RUSSIAN STORY OF BIG BATTLE

Japanese Lose 30,000 in Killed and Wounded in Attack Near Port Arthur.

Japanese Advance to Ta Tehe Kiao, is Shrouded in Mystery—Conflicting Rumors.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—A despatch from a Russian correspondent at Mukden, dated July 12, says—"According to intelligence received here, the Japanese last night attacked positions near Port Arthur, and were repulsed with enormous losses, not less than thirty thousand, it is said, being killed and wounded by our mines."

London, July 13.—The Morning Post's Shanghai correspondent says that the Japanese casualties by land mines at Port Arthur, on Sunday night, are reported to have been 28,000, but none of the many other special war despatches mentions a Japanese disaster at Port Arthur.

SHROUDED IN MYSTERY.

3.14 a. m.—The Japanese advance to Ta-Tehe-Kiao is shrouded in mystery. No telegrams have been received by the general staff, or the admiralty. Lieut. General Sakharoff's despatch of July 10, with the exception of a report from General Kuropatkin, covering the events detailed by Gen. Sakharoff. The Japanese account of the fighting at Kai-Chow is offset by the admission that they are being greatly worried by General Rennenkampf's Cossacks.

It has been intimated to the Associated Press correspondent by the general staff that it is probable that the Japanese will not attempt to take Yin-Kow before they acquire Ta-Tehe-Kiao, as otherwise they would be liable to an unexpected attack from the Ta-Tehe-Kiao force, which is within easy striking distance, thanks to the railroad. The Japanese advance north will perhaps be delayed for some days until the south-eastern columns converging at Shin-Dan compel Major-General Mishchenko to draw off leaving the Shin-Yea road clear to Tani-Chie and Ta-Tehe-Kiao. As soon as the Japanese troops enter Yin-Kow and succeed in removing the mines from the mouth of the Liao River, the Japanese gun boats lying along the coast will come into play. They are believed that the Japanese will venture to land a considerable force or to send war material so long as the Port Arthur squadron is able to come out whenever it likes. There is some anxiety here regarding a report that the cruiser Ashida has been damaged and it is noticed that she was not mentioned in the list of warships constituting the squadron on its last appearance.

Tokio, July 12, 8 p. m.—The Japanese Take-Shan army is moving north-west from Shin Yen. It fought a series of small battles with the Russians on July 9 and 10. The army is divided into two columns, which advanced against the Russians. When the first column approached Chi Kuan Ching, the Russians retreated. The second column advanced along the road to the west of Chi Kuan Ching, but at 5 o'clock in the evening they took up a position on the heights west of Chou Chia Chang. The Russians were dislodged at dusk, when the second Japanese column advanced along the road toward Tong Chia, repulsing small bodies of the enemy en route. They attacked the advance line of the Russians near Shu Tang Laku. The Russians were reinforced, and compelled the Japanese to withdraw. At dawn on July 10, both columns attacked and dislodged the Russians from the heights west of Chi Kuan Ching. The Japanese then moved on and attacked a strong position held by the Russians at Sutehikou. After a desperate fight the Japanese occupied the position.

After occupying Kia Chou, General Oku's army on Sunday moved northward. The Russians were strong defenses at Tapingshan, Nausenhan, Nangmatai, Ching Hishan and the camp near Kou Chiapao. General Oku will probably attack these positions as soon as his troops are rested. In the fights of July 8 and 9, the Japanese lost about 150 men. The Russian losses are believed to have been heavier than the Japanese.

RUSSIAN CREEK.

Perim, Straits, of Bab-El-Mandeb, July 12.—The British steamer Menelaus, from the Clyde, for Shanghai, which arrived here to-night, reports that she and the British steamer, Crewe Hall, from the Clyde, for Kure, were stopped on June 11 in the Red Sea, south of Jeddah, by the Russian volunteer steamer, St. Petersburg, which carried eight guns and a large crew. Both steamers were boarded, and all their papers and manifests were overhauled. The vessels were detained four hours, after which the St. Petersburg steamed off to the northward.

HE ACCEPTS

Manager Geo. Perrin Will Have His Braves Ready for the Aldermen To-morrow.

"I accept with pleasure!" In snarling tones came the reply of Geo. (Bill) Perrin to the challenge of the aldermanic bunch.

"Why, we'll tie that McCoig bunch to the first Piggott fence and do 'em up so fast we'll leave their eyes-Martin," continued the whisperer. "Thursday is the day, but we won't play for a cannon ball, as it would spoil the aldermen's trip to Detroit, as they wouldn't have the ball down there, and then we want them to have all the privilege of working that shell game themselves."

"My boys are in the pink of condition, but felt a little blue without any games in sight, but the King Edward and Chateau Frontenac have organized teams which they thought would be worthy opponents of the great Gagner nine."

"This preliminary practice work-out with this four flush aldermanic team will be a curtain raiser to the big show contemplated."

"Alex. Chaplin and James Fleming have been in secret training for some time—also Jack McCoig has been getting in shape on the quiet—but when it came to my knowledge I had to put a stop to it, as when these boys start in conditioning themselves for the great national game there's no controlling them, in fact they overtrain. Dr. Fisher last season was just 'filling in,' but this year he is doing fine work on the third cavity, known as third base."

"We will allow the aldermen to use G. G. Martin for coach providing they have T. A. Smith act as Mayor and hitch himself to the coach and draw him off when too noisy. Don't think the receipts should be divided amongst the spectators, everyone would be no satisfied if it went into the hero fund."

"Don't like that shot out of the mouth of the cannon for the losers business. We don't want to be too hard on the aldermen. What's the matter with shooting them out of the mouth of the river?"

