Ruled Destiny!

CHAPTER IX.
IN THE GLOW OF LOVE.

He kicked at a broken leaf impatiently.

"I promised you; I stayed because you asked me," he said, emphatically; "and you know it."

Floris trembling, picked up her fan. He looked at his watch.

"I have just two minutes more, if you please!" he said, significantly.

"Are you going to be away long?" asked Floris, for the sake of saying something, and speaking as very indifferently as she could.

"I don't know. I dare say. Two or three years, perhaps!" gloomily.

Floris did not speak.

"Why should I come back?" he went on. "I am tired of London life—for the matter of that, I am tired of life altogether. It seems to me that the clever individual who wrote the book called 'Is Life Worth Living?' might have saved himself the trouble, seeing that everybody knows the answer! Life is only worth living when one can get what one wants, and as one never gets the one thing that one wants above all others, why the game is not worth the candle!"

"And yet you have so much," murmured Floris.

"Oh, yes. I know!" he said, bitterly. "I know what you would say; I am a peer of the realm; I am rich—thanks to a fluke of the law, which has enriched me at the expense of others."

Floris colored, and turned her head aside.

"I have heaps of friends, am my own master, and the rest of it! And yet I question whether there is a more miserable man in London than I am to-night, for I have set my heart upon a thing, and I cannot get it."

"I think the five minutes are up, my lord," said Floris.

He took no notice of the reminder, but sat staring at the ground.

"So, Miss Carlisle, I will say good-by. May I say that I hope I go carrying your good wishes with me? Don't speak for a minute, please!" as Floris was framing a commonplace on her lips.

"I know that—that you dislike me! No, I will not say that! You are too good and gentle to dislike anyone! I will not say dislike! But I cannot but feel that my presence is distasteful to you. How can it be otherwise, seeing that it reminds you of all you and yours have lost. Heaven knows that if you would accept it I would restore it all to you—every penny."

"My lord!" coldly, proudly, and yet with a tremor in her voice she tried hard to conceal.

"There! I beg your pardon! I know—I say I know it is not possible! Do you think I have not learned for myself how proud you are, even if you had not told me in so many written words!" and he touched his breast.

"Yes, I keep your note still, to make me miserable when I am far away!" and he laughed bitterly.

Floris drew her cloak around her, and turned her head from him.

"I shall often look at that note, Miss Carlisle. It will serve to remind me that life is not worth living. But, I beg your pardon, I am keeeping you."

He got up, then, before she could move, he sat down again.

"Will you not say that you wish me well, Miss Carlisle?"

Floris opened her lips, but for a moment no sound came, then, at last, she murmured, very softly:

"Yes! I wish you every happiness, my lord!"

"Thank you!" he replied. "But if it is any consolation to you, let me assure you that your wish is quite in vain. I am not happy, and I shall not be. Shall I tell you why?"

Floris was silent, and he did not speak for a minute.

"Yes, I will tell you!" he said, as if he had been debating in his mind whether he should do so or not. "Miss Carlisle, I am going to make you very angry. It is probable that when I have spoken, you will forbid me ever to speak to you again. I am a fool to speak! All day I have been telling myself that it would be better for me to take myself off in silence, but I cannot. I am like the man who stole a fox, and who concealed it under his vest, and was silent until the last moment. This is my last moment, and I must speak, though the words separate us forever."

He was silent while one could count ten, and Floris plucked up courage to smile quietly.

"Had you not better conceal your fox a little longer, my lord?"

"No!" he said. "This is what I have to say: 'Miss Carlisle, I love you!'"

CHAPTER X.
THE STRANGER'S TRAP.

AS he spoke the momentous words, not faltering, as did poor Bertie, but with a grim intensity, with brows knit, and lips set firmly, Floris' heart seemed to stop beating, then gave a great leap of wild joy, of ecstatic triumph, of sublime satisfaction of one who has been long athirst, and feels the cup of life-saving water at her lips.

"I love you!" he said.

A deep crimson spread over Floris' face and neck, and her eyes sank, heavily weighted, while her hands closed on her fan with a spasmodic grasp; but she said no word.

She could not; if she had tried to speak, her lips would only have echoed that grim emphatic avowal: "I lovee you!"

"You are angry!" he said, in a very low voice. "I expected it. You think I have no right to tell you this after the unmistakable signs of aversion you have bestowed on me. I know it. I plead guilty. But I cannot help it. This is the last time we shall meet—you will be glad, I know. We have never met yet but I have offended you, and you have found it necessary to—yes, snub me! But this is the very last time, and—and—will you forgive me?"

She did not speak; she could not. He stooped and took up his opera hat, and looked from it to her as if hesitating whether to go or wait for a word.

"Will you not speak to me?" he said, gravely.

Still she was silent.

Then, as if passion goaded him beyond prudence, he bent over her and laid his hand upon her arm, his strong fingers burning hot and seeming to brand her with their own passion.

"Floris! Have some pity! Speak to me kindly! One kind word! Your icy looks and proud words have cut me to the heart often enough, Heaven knows. Don't hurt me with them now—now that we are going to part!"

"Floris, I love you! I even loved you—think of it!—before I saw you. Even before we met your pride and scorn whipped and tortured me! Unbend a little now, Floris. Send me away—as I know you will, but send me away with one kind word! Say 'Bruce, I do not like you; I have cause not to like you—or yours. Your name is hateful to me, and I am glad that you love me, and I am glad that you love me, and—and if you had been another man—if you had borne another name, I might have loved you.'

"Will you say something like that, Floris? Don't let me take away with me for a last remembrance, to haunt me for months, a proud, angry face, a scornful retort. I love you, Floris. I shall love you, I am afraid, for a long time! Tell me that you are sorry for me, at least!"

Still she was silent, her averted face white and constrained; her pride doing battle with her love, and losing ground, inch by inch.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"Before Heaven," he said, "I do not think there was ever a prouder woman or a better later. Good-by, Floris. I wish that I could hate you as you evidently hate me!"

He turned as he spoke, then hesitated, went back, and took up the edge of her cloak, still warm from contact with her soft, white arm.

"Good-by," he said, and he bent and pressed the cloak to his lips, not reverently and fearfully, as poor Bertie bestowed his caress, but with a fierce, passionate wistfulness. "Good-by, my Lady Bride."

As he bent, even as his lips touched the soft swansdown, her hand went out, not swiftly, but hesitatingly, reluctantly, toward him.

He stopped, with fond, eager, hungry eyes.

New Offensive In the West.

French Positions Assaulted, But Enemy Makes No Progress. Italians Take More Prisoners. Plumer's Men Do Good Work

GERMANS OPEN NEW ATTACK.
PARIS, June 19. (Official.) Last night about six o'clock, the Germans delivered a violent preparatory fire along the whole front of Rheims, from the region of Avriigny, west of the city, as far east as La Pompelle. At nine o'clock the enemy infantry began an attack on the French positions between these two points. The French troops resisted the German attack with complete success, the counter barrage of the French artillery proving very strong. Between Avriigny and Ormes German assault troops were stopped by the French fire and forced to return many times to their places of departure and were not finally able to reach the French positions. Around Rheims violent combats developed, during the course of which the enemy suffered heavy losses and was everywhere repulsed. East of Rheims the fighting likewise ended to the advantage of the French. The Germans having been successful in penetrating the woods northeast of Sillery, they were driven out by a French counter attack. Prisoners taken in the region of Rheims declared that the town was attacked by three divisions, which were ordered to take the place at all costs during the night.

GERMANS SUFFER HEAVILY.
WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, June 19.—Large units of German shock troops had been concentrated on the west side of Rheims, between Vrigny and Ormes, and which went over to the assault last night, were met with such an awful fire from the French defence that they were unable to make the slightest progress. They suffered such losses after trying time after time to reach the French positions that only a few of the attackers were able to return to their own lines.

