

To Our Friends and Neighbors

You know us. You know we would not—that we could not afford to—go back on our word. Nor can you afford to ignore this money-back-if-not-satisfied offer on this splendid laxative.

We honestly believe we have the best bowel remedy ever made—the most pleasant-to-take, most permanent, most beneficial laxative for relief from the miseries and dangers arising from constipation.

We wouldn't say this if we didn't believe it to be true. We wouldn't risk our reputation by making such statements did we not feel sure you would find them true.

Our faith is built both on the knowledge of what Rexall Ointment is made of and on observation of very many severe cases in which they have proven their merit.

Try them at Our Risk

If they do not abundantly prove their merit with you also—if you are not entirely satisfied with them—we will refund your money—and we will do that on your mere say-so. We don't ask you to risk a penny. Isn't that fair?

Just let the bowels fall in properly doing their work—just let their action be delayed and incomplete and the entire system, and every other organ suffers. Wastes that

Daily Hints For the Cook

PANCAKES

Pancakes No. 2: 1 cup sour milk, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 egg, a little salt, 12 teaspoon soda. Mix together, 1 cup sifted rye meal, and 1 cup white flour. Stir all together. Have fat hot and deep. Drop the batter from the spoon a little at a time. If you make them too large they will cook fat before they cook through. Dip your spoon in fat before you take up each one and the batter won't stick to it.

DEMONIC POTATOES

To each pint of cold boiled potatoes, cut fine or mashed, allow 1 cup milk (cream is nicer), 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 14 teaspoon pepper. Season the potatoes with salt and pepper, put them in shallow baking dish which has been greased, pour the cream over them, then the butter, and bake in a quick oven.

Taft Would Avoid Intervention

New York, Feb. 22—President Taft, guest of honor, at a peace dinner tonight at which a medal was presented to him in token of his services in the cause of universal peace, spoke frankly of conditions in Mexico as he viewed them and declared for the exercise of every possible effort in avoidance of intervention in the affairs of that republic. The medal given by the National Institute of Social Science, at the dinner of the American Peace and Arbitration League was presented by Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador to Great Britain.

McAVITY EMPLOYEES ENJOY SLEIGH DRIVE

On Saturday evening employees of T. McAvity & Sons Limited, had a very enjoyable sleigh drive and dinner. The party left Water street 6 o'clock and after driving as far as Newcomb's returned to Bond's restaurant about 8:30 o'clock where an elaborate supper awaited them. Songs, speeches and recitations were given.

The programme followed: Toast—The King with musical honors; the firm, proposed by Charles S. Atkinson and replied to by Ronald McAvity; solo, E. Clarke; step dance, H. McMann; toast, the ladies, proposed by J. B. Ham, responded to by Miss Baker; solo, Horace Foster; toast, George McAvity, responded to by Ronald McAvity; toast, St. John, proposed by Bruce Feb, responded to by Malcolm McAvity; solo, J. P. Cruikshank; Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King.

Ronald McAvity in the course of a brief speech referred to the business of the firm of T. McAvity & Sons, Limited, which was established in 1837, and was one of the oldest in Canada. He referred to its expansion from a small beginning to its present dimensions. During the programme a revised reading of the Taft was given by J. P. Cruikshank. The sleigh was prepared by Miss Scheel of the firm and created much laughter by its pointed allusions to members of the party.

A man who lives in Bay City, Wis., exhibited at the Minnesota State Fair a violin made of 6400 matches. It took him a year to make the instrument, and it is said to have a full, sweet and mellow tone.

Little Beauty Chats

The Day's Beauty Routine

THE wise woman who wishes to keep her physical being above par, plans out a beauty programme for each day and adheres to it, thereby adding to her stock of good looks and health.

If your interest is aroused and you are willing to adopt a plan of living which will make you robust and comely, then get out your pencil and pad and copy down the following paragraphs. Do not postpone this task day for a moment—no which would be too bad.

This is the way the maid or matron should live if she wishes to prosper physically. When you spring out of bed in the morning—early or late—care not—sponge the body off with warm water, then turn in the bath spray and let the cold stream play upon your body for a moment—no more, no less.

Following this, wrap up in a woollen bathrobe and standing in front of an open window, breathe in the fresh morning air. Breathe way down to the tips of your pretty pink toes—so to speak—for the space of three minutes, then slip quickly into your clothes.

You should now go down stairs and drink a glassful of quite hot water, as this will wake up your stomach and send the blood coursing through your veins.

Wait now for half an hour, then eat your breakfast, which should consist of a cereal, toast, cocoa and a soft boiled egg.

After the dishes are washed and your braces of a warm coat, don a tam-o'-shanter and lie up for a half-hour's rest. Then get up, chest inflated and shoulders held well back.

