feature of penal servitude in an English prison is the strictly enforced si-ence during the whole period of in-carceration. A Parliament committee recently suggested that this rule be slightly relaxed as a reward for good behavior by long-term convicts. The Home Secretary having called for observations by the prison commissioners on the recommendation, they replied that they think it would be dangerous to go back to what experience condenmed as leading to mischievous results. The worst criminals often are the best conducted prisoners, and there is grave objection to giving facilities for unchecked conversation on the ground of good conduct. The commissioners sioners add: "We are quite able to understand that the enforcement of silence for affect or twenty years is unnatural. As a matter of fact, a well-behaved convict under a long sentence, after a certain lapse of time is employed usually in a position of trust, and is not subject to the constant surveillance which is exercised over a man in the earlier days of his sentence. More-over, he thinks that the governors, who are humane men, can safely be trusted to see that the silent system is not pushed to an extravagant degree and enforced by punishment, except in cases where they have satisfied themselves that the rule is broken for frivolous and improper purposes."

LOOKS GRAVE,

Five Thousand British Troops for South Africa.

London, April 1.—Owing to the gravity of the situation in South Africa the Government is taking steps to dispatch 5,000 troops to the Cape of Good Hope as soon as possible, in order to be ready for emergencies. The directors of the British Chartered South Africa Company, have formally requested the Government to order the immediate dispatch of 500 regular troops from Cape Town to Buluwayo. THE MATABELE REVOLT.

Isolated Fighting Continues—Great Odds Against the British.

Cape Town, April 1 .- Advices from Buluwayo reports that isolated fighting with the Matabeles continues, the British being at a great disadvantage in regard to numbers. The dispatches say Major Graham and five others have been killed in these encounters and several men wounded.

Capt. Nicholson, who is in command at Buluwayo, pending the arrival there of Sir Richard Edward Rowley Martin had resumed work, and a number of has telegraphed to the Government here, under date of March 30, that the whole Matabele country outside of a swords, and several persons on both sides were wounded, the rioters replying to the attack of the police with showers of stones. dds: "I am afraid this is big business, and that a strong force will be requir ed to settle the Matoppo district." Contradictory reports are received here regarding the situation in Rhodesia, but there is no question that matters are serious in Buluwayo. The Rhodesia Horse, which force was re-cently disbanded, has been replaced by the Buluwayo field force, 400 strong, This force will storm the stronghold of the Matabeles in the Matoppo hills. King Khama, who rendered efficient aid to the British South Africa Company in its campaign against Lobengula, has offered an armed escort for the coaches and to keep open communication between Buluwayo and the south. President Kruger has notified Sir Jacobus De Wet, the British diplomatic agent at Pretoria, that he has no objection to British subjects in the Transvaal being recruited for service against the Matabeles. Capt. Nicholson reports from Buluwayo that his force is sufficiently strong to secure the town, but is not strong enough to send flying columns to many districts concurrently. It is reported at Pretoria that the Government of the Transvaal will offer Sir Hercules Robinson the assistof the burgher forces against ance the Matabeles.

The Daily News says that anxiety is felt by the friends of Cecil Rhodes, who is now on his way from Beira to Buluwayo. It is feared that the Matabeles may waylay him.

The Telegraph says it learns that the patrols all around Buluwayo have been driven in, in some cases with loss. The natives, it adds, are well armed and are good shots.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND. Relations of the Two Countries Discussed in the French Senate.

Paris, April 1.-In the Senate yesterday M. Bardou interpellated the Government on several subjects in connec-Thirteen Club, of New York, giving the tion with the foreign policy. His "We have," he added, "notified the powers that we have taken possession of Madagascar. Most of them have answered that they accept the notification without comment. Only two nations have requested more particulars, and we are now preparing answers.

As to the Egyptian affairs, M. Bourgeois said: "The Senate is aware, through the declarations read on March 19 by M. Berthelot, of the view of the Government towards the British propositions relative to the Soudan expedition. You know, gentlemen, what has been the attitude of our representative on the Egyptian debt commission at Cairo. The Russian agent has fully shared the French views. Both these representatives have acted in full accord. They said that the commission was incompetent to decide a question of such exceptional and political character. Their opinion was not accepted by the commission, and they left the meeting after protesting against the commission's action. The French views have been brought to the notice of the British Government and negotiations on the subject are now in progress. The Senate will understand that it is not possible just now to furnish Allow me to add that France in the rectitude of her position, has met with the firm accord of Russia, and I may further say that the entente between the powers was never more complete or more cordial than I am glad to conclude by making such declarations. I hope they will be received by you in such a manner that the Government will find in your approbation more authority to pursue !:s foreign policy.

Sparks from the Wire.

The owners at Halifax, N. S., of the schooner Mendez, now over fifty days out from Lunenburg for Trinidad, have about given her up as lost, with all hands, eight in number. Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sanford Fleming are expected to leave for England about the end of April to attend the conference on the Pacific cable, which takes place early in May. Elizabeth Charles, author of many historical novels of a religious char-acter, among them "The Draytons and Davenants," and "The Chronicles of the Schomberg-Cotta Family," is dead in London, England.

Nelson Jenking, the well known shipbuilder, of Walkerville, fell from a scaffolding on Saturday and received injuries which may result seriously. He struck on the back of his head and the doctors fear concussion of the brain. Mr. W. Macdonald, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, has intimated his intention of donating a further sum of $150,000 towards the endowment fund of the engineering and physics buildings in connection with McGill University. He has just given half a million dollars to the university.

Sir Charles Tupper Turns on Friend and Foe.

His Arrogant Dictation Resented on Both Sides of the House.

He Attacks Dr. Sproule, and That Stalwart Conservative Hits Back.

Threatens the House With Physical Exhaustion.

Mr. Laurier and Dr. Weldon (Conservative) Put the Responsibity of Delay on the Quarreling Ministers.

Ottawa, April 1.-At the opening of the House yesterday Sir Charles Tupper and Hon. Mr. Laurier made sympathetic references to the late Col. Amyot. Dr. Sproule moved the adjournment of the House in order to bring to the attention of the Government the fact that the salaries of the sessional messengers and other employes of the House were long overdue.

Mr. Gibson termed it a shame and a disgrace, and Messrs. Lister, Allan, and other members viewed it as a derelic-tion of duty. Mr, Foster promised the supplementary estimates soon.

It was pointed out that the Government must have reduced the country to a terrible condition of impecuniosity when it could not raise $2,000 to pay its charwomen and other employes. Mr. Charlton tried to get the Government to provide a chance for his motion with regard to the suffering Christians of Armenia, but failed. In a short discussion, Sir Charles Tupper first declared that the House would sit on Good Friday, but after-

The House went into committee of Manitoba. Mr. Davies led off with a suggestion the Government suspend operations during the time the negotiations in Winnipeg are in progress.