SPLENDID WORK OF BRITISH.
ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS, June 19. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.) Montello, the oval-shaped chain of hills which hinges the Austrian offensive, has been occupied for several months by the British, who came to Italy under General Plumer. A British division occupies the southwestern ridges of Asiago plateau with the French on their right. The British, after reconnoitering the advanced positions momentarily abandoned on Saturday morning with a view to strengthening the line, not only resisted all Austrian attempts, but gallantly counter attacked in a fashion that caused an Italian superior officer to remark they are slugging the gates of Italy in the face of the invader. A detachment of British cyclists accomplished heroic deeds. They were changing position and moving along a sunken road parallel to the front. Suddenly they ran into a vastly superior Austrian contingent barring the way. Instead of fleeing they dismounted and advanced with fixed bayonets. Simultaneously the Austrians were ordered to charge, and the two waves of bayonets clashed. A terrific fight ensued, but the splendid physique and undaunted courage of the British cyclists proved too much for the Austrians, who fled, abandoning their rifles, the British pursuing and capturing many rifles and prisoners. One of the most successful features of the organization of the Italian Army consists in the wise distribution and the close rapid handling of reserves which is illustrated by the brilliant feat on the British sector, and is further testified to by the splendid Anglo-Italian camaraderie. The British defenders of a certain position were ordered to retire with a view to straightening the salient. A small detachment was left on the crest of the hill 3,000 feet high to cover the withdrawal. The Austrians who immediately perceived the operation tried to overwhelm the detachment, but the latter though almost completely surrounded and outnumbered tenfold succeeded in holding the enemy at bay. The commander of an Alpine detachment decided on his own initiative to attempt to rescue the Britishers. The question was whether the Alpine would be able to arrive in time to find the defenders alive. The commander of the Alpine said, "We would be too late if any but the British bulldogs were defending the position and if any but the Alpine Chamois were rushing to their rescue." The Italian Alpine thereupon dashed forward and were received by the British with cheers for Italy. The Austrians were so taken aback by this unexpected onslaught that they wavered whereupon the commander of the British detachment leaped to the top of the trench and ordered a charge. The Austrians were forced to withdraw in face of the attack, both in the front and on the flank.

AUSTRIAN PRISONERS TAKEN.
ROME, June 19.—The Italians captured since the beginning of the Austrian offensive on the Italian front, prisoners to the number of 9,011 and many guns and several hundred machine guns the war office announced to-day. Austrian attacks delivered on each side of the Odessa-Treviso railway broke down under heavy losses. The Austrians broke through several Italian lines at the southern foot of the Montello. The battle of the Piave River broke out again yesterday afternoon the statement adds. The fresh efforts of the attackers to cross the right bank from San Andrea to Candela were repulsed. An intense struggle took place in the Fossalta sector, north of Capeliste.

ZEEBRUGGE BLOCKED.
AMSTERDAM, June 19.—The entrance to the harbor of Zeebrugge is blocked, according to Lieuts Geo. Coward and John Read, of the British Royal Air Force, who landed in the province of Zealand, Monday, and are to be interned at the Hague. In an interview published in the Telegram they say the Germans are working night and day to clear the passage, but each night British aviators demolish the passages. The cement ships sunk in the harbor are still there, and the Germans are afraid to blow them up for fear they will also destroy the sluices. The Lieuts. assert that no submarines can enter or leave Zeebrugge. The blockade of Ostend is not so complete, but the Germans are having great trouble there. The motor of the seaplane carrying Coward and Read failed while they were bombing Zeebrugge.

PENNED IN CANAL.
LONDON, June 20.—Twenty-one German destroyers, a large number of submarines and numerous auxiliary craft are penned in the Bruges canal docks as a result of the recent British naval operations at Zeebrugge, the German submarine base on the Belgian coast, Thomas J. McNamara, Secretary of the Admiralty, announced in the House of Commons to-day, and said the operations were more successful than had been at first supposed. He added the German craft were now subject to constant bombing.

POLES FIGHT FOR ALLIES.
PARIS, June 18.—Fighting under the national flag of Poland, the first Polish Regiment of the first Polish Division entered the front line trenches opposite the Germans yesterday. Within the sound of the roar of cannon, and in the presence of military and civil authorities, the regiment received its battle flag and entered the war on the side of the Allies. It is a reply to Germany's contention that the Polish question is settled, said General Archinard, chief of the Polish mission to France. Poles who have escaped from Germany and Poland, or who have succeeded in leaving America and other countries, form the bulk of the Polish legion, which may shed its blood to-morrow against German autocracy in the defence of Liberty and the autonomy of Poland. Amid an impressive silence the chaplain of the regiment facing the troops and raising both hands above his head gave them this oath: "I swear before God, before the Holy Trinity, than in allegiance to my country I am ready to give up my life to the last drop of blood in the service of the holy cause of Poland, to obey my chiefs and to remain true to Poland one and indivisible." The Polish officers and soldiers cheered as they repeated the oath.

COUNTING OUT ENEMY PLANES.
PARIS, June 19.—The war office report says: There was nothing important to-day. On June 18th our air squadrons brought down or put out of action six enemy airplanes and set fire to one captive balloon. Our bombing machines dropped ten tons of projectiles last night on railway stations, cantonments and bivouacs in the regions of Villers, Franquet and Flammes. West of Lake Doiran and on the right bank of the Vardar there were artillery duels. North of Monastir our troops repulsed an enemy surprise attack. Our patrols penetrated several points of the enemy's lines and brought in prisoners. Allied planes carried out numerous bombardments. British aviators brought down three enemy machines.

REVOLT AT KIEV.
LONDON, June 19.—A great revolt has begun at Kiev, according to an intercepted wireless transmitted from Moscow to the Exchange Telegraph Co. Artillery stores have been exploded and there is continuous street fighting. The revolt is spreading to several points of the Kiev districts. Forty thousand peasants, armed and organized, are participating in the revolt.

PARISIANS' NERVES RELAX.
PARIS, June 19.—Reports of the Austrian repulse on the Italian front, the comparative quiet on the French and British lines, the silence on the part of the long range guns for six days, and the inability of the Goths to cross the terrific defence barrage in their last three attempts to reach Paris, only one German having succeeded in flying over the city, have caused the faint nerves of Paris to relax. The city has assumed an appearance nearer that of before the war than at any time since the opening of hostilities.

NERVOUS ABOUT BULGARIA.
LONDON, June 19.—The resignation of the Bulgarian Cabinet caused a sharp decline on the Berlin and Frankfurt Stock Exchange, says an Amsterdam despatch to the Morning Post. While the German newspapers declared that the resignation of the Radoslavoff Ministry will not affect the Bulgarian Foreign policy, uneasiness is felt in Germany, as it is clear that strong differences exist in Bulgaria.

TURKS SACK AMERICAN CONSULATE.
WASHINGTON, June 19.—The sacking of the American hospital at Tabris, Persia, and the seizure of the American and British Consulates there by invading Turkish troops was reported to the State Department to-day by the American Minister at Teheran. If the report as it reached the Minister is officially confirmed, the outrages may be considered an act of war and settle the long-pending question of whether the Ottoman Allies of Germany should be formally listed among America's enemies. According to to-day's despatch the Turks sacked the hospital over the protest of the Spanish Consul in charge, as representatives of American interests, and in defiance of the Spanish flag flying over the buildings.

DROWNING FATALITY.
MONTREAL, June 19.—Caught by a heavy wind storm in the St. Lawrence off Caraquez, N.B., a fishing boat belonging to Capt. Jas. Doorman, was capsized and her master and crew of three were drowned this morning.

RUSSIA.
PARIS, June 19.—The French Government has confidence that Russia will eventually pay her debts, declared the Finance Minister in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday.

WAR EXPENDITURES.
LONDON, June 19.—A note of warning against increased war expenditures, is stated by the Daily Chronicle and the Daily News, in their comment on the statements made by Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in moving a vote of credit in the House of Commons yesterday. Other papers do not question the huge outlay. We are getting our money's worth, says the Daily Express. It adds that the Allies look forward to another three months of insistent anxiety. The Daily News says the sinister fact is the difference that prevails on the subject. The Treasury long since ceased to exercise control, and Parliament offers nothing with which to dam the tide. The Government's idea of getting on with the war does not include any consideration of economy, and there is no check on the torrents of waste in the departments themselves.

Soldier Ill at Petty Harbour.
Pte. Edward Greene, who is doing guard duty at Petty Harbor, was taken suddenly ill yesterday. The Military Department was immediately notified and word sent to Dr. McDonald to go to his assistance. It was feared at first that the young soldier would not survive but after being treated by Dr. McDonald he came through all right. The doctor found Greene to be suffering from heart trouble, a complaint that he is subject to. Green enlisted a little over a month ago.

Black as Dirt About the Eyes.
Liver Was All Upset and There Was Pain Under the Shoulder-blade—Two Interesting Letters.
So many people suffer from derangements of the liver that we feel sure these two reports, just recently received, will be of interesting reading and valuable information to many readers of this paper.

