Poetry
THE WARDEN OF THE CINQUE PORTS.
By PROFESSOR HOPKINSON.
A mist was driving down the British Channel,
The day was just begun;
And through the window-panes on floor and panel,
Streamed the red curtains sun.
It glanced on frowning brows and rippling pennon,
And the white sails of ships;
And from the towering rampart the black cannon
Halted its vast terrific lips.
Sandwich and Romney, Hastings, Hithc & Dover,
Were all alert that day;
To see the French War Steamers speeding over,
When the fog cleared away.
Sullen and silent, like couchant lions,
Their cannon, through the night,
Holding their breath, had retained in grim defiance
The sea-coast opposite.
And now they roused at drum-beat from their state,
On every citadel;—
Each answering each, with morning salutations,
As if all well.
And down the coast, all taking up the burden,
Replied the distant forts,
As if to summon from his steep the Warden,
And Lord of the Cinque Ports.
Him sail no sunshine from the fields of azure,
No drum-beat from the battlements;
No morning gun from the black forts' embrasures,
Awaken with their call.
No more, surveying with an eye impartial,
The long line of coast,
Shall the grand figure of the old Field Marshal
Be seen upon his post.
For, in the night unseen, a single warrior,
In sables harness veiled,
Treaded of man, and crowned the Destroyer,
The rampart wall he scaled.
He passed into the chamber of the sleeper,
The dark and silent room,
And as he entered darker grew and deeper
The silence and the gloom.
He came not pause to pray or dissemble,
But smote the Warden's door;
Ah! what a blow! that made all England tremble
From stage to shore.
Meanwhile, without, the early cannon waited,
The sun rose bright and clear,
Nothing in nature's great cathedral
That a great man was dead.

VARIETY.
WOMEN AND KNOW-NOTINGS.
The Windsor Mail is responsible for the story related below.
Mrs. Sobbery went to bed precisely at nine o'clock, thinking it passing strange that her good man had not made his appearance just ten minutes before. Of course he would be home in a minute and a half, or two minutes at the farthest, and so Mrs. Sobbery left a lamp burning on the hall table. There it burnt and burnt—but she must tell her own story, as she told it next morning to thirteen, more or less of her most confidential friends.
"Well, there the lamp burnt, and burnt, till as near as I can guess it was well on for ten o'clock that it just went out. What to make of it, I did not know in the dead-end; for he had not been out as before since the time they had the fun about the Arsenal war."
"Was no use to speak to the children, for they would not know; so after I had waited till I could not wait any longer, I hopped out of bed, and down stairs I went. I went right up to the battery and raised the window towards Mrs. Blank's, and says I—'Mrs. Blank!'"
"In a minute I heard her jump out of bed, and raise the window, and says she—
"Why, Mrs. Sobbery, what on earth's the matter?"
"Matter!" says I, speaking very low, because I did not want any body to hear; "matter, Mrs. Blank, do tell me if you have seen anything of my husband!"
"Your husband," says she, "you didn't 'pose I'd got him, did you?" and then speaking almost in a whisper, says she—
"Look here—what on earth does this mean: have you seen anything of my husband?"
"Then we both began to think something had happened, sure enough, and in about two minutes I was dressed all over to Mrs. Blank's. Well, we concluded to step over to Mr. Quin's and start him for a search; but we had not got more than half way across the street, talking along, when we heard the window rattle up, and Mrs. Quin says she, 'Who's there?'"
"Say I, 'It's me!'"
"What's that?" says she, 'do for pity's sake tell me if you have seen anything of my husband!'"
"Now wasn't here a pretty pickle! Well, to make a long story short, we went up that street clear to the schoolhouse, and back on the other side, and not a woman did we find who was not wondering what had become of her husband!"
"Well, just as we got out our gate, who should we see here but my husband Mr. Blank, and Mrs. Sobbery, says I, a little spunky, will you tell me what this means?"
"What it means," says she, "is just as cold as if nothing had happened, well, Mrs. Sobbery, when I would be very glad to gratify you if I could, but the truth is that I don't know nothing about it!"
"Well, from that time to this I go to bed when I get ready, without asking any questions; and I find Mr. Sobbery there in the morning, that's all I care for—I'd just give him to know that I'm as good as know nothing as he!"

SKEWER INVESTMENT.—A Mr. Mayors of Logansport, Indiana, has taken out a patent for a small trap on which bait is secured, for fishing for worms in the human stomach, especially the tape worm, in order to remove them without medicine. After fasting for some time, the patient allows the trap and bait, the latter being snatched at by the worms, which gets its head into the trap, and is at once drawn to the surface.
Wear your learning like your watch, in a private pocket, and don't pull it out to show that you have it; but if you are asked what o'clock it is, tell it!
It is no more use for a young man to try to get along among the girls without money, than to attempt to beat a locomotive with a saw horse.
Cuba is emphatically a cash institution.
Oh, Biddy, my darling!
Here's a lock of my hair,
And if there's a smart in it,
Don't it bid you love.
I'm going out, Biddy,
To work on the track,
You can take it and keep it,
Until I get back.
But if you don't you let it go to the devil with you, and be damned I'm not at all particular.
An American Editor thus announces an increase in his charges.
Send the stage-horn—blow the trumpet,
That the wailing world may know,
Paddy is through all our bowlers,
Even into Mexico.
Even your pen, oh, dreaming poet,
And its numbers smooth as may be,
Spread like the joyful tidings,
That's got another lady.
Beware—The following epithet may be found in a tombstone in Yorkshire, England—
"HERE LIES THE BODY OF MRS. MARY WHITE, WHO WAS THE WIFE OF MRS. MARY WHITE."
Began to hold her tongue.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.
Suffering from a CONTINUED INTERNAL AFFECTION OF THE LIVER AND BILIOUS SYSTEM.
The following Testimonial has been sent by Professor Holloway, to a Gentleman named Middleton, of Scotland Road, Liverpool.
"Sir—Your Pills have been the means, under Providence, of restoring me to sound health after five years of severe affliction. During the whole of that period, I suffered the most dreadful attacks of Asthma, frequently of several weeks' duration, attended with a violent cough, and continued spitting of phlegm intermixed with blood. This shook my constitution that I was unable for any of the active duties of life. I was attended by some of the most eminent medical men of this town, but they failed to give me the slightest relief. As a last remedy I tried your Pills, and in about three months they effected a perfect cure of the disease, totally eradicated the cough, and continued spitting of blood, and restored to me the vigour to the chest and digestive organs.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
Jan'y 14, 1852. (Signed) F. MIDDLETON,
SCOTLAND ROAD, LIVERPOOL."
"Dear Sir—In this district your Pills command a great sale, and are the property of a medicine for the liver and bilious complaints, I may mention the following Case. A lady of this town with an enlarged liver, and a most eminent Surgeon in this town, but obtained no relief whatever, and fearing that my health would be entirely broken up, I was induced to go into County Hospital, where I had the best medical treatment the Institution afforded, all of which proved of no avail, and I came out no better than I went in. I was then advised to try your Pills, which I commenced on the 1st of July, and in a few days I was enabled to resume my occupation, and although a considerable period has elapsed since, I have felt no return whatever of the complaint.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

"I have been suffering for the last year with an ailment from Chronic Rheumatism, and was often laid up for weeks together by its severe and painful attacks. I tried everything that was recommended to me, but without success. I was then advised to try your Pills, which I commenced on the 1st of July, and in a few days I was enabled to resume my occupation, and although a considerable period has elapsed since, I have felt no return whatever of the complaint.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
