MANY CHANGES SCHEDULED IN THE BRITISH CABINET

Devonshire, Lansdowne, Chamberlain, Selbourne and Londonderry Retain Present Portfolios—Other Changes.

London, July 18.—The Duke of Devonshire, President of the Council; the Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs; Jas. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary; the Earl of Selbourne, First Lord of the Admiralty, and the Marquis of Londonderry, Postmaster-General, it is understood, have consented to retain their present portfolios in the new Cabinet.
Lord Geo. Hamilton, Secretary of State for India; C. T. Ritchie, the Home Secretary; R. W. Hanbury, President of the Board of Agriculture; W. St. John Brodrik, Secretary of State for War; Akers Douglas, First Commissioner of Works, and Walter Long, President of the Local Government Board, will remain in the Cabinet, but their portfolios may be changed.
George Wyndham will remain Chief Secretary for Ireland, but with a seat and having no seat in the Cabinet, and being rather a social representative of the Sovereign than a political representative of the Government.

THE WONDER OF THE AGE

Forepaugh and Sells Brothers Big Show With us To-day.

The Rain Had Little Effect on the Great Circus—Every Body Delighted.

The Forepaugh-Sells Bros. circus arrived here early this morning. The rain neither prevented the circus men from turning out and getting to work nor the usual army of small boys from being on hand to see just how the cars are unloaded and the big show put under canvas. Notwithstanding the manner in which the weather man industriously sought to wet down everything and lay the dust, the great Forepaugh-Sells combination unloaded with clock-like precision and almost on schedule time the parade left the grounds and gratified the thousands from all over the country who sheltered beneath buildings and under umbrellas expectantly waited.

The parade was very long and despite the curtailments occasioned by the rain, gave every satisfaction. There was one notable feature and that was the perfect cleanliness. Whether it was rider, horse, or great show wagon all looked as if they had but been turned out of the proverbial band-box.
It was one long, bright pageant of magnificence in the way of horse-flesh, gorgeously decorated wagons, gay costumes and musical organizations. The procession was a mile and a half in length. The horses were a fine lot, well groomed and excellently matched. The parade was headed by a drum and bugle corps, followed by a mounted escort of the different armies of the United States since revolutionary days. First of all came the Continentals, and last of the troops the Rough Riders. These, and in fact all the uniformed participants of the parade were neatly and attractively costumed, evidencing the high order of the show. One of the interesting features of the parade was the big herd of elephants, several of which were of ponderous size. Not very many of the curiosities of the menagerie were revealed in the procession, but just enough to indicate that the show of animals is one of the finest in captivity. Three magnificent lions were in view in a cage and one mighty fellow regaled himself on top of his cage. The latter was a veritable giant of his kind. In another cage two fierce tigers glared from behind the bars, and three leopards, with the alertness and slyness of their kind, seemed ready to spring from their cages. Several hungry looking hyenas completed the line of open cages. The music of the bands was of a high order, superior to most circus bands, and the clown band probably carried off the cake for the wildest looking aggregation that has struck town for many moons. Interesting features of the turn-out were the chariots with their four-in-hands, skilfully handled by neatly attired and comely women. The procession was unquestionably a fine one and fully vindicated the anticipation of the immense crowd that watched it.

The circus from first to last furnished amusement. There wasn't a dull moment, and what you didn't find in the side show you found in the big tent.

In the big tent you saw all the daring and wonderful acrobatic feats. The sensational feature of the show is, of course, the act of Diavolo, the looping of the loop. The press agents have given us the time, and even the number of dollars the great Diavolo earns a second. This feature is the climax of a feature show. When Diavolo wakes up his narrow strip of boarding to the platform and pauses before his descent the crowd naturally holds its breath. It is a thrilling moment, but the moment he begins to glide gracefully down the run prior to taking the loop everybody is assured that the performer is going to accomplish the feat with the least of the slightest trouble. The eye follows the descent with ease, and the turn within the limited circle appears to occupy several seconds. Of course, the space of time in which the performer is riding within the top of the rim, like a fly on a ceiling, is but the narrowest portion of the act. The slide down the rim is accomplished with the greatest ease. The cycle whirl is as risky, apparently, as the looping of the loop, four or five experts turning round the circle at one time. The structure on which the cyclists revolve resembles a picket fence inclined at an angle of nearly 75 degrees. The performance is the act of Minting. He rides on one wheel up and down a spiral tower.
Zouaves, a company of trained men, give a drill which for precision and grace of movement it would be hard to excel. They also scale a wall in remarkably quick time.
Among the acrobats, who are numerous, are the ten Potters. Their aerial act is immense.
The menagerie is well stocked with rare specimens of the forest and jungle, and there are the usual side show features and the after minstrel show, which help to bring the circus to lay up for their winter's keep.

Archie McKishnie was fishing at the Eau and caught a fine maskinonge. You may think that is a fish story. The said Archie, "but it is not. It was a real fish."
The city shade trees need trimming. On Lacroix St., near King St., I noticed some of the wildest sucker overgrown trees that I have ever seen. These trees are just opposite some of the finest and best kept residences of the city.
Mr. Chatham man, when you feel bad over the visit of two solitary mosquitoes, just remember that in Western Canada mosquitoes are so thick that they hide the evening sun and cover the farm animals with a living freese.
A woman in Hamilton died this week aged 110 years. This only proves what I have always contended, that where one is removed from the hurry and bustle of city life, he or she has great chances of living to a great old age. Lack of excitement and worry are important factors in producing longevity, and Hamilton offers both.

