The Date of Dissolution

LONDON, June 17 .- Another effort to ge the Government to fix the exact date of the dissolution of Parliament was bafiled in the flours of Commons to-night, Mr. Baifour stating that business would not permit of dissolution before June 29 or 30. This statement was somewhat at variance with the statement made last Monday by Mr. Balfour, when he said that Parliament would be dissolved on a data between June would be dissolved on a date between Jun

Mr. Gladstone's Position. LONDON, June 17 .- In his interview with the London Trade Council yesterday, Mr Gladstone said he could not promise that Gladstone said he could not promise that a statesman who had reached the age of 85 years could set aside the main work to which he had pledged himself in order to take up a question, the importance of which he fully recognized. He added that if he turned aside from the cause of home rule, he would rightly gain the contempt of all honest mon. Emin Alive and Kicking.

Emin Alive and Kicking. Berlin, June 17 .- A dispatch received to-day from Zanzibar shows that the rumors that Emin Pasha was dead are un-tract. The dispatch says Emin arrived at Bakoba, at which place his companion, Dr. Stahiman arrived with the greater part of the expedition some time ago, thus carrying out the plan originally decided upen, when it was found that owing to the want of provisions and the impossibility of obtaining carriers the expedition could not proceed further into the interior. Beresford to Re-Enter Political Life. Lord Charles Beresford, commodore of the British cruiser Undaunted, of the editerranean squadron, intends to again fer political life upon the expiration of s detail to the Undaunted. He has submitted to the leading admirals and generals a mitted to the leading admirals and generals a comprehensive plan for the national defense, in which the army and navy are treated as one body. The scheme, it is said, amply meets the report of the Hartington Commission that no combined effectual plan for the defense of the empire in a certain contingency had ever been formulated. Lord Charles Beresford's scheme has met with general approval, and his friends say it will prove a gigantic success. will prove a gigantic success.

Joying good health.

A Most Happy Idea. LONDON, June 18 .- The proposal that Mr. Biake should accept a seat in the British House of Commons meets with warm approval in Liberal circles here, where Mr. Blake's character and ability are highly esteemed. The Pall Mall Gazette says it is a most happy idea and Mr. Blake will prove a most valuable member.

London, June 17 .- The Hon. E. Blake's JONION, June 17.—The Hon. E. Blake's acceptance of a seat for an Irish constituency in the British House of Commons is causing considerable discussion in political circles. All agree he has undeabted qualifications, and should he be elected his aid would be invaluable in the went of home rule being carried. When Mr. Blake was on a visit to Limerick remainly he expressed the fullest sympathy with the home rule movement. It is the intention of the Irish leaders to provide a percently safe seat, for which Mr. Blake heed not fight personally, even should the heed not fight personally, even should the Pericetly safe seat, for which Mr. Biake need not fight presonally, even should the Parnellites or Unionists contest it. The Pail Mall Gazette, in the course of a long article on the subject, suggests that other leading colonists be invited to stand for seats in the Imperial Parliament.

Marie's Marriage. London, June 17 .- The marriage rincess Marie of Edinburgh to Prince Ferdinand, heir apparent to the throne of Coumania, is fixed to take place at Co-pargh in October next. Religious obstacles revent the solemnization of marriage at Vindsor Castle.

Ferdinand has been the object of Prince Ferdinand has been the object of much cariosity on the part of the general public, who persisted for a long time in believing that he was the Prince Ferdinand who is to wed the I rincess Marie Alexandra Victoria of Edinburgh. But Prince Ferdinand of Roumania is certainly handsomer than Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, and his uncle's throne, to which he will eventually succeed, is at last firmly planted. The English people are generally very well satisfied with the prospect of the property ally very well satisfied with the prospect of having in an English princess a queen in the prosperous Danubian kingdom. Princess Marie is a high-spirited and well-educated young girl, and has of late years become decidedly prettier than she was when a girl. She is now 17. The Londom society papers begin to speak well of Prince Ferdinand, who is said to have made himself thoroughly acquainted with the history, language, customs and manners of his future Roumanian subjects, Labor Candidate for Midlothian.

Labor Candidate for Midlothian. Lospon, June 18 .-- The London Trades Council has decided to run a labor candilate in the Midiothian district, Mr. Giadstone's present constituency, in the coming general election. The Chronicle, com-menting on this action of the council, atrougly deprecates such a hasty and crude notion.

