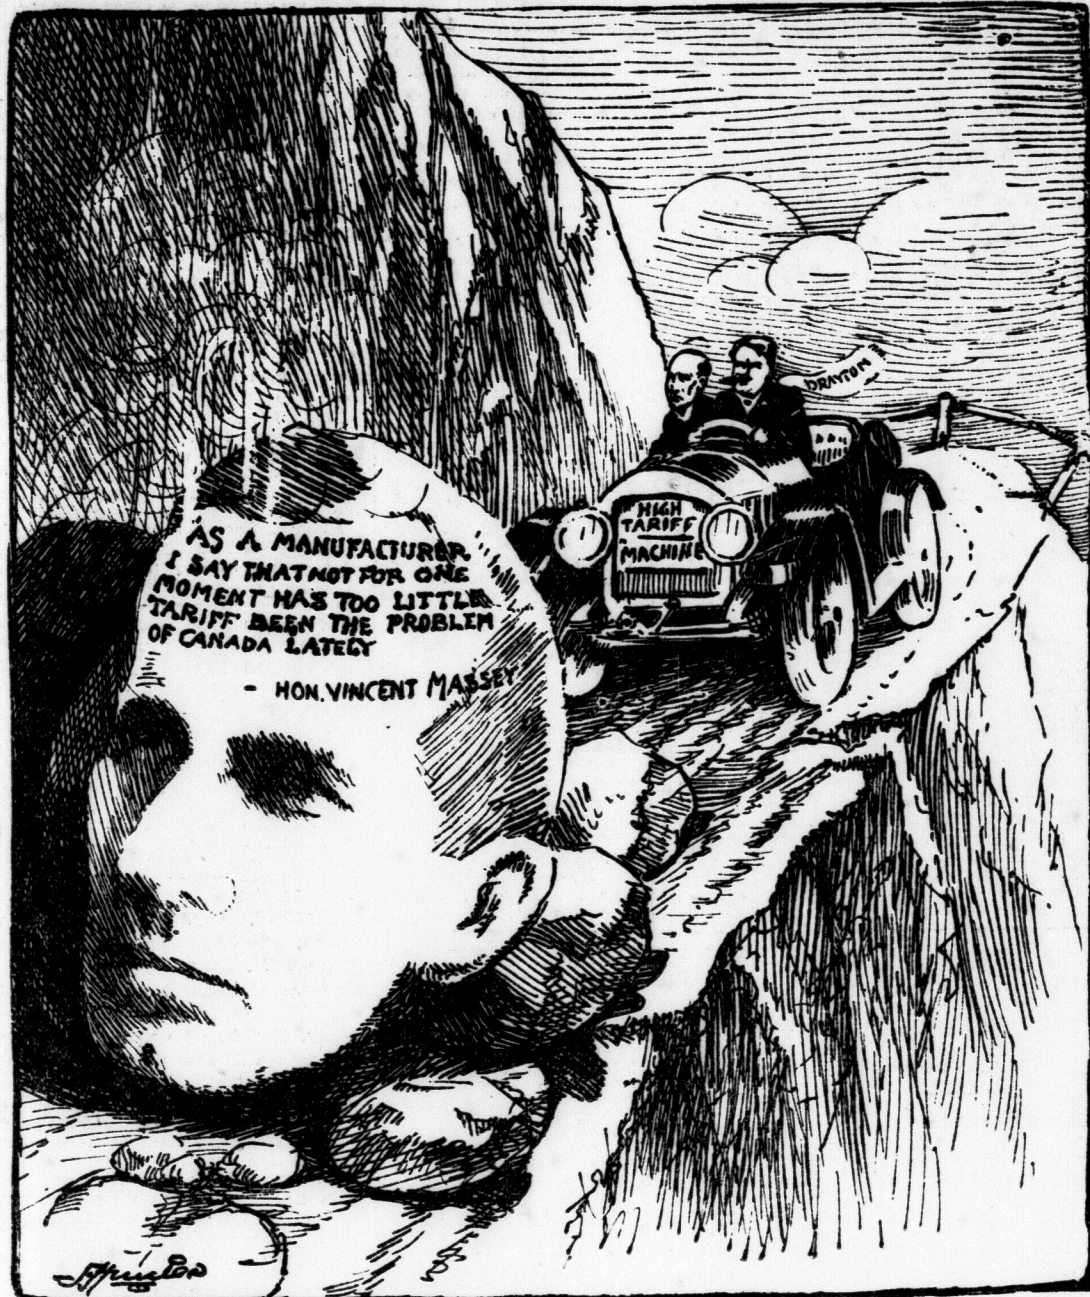

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE."

(From the Brantford Expositor)
 ATTENTION is being directed by some of the Liberal newspapers to the fact that Mr. R. B. Bennett, who is now contesting West Calgary in the Conservative interest, while a member of the house of commons, some years ago, dubbed Mr. Meighen, his present leader, "a grammarian of Mackenzie and Mann," at the same time giving that firm a very bad reputation. Now, in the whirligig of time, Mr. Bennett has become a grammarophone for Mr. Meighen.

TROUBLE IN THE CAMP.

(From the St. Thomas Times-Journal)
 THERE are so many aspirants for Conservative nominations in Toronto that in several ridings there may be more than one Tory candidate. In the northwest riding there is a regular revolt against the candidature of T. L. Church, and a new Conservative association is being formed to nominate John R. MacNicol, whom Mr. Church beat in convention.

not only a most charming and effective method of growing bulbs for those who have neither a garden, the conveniences of greenhouses, or frames, or have difficulty in obtaining suitable soil, but that it is also one which we feel sure is being and will be much more extensively adopted in the future, when it is realized what can be done in this way.

The advantage of this system is that the vases can be placed anywhere about the house, in the drawing-room, or dining-room, without fear of any mess from water or soil coming through the base of pots. The fiber is perfectly odorless, and clean to handle. It is especially and carefully prepared for this purpose and we strongly recommend all growers to use it in this way, if they have not yet done so.

The bulbs are potted the same way as in ordinary soil, but showing them to press the fiber tightly, otherwise the roots do not work freely and bulbs have a tendency to push themselves upwards. Once potted, they require hardly any attention, only great care should be taken to keep the compost moist, but on no account must it be sodden or too wet.