Your lunch should be composed of simple foods, but nourishing withal.

After your noon meal, which is finished lie down for an hour, then work or play.

Home and rest until dinner, which should be substantial.

Before retiring drink two glasses of hot water.

Sleep at least ten hours.

THE HEROINE OF THE "DIAMOND NECKLACE" MYSTERY

In Dingy Tomb in London Churchyard Lies One of Most Noted Women in French History

(Times' Special Correspondence)

London, Feb. 12—In a dingy tomb in Lambeth Churchyard, London, lies the mortal remains of one of the most famous women in French history, the Countess de la Motte, who was the central figure in a great "Diamond Necklace" mystery of 1784, and who died in poverty in the British capital in 1791.

Some necessary repairs were made to the tomb which has for long years been forgotten for many years and have set Londoners recalling the story of the woman who tricked Prince Louis de Rohan into buying for a fabulous sum of diamond necklaces which he believed to be coveted by Queen Marie Antoinette.

The last of many dramatic chapters in the life of Jeanne de St. Bénédict, Countess de la Motte was enacted in London in the year of her death when the heroine of the necklace mystery, then in dire poverty, jumped out of a second story window to avoid bailiffs who were trying to arrest her for her debts.

Few women have had so many noted writers try to solve the mystery of their lives—few have been the heroine of more novels and plays. Dumas in "The Queen's Necklace," Carlyle in "The Diamond Necklace," and Andrew Lang in "Historical Mysteries," all attempted to throw light on the theft of the necklace by the countess and her husband.

Prior to this affair, the countess, who was a descendant of the royal house of Valois lived in comparative poverty, although she had employed all the arts of intrigue to gain rank and wealth for herself. Then, learning that the Prince Louis de Rohan had fallen into disgrace at court, she decided to use him as a tool. Pretending that Queen Marie Antoinette ardently desired a costly diamond necklace, she persuaded him, first to purchase it for £80,000, (to be paid in instalments), and then to entrust it to her for delivery to the queen. Once in possession of the necklace the countess handed it to her husband, who broke it up on a rapid journey from Paris to London, where he sold the jewels.

On payments to the jewellers failing, they took the matter to the queen. Then the whole fraud was brought to light. The Countess de la Motte was convicted of the theft of the necklace and sentenced to be branded, whipped and perpetually imprisoned.

In the "Annual Register" for 1786 there is a description of the execution of the sentence of branding the countess, who, the writer states, showed herself into a most frantic rage. She cursed and swore in the most unwomanly manner, and uttered alternative cries of grief and rage, and it was with difficulty that the hot irons could be applied to her shoulders.

For two years she was imprisoned in the Salpêtrière, but in 1788 she escaped and fled to England, finding humble lodgings near Astley's famous riding school in Lambeth. The remainder of her life was a grim battle with poverty, and her death in 1791 passed almost unnoticed.

REV. MR. CAMP TELLS OF DRINKER AND GAYBLER CONVERTED IN ST. JOHN

"There are three classes of people," said Rev. Wellington Camp, at the Every Day Club last evening, "who have to be considered in connection with the work of moral reform. These are those who are engaged in pulling others down; those who are indifferent and do nothing at all, and those who labor to help and uplift their fellows."

Mr. Camp told with dramatic force the story of a gambler and drunkard who came to St. John some weeks ago, went to a religious meeting while under the influence of liquor, asked the people to pray for him, telephoned later to the speaker, went to the latter's home, and after a terrible struggle from appetite and after going to his home city wrote back that he had found that God could keep him as safe from sin there as in St. John, and he intended to enter into mission work. He had formerly been a professed atheist.

"You say he will fall again," said Mr. Camp. "I do not know. But I know he made the fight and God helped him to win. That is what we must all do. We must fight and ask God to help us in the struggle."

Referring to the chain-gang in the course of his address, Mr. Camp said he had said one day that he would like to set them free and put the liquor sellers in their place; but on second thought he remembered that if the people in the churches did their duty there would be no liquor sellers, and therefore all the blame must not be laid upon the latter.

Mr. Camp said he had recently heard the Every Day Club criticized as a club without any religion, but he had promptly defended it, pointing out that he himself had often delivered Christian messages from its platform, and that those who tried to help and uplift others were doing religious work, whatever their creed might be.

A number of hymns were sung with much spirit by the large audience and a solo was rendered by Walter Brindle. Sergt. Sullivan and Sergt. Doos were both at the club Saturday evening directing the boys in physical exercises, and the latter are showing great improvement in their appearance and drill.