Russian Bluster. St. Petersburg, June 18 .- The Novoe Vremya thinks that if Gladstone succeeds o power in the coming elections he would permit a Russian fleet to blockade the German and Austrian ports to prevent the arrival of American grain in the event of war and thus cripple the Dreibund. The article also hints that unless Gladatone concedes Russia's desire an attack will be made on India.

To Be Contested. LONDON, June 18.—It is stated in Par-nellite quarters that Gladstone, Morley and Schandhorst have resumed their efforts to prevail upon the opposing factions in the Irish party to avoid contests in the coming general elections in districts where such contests are likely to benefit the Unionist candidate in Ireland and England. Mr. Healy opposes any such attempt, and is determined that the scats shall be con-

The News admits that the Ulster demonstration was more than a successful spectacle and parade, and that the speakers were moderate. "Still," it continues, "it only represents a large and influential minority. The significance of the convention to the bulk of Englishmen will be in the proof afforded of the power of the minority to take care of themselves."

The Standard says: "The Ulster voice will ring through the kingdom and will conspicuously refute the sinter propensity of the adversary."

The Times says: "No political demonstration of our time has afforded any parallel to the Ulster convention. If we mistake not it will reveal, for the first time to many of our countrymen, that there is an Ulster question as well as an Irish question, to ignore which would be an act of criminal folly. The delusion that the Ulster resistance is a mere Orange movement has been finely discussed. ance is a mere Orange movement has been finally dispelled.

The Gerrymander Bill Scored by Mr. Charlton.

erimmage Between Mr. Wallace and Sir Richard—The Matter of In-creased Indemnity Brought Forward.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]
OTTAWA, June 17.—In the Commons today Mr. Devlin called attention to a dispatch sent by a Tory correspondent to the London Times stating that he (Devlin) had abandoned his home rule resolution, and that those who supported it had made a laughing stock of themselves. The dispatch, he said, was false in every particular, and was insulting to the Minister of In-laughing stock of themselves. The dispatch, he said, was false in every particular, and was insulting to the Minister of Inland Revenue as well as to Liberal members of the House. He intended to push his resolution to a vote unless prevented from doing so by the Ministerial majority. The debate on the Gerrymander Bill was resumed by Mr. Charlton, who said the gerrymander of 1882 would prove more an enduring monument of Sir John Macdonald than any structure of brass or stone that could be built. Tories were copying the worst features of the American political system; while pretending love for British institutions the bill before the House was based upon the lowest form of political villainy.

A lively tilt took place between Sir Richard Cartwright and Mr. Wallace over some statistics submitted by the latter. Sir Richard Cartwright charged Mr. Wallace with willful falsehood and a noisy wrangle followed. Mr. Wallace cailed upon the chairman to make Sir R. Cartwright withdraw his statement, but the chairman ruled, amid laughter, that honors were easy and that the debate should proceed.

After recess Mr. Charlton continued his speech, describing the gerrymander as a species of the grossest political criminality. He quoted the statement of George Johnson, Dominion statistician, showing that at the last general election the Liberals polled a majority of 7,000 votes in Ontario, whereas the Tories elected a majority of members from that Province. Not only should the Distribution Bill of this year be fair, but the wrong perpetrated in 1882 should be undone.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Edgar, Bowman and McMillau, of Huron, Mr. Weldon admitted that the Redistribution Act of 1882 was a scandalous gerrymander, but said that as the Liberals of Ontario had overcome the handicap they were subjected to by that bill, that gerrymander should be made the basis of future redistributions.

Insure of the ex-Fresident to receive the nomination on the enthusiasm of the first ballot means the elimination of the great tariff reformer from the contest. But it by no means follows that the correctness of this cpinion is conceeded by the Cleveland managers, who expect important accessions from the followers of Boics, Hill and Gray after their States have poid the complimentary tribute to their favorite son.

Chicago, June 18.—"Mr. Cleveland will be nominated on the first ballot." So spoke Hon. Wm. C. Whitney, of New York, in a very emphatic manner, as he emerged from a conference of the Cleveland managers which had lasted from 9 o'clock last night until the early hours of this morning in Mr. Whitney's private parlors.

