The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

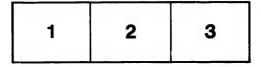

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shell contain the symbol  $\longrightarrow$  (meaning "CON-TINUED"), or the symbol  $\nabla$  (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the mothod:

America.

My Country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of liberty, Of thee I sing ; Land where my fathers died, Land of the pilgrims' pride, From every mountain side, Let freedom ring.

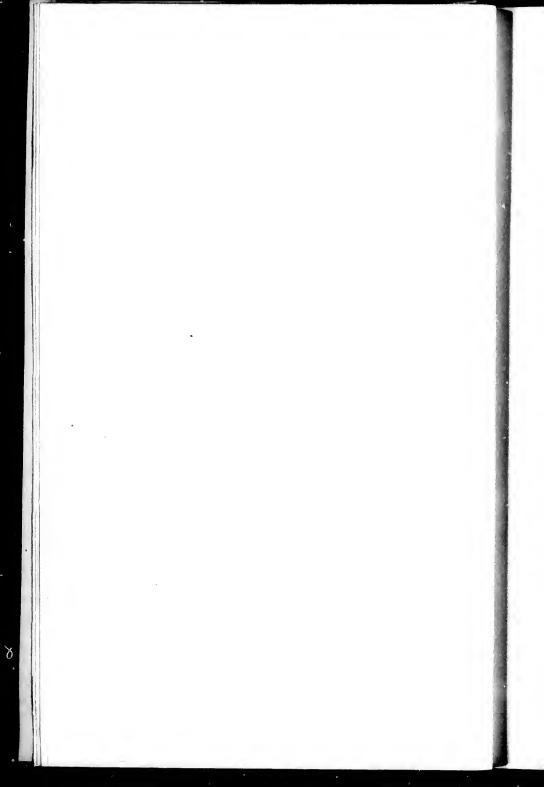

My native country, -thee, Land of the noble free, Thy name 1 love ; I love thy rocks and rills, Thy woods and templed hills ; My heart with rapture thrills, Like that above.

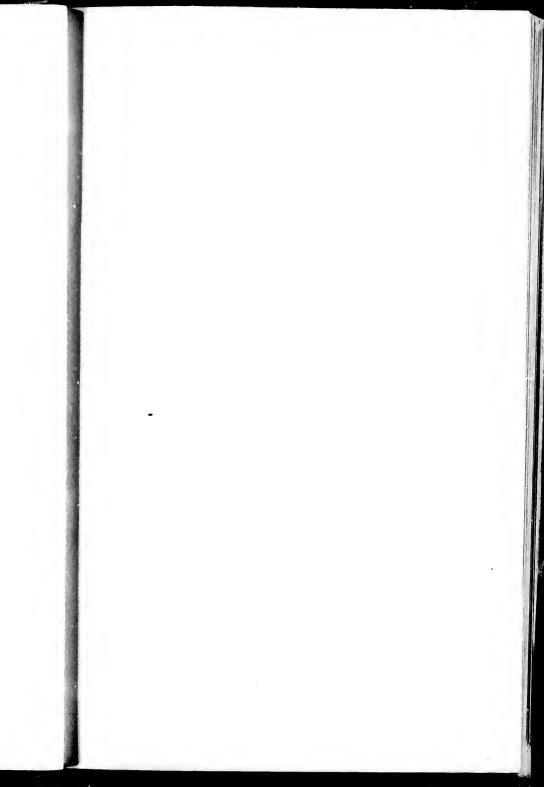

Let music swell the breeze, And ring from all the trees Sweet freedom's song; Let mortal tongues awake, Let all that breathe partake, Let rocks their silence break— The sound prolong.

Our father's God—to Thee,
Author of liberty,
To Thee we sing:
Long may our land be bright,
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God. our King.

OUR PRESIDENTS.

True nobility is derived from virtue, not from birth. Title may be purchased, but virtue is the only coin that makes the bargain valid.—Burton.

The long line of illustrious men who have held the exaited position of President of the United States has not its counterpart in the world's history. Not "ulers by Divine right" but by the will of the people,—occasionally not by inajority of the popular vote, but, by the majority of the Electoral College, which is a conception of the early Congress, and, while we perhaps think that inajority ought to rule, yet this is not the law, and we are a wonderfully good people to obey the law. The men who have filled these exalted positions cane from the people,—some had wealth, 'tis true, others came from the farm and other humble walks of life, but with a desire to serve the people and advance interests of the Republic. No czars, no emperors, no kings with an entailed succession, with or without brains; no blue blood, made bluer by running back into barbarism, but good, rich, American blood that thrills the very soul,—independent, honest, God-fearing men, whose counsels have carried the Republic through the perils of birth at Bunker Hill and Yorktown and Valley Forge until to lay we can dictate terms of peace to 'be proudest nations on the globe.