I never saw a more enthusiastic crowd at any game than that at the lacrosse match Thursday. I thought the beginning of the game had taken all the holler out of the Chatham spectators. We could have stood the 3 to 0, but it was not to have the Blenheim rookers rob it in. The Blenheim crowd, however, disappeared when things began to come our way.
THE SHELL GAME.
When you eat peanuts in the big tent to-night don't forget to drop the shells down the neck of the man sitting before you. Don't forget to drop the inside of the peanut down your own neck.

SACHEL OF THE SATELLITE

Pick out for look-pockets. Don't be afraid of the red lemondade. It's harmless. And the concert—for goodness' sake don't forget the concert. I wouldn't be afraid to bet that Rodney wallops the champions. We didn't want to play that extra half-hour very bad, but we won anyway.
If Outlaw Tracy had been a Boer he could even have taught De Wet things.
The Mineral Bath House people are tickled to death with the Straus (straws).
If this cold winter weather had only killed off the mosquitoes, I could have stood it.
I think I will call it "The only brunette and blonde front in the world," just 2 T's them.
The hay not cut and the wheat ripe. I guess to the farmer that must go against the grain.
The likeliest looking lot of coming players I have seen this season were with the Rodney team.
Here's to the team that can win with players all bona fide residents of the place they play for.
"How work does crop up," cried the farmer as he gazed at his what ripening before his hay was cut.
The king of the small boy fraternity in Chatham to-day was the kid who saw the circus procession 'steem times.
The circus crook who gets a Chatham policeman's paw on his shoulder will find a new case of Forepaugh and Sells.
The Sons of England purpose running an excursion to Niagara Falls. What puzzles me is where it is Niagara Falls.
"By their works ye shall know them," and I think they were right named the Board of Works. They are never idle.
Sunday school teachers should get early to the circus to-day that they may see all the animals before the ring performance begins.
If the School Board were on ship-board, I wonder if those land sales would be any good for catching the breeze of popular favor.
We were perfectly willing that Blenheim should have the honor of being the champions, but we couldn't let Blenheim beat us. They forced us to do it.
Blenheim, you are all right, and you played a nice, clean game of lacrosse. The time came when Blenheim didn't boast of being the Champion lacrosse players of Kent County.

How anyone, even a woman, could live in Hamilton for 65 years is a mystery. I guess that 110 year old woman had been dead these 40 years and Hamilton is just finding it out.
The man who has been up against his would-be father-in-law's toes doesn't have half as much to say about it as he does about mosquito-toes. You can't load up with bricks for these industrious little insects.

FOURTEEN CANADIAN SOLDIERS IN THE COLONIAL ESCORT

Minister of Militia Cables for one Officer and Thirteen Men to Take Prominent Part at King's Coronation.

Ottawa, July 18.—Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, cabled to-day to send one officer and thirteen men to represent Canada in the colonial escort on the occasion of King Edward's coronation.
They will be mounted troops, and must sail by the Allan Line on the 28th inst. Thirteen Canadians were picked by Lieut.-Col. Turner for the procession which was to have taken place in June. The Minister of Militia directs that the same individuals are to be chosen again, but if any find it impossible to get away, the vacancies are to be filled from the ranks of the contingent that went over in June. Holders of medals are preferred. The whole colonial escort will number fifty.
The choice of the men will be made by Lieut.-Col. Turner, V. C. of Quebec, who had charge of the mounted corps of the coronation contingent. Lieut.-Col. Turner will be the commanding officer of the Canadians in the coronation escort.

RICH YIELDS OF VINEYARDS

E. M. Stevens, Brother of the Popular Chatham Citizen, Chats With The Planet.

California a Grand Fruit Raising Country—Wonderful Improvement in Chatham.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stevens, of the San Joaquin Valley, Renso county, California, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Stevens, of this city.
The Stevens boys—they lay no claim to the designation of "old boys"—are brothers, and to-day they are enjoying a very pleasant reunion.
E. M. Stevens left Chatham in 1873 for what was then the gold country, that territory lying between Los Angeles and San Francisco. Shortly after his arrival he took up the work of agriculture, which he has developed with marked success.
For a number of years Mr. Stevens confined his ranch to the raising of grain and stock and horses, having 1,000 acres of grain, and being the first farmer in that country to introduce the large "headers," which cut, thresh, clean, bag and deposit the grain in dozen fish of any amount, among us, when one said he had a bite. Of course we thought he was only joking and told him to let it bite, and we'd pay for what he'd eat.
"We did not take any more account of the matter until a minute later when we heard a distinct splash and turning saw poor Hughie struggling in the water, but still clutching his rapidly disappearing line. We rushed quickly after him and succeeded in capturing him after a merry chase of a woman's hair, many miles which he was being towed to sea, by the monster fish on the other end of the line.
"Well, we got the little fellow—Hughie—into the boat and rowed to shore, keeping the fish in tow, the last named gentleman making a tremendous row.
"Well, anyway, we got ashore and it took all the strength of the crowd to land the fish.
"As we had had a share in the work of landing him it was thought that he should be divided, so we had proceeded to cut him up into equal parts when a frightful storm came upon us.
"And, do you know," concluded the speaker, "the only way our lives were saved that day, was by crawling into the fish's mouth, which easily accommodated the party."

the deer and other mountain animals may be seen along the snow line. The nights there are always cool and a frost is something which is practically unknown.
Mr. E. M. Stevens is now going to go into raising peaches, and also to limited extent lemons and oranges. On his way home he will go through British Columbia and the Northwest. He is going this way in order to inspect 2,000 acres of land, which he has purchased in the Northwest, but which he has not yet seen.
Mr. Stevens expresses surprise and delight at the wonderful improvement in Chatham since he left here in '73. He says it is a city now compared to what it was then. He says, however, with a true loyal spirit for his own home that the Maple City has not gone ahead as fast as the city in which he now lives. It was nothing when he went there and now it is a place of 20,000 people. The crops there this year are wonderfully good.

