ISSUE GENERAL CALL TO ARMS IN IRELAND

Will Give Premier King Hearing At Washington

HUGHES AWAITS CONFERENCE ON VITAL ISSUES

Canada's Prime Minister Is Expected in U. S. Capital On Wednesday.

DEMANDS RETALIATION
Washington Senator Seeks Tariff to Ban Entry of Dominion Fish.

Washington, July 6.—Premier W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada and U. S. Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes will confer in Washington next Wednesday.

The conference, which was arranged on the initiative of Premier King, taking in a number of questions of mutual interest to the two countries.

Demand that retaliatory measures against Canada be put into the proposed tariff bill in connection with the proposal to place a duty of two cents a pound on salmon, halibut, mackerel and other fish, was made in the senate today by Senator Jones of Washington.

He offered an amendment that no fresh or frozen salmon, halibut or swordfish from the North Pacific or tributary water, be admitted to the United States through any foreign country except when in bond from a United States port.

The amendment is aimed, Senator Jones explained, at certain Canadian regulations and orders-in-council intended to concentrate the fishing industry at Prince Rupert, B. C. The amendment seeks to induce United States fishermen to take their fish to Ketchikan, Alaska and Seattle, Wash.

In proposing the amendment, Senator Jones commended the energy and intelligence of Canadians in looking out for their fishing and shipping interests, and held it was up to the United States to show like intelligence.

The chairman of the senate finance committee held the amendment in violation of treaty rights.

Went Buy Gin or Whiskey At $1 a Quart

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Genuine Gordon gin and "Johnny Walker" whiskey is going begging here for less than a dollar a quart. It became known today. The federal district attorney and the United States marshal have met with little luck in their effort to peddle a carload of liquors which prohibition agents had seized.

A bill of $500 is due the railroad for freight and ice, and it is up to the government to pay it. The parties to whom the car was consigned declared they had no idea who shipped the liquor to them. They waived all interest in it.

BOOSTS VALUES IN WARD TWO

Commissioner Grant Predicts Increase of Nearly One Million.

Richter System Operating in London West Responsible For Advance.

When members of No. 1 committee of the city council receive assessment figures for Ward Two in the near future they will show an increase of approximately one million dollars. This fact was announced by Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant Thursday, who states that the increase in assessment in this section will be nearly one million dollars.

Complete figures for Ward Two assessment are not yet available, but early computations indicate that the increase will be as noted above. This increase will be spread over income, real estate, building and business tax.

The chief advance in assessment for Ward 2 will be shown as made in London West, where the Richter system of assessment was put into force this year for the first time. As this system when put in operation in other portions of the city invariably showed an increase in assessment, Mr. Grant looks for the same result in Ward 2.

The assessment commissioner states that complete returns of assessment for ward two will be released July 12, and acting under instruction from No. 1 committee, he refuses to divulge the exact totals to date.

"I shall be pleased if the increased assessment in ward two reaches one million dollars," he stated. "It will be slightly under that amount."

DECLARES RAIL SHOPMEN PLAN TO GO ON STRIKE

James Somerville Makes Dominion Tour of Canadian Roads.

MEN WILL NOT SUBMIT
Asserts Action to Follow Enforcement of Sunday Work Conditions.

Moose Jaw, Sask., July 6.—James Somerville, international vice-president of the Machinists' Union, who returned to Moose Jaw last night from a tour of Canadian railways from Montreal to Vancouver, declared that shopmen throughout Canada are prepared to go on strike if railway companies persist in their attempt to enforce the terms announced during May upon the men. The men, declared Mr. Somerville, are determined that they are not going to submit to the conditions which the railways are attempting to impose on them, especially with regard to Sunday work.

The proposal of the railways is that the men should accept straight time for Sunday work and holidays. We established the payment of overtime for Sundays and holidays 23 years ago to eliminate as far as possible work on Sundays.

"If the company's proposal to pay straight time for Sunday work is accepted, we will debate Sunday the same as in the United States, and conditions which we believed we had overcome years ago, will be back," he said.

HOPE TO AVERT STRIKE.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Hope for the speedy settlement of country-wide strike of the railway shopmen was seen tonight in statements issued by Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the United States Railroad Labor Board, and B. M. Jewell, leader of the shop crafts, who ordered the walkout.

In reply to a letter from Mr. Hooper, Mr. Jewell declared that the strikers were willing to "consider any negotiations with anyone in authority for settlement of the strike."

"We are willing to confer with anybody in authority by the railroads to bring peace proposals to us," said Mr. Jewell. "I include or exclude nobody, but if the labor board, for instance, has a proposal, we will consider it."

Berthal went to his rescue and both sank. They were seen by Jos. Menard, who was standing on the shore. He rowed out in a boat and managed to rescue Gendreau. Later he found young Frenau, and brought the two boys ashore, but only Gendreau could be revived.

CLEANS UP GROUNDS OF COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Kingston Construction Company Starts Men On Work To Complete Contract.

True to their word, and in accordance with their agreement, both written and oral, the Kingston Construction Company, creators of the new Central Collegiate Institute, are back at work.

Actual operations commenced on Wednesday afternoon, and a gang of men are busily engaged in clearing up generally about the buildings and grounds.

After his careful inspection of a week ago, L. E. Carrothers, school architect, explains, the contractors were granted a three-weeks' time limit in which to complete all tasks according to their contract, and remedy any defects that might be apparent. It is now believed, however, that these, as reported from time to time in past months, have been more or less mythical.

BEAUTY ONLY DEVELOPS AT 30

For Prettiness of Youth Is Merely Accident of Life

"A WOMAN'S real beauty does not begin to show until she is 30." This is the opinion of Anzia Yezierska.

She has looked squarely at life through the eyes of a sweatshop worker, a factory hand, a dishwasher, a struggling journalist, and now with the complex vision and understanding of a successful writer. "All women want to be beautiful themselves and to create beauty around them," she explains.

"When I fled to England from Russia, penniless, uneducated and friendless, I lived with the poorest workers—a worker myself, often without food and wretchedly clad. But there was never a time when I did not hunger more for beauty than for bread."

"But as I suffered and learned, I came to realize that one couldn't go out and get beauty ready-made, that it was something you had to develop from within."

"Beautiful clothes, money, fine surroundings are all quite empty unless one develops an inner something. The beauty of youth is natural, but it is only a mask one wears while developing the soul."

"To be beautiful at 20 is purely accidental. To be so at 60 is character."

"A woman is beautiful only when she has suffered and lived and learned to think—when she has the courage to make her own decisions and be herself. Then she is an individual. Individuality is real."

"Then a woman has generated a force which shines through her eyes, and illuminates her face—something more dynamic and electric than mere prettiness—something which lives and which attracts."

City's Cost of Government 7th Lowest In Canada

ON PER CAPITA BASIS.

CIVIC administration in London costs every citizen $30.07 a year, according to returns from seventeen municipalities in Canada. The above figure is the lowest in the Dominion.

One city only in Ontario surpasses London in economy of municipal government, and that municipality is Windsor, the per capita cost of which is $28.26 per year.