The 19th Century to Americans is most important, for it is our initial centire. We had just seen the light of day in our new condition when 1800 was an ered in. The declaration had gone forth to be free but the experiment was to be tried. When the bold, determined men signed the Declaration and the gamtlet was thrown down to the arrogant, proud Briton, it was faith in God and howder, the free men of America and George Washington of Virginia that inpred our forefathers to wondrous deeds of valor amid great sacrifices and a holy itermination to be free. Washington was called by his countrymen to lead the unies of the young republic to victory; and, as they marched and counterna ched and suffered for country, and country alone, the tide of battle rolled wak; the sacrifices and the life blood of the fathers and sons hallowed the ground and cleared the skies and peace was declared. The armies disbanded and the modest hero bade farewell to his comrades in arms, retiring to his estate n firginia to live in quietude for the balance of his life, but the people willed it therwise, and—

GEORGE WASHINGTON, the First President, was honored by a twoern service from 1789 to 1797. He was born on February 22, 1732, near Bridges heek, Va., and inherited large landed estates from his father. The first election occurred in January, 178). The two houses of congress had been orga ized in New York about April 4, 1789, although March 4th had been th appointed time. The organization of the government was completed on Ap 30th. The President and Vice-President John Adams, were sworn in by Ho Robert R. Livingston, chancellor of New York, in the gallery of the old ci hall in Wall street. In the first cabinet were Thomas Jefferson, secretary state; Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury; Henry Knox, secretary war; Edmund Randolph, attorney general, and Samuel ()sgood, postmast general. John Jay was the first chief justice. At this time the country had debt of $80,000,000,---a fabulous sum considering the country's small populati and resources. After a re-election of Washington and John Adams for a second term, the cabinet was Timothy Pickering, secretary of state; Oliver Wolco secretary of the treasury; James McHenry, secretary of war; and Charles Le attorney general. There was no navy at this time. General Washington died Mount Vernon, Va., December 14, 1799.

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, the Ninth President, was born in keley, Va., February 9, 1773. When Washington became President he was but een years of age. Education was not so easily obtained then as now, and ian border troubles attracted the attention of young Harrison, so he entered army. He was commissioned as an ensign in April, 1791, and assigned to the llery. His youthful appearance attracted the attention of his superiors, but determination brought him to the front, and he was advanced and placed uphe staff of General Anthony Wayne, who complimented him in orders, for bravery. In 1795 he was a captain of artillery and in 1800 President Adams anding, and incidented him governor of the new territory of Indiana, an immense domain, from which the States of Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan were formed His powers were autocratic. He was not only commander of the entire militia but, was Indian and land commissioner, legislator and law giver, and held the pardoning power. It was wonderful authority, but he was a wonderful mat and dealt fearlessly and equitably with all. Tecumseh, the noted Indian Chief was a disturber of the peace and assembled with one thousand warriors at Tipp canoe, Indiana, to dispute the authority of Governor Harrison. The gaunt thrown down by this imperious, proud warrior was accepted by the general, an he advanced upon them, and, when near the town was severely set upon by the savages, who were defeated. The War of 1812 provoked the Indians to a gener uprising, and General Harrison was appealed to by Kentucky, whose Govern commissioned him as major general of State troops. The President in the mean time had made him a brigadier general in the regular army where he did suc signal service that his countrymen wishing to still further honor him, his part nominated him for the Presidency. He was elected and with him John Tyler. Vice President on March 4, 1841. His secretary of state was Daniel Webster 145. H secretary of treasury, Thomas Ewing; secretary of war, John Bell and secre tary of navy, Geo. Edmund Badger.

General Harrison died on April 4th of the same year as the result of a co in, of ' incurred on the day of his inaugural.

JOHN TYLER, the Tenth President, was born in Greenway, Va., d March 29, 1790. He was quite a poet, as well as something of a musician, b law was his profession. Among his classmates were James Madison, preside . Ge of the college, and Thomas Jefferson. He entered the arena of politics and where right elected to the Virginia legislature in 1811 and married Letitia Christian on Mar 20, 1813. In the War of 1812 he commanded a company in the defense of Rice to, and mond against the English. Politically he was opposed to slavery, and, on the "compromise bill" admitting Missouri without restriction, he voted in the neg tive, much to the surprise of his friends. He was a forceful and ready debater multy. Congress. He declined a re-election to congress in 1821 on account of ill heal lifernia but in 1823 was again elected, and in 1826 was elected governor of his sta He was elected Vice-President on the ticket with General Harrison, and up the notice of the President's death at once repaired to Washington, taking t oath of office on April 6, 1841. Upon assuming the duties of President the were some changes in the cabinet. Upon a re-adjustment the official family composed of such men as Walter Forward, of Pennsylvania; John McLean, ed by Ohio; Charles A. Wickliff, of Kentucky; John C. Spencer, of Virgin Thomas W. Gilmore, of Virginia, and William Wilkins, of Pennsylvar Two members of the cabinet were killed by the explosion of a gun on the ves "Princeton," and the places were filled by John C. Calhoun and John Y. Matter of Virginia. After leaving the White House Mr. Tyler returned to "Sherwe Forest," where he dwelt for the remainder of his life. He retired from political dier, 1 entirely but was often called upon to take part in public gatherings. It was who suggested the peace conference of the states which met in Washington February, 1861. He was the president of the conference. He finally went w Virginia and was member-elect to the Confederate house of representatives. died before he took his seat. JAMES K. POLK, the Eleventh President, was born in Mecklenburg, orth Corolina, on November 2, 1795. He was of Scotch-Irish parentage and s father was a captain in the War of the Revolution. He at one time worked a country store, but his taste was not in that direction, so he turned his attenon to law, and in order to educate his son the father made a great sacrifice; but was repaid in future years by seeing the son honored by the Nation. Mr. Polk rned to politics and in 1823 was elected to the house of representatives, returned 1824, and was elected to congress in 1825, and re-elected until 1839, when he came governor of Tennessee. He was a free trader, an advocate for the extenon of slavery, and advised the annexation of Texas. He was elected speaker the house of representatives in 1835, and so remained for four years. In 1839 decided not to become candidate for another congressional term, but was a ndidate for governor-had a vigorous canvass and was elected. In 1841 he as again a candidate for governor, but was defeated by the whigs. He was augurated as President and George M. Dallas as Vice-President on March 4, 45. He received 175 votes of the electoral college, as against 105 for Cassius . Clay. His cabinet was composed of James Buchanan, of Pennsylvania; obert J. Walker, of Mississippi; William M. Marcy, of New York; Cave Johnesult of a column, of Tennessee, and John Y. Mason, of Virginia. These were all able men.