This was opposed by Sir Chas. Tupper, who declared the Government's pur-pose to press the bill day by day. He expressed a fear that the Winnipeg would not succeed, though when asked to explain his remark he denied that he had anything in particular upon which to base it. He at once accused the Opposition of obstruction, and the committee became by consequence a scene of more or less acrimonious uproar, which continued throughout the remainder of the sitting. The charge was repelled by the Opposition, and the facts were referred to in refutation of it.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) raised the stitutional point that inasmuch as the law contemplates. Parliament acting only as a last resort, and inasmuch as the Government having appointed delegates to confer with the Provincial Government, the admission was made that the Province had not refused to act, and therefore, he submitted, Parliament had no constitutional authority. Although the member for Bothwell is a recognized constitutional authority, and does not advance a point except it has metit in it, he could get no answer to his argument from the treasury

Mr. McNettl (Conservative) thereupon rose and expressed his regret that the discussion was shut off. He moved that the committee rise and report progress.

Mr. Mulock asked Sir Charles Tupceeding with the bill.

Sir Charles Tupper-I don't propose to discuss any question except the clause of the bill before us.

* * * * Upon the motion that the committee rise, Mr. Davies was proceeding to speak of the impropriety of proceeding with the bill.

Sir Charles again rose and demanded that the ruling of the chair should and other members around him that the discussion was now upon the motion to rise.

Mr. Davies was then allowed to continue. The Government's invitation to negotiate had been of the nature of a was raised hostilities should cease. He gerheads in regard to this question, assumed, he said, that the Government and he instanced Mr. Ouimet's attiwas sure no party advantage could be got by keeping the question open site. and having it threshed out at every hustings during the elections.

Sir Charles Tupper-That is what we wish to prevent.

Then let us come to an understanding, returned Mr. Davies. By the press reports it appeared that the commisstoners had been met in Winnipeg by the Manttoba Government in the most friendly way and were making pro-gress and trying honestly to reach a settlement. If the Ottawa Government were really anxious to have the ques-tion settled, they should not now proceed to jeopardize the negotiations.

Sir Charles Tupper hinted that the negotiations had failed, and as only a few days of the session remained he meant to force the bill through so as not to be charged with insincerity in the ensuing general elections.

Mr. Charlton held that the Government's course was impolitic, indelicate and insincere, unless it was known beforehand that all negotiations had failed. He held that the House had no mandate to deal with this matter. The question had not been considered by the people. How many members cared anything about the principle of the bill among those who supported it? How many members will not come How many members will not come back to Parliament, but will receive appointments to offices-quite accidentally, perhaps? (Laughter.) Mr. Bergeron reminded Mr. Charlton that he should not impute unworthy motives to member Mr. Charlton said he merely asked the question.

Col. O'Brien (Conservative) asked whose fault it was that this date of the word "obstruction" is unparliathe session had been reached with the bill no further advanced. Forty days at the beginning of the session elapsed before the bill had been even presented to the House, and it was the 3rd of March before the second reading was reached. If the Government now found itself in the position in which Sir Charles Tupper had stated it was the Government's own doing. In England, Government bills were printed and laid before the House at the beginning of the session. If there had been a sincere determination to pass the bill there would not have been so much time wasted in the early part of the session.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that he was afraid it would be found that one of the reasons for the failure of the negotiations was the most undiplomatic conduct of the Government the bill not been proceeded with it would have been accepted by the Manitoba Government as a pledge of the sincerity of the Government, and there would have been a far greater likelihood of the negotiations being brought to a successful termination. If these negotiations failed there was no more to be said, except that the conduct wards declared that the House would of the Government and their indiscretion in refusing to make reasonable concessions had been very largely to the whole on the bill for the coercion of that this bill would settle nothing. He blame for it. Sir Richard pointed out did not believe it was intended to settle anything.

Sir Charles Tupper, in reply to Sir Richard, said he was afraid the negotiations at Winnipeg will fall through. Sir Richard Cartwright-I am sorry to hear it. It is a very early day for such an expression of opinion to be made by the Secretary of State. I am afraid if, after two or three days' sojourn in Winnipeg on the part of these ambassadors, the Secretary of State now virtually announces these negotiations have failed-Sir Charles Tupper-No, I don't. I don't go as far as that. I said I feared they have failed. Sir Richard, continuing, said that if that impossibility was due to nothing but done little. (Cheers and laughter. and insincerity, and the extremely improper conduct they have pursued in having a sixth session for this purpose and yet allowing about three months to pass before going into com-mittee on the bill. If the Government been sincere it was not at the end of March that their attempt would have been made to hold a conference with the Manitoba Government, and to try Mr. Laurier's policy of conciliation, but before this Parliament met. Mr. Foster argued that the measure or no conference.

Hon. Mr. Mills held that the Government had no right, under the constitution, to come to Parliament for assistance till it was prepared to say it had exhausted every means of effecting a per to explain how the negotiations at settlement. Why were the Govern-Winnipeg would be facilitated by proment pressing this legislation when they admitted that they had not exhausted the powers of negotiation with the Local Government? If the ground upon which the constitution placed the authority to legislate was non-existing how could the House undertake to legislate? He held that there was little chance of the negotiations succeeding so long as the Government continued to press a measure which would give to the minority nothing but a law suit for every man who conbe observed. He was told by Mr. Daly tributed a dollar of taxation to the separate schools.

> Mr. Daly justified the remedial order and argued that the negotiation could not interfere with the legal position of the House. Sir Richard Cartwright pointed out flag of truce, and when a flag of truce that the Government was yet at logwere anxious to see a settlement. He tude in Vercheres and Dr. Montague's in Haldimand as diametrically oppo-

> Mr. McNeil's motion was immediately after recess declared lost.

> Mr. Davies then took up the discussion on clause 1, which constitutes a Catholic board of education in Manitoba, and argued that the power of Parliament to legislate on this matter was confined to the terms of the Remedial Order, and under that order, which has been generally discredited as bungling, this board cannot be formed. Sir Charles Tupper (testily)-I have heard all that before 20 or 50 times, Mr. Davies—Very likely. You will have to hear it once more. Sir Charles-I expect to hear it 50 times more. Mr. Davies said he had not used a single expression beyond what was necessary to convey his meaning to the House. Mr. Casey pressed for answers from Sir Charles Tupper as to why he believed the Winnipeg negotiations had Sir Charles Tupper took the floor, and in a minute the House was in an uproar. He complained that he had been compelled to listen to interminable speeches that did not have any relevancy to the question under consideration. He railed at the supporters of Mr. Laurier, and then he turned upon Dr. Sproule and charged him with having, by his motion in the House that afternoon, allied himself with other members of the House "for the purpose of breaking down and destroying the Government of which he old.

heard, being subject to interruption from both sides of the House.

Dr. Sproule sprang to his feet, and cried: "I rise to order, Mr. Chairman. I wish to ask you whether it is Parliamentary to use that language.' He explained his action in championing the cause of the Government em-ployes, and denied that it was obstruction. It was a simple duty. Sir Charles Tupper-I ask the honorable gentleman-(cries of "Order order, chair, chair, sit down.") Chairman Bergeron-The word obstruction is certainly unparliamentary Cries of "Chair, chair; take it back. Sir Charles Tupper asked if Dr. Sproule had mentioned the matter to the Finance Minister.