Mrs. F. L. Harris, Keasley, P.O. Sackville, N.B., writes: "I was suffering from liver trouble—had a heavy pain under one shoulder blade all the time, and was nearly black as dirt around the eyes, so I concluded to try some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and before I had taken one 25c. box the pain had left me and I commenced to gain in flesh, and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and felt like a new person. My trouble was caused by heavy work out-of-doors, and, of course, heavy eating and constipation. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney or liver trouble to give Dr. Chase's Pills a trial."
Mrs. Charles Terry, Tweed, Ont., writes: "Before I was married I was troubled with enlargement of the liver. My liver became so enlarged that you could detect the swelling on either side, and it was only with difficulty that I could get my clothes on. A friend advised me to get Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and take them. I commenced this treatment, and used nine boxes, which cured me and nearly black as dirt around the eyes, so I concluded to try some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and before I had taken one 25c. box the pain had left me and I commenced to gain in flesh, and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and felt like a new person. My trouble was caused by heavy work out-of-doors, and, of course, heavy eating and constipation. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney or liver trouble to give Dr. Chase's Pills a trial."

Household Notes.
All woodwork close to stoves or furnaces should be covered with zinc.
A good cooking oil is better to grease a baking pan with than a hard fat.
Bread should be watched carefully while rising, if one would have it perfect.
Fruit juice can be prepared without sugar to be used later for jelly and ices.
Potato salad is delicious if you add a little minced celery, peppers and tomatoes.
Heavy salads have no place with the dinner. They had better be served with innobee.

THE ITALIAN SITUATION.

With the Austro-Hungarian armies battering the Italian defenses with all the power behind one million men and seven thousand five hundred guns of all calibres, the situation in the Italian theatre resolves itself into a series of stubborn attacks and equally stubborn defence. It is plainly perceptible that the enemy is making a supreme throw for victory over the Allies in this region, and is using every available force at his command with this one purpose in view. A defeat for the Allies here would mean more than a victory for the Teuton. It would be a military triumph, for should this disaster occur the Austrian would be in a position to withdraw a large number of battalions of soldiers and use them in the "new offensive" which it is anticipated is being in course of preparation on the Western Front. But so far, it has not been shown that there is any likelihood of the enemy winning anything so decisive, for while the battle rages with ever increasing violence and the greatest severity, there have been no important gains recorded in the attackers favor. The dispatches, as we get them, do not state how strong, numerically, are the troops of the Italians and their British and French allies. Notwithstanding the paucity of information on this point, it is quite certain that if lacking in numbers, which may not be the case, the Allies have the advantage in the strength of their positions, for in the mountainous regions where the principal fighting seems to be taking place, there are fastnesses which a single company of men could hold against a division. Evidence of this is most strong when we read that the Austrians are ordered to advance without thought of blood sacrifice and their obedience to the command results in thousands of their corpses strewn the ground over which their attacks are made, which ground overlooks the mountainous Italian sector, where the Allies being entrenched are able to shower shot and shell on the hostile forces. The Italian peasants, in the battle area are not exhibiting any signs of panic but show perfect confidence in the ability of their defenders to hold out against the enemy. Proof of this is apparent, for the civilians are attending to their daily duties, encouraged by the cheerful spirit of the troops which are going to the front line singing and stopping on their line of march to beg flowers with which to decorate their kepis. The enemy increases his bag of prisoners at will and according to latest reports has captured 30,000, with 120 guns, while the Allies with less desire to give out actual numbers admit to having about 9,000. The fighting along the Piave is intense and the fact that the Austrians have thrown fourteen bridges across that river on a front of 14 1/2 miles, or about one per mile notwithstanding the heavy gunfire of the defenders, directed chiefly on the pontoons, shows a determination to carry on at all costs. A general summary of the past days fighting may be taken as proving that no important military success has been gained by the enemy, and whatever minor ones he may have attained have been purchased all too dearly in blood.

At last one of the wise men has been met, and he admits that the fellows who are running the war know more about it than he does. His name, naturally, is not for publication.

The Germans have adopted the plan of dressing their men in French uniforms, to fool the Allies. They would have to be a long way off to deceive anybody. A Boche looks about as much like a Polin as a gargoye resembles an Adonis.-(Vancouver Daily Sun.)

The Chicago Tribune says:—"There is no better fighting man in the world than the British soldier. He has written that fact all over the pages of modern history, and he has shed his blood gloriously in this great war. Certainly it is not for any American to grudge him praise and gratitude."

The Boston Herald remarks and very truly, that the reprisal on Cologne by airmen, which resulted in 302 casualties was an argument that even the German mind can grasp. There are some people (but not the Archbishop of York) who would like to see more "arguments" of a similar kind.

Drifting Fishermen Rescued.

A motor boat with two men named Winsor, the engine of which broke down last evening while coming towards the narrows, was picked up early this morning by the S.S. Wren seven miles off Cape Spear where they had drifted. The matter was first reported to the police at 10 o'clock last night, who in turn communicated the facts to Mr. Stone, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The latter engaged the s.s. Mary, which ship however was not able to proceed to the rescue owing to there being no firemen at hand. Mr. Stone then took the F. P. U. motor boat and while going out the narrows hailed the s.s. Wren which was then making port. Getting on board the steamer, Mr. Stone directed the Captain to proceed in the direction in which the men were drifting. The steamer's whistle was kept going and fares sent up and after two hours cruising the castaways were picked up. The Wren returned to port at four o'clock this morning.

Life Insurance Men

FORM ASSOCIATION.

A branch of what is popularly known as the Life Underwriters Association of Canada was formed here yesterday morning at a meeting held in the Board of Trade Building. The meeting which was convened by Mr. Geo. H. Hunt, Superintendent of Agencies for the Imperial Life Insurance Co. of Toronto, opened at 10:30 and was attended by practically all the life insurance men in the city and several agents from the outports. Mr. Hunt, after being formally introduced, gave a stirring address on the necessity of such an Association as the Life Underwriters, being formed in this country. The aims and objects of the Association as successfully carried out in Canada, he fully described and the consensus of opinion as expressed by all present was that the time was opportune for the establishment of an Association of Life Insurance men in this country. Following a lengthy discussion on insurance matters in general, the election of officers took place with the following result: President, C. A. C. Bruce; Vice-President, W. J. Walsh, M.H.A.; Secretary-Treasurer, W. J. Edgar; Executive Committee, James A. MacKenzie, D. Munn, W. J. Pike. The meeting adjourned shortly after noon to meet again after the arrival of the President, who is now on a business trip to Canada.

The Horrified Dean.

WOMEN IN ST. PAUL'S CEREMONY.

Colonel Seymour, of the Canadian Expeditionary Force and late of the U. S. Army, told a story of Dean Inge at the annual meeting of the British and Foreign Unitarian Association at Essex Hall, London, yesterday, May 22.

When going to Canada to join the Expeditionary Force (before the entry into the war of the United States) he asked the Dean of St. Paul's whether the cathedral would take into its care five American flags which were in his possession.

The Dean agreed, and Colonel Seymour then asked Mrs. Page, wife of the American Ambassador, and Lady Perley, wife of the Canadian High Commissioner, to place the flags in their position in the Cathedral. They gladly consented to do so, and he hurried back to tell the Dean, who was horrified and threw up his hands.

"To allow women to take part in a ceremony in St. Paul's Cathedral would be to establish a precedent," he exclaimed.

"That's all right," said Colonel Seymour; "I come from a country where we make those things. He put it to the Dean that the five flags might be regarded as five babies, and Mrs. Page should be their mother and Lady Perley their godmother. The Church, he submitted, allowed women to take part in the ceremony of baptism. And so it happened.—Daily Mail.

Concert at Bonne Bay.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—A very pleasant evening was spent some time ago in Lord Nelson Hall, when a concert was given for patriotic purposes, under the auspices of Excelsior Lodge, I.O.O.F. No. 126, by some of the members, assisted by some kind friends.

The concert consisted of the following:—Comic play "A Jap and Hercules;" War play "Captured as a Spy," choruses, quartettes, duets, solos, etc. Those taking part were Messrs. R. Roberts, W. Bugden, A. W. Amberton, M. Jenkins, M. F. Dwyer, J. Noel, J. Taylor, Alex. Roberts, Alex. Payne, A. Ingram, Alex. McAuley, C. Hopkins, J. Lee, W. Galliot, Misses N. Allen, M. Garland, S. Garland, E. Halliburton, M. Taylor, W. Ball, D. Witton, T. Tapper, F. Allen.

