PARNELL PARLEYING.

O'Shea Said to be Disgusted with the Deposed Leader.

Proposes Repeating His Boulogne Trick.

Crowds Gather to Greet [illegible] at Sligo—Brutal Assault on Healy.

LONDON, March 24.—In a letter to the rk Leadership Committee Parnell says e tone of studied insult and falsehood ntained in the statements of Mr. Healy's tter accepting his (Parnell's) challenge at they should both resign their seats in rliament and come forward as candidates re-election, debars him from communiting directly with Healy or the latter's ends. He states, however, that he has ced his application for the Chiltern undreds in Mr. Nolan's hands, requesting that it be referred the moment Healy submits himself before the electors of the divisions of Cork he represents.

Maurice Healy, said yesterday he had not seen Parnell's letter, but if the resignation was genuine he would instantly meet it.

Michael Davitt said Parnell's phrase "as soon as Healy has submitted himself to the judgment of and has gone to his constituents," is a repetition of the Boulogne trick. Parnell wishes to have Healy resign first, and he (Parnell) would then be guided by the result of Healy's fate."

Mr. Sexton, speaking at Sligo, announced Mr. Healy would hand his resignation to Mr. Deasy, the Nationalists whip, so that Nolan and Deasy could apply for the Chiltern Hundreds together.

COOLLY RECEIVED.

DUBLIN, March 24.—Parnell went to Sligo yesterday. His approach was heralded broadcast, but no crowd gathered at the station to greet him. Parnell, in referring to the seceders to his ranks, said he preferred Valentine Dillon to a good portion of the traitors who had deserted the party because Dillon would not run away if the Grand Old Man made faces at him.

At many other meetings Mr. Parnell's difficulty in obtaining a hearing has been so great that the services of the police have frequently been required.

TIMOTHY HEALY ASSAULTED.

Timothy D. Healy, M.P., had a rough experience at Cork yesterday. He had attended the assizes, being interested in a case in which his brother, Maurice Healy, d obtained damages for libel against a member of the Parnellite party. Upon aving the court Timothy Healy was surrounded by a howling mob and finally took uge in the dressing room of the Victoria tel. There a man rushed into the room, ned out the light, and then struck Mr. aly a powerful blow in the face, smashing his eye-glasses into pieces. Mr. Healy was found to have been badly injured, as he had received numerous cuts from the broken pieces of his eye-glasses, the blood was pouring down his face in streams. Healy's assailant was O'Brien Dalton, who was connected with the Tipperary conspiracy.

O'BRIEN AND DILLON.

William O'Brien and John Dillon were transferred from Galway to Cork jail. They were recognized upon their arrival at Cork, and received an ovation from the people.

CONFIDENT OF PARNELL'S DEFEAT.

LONDON, March 24.—Interviews with members of the House of Commons show a general belief that Parnell will not resign until after Healy has resigned. [illegible] McCarthyites are so confident of Parnell's defeat that they urge Healy to make every possible concession to force an encounter.

EVEN KITTY IS DISGUSTED.

LONDON, March 24.—The decree nisi obtained by Capt. O'Shea against [illegible] will e the character and force of an absolute divorce in six weeks, which fact is ly increasing discussion of the question whether Mr. Parnell will avail himself of the opportunity offered to make lady his wife. It has all along admitted that the couple have ended to be married as soon as they uld legally do so, but it is now stated at the wedding is extremely unlikely to ke place, not, however, through any disinclination on the part of Mr. Parnell. It learned upon excellent authority that e objection proceeds from Mrs. O'Shea, it is alleged, has become disgusted Mr. Parnell's conduct and now bes that the gentleman is actuated by gher motive in wishing to become her and than to obtain possession of her ey to bolster up his personal cause.

THE TIMES' ADVICE.

LONDON, March 24.—The Times says ell having announced that he had sent pplication for the Chiltern Hundreds r. Nolan, Mr. Healy has sent his application to Sir Thomas Esmonde for ltaneous presentation with that of ell's. The Times says a contest in must follow unless Parnell tries to escape by pleading some flaw in the procedure is opponent. If he decides to fight it is plain duty of the Unionists to join in oming battle with the Conservatives. Conservatives should therefore start a date. In the division of their foes lies Unionists' opportunity.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S CASE.

the British Government De- Proposal to Pay Bounties the Fishermen.

Vogel writes proposing that Government pay bounties to d's fishermen similar to the e French pay. The Times thinks posal will be worthy of discussion hen every other peaceful effort has

I. P. Hennessey, after Mr. Smith's the House of Commons yesterday, to postpone raising any further dison the Newfoundland question until aster. The Liberals generally take e view.

The crofters upon their at the forest entrenched themselves ruins which represented their former es, the buildings having been torn by the proprietor of the land. They ed a camp and announce they intend ultivate the land formerly held by and that they are prepared to resist ce any attempt to oust them.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Interview with the Government Leader in the Commons.

He Repudiates Any Wish to Coerce the Colonists, and Hopes for a Peaceful Settlement of the Trouble.

LONDON, March 25.—A deputation of merchants engaged in trade with Newfoundland visited William Henry Smith, the Government leader in the House of Commons, yesterday. Mr. Smith, in addressing them, repudiated any desire on the part of the Government to coerce the people of Newfoundland. The British Government, he said, was bound by treaties, and when the other party held views so strongly as France did, there was no alternative but arbitration or war. The Newfoundlanders thought the terms of arbitration were injurious to their interest. The Government was prepared to hear their views in the matter. But it must be remembered the conditions of the arbitration were imparted to the colony before they were agreed to by the Imperial Government, which, being responsible for the peace of the Empire, must be responsible for the conditions under which it endeavored to procure the settlement of an extremely difficult subject. In regard to the objections, omissions and admissions of the treaty a basis of arbitration must be agreed upon between the parties. The French contention could not be ignored. One gentleman had objected to limitation of the arbitration. He himself desired it should be extended to include all points of difference, but the Government had every hope that as the arbitration proceeded a decision might be arrived at regarding the most important points of difference. When once the rights of the respective parties were ascertained it might be possible to enter into negotiations to settle difficulties which had existed more than a century. The Government contemplated the probability of arriving at a decision as to other rights which he admitted had been painful subjects of the Newfoundlanders and had undoubtedly much impeded the developing of the resources of the colony. Referring to the necessity of the modus vivendi in view of the approach of the fishing season, he said a most inflammatory document had been circulated on the west coast of Newfoundland, and was likely to seriously imperil the peace. This showed the urgency of the case and the danger to which the colony was exposed by resistance to an arrangement directed solely to securing the interests of the Newfoundlanders. It was perfectly true that it re-enacted old powers, but simply with a view to securing peace and averting the terrible consequence which would result from a breach thereof. The Imperial Government was compelled, much against its will, to insure the performance of the treaty obligations by the Local Legislature. The Government did not desire to interfere in the internal concerns of the colony, but while the treaty remained unrevised it must be respected by all the Queen's subjects, wherever they might be. It had been a source of great sorrow that repeated requests to the Newfoundland Government had failed of their object. Successive governments in England had done their best to mitigate the undeniable inconvenience, harrassing all existing conditions in Newfoundland. He could only hope that good counsels would prevail, and that the colony would take steps to obviate the necessity of action on the part of the Imperial Government.

The Chronicle declares that the Government had a strong objection to receiving the deputation of merchants engaged in the Newfoundland trade, and it only acceded to pressure brought to bear in the matter in order to avoid inflaming the excited feeling in the colony.

J., March 24.—An explosion occurred yesterday afternoon in the yard of the Tidewater Oil Refining Company at Constable Hook by which three men were burned to death and two others fatally burned. Britain and Portugal.

LONDON, March 25.—The Portuguese have declared a state of siege in Manicaland, South Africa, part of which territory is the scene of the operations of the British South Africa Company, between which company and the Portuguese authorities there is much hostility. It is believed in official circles in London that if this reported action of the Portuguese is true it will result in a further strain of the relations between Great Britain and Portugal. It is stated the purpose of the Portuguese is to coerce the English who have settled in Manicaland.

Salvation Army Courtship.

It is not generally known that when anyone wishes to become an officer in the Salvation Army he has to answer the following catechism: "Have you ever been a backslider, and if so, for how long, and why? Are you in debt? If so, why? How much? How long owing? What for? Are you courting? If so, give name and address of the person. How long have you been engaged? What is the person's age? How long enrolled as a soldier? (or, if not enrolled at all). Has the person applied for the work? If not, when does the person intend doing so? Do you understand that you may not be allowed to marry until three years after your appointment as an officer, and do you engage to abide by this? If you are not courting, do you pledge yourself to abstain from anything of the kind during training, and for at least twelve months after your appointment as a commissioned field officer? Do you pledge yourself never to commence, nor to allow to commence, or break off anything of the sort, without first informing your divisional officer, or headquarters, of your intention to do so? Do you pledge yourself never to marry anyone—marriage with whom would take you out of the Army altogether?"

ELECTION FRAUDS.

Crooked Work in South Wentworth.

Barefaced Attempt to Steal Mr. Landerkin's Seat.

PALPABLE FRAUD.

OWEN SOUND, March 24.—At the recount of ballots cast in the last South Grey campaign held here yesterday there was developed one of the most diabolical political plots that has ever been perpetrated in the Dominion of Canada. It will be remembered that Dr. Landerkin, the Reform candidate, was declared elected by a majority of 46 by the returning officer. This majority at the recount to-day was reduced to 3. The method adopted only failed of success owing to the gains made in the polling districts, the ballots of which had not been tampered with. The ballot boxes of polling districts Nos. 1, 10, 16, 18, 21, 35 and 37 had been opened, the envelopes containing the ballots cast for Dr. Landerkin carefully opened and 26 marked ballots abstracted, the parties substituting therefor 26 ballots with forged initials, marked for Blythe, the Tory candidate. The envelopes were then resealed and placed back in the box, which was then ready for the recount. By this dodge Blythe would have had a majority of six, but, as stated before, this majority was wiped out and Dr. Landerkin will again take his seat as representing South Grey. The envelopes bore in their backs unmistakable evidence of having been tampered with. In justice to the returning officer, Mr. G. F. McCaul, and his deputies, it must be said their declarations in all the cases named were properly made, but the fact that the number of ballots in the several parcels does not correspond with the sworn statements of the deputy returning officers makes it imperative that they at once place themselves right with the public. That a most gross fraud was perpetrated is beyond doubt, and vigorous steps are now being taken to ferret out the guilty parties and bring them to justice. The great bulk of the Conservative party in South Grey are honest men, who are not for one moment to be associated with such work as this, and it is simply an outrage that such a man as Mr. McCaul should be placed in such a painful position through the practices of a ruffianly gang, who, if they get their just deserts, will shortly be shouting loyalty and serving her Majesty in Kingston. Judge Morrison, before whom the recount was held, expressed himself as satisfied that gross frauds had been perpetrated, and suggested to Mr. Kilbourn, who appeared for Dr. Landerkin, that the certificate be not issued until he had time to ascertain whether he had the power to reject the substituted ballots, but as Dr. Landerkin, Mr. McCaul and those engaged in the recount wished to return home, it was deemed advisable to close the matter up. Mr. Blythe, the defeated candidate, although in town all day, did not once put in an appearance at the re-count.