Dr. Sproule replied no, because the Finance Minister was not in his place. He had tried to see him twice. Sir Charles Tupper-The leader of the House, of whom the honorable gentleman professes to be a supporter. was in his place, and he made no communication to him.

Mr. Mulock—Mr. Chairman—

Mr. Belley (Conservative)-Shut up. Mr. McNeill (Conservative)-I wish to know, Mr. Chairman, whether there be any member of this House who is above the rules of this House.

Mr. Chairman—I have declared that mentary. Sir Charles Tupper-I have much pleasure in bowing to your ruling by withdrawing the word obstruction. Continuing, Sir Charles Tupper charged those who opposed him with obstruction, and threatened the House with the "harsh measures of the clos-ure" if they did not submit to his He would meet his opponents. views. he said, by exhausting all the physical means he possessed. This brought forth the defiant cries of "Try it."

Mr. Laurier warmly retorted that the Government, and not the Opposition was responsible for the obstruction that prevented the bill being discussed between Jan. 2 and March 1. Who was responsible for the loss of these two months, The occupants of the treasury benches were responsible in pressing this measure forward. Had for it. Was the Opposition responsible for the Cabinet quarrels which had too be patched up? In the discussion which commenced on March 2 there were as many speakers on the Government side as on the Opposition side. Where was the obstruction? There had been no obstruction upon the bill, and there was no desire upon his part to obstruct. He had taken his course, and the Opposition had taken its course, upon the bill and was ready to go to the country and abide its decision upon the merits of the position. (Cheers.) If there had been obstruction it had been on the part of the honorable leader of the House himself, for he had consumed more time than any other member. (Hear, hear.)

Dr. Sproule rose and talked back at his leader with great force. Seventenths of the ratepayers of Ontario were against this bill-(cries of "No, no")-and that it was all very well for the leader of the House, like Micawber. after a sleep of five years-(roars of laughter)-to come to this House and try to force an unpopular measure upon this House and country He went on to say that the vote on the second reading showed by 81 to 67 that Quebec and Ontario wanted nothing to do with this it were impossible to pass the measure has made much noise in the country,

> Mr. McNeill also censured Sir Chas. Tupper. He and Dr. Sproule were quite as good Conservatives as Sir Charles Tupper, and would not be read out of the party.

Dr. Weldon (Conservative) thought the bill should be laid over till the next session, so as to let the people pronounce upon it. Surely the Government should have had their should be proceeded with, conference bill ready when Parliament met. It was too late in the day now to drive Parliament at the point of the bayonet. (Cheers.) Threats to sit all night and all day should not be made in a free Parliament. (Hear, hear.) Free speech had not yet been stifled in the Canadian Parliament by the use of closure. He held that the Administration was not justified in attempting to coerce a free Parliament. He supported the Nova Scotia system.

Mr. Clarke Wallace asked the Government to pause in their mad career. Messrs. Fairbairn and Ingram (East Elgin) supported the bill.

Mr. Mills (Bothwell) pointed out that the bill did not obey the constitution. Dr. Daly denied this, but was not able to prove his position.
Only two clauses of the bill were passed when the House rose at 3:40 this morning.

Our Grand Opening of Millinery.

Every critic's lance is broken when it tilts against our prices and assortment. We have pre-eminently the richest and the handsomest ever shown in London. The display is a revelation to those who have not seen it, and a constant study to those who have. Newness and novelty in prodigal abundance. You have heard what the styles are to be this season. Would not an actual sight of them be very much more satisfactory? We display fashions which are interesting to every lady in London-interesting because they are fashionable-and because we set a swift pace on the price. It affords us great pleasure to announce the continuance of our "Grand Opening" for the next three days:

Berlin, Ont., April 1.—The trial of the Kurschinski murder case was resumed yesterday. Coroner Schaefer testified to arresting the prisoner, and mittee." finding a jack-knife - the produced—on him. August Schell told of having had a conversation with the prisoner and his wife at their home about one week prior to the murder. The Kurschinskis asked bim why certain cards had been put up in the berry swamp. Witness told them it was a warning to trespassers, whereupon they became angry, and said they were put up for them alone. They said: "If we don't get berries, neither will Jeanerette." Schell also saw the prisoner on the night of the murder, and he noticed scratches on his face. Doctors were examined as to whether the scratches on the prisoner's face could have been made by finger nails, and they all concurred in the belief that they could. Dr. Featheringham, of Toronto, swore that he made an examination of the dead man's finger nails, and found they contained fibers of cloth and human skin.

BEYOND RECOVERY.

The Boy LaFlamms-His Cure Was Surprise-A Few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PAPPINEAUVILLE, March 30. - The father of the boy LaFlamme is one of the leading merchants here and willing to talk of his zon's cure. He says: "My little boy Arthur, after scarlet fever about a year ago, never recovered, and his ailment ran into a kidney trouble. His body was swollen to twice its natural size. The sufferings of the little fellow were very severe and we had all given up hope of him. But three months ago we commenced giving him Dodd's Kidney Pills, and today he is romping and playing with other boys." This as an instance of prompt cure is very remarkable. Utah's juries now consist of eight instead of twelve men.

Prominent Lawyer Says. "I have eight children, every one in good health, not one of whom but has taken Scott's Emulsion, in which my wife has boundless confidence."

London, Wednesday, April I.

A Dying Parliament and a Dead Ministry.

Parliament will not sit on Good Friday, though the men in power at Ottawa made a big bluff that they desired to break through the rule that the day should be conscientiously observed. It serves their purpose, now that the day when the House of Commons must be dissolved approaches, and when they must face the electorate whom they have dodged until even the twelfth hour, to make a great pretense that they wish to have the business rushed through. They simulate indignation when a member desires to have fair discussion of an important point in public policy, and endeavor to shout him down as an obstruc-

But it is all a pretense. Parliament met on Jan. 2, so that it has now been in session three calendar months, and must be brought to a close not later than three weeks from Friday of this week. Yet in all that time the Government has only made three motions-one to go into committee of supply, which was carried; another for the second reading of the Manitoba coercion bill, which was carried by the smallest majority registered in favor of the Government this Parliament, and a third that the House go into committee on the same bill. Three motions in three months have these Ministers, charged with the management of the affairs of this great country, made, or asked to have passed, and yet they assert that they have been industriously doing their complete duty to the taxpayers! A brief retrospect shows how these three months. They called Parliament together on Jan. 2, and immediately afterwards ordered it to adjourn because it was not convenient then to transact public business. Then seven members of the Government went on strike for two weeks because in secret conspiracy they had reached the conclusion that the Premier, the man who made them what they were, was an incapable old fool, and it was deemed in their interests to decapitate him by force. Seven months were at their disposal in which to prepare their bill dealing with Manitoba, yet they permitted Parliament to assemble without taking the first step to have it drafted, and five weeks of the session had elapsed before it was presented to the House. The second reading of the measure was not moved until two whole months of the session had been wasted. Now they tell us that if the Manitoba bill is not passed at this session they will throw the onus on Mr. Laurier and his friends. They ask that this bill of 112 clauses, incomplete and largely unworkable as it is in its present shape, and irrevocable after it is once placed on the statute book shall be railroaded through the House in the dying days of a Parliament which has long since ceased to represent the living electorate of Canada.