If once allowed to become dry, even for half a day only, the pores of the roots close up and the bulbs in many cases go blind and are ruined. This happens more frequently with tulips than narcissus, the tulip roots being finer and, therefore, more liable to injury.

When the bulbs have been potted, vases or jars should be kept in a dark, airy cellar or room. Nothing is worse than a confined cupboard or a small, airless dark room.

When the bulbs have grown about two inches, they should be brought to daylight, and the vases or bowls can be placed in the window, taking care, of course, to keep them from frost.

Reliable Bulbs.
To succeed with bulbs it is necessary to begin right, by getting sound bulbs of good size, and we would warn intending purchasers against buying cheap, undersized bulbs and expect the fine results obtained from such as we offer. Our sources of supply are the best in this country and abroad, the leading growers of the world having for years supplied us with their choicest stock.

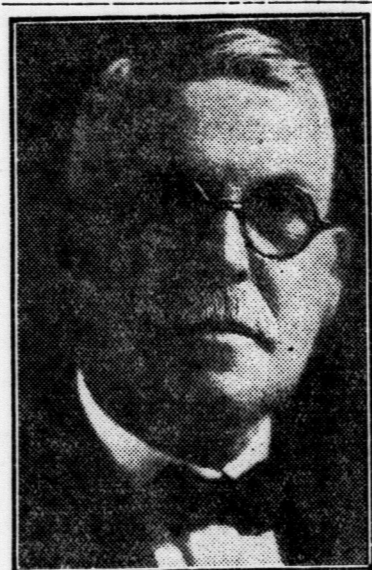

To the lover of flowers there is no class of plants so much prized as those which are produced from bulbs. The reason is easily found, because within the bulbs are stored all the future glory of leaves and flowers, only requiring the simplest culture to develop them in their highest perfection. Success is, therefore, the rule.

Another reason why bulbs are prized so highly is that a large number of them produce their flowers in the very early spring, when the rest of the nature is asleep. Then is that a clump of snowdrops, scillas or chionodoxas impart to the garden an air of warmth and cheer that cannot be accomplished in any other way. Following these modest flowers come the showier crocus, narcissus, hyacinths, tulips, etc., in all their dazzling colors, keeping up a continuous display well into the summer. With no other material can be secured such a wealth of charming flowers of infinite variety of form and coloring, with so little trouble and at so small an outlay.

Cultural Hints.
When to plant.—To the beginner we would emphasize the fact that autumn and not springtime is the time to plant all kinds of spring-flowering bulbs. Most of the bulbs offered in our catalogue are ready to ship by the second week in September, and the sooner they are planted after that the greater will be the measure of success, more particularly those for indoor culture; therefore, order in the catalogue, do not mature until October and November, and are forwarded as soon as ready.

Hyacinths in pots.—It is important in the pot culture of the hyacinth to have rich, light soil—if possible, a compost of one-third decayed turf, one-third old rotten cow manure, and the remainder equal parts of sharp sand and leaf mould. This compost should be made a few weeks before being used. If the bulbs are to be potted singly, pots five inches in diameter are the proper size. The soil should be of usual natural moisture, and should be pressed moderately firm. The filled pots may be placed in a cold frame where there is protection from frost, and well watered. An excellent plan is to place them on a bed of moist, sifted coal ashes, covering the pots to the depth of six inches with the same material. When well rooted, which will be in about six weeks, the bulbs may be brought indoors and forced. For the first two or three weeks they should be kept in a temperature not exceeding 50 degrees. Success in forcing depends much on their having strong roots before being brought to founder of Gammage & Sons, florist business, which now includes the finest florist shop in Canada at 101 Dundas street, also a retail shop in Windsor, and in London, the most extensive greenhouses and outdoor cultural beds in Western Ontario.

New Flower Store, Formally Opened, Among Finest In Dominion of Canada

J. G. GAMMAGE,

sales manager of Gammage & Sons, who says that persistent advertising, backed by conscientious service and good quality, have contributed much to their international success.

More Than 1,000,000 Bulbs Offered to Flower Lovers in Sale at Gammage Store

Best Varieties of Highest Grade Obtained From Best Growers—Sale Continues Till Monday, October 12.

Starting today and continuing till Monday, Oct. 12, J. Gammage & Sons, a leader among the flower shops of Canada is to conduct a mammoth sale of bulbs, in which more than 1,000,000 bulbs of many varieties will be offered to the public. The best varieties possible to secure have been obtained and there is not the slightest doubt of the quality, for the bulbs are the same as used at the great Gammage greenhouses to grow the flower lovers' headquarters in London and Western Ontario, but many sections of Canada.

The same personal service, which sends flowers any distance in the country under close supervision, is backing the big sale of bulbs. Every accommodation and every facility of the flower lovers' headquarters will be placed at the convenience of patrons.

A Long Row.
The sale is inspired by the fact that J. Gammage & Sons' new shop is being formally opened today and Saturday.

It is a fact that there are more than 1,000,000 bulbs in the various shipments. If these bulbs were taken and planted in a single row, a few inches apart, the row would start at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, gain its way to the London-Lambeth highway, and continue from Lambeth right to the village of Deauville, a distance of twenty miles. This sale is not only confined to the London store, but will be held simultaneously at the Windsor branch and at each of the 24 agencies in the London district. Elsewhere in today's edition of The Advertiser there is a full-page announcement of prices and the various bulbs offered. This announcement will be found in the windows of the stores and agents throughout the district, so that suburban residents may secure their allotment of bulbs without coming or writing to London.

Bulbs have been recognized as an excellent medium to beautify homes and places of business. In the vast assortment of Gammage bulbs (and every one of them is government tested before it reaches the consumer), are to be found daffodils, narcissus, Darwin tulips, hyacinths, Chinese sacred lilies, crocuses, snowdrops, chionodoxa and many others.

The Lily.
The Chinese sacred lily, sometimes called "Flower of the Gods," or "Soy Sin Far" or "Joss Flower," is a particularly interesting flower. It is most peculiar both in bloom and growth. The fact that it may be grown indoors in pot or water is an inducement to grow the lily and watch it develop. It is certain these bulbs, at the Gammage stores and agents, will be in great demand.