Municipal government is administered at the least per capita per year in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, which is $11.99.

Edmonton leads the 17 Canadian cities in extravagance, the per capita cost of municipal government per year being $56.06 in that center.

Those cities which surpass London in economical civic government are in order of saving, Charlottetown, Quebec, Halifax, Montreal, St. John and Windsor.

The per capita cost of Dominion Government is considered as uniform throughout Canada, and London pays $41.30 per head for this administration in contrast to $74.20 per capita in 1919, when war expenditures were charged up against the country.

In any province the per capita cost of provincial government is regarded as uniform for all municipalities in that province. The Drury government at this province.

Assail Allen Theatre As Unfair To Labor

IN regular session at the Labor Temple Wednesday night the delegates were directed by communication from headquarters of the international musicians union not to patronize the Allen Theatre.

London, the same being placed on the "black list" as unfair to organized labor.

It was explained for the information of the delegates that the management of the picture-house in question has declined to accede to the plea of the local musicians.

The representatives were advised to take back to their locals this announcement in order that the status of the house, according to the union headquarters, would be well defined.

TRUSTEES HOLD SECRET SESSION ON BRANCH HIGH

Officials Refuse To Divulge Results of "Star Chamber" Meeting.

SECOND MEETING SOON
Full Report Will Be Made to Next Regular Meeting of Board.

Once again the school trustees deem it advisable to meet in "star chamber" session. On this occasion it was the members of No. 3 committee, at the call of the chairman, Trustee A. E. Silverwood, who gathered Wednesday afternoon in secret parley to deal with such important issues as the completion of the Central Collegiate Institute as per contract, and the establishment of a South London high school, as ordered by the department of education in Toronto.

While Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of No. 3 committee, W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, and all members who were in attendance, maintain a strict silence as to what transpired, it is now known that the department of education will offer no opposition to the establishment of a temporary branch collegiate institute in the old Victoria public school, upon the assurance the trustees will not swerve from their original policy, and that steps will be taken at the first opportunity to provide two schools of this type in both East and South London.

Trustee Silverwood stated Thursday that another meeting will be held shortly, in order that the committee will have a full report to submit to the board at the next scheduled regular session, July 20.

Although it is several weeks since the trustees informed the provincial department that it was intended to use the Victoria School for this purpose, the only reply forthcoming was a reminder that the London board of education in 1920 promised that the establishment of a temporary branch collegiate was completed, steps would be taken to construct two branch colleges.

After a considerable delay the Toronto authorities referred the question back for further information incidentally withholding their approval of the proposition indefinitely. Nothing was subsequently heard and the trustees fear that it may yet be necessary to dispatch certain of their number to the provincial capital to personally explain that the city council and many of the citizens have expressed themselves as against any building this year.

London, July 5.—The Times states that Lady Wilson, widow of Field Marshal Henry H. Wilson, will be invited to stand as Unionist candidate for Parliament for North Down, her late husband's constituency.

London Dealers Receive Notice Of Advance Of 25c Per Cwt. On Sugar

Believe Large Demand Due to Canning Season, Is Responsible For Increased Price, Reported From Montreal.

Following the universal law of supply and demand, sugar is again on an upward climb.

This morning disconcerting news for the housewife, caught in the midst of the fruit-canning season, was contained in a dispatch from Montreal, announcing an increase of 25 cents a hundred pounds on all classes of refined sugar, making a total increase of 13.5 a hundred-weight since June 1.

Local dealers claim that the increase will affect retail prices immediately, although a new price had not been set late today. For the past several days sugar has been twelve pounds for $1. The increase will probably amount to one-quarter of a cent a pound, or possibly a selling retail at an average price of little more.

The new factory price for sugar is $7.25, while the new local wholesale prices will probably be $7.60 and $7.65 a hundredweight.

Dealers believe that the increase is due entirely to an increased demand for sugar, because of the fruit preserving season. Because of the bountiful harvest of small fruits, and fairly low prices as a result, there has been a considerable run on sugar for some time.

They are emphatic in their belief that the proposed new tax on beet sugar has nothing to do with the flight of prices. Beet sugar, they explain, is on the market only three months of the year, in the late fall and autumn. Even then, the beet product constituted less than one-tenth the total amount of sugar consumed in Canada, they say.

Prediction was made by one dealer that the new price level for sugar will prevail for some time, as the market everywhere is firm. He would not say, however, that he expected higher prices in the near future.

ASSERTS ATTACK ON O. T. A. "A POLITICAL DISGRACE"

Rev. Ben Spence Claims No Truth in Statement of Increased Secret Drinking.

Toronto, July 6.—The administration of the O. T. A. in this province is a great success, and the attacks upon it are a political disgrace," said Rev. Ben H. Spence when interviewed in connection with the statement of G. H. Ferguson that "the Drury government's administration had been a scandal, which was doing much to weaken respect for the law."

"There is absolutely no foundation for the statement with regard to increase of secret drinking," continued Mr. Spence. "The actual facts are entirely to the contrary. With the passing of the bar and public sale of liquor, all kinds of drinking has been lessened. There was more liquor sold illegally in the old license days than is sold illegally today. What prohibition has done has been not to cause bootlegging, but to show it up, and the evidence all emphasizes that fact."

"Prohibition as far as we have it, is an overwhelming success, but we want more of it."

Costs $2 To Issue Check For Five Thousand

OTTAWA, July 6.—Canadian Press.—Some confusion apparently has arisen with regard to the date when the new stamp tax on checks will come into force. An official announcement today intimates that the new rate of fifty cents for every fifty dollars of the amount of money for which the check is drawn up to, but not exceeding $5,000, will become effective on August 1, next. Checks drawn for any amount exceeding $5,000 will be subject to the same tax as those drawn for $5,000—namely, $2.

TANK CAVES IN, KILLING FARMER

McKillop Man Fatally Injured in Wall Crash Near Logan.

Victim's Son Narrowly Escapes Fate in Cement Collapse.

Special to London Advertiser.

Mitchell, July 6.—When Henry Rapine, 65 years old, stood in a cement tank on the farm of John Nicholson, near Logan, at 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning and took the props away to plaster the walls, the sides of the tank caved in, a piece of cement striking him on the head, wounding him so seriously that he died before medical attention could be obtained.

The victim and his 20-year-old son Leslie had the contract for building several feet of cement on the top of a water tank on Nicholson's farm. They completed the walls Monday.

Thursday morning when father and son arrived to do the plastering they found, when the props had been removed, that the walls were not dry, but before the father could escape a large section of the wall struck him on the head, knocking him unconscious. The son, who narrowly escaped a similar fate, succeeded in taking his parent out of the tank.

Dr. Proudlove of Monkton was called, but before he arrived Rapine had died.

Rapine was a resident of McKillop. Besides his widow, he is survived by five sons and two daughters at home and a married daughter, who resides in Elmira.

FOUR SNIPERS SHOT DEAD

Twenty Buildings in Dublin Burned to Ground With Loss of $2,000,000.

