DEATH OF MRS RANKIN

The body of Mrs M. Rankin, who died suddenly at her residence, 529 Spence street, Winnipeg, on Friday, March 7, arrived here on Friday accompanied by her daughter, Mrs M. Dunsford, of Yorkton, Sask., and son, and was taken to the residence of her nephew, E. J. Purcell, Athens, where service was conducted on Saturday by the Rev. W. H. Montgomery.

Deceased was the surviving member of the well known Taber family of Athens and vicinity, the late Robert Taber being a brother of Mrs Rankin.

A Pleasant Evening

The basement of St. Paul's Presbyterian church was filled to the doors on Tuesday evening by citizens and students desirous of hearing Miss Mackay's address on the subject, "China; Past Present and Future." They were rewarded with the pleasure of hearing a highly interesting and educational review of the history of that great empire, presented in a manner that held the undivided attention of all until the close.

The president of the Ladies' Church Fund Society, Mrs Charles F. Yates, presided very acceptably over the evening's programme, which included a vocal solo by Miss Ella Sexton, a violin solo by Miss Bottomly and a quartette by the Misses Covey and Messrs. T. Drennan and E. Sexton.

The promotion of the growth of legumes is the one effect which, above all others, justifies the use of lime.

The production of larger crops by any means except direct fertilization, by the growth of lime, by superior tillage, or by the use of lime, necessitates the use of larger amounts of manure, clover and fertilizer to maintain the balance of income and outgo of plant food...

It should be clearly understood that the two principal effects of lime above discussed are operative at the same time, and that the question of which shall be more dominant is a matter of soil management.

Winsome Winnie

"I wonder if Miss Winnie intends being kinder to her old friend, Mr. Pascoe, now, than she used before she went away." Madam said, apparently studying the braiding of her dress. "It is time for Miss Winnie to think of getting settled. She is eight-and-twenty, I believe."

"Eight-and-twenty, Madam!" returned Miss Trewhella, in a very high-pitched tone. "Nigher four-and-thirty. Mr. Pascoe, her own step-mother's cousin told me nine years ago that he believed his cousin Winnie, as he calls her, was near three-and-twenty."

"Oh, nonsense," said Madam, with a satirical smile. The worthy Miss Trewhella's strenuous efforts at the arithmetic of addition as applied to other women's ages, and the arithmetic of subtraction as applied to her own, were well known to her.

"Well, whatever age she is, Madam—whether she's what I say, or seven or eight-and-twenty as you say," Miss Trewhella continued, shaking her head very much and tightening her lips in a surprising manner—"she's no notion of Mr. Pascoe, Madam. Oh, dear, no. They get very high notions in America, Madam. One's as good as another over there, I hear. There's no one too good, or too fine, or too grand, for a young lady to think of setting her cap at over there! Mr. Pascoe, the purser—her own step-mother's cousin—ain't half good enough for Miss Winnie, since she's been and got the high, presuming Yankee notions! She wasn't across the door-step last night when I noticed it, Madam—reely, now isn't that surprising? Quite the air of being somebody, you know, Madam, and so dressed up! Surprising, Madam! She had nothing less than splendid gros grain on her dress, Madam; and her crape was nine shillings a yard if it was a penny! Reely, you'd think, to see her with Lady Mountrevor, that she was an old acquaintance of her ladyship's, and a titled lady, too—reely surprising! And she! All right in her ladyship's room, too! They're the greatest friends."

"Trewhella, please don't talk so much—you make my head ache," her mistress said, irritably.

"Oh, I beg pardon, Madam—I was only trying to amuse you, seeing as you weren't able to work," Miss Trewhella explained, in her most touchingly humble and reproachful voice. "Of course

MARCH WEATHER RHEUMATIC WEATHER

Victims Can Cure Themselves With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

With the coming of March people who are afflicted with rheumatism begin to have unpleasant reminders of their troubles. The weather is changeable—balmy and springlike one day, raw, cold and piercing the next. It is such sudden changes of weather that sets the pangs and tortures of rheumatism, lumbago and sciatica going. But it must be borne in mind that although weather conditions start the pains, the trouble is deeply rooted in the blood, and can only be cured through the blood. All the lotions and liniments in the world can't cure rheumatism. Rubbing may seem to ease the pain while you are rubbing, but there its value ends. Only through the blood can you cure rheumatism. That's why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have so many thousands of cures of this trouble to their credit. The new, rich blood which they actually make drives out the poisonous weather and rheumatism is vanquished. Among many sufferers from rheumatism who have been cured by this medicine is Miss Mary E. Kelly, South Dummer, Ont. Miss Kelly says: "Some time ago I had a very bad attack of rheumatism. At times I would be confined to bed for a couple of days and would seem almost paralyzed with the intense pain in my back and legs. At such times I could not walk and my joints were stiff and swollen. I consulted different doctors and took their medicine, but did not get more than temporary relief. At this time a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got a supply. After taking a few boxes I found they were greatly helping me, and I continued their use until the trouble completely disappeared. I can strongly recommend this medicine to others who suffer as I did from the pangs and tortures of rheumatism."

If you suffer from rheumatism, or any other disease of the blood, begin to cure yourself to-day with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

It's nothing to me what Miss Caerlyon aspires to or doesn't aspire to. I shouldn't have presumed to mention Miss Caerlyon's sayings, or doings, or goings on in any manner, only thought it would be amusing to you, Madam, this terrible dreary day, and your nerves so bad."

The worthy creature's voice subsided into an injured whine, and with a melancholy sigh she glided out of her mistress's presence.

The white jewelled hands trembled amongst the Berlin wools, and tangled them together; and the stormy flush which those who offended her knew so well colored all Madam Vivian's pale, ivory-like complexion. "Are they all in league against me?" she whispered, passionately clenching her fingers—"my nephew Stephen, that haughty, obstinate woman, Mildred Mountrevor, and Winnie Caerlyon? Am I to be as nothing, if a man's folly, a reckless, self-willed woman's whim, and a presuming young person's intentions are set on achieving a thing? How dare she! How dare Mildred Mountrevor make light of my wishes and my authority in my own house! How dare Winnie Caerlyon dream of it! There is yet time," said Madam, growing feverish with anger, and beginning to pace the room. "I shall put an end to this matter, one way or another. Winnie Caerlyon shall know what she is daring if she ventures to interfere with my plans for the future of Stephen Tredennick."

CHAPTER XXVII. "Winnie, you shall not attempt it! Winnie, my dear, you are mad to think of it! Winnie, my child, would you have your father stand by to see you murdered? My poor little girl, the first blow of those waves would knock your life out in an instant!"

But all she said was—"Let me go, I am not afraid—not afraid, if I must die, so long as I can save all those below! Father, father, their lives are in our hands! Don't forbid me, Lady Mildred, speak to him!"

"Oh, bless 'e, Miss Winnie, don't 'e think to doin' such like," a stout fisherman interposed. "I'll try! Let me try, Lieutenant."

"No!" Winnie said, putting him back. "You can hold the rope. You are a heavy man—there might be more danger for you; and you have a wife and children depending on you also. I will go. Father, you will not say 'No.' It is my duty, father, you will not refuse to let me risk my life for the lives of others, will you? You would risk your own freely."

"Winnie, my child," he cried, with tears, "don't talk so! I can't say 'No'—I can't say 'Yes'—I can't stand by to see you killed! My girl, you'd never accomplish such a terrible feat—you needn't think of it."

"Let me try," she kissed his face and murmured a few words in his ear. "All I have is for you and mamma and the children, father; you will find papers in my desk," and the grave, reserved, unemotional father shook with nerves, and turned away to hide from the sight of his gentle daughter's going to her doom.

"Winnie dear—Winnie love!" Lady Mildred cried, choking with agitation. "Winnie, if anything happens to you, I shall feel myself a murderer, for the rest of my life! My brave girl, Heaven keep you! I'll pray for you here, dear." Never again in Tolgooth, or Tregarthen, or in the whole country-side, did any one fear or regard Mildred, Lady Mountrevor, as a cold-hearted, haughty, unapproachable woman after that dreadful day on The-garthen Head. "She was like one of ourselves," they said, referring to her womanly excitement, fear, grief, and affection. Those whom she had fiercely scolded forgave her when she entreated them as those on whose aid she depended—those whom she imperiously ordered about obeyed her, and would have done so without even the promises she lavished of reward. The women pitied her, and shed tears for her distracted grief and excitement at her beloved cousin's possibly untimely end; they liked her and admired her for her passionate, remorseful tenderness for poor little Winnie Caerlyon. "Poor little Miss Winnie!" the poor Lieutenant's daughter—who, they said, was going to her doom—to meet the risk of almost certain death! For Winnie Caerlyon, with her slender black-robed figure, her little white hands, her uncovered head, with its wealth of beautiful brown hair, her meek white face, was taking the place which brave young Will Treglyn had been forced to abandon—was fastening the rope around her poor little fragile girlish waist, and going over Tregarthen Head, down among the blinding sheets of spray and the thundering breakers of the Black Reef—down the face of a deep precipitous overhanging cliff, to attempt the rescue of the survivors of the Chittoo.