r. Calhoun, as secretary of state in the preceding administration, had signed a meaty of annexation with Texas on April 12, 1844, which was approved by conress on March 1, 1845, and the following day signed by Mr. Tyler. The Mexican government issued a proclamation denouncing the annexation act

d called upon the people to rally in defense of their country, but did not declare rights given to Texas by Santa Anna and the new title of the United States." May 7, 1846, the Mexican troops first opened fire on General Taylor at Palo fense of Rice to, and the Mexican war opened, when 50,000 men were called for.

The campaigns were vigorously prosecuted by Generals Scott and Taylor, e City of Mexico was captured and our troops continued in possession of the ady debater muntry. WILLIAM M'KINLEY, the Twenty-fourth President, was born in the Ohio, on February 26, 1844. He attended the public schools until the breat out of the war in 1861, when he enlisted as a private in the 23d Ohio Volume and served with distinction until the close of the war, when he was mustered as major. After returning home he studied law, and was in receipt of a and lucrative practice at the time of his election. Politics claimed his attended he was clected to Congress, and served in the Forty-fifth, Forty-Forty seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth and Fiftieth congresses, and was prudated author of the celebrated McKinley bili that has made his name a household in all the civilized world.

Major McKinley was elected President, and was inaugurated, with 6 A. Hobart, of New Jersey, as Vice-President, on March 4, 1897. The metarch. of his cabinet are as follows: John Sherman, secretary of state; Russ Alger, secretary of war; Cornelius N. Bliss, secretary of the interior; McKenna, attorney-general: John D. Long, secretary of the navy; Lyr Gage, secretary of the treasury; James Wilson, secretary of agriculture; A. Gary, postmaster-general. Attorney-general McKenna was promote justice of the Supreme Court. President McKinley, the first man in the world, will not disappoint the Nation, and it is to be hoped that jingoes as headed political demagogues will enlist for the war they want him to declar get out of the way.

No President since Abraham Lincoln's time has had so grave a quest rettle as has President McKinley. The irresponsibles propose measures are seconded by a lot of cheap office-seeking politicians, who think they the President, and who know more (?) than he dares to claim. This Cubat tion was the president's inheritance; and, having fallen heir to it, he will the assistance of his coadjutors in office—Alger of the Army, Long of the and Gage of the Treasury, to furnish the sinews, hold the "dogs of war" is until the propitious moment arrives, and then the haughty Dons will releas hold and Cuba will be free.

It is a serious thing to involve a nation in war, and none know it bett do those who have followed our ship of state through four years of strike President himself served more than his full term, and he and General Al war secretary, with an experience of four years and sixty odd batt advocate peace if it can be honorably done. No fault-finding from sor partisans and jingoes at home, nor howls and threats from nations abro change the minds of the President and his cabinet, who hold the key to the tion. But if war it must be, let it be a war so swift and so terrible, that generations will pause and pray, and plan and legislate for a general d ment of nations, and an international congress to arbitrate and settle grave grave questions peacefully, as Christian nations should.

Saturday, April 8th, Henry Clay and John Randolph fought a duel near Washington, neither of them, however, being injured. The cause of the neeting was words which Randolph had made use of when speaking of the coalition of Mr. Adams and Clay, which he designated as a "combination of the Puritan and blackleg." A man is judged by the company he keeps. 1827 Whoso walketh uprightly she be saved.

The "grog" ration was abolished in 1863, and since then the crew has been forbidden to drink while on duty.

Marines are the police on board ship. Originally they were employed to prevent mutiny among the sailors.

The guns of a battleship can carry from six to twelve miles, hurling a she weighing half a ton.

Behind the heavy armor there is a padding of either corn pith or com husks.