A WHOPPER!

Not the Story, of Course, but a Fish That Talkative Preacher Helped to Land.

Among the gallant fish story tellers of this city, a well known clergyman is coming rapidly to the front.
The reverend gentleman is inclined to put his latest this way:—
"We—three or four friends and myself—were out fishing one day, and had had very poor luck, not getting a half dozen fish of any amount, among us, when one said he had a bite. Of course we thought he was only joking and told him to let it bite, and we'd pay for what he'd eat.
"We did not take any more account of the matter until a minute later when we heard a distinct splash and turning saw poor Hughie struggling in the water, but still clutching his rapidly disappearing line. We rushed quickly after him and succeeded in capturing him after a merry chase of a woman's hair, many miles which he was being towed to sea, by the monster fish on the other end of the line.
"Well, we got the little fellow—Hughie—into the boat and rowed to shore, keeping the fish in tow, the last named gentleman making a tremendous row.
"Well, anyway, we got ashore and it took all the strength of the crowd to land the fish.
"As we had had a share in the work of landing him it was thought that he should be divided, so we had proceeded to cut him up into equal parts when a frightful storm came upon us.
"And, do you know," concluded the speaker, "the only way our lives were saved that day, was by crawling into the fish's mouth, which easily accommodated the party."

AMERICAN ANARCHIST TO ASSASSINATE ITALY'S KING

Tell-Tale Letters Were Found in Possession of a Young Barber From Paterson, N. J.—Under Arrest.

London, July 19.—despatch from Milan, Italy, to the Daily Telegraph reports the arrest by the police at Bra, near Turin, of a young barber, who recently arrived there from Paterson, N. J. The prisoner gives his name as Tomsetti, which is believed to be assumed, and confesses that he is an anarchist.
Papers, which were seized as his domicile, include correspondence with anarchists, and a document indicating that it was Tomsetti's intention to assassinate King Victor Emmanuel, who frequently traverses Bra in a motor car on his way to his private estate.

Paterson, N. J., July 19.—The police here have been unable to trace the location of the man Tomsetti, who is accused of conspiring against the life of the King of Italy. It is believed that the name given is a fictitious one.
It is believed there is quite a colony of professed anarchists located in the vicinity, but, since the assassination of President McKinley, it has been very difficult to secure any information concerning them.
The police are awaiting further facts from Milan and believe they can eventually ascertain whether the man under arrest has any connection with plotters here.

LIBRARY BOARD

The Public Library Board held a special meeting last night, all the members being present with the exception of S. M. Smith. The tenders which have been received for the new building were opened, but it was found that according to the lowest tenders the building would cost $1,000 more than it is intended to pay. About 30 tenders were received in all. The Board decided to adjourn until Monday night, when the contracts will be let. The Board are well satisfied with the tenders they received.

WAS THE HANGING OF RICE BUNGLED BY THE OFFICERS?

Coroner's Jury Found That His Death Resulted From Strangulation—The Last Hours of Rice.

Toronto, July 18.—Fred Lee Rice, the murderer of County Constable Boyd, was hanged here this morning at 8:02 o'clock. He went to the scaffold with a set, determined expression, very pale and rigid, and notwithstanding the fact that he had refused the usual stimulant given by the doctor, submitted to the ordeal without any apparent tremor. He said nothing. In fact, the usual question as to his desire in this respect was not asked. The officiating clergyman, Rev. Robert Hall, city missionary, when asked if the doomed man had made any confession, said that he could say nothing touching upon that point, until he had consulted with Mrs. Rice, deceased's mother, who was in the city to receive the body and to have it taken to the family burying plot at Champeau, Ill.
Rice retired last night at 10:45, and lay for some time chatting with his guard. He had spent most of the day with his spiritual adviser, Mr. Hall, and was prepared to meet his fate. He said to the guard that it was hard to face the music alone, meaning in the absence of his companions in crime, Frank Rutledge and Frank Jones. Then he fell asleep, and seemed to pass a restful night. At 5:30 he arose and was met by his guard, to whom he spoke a word of greeting. Mr. Hall was early at the jail, and after Rice had eaten a light breakfast, the minister and he were left alone, and from then until the arrival of Hangman Radcliffe, the time was spent in prayer. Simultaneously with the entrance of Radcliffe the black flag of death was hoisted above the jail. The march to the scaffold took two minutes, and the body was cut down 45 minutes later. The pulse stopped beating twelve minutes after the drop. The coroner's jury found that death was due to strangulation.
WAS HANGING BUNGLED?
An attempt may be made to show that the hanging was bungled, but both the doctors and the hangman say that the man was unconscious after the drop, and it is almost impossible to break a man's neck by hanging.

SATURDAY, JULY 19.

SACRED MUSIC ON SUNDAYS.

We quote from an editorial which recently appeared in The Congregationalist, as right to the point:

"The public park is the people's garden, and who can look without pleasure on men who rarely see their families together during the working days, with wife and children around them in the midst of growing things of nature on a summer afternoon?"

"To provide what the people need for useful Sabbath, especially in crowded cities, requires that many should labor. It is our duty to see that such labor is limited to service in providing a helpful Sabbath for others, and that those who thus work shall have compensation in rest."

"Christians should support such Sabbath legislation as will secure the most healthful use of the day for all classes. The ideal Sabbath is the one which secures physical rest, mental recreation, and spiritual renewal."

KITCHENER THE COMING MAN.