"Don't stand for Aid. Piggott explaining anything to the ladies. If there's any explaining to the ladies it's got to be left for our mascot, Ed. Massey, to do."

"I haven't any objection to Marshall running bases to right or left, because the last time I saw him he couldn't run either way."

"When you put this in the Great Home Journal please be careful to whisper, because I don't want the public to think we'd bother with every corner lot team that comes along. Why first thing I know Max Fraser will be coming along again with that club bunch from the Rail."

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATED

Praise for the "Dry Town"—Some Splendid Speakers and a Band Competition.

Writers on philosophical questions tell us that there is a force, which, for want of a better name, they call "the law of compensation."

This force was very much in evidence yesterday in Blenheim.

The town on the hill has often been referred to lately as the "dry town," but Old Probs did his best "on the glorious 13th" to make the sobriquet a misnomer. It rained during the night and it rained in the morning, and there was an occasional shower during the day, but nothing could dampen the order of the "sons of William."

At least twenty-five lodges, with the usual accompaniment of life and drum, bright banners, cocked hats and flashing swords, provided very visible and tangible proof that once again there would be celebrated "the great glorious, pious and immortal memory of King William III." Besides the regular lodges were two "lodge" lodges and one lodge of Orange Young Britons.

Ample provision had been made to entertain the crowd; indeed the only drawback of the entire day was the lack of crowd. Arrangements had been made to accommodate at least five thousand people, and one-half of that number would be a fair estimate of the number present. The committee in charge was loud in the praise of the accommodation provided. There was but one opinion, heard in all quarters, viz: "The best accommodation, the best meals, the most royal reception we have ever met with." Certainly the Orangemen have no kick on "local option." Many of the churches and the Salvation Army provided meals, both dinner and tea, at twenty-five cents, and they served meals which were creditable indeed to those who provided them.

District Master Fred Stephens, of Chatham, presided and introduced the following speakers: Rev. J. J. Sinclair, Bothwell; Rev. Mr. Brown, Blenheim; County Master Nelson Leeds, Wallaceburg; County Master Wesley Sussex, Bothwell; Rev. Mr. Waddell, Harwich; Dr. Thornton, Chatham; Rev. Mr. Farrar, Wallaceburg; Rev. Mr. Gilmore, Blenheim; Rev. Mr. McQuillans, Blenheim.

A feature of the day was a contest between the fife and drum bands present.

The first prize, $5, went to Blenheim band; the second prize, $3, went to Fergus; and the third prize, $2, went to Oakdale.

Bandmaster Walker of the 24th Regiment band very kindly acted as judge and gave perfect satisfaction. The celebration was unique, inasmuch as there was not seen during the day a man who was to the slightest degree under the influence of liquor. Like Port Arthur, Blenheim was corked tight.

YACHTING TRIP

Capt. T. Bury and wife and E. B. Williams, of the Detroit Yacht Club, came up the river yesterday afternoon in their beautiful yacht Marie and landed at Mayor McKeough's dock.

They left Detroit the previous day and reached the lighthouse in the evening. Yesterday they spent six or seven delightful hours coming up the river. They left today on the return trip much delighted with our city and the scenery on the river.

LAUNCH TOUR

Howard Waddell, Jerald Waddell, W. Sutherland and Will. Smith returned from a two weeks' trip through the St. Clair river in Howard Waddell's gasoline launch "Marjorie W." The young sailors left Chatham on the 30th of June at eight o'clock in the evening, stayed at the lighthouse until morning and then crossed the lake and went up to Wallaceburg, arriving at the latter place at three o'clock on the afternoon of July 1. The lake was very rough on the way across and it was with difficulty that the little launch got through.

They afterwards visited Port Lambton for three days, Tashmoo for four days, Detroit two days, Port Huron and Sarnia one day, Stag Island one day, Algoma two days, and the rest of the time was spent running around through the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair.

The party just had one narrow escape while away. They were dropping down the St. Clair River one night when they were almost run down by a large boat. The trip was a most enjoyable one in every way.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 13.

DO WE NEED THREE MEALS?

Physiologists say that the Japanese present the most perfect physique of any race in the world. Most of the diseases common to the Occident are unknown among the subjects of the Mikado, and this happy condition they themselves attribute to the fact that they eat sparingly and only of plain, nourishing food. A Japanese visiting in this country is appalled at the quantity of food consumed by his host in one day. Especially is he impressed with the extravagance of our poorer people, writes Robert Webster Jones in the Housekeeper. In Japan meat once a day is a luxury even among the well-to-do. It has often been said that to enjoy perfect digestion one should arise from the table just short of the point of repletion. A Japanese saying which might be cited in confirmation is: "I am happy because I am hungry." Certainly when we remember how small an organ, comparatively, the human stomach is, the danger from overloading it becomes very apparent.

A distinguished diplomat from Japan was recently the guest of honor at a dinner in Washington. After the first two courses of oysters and soup the waiters were bringing in the fish, he exclaimed: "What! Can any one possibly want more to eat?" During the remaining six courses he opened his mouth for the exclusive purpose of conversation. When his abstemiousness was commented upon, he said: "I am satisfied. I feel bright and wide awake. If I were to eat as much as you, I should fall asleep, and then I could not make my speech. Most of the men around this table are fat, because they eat too much. It is a misfortune to be so fat. I am stronger and healthier than any fat man."

It is a popular fallacy that three "heart" meals a day are necessary to one's physical well-being. Doubtless we should all feel better if we ate less. In this, as in many other matters, self-denial and happiness go hand-in-hand.

THE ORIGIN OF EVIL.

