MORE TROUBLE FOR THE EQUITABLE

Another Prominent Director Resigns from the Company

Jacob H. Schiff, in His Letter to the President, Declares He Sees No Hope of Reform in the Society Under the Present Regime, and That the Board Has No Use for Independent Men.

New York, June 5.—Jacob H. Schiff, head of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers, today tendered his resignation as a director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Mr. Schiff's letter tendering his resignation as a member of the Equitable Board was sent to President Alexander and is as follows:

New York, June 5. James S. W. Alexander, Esq., President Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Dear Sir,—In view of the proceedings at the meeting at the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, held last Friday, I feel constrained after mature reflection to tender my resignation as a director of the society to take effect at once.

Throughout the recent controversy I have studiously refrained from any action which might add to the complications with which the society has been struggling.

I have even remained silent in the face of many malicious and baseless statements regarding the business transactions between my firm and the society, which have been disseminated through your agents, notwithstanding your failure to publicly disavow and deny these statements.

The meeting of the directors last Friday offered, it seemed to me, a supreme opportunity for rescuing the society from the evil situation into which it had been cast by factional disputes and by the conduct of its officers.

It was my hope that you and Mr. Hyde had been able at the critical moment to rise to the occasion and had supported my motion for the appointment of a committee of directors consisting of men of national reputation for high character and independent judgment with authority to select a chairman of the board with plenary powers, a just and effective reorganization of the management of the society and the restoration of public confidence.

It was my hope that you and Mr. Hyde had been able at the critical moment to rise to the occasion and had supported my motion for the appointment of a committee of directors consisting of men of national reputation for high character and independent judgment with authority to select a chairman of the board with plenary powers, a just and effective reorganization of the management of the society and the restoration of public confidence.

RUSSIA ORDERS NEW FLEET AS ANSWER TO PEACE TALK

Will Build Twice and Half What She Has Lost in Present War

200,000 Reinforcements Ordered to Manchuria--Czar and Advisers Decide That It Would Be Disastrous to Their Sway to Seek Peace--Americans Order Cruisers at Manila to Quit Port or Intern--Admiral Enquist's Ships Not in Such Bad Condition--Graphic Description of How Togo Annihilated Rojstvensky's Powerful Fleet.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) New York, June 5.—President Roosevelt decided today that the Russian cruisers Aurora, Oleg and Lanting, which have found refuge in Manila harbor, must be ordered to quit port or intern.

This decision need not be construed as a hardship to the Russians. As a matter of fact it is an act of kindness, and probably will be hailed with delight by the wretched Russian sailors and the able Admiral Enquist, whose request to be allowed time for repairs need not be taken seriously.

Japan has known since Saturday of the whereabouts of the three cruisers, and for the United States to let them re-ent and sail out of Manila would be sheer cruelty to animals, even though the Czar should insist upon having a few more of his subjects butchered.

Rojstvensky's Performance Disgraceful. As facts begin to filter about the great naval battle it becomes more and more apparent that the whole terrible affair was one of the most disgraceful exhibitions of utter incompetence and gross negligence on the part of the Russian officers, ever known in the annals of the world's sea fights.

That Admiral Rojstvensky, with the greatest war fleet of modern times at his disposal, with the most magnificent fighting machines of the age under his command, could make no better showing than he did seems almost incredible.

When the full story is told, if it ever is, it will most likely be seen that the battle was a rout from beginning to end; that on the part of the Russians it began in a panic and ended in panic; that Togo achieved his splendid victory with as much ease and as much safety to himself as Dewey did when he leisurely pounded the Spaniards to pieces in Manila Bay, with this humiliating difference, the Russians that they had the meritorious put a stiff return fight, which the Spaniards did not have.

Sifting the reports that have been received it would seem, governing broadly, that demoralization prevailed on the Russian fleet from the time of the first Japanese gun fire. It is probable then that the splendid Russian fighting machines became more dangerous to themselves than to the enemy.

Submarine Story Improbable. It is altogether probable that submarines played absolutely no part in the battle. It is not necessary to assume their presence to account for any of the results, but submarine talk is a sort of salve to the feelings of the defeated. It does not seem so bad to be sent to the bottom by some sort of mysterious agency that you could not see.

As a matter of fact it seems most likely, from all accounts now available, that Togo hammered at the Russian battleships with his big guns at long range, and by superior gunfire, aided by the cross, wretched and despicable inefficiency of the Russian commanders, threw them immediately into a state of confusion and disorder that speedily became panic. Then, having achieved this result, he slipped the lead on his pack of torpedo boats and they were able to complete the awful destruction with comparative safety.