The Toronto News takes the following view: "The reception given Lord Kitchener on his arrival in England from South Africa on Saturday, was enthusiastic, and shows that the man who so successfully ended the war is the hero of the hour."

He is a strange hero, this man of iron, who gives as much heed to the acclaim of the multitude as he has given in the past to its blame and criticism. His steadfast ability has at last won for him the public recognition which his strength and disregard of powerful official influences lost him in the past.

TREATMENT OF THE CORONATION CONTINGENT. The coronation contingent has returned home from London, whither it went to do honor to the King at his coronation.

It was with feelings of surprise and anger that Canadians heard, from what seemed to be an authoritative source, that all sorts of indignities were being heaped upon Lieut.-Col. Pellatt and the officers and men under his command by the War Office.

Now we learn, from the very men who were supposed to have suffered under shameful indignities, that they were treated like princes and shown every honor, and that the stories printed in Canada about their ill-treatment were false in every particular.

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow. The Ten Commandments - to Men-Ex. 20, 12-17.

Golden Text-"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Read the Lord Jesus Christ's commentary on this lesson in his sermon on the mount, Matt. v., 6-7.

These commandments are as much the will of God for his creature, man, now as the day they were first spoken, and what a happy condition if men were governed by God's will and not by the will of the flesh and the Devil. Would to God, when we see our sinful reflection in God's law we would turn to the Lord Jesus. God does not cleanse us by His law, but by blood and fire, the washing of regeneration and the renewing of the Holy Spirit.

Rev. W. E. Knowles, pastor, will occupy the pulpit in the First Presbyterian Church on both occasions to-morrow.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Battisby, will preach in St. Andrew's Church to-morrow.

Christ Church - Eighth Sunday after Trinity-Rev. Mr. Dobson will conduct the services and preach on both occasions to-morrow.

The services in Park St. Church to-morrow will be conducted by Rev. J. H. Osterhout, B. A., who will take as his morning subject, "The Temptations of our hearts."

Rev. T. Beverley Smith, rector, will conduct the services and preach both morning and evening in Holy Trinity Church.

The pastor, Rev. T. T. George, will preach both morning and evening in Victoria Ave. Methodist Church to-morrow.

The pastor, Rev. J. J. Ross, will conduct both services in the William St. Baptist Church to-morrow, and teach the Bible Class in the afternoon.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Keep Little Ones Well During the Hot Weather Months.

If you want to keep your little ones hearty, rosy and full of life during the hot weather give them Baby's Own Tablets. The moment they show signs of being out of order in any way, this medicine cures all forms of stomach and bowel troubles, which carry off so many little ones during the summer months, and is the best thing in the world for sleeplessness, nervousness, irritation when teething, etc.

It is just the medicine for hot weather troubles; first, because it always does good; and, second, because it can never do any harm - guaranteed free from opiates. Mrs. W. E. Bassam, Kingston, Ont., says: - "I began using Baby's Own Tablets when my little girl was about three months old. At that time she had indigestion badly; she was vomiting and had diarrhoea constantly, and although she had an apparently voracious appetite her food did her no good and she was very thin. Nothing helped her until we began giving her Baby's Own Tablets, but after giving her these the vomiting and diarrhoea stopped and she began to improve almost at once. I have since used the Tablets for other troubles and have found them all that can be desired - they are the best medicine I have ever used for a child."

These Tablets are readily taken by all children, and can be given to the smallest, weakest infant by crushing them to a powder. Sold at drug stores or you can get them post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Insanity in Summer Brought on by Nervous and Mental Troubles

Nervous diseases when aggravated by mental disturbances produce more cases of insanity in the hot weather than at any other season of the year. Nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness and chronic constipation induce depression of spirits, extreme weakness, morbid fears, despondency and languor; from these, dread insanity comes slowly but surely.

There is hope for you, dear reader, if you are one of the sufferers. You stand in need of Paine's Celery Compound, that great builder of the nervous system. Its vitalizing action commences with the first bottle you use. The volume of blood immediately increases in the arteries, and the body is fully fed and nourished. Your appetite becomes regular and natural, the nerves and brain are strengthened, and you have impulses of health that cheer the soul.

This reliable remedy will truly meet your case and give you a new life; it will lay the foundation for happiness and long years. We counsel you to try this marvelous summer health-restorer at once, and enjoy the blessings of health.

Rev. F. D. Woodcock, Camden East, is to succeed Rev. George R. Bushish, as rector of Trinity church, Brockville.

Hope is like the sun, which as we journey toward it casts the shadow of our burden behind us.

SAVES BABIES' LIVES. This is the fatal season for the babies. They die off in thousands from common summer complaints brought on by faulty dieting. Your baby, dear mother, should be fed on nourishing and life-giving Lactated Food. If you would have your baby plump, strong and happy, begin today with Lactated Food. It perfectly agrees with the weakest stomach. When all other foods fail, Lactated Food saves the baby's life.

CHRISTIAN MARTYRS.

Lessons of Encouragement to Afflicted Members.

SOME FRAIL BODIED HEROES.

From These Persecutions the Great Increase of the Church of Christ was Started—Not One Drop of Blood Which Fell From the Christian Martyrs Was Ever Stained in Vain.

Entered According to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1902, by William Hally, of Toronto, at the Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Chicago, July 13.—From the example of martyrs and great sufferers in the cause of Christ Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage draws lessons of encouragement and fortitude for afflicted members of Christ's church; text, Philippians iv, 22, "All the saints salute you, chiefly they that are of Caesar's household."