Marcus Franks is the name of the Riversdale tinsmith. Some time ago he was brought before the local magistrate, Mr. Symons, on the charge of having sold an unstamped quart measure to the hotel keeper of that place. In the course of the evidence it came out that he had also sold such a measure to a farmer named McDonald. He was fined $5 and costs in each case. On Saturday last both the hotel keeper and McDonald were before the police magistrate here for using these unstamped measures. After hearing the evidence the magistrate took the matter into consideration, and has not yet given a decision.—[Telescope.

Tait Graham was placed on trial at the Elgin Sessions on Wednesday charged with the larceny of a quantity of iron, shafting, etc., from the site of the mill of Mr. Powlen, in Aldborough, near Eagle, which had been burned. He was acquitted. Martin Donohue, charged with assault, was found insane. The grand jury found a true bill against Arthur Spellman for arson of Daniel Purdy's dwelling at Vienna; a true bill against Theodore Snively for seduction of Esther Lee, and no bill for attempt at seduction of Alta Lee. The former case was traversed to next court.

Hellaire Druilard, of Sandwich West, died very suddenly Wednesday night. He was at a neighbor's house, and when he returned home complained of illness. He retired at 10 c'clock and in a few minutes was dead. He was about 35 years old.

The St. Marys Argus now appears in eight-page form.

While coming to town with a couple of pigs in a wagon one of the brutes tried to get out, when Capt. Francis, who was driving the team, turned around on his seat to drive the animal back. At this moment the horses took frights and ran away, throwing the captain on the hard road. When picked up he was found to be severely cut about the face, and was carried into the residence of James Colquhoun. Although badly buised in several places, we are glad to learn that his injuries are not serious.

other financial centers, and in this country

other mancial centers, and in this country the general features to which I have before referred, have markedly characterized the business situation, producing a state of affairs which has not been favorable to banking operations generally. Under these circumstances it is gratifying to be able to report that we do not show any decrease in our net profits. our net profits.

As regards the progress of the bank, you

As regards the progress of the bank, you may remember that last year I presented to you some figures showing the increase in the business of the bank, taken from our reports at intervals of ten years. A comparison of the figures of this year will show that we have again to report an advance in every department, our circulation having reached a point within $60,000 of the maximum permitted under our charter, while the volume of our transactions has been greatly in excess of anything we have as yet experienced. or transactions has been greatly in excess of anything we have as yet experienced.
The competition which now prevails affects both the rate paid for deposits and the rate obtained upon loans, rendering it difficult to increase the earnings, and it is largely on account of increased business that we have been enabled to maintain our profits.

Referring to other items in the report, I have to call your attention to the sum re-covered from debts that had been written off as bad and doubtful. We have always tried to act on the safe side in estimating the results of our yearly business, and in cases where we have felt uncertain as to cases where we have felt uncertain as to the future of any of our loans have sought to make ample provision, but we by no means lose sight of anything we write off, and care is taken to nurse these debts back into strength, and to avail ourselves of every opportunity to make the best of them. These old matters are kept constantly before us and we have the pleasure of placing fore us and we have the pleasure of placing back amongst our assets proceeds of sucl debts when realized. From this source we decis when realized. From this source we have this year given our profit and loss account credit for $50,000, which, together with the surplus profits after payment of $200,000 in dividends, has enabled us to add $100,000 to our rest, and to bring forward the substantial balance of $38,983 95 to next year. next year.

The rest now amounts to $1,700,000, and it is customary to compare the pro-portion this fund bears in relation to the bank.

The directors have to refer with deep regret to the loss the bank has sustained in the decease of their late colleague, Mr. John Loys. His tenure of office was a short one, but he rendered the bank easential service and his counsels were highly valued. The vacancy thus caused was filled by the election of Mr. Robert Reford, of Montreal.

The directors have pleasure in testifying found.

A branch of the Bank at Point St. Charles, in the city of Montreal, was opened very recently, and we have reason to believe it will prove to be of advantage to many of our customers and lead to increased business for the Bank,

The report refers to the loss the bank has sustained in the death of our late colleague, Mr. John Leys. He had been a member of the board for a short time only, but rendered valued assistance and gave promise of being a very useful director. To fill the vacancy thus caused, the directors, of being a very useful director. To fill the vacancy thus caused, the directors, 203,837 09 acting under the vacancy thus caused, the directors, acting under the powers conferred upon them, elected Mr. Robert Reford, of Monthem, elected Mr. Robert Reford, of Mon-treal, a well-known and highly valued customer of the bank, it being deemed de-sirable to have on the board a representa-tive from that commercial center, where the bank's interests are steadily increasing informations.

the bank's interests are steadily increasing in importance.