The plays were well put on and the performers deserve great credit. The singing was a treat and was enjoyed by the audience, every part being enthusiastically applauded. There was a little drawback owing to wind and rain coming on some time that evening thereby preventing a great many from coming who otherwise would have been there nevertheless the amount of $55.00 was realized. Seeing the state of the weather and being zealous for the cause the performers kindly offered to put on the concert the next night which was done, but the weather turned out just as bad or worse this time so that those intending to come from a distance found it impossible to attend, however those in the near vicinity put in appearance and the sum of $15.00 was realized, making in all the total of $70.00.

This amount has been voted to a branch of the St. John Ambulance Association, viz., The Cot Fund.

Excelsior Lodge, I. O. O. F., takes this opportunity of expressing their thanks to all those kind friends who spent their time in helping to make this concert a success, and being the means of raising this amount which although small is yet a much needed sum to aid a cause we all feel we cannot do enough for.

Again thanking the performers and all those who were good enough to patronize this laudable cause.

Yours truly,
GEO. W. WILTON,

Took No Action to Keep the Hun Out.

That for ten years after the war no German or Austrian commercial traveler be allowed to enter this country for trading purposes, was the proposal of Mr. Holder, London, at the conference of the United Kingdom Commercial Travelers' Association at Nottingham, recently. He said our soldiers had been fighting to keep the Hun out of our country, and it was our duty to carry out this object in peace times.

It was decided to take no action.—Daily Mail.

Blessed are the Dead

The sad news reached the city yesterday that Rev. L. R. Vereker, the highly honored Parish Priest of Ferryland, had passed away at 6 o'clock, and arrangements have been made for bringing the remains to town to-day, the funeral taking place tomorrow morning, at 8:30, after Solemn Requiem Mass at the Cathedral.

The death of Father Vereker taken from the Catholic Church in the decline of his senior priest, who for half a century labored incessantly in the service of God and Holy Church, and for the people who had been given to his spiritual care. Half a century of priesthood in an outpost means more than can be realized, especially when the lack of travelling facilities prior to the railway and coastal services are considered. The circuit of the clergy extended over many miles of sparsely populated and in many cases desolate and lonely coast, but notwithstanding the difficulties, by land and sea, the strenuous work of attending to the many souls in his care was faithfully performed by Father Vereker.

The late priest of God was born in Kilkenny County, Ireland, nearly 35 years ago, and after taking a seminary course in his native land, came to this country and continued his studies with the late Rev. Father O'Keefe, F. Brigus, who was then the Administrator of the Diocese. His theological course finished he was ordained by the late Rt. Rev. Bishop Power, being among the first to be admitted to the priesthood by that distinguished prelate. Following ordination Fr. Vereker was sent to do missionary work on the West Side of Placentia Bay, where he laboured for more than 10 years, achieving wonderful results.

Some 35 years ago on the transfer of the late Father Clancy to Placentia from Ferryland, Father Vereker was appointed his successor, in recognition of the splendid work done at Placentia Bay, and in Ferryland Parish he continued his labors, only laying them down, when death called yesterday.

Deceased was a brother of the late Rev. John Vereker for many years pastor of the Cathedral here, and was Administrator of the Diocese during the Episcopacy of the late Bishop Mullock. From the Vereker family many sons have been given to the service of the Church. The deceased clergyman, we understand, has no relatives in Newfoundland.

"I want you to be sure, Eliza, that you use the thermometer, to see that the water is the right temperature when you give the baby his bath," said Mrs. Blinks to her nurse girl.

Jumping at Conclusions

It happened years ago in a small New England town. An "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company was starting on their noonday parade through the streets, when a big gander from a nearby poultry yard waddled into the road and began to hiss. The theatrical person who was leading the bloodhounds by a rope turned to the fowl and exclaimed angrily:
"Don't be so dum quick to jump at conclusions! Wait till you see the show."

Thoughts Upon the Times

(By PATRIOT.)

Hats off to the Canadian Bank of Commerce for being the first to invest in our Victory War Loan Bonds. The magnificent sum of $25,000 was a splendid starter. The Bank of Commerce is one of the largest and best known banks doing business in Canada. It evidently knows a good investment when it sees it.

It is a great pity that the whole of the six million dollar loan was not raised in Newfoundland. It would give the people, who cannot themselves go to the war, a chance to "have a go" at Kaiser Bill.

It is also a pity the Loan was not started earlier in the year to give the well-to-do fishermen a chance to purchase Victory Bonds. In all probability the whole of the two million dollars will be subscribed long before they get back from the Labrador fishery.

A remark made by Minister of Finance Cashin, at the Board of Trade meeting, as reported by the Evening Herald, calls for more than a passing notice. He is stated to have said that the Business Profits Tax has already yielded $500,000, and that this amount has been collected from 138 out of the 957 persons who might be expected to contribute towards this Tax. This means that the 138 who have paid the Tax averaged a little over $3,623 each. While this is an excellent showing from a revenue standpoint, yet it shows that the business men are making larger profits since the war started than before. It comes down to the old book argument that in reality it is the consumer that is paying this Tax. It shows too that the business of the country is flourishing, but it also shows the absolute necessity of our having a live, active Food Control Board to regulate the price of food-stuffs and other necessary commodities.

Recently letters have been published in the local press about the price of coal which have made the public suspicious. If the Reid Nfd. Co. or any other company can import coal for its employees at $10 per ton, then there is something "rotten in the State of Denmark," and we want our Food Controller to tell us just what it is. Six dollars per ton, or a clear profit of 60 per cent, is certainly too much to fitch from the public on a ton of soft coal. If the Reids or the Cable Company can import coal for its employees for $10 per ton, then it is just as well for the Government to make up its mind to go into the coal business and close up every coal dealer's store in town unless he is prepared to be satisfied with a more reasonable profit. There must be no half measures about this matter. The very poor require coal as well as the rich. It is not like an automobile or a motor yacht.

The public would just like to know how many press censors we have and what amount they all cost the country. The runaway Minister of Militia, Mr. John R. Bennett, told the House of Assembly on the 8th of May that he filled that position. It is presumed he is still drawing the salary with that of Minister of Militia.

Mr. Currie (in the House)—By the way, the Minister (Militia) did not say why, when he left the Colonial Secretary's Department, he took the fees of the Censorship with him.

Minister of Militia—I told you that the Governor reappointed me when I took over the Militia Department.

Recently the Government appointed Mr. John R. Goodison as Press Censor, forgetting, no doubt, that Mr. Bennett was already Censor. The country, therefore, must now have three Press Censors—the Minister of Militia, who is off on a picnic to the Old Country; Mr. Goodison, who really knows nothing about it, and Mr. Mout, who does all the work. This is an excellent showing for a little country with only a quarter of a million people. Why does not Mr. Coaker make some effort to carry out his oft-repeated promise to the fishermen to cut out some of the useless salaries. Instead of keeping faith with the fishermen he has given Dr. Lloyd a salary of $5,000 a year and allowed three men to draw large salaries as Press Censors when one could do all the work and have plenty of spare time beside.

The fishermen will remember how Mr. Coaker characterized the paying of Mr. Bennett $1,740 as a gross scandal about a year ago. Then Mr. Coaker was in opposition. What was black then is white now. Mr. Coaker has control of the Government. See the point, fishermen; funny is it not?

If you are going to get that new suit of clothes, get it now, as with new shipments of goods prices are going to soar. We have a splendid stock to select from, and you can rely on a good fit in any style you wish to have it made. SPURRELL the Tailor, 365 Water St.—June 7, 1918.

A HEART ATTACK.—A man named Mitchell, of the Reid Nfd. Co.'s general stores, was taken suddenly ill yesterday from heart trouble while at work, and was attended by Dr. Mitchell.

She Could Tell.

"I want you to be sure, Eliza, that you use the thermometer, to see that the water is the right temperature when you give the baby his bath," said Mrs. Blinks to her nurse girl.
"Land sakes!" replied Eliza, cheerfully, "I don't need no thermometer. If the baby turns red, I know the water's too hot, and if he turns blue I know it's too cold—and there you are!"

Marshall Bros

Monotony or Fun.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

During the past year I spent some months in the country, a three hour train ride from the nearest city of any size. Of course a trip to town was a large occasion and when anyone in the village planned to go the fact was usually well known. Accordingly, a new friend of mine planned to go to town one Tuesday. Tuesday came and I met her at the store. "You didn't go?" "No," she said, "I'm going to-morrow. I found that Mrs. C. (naming a woman who is an acquaintance, but not a close friend) was going to-morrow, so of course I waited so I could have company."