Those who stood beside her to see her make the terrible essay said afterwards that they could not have told how it was permitted her to go. Blank amazement had stifled unbelief, enthusiastic admiration of her courage had semi-paralyzed their faculties, until she stood ready for the descent, looking up to heaven in prayer on the very verge of Tregarthen Head.

Her father flung himself on his face with a groan of horror, and a deadly shiver went through the frames of the rough men standing by. Lady Mildred crept forward, her limbs seeming to totter beneath her.

"This once before you go—brave soul, dear girl!" she said, weeping. "Listen, Winnie—I must tell you—I should like you to know—now," she gasped, looking wildly at Winnie, as at one who stood half within the dread portals of eternity. "You asked me something this morning about Stephen? Winnie—Winnie—do you not know? He loved you, dear, long ago! I believe, if he is yet alive, that he loves you still! He always loved you, Winnie!"

The answering smile on the face of the girl to whom she spoke was as the pathetic smile of the calm, passionless dead. And then Winnie Caerlyon, hidden from mortal sight, went down alone to wrestle with an awful fate.

CHAPTER XXVIII. With the thundering voices of the waters in her ears, wailing despair, shrieking vengeance, roaring threats of destruction, all around her the mingling of the clouds of sky and sea—cold, leaden, misty clouds above, cold, white spray-clouds below; with clenched hands, contracted limbs, distended, watching eyes; feeling the awful swaying lither and thither of the ope, and the occasional striking or projections of rock—so on in a stupor dimly feels the roughest arousing movements—Winnie Caerlyon went down, down, swiftly down, until the terrible jagged, black rocks beneath showed like demon forms crouching darkly underneath the concealment of white surf, preparing—oh, so easily and speedily!—to rend and tear asunder the body of their frail young victim—to beat out and deface in hideous disfigurement every trace of womanly fairness in that slender form swaying lither and thither amidst wind and spray, like a fruit reed; down, down, swinging in mid-air here where the shelving cliff overhangs, gliding swiftly, with outstretched, numbed, bleeding hands by a smooth perpendicular face there, guiding the rope with a dull concentration of all her faculties on each jutting spur and crag, lest they strike her into insensibility or kill her in a moment; down, down, and the blinding sheets of spray drench her through and through; down further, and down, down, down, until her head, down still, nearer those cruel black rocks—they are waiting for her—she cannot avoid them—down, till the swaying rope brings her to the great serrated edges, the horrible chevron de frise of splintered granite. The waves stun her—blind her—beat her; the great waves fling their crests over torture and suffocate amidst the rending iron arms, the black whirlpools of the Black Reef; but one fierce rock Titan holds her fast, and, with the white, bare arms, all bruised and torn, clinging to his rough breast, Winnie sits secure in the cradling hollow of a great black boulder, while the hissing waves can only writhe around her feet and bespatter her dripping hair, washed and beaten half out of its tight coils, whilst she cried aloud in thankfulness to Heaven.

Her senses have returned now—clearly, vividly. She can remember, and think, and plan, and decide. Her excited brain, at length, has found some resting place, would carry her through worse dangers than the past ones ten times over. She can recall the position of the rocks, and the scraps of sandy, weed grown banks left bare by the tide, as she remembered them eight years ago. She can slip down this great rock, and, with a bank, mount to his rough breast, Winnie sits secure in the hollowed recesses in that projecting gable of rock above the high water mark. She must climb up there by the fringing growth of sea-weed—up there, where the survivors of the Chittoo lie.

Is there no sight, no sound, to tell if they are there—if anything is to ward her search? She cannot should or signal them; she can do nothing but patiently grope, and feel, and stumble, and climb inch by inch over her painful way, holding by rocks, clinging to sea-weed, reaching over deep pools, stooping and holding her breath under each torrent of foaming water from each crash of the breaker. A little way further she proceeds, the thick white froth covering her black drenched clothes, her long, dripping, clinging tresses like snow and then the little figure—looking scarcely human, save for the great dark, longing, passionate eyes looking out of the white face, and the black shining hair streaming from the waves—clings to the oily, swaying sea weeds and tries to clamber up.

But her swollen, bleeding hands will not hold the slippery fringes tightly—they break away again and again from her hands; the cold is benumbing her, the waves are deafening and blinding her, and at length, with a piercing scream of agonized impatience, pain and despair, she falls prostrate on the rocks below, gazing up at the hidden recesses beyond her sight and reach. She gazes up, pondering in her dizzy bewilderment, cold, and weakness, whether she must die there, after all-gazes up, and sees, looking down upon her, over the heads of rock and sea weed, Stephen Tredennick's face.

He sees her, disbelieving what he sees; he stares, pushing back his wet hair from his laggard face with a tremor of fear that the delirium of cold, hunger and exhaustion is stealing over his senses. He sees her rise to her feet, and point to the rope around her waist, and the gentle, womanly lips seem to utter words, thought he could hear no voice. And then other faces look down upon her, and the dark, cavernous rocks of Tregarthen Head re-echo with wild shouts—hoarse, gasping hurrahs and frantic screams of gladness, relief, hope and welcome.

They fling themselves down, scramble down, tumble down in any manner—eight gaunt, wounded, pallid, half-naked men, with their captain, Stephen Tredennick—and they almost overwhelm, in their wild gratitude, delight, and admiration, the poor, little, trembling womanly form that the sea has well-nigh overwhelmed already.

"A woman! A woman! Come with her, come! Oh, may the Lord bless her brave heart! A little lass come with the rope to save us, captain! How did you get to us? Give us a touch of your hand! Cut and bleed! Cut and bleed! Lord bless you! Who are you? Are you a spirit or a woman?"

Broken starting then in the face had not wrung a tear from their eyes, or broken the brave spirits in those sickly, weather beaten frames; but before the sight of a woman's heroic daring and devotedness, risking her weak life for their, they sobbed and groaned, kissing her bleeding hands, wringing the weight of moisture from her dripping clothes, blessing her, and begging for her name, for their men and mothers' prayers to the end of their lives.

And Stephen Tredennick re-echoed their passionate demand. "Who are you? Who are you?" She unfastened the flat tin case of brandy strapped to her side before she answered him, and held it to a suffering looking man's lips who was crouching, bent double with pain.

"The captain first, thank you—Lord love you!" poor Jack said, faintly, putting the flask aside for which his sunken eyes glistened.

"No, no, Symons, my poor fellow!" And Stephen Tredennick's hand along with Winnie's, guided the reviving draught to the man's pinched blue lips. In a moment the magnetism of touch realized the truth of what the captain had persuaded himself was the wild delusion of his perturbed imagination. "Is it—it is Winnie Caerlyon?" he asked, his worn, weather beaten face lighting up with a flash of incongruous delight and anxiety. "Am I wrong? You were Winnie Caerlyon when I knew you years ago?"

When Appetite Fails and Digestion is Bad

There is Danger Ahead for the Man That Neglects Nature's Warning.

Dyspepsia Tendencies are Serious and Should be Treated Accordingly.

There is a strong moral in the statement of James Schrum, of Pleasant street, Dartmouth, N. S. Like thousands of people, he was failing in health because his stomach and digestive organs were out of repair. His vitality was slipping away; he was losing ground every day.

"I could not have held on much longer. I was wasting away simply because no remedy I used gave tone and strength to my stomach. The vital forces of my system seemed dead. I was advised to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills. What hidden weakness they searched out I don't know, but in a miraculous way they have made a new man of me. My stomach troubles are cured, rich blood now runs through my veins—clear skin and unmistakable evidences of health and vigor I feel every day. Dr. Hamilton's Pills have certainly mastered the secret of curing the sickly emaciated man and I strongly urge everyone in failing health or lost health to use this great remedy."

Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Buttermilk are purely vegetable—25c. per box, five for $1.00, all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catawba Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

ward her search? She cannot should or signal them; she can do nothing but patiently grope, and feel, and stumble, and climb inch by inch over her painful way, holding by rocks, clinging to sea-weed, reaching over deep pools, stooping and holding her breath under each torrent of foaming water from each crash of the breaker. "Is it—it is Winnie Caerlyon?" he asked, his worn, weather beaten face lighting up with a flash of incongruous delight and anxiety. "Am I wrong? You were Winnie Caerlyon when I knew you years ago?"

"I am Winnie Caerlyon, sir," she said, turning away a little from the ardent hope and pleasure in the kind dark eyes, so sunken and encircled with lines.