Dublin, July 6.—The provisional free state government has instructed the general headquarters staff of the volunteer organization to place its entire establishment on an active service basis.

The headquarters staff is directing officers commanding local units to appeal to all members to accept service for three months. All other citizens who desire to join the national ranks will also be recruited for the volunteer organization.

A general call to arms was issued this morning by the government in the form of a proclamation opening the war for the enlistment of those citizens who last week "were declined by the government because it was confident of the ability of the army single-handed to meet and defeat any attack made upon it."

The proclamation follows: "The valor and patriotism of our national army has broken the conspiracy to override the will of the nation and subject the people to a despotism based on brigandage and ruthlessness, regardless of the people's inalienable right to life, liberty and security."

"Spontaneous and eager offers of army service made by citizens last week were declined by the government because it was confident of the ability of the army single-handed to meet and defeat any attack made upon it."

CITY CHURCHES HOLD OUTINGS

Many Picnickers Take Advantage of Weekly Half Day.

Baseball Games and Races Feature Afternoon At Springbank Park.

Taking advantage of the half holiday Wednesday afternoon many churches and Sunday schools held their annual outings at Springbank Park. London's summer recreation center was crowded during the entire afternoon with merry picnickers, and it was found necessary to run over to the park every ten minutes or so to handle the large number of pleasure seekers.

"Get Acquainted," the slogan adopted by the picnic committee of the Croydon Memorial Church, proved its worth, because more than 500 members of the congregation assembled at Springbank for the annual outing. Those who in a large measure were responsible for the success of the picnic are: Edwin Smith, chairman of the picnic committee; Mrs. T. Treleven, convener of the refreshment committee, and W. H. T. Mooney, convener of the sports committee.

One of the features of the afternoon was a baseball game between the single men and the married men. The benedictines were defeated, however, by the score of 18 to 14. McAlpine, for the winners, featured with two home runs.

Another successful picnic held during the afternoon was that of the Knox Presbyterian Sunday school. The 450 people present were all loud in their praise for Mrs. Woolway, chairman of the refreshment committee, and to Mr. Waddell, who had charge of the sports.

The largest crowd on record attended the annual celebration of the Ridout Street Methodist congregational picnic, and before the afternoon was over 600 were assembled at the park.

The picnic committee consisted of T. Spettigue, chairman; R. Brown, secretary; J. Bickell, treasurer; H. Wilson, Mrs. Brightman, Mrs. Lowes, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Bickell, Miss Ashby, Miss Proctor and Messrs. Scott, Hawkins and Numa.

In baseball, the girls club defeated the married ladies 23 to 18, and a picked team of men humbled the Texas boys to the tune of 11 to 14. Mrs. Perrin was the mysterious lady this year, and was captured by Mrs. Patrick.

The congregation of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church also held their yearly picnic, and the afternoon was passed in sports and baseball. Those on the picnic committee were: Frank Pierce, chairman; Ed. Noel, D. L. Bissett, James Gibson, L. G. Bissett and A. E. Brown.

COLBORNE STREET METHODIST.
The choir of the Colborne Street Methodist Church held their annual picnic at Springbank Wednesday afternoon. An interesting program of sports was run off following an excellent supper provided by the ladies of the choir.
Before supper, teams captained by B. Green and N. B. Adams participated in an interesting ball game. The game, then of short duration, was almost evenly contested by both teams. After some arguing both teams claimed they had won the game. Rev. J. Kelly umpired the game, and his decisions met with German Bluebeard Hangs Self in Cell.

BERLIN, July 5.—Germany's notorious bluebeard, Karl Grossman, committed suicide in his cell by hanging today a half hour before he was to be taken to the criminal court, where he was undergoing trial for murder. He had admitted his guilt in the case of four women, but was suspected of murdering twenty others who had mysteriously disappeared.
Alienists described Grossman as one of the strangest pathological mysteries known to criminology.
He was a lone woman who he seized in the woods in the suburbs of Berlin and dragged to a hermit abode, where he murdered them.

DISCUSS BAN ON POISON GAS USE
Disarmament Commission to Await Distribution of Treaty to Small Nations.
Jouhaux Makes Attack On League For Lack of Results.
Paris, July 6.—Discussion of the advisability of including the clause of the Washington treaty relating to the use of poisonous gas in the plan submitted by Lord Robert Cecil for disarmament, and adoption of the Cecil plan as a whole without modification took up the entire session of the League of Nations this morning. It was decided to postpone discussion of the poisonous gas question until such time as the smaller nations shall have been officially supplied with copies of the Washington treaties. Consideration of adoption of the Cecil plan as a whole was reserved for the afternoon session.
Discussion of the Cecil plan upon which the sub-committee has reported favorably to the plenary session caused a lively tilt between Leon Jouhaux, the French representative on the commission and Lord Robert Cecil.
Francisco Jose Urrutia, representing Colombia, made an appeal in favor of the immediate inclusion of the Washington poisonous gas clause. M. Jouhaux made a determined attack on the Cecil plan and upon the work of the commission, saying that the workers of the world have been expecting much from the commission, but that it has accomplished nothing thus far except to increase the difficulties which he faced by continued talk about guarantees. The work of disarmament, he declared, should proceed whether the various nations demanded guarantees or not. There has been too much talk and not enough action.
Lord Robert replying to M. Jouhaux, caustically asserted that Jouhaux was a man from whom the commission might expect constructive arguments, whereas his whole speech consisted of destructive criticism of a plan which everyone present was aware lacked many details which Jouhaux as head of the workers' federation of France might supply.

Waits Seven Years To Learn Fate of Son.
TORONTO, July 5.—After waiting seven years to learn the fate of her soldier son, Mrs. S. Litchfield of 1130 Dovercourt road today received word at the records department at Ottawa that the grave of Private Reginald C. Litchfield, 15th Canadian battalion, has been discovered in France. The grave was in an isolated position, and was discovered by the graves registration officials while searching the battle areas.
His fate is now definitely known, and the report states that he was killed in action between April 24 and 29, 1915.

LONDON SEVENTH IN GOVERNMENT COST
ment costs every citizen of London $8.08 cents per year, not including Hydro-Electric debt charges as these are presumably counterbalanced by revenues.
The total cost of national, provincial and municipal government per head in London each year is $79.45. It is interesting to note that the cities of Canada rank in the same order on the total of the three governments as in cost per capita of civic administration.
That is to say six cities as listed above lead London in decreased cost of the three governments, and Windsor is the only city in Ontario whose cost per head for government is less than London.
The figures announced are only an approximation of per capita costs of government of seventeen widely separated cities in Canada, and it is pointed out that a record of similar estimates over a term of years should indicate the trend of public expenditure and should be valuable for comparative purposes.
Experts declare that the fact that in any particular year one city has per capita costs higher than another does not necessarily mean that it is being more extravagantly managed. It may mean the opposite.
The first city may have adopted a "pay-as-you-go" policy, after a period of expansion, while the second city may be postponing the inevitable.