Pope Leo XIII. was one day giving an audience to some foreigners. Turning to a gentleman present, he asked, "How long have you been in our city?" "Three days," was the answer. "Then," said the pope, "you have been here long enough to practically know all about Rome." He asked another gentleman, "How long have you been in Rome?" "Three months," was the answer. "Then," said the pope, "you have been here long enough to know that you are just begun to see Rome." He asked a third gentleman the same question. "I have been here three long years," was the answer. "Then," said the pope, "you have been here long enough to know that, though a man may live in Rome a hundred years, he can never live long enough to fully appreciate Rome."

But, though the most marvelous achievements and the most startling happenings may be pronounced in that one word, "Rome," yet without doubt to the Christian student the most absorbing and intense of all Roman empires, the history of the persecutions against the early Christians became the most violent, inhuman and fatal. Then the brutalities and mercenariness of the fiercest monster, Nero, out-Heroded even Herod. Then the lowest dungeons of the inferno were filled with pandemoniums of satanic joy. "For then," wrote the historian, "the Christians were covered by the skins of wild beasts and torn to pieces by the dogs. Then they were crucified. Then they were smeared with pitch and combustible and burned alive in the Imperial gardens at night. Then at last from a horror-stricken nation there arose pity for the condemned, since they were not put to death for the public good, but merely to gratify the cruelty of one man."

Now, as Paul sent the salutations of the saints in Caesar's palace to the members of the Philippian church for their encouragement, I am going to bring the salutations of the saints who are in Caesar's modern palaces for the encouragement of every man, woman and child. I am going to declare to the young and the old, the rich and the poor, the high and the low alike, that though some of you are having a hard time to maintain your Christian integrity against the bombardments of seemingly overwhelming worldly difficulties, yet there are men and women who are maintaining their Christian integrity against troubles infinitely greater than yours. There are men and women true to God to-day who have shouldered upon their backs a whole mountain range of misfortunes and sorrows and pains, while you, comparatively speaking, are going forth into the world with a little knapsack. There are Christian men who, figuratively speaking, have been flung overboard mid-Atlantic and told to swim ashore while you have only a shallow brook to cross. There are Christian men who are ankle deep, knee deep, waist deep, shoulder deep, chin deep in the quicksands of difficulties who can yet look up and see the face of God, while you, comparatively speaking, have only a stony path to climb. If the saints in Caesar's ancient and modern palaces, could be true to their gospel faith, surely their spiritual examples ought to rouse every one of us to better and truer and purer and nobler efforts, no matter what our mental or physical or incidental difficulties may be.

I would encourage those Christians, in the first place, who are struggling against the physical depressions of ill health. A college graduate? A member of a Christian Church and a Christian home? No. He was a converted gambler. Jerry McAuley of New York, who did so much for the slums of New York, was a drunkard and a prize-fighter. And I bring to you who have an evil past this message from the saints in Caesar's palace, because the man who has publicly sinned, the man who has been loathsome vile, the man who has an especial mission to save souls for Jesus Christ. You know as no one else knows how awful is the power of temptation, of that bridge into the dark waters of the river of death flowing below. But though life is such an awful struggle for the broad chested and the stout limbed and the powerfully physique, yet, wonderful to say, some of the mightiest Christian heroes have been men and women who were physical weaklings. Some of the most famous mental and spiritual giants of the ages have been those whose physical frames were so frail that they could have been destroyed almost as easily as a dew-drop could be flung from the surface of a leaf or a humming bird's life could be crushed out between the thumb and the forefinger of a man's hand. John Summerfield's body was so frail that it withered away under the touch of consumption while he was yet a boy. John Summerfield died when he was but twenty-seven, yet he lived long enough, with that frail body, to bring the gospel message to the whole English speaking race of his time. Fanny Crosby, the inspired hymnologist, who has written over 5,000 hymns, by means of which many thousands of souls have nestled in the arms of Jesus Christ, (which is perhaps her most popular hymn) has such a weak, frail little body, that there seems to be nothing but a physical ailment in addition to her other physical infirmities. God put out the light of her two eyes. And there she sits, in the darkness of her own room, in order that with her eyes sockets she may better see the face of Jesus Christ. Frances E. Willard in all probability never saw a perfect well day in thirty days, yet with her weak body, she headed one of the mightiest reform movements of her time. With her devoted companions she toured up and down this land, speaking in every town and city to the 10,000 inhabitants or over. When she became too feeble to travel, in order to keep her from working her friends sent her across the seas. Yet even there, under the shadow of the trees, she would write her letters, which roused all the women of Christendom to better deeds for God and humanity.

Now, to you who are sitting before me looking at the pale face of an invalid I bring the salutations of the saints who have lived in the Caesarian palaces of physical infirmity. I would tell you to do something for God in spite of your bodily pain, as blind John Milton did, as Bella Cooke, who has been bedridden for over forty years, is doing; as Paul did, who in spite of his bodily presence was "Your very physical sufferings ought to bring you closer to Christ. Your very sicknesses ought to make you the more anxious to do something for the Saviour now that your time on earth may be short. They ought to make you as anxious to do something for Christ as was the dying president of Union college, who in spite of his physician told him he had but one hour on earth to live, said, "Then place me upon my knees, that I may spend that hour in prayer with God, pleading for the salvation of sinners." Would that to-day, in the presence of these saints who have lived in the modern Caesarian palaces of physical torture, we might all consecrate our frail as well as our will bodies to the service of the Lord Jesus Christ!