CARNIVAL PRIZES

The prizes at the children's carnival at the Vic. on Saturday afternoon have been awarded as follows: Combination prize, awarded to Miss Gladys Whelpley and Master Ernest Whelpley, representing the king of hearts and the queen of diamonds; the best lady's prize, awarded to Miss Lily Gunn, as a rummy fortune teller; the best gent's prize, awarded to Master Harry Appleby, as the Star and Times.

What kind of a worker are you?

That is a double-barreled question. It aims both at the kind of work you do and at how well you do it.

We merely ask the question in order to call to your notice these facts:

1. No matter what your work may be, when you're doing it you're using up energy and tissue at the ratio of 5 1/2 to 1. So you should eat the kind of food which supplies energy and tissue in the same ratio. Tillson's Rolled Oats does it almost exactly. Besides oats, mother's milk is the only other food that does.

2. How well you do your work depends very largely upon how healthy is your digestion. Scientists say that there are few foods as easily digested as good rolled oats. And there are no other rolled oats quite so good as Tillson's.

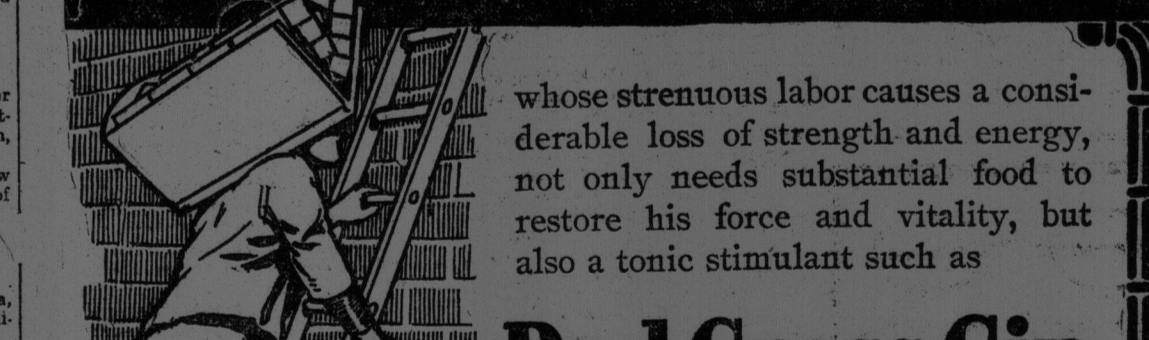

Tillson's Oats advertisement featuring a box of oats and the text: Rolled Thinnest—Cook Quickest (15 minutes). Try Tillson's tomorrow. Your grocer has them. Sold only in packages—never in bulk. Two sizes—10c and 25c. Each 25c package contains a handsome dish of good English porcelain.

TEACH LAW IN THE SCHOOLS

Toronto, Feb. 23—Ward Six Liberal Association has adopted a resolution setting forth that it is expedient in the interests of the people that the laws of Canada should be revised, modernized and simplified, so that they may be taught in the schools; that all the laws of Canada should be revised every ten years, thereby dispensing with the present necessity of going back to ancient times for the original law or statute; and that the present system of imposing fines for the infraction of the law is not proper, as it makes the state partner to the crime or robs the poor family of support in the greatest time of need, thereby creating pauperism.

Dog Answers 'Phone A dog that can speak several words of the English language is attracting attention in Rangely, Me. His name is Noble, and he is a handsome pure bred Scotch col-ie, sixteen months old. He was raised by John N. Ingalls, of East Machias. The animal's present owner, Charles W. Berry, of Pickford's Camp, Rangely, had the dog since it was six months old but has been teaching it to speak for about a month. Noble's vocabulary consists of five words, "Oh," "No," "How," "Papa" and "cut." One of his tricks is to answer the telephone. When he hears his name called he will jump upon a couch near the instrument and answer "How!" through the transmitter.

WORSER THAN HALIFAX In connection with the housing problem, a comparison between St. John and Halifax is not favorable to the city. Assuming the census figures for 1911 to be accurate for the one city as for the other, it is found that there are relatively fewer dwellings in proportion to population in St. John than in Halifax, and also that the average family in St. John is smaller.

Table comparing Halifax and St. John statistics: Halifax Population 48,819, Families 8,524, Dwellings 7,229; St. John Population 42,111, Families 8,524, Dwellings 5,663.

An analysis of these figures shows that in Halifax there is a dwelling for every 6.45 of the population, while in St. John the figure is 7.4. In Halifax the average per family is 5.28 and in St. John 4.66. It shows a relation between the greater congestion in St. John and the smaller number of persons per family. Whatever other deductions may be made from the comparison, it is clear that St. John in the matter of housing does not compare favorably with Halifax. The fact is another reason why determined efforts should be made to provide this city with more houses at a reasonable rental, and affording better sanitation and more light and air than are provided in the majority of the cheap tenements. A story that came to the Times last week concerning one tenement on one of the poorer streets reveals conditions which should not be tolerated in any community, and this is by no means an isolated instance.