One battleship with any sort of decent discipline and efficiency could sink a dozen torpedo boats in clear weather before they would get within miles striking distance. That Togo used torpedo boats, and used them to great advantage is certain. That he sent them against the Russian ships only after he had pounded the enemy into a state of demoralization with his big guns, is almost equally certain.

Enquist Ran Away. A correspondent of the Sun at Manila cables a long story gleaned from Admiral Enquist, his officers and men. Although it is written entirely in sympathy with the unfortunate Russians, who are at Manila's guests, and colored from their point of view it is plain to see that the Enquist squadron has nothing to boast of.

Ill-natured critics might almost say that the Enquist outfit came pretty nearly running away. The injuries to the ships do not appear to have been severe. The Oleg was struck ten times, the Aurora six times, and the Lanting "has no visible wounds except in her funnels, but reports a hole in her hull."

There was not a single ship of the fighting American fleet at Santiago that was not struck half a dozen times or more, and Sampson's ships are supposed to have had no fight at all. The Enquist cruisers, after Admiral Train spoke them, steamed at the rate of fifteen knots an hour, which no seriously damaged ship could do.

NO PROROGATION OF PARLIAMENT SOON

Government Will Arrange for Special Supply Bill to Pay Salaries

Sir Frederick Borden Denies That Militia Force is Being Reduced—Supplementary Estimates All Passed.

Ottawa, June 5.—(Special)—In the house today, Mr. Foster asked for a statement from the minister of militia concerning the proposed reduction of militia establishments.

Sir Frederick Borden answered that he would be prepared to give the house a full statement on the subject tomorrow. The so-called reduction to which the newspapers are now alluding, applied only to what are known as the training establishments. The actual strength of the militia force of the country was not affected one way or the other.

As compared with the establishments of 1904 there was practically no change at all. Two or three years ago the training establishments were cut down upon the recommendation of the new general officer commanding. So far as the bill of corps were concerned there was really no reduction this year.

The opposition consented to the passage of the only two items that remained of the supplementary estimates for the current year, one to provide for the operation of the Intercolonial, and the other for the operation of the Prince Edward Island Railway.

The house then passed into concurrence in the estimates that had already passed committee of supply. Sir Wilfrid Laurier observed that as there was no prospect of prorogation being reached before the first of next month the government had thought it better to arrange for the vice-regal assent to a special supply bill. This will enable the government to pay for obligations that have been already incurred and to pay up arrears of salaries in departments where the funds have already been exhausted.

Mr. Foster consented to the passage of the government railway votes referred to above upon the understanding that full opportunity for discussion will be given when the supplementary votes for next year are reached. The premier promised that the supplementary estimates for next fiscal year will probably be laid before the house within the next fortnight.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier in reply to Mr. Leonard said that the government had promised a deputation to consider the introduction of a bill dealing with trading stamps. The matter was still under consideration.

STEAMER BOUGHT FOR MONCTON SERVICE

Eighty Ton Craft Secured at Halifax--Deacon-Emmerson Wedding Tomorrow.

Moncton, June 5.—(Special)—The old Porier homestead at Shediac had a narrow escape from destruction by fire last night, which started in the outbuildings and caught in the house, but was put out after a hard fight by the fire department.

The outbuildings were destroyed and some fowl and pigs burned; loss about $200.

William Stamp, a former well-known C. B. machinist, is here after an absence of twelve years. Mr. Stamp is now chief engineer of a Clyde line steamer. He came down from New York with the body of his uncle, the late Peter Jack.

An eighty-ton steamer has been secured in Halifax for service on the Petitcodiac between Moncton and down river ports. The steamer is expected here Friday and commences regular runs at once. The price paid was about $12,000.

LONDON COMMENT ON CANADIAN MATTERS

Montreal, June 5.—(Special)—A special London cable says: "An article in the Contemporary Review, by a Colonial, on Titled Colonials against Titled Americans, says: 'The world hears much of Americans and very little of Colonials. In London one would like to believe that it is because our imperialism is so wide that we see no difference between the girl born in Canada or Australia and the girl born in England, but when the Colonies are commonly included in that vague region known as abroad, and the vague thereof are described as foreigners, no such illusion is possible.'"

Colonial, referring to extravagance and vulgarity in modern society says: "It is due to many causes, but none of them can be traced to the influence of colonialism, at any rate from Canada or Australia."

The Canadian Associated Press learns that the premier's explanation of his views with regard to a colonial conference in 1906 is not accepted as fully satisfactory by the more determined among the Unionist free traders.

Whitelaw Reid, the United States ambassador to England is to be invited to the Dominion day banquet.