I would encourage those Christians also who are trying to maintain their Christian integrity in spite of an evil environment. By this statement I mean those Christians whose past sins have been heralded over the world, even as Cain's sin was known by the black mark which had been stamped upon the murderer's brow. If it is hard for a young girl when she is living in a Christian home and has practically never been out of her mother's arms, to have much harder must it be for a young girl to be good and true and pure when she has had her feet cut and lacerated by treading the crooked and stony path-way of sin? If she has had her fair name blackened by the condemnations of a dissolute life! If it is difficult for a young man to hold an honorable position in society when his record is clean and good, how much more difficult must it be for a man to attain an honorable life when he has served out his term in a felon's cell, or has had his name crooked by the covet's shams, and his clothes striped with the mark of the penitentiary! If it is difficult for a Christian to live right whose nearest neighbors can find nothing but good to say about him and his past, how much more difficult must it be for a man to live a good life who has been a drunkard, a libertine, a thief, a social outcast! Would you, O Christian, whose past lives have been discolored by the stain of sin, would you both answer in an un-Christian way. "I do not bear any such people any ill will, but I would prefer not to have them around my person. They might steal or perhaps they might lead my children astray, and were such among my help I would dismiss them at once."

But though it is so difficult for a man to lead a Christian life who has had an evil past, yet if there are any here to-day, I bring to you the salutations of the saints of Caesar's palace. I want to encourage you with the fact that, just as some of the greatest of moral heroes have been physical weaklings, so some of the greatest of Christian heroes have been those who have sinned even worse than you have sinned. Harry Monroe, who for years has run the Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago, and who has been instrumental in saving thousands of souls, was what? A college graduate? A member of a Christian Church and a Christian home? No. He was a converted gambler. Jerry McAuley of New York, who did so much for the slums of New York, was a drunkard and a prize-fighter.

And I bring to you who have an evil past this message from the saints in Caesar's palace, because the man who has publicly sinned, the man who has been loathsome vile, the man who has an especial mission to save souls for Jesus Christ. You know as no one else knows how awful is the power of temptation,

A WOMAN'S PRAYER.

It is notable that in the despondency caused by womanly diseases, there seems to many a suffering woman no way of escape from pain except at the price of life itself. It would be sad to record such a story of struggle and suffering except for the fact that in such dire distress many a woman has found a way back to health and happiness by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This great remedy for womanly ills has well been called "A good-sense to weak and sick women." It establishes regularity, drives weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Your medical adviser raised me from the dead," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner of Peppes, Plymouth Co., Mass., Box 14. "My urine was like brick dust, ever since I had such a dragging feeling it seemed I could not do my house work. I had to sit down to wash the dishes, even in the year 1891 I was so sick I did not care to live and prayed many times that God would take me. One day I found a little book. I read it and wrote to Dr. Pierce, and in a few days received an answer. I decided to try his medicine, and to-day I am a well woman. I have no backache, no headache, no pain at all. I used to have headaches, and now I have the monthly period and such pain that I would roll on the floor in agony. I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and three of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and was completely cured."

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing just as good. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser—sent free on receipt of stamps to cover expense of customs and mailing only. You know as no one else knows how difficult it is for one who has been a social outcast to try to live again among respectable social surroundings. You can speak as Mary Magdalene could speak to the disciples as St. Delia could plead, who was once the noted Blue Bird, the field of the New York slums. Although St. Delia had such an evil past, yet her life, under the power of the Holy Ghost, became so pure and sweet and influential, that the rich and the poor, the pure and the depraved alike, the old as well as the young, sobbed over her case. You can speak from the heart as John B. Gough spoke to the drunkards, because you yourself have seen the phantoms of delirium tremens moving themselves aright in the cup until at last they would bite like a serpent and sting like an adder. Struggling Christians, you have had an evil past, you can plead for Christ in the highways and the hives of sin, as the saints who had an evil past could speak in Caesar's palace. Those saints to-day are now placing their hands of holy ordination upon your head that you may go forth and save your sinful fellow men.

I would also encourage to-day, those Christians who are compelled by force of circumstances to live and work with evil associates. Perhaps the young man who is standing behind the same counter with you in the store, is an infidel, perhaps some of your classmates at school and in college are out and out scoundrels against the word of God. Perhaps, what is worst of all, you find that you are married to a man who never neglects an opportunity to ridicule your Bible. You have found out also that your husband is having a pernicious and spiritually devastating influence over your children. What are you going to do? Leave these evil associates? Sometimes such a course is possible; sometimes it is not. It evidently was not possible for the ancient saints to have left Caesar's palace, else they would have done so. It is most natural to suppose that those saints would have instantly fled from the Roman capital during the time of Nero's persecution, if they could have run away with honor and self-respect. But in all probthemselves something like this: "No, I cannot, I will not go! It would be cowardly for me to desert," my Lord and Master. I will stay here and keep on testifying for Christ, if need be, until my body is burned at the stake or eaten by the wild beasts in one of the arenas. And stay in Rome, these saints did, and die a martyr's death most of them also did. So it may be your Christian duty to keep on living for Christ and testifying of his love in a place of persecution and among companions who make Christ an object of daily ridicule, as did the persecuted young Roman officer whose epitaph can still be read in one of the Roman cemeteries in these words: "He lived long enough to shed his blood for Christ."

Now, I want you, my Christian friends, you who are experiencing these daily persecutions, to fully realize that not one drop of blood which fell from the Christian martyrs of Caesar's ancient palace was ever shed in vain. From those persecutions the great influence of the church of Jesus Christ was started. From those persecutions were lighted the gospel torches which are to-day shedding light on the faces of men and women. From those persecutions came so much Paul's death and the death of the saint's in Caesar's palace as the eternal life of millions upon millions of immortal souls. So if you, O persecuted Christian, only keep true to the gospel faith in the difficult places where you are stationed, you may not only win your father and mother and husband and children for God, but you may win thousands upon thousands of immortal souls for Christ—beings whose names you have never read, and whose reward in another place which shall never see until you look upon them among the redeemed before the great white throne.