Nor is this the only exhibit of the absolute breakdown of the Cabinet now nominally controlling this country. In the speech from the throne, delivered three months ago, a Government bill providing additional representation for the Northwest was announced. This important measure has not yet been introduced, though the fourth month of the session has been entered on. A commissioner went to England to arrange the copyright question last midsummer. His report was not ready when Parliament met five months afterwards. In the speech from the throne it was promised, but up till the time of writing it has not made its appearance. The supplementary estimates, which are generally introduced within a month after Parliament meets, have not yet been brought down, and as was brought out in the discussion in the House of Commons on Tuesday night, there is no money with which to pay the employes of Parliament, and today we have the spectacle of a Government confessing its inability to do even so simple an act of justice as to ask Parliament to vote the necessary funds to pay the wages of the charwomen, message boys, and other subordinate employes, who can ill afford to wait the sweet pleasure of the blunderers. To accomplish these meager results, the Government has so far expended $300,000 in the payment of indemnity to members of Parliament for attending this extra session of Parliament, which has justly been denominated the fool session. If they had followed Mr. by burglary. Our office, corner Dun-Leurier's conciliatory plan in dealing das and Richmond streets, will furwith Manitoba, and had gone to the country on their general record after Parliament had lived its allotted span of five annual sessions, the members of the Government would have most probably beer defeated; but they would have been saved the humiliation that awaits them when they go to the polls and ask for a verdict on their extraordinary conduct of the last few months. Never has it been more evident than now that this country needs and will decree a change.

Said Rev. W. D. Reid in Montreal last Sunday: "One man, like the Hon. Mr. Laurier, who understands the times, is worth 50 of the men who now make a pretense of understanding them." Mr. Laurier will be Premier of Canada before three months pass away, or all portents mislead.

11 11 11 From Kingston comes the information that as a consequence of the strictures on the length of the hair of the pupils at the Dominion Military College, a college barber will be added to the staff. There are now 37 of a staff for 57 pupils. The new appointee will make 38. Keep it up! This is a great country, and there is nothing like finding employment for the people! Never mind the expense!

The princely gift of Mr. McDonald, a wealthy citizen of Montreal, to Mc-Gill University should be noted by the wealthy men of the West. The Western University of London should not be forgotten by them when they come to apportion their riches. What a power Western Ontario a completely equipped university in this city would be. May the day not be far distant when it will be an accomplished fact.

Waterworks Figures.

Estimates for the Year Prepared by the Commissioners.

Large Amount for Extension of Springs -Drop in the Revenue as Compared With 1895.

The estimates of the city water commissioners were presented at the regular weekly meeting of the board, held in Mayor Little's office yesterday af-

According to the figures the operation and maintenance of London's waterworks system will this year cost $55,891, as against $35,523 23, an increase of $20,368 77 for 1896. The greatest item included in the expenditure for the year is that of $25,000 for the extension of springs. Last year only $250 was laid out in this direction, but a greater supply of water has to be secured this season, and Engineer Moore considers it will require the expenditure of the amount named. Five thousand of it is estimated for a collecting pond at the lower Coiville springs; 3,000 for pumping machinery for the same; $4,000 for deepening and enlarging the lower pond;$5,500 for deepening and enlarging the upper pond, and $7,-500 for purchasing new springs, conduit and pond. The estimates wer men have been occupied in the past considered for a short time by the commissioners. When the item of $2,000 for main extensions was taken up, Commissioner Cowan held it was far too low, and said that it would make it necessary for the board to refuse many extensions during the year.

Before further progress was made, Mayor Little inquired if Mr. Cowan intended to introduce his scheme to charge a water rate on all vacant properties past which a water main was laid, and which increased in value thereby.

Mr. Cowan replied that he was prepared to introduce the scheme. As the adoption of the scheme would considerably affect the revenue of the board, the ratification of the estimates was laid over pending its disposal. The estimates as presented, together with the figures for 1895, were as fol-

SALVATION SOLDIERS.

Who Will Command the Canadian Contingent ?-Efforts for Union.

Toronto, April 1.-Who is to succeed Herbert Booth in command of the Canadian forces of the Salvation Army is the question at present agitating the rank and file in this city. According to advices from Winnipeg, Herebrt Booth, the present commandant, will leave for Australia in June to relieve Commandant Coombes, who had been his predecessor in Canada. Herbert Booth is in almost daily communication with Ballington in an ef-fort to induce the latter to return to the army and his place in the family, and he is not yet without hope of a reconciliation. It is said that one of the inducements held out to Ballington Booth by his brother Herbert, acting under instructions from the gen-eral, is that the present commander of God's American Volunteers, if he will return to the army, will be placed in command of the Canadian forces. The officers at headquarters here are in ignorance of the pending changes as all communications from the old country are sent direct to Herbert

St. Johns, Nfld., April 1.—The steamer Labrador has arrived from the sealing grounds with a full cargo of 17,-000 seals. She reports that the Neptune has taken 20,000 seals, the Walrus 9,000, the Kite 8,000, and the Leopard 10,000 seals. There is little or no catch of fish along the remaining ten steamers. It is feared that this will be the worst season for many years. Not a hundred thousand seals have yet been reported as caught, as against 350,-000 last year. The season is likewise unequaled for disasters. Two vessels—the Wolfe and Windsor Lake have been lost, and the Hope has been disabled. Two others were crushed off Newfoundland, and nearly foundered while trying to reach

It is Expected to Strike and Smash the Earth.

That is if its Tail Doesn't Swing it Around in Another Direction-Not Due for Some Time Yet.

There is, according to the authorities, a comet coming straight for the earth. It is coming at the rate of several thousand miles an hour, and when it reaches here there will be more or less trouble, and something will have to break. The astronomers in question think the earth will get a trifle the worst of it and are accordingly feeling anxious. It is due here unless somebody turns a switch, and sidetracks it, in less than nine hundred years, so no wonder the discoverers of that comet are anxious. But more things than a comet are due to arrive here before long. With the hot weather will come sickness and death. Spring, deadly spring, will reap its fearful harvest. There will come

Typhoid, Diphtheria, Bilious Complaints. Blood Troubles, Blotches and Boils. Pimples and Eruptions, Ague and Chills, Rheumatism. And hundreds of other complaints common to the season. There will be many a gap left at the table. Many a little coffin will be carried to its last resting place; many a home will be filled with sadness.

Take no chances. Prepare for spring. If you or your children are not strong and healthy get strong and healthy. If you are not well get well. If you are well keep well.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is what you want. It is the greatest blood purifier and spring tonic of the age. There is nothing like it on the market. Don't confound it with other weak imitations. It is easily the leading blood medicine of the day, as the splendid testimonials published elsewhere show. Try it.