It costs $500 every time one of the big guns on board a ship is fired.

Sailors are paid from $9.50 to $12.50 per month and board.

An act of congress in 1872 abolished flogging in the navy.

The American navy has practically all been built since 1883.

A captain in the navy ranks with a colonel in the army.

The oldest iron vessel is the Michigan, built in 1844.

Five battleships are now under construction.

The ships are painted white, except in time of war, when they are green. Barnacles form on the hull of a ship, impeding its speed. Six months' crus will decrease the speed of a ship 15 per cent., and it must go into dry dock. Sixty-one merchant vessels belong to the auxiliary navy. These ships subsidized, and by contract must be given to the United States on demand. Some of the guns in the navy can fire a shot twelve miles, farther that a man can see, for the guns are aimed and sighted by machinery. Five hundred and twenty-six men and forty officers are required to ma the cruiser New York.

Battleships are covered with armor of nickel steel from five to sew inches thick.

We have six armored battleships—the Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetti Texas, Kearsage and Kentucky.

A submarine torpedo boat, to be known as the Plunger, is now und construction.

Projectiles thrown by naval guns are shaped much as the bullets shot the ordinary rifle.

A big battleship has on board an electric plant capable of lighting a tor of 5,000 inhabitants.

The boilers of the Iowa have a heating surface of eight acres, and he thirty-two tons of water.

The Kearsarge and Kentucky have just been added to our fleet of bath ships.

The battleship Iowa weighs about 12,000 tons, and as twenty tons<sup>3</sup> average load of a freight car and twelve cars is a good load for a locom engine, it would take fifty locomotives to haul the great steel structure.

The powder used in the big guns is brown and in chunks the size of a mel. A charge for the biggest guns weighs 500 pounds and is hoisted breech by a derrick, the powder being sewed up in burlap bags.

Armor plates are tested by firing steel projectiles weighing from 100 to pounds at them, from guns charged with 500 pounds of powder and at a de of a city block. Continued.

The biggest guns in the navy are forty-nine feet long, big enough for a to crawl into; four feet in diameter at their largest part, and weigh 500 pounds or thereabouts.

In a battle at sea the woodwork and all articles of wood are either stowed w or thrown overboard lest the men be injured by splinters.

The origin of the navy department may be said to date from October 13, , when congress authorized the equipment of two cruisers.

The fastest vessels in the navy are the torpedo boats Porter and Dupont, of which can travel 27.5 knots an hour.

Battleships cost from $2,500,000 to $3,750,000, and cruisers from $600,000 3.000,000. A good torpedo boat costs over $100,000.

Battleships are for heavy work; cruisers are commerce destroyers; monitors useful only for coast defense.

The Indiana could lie outside Sandy Hook and throw 1,200-pound shots New York at the rate of four a minute.

Those artists who show smoke in their pictures of naval battles are wholly g. Smokeless powder is used. All of the cruisers are named in honor of cities, and the battleships, except learsarge, in honor of states.

Our battleships have a speed of from fifteen to seventeen knots an hour. isers make nineteen to twenty-four knots, while the monitors can travel five to seven knots.

HISTORICAL EVENTS OF THE YEAR 1892-Continued.

Pattrick O'Suliivan, of Dr. Cronin murder fame, died in prison at Joliet, on May 5.

Archbishop John Ireland's schools at Faribault and Stillwater, Minn., are recognized by the Pope.

Venezuelan insurgents capture the City of Bolivar on May 15.

A hurricane swept the Island of Mauritius on May 30th, and 1200 people were killed.

Golden wedding of the Danish King and Queen on May 26.

James G. blaine resigns as secretary of state on June 4.

Emin Pasha dies in the interior of Africa on June 1st, and Sidney Dillon on June 9th, in New York.

President Benjamin Harrison nominated at Minneapolis for a second term, and Whitelaw Reed as Vice-President.

Grover Cleveland nominated for President, and Adlai Stevenson for Vice-President, at Chicago on June 23.

St. Johns, N. F., nearly wiped out by fire on July 7.

Thomas Cook, founder of the Cook excursions. died in London, July 19.

July 20th the hottest day of the year in New York—300 prostrations, 94 deaths. The family of Hiram Sibley and guests, eleven in all, lost in Georgian Bay August 26.

George Wm. Curtis dies at Livingston, Statan Island, August 31st, and John G. Whittier on September 7th, at Hampton Falls, N. H.

Four of the Dalton gang of bank robbers killed at Coffeyville, Kas.

Lord Tennyson died in London on October 5.

Charles T. Yerkes donates the largest telescope in the world to the Chicago University. It is located at Lake Geneva, Wis., and with the land and buildings cost $1,000,000.

Mrs Harrison, wife of the President, dies in Washington, D. C., on the 25. Milwaukee, Wis., suffers a great fire on October 28; 3 000 people homeless.

Jay Gould dies in New York on December 2d. He was one of the most remarkable organizers and financiers of the century, starting life with $100,000,000. He was quiet, unostentatious and generous.