Depth of Bulbs Varies Greatly

To answer many inquiries regarding the planting of bulbs, J. Gammage & Sons give the following interesting information regarding the depth of planting. The figures given are for the depth from the top of the bulb to the surface of the soil: Snowdrop, two inches; crocus, two inches; anemone, one inch; lilies, five inches; narcissus, four inches; hyacinths and tulips, four inches; jonquils and colchicum and scilla, three inches.

Considering the quality of the bulbs which have been purchased, the prices at which they are offered to citizens of Western Ontario are most reasonable. It is confidently expected that this Gammage event will be the greatest in the history of the firm.

Protection may be afforded by covering the bulbs with straw or leaves to a depth of six or eight inches, which should be removed early in the spring. Hyacinths should be set six inches below the surface of the ground and six inches apart.

"Dutch Roman" Hyacinths.
The smaller or three-year-old bulbs of some varieties of Dutch hyacinths that are especially adapted, they may be had in flower from January on—thus succeeding the earlier French Romans. The bulbs may be placed very near together—say half an inch apart—requiring 10 to 12 bulbs for an 8-inch pan, or eight for a 7-inch pan or five bulbs for a 5-inch pot or pan. It is advisable to use but one variety in each bowl, pot or pan, to insure all being in flower at the same time. After potting, remove or store as directed for Roman hyacinths to make root growth, then bring in for flowering at intervals.

Tulips.
For bedding out.—The bed should be formed of a compost similar to that recommended for hyacinths; the bulbs should be planted about four inches apart and about five inches deep (close planting makes a much finer effect and prevents the flowers breaking off when swaying in the wind); they should then be covered with a litter shortly before the severe freezing weather sets in, and left in this condition until spring approaches.

For pot or pan culture.—Plant about four bulbs in a six-inch pot or five bulbs in a six-inch pan, water thoroughly, and then remove to the open ground or in a cold frame, covering with coal ashes; after they have rooted thoroughly they should be brought into a moderately cool room and gradually warmer; by bringing in a fresh supply from the outside every ten days, they can be had in bloom continually.

Modern Building on Dundas Street Houses Shop That Is Credit to City of London as well as to the Firm of J. Gammage & Sons.

The magnificent new flower shop of J. Gammage & Sons, in the Dundas building, Dundas street, is to be formally opened today and Saturday. The event is to be featured by one of the greatest merchandising events in the history of the company, when more than 1,000,000 bulbs will be placed on sale at prices that are ridiculously low. These bulbs are of the same high standard and same high quality as the company uses at their huge greenhouses near the corner of Oxford and Quebec streets. Full details of this gigantic sale are published today in Gammage's advertisement.

The new flower headquarters, which are just opposite Loew's theatre, have been inspected by hundreds of citizens of London and district already and everyone has paid the highest possible tribute to the firm, which has been serving the public of Western Ontario and many sections of Canada for more than half a century.

Scores of telegrams have been received from all parts of Canada and the United States complimenting the firm on this mark of progressiveness. That it is a mark of progressiveness need not be doubted. One has but to glance at the new store front to appreciate that fact, and if further proof is needed, then it may be secured by an inspection of the interior.

It may be truthfully stated that Gammage's new store is the finest example of a flower shop in Western Ontario. One is immediately impressed with the magnitude and magnificence of the premises. From the unique arrangement of the front windows, with their English plate glass and interlocked tile flooring, to the general offices at the rear, there has not been the slightest oversight in detail.

The floor, the walls, which are beautifully colored; the windows, which are plainly yet handsomely draped; the display of flowers, plants and ferns; the wealth of polychrome framed mirrors; the interesting tables of rare, hand-painted pottery, vases, candlesticks, etc., all work into a color scheme that is most effective.

The new flower shop is indeed something of which Londoners may be proud. J. Gammage & Sons, Limited, invite you to inspect the premises when you are downtown.

SPECIAL CHINESE SACRED LILIES

35c EACH—THREE FOR $1.00.

This is the Narcissus Orientals, and is variously called Soy Sin Far, Jose Flower, and Flower of the Gods. This may be grown in pots of soil, but it is more interesting and quite satisfactory in bowls partly filled with pebbles and water. As the roots develop they form a network about the pebbles, thus supporting the plant when in bloom. The flowers are mostly white, with yellow cups, and are very fragrant.

GROWING BULBS INDOORS

This is an activity that can provide a real and wholesome thrill for the home-lover during the dreary fall days and the winter months. Wherever such growing is done it proves popular, because the home gardener, whether child, man or woman, will be successful if they simply follow directions. Besides, the bulbs are inexpensive, as are the vessels in which to grow them, and the method is so easy that it provides a pastime for children, as well as for their parents.

HINTS ON HOME PRESERVING

By Ann Proctor.
We are always glad to hear of something new I am going to give you the recipe of a most delicious relish for meats, which I tried for the first time a few days ago and can highly recommend.
Discard the seeds of, and grind quite fine, about one dozen medium-sized green peppers, putting them through the grinder twice. Drain off through the juice and pack two cups solid with the ground peppers, using just enough juice to flood the cups. Discard balance of juice. Put level in a large kettle, add 6 1/2 level cups of sugar and 1 1/2 cups cider vinegar. Mix well and bring to hard boil. Set aside where it can keep hot for 20 minutes. Bring again to a full rolling boil and boil for two minutes, remove from fire and stir in one bottle of concentrated fruit pectin. Skim and stir repeatedly for just five minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Then pour quickly and seal hot. This relish sometimes takes a week to come to a full set.
I find the use of concentrated fruit pectin such a help in jam and jelly making at all seasons of the year. Peach jam made this way is simply delicious as the short boil retains the full flavor of the fruit.

less time, keep charm under trying hygienic conditions this new way

OLD-TIME sanitary methods bring unhappy, fretful days. Now the insecurity of the hazardous "sanitary pad" has been ended.

You wear sheerest gowns, meet every and all social or business engagements in peace of mind... any time, any day.

It is called "KOTEX"... five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

Thoroughly deodorizes... thus ending ALL fear of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy simply by saying "KOTEX" at any drug or department store. Costs only a few cents. Proves risky old ways a folly.

DOMINION BOARD TO CONVENE HERE

Anglican W. A. Will Hold 1926 Annual Convention in London.

The Dominion board of the Anglican Women's auxiliary will hold its annual meeting in this city in 1926. This will be the first time in nearly 20 years that such an honor has come to the church women of this city.