Scott's Sarsaparilla is unlike most patent medicines. It does not profess to cure every disease under the sun. But it will cure all those that have the same common origin in disorders of the blood. liver, stomach and nervous centers, More about Scott's Sarsaparilla tomorrow.

The outlook for a successful meeting at Little Rock is bad. Owners are dissatisfied with the programme book and jockeys are few. The selling races call for 90 pound boys to ride, and there is not a jockey there who can ride lighter than 105. There are 160 horses at the track, the great majority beong 2-year-olds.

Into Springbank!

Trelleys Will Get There This Summer Water Commissioners and Street Railway Company Reach An Agreement.

The water commissioners and the street railway company have arrived at an agreement whereby the trolleys will be allowed to enter the waterworks property at Springbank.

After the regular business had been transacted yesterday afternoon, and an adjournment made, Messrs. Smallman and Carr, of the railway company, got the commissioners together and talked the matter over. The draft agreement submitted at a previous meeting (and which has appeared in the "Advertiser") was satisfactory to both sides as far as it went. The city, however, desired to go further, and Commissioner Cowan moved that the draft agreement be approved of, subject to the insertion of a clause compelling the rallway company to keep the grounds clear of refuse left by picnickers, and another clause providing that if the commissioners are unable to make arrangements with the Grand Trunk to put im a switch and haul coal to Spring-bank, the railway will do the hauling for 25 cents a ton.

Chairman Judd moved in amendment that the street railway company pay $250 annually to cover the expense of keeping the grounds clean.

The amendment was carried on the casting vote of the mayor, but Manager Carr stated that under no consideration would the railway company pay such a sum.

A reconsideration of the question was carried, and Mr. Cowan's motion was adopted. The company will accept.

Experience is a great educator, and when one comes to know a thing by experience he knows it thoroughly. Experience has taught Philip J. Haskell that good health is essential to the enjoyment of life. It has also taught him, as well as thousands of others, that the intrinsic excellencies of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will insure good health by imparting richness to the blood and restoration to shattered

Mr. Haskell is a Canadian, and a former resident of Napanee, but now resides at Oneida, N.Y. To a reporter of the Oneida Union he related his experience as follows: "For a great many years I have been afflicted with catarrh of the stomach. The disease continued to make inroads upon my health, threatening to entirely in-capacitate me for labor. While re-siding in Napanee, Ont., I heard much On motion of Sir Oliver Mowat, the did not give it a trial until after I was amended to came to Onelda. Shortly after coming here I was almost completely broken down. My nervous system seemed and my heart wholly undermined, would palpitate violently on the slightest exertion. My appetite was fickle, and at times I could scarcely take food enough to sustain me. I tried several physicians, but they did not help me. At this time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were suggested to me, and in a kind of half-hearted way I began their use But I soon had my whole heart in the treatment, for I found they were helping me. I continued the treatment for several months, with the result that when I discontinued using the Pink Pills my physical condition was better than it had been for years. If I ever find that my system requires 'toning up' Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the medicine to do it." Mrs. Haskell was also in poor health, and found considerable difficulty in getting through with the affairs of her household. Seeing the good effects Pink Pills had in her husband's case, she, too, began their use, and to use her own words, now "feels twenty-five years younger."

Miss Daisy Haskell, a young lady not yet out of her teens, is another beneficiary in this family from the use of Pink Pills. She was weak, pale, nervous and easily tired. Her appetite was poor, and she had frequent severe headaches. Her mother insist-ed upon her using the Pink Pills, and today she is rejoicing in restored health and strength. Experience has taught that in order to drive disease from the system, its root must be reached. The blood must be made rich, red and pure, and the nerves must be nourished and strengthened. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills go straight to the root of the trouble, and perform these functions. This is the secret of this great success, and the reason they cure when other medicines fail. At no other season of the year does the blood so badly need purifying and enriching as in the spring, and to accomplish the best results Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. No other medicine can accomplish the same good results. See that the words "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" are on the wrapper around every box you buy. All others are worthless imitations, no matter what the interested dealer who offers them may say. Sold everywhere at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2 50, or sent post paid on receipt of price by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Inebriety a Disease. The doctrine is still preached by some that drunkenness is simply a social vice which a man can overcome by force of will. It is as rational, from a medical point of view, to treat drunkenness by expostulation pledge signing, reproaches and legislation, as it formerly was to treat insanity by in-cantations, and the laying on of hands. A trial, as I was reduced to such a state fair enumeration of the signatures of total abstinence pledges and of the succeeding relapses into drunken ways, has always demonstrated the fallacy of attempting to deal with Inebriety other than as a disease. On the other hand, the records of Lakehurst Institute prove conclusively the soundness of the theory underlying their treatment and emphasize its superiority over all other known methods of reclaiming alcohol's victims. The disease, for such it is, is treated scientifically and always successfully. Lakehurst Institute, Oakville, was the first and is the only successful Institution in Ontario employing the Double Choride of Gold remedies. Toronto office, 28 Bank of Commerce Building.

The Water in the River and London West's Streets-The Damage by the Freshet-Bicycle Track Washed Out.

The water in the river dropped four feet in the 24 hours ending at noon today, and the minds of the people in lower London West are set at ease as far as any further danger of a flood is concerned. The water in the submerged district also disappeared very rapidly, and today sidewalks and roadways which yesterday were under a foot of water are fit for travel. Many low fields are still partly under water, and are affording opportunities for the small boys to amuse themselves rafting. The damage done by the flood is not as great as was expected. In a few instances carpets have been totally ruined and furniture damaged, but as a rule the losers are satisfied at es-caping as lightly as they did. Caretaker Irwin, of the Tecumseh Park, had two and a half feet of water and several inches of mud in the first floor of his home. He moved his family out on Monday morning and made the first return visit to the place this morning, only to find that some new carpets and chairs were rendered useless by the mud and water, and that it would take considerable scrubbing to get the dirt out of the place. During last night some unknown person secured a piece of sidewalk, paddled his way to Mr. Irwin's front door, and ed himself by tramping around in the A 30-foot hole has been washed in the breakwater near the north end of the park, and the rush of water through it was sufficiently strong to cause a 25-foot gap to be made in the track at a highly banked point. This will easily be repaired. Considerable water yet lies in the park, and until it disappears the damage to the bicicle track and grounds cannot be estimated. It will likely be small. The grand stands are unhurt.