TWO DIE TRYING TO RESCUE BOY
Port Hood, N. S., July 6.—Alexander MacDonald, father, and Daniel R. MacDonald, an uncle, have died as a result of their courageous effort to save little James MacDonald, who entered and got lost in a deserted mine yesterday. When he failed to return home, they went down the mine and were overcome by "black damp." Their unconscious bodies were found by a search party. The body of the boy was subsequently found. He had apparently fallen down the shaft.

ISSUE CALL TO ARMS IN IRELAND
tically dealt with until the person, home and property of every law-respecting citizen is rendered absolutely secure.
The Freeman's Journal today supports the provisional Free State government's call to arms in the following terms:
"Thousands of young Irishmen have been longing for an opportunity to rally to the defense of the people. Thousands are old comrades of the early volunteer days, trained in arms."
Based on Nation's Will.
"The national government is broad based upon the nation's will; let it also be broad based upon the nation's strength—then the country will be saved from the madness of the Four Courts."
Twenty buildings in O'Connell street, Dublin's main thoroughfare, were completely destroyed by fire following the surrender last night of insurgent republicans, who had turned the buildings into fortresses in their resistance to the provisional Free State government.
The fire, which raged through the night, was completely under control this morning, but only smoldering ruins remained where the insurgents made their last stand. It is believed the damage will reach more than two million dollars.
Four snipers were shot dead during the night.
Robert C. Barton, former minister of economics in the Dail Eireann cabinet, was arrested at the home of Erskine Childers.
REBELS COMMANDEER GOODS.
Cork, July 6.—An official statement issued by the republican insurgent military headquarters at Mallow says the Republicans forced the Free Staters to surrender the Skibbereen barracks on Tuesday, after which an agreement was signed by the rival commanders that hostilities should cease forthwith.
It was agreed that the Free Staters should hand over their rifles and ammunition to the Republicans, the latter undertaking not to use them against the Free Staters, but to return them in the event of "a fight with the common enemy."
The insurgent command has notified the merchants that their goods may be commandeered on behalf of the army, but that they must give over such goods only when presented with "an official printed requisition form." The merchants have been asked to forward invoices of the commandeered goods to the Republican headquarters.
"The credit of this brigade has always been good, and we mean to keep it so," says the statement.

BLAMES MAYOR FOR BIG DELAY

Trustee Rowe Brands Criticism of Board As Highly Misleading.

Expresses Willingness to Let Dakin Street Problem Drift.

Branding as highly misleading and unwarranted criticism of the board of education by Mayor Cameron Wilson, in connection with the Dakin Street School problem, Trustee Rowe, Thursday, expressed willingness on his part to allow things to drift and let the ratepayers of Southeast London take legal action against the trustees.

"We cannot do the impossible," the "dean" of the school board declared. "All we can do now is to provide the best accommodation that we can for the overflow at the Chesley Avenue and Ealing schools. If we can get an old building, knock the partitions down and stick a stovepipe up, let it go. If we can get a basement of a church, I say get it. If we cannot get anything, let it go and let the parents take legal action against us."

Trustee Rowe questions: "What other alternative is there for the members of the board of education, other than sending this and similar issues of importance to the people at the next city election?"

Takes Exception.

Together with other of the school trustees and officers of the board, Mr. Rowe takes exception to the claim emanating from Mayor Wilson that fault for delay in these matters rests solely on the shoulders of the school trustees. "To a certain degree, I am correct in his statements," Trustee Rowe asserted. "It is true that early in the year, when after deciding that in view of the agitation on all sides for retrenchment, we should build but one school of eight rooms, that this policy was not adhered to."

"What happened? A special session of the board was held. I was not in attendance, because I knew that the same was irregular. However, Mayor Wilson and his advisers, No. 1 committee of the city council, appeared and urged reductions in the building program. Then on the impulse of the moment, and probably actuated by good motives, Chairman Smith and the others agreed, 'Oh, yes, we will build a four-room school in lieu of an eight-room one.'"

Then at a subsequent meeting, when I pointed out that their action was illegal, this action was rescinded and our original request for $80,000 for an eight-room school, that would eventually be added to until a complete seven-room school was built, was submitted to the council. That request still stands legally and contrary to the mayor's opinion, we still know what we want, and have known it for many months.

"Then again the mayor says that, as we have not approached the aldermen or himself on the question, we have not displayed any great enthusiasm. Why should we keep going to them? I was under the impression that this civic commission, upon which sit our representatives, was to be the mouthpiece for all the civic-spirited bodies."

Trustee Rowe explains that while he has no quarrel with Mayor Cameron Wilson, Trustee Edwin Smith, chairman of the board of education, or any of the council, or others interested, he steadfastly believes that much more foresight could be exercised by the people's representatives in consideration of these affairs.

Seek Perpetrators Of Cruel Act Toward Dumb Animals

ONE of the most outstanding cases of cruelty to dumb creatures ever registered in the annals of crime of this type in Middlesex County was perpetrated Wednesday night in the vicinity of Byron, according to George Tustin, officer for the London Humane Society, who reports that his investigations in that area all Thursday morning will result in an arrest before many hours have elapsed.

The culprits will be prosecuted to the fullest extent possible under the provisions of the criminal code, is the inspector's declaration. He withholds from the public at this moment the nature and extent of the crime for certain reasons best known to the police.

Several persons are under surveillance, the police assert.

WILL IMPROVE PLATFORM
AT WESTERN FAIR GROUNDS

Directors Find Erection in Front of Grandstand Dangerous to Actors.

To safeguard the clowns, acrobats and other entertainers who perform before the grandstand at the Western Fair, the board of directors is taking steps to strengthen the long platform upon which the various circus acts are staged.

The flooring had grown so weak it was feared that the lives of the actors would be endangered. To remedy the trouble, a new floor will be laid, while concrete walls will be constructed beneath to give added support. The work will be completed, it is expected, long before the fair opens in September.

Work on the passenger subway leading from the fair to the fair grounds proper beneath the race track is proceeding so rapidly that Secretary A. M. Hunt believes it will be ready for use in three weeks' time. After it is completed, no one will be allowed to cross the track while racing is in progress.

Nearly 3,000 prize lists have been distributed by Mr. Hunt. Within a few days the programs, which are now on the press, will be also ready for distribution.

TRUSTEE SEEKS
CAUSE OF DELAYA. E. Silverwood Desires of Progress in Board of Education Work.

Where is the "colored gentleman in the woodpile," as Trustee A. E. Silverwood terms it, believed responsible for any hitch in board of education procedure?

As chairman of No. 3 committee of the board, Trustee Silverwood, inferring Thursday morning that it was time "for a clean-up" in that direction, gave the assurance that the trustees would soon gather in session and "proceed along the lines of determining just who this party might be."

"From the remarks credited to Mayor Wilson," the chairman commented, "the casual observer would be impelled to believe that the city councilors intended to inspect our school sites, buy them for us, prepare plans for the buildings and then say 'go to it.'"

"It would appear that there was no real need for a board of education in this city any longer. The city council can get along nicely, evidently. We might be considered as an unnecessary evil, as it were. While the mayor talks about the trustees not being able to find out what they want, I may tell him that we found out long ago. The trouble with him is that he can't just see our viewpoint."