The interesting news was brought back by Mrs. David Williams, honorary president of the Huron diocesan branch of the W. A., from the 1925 Dominion board meeting held in Vancouver in September.

It is expected that some 250 women will attend the sessions and the hospitality of the women of the city will do much to make the meeting, which will probably be held in September, a success.

A competition of an unusual nature was one of the new plans adopted by the Dominion. This is for the making of layettes. After the competition these will be of use for the ladies of the missions and it was thought that competition would encourage an interest in homemaking among the girls.

Reports of the Dominion board meeting will form an interesting part of the program for the Huron diocesan semi-annual meeting, which is to take place at Stratford on Oct. 20. Mr. V. C. Spencer of Japan will be the chief missionary speaker.

WHAT IS EVAPORATED MILK?
While the use of evaporated milk is general all over Canada, occasionally the query is made, "What is evaporated milk?" Evaporated milk is the milk from which part of the water has been removed by evaporation. (Fresh milk is 87 per cent water.) Nothing is added to it. Nothing but water is taken from it. This concentration makes it more than twice as rich as ordinary milk. After it is thus concentrated it is placed in airtight containers, sterilized and marketed by the grocer, the manufacturer putting his brand on it, as Borden's St. Charles Milk, for example. Milk comes from the cow, is exposed to bacterial contamination. In the course of time the numbers of such bacteria increase and their action on the milk makes it sour. Evaporated milk is concentrated at plants in the country within a few hours after it is taken from the cow. When milk comes to the factory, after operating large condensaries at such dairy centers as Truro, N.S., Ingersoll and Norwich, Ontario, and Summers, B.C., the milk is put into airtight containers and sterilized. By sterilization all bacteria are destroyed. The attack of such bacteria is absolutely stopped. No further bacteria can get into it. The sealed container brings it to the consumer as fresh and sweet as when it came from the cow. When milk is taken from the can and put into a cooler place, will then keep sweet much longer after opening than bottled milk after it is delivered to the home.

There will also be an executive meeting on Monday.

The Wright union in South London is to be represented by Mrs. R. P. Taylor of Windsor avenue, who has been asked to accept the presidency of this union left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Gordon Wright.

Representatives from the Central union will be Mrs. May R. Thornley, Provincial president of the Ontario Provincial W. C. T. U.; Mrs. H. W. Paddell, president of the Central union; Mrs. Lottie McAllister, editor of White Ribbon Tidings; Mrs. Delia Cram, depository superintendent; Mrs. T. T. George, provincial organizer, and Mrs. Flora York Miller, who is to be one of the speakers. Mrs. Mary Hawken, president of the Ward Three union, will be in attendance at the session, and Mrs. Thompson of Watford will join the London delegates, who are leaving on Monday morning. Mrs. Thornley has already left for the convention.

Wallaceburg, Oct. 1.—On Wednesday afternoon local police officers were summoned to the Central bridge under which it was believed there was an "infernal machine" carefully secluded in an old suitcase, and which could be plainly heard to be ticking away merrily. The two officers in question, went cautiously to the scene, carrying with them an abnormal amount of courage, upon any interference with the "bomb." After due consideration and with an abnormal amount of courage, one of the officers opened the suitcase, and exposed to the view of the lookers on, who remained at a distance, an old alarm clock which had refused to stop ticking after being precipitated to the depths. It is presumed that during the removal of the household belongings from the Tecumseh Hotel close by, and which case just changed hands, the suitcase containing the old clock together with other rubbish, had been thrown over the bridge.

Don't risk another failure with your Jams and Jellies

There is no reason today for holding your breath while you wait to see if your jam or jelly is going to set.

When you use Certo there is not the slightest chance of failure.

For Certo is itself the element that makes fruit-jell—taken from the fruits that are richest in it. Some fruits never have this jellifying property; in all fruits it grows less as they ripen. So you've often had bad luck before with fully ripe fruit.

But good luck is sure every time when you add Certo. You can use the luscious ripe fruits now.

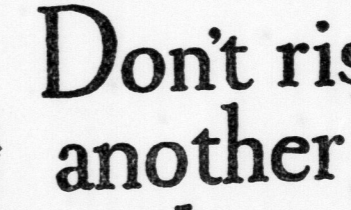

And you only need to boil the fruit one minute. Think how much time Certo saves you.

Think how much fruit juice it saves you, too, that used to boil away during the long old-fashioned "boiling down." With Certo you make half again as many glasses from your fruit.

QUEEN APPROVES SCOTCH PLAIDS

Princess Mary Also Wore One of These Skirts Recently.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Oct. 1.—Scotch plaids are in vogue in Scotland. Queen Mary and Princess Mary gave them a boom at a recent gathering at Balmoral Castle at Braemar by appearing in tartan skirts.

Now the "black watch" tartan and the black and white shepherd's plaid, which are neutral in tone, are in special demand. Skirts made from the plaids are closely pleated at the waist, which are neutral in tone, are wrapped and fastened on the right side with large gold or silver kilt pins. These add a smart touch to the garment. Both the Queen and the Princess wore skirts which fell almost to their ankles. They also wore wooden stockings.

LONDON DRAMA LEAGUE WILL OPEN SEASON THIS MONTH

Miss Lorna Rumball and Basil Morgan To Present Initial Plays.

TALENTED CASTS The coming season of the London Drama League promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of the organization.

Plans for a number of evenings throughout the fall, winter and early spring months have been arranged by the production committee under Kenneth Greene, and are well under way.

The first program will be given in Warner hall some time this month, when Miss Lorna Rumball will produce Clare Kummer's charming one-act comedy, "The Robbery," with a carefully chosen cast, including Miss Miriam Eckert, Reg. R. Faryon, Mrs. E. Seaborn and Dr. Seaborn.

Miss Rumball is a graduate of the Emerson school of oratory, Boston, one of the greatest schools of dramatic expression on the continent.

Last spring at the graduation exercises, Miss Rumball played the title role in the graduation play, which was a distinct tribute to her histrionic ability. Miss Miriam Eckert, who presented in "The Robbery," is also a 1925 graduate of the Emerson school of oratory, and has remarkable dramatic ability.

On the same evening "From Their Own Place," a clever one-act backwoods comedy from the pen of one of Canada's most talented playwrights, Merrill Dennison, will be presented under the direction of Basil G. Morgan.