Flendish Murder of a Young Weman in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, April 1.—The illage of Holland, 85 little village southwest of this city, was thrown as he is subject to such attacks, and into a state of excitement yesterday that the alarm of his Irish friends is over the first murder case in its history. The victim was Hannah Hatton, laughs were heard, and even Charley, the village, on her way home at ten the veteran fire horse, whinneyed his o'clock Monday night. Her throat was cut, a deep gash extending from ear to ear. There were marks of heavy blows on the head and face, evidently inflicted by a club or other blunt instrument. There is evidence that some unknown brute endeavored to criminally assault her. It is known she came to the village to get the mail for herself and the family of her uncle, for whom she had been keeping house since the death of his wife last July. Her parents live in the neighborhood, and were among the early settlers of the district, com-ing from Ireland sixteen years ago. She was a respectable young woman, of prepossessing appearance. It is not known that her life was insured, and inquiries so far have failed to elicit any love affairs. It is thought by many that the crime was the deed of some lustful wretch. This is mere theory, but the fact that a struggle seems to have taken place leads to the belief that the young woman died in defense of her honor. The sence of the instrument with which the throat was cut dissipates the suicide theory, and leaves no room for doubt that death was the result of a cold-blooded, premeditated The Attorney-General's Department will conduct an investigation, and detectives will be on the scene by to-

PREFERRED DEATH

To Capture-A Thief Suicides Before His Pursuers,

Chicago, April 1.—Choosing death as an alternative to arrest, a pickpocket deliberately cut his throat last night and expired before the gaze of a score of citizens who were in hot pursuit. The man was a negro and was on a Cottage Grove avenue street car, sitting near Mrs. Lillian Brown. She held her pocketbook in her hand, and while the car was running along Fiftieth street the colored man made a grab and seized the purse, and then jumping from the car started to run. Mrs. Brown screamed, the car was stopped and the conductor and a number of passengers followed the negro. He soon saw his escape was hopeless, and, taking a razor from his pocket, he coolly faced his pursuers and drew the blade twice across his throat. The blood spurted from the jugular vein which was severed, and reeling for an instant the negro sank in full view of the crowd of pursuers and died almost instantly.

When the lower tiers of bags had been reached, they had tried pump-ing out the water, but this was of little use. The brig had keeled over on her starboard side, and early in the morning of the third day, when the tide was running out, a hole had been out in that side of the vessel, out of which a great portion of the water she contained had run. It would all come in again, and more of at, when the tide rose, but they were sure they could get through their work before that, and they were right.

The bags now lay upon the beach in the snape of a long mound, not more than three feet high and about four rows wide at the bottom and two at the top. The capain had superintended the arrangement of the bags, and had so shaped the mass that it somewhat resembled in form the dunes of sand which lay behind it. No matter what might be their next step, it would probably be advisable to conceal the bags, and the captain had thought that the best way to do this would be to throw sand over the long mound, in which work the prevailing western winds would be likely to assist, and hill. Burke and Shirley were in favor of burial, but the consideration of this land, Cardatas, consulting his chart, thus make it lock like a natural sand matter was deferred; for there was more work to be done which must be attended to immediately.

Now provisions, water, and everything else that might be of value was taken out of the brig and carried to Two tents were constructed out of sails and spars, and the little party established themselves upon the beach. What would be their next work they knew not, but they must first rest from their long season of heavy labor. The last days had been harder even than the days of storm and the days of pumping. They had eaten hurriedly pumping. They had eaten hurriedly and slept but little; regular watches and irregular watches had been kept; watches against storm, which might sweep the brig with all on board out to sea; watches against desertion; watches against they knew not what. As chief watcher the captain had scarcely slept at all. It had been dreary work, unrelieved by hope, uncheered by prospect of success; for not one of them, from the captain down, had any definite idea as at was to be done after they had rested enough to act.

But now they rested. Now they went so far as to fill their pipes and Now they stretch themselves upon the sand. When night came on, chilly and dark, they gathered driftwood and dead branches from the thicket and built a They sat around it, and smoked their pipes, but they did not tell stories, nor did they talk very much; they were glad to rest; they were glad to keep warm; but that was The only cheerful thing upon the beach was the fire, which leaped high and blazed merrily as the dried wood was heaped upon it.

CHAPTER XXXIX. When the Arato changed her mind about going to Callao and sailed southward some five days after the Miranda had started on the same course, she had very good weather for the greater part of a week and sailed finely. Cardatas, who owned a share in her, had sailed upon her as first mate, but he had never before commanded her. He was a good navigator, however, and well fitted for the task he had under-He was a sharp fellow and kept his eyes on everybody, particularly uron Nunez, who, although a landsman, and in no wise capable of sailing a ship, was perfectly capable of making plans regarding any vessel in which he was interested, and when such a vessel happened to be sailing in pursuit of treasure, the value of which was merely a matter of conjecture. It was not impossible that the horse dealer, who had embarked money in this venture, might think that one of the mariners on board might be able to sail the schooner as well as Cardatas, and would not expect so large a share of the profits should be voyage be successful. But when the storms came on, Nunez grew sick and un-happy and retired below, and troubled the mind of Cardatas no more for the days and nights of high winds and heavy seas. Having never had until now the responsibility of a vessel upon him, Cardatas was a good deal more cautious and prudent, perhaps, than Capt. Horn would have been had he been in command of the Arato. Among other methods of precaution which other methods of precaution which Cardatas thought it wise to take, he steered well out from the coast, and thus greatly lengthened his course, and at last, when a clearing sky enabled him to take an observation, he found himself so far to the westward that he changed his course entirely and steered for the southeast.

Notwithstanding all these retarding circumstances, Cardatas did not despair of overhauling the Miranda. He was sure she would make for the Straits, and he did not in the least doubt that with fair winds he could doubt that with fair winds he could overtake her before she reached them, and even if she did get out of them, he could still follow her. His belief that the Arato could sail two miles to the Miranda's one was still unshaken. The only real fear he had was that the Miranda might have foundered in the storm. If that should happen to be the case, their voyage would be a losing one, indeed, but he said nothing of his fears to Nunez. The horse dealer was now on deck again, in pretty fair condition, but he was beginning to feel despondent. After such an awful storm, and in all that chaos of waves, what chance was there of finding such a little brig, such as they were after? "But vessels sail in regular courses," Cardatas said to him; "they don't go meandering all over the ocean. they are bound for any particular place, they go there on the shortest safe line they can lay down on the map. We can go by that line, too, although we may be thrown out of it by storms. But we can strike it again and then all we have to do is to keep on it as straight as we can, and we are bound to overtake another vessel on the same course, provided we sail faster than she does. It is all plain enough, don't you see?"

Nunez could not help seeing, but he was a little cross, nevertheless. The map and the ocean were wonderfully

The wind had changed, and the Arato did not make very good sailing on her southeastern course. High as was her captain's opinion of her, never had sailed, nor never could sail, two miles to the Miranda's one, although she was a good deal faster than the brig. But her tacks were fairly well planned, and in due course of time she approached so near the coast that her lookout sighted land, which concluded must be one of the Patagonian islands to the north of the Gulf

President Cisneros Proclaims the Cuban Policy.

They Would Perish First, While the World Looked On.

Horrible Scene in Havana-Executioners Bungled Their Awful Work.

New York, April 1.-The Herald tosto signed by Salvador Cisneros, President of the insurgent Cuban Government, has just reached the United States. The manifesto states that the insurgent armies have not burned the country dwellings except when used by Spanish troops as forts or garrisons, and that for the sake of the families, wives and children of non-combatants, food is now allowed to enter towns and cities at present held by the armies of Spain on the payment of an import duty.