It was the same words, the same meek tones and gesture, the same gentle little white wistful face, that had appealed to the brave sailor's tender heart the first time he ever saw and spoke to her, patiently sheltering herself, after her patroness's abrupt dismissal from his presence, in the old servants' room; it was something like the same dress too, this long clinging gown of black, her beautiful long hair streaming below her waist, half wet, half blown into wild curls. Yes; she was unchanged after all these years; little Winnie—his dear little Winnie Caerlyon—whom he had loved and pitied from the first moment, as a strong, kind, gentle-hearted man loves a fair, winning, delicate little child; until the deep, peculiar, passionate womanly nature touched the manly heart, awaking interest, admiration and chivalrous pity.

In the long, long years that had ensued in lonely night watches and solitary musings on bygone things, Stephen Tredennick had told himself with a sigh that he had had no chance of his old romantic fancy's being realized, one chance of that dear woman-love and woman-presence in the old home at Tregarthen which he had looked forward to, sometimes with aching, longing, and desire—one chance of the sweet home joys which a sailor loves so dearly and quits so often—and that he had lost this one chance—thrown it away—let it slip through his careless fingers, and it would never more be his.

Those long-ago hopes and wishes, so long buried that they had become but a pleasantly sad memory, were aroused afresh in the hearing of that voice, at the sight of the dear little womanly face he had never once hoped to see again.

"I might have known it," he said, looking earnestly at her. "I did know it; but I could not believe it."

And now, guided by Winnie to the safe place for ascent, the rescued men—each one revived by a draught of the powerful stimulant from the case bottle—directed, encouraged, and prepared for the long, perilous upward journey, were brought up one by one—some quite safely, others meeting with accidents of a slight nature on the way; and the shouts of rejoicing that greeted each arrival could be heard above the roar of the waters lashed of their prey.

The last of the eight sailors had gone up out of their sight, and Stephen Tredennick and Winnie Caerlyon were left alone—alone—shut out from all the world—beyond the reach, for the time, of all earthly presences or influences—that slender rope, which would come down with its weighted slipknots presently, swaying in the wind, their sole mode of communication with the land where their fellow creatures lived—alone on the Black Reef of Tregarthen, with hundreds of feet of frowning crags above them, and behind them the rising tide of the wild sea, and the black, battered bulk of the ill-fated Chittoo.

"Winnie, I thought you were in America," he said, gazing at her, almost doubting the possibility of her identity. "How did you come here to save our lives?"

"I have been home for a week, sir," she answered, simply. "And I came down because poor Will Traglyn, who attempted to descend first, was badly hurt. There was no one else. I was not afraid—not much—and my weight was light on the rope."

"No one else but you!" he echoed, with kindling eyes. "No one else with your pure heart and brave spirit, I am sure; but they might have found some one else whose weight might have been too heavy for the rope, but whose bodily frame would have been better able to endure exposure and hardship than this poor little one," he said, with a melancholy smile, trying to shelter the drenched shivering form. "You knew what ship's crew it was that were wrecked?"

WOMEN NEED A MOSES.

(Detroit Free Press) Perhaps the women ought to be strong-minded enough to declare their emancipations from fashion slavery, but as individuals they are unable to throw off their shackles. They need a leader, some one to set an example, to start a fashion that will backfire on the fashionists. There are millions of good women here who will raise up and call her name Mrs. Savoy. The present queen of fashion and her much-loved mother-in-law did a good deal in this way for their country and the lady who is to occupy some of the corresponding positions in the United States for the next four years can find an example in their methods.

"My health is fine now," Mrs. Savoy says, in an interview. "The pains are gone from my side and back, and when I go to bed I can sleep. Before I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets I could not eat anything heavy, such as meat, but now I can eat practically what I please with no ill effects."

Mrs. Savoy was in a generally run-down condition, and her cure came about by using the natural remedial, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured and invigorated her kidneys, thus purifying her blood and improving the circulation.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets insured proper digestion of her food, thus furnishing the body with the nutrition it required. Women with healthy kidneys and sound digestion can afford to laugh at the minor ills of life.

Cure Your Sore Throat Nerviline Will Do It

Blessed Relief Comes Quick, You Get Comfort, Every Pain Disappears.

"Experience has taught me that the quickest way to cure a sore throat is with Nerviline," writes Mrs. Enoch P. Maclean. "My children always seem to get wet feet and stay out in the cold, and in consequence I have to keep a good household remedy handy. I rub in Nerviline almost every hour, give the children say twenty drops in hot sweetened water, and make them gargle with it. I have yet to see the cold this won't break up quickly."

From the La Have Islands, N. S., Mrs. John Wallis writes: "We have been using Nerviline for about nine years, and find it excellent. When we find any of us getting cold we take Nerviline in hot water. It is a sure relief for it, and is also an instant relief for internal pains of any kind."

The remarkable, pain-subduing power of Nerviline and its ability to check colds, influenza and sore throat is unequalled. Every home should have Nerviline handy on the shelf for sudden illness at night, like cramps or internal pains. Large family size, 50c; trial size, 25c., at all storekeepers, or druggists, or The Catawba Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

VARICOSE VEINS ABOVE ANKLE

Broke Into Sore, Itched and Burned So Badly Could Scarcely Sleep. Red and Inflamed, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Entirely Cured.

217 Greenwood Ave., Toronto, Ontario.—"My trouble was varicose veins above my ankle. It broke into a sore which was painful. The sore itched and burned so badly that I could scarcely sleep. The skin around it was red and inflamed. I could not wear a shoe for eight weeks. I tried several ointments but they didn't seem to do it any good. Then I was recommended to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed with the Cuticura Soap and put a little Cuticura Ointment on and they gave the greatest relief. In a few weeks the sore was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. MacGregor, Feb. 21, 1912.

SALT RHEUM ON BABY'S HEAD

Woodstock, Yarmouth Co., N. S.—"My baby was about three weeks old when he had salt rheum on his head and forehead. It began in a little fine rash, which came on his head and down over his forehead and formed a hard, brown crust. It looked terrible, and it must have bothered him quite a lot, as he would not sleep. I used to wash him with the Cuticura Soap and hot water and put the Cuticura Ointment on, and in three weeks his head and forehead were clear. I can't speak too highly of the Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap." (Signed) Mrs. George B. Allen, Nov. 18, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card, Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 54D, Boston, U. S. A.

WORK IS A PRIVILEGE.

(Toronto Star) The falset of all notions is that commercialism can be cured by giving a man a disgust for his daily work, the splendid work of the twentieth century, filling his brain with feudal and military ideas, clothing his soul in the cast-off clothing of the middle ages. The daily work of life is not an onerous task, but a glorious privilege. We make it a curse by overburdening the greater part of mankind and womankind with great greases, and giving them too little money and too little time to enable them to recuperate their souls. Social reform is the cure for commercialism.

A NEW WAR SCARE.

(Montreal Gazette) Some London newspapers are now worshipping lest the signs of revived national patriotism they think they see in France may lead to war with Germany. They are probably the same papers that a few months ago were scolding over the North Sea signs of a British war with the same power. London has some sober and wise newspapers, which deal with great issues in a grave way. It has also some papers which seek to impress their importance on the public by discovering and exploiting the bogey of the day. The most talk; the former, it can be hoped, best represent the England so much of the world has learned to respect.

INTERESTED IN CANADA.

Long List of British Nobles Buying Property Here.

Real estate is said to be very active in Canada, but the turn-over surely cannot compare with the recent movement in Britain. During the last six or seven months one firm alone has disposed of landed estates to the value of $16,000,000, principally the properties of peers and country squires. At the end of the year it is timely to examine the extent of this movement. A casual enquiry reveals the fact that all classes in British life are responding to the appeal of the Dominion of Canada. Each week throughout the sailing season proper, the steamers of the Canadian Pacific Railway and other lines sailing to Canadian ports have conveyed members of both Houses of Parliament, bankers, heads of investment houses, directors of industrial and insurance companies to an extent that is surprising.

As illustrating the appeal Canada makes to the society woman, the cases of Lady Irene Campbell, who is personally running a farm in Alberta, and Lady Evelyn Ward, who is the proprietor of a millinery shop in Toronto, may be noted. Lords there are in plenty who are owners of farms. Lord Roberts has shown a keen interest in Canadian investments and few issues are made in London which do not have his consideration. A recital of the localities of their interests would be tedious, but it may be said that a big percentage of the peers—probably 75 per cent—are interested in the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia. Comparatively few invest in Ontario lands and the Maritime Provinces, though there is a growing interest in Nova Scotia.

Among the peers who, in one form or another, are interested in the Dominion are:

Generally speaking, the knights and members of Parliament are interested principally in mortgages, industrial, and mines; though, of course, some of their own lands. Sir Kenneth Anderson, for instance, is said to own half the town site of Alberta. Sir William Oodington, Sir Clement Kinloch-Cooke, and Sir Reginald Macleod have recently become interested in tracts of several thousands acres in British Columbia.