Besides directing, Mr. Morgan is

WALTER C. HOLT, who plays the comedy role of Wise-Crackin' McCracken, a New York tough, in the I. O. D. E. production, Marcheta.

By and By Feathers Begin To Show On the Buzzard Babies' Little Wings

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

You may be sure that it wasn't long before all the Green Forest folk knew about the babies in the hollow stump. Of course Peter Rabbit told every one he met, and of course the one who was told told some one else. Of Mrs. Buzzard didn't mind, for she was no longer trying to keep it a secret. She couldn't have kept it a secret if she had wanted to, now that those babies had to be fed. There had to be constant coming and going. Of course everybody who could visit the hollow stump for a peep at those babies. Of Mrs. Buzzard was too proud for words. According to her they were the finest, handsomest babies that ever had lived. She was quite truthful about it. She really believed it. That was because she was their mother.

"Hump!" exclaimed Sammy Jay, "if they take after their father, and mother they certainly are no beauties. I'll have to have a look at them."

So Sammy Jay flew over as fast as his blue and white wings could carry him to a tree from which he could look down into the hollow stump. Mrs. Buzzard was standing on the edge of the stump. "Did you ever see such darlings?" she asked. "Handsome!" he gasped. "Handsome!" she asked. "To think that any one should call those fuzzy creatures handsome. I have seen some ugly looking babies in my time, but none to equal these."

Sammy peered down in. Then he began to laugh. He laughed and laughed and laughed. He laughed so heartily he nearly fell from his perch. "Handsome!" he gasped. "Handsome!" she asked. "To think that any one should call those fuzzy creatures handsome. I have seen some ugly looking babies in my time, but none to equal these."

Sammy Peered Down In.

The worst of it was every one else who saw those babies agreed with Sammy Jay, and soon the word had gone through the Green Forest that never had there been two such homely babies in it. They were homely babies. But for that matter the babies of most of the feathered folk are homely when they are very little. Very few tiny babies of the feathered folk are pretty like the babies of Mrs. Bob White and Mrs. Grouse. These two Buzzard babies were covered with down, which is more than could be said for some other bird babies. For instance, take the babies of Rattles the Kingfisher. When they are hatched there isn't a feather nor a particle of down on them, and really they are much uglier and homelier looking than were these buzzard babies.

The down covered them all over, even their heads. It covered their funny little wings. Could you have seen them and not known who their parents were, you never, never would have guessed that those funny little wings ever could be among the most wonderful wings in all the Great World. They certainly didn't look it then. They didn't give the least hint of what they would be by and by.

Those hollow tree babies grew as only hungry young babies can grow. Where their parents managed to find enough food for them was a mystery. After the first curiosity was satisfied there were few visitors to the big hollow stump. You see, Of Mistah Buzzard and Mrs. Buzzard are really vultures, and live altogether on dead food. They do not catch other birds or animals. That is one reason why they are not feared by their neighbors. But the food they eat disgusts most of their neighbors, and so all of these kept away from the hollow tree. This suited Mistah and Mrs. Buzzard. There was nothing to disturb their growing youngsters.

By and by the first feathers appeared and they appeared on those funny little wings. My, how they grew! Mrs. Buzzard was of those first feathers! The youngsters grew bigger and bigger and presently their wings were all feathered out, while their bodies were still covered with down. Even when they were big enough to take their first lessons in flying, which consisted in flapping heavily up into a tree, they still wore a great deal of down. It covered their heads. They certainly were no beauties, to say the least, but Of Mistah Buzzard thought they were, and Mrs. Buzzard thought they were, so perhaps after all they were. You know, so much depends on the point of view.

RIFIFIAN APPEAL TO U. S. FOR ACTION TO END WAR LIKELY TO GO UNHEEDED

Official Washington Opposed To Intervention in French-African War.

REBUFF IS FEARED

Senator Borah Raises Lone Voice On Behalf of Tribes.

Special to The Advertiser. (Copyright, 1925, by the New York World and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Washington, Oct. 1.—A Riff appeal for peace intervention by America occupied the attention of official Washington today. Senator Borah vigorously seconded the Riff proposal. The administration urged that France would resent any official American overtures. It is the Riff war was taking French money which should be applied to war debts.

Will Take No Risks. The Riff peace appeal, coming from Hadj Mohammed, commander-in-chief of the Riff armies Tuesday in the Riff peace appeal, was met by the special correspondent of the Riff and North American. Newspaper alliance deeply impressed administration authorities, including President Coolidge. The officials take the position, however, that France would rebuff any American overtures to act as intermediary, and the administration is unwilling to risk rejection of its good offices.

Senator Borah would advance the thing, notwithstanding, offering of peace, but the record should not be made clear, with the United States committed to the cause of peace and France, if she so decides, in record as refusing the overtures to that end.

Domestic Question. The administration assumes France could protest that the Riffian trouble is purely a domestic question, in which outside powers have no right to meddle. Senator Borah alluded, in discussing the subject, to the French and British suggestions for mediation during the American Riff war and this government's reply that it was a domestic issue. He regards, however, the Riff uprising as no parallel, but believes France would insist the question at stake here is that of administering a subject province.

It is a singularly pathetic, a tragic thing, that neutral nations are prevented from lifting a voice in behalf of peace in the case of the Riffians. He said, "As I understand Riffians, these people have never been conquered and are fighting now for their lives and their liberty. France is spending a million dollars a day in this campaign, and very likely will sink two or three hundred millions before she is through trying to subdue the Riffians."

CAPITAL IS BURNING.

Associated Press Despatch. Madrid, Oct. 1.—Aldir, Abd-el-Krim's capital in Spanish Morocco, is a few miles from Alhucemas Bay, is in flames, but whether set afire by the much beset Riffians themselves or by shells from the Spanish guns, is not known here. General Primo de Rivera, aboard the dreadnought Alfonso XIII, by the Alhucemas coast, sent by radio the fact that Aldir was burning. It was against this stronghold that the Spanish advance in the past few days has been directed.

OTTAWA TO BE SCENE OF PARLIAMENT UNION

Sessions of Members Moves Over To Canada On October 13.

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Oct. 1.—The Canadian house of commons will, on Tuesday, Oct. 13, be the scene of the Canadian session of the inter-parliamentary union, which is at present in Washington. Local arrangements are in charge of Senator K. A. Belcourt, who has been selected as head of the Canadian session, and who is at present in Washington.