The well grounded assurance that of course anyone would prefer company on such a ride, even if it were not of the highest quality, is the fact at which I have taken out an lance to tilt.

I don't care for company just for my mind's sake.

To my mind a ride on the train alone is a treat. Of course I should be glad to have a congenial friend with me there, just as much as anywhere, but I would never seek company merely for company's sake. When I have such to make, I look forward to it. Three solid hours all by myself, no interruptions, no excursions of any sort. Why it is a veritable treasure.

Some Nuts to Nibble.

I arm myself with my knitting bag and with the latest copy of that beloved weekly review which I am always trying to find time to keep up with. Also, (perhaps it is a plebeian confession) I allow myself some chocolate or salted nuts to nibble. My only difficulty is in deciding which I shall do first, watch the people about me, knit, read my weekly, or just sit looking out at the landscape and dreaming. I once knew a girl who did not care for reading, and when her work was done could sit down in a chair and look out of the window and think. But I have never been able to do that except in a moving vehicle and so I specially enjoy the pleasant hypnosis the hurrying landscape seems to cast over my mind. At such times conversation would be an intrusion rather than a pleasure.

A Lot of Fun for the Taking.

I like best to ride on the train but even long rides on the electric are not as annoying to me as they are to some (provided only I am not required to keep changing). I think the reason that such trips are so very tiring to some people is because they are always straining ahead with their minds and trying to be there instead of attuning themselves to the soothing monotony of the journey.

If you like to read and like to dream and don't like to fret, there is a great deal of fun in life that you can have for the taking, isn't there?

MILNARD'S LINIMENT is the only Liniment asked for at my store and the only one we keep for sale. All the people use it.

Your Boys and Girls.

The temperature on the floor is necessarily lower than that at the level of grown up heads, hence, if children are allowed to play on the floor in cold, stormy weather, some care must be taken to avoid draft and chill, even in an upstairs room.

Spread a quilt on the floor in such a case, or, for the baby use the crib where the tops can be spread out without fear or falls or drafts. Nice low carts on wheels, with screened sides, come for use upon such occasions. The bought affairs are complete, a mattress and all, but there is no reason why one cannot be made at home. They should be roomy, a little shorter than, but as wide as, the crib, and being on wheels, can be moved from room to room at will.

HOW TO KEEP THE HAIR WAVY.

Where is the woman that does not sigh for the wavy tresses of her more fortunate sisters. Not many of us look well without the slightest wave. There are many dangerous and expensive methods adopted by the hair dressers to keep the hair in perfect wave, but of all the preparations that I know the most effective and the easiest for amateurs to make is a hand lotion made from quince seed and now is the time to obtain it fresh.

This curling lotion has been in use for generations, and our grandmothers used nothing else when they wore the ringlets about the forehead or curls falling down in cascades over the ears or at the back of the head.

To prepare this lotion, take a tablespoon of bruised quince seeds and pour over them a pint of boiling water. Boil slowly until the quantity is reduced one-third. Allow the liquid to cool, and then strain through a piece of coarse cheese cloth. Add two teaspoons each of cologne and alcohol, and the mixture is ready for use.

Moisten the hair with this preparation before curling it with a small sponge to apply it. If you are successful in waving your hair with curlers, use the lotion before winding the strands of hair around the curler. There is one objection about this fluid, when it becomes dry it assumes a powdery form suggestive of fire dandruff, but it can be brushed off and is harmless.

Still another way is what is called the oil curl and works to perfection with some people. Apply a small quantity of oil, scented with your favorite perfume, to the head. Sweet almond or coconut oil will answer the purpose. Apply two or three times a week with the palm of the hands.

After using the oil arrange the hair in soft waves, pinning them into position with invisible hairpins. Tie a thin veil about the head and do not remove it until you are ready to go out. Hair once trained in the habit of waving will be much more easier to manage than when it is straight.

Fads and Fashions.

Gingham has a very prominent place in summer wardrobes this season.

Pipings of bright color make otherwise plain frocks very interesting. A new corset for thin women has a short front steel ending at the waist line.

One of the latest fur collars is of nutria with tassels at its square corners.

The sole trimming of some very smart dresses is a scarf of contrasting color.

WORK OR FIGHT.

WILF MASON

"Work or fight," I say, with Crowder! Man must earn his bone and chowder, or secure a gun and powder, shooting from the Hun the slaw; for the husky boys are needed where the farmers' fields are seeded; long we've argued and we've pleaded, now we're laying down the law. Soon the harvest will be yellow and we'll hear the farmers below for the able-bodied fellow who can handle sheaves of wheat; and the loafer who is standing, chunks of ol' cufion handing to the public should be landing in the country with both feet. Long the loafers have been petted, fed and lodged by men who sweat for the roublers they have netted, but the day of wrath is come; toil and wounds where battle rages—work at home for honest wages! Work, absorbed by them for ages! These cronies front the rag and hum. From their squallid haunt and haven, frowzy, fragrant and unshaven, to the fields where crops are wavin' 'twill be good to see them; go; from the joint and poolhall riven, unappointed and unshriven, 'twill be fine to see them driven where the bulthistles grow.

Work or fight! O words inspiring! work with energy anything our hands can bring; if we feel too punk for mowing, if we are not built for hoeing, we can go where blood is flowing, and run down the Teuton king.

Women Warriors.

"Conscription for women" is again in the air, and it coincides, by a curious chance, with an appropriate anniversary. Fifty years ago, a regiment of Amazons enrolled to assist Paraguay in her battle against Brazil.

The force numbered 4,000, and were equipped by the president; but if we look to the occasion for a moral, we shall not send our women into the trenches. The women fought bravely, but did not bring victory to their cause.

It is a fact—bitter or sweet, as you care to regard it—that women warriors have not shone on the actual battlefield. A few years earlier, the King of Dahomey led a band of Amazons against an independent tribe of blacks, and suffered a severe defeat.

The original Amazons, however, achieved real greatness, if reports are true. They took war very seriously, declared marriage to be shameful servitude, and burned off their right breasts in order that they might gain more force to bend the bow.—Ex.

MILLIONS SAVED BY DAYLIGHT. France, it is understood, estimates her saving in lighting and fuel alone by the daylight saving plan at not less than $10,000,000 a year. England is reported to have saved gas and electricity to the extent of about $12,000,000, and actually saved 300,000 tons of coal in the summer of 1916. Edinburgh saved $50,000 in fuel alone. Manchester, England, decreased lighting cost 15 per cent. over the previous year, and Nottingham 25 per cent. In Vienna the saving in lighting bills was $142,000. The estimated possible saving for the United States for the five months under this plan is placed at from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 in lighting bills, and in fuel several millions more.

REVIEW OF OPERATIONS.

The Teutonic Allies apparently have lost their spirit of do or die. Their attacks everywhere lately have lacked the tenaciousness of days gone by. Instead of ploughing through the Allied lines with stubborn indifference to casualties, so long as an object was gained, they now waver and then halt in the face of the artillery and rifle fire barring their way, with the points they try to attain still beyond their reach. The opening of a gateway to Paris through the West front, spanning from Mont Didier to the Marne, failed completely. The drive on the Italian front launched by the Austrians seemingly has failed miserably in the mountain regions, and apparently has almost been stopped along the Piave, while a stroke started by the Germans against Rheims broke down at its inception, without the enemy taking a yard of ground. In these many attempted enterprises the High Commands of the Germans and Austrians have seen their men literally mowed down on all battlefields have been clogged with dead and wounded, as a consequence to the allied troops for the small bits of terrain they yielded. The Austrian offensive is still in progress along the Piave, but in the hill region after the sharp reaction by the British and French troops, in counter attacks, having pushed back the invader from the points reached in his initial rush, the enemy evidently is fearful of again trying out the mettle of their defenders.

On the Piave many attempts have been made by the enemy to gain further bridgeheads on the west bank of the stream. The Italians everywhere are holding them with their machine guns, and also doing sanguinary execution within the ranks of the enemy across the river with bombs and machine gun fire. The Austrian War Office asserts that the Austro-Hungarian troops have crossed the Posset Canal at some points, where Tuesday it was claimed they had made advances, and several Italian lines at the Southern foot on the Montello Plateau, the key to the Venetian Plain, have been pierced. Rome, on the other hand, declared that all the weak attempts made in this region were completely repulsed. More than 9,000 men have been taken prisoners by the Italians since the offensive began, and several guns and many machine guns have been captured. That intensive air fighting has also taken place is shown by the fact that fifty enemy machines have been shot down, only two of the Allied machines failing to return to their base. The attack of the Germans near Rheims resulted disastrously to them. Hardly had they left their trenches, after one of the most terrific bombardments of shells of all calibres, including gas projectiles ever experienced on the West front, when nearly 40,000 men were forced by the reinforced French army to fall back precipitately. Only at one point to the east of Rheims, did the enemy succeed in penetrating the French lines. Here they were ejected almost immediately. The German

REVIEW OF OPERATIONS.