IN BLOODY MEXICO Ex-President Madero and Ex-Vice President Suarez will not give the new government of Mexico any further trouble. They were dead. The new government professes its horror, and a great desire to probe the crime of which these two men were the victims. One would like to believe these professions, even though such belief would involve an utter loss of respect for the ability of the new government. Nobody will believe that the government of Mexico would so sacrifice two prisoners from one building to another in safety. The Gordian knot has been cut. The most dangerous of the enemies of the new regime have been removed. They were not above a similar line of conduct in relation to their own enemies when they were in power. Knife and pistol are very ready weapons in Mexico.

President Tinoco has declared that the United States would be very reluctant to intervene in Mexico, but if the people of the latter country do not change their ways it will become the duty of somebody to wield the big stick. Mexico is rapidly becoming worse than the most bloody, thirly and turbulent of the little Central American republics. The murder of Madero and Suarez is a crime of international importance. It is also a very dark blot upon the record of a government which had been hoped would restore tranquility to the country.

ANTI-TREATING There was an interesting discussion in the Ontario legislature the other day in relation to treating. Mr. Rowell, leader of the opposition, wanted to know if the government had abandoned its position on anti-treating. There was no reference in the speech from the throne to any legislation affecting the liquor traffic, and none of the government speakers had made any reference to the matter. Mr. Rowell wanted to know the meaning of this silence, and challenged the premier to introduce an anti-treating bill, assuring him that the Liberals would not oppose it. The premier replied as follows: "In regard to the anti-treating legislation," said Sir James, "let the hon. gentleman possess his soul in patience. We have brought forward every year some legislation on this question, and have steadily met the requirements of the situation. At the proper time we will come forward with matters relating to the treating evil as we have done with the other evils, and as we will continue to do in the future."

The new president of France in his first message advocates strengthening the military forces of the country, and is supported in his attitude by the cabinet. This is a hard winter for the dove of peace.

Hon. Mr. Caron, minister of agriculture in Quebec, said in Montreal this week that labor and experienced contractors can be procured, the provincial government will spend a million dollars on roads this year.

A "lower rents" exhibition is now being held in New York. An exchange says: "The exhibit is intended to show the need of reducing the tax rate on buildings to one-half the tax rate on land as a means of reducing rent. One diagram states that in 1912, out of $2,000,000,000 of ground rental created by the people of New York, local authorities.

BIRTHDAYS OF NOTABILITIES

FEBRUARY TWENTY-FOURTH. Today the Hon. Sir R. W. Scott, a veteran statesman, celebrates his eighty-eighth birthday. Though born in Prescott, he has long been a resident of the capital, where he has enjoyed a highly successful career. He was called to the bar in 1843 and first entered parliament in 1857. Since then he has constantly figured in the political life of the country. For a time he was commissioner of crown lands in Ontario, then he became secretary of state in the Macdonald ministry, holding the same office under Sir Wilfrid Laurier from 1896 to 1908. He has sat in the senate since 1914.

The Hon. H. E. Young, minister of education for British Columbia, is forty-six today. He is a graduate in arts of Queen's University and in medicine of McGill's University. He first practiced in St. Louis, but went to Allen, B. C., in 1901. He has represented Atlin in the legislature since 1903 and has been in charge of the education department since 1907. He is also provincial secretary.

The Rev. D. Bruce Macdonald, headmaster of St. Andrew's College, the big boys' school at Toronto, also celebrates his birthday today. He was born in Toronto forty-one years ago. He studied in the University of Toronto, Knox College and the New Theological College, Edinburgh. He became principal of St. Andrew's College in 1900. He is much interested in athletics.

LIGHTER VEIN BESIDES SMELLING THE VIOLETS. The Enthusiast—That is the "Spring Song." Can't you feel it? The Philistine—You bet! You can almost see the boys knocking flies and booting grounders on some little Southern say-town diamonds, can't you?—Pack.

DIDN'T PRACTICE WHAT HE PREACHED. The following announcement recently appeared in a local newspaper: "The lecture on 'How to Be Always Healthy,' announced for this evening at the Town Hall, cannot be delivered owing to the fact that the lecturer is confined to his bed with a severe attack of gout."

FAVORITE FICTION. "I Beg Your Pardon, Mr. Toastmaster; I intended to Speak Only Two Minutes When I Got Up." "No Sir; I Haven't Done a Thing to the Watch. It Stopped Going of Its Own Accord."