On Tuesday evening the delegates will be the guests of the dominion government at a dinner at the Chateau Laurier, at which the prime minister, the leader of the opposition and other distinguished members of the federal parliament will probably be in attendance.

The delegates arrive in Ottawa at 11 p.m. on Monday from Toronto. On the following day, Tuesday, Oct. 13, they will commence their sessions in the house of commons, at 1 o'clock the following morning they intrain for Montreal.

In Last Stages of Tuberculosis, Punished For Killing Traitor.

Associated Press Despatch. Vienna, Oct. 1.—Mencia Carnicini, a Macedonian girl, was found guilty today of the murder of Todor Panizza, an alleged Balkan desperado. She was sentenced to eight years imprisonment, with a fast day in a dark cell on every May 8, the anniversary of the day she shot Panizza. The girl, who is in the last stages of consumption, was put on trial yesterday. She killed Panizza at a performance of "Peer Gynt" at the National theatre in Vienna, and declared she committed the deed because she considered it a patriotic act to kill a traitor to the country.

THIEVES SECURE MILLION IN GEMS

Mrs. Woolworth Donahue Suite at Fashionable Hotel Robbed.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Oct. 1.—Jewelry valued at $1,000,000, including two pearl necklaces valued at $700,000, and other jewelry valued at from $50,000 to $100,000, were stolen yesterday from Mrs. James P. Donahue, daughter of the late Frank W. Woolworth, who with her two sisters, inherited his $50,000,000 estate, while she was in her suite in the Plaza Hotel.

Entrance was gained into Mrs. Donahue's room, where she had placed the gems in a drawer of her dressing table, either while she was in her bath late yesterday, or during the time that she took her afternoon nap until 7 p.m.

Keys left dangling in the door furnished a means of entrance. Police found two strings of imitation pearls, valued at about $100, which had been placed in the drawer as substitutes. The robbery apparently was deliberately planned after a careful study of Mrs. Donahue's movements, they said.

One of the pearl necklaces was valued at $450,000, and the other at $250,000. A marquise diamond ring, a diamond brooch, and a solid gold vanity case were among the other valuables taken. All were covered by insurance.

Three servants of the family were closely questioned. There were no arrests.

Mr. and Mrs. Donahue were living at the Plaza while their uptown home was being renovated. They had recently returned from Europe, where Mrs. Donahue was reported to have been a notable figure at the roulette tables in Monte Carlo.

Entering her bedroom after her afternoon automobile ride yesterday Mrs. Donahue put her jewelry in a case in the dressing table drawer and entered a bath prepared by her maid. She remained there about fifteen minutes. After this she had a treatment by her masseuse, and then went to sleep. She discovered the loss when she prepared to dress for dinner.

Following the discovery and investigation by hotel detectives the police were called. Mrs. Donahue left for her country home at Glen Cove, L.I., with her two sons.

Two other diamond robberies of smaller magnitude were reported to police today.

LONE ROBBER HOLDS UP PASSENGER TRAIN

Probably Fatally Wounded When Attempting To Escape.

Associated Press Despatch. Omaha, Neb., Oct. 1.—A one-man robbery, the second within 24 hours, ended in the probable fatal shooting of the participant as he alighted from the observation car of a Union Pacific passenger train as it was entering the city here tonight.

After holding up passengers in the observation car, the man swung from the platform and was fired upon by a special agent. He was shot through the head and leg. The man was rushed to a hospital in a serious condition. Only a small amount of money was taken from the passengers.

PRESS ADVOCATES TRADE IN EMPIRE

London Editor Asks Information On Colonial Opportunities For Emigrants.

Associated Press Despatch. Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 1.—The encouragement of inter-empire trade was laid down by a resolution passed by the Imperial press conference here today as the avowed policy of the whole imperial press.

The resolution was moved by Major The Hon. J. J. Astor, chairman of the Times Publishing Company, London, who said that the appointment of an Australian liaison officer in London was an excellent step but in his opinion it did not go far enough. The British foreign office should take a larger part in the creation of better inter-imperial diplomatic machinery would lead to greater results than had already been achieved in inter-empire development.

With regard to Empire preference, Major Astor expressed the belief that public opinion in Great Britain would continue to move towards the Dominion's point of view, but preference was not the only thing needed—better trade organization and goodwill were also necessary.

The formation of a sub-committee to consider the subject of the promotion of the Empire trade was agreed to by the conference.

Lord Apsley, M.P., of the Morning Post, London, moved a resolution, which was carried, calling for the publication of accurate information as to the opportunities of emigrants to the Dominions. Lord Apsley said he would like to see an improvement in the conditions for the reception of immigrants, who, he said, must be fit and willing to work and determined to succeed. "Nearly all the failures among immigrants," he said, "are due to physical infirmity."

It was resolved to hold the next imperial conference in London in 1930.

Judge Declares the Boy of Today Better Despite Emily Murphy's Claim

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Judge J. B. Harkness, of Winnipeg, who is at the Child Welfare Conference here, today repudiated Judge Emily Murphy's statement that juvenile delinquency was increasing in Canada.

"All this alarmist talk about the increase of delinquency is based upon figures that are absolutely misleading," said Judge Harkness. "I am thoroughly satisfied that actual serious delinquency is on the decrease. The superintendents of our detention homes say that they do not get the class of boy they used to get in the days when repression and discipline were looked upon as the right corrective measures. Nowadays parents bring their children to the court for aid in making good citizens of them. I could not call many of these cases delinquencies."

Judge Harkness commented that Judge Murphy's work was among girls, and remarked that the judges for boys would not agree with Mrs. Murphy's deductions.

FORMER TORY MINISTER REFUSES NOMINATION

Canadian Press Despatch. Halifax, N.S., Oct. 1.—Hon. F. B. McCurdy, former minister of public works in the Meighen administration, has decided to decline the nomination to stand as independent candidate in Colchester, with Liberal endorsement. Mr. McCurdy's reasons outlined in two statements handed to the press tonight, indicate unwillingness to present himself as independent since his party had not named him at their convention. He felt, he says, that to accept independent nomination would be interpreted by the Conservative party as an act of reprisal.