I have again pleasure in boaring testimony to the zeal and efficiency with which the general manager and the other members of the staft continue to discharge their respective duties. With these remarks, gentlemen, I beg leave to move, seconded by the vice-president, that the report now read be received and adopted.

In seconding the adoption of the report the vice-president, Mr. W. H. Beattle, referred to the change that had taken place at the head office, Mr. Coulson being made general manager of the bank, and Mr. Wadsworth, formerly manager at London, Ont., being placed in charge of the business of the Toronto branch. The change had become necessary owing to the increase of of the Toronto branch. The change had become necessary owing to the increase of the business of the bank, which, during the past ten years since the time when Mr. Goodefinam became prosident and he vice-president, had more than doubled. He concluded with a very feeling reference to the present severe illness of Mr. Fulton, an esteemed director of the bank.

The report was adopted, and the thanks of the stockholders were tendered to the President, Vice-President and Directors for London, Saturday, June 18.

HON. EDWARD BLAKE GOES TO THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The news from Toronto this afternoon puts at rest all doubt as to the intentions of Hon. Edward Blake in regard to the request that he should accept a seat in the British House of Commons for an Irish constituency. Canada will part regretfully, even for a time, with her most talented

The present is a time in which the Dominion needs the services of every able and honest statesman, and Mr. Blake could had consented to return to public life here. He has chosen the greater field of action, and we doubt not that in the most important legislative body of the world he will at once take a foremost place. No one can tell the momentous results to Canada as well as to Ireland and to the whole empire that may accrue from the present move on the part of this great statesman.

We shall await with confidence the outcome of his mission to the land of his forefathers and of his advocacy in the forum call to the House of Commous at so im-We do not look on it in that light. Some of the greatest statesmen that have sat at Westminster have been Irishmen, and have represented Irish constituencies. It matters little, however, what constitu-Commons he will be no parish politician, but his broad sympathies will be extended to every movement calculated to contribute to the welfare of the whole people. We happen to know, too, that the call for Mr. Blake meets with the warmapproval from Mr. Gladstone, Rosebery, Earl 'Spencer and other leading Liberais, whose personal acquaintance and esteem he has for years enjoyed. It would not surprise us if Mr. Blake is given a place in the next Liberal Cabinet. In any case his experience in Canada and his wide knowledge of the whole question of self-governing comnunities will make his services invaluable in formulating the great measure of reform that has been promised Ireland.

THE ASSESSMENT APPEALS. Next week the city Court of Revision will sit for the disposal of appeals against the assessment of the current year. It is reported that an unusual number of obons will be made to the assessment. One of the points raised is as to the income sessment Act.

Hitherto the exemption was on the annual income from any source of any for them, Family Compactism and class person to the amount of $400, provided the man did not have more than $700 personal carnings it was not liable to taxation.

By the act passed at last session of the Legislature, the annual income of any person derived from his personal earnings

"HECKLING" AND THE SUPPRES SION OF THE TRUTH.

Surprise has been expressed in some quarters because a higher court has quashed the conviction of a citizen of Kingston who was fined by a magistrate because he asked a political orator to answer a civil quesof that kind proves that despite the new criminal code the people have yet some rights.

Why any intelligent public speaker should object to answer a question for inormation we have never been able to understand. Yet so anxious have some people in Canada become to silence all opposition to their own views that they have been ready at any moment to aid in the arrest and imprisonment of any unfortunate fellow who, in the pursuit of information, has been moved to propound query.

Those of us who have been brought up in he British school can have no sympathy with such a one-sided method of giving in-In England and Scotland, especially Scotland, the right to "heckle" a candidate for public honors is known and recognized of all men, and it is no exaggera-tion to say that the answering of the questions addressed to him from all parts of the meeting in a great many instances affords the best test of the ability of the candidate that could possibly be supplied. It is an easy thing, as we know, for some men to have their speeches compiled for them by a clever subordinate, ready to say or to read off. That is how one Cabinet Minister, well known to many ADVERTISER readers, manages to pose as a wise man. His true character would be revealed if he had to respond to the questioning on points of public policy such as even the Gladstones and the Balfours are sub-mitted to by the free and independent electors of the motherland. There may be an improvement on this score in Canada now that the right to "heckle" a candidate has been vindicated.