An advertisement appearing recently in a London paper makes an appropriate conclusion to this list. A sixteenth century residence and estate which have been in the present owner's family since the reign of Henry VI., are in the market. There may be other reasons for its disposal, but one cannot reasonably exclude the supposition that its owner wants to invest in Canada.

A Veteran Drummer. By the recent death of Sgt. Joshua Donaldson of Ottawa, Canada loses one of its best-known military men and one of the most popular soldiers in the capital corps.

He had to his credit 46 years of service, part of it in the regular army, and was at the time of his death on the active list as sergeant drummer of the Forty-Third Corps.

Sgt. Donaldson had the reputation of being the best drummer in eastern Canada, his prowess in that particular line being known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. As a boy he joined the famous Gordon Highlanders and with that regiment served in India and later throughout the Egyptian campaign of 1882. He wore the medal and star for that campaign and he was later decorated with the Imperial long service medal and the good conduct medal and was also in possession of the long service medal in the Canadian militia.

He was for many years a conspicuous figure at all local military gatherings, especially those promoted by his Scotch comrades as he also played the drum in the pipe band. His reputation as a drummer was national.

The Canada-U. S. Line.

The boundary marks separating Canada from the United States are of a most practical sort. For many hundreds of miles the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes form the natural boundaries; but there is a vast stretch of prairie land beyond with no natural demarcation. The boundary marks here are pillars of iron and wood placed at intervals of one mile. They have been alternately supplied by the two Governments, and may be seen from the Lake of the Woods to the Red River Valley. Beyond that the marks are mounds of earth and cairns of stone.

Didn't Like the Attire. As visitors to the capital know, a statue of Sir John A. Macdonald, on Parliament hill, stands just a little above that of the late Queen Victoria. A rural couple, visiting "The Hill" for the first time, paused before the statue. "Pretty fine likeness of old Sir John," remarked the male half of the delegation.

"Very nice; very good, indeed," agreed his better half, as she sized up the Queen Victoria monument, with its sceptre and flowing robes, "but I don't care very much for the clothes worn by Mrs. Macdonald!"

A PAGE OF ROMANCE.

Historic Islands Now Subject of Legal Action.

An important judgment involving the ownership of fishery rights on Fighting Island in the Detroit River, for which purchasers were ready to pay $125,000, has been given by Mr. Justice Latchford at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. His lordship finds against the defendants, who claim under a license from the Provincial Government for which $50 a year is paid. The wide beaches on the west shore of the island are said to be the best spawning grounds in the world for the true white fish. The island has an intensely interesting history.

In the first place the low, marshy tract lying out in the Detroit River, an area of about 1,300 acres, was occupied by the Wyandottes, a branch of the Hurons. In 1827 Thomas Paxton secured from Sir Peregrine Maitland, the right of occupation. This right was conferred in recognition of the services of Paxton's father, Captain Paxton, for 35 years in the provincial navy. In 1804 Capt. Paxton was peremptorily ordered by His Excellency General Hunter, to set out with an unseaworthy vessel, H. M. schooner "Speedy," to take an assize judge, Mr. Justice Cochrane, with the sheriff and court officials, to the assizes at Newcastle. The boat was never heard of again after it left York. On board, with the judge, was a prisoner who was to be tried for murder, his counsel, and Solicitor-General Gray.

In respect to this loss of his father, Thomas Paxton was granted the right of occupation of "Fighting Island," at a nominal rental. It was at Riviere aux Canards, close by, that the first blood of the war of 1812 was shed.

In 1827 Thomas Paxton bought the island and its fisheries for $6,000. He died in 1874 and left it to his son, who leased fishing rights to Gauthier for $900 a year. Paxton transferred the property to his wife, who mortgaged it, and it came into the possession of F. F. Palms of Detroit for $85,361.17.

The question raised now was whether the Palms estate could give good title to the fisheries or just to the land. Mr. Justice Latchford holds that Gauthier's license from the Provincial Government was obtained by fraud and therefore void. He holds it would be unfair to deprive the grantee of Paxton of the chief element of value of property valued at $125,000.

A reference is directed to the Master at Sandwich to determine the damages for encroachment on the fisheries.

"Kidding" the 1913 Candidates.

Recently there was related one or two incidents of candidates being heckled by fun-loving ratepayers, and several more such stories have recently cropped up—some old and some new.

Arthur Frost, a young man who aspired in vain to be a Toronto alderman at the recent election, gave his audience ten minutes of pure comedy on nomination night and made Speaker W. H. Hoyle, of the Ontario Legislature, almost vibrate off his chair with laughter, when the interrupters got on his trail.

He announced that he would, if elected, vote to establish a home for the feeble-minded. "I am interested in the case of a young woman—"

That was as far as he got for a minute or two. When the noise subsided he began again—"Never mind, boys, I have been married a year and a half."

That only made it worse. Every time the unhappy candidate opened his mouth he put his foot, metaphorically speaking, farther into it, and the audience emphatically refused to take seriously any statement he might make.

One on Lewis Waller.

Mr. Lewis Waller, the eminent English actor who has been touring Canada, told a group of Canadian dramatic critics the other day an amusing little jest, the point of which is at his own expense.

It concerns the fact that Mr. Waller has been favored by five royal commands to give plays before King Edward and Queen Alexandra, as well as other crowned heads. This is a greater share of royal favor than other English actors enjoyed, and at the Green Room Club several Theatopian friends of Mr. Waller were discussing the news of the fifth command performance, which had just been sent to the actor.

"Funny thing that Waller gets all those commands, grumbled one member of the club. "How does he do it?"

"Don't you know the reason?" replied another actor. "You know the Queen is a little bit deaf in one ear, and Waller shouts louder than the rest of us."

Not Real Holidays.

Arthur Sladen, C.M.G., who has been filling the post of private secretary to successive Governors-General for many years, is one of the golf fiends of the Civil Service. It may be mentioned also that the higher officials of the service never take "holidays," they always go "on leave." During the late summer and early fall Sladen was seen out on the links of the Ottawa Golf Club on the Aylmer road, almost daily. One day Col. Lowler, the military secretary of the Duke of Connaught, saw Sladen out there and said: "Hello, Sladen, are you on your holidays?" "Oh, no, old chap," replied Sladen. "I'm too busy to take holidays. Just on leave, you know, just on leave."

DEATH OF DR. BELLAMY

At his home, Rochester, N. Y., on Friday last, Dr. Archibald W. Bellamy departed this life, aged 44 years. He had been in poor health for a couple of years and about a year ago underwent a serious operation for stomach trouble. This afforded only partial relief and his natural vitality failed to return. He was able, however, to attend to his large practice in city and town until about two weeks ago when he was stricken with pleuro-pneumonia and passed away.

Deceased was a son of the late John B. Bellamy of North Augusta and took his higher education in the Athens High School and Queen's University. On graduating in medicine from the latter institution, he at once located in the town of Ironde-quoit, just south of the city limits of Rochester. There his skill as a physician and his high character as a citizen gained for him a wide circle of friends, and latterly he found it necessary to establish an office in the city as well as his home office.

He led a most exemplary life, both as a student and physician, and is pleasantly remembered by many in Athens.

He leaves to mourn his loss, besides his aged mother who has resided with him for several years, one sister, Mrs.
G. F. Donnelly, Athens, and four brothers, namely, Samuel J. of Chicago
Charles of Columbus, Miss., Dr. Norton
M. of Alexandria, and John B. of New Orleans, La. His sister and brothers, Samuel J., Norton and John were with him during the last few days of his life.

To these, in their hour of sorrow, a wide circle of friends extend sincere condolences.

The remains were brought to the home of his sister, accompanied with a wealth of floral tokens.

On Tuesday afternoon service was conducted at the house by Rev. W.
H. Montgomery, who spoke in highly eulogistic terms of the faithful, unselfish life of deceased, who in the midst of his professional duties had found time to render valuable service in Memorial Presbyterian Church, in which he held the office of Deacon and was also a teacher in the Sunday School. In closing, Mr. Montgomery read the following lines, contributed by the pastor of Memorial Church in memory of Dr. Bellamy.

GOOD-BYE

O blessed life of service and of love,
Full of such duties as God's angels know!
His servants serve Him day and night
above, Thou servedst day and night, we thought, below.

O faithful heart, that recked not care or pain
When Duty called thee, or when Love
did lead;
Thou gavest freely, asking not again,
The word of comfort or the costly deed.

O gentle hands, so busy evermore
With healing touch or helpful tenderness!
Twas yours to lift the burdens other bore,
Your sole reward the joy of usefulness.

O tireless feet still walking till the last
Your patient round, as noiseless as the sun!