Trustee Silverwood gives the assurance, however, that events will progress now with but little delay.

COST OF LIVING IS REDUCED AT JAIL

12.7 Cents Per Day Sufficient
To Feed Each Prisoner.

While many private citizens still complain about the high cost of living, Byron Dawson, governor of the Middlesex County jail, seems to be "making both ends meet" and incidentally decrease the cost per prisoner.

In his report for April, May and June, just issued, the governor places the average cost of each person confined at his establishment at 12.7 cents per day, as compared with 13 cents for the preceding quarter. That the inmates do not suffer in his contention also, maintaining that no one goes hungry, and the previous high quality of the food still prevails.

Crimes registering in importance from trespassing to murder have been committed in the county within the past three months, and persons to the number of 174 have been convicted for the various offences and committed to "Castle Dawson" for safekeeping.

The institution has been particularly free from disease, as there has not been one instance of sickness or one death reported since March last. Likewise, there have been no escapes, no attempted breaks for liberty, and the only person who has been the source of additional care, other than Gordon Didsdale, the slayer of Christina Near, who is constantly watched by Harry Geer, of Johnstown, Pa., who was judged mentally unbalanced and deported two weeks ago.

The only damage noted in the cell block, the smashing of windows, was attributed to Geer, who frequently worried the turnkeys by fits of anger, refusing to eat and threatening to wreck the building.

SENTENCED FOR ELOPING WITH HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

Andrew Harris Jailed for 30 Days for Making Home Unfit for Children.

Eloping with his brother's wife, married Andrew Harris of London a 30-day sentence in the county jail, when he appeared before Squire McKenzie of Newbury, Wednesday afternoon. Harris was charged with making a home unfit for children by immoral conduct, and the court registered a conviction.

Mrs. Gertrude Harris, who left London with her brother-in-law and two children, aged three and six years, was arrested and convicted on the same charge, but was allowed her freedom on suspended sentence. Squire McKenzie ordered that the two children be given in charge of the Children's Aid Society at London, which organization will act as their official guardian until other arrangements for their proper care can be made.

Inspector W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society laid the charge against the accused, both of whom are colored. Search for them was instituted when the husband of Gertrude Harris laid a complaint that she had left London.

The couple came to Newbury with the children a few days ago and posed as man and wife. Inspector Kelly then swore out a warrant for their arrest which was made Wednesday.

BRITISH MAILS

The next mail for Great Britain and Europe will close at the local post office at 10 a.m. on Friday, July 19, 1922, to be forwarded via S. S. Regina, sailing from Montreal on July 8, 1922.

This mail will consist of letters, and registered matter. Parcel post and newspapers at 2 p.m. for dispatch via the same steamer.

WHEN EDWARD BAYNARD of Lambeth, who, with his son was driving into London, reached the corner of Tecumseh avenue and Wharncliffe road, a truck coming from the east, forced the Lambeth men to drive into the ditch to avoid a collision. As a result an axle and the front of the auto were broken. The truck was not damaged, and the name of the driver was not ascertained.

Robert Poulton, Charged With Theft,
Committed For Trial In December

"You are a good Jew and attend the synagogue regularly, I understand. Do you swear in court with your hat on or off?" Squire W. H. Chittick, presiding in county police court Thursday morning, questioned Joseph Fox, London pawn-broker, appearing as the witness in the case against Robert Poulton, of Stratford, who was subsequently committed for trial at the December sessions, charged with the theft of a gold watch from William Anderson, Byron Sanatorium attendant.

Describing that while it was a long story to unfold, Fox explained to the court that he did not hold the same belief as certain members of his faith, and was quite willing to proceed with his evidence lacking his headgear.

The pawn-broker testified that the defendant, under the name of Roy Brown, sold him the watch claimed by the plaintiff for the sum of $8. He was positive that he was not mistaken as to the identity of the man.

A disagreement in opinion was precipitated while evidence was submitted by Charles McConnell, constable at the sanatorium, who related that while he attempted to arrest the prisoner at Springbank a lively tussle ensued, and the latter effected an escape.

Frank Judd, counsel for Poulton, questioned what right, if any, witness exercised to make any arrest in the affair. The squire was of the opinion that as a warrant had been issued, the witness was within his rights. Crown Attorney A. R. Douglas explained that such was not the case in his opinion, as McConnell was not an officer.

"Then I don't read the criminal code right," retorted Squire Chittick, and the case dragged on. McConnell stated that he was chief prefect for the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment, and was acting in accordance with his duties in endeavoring to make the arrest.

Anderson, the complainant, related that the prisoner stayed at the institution the week-end and was simultaneous with his departure he noted the absence of the watch and certain other pieces of jewelry.

A watch claimed by the witness was located by county police in the pawnshop conducted by Joseph Fox. Poulton was afterwards arrested by Brantford police authorities and committed at the sanatorium, where he related that while he attempted to install officers of city lodges. The ceremony of installation of the officers of the four city lodges of Oddfellows was conducted last evening in Chorazin Lodge room by H. A. Clements, D.D.G.M. of London district, No. 14, assisted by members of his own lodge (Forest City), in a very able and interesting manner. At the completion of the ceremony the D. D. G. M. presented a past grand master's jewel to Bro. Thomas Alger of Forest City Lodge, in a few well-chosen words, and the recipient thanked his brothers for their thoughtfulness.

The deputy grand master of the grand lodge of Ontario, Bro. W. G. R. Bartram paid an official visit, and in the course of his remarks presented to the lodge the silver shield donated to the district by P. D. D. G. M. Warren McRoberts for the largest increase in membership during the past year. Bro. Waddell, N. G. of Eureka Lodge, expressed the gratification of his brothers at having won the shield for the first time.

Bro. Bartram and Bro. Clements were both optimistic as to the bright future in store. The large gathering spent a short time in social intercourse at the close of the lodge, while refreshments were being served.

THREATENS SUIT
AGAINST CITYAlex. McLaughlin Will Take Action If Assessment Not Reduced.

Unless the court of revision reduces the assessment of Alex. McLaughlin on several lots, situated on William street north, legal action will be taken against the city in an effort to have the matter adjusted satisfactorily to this ratepayer.

The above ultimatum has been made to the court by M. P. McDonald, counsel for McLaughlin, who maintains that the property is assessed higher than the actual value of the lots, and that his client is willing to sell them at a price less than the assessed value.

In reserving decision, P. B. Fetterly, chairman of the court of revision, states that: "I am in the same boat," real estate being quoted much lower at the present time than its actual value. He characterizes vacant property in London as "a drug on the market," and states that there is every possibility of McLaughlin taking his case to a higher court, to reduce his assessment would be creating a precedent for many other property owners of London whose assessment is high.

In his complaint against the assessment, Mr. McLaughlin points out that his "poorest lot" is assessed higher than more valuable property in his possession.

"I shall have to go before the judge before I get satisfaction," said Mr. McLaughlin.