A reader of The Express, who thinks there is altogether too much mystery about the origin of evil, has furnished the editor with a copy of a Pittsburg paper containing a report of a sermon by pastor C.T. Russell of Allegheny—Russell of the Millennium Dawn—in which the problem of the ages is disposed of in short order.

The problem is this: Why is there so much seemingly unnecessary and purposeless suffering and misery in a world that is supposed to have been created by a God of all goodness and to be ruled by a Divine Father. Pastor Russell's answer is that the race is fallen from divine favor. As man was originally created he was perfect, upright, and the image of his Creator, and provided with everything needed for his well-being, and that to all eternity; he was placed upon trial with the alternative of either retaining his relationship with God or of forfeiting all this and coming under the curse of sentence or death. He took the course of disobedience, and all the sin, suffering, pain, sorrow, dying there is in the world from Adam's day to our day is the result of that disobedience. Mankind, therefore, says Pastor Russell, is a race of convicts, under sentence of death, and merely serving out the sentence. God did not interfere to save the helpless victims of the Iroquois fire or the Slocum disaster, because man is a convict under sentence of death, and for God to interfere to prevent the accomplishment of his own sentence would be astounding, inexplicable. On the contrary, it is only in accordance with the properties of the situation that the great Judge, having rendered his sentence of death against mankind, should permit the various agencies and channels of death to work their legitimate course to bring death upon the world of mankind.

Pastor Russell's explanation is not a new one. It is almost as old as the mystery itself. The fact that the mystery still remains is an evidence that the explanation has not served to satisfy humanity. In fact the explanation, if it does anything, serves to deepen the mystery. We are told that a God all powerful, all wise, all loving, created man as a perfect creature, and with everything necessary for his well-being for all eternity; yet about the first thing this perfect creation of a perfect creator did was to show his imperfection. And God must have known from the beginning that this perfect creature would fall, and in his fall would involve all humanity. To explain the origin of evil by saying that God created a perfect being who almost immediately proceeded to bring sentence of death upon the world is simply to add mystery to mystery. Men have seen this difficulty in all ages, and have wrestled painfully with it, but have only surmounted one obstacle to be confronted by a greater. Why should an innocent and helpless child to-day suffer for an act of disobedience committed thousands of years ago? The introduction of free will complicates the problem rather than helps to a solution. Jonathan Edwards, to whom a good many people in this degenerate age have had their first introduction in The Bonnie Brier Bush, was forced by the merciless logic of the situation to claim that there can be no question of justice between God and man. Most men are to be damned, and the blessed will thank God that it is so. Pastor Russell escapes this conclusion by wiping out eternal damnation altogether, and by providing a millennial period in which all mankind, living and dead, and the angels as well, will have an opportunity of witnessing the justice of the love and the mercy of God. The great Butler went back to nature and sought light in analogy; but Butler and Edwards are seldom mentioned to-day. The world is still looking for a solution of the mystery as if they had never lived.

Indigestion

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

Incidentally it might be asked if the whole animal creation was involved in Adam's fall. The birds of the air and the beasts of the field suffer from disease and disaster; are they under divine condemnation, too, for the sin of Adam? and for them too, will there be a millennial dawn? But modern science says there was no fall of man; that man since his first appearance on the earth has been gradually rising in the scale, becoming better, more moral, more intelligent, and approaching more nearly the perfect being. Nobody, of course, is bound, under any penalty, to accept the conclusions of modern science; but they are entitled to consideration from the earnest student whose aim is the pursuit of truth, and to those who are able to accept them the problem of evil presents a new aspect. The doctrine of evolution does not remove the mystery, however.—Woodstock Express.

POOR TIME FOR REVOLUTIONS.

Detroit Tribune.
Canada is in no reciprocal mood. She has taken a leaf from the American book of protection, and is now in no way to let down the artificial trade barriers without accomplishing an economic revolution.

LACK OF COURTESY.

Montreal Gazette.
At Vancouver a party of bookmakers returning from a local race meet, were held up by two masked highwaymen and robbed of $7,000. In these degenerate days there really seems to be no professional courtesy among men in the same line of business.

FLAGOPHOBIA.

Brockville Times.
It is a perpetual puzzle to Canadians why the union jack should always act upon the United States people like a red rag to a bull. If a Canadian sees the stars and stripes flying in Canada he thinks, "Holloa, there's a Yankee!" and passes on without further thought on the subject. But a union jack in the States rouses to fury the ardent patriots of the land, who neither sleep nor eat until the obnoxious emblem is removed from their sight.

VICTORY IN COURT.

New York Herald.
Rufus W. Peckham, judge of the Supreme Court, tells the story of a young lawyer who was trying his first case.

"Evidently," he said, "he had studied it until he knew it by heart. He began speaking. When he had arrived about half way we decided the case in his favor and told him so. But he had got going and found it impossible to stop. On and on he went, like an automobile past control."

"At length one of the judges, leaning forward, said snarlingly: 'Mr. —, in spite of your arguments, we have decided to conclude this case in your favor.'"

NOT SETTLED UNLESS SETTLED RIGHT.

Montreal Witness.
There will be no real solution of the Newfoundland question till the adjacent islands are surrendered and all special privilege on the coast is abolished. Britain certainly paid enormously for what France yielded, whatever it may have been, and all gratitude is due to her for that, but she seems to have got little or nothing in return, and the sore seems to be as active as ever. Foreigners should be welcome on all British shores, but it is entirely wrong and demoralizing that people living in their own territory should be forever dominated over and flouted by foreigners.

Miss Nan Bell is visiting Mrs. A. C. Woodward, Crystal Lodge.

Miss B. Bertram, Dundas, is the guest of Miss Bonnie Greening.