Cisneros most emphatically denies that bandits or outlaws form any part have any connection with the Cuban army, and proclaims that notwithstanding the course being pursued by Spain toward captured insurgent soldiers and political prisoners, the Cuban Government will not retaliate.

The manifesto concludes with these words: "We are now strong in numbers and in hopes, but if our armies should unfortunately suffer defeat in the field, we will never give up. Cuba will perish with the world looking on before renouncing her one great hope and aim-independence.'

The protests of the officers and priests forced Ruiz to undertake the third execution, but he did little better than his assistant had done. The fourth victim of bungling garroters was likewise tortured, and then Ruiz fled from his post, leaving his assistant to put to death the fifth of the unfortunate Cubans, who escaped none the agonizing experiences that had attended the execution of his fellows.

BUCKETS."

A Strange, True Story of the Sea, Which Should Bring New Courage to All Who Are Suffering and Disheartened.

In the year 1837 a small South American coasting vessel, the Eleanora, driven by a furious tempest far out of her course, after two weeks' battling with wind and waves, found herself floating almost helpless, reckon-ing lost and in what seemed like the middle of the South Atlantic Ocean. The small stock of drinking water was gone and the little crew were famishing of thirst. The captain's wife and most remarkable remedy in the history of medicine, for the cure of consump-tion and all wasting and scrofulous diseases and impoverished conditions of the blood. For more than 25 years now the "Discovery" has been curing the so-called "incurable." Its wonderful efficacy is proven beyond the shad-ow of a doubt; not in a few cases only, but literally by tens of thousands. It has demonstrated, by the unan-swerable logic of facts, that consumption is a blood-disease and can be cured in all its earlier stages, and greatly mitigated when more advance. ed; that all depleted and "run-down" conditions of the system, and all kinds of skin disease, ulcerations, and liver and kidney troubles, catarrh, dropsy, asthma, and even rheumatism, have their seat in the blood and are rooted out when the blood is purified and enriched. The cures accomplished by the "Golden Medical Discovery" have astonished the doctors; confounded the skeptics; and best of all, restored health and courage to the suffering and hope-

But there is nothing in the least mysterious or unaccountable about these extraordinary cures. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the invention of a regularly qualified physician. It is the result of wide experience and baby were aboard, and any one of the careful study. It is based upon accrew would cheerfully have gone with-out his own share for the sake of the

not a drop to drink. The pangs of thirst are a thousand worse than hunger, and grow fiercer and fiercer until the victim is frequently driven to madness. It was on a morning when the crew seemed as near the verge of insanity as sane men can be, that they sighted another vessel, and flying distress signals which were promptly answered, made a piteous appeal for water. The other captain, framing his mouth in his hands, shouted back sharply: "It's fresh water all about you, let down your buckets."

The storm had driven the Eleanora into the mouth of the Amazon river that mighty stream one hundred and fifty miles broad at the mouth, and which, overlaying the ocean nearly, fifty leagues from shore, is fresh water almost to the coast. This strange, true story furnishes a striking allegory for the thousands who are wrecked in health, with no apparent prospect of recovery; hopeless helpless and despairing; when in reality, if they only knew the truth, the means of health and restoration are near at hand. Just as the crew of the Eleanora cried for water, so in all conditions of disease the different organs of the body are crying mutely for a supply of healthy, nourishing blood. There is as much difference between diseased and healthy blood as there is between salt water and fresh. Look at a drop of healthy blood under the microscope and you will see it is filled with a lot of little reddish, circular disks, looking like minute "counters" or "chips," such as are used in card games. with these are a few white ones, about one white to three hundred red ones. These are the red and white corpuscles of the blood. In consumption or any "wasting disease," the red corpuscles of health gradually disappear until they are almsit entirely gone. A very sick person may have as much blood in his veins as a healthy one, but it is changed and weak and loaded with impurities. It will no more nourish the diseased organs than salt Pierce's little Memorandum Books, saw water will satisfy thirst. The blood-making and blood-cleansing organs have lost their power of one bottle of each-'Golden Medical supplying healthy blood. They can Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' neither furnish the needed red corpuscles nor carry away the foul impurities. No matter how much food is taken nor how good it is, it gives no nourishment; its vital qualities never reach the diseased tissues. In the midst of plenty they are famishing: "Nourishment, nourishment, everywhere, but not a drop to drink!" That is the cry of the lung tissues wasting away in consumption. The throat and bronchial tubes, the heart, a nd kidneys, and skin and joints; all are suffering from the same cause: the life-current which ought to supply them with sustenance and nurture only brings them poison. They are famishing for good blood. This foundation fact about disease is now generally acknowledged; but it was discovered nearly thirty years ago by Dr. R. V. Pierce, then a rising young physician of Buffalo, N. Y. He was almost the first physician in this country to take the radical view that consumption is a blood disease, and not returned. I have recommended the the only way to reach and cure it is to cleanse and enrich the blood. He took a step further than others; He believed that medicine is the science of cure; He declared that a medicine must and could be found which should enable the blood-producing and bloodpurifying organs to perform their work. He made up his mind to discover this medicine and he did. gation he discovered the remedy which has since become famous as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the with doctors for about one year and After patient and thorough investi-

suffering woman and her little one. It human physiology. It reaches directly done. It endows the digestive and assimilative functions of the stomach, and alimentary canal with capacity to extract nuitritious vital elements from the food; gives bower to the liver to filter out the noxious and poisonous elements which overload the system; thus creating a fresh and abundant supply of the sustaining life-giving fluid which the wrecked constitution demands.

Jonas Benfer, Beaver Springs, Sny der county, Pa., of Benfer Bros., lumber dealers, writes: "My case was what the doctors called 'galloping consumption.' I commenced to use your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and used thirteen bottles. After that I could work as good as at any time of my man Catholic minority were in favor life, and was as sound as ever. Am still in the same condition, My sickness started in 1889, and I suffered for about three or four years. Before ginning with your medicine, my weight was about 150 pounds. Now it is from 180 to 185. I think this is a big improvement."

Sidney Bergstra, Esq., of Clearlake Deuel county, South Dakota, writes: 'Last spring I was taken sick with a very bad attack of La Grippe, and had awful pains in my lungs and breast, with a bad cough. My doctor's medicine gave me no relief, and when I sat up for five minutes I wanted to lie down again. My wife got very much discouraged and said she would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery; so I took two bottles. When I had taken half a bottle the pain ceased and began to leave, and after taking two bottles of it I felt like a new man, and could do my own work again. I can fully recommend your medicine, and must say it will do what it is said to do."

Mrs. Nancy R. Tubb, of Armory, Monroe county, Miss., writes: "About ten years ago I suffered an attack of nervous prostration, resulting in other troubles which my family physician pronounced consumption. ed with him until we lost all hope I finally happened to find one of Dr his medicines recommended, thought I would try it; sent and got

-and one bottle of 'Pellets.' As soon as I commenced to use these medicines my health began to improve, and before I had used one-half dozen bottles I felt almost as strong as I ever was. I am now enjoying good health again. Two years ago, I had a little boy who seemed to be subject to phthisic (asthma) and I thought I would try the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and to my surprise it cured him entirely; he has never had another attack.