Commenting on the advisability of reducing the assessment on this property, Chairman Fetterly said: "It leaves us open. Shall I say it is a liability case? I have a lot assessed for higher than I will sell it myself. If we throw this appeal out just on principle the only thing to do is to go before a judge."

"If you decide wrong on this appeal, we will go before the judge," said Mr. McDonald, who represents the appellant. "We cannot help it."

"That's your privilege," said Chairman Fetterly. "The assessors will look into the appeal, and our decision will be announced later."

Mr. McLaughlin declared that on some of the lots which he said he paid a sewer tax which aggregated more than the sum which he received from the purchaser of that land.

ISSUE WARRANTS FOR SUSPECTS AT MUNCEY

Police Finish Investigation In Connection With Recent Thefts On Indian Reserve.

Marking the finish of the police "clean-up," said to be imperative at the Muncy reservation and vicinity, warrants in connection with several reported thefts have been issued and will be executed without delay.

Not more than two days will elapse, County Constable William Fife explained Thursday, before it is anticipated all the suspects will be lodged safely at the Middlesex county jail.

Instances of the theft of shoes and similar articles of lesser importance have just been reported to the constable, who state that it will be necessary to clear out of the county for certain persons whom they believe to be responsible for the disappearance of the goods in question.

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR WORKERS EDUCATION BODY

Richard Crouch Suggested As Tutorial Secretary For New Organization.

Final details of the organization of the Workers' Educational Association to be carried on under the Western University extension movement will be arranged at a meeting of the committee on Wednesday, July 12.

It has been suggested that the tutorial secretary of the association be Richard Crouch, a graduate of Western, who is now taking up post-graduate work in Paris.

It is hoped that the organization will be completed for the fall, and that the work will commence then.

Next Monday the outline of the plan for the scholarship to be donated by the Rotary Club to Western University will be presented to the club for its approval. It is hoped that all arrangements for the scholarship will be completed by the fall so that the $5,000 proposed will be available for students of '22-'23.

Summons Tradesmen for Huckstering On City
Market

AT the instigation of Charles A. Maker, market clerk, police are waging war on hucksters. Already a few have been brought to court and fined for buying goods on the market and then selling them on the market to citizens later at higher prices. Thursday morning, determined to rid the market of this class of tradesman, three constables appeared, and after investigation summoned four men, who they claim, were huckstering, to appear in police court Monday morning.

750 ATTRACTED TO CYCLISTS' OUTING

'Red Bird' Picnic Proves
Outstanding Event of Springbank Season.

To say the least, the "Red Bird" picnic staged by the Bicycle and Motor Sales Company at Springbank Park Wednesday afternoon was the novel outing of the year. It was much more than that, however, for it was the one occasion on which the boys and girls, old and young, in this city who have the love of cycling in common were brought together in play through the splendid efforts of one George A. Wenige.

The picnic was novel in that the long list of sports was performed on wheels. Instead of speedy footwork, exhibitions of clever riding tricks and balancing were given. The novelty of the events added much to the enthusiasm of the contestants.

That the bicycle owners of the city took advantage of the get-together opportunity afforded them was evidenced by a crowd of 750 boys and girls and a few old boys who came with their two-wheeled friends to the park.

Ride to Springbank.

Meeting at the salesroom of the Bicycle and Motor Sales Company, nearly a thousand shouting youngsters began a ride to the park, where a truckload of prizes and good things to eat, which had gone on ahead, was awaiting them. The ride was carried out without accident, and no one dropped out of the dusty grind. A cool breeze tempered the hot sun, and so each rider, from the youngest to the oldest, arrived fresh and fit for the program of sports which began soon after.

The events were held near the loop where a stretch of level ground allowed the young riders to perform at advantage. Every race and contest for the girls as well as the boys was entered by scores of youngsters.

Many of the events called for considerable skill as well as speed, such as spearing a ring while riding a wheel, the slow race where a sure sense of balance was required and the plank race. The obstacle race, one for the boys and one for the girls, combined a riding feature with the boot and shoe race of other picnics.

Prizes were awarded to the youngest and oldest rider on the grounds. They were won by Arthur Harvey, six years of age, who took part in the parade, and James Harris, 41 years of age.

Wins New Wheel.

A brand new wheel was given as a prize in a drawing contest. It was won by Thomas Curry, nine years of age. When called upon to make a speech young Curry said that he was so surprised at holding the lucky number he could only say, "thank you."

Because it was the one outing where it was impossible for many parents to come, Mr. Wenige saw that the children were well protected by securing the assistance of several businessmen of the city in conducting the picnic. Many others came out of curiosity to see how a picnic extraordinary was run.

Assassinate Turkey.

THE TURK has found out that he can wink at all the warnings that were given to him at the time of the world war.

When the war was over, Turkey was going to be either wiped out or so dealt with that she could no longer dominate the corner of the world that caused so much trouble when the war was on.

Today, what? The Turk deliberately plotting, and carrying the plot into execution, for the extermination of the Greek minority of Asia Minor.

Thousands of the Greek residents of the Pontus have been sent off from their homes, the men going first under the guise that they were to engage in road building. The men from along the Black Sea coasts were sent to the interior near Sivas and Harput. There was no shelter, there was little food, and the men died in large numbers of typhus and exhaustion—a typical Turkish method of extermination.

Then in November and December the Turks started cleaning out the women and children. In March some 30,000 of these poor human wrecks were driven out to start for Sivas and Harput. Only a few hours notice was given and they were allowed to take only what they could carry.

Picture that defenseless pilgrimage at the mercy of Turkish soldiers! A writer for the Manchester Guardian, just returned from the district, says: "No sooner are they herded together on the road than the process of spoliation, ravishing and murder begins. Their money is soon spent for food or taken from them by the callous and brutal gendarmes who do the driving, or, later on, by the robber bands of Kurds, who hover about ready to plunder, to kill the men, and to abduct the best-favored of the young women and children. Hunger soon forces them to exchange for food every bit of their personal property and every serviceable garment until they become a crowd of naked, famished creatures, rendered expressionless and dumb by the depth of their misery, and completely at the mercy of the blazing sun or icy wind, an easy prey for the savage Kurd. The aged, infirm, and sick are left by the roadside to die, and the trail of their agony is marked by hundreds of unburied corpses."

And it is with these damned butchers and traffickers in the lives and honor of defenseless women and children that the supposedly civilized world makes treaties.

These human hyenas are recognized by the diplomats of powers that spilled blood that there might be no more wars.

Is it not about time that the red-blooded people of the world, irrespective of any other tie, got together and put the everlasting boots to the damndest set of dirty assassins the world has ever known?

Too Many On Farms?

ACCORDING TO reports of a speech made by Prof. ARCHIE LEITCH of the O. A. C. at Guelph, there is nothing to be alarmed at because people are leaving the farms and going to larger centres. Machinery on the farms has released this labor, and it is not needed in the country.

Now, there may be more in this than might appear on the surface, but it brings up a couple of questions that ought to be considered. One is why are so many people out of work in the cities?

The other would be why should it be necessary to continue the Agricultural College at Guelph if there are enough people on the farms now, and if their leaving for the cities in no way affects the situation.