Canadians have certainly permitted their right to think, and to speak as they think, to be trampled on far too much, and those have done this country great service if he who seem to despair of our ever becoming a truly great nation take the opportunity of pointing to this fact as proof of their contention. Last 1st of July, those who wernear the platform at the children's gather near the platform at the children's gathering on Victoria Park, in this city, were compelled to listen to the harangue of a legal functionary who, hasking in the sunshine and prosperity of public offices for himself and family, expressed the conviction that no one had any right to complain of the condition of affairs in Canada. He tion that no one had any right to complain of the condition of affairs in Canada. He went further and took up the extraordinary position that the dissatisfied man was of British public opinion of those great the speaker, "buy a ticket for the States, Liberal principles which he and they have and go and live there." This "patriotic" advice, as may be imagined, has been To us in the West, in the county which seized upon by speakers who favor politi-gave the honorable gentleman birth, his cal union with the States to show how little really national spirit there is in Can-ada at the present time. "Here," said one portant an epoch in the history of the country affords especial interest. Some day, "was a professedly loyal man telling the paddles, and a reduction of the weight of the search of the weight of the search of the weight of the have attempted to minimize the importance of the call, because it comes from Ireland. ada, who could not make the condition of affairs as roseate as a professional office holder could, to forsake their country—to go to a foreign land-if they were not satisfied with the manner in which the country was governed and its wealth distributed. And all in the name of patriotism ! ency Mr. Blake accepts. In the House of We confess that the criticism is well founded. No patriot has ever advised those who feel aggrieved to desert their native or adopted land. He is no patriot who gives that advice. The historian of all lands and of all ages tells us that the patriot is he who is not afraid to listen to those who believe that they have grie ances; who is not afraid to stand up for what he believes to be right, though he may be in the minority; who is ready to stand by his country, no matter what be tide—to love her, to work for her, and, it need be, die for her. The whole idea of suppressing the truth by preventing investigation, of suggesting that a citizen who is dissatisfied with the existing order of things should pack up and decamp, is wrong. Great Britain has not become great by her people following such advice. She never would have enjoyed the blessings of a free people if the opponents of wrong-doing in high places had cleared out at the invitation of the "patriotic" office-holders of the day, who invariably are satisfied with the statu quo -as well they may! The American colonists rebelled against paying tribute to the old world monopolists. not have despised them if they had tried assersment. It is not generally known to get a reform of their grievances that the Assessment Amendment Act of 1892 makes a material change in the Assersment of their grievances by skeddadling? Many of our forefathers endured obliquy and privation to secure even that measure of responsible govern ment for Canada which now exist for them, Family Compactism and class ncome did not exceed $1,000. But if a such men is revered. They are the true patriots. Let us have no more of the brand of patriotism that would advise the suppression of the voice of the oppressed and would counsel the exodus of the dissatisfied; it is Brummagem.

seempted to the amount of $700. The annual income of any person is exempted to the amount of $700. The annual income of any person is exempted to the amount of $400 when derived from any source other than personal carnings. It is provided, however, that no person shall be exempt for and in respect of income for a sum greater than $700, whether derived from personal carnings or from other sources of income or from other sources of income or from other sources of income or from the two combined.

The Conourse World, edited by a militia officer, protests against the appeals to the councils for money for eamp purposes. He agrees with us that it is a small thing for a Government, professing to have a treasury overflowing with surplus funds, to peddle around the camps to the places that are willing to contribute a few hundred dollars to the expense of holding them. This is not even economy from the militia point of view, as Major-General Herbert has pointed out. The lugging of the camp to St. Thomas, indeed, was a direct loss to the service in money and convenience, and ariously handicapped the force.

The terrific electrical storms in Pennsylvania and New York recently were caused by the advent of a great solar disturbance by the sun's rotation. This disturbance was visible in a high northern latitude and near the sun's eastern limb.

Mrs. Langhorne, who died in Scotland a few days ago in her 97th year, was the widow of a well-known clergyman of the widow of a well-known clergyman of the Scottish Episcopal Church, and a daughter of the famous Parson Smith, of Musselburg, who was an early friend of Sir Watter Scott. Mrs. Laughorne had a great store of interesting anecdote, as her father was in company with Johnson and Boswell when they visited Edinburgh. She had known Burns, Hume, Robertson, and all the other northern celebrities of her day. She had also many reminiscences of Sir Walter Scott and his contemporaries.