Miss Nita Bounsal and Alex. Bounsal are visiting at Penryn Cottage.

Mrs. Dr. Brown, Brandon, Man., has taken Uneda Rest Cottage for the summer.

Miss Susie Baine, Toronto, who has been the guest of Miss Jessie Harper for the past week, will leave for her home to-morrow.

Grace and Margaret Cameron returned to Chatham to-day, after spending a few days at Sandrean Cottage, the guests of Mrs. W. H. Harper.

C. B. Moore, the Erieau grocer, has moved one of his cottages up from Erieau terrace and will use it as a dwelling for himself. He finds that he requires all the space he can get for his store.

C. C. Greening and W. H. Harper play pedro together every night. They are inveterates. Generally their opponents are Dr. Bray and Samuel Glen, but C. C. and W. H. are getting tired winning. They have won so many that they would like to lose one to see what it feels like. They are open to challenge any two on the bar to a rubber and they don't want anybody but good players to accept the challenge. They claim that it is getting monotonous beating poor players.

TWICE DAILY TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

A few days spent at the Great World's Fair, St. Louis, is in itself worth a year's education and a sight you cannot afford to miss. Reduced rates in effect from Chatham permit to stop over at Chicago, Detroit, to stop over at Chicago, Detroit, for tickets, illustrated literature and full information, 115 King St.

QUAINT DUTCH FISHES

Deeply interesting is the southwest Holland coast, with the islands that fringe it. These islands constitute a part of the Province of Zeeland. They are inhabited by a population of fisher folk that have lived almost entirely to themselves for 300 years. Fashions do not disturb them, for they have their own, which never change. Each village has its own dialect, customs and style of dress, different from those on the next island. That seemingly constitutes variety enough for these quaint folk.

The islanders do not like to have foreigners come among them, especially the average tourist, and no wonder. The tourist is too often a provincial person, whose brain is not wide enough to appreciate anything different from what he has been accustomed to in his own little earth patch. The Dutch fisher folk have seen the average tourist come among them and make sport of the dress and customs, which they regard with absolute reverence, and they want none of these shallow-pated creatures nosing around their premises.

The Zeelanders have their own world, tiny, but complete. They marry among themselves, but outside the forbidden ties of consanguinity. They live their own life. They have no use for anybody from anywhere else. Yet to the tourist who goes among them quietly and cautiously they open their hearts and their houses—temporarily, that is.

In their homes is found the veritable flowering out of Dutch art in blue and white, in brass and tiling. Zeeland fisher people would delight alike the soul of the artist, the physical culturist, the total abstainer, and the vegetarian. They are truly a splendid race. They have blue eyes and regular features, and the women have white and rose complexions of dazzling beauty. They are strong and nobly formed. The fine physique of both men and women is perhaps due to their habits of living. Eating meat among them is a happening of the rarest. Alcohol in any shape or form they never touch. Their strongest beverage is weak tea or coffee, which they drink several times a day, whenever they feel inclined.

Perhaps, too, their abstemiousness from heating, overstimulating food and drink partly accounts for the high and pure morality that prevails among them. They are as honest and clean and virtuous and gentle as an old time Quaker.

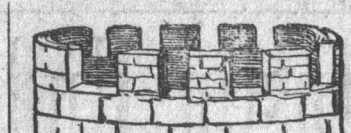

Their habits are the simplest. Like the Japanese, they have reduced physical needs to the ultimate of refined simplicity, and there they rest, a noble, courageous people. How the world of fashion and greed would envy them if it knew enough to! They are profoundly religious too. Dwellers upon and by the sea, are nearly always so. Still the angelus rings at 6 o'clock when the working day is done in those Zeeland villages whose inhabitants are Roman Catholics. At the sound of it men and women sitting in their homes rise and stand. Men take off their caps; women lay down their work. Thus standing they cross themselves and tell their beads and bow their heads a few moments in silent prayer.

These fine people are well-to-do. There is no real poverty among them. Their bodily wants are few and easily satisfied. Yet both the men and women are fond of ornament and showy dress on holidays. But since among them fashion never changes valuable garments, jewels and furnishings are handed down from generation to generation.

Ornaments of solid gold and silver, gold headbands, coral necklaces with great golden clasps, are much worn by the women. They are expert at needlework and construct pieces of embroidery beautiful and splendid. The men are away at sea fishing all the week, returning to their homes on Sunday.

Lady Stanley.

Lady Dorothy Tennant Stanley, widow of Sir Henry M. Stanley, greatest of African explorers, has many friends all over the world. Before her marriage to Sir Henry in 1890 Dorothy Tennant had attracted much attention as an artist of considerable talent and a social light.

The strongest castle could be reduced by siege if the garrison could be starved out. The strongest body has to give up the fight when starvation weakens it. There are more deaths from starvation than the world dreams of. When the stomach is diseased and the food eaten is not digested and assimilated, then the strength of the body begins to fail because of lack of nutrition, and the weak body falls an easy victim to the microbes of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores physical strength in the only possible way, by enabling the assimilation of the nutrition contained in food.

"I was sick for over three years with a complication of stomach troubles," writes Mr. John M. Castana, residing at 294 Arch St., Chicago, Illinois. "I had tried every good physician I knew of, as well as many patent medicines, but received only temporary relief. One day a friend recommended your Golden Medical Discovery. I immediately procured some and began its use. Commenced to gain the first week, and after I had taken only one bottle I could eat as well as any one without experiencing ill effects. I took five bottles, and to-day am happy to announce that I am as well and healthy as any one could be. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains. You lose. Therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TURTLE FLESH.