SOME METHOD. "Don't you think, dear," began Mr. Comfy, "that our next-door neighbors, the Scribbles, are putting on a great deal too much style, considering the fact that they never know from day to day where their next meal is coming from?" "Well," replied Mrs. Comfy, "you see the more style they put in the more likely they are to be invited out to dinner."

EXPLAINING THE GLOOM. At a wedding the best man noticed that one of the guests, a gloomy looking young man, did not seem to be enjoying himself. He was wandering about as though he had lost his best friend. The best man took it upon himself to cheer him up. "I—have you kissed the bride?" he asked by way of introduction.

A REASONABLE FAVOR. "So you have determined to sue me for breach of promise?" "Yes." "With damages?" "Of course."

WAGES. It takes a long, long time to learn That rates are delayed Because we seldom try to earn More than we're trying paid.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE STRONGER INFLUENCE. "Which do you think appeals more generally, art or literature?" "Art. Almost anybody would rather send a picture post-card than write a letter."

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN A Mother's Letter to Mothers Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield, N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, had a bad cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about six weeks when I began giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength besides. I have no doubt found a most excellent tonic for keeping up the children's strength during a stage of whooping cough."

Vinol is a wonderful combination of two world-famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a patent medicine, everything in it is printed on every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.

Therefore we ask every mother of a weak sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our guarantee. Watson's 3 Huxall Street, King street, Main street, and Haymarket Square.

MORNING LOCALS Yesterday afternoon's tide was one of the highest this winter, the water covering many of the wharves. The St. John Trades and Labor Council has received from Premier Fleming a reply to a letter in reference to its inserting a fair wage clause in all contracts of public works done under the local government. The premier replied that he saw no reason why the contractors thus employed should not pay the rates of wages current in the community. The annual drive of the Customs House employees was held on Saturday, and proved very enjoyable. They drove to Lash Lomond and had supper at Barker's. The house of S. H. Carpenter, a farmer on the Mahogany Road, was robbed last night, and $60 in cash, a gold watch and chain, and two revolvers and other articles stolen. Mr. Carpenter suspects two foreigners, farm hands on his place. S. C. Hurley left yesterday at noon for Moncton. He gave his lecture there last evening before the St. Bernard's young men on the Life of Robert Emmet.

FIGHTING BAD LITERATURE

Bishops and Priests Lead Irish Campaign CARDINAL LOGUE'S PASTORAL Undesirable "Sunday" Papers Sent in From England - Vigorous Boycott of the Newsdealers Who Handle Them in Ireland

(Times Special Correspondence.) The title which has been given to a war on evil literature which has been begun by the prelates of the Catholic church in Ireland, the object of which is to stamp out the circulation of indecent newspapers, books and periodicals from England which this country has been flooded in recent years. The publications chiefly aimed at are the so-called Sunday newspapers published in London and Manchester. These sheets are really printed in the middle of the week, and although they bear a Sunday date are placed on sale throughout Ireland on Saturday. They are filled with the swiftest of the English divorce courts and police courts and the sordid details of a case are the more space it occupies. The publications are sold in every town and village in Ireland. The lead in the new crusade has been taken by Cardinal Logue, Primate of Ireland, and under the direction of the bishops and priests vigilance committees have been formed in all cities and towns. The first battle was fought in Dublin on last Sunday when two young men, members of the Dublin vigilance committee, were arrested for causing an obstruction by distributing handbills outside a news agent's shop warning the public against the evil literature. The news agent assaulted one of them and a crowd collected and took the part of the crusaders and pelted the shop with mud and stones. The magistrates expressed his sympathy with the crusade but explained that the crusaders had made a mistake in refusing to move on when asked to do so by the police, and fined them each. It is reported that the publishers of some of the English papers have taken alarm and have offered to finance the news agents in a prosecution for conspiracy against the crusaders.

Cardinal Logue's Pastoral Practically every bishop in Ireland has devoted the greater part of his Lenten pastoral to the new crusade. Cardinal Logue sets the pace for all the rest. He says: "I have often before warned the people against the moral ruin to which so many are exposed by the publications which are not only offered, but forced upon them by every device which ingenuity can suggest. The pernicious committee which they are spread broadcast would offend seem to be inspired by the Spirit of Evil himself. "What is most astonishing is that this corrupting traffic goes on openly under the very eyes of the supposed guardians of order and decency without the least effort to bring the delinquents to account. They can tell of detecting and destroying every device and disguise—and rightly so—to trap even those who adulterate food: one would think that similar vigilance would be employed in detecting the corrupters of public morals. "Thank God, the people have at last taken the matter into their own hands; and they never have embarked on a nobler cause. The vigilance committees which have been organized in many centers should be encouraged and energetically supported by every one who values innocence and purity. "Cardinal Logue, with unerring accuracy, lays the finger on the real point in a merely negative campaign as follows:—"The mere exclusion, however, of bad or dangerous literature is but half the work. The taste for reading, which is in itself so laudable, must be gratified by reading within easy reach of people good, sound, interesting, healthy publications. Were the large sums annually lavished on foreign importations spent in encouraging native talent we would have a flourishing periodical literature."