The Teutonic Allies apparently are lost their spirit of do or die.
Their attacks everywhere lately have lacked the tenaciousness of days gone
by. Instead of ploughing through the Allied lines with stubborn indifference
to casualties, so long as an object was gained, they now waver and then halt in the face of the artillery and the fire barraging their way, with the points they try to attain still beyond their reach. The opening of a gateway to Paris through the West front, running from Mont Didier to the Marne, failed completely. The drive on the Italian front launched by the Austrians seemingly has failed miserably in the mountain regions, and apparently has almost been stopped
along the Piave, while a stroke started by the Germans against Rheims broke down at its inception. Without the enemy taking a yard of ground;
and in these many attempted enterprises the High Commands of the Germans and Austrians have seen their men literally mowed down until battlefields have been clogged
with dead and wounded, as a recompense to the allied troops for the small bits of terrain they yielded.
The Austrian offensive is still in progress along the Piave River, but in the hill region after the sharp resistance by the British and French troops, in counter attacks, having pushed back the invader from the points reached in his initial rush, the enemy evidently is fearful of again
trying out the mettle of their defenders. On the Piave many attempts have been made by the enemy to gain bridgeheads on the west bank of the stream. The Italians everywhere are holding them with their rifles, and also doing sanguinary
execution within the ranks of the enemy across the river with bombs and machine gun fire. The Austrian War Office asserts that the Austro-Hungarian troops have crossed the Fosset Quail at some points, where Tuesday
it was claimed they had made advances, and several Italian lines at the southern foot on the Montello Plateau, the key to the Venetian Plains, have been pierced. Rome, on the other hand, declared that all the weak attempts made in this region were completely repulsed. More than 9,000 men have been taken prisoners by the Italians since the offensive began, and several guns and many machine guns have been captured. That intensive fighting has also taken place is shown by the fact that fifty enemy machines have been shot down, only two of the Allied machines failing to return to their base. The attack of the Germans near Rheims resulted dis-asterously to them. Hardly had they left their trenches, after one of the most terrific bombardments of shells
of all calibres, including gas projectiles ever experienced on the West front when nearly 40,000 men were killed by the reinforced French armies and literally cut to pieces and forced to fall back precipitately. Only at one point to the east of Rheims, did the enemy succeed in penetrating the French lines. Here they were ejected almost immediately. The German official describes the attempt as a demonstration of artillery and mine

throwers. Little activity has prevailed on the rest of the West front except the usual reciprocal bombardments and operations in the nature of patrol engagements. The success of the recent naval raid by the British on the German submarine base at Zeebrugge seemingly was more successful than anticipated. Twenty-one destroyers, a large number of submarines, and numerous auxiliary craft
are blocked in the Canal by the ships sunk across the waterway.

MINOR OPERATIONS.

LONDON, To-day.
(Official.) In a successful raid we captured a few prisoners and a machine gun on Tuesday night, northeast of Bethune. To-day a hostile raiding party was repulsed with loss of East Hebuterne. The hostile artillery was more active to-day in the Albert sector, in the neighbourhood of Loos,
and Dickebusch Lake.

THE LEWIS GUN LEADS.

LONDON, To-day.
In Commons to-day J. I. McPherson,
Under-Secretary of the War Office,
said that the Committee appointed to test the merits of various machine guns as a result of the agitation for the use of the Madison gun by the British army, had placed the various guns examined in the following order. First,
Lewis; second, Light Hotchkiss; third,
Madson. The decision had been unanimous.

DEMANDS ENEMY SHIPPING.

LONDON, To-day.
The Board of Trade Commission in its report of the position of shipping
and shipbuilding in the reconstruction
period, unanimously recommends the early removal of Government control.
The peace treaty, it declares, should enforce the surrender of enemy shipping heavily punish the enemy's crimes at sea, and provide for the authorization of surrendered ships. The proceeds to be treated as part of the common war indemnity.

OBJECT TO INCREASES.

AMSTERDAM, To-day.
The Berlin Vorwarts, the German Socialist organ, in an announcement
on the increase in the price of bread to five pennings per pound, says, this price will bring the land owners one billion marks surplus profits, and necessarily will be followed by increase in the cost of milk, butter and beef. The Socialist Party, says the paper, has formally protested to the Government, on the ground that the increases will be sure to create the greatest of ill-feeling.

INTERESTING PAMPHLET.

LONDON, To-day.
The widest interest will be evinced
in a pamphlet on "The League" written by Viscount Grey of Fallodon, who was Secretary of Foreign Affairs in the Cabinet of Herbert A. Asquith at the beginning of the war. There is more at stake in the war than the existence of individual states or empires or
the fate of a continent, says the Viscount. The whole of modern civilization is at stake
and whether it will perish
be submerged, as happened to previous civilizations of older types or whether it will live and progress depends upon whether the nations engaged in war, and even those who are onlookers learn the lessons that the experience of the war may teach them.

CORRECTED AERIAL FIGURES.

PARIS, June 20.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—A statement has been issued showing that the German Communiqués on aviation cannot be believed. It states that the Germans lost forty-eight airplanes on the West front on June 2nd, and forty-nine on July 9-10, while they acknowledge only ten and eight respectively. The British brought down thirty-three out of the forty-nine. The French in January lost twenty airplanes as compared with

Mgr. Stagni, Apostolic Delegate, to Canada, was recalled at his own request for reasons of health. In his place the Pope has appointed Peter Dimaria, whom he has also created the Titular Archbishop of Iconium.

LLOYD GEORGE'S DECLARATION.

LONDON, June 20.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—
Premier Lloyd George, in a letter to Mr. Greet, Coalition candidate in Clapham Division, says: "The only issue at present is national unity, in a resolve to subordinate everything to winning the war. The Germans are bent on undermining the morale
of the Allies by promoting distrust
behind the lines, and we have got to show that until the attempt of an unscrupulous military oligarchy to impose its despotism on the world has been definitely defeated, that nothing can turn us aside from our goal. Only through waging the war can we realize the ideals of freedom for which we entered the war."

NEW APPOINTMENTS.

LONDON, June 20.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—
The Morning Post says it is proposed that the resident Ministers of the Dominions in London be appointed at least for the duration of the war. In addition to the High Commissioners,
they would deal with all war matters concerning the Dominions. It remains to be decided whether they will all be members of the War Cabinet, like General Smuts of South Africa, and
Hon. Wm. Hughes, Premier of Austra-

THE SPIRIT TO DO.
ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS,
June 19. (By the Associated Press).—
Realization that the Austrian offensive has failed, is spurting the Italian troops to a desperate resistance
along the Piave. Heavy fighting occurred to-day around the Montello

to defend themselves against tonnage needs for a long time; at any rate from the beginning of the U-boat
warfare it was a mistake often committed among us to underestimate the resources of our enemies.

TURKEY CLAIMS SHIPS.

GENEVA, June 19.
The official Journal and Tattler, of Constantinople, just received here,
sets up the claim that the entire naval
and mercantile fleet of Russia in the Black Sea should be turned over to Turkey. These papers give a long list of Turkish naval units lost during the war, and contend that as Austria-Hungary and Bulgaria have obtained immense booty and rich territories from Russia and Roumania,
the Russian Black Sea fleet should legitimately go to Turkey.

BRITISH KEEP HUNS BUSY.

LONDON, To-day.
British raiding parties were active
in several sectors along the front
last night, taking prisoners and inflicting losses upon the Germans in numerous clashes, the War Office announces to-day. The statements follow: A number of raids were carried out by us last night in the neighbourhood of Boyelles (southeast of Arras), Lens and Givenchy, and in the Strazeele and Ypres sectors (Flanders).

Latest.

EMPEROR DISAPPOINTED.

ROME, To-day.
Emperor Charles is personally encouraging his troops in their efforts to break down the fierce resistance of the Italians. The Austrian ruler, it is reported, desired to cross the Piave
and climb Montello, but his advisers induced him to postpone the plan, believing the position to be unsafe owing to the danger from artillery bombardment and the activity of Anglo-Italian airmen. The Emperor is said to be greatly disappointed at the results thus far secured and is preparing to make further attacks before admitting that the offensive has been checkmated.