The smallest pony in the world recently arrived in the world on the famous Shetland pony farm of the Marquis of Londonderry, on the island of Bressay. It is a little colt foal that weighed but sixteen pounds and was only nineteen and a half inches high at its birth. It is a perfectly healthy, well-formed animal. The great object of the breeders of Shetland ponies is to keep down the size of the animals. The price increases in inverse ratio to size. This is partly from fancy and fashion and partly because the smaller the ponies the better fitted for working in the seams of coal in the mines where they find their chief usefulness. :::

Henry Labouchere, the London editor and member of Parliament, was at one time attached to the British legation at Washington, and a number of characteristic stories of his eccentricities are still current at the capital. One relates that during a brief trip to New York he was mistaken for a celebrated Irish patriot by some Irish Americans who met him in Broadway. He encouraged the delusion to the extent of eating a dinner given in his honor by the friends of the cause, and finally gave them the slip without revealing his identity. Mr. Labouchere is now 61 years old. He is one of the keenest and clearest-headed mon in the House of Commons, his cynicism and his airy way of dealing with public questions veiling a profound acquaintance with men and measures in politics. and member of Parliament, was at one

The receipts and shipments of live stock at Chicago for she past month were: 263,573 cattle, 14,255 calves, 736,397 hogs, 188,962 sheep, and 8,822 horses. For May last year the totals were 220,683 cattle, 13,440 calves, 550,115 hogs, 185,881 sheep, and 9,871 horses. These figures show an increase of 43,190 cattle, 815 calves, and 176,282 hogs and 3,081 sheep and a decrease of 1,049 horses.

—Richard Gird is probably the largest individual grower of sugar beet in the world. He has 50,000 acres of ground surrounding Chino, Cal., and this year will have 4,000 acres of it in beets. He is under contract to raise all the beets that are required for the beet sugar factory at Chino. His contract requires him to raise 5,000 acres of beets next year, and the same average the following year.

—As the farmers in North Dakota finish seeding they are turning their attention to thrashing. A surprisingly large part of last year's crop is satill in the stack, some of which is badly damaged and others of which are in fair to good condition. BANK OF TORONTO.

The annual statement of the Bank of Toronto, published in another column, must be highly satisfactory to the share holders and patrons of the bank throughto 784c. CORN-June, 504c; July, 474c to 474c; Sept., out the country. General Manager Coulson was able to show, despite the fact that trade during the past year had not been favorable, the bank had paid two dividends of 5 per cent. each, had added to the rest $100,000, and had carried forward to next year $38,983. The rest now amounts to $1,700,000. Only the most careful management upon the part of the officers of the bank could have secured such a result as is here set forth. The business of the bank has more than doubled during the last ten years.

Fully 3,000 were on the grounds, which have recently undergone a number of important improvements, reflecting credit on the genial proprietor. Ample accommodation was found at the Fraser House stables for 300 horses. Mr. Fraser is arranging for the annual farmers picnic on the 21st, when a large turnout is expected. They Enjoyed It.

The Sisters of St. Joseph are most sincere in thanking the members of the London Hunt Club and the ladies who so generously and sumptuously entertained the orphans of Mount Hope at a picnic given by the above-mentioned club to the orphans of both homes, on Wednesday the 15th inst. To Mr. Gibbons, president of the club, special thanks are due for his untiring efforts, both during the drive and on the grounds, to make the little folk enjoy themselves in every possible way. The charming delights of that day will long and gratefully be remembered alike by sisters and children.

A Frightful fatality.

A frightful fatality is reported from Glanworth. Alex. Scott, a farm hand who worked for Mr. G. T. Nichol, com, 7, Westminster, spent yesterday in Port Stanley. He took the "swimmer," which left there about 9:30 p.m., for home. The train stopped at Glanworth for a moment and as it started again, Scott and a companion got up and made for the door. At 7 o'clock this morning a section man found Scott's mangled body beside tho track. His right leg and arm were severed, his head was smashed and the remains otherwise cut up. In all probability he met his death in getting off the train while the latter was in motion as he was in one of the front sars. His companion evidently remained on board. Deceased was 35 years of age and was a generally steady and sober man. He was atout and of heavy build. An Inquest will be held at Glanworth.

