

T. EATON CO. LIMITED

190 Yonge St. Canada's Greatest Store. Toronto.

Friday Bargains.

To-morrow is the last Friday in this month, and each department is taking advantage of the day by putting out many things that will have to be sold before stock-taking. This list will tell you about a few of them. Many others will be added by the time you get here:—

- Basement
China Candlestick, with snuffer, floral decoration and gold lines, regular price 20c, for 10c.
Best American Gas Globes, three colors, red, blue and amber, fluted top, regular price 60c each, for 35c.
Brooklyn Junior Gas Range, with 4-foot tubing, two holes in top and burner under oven, special 85c.
Colored and White Cord Hammocks, regular price 60c and 90c, for 50c.
English, semi-China Cheese Dish, neatly decorated with floral designs, embossed, regular price $1, for 75c.
- Groceries
Finest Pearl Tapioca, 3 pounds 10c.
Fruit Pudding (assorted flavors), 8c a package.
Special Blend of India and Ceylon Tea, regular 30c a pound, for 25c.
- Gloves and Hosiery
Ladies' Ottoman and Milanese Pure Silk Gloves, 14-inch, in tan, fawn, brown, cream and black, regular price 35c, for 25c.
Ladies' 3 Large Silver Dome French Kid Gloves, in fawn, mode, brown and black, with colored silk stitching and welts to match, regular $1 gloves, for 50c.
Ladies' Fast Back Cotton Hose, guaranteed stainless, double heel and sole, regular 15c, for 10c.
Ladies' 1/2 Thread Hose, fast black, double heel and sole, regular 35c, for 25c.
- Parasols and Purses
Ladies' Fancy Parasols, in brocade stripe and shot silks, in all the newest shades, with fancy handles, regular price from $1.50 to $2.25, for 85c.
Ladies' Real Seal Purses, with best overlapping steel frame, calf lined, with card case and ticket pockets, regular price $1.50, for 75c.
Fancy Paper Fans, handsomely decorated, regular price 5c each, for 3c.
- Drug Sundries
Graduated Medicine Glass, regular 5c each, for 3c.
Lemon Kall, 10-ounce packets, for 10c.
Large Toilet Sponge, regular 35c each, for 10c.
Crown's Root Beer, 5c a bottle.
Peppermint Shrimp, 2c a pound.
Acid Drops, 10c a pound.
- Handkerchiefs and Ribbons
Ladies' and Gents' Colored Border Handkerchiefs, regular 5c each, for 3c.
Ladies' 5-Piece Lace Handkerchiefs, cream and white, regular 10c apiece, for 5c.
Ladies' Pure White Linen Collars, size 12 and 12 1/2, regular 2c each, for 1c.
Pure Silk and Satin Ribbons, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 inches wide, in pale blue, light and dark green, cardinal and other popular shades, regular 15c and 20c a yard, for 8c.
- Silverware
Clau's Combination Metal Saw and Bread Knife, best saw steel, black wood handles, 10-inch blade, regular 5c each, for 10c.
Assortment of Silverware, quadruplicate, including toast racks, butter dishes, biscuit jars, card receivers and breakfast cruets, regular price $1.75 to $4.50 each, for 90c.
- Books and Stationery
300 volumes, leather bound, gilt tops, all popular titles, regular 25c, for 20c.
200 reams Fine Cream Note Paper, regular 20c a package, for 10c.
500 gross Hexagon Lead Pencils, medium grade, regular 20c a dozen, for 10c.
500 Paperettes, regular 15c each, for 10c.
- Men's Furnishings
Men's English Cotton Underwear, summer weight, ribbed ankles, medium sizes only, regular price 25c, for 15c.
Men's Fine White Laundry Shirts, reinforced front, linen bosom, cuffs or wristbands, slightly soiled, all sizes, regular price 75c and $1, for 47c.
Men's and Boys' Ties, in knot shape, silk and satin, dark colors, also club shape in washing material, regular price 12 1/2c each, for 5c.
- Caps
Ladies' Men's and Boys' Fine Peak Hood-down American 8-4 and Square Crown Cash and Cloth Caps, in light and dark colors, also children's Tam of Shanters, odd lines newly sold out, regular price 25c, 35c, 50c and 70c goods, your choice for 15c.
- Clothing
Men's Pure All-Wool English and Canadian Tweed Suits, in fawn shades, four-buttoned, single-breasted, sequoia, good linings and trimmings, sizes 34 to 40, regular price $10 and $12.50 a suit, for $7.50.
Youths' 3-piece Suits, short pants, small patterns, in fawn and mid-grey shades, twilled Italian cloth linings, sizes 27 to 32, regular price $4.50 a suit, for $3.
Boys' 2-piece Suits, short pants, in dark grey and brown Canadian tweeds, good twilled Italian cloth linings, sizes 23 to 27, regular price $2.25 and $2.50, for $1.50.