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

Last night in Calvin Presbyterian church Rev. L. A. McLean preached his farewell sermon. He will leave on Friday next for Danville, Que., where he has accepted a call. Colonel Ballard of the Salvation Army delivered a stirring lecture yesterday afternoon in the Army Citadel, Charlotte street, on "The Land of the Mikado," telling of the history of the country, its awakening and the progress of religion. Judge Forbes presided at the meeting. Rev. G. Foster Camp, son of Doctor Camp of Sheffield, N. B., has accepted his charge there at the completion of his course in the Baptist Seminary in Newton, Mass., this summer. When beating chairs and sofas cover with a damp cloth while beating, and the dust will adhere to the cloth, and not rise into the air. To clean paint take one ounce of pulverized borax, one pound of small pieces of best brown soap, and three quarts of water. Let it simmer till the soap is dissolved, stirring frequently. Do not let it boil. Use a piece of old flannel and wring it off as soon as the paint is clean. This mixture is also good for washing clothes. Nicholas II. and Victor Emmanuel III. enjoyed the distinction of being the two smallest monarchs in Europe.

AMAZING LAWS IN FATHERLAND

Responsible for the Wholesale Making of Rogues ABSURD STATUTES Eminent Authority Says They Have Made Every Second Man in Germany Out a Criminal—Women and Boys and Girls in the Category (Times Special Correspondence.) Dublin, Feb. 10.—"The Bishop's Crusade" appears to be the land of "criminals." It is inhabited by persons whose main occupation is breaking an empire's laws; and getting into the empire's comfortable jails. Not Corcoran nor the frosty Caucasians brew so much roguesy as this country, which in the eyes of the ignorant is the land of discipline, honesty and reverence for law. The sad fact is that Germany produces a larger percentage of convicted "criminals" than any other European state. Not less than one out of every twelve living Germans has been punished for breach of some criminal law. Such are the statistics given in a book of criminology, Doctor Kinkelburg, governor of the famous Moabit jail. And in reality, things are worse; for this counts only offenders against imperial criminal law, and excludes all those sentenced by minor and state courts for misdemeanors, minor frauds, inflection of slight bodily injuries, and also all those sentenced by court martial. One-Fifth Women Germany has a population of nearly 65,000,000. Of these, 3,388,000 have been convicted and sentenced for crime. About 800,000 of the criminals are women. Of the grown-up men, one in every six has been convicted of crime, and of the grown-up women one in every twenty-five. Even German children flourish in the crime line. One out of every forty-three boys between twelve and eighteen has been sentenced for crime; and one out of every 213 girls. Such are the figures of crime against imperial law. Doctor Kroecker, another authority, estimates the number of Germans convicted for offenses against state and local law and he says that "probably one out of every two Germans has been at some time convicted for breaking a criminal law, big or small."

THE LAWYER

The publication of these figures has caused a sensation. But the general fact that Germany is rich in criminals is new. The matter has been before the Reichstag, also before the Prussian Landtag; and Minister of Justice von Buehler lately ascribed the abundance of crime to the bad influence of the socialists. Doctor Kinkelburg's book has caused a general discussion; and the discussion has brought out the fact that it is not the socialists who are guilty, but the privilege registration papers is forged. The privileged position of officials also accounts for "crime." Much that you can do to a fellow citizen without punishment

MARRIED AND APPARENTLY QUITE HAPPY

The latest pictures of Mrs. Finley Sheppard (formerly Miss Helen Gould) and her husband. They are now in Europe, and this picture was taken at the steamer white landing. becomes a serious offence when done to an official. "Threats against officials" account for 20,000 German crimes every year. Kinkelburg and other reformers demand that this must be stopped. They say that when every second man is a "criminal" the stigma of criminality will disappear; and people will have no moral antipathy to jailbirds. The reformers demand that the state prosecutors be given discretion to prosecute or not. At present they have no discretion. "The day is near," says Kroecker, "when the ordinary greeting of newly introduced Germans will be: 'Are you a criminal?'" Among French families seventeen out of every hundred are childless. NOT THE WHOLE OF IT A Scottish game-keeper, finding a boy fishing in private waters on his employer's estate, exclaimed, "You mustn't fish here, my boy! These waters belong to the earl." "Do they?" was the response. "I didn't know that." And, laying aside his rod, the youth took up a book and began reading. "Do you really understand that this water belongs to the earl?" he roared. "Why, you told me that an hour ago!" exclaimed the angler in surprise. "Surely the whole of it doesn't belong to him? His share must have gone by long ago!"