CROOKED WORK IN SOUTH WENTWORTH.

In one case in South Wentworth a person came into the booth, received a ballot in due form, retired and marked it, and returning, gave the ballot to the deputy returning officer. The deputy returning officer said the man must be sworn, and on his refusal to take the oath marked on the counterfoil, "This man refuses to be sworn," and put the ballot in the "rejected" envelope. In the case of the same deputy a man came in and voted for Carpenter. In the afternoon another man came in and announced himself as the person in whose name the other had voted. The deputy professed to know the man and gave him a ballot which was marked and deposited. There were thus 139 ballots in the box with only 138 accounted for in the poll books. In one case a ballot marked X against Carpenter's name and O against Middleton was counted.

STRIKING ARGUMENTS.

WINNIPEG, March 25.—At a meeting in Portage constituency held at Elm River Monday night there were lively scenes. W. J. Cooper, who was speaking against Hon. Mr. Martin, got into an altercation with one of Martin's supporters, named Smith. Cooper slapped Smith's face, whereupon the latter threw a pail of water over Cooper. The meeting, which had been called by Conservatives, broke up in disorder.

The Queen's Horses Cruelly Treated.

LONDON, March 24.—The discovery has been made that Queen Victoria's coachmen, acting under royal orders, habitually use the cruel bearing rein which lovers of horses have been for years endeavoring to abolish. The fact that the Queen is a patron of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is held by irreverent radicals to aggravate the offense, and the society is actually being urged to prosecute her Majesty.

The striking weavers in the Arlington mills at Lawrence, Mass., refuse to return to work unless some compromise can be made whereby they will receive the wages heretofore paid, and not be compelled to run four looms instead of three. The weavers claim that under the new wages will be reduced and they must perform more work.

The Socialist strike organization in Hamburg has suffered a severe defeat in the collapse of the cigarmakers' strike after it has cost the Workingmen's Society 395,000 marks. The Hamilton (Ont.) Trades and Labor Council, at its recent meeting discussed, among other matters, the interference of employers with their men during election contests, and passed the following resolution: "Whereas, the manufacturers, railroads and other employers of labor of the city of Hamilton, during the elections, have by concerted action attempted to interfere with the full and untrammeled expression of their workmen's franchise by threats, intimidation and undue influence; resolved, that this Trades and Labor Council calls upon all workingmen in future to organize and resist as one man any and all attempts to interfere with their sacred rights as free and independent citizens, and that this council condemns in unmeasured terms the above-mentioned action as inimical to the best interests of society and the State, and as being contrary to British liberty; and, further, that this council suggests, as a remedy for the practices complained of, that canvassing or soliciting votes be made a criminal offense."

THE SENSUOUS IN WORSHIP.

Interesting Discussion at the Toronto Ministerial Association's Meeting.

TORONTO, March 24.—"The Sensuous in Public Worship" was the theme for discussion at the Ministerial Association yesterday morning. Rev. G. M. Milligan, while deprecating all extremes, believed that the sensuous had its province in public worship. The Roman Catholic Church could teach them much in the way of bringing all the people into a worshipful attitude. He did not like Beecher's method of coming out on a plain platform. Rev. A. M. Phillips did not think that the formalities spoken of were all needful, though they might be permissible. The vital necessity was that the divine and human should come together and be known of each other. Rev. Dr. Hunter talked especially of church music. If he were a young man beginning again he would have only a chorus choir and do away with all high class anthems and operatic singing. Sometimes a solo went to the heart, but there was great danger in those things. Rev. S. A. Macdonald stirred the risibilities of the association by telling of the plain, old-fashioned church where he worshiped as a lad. It had cracked walls and tin pails hung from the leaking joints of the stovepipes, but the eloquent old Highlander, John Ross, was there. There was not much sensuousness in that: and while it was nice to hear a woman trill and then a man respond in deep base, then the two meet and two more come in and then all hop, skip and jump with words that the congregation did not understand, he did not like to hear it on Sunday.

Drank Himself to Death.

TORONTO, March 24.—John Morgan, pensioner, aged 61 years, arrested yesterday morning on the charge of vagrancy, appeared in the Police Court and was fined $1 and costs or 60 days. He went to the cells again to await being taken to jail, and died within half an hour. He had drunk himself to death.

The New Orleans Outrage.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 24.—The grand jury returned two indictments in blank yesterday. They are for attempting to bribe jurors and are supposed to be against McChrystal and Cooney, the two men previously indicted. The only new feature is the indictment of D. D. O'Malley as an accessory before the fact in the above cases.

NEW ORLEANS, March 24.—Governor Nicholls telegraphs to Secretary Blaine, in regard to the lynching, that the sheriff has made his return of the facts to the proper court. The judge, therefore, has charged the grand jury, now in session, in regard to the matter, and the whole subject is under investigation. He says he is satisfied most of the persons killed were American citizens, but it is probable that two or three were Italian subjects.

Dated at London, Sept. 16, 1889.

To the above agreement we the trustees of Woodland and Mount Pleasant Cemeteries subscribe, pledging ourselves not to allow funerals on the Lord's Day to take place in our respective cemeteries, expect on above conditions.

GEORGE M. INNES, dean and rector of St. Paul's Cathedral; JOHN S. PEARCE, W. J. REID, churchwardens, trustees ex-officio of Woodland Cemetery.

PHILIP McKENZIE, president; SAMUEL McBRIDE, secretary; Mount Pleasant Cemetery Company.

We would respectfully call the attention of the public to the following interesting and important particulars concerning this agreement:

It was entered into by the ministers, undertakers and cemetery authorities of the city in the month of September, 1889, and has therefore been in operation for about eighteen months.

The agreement has also been heartily approved and signed by all the clergymen of the various religious bodies who have received appointments in the city during the time of its operation. The matter was recently submitted to Bishop O'Connor and he expressed himself as heartily in accord with the purpose of the agreement, and though asking a short time for further consid[illegible]on, stated at once that the action of his [illegible]ecessor would be respected in the [illegible]e.

The cemetery authorities report the following as showing the immediate effects of the agreement: During the six months immediately preceding the agreement Woodland Cemetery had 20 funerals on Sundays. Mount Pleasant, 24. Considering the number of Sabbaths in six months, this means almost continuous Sabbath work. During the six months immediately following the agreement Woodland Cemetery had no Sabbath funerals and Mount Pleasant had three. Of these three, one was on a doctor's certificate (not the health officer), Another was a child brought from Hamilton, which died of infectious disease, and the [illegible] was on Dr. Hutchinson's certificate [illegible]ese figures are very emphatic, and [illegible]onclusively to two facts: There was [illegible] need for such an agreement, and [illegible]esults are wonderfully satisfact[illegible] very encouraging, considering that [illegible]ew measure or method requires some[illegible] be thoroughly understood and appr[illegible]

THE OLD SALARIES.

All the City Officials Retained by the Council.

The City Engineer's Formal Resignation Received.

Mr. Kingston Is Now City Clerk—Assistant Inspector Lutnam Gets Fifty Dollars Increase, While Park Ranger Grant and Police Court Clerk Keary Lose One Hundred Dollars Each.

The City Council met Monday evening for the purpose of fixing the salaries of the city officials for the year. The matter came up under the report of the Finance Committee. To consider the questions the Council went into Committee of the Whole and sat until 11:45, when the committee rose and reported. The result of the evening's labors found the aldermen practically where they began. When it was moved that the Council go into Committee of the Whole the Mayor called Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald to the chair, but the honor was declined. Ald. Skinner acquiesced with better grace and business began.

THE COMMITTEE'S DRAFT.

Ald. Spencer then read the clause of the committee's report dealing with the salaries as follows:

Your committee beg to submit the following salaries for the year 1891: C. A. Kingston, assistant city clerk, $1,500; John Pope, treasurer, $1,600; Thos. H. Tracy, city engineer, $1,700; A. O. Graydon, assistant city engineer, $500; L. W. Owen, street commissioner, $300; W. Bell, health, license and relief inspector, $800; two collectors ½ of 1 per cent. on collections; S. Grant, assessment commissioner, $1,200; J. M. Wilson, market clerk, $500; John Mullin, wood market clerk, $100 in addition to fees collected; expense of mayor's office, $500; two auditors, $900; H. Merritt, janitor $500; Wm. Brown, boiler engineer, $45 per month for time employed; James Bell, clerk to treasurer, $400; J. W. Keary, police court clerk, $500; Jas. Grant, park ranger, $800; J. G. Scragg, Queen's Park caretaker, $150 and cottage rent, $6 50 per month; Dr. Hutchinson, medical health officer, $1,200; Jas. Lutnam, assistant to Inspector Bell, $500.

That the services of Mr. A. S. Abbott as city clerk be dispensed with, and a gratuity of $2,400, three years' salary, be paid to him on his retiring from office, as an acknowledgment of his valuable and long services to the city.

THE OFFICIALS' SALARIES.

Ald. Connor moved that the salaries of the officials be not increased.

Ald. Taylor moved that they remain the same as last year.

Ald. Winnett—I move that the salaries be taken up separately.

Ald. Taylor, speaking in support of his motion, said that the Council should not expect a man to live on $3 per week. It was not a proper thing to attack the salary list each year cutting down one and raising another official. The city did not gain anything by the changes and had a dissatisfied set of officials as a result.

Ald. Scarrow supported the amendment of Ald. Winnett. There were some salaries that were too high and others that were too low. The difficulty was that officials were not satisfied with the salaries on assuming office and expected a yearly raise.

Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald expressed the opinion that the lot of the average city official was not a happy one. They were continually being assailed with and without cause. He supported the motion of Ald. Taylor, as the report if adopted would upset the entire salary list.

Ald. O'Meara said that the report as presented by the Finance Committee was the most unfair one that he had ever heard upon a subject which occupied the attention of the Council at some time during every year. The amount that would be pared off the salaries would not amount to anything compared with the other current expenses of the year. The committee had cut down wages away below what some of the employes could live upon, and this was a most disgraceful thing. Every man that was employed if he was worthy of employment was worthy of good living wages. "If the committee wishes to discharge any official," said the speaker, "on account of inefficiency the committee should specify his faults and I will support it."

THE COMMITTEE'S MOTIVE.

Ald. Gartshore explained that reductions were very noticeable in three of the salaries. The reason of this was found in the fact that the committee had power to regulate the salaries of all officials, but that the committee could not move for the dismissal of any official, as the other committees might think that it was an interference with their powers. "I just throw this out as a hint," said Ald. Gartshore, sitting down.

Ald. Judd expressed his determination of supporting Ald. Taylor's motion. The explanation of Ald. Gartshore he construed as a roundabout way of dismissing a servant against whom nothing had been charged. "I will never vote for the dismissal of any of the city officials," said the speaker, "until something is charged and proven against them. If the city clerk is proven not competent I will vote for his dismissal with pleasure, but I will never vote away $2,400 for the securing of that resignation.

Ald. Thomas favored the idea of taking up the different salaries one at a time."

Ald. W. W. Fitzgerald spoke strongly against what he called the committee's dishonest method of starving the officials out. The same men who favored the reduction now, he said, would favor the increase when the men were changed as suited their fancy.

Ald. Taylor's motion was then put and lost, Aldermen Connor, Taylor, O'Meara, W. W. Fitzgerald, Judd and Shaw alone voting for it.