Martin Burke, one of Dr. Cronin's murderers, died of consumption in Joliet. The Columbian half dollars arrived in Chicago on December 19, and the first one coined was purchased by Wycoff, Seamans & Benedict, proprietors of the Remington Typewriter, for $10,000.

THE COST OF STRONG DRINK.

For the fiscal year ending June 30 1896, there were reported to be 4 648 wholesale and 204 294 retail dealers of whisky and beer, from which the United States received in revenue $114,480.720. The number of breweries in the United States is 1,771, and the annual production from them is 75,000,000 gallons of distilled spirits, and 1,115,959,482 gallons of fermented liquors, for which the consumers pay $1,000,000.

This is but an annual statement, and what an awful statement it is. In its trail come tears, blood, crime, death. damnation, and Christians and statesmen legalize it by not crushing it out. We build war ships, strengthen forts and mobilize armies to crush out an insurrection that lasts but a few days. We hold the Spaniard accountable for Cuban atrocities, and yet we build breweries and license rum sellers, whose sole aim and business is to degrade, debauch and damn our young men and young women.

America! wake up ! God will bless you for lending a sympathetic ear to Cuba; but He will hold you accountable for aiding and abetting the brewers and rum sellers in their nefarious business.

er, of the Episcon the following was taken from Henry Watterson's address of welcome to the members of the G. A. R. at the Louisville encampment in 1895:

"And the flag! God bless the flag! As the heart of McCallum More rmed to the tartan, do all hearts warm to the flag! Have you upon your unds of sight-seeing missed it hereabouts? Does it make itself on any hand nspicuous by its absence? Can you doubt the loyal sincerity of those who New York, sunk on the base top and roof tree have thrown it to the breeze? Let some sacriious hand be raised to haul it down, and see! No, no, comrades, the people masse do not deal in subterfuges; they do not stoop to conquer; they may be ong; they may be perverse, but they never dissemble. These are honest flags th honest hearts behind them. They are the symbols of a nationality as cious to us as to you. They fly at last as Webster would have them fly. bearno such mottoes as 'What is all this worth?' or 'Liberty first and Union rward,' but blazing in letters of living light upon their ample folds, as they t over the sea and over the land, those words dear to every American heart : nion and liberty, now and forever, one and inseparable.""

Washington, D. C., Spanish Minister Dupuy de Lome insults the President and is recalled on February 9.

Chicago, February 10, Luetgert, the wife murderer, sentenced to prison for life. Battleship Maine blown up by torpedoes in Havana harbor on February 15, 258 marines perish.

New York, February 17, Miss Frances E. Willard died at the Empire Hotel at midnight on the 17th. Miss Willard was the "Uncrowned Queen of America;" she was an American by birth, but belonged to the World. In early life she lived on a farm, and loved the country home and country manners; did not attend school until fourteen years of age, yet, with a mind receptive to all that was sensible and good, she became a ripe scholar and a profound thinker, an organizer and a safe leader. She stood a peer among the great educators in America, and a stalwart in her life work-purity and sobriety. Frances Willard goes down to future generations as a martyr, and 'tis well. The great cause for which she labored and died needed such a sacrifice to stimulate her co-laborers to greater work in this part of the Master's vineyard. She died on the battlefield of temperance and purity with her face towards the enemy, and, it is fitting that a monument be erected to her memory, to commemorate her many hard struggles and self-sacrificing "The Temple," built and burdened devotion to a work honored of God. with debt, should be re-dedicated and redeemed. Let "Willard Temple free from debt," from this on, be the "war cry" of all the ribboners-the Red, White and Blue-and before the nineteenth century goes out the temperance people can, with a just pride, point to a reautiful and enduring monument, erected to the memory of the world's greatest temperance advocate and leader-FRANCES E. WILLARD.

Rev. Frank Bristol of the Metropolitan M. E. Church in Washington said :

The men who offer their lives on liberty's holy altar today caught their inspiration from the men who fought for their convictions in our civil war; and those great men of our civil war had heard of the revolutionary heroes and were proud to emulate their deeds of patriotic valor; but the men of the revolution had inherited the spiril of the pligrim fathers and were determined to prove themselves worthy of their noble sires; the pilgrims had the mantels of the reformers resting upon their broad herculean shoulders; and the reformers remembered with reverence the martyrs; and the martyrs had seen the apostles; and the apostles had touched the Christ. There is your providence in history.

Archbishop Ireland of the Archdiocese of Minnesota, at St. Paul, said: "God's power and will are above armies and navies, and on Him far more that on armies and navies nations depend. Let us praise and thank God. He blesses us in the war our armies wage to-day. Victory follows victory; the starry banner waves triumphant in Cuba and in the far distant Philippines. Small has been the sacrifices demanded as the price of victories. Wondrously great is the result of our victories. "A new America has risen. A new era has dawned in our history. America as never before is conscious of her power; the nations of the earth as never before understand her power. The child of a century is a glantess whose arms reach beyond her own vast continent across distance oceans. God indeed has blessed her. The ideals of America are in God's designs the ideals of all humanity. And America triumphs that popular liberty may triumph and a new order of things spring up for all humanity.