SURELY TAKE "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF HEADACHY, BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED

Sweetens Your Stomach, Clears Your Head and Thoroughly Cleanses Your Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels of Sour Bile, Foul Cases and Clogged-up Waste All those days when you feel miserable, headachy, bilious and dull are due to torpid liver and sluggish bowels. The days when your stomach is sour and full of gas, when you have indigestion; the nights when your nerves twitch and you are restless and can't sleep could be avoided with a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs to-night, sure, and just see for yourself by morning how gently but thoroughly all the sour bile, undigested fermenting food and clogged-up waste matter is moved on and out of your system—no nausea—no griping—no weakness. You simply can't have your liver inactive and your thirty feet of bowels constipated with sour, decaying waste matter and feel well. The need of a laxative is a natural need, but with delicious Syrup of Figs you are not drugging yourself. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it can not injure. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with scorn, any of the so-called Fig Syrup imitations. They are meant to deceive you. Look on the label. The genuine, old reliable, bears the name, California Fig Syrup Company.

We Have Twenty-Six Years of World's Records to Prove That The Chas. Dalton Silver Black Fox Co. Are Known as the Largest and Most Successful BREEDERS OF SILVER BLACK FOXES IN THE WORLD

The Future of the Industry Undoubtedly the ultimate value of the Silver Black Fox Industry must be the market value of Pelts, but there can be no doubt that for many years the demand for live stock from various parts of the world, by persons engaging in this business, will be such that the price for live animals "of the Dalton quality" will much exceed that of stock from other ranches.

Handsome Profits on the Pelt Basis The highest priced Pelts in the world for twenty-five years have been produced from the ranch of The Chas. Dalton Silver Black Fox Company. The last shipment from this ranch was made in 1910, when 24 Skins brought an average of $1,385.98.

It is Necessary to Act at Once When the subscription books of the Chas. Dalton Silver Black Fox Co. close to investors there will close the greatest opportunity ever presented to the public to participate in the enormous profits to be reaped from P. E. Islands latest and greatest industry.

OFFER MADE FOR STREET RAILWAY

Bid of $1,200,000 at Annual Meeting

THE YEAR'S FINANCES

Directors Also Report on Work Done and on Projected Extensions of the Line Here—Kane's Corner and the Bridge Matters

The annual meeting of the Saint John Railway Company was held this afternoon in the company's offices on the corner of Dock and Union streets. In the absence of the president, James Ross of Montreal, Colonel H. H. McLean, M. P., vice-president of the company, presided. The vice-president's report reviewed the construction work undertaken and completed during the last year, and projected for the coming year. The secretary's report showed a surplus on the year's operations. It had been reported that there were negotiations in progress for the purchase of the road, but when asked about the matter, before the meeting, Colonel McLean said that there had been no definite offer submitted to the company. He also added that the road was not for sale and the present company has no intention of selling.

Last year's directors, in addition to the president and vice-president, were R. B. Emerson, James Manchester, William Downie, F. E. Sayre, F. L. Taylor, and J. M. Robinson.

The following are the reports submitted:

Your directors have much pleasure in submitting a statement of the past year's business, showing a net profit after providing for the interest on the bonds and all other charges of $88,138.06, out of which your directors have retained and paid four quarterly dividends of one and one-half per cent. amounting to $48,000, leaving a balance of $40,138.06, which has been transferred to Profit and Loss Account.

Our street railway earnings were reduced during the year in consequence of the paving by the city of Mill, Dock, King and Charlotte streets. This work was done during our season and prevented us operating our full service. We have recognized the efficient service given by our employees by increasing their wages.

Careful attention has been paid to the maintenance of the plant, rolling stock and other properties of the company, the physical condition of which is equal to that of any other electric light and street railway system in Canada.

During the year we have purchased six P. A. Y. E. (pay-as-you-enter) combination cars, and are now constructing an auxiliary boiler house to contain three boilers. We have on hand all the rail ties, etc. required for the extension of our railway system to Crouville, the cemetery, and for the new line on Broad street. We have also built a new fireproof car barn on Wentworth street.

We propose during the coming year to purchase additional new cars, to erect an other fireproof car barn, to install additional engine and generators, to extend our street railway system to Crouville, the cemetery, and to lay a new track on Broad street. Other extensions of the street railway are also proposed.