The proposed deposition of City Clerk Abbott was then taken up as its disposal affected the salary of the assistant city clerk.

Ald. O'Meara moved in amendment that the services of the city clerk be retained.

Ald. Wilkey moved in amendment to the amendment that the services of City Clerk Abbott be dispensed with and that he receive three months' salary.

Ald. Taylor ridiculed the motion of Ald. Wilkey and announced his intention of supporting Ald. O'Meara's amendment.

Ald. O'Meara—I think it all justice that the committee should give the Council and the people their reason for moving for the dismissal of City Clerk Abbott. If the committee proves any inefficiency, I will move for the dismissal of any such official.

Ald. Wilkey—Look at the salary list. How is it that we have a city clerk drawing $800 and an assistant city clerk drawing $1,400 salary? This bears his inefficiency on the face of it.

CITY CLERK ABBOTT'S INEFFICIENCY.

Ald. Ivey—I will try and tell Ald. O'Meara just what he wants to know. I say, with all kindness, that the city clerk's usefulness has gone by. I think that if Mr. Abbott desired to say anything about his efficiency he would admit that he could not do the work as the interests of the city demanded it should be done. We as aldermen have a duty to perform, and if we think that the best interests of the city would be served by the dismissal of the city clerk, we should do that duty faithfully. As far as my opinion goes I think that the service given by the city clerk as secretary of the Court of Revision is not of a satisfactory nature. I am informed that at present Assessment Commissioner Grant does a great deal of work in connection with the city clerk's office, and I think that the Council can utilize those services and thus save the expense of any additional help. I may say with respect to the last clause that I supported it in the committee on the information that I had received at that time that Mr. Abbott had not enough to keep him if the salary of his office was taken away. I will support that clause still, as long as that fact remains clear. Mr. Abbott himself assured me that if the salary was taken away he would not have sufficient income to amount to $300.

OBJECTED TO THE GRATUITY.

Ald. Connor—I am opposed to this last clause about the $2,400. This has been a piece of imposition that has been continually thrust upon the people. If Ald. Wilkey will include in his amendment that Assistant City Clerk Kingston and Assessment Commissioner Grant perform the duties without an increase of salaries I will support it.

Ald. Scarrow suggested that the Council get up a testimonial. "I am sure," said the speaker, "that Mr. Abbott will never want a dollar in this world."

Ald. O'Meara—How would a meerschaum pipe do?

Ald. Judd and W. W. Fitzgerald spoke in favor of retaining the services of the city clerk.

Ald. Wyatt recorded himself as in favor of the adoption of the first part of the clause. Three years ago the Council had moved for the dismissal of the city clerk, but it had been reconsidered. If there is any man that understands wire-pulling it is Mr. Abbott. It was this that revoked the motion of the Council three years ago. I was approached myself, but refused to sell my vote. We have poor people coming here year by year for exemptions and remissions, and their petitions cannot be granted, so in the face of that I will never vote in favor of giving away $2,400 of the citizens' money.

ALD. O'MEARA ON EFFICIENCY.

Ald. O'Meara contended that the only charge made out by the committee against the city clerk was old age. It is not ability that the committee is looking for, but style. Mr. Abbott is very efficient, and in many respects more so than Mr. Kingston. He has the experience of 40 years, and if anything is wanted in the way of information he could give it in fifteen minutes, while it might take Mr. Kingston five hours to hunt up the same. The granting of this gratuity I contend is illegal, and we are all liable to be sued for the amount of money voted him.

Ald. Gartshore supported the clause of the report. The committee had sufficient warrant, he said, for its action in the granting of the $2,400 which had been proposed.

Ald. Winnett reviewed the history of City Clerk's Abbott's inefficiency. He had from time to time been relieved of one duty after another on account of inefficiency. The speaker was opposed to giving Mr. Abbott more than $1,000 as a gratuity; he would, if he was convinced of the story of Mr. Abbott's penury, vote for the full amount, but the surroundings did not bear the statement out. He had for years been drawing a good salary, and should have saved a sufficient competence for his old age.

Ald. F. J. Fitzgerald announced that he would favor the retention of Mr. Abbott's services, but if the Council decided to dismiss Mr. Abbott he would not favor the granting of a gratuity of $2,400 to him.

DIFFERENT METHODS OF TREATMENT.

Ald. Taylor made a vigorous speech in favor of retaining the services of Mr. Abbott. His motion was then put and lost.

Ald. Wilkey's amendment that the services of the city clerk be dispensed with and that he receive three months' salary was also lost. It was supported by Aldermen Wyatt, Connor, Gartshore, Winnett, Scarrow, Bartlett, Wilkey, Shaw and Mayor Taylor, but was opposed by Aldermen Taylor, O'Meara, W. W. Fitzgerald, Ivey, James Fitzgerald, F. J. Fitzgerald, Thomas, Judd and Spencer. The deciding vote was cast by Chairman Skinner against the amendment.

Ald. Winnett moved that the gratuity to Mr. Abbott be fixed at $1,000, but this was also voted down.

Ald. Thomas moved that Mr. Abbott be made assistant city clerk at a salary of $800, with C. A. Kingston as city clerk, and this was carried on much the same vote as that which defeated the Wilkey amendment.

OTHER OFFICIALS' SALARIES.

The salary clauses of the report was freely amended. On motion of Ald. Scarrow the salaries of the city clerk and chamberlain were fixed at the old rate of $1,400 respectively.

Ald. Gartshore moved, in amendment to the clause reducing the salary of the assistant engineer, that the services of Mr. Graydon be dispensed with. "It is not the intention to cast any reflection upon the character of Mr. Graydon," said Ald. Gartshore. The committee decided that it was best to abolish the office of assistant engineer as it was considered an unnecessary one.

Ald. Winnett, supported the amendment of Ald. Gartshore.

Ald. Spencer explained that on account of the unexpected resignation of the engineer the aspect of affairs had been considerably changed.

On motion of Ald. Taylor the report was amended by which the services of the assistant engineer were retained at a salary of $700.

COMMISSIONER OWEN'S VICTORY.

Ald. Scarrow moved in amendment that the commissioner's salary be fixed the same rate as last year.

Ald. Ivey moved that the services of the commissioner be dispensed with.

Ald. Scarrow supported his motion with an emphatic speech, which he concluded by asserting that the commissioner was quite efficient.

Ald. Wyatt—I do not think that Ald. Scarrow is honest in his remarks because it is patent that the commissioner is not competent.

The motion to adopt the clause of the report was defeated, Aldermen Spencer, Wyatt, Wilkey, Gartshore and Ivey alone voting for it. The salary was fixed at the old rate.

Ald. Wilkey's amendment that the services of the city clerk be dispensed with and that he receive three months' salary was also lost. It was supported by Aldermen Wyatt, Connor, Gartshore, Winnett, Scarrow, Bartlett, Wilkey, Shaw and Mayor Taylor, but was opposed by Aldermen Taylor, O'Meara, W. W. Fitzgerald, Ivey, James Fitzgerald, F. J. Fitzgerald, Thomas, Judd and Spencer.

The amendment of Ald. O'Meara, that Commissioner Grant receive an additional sum of $50 as sergeant-at-arms, was lost, as was also Ald. Gartshore's amendment to transfer the duties and $50 to Janitor Merritt.

Ald. Wilkey moved in amendment that the salary of the assistant city engineer be $825 as formerly. Carried.

The resignation of City Engineer Tracy was then read by the assistant city clerk. It was received and consideration of it postponed.

The Council adjourned at 5 minutes to 12 o'clock.

THE FIRST BYE-ELECTION.

Though the most despicable means were resorted to by the opponents of Reciprocity in order to secure a victory for trade restriction principles, Mr. Julius Scriver, the Liberal candidate for Huntington, Que., was victorious in the Dominion election held there yesterday.

An army of Ottawa officials and of political adventurers from Montreal swept down on the parishes on nomination day, and remained till the close of the poll, using every influence possible to secure the election of the anti-reciprocity candidate. Mr. Scriver voted in opposition to the Jesuit Estates' Act in last Parliament, and in the French-Canadian parishes of St. Barbe and Anicet the Conservative agents used the race and religion cry against him, while in other parts of the constituency they adopted diametrically opposite tactics. In this they resembled their friends in North and East Middlesex in the last Ontario local election. Mr. Tooley had one cry to one class of electors in London township; Mr. Hutchins to another in the adjoining townships of Biddulph and Stephen.

It is reassuring to know that these views, together with the open bribes of promises of heavy expenditures of public money, were repudiated by the indignant electors, and that Mr. Scriver, who is an able and upright representative, goes back to Ottawa to swell the constantly increasing numbers of the friends of reciprocity. The movement cannot be stayed; its opponents must either indorse it or be swept away.

—Principal Grant, of Kingston, is one of those far-seeing men who admit that a change must speedily come in the trade conditions of the Dominion. At a meeting in Queen's College the other day, Dr. Grant said that "The National Policy, in its present shape, has won its last victory. Trade restrictions against the whole world cannot be maintained."

THE TALK OF PROTEST.

"You can depend that London will shortly be given over to the turmoil of another contest for the Dominion House," is the declaration alleged by the Free Press to have been made by a member of Mr. Carling's Executive Committee after a meeting purporting to have been held last night. At that meeting, the organ informs us, it was resolved to protest the election, and try to unseat Mr. Hyman, M.P.

Whether the protest will be gone on with, or will be merely entered as a bluff, remains to be seen. It is a mistake, however, to suppose that it was the meeting in the committee rooms that decided the question so far as it has gone. The caucus of lawyers and disappointed betting men, held at Mr. Carling's place on Saturday evening, really laid all the pipes and had the matter decided without the aid of the outside members of the party, many of whom are understood to be decidedly opposed to protesting an election that is known to have been exceptionally clean. They see no propriety in trying, at best, to unseat Mr. Hyman on a technical irregularity, even should a trial reveal such an illegality, and that is much to be doubted. Two things we do know: 1. That Mr. Hyman not only conducted his canvass strictly in accord with the law, but used every endeavor to have his friends follow his example. 2. That hundreds of good Conservative electors are convinced of this fact, and that, in the event of the "turmoil of another contest" being forced on the city, they will resent the conduct of the men who have rendered it possible, by voting for Mr. Hyman, who had a majority on March 5 sufficiently large to leave no doubt that he was the choice of the majority of the people of London.

One is not surprised to find that members of the legal profession like Messrs. Essery, Bayly and Ed. Meredith were the principal speakers at the meeting last night, and that they were anxious for an election trial, with the expenditure of thousands of dollars in legal expenses that a fight of that description involves; but there is, as we have said, an independent Conservative view of the question, and it has been quietly promulgated since the talk of a protest by the disappointed betting men and the lawyers began. It is (1) that a protest should only be entered on the best of proof that the election can be upset, and (2) that even then a protest would not be warranted from a party point of view, except there was a reasonable possibility that a new election would result in the defeat of Mr. Hyman, the member-elect. With a knowledge that Mr. Hyman cannot be defeated by fair means in any such contest, there is naturally objection to entering upon the bootless task, [illegible] though the "turmoil" may [illegible] for by the interested pa[illegible] it. Indeed, there [illegible] even belief that in [illegible] be called majority [illegible] now urging [illegible] are many reasons for the [illegible] a new election Mr. Hyman's [illegible] instead of being reduced would be added to by from 100 to 200 in consequence of the cleavage of independent Conservatives and Liberals who failed to come to the polls in the last election. Meanwhile the friends of reciprocity and good government should be in a state of readiness for any emergency, maintaining the same attitude of conciliation and of friendly co-operation with those who favor their views, or who can be influenced by argument, that characterized them in the recent campaign.