"This is why greatness comes to her, and greatness yet will come to her beyond all that human vision to-day is able to see. She will grow into this new stature as by the very laws of nature, and God's hand will be with her then as it is now, guarding her in her true mission and preserving for her sake and that of the world her priceless liberty.'

- Washington, D. C., July 16.-Eben Brewer, who had charge of all postal arrangements of the United States in Cuba, died near Santiago to-day.
- Santiago de Cuba, July 17.—The stars and stripes raised over Santiago to-day at 12 amid booming of cannon, the army and navy saluting, bands playing "Star Spangled Banner."
- The greatest sea fight known in the history of the world was fought on Sunday. July 3rd, off the harbor at Santiago, between the American fleet, Admiral Sampson, and the Spanish fleet, Admiral Cervera. The results astonish the world. The American yet sails, the pride of the nation; the Spanish, annihilated, rests on the bottom of the Carribean Sea. Capt. Evans, whose good ship Iowa was the first to spy the Spanish Admiral stealing away, says:

"I was sitting in my cabin talking to my son, who was a cadet on the Massachu-setts, but who had been left behind in a picket launch when his ship went up the bay to coal. Some one shouted: 'What's that black thing coming out of the harbor?' A moment later the lowa was at general quarters and the engine bell rang full speed ahead. I put the helm t starboard and the lowa crossed the bows of the Infanta Maria Teresa, the first ship ou. As the Spanish Admiral swung to the westward the twelve-inch shells from the forward unret of the Iowa seemed to strike him fair in the bow, and the fight was a spectacle.

"It was a superb sight to see the squadron come out—beautifully spaced as to distance and gradually increasing its speed to thirteen knots. "The Iowa from this moment kept up a steady fire from its heavy guns, healing all the time, to keep the Infanta Maria Teresa on its starboard bow, and hoping to ram one of the leading ships.

"In the meantime the Oregon, Indiana, Brooklyn and Texas were doing excellent work with their heavy guns. In a short time the enemy's ships were all clear of the harbor mouth, and it became evidently impossible for the Iowa to ram either the first or the second ships on account of their speed.

"The range at this time was 2,000 yards from the leading ships. The Iowa's belm was immediately put hard to the starboard, and the entire starboard broadside was poured into the Infanta Maria Teresa. The helm was then quickly shifted to port, and the ship went cross the stern of the Teresa in an effort to head off the Oquendo. All the time the engines were driving at full speed ahead, while a per-rect torset of shens from the enemy passed over the smokestacks and superstruct-ure of the ship, but none struck her. "The Cristobal Colon, being much faster than the rest of the Spanish ships, went rapidly to the front in an effort to escape, and in passing the lowa the Colon placed two six-inch shells fairly in our starboard bow. One passed through the cofferdam and dispensary, wrecking the latter and bursting on the berth-deck, doing considerable damage. The other passed through the side at the water line within the cofferdam, where it still remains.

"As it was now obviously impossible to ram any of the Spanish ships, on account of their superior speed, the Iowa's heim was put to the starboard, and she ran on a course parallel with the enemy. Being then abreast of the Almirante Oquendoat a distance of 1,100 yards, the Iowa's entire battery, including the rapid-fire guns, was opened on the Oquendo. The punishment was terrific. Many twelve and eight inch shells were seen to explode inside of her, and smoke came through her hatches, The Oquendo seemed to stop her engines for a moment and lost headway; but she immediately resumed her speed and gradually drew ahead of the Iowa and came under the terrific fire of the Oregon and Texas. "At this moment the alarm of 'Torpedo boats' was sounded, and two torpedo-boat destroyers were discovered in the starboard quarter at a distance of 4,000 yards. Fire was at once opened on them with the after battery, and a twelve-inch bell cut the stern of one destroyer squarely off. As the shell struck a small torpedo boat fired back at the battleship, sending a shell within a few feet of my head. I said to Executive Officer Rogers: 'That little chap has got a lot of cheek.' Rogers shouted back: 'She shoots very well, all the same.'