That Big Sturgeon.

A T SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., a fish was pulled up on shore, weighing 310 pounds. Local fishermen say he was eight feet long, and as there were quite a few around the chances are that the figure is not more than a couple of feet out one way or the other.

Then comes the question of age, one expert who looked him over claiming that he had been swimming for the last 100 years. That would make his birthday about July 4, 1822.

And of this fish it could be written that he had lived through the time of five British sovereigns.

Likewise that he had seen 23 presidents of the United States come and go.

In his younger days along the lakes there were no summer resorts, no flappers on the beach, and no mashers.

Neither were there parties of joy-riders coming to get drowned under the guise of going to a picnic.

Nor were there many divorces in the younger days of this fish. Men used to wear whiskers, look as old as they really were, stay home and mind their business.

Women used to wear their skirts and their hair long—now they wear them both short. And this old fish has had a chance to see the havoc the change has made.

'Twould also be interesting to know how many storms on the lakes this old giant has caused. He had a lot to do with high or low water in the lakes, depending on which side of the lake he leaned to.

And he must have been well known among all the other fish in the Great Lakes. Likely they were all related to him, and the chances are that he gave advice year after year, unto generation after generation, on how to keep on being alive in spite of all the temptations of fish hooks and nets.

The traditions of the deep must have all been shook to pieces when word was spread that Old Dad Sturgeon had gone west.

Pretty tough to reach that ripe old age and then get caught up with a lot of other silly little fish only a few months old.

Marriage Licenses.

CITY CLERK BAKER of London is a few laps ahead of the provincial government when it comes to issuing marriage licenses. He has refused several applicants recently, and considerable notoriety has resulted. According to the strict interpretation of the law the chances are that the city clerk is running ahead of the statutes, but there are times when some person has to start out and blaze a trail, and this the city clerk of London is doing.

Commenting on the London situation, the Ottawa Journal says:

"The city clerk of London, having reason to believe that an applicant for a marriage license is physically unfit to marry, has done what has never been done before in Ontario, he refused to issue the license for this reason. It is reported that action may be taken against him to compel him to issue the license, since there is no law requiring applicants to present certificates of health. Perhaps action against the official may succeed. If it does the law should be amended. What is the purpose of the licensing system if it is not that of regulation? And if this public officer has good reason to believe that a man who applies for a license is not one to whom the right to marry should be granted, should he not have the power to withhold the certificate?"

There is, as a matter of fact, nothing unreasonable or unjust in the attitude taken by CITY CLERK BAKER. No one will question that he had the very best of reasons for making the answer he did to the applicant for the marriage license. No details are given in connection with the case, and none are asked.

MR. BAKER has taken a course in which he is really open to action by law. It remains to be seen if the Legislature is going to leave him in that position, or whether it is going to come to his assistance by giving official sanction in the way of amended enactments to the course he has followed. One or the other must be done.

Smoking a Crime.

HISTORIANS tell us that smoking was at one time regarded as a crime, in the time of James I., who wrote to his "dear fellow countrymen" to eschew the disgusting custom of using vile tobacco like the beastly Indians. He went on to argue that civilized people might just as well go the limit and smear their bodies with dye and paint as to copy Indians in the habit of smoking. In several countries smoking was classed as a crime, punishable by the knout, excommunication, and even death, although no cases are on record of the latter punishment being enacted.

As far as records go—and they are not very complete—Columbus discovered tobacco when he was sent to explore the island of Cuba in 1492, bringing back word that he had seen the natives using it. Jacques Cartier, when he sailed up the St. Lawrence in 1535, claims that he found Indians drying tobacco leaf in the sun. Tobacco was not brought to Europe until Frances Fernandes, a physician sent by Philip II. to investigate the products of Mexico, took samples back to Spain in 1568.

Strange Things.

SCIENTISTS TELL us strange things, and now they have it figured out that we would weigh differently on different stars, or on the moon or sun.

Reduced to tables, for every person likes tables in these 100 per cent efficient days, it works out like this for a man of 160 pounds:

Here	160
Moon	27
Sun	4,000
Mercury	50
Venus	136
Mars	58
Jupiter	400
Saturn	171
Uranus	158
Neptune	139

In Ceres, for instance, which is 485 miles in diameter, the law of gravity is so little in evidence that folks like you and I would have to watch out otherwise we'd drop off into space. In other places we would be so heavy that our heads would just naturally sink right down through to our boots. All things considered, it's just as well we are where we are.

It is reported that snake bites can be cured by taking a good drink of whiskey, and now we're sure to have a whole lot of people rubbing up against the snake charmer's tent when the circus comes to London.

LITTLE 'TISERS

And now comes the season of the year when the milk dealer has to scratch to keep his bottles from being used for preserves and pickles.

There are so many different kinds of candidates in the Manitoba election that they are talking of electing out a stock book for election day.

One June bride is reported to weigh 500 pounds. The happy husband is sure she can't do any elegant stunts on a ladder from an upstairs window.

California growers are charged with allowing 8,000,000 cantaloupes to rot on the ground rather than send them to market and spoil the price. And each of the little 8,000,000 feels that it was sacrificed to the golden calf.

Monte Carlo may be all chopped up and wrecked. People will no longer be able to lose their money and their heads there, but in this country we can accomplish the same end by that national pastime, "keeping up with the Joneses."

A man cut out tobacco and meat a few years ago and started out to be 100 years old. He died a few days ago at 71, which will cause some person to remark that quite a pile of folks have beat that record and lived on T-bone steak and election cigars.

In case you want to get the real inside story on the freight rates, here it is from the Toronto Telegram: Toronto, per T. L. CHURCH, K.C., advised ARTHUR MEIGHEN to follow a policy of action for the country's sake, the party's sake and Mr. MEIGHEN's own sake. "We don't understand it, but take it for granted the readers will."

NOAH'S POETRY

CAMPING OUT.

Along about this time of year there always seems a feeling sent, that makes folks want to leave their homes and put their carcass in a tent.

And so we went away from town and picked a grove beside a stream, and there we reckoned we would dwell in land that smacked of cheese and cream.

We went to bed to dream about the poor old folks left in the flat, and of breakfast made of mush and eggs that frizzed in bacon fat.

We woke up when the day was young, with streaks of dark and light between, and viewed more bugs and insects there than most folks livin' ever seen.

Mosquitoes, ants and crickets, too, and spiders crawled upon the wall, while moths and flies and worms and bugs had brought their folks to make a call.

Oh, they had waltzed upon the bread, the butter, too, had borne their mark, and in the cheese and pickle dish the whole caboose had had a lark.

But some folks rave about that life, and sing a song unto the lot of them what lies beneath a tent and sleeps upon a two-foot cot.

Ah, let me have my homely couch, where fleas can't smite me in the chest, where the worms can't build a ranch inside the pockets of my vest—where I can park my weary bones and lay me down in sweet content, and all you other folks can go and spend your summers in a tent.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 259—WEEDING OUT THE THOUGHTLESS.