What, then, is the conclusion of the whole matter? Simply this: That the friends of Mr. Hyman are strong enough in their platform, in their organization and in the sympathy of fair-minded citizens to meet any combination that can be brought against them. They would prefer peace; but if war should come, then are they ready for it.

THE BRITISH CENSUS.

In the taking of the British census on April 6 next, no one will be employed as an enumerator who has not given proof that he or she can do the work with thoroughness. For the first time in the history of the country, it is held that women are able to serve as enumerators, and in a number of districts women have been put on the lists. Each of the enumerators will have between 200 and 400 families to visit and count up. As to the duties of householders, the schedules must be filled up by Monday, April 6, when they will be called for, and "No person alive at midnight dwelling in the house or tenement on the night of April 5 is to be omitted from the schedule; no person dying before and no child born after midnight is, however, to be enumerated. No absent inmates are to be inserted; except those traveling or out at work during that night and who return to the house on Monday morning, April 6." Two extra columns have been added to the schedule, and the returns made in one of these will doubtless prove of great value, as affording information on the subject of the dwellings of the working classes and overcrowding. It is provided that the number of rooms shall be stated when a family occupies less than five. The other column affects Wales only, and requires a return to be made of the language spoken in the principality. No religious census will be taken, except in Ireland, where it has been usual to make a return on the subject.

It is estimated that the population in the middle of the present year in England and Wales will be 29,804,983. The official figures of the estimate in the middle of 1890 were—England and Wales, 29,407,649; Scotland, 4,120,547; Ireland, 4,699,125—total, 38,227,321. The quarterly returns furnished by the local registrars showed that there were last year registered in England and Wales 872,515 births and 564,248 deaths, the natural increase of the population by excess of births over deaths being 308,267, against an average increase in the preceding five years of 366,013. The Registrar-General states that on the assumption that the rate of increase of population in the intercensal period, 1871-81, has been maintained since 1881, the increase of population during last year would have been 394,685, or 86,418 in excess of the balance between births and deaths actually registered.

SUGAR DUTIES.

After 1st April next the duty on raw sugar entering the United States will be taken off, and already all sugar for delivery after that date is being sold in the States at a reduction. The almost prohibitive duty imposed on refined sugar by the Dominion Government will prevent Canadians sharing in the boon of cheaper sugar thus set in motion.

The Montreal Trade Bulletin, however, gives currency to the report that the Ottawa Government "intends to make some material modifications in the duty on raw sugar as mentioned by us about four weeks ago, the proposed change being, it is said, the admission of the raw product into the Dominion free of duty the same as into the United States on and after April 1. But how the loss of about $3,500,000 to $4,000,000 to the revenue caused by the above change, will be readjusted is the question for the Ministers to decide. Some suggest placing a duty on tea, but it is understood that Sir John Macdonald is averse to taxing that article. On the other hand it is maintained that this objection will be overcome now that the necessity for rescinding the duty on raw sugar has become so manifest."

Our contemporary asserts that unless a move is made in the direction indicated, immediately after the House meets, "Canada will soon be flooded with the cheap manufactured product of American refineries, and the occupation of Canadian manufacturers will be gone, as nothing will be able to stem the tide of smuggling from the United States into Canada, with the inducement of such a premium of $5 to $6 per barrel. Why, the smuggling of a single barrel of refined sugar across the border would be a splendid day's work for one man."

Consumers of sugar would not regard a "flood" of that article, sold at something like the price charged for it in Great Britain, as a grievous affliction. They might view it with some complacency, even if it were brought in by the means suggested by the Trade Bulletin. They have been paying millions of dollars of tribute for the special benefit of the Sugar Combine, and it would not be surprising if they considered it only fair that their turn should come some time.

The Trade Bulletin seems to be afraid that if the tax on raw sugar were thrown off the revenue of the country would suffer, and there would be difficulty in getting some article on which to collect the deficiency. Peel increased the British customs revenue by reducing the taxes [illegible] cannot the Canadia[illegible] wise? If the[illegible] Why [illegible] pressure [illegible] Government do likewise [illegible] are slow in doing so, let the [illegible] of public opinion be brought to [illegible] on them. With the taxes on raw sugar abolished and the imports on the refined article reduced to a minimum, the people would get sugar very much cheaper than now, and there would still be a good revenue from the article, collected from the imports of refined, now kept out by the so-called "protective" policy.

If imports are not unduly hampered, we have no fears that ample revenue can be raised.

THE RIGHT KIND OF TALK.

Mr. Richard Stutt, the defeated reciprocity candidate in East Lambton, has issued an address to the electors in which he points out that the oil monopoly alone was responsible for his failure to carry the constituency. The farmers rolled up a splendid majority for him. He has great hopes that the principle of freedom to trade—to let every man make the best possible use of his earnings without Government hindrance—will soon succeed, and that the masses will emancipate themselves. He tells many truths in these sentences:

"An upward movement has begun that Canadians will not let die until combines, monopolies, pools and trusts, barbarous searching by custom officials, and all dead weights to national well-being are swept out of existence. The appeal to the classes has been, 'Vote for your own pockets.' To the party it was, 'You just unfurl the old flag, throw up your caps and shout for the Queen.' Pure buncombe and 'jingo.' Yet I believe thousands of voters were caught by it. We can only make a treaty by consent of the Crown in her Majesty's name. If the issue had been simply a choice between 'high protection' and 'unrestricted reciprocity,' I think an uprising similar to that which condemned the McKinley Act would have occurred. What had national sentiment to do with giving the over-burdened farmer an untaxed market for the 17,000 horses, 10,000,000 bushels of barley and 37,000 head of cattle we send to the United States every year, as see the Government trade and navigation returns? Because we sell eggs or potatoes to an American must we therefore salute the American flag? Is the country disloyal because half our exports go to the United States? Would we be less loyal if this trade were double? Is a farmer less loyal because he has some money in his pocket? Is Canada to-day following the "old flag" of free trade England and by which she embraces an eighth part of the habitable globe?"

There are few among us who will dare to combat these views or the sentiments contained in this further extract from Mr. Stutt's arraignment of the opponents of reciprocity:

"Why do the Conservative apologists for the combines run this country down and keep it in thraldom by telling Canadian workers that they are inferior in skill and ability? That this is such a miserable country that it cannot stand in a fair field, while our most enterprising manufacturers are asking for a larger market and starting branch factories outside our protected lines? If protection will give employment, why in every paper those urgent calls upon city councils to provide work for the unemployed?"

The fact is the high tax system, as a means of making the people prosperous, has proved a miserable failure. A few years ago all praise was being given to the "N. P." Now, where is the disinterested Conservative who will laud the "N. P."? Not one man in 50 can be got to do so. As Principal Grant points out, the Macdonald and Tupper system of taxation is on its last legs. It cannot survive.

Principal Grant is a candid Conservative.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

—A British M. P. recently brought in a bill providing that all writers on newspapers should sign their names to the articles written by them, but the measure was thrown out.

—Nearly three-fourths of the electors of Bothwell were shown by the recent vote to favor reciprocity. No one has a stronger mandate to speak in favor of continental free trade than Hon. David Mills.

—British girls are growing taller and more graceful, according to a Canadian visitor, who has been absent from England for many years. On the other hand, it is said, men are becoming shorter. Why?

Gerrymandering is a desperate resort to retain power, which has never proven successful.—[New York Press.

The men who are responsible for the carving up of the Dominion constituencies, in order to aid the high tax party, have recently been the truth of proving this declaration.

[illegible] There are about 15,000 Italians in New Orleans, where the recent massacre of persons of that nationality took place. In 1880, according to the census, there were only 44,230 inhabitants of Italian birth in the States. The result of the 1890 census have not been made public, but the statistics of immigration prove that the Italian population has rapidly increased since 1880. Last year over 52,000 Italians arrived in the States, being 8,000 more than the total number of Italians in that country in 1880. In 1889 the Italian immigration amounted to 25,307. Most of the Italians have been employed in railroad construction and in other kinds of hard labor. In New York the Italian is generally a well-behaved citizen, and the same may be said regarding those of that nationality who live in London and other cities in the Dominion.

A Prairie Fire in Kansas.

ARKANSAS CITY, March 24.—A disastrous prairie fire occurred twenty miles east of here last night. A large number of farms were swept clean of houses and barns and many cattle perished. It is feared some lives were lost.

A Victim of the Chloroform Habit.

NEW YORK, March 24.—James Wall, age 25, was last night found dead in a cheap lodging house at No. 10 Chatham Square. Wall was the only son of a wealthy San Francisco merchant. Some years ago he contracted the chloroform habit, and was a confirmed habitue. For some time he had been an inmate of the Inebriates' Home on Madison avenue and was thought to be cured of the habit. On Friday he strayed off and resumed his old practice with fatal results.

BLACKWELL, the Bank of Commerce, Toronto, writes: "Having suffered for over four years from Dyspepsia and weak stomach, and having tried numerous remedies with but little effect, I was at last advised to give NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY a trial. I did so, with a happy result, receiving great benefit from one bottle. I then tried a second and third bottle, and now I find my appetite much restored and stomach strengthened, that I can partake of a hearty meal without any of the unpleasantness I formerly experienced. I consider it the best medicine in the market for the stomach and system generally."

It Gives Strength.—MR. J. S. DRISCOLL, of Granite Hill, writes: "I have derived great benefit from the use of your VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. My appetite has returned, and I feel stronger"

A Pleasure to us.—MR. L. N. BOURCIER, of Ripon, P.Q., writes: "It is with great pleasure I inform you that your VEGETABLE DISCOVERY cured me of Dyspepsia. I tried many remedies, but none had any effect on me until I came across NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY; one bottle relieved me, and a second completely cured me; you cannot recommend it too highly."

If you are Despondent, Low-spirited, Irritable and Peevish, and unpleasant sensations are felt invariably after eating, then get a bottle of NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, and it will give you relief. You have Dyspepsia. MR. R. H. DAWSON, of St. Mary's, writes: "Four bottles of VEGETABLE DISCOVERY entirely cured me of Dyspepsia; mine was one of the worst cases. I now feel like a new man."

[illegible] GEO. TOLEN, Druggist, Gravenhurst, Ont., writes: "My customers who have used NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY say that it has done them more good than anything they ever used."

Facts are Stubborn Things

So is Bad Blood. The difference between them is that a fact is here to stay. Bad Blood can only stay until Burdock Blood Bitters is used, then it must go. It takes facts to prove this to your satisfaction, and we give them to you every time we catch your eye. Here is one of them. Don't throw the paper down, but read this letter from Mr. Fred. Taylor, a detective of Winnipeg. We present his portrait, together with that of his little daughter, mentioned in his letter.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

ONE OF THE GALLANT 90TH BATT.