JAPAN'S TERMS OF PEACE NOW AND THREE MONTHS AGO

London, June 5.—Accounts of President Roosevelt's interviews with Mr. Tasuaura, the Japanese minister at Washington; Count Cassini, Baron Speck von Sternberg and other ambassadors, which are alleged to have been along the line of efforts to bring mediation, are receiving much attention here, but in diplomatic circles it is not believed that they will result in securing peace. The belief is firm in all quarters that Russia will continue the war.

At the Russian embassy it is declared that the war will be continued, and that the Japanese embassy it is said there is no expectation of peace, while the foreign office states that it does not know of any movement towards peace.

As far as can be ascertained, the British government has made no attempt to bring about intervention, though it is undoubtedly acquainted with the terms Japan will accept and is in a position to take up negotiations with France, Russia's ally, immediately, it is understood that such a movement will not meet with a rebuff.

Among the many advocates of peace in this country probably the most active is Sir Thomas Barclay, who was largely instrumental in bringing about the Anglo-French entente. Sir Thomas, who led a powerful effort for mediation between the combatants a few months ago, said to the Associated Press today:—"Three months ago the Japanese would have agreed to these peace terms:—"

"First, the evacuation of Manchuria by the Russians and its return to the control of China under Japanese supervision." "Secondly, a Japanese protectorate in Korea." "Third, the surrender of the lease of Port Arthur and also the surrender of the

STORY OF AN EYEWITNESS OF GREAT BATTLE

Russians Caught in a Cul de Sac and There Was No Possible Direction for the Warships to Turn --For a Time the Belligerents Gave Shot for Shot--Graphic Description of the Superbly Terrible Scene.

London, June 1--The Telegraph's correspondent at Moji says that the combined Russian squadrons arrived in Japanese waters through the Sasho Straits. The water of Admiral Rojstevsky was to divide the Japanese strength at the outlet and his fast cruisers were sent ahead to scout the Straits of Tushima.

Now the great battle began. Admiral Togo's vessels maneuvered with perfect precision, and soon the Russians were enfiladed, not in the ordinary sense, but in front and on both flanks. The scene, which the correspondent witnessed, was superbly terrible. The guns of the heavy warships were being fired, and now and again a crash was heard as the reports coincided.

THE FAMOUS ROTHESEY COLLEGE FOR BOYS, ITS VALUE AND ITS HISTORY

Rothesey, June 2.—So many parents and friends throughout the provinces are interested in the three score of boys at the Rothesey College, their success and the progress of the institution which they at-crowded with buildings. In the near future no more should be necessary but if they are no doubt the same energy and spirit of progressiveness that have made the school what it is will provide for them. Mr. Moore summed up their efforts in brief when he said that in the in teacher, and Sergeant Dooc, of the 2nd Fusiliers, who gives the boys their military and physical drill. The course of instruction is such that a boy may upon graduation continue his studies in college or enter into business. Some of those who go out each year chose

Of this year's class four will enter college and three have banking in view for a profession. Sixty boys are in attendance, ten day pupils who live in the vicinity and 50 who board at the school, and they come from as far west as British Columbia and as far east as Newfoundland, one from the province and one from the colony. Three hail from the United States, Quebec sends one, Ontario two, Nova Scotia six and New Brunswick the others.

NORTH HOUSE

tend, that no excuse is necessary for some account of the plans of the teaching staff and the progress the school is making generally.

For while Rothesey College for Boys is a private school yet as the largest Protestant preparatory school east of Montreal it is entitled to much credit and to the support and esteem of New Brunswickers especially.

Here in Rothesey the schools have become so identified with the place that it would not only seem but actually be dull without them. The restraint imposed upon the boys is not so strict as to prevent them from moving about in the community and impressing those they meet with the freshness of the young, healthy and moral lives they lead.

The principal of the school gave The Telegraph correspondent some interesting facts a few days ago which go to show that the idea of Rev. Geo. E. Lloyd some 14 years ago when he thought there was room for a collegiate school in Rothesey was, when thought and worked out, a good one. His energy and ability gave the institution a start that it has always maintained and increased and when he moved from his first school house, the old rectory in the village in 1892, he little thought that the spacious quarters he found in the handsome residences of S. S. Hall and C. H. Fairweather would long ere now be insufficient for the needs of the growing school.

Yet such has been the case until today what with new school buildings and additions, new residences for the masters and so forth the grounds are pretty well last two or three years some nineteen or twenty thousand dollars had been expended upon perfecting the accommodations for the pupils and the masters. Such an expenditure is more than most of the provincial colleges are making and the pride he and those interested with him feel in the school is but natural.