Your toilsome journey now is overpast,
Your years of pilgrimage at length are done.

We know not how to say the word "Goodbye."

We know not how to leave thee at the gate
That opens for thee toward that city high Where other hands with loving welcome wait.

We long shall miss thee as we go our ways,
The home will miss thee from its broken
band,
Full many a tear will tell thy sober prayer,
And all good works will miss thy helping hand.

And yet Good-bye! good-bye! thou faithful soul!
From toil and trouble thou hast earned release.
Thy weary feet are resting at the goal,
The pain of living ended in God's peace.

The body was deposited in Athens vault, to be interred later in the family plot at North Augusta.

glorious and most precious article of true devotion. Science has long been puzzled at this mysterious work of art.

TRAGEDY AT WESTPORT

On Friday last, two little daughters of John McAndrew, who resides about one mile south of the village, were returning from school to their home. The freight had caused a small stream to overflow, and the girls were cut off from reaching home. They decided to wade through the creek, but the rush of water was so great that the girls were carried along with it. When the searching party arrived they found the eldest, aged nine, caught by a wire fence and living, though suffering much from exhaustion. She could roll nothing of her sister, Rosa, aged seven, except that she had been washed down the stream. Continuing party set out and half a mile further away they found the drowned body of the youngest child washed up on a bank.

MR. GRAHAM'S PHOTOS

(Toronto Star)

The debate on the navy was at its height. A member of the Government side was thundering broadsides. The members of the Cabinet were in their places. Hon. George Graham, ex-minister of Railways, sitting silent, sternly attentive, suddenly motioned to the chief Opposition Whip, Mr. F. F. Par-
dee. The watchful eyes of the Government saw Mr. Pardee slip into the seat beside Mr. Graham. They saw him enter into mysterious counsel with the aggressive and dangerous ex-Minister of Railways, their heads together conversing earnestly in whispers.
They saw Mr. Graham take an envelope from his breast pocket and hide it below his desk, saw Mr. Pardee start eagerly and bend down intently.
Doubtless they wondered what diabolical Opposition plot was hatching against the Government now.

Those above in the gallery, however looking down with a birdseye view, saw the Hon. George Graham take an unmounted print of a baby from the envelope and hold it under his desk before Mr. Pardee's eager eyes. This print was followed by another, showing the same baby with a different expression, but just as nice. In fact, the envelope contained two dozen proof prints of that grandchild altogether, some of the most interesting of which to Mr. Pardee showed the pretty young mother. When the whole number of 24 pictures had been inspected,
Mr. Graham murmured something mysterious into Mr. Pardee's left ear and smiled significantly. The Opposition Whip smiled and nodded as though with enthusiastic agreement. Then Mr. Graham put the mysterious document back into his pocket and Mr.
Pardee slipped back into his seat.

The naval debate proceeded, but the Government didn't know what Hon.
George Graham had communicated to the Opposition Whip.

Concrete is the best building material

A BROAD statement—Yet literally true. The aim of man from the beginning has been to make his building materials as nearly like natural stone as possible. The great labor required to quarry stone led him to seek various manufactured substitutes. The only reason he ever used wood was that it was easiest to get and most convenient to use.
Wood is no longer easy to get. Like most building material, its cost is increasing at an alarming rate.
The cost of concrete is decreasing. So, from the standpoint of either service or economy, Concrete is the best building material.
Canada's farmers are using more concrete, in proportion to their numbers, than the farmers of any other country. Why?
Because they are being supplied with

Canada Cement

a cement of the highest possible quality, which insures the success of their concrete work.
The secret of concrete's popularity in Canada lies in the fact that while we have been advertising the use of concrete, we have also been producing, by scientific methods, a cement so uniformly high in quality that the concrete made with it gives the complete satisfaction our advertisements promised.
Concrete would not have been in such universal use today, had an inferior grade of cement been supplied.
Insist upon getting Canada Cement. It is your best assurance of thoroughly satisfactory results from your concrete work. There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

Without this label it is not "Canada" Cement.

MEDICINES AND STIMULANTS.

Mistakes are so often made in the giving of medicines that it behooves one to be most careful in the matter. All poisons should be placed in dark glass bottles with a red label attached, and always kept in a locked cupboard.

Powders may be taken in a little white sugar or in milk and water. A nurse must be very particular in carrying out the doctor's orders as to whether the medicine should be taken before or after a meal, as grave results may follow if the instructions are not strictly carried out.

STIMULANTS.

The use or abuse of alcohol has been a vexed question for many years. Alcohol is the result of a chemical action which takes place in the juice of grapes when exposed to the air at a certain temperature.

IMPORTANCE OF SUNLIGHT.

There is nothing so important for our physical well-being as sunlight. No human being can be really healthy, nor can children develop who do not spend part of each day in the sunshine.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. CURES ALL KIDNEY DISEASES. RHEUMATISM, BRUISES, BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, GRAVEL.

tion of light and darkness relieves the monotony and weariness of the sick-room, and gives the patient a better chance of recovering.

MUMPS.

At this time of the year there are always a great many children suffering from this complaint. It is a contagious affection of the parotid regions, at the angle of the lower jaw, preceded by febrile symptoms.

Treatment.—Very little medical treatment is required for this disease. The patient must be kept warm, and as he will only be able to move his jaw with difficulty, he will have to live chiefly on soups.

THEIR WISE COURSE.

But all these women had a serious purpose in appearing before the public in such manner. They have obtained the ballot in a number of the states, and they want the moral assistance of the President and Congress for securing their equal political rights with the men throughout the Union.

ADVANCE OR RETROGRADE?

It is well for us to study and respect the wisdom of our ancestors, the wisdom of the fathers. But there is something of which we may be certain from such consideration: it is that our ancestors who were wise were not bound by the past, but acted courageously, vigorously, and with open minds to reform institutions and reapply principles to meet the conditions they faced.

Kidneys Wrong?—If they are you are in danger. When through weakness or disease the kidneys fail to filter the impurities from the blood, trouble comes at once.

HATS FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

Young girls have a splendid stock of hats from which to choose their Easter bonnet. At this early date most of those seen are wide brimmed, with a slight flare on one side, while others have a decided roll all around.

A becoming shape for dress occasions has a wide brim which droops slightly. The under brim has a black velvet facing edged with knife-plaited Valenciennes lace.

A wide piece of black velvet ribbon encircles the side crown of such a hat and is finished at the left side back in a soft knot. The ends are drawn over the edges of the brim and tied again 10 inches from the ends.

The under brim semi-facing of changeable silk, the extreme outer edge being covered with straw. Most of these hats have very little trimming.

Facts for the Curious.

The Syrian Protestant College at Beirut, Syria, has a commercial department that aims to fit its students for positions in the business houses of the Levant.

The new compulsory continuation school for girls at Berlin will give six hours of instruction weekly, one-fourth of which must be given to courses dealing with "education for the home."

Of the million dollars spent by the city of Stockholm, Sweden, for its school system last year, $5,800 was for domestic science, $17,500 for school lunches, $5,400 for school physicians, and $2,400 for the dental clinic.

The Kansas State Board of Health has issued a health almanac that is an important contribution to the campaign of health education. In form it is like the traditional almanac, but the hygienic advice it contains is clear, specific and thoroughly up-to-date. It is patterned after the Virginia health almanac for 1911.

WINNIPEG DRUGGIST ENDORSES SANOL REMEDIES.

Sanol and Sanol's Anti-Diabetes Effect Wonderful Cures. Below is given a copy of a letter from a prominent Winnipeg Druggist. This is but typical of the many we receive advising of the great demand for SANOL and SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES, and the many cures these sterling remedies effect:

The Sanol Manufacturing Co., Winnipeg. Dear Sirs:—In regard to the sale of SANOL and SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES I might say I have been handling the goods for about three months I was obliged to put in SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES to supply one of my customers who now is completely cured and whom, I believe, has sent bottles to his friends. Up to this time I have never really taken much interest in the preparations, but when customer after customer would come in and tell us about what SANOL had done for them I came to the conclusion it would be worth my while to get behind SANOL and recommending it to my customers. This I have done, and I have heard nothing but words of praise for SANOL and SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES. I am Yours truly, Austin's Drug store, P. J. Healy, Mgr.

The original of this letter, with many more of like nature may be seen upon our files at any time. SANOL'S "RELIABLE CURE" for Gall Stones, Kidney Trouble, Kidney Stones, Bladder Stones, Gravel, Lumbago and all other diseases arising from Uric Acid. Price $1.50.

SANOL'S ANTI-DIABETES is the only remedy which has a record of complete cures of Diabetes, price $2.00. For sale at all Leading Druggists. Send for Free Literature. THE SANOL MANUFACTURING CO. LTD., WINNIPEG, MAN.