DEAR SIRS,—Having felt out of order for some time, and having no energy or appetite, blotches on legs, tumor on neck—arising from impure blood, doctors doing me no good, I was induced to buy some B.B.B. I was very much against patent medicines at the time, having tried so many, but after using two bottles I began to get better, and at the fourth bottle was completely well and sound again. I believe in B.B.B. now, I tell you. I send you a photo of myself and little daughter, Lilly. B.B.B. cured her of nasty blisters which came out on her lips. Yours thankfully,

F. TAYLOR,

Spring Medicine

For a good spring medicine we confidently recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. By its use the blood is purified, enriched and vitalized, that tired feeling is entirely overcome and the whole body given strength and vigor. The appetite is restored and sharpened, the digestive organs are toned, the kidneys and liver invigorated. If you have never tried do so this season. It is a thoroughly honest and reliable preparation, purely vegetable, and contains no injurious ingredients whatever. Thousands who have taken it with benefit testify to its peculiar curative power.

"I take Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring tonic, and I recommend it to all who have that miserable tired feeling." C. PARMELEE, 249 Bridge Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Makes the Weak Strong

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any other preparation.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared from Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Mandrake, Dock, Juniper Berries, and other well known vegetable remedies, by a combination, proportion and process peculiar to itself, and by which the full medicinal value of all the ingredients used is secured. Hence it possesses superior and positive curative power.

Purifies the Blood

"Every spring for years I have made it a practice to take from three to five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, because I know it purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses the system of all impurities. That languid feeling, called 'spring fever,' will never visit the system that has been properly cared for by this never-failing remedy." W. H. LAWRENCE, Editor Agricultural Epitomist, Indianapolis, Ind.

THE MODERN SAMSON.

Some of Louis Cyr's Marvelous Feats of Strength.

British M. Ps. on the Race Track—General Sporting News.

ATHLETICS.

Louis Cyr, who at straight out weight-lifting without tricks is undoubtedly the strongest man living, was born in St. Jean, Quebec, and was for a time policeman in the St. Cunegonde district of Montreal. He was 17 years of age when he discovered that he was possessed of great strength. He happened to be out walking one day when he came across a wagon load of bricks stuck in the mud. He weighed at that time 240 pounds. Cyr got under the cart and lifted it on solid ground. From that moment he went around lifting nearly everything on which he could get a good hold. Cyr is now 27 years of age, weighs 318 pounds and stands 5 feet 11½ inches in height. He expects to become stronger for the next ten years. He has yellow curly hair, which falls to his shoulders. He comes naturally by his marvelous strength. His mother was a powerful woman, who considered the carrying of a barrel of flour up two flight of stairs a mere trifle. She weighed 265 pounds. His father tipped the scales at 220 pounds, but was not gifted with any remarkable weight-lifting ability. He has several brothers who are only ordinary men in the matter of strength.

The remarkable thing about Cyr's performances is that he uses no harness. In New York city, Dec. 20, 1868, Wm. B. Curtis made a harness lift of 3,239 pounds. At Berthierville, Canada, Oct. 1, 1888, Cyr, without harness, raised 2,636 pounds of pig iron. He confidently expects to lift 4,500 pounds before he retires.

For two years Cyr has abstained from the use of liquor and tobacco. This, he says, has increased his lifting ability 700 pounds. He eats five or six pounds of meat a day, and pays double board. Cry's last and greatest lift was 3,993 pounds.

At a recent exhibition given by Cyr in Lewiston, Me., he picked up a barrel of flour with one hand and put it on his shoulder as if it were a bundle of cotton batting. With one finger he raised two great dumb bells with a man weighing 160 pounds upon them, the total weight being 516 pounds. He lifted the bells and the man about two feet from the floor with the forefinger of his right hand only. He juggled a 35-pound cannon ball as if it were rubber. His great feat of the evening was in hoisting by his famous upward back lift a platform weighing 262 pounds, upon which stood twenty men, whose combined weight, with that of the platform, was 3,790 pounds. He also did an equilibrist act with Mrs. Cyr, in which he balanced her clinging to a ladder, supported on his chin.

THE TURF.

TURF NOTES.

The British House of Commons' annual point-to-point steeplechase was contested at Daventry, Eng., Saturday. Two cups were offered, one for heavyweights and one for lightweights. The distance was three and one-half miles over a stiff hunting country, the course involving the crossing by the riders of a brook on the outward run and also on the home stretch. The heavyweight cup was won by Mr. Alfred Edward Pease, member for York city. The cup for lightweights was carried off by Lord H. Bentinck, member for the northwestern division of Norfolk.

The medal to be left open for competition for two years to resident wrestlers of the Dominion of Canada. Police Gazette rules to govern—the referee to be chosen on the evening of the match.

TERRESTRIAL HEALING

A branch office of the Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise Company is now permanently located at 294 Dundas street, for the purpose of giving practical demonstrations of the healing virtues of the "Vitapoise," (or miniature earth.) It is the most wonderful healing instrument ever discovered. It only fails to cure the afflicted when their case is hopeless, and it makes no difference what ails you.

If you would like to investigate "TERRESTRIAL HEALING," call at the office, and Prof. Reid, will cheerfully explain to you the mysteries of the subtle healing force contained in a Magnetic Meridian Vitapoise.

Separate rooms are fitted up for the treatment of ladies and gentlemen. We want every family and physician in Canada to buy a "Vitapoise," and we will accomplish our object if an afflicted member of every tenth family will give the instrument a trial, by taking a "course of treatment." Its application is absolutely painless and is also harmless; but disease will flee from before it as if driven away by magic.

Physicians! try a "Vitapoise" on one of your patients, having either la grippe, inflammation, fever, insomnia, neuralgia or rheumatism, and thereafter your "medical case" will be a secondary consideration so long as you have a "Vitapoise" with you.

Send for catalogue which fully explains everything; free. Address, The MAGNETIC MERIDIAN VITAPOISE COMPANY, 294 Dundas street, London, Ont.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 24.

The budget speech was made to-day. The ladies' and Speaker's galleries were filled as soon as the doors were opened, and in the public gallery there was soon not standing room. The preliminary proceedings were the presentation of a few petitions and the introduction of five bills. These were disposed of in fifteen minutes, and then after a minute or two of expectant silence with every waiting eye upon him the Hon. Mr. Harcourt rose to make his first budget speech. In a well-modulated voice and with periods that ran together easily and smoothly he introduced his statement, and in a moment he was clothing the dry figures of the financial statement with the interest of his finished oratory. He spoke for over an hour and a half and concluded at 5 o'clock. He was followed by Mr. H. E. Clarke in a three-quarter hour speech that was marked by its amiability. The honorable member for Toronto seemed hardly in earnest in criticising the statement of the Provincial Treasurer, so little did he discover to find fault with. When he finished it was 5:45 o'clock. Messrs. Tait and G. B. Smith rose almost at the same time. Mr. Tait obtained the floor. Mr. Wiley (Conservative), G. B. Smith (Liberal), Mr. Marter (Conservative) and Mr. Davis (Liberal) followed. Nothing very new was elicited on either side, and it is not likely that the Opposition will divide the House on the matter. Mr. Sol. White, Mr. Meredith's lieutenant, moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House, at 10:20, separated.

CRUSHED!

Probably Fatal Accident at Stratford—A Grand Trunk Conductor the Victim.

STRATFORD, March 24.—While coupling cars this morning at the freight sheds David Cullaton, a spare conductor on the G. T. R., met with an accident which will probably prove fatal. Having been for some years a yardsman, he was assisting in the yard, where there was a shortage of men, and had just made his last coupling for the night when he was caught between a car and the shed platform in such a way as to crush him terribly. His collar-bone and several of his ribs were broken, the ends of two of the latter penetrating one of his lungs. He is still alive, but there is not much hope of his recovery.

KANE COMMITTED.

The Coroner Investigates the Belleville Murder.

Cold-Blooded Character of the Crime—The Victim's Husband Held for Trial.

BELLEVILLE, March 25.—The murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Kane on Monday afternoon was one of the most atrocious and cold-blooded crimes ever committed. For several months past Kane has had frequent quarrels with his wife, which resulted in their separation. Monday morning Kane arose and attended to his duties about the stables with his usual promptness. Throughout the morning it was remarked that he carried himself strangely, and was seen to walk several times from the stable to the street with measured step, as if in deep meditation. When he would reach the street he would stop and look fixedly at some point for some time, and, as if remembering himself, he would throw off his mysterious bearing and return to his work in the barn.

It was late in the afternoon when he was seen to leave the hotel, going to the house where his wife was living. He knocked at a side entrance leading into a rear kitchen. The door was opened by Mrs. Alf. Skinner, who was at once alarmed at the strange and unnatural demeanor of the man, as he asked to see his wife. Mrs. Skinner was alarmed, and, feeling that Kane was there with no good intent, slipped past him and ran down the street to summon her husband. As Kane caught a glimpse of his wife he leaped through the doorway and as he did so he from under his coat and made straight at his wife. With a repetition of oaths he caught the woman by the throat saying: "By —— you have wrecked two homes and you'll never wreck another." With this he swung the weapon through the air and plunged it in his wife's side. The keen edged knife was buried to the hilt in the woman's heart. With one wild, heartrending shriek the victim sank back and died instantly. In her frantic endeavors to arrest the knife in her husband's cruel grasp her right thumb was almost cut in twain.

THE VICTIM'S SON.

At this instant Alfred Skinner entered the room with George Cousins and G. H. Smith. The son sprang forward and dealt his stepfather a stinging blow on the head with his fist, which sent him reeling across the room with the blood-stained knife still in his hand. Before he could recover himself the two men had leaped upon him and wrenched the knife from his grasp. The man fought desperately and said if he could only kill Alf he would go to the gallows happy.

NO REGRET.

After his arrest he said he had nothing to regret except that he had not finished his son. The language of the prisoner was profane and loathsome in the extreme. In expressing his satisfaction with the work he frequently said, "I glory in it." He said; "She has wrecked two homes, but by —— she will never wreck another one. She has had me before the magistrate twice without any reason. Her sons have pounded and ill-used me ever since they have been able to exercise their authority. I told them the last time they pounded me at McCrudden's that they would live to regret it, and I guess they will. I do not fear the law. I am

READY FOR THE GALLOWS NOW.

I did the deed in my sober senses and with a full realization of the consequences. If you step on a worm it will turn and bite, and I am here to-night. I worked hard and faithful for years to provide her with a home, but she would give me no peace and brought her sons up to pound me. I admit that I have drank a little in my day, but I was always willing to share the last cent and the last crust with that womap. You dispute it! No, never. I glory in it. I am glad."

THE SCENE OF THE TRAGEDY REVISITED.

At 7:45 the prisoner was taken from the cell to the room where the tragedy had been committed. As he entered the room Kane hardly glanced at the figure, which lay cold and stiff in death in the corner. He was quickly ushered into another room and talked in the same heartless strain as previously. In answer to questions Kane said that he was born in the city of Dublin, Ireland, in 1838. He was married in the land of his birth, and when he came to Nova Scotia he had four children, all of whom are now living in Toronto. A few years after coming to Canada his wife died in Halifax. He joined the Sixtieth Rifles and went to the Red River during the first outbreak of Louis Reil. After that he went to Ottawa, and finally came to Belleville some fifteen years ago, when he met and married his victim, who had already buried two husbands.

At the Police Court to-day he was committed for trial by Magistrate Flint.

BURNED OUT.