Dorchester county, Md., writes: several years I have been subject to chills and fevers during the autumn months, and had also spells of disor-dered liver. I think it was during the fall of 1884 that I was taken ver sick, After using many other medi-cines and obtaining no relief I bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and before I had used one-half of it the chills and fevers were gone, and up to this writing have use of the medicine to others, and they have also been helped.

Mr. Chas. E. Lecompte, of Salem,

M. J. Flanigan, Esq., of Henrietta, Clay county, Texas., writes: "I reply to yours of recent date, would say, after using four bottles of the 'Discovery' and following directions as given in your previous letter, I have fully regained my health, all symptoms of liver complaint being gone, for which accept my sincere thanks.'

restored to good general health."

Mr. Wm. Rogers, of 607 Grayson street, Louisville, Ky., writes: "I was troubled with dyspepsia and backache, sick stomach, bowels in a bad condition, could not sleep at night; everything I would eat made me sick could thing I would eat made me sick, could hardly get up in the morning, never passed a well night in six years. My nervous system was broken down, had no appetite at all. While reading I found Dr. Pierce's advertisement. I wrote him at once. Since then I have been using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery one month. Have taken three bottles; commenced on the fourth today. I am in better health than I have been in eight years. Appetite good, no backache, bowels in good condition, can sleep well at night. I regret that I cannot explain the improvement I have received since using the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I am 50 years old and feel thirty years younger than I am." For nearly 30 years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. His reputation as a successful practitioner and medical author is world-wide. He has received many thousands of written testimonials from people who have been cured by his medicines. No other doctor has been the means of greater good to his fellow-men.

His thousand-page book, The Peo-ple's Common Sense Medical Adviser, is the most complete and instructive family medical library ever published in one volume. It is written in plain and interesting language; gives the most valuable advice; and contains over 300 illustrations and colored plates. It has had a larger sale than any work of its kind in the English language. Six hundred and eighty thousand copies were sold at $1.50 each. CONDEMNED IN MONTREAL,

The Coercion of Manitoba Discussed and a Line of Action Approved.

Montreal, April 1.-At a meeting of the Ministerial Association Tuesday, the committee appointed to consider the action of the Dominion Government towards Manitoba, reported. The report of the committee, which was adopted, condemned any interference on the part of the Dominion Government with the Province of Manitoba in regard to the school question, and expressed disapproval at the action of the Dominion Parliament in proceeding with the discussion of the Remedial Bill in committee of the whole while negotiations are in progress between the Provincial Government of Manitoba and the Federal authorities in the direction of arriving at an amicable solution of the difficulty. The committee re-Water, water, everywhere, but and surely the obscure sources of malo other medicine has ever | Pointment of the royal commission, but the members are unanimously opinion that the controversy is so momentous, and the different points at issue so complex, that the commission will be unable to arrive at a thorough understanding of the question within the time allotted for the conference by Parliament. The committee suggest that at least seven months be spent by the commission in conferring with the Manitoba Government, during which time a thorough inquiry could be made into the nature of the schools existing prior to and after 1890, the date on which the present Manitoba school law came into force. GIGANTIC COMBINE

Of the Iron and Steel Industries-Ener mous Capital.

Chicago, April 31.—The iron and steel industry, it is said, is now in the absolute control of a few men who are banded together by the strongest bonds of common interest, and who have, at a conservative estimate, not less than $300,000,000 at their disposal. The details of the transactions by which this important commercial combina-tion was affected were mapped out in New York last week and the final move was made in Pittsburg, Pa., and Birmingham, Ala., yesterday. The men in this immense combination are in a position to say how much iron ore shall be converted into iron and steel, and at what price it shall be sold. Among the concerns said to be in the combine, are the Carnegie works; the Bethlehem Iron Company, Bethlehem, Pa., and the Illinois Steel Company, of this city.

KILLED ON THE TRACK. Essex, April 1.—On Monday night, about 8 o'clock, express No. 10 on the M. C. R., going east, struck and killed a man who was walking on the track near Belton. The body was brought to Essex, where it was found to be that of George Dale, of Windham Center. Dale was about 35 years old, and had been in bad circumstances for some time, having been unable to get work. Some letters on his person dis-closed the fact that his wife was in Detroit. A newspaper clipping also stated that he and his wife had been tramping from place to place looking for work for some time.

ONE FACT

Outweighs a Thousand Claims-It Is Facts We Give You Backed Up by London Proof.

Facts are what we want. Opinions won't do.

They differ. It is hard to pick the correct ones. Even doctors disagree. You have a backache.

One friend tells you to use plasters. They will cure the backache. That is his opinion. Another recommends a liniment. You follow the advice of one; perhaps both. But are you cured?

We think not. The ache perhaps leaves for a time. But it comes back.

You don't reach the cause. Go for the kidneys, and the backache goes.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kid-

That is why they cure backache. This is a fact which can be proven. London people say so.

Here is one: Mrs. Mary Wonnacot, 380 Clarence street, London Ont., says: "I have had serious kidney troubles for fourteen years. For the past two years I have been a great sufferer. The doctor said I had what is called 'floating kidney.' I have suffered very much with pain in the back and right side, also neuralgic pains in my head. I was nervous, could not sleep well, had no appetite and was completely dragged out. I was in great distress all the time, and felt thoroughly miserable and sick.

"For many years I tried a great number of medicines in order to get relief, but all without avail, until I sent to Strong's drug store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pilis. doctor I had got them, and he said they would undoubtedly do me good, and they have done so, far beyond my expectations. Since I have been taking them I have felt better every day. They have relieved me and helped me in all the distressing ailments to which I was subject. I am stronger; have no more pain. Appetite is much better, and in every way I feel they have done me the greatest good. It is a great thing for me that at last I have found something that suits my case, and which I know benefits me as no other remedy could do."

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

"HANDS ACROSS THE SEA." The attraction at the Grand Good Friday, matinee and night, and Saturday, matinee and night, will be "Hands Across the Sea." An exchange says: The large audience which witnessed the presentation of the melodrama, "Hands Across the Sea," at the Opera House last night was thoroughly pleased and delighted with the play itself and the manner in which it was presented. From start to finish, "Hands Across the Sea" is replete with stirring scenes and exciting climaxes. The audience was decidedly appreciative, and frequent outbursts of applause punctuated the entire play. At the close of the third act the artists were accorded an enthusiastic curtain call. The acting throughout was exceptionally good. Altogether, 'Hands Across the Sea' is the premier attraction of the season, and theater-goers who miss it will miss a rare treat."

BERNHARDT IN "LA TOSCA." Sarah Bernhardt's coming to London is really the most notable event in the history of the Opera House. The great Morris). French woman is popularly called the "Queen of the Stage," for surely no other actress has ever attempted so much on the highest artistic plane as she. Bernhardt's career, as detailed in Munro. a recently published book, is romance typified. One continual succession of artistic triumphs—one sequence of conquests in the great world o'er which the muses preside—that is its gist and synopsis.