ENGLAND'S OPPORTUNITY.

Great Britain has now a chance to re-assert her position in the world. She has a war of some seventy years ago left on her standing as a nation and China's efforts to break the dread tyranny of the opium habit now, as never before, has the sympathy of all civilized peoples. The question at present is whether England is capable of the generosity and forbearance necessary to help lessen the stain she has put upon herself.

IN CASE OF EARACHE.

Try Glycerine, Alcohol and Water instead of Oil.

Do not pour hot oil into the ear to relieve pain, says a physician. Heat can be applied much better in a hot mixture of glycerine, alcohol and water, which will not turn rancid or clog up the ear, and can be removed by syringing with water.

A towel or large pad of gauze wrung out of boiling water and closely applied over the ear, covered with oil silk or protective rubber tissue, is better than a hot water bag. This is because more of the steam from the moist cloth enters the ear and softens the tissues which are inflamed.

A still better and almost infallible way to relieve pain in the ear is to invert a funnel over a bowl of boiling hot water, and let the steam from the small end of the funnel pass into the ear as hot as it can be borne.

THE PARENTS' DUTY.

(Stratford Beacon) Police have duties to attend to. One of them should be to keep young boys and girls off the streets at late hours at night. They would not have to do that if all parents did their duty.

ONLY ONCE.

"Father, did mother accept you the first time you proposed to her?" "Yes, my dear; but since then any proposal that I have ever made she has scornfully rejected."

Some people spend all their lives looking in the Lost and Found column for opportunities.

NOVEL "PICK-UP" IN HOT BOULLION.

Men and women who like to "feel good" without a corresponding after-depression are forming the hot-bouillon habit—a habit, however, that not only doesn't form a habit, but is of decided hygienic benefit. A cup of bouillon taken at the psychological moment when energy begins to flag has been found to give fresh impetus to both mind and body, a fact which brain workers should note, as mental concentration is usually exhausting to both mind and muscle.

As all soda-fountains serve hot bouillon, making it almost instantly with the convenient bouillon cube, this particular pick-up is easily attained. And easier still is it, you keep a box of bouillon cubes handy, for then all you need is a cup of boiling water and your refreshment is ready, as all seasoning is put in when the cube is made.

While men will doubtless continue to patronize the fountain, women will enjoy the ease with which bouillon cubes produce a cup of perfect bouillon, the kind the chef serves in big hotels and you do much entertaining are also enthusiastic converts to the bouillon-cube cult, finding it varies the monotony of the eternal afternoon tea, as well as providing an easy and appetizing soup course for luncheons and dinners.

"MASCULINE SUPERIORITY."

(Chicago Tribune) Probably the suffragists will count the experience a profit in that it called attention to a considerable lack of essentials in government, and called attention in such a way that different men will take notice.

It is reported that as a result of the parade a number of cases of hysteria were entered in the hospitals, which may be regarded as a feminine expression of astonishment that gentlemen in considerable numbers could not walk the streets of the national capital without being further.

It is further reported that a much larger number of cases of inebrity were treated, which may be regarded as a masculine expression of superiority, intellectuality, and strength of character.

THE LATEST WRINKLES.

At afternoon receptions some of the loveliest faces are worn. One in soft fleur-de-lis purple chiffon was very becoming to a brunette beauty. Over its robe was worn a sort of tunic-cut in cyclamen velvet, edged with sable. A long string of pearls hung from the neck.

Very chic is a Turkish blouse without sleeves, with its worn over a robe of mousseline or crepe de Chine. One of violet crepe is worked with gold. This is worn over a foundation of lemon crepe de Chine, which has long, wide sleeves of lemon tulle.

At a pleasant at-home the hostess had around her neck a narrow band of black velvet, from which hung some large pearls, while the bracelet on her right wrist was a fine platinum chain set with diamonds, from which hung pearls to match those at the neck.

The strange barbaric design in colored beads, beetle wings, uncut stones of all kinds, together with heavy old Roman and Egyptian ornaments in gold and silver, are used as decorations and trimmings for foundations of silk muslin, printed and plain chiffons and pleated net and tulle.

FOR CHAPPED HANDS.

One of the very best preparations for red and chapped hands is the following: which is recommended by a celebrated French physician: Milk of lettuce, 200 grams. Pure glycerine, 50 grams. Tincture of Peru, 15 grams. Saliolate of soda, 4 grams. To be applied as a lotion night and morning. To make the milk of lettuce, take the large outside leaves of a head of lettuce, pour boiling water over them and let stand for about five minutes, pour the water off and pound the leaves to a paste strain through a jelly bag, or a clean piece of cheesecloth. This is an excellent lotion for rough, red and chapped skin.

JAPANESE COALING DONE BY GIRLS.

Coaling at Nagasaki, Japan, is being done entirely by girls, says The Wide World. Big coal barges bear down upon the ship as it approaches the shore, and as soon as it comes to anchor a rough ladder is placed between the liner and the foremost barge. On each rung of it a girl takes her place. Men in the barge quickly shovel the coal into shallow baskets holding half a bushel each, and these baskets then pass from hand to hand up the living ladder with marvellous celerity. Each girl carries one and swings it straight up in front of her, above her head. Down a second ladder, likewise packed with girls, the empty baskets pass in similar manner back into the barge to be refilled. Barge after barge is emptied in this way. The monotonous chanting never ceases; the living elevator goes on hour after hour with its never-ending stream of baskets, until the barge is full, when the ladders disappear as if by magic, and the ship is ready to proceed on her voyage. A Pacific mail steamer will "bunker" 2,300 tons of coal in six and one-half hours, an average of 353 tons per hour, or nearly six tons per minute—an almost incredible record.

WILSON'S GREAT CHANCE.

It is very evident that as President of the United States Woodrow Wilson proposes to handle all questions in the same earnest and patriotic spirit that he showed while Governor of New Jersey. If Congress backs him up in this high endeavor, revising the tariff with the least possible delay and scoring to play neatly politics, every question of patronage and the distribution of official plum, there seems to be no reason why a new era should not draw in American politics in which partisan animosity will largely disappear and there will be a more general disposition to act solely for the public good. Certainly the new President has shown the way, and the American people will be with him so long as continues in his present course.

Right Hon. John Burns has been blaming the stuff the newspapers print for aggravating the suffragette fury. He added that the British press is imitating the American newspaper, which has so often against public men, so slandered them, that few decent men are willing to go into public life and wear the stigma of a campaign of calumny continued the result would be civic neglect and corruption as it would repel the sensitive, kindly and respectable men who formerly served their fellow-citizens. There is ground for Mr. Burns' complaint and some sympathy for his fears. It is not certain though, that this continent's example is responsible for the newspaper's deterioration. Men who force their obligation to be honorable when they enter into political discussions and contests have never been confined to political circles of the Atlantic.

A QUESTION OF ETHICS.

(Philadelphia Record) It is a nice question in ethics whether, if a woman has the right to vote, as she claims, she has not always the right to do it as she wants to. The point is raised in England, where protests have been raised against severe prison sentences for law-breaking militant suffragettes on the grounds that they will lead to hunger strikes and death by starvation, a form of suicide. Some brutal men cannot see why, if the women are to have the unpleasant proceedings, they should be forcible detained. No such consideration would be shown to male suffragists in the country, the our own, where no such nice questions in practical morals press for solution.

BETTER THAN FRIEDMANN'S

New Tuberculosis Cure Announced at Ottawa.

HAS GOOD RESULTS

Name of Discoverer is Secret as Yet.

Ottawa despatch Dr. F. F. Friedmann already has a rival. The German physician who claims to have discovered a serum which cures tuberculosis, and who demonstrated his method in Ottawa this afternoon, has had his pretensions overshadowed by those of another, though anonymous, investigator, to quote the statements of Dr. A. J. Richer, of St. Agathe, Quebec, in an address delivered at a public meeting held in the Young Men's Christian Association by the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis to-night.

That in justice to a medical man of twenty years' experience and undoubted repute; a man who had two years ago embarked on this particular phase of tuberculosis work, and who had discovered a serum which had shown results on animals much more favorable than those of Dr. Friedmann's alleged cure and preliminary effects on the treatment of the disease in human beings which were most encouraging, he could not refrain from making these results public, though he was not in a position to disclose the name of the man who had made them possible, was Dr. Richer's statement.

DR. RICHER'S STATEMENT.

After referring to the "excitement" which had attended Dr. Friedmann's presence in Ottawa and the notoriety he had received, Dr. Richer went on to say: "The work attributed to Dr. Friedmann is not altogether new. The subject was discussed in two papers delivered last year at the International Congress at Rome, papers quite as advanced as the claims of Dr. Friedmann, and no furor was aroused.