URGES TEACHING OF CITIZENSHIP

F. F. Macpherson Explains How Ideal To Be Taught Rural Pupils.

Citizenship and how it can best be taught to rural school pupils, was the subject of an inspiring informative and thoughtful address by F. F. Macpherson of Hamilton Normal school to the East Middlesex school teachers gathered in convention at the Normal school last night. The convention, attended yesterday morning at the courthouse, and will continue with morning and afternoon sessions today.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Macpherson pointed out that there were two sides to the question of citizenship, spirit and the machinery of government. The spirit of citizenship depended on the right attitude of the community, the speaker declared, pointing out that as a citizen one had responsibilities as well as claims.

Citizenship Explained.
"Citizenship means living together in a community, and that is usually included under the idea of service," said Mr. Macpherson. "It is more difficult to instill this into children than it is to teach the machinery of government, such as elections and how they are held."
"We owe service to our community, and it is important to make children realize that we owe all we know to our forefathers."
"Kant's test of conduct is another ideal of citizenship. This ideal is, 'It is wrong for an individual to do that which if done by all would destroy the state.' This applies to people who evade taxes, smuggle and make false returns to the government. If we all did that the community would be bound to suffer."
Duty To Vote.
"Rights and privileges imply duties and responsibilities," continued Mr. Macpherson. "One duty is voting on election day. It is a poor commentary on citizenship when only 50 per cent of the voters exercise their franchise. The ballot was won by our forefathers with a good deal of suffering and sometimes loss of life. It is unthinkable we should underestimate the ballot, and the children should be taught that it is one of their great privileges on attaining their majority. It is difficult to instill this into children—they dislike the abstract, but they can't learn citizenship by reading or through lectures."
"It has to be done in a concrete way, through school activities, such as games and sports," said Mr. Macpherson, who went on to point out that through school gardens children could be taught respect for other people's property.

Attractive school premises, in which the children could take a pride, helped along the idea of citizenship, as well as school fairs, societies, concerts.

Need Responsibility.
"Give the children as much responsibility as they can carry. Give them things into their charge. They will not look upon them as tasks, but as an honor," advised the Hamilton authority.

School conduct was another point emphasized by Mr. Macpherson, who stated that obedience to law in a free country does not and cannot depend on force, but a law-abiding spirit.
"It is a good thing to put pupils on their honor," he said. "It provides training and self-control."

During the evening, several readings, greatly appreciated, were given by Miss Ruth Tanner, while Miss Gladys McEvoy, soloist, delighted with several songs.

Over 125 teachers were present when the president, W. G. Rigney, opened the convention at 10:30 yesterday morning. The reading of the minutes was followed by a stirring address by Rev. H. B. Storey, who spoke on the relationship of the school and church.

President W. G. Rigney, S. S. No. 22, London, after welcoming the teachers to the convention, which he knew would be fraught with much good, spoke on the human elements in education, declaring that the outstanding characteristics of present day education is the application of scientific methods to the study of educational problems.

A Modern Conception.
Individuals differed as much intellectually as they do physically, Mr. Rigney declared. Modern educators were no longer satisfied with the medieval conception which insisted that the function of education was to develop the individual to the highest capacities of which he was capable.

People must be educated into and not out of the era in which they were to function.
"The ultimate aims of education cannot be formulated in terms of subject matter," said the president. "An educated man must, first of all, use his own language precisely and accurately and to some extent, gracefully."
"Whatever else an education does or fails to do for the Canadian boy or girl, it ought certainly to inculcate in him and her a respect for this wonderful heritage of ours, the mother tongue."
"An educated man is one who gets the facts, and he reaches no conclusions till he gets them. He is also a gentleman, and properly respectful of the rights, liberties and privileges of others."
"The educated man has trained himself for some useful service, and will be a credit to society and himself," said President Rigney in conclusion.

Afternoon Speakers.
Yesterday afternoon F. F. Macpherson, B.A., addressed the teachers on "Correlation as a Time-Saver." His address was followed by a paper given by Miss Wanless Evans on the use of pictures in the classroom.
S. B. McCready, B.A., spoke on the Junior Red Cross, and Miss Elsie Ferguson on nature study.

WINDSOR MAN LOSES SIGHT OF RIGHT EYE IN ACCIDENT
Windsor, Oct. 1.—A. Adair Smith, manager of the D. M. Ferry Seed Co. of Windsor, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident on Riverside Drive, Tecumseh, Tuesday evening, has lost the sight of his right eye, authorities at Hotel Dieu stated today.

John R. Boyde, 888 Ouellette avenue, driver of the automobile in which Mr. Smith was riding, is still confined to his home, but is making rapid recovery.

ROMANOV DOUBTS FIND OF RAPHAEL MASTERPIECE

By JUNIUS B. WOOD. Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright. Moscow, Oct. 1.—Doubt that the faded painting discovered in a little Ural village is the missing Raphael masterpiece, the "Madonna del Popolo," has been expressed by Professor Nicolai Romanov, one of the six experts now examining the painting here. Professor Romanov concedes that the faces of the Madonna and child were painted by Raphael, but contends that the clothing of the subjects was painted by one of Raphael's pupils.

TENTATIVE PLANS PREVENT FAILURE

Frail Formula Thrust Into Breach To Check Complete Collapse.

Associated Press Despatch. Washington, Oct. 1.—The frail formula of a tentative arrangement, which must be ratified by the French government, today was thrust into the breach to prevent complete collapse of the Franco-United States debt funding negotiations.

Thus, one week after Finance Minister Caillaux and his associates had laid down the first French proposal for funding their government's four billion dollar war debt, they departed for Paris, taking with them a document intended only to fill the gap sufficiently to assure continuity of negotiations, even at long range.
The arrangement proposed by the United States debt commission as a final move to overcome what appeared to be insurmountable difficulties would have France pay an annuity of forty million dollars a year for five years, and would enable the two governments to continue consideration of a program of final settlement to succeed the proposed temporary pact at its expiration. Further, it concedes that the annuity thus paid shall be in lieu of all interest on the debt during the time it shall run, or an interest charge of approximately one per cent a year.

M. Caillaux gave United States commissioners the hope that he believed the French government would plenipotentiary, inasmuch as he had been entrusted by his government, he said, to sign only a final settlement, and he questioned his own right to act on an arrangement of a provisional character.