T. EATON CO. LIMITED
190 YONGE ST., TORONTO.

THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

NO. 83 YONGE STREET, Toronto.
Branch Office, 70 King-street east (next Postoffice), Hamilton. Telephone 964. H. B. Rogers, Agent.

TELEPHONES:
Business Office—1734.
Editorial Room—523.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:
Daily (without Sunday) by the year, $3.00
Daily (without Sunday) by the month, 25c
Sunday Edition, by the year, $2.00
Daily (Sunday included), by the year, 50c
Daily (Sunday included), by the month, 45c

INDEPENDENT STREET CAR SERVICE.

Jubilee Day demonstrated the fact that the Toronto Railway Company is quite deficient in appliances for handling such large crowds as were on the street on that day and as we are liable to have on future occasions. Large as the number of people were on Tuesday, they would have been one-third larger if it had been in a position to give an adequate service. Not only did the company lose a large sum in passenger fares through its inadequate service, but the people were put to no end of discomfort and inconvenience in not being able to avail themselves of the street cars. The time has arrived when better accommodation must be furnished for getting to and from the Exhibition grounds. What is required is not a large number of cars on the present line running to the Exhibition, but a new route from the centre of the city to the grounds. One route is inadequate to handle the business during Exhibition week, and other occasions occur during the year when the existing line is equally inadequate for the business. There are several methods by which a better service can be furnished. Among them might be mentioned the extension of the tracks along Front-street to the grounds by way of St. Nicholas Avenue. Perhaps a cheaper scheme would be the running of a spur line down Dufferin-street, thereby enabling the Queen-street line to handle a share of the Exhibition traffic. Or, better still, this spur on Dufferin-street might be extended to College-street. It would then tap the three great routes that run east and west from one end of the city to the other. Some such improvement as this is absolutely necessary. It is hard to estimate the number of fares the Exhibition loses every year by reason of the inadequate street car service. As things go the service is undoubtedly good, but thousands of people are deterred from going to the Exhibition in the evening because of the rush and crowds that confront them at the end of the performance. If all means be taken to duplicate the line to the Exhibition grounds, and let us have it before September next.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOW.

After all that has been said about Kipling's allusion to Canada, as Our Lady of the Snows, The World thinks the epithet rather appropriate. If the epithet can be applied to any country in the world, that country is surely Canada. Talk as we may, Canada is a country where the snow is a dominating feature for several months in the year. The boundary of Canada extends to the Pole, and if this country does not come under the appellation of a frost-bound, snow-enveloped land, then kindly mention to the poet who christened Canada Our Lady of the Snows exactly what he is talking about. He lived for four years in the State of Maine, which is contiguous to Canada, and he probably understands the Canadian winter as well as any of us in Toronto. We who live on the Lake Ontario shore should not forget that this province is not the whole of Canada. As a matter of fact, the temperate climate that characterizes this city is limited to a small stretch of territory bordering on the Great Lakes. Northern Ontario is cold and the people depend upon three or four months' sleighing every winter. The capital of Canada abounds in snow. The Province of Quebec is frost-bound, and the very thought of Northwestern Ontario, Manitoba and the Territories gives one the shivers. Even in Nova Scotia, and Nova Scotia have a climate similar to that of Maine, and snow is certainly one of its characteristics. The snow falls in great clouds in the mining regions of British Columbia, and it stays on the earth for four or five months at a stretch. Even in Toronto we have quite a winter, and rare is the January that is not enlivened by the sleigh bells. The World is, therefore, quite ready to admit the fitness of Pope Kipling's reference to Canada. But, instead of trying to excuse the country for its abundance of snow, we ought rather to boast of the fact and glory in it. No one has yet done justice to the Canadian winter. When people get to know a little more they will select their health resorts among the snow-covered mountains of the world. The backwoods of Canada is the healthiest spot on earth when the thermometer is at zero and a mantle of snow covers the ground. The air is as pure as that found in mid-ocean, perhaps more so. It is, besides, much healthier than sea air, from the fact that it is condensed by the cold and charged with ozone. No germs or deadly bacteria can break through the coating of snow and ice and threaten us with fever and death. There is nothing at all wrong with the Canadian winter, and we do not know how to appreciate it and make its virtues known. We do not advertise the fact that our atmosphere in winter is like that of So-and-so's bathing pond, absolutely pure. But we do advertise the fact that this absolutely pure article from our houses as if it were poison. We pollute it with coal gas, we exclude it from our sleeping rooms with double windows and a hundred different air-tight devices. No wonder other countries go up and about cold and snow when we ourselves do not

THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

NO. 83 YONGE STREET, Toronto.
Branch Office, 70 King-street east (next Postoffice), Hamilton. Telephone 964. H. B. Rogers, Agent.

TELEPHONES:
Business Office—1734.
Editorial Room—523.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:
Daily (without Sunday) by the year, $3.00
Daily (without Sunday) by the month, 25c
Sunday Edition, by the year, $2.00
Daily (Sunday included), by the year, 50c
Daily (Sunday included), by the month, 45c

INDEPENDENT STREET CAR SERVICE.

Jubilee Day demonstrated the fact that the Toronto Railway Company is quite deficient in appliances for handling such large crowds as were on the street on that day and as we are liable to have on future occasions. Large as the number of people were on Tuesday, they would have been one-third larger if it had been in a position to give an adequate service. Not only did the company lose a large sum in passenger fares through its inadequate service, but the people were put to no end of discomfort and inconvenience in not being able to avail themselves of the street cars. The time has arrived when better accommodation must be furnished for getting to and from the Exhibition grounds. What is required is not a large number of cars on the present line running to the Exhibition, but a new route from the centre of the city to the grounds. One route is inadequate to handle the business during Exhibition week, and other occasions occur during the year when the existing line is equally inadequate for the business. There are several methods by which a better service can be furnished. Among them might be mentioned the extension of the tracks along Front-street to the grounds by way of St. Nicholas Avenue. Perhaps a cheaper scheme would be the running of a spur line down Dufferin-street, thereby enabling the Queen-street line to handle a share of the Exhibition traffic. Or, better still, this spur on Dufferin-street might be extended to College-street. It would then tap the three great routes that run east and west from one end of the city to the other. Some such improvement as this is absolutely necessary. It is hard to estimate the number of fares the Exhibition loses every year by reason of the inadequate street car service. As things go the service is undoubtedly good, but thousands of people are deterred from going to the Exhibition in the evening because of the rush and crowds that confront them at the end of the performance. If all means be taken to duplicate the line to the Exhibition grounds, and let us have it before September next.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOW.

After all that has been said about Kipling's allusion to Canada, as Our Lady of the Snows, The World thinks the epithet rather appropriate. If the epithet can be applied to any country in the world, that country is surely Canada. Talk as we may, Canada is a country where the snow is a dominating feature for several months in the year. The boundary of Canada extends to the Pole, and if this country does not come under the appellation of a frost-bound, snow-enveloped land, then kindly mention to the poet who christened Canada Our Lady of the Snows exactly what he is talking about. He lived for four years in the State of Maine, which is contiguous to Canada, and he probably understands the Canadian winter as well as any of us in Toronto. We who live on the Lake Ontario shore should not forget that this province is not the whole of Canada. As a matter of fact, the temperate climate that characterizes this city is limited to a small stretch of territory bordering on the Great Lakes. Northern Ontario is cold and the people depend upon three or four months' sleighing every winter. The capital of Canada abounds in snow. The Province of Quebec is frost-bound, and the very thought of Northwestern Ontario, Manitoba and the Territories gives one the shivers. Even in Nova Scotia, and Nova Scotia have a climate similar to that of Maine, and snow is certainly one of its characteristics. The snow falls in great clouds in the mining regions of British Columbia, and it stays on the earth for four or five months at a stretch. Even in Toronto we have quite a winter, and rare is the January that is not enlivened by the sleigh bells. The World is, therefore, quite ready to admit the fitness of Pope Kipling's reference to Canada. But, instead of trying to excuse the country for its abundance of snow, we ought rather to boast of the fact and glory in it. No one has yet done justice to the Canadian winter. When people get to know a little more they will select their health resorts among the snow-covered mountains of the world. The backwoods of Canada is the healthiest spot on earth when the thermometer is at zero and a mantle of snow covers the ground. The air is as pure as that found in mid-ocean, perhaps more so. It is, besides, much healthier than sea air, from the fact that it is condensed by the cold and charged with ozone. No germs or deadly bacteria can break through the coating of snow and ice and threaten us with fever and death. There is nothing at all wrong with the Canadian winter, and we do not know how to appreciate it and make its virtues known. We do not advertise the fact that our atmosphere in winter is like that of So-and-so's bathing pond, absolutely pure. But we do advertise the fact that this absolutely pure article from our houses as if it were poison. We pollute it with coal gas, we exclude it from our sleeping rooms with double windows and a hundred different air-tight devices. No wonder other countries go up and about cold and snow when we ourselves do not

THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

NO. 83 YONGE STREET, Toronto.
Branch Office, 70 King-street east (next Postoffice), Hamilton. Telephone 964. H. B. Rogers, Agent.

TELEPHONES:
Business Office—1734.
Editorial Room—523.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:
Daily (without Sunday) by the year, $3.00
Daily (without Sunday) by the month, 25c
Sunday Edition, by the year, $2.00
Daily (Sunday included), by the year, 50c
Daily (Sunday included), by the month, 45c

INDEPENDENT STREET CAR SERVICE.

Jubilee Day demonstrated the fact that the Toronto Railway Company is quite deficient in appliances for handling such large crowds as were on the street on that day and as we are liable to have on future occasions. Large as the number of people were on Tuesday, they would have been one-third larger if it had been in a position to give an adequate service. Not only did the company lose a large sum in passenger fares through its inadequate service, but the people were put to no end of discomfort and inconvenience in not being able to avail themselves of the street cars. The time has arrived when better accommodation must be furnished for getting to and from the Exhibition grounds. What is required is not a large number of cars on the present line running to the Exhibition, but a new route from the centre of the city to the grounds. One route is inadequate to handle the business during Exhibition week, and other occasions occur during the year when the existing line is equally inadequate for the business. There are several methods by which a better service can be furnished. Among them might be mentioned the extension of the tracks along Front-street to the grounds by way of St. Nicholas Avenue. Perhaps a cheaper scheme would be the running of a spur line down Dufferin-street, thereby enabling the Queen-street line to handle a share of the Exhibition traffic. Or, better still, this spur on Dufferin-street might be extended to College-street. It would then tap the three great routes that run east and west from one end of the city to the other. Some such improvement as this is absolutely necessary. It is hard to estimate the number of fares the Exhibition loses every year by reason of the inadequate street car service. As things go the service is undoubtedly good, but thousands of people are deterred from going to the Exhibition in the evening because of the rush and crowds that confront them at the end of the performance. If all means be taken to duplicate the line to the Exhibition grounds, and let us have it before September next.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOW.

After all that has been said about Kipling's allusion to Canada, as Our Lady of the Snows, The World thinks the epithet rather appropriate. If the epithet can be applied to any country in the world, that country is surely Canada. Talk as we may, Canada is a country where the snow is a dominating feature for several months in the year. The boundary of Canada extends to the Pole, and if this country does not come under the appellation of a frost-bound, snow-enveloped land, then kindly mention to the poet who christened Canada Our Lady of the Snows exactly what he is talking about. He lived for four years in the State of Maine, which is contiguous to Canada, and he probably understands the Canadian winter as well as any of us in Toronto. We who live on the Lake Ontario shore should not forget that this province is not the whole of Canada. As a matter of fact, the temperate climate that characterizes this city is limited to a small stretch of territory bordering on the Great Lakes. Northern Ontario is cold and the people depend upon three or four months' sleighing every winter. The capital of Canada abounds in snow. The Province of Quebec is frost-bound, and the very thought of Northwestern Ontario, Manitoba and the Territories gives one the shivers. Even in Nova Scotia, and Nova Scotia have a climate similar to that of Maine, and snow is certainly one of its characteristics. The snow falls in great clouds in the mining regions of British Columbia, and it stays on the earth for four or five months at a stretch. Even in Toronto we have quite a winter, and rare is the January that is not enlivened by the sleigh bells. The World is, therefore, quite ready to admit the fitness of Pope Kipling's reference to Canada. But, instead of trying to excuse the country for its abundance of snow, we ought rather to boast of the fact and glory in it. No one has yet done justice to the Canadian winter. When people get to know a little more they will select their health resorts among the snow-covered mountains of the world. The backwoods of Canada is the healthiest spot on earth when the thermometer is at zero and a mantle of snow covers the ground. The air is as pure as that found in mid-ocean, perhaps more so. It is, besides, much healthier than sea air, from the fact that it is condensed by the cold and charged with ozone. No germs or deadly bacteria can break through the coating of snow and ice and threaten us with fever and death. There is nothing at all wrong with the Canadian winter, and we do not know how to appreciate it and make its virtues known. We do not advertise the fact that our atmosphere in winter is like that of So-and-so's bathing pond, absolutely pure. But we do advertise the fact that this absolutely pure article from our houses as if it were poison. We pollute it with coal gas, we exclude it from our sleeping rooms with double windows and a hundred different air-tight devices. No wonder other countries go up and about cold and snow when we ourselves do not

THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

NO. 83 YONGE STREET, Toronto.
Branch Office, 70 King-street east (next Postoffice), Hamilton. Telephone 964. H. B. Rogers, Agent.

TELEPHONES:
Business Office—1734.
Editorial Room—523.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:
Daily (without Sunday) by the year, $3.00
Daily (without Sunday) by the month, 25c
Sunday Edition, by the year, $2.00
Daily (Sunday included), by the year, 50c
Daily (Sunday included), by the month, 45c

INDEPENDENT STREET CAR SERVICE.

Jubilee Day demonstrated the fact that the Toronto Railway Company is quite deficient in appliances for handling such large crowds as were on the street on that day and as we are liable to have on future occasions. Large as the number of people were on Tuesday, they would have been one-third larger if it had been in a position to give an adequate service. Not only did the company lose a large sum in passenger fares through its inadequate service, but the people were put to no end of discomfort and inconvenience in not being able to avail themselves of the street cars. The time has arrived when better accommodation must be furnished for getting to and from the Exhibition grounds. What is required is not a large number of cars on the present line running to the Exhibition, but a new route from the centre of the city to the grounds. One route is inadequate to handle the business during Exhibition week, and other occasions occur during the year when the existing line is equally inadequate for the business. There are several methods by which a better service can be furnished. Among them might be mentioned the extension of the tracks along Front-street to the grounds by way of St. Nicholas Avenue. Perhaps a cheaper scheme would be the running of a spur line down Dufferin-street, thereby enabling the Queen-street line to handle a share of the Exhibition traffic. Or, better still, this spur on Dufferin-street might be extended to College-street. It would then tap the three great routes that run east and west from one end of the city to the other. Some such improvement as this is absolutely necessary. It is hard to estimate the number of fares the Exhibition loses every year by reason of the inadequate street car service. As things go the service is undoubtedly good, but thousands of people are deterred from going to the Exhibition in the evening because of the rush and crowds that confront them at the end of the performance. If all means be taken to duplicate the line to the Exhibition grounds, and let us have it before September next.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOW.

After all that has been said about Kipling's allusion to Canada, as Our Lady of the Snows, The World thinks the epithet rather appropriate. If the epithet can be applied to any country in the world, that country is surely Canada. Talk as we may, Canada is a country where the snow is a dominating feature for several months in the year. The boundary of Canada extends to the Pole, and if this country does not come under the appellation of a frost-bound, snow-enveloped land, then kindly mention to the poet who christened Canada Our Lady of the Snows exactly what he is talking about. He lived for four years in the State of Maine, which is contiguous to Canada, and he probably understands the Canadian winter as well as any of us in Toronto. We who live on the Lake Ontario shore should not forget that this province is not the whole of Canada. As a matter of fact, the temperate climate that characterizes this city is limited to a small stretch of territory bordering on the Great Lakes. Northern Ontario is cold and the people depend upon three or four months' sleighing every winter. The capital of Canada abounds in snow. The Province of Quebec is frost-bound, and the very thought of Northwestern Ontario, Manitoba and the Territories gives one the shivers. Even in Nova Scotia, and Nova Scotia have a climate similar to that of Maine, and snow is certainly one of its characteristics. The snow falls in great clouds in the mining regions of British Columbia, and it stays on the earth for four or five months at a stretch. Even in Toronto we have quite a winter, and rare is the January that is not enlivened by the sleigh bells. The World is, therefore, quite ready to admit the fitness of Pope Kipling's reference to Canada. But, instead of trying to excuse the country for its abundance of snow, we ought rather to boast of the fact and glory in it. No one has yet done justice to the Canadian winter. When people get to know a little more they will select their health resorts among the snow-covered mountains of the world. The backwoods of Canada is the healthiest spot on earth when the thermometer is at zero and a mantle of snow covers the ground. The air is as pure as that found in mid-ocean, perhaps more so. It is, besides, much healthier than sea air, from the fact that it is condensed by the cold and charged with ozone. No germs or deadly bacteria can break through the coating of snow and ice and threaten us with fever and death. There is nothing at all wrong with the Canadian winter, and we do not know how to appreciate it and make its virtues known. We do not advertise the fact that our atmosphere in winter is like that of So-and-so's bathing pond, absolutely pure. But we do advertise the fact that this absolutely pure article from our houses as if it were poison. We pollute it with coal gas, we exclude it from our sleeping rooms with double windows and a hundred different air-tight devices. No wonder other countries go up and about cold and snow when we ourselves do not

THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

NO. 83 YONGE STREET, Toronto.
Branch Office, 70 King-street east (next Postoffice), Hamilton. Telephone 964. H. B. Rogers, Agent.

TELEPHONES:
Business Office—1734.
Editorial Room—523.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:
Daily (without Sunday) by the year, $3.00
Daily (without Sunday) by the month, 25c
Sunday Edition, by the year, $2.00
Daily (Sunday included), by the year, 50c
Daily (Sunday included), by the month, 45c

INDEPENDENT STREET CAR SERVICE.

Jubilee Day demonstrated the fact that the Toronto Railway Company is quite deficient in appliances for handling such large crowds as were on the street on that day and as we are liable to have on future occasions. Large as the number of people were on Tuesday, they would have been one-third larger if it had been in a position to give an adequate service. Not only did the company lose a large sum in passenger fares through its inadequate service, but the people were put to no end of discomfort and inconvenience in not being able to avail themselves of the street cars. The time has arrived when better accommodation must be furnished for getting to and from the Exhibition grounds. What is required is not a large number of cars on the present line running to the Exhibition, but a new route from the centre of the city to the grounds. One route is inadequate to handle the business during Exhibition week, and other occasions occur during the year when the existing line is equally inadequate for the business. There are several methods by which a better service can be furnished. Among them might be mentioned the extension of the tracks along Front-street to the grounds by way of St. Nicholas Avenue. Perhaps a cheaper scheme would be the running of a spur line down Dufferin-street, thereby enabling the Queen-street line to handle a share of the Exhibition traffic. Or, better still, this spur on Dufferin-street might be extended to College-street. It would then tap the three great routes that run east and west from one end of the city to the other. Some such improvement as this is absolutely necessary. It is hard to estimate the number of fares the Exhibition loses every year by reason of the inadequate street car service. As things go the service is undoubtedly good, but thousands of people are deterred from going to the Exhibition in the evening because of the rush and crowds that confront them at the end of the performance. If all means be taken to duplicate the line to the Exhibition grounds, and let us have it before September next.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOW.

After all that has been said about Kipling's allusion to Canada, as Our Lady of the Snows, The World thinks the epithet rather appropriate. If the epithet can be applied to any country in the world, that country is surely Canada. Talk as we may, Canada is a country where the snow is a dominating feature for several months in the year. The boundary of Canada extends to the Pole, and if this country does not come under the appellation of a frost-bound, snow-enveloped land, then kindly mention to the poet who christened Canada Our Lady of the Snows exactly what he is talking about. He lived for four years in the State of Maine, which is contiguous to Canada, and he probably understands the Canadian winter as well as any of us in Toronto. We who live on the Lake Ontario shore should not forget that this province is not the whole of Canada. As a matter of fact, the temperate climate that characterizes this city is limited to a small stretch of territory bordering on the Great Lakes. Northern Ontario is cold and the people depend upon three or four months' sleighing every winter. The capital of Canada abounds in snow. The Province of Quebec is frost-bound, and the very thought of Northwestern Ontario, Manitoba and the Territories gives one the shivers. Even in Nova Scotia, and Nova Scotia have a climate similar to that of Maine, and snow is certainly one of its characteristics. The snow falls in great clouds in the mining regions of British Columbia, and it stays on the earth for four or five months at a stretch. Even in Toronto we have quite a winter, and rare is the January that is not enlivened by the sleigh bells. The World is, therefore, quite ready to admit the fitness of Pope Kipling's reference to Canada. But, instead of trying to excuse the country for its abundance of snow, we ought rather to boast of the fact and glory in it. No one has yet done justice to the Canadian winter. When people get to know a little more they will select their health resorts among the snow-covered mountains of the world. The backwoods of Canada is the healthiest spot on earth when the thermometer is at zero and a mantle of snow covers the ground. The air is as pure as that found in mid-ocean, perhaps more so. It is, besides, much healthier than sea air, from the fact that it is condensed by the cold and charged with ozone. No germs or deadly bacteria can break through the coating of snow and ice and threaten us with fever and death. There is nothing at all wrong with the Canadian winter, and we do not know how to appreciate it and make its virtues known. We do not advertise the fact that our atmosphere in winter is like that of So-and-so's bathing pond, absolutely pure. But we do advertise the fact that this absolutely pure article from our houses as if it were poison. We pollute it with coal gas, we exclude it from our sleeping rooms with double windows and a hundred different air-tight devices. No wonder other countries go up and about cold and snow when we ourselves do not

THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

NO. 83 YONGE STREET, Toronto.
Branch Office, 70 King-street east (next Postoffice), Hamilton. Telephone 964. H. B. Rogers, Agent.

TELEPHONES:
Business Office—1734.
Editorial Room—523.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:
Daily (without Sunday) by the year, $3.00
Daily (without Sunday) by the month, 25c
Sunday Edition, by the year, $2.00
Daily (Sunday included), by the year, 50c
Daily (Sunday included), by the month, 45c

INDEPENDENT STREET CAR SERVICE.

Jubilee Day demonstrated the fact that the Toronto Railway Company is quite deficient in appliances for handling such large crowds as were on the street on that day and as we are liable to have on future occasions. Large as the number of people were on Tuesday, they would have been one-third larger if it had been in a position to give an adequate service. Not only did the company lose a large sum in passenger fares through its inadequate service, but the people were put to no end of discomfort and inconvenience in not being able to avail themselves of the street cars. The time has arrived when better accommodation must be furnished for getting to and from the Exhibition grounds. What is required is not a large number of cars on the present line running to the Exhibition, but a new route from the centre of the city to the grounds. One route is inadequate to handle the business during Exhibition week, and other occasions occur during the year when the existing line is equally inadequate for the business. There are several methods by which a better service can be furnished. Among them might be mentioned the extension of the tracks along Front-street to the grounds by way of St. Nicholas Avenue. Perhaps a cheaper scheme would be the running of a spur line down Dufferin-street, thereby enabling the Queen-street line to handle a share of the Exhibition traffic. Or, better still, this spur on Dufferin-street might be extended to College-street. It would then tap the three great routes that run east and west from one end of the city to the other. Some such improvement as this is absolutely necessary. It is hard to estimate the number of fares the Exhibition loses every year by reason of the inadequate street car service. As things go the service is undoubtedly good, but thousands of people are deterred from going to the Exhibition in the evening because of the rush and crowds that confront them at the end of the performance. If all means be taken to duplicate the line to the Exhibition grounds, and let us have it before September next.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOW.

After all that has been said about Kipling's allusion to Canada, as Our Lady of the Snows, The World thinks the epithet rather appropriate. If the epithet can be applied to any country in the world, that country is surely Canada. Talk as we may, Canada is a country where the snow is a dominating feature for several months in the year. The boundary of Canada extends to the Pole, and if this country does not come under the appellation of a frost-bound, snow-enveloped land, then kindly mention to the poet who christened Canada Our Lady of the Snows exactly what he is talking about. He lived for four years in the State of Maine, which is contiguous to Canada, and he probably understands the Canadian winter as well as any of us in Toronto. We who live on the Lake Ontario shore should not forget that this province is not the whole of Canada. As a matter of fact, the temperate climate that characterizes this city is limited to a small stretch of territory bordering on the Great Lakes. Northern Ontario is cold and the people depend upon three or four months' sleighing every winter. The capital of Canada abounds in snow. The Province of Quebec is frost-bound, and the very thought of Northwestern Ontario, Manitoba and the Territories gives one the shivers. Even in Nova Scotia, and Nova Scotia have a climate similar to that of Maine, and snow is certainly one of its characteristics. The snow falls in great clouds in the mining regions of British Columbia, and it stays on the earth for four or five months at a stretch. Even in Toronto we have quite a winter, and rare is the January that is not enlivened by the sleigh bells. The World is, therefore, quite ready to admit the fitness of Pope Kipling's reference to Canada. But, instead of trying to excuse the country for its abundance of snow, we ought rather to boast of the fact and glory in it. No one has yet done justice to the Canadian winter. When people get to know a little more they will select their health resorts among the snow-covered mountains of the world. The backwoods of Canada is the healthiest spot on earth when the thermometer is at zero and a mantle of snow covers the ground. The air is as pure as that found in mid-ocean, perhaps more so. It is, besides, much healthier than sea air, from the fact that it is condensed by the cold and charged with ozone. No germs or deadly bacteria can break through the coating of snow and ice and threaten us with fever and death. There is nothing at all wrong with the Canadian winter, and we do not know how to appreciate it and make its virtues known. We do not advertise the fact that our atmosphere in winter is like that of So-and-so's bathing pond, absolutely pure. But we do advertise the fact that this absolutely pure article from our houses as if it were poison. We pollute it with coal gas, we exclude it from our sleeping rooms with double windows and a hundred different air-tight devices. No wonder other countries go up and about cold and snow when we ourselves do not

THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

NO. 83 YONGE STREET, Toronto.
Branch Office, 70 King-street east (next Postoffice), Hamilton. Telephone 964. H. B. Rogers, Agent.

TELEPHONES:
Business Office—1734.
Editorial Room—523.

SUBSCRIPTIONS:
Daily (without Sunday) by the year, $3.00
Daily (without Sunday) by the month, 25c
Sunday Edition, by the year, $2.00
Daily (Sunday included), by the year, 50c
Daily (Sunday included), by the month, 45c

INDEPENDENT STREET CAR SERVICE.

Jubilee Day demonstrated the fact that the Toronto Railway Company is quite deficient in appliances for handling such large crowds as were on the street on that day and as we are liable to have on future occasions. Large as the number of people were on Tuesday, they would have been one-third larger if it had been in a position to give an adequate service. Not only did the company lose a large sum in passenger fares through its inadequate service, but the people were put to no end of discomfort and inconvenience in not being able to avail themselves of the street cars. The time has arrived when better accommodation must be furnished for getting to and from the Exhibition grounds. What is required is not a large number of cars on the present line running to the Exhibition, but a new route from the centre of the city to the grounds. One route is inadequate to handle the business during Exhibition week, and other occasions occur during the year when the existing line is equally inadequate for the business. There are several methods by which a better service can be furnished. Among them might be mentioned the extension of the tracks along Front-street to the grounds by way of St. Nicholas Avenue. Perhaps a cheaper scheme would be the running of a spur line down Dufferin-street, thereby enabling the Queen-street line to handle a share of the Exhibition traffic. Or, better still, this spur on Dufferin-street might be extended to College-street. It would then tap the three great routes that run east and west from one end of the city to the other. Some such improvement as this is absolutely necessary. It is hard to estimate the number of fares the Exhibition loses every year by reason of the inadequate street car service. As things go the service is undoubtedly good, but thousands of people are deterred from going to the Exhibition in the evening because of the rush and crowds that confront them at the end of the performance. If all means be taken to duplicate the line to the Exhibition grounds, and let us have it before September next.

OUR LADY OF THE SNOW.

After all that has been said about Kipling's allusion to Canada, as Our Lady of the Snows, The World thinks the epithet rather appropriate. If the epithet can be applied to any country in the world, that country is surely Canada. Talk as we may, Canada is a country where the snow is a dominating feature for several months in the year. The boundary of Canada extends to the Pole, and if this country does not come under the appellation of a frost-bound, snow-enveloped land, then kindly mention to the poet who christened Canada Our Lady of the Snows exactly what he is talking about. He lived for four years in the State of Maine, which is contiguous to Canada, and he probably understands the Canadian winter as well as any of us in Toronto. We who live on the Lake Ontario shore should not forget that this province is not the whole of Canada. As a matter of fact, the temperate climate that characterizes this city is limited to a small stretch of territory bordering on the Great Lakes. Northern Ontario is cold and the people depend upon three or four months' sleighing every winter. The capital of Canada abounds

Of the Men Who are Now Holding the Reins of Civic Government.

18 would allow him to take the sheep, promising to return on the Saturday following and pay the balance. Mrs. Reynolds at first demurred but finally ing from unproductive parts of the n-

He had a plan of his own for the red-tion of freight rates. The excess charges of the C. P. R. are, he sa-

Fielding did the trick by laying on

Mr. the "Wisdom

om and