"Well up among the advancing cruisers, spitting shots at one and then another. was the little Gloucester, shooting first at a cruiser, then at a torpedo boat, and hit-ting a head wherever she saw it. The marvel was that she was not destroyed by the rain of shells. In the meantime the Vizcaya was slowly drawing abeam of the Iowa, and for the space of fifteen minutes it was give and take between the two The Vizcaya fired rap. lly, but wildly, not one shot taking effect on the lowa, ships. while the shells from the Iowa were tearing great rents in the sides of the Vizcaya. As the latter passed ahead of the Iowa she came under the murderous fire of the Oregon. At this time the Infanta Maria Teresa and the Almirante Oquendo, leading the enemy's column, were seen to be heading for the beach in flames. The Texas, Oregon and Iowa pounded them unmercifully. They ceased to reply to the fire, and in a few moments the Spanish cruisers were a mass of flames and on the rocks with their colors down, the Teresa flying a white flag at the fore. "The crews of the enemy's ships, stripped, began jumping overboard, when one of the smaller magazines began to explode. "Meantime the Brooklyn and the Cristobal Colon were exchanging compliments in lively fashion at apparently long range, and the Oregon, with her locomolive speed, was hanging well on the Colon, also paying attention to the Vizcaya. The Teresa and the Oquendo were in flames on the beach just twenty minutes after the first shot was fired. Fifty minutes after the first shot was fired the Vizcaya puther helm to port, with a great burst of flame from the after part of the ship, and headed slowly for the rocks at Acceraderes, where she found her last resting place. "As it was apparent that the Iowa could not possibly catch the Cristobal Colon, and that the Oregon and Brooklyn undoubtedly would, and as the fast New York was also on her trail, I decided that the calls of humanity should be answered and attention was given to 1,200 or 1,500 Spanish officers and men who had struck their colorsto the American squadron commanded by Admiral Sampson. I therefore headed for the wreck of the Vizcaya, now burning furiously fore and aft. When I was in as fars the depth of water would admit I lowered all my boats and sent them at once to the assistance of the unfortunate men, who were being drowned by dozens or roasted on the decks. I soon discovered that the insurgent Cubans from the shore were shooting men who were struggling in the water, after having surrendered to us. I immediately put a stop to this, but I could not put a stop to the mutilation of many bodies by the sharks inside the reef. These creatures had become excited by the blood from the wounded mixing with the water.

"My boats' crews worked manfully and succeeded in saving many of the wounded from the burning ship. One man, who will be recommended for promotion, clambered up the side of the Vizcaya and saved three men from burning to death. The smaller magazines of the Vizcaya were exploding with magnificent cloud effects. The boat were coming alongside in a steady string, and willing hands were helping the lacen-ted Spanish officers and sailors onto the Iowa's quarter deck. All the Spaniards were absolutely without clothes. Some had their legs torn off by fragments of shells. Other were mutilated in every conceivable way.

"The bottoms of the boats held two or three inches of blood. In many cases dead men were lying in it. Five poor chaps died on the way to the ship. They were alter ward burled with military honors from the Iowa. Some examples of heroism, or more properly, devotion to discipline and duty, could never be surpassed. One man on the Vizcaya had his left arm almost shot off just below the shoulder. The fragments were hanging by a small piece of skin, but he climbed unassisted over the side and saluted as if on a visit of ceremony.

"Immediately after him came a strong-hearted sailor whose left leg had been shot off above the knee. He was holsted on board the Iowa with a tackle, but never a whimper came from him. Gradually the mangled bodies and naked men accumulated until it would have been almost difficult to recognize the Iowa as a United States battleship.

"Blood was all over her usually white quarterdeck, and 272 naked men were being supplied with water and food by those who a few minutes before had been using a rapid-fire battery on them. Finally came the boat with Capt. Eulate, commander of the Vizcaya, for whom a chair was lowered over the side, as he was evidently wounded. The Captain's guard of marines was drawn up on the quarterdeck to salute him, and I stood waiting to welcome him.

The Capital is guard of marines was drawn up of the quarterdeck to saute him, and r stood walting to welcome him. "As the chair was placed on the deck the marines presented arms. Capt. Eulate slowly raised himself in the chair, saluted me with grave dignity, unbuckled his sword-belt and, holding the hilt before him, kissed it reverently with tears in his eyes, and then surrendered it to me.

"Of course I declined to receive it, and as the crew of the Iowa saw this they cheered like wild men. As I started to take Capt Eulate into the cabin to let the doctors examine his wounds the magazines on board the Vizcaya exploded with a tremendous burst of flame. The captaln, extending his hands, said, 'Adios, Vizcaya. There goes my beautiful ship, captain,' and so we passed on to the cabin, where the doctors dressed his three wounds.

"In the meantime, thirty officers of the Vizcaya had been picked up, besides 272 of her crew. Our wardroom and steerage officers gave up their staterooms and furnished food, clothing and tobacco to the naked officers from the Spanish vessel. The paymaster issued uniforms to the naked sailors, and each was given all the corned beef, coffee and hard tack he could eat. The war had assumed another aspect.

"As I knew the crews of the first two ships wrecked had not been visited by any of our vessels, I ran down to them. I found the Gloucester with Admiral Cervera and a number of his officers aboard and also a large number of wounded, some in a frightfully mangled condition. Many prisoners had been killed on shore by the fire of the Cubans. The Harvard came off and requested Capt. Cotton to go in and take off the crews of the Infanta Maria Teresa and the Almirante Oquendo and by midnight the Harvard had 976 prisoners aboard, a great number of them wounded.

"For courage and dash there is no parallel in history to this action of the Spanlsh admiral. He came, as he knew, to absolute destruction. There was one single hope—that was that the Cristobal Colon would steam faster than the Brooklyn. The spectacle of two torpedo-boat destroyers, paper shells at best, deliberately steaming out in broad daylight in the face of the fire of a battleship can be described in one way—it was Spanish and it was ordered by Blanco. The same must be said of the errire movement.

"In contrast to this Spanish fashion was the cool, deliberate Yankee work. The American squadron was without sentiment, apparently. The ships went at their Spanish opponents and literally tore them to pieces. But the moment the Spanish flag came down, it must have been evident that the sentiment was among the Americans and not among the Spaniards.