WOMEN WHO LOOK OLD

In many cases they are not old in years, but because they are overworked, over-tired, nervous and run-down, ailments have developed peculiar to their sex and this condition makes them look years older than they actually are. Such women should consider the remarkable record held by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a recent canvass among over one hundred and twenty-one thousand women who had used it, ninety-eight out of every one hundred women reported benefit from its use.—Adv.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Liverpool, England, Oct. 1.—
One of the speakers at the Labor party conference being held here declared that the British empire must be smashed if the condition of the workers was to be improved.
James Sexton, M. P. for St.
Helens, the dockers' leader, ironically retorted that those young men who were demanding the abolition of the capitalist system and the monarchy, and who wanted an international republic, self-determination, and a bloody revolution and birth control, had contributed to all these movements the magnificent sum of 39 shillings.

THE HERB JUICE MAN REACHES LONDON

FIRST 50 PERSONS TO GET FREE TREATMENT ON SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3.

It will, no doubt, be of vital interest to all sufferers, as well as the public in general, to know that the Herb Juice man has arrived in this city, introducing a most remarkable product of nature, known as Herb Juice, which is prepared into liquid from herbs, roots, barks and berries that are placed on earth for the healing of all mankind. The Herb Juice man's supposition, based on the re-man's supposition, is that many of the diseases and sufferings now prevalent in this section are caused by an accumulation of poisonous waste materials in the body, due to stomach diseases, imperfect digestion, causing liver and kidney trouble and many other ailments, and that nine out of ten of these diseases are directly attributable to lack of the digestive organs to properly function, which is a more serious cause of illness than most of us realize. If the eliminating organs are working properly, the food is converted into rich blood. If they are not working properly, the fermented mass generates poison that is absorbed into the blood. Good health, therefore, depends largely upon the vigorous, harmonious, healthy action of all organs that assist in ridding the body of poisonous waste. He states that Herb Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, acts on the organs of elimination—not on the bowels alone. It helps to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels, and stimulates these organs to more vigorous activity in a mild, gentle, natural way without discomfort or disturbance, and the only after effect is glorious relief and benefit.

FIFTY BOTTLES TO BE GIVEN AWAY ON SATURDAY.
The representative from the Herb Juice Laboratories has established headquarters at STRONG'S DRUG STORE, DUNDAS STREET, where he will meet the local public daily between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon, and 2 p.m. and 5 p.m., for the purpose of explaining the merits of Herb Juice and how to get the best possible results from its use.—Adv't.

North Riding.

LONDON MAY RETIRE

Dr. Hall of Walkerton Has Good Chance of Winning South.

Special to The Advertiser, by a Staff Reporter.

Port Elgin, Oct. 1.—Bruce county has three-cornered contests in each of its two ridings in the general elections on October 29. It was assumed for some days that the Progressives would not put up a man in the North riding, but at a second convention, after two had declined to accept the nomination, Nathan Landon, former reeve of Eastnor township, in the Bruce peninsula, was chosen. The action taken at this convention of the Progressives was a surprise even to the farmers themselves, who had given up hope of taking any action.
Mr. Landon, it is believed, may yet drop out, as he promised to contest the seat only on condition that he be provided with $1,000 campaign expenses. The amount may not be forthcoming, and if it isn't Mr. Landon will probably drop from the race.
In any event, he has no possible chance of being a winner, and will take votes from James Malcolm, the Liberal candidate, or Hugh Clarke, the Conservative. Local politicians differ as to whom Mr. Landon's conservative former ally will vote.
Conservative formerly, and lives in a portion of the riding which had Conservative tendencies before the advent of the farmers' movement. He is unknown in the southern portion of the riding, where the big Liberal vote is cast.

Three In S. Bruce.

S. Bruce has had three men in the field for some weeks. Dr. Hall of Walkerton is making his debut in politics. Fred Lippert, Conservative, also of Walkerton, was defeated when he ran for the legislature in the last elections. J. E. Findlay, the Progressive candidate, represented South Bruce in the last parliament.
The Progressives, however, in South Bruce have been losing strength, and it would not be surprising to see Mr.
Findlay defeated this election with the candidates of the two old parties fighting it out for first place. Dr.
Hall is very popular, and particularly strong in the rural parts around Walkerton. He is an active campaigner, and local Liberals are confident of his success.
James Malcolm, who represented
North Bruce in the Liberal interests in the last house, has made rather a spectacular record in politics for one with only four years' active service at Ottawa. He has been chief Ontario whip and prominent in the councils of the party. At various times he has been mentioned prominently for the cabinet, and is without doubt a probable minister if he chooses to accept further responsibilities than those of a private member. Mr. Malcolm is a manufacturer who regards the King tariff policy as best adapted for all the various interests of Canada.

Col. Hugh Clarke is an old timer in Bruce county politics, having represented Bruce ridings at both Ottawa and Toronto. During the Union government regime he held the under-secretaryship. His coming out and his surprise to Bruce people, who understood that he had quit public life for good. However, he was the only man available in the Conservative party in the riding who could even make a good showing, let alone have a chance of winning. The Conservatives haven't another man in the riding who could hope to get within 1,000 votes of the Liberal.

Have False Hopes.

His party had made considerable headway in the riding. H. H. Stevens of Port Elgin and W. Mitchell of Kincardine, both former Liberals, coming into the race after having been offered the nomination. Both knew they didn't have a chance. The choice of Mr.
Landon was a last-minute thought.
At the same time as the Bruce Progressives were putting a man in the field, the Liberals in the bordering riding of North Grey were declining to put a Liberal up, and were planning to support the Progressive candidate, Col. D. Carmichael.

Col. Clarke Was Third.

In the last election, Col. Clarke was a bad third in North Bruce, the vote standing: Malcolm (Liberal), 4,178;
Stacey (Progressive), 3,074; Clark (Conservative), 2,553. Col. Clarke represented the riding from 1911, when he won by 82, until the last elections.

The seat was previously Liberal, having been held by the late John Tominic. South Bruce in the last election went strongly Progressive, the vote being as follows: Findlay (Progressive), 4,752; Truss (Liberal), 3,849; Purvis (Conservative), 2,232. It will be seen that the anti-Conservative vote was overwhelming, and Mr.
Lippert has a tremendous task to reduce it.
Few public meetings have yet been held in the county, but they will be started next week. It is expected that some of the leading men of all the parties will be visitors before the campaign is finished.