No one really knows how large a turtle may grow, but certainly there does not appear to be much if any exaggeration attached to the statements of Pliny and Strabo, who, describing the chelonophagi of the Red sea, say that they utilized the shells of the turtles they had eaten as roofs to their huts and boats for their feeble voyages.

Strange to say, the handsomest turtle, the hawk's bill variety (Chelone imbricata), furnishes the worst flesh, being so strongly flavored with musk as to be almost unpalatable. This peculiarity would seem to point to a diet of squid since these molluscs are exceedingly musky. But it may not be out of place to remark here that turtle flesh, even of the best sort, is not nice. As Sam Weller's pianist hoarsely whispered, "It's the seasoning as does it."

A diet of turtle steaks or of hashed turtle or of turtle soup, as nature, would soon sicken any one but a savage. For sixpence or its equivalent in most of the West India islands towns one can get a heaped plate of turtle steak with bread or jam or sweet potatoes ad lib. But I never knew even a hungry sailor who wanted more than one meal a week of it, for all its cheapness. The fact is that in the cult of turtle soup we are following (a long way off, it is true) the example set by the Chinese, who love gelatinous soups and pay fabulous prices for the nests of the sea swallows, the holothurins, or sea slug, and the sharks' fins because of their gelatinous qualities. — Frank T. Bullen in Leslie's.

THIS MUSICIAN IS DELIGHTED

Rosedene, Ont., July 11.—(Special)—Mr. Samuel J. Crow, the well-known musician of this place, relates an experience that adds to the already great popularity of Dodd's Kidney Pills in this locality.

"I suffered for years with Kidney Trouble," says Mr. Crow, "which became aggravated with every attack of cold and caused me much agony. The disease developed into Gravel, when it was totally unfit for anything."

"I tried different remedies without the desired result and was in much misery when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills which to my astonishment and delight I immediately began to recover."

"After using five boxes the ailment had entirely ceased and I was again enjoying perfect vigor, all of which I owe to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The fact that Gravel yields so readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills is good news indeed, as it does away with those terrible operations that were supposed to be the only relief from this trouble.

Hair Raising.

Just when the mutilation of the dead by tearing the skin from the head began will never be known, for the origin is lost in the midst of ages, the record extending back beyond even the mythical period of man's existence. In the book of Macabees it is recorded that at the termination of one of the battles of which that bloody history is so full the victorious soldiers tore the skin from the heads of their vanquished foes. This would be evidence that the custom of scalp taking was one of the indulgences even of those people of whom we have record in the Bible.

Be it as it may, it is an established fact that the custom is a universal one, so far as savage man is concerned. Whether ethnologists can build a theory of a common origin of man from this or not, or whether this can be taken as an evidence that the Indians are the descendants of the lost Israelite tribes because of their habit of securing mementos of hair from their fallen enemies, is something time alone will develop. Be that as it may, it is a fact that all Indian tribes, to a certain extent, scalp their enemies who have fallen in battle.—London Globe.

Curious Fact in Natural History.

An incident which will be interesting to naturalists is told in a recent number of the Scotsman. One of the foresters in the employ of the Marquis of Lothian was returning from his work when he noticed a wild duck flying from a larch tree. On close examination he observed a common brown owl looking down from what appeared to be a nest in the cleft of the tree about thirty feet from the ground and apparently near the place from which the duck had flown. Curiosity prompted him to climb the place, which he did with great difficulty. The owl on his approach flew off, and to his surprise he found in the nest two eggs—an owl's and a wild duck's. It is not uncommon for both owls and ducks to build their nests high up on trees, but it is unheard of for one nest to be appropriated by both birds.

A Clever Minister.

"To the town of Norridgewock, in Maine," said a clergyman, "a strange minister once came to preach. He preached duly, and after the sermon was over he mingled with the congregation, expecting that some one would invite him to dinner. One by one, however, the congregation departed, offering the hungry minister no hospitality, and he began to feel anxious. Where was he to eat? As the last deacon was leaving the church the minister rushed up to him and shook him warmly by the hand.

"I want you to come home and dine with me," the minister said.

"Why, where do you live?" said the deacon.

"About thirty miles from here."

"The deacon reddened. 'Oh, you come and dine with me instead,' he said."

A Gypsy Prophecy.

An English magazine relates a curious instance of gypsy prophecy. The third Earl of Malmesbury, as Lord Fitzharris, was riding to a yeoman's review near Christchurch, when his orderly, some distance in front, ordered a gypsy woman to open a gate. The gypsy woman quietly waited till Lord Fitzharris and his staff rode up, when she addressed them, saying, "Oh, you think you are a lot of fine fellows now, but I can tell you that one day your bones will be white in that field." Lord Fitzharris laughed and asked her whether she thought they were going to have a battle, adding it was not very likely in that case they would choose such a spot. More than forty years later the field was turned into a cemetery.

A Country of Linguists.

Almost every native of Iceland, even the peasants and fishermen, can speak at least one foreign language besides his local Danish dialect. Some years ago it became a fad to study languages, and now a person speaking only one tongue is looked down upon as extremely ignorant. English leads; then come German and French. Papers in these three languages are read extensively in Iceland and may be found in all the village reading rooms.

The Head and Feet.

"The connection between the head and feet is well known. A hot head is ordinarily relieved by a hot footbath. So cold feet tend to congest the brain and other internal organs. Sometimes cold feet are caused by tight lacing or tight fitting shoes. But it is as much a suicidal act to hasten death by compressing the lungs or the feet as by compressing the neck with a rope."

A Serious Decision.

Beatrice (aged six, after remaining in deep thought for quite two minutes, addressing her mother, who has been choosing frocks for her)—Mummy, dear, before you buy the frocks, I've thought it all over, and I think I'd rather be a boy.—London Tit-Bits.