"I took Admiral Cervera aboard the Iowa from the Schneit way among the Americ "I took Admiral Cervera aboard the Iowa from the Gloucester and received him with a full admiral's guard. The crew of the Iowa crowded aft over the turrets, half naked and black with powder, as Cervera stepped over the side bareheaded. Over his undershirt he wore a thin suit of flannel borrowed from Lieutenant-Commander Wainwright of the Gloucester. The crew cheered vociferously. Cervera was every lach an admiral, even if be had no hat. He submitted to the fortunes of war with a grace that proclaimed him a thoroughbred."

Captain Evans is intensely proud of his ship and her men. The Iowa fired thirtyone twelve-inch, forty-eight eight-inch, 270 four-inch, 1,060 six-pound and 120 onepound shots.

The officers of the Viscaya said they simply could not hold their crews at the guns on account of the rapid fire poured upon them. The decks were flooded with water from the fire hose, and blood from the wounded made this a dark red. Fragments of bodies floated in this along the gun-deck. Every instant the crack of exploding shells told of new havoc. One of the twelve-inch shells from the Iowa exploded a torpedo in the Viscaya's bow, blowing twenty-one men against the deck above and dropping them dead and mangled into the fire which at once started below.

The torpedo boat Ericsson was sent by the flagship to help in the rescue of the Viscaya's crew. Her men saw a terrible sight. The flames leaping out from the buge shot-holes in the Viscaya's sides licked up the decks, sizzling the flesh of the wounded, who were lying there shricking for help. Between the frequent explosions there came awful cries and groans from the men penned in below. This carnage was chiefly due to the rapidity of the Americans' fire. Corporal Smith of the Iowa fired 135 aimed shots in fifty minutes from a four-inch gun. Two shells struck within ten feet of Smith and started a small fire, but the corporal went on pumping shots into the enemy, only stopping to say: "They've got it in for this gun, sir."

From two six-pounders 440 shots were fired in fifty minutes. Up in the tops the marines banged away with one pounders and were too excited to step back or duck as the shells whistled over them.

One gunner of a secondary battery, under a twelve-inch gun, was almost blinded by smoke and saltpeter from the turret and his crew was driven off, but putting a wet handkerchief over his face, with holes cut for the eyes, he stuck to his gun. Finally, as the six-pounders were so close to the eight-inch turret as to make it impossible to stay there with safety, the men were ordered away before the big gun was fired, but they refused to leave. When the eight inch gun was fired the concussion blew two men ten feet from their guns and threw them to the deck as dent as posts. Back they went again, however, and were again blown down and finally had to be dragged away from their stations. Such bravery and dog determination under the heavy fire was of frequent occurrence on all the ships engaged.

During his stay on the Iowa, Admiral Cervera endeared himself to all. After Blanco's order was issued he wanted to come out on the night of July 2, but General Linares said: "Walt till to-morrow morning. You will catch them at divine service then."

The Spaniards say that no torpedo boats ever came out to attack Admiral Samp. son's squadron. The Pluton and Furor, they say, kept guard every night inside the harbor.

The Indiana was hit only twice. She fired no armor plercing shells except from the smokeless-powder six-pounders. The Oregon was hit three times, twice by fragments of shells. The Iowa was struck nine times.

HISTORICAL EVENTS OF THE YEAR.

The prowess of the American Navy has undergone a change since Sunday, May lst. Admiral Dewey demonstrated then that we were at least second, and on Sunday, July 3, Admiral Sampson, after sinking the pride of Spain, Admiral Cevera's fleet, off the Santiago Harbor, placed us in the front rank.

Mr. H. S. Washburn, of Worcester, Mass., was author of "The Vacant Chair" and was written in memory of Lieut. Grout of the 15th Mass. Infantry. He lost his life at Balls Bluff, Oct. 21, 1861.

The largest flag in the world is "Old Glory," the one made expressly to wave over Morro Castle, Havana, when Spain surrenders. It is 120 x 43½ feet. Special bunting was made for it and is 42 inches wide. The Union is 40 feet in length and in width covers the space of seven stripes. The stars, from point to point, measure 14 inches. A patriotic Wall street man had the flag made. Weight 250 pounds; Cost $300. Long may it wave.

HISTORICAL EVENTS OF THE YEAR.

Easter Sunday, April 15.

Closing year of the nineteenth century.

The year 1900 is not a leap year for the following reasons :

The Gregorian rule of intercalation now in vogue runs as follows: Every year of which the number is divisible by four, without a remainder, is a leap year, excepting centesimal years, which are only leap years when divisible by four after suppressing the two zeros; thus 1600 was a leap year, 1700 and 1800 were common years, and 1900 is also a common year. The year 2000 will be a leap year, and so on.

There is no use of money equal to that of beneficence; here the enjoyment grows on reflection.

A beneficent person is like a fountain watering the earth and spreading fertility, it is, therefore, more delightful and more honorable to give than to receive.-Epicurus.