THE HORSEMAN.

Good sweet hay is better for horses that ave to work hard than tender grass.

John Carpenter, of Winona, has sold his stallion Fides Stanton, 2:283, dam by Brown Douglass 10,377, to T. Barnes, of Hamilton, for $3,000.

Horses are shod in Spain without the application of heat, and very few horse-shoers there have bellows or torges in their shops. They also make their shoes without the aid of fires, a fact largely due to the pure, soft, ductile iron primarily manufactured with wood and soft coal.

The orophippus, the ancestor of the noble horse of to-day, is first known to have existed in the cocene period of geological epochs. Some of the species were as small as the common silver fox of to-day and all had sixteen hoofs, four on each foot, just like the cow brutes of the present age.

The grooming of horses is only secondary in importance to that of diet. Health is secured by keeping the skin pores open, and this can only be obtained by the curry-comb and the brush, removing the dead epidermis thrown off in the form of pellicles. He is abad groom that employs the comb roughly and she brush laxily. Not only comb the mane and tail from time to time, but occasionally wash the latter with soap and water. It is a bad practice to cover saddle and carriage horses with rugs when in the stable, with the view of preserving them from catching colds, keeping the skin cleaner and she coat skining. The best service to reuder such horses is to accustom them to cold, to harden them. A rug ought only to be thrown across the horse when, being warm, it enters a cold stable, and only allowed to remain on the animal still the normal temperature of the body sets in. Horses with short tails may be covered with a light linen, in order to keep off the flies when in the stable during keep off the flies when in the stable during summer. Pending the latter season bathing is excellent, not omitting to rub the ing is excellent, not omitting to rub the ing is excellent, not omitting to rub the incree breeder objects to. Let the old hair horse breeder objects to. Let the eld hair

In the casting season be more scrupulously removed by the brush, while supplying the animal during the period with easily digested food. When the casting of hair does not follow its natural course, give the horse a small ration of linseed cake or linseed meal, or barley that has been well pounded in a mortar, wetted and well mixed with a good deal of kitchen salt.

A good horse can no more stand on A good horse can no more stand on bad feet than a good house can stand on a bad foundation. It matters not how beautiful the head and neck, how strong the back and how clean the limbs, if there is canker in the hoof or unsoundness of any kind about the member, the horse is not a good one. For this reason many buyers begin at the feet and pass upward before making up their minds as to the fitness for service. Ride a horse that flinches with every step and you are in constant sympathy with his and you are in constant sympathy with his sufferings, and he is a heartless man indeed who can drive a lame horse and not suffer himself. There are many diseases which are located in the horse's foot, rendering a are located in the horse's foot, rendering a search often necessary to discover them. A purchaser should, if possible, ride or drive the animal a mile or so, as sometimes these troubles only appear after a little warming up and the cooling off which fol-lows. Be sure of the feet, then examine other points.

CONDUCTED BY WOMEN FOR WOMEN,

The character of the circulation of "Wives and Daughters" is superior to that of most publications, and embraces the well-to-do portion of the community who are able to, and do, purchase liberally. As this publication appeals airectly to those who form the purchasing tower, and who, more than men, closely study advertisements, it must follow as a natural result that advertisers will get liberal returns for their outlay. It circulates throughout the whole Dominion, and to a large extent in the United States, but more particularly in the Province of Untario, the largest, most populous, wealthy and progressive of the

"Yes; and keep it for me," say I almost throwing it to him, as my partner encircles me with his arm, and draws me into a sudden opening in the dancing crowd.

We have been a little late, and the quadrille that seems essential to the opening of a country dance was on before our arrival, therefore a succession of waltzes is now in full swing. My next is with Sir Willoughby, and I learn too late that he is the best dancer in the room. The best, and yet denied me.

He and I have danced this dance straight through. He had suggested a visit to the improvised conservatory, but I had negatived it emphatically.

I get through all my other dances very

I get through all my other dances very successfully. It is only when I find the number thirteen is due that a sudden for takes hold of me and I grow somewhat pe and unnerved, and begin to wish myself ... home. A futile wish! Even as it darts through my mind, Sir Willoughby comes up, offers me his arm, and with a sinking heart, I accompany him to the dancing room.

"Would you rather not dance?" asks he abruptly.