Mr. Moore has been on the staff of the school as teacher and principal since 1895, succeeding Rev. O. W. Howard in 1899 in the latter capacity.

Besides endeavoring to carry out the aim of the school which is to give boys a careful religious and moral training and to maintain in them a high sense of truth and honor, to give them the education requisite either for future study or for entrance into commercial life and to encourage them to such athletic pursuits as will develop their physical powers, the principal has aimed to make the school so home-like as to be attractive and so comfortable that it will commend itself to parents as well as the boys.

In this he has the help of four assistant masters, all young and enthusiastic like himself, able and willing to enter into the spirit of boy school life and no doubt better fitted to understand it than older men would be. R. W. Allan, who has been associated longest with Mr. Moore, is also a graduate of the University of Toronto, while the three other masters, Messrs. Freese, Patterson and Lawson, are bachelors in arts of the University of New Brunswick.

There are non-resident masters as well; Rev. W. O. Raymond, of St. John, who journeys twice a week to the school to give instruction in the Bible and prayer book; Geo. C. Collinson, the piano and vocal instructor; Morton L. Harrison, vicar to go to the universities and others find that their training in the school fits them for positions of responsibility in mercantile life. Of last year's graduating class two are at McGill University, one at Lehigh University, one in the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, three in banking houses and three in mercantile life.

SOUTH HOUSE

What a healthy, vigorous looking crowd they are wherever they are seen, in the dining room or on the athletic grounds. Upon the latter place they have won renown such as any school may well be proud of. In England the records of the football and cricket field are not held in higher esteem than scholastic triumphs and Rothesey College, aiming to make sure of a sound body as well as a sound mind, has developed such athletic ability and ambition among her boys that they have taken a foremost place in all the junior athletic contests held in the province. Some idea of the contests won and tied may be had when it is known that in 1903 they played six match games of base ball and won all of them. In the same year out of seven football games they won three and tied four. In hockey in 1904 seven games fell to them and one was tied. They lost one game of football that year but won four and in 1905 out of ten games of hockey they won eight, lost one and tied one. More than that at the recent university sports at Fredericton, Rothesey school won many events and are the proud possessors of the junior records for the 200 yards race and the broad jump.

Their success in this direction is all the more remarkable when it is considered that their practice is purely voluntary. Emulation and ambition are the main springs of their success. The boys take great pride in their teams, glory with them in their victories and lament their defeats. The grounds that they use are not as good as they might be and they hope to have them improved in the near future. At present two cups are held by the hockey and football teams, the de Soyres cup by the former and the Junior League cup by the latter.

The location of the college could not be excelled. It stands upon the highest land in Rothesey and commands a splendid view of the surrounding country and the Kennebecasis can be seen for miles. The railway station, the church and all the ture. Both of the dwellings have of course been remodeled, added to and improved but they retain much of their appearance of early days when Rev. Mr. Lloyd first took possession. Since then a school house, a central detached building, has been added. It was completed in 1908 and contains a chapel, school rooms and a large play room and gymnasium and reading room.

Later still the old way of lighting with lamps was abolished and a splendid gas lighting system was installed. Gasoline, which is stored underground some twenty-five yards from the buildings, furnishes gas for 400 lights if they were needed. At present 150 are in use.

At the same time the water system was so improved that it was possible to place baths and lavatories in the buildings and last year when the addition to the dining room in the south house was made a complete lavatory with shower-baths for the younger pupils was added and has proved a great convenience. Since then again two handsome residences have been built for the use of the masters. One of them is occupied by Mr. Allan and the other will be by Mr. Moore.

Much more might be said of the school and the farm in connection did space permit but enough has been written to show what a complete institution it is and how modern and progressive in its methods.

This month the college closes for the year. On Sunday afternoon, June 18, Rev. G. E. Sewell, of the West End, St. John, will preach the annual sermon to the boys and Wednesday, June 21, will be the annual field day, the distribution of prizes, inspection of the cadet corps and the closing addresses.

Not for me the frenzied dance Spoken of by Tommie Lawson, Aired out by Cassie Chadwick And by other smooth performers. "Well indeed do I remember What took place one balmy springtime In the land of the Highrollers, Swiftest natives in the country. You have heard of the Gijwaws And their fondness for excitement; And the way they split the kindling; But compared with the Highrollers These two tribes were Epsworth leaguers. In the land of the Highrollers I recall a most magnetic party. You would know him, should you see him, By the way his hands kept writing, By the way he hooked his fingers. Every time he saw a ten-spot In the possession of a neighbor. Wise old Lay-for-Easy-Money Organized a get-rich system. Went to work with an assistant, Coaxed his trusting fellow-townsmen To supply him with the needful For some clever operations. Buying maize from all the country, With the maize crop almost covered Lay-for-Easy-Money stumbled, Stubbed his toe and lit, my dearies, With his nose upon the asphalt. On the hard, unyielding asphalt, And his friends and fellow-workers, When they saw their wealth departing, Went and bought a quart of war paint, Sneared it o'er their angry phizzes, Looked for Lay-for-Easy-Money, Found him hiding near his wigwam, Handed him a bunch of warclubs, Hatchets, knives, and other hardware, Made him totally unfitted for the irksome task of breathing, And departed with his body To the shining big sea water, Where they left him in his glory."