The Crawford House at Windsor Scorched—Blaze in Wallaceburg.

WINDSOR, March 24.—Fire was discovered above the kitchen of the Crawford House this morning, but so promptly did the fire department respond it was put out before serious damage was done. Partridge's bindery and McLeod's paper store suffered slightly by water. A considerable commotion was created after the fire by George Cooper, a traveler for Willard, Vale & Co., of St. Catharines, stating that he had been robbed of a watch and chain. On investigation the watch was found in his own room.

WALLACEBURG, March 24.—This afternoon fire was discovered in the kitchen of P. Thompson's house in South Wallaceburg. Before the fire engine could reach the building, on account of the deep mud in the streets, the fire had made considerable headway, and the building is a wreck. Loss about $600, insured in the Guardian for $400, and $200 in the Queen's on the furniture, which was somewhat damaged in removal.

"Er, Er, Er."

LONDON, March 24.—Florence Dixie writes apropos of the decision in the Cathcart case: "The action of the Lord Chancellor, Master of the Rolls, and Lord Justice Fry shows that, though some men are unjust, all are not so; and personally, and I feel sure I may say in the names of thousands of women, I thank them from enforcing justice in this case; and yet, sir, is it not high time that the degrading law which asserts women's inferiority to man be abolished, together with the shameless and criminal form of vowing one's liberty away as contained in the marriage service, only of course where the woman is concerned. There can be no true love, honor, or respect save where man and woman stand equal before the law as they do before nature. For myself (I am not ashamed to confess it), in that marriage form prescribed by church etiquette in which a woman is bidden to pronounce the words 'love, honor and obey,' I did not pronounce them, merely substituting 'er, er, er' in a low voice."

THE DEADLY GRIPPE

Takes a Firm Hold in Pittsburg and Allegheny, Pa.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 25.—From a street joke the grippe has become a generally dangerous disease. The death rate this month will break the record by the alarming increase of 50 per cent. Closing at noon, 723 deaths have occurred in Pittsburg and Allegheny in the 24 days of this month. The causes given are grip-influenza, pneumonia, typhoid and diphtheria. In the two cities there were 51 funerals last Sunday, and there were not half enough hearses to go around. Respectable covered wagons are used, and carriages are daily at a premium. The influenza is daily growing more severe, and now numbers nearly 5,000 victims in the city and suburbs. Physicians are overworked and some have as high as 40 to 60 cases of grippe alone. It is estimated over 1,000 people are suffering with the grippe in the towns along the Fort Wayne road. At Bellevue and West Bellevue over 2,000 cases are reported, some of which are very serious. At Ellsworth and Hayesville there are over 100 cases. There are also many cases in Sewickley, and it is estimated 500 people are confined to their homes. Reports from other towns show results somewhat similar.

VOICES OF THE PEOPLE.

La Grippe and Mumps.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I hear that la grippe and the mumps prevail to a great extent among the school children. I will gladly give to those whose means are limited a remedy that in a few hours will cure the mumps and alleviate the sufferings of la grippe. W. Y. BRUNTON.

London, March 24.

No Exceptions in the Case.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Does the law compel a school section to provide for the education of children belonging to parents in Government employ who pay no taxes. In S. S. No. 23 nearly a fourth of the children in attendance are children of poor ratepayers connected with the asylum, from whom and from which the section receives no benefit. As a matter of justice the Government ought to see that the burden was removed. Nearly a year ago the Minister of Education was notified of the case, but he has taken no notice of it. Will you please answer the above question and say what means should be used to get rid of such an unjust burden? Yours truly,

RATEPAYER S. S. No. 23, GORE OF LONDON.

[The law provides that the trustees shall provide adequate school accommodation for the children of the section, and makes no exception in the case of children of non-ratepayers. The grievance can only be remedied by an amendment of the school act. The trustees should again petition the Minister of Education and set forth the facts.—EDITOR ADVERTISER.]

Suggestion from Mr. Charles Hutchinson.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I have noticed your declaration of the principles adopted for your paper in future, and approve highly, assuming that you have no idea of the possibility of an appeal to arms for the independence you desire, but that you rely, or I am sure you may, on the good will and good sense of our dear mother land to grant us whatever is best for us and for her.

It strikes me that a declaration adopting these principles might be advantageously urged by members of the Reform party at this particular time when some step in advance is absolutely necessary.

If such a declaration were put forward, I would gladly sign it, and so would, I am sure, many others. Copies might be left for signature wherever thought expedient, and as some might deem it too comprehensive in its demands, alternate declarations might be offered for signature limited to the subjects of free trade and Canadian independence. Yours truly, CHAS. HUTCHINSON.

Request from Sir Robert Ball, Author of "Starland."

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER:

I shall be glad if you will kindly give me the opportunity of inviting the co-operation of your readers in advancing our knowledge of an important branch of science.

I am collecting facts with regard to the occurrence of great luminous meteors or fire balls. I shall be extremely obliged to careful observers who will send me information of such phenomena that they may be fortunate enough to witness. Such help as may come from distant parts of the globe will be specially acceptable.

A general description of these interesting objects may be found in my book called "Starland" (Cassell & Co.) It is true that this little volume is mainly intended for beginners who want to learn something about the stars. Those willing to aid me in the way I have indicated will, however, find in "Starland" sufficient guidance. It is therefore not necessary for me to trouble you with further detail. I remain, yours truly,

Lawrence Barrett's Burial.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Lawrence Barrett's funeral services were conducted yesterday morning in one of the parlors of the Windsor Hotel by Rev. Thomas Sherman, and were of the simplest character, consisting only of the prayers for the dead. The casket was of rosewood, covered with black cloth. On it lay two floral gifts, one a cross of white lilies from Mary Anderson, the other a wreath of roses from Gen. Blackmar, of Boston. About 50 persons were present during the services. These included Mrs. Barrett, Edwin Booth, Mrs. Marshall Williams, Mr. Barrett's daughter and her husband, Louis Barrett, A. M. Palmer, Augustin Daly, Frank W. Sanger, Louis Aldrich, John Russell Young, John W. Mackay, Rachael Sherman and Minnie Gale. The remains were taken to Boston.

A Recent Relative.

"Did you say that girl on the other side of the street is your sister?"

"Yes."

"She doesn't seem to like you."

"Well, you see, she has only been my sister since night before last."

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., March 24.—Cattle—Receipts, only a few odd head, but a number of light stockers held over, and had to be sold at very low prices. The general tone of the market for good cattle was firm.
Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, only 2 cars. About 4 loads, mostly light and common grades, held over. The market was fairly steady, but there was no demand outside of the local trade to speak of, and a number of loads purchased for shipment yesterday were still in the pens here.
Hogs—The receipts of sale hogs were 10 cars; the market ruled active, strong for good mediums, heavy and packers' grades 20c to 25c higher, in sympathy with a strong advance at Chicago in both live hogs and pork products of all kinds. Light hogs and Yorkers were dull, being held above buyers' views, and York buyers holding off. Heavy grades, $4 65 to $4 70; medium and mixed, $4 55 to $4 60; Yorkers, light to heavy, $4 50 to $4 60; pigs, common to best, $4 10 to $4 30; roughs, $3 50 to $3 90; stags, $2 50 to $3 25.

BRITISH TRADE.

EDINBURGH, March 14.—John Swan & Sons' weekly report says: The supplies of fat cattle in the open markets this week were rather larger in Edinburgh and about the same in Glasgow. Trade generally has been more in buyers' favor, the numbers of States cattle being excessively large and have tended to operate against the value of home-fed cattle. Fat cows, unless for the choicer qualities, have made considerably less on account of large numbers being compulsorily slaughtered in Edinburgh, comprising two lots of very good dairy cows. Foreign cattle this week comprised about 1,250 States cattle, which made less money, about 90 young cattle from Holland, which sold at extremely unprofitable prices, the demand being nearly exclusively limited to the country, prices realized being from £3 10s to £7 5s, the trade in this class, as in others, being largely checked. Supplies of sheep have been about the same in both markets; while not quotably higher prices were realized the general tendency has been in favor of the sellers, there having been some improvement in the returns from London. Good fat lambs scarce and in demand, best making up to 48s. Fat calves exceptionally scarce and dear. Pigs also made more money. Milch cows not quite so numerous, and met a slow trade at rather less money. Store cattle in fairly good demand at any market where they can be shifted without hindrance. Best beef, 7s 6d to 7s 8d; exceptional, 8s; bulls and cows, 6s 3d to 6s 6d per stone.
Best mutton, 8d to 8½d; secondary, 7½d; inferior, 6½d to 7½d per lb.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 24.—Business was quiet at the cattle market to-day compared with Friday and the receipts only amounted to about a quarter of that day's. Last week's receipts were 1,954 cattle, 587 sheep and lambs and 1,029 hogs. To-day's were 16 loads, 250 sheep and lambs, 250 hogs and 50 calves. Prices were a little weaker and the quality, though not as good as last week's, was up to the average. Choice butchers' cattle ran from 3¾c to 4¼c and medium to good 3½c to 3¾c, while inferior went as low as 2½c. Some picked lots sold as high as 4½c. A few sales were 22 head, weighing 1,600 lbs, at $33 each; 14 head, 1,000 lbs, at $40 each; 5 head, 1,010 lbs, at 4¼c per lb; 6 head, 1,060 lbs at 4¼c per lb; 18 head, 1,100 lbs at 4c per lb.
Sheep and lambs were unchanged, lambs selling at from $5 to $6 50 per head and culls $4 50 to $6 50. Two bunches of 98 and 90 yearlings were sold at 6¼c per lb. All good lambs are in demand.
There was a slight decline in hogs, heavy fat selling at $4 50 to $4 70 per cwt. and light fat $4 40 to $4 50 per cwt; stores, $4 per cwt.
Good veal calves are wanted, but the offerings to-day were poor stuff. Prices are: Extra choice heavy, $15 to $20 each, $6 to $10 for good to choice, $4 to $6 for fair to medium, and inferior down to $2.
Milch cows and springers are unchanged.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, March 24.—HOGS—Receipts, 20,000; quality better; left over, 2,500; market fairly active on packing and shipping account and feeling strong; prices 25c to 35c higher owing to the light offerings, which it is claimed is owing to the bad roads in the interior. Sales: $3 50 to $4 50 for pigs, $4 35 to $4 75 for light, $4 40 to $4 55 for rough packing, $4 50 to $4 80 for mixed, $4 60 to $4 90 for heavy packing and shipping lots.
Cattle—Receipts, 6,000; quality fair; market fairly active on local shipping account and feeling strong; prices well maintained, especially on butter grades. Quotations: $5 40 to $6 25 for choice to fancy shipping steers; $4 75 to $5 35 for good to choice do, $3 75 to $4 50 for common to fair do, $3 25 to $4 for butchers' steers, $2 50 to $3 25 for stockers, $3 to $4 25 for Texans, $3 25 to $3 90 for feeders, $1 60 to $3 50 for cows, $1 50 to $3 for bulls, and $3 to $5 for veal calves.
Sheep—Receipts, 5,000; quality fair; demand fairly active and prices steady. Quotations: $4 25 to $5 65 for westerns, $4 50 to $5 80 for natives, and $5 to $6 for lambs.

Petrolea Oil Market.