We were in agreement with the local government as to crossing the new bridge to be erected at the falls. We regret to report that the terms exacted by the government are in our opinion too onerous. Our company is required to pay an annual rental starting with $3000, increasing to $8000. In addition to this we are obliged to pay one-half the cost of erecting the railway crossing, which includes the wages of the workmen. We are also to pay the cost of connecting our railway system and laying tracks on the bridge. This will require an expenditure of upwards of $800,000. When the bridge is completed, it will enable us to give a through service between East and West St. John.

We applied to the city commissioners for permission to lay double tracks on the proposed extension to Kane's corner. Negotiations in connection therewith have been pending for some time. The commissioners have now notified us that they will not give us the right to put down double tracks unless we will pave up from curb to curb with granite blocks on a concrete base from Walsh's corner to the northeast side line of Elm street and from there to Kane's corner between the tracks and eighteen inches on each side. Under the company's charter the duty imposed on the company is to maintain and keep in repair that part of the street occupied by the company and eighteen inches outside of the rails. The work required by the city would cost upwards of $30,000. Your directors did not feel warranted in committing the company to such a large additional expenditure. A double track would have enabled us to furnish the public with an up-to-date and efficient service. We do not expect that this extension will be profitable for some time, but we hope in the future as the suburbs are built up that it will pay.

Your directors have been able to obtain permission from the Dominion government to cross the Intercolonial track at Haymarket square.

In answer to enquiries that have been made by prominent shareholders and citizens as to our running large double track cars, we have to say that in consequence of the narrow strip between the two tracks and the sharp curves and steep hills, we are not able to operate them. We would be glad to put such cars in commission if it were practicable, as it would effect a considerable saving in the wages of motormen and conductors.

Respectfully submitted,
HUGH H. McLEAN,
Vice-President.

SAYS YOUTH TRIED TO MAKE ESCAPE

Frederick Creary Under Arrest on Suspicion of North End Breaks—Ten Prisoners on Bench

The preliminary hearing in the case of Frederick Creary, aged seventeen, charged with breaking into the story of Harry Pitt in Main street, the American Dye Works in Elm street, and also into the Star Theatre in Main street, was begun this morning. J. N. Golding, M. P., manager of the Star theatre, said that the theatre was entered on the night of February 29, entrance being made through a door leading out to Elm street. A lot of papers were strewn about the floor, a small cabinet, containing into and some cuff links and six admission tickets were taken. The witness identified goods produced in court as those that had been in the cabinet on the night of the robbery. The admission tickets were numbered 671 to 677. The witness had found the handle of a diamond glass cutter on the floor of the theatre the day after the robbery. One of the tickets stolen was handed in at the theatre on Saturday night by a brother of the prisoner.

Sergeant Klopatski told of arresting Creary at his home in Main street yesterday morning. The youth had said to the witness that he got tickets from a lad who lived at Port Howe. The witness had secured one of the stolen tickets from a diamond glass cutter, a fountain pen and a pair of skates with boots attached, had been stolen. The barber store of H. M. Pitt was also broken into on the same night and several razors were stolen. Evidence would be given later in these matters.

The prisoner was remanded until tomorrow morning, when further evidence will be submitted.

No fewer than ten prisoners were arraigned in the police court this morning, the majority of them charged with drunk and disorderly conduct. Six were each fined $5 or thirty days in jail, and two others $8 or two months. William Moore, charged with being drunk and disorderly resisting the police, was fined $8 or two months in jail on the first charge and $20 or four months in jail for the second.

Michael Dooley, given in charge by Mrs. Rose McDonald, on charge of being drunk and assaulting her in her home in Union street, was fined $20 or two months in jail. Mrs. McDonald told the court that she did not wish to prosecute, but on the strength of evidence given by Policeman Rankine, the prisoner was fined.

Store closes tonight at 6 o'clock.

ACTION OVER LAND

Interesting Case in Connection With Black River Property

An interesting hearing will take place in the near future in the case of Frederick G. McLeod vs. Margaret McLeod, on motion to continue an interim injunction already granted. The point in dispute in this case is as to whether or not tenants in common can be obtained as between tenants in common. The plaintiff claims a three-quarter interest in certain lands at Black River, and the defendant claims the whole interest in the same lands. The latter proceeded to cut timber on the lands on January 31. The plaintiff obtained an interim injunction restraining the defendant from cutting timber until Feb. 13, with leave to the plaintiff to move to have the injunction continued. February 17 a further order was made continuing the injunction.

The hearing will take place in a short time. The case also involves the construction of a will.

Before this application was made, a writ was issued for partition of the land in dispute. This will now all be tried in the one case. R. G. Murray is the solicitor for the plaintiff, and E. P. Raymond the defendant's solicitor.