Confined to His Room.

Benefactor.—How is your husband now, my dear woman? Poor Woman.—I am sorry to say, sir, he is confined to his room. Benefactor.—Could I see him? Poor Woman.—Possibly, sir, if you applied at the county jail.

Nothing but Praise.

"Mr. Richley had nothing but praise for your work for him before the citizens' committee," said the friend.

"Yes," replied the lobbyist gloomily, "nothing but praise."

Perfection.

Husband.—H'm—er—what's the matter with this cake? Wife.—There can't be anything the matter. The cookery book says it is the most delicious cake that can be made.

CHOICE LOTS FOR SALE

The lots still left in the Athletic Ground Survey are undoubtedly the best value offered in the city at the present time. Why is it that you can buy certain properties in the city today for about one-half of the original cost? Simply because some persons were foolish enough to select a lot in an undesirable locality because it was cheap, and then build a good house on it. Such properties must be sacrificed when put on the market in order to effect a sale. Be Wise, Get in a Good Location. The best residence property is always the cheapest. When you want to sell you will have scores of purchasers.

The man who would build a good house on this property worth from $1,500 to $2,500 could readily dispose of it before it would be ready for occupancy, at an advance of $500 to $800, and still give the purchaser good value, as the actual value of these lots is certainly double what is asked for them. Call at the Business College to see the plans and get prices.—D. McLELLAN.

S. S. BOARD

Tenders were received for heating from Watt & Son, J. McKay and Wenless. Messrs. Watt and McKay were heard in explanation to their plans and tenders. No tender was accepted, but the matter was left with a special heating committee to investigate. The committee is composed of Messrs. R. Stevens, F. Tschirhart, P. Robert and A. C. Trudell. Another special meeting of the Board will be held next Monday evening to receive the report of this committee.

It was testified in a London police court recently that lunatic asylums contain a larger percentage of piano tuners than of representatives of any other trade. Any one who has been forced to listen to a piano being tuned can understand the nerve racking nature of such a business.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA

REMEDY.

The uniform success of this remedy has made it the most popular preparation in use for bowel complaints. It is everywhere recognized as the one remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant to take. It is especially valuable for summer diarrhoea in children and is undoubtedly the means of saving the lives of a great many children each year. For sale by All Druggists.

The Goddess Pele.

Pele, the dreadful goddess of volcanic fires, first made her abode among the Hawaiian Islands in company with many furious brothers and sisters ages ago. Scholars suppose that Pele and the wind gods were introduced into the mythology of Hawaii at the time of the second migration of Polynesians.

HOW'S THIS?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him. Walding, Kinfan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price, 75c per bottle. Sold by All Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Ancient Carpenters.

The carpenters of the middle ages must have been very expert, for not otherwise could they have erected the enormous timber works necessary in the building of the great cathedrals of that day, but they have left no records of the manner in which the task was performed.

All Druggists will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

An Old Clock.

The clock placed in the hall of the Holborn (England) borough council is at least 250 years old and has been in the possession of the local authorities for that period. It still keeps good time.

IT'S WHAT IT LEADS TO

That makes Catarrh such a dreaded disease. If you have Catarrh taint, dropping in the throat, if you hawk and spit and have a stuffed up feeling in your nostrils you should use Chamberlain's Catarrh Remedy at once and get cured. Thousands have been saved from Consumption and completely cured by Catarrh Remedy, so there is no reason why you shouldn't stamp out your Catarrh also. Catarrh Remedy will really cure you and prevent the disease from returning. It's very pleasant, just balsamic medicated vapor, no nauseous drugs. Absolute cure guaranteed to users of Catarrh Remedy; it can't fail, try it. Complete outfit $1.00; sample size 25c.

Public Bakeries.

In 1298 public bakeries were established in Paris, and inspectors were appointed to see that the loaves were of proper weight and that no lime or clay was mixed with the bread.

A SATISFACTORY PILE REMEDY.

OUT OF WORK.

The tragedy of unemployment deepens in the case of those men who are visibly aging, passing prematurely into that condition when society has neither use nor regard for their services. The development of the modern city life in its feverish thirst for gain sucks up the activities of the young. Work can always be found for the children. But the man of forty has already become suspect. At fifty there is evidently stretching before him the bleak old age of the unwanted poor. The despairing clutch of the aging at any degrading occupation which before they would have scorned is one of the commonest and pitifullest sights of modern life. I think of those whom I have known, those who dye their hair to keep the appearance of youth, the applicants for positions, their efforts toward respectability, the ink lined coat, the shabbiness concealed, the attempt, always so grotesque and ineffective, to strike the right note between a dignity that will command respect and an eagerness that will become a mere mendicant pleading for aid.

I remember one with a record of over thirty years' consistent service, exhibiting hands twisted and gnarled with disease, who shuffles daily through his work with the help of kindly comrades, fearing each day to be detected. Though the work itself is an agony, the one panic fear is not that he shall be compelled but that he shall be forbidden to continue. I think of others tucked away out of sight in the recesses of tenement dwellings, flung aside from the active machinery of the world, who "cannot quite bring themselves" to join the unemployed processions or solicit a promiscuous charity of the crowd, who cling to the desperate hope that one day the cloud will lighten, the miracle happen that some one will be found desiring their services. This is in no austere and frugal community, with difficulty supporting its children, but amid wealth pouring into its borders beyond the dreams of avarice and such luxury and vain display as can only be paralleled in the later days of Rome.

Guarding the Mouth.