PETROLEA, March 24.—Oil to-day, $1 36½.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Rev. G. W. Henderson, of this city, addressed a religious gathering in Komoka last evening.

—Secretary Sayer, of the Y.M.C.A., was around yesterday for the first time since his two-weeks' illness.

—Patsy Donovan, the well-known ex-Tecumseh, who has been visiting in the city the past few days, left yesterday for Louisville, Ky., where he plays this season.

—A remarkable change for the better is reported in Mr. Frank Jannison, who was so seriously crushed at the G. T. R. roundhouse Saturday. There is now a faint hope of his recovery.

—Manager Kirchmer has expressed himself as being particularly grateful to the members of Clan Fraser for their assistance to him in making the MacLennan concert such a decided success.

—A Windsor dispatch says: "Wesley R. Warner, who, with his two daughters, was killed by the Canadian Pacific Railway near London, was an uncle of Mrs. T. G. Legallee, of Windsor. Mrs. Legallee left for London yesterday."

—Village Constable Ward and Detective Graham raided a disorderly house on Center street, London West, last evening, and arrested the proprietor, Alex. Drummond, his wife, Mrs. Mary Murray and a man named Wedge, of Lambeth.

—Dr. J. W. Fraser, of Ogden, Utah Territory, who returned to this city about a month ago to undergo treatment with the Koch lymph at the Wilson Hospital, is now completely recovered. Dr. Fraser intends resuming practice shortly.

The Henshaw Trial.

When Squire Jarvis called the case of John Henshaw yesterday an unexpected difficulty presented itself. Henshaw was charged with impersonation in the recent election in the riding of East Middlesex, the information being given by David Murray, of East London. Mr. E. Meredith appeared in behalf of Henshaw, while Mr. Love appeared for the prosecution. The informant had undergone a change of mind since the information was given and was unwilling to proceed any further. Mr. Meredith then asked that the case be dismissed, but Mr. Love objected. He insisted that the magistrate should go on with the case and compel the informant, Murray, to swear to the information. This contention produced a long wrangle between the counsel, and the magistrate decided to seek the advice of the Crown attorney.
While the messenger was in search of the attorney Mr. Meredith produced his pipe, and with the greatest show of nonchalance proceeded to light and puff at the same.
"That's right, smoke the pipe of peace," said Squire Jarvis, blandly.
"Oh, you will need the pipe of peace more than I will before this is over," returned the irritated counsel. "When this matter is fully disclosed to the people it will not be so agreeable for you."
The colloquy was cut short by Mr. Love, who suggested that an adjournment be made. This was agreed upon, and on the request of Mr. Meredith the case was enlarged for a week.

BEECHAM'S PILLS act like magic on a Weak Stomach.

A Product of Evolution.

It is scarcely credible, in the light of recent railroad achievements, when one considers the high speed attained, the almost absolute protection from dangers afforded by block signals, air brakes, and the various safety appliances, the luxurious appointments of palace cars, and the number of through express trains in regular service, that this remarkable development has all resulted within the past 50 years.
The New York and Chicago Limited of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad is to-day probably the most worthy exponent of luxury in travel, presenting the latest improved devices for ensuring the safety, comfort and pleasure of its patrons. The high standard of excellence maintained by the New York Central's "Limited" trains is emulated in all branches of its service. b

THE DREADED CREVASSE

Entails An Enormous Amount of Loss in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 24.—The break at Concordia, East Carroll parish, will flood the same section that was overflowed by the great Raleigh crevasse in 1890, but this will probably not do the injury that will result from the Ames crevasse, which affects the entire basin between the Mississippi and Lafourche rivers. The section affected consists of sugar and rice plantations, and the sugar crop is likely to prove a total loss. The loss caused by the Ames crevasse may reach $4,000,000 or $5,000,00. A Texas and Pacific Railway official estimates that the line will be damaged to the extent of $500,000, and the Southern Pacific will be fortunate if the injury on that line is not as much more.

Dr. Howard Crosby Very Ill.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Dr. Howard Crosby is dangerously ill at his home in this city. He fell a victim to the grip last Friday and pneumonia is feared.

She Didn't Wait To Be Murdered.

DEKALB, Tex., March 24.—Wm. Walls, a plantation laborer, on arising yesterday morning, told his wife Fannie to say her prayers, as he was going to kill her as soon as he had put on his shoes. The woman to save her own life determined to take that of her husband, and stepping out to the woodpile she secured an axe, and returning to the house buried it in the back of her husband's head, splitting the skull and killing him while he was putting on his shoes. The woman was held under $500 bonds.

Took Fifty-Three Morphia Pills.

FINDLAY, O., March 24.—Dr. R. M. Pahl, a prominent German physician, committed suicide yesterday by taking 53 morphia pills. On the wall of his office where he was found dead was a calculation in which he had figured out how long it would take him to die. From this it was gathered that he took the morphia at 7 o'clock and expected to be dead at 10 o'clock. He seemed to have made a mistake in his figures, as he was found dead at 8:45. Dr. Pahl was a native of Heidelberg, Germany, 48 years old, and was a highly educated man. Domestic trouble was the cause of the self murder.

AN ARMY PORTIA.

By Charles King, U. S. Army.

AUTHOR OF "THE COLONEL'S DAUGHTER," "THE DESERTER," "FROM THE RANKS," "DUNRAVEN RANCH," "TWO SOLDIERS," ETC.

It was nearly 3 o'clock on Wednesday when Lawler said that if the other witness, Mr. Abrams, did not put in an appearance he would rest the case for the prosecution. Colonel Maitland inquired why the books of the late post trader had not been produced in court in support of Schonberg's testimony, and Lawler promptly responded that they were too bulky to be appended to the record, were property of the estate, and he had not considered them necessary. However, if the court insisted—— And the court did. Schonberg was directed to bring his at 10 o'clock the next day.

That evening the party gathered on Lane's piazza was very silent and sad. Kenyon had been there awhile, and gone away with bowed head and thoughtful eyes. The defense, of course, had not begun. There would be no difficulty in utterly defeating the charge of assault upon the soldier Welsh; but what worried one and all was the testimony of Schonberg and Braine's relict. If that held good with the court, then Hearn had been guilty of disgraceful conduct in stating orally and in writing that he had long since paid those debts. There could be no sentence but dismissal. Hearn had shut himself up in his room. That day had brought a long letter from his father, and it was this he was studying, sore at heart, when Kenyon entered.

"You haven't slept a wink for two nights, lad, and I know it," said the major, anxiously, as he studied the worn face of his friend. "I'm going to call Ingersoll in to prescribe for you." And, despite Hearn's protest, the orderly was sent for the post surgeon.

Meantime, with many emphatic nods and "humphs," Kenyon read the long, long letter which, without a word, Hearn had placed in his hand, finishing it at last, going over several pages, and finally sighing deeply as he refolded it:

"It is just what I feared, my boy; it is just what I feared. Still, I'm glad he didn't look upon you as your mother thought he would. Wonder what she thought of my letter—— Hello, here's Ingersoll now."

"I was at the hospital with Brent," said the medical man, in some haste, "and had to go to Lane's first."

"No one ill at Lane's, I hope?" spoke Kenyon, as Hearn's face was suddenly uplifted. "I've just come from there."

"Oh, no, no; but Miss Marshall and Mrs. Lane have been going to see Brent every afternoon, and this evening he asked me to take a message over there. He wanted to see them to-night, but I had to say no; he's too feverish. They were much concerned to hear I had been called in to see you, Hearn, and I promised to come back at once and let them know how you were."

A brief examination showed the skilled practioneer the extent of Hearn's malady, and he insisted on his coming out. He would have added, "over to Lane's piazza," but members of the court were calling there and it would hardly be the proper thing. Returning thither, however, he found the gentlemen gone and Colonel Lawler just seating himself for a social call.

"Nothing serious," he murmured to the ladies, as he took a chair, and in a low tone began chatting with the Whartons. It was Lawler's voice that broke the stillness; and Lawler, full of his profession, could talk nothing but "shop."

"I could not but observe your presence in the court-room, ladies, even among the host of curious spectators. And how does a military court impress you, Miss Marshall, now that you have seen it?"

"I can tell you better when I have seen it all, colonel. Thus far we've had nothing but the prosecution. It will seem less one-sided after the defense."

"Ah, that, I fear, will hardly amount to anything. The young man has been very ill advised—very. Possibly you heard that I had offered him my services—that is, any in my power to render—and that he had refused?"

Miss Marshall simply looked at the colonel a moment, making no reply. Finally—

"May I ask what services you could render him? I thought the prosecution was your specialty."

"Oh, it is, certainly; that is my bounden duty. Still, if I knew what evidence he had to offer—what witnesses he meant to call—any experienced lawyer could tell him how best to conduct the case."

Miss Marshall fairly laughed:

"That strikes me as one of the most unique ideas I ever heard, colonel. If you belonged, we will say, to the combatant force of the army, and had a position to defend, would you detail your plan of defense to the adversary?"

"My dear young lady you totally misapprehend the peculiar mechanism of our system. After finishing the government's side, then I am free to assist the accused."

"And the accused, as I understand it, is free to 'play it alone,' as we do in euchre. Now, do you know, I think that I would prefer that course to having an advocate who was more than half an opposer?"

"Well, certainly, Miss Murshall, you cannot congratulate the accused on his conduct of the case thus far. He would have stood better with the court at this minute if he had taken my advice, as he wouldn't. Then I had only one course to pursue."

"Doesn't that look just a wee bit as though he were being prosecuted for declining eminent legal assistance rather than for alleged misconduct?"

Lawler flushed, and again glanced sharply from under his sand brows and out of the corners of his twinkling eyes.

"You have a sharp tongue, young lady," he said, "but I presume your wit is made to match it. It is a pity they could not be brought into requisition in defense of your friend before the court itself. You cannot influence me." And he laughed loudly, and glanced around as though in triumph.

"Faith, Lawler, it's just as lucky for you that Miss Marshall isn't counsel for the accused. You'll get knocked endwise when it comes to the defense, anyhow," said the doctor.

"You think so, do you? Well, well, we'll see; we'll see."

The gate had opened, and an orderly entered.

"A telegram for the commanding officer," he said.

Kenyon took the brown envelope, tore it open, and stepped to the hall door-way, where the light would fall upon the page. A gleam of sudden satisfaction shot across his face, and he turned eagerly toward Miss Marshall, whose dark eyes had followed him. "Come," he signalled; and she rose and went to him.

"Read this," he said in low tones, as he thrust the paper into her hand and sauntered back to his chair. "I can trust you to keep it secret."

Lawler gazed after her with unmistakable curiosity, studying her face as she read, then turned and looked at Kenyon, who was ostentatiously humming the air Miss Wharton had just begun playing on the piano. What did it mean? Was his entertainer in league with this girl who so dared him? Mrs. Lane strove to cover her friend's somewhat abrupt quitting of the group by a timely word or two, but her question failed to catch the lawyer's ears. In a minute Georgia was back, and dropped the dispatch over Kenyon's burly shoulder with the brief whispered word, "Splendid," and then almost laughingly turned on the judge-advocate.

"And now tell me, colonel, isn't there such a thing as impeaching the credibility of witnesses?"

"Oh, I suppose so in certain cases; but what has that to do with mine?"