GREAT SATISFACTION IN PARIS.

PARIS, To-day.
The sanguinary defeat suffered by the Germans before Rheims was such
to the morning newspapers as an excellent arguery for the Allies in the operations to come. The military experts, the Havas Agency notes, are displaying particular satisfaction over the outcome regarding it as further proof
of the exhaustion of the Crown Prince's army, which is showing itself incapable of prolonged efforts. The commentators, however, do not seek to minimize the ability displayed by the defenders and they point particularly
to the remarkable artillery barrage.
The notable resistance of the Infantry
and the irresistible counter attacks of the brave colonial troops under General Gouraud. "Never did so important an attack fail so completely," says
the Petit Journal.

AUSTRIAN GENERAL KILLED.

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS,
June 19 (By A. P.).—Deserted by his staff on the Montello Plateau, Major General Von Kronstadt of the Austrian Army fought single handed against the Italian Arditi until he was wounded seriously. The General died later in hospital. It seems that the General and his staff became lost in the woods on Montello and ran into a unit of Arditi. When the members of the staff saw the Italian soldiers they ran away. The General was called on to surrender but refused to do so and opened fire on the Arditi. In the exchange of shots the General received his death wound.

RIOTS IN VIENNA.

LONDON, To-day.
Serious rioting broke out in Vienna
yesterday, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam. The mob broke into a number of baker-ies, stoned the residence of the Premier and also one of the wings of the Hofburg Palace. The message adds:

Cavalry is being rushed up to the capital to restore order. It is probable, it is stated, that martial law will be proclaimed. The rioting was in protest against the reduction of the bread rations.

Patriotic Entertainment.
Last night's entertainment at the Springdale Street Commercial Assembly Room, under the auspices of the Commercial Night School, realized ten dollars toward the "Overseas Soldiers' Fund," making thirty-one dollars to date forwarded to His Excellency the Governor to-day. The moving pictures shown were very instructive,
consisting of "Farewells by Machinery," "Jim Making Good," "Historical Scenes," and "A Fire at Sea."

"A World on Rations."

Under the above heading the "Boston Daily Globe" publishes the following important editorial on the conservation of wheat:

A city is besieged. Famine threatens. The defenders sally from its gates and attack the besiegers in a desperate quest for provisions.
This is one of the oldest military operations of history and it is being repeated in the German offensive against the Western front. Whether the objective is Paris or the Channel
ports, the drive is a sortie for food.
If the story of the war map were all,
Germany's territorial gains are such that her obvious course would be to stand on the defensive in the West and exploit her winnings in the East. All sorts of considerations of prudence
and policy would dissuade the German leaders from hazarding everything on a quick decision on the Western front.
Yet they may make that throw. For behind them, pushing them on, is the skeleton specter of food shortage.

In the Ukraine, in Poland, reports agree on the "wasteful eagerness" of the German troops to seize anything edible. When they began their offensive on March 21 they were promised that victory would bring them food. It has brought them a reduced bread ration.
And their civilian relatives have had to suffer a 20 per cent. reduction of their bread ration. Further, they are informed that all hope of relief thro'
supplies from the Ukraine must be dismissed until Autumn.

Jean Bloch, the Russian economist,
who made so many startling prophecies about the war a full decade
before it came, predicted that it would be won not by fighting, but by famine. It is at leasting clear that food shortage is a problem which must be treated not "in the flat," on a national scale, but "in the round," on a world scale. To enlarge the metaphor it is as if our planet were the city and war the besieger.

It was largely hunger that precipitated the Russian revolution. Rou-mania and Serbia have been conquered by hunger acting as an ally of German military power. Hunger
among the civilians had much to do with the Italian reverse last Autumn.
Next to military resources, our own
task is to provide our co-belligerents
with food in many districts of France
but for our supplies, the people are living practically from hand to mouth. England is obtaining 65 per cent. of all her food from us.

A food map of Europe to-day would show the following gradations of
want: In England, Spain, Portugal, Scandinavia and Bulgaria enough
food for the present, but the future
serious; it would show serious shortage in Germany, Turkey and France;
it would show shortage approaching
the famine point in Austria, Russia
and Italy; it would show actual famine conditions in Serbia, Roumania,
Belgium, Poland and the conquered Baltic Provinces.

It is a strange predicament in which the world finds itself. We are accustomed to think of the Spring as a time of promise and plenty. Yet between now and the next harvest comes the pinch—when old stocks are running low and new stocks are not yet gathered. Even the Allies, with access to the world's granaries, are,
like chess players, restricted to certain moves. In Australia, India and the Argentine are hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat which cannot be moved, because a ship can make three trips between Europe and America in the time it would take
to make one to those remote ports,
and, as tonnage is scarce, it must be kept where it can be used to best advantage.

That puts the food problem fastly up to the United States. Wheat is our expeditionary food army. We must do with half the wheat we are accustomed to use. From 42,000,000 bushels a month we have reduced ourselves to 30,000,000 bushels. We must cut our allowance to 20,000,000 bushels. This means eating other kinds of cereals than wheat and eating less.
The best promise that this will be done is what has already been done.
The way the American people have responded to Mr. Hoover's directions is almost incredible. He stands like a traffic officer of food supply at a crowded crossway. He holds up his hand and says "Stop." Millions of housewives obey. "Go ahead!" he says, and the vanished dishes return to our tables. No compulsion, no big stick; but the voluntary action of loyal American citizens alert to act on his request. It is a practical application of the democratic principle
which is enough to convince the most unbelieving.

Thus the war is being fought in our kitchens with the housewives mobilized. Every pound of food they save is a pound the more for the people of our co-belligerents. Days are coming, if indeed they are not already here, when every pound will count. And so will every stroke of economy practiced in every household.

OPENING GAME.

CUBS DEFEAT WANDERERS.

In the opening game at St. George's Field yesterday afternoon, the Cubs put it all over the Wanderers by a score of 10 runs to 3.

There was a very large attendance among those present being His Excellency the Governor and Miss Armorer Harris, accompanied by Lieut. Col. Knox-Niven, Capt. Campbell, A.D.C., American Consul J. S. Benedict, Dr. Grenfell and wife and the ladies of the W.P.A.

Following the March Past and some manoeuvres by about 500 of the soldiers, the first ball was thrown over the plate by Miss Harris, thus formally opening the season. While the class of ball was not up to the usual standard still the game furnished some exciting thrills. McIsaac, pitching for the Wanderers, while not up to expectations, did some good work but did not have the support of his team. McCrindle was in his usual good form and played a star game. Hall and Clouston worked well together, though Clouston was still a bit off. Clouston's throwing to bases was well nigh perfect and his three bagger in the third inning was a feature of the game.

During the afternoon refreshments were served by the ladies of the W.P.A., which considerably augmented the general proceeds, which amount to about $400.00 and all of which will be devoted to the W.P.A. fund.

Between the 4th and 5th innings the game was stopped for a short while to auction the ball thrown over the plate and autographed by Miss Harris. Hon. W. J. Higgins was the auctioneer and after some brisk bidding the ball finally went to that "King of Sport"—Mr. Mark Chaplin—for $25.00.

Both the C.L.B. and C.C.C. bands were in attendance and the music furnished by them greatly added to the pleasure of the spectators. The improved seating accommodation at either end of the grand stand was much appreciated by those present.

A detailed account of the game by innings follows:

FIRST INNING.

Cubs.—Phelan, first man up, walked; Canning caught out by McLeod; Phelan stole second; Duggan walked; Murphy struck out; Bell singled scoring Phelan; Duggan out at home plate. One run.

SECOND INNING.

Cubs.—Canning got to first on Smith's error; Clouston went to first, Channing got to third; Thomas was caught out by Jerrett; Hall caught out by Hartnett; Phelan walked; McIsaac's error scored Channing; Canning reached first; Duggan struck out. One run.

THIRD INNING.

Cubs.—Murphy hit by pitcher took first; Bell went to first on Smith's error; Murphy going to third; Channing hit scoring Murphy; Clouston hit for three bases scoring Bell and Channing and reached home when McIsaac threw to third, no one being there to receive the throw; Thomas was caught out by McIsaac; Hall struck out; Phelan walked for the third time and stole second and third; Canning caught out by Britt. Four runs.

FOURTH INNING.