"I feel that in justice to a man for whom I have the greatest esteem, and who has done tuberculosis work for now well on to twenty years—known on both continents as a very earnest worker—who some two years ago took up that phase of the work, and who has already achieved success, without even publishing it—I feel in justice to that man's work I ought to make a statement. In August of last year he handed me some vaccine from live bacilli that he had been working on, and wished to have experiments conducted on animals.

"They were not started till late in the fall, and only recently have I been able to do anything with them. Unfortunately, I am in a position where I have no permission to mention this investigator's name, but it is only fair to say that the work should be in a small way known publicly. So far as experiments go, all that can be shown at the present time are animal experiments on this side. Work has been done on human beings with very encouraging results, and these will likely be published in the course of time, not in the lay press, but through the proper channels, scientific medical journals."

INOCULATED GUINEA PIGS.

The speaker then took the lid off a wooden case which he had brought with him and disclosed two guinea pigs which he had handed around to the audience.

"The animals, he stated, were ones on which he had experimented with the new serum. One of them had been apparently cured, that is its symptoms had disappeared in 48 hours. "This is better than the results attained at Berlin by the use of the Friedmann serum, and which were criticized," said Dr. Richer, "where the vaccine merely prolonged the life of the animals for a short time."

Other experiments he had also conducted, to show the harmlessness of the new vaccine and one of the guinea pigs was an exemplification of this, he stated. It had been given a dose 400 times larger than the ordinary therapeutic dose to show the safety of the treatment. Dr. Richer stated that the anonymous discoverer was not a Canadian.

"The St. Agathe physician's announcement was the feature of to-night's meeting. Of great interest, however, was also a paper delivered by Dr. Charles J. Hastings, medical health officer of Toronto, on "How the Municipality May Best Deal With Tuberculosis." Dr. Hastings recommended the Pasteurization of all milk given to the young and made the statement that 25 to 50 per cent. of Canadian children were infected with tuberculosis."

MONTREAL CHINESE GUILTY.

Montreal, March 17.—After eight minutes' deliberation the jury in the court of King's Bench today found King Tung Sang, Lee Lok and Lee Hoy guilty of attempted murder in connection with the shooting of Moon on in a gambling house in West Leguandier Street, July 21st last. While Crown Prosecutor Walsh pointed out that the charge might be reduced to one of wounding, Mr. Justice Laverne remarked in his charge that such reduction was not possible, but in view of the circumstances a reduction of the charge was necessary in the present case.

CAUGHT BOY BANDITS.

Windsor despatch: A posse of farmers in the Township of Sandwich East pursued two boy bandits for near three hours this afternoon, and finally captured them. The "bandits," Joseph Aubin, aged 15, and Herman Sharon, 15, were discovered leaving a summer house near Sans Souci this afternoon carrying two guns and other plunder, which they had taken from the place.

U. S. AMBASSADORS

McCombs and Olney Will Likely Decline.

Washington, March 17.—Chairman William F. McCombs, of the Democratic National Committee, told President Wilson today, during a conference at the White House, that he preferred not to accept the post of Ambassador to France, that he might remain in private life and probably retain the chairmanship of the National Committee. President Wilson urged Chairman McCombs not to definitely decline the offer, until he had considered it further, and Mr. McCombs agreed to do so.

Mr. McCombs declared the President had determined to pick out diplomatic representatives solely on a basis of ability, rather than wealth. It is the President's wish to have the United States represented abroad by the most capable men, even though they may not be able to live up to the social precedents of their predecessors.

Intimations have been received in Washington that Richard Olney might decline the post of Ambassador to Great Britain, offered to him by President Wilson. Friends with whom Mr. Olney has been in communication thought today that the veteran diplomat would not accept the post, because his law practice had become so extended that he did not feel it possible to abandon that work at the present time. No word had been received at the White House early today from Mr. Olney. Telegrams have been despatched to him by many close friends of President Wilson, urging him to accept.

TO REFORM LORDS

The British Government Announces Its Intentions.

Hereditary Principle Will Be Abolished.

London, March 17.—An important statement was made by Postmaster-General Samuel in the Commons to-night regarding the Government's plan for the reform of the House of Lords. Premier Asquith earlier in the evening, speaking on the subject, said he would take the early opportunity of possessing a plan which would make the Lords a truly impartial and judicial authority.

It was left to Mr. Samuel to indicate briefly the lines on which the reform will be carried out. The new second Chamber, he said, would contain no vestige of the hereditary principle. Under no circumstance would its absolute veto be restored. The House of Lords would be abolished during the lifetime of the present Parliament. This is as far as Mr. Samuel went, but previous declarations of the Government show that the proposal is likely to be an elected second Chamber of about 150 Senators or "Lords of Parliament."

The question of the reform of the Lords arose in the course of the debate on the official Opposition amendment to the address, moved by the Right Hon. Walter Long, M. P. It is concerned with the operations of the Parliament act, and submitted that it would be improper to proceed further with measures of so great importance as the government of Ireland bill and the Welsh disestablishment bill while the constitution of Parliament is still incomplete, and without reference to the electors.

Mr. Long said the Government had shattered the constitution by the failure of the Government to fulfill their debt of honor to reform the House of Lords. The country has been left under single Chamber government, for the House of Lords is at present paralyzed so far as effective action goes.

Mr. Asquith, replying, asked: "Who shattered the constitution?" "Our old constitutional arrangement was shattered," he answered, "when some three or four years ago the House of Lords rejected the Budget. Every thing that has since happened in the rearrangement of our constitutional system is the direct, legitimate and inevitable consequence of that arbitrary and revolutionary proceeding." After declaring the Parliament act as an "imperfect and incomplete thing," Mr. Asquith added: "I shall welcome with unaffected sincerity the day, and I hope it will very soon arrive, when I shall have the honor of proposing a plan which will reconstruct the second chamber into a truly impartial and judicially-minded revising authority."

SEAL HUNT COMMENCES.

St. John's, N.F.L., March 17.—Newfoundland's annual seal hunt began today, when the first division of the sealing fleet set out from this port. The early presence of drift ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and off the Grand Banks, and the fact that seals were sighted several weeks ago, have been taken as indications of a good season.

The seal hunt this year will employ 4,000 men. Nearly all the vessels are equipped with wireless and a series of shore stations has been arranged through which owners may keep in touch with the fleet at all times.

RITUAL MURDER CASE DROPPED.

Kief, March 17.—The indictment of Menahill Bellis, a poor, uneducated Hebrew, who was accused of the ritual murder of a sixteen-year-old boy named Yustenski, has been dropped for lack of proof.

The "Black Hundreds," which is another name for the Russian reactionaries, have been pressing this case and tried to inflame a mob at Kief. Bellis is a simple man of the most humble class who has spent 8000 months in jail for a crime of which he declares he was absolutely innocent.

Ottawa despatch: Leading hotel men from every part of the Dominion waited on the Hon. C. J. JINGOES REBUKED

The German Foreign Office Dressed Down Alarmists.

Berlin, March 17.—The attack of the Cologne Gazette on France in connection with the proposals for a heavy appropriation for military increases and other disturbing articles in the newspapers has caused the Foreign Office to issue a strongly worded counter-statement in the form of an editorial in the North German Gazette, which says the Government has had nothing to do with the alarmist publications. The editorial says that when the intended strengthening of the German army is explained by supposed deterioration relating to Germany and one or the other of her neighbors, such utterances must be regarded in the most decided way.

The article goes on to say that everybody can see that the balance of power in Europe has been altered in consequence of events in the Balkans, and so long as eternal world peace is not guaranteed Germany must realize that she may be forced to defend her frontiers on several sides. It is against such an eventual possibility that Germany is preparing. The paper continues: "The conviction that it is our duty to make such provision is so much the common possession of the whole people that foundationless agitations can only disturb it."

The article concludes by protesting against the "unbridled language of some French newspapers in attempting to represent the German Army Bill as a challenge and menace to France," and contends that the German policy aims at peace.

DIAZ WON'T RETURN

Except United States Medals in Mexico.

A Naples despatch: General Porfirio Diaz declared today that he would not return to Mexico. He was looking well on his arrival from Egypt on board the steamer Adriatic, and he replied to inquiries said that he only desired to go to Mexico to rest quietly. He stated, however, that all his efforts will be directed toward assisting his country to reach a condition of prosperity.

The former dictator added emphatically that he would go back to Mexico in case of intervention in that country by the United States, when all Mexican citizens without distinction would be united against the foreign invader.

General Diaz intends to remain here a few days.

INHUMAN FATHER

To Hang For Burning Children to Death.

Fort Smith, Ark., March 17.—Marion Capps, miner and former minister, was found guilty last night of burning three of his five children to death, and was sentenced to be hanged.