"Would you rather not dance?" asks he abruptly.

"If you don't mind," say I; "I am a little tired. I have been dancing so much—"

"Yes," grimly, "I could see that."

"Then you can see all the rest," say I, as lightly as I can, though I confess his whole air and manner is not reasuring. "You can see that I want to get Geraldine to come home as soon as possible."

"Do you mean by that that you want to get rid of me?"

His tone is stern. It brings me to my senses. To be rude—that is terrible! No, I shall not be rude whatever it costs me!

"That is an uncalled-for remank," say I, a little haughtily. "I meant only that I was tired."

The Indians, it was averred, went to Da-kota because they thought that no white man would follow them to such a place. The bitterness of the cold of the winters, The bitterness of the cold of the winters, the torrid heat of the summers, the wellingh ceaseless wind, the violent storms of thunder and lightning and rain, the long droughts, the dustatorms, the hailstorms, must be experienced to be appreciated. Everything seems to be on an excessive scale in Dakota. The velocity of the wind, when the mercury is standing at 40° below zero, if one is out in it, will take the animal heat out of one in a few minutes. No amount of clothing can prevent intense suffering. One feels as if one had forgotten to put on clothes, and were encountering lightly as I can, though I confess his whole as in an extension of the confess his whole as now and to get Geraldine to "Do you mean by that that you want to get rid of me?"

The blizzards of Dakota have given her The blizzards of Dakota have given her a more widespread fame than any other feature of the climate. Reaching that country at the tail end of winter, and living on the prairie far from neighbors who could have enlightened us, my sister and I were under the impression that we saw blizzards pretty often. We saw what would go by that name elsewhere. But when we met a Dakota blizzard in the height of the season, we knew that all the other storms were as nothing in comparison. The mercury was far down. The wind caught up the accumulated snows of weeks from the rolling prairies and lifted them up to meet the descending snows of heaven. The wind beat like waves. The sound was as the roar of a mighty ocean. As it went on, it was as though the solid earth had hurled hetself headlong from her moorings and were rushing with immeasurable velocity through unexplored space.

And its rhythmic rise and fall.
It soared o'er the camel-driver's shout,
And the bale-bent porter's angry flout—
"O—O
E-lim-in-ah-do!" There were the figs of Omoorloo.

Large and luscious and bursting ripe; And from a cafe near by there blew The tempting scent of the water-pipe; But Tireh's grapes would have hung in vain Upon the vines had we heard that str E-lim-in-ah-do!"

Amber, clear as a prisoned ray
Of the morning sunlight, was forgot;

Then out of the jostling crowd he came With his crook-necked flask and his clink of glass;
As keen of eye and supple of frame
As a Lydian pard we saw him pass—

The First Band Concort.

People fairly poured into Victoria Park last evening from all parts of the city, and that beautiful spot was a happy seene of surging humanity for two hours. The first band concert of the season showed how immensely popular these delightful affairs are. From 5,000 to 6,000 people were con the grounds, the youth and beauty of London being well represented. Scores of vehicles blocked up the driveways and the occupants had the advantage of the majority in having seats. The omnipresent baby carriage was there, of course, and was shoved serenely through the thickest of the crowd. Model weather added to the general pleasure. The Seventh's selections were up to the usual standard, an enjoyable variation being Harry McKenna's xiyphone solo which was loudly applauded. Tuesday evening the Cavalry Band will be put on trial.

The general committee of the Masonic fraternity of the city and London West lodges for the reception of the Grand Lodge next July, met in the library, Masonic Temple, last night—R. W. Bro. Porte in the chair, and Wor. Bro. A. A. Campbell secretary. Various sub-committees reported, and it was made apparent that so far as the brethren of London are concerned the stay of the 400 visitors will be made as pleasant as possible. A motion concerned the stay of the 400 visitors will be made as pleasant as possible. A motion was carried providing that no intoxicating beverages should be supplied under the auspices of the entertainment committee. Mayor Spencer will be asked to welcome the visiting fraternity on the opening day. Several leading members of the craft at last night's meeting expressed the belief that the visit of so many prominent residents from all parts of the Province would give a very fitting opportunity to the City Council and Board of Tade to advertise the city. Certainly the visitors should be invited to look upon the Forest City at its best. There will not be much time for entertaining the brethren, as the Grand Lodge only meets for two days, and there is a good deal of business to transact.