My hearers, no matter what our work of life may be, will you to-day be a saint of God, and throw yourself upon the pardon and the mercy of Christ? Will you here and now dedicate your life to the Saviour even if it means the shedding of your life's blood? Will you be willing to suffer for Christ as well as to have the pleasure and the joys that come from the Christian life? Are you ready to shoulder for Christ the heavy burden. Are you ready, for him, to have the feet ache, the hands ache, the back ache, the head ache, and the heart ache? Will you be willing to make those sacrifices for Christ, as did the saints in Caesar's palace, because it is in account of their sacrifices that Jesus is going to reward you in another place which he has builded for you, not in Rome, but upon the golden boulevard of heaven. It is only a step from the palace of persecution into the palace of reward. It is only a step from Caesar's throne when the saint of God is condemned to earthly death by the power of sin to the throne of God, where the redeemed saint is given everlasting life. It is only a step from the Roman arena, where the ancient saints were torn to pieces by the wild beasts, into the green pastures by the side of the still waters, where the glorified saints shall forever dwell with the Lamb. It is only a step—a short step. Are we ready to live for Christ? Are we ready to be willingly taken that step, although to take it we shall pass through the fire of earthly persecution? It is such a short step for the saints of God to leave the palaces of Nero to the palaces which Christ has prepared for his own that it does seem as though the palaces of persecution are but the vestibules of the palaces of reward. May God help each one of us to be true to his faith while we dwell for a little while on earth in one of Caesar's earthly palaces!

SOME SOUND SENSE

O. L. Lewis is the lawyer in this county most conversant with the procedure in criminal prosecutions. This was the case in the case of practice, had the defense in the great majority of the criminal cases tried in this county. As the procedure now is in criminal cases, the magistrate hears only one side of the case—that of the complainant. Thus the man who lays the information has the first ear of the magistrate. First impressions always have their effect and the complainant has the advantage of this. Mr. Lewis has given this matter some study. He says that a public inquisitor should be appointed to investigate all cases and see whether prosecution should be undertaken, first as to whether the crime justifies punishment, and second as to whether it is in the interest of the public that the expense of a trial should be involved. He should also determine whether the charge is laid to vent or spite and put the defendant to trouble and costs unjustly. In this way the judge wouldn't hear anything about a case till he reached the bench and would be in a much better position to give an unbiased judgment. As at present, either the Crown Attorney or the magistrate takes the information. The man who prosecutes on behalf of the public is paid by fees. He is naturally induced to get as many cases as possible, for the more cases the more money for himself. He is also paid more for convictions than for acquittals. The Crown Attorney then has to guard against an inclination to take information that should not be taken. This new office of public inquisitor would be a salaried office. Thus the magistrate would hear the case for the first time on the bench and his mind would be open to receive both sides.

QUESTION OF GOOD ROADS

Engineer Jones Contributes an Interesting Article on an Interesting Subject.

How Chatham and Kent County Can Improve Their Thoroughfares.

Supt. Jones, of the waterworks, contributes the following article on the subject of "Good Roads."

Good roads, like all other good things, are very desirable, especially so to the citizens of Chatham. The vital question of the hour is, How can we make a fairly good and permanent road-bed at a moderate cost? There can be no question of the great advantage it would be to the city if we had good roads. This article proposes to show in a general way how good roads can be constructed at a moderate cost. The idea is to produce good roads existing on the ridge to the south of us.

The conditions existing on the ridge can be closely imitated in the city. The whole hinges upon the following question: "What depth of gravel will be necessary to produce results as we see them on the ridge?" We can answer this from an examination of the road extending from Charing Cross to Blenheim.

We have a ditch on each side of the roadbed for drainage, with a top level probably 18 inches higher deposited on a clay or, in some spots, sandy soil. The condition of the above piece of road is a long way ahead of anything we have in the city outside of paved streets. There can be no doubt that the above road-bed can be successfully imitated and probably surpassed, as we have all the advantages of drainage necessary to produce good results:

It will be noticed that the road above mentioned has a very slight crown and in places no crown at all. The slight crown is a decided advantage to all clay or gravel roads for the following reason: With a great crown there is always a tendency to produce deep rutts by slewing of wagons heavily loaded, passing each other. The rutts will hold the water, which softens the road-bed and defeats the object sought in the high crown. The mode of construction preferred is to dress the existing road-bed in such places as need it to a determined level, cover road to any width desired and to a depth of six inches of the best and coarsest gravel, pack it solidly with steam road roller, then give it a final dressing of about six inches in depth and roll as before, giving the surface a crown of four or five inches in thirty feet. This amount of gravel will probably be sufficient to cover the road to any width desired and to a depth of six inches in depth and roll as before. Next year give it a coat of three inches of roll. By following this treatment there is no reason why we should not have at least as good roads as there are on the ridge. Whatever the width of the roadbed it should be gravelled as described above, but the centre of the underlying earth of the old roadbed appears during the gravel dressing, as vehicles driving along the curb will be liable to run over and destroy the face of the part gravelled and form ruts on the sides that would be destructive of a good road surface. It is recommended to commence at the centre of the city and work outwards on all of the principal streets leading to the city limits.

The cost of gravel procured from a pit adjacent according to an agreement between the city and the L. E. & D. R. Ry. is three cents per cubic yard under 100 feet of road, and 4c over that distance, provided the city furnished the gravel at a pit adjoining track. This would cost the city thirty cents per cubic yard in city, about 40 cents a yard for unloading, and from twenty-five to thirty-five cents per cubic yard for hauling where wanted.