"Yours? Well, one would hardly think your witnesses assailable, of course; but even truthful men, you know, are sometimes mistaken."

"Books and figures don't lie, Miss Marshall. You forget the books."

"Oh, true! I forgot the books. And Mr. Schonberg was bookeeper, too."

CHAPTER XV.

Ten o'clock had come; so had the court; so had the public, in numbers largely increased. In Central City it was generally understood that on this day the proceedings would be brought to a close. The case for the government would be concluded by the evidence of Mr. Abrams—when he arrived—and by the exhibition of the books of the late concern of Braine & Co. The defense really had not a leg to stand on. Everybody in the enterprising community had been assured of this fact by the repeated assertion of Mr. Schonberg and the oracular announcements of the press; and it was the popular belief that all the unfortunate officer could do would be to assail the integrity of the witnesses, which attempt would be uttterly overthrown by the vigilant prosecutor, who would then conclude by a scathing review of the evidence, after which the court would promptly adjudge him guilty and sentence him to be stripped of his uniforn and drummed out forthwith. Probaby half the populace that thronged the court-room that bright June morning fully expected before returning to their homes to see an army lieutenant degraded of his rank and thrust forth from the reservation at the points of the bayonets of the garrison. Dozens there were who knew better; but a community reared on the pap of sensationalism as supplied by the modern press could not accept the mild and moderate views of the minority as a possiblity.

Misery vs. Comfort.

Misery is one result of biliousness or liver complaint. Comfort is the first result of using Burdock Blood Bitters as a remedy. Cure is the final result always obtained. We back this by the strongest proof by testimonials from reliable Canadian people.

A LIVING SACRIFICE.

A Faith Cure Believer Tries to Offer Up His Grandchild.

DANBURY, Conn., March 24.—Bridgewater, a quiet little village eight miles from here, is in a state of agitation over a number of alleged faith cures, and Oliver H. Jessup, a well-to-do resident of the place, has gone insane over the craze. A number of the villagers have professed to have been cured of various ills by simple faith and prayer; and when Jessup was taken sick a week ago he refused to allow his family to call a doctor, relying for his recovery solely upon faith-cure advocates, who surrounded his bed at all hours of the day and night.

Jessup finally conceived the idea that the Lord required a human sacrifice. He was left alone for a few minutes, and he prepared to carry out his insane freak by constructing an altar from his bed-room furniture, and piling about it a pile of combustibles. Then he seized his little granddaughter, a tot of a few months, who was sleeping in the next room, and placed her upon the altar. A member of the family, attracted by the child's cries, entered the room just as the insane man was touching a match to the inflammable material. The child was rescued without injury, but the house narrowly escaped destruction, and the crazy man nearly lost his life before he was overpowered and carried away.

SALUTING WITH THE NOSE.

Singular Practice of the Inhabitants of the Dark Continent.

The junction of noses is so general, and described as so forcible in Africa and Oceanica, as to have given rise to a fearful theory that it had occasioned the flattening of the noses of the people, says the popular Science Monthly. But in the accounts of the dark continent and of the islanders of New Zealand, Rotuma, Tahiti, Tonga, and other groups, the essential action does not seem to be that of either pressure or rubbing, but the motion and pressure are sometimes no greater than that of the muzzles of two dogs making or cementing acquaintance. The pressure and rub are secondary and emphatic. The juncture only means the compliment "You smell very good." It is illustrated in the Navigator group when the noses of friends are saluted with a long and hearty rub and the explanatory words: "Good! very good! I am happy now!" The Calmucks also go through a suggestive pantomine of greeting, in which they creep on their knees to each other and then join noses, as much as possible like the two dogs before mentioned. In the Navigator islands only equals mutually rub their noses. The inferior rubs his own nose on and smells the superior's hand. The respectful greeting of Fiji is to take and smell the hand of the superior without rubbing it. In the Gambia, when the men salute the women they put the woman's hand up to their noses and smells twice at the back of it. In the Friendly islands noses are joined, adding the ceremony of taking the hand of the person to whom civilities are paid and rubbing it with a degree of force upon the saluter's own nose and mouth. The Mariana islanders formerly smelled at the hands of those whom they wished to tender homage. Capt. Beachy describes of the Sandwich islanders: "The lips are drawn inward between the teeth, the nostrils are distended, and the lungs are widely inflated; the face is then pushed forward, the noses brought into contact, and the ceremony concludes with a hearty rub."

The Population of London

is about 40,000, and we should say at least one-half are troubled with some affection of the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and Lungs Trial size free. Large bottles 50 cents and $1. Sold by all druggists. zxv

ABOUT HAIR

Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Sir,—I have, as you know, for some time advertised in Canada and the States a prescription for the hair called "Dr. Dorenwend's Hair Magic." I have received some thousands of flattering testimonials from those who have used it as to its merits as a restorative of gray or faded hair; also as a promoter of the growth and a certain cure for dandruff.

A great many of my correspondents ask the questions: "Why is my hair turning gray so early? Why is my hair falling out?" As it is impossible for me to answer every one, I take the liberty of encroaching on your valuable space to make a general reply. A great many persons do not seem to be aware that excessive washing and rubbing is injurious to the growth of the hair; such is the case, however. Constant washing and rubbing the scalp and hair causes over irritation and removes the oily substance which gives strength to the hair; undue heat caused by the wearing of heavy headgear is also injurious. Anything that will tend to dry up the sap or life of the hair will cause dandruff, falling out of the hair, gray or faded hair and finally baldness. Of course there are other causes as diseases, hereditary tendencies, etc., but the first mentioned are the main and most common.

Dr. Dorenwend, an eminent German physician, has given to the world after years of toil and experiment his now famous "Hair Magic.' The object of this preparation is to assist nature in the production of this oily substance absolutely necessary to the growth of the hair. It is now sold by all reliable druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5, or will be sent on receipt of price to any address. See that each wrapper bears the seal and signature of the manufacturer,

A. DORENWEND,

Tupper and the Trunk.

An Ottawa correspondent writes: One of the proprietors of the Temiscouata Railway, who was in Ottawa yesterday, spoke very strongly about Sir Charles Tupper's threats to withhold assistance from that road because the Grand Trunk Company refused to support the Tory party at the recent elections. "The Tuppers do not own this country," he said, "and Sir John will find that in attacking the Grand Trunk he has made the greatest blunder of his life. But I don't think Sir Charles is the Government. If he is, then somebody else will be the Government very soon."

The Scottish Concert.

MacLennan's Royal Edinburgh Concert Company gave a first-class entertainment in the Grand Opera House Monday night. The lady soloists, Misses Steel and Ross, made an excellent impression. Miss Steel has a sweet voice of considerable compass. She sang an Italian song as well as several standard Scottish melodies. Probably her best effort was in "Gin a Body," sang in response to an encore. Miss Ross is an old favorite in London, having sung with the Balmoral Choir last winter. Her selections were warmly applauded. "Auld Robin Gray" and "The Better Land" were given with much spirit. Mr. A. Finlayson is a good singer and has a fine stage presence. He gave "The Battle of Thirling Bridge" and "Tell Her I Love Her So" with splendid effect. Mr. James Fleming, the basso, was also effective. "I Fear No Foe" elicited an encore. Mr. C. F. Ferguson sang humorous songs and told a witty Scotch story. He was happiest in story-telling, and kept the audience laughing. The part singing was grand. "Annie Laurie" was given magnificently by the four principal soloists, and the trio, "Malden Fair," also proved a gem. The latter was encored and "Willie Brewed a Peck o' Maut" was given. Mr. MacLennan is an all-round dancer and is very nimble on his legs. His Scottish flings in character could not be excelled. Some good violin solos were given by Mr. J. Guitton.

TOO LIBERAL.

Movement to Discipline Two Popular New York Pastors.

Many readers of the ADVERTISER who can recall with pleasure the ministrations of Rev. W. S. Rainsford while that gentleman was curate of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, will be interested in the following dispatch from New York: "Some clergymen of this town propose to discipline two of the best known and most popular pastors of New York, Dr. W. S. Rainsford, rector of St. George's parish, and Dr. Heber Newton, of All-Souls' Church. If these disciplinarians contrive to curb the independence of these two preachers they will, so to speak, twig several clergymen of lesser note and ability, who also are located in the diocese of New York, of which Dr. Henry C. Potter is bishop. Their offense seems to be too great "liberality" of views. The influence of the example of Drs. Newton and Rainsford is held to be pernicious, it is said, particularly in view of the statement that the latter has invited a Unitarian to occupy the pulpit of St. George's and preach to the people of that parish on Good Friday. To meet this emergency, to counteract the effect of the doings of the offending clergymen, and to set the seal of disapproval and condemnation on the alleged uncanonical and unclerical practices complained of, a protest has been prepared, which is now being signed by the clergy of the diocese of New York."

CHALMERS' COMPLAINT.

He Was Denied an Audience at the Police Commissioners' Meeting—The Reason Why.

P. C. Chalmers made application to the police commissioners yesterday for a hearing with respect to a charge made against him by P. C. Smith and Sergeant Crawford. It was reported by these officials that Chalmers while on the sick list was met on Pall Mall street one evening with a violin under his arm going to a party. This Chalmers characterizes as a falsehood, and says that he is willing to prove that he was not on Pall Mall street that evening. He had several of his witnesses at the police station this morning to make good his statements, but the commissioners refused to grant him the hearing. Chalmers feels greatly aggrieved at the treatment he has received. He affirms that it was his brother whom the policemen saw on the evening in question, and accounts for the mistaken identity by explaining that on the evening referred to his brother went out with a violin and wore a hat similar to that which Chalmers usually wore himself.

CHIEF WILLIAMS' VERSION.

On being interviewed respecting the case, Chief Williams explained the difficulty away. "The commissioners did not care whether it was Chalmers that was carrying the violin or not," said he. "It was reported that he was seen on the street, and as he was off on the sick roll a sergeant was dispatched to his quarters to ascertain whether or not he was at home, as he should be. The sergeant reported that he was not at home, and I accordingly suspended him. He since then said that he would hand in his resignation, which he did, and which has been accepted."

Crushed by the Cars.

DUTTON, Ont., March 24.—Richard McCrae, aged 15, in trying to cross the railroad track here Saturday afternoon, sprang on the buffer of a car loaded with staves, which was about to be shunted. The local train came up to attach the car and McCrae was caught between the buffer and the shunting post and badly crushed. He died about 10:30 o'clock the same night. He was the youngest son of Constable Alex. McCrae. Four years ago another son was accidentally shot at the Wallacetown fair by a gun in his own hands, and he has been a helpless cripple ever since.

BABY ONE SOLID SORE

Tried Everything Without Relief. No Rest Night or Day. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

My baby, when 2 months old, had a breaking out with what the doctor called eczema. Her head, arms, feet, and hands were each one solid sore. I tried everything, but neither the doctors nor anything else did her any good. We could get no rest day or night with her. In my extremity I tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES, but I confess I had no faith in them, for I had never seen them tried. To my great surprise, in one week's time after beginning to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, the sores were well, but I continued to use the RESOLVENT for a little while, and now she is as fat ababy as you would like to see, and as sound as a dollar. I believe my baby would have died if I had not tried the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I write this that every mother with a baby like mine can feel confident that there is a medicine that will cure the worst eczema, and that medicine is the CUTICURA REMEDIES.