Cubs.—Duggan caught out by Hartnett; Murphy out at first; Bell thrown out at first. No runs.

FIFTH INNING.

Cubs.—Channing struck out; Clouston thrown out at first; McIsaac making a nice pickup and getting the runner; Thomas thrown out at first. No runs.

SIXTH INNING.

Cubs.—Hall singled; Manning batting for Phelan, walked; Hall stole; Canning thrown out at first; Hall scoring; Duggan walked; Manning going to third; Murphy walked; Manning scored on passed ball; Bell struck out; Channing thrown out at first. Two runs.

SEVENTH INNING.

Cubs.—Clouston singled and stole second; Thomas was caught out; Hall got a safe hit; Clouston went to third on wild pitch; Manning struck out; Canning singled scoring Clouston and Hall; Duggan singled; Murphy was caught out by McIsaac retiring the side. Two runs.

EIGHTH INNING.

Cubs.—Knight struck out; Jerrett singled; Smith was caught out by Duggan; McCrindle was thrown out at first. No runs.

NINTH INNING.

Cubs.—Clouston singled and stole second; Thomas was caught out; Hall got a safe hit; Clouston went to third on wild pitch; Manning struck out; Canning singled scoring Clouston and Hall; Duggan singled; Murphy was caught out by McIsaac retiring the side. Two runs.

TENTH INNING.

Cubs.—Clouston singled and stole second; Thomas was caught out; Hall got a safe hit; Clouston went to third on wild pitch; Manning struck out; Canning singled scoring Clouston and Hall; Duggan singled; Murphy was caught out by McIsaac retiring the side. Two runs.

To the Memory of Father Vereker,

LATE PARISH PRIEST OF FERRYLEND.

The Chapel bell is tolling
In Ferrylend's quiet home,
The wild sea waves are rolling
And churning into foam,
The grey-haired man and matron
Are bowed in grief to-day,
And joy, the children's patron,
Has turned aside from play.

A good priest has departed,
They won't see his like again;
His smile and deeds kindhearted
Feel like sunshine after rain;
His ways were true and holy,
He was beloved by all,
The rich man and the lowly
Came responsive to his call.

Ab, Father, thou wert ever
A true and tender guide,
No heart from you could sever
When wandering by your side,
Distilling words within them
While travelling on life's road,
And your kind heart did win them
In a rich or poor abode.

Though troubled be the waters
Upon life's turbulent sea,
Yet Ferrylend's sons and daughters
Shall never forget thee;
They loved you most sincerely
For forty years or more,
And you loved them most dearly
On your adopted shore.

Brave loving son of Erin
You labored day and night,
And toll you were not fearful
When doing what was right;
Rest, shepherd ever faithful,
Beneath our wave-washed strand,
For your deeds your flock are grateful
At dear old Ferrylend.

JAMES MURPHY.
June 20th, 1918.

Prominent English Churchman's Regard for Kaiser.

We take the liberty of publishing the accompanying letter which appeared in the London Daily Mail of May 23. It goes to show how difficult it must be in England for the Government to act in any way compatible with the feelings of the masses in the conduct of the war, when such church dignitaries as the Archbishop of York wishes to apotheosise the Madman of Europe.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF YORK AND THE KAISER.
(From Major-General Sir Alfred Turner.)

To the Editor of the Daily Mail.
Sir,—In his recent sermon in New York the Archbishop of York counselled his hearers to think kindly not only of the German soldiers who have murdered, raped, pillaged, and destroyed wherever the foul foot has trodden, and who are confessedly lusty to excess by far their crimes and atrocities hitherto committed on the people of these islands if they succeed in invading us, but also to regard with tenderness their blood-thirsty and infamous ruler, who deliberately and designedly forced this war on the world. His words have created widespread indignation and to some extent astonishment that a man in his position should have so expressed himself.

For surprise, however, there is no room as the following words, spoken by him at York in the earlier days of the war, show but too clearly what his grace's proclivities are. He said: "I resent exceedingly the gross and vulgar way in which the German Emperor has been treated in the newspapers, and particularly in the comic papers. I have a personal memory of the Emperor very sacred to me, which makes me feel that it was with great reluctance that he felt himself compelled to accept the fact that his conduct and the conduct of his Ministers had involved himself in war with England."

Even the disclosures of Prince Lichnowsky have not, it appears, opened Dr. Lang's eyes to the never-to-be-forgotten turpitude of the Kaiser and his people. Doubtless Nero, Caligula, and Herod possessed sycophantic eulogists!

Household Notes.

There is no true economy in keeping articles that can never be used around the house.
Nuts stored for the winter must be carefully cleaned and kept free from dampness.
Save the rows of buttonholes from shirtwaists and stitch them as a fly onto other waists.
Cherries canned with the stones in have a somewhat finer flavor than those that are stoned.

Undersea Sensations.

Submarines of Other Times.
The prophet who declared that there was nothing new under the sun might, with equal propriety, have added that there was nothing new under the sea.

Many people, for instance, are under the delusion that the submarine
is a modern invention. As a matter of fact it is nothing of the sort.

The submarine—or something very like it—appears to have been in existence as long ago as the middle of the sixteenth century, if we may trust
the testimony of Olaus Magnus, Bishop of Upsala. This right reverend prelate has it that such vessels were used by pirates in Grunland for the purpose of "making great holes in passing merchant vessels." He asserts that he had seen two of them
exhibited in the western porch of the cathedral of St. Aslof.

To come to slightly more recent times, there are records of a submarine having been designed in 1578.
Its inventor is an Englishman—
one William Bourne.

A writer, referring to the earlier
types of submarine, notes the interesting fact that they "were intended to sink by decreasing their actual bulk and thus making them relativ-ly heavier than water, instead of increasing their weight by the use of ballast tanks. To cause them to rise
some kind of screw was provided
which would expand a flexible portion of the boat, in this way increasing
the bulk again and consequently the buoyancy."

"Old Nick" Suspected.
In the early part of the seventeenth century a submarine was successfully navigated from Westminster to Greenwich.

The inventor and navigator—Cornelius Drebel, a Dutchman—enjoyed the patronage of James I. and the credulous King was only prevented from taking part in a submarine trip
by the assurance of some of his councillors that Drebel was "in league with Old Nick."

The boat was so constructed that
"a person could see under the surface of the water, and without candle light, as much as he needed to read in the Bible, or any other book."
It was also propelled by oars.

Plymouth Sound was the scene of the first recorded submarine disaster.
It was there, in 1774, that an experimenter named Day made a descent in a vessel of fifty tons. He was never seen again.

At a time when Britain and the States are allies, it is interesting to recall the fact that the first successful use of submarines in warfare is believed to have been made during the American War of Independence.

A submarine craft was built by an American named Bushnell with the object of blowing up ships in the British blockading fleet. Bushnell was so far successful that he did actually explode a torpedo under a British frigate, without, however, inflicting any damage more serious
than the smashing of the cabin windows.

The Kaiser and God.

(From the Westminster Gazette.)
I have come across an interesting estimate of the Kaiser in his relation to the "good old German God," in a book by an American correspondent
Mr. Edward Lyell Fox, who has done journalistic duty both with the German armies and in Berlin since the beginning of the war. In "Wilhelm Hohenzollern and Co.," which Messrs.
Hurst and Blackett publish, Mr. Fox writes: "Intensely religious, ever
calling upon God in his hour of trial,
Wilhelm II. is religious to the point of madness. One might almost say that his whole life is held together by his belief that God is on the side of Germany in this war. . . . In considering the Kaiser to-day one must grasp the intensity of this religious obsession. If he were acting, if his God ranting were mere mum-mery, the task of the world would be easier. . . . Impelled by this religious hysteria, he will continue the war until he meets an end. Like that of the old German gods, and the whole fabric of his Empire is rent asunder. Either that, or the world fighting him will become too Christian and end humanity's anguish by substituting the thought of 'punishment'
with one of charity. But if the world should do that the Kaiser would believe 'our old German God' had saved
him, and on the Linden the Imperial flag would sound, and from the gray stone balcony of the Schloss one of those 'with God' speeches would strife the Berlin soul."

"Little Rhody"

Has Big Turtle.

A 65-pound turtle, measuring from
tip to tip three feet and four inches,
was pulled out of Warwick pond at Hoxst, R.I., with a fish line the other day by Arthur G. Chapman and James D. Thompson, of East Providence. The men were not fishing for turtles, and when Chapman hooked
on to this fellow he thought he had an elephant in tow.