THE COUNTY LEAGUE.

The initial season of the Kent County Lacrosse League is now nearing its close. Through the generosity of Robert Gray, of this city, the league is the possessor of a handsome silver trophy, which will do much to perpetuate its existence. The first season has been, on the whole, a promising one. Five clubs—Chatham, Wallaceburg, Blenheim, Thamesville and Rodney—entered as competitors and the contest has been a most spirited one. The games have also served to show that Kent is the possessor of a fine brand of young athletes. That Chatham has succeeded in winning out is a source of gratification to patrons of the game in the county town, but none of the other clubs have any reason to be ashamed of the showing made. The "light" of Rodney, who were especially plucky, and in the remaining contest between the cup winners and that team The Planet would suggest that many of the Chatham juniors be given the opportunity to play, thereby giving Rodney the possibility of winning a game on their own grounds. As for the Maple City team, it is well to afford to do the graceful act. Between the other teams, the contest has been fairly even and the prospects for next season should be exceedingly promising.

LACROSSE

The Wallaceburg Herald-Record in their account of the recent Wallaceburg-Chatham match here on the 10th of July, says:

The Chatham team played a hard fast game, their combination was fine, and the defence seemed impenetrable. Richards, in particular, played a fine game, their home play fell into the nets and if a shot was wild it struck something and glanced back. With a possible exception of one or two they are a team of gentlemanly players well trained and hard to beat. The Chatham Planet gave a fair, impartial report of the game.

What the "Burg's" team is trying to figure out is how the home man, who scored 12 goals at Blenheim, was unable to make a single tally at Chatham.—Wallaceburg Herald-Record.

BLUZZ

A number of spectators were present from Chatham, and though they were not being satisfied with the result, the Blenheim return match with the Maple City team.—Blenheim News.

BASEBALL

A game of baseball between the Walpole Indians and Dresden was played July 15 before a large crowd of interesting spectators. A good sample of ball was put up, although marred in the first few innings by the red men would have been shut out without a run.—Dresden Times.

GOLF

The latest addition to Wallaceburg sporting circles is a golf club. Mr. Geo. Lydiatt has been agitating this for some time and has been successful in securing D. A. Gordon's farm east of town. The links have been laid out and a little preliminary practice

ERIEAU

July 17.—One of the finest sights around here was the wind storm to-day. The lake was lashed to a fury and the waves made a grand spectacle as they rolled and dashed their foam against the beach.

W. Brackin took a party of ladies for a sail in the "Pirate" on Wednesday evening last, and while heading for the Shrewsbury dock, they saw a small skiff about aimlessly. As they neared he waved just once and a faint call was heard. Suspecting something was wrong, Mr. Brackin made for the boat and found his services were badly needed. They took the occupant on board the "Pirate" and towed the skiff back. It appears that the rescued party, an elderly gentleman from Cleveland, had had a guest at the "Bungalow" had gone out fishing in a small row boat, early in the morning. A southeast wind was blowing and before he realized it he was far from the pier. Seeing the pavilion at government park, he headed for that place. The wind changed and too late he realized that his strength was going. After a final struggle he gave up the fight and when rescued he was so weak and exhausted that he could not sit up and his muscles were in a rigid condition. But for Mr. Brackin's gallant rescue the results might have been fatal.

About six o'clock to-night there was a beautiful rainbow. One unusual feature about it was the fact that both ends were visible to the residents—a sight seldom seen in the city. One end was in the east, the other directed by on Lone Tree Point, so that any one wishing to secure the pot of gold may have the opportunity.

Rev. J. J. and Mrs. Ross are guests at Thurzville, Judge Houston's summer home.

Mrs. J. H. Bogart and family, will spend circus day in the city.

Miss Grace Jones is in Chatham on a short visit.

Mrs. Jas. Dunkley returned to her home after a pleasant stay at "Llangollen."

A Sunday school excursion from Ridgeport came out to-day and in spite of the dismal weather put in an enjoyable time.

J. W. Young came out for a visit with his many friends on the boat.

We have all heard of people wearing four-leaved clovers tied round their necks, and of ladies wearing a rabbit's foot,—well—not on their necks but in their hands. The very latest hoodoo charm is a rubber band worn around the neck, preferably a rubber band, it is said to be a sure proof against the wiles of a delightful enchantress, the summer girl, who reigns supreme at this season.

H. L. Merritt, of Blenheim, has just built a house for a Cleveland man, and a sign nailed to the verandah post informs us that it was begun and finished inside of three and a half days.

Another sign artistically lettered in blue chalk bears the words, "Auf Wiedersehen."

Mrs. J. Oldershaw and Mrs. D. McKee, of the "Mushroom" are spending a few days in the city.

The Shenango came in with a load of coal this evening.

In spite of the inclement weather a large number tripped the light fantastic last night, the delicious music of the 24th regiment band proving irresistible.

Wanted—By two young ladies, one week's board at the Eau in a private family, from Aug. 2nd. State terms and address M. S. care of Planet.

It is a pity that the merry-go-round does not suspend operations on that music box while the band is playing. At times the mixture is really painful, and those who are riding on the affair could enjoy the band music to advantage, while to everyone else the veiled would be inexpressible.

The newest entertainment this summer is the "bonfire party." One was given at Llangollen last night, and not a mosquito came within biting distance, and the guests spent an enjoyable time. A cat and dog scrap enlivened the proceedings, but a suzerain of milk and a few stray whiskers settled the difference, and all was peaceful once more.

The Lake View House has a light on their front verandah. We've heard have thought that this was superfluous, but perhaps Mr. Mallory can turn it down. Let us hope so, for the sake of home and mother.