Remember the disgust which over spreads the faces in a railroad car when a woman was seen to give her poodle a drink from the public drinking glass. No one else touched it during that trip, but it is more dangerous and not less disgusting to drink after human beings than a dog. Fortunately most disease germs die easily, and it is chiefly by the quite direct means of contact just suggested that the contagious diseases pass from one to another. If we put nothing into the mouth except what belongs there, we might ride in a car with a diphtheria patient and run no chance of catching the disease. Disease germs do not fly about seeking whom they may devour. The matter of protection is largely in our own hands.—Good Housekeeping.

Hopeless Case.

The forgetful man was stepping jauntily along with a smile on his cheerful face when he was accosted by a friend.
"Look here," said the man. "Why in the world are you carrying two umbrellas?"
"Why, let me think," said the forgetful man. "Oh, yes, I know how it happened. My wife wanted me to get her umbrella that's been mended, and she thought I'd better bring along mine to remind me, it being a pleasant day, and then I thought I'd better bring two in case I stepped in anywhere and happened to forget one of them."

Trapped in Armor.

Trying on ancient armor is not always an agreeable experiment. Judging from the experience of a French artist. He had bought a quaint old helmet and put it on his own head to judge the effect. Unfortunately he touched a spring, the visor shot down suddenly, and, being alone in the studio, he could not free himself from the medieval head covering without help. At last he ran into the street, where his appearance created considerable amusement till a charitable passerby managed to get him free.—Hour Glass.

An Odd Globe.

A great globe ornamented with the map of the earth carved in stone decorates the estate of an eccentric Englishman at Swanage. It stands overlooking the sea and is visible for quite a distance. One may walk about it and study it in detail. The plain surfaces, such as the oceans, lakes and deserts, are decorated with Scriptural texts, which are supposed to apply especially to the locality they occupy.

A Short Story.

Chapter I.—"I think you are just the bestest, goodest husband in all the world!"

Chapter II.—"I wonder how much she wants?"

Chapter III.—"And he gave it to me without fussing a bit. I wonder what he has been up to?"

The Business Man.
"Don't you think he rather likes me?"
"Oh, well enough to consent to your marriage to his daughter, but I don't think you'd better try to borrow any money from him."

Goodies.

In the thirteenth century the sweetmeats for the tables of royalty and nobility were prepared by the apothecaries, who called their confections "goodies."

THE GREATEST FAMILY REMEDY

And one well known in most Canadian homes is Nerviline, a perfect panacea for all internal and external pain. Mrs. M. E. Cartwright, of Morris, says:—I couldn't think of being without Nerviline. When I get toothache Nerviline stops it. If I get a sick headache, have a trouble with my stomach or bowels I can rely on Nerviline to cure me promptly. To break up a cold or rub on for rheumatism or neuralgia Nerviline has no equal. It's priceless in any family. Nerviline is king over all pain and costs 25c.

Snow Pudding.

Any one who is in the habit of making snow pudding will find preserved pineapple a great addition to it. When the snow is ready pour it into the mold until you have a good foundation, add your pineapple and then the rest of the snow. When it is cold serve, as usual, with soft custard.

HURRIED AND WORRIED ALL DAY.

And the worst of it is you are a little run down and have mighty little chance to catch up. Everything seems like a grindstone wearing down your nerves. You are irritable and get less sleep than is absolutely necessary. Better stop before things get worse. Your best plan is to use Ferrozene for a while and give your nerves and brain a chance to pick up. Ferrozene is the finest tonic a busy man can take. It makes new blood, nourishes the body, strengthens the nerves, improves the appetite and re-habituates the whole system. Try Ferrozene. Price 50c.

GOOD EXCURSION

The Park St. Methodist Sunday School excursion to Walpole Island, on the City of Chatham yesterday, was a splendid success. There was a good crowd on board and everyone enjoyed the trip.

They had delightful weather and the stay on the island was very pleasant. Two baseball games were played, one in which some of the ladies took part, and the other between two teams picked from the excursionists by Ald. Walter Piggott and William Doherty, the latter's side winning by a score of 8-7. Races were also held. Rev. Mr. Malott won the married man's race and Mr. Austin came in last. Dr. Hicks won the single man's race. Ald. Piggott bringing up the extreme rear. Mrs. Pickering won the married woman's race and Miss White the single ladies' race.

The ladies who had charge of the refreshment booth were Misses Mounteer, White, Massey, Jordan, Somerville, Martin, Jordan and Mesdames Wemp and Barfoot. W. Mounteer, P. Morley, Noble Gardiner, W. Snell and J. A. Wilson had charge of the candy counters.

The excursionists returned to the city at nine o'clock, a tired but happy crowd.

USING CANCELED STAMPS

Toronto, July 12.—The local post office authorities have instituted a prosecution against W. W. Stoddart, of the firm of Caplin and Stoddart, real estate brokers, Yonge street Arcade, on the charge of using cancelled postage stamps on new mail matter. Stoddart admits that he used a cancelled stamp that was only slightly marked, but denies that he used any chemicals to erase the cancellation. He says he offered Post Office Inspector Henderson $10 as payment for the stamps which he had used wrongly. The Crown authorities exonerate Mr. Caplin for participation in his partner's alleged offence.

High Grade Wheeler and Wilson Sewing Machines

Madame West wishes to inform the public that she is the agent for this well known machine for the County of Kent. It is one-third easier, one-third faster, is the only machine that does not fail in any part. Anyone wishing to get a machine or wishing to inspect, can do so by calling on MADAME WEST, at Thibodeau & Jacques, or room 73, Garret House.

IN THE ROUNDHOUSE

THE ATTENTION THAT IS BESTOWED UPON THE LOCOMOTIVES.

Constant and Careful Grooming Required by the Great Iron Horses of the Rail—How the Tires of the Big Driving Wheels are Tightened.