Capps, it was charged, bound his children in an oil-soaked bed in the building, and set fire to the building. Bertina Capps, fifteen years old, and her brother Elba, a year younger, testified at the trial that when they were awakened by their father locking the door to their rooms, they were tied to their beds, and efforts to free themselves were without result until the fire burned the ropes with which they were bound. Capps said the house was set on fire by the overturning of an oil lamp.

HUNGARIAN HOUSE TROUBLES.

Budapest, Hungary, March 17.—Ten members of the Opposition in the Lower House of the Hungarian Parliament were ejected by the police this morning, and the sitting was suspended, owing to turbulent interruptions of the proceedings.

Julius Juth, a former Speaker of the House, protested against the use of force, and declared that all the acts of the present Parliament were illegal. The whole of the members of the Opposition then left the House in a body.

Alexander, a miner, were killed, and the home wrecked, here yesterday, when the explosion of ten kegs of powder which had been stored in the house. The explosion resulted from a track of powder which the son had made from the room containing the explosive to the fireplace in the adjoining room. Alexander was not at home at the time.

SHELLED SERBIAN TRANSPORTS.

Cettinje, Montenegro, Mar. 17.—Four Serbian transports, conveying strong detachments of troops, to assist the Montenegrins in their siege of the fortress of Scutari, were badly riddled yesterday by shells from the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh at San Giovanni Di Mesina. Two of the transports were set on fire. A telegram received here from San Giovanni Di Mesina alleges that the Hamidieh flew the Austro-Hungarian flag.

Another report doubts whether the war vessel was the Hamidieh at all, and says that the cruiser resembles a vessel of the Austrian Kaiserin class.

SUING THE 'GETTES

Asking Damages For Inciting to Vandalism.

Mobs Break Up Two of Their Meetings.

London, March 17.—Premier Asquith in the House of Commons to-day replied to the questions of Lord Robert Cecil and Mr. J. King as to what steps the Government proposed to take to stop the "outrages of persons who desire the enfranchisement of women," notice of which was given yesterday.

The Prime Minister replied very briefly, saying that all the legal steps possible were being taken.

Lord Robert Cecil, who believes in woman suffrage, but is opposed to the methods of the militant suffragettes, asked if any change in the law was contemplated.

The Premier replied that the Cabinet was considering the point.

A writ was served today on Mr. Pethick Lawrence, who with his wife and Mrs. Pankhurst formerly conducted the paper Votes for Women, for the recovery of $3,040, being the balance of the costs for the prosecution of himself and wife and Christabel Pankhurst on a charge of conspiracy last May, when the latter cleared out and has not since returned to England. Part of the costs of the proceedings were recovered in November through the sale of the furniture of the Lawrence home.

There are two actions brought by west end tradesmen to test the personal liability of the Pankhursts and Lawrences for inciting the great window-smashing campaign instigated by these people.

The Women's Social and Political Union says Lillian Lenton, the woman who was sent to jail for setting fire to the pavilion in Kew Gardens, but who was released by order of Home Secretary McKenna and who has disappeared from the house where she was living, has not bolted, but has merely gone to the country to recuperate. According to one story a warrant has been issued for her rearrest. Her release was the cause of a strong protest from the magistrate who sent her to jail.

Two suffragette meetings to-night, one at Edenbridge, Kent, and the other at Radlett, Herefordshire, were broken up by opponents of the cause. At Edenbridge the wall behind the platform was pelted by a fusillade of eggs. The platform was stormed and the police were called out to restore order.

At Radlett the din of the shouting, singing and ringing of bells was maintained for nearly an hour. Red pepper was thrown about the hall and hardly a word of the speeches could be heard.

MRS. PANKHURST STILL ILL.

London, March 17.—The condition of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, is still causing some concern. She was announced as one of the speakers at a meeting at Kensington to-night, but the chairman explained that she was unable to come, although she was not seriously ill.

The speakers declared that militant tactics would be continued. Miss Braekelbury saying that if they could not get the vote by ladylike means they must get it by any means in their power.

FRENCH PROTESTS

Against Immense Increases in the Army.

Paris, March 17.—Some opposition to the immense and hurried increase of the numbers of the French army has made its appearance. Some 50 professors of the Sorbonne, many of them among the finest scholars in France, have issued a united address to the people of France not to allow themselves to be seduced by the military and naval and to forces of reaction which tend toward despotic adventures, hostile to the Republican government.

The professors do not declare them selves opposed to the suggested three years' period of service in the active army, but they do object to the longest and most careful consideration of the situation without haste and without excesses of emotion.

Another declaration signed by Anatole France and several other members of the French Institute, literary men, scientists, professors of provincial universities and colleges, was published today, urging calm consideration of the proposed military measures, which is adopted, will it says so profoundly affect the life of France both intellectually and economically.

TO FIGHT WHITE SLAVERY.

New York, March 17.—Arden Foster, International Commissioner of the British Federation for the Emancipation of Suffered Women, Girls and White Slave Victims, reached here today from Southampton, to endeavor to unite American societies for the suppression of vice with the British organization, which he represents.

Mr. Foster said he would spend four months in this country, during which time he expected to confer with Theodore Roosevelt, John D. Rockefeller, jun., and other prominent men interested in this work.

BRITISH STAMP VENDORS' KICK.

London, March 17.—A strike of 23,000 sub-postmasters and postmistresses in the United Kingdom is threatened unless the Postmaster-General remedies their grievances. These officials, a majority of whom are shopkeepers, run the post-offices concurrently with their own trades. They do not receive salaries, and their pay varies according to the amount of stamps sold. They have for a long time been discontented with the smallness of the commission they receive

UNSINKABLE SHIP

Is the Claim Made For the Liner Olympic.

London, March 17.—A Belfast despatch to the Evening News says: "One of the most wonderful ship-building feats ever known has been nearly finished on the White Star liner Olympic. The nature of the work thus far has been kept secret, but now we are able to say that Harland & Wolff are constructing an enormous steel shell inside her hull. It extends nearly the full length of the ship, from No. 3 bulkhead forward to the rear of the turbine room aft.

"If she collided with icebergs, as her sister ship the Titanic did and her hull were ripped off by a slanting blow she would not sink. The inner shell would keep her afloat almost as if nothing had happened.

"Harland & Wolff, the naval architects, believe they have solved the problem of the unsinkable ship."

LOST LEGS TWICE

But Hero's Second Accident Was Harmless.

Westbury, Long Island, March 17.—William Fitting, a 19-year-old lad, lost both of his legs for the second time yesterday. The first time was four years ago, when he fell under a railway train near the station at Glen Head. On artificial limbs he was standing at the station here yesterday, when he saw a woman crossing the tracks in front of an express train. Recalling the accident which had befallen him, he shouted a warning to the woman, but she did not heed, and young Fitting stamped his way to the tracks and dragged her from danger, only to fall himself across the rails. Other persons on the platform saw the lad run over by the train, and when it came to a stop they rushed to him, expecting to find him fatally hurt. He was picked up legless, but not in the least wounded, as the locomotive wheels had only broken off his wooden legs.

ADMIRAL SCOTT

Quits British Navy to Give Juniors a Chance.

London, March 17.—Speaking at the banquet of the Chamber of Commerce to-night, Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Scott said:—

"At the end of this week I will be out of the navy. There is no reason for me to remain when I only block the path to promotion of those my junior."

The Admiral added that the British navy was never more efficient than at the present time. In the last two months the Admiralty had made great strides in gunnery efficiency than in five years previously.

Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Scott was for a long time director of naval gunnery practice. He is the inventor of night signaling apparatus now used in the Royal Navy and of various appliances for improving heavy gun shooting. He entered the navy in 1866.

EXPLORED SPHINX

Wonderful Find of Prof. Reignor in Egypt.

London, March 17.—A correspondent writing the Westminster Gazette from Cairo, says: "Great interest is being taken in recent discoveries at the Sphinx. Prof. Reignor has succeeded in removing the seal of 60 centuries from the interior of the head, and has gained entrance through the neck to a temple that runs the whole length of the gigantic body, measuring 120 feet in length. In this temple is a pyramid which forms the tomb of Menes, the first King of Egypt, and is supposed to contain his mummified body. Sloping passages from the temple lead to other chambers as yet unexplored, and it is thought to a subterranean city. The importance of these wonderful discoveries can hardly be exaggerated and may prove to be the most valuable yet made."

CONFESSED CHILD MURDER.

Winnipeg, Man., March 17.—A coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder against Mrs. Eva Willis and Victor Poppe for the death of the four-months-old daughter of Mrs. Willis.

There was a dramatic scene when Inspector Dorion, of the St. Boniface Police Department, took the witness stand and testified that Mrs. Willis, after being warned, broke down and admitted she helped Poppe slay her daughter, Ethel Victoria, on the banks of the Red River. The inspector said Mrs. Willis said she held the child's nostrils closed while Poppe shot off the infant's breath by holding his hands over its mouth.