HIAWATHA ON SPECULATION

"Shall I plunge?" said Hiawatha, "Shall I seek to get a corner On the fat but shifty wheat crop? Not for me, my little darlings! I am making just a living, Just a fairly decent living. But I never have to worry Over any obligations Larger than my bill for laundry, Board, hotel, and labor stations, Should I seek to get rich quickly, Or to be a bear on Wall street, I should land, beyond all question, With my features on the pavement— On the hard, unyielding pavement."

Mr. Jawback—"My dear, do you think I shall be allowed to purchase the same habits in the next world as in this?" Mrs. Jawback—"Well, you will and you won't." Mr. Jawback—"What do you mean?" Mrs. Jawback—"You'll smoke just as much, but you won't get a drink."—Cleveland Leader.

"Don't let it happen again, that's all," said Johnny's mother when she heard Johnny had played truant. "It didn't happen this time," replied Johnny between his sobs. "I did it on purpose."

ACADIA COLLEGE CLOSING EXERCISES BEGAN SUNDAY

Woolville, June 4 (Special)-The closing exercises of Acadia University are becoming more prominent each year. On the first week in June the Baptists of the three provinces perform a pilgrimage to their alma mater.

The first to arrive are the admiring relatives of the graduating classes of the College, the Seminary and Academy. Then come the culture and refinement of the denomination, ministers, alumni and the old and new friends of the college.

But the occasion this year is of conspicuous importance because of the essential part of the exercises, the presentation of many addresses and a purse to the Rev. Dr. Sawyer.

This is the fiftieth anniversary of Dr. Sawyer's services as a teacher of Acadia. From 1859 to 1897 he was president of the college. Many appropriate addresses will be delivered on Wednesday morning of a representative nature testifying to the great esteem and veneration in which Dr. Sawyer is held.

The baccalaureate sermon is the initiation of the graduation exercises proper. This year the sermon was preached by the Rev. W. E. Bates, of the Congregational Church of St. John, N. B., his native country a year ago.

On Sunday evening, Rev. E. E. Daley, of Bridgetown (N.S.), delivered an address in College Hall under the auspices of the college Y. M. C. A.

ROTHESAY PARISH--TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF RECTOR'S ARRIVAL--INTERESTING WORK

A Review of Much Solid Achievement by Rector and Parishioners--The Several Churches--Little Bits of History.

Rothsay, May 30--In the early days of next month Rev. A. W. Daniel will have completed the first ten years of his pastorate in Rothsay parish, and though accidental it will be fittingly marked by the visit of His Lordship Bishop Kingdon, who will on Monday next administer the rite of confirmation to some eighteen or twenty candidates.

The visible evidence of Rector Daniel's work in the parish for the past decade shows that it has been well done and the official census figures would seem also to bear out such a statement. According to them, at the last enumeration, there were 601 individuals belonging to the church of England, 139 Roman Catholics, 123 Presbyterians, 44 Methodists, 219 Baptists, 2 members of the Salvation Army and 4 who were not specified.

At the last parish meeting the statement of the treasurer showed that there was no debt upon the parish and that there was something to its credit. There would have been more had not the item of insurance entered so largely in the expense account and this in spite of the fact that some of the premiums were kindly donated by members of the congregation.

The finishing touch to the building was given when the sewing circle found that there was something for it to do in the direction of plumbing and the water from the water works. Not content with having given $200 to the building fund the ladies offered $400 more for the furnishing of the spacious bath room upon the second floor and the introduction of water and a furnace and hot air service.

So much has been said in regard to the assistance given by the ladies to Rothsay parish that it is not surprising that their efforts were entirely given to home work. This is not so. Last year three ladies, weighing in all 210 pounds, were sent to the mission at St. John's, and the ladies of the parish, in addition to their regular work, were responsible for these donations. Of this Mrs. A. W. Daniel is the president, Mrs. Brock and Miss Fairweather vice-presidents, Mrs. Donville, Dorcas secretary, and Mrs. J. S. Armstrong, corresponding secretary and treasurer.