Any one at all familiar with railroads has seen the engineer dismount from the cab, oil can in hand, as soon as the train has come to a stop at some way station; seen him walk slowly about the ponderous machine, feeling of each bearing with his free hand as he filled the cups with oil; seen him perhaps tap a valve gently with a wrench or examine critically some ill working air pump.

To any man all this is interesting, but how many are there in all the vast crowd that enter the city daily at the great terminals who can tell offhand what becomes of the train when once the cars are emptied of the passengers? To be sure, they have seen the cars on a siding out in the yard. They know perhaps that a roundhouse is a place where engines are kept when not in actual use. But beyond this the ideas of the ordinary man are a bit hazy.

As soon as the passengers have left a train that has just come in from a long dusty run it is backed out into the yard, and the cars are set off on a side track. Men go upon them at once and begin to put them in readiness for the next trip. The windows are washed, cars freed from all filth and dirt, seats cleaned, water tanks cared for and the lighting apparatus put in order.

The locomotive, after leaving the cars, proceeds at once to the roundhouse, where the ponderous machine also receives a proper overhauling. First of all, the tanks are filled with water and the fuel supply is replenished. Then a few puffs bring the fire box above the ash pit, where the fires are cleaned and dumped altogether. The next thing is to stable the great iron horse.

The roundhouse itself is a most unimposing place, with its soot begrimed walls and smoky interior. These buildings are all constructed on the same general lines, low, one story structures, generally built of brick and semicircular in shape. The center of the circle is the center of the turntable. Arranged along the inner side of the building is a line of doors, each exactly like its neighbor. Under each runs a track of standard gauge, giving the whole an appearance not unlike a spider's web, the center of which is the turntable.

The turntable itself consists of a pit walled with stone, across which is a bridge free at the ends, but balanced at the center on a spindle. Rails are laid across this, as if it were a part of the roadbed.

When the fires of the locomotive have been cared for the engineer runs his machine upon the table. With deft hand at the throttle, he brings it to a stop at the precise point where the hundred tons of steel balance on the spindle that supports the bridge. Then the ponderous mass is slowly revolved until the required track is reached and the engine is backed into the roundhouse.

Once within the house the engineer's duty is done. He has but to go to the office and report in a book prepared for the purpose any repairs that are needed, and he can go home, assured that his machine will be ready for him when he starts on the next run.

The engine is now turned over to the roundhouse crew, who go to work on it at once. The attention that a locomotive receives on arrival at the roundhouse is about the same that one would expect to see bestowed upon a race horse. Wipers go over every inch of the surface carefully, removing all dust and oil. Others drop into the pit beneath the machine and wipe the running gear. The headlight is carefully cared for and the brass polished. In fact, the whole machine is put in first class shape in every way.

Throughout this work keen watch is kept for any signs of broken parts, and any found are repaired. The hundred or more flues are cleaned by steam pressure.

An engine seldom comes to the house that does not need repairs of some sort. The delicate mechanism is constantly becoming broken, and unceasing attention is required.

One of the most interesting of all the repairs that are made in the roundhouse is the tightening of the tires on the drive wheels. Each wheel is surrounded with a heavy steel tire. These occasionally work loose, and it becomes necessary that they be tightened without sending the locomotive to the shops.

To do this a stream of oil is fed automatically upon the tire and allowed to burn as it runs down. The result is that the whole rim is soon a circle of flame. This is kept up for a long time, and the tire, being heated faster than the wheel and the tire, when the tire has again become cold it contracts and clutches the wheel hard and fast.

The cumbersome repairs, such as turning down worn drive wheels and replacing boilers, go to the shops, where lathes, cranes and forges are to be had. But all the minor troubles are remedied at the "stables," and the foreman of the roundhouse is responsible for the condition of the engines. He is the man to whom all look in an emergency, and it is he who must look forward and plan for the repairs in such a way as not to interfere with the regular operation of the trains.

When men speak ill of thee, live so that nobody will believe them.—Plato.

BUGLE BAND TEAM LOST.

The Bugle Band team surely had their hard luck with them yesterday. After having the game practically won, they lost. Score, four goals to three.

The Chatham boys just played rings around them, according to the reports, the first half. The trouble, however, came when Bennett at point was laid off for five minutes by Referee Cornwall. Our boys say there was no call for it at all. However, in that five minutes the Kents scored three goals. The Bugle Band defence seemed to have gone to pieces. Blenheim got another soon afterwards, making the score 4 to 3 in their favor.

Just at the finish Ross put a fourth in for the Chathamites, but Referee Cornwall said the time whistle had already been blown.

F. Brundage, F. Ross and W. Coupland scored for Chatham.

Goal—Hicks.
Point—Bennett.
Cover point—Read.
1st def.—Oldershaw.
2nd def.—Hutchinson.
3rd def.—Ingram.
Centre—Tackaberry.
3rd home—Lawson.
2nd home—F. Brundage.
1st home—Coupland.
Outside home—C. Brundage.
Inside home—F. Ross.

A King St. merchant advises that it would be a good idea to have the stores on King St. closed from four o'clock until six o'clock during the Brantford-Tecumseh game here. This promises to be one of the best games of the season and it should receive liberal support from the Chatham people.

CANADA VS. STATES.

Philadelphia, July 12.—The second day's play in the international cricket match between Canada and the United States at Haverford was cut short to-day by a thunder-storm while the Canadians were at bat in the second inning. When stumps were drawn the Canadians had lost eight wickets in the second inning. Their grand total for the first inning and eight wickets of the second inning was 343, or fourteen runs more than the Americans made in their first inning. The probability is that the Americans will win the match to-morrow. Summaries:—