In some lines of business the handicap of thoughtlessness is not so great as certain advantages. The thoughtless person may possess a certain type of energy and activity. In others, however, the thoughtless person is a distinct liability.

Suppose, for instance, that you are about to engage a man to take the responsibility of handling important financial transactions and records. You certainly do not want to hire one of those thoughtless, erratic sort of individuals for this work.

There are many ways, of course, in which you can guard against this, if you take the time and trouble to go completely into the record of each applicant. But suppose there are a great number of them, and you desire to make a preliminary weeding out of the thoughtless ones.

All you have to do is to look over the letters of application. Hunt for those in which the writing is more or less irregular, but particularly in which the spacing between the lines is irregular, and in which the up and down loops of the long letters cut through the lines above and below in haphazard sort of fashion.

The writers of these letters, on the whole, will be the people to whom you don't want to give this sort of work. There may be exceptions, of course. There always are. But on the whole you can't go far wrong on throwing out these applications, if you have plenty of other more promising ones from which to make your selection.

TODAY'S word is EXOTIC.

It's pronounced egz-ot-ik, with accent on the second syllable and all vowels short.

It means from a foreign country; foreign, not native.

It comes from the Latin—exoticus, meaning "outside."

It's used like this—"The trees lent an exotic magnificence to the scene."

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

"SEEING RED"

SUDDEN fit of anger, in which one allows all self-control to slip the leash, is liable to be "unhealthy" in more ways than one.

Aside from the oft-proved fact that many crimes are committed during such outbursts, they frequently are followed by a depressed feeling or a profound fit of the "blues."

You can train yourself not to let anger get control. When you are angered a strong mental effort should be made to regain your composure. This is often aided by the very simple means of counting, or doing a certain number of exercises. Doing something very slowly or forcing yourself to think of something else often helps to subdue the fit of "seeing red."

Coaches and trainers will tell you that it is quite possible to learn self-control.

In football and similar sports it is essential. Boxers, too, must learn that they cannot do their best when angry.

A good golfer may play a poor game simply because he becomes enraged, either at the mistake of his own, or because of some movement or exclamation on the part of a bystander. Experienced golfers train themselves to forget the missed stroke—to think only of the strokes of the present.

So the average individual, just like the football player or boxer or golfer, can conquer sudden fits of anger, and save immeasurably in health by so doing.

He has the right to use his money as he pleases.

People take cats and dogs and make fools of them. They feed them highly, let them sleep all the time, until they grow shiny fur instead of muscles, and any lumberyard cat or logging-camp dog would be ashamed to do battle with them.

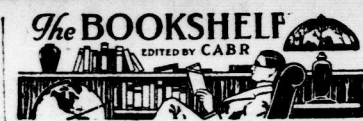

Too much money can be used to make a man just as ridiculous as food owners make their cats and dogs by too much luxury.

MORE THAN ONE WAY.

A gentleman with a sensitive and cultivated ear was annoyed by the persistent and wretched piano playing of a woman who occupied the adjoining flat. One day he met her in the hall with her 4-year-old daughter.

"Your little girl plays quite well for a child of her age," he remarked in his most friendly manner. "I hear her practising every day."

The offender made sure he was out when she opened the piano again.

PETER WHIFFLE. By Carl Van Vechten. Alfred A. Knopf, publisher, New York. $2.50.

THE imported bindings that adorn this book—of which, according to generous rumor, there are no less than some seventy varieties—are in perfect harmony with their contents. They are exotic, politely startling and pleasing; the one sort of clothing in which Peter Whiffle could be happily at his ease.

Assuredly this story belongs to its titular hero; it is "His Life and Works," the biography of an author who never wrote a book, the tale of a charming youth who falls victim to successive aesthetic and intellectual enthusiasms. But, more important, it is the story of its author.

If Mr. Van Vechten would write a round half dozen of these engaging biographical fictions, we might piece together a not too unreliable autobiographical mosaic from the collection. Which is in no way a disparaging criticism, for Van Vechten is a more interesting person than Whiffle.

The latter is, obviously, a mouth-piece through which the author pours elaborate lists of strange and precious things; opinions on literature, music, painting and sculpture; polysyllabic and almost unused words; in short, what might be the years' fruitage of a hundred note books or of an incredible memory.

Peter himself is a pale youth who belongs properly to the Nineties; he carries about him a delicate aura of unreality. Seen only in occasional glimpses, spaced by intervals of years, in Paris, in Florence, he is interminably preparing for authorship, without ever practically experimenting in his chosen medium.

At the outset, in Paris, he is convinced that "contingent" literature is the purest style of all; he will collect innumerable lists of all the beautiful practical, exotic, commonplace, perverse objects in the world, and these names will form his book, without definition and without explanation. It will be sheer verbal magic. Then comes his proletarian period. His novel will be the REVOLUTION in large capitals, with a resounding BOOM at the end. Diligently, for a time, he collects his red material. And later we find him passionately worshipping at the shrine of neglected Arthur Machen, the subtle neocromancer.

The book is crowded with opinions and judgments, gems, drinks and perfumes; with scores of more or less interesting people who parade the pages under their proper names, and with epithets and anecdotes.

"Peter Whiffle" is sparkling stuff. It is light, indeed, but it is delightful fare after the solid dishes of our solemn realists, who are all too apt to write as though there were no Paris of legend, Florence, music, art, perfumes, cats, gems, and Edith Dales in this world.

Save Ontario's Forests They're Yours

The only effective way to fight forest fires is to prevent them. Help us save Ontario's forests. Do your share. Be careful of fire in the woods. Remember the ground itself is full of wood fibre and in dry weather WILL BURN for days and days, carrying fire to dry logs and stumps. The first puff of wind may start a flame and carry it for miles.

Don't throw burning matches, cigarette or cigar ends, pipe heels on the ground. Build your camp fire on a flat rock by the water or in an old fire place. Don't forget to put it DEAD OUT with water when you leave.

LONDON LABOR WANTS SCHOOL LAW ENFORCED

Trades Council Protests Civic Motion To Repeal Adolescent Act.

HESSSEL SCORES ROLLO

Carpenters' Delegate Thinks Minister Should Have Answered Letter.

Criticism and commendation for members of the Ontario Legislature found expression at the regular meeting of the London Trades and Labor Council Wednesday.

While the delegates endorsed the legislation passed by the provincial government pertaining to the adolescent school attendance act, the Hon. Walter Rollo, minister of labor, was the subject of direct and bitter criticism by reason of his apparent failure to answer a communication sent him two weeks ago relative to the "fair wage" problem.

Introduced by William Tite, delegate to the council from the International Machinists' Union, the following resolution was discussed at considerable length on the floor of the council and passed without discussion:

Urge Enforcement.
Whereas the Ontario Legislature in 1919 passed the adolescent act, and whereas the London City Council adopted a motion for repeal of the aforesaid act, be it resolved, that the London Trades and Labor Council protest the action of the city council and petition the Ontario Legislature to keep this act on the statutes.

Upon the shoulders of the various industrial and other big employers of labor do these delegates to the trades and labor council place blame for the inferiority of Canadian school children that would compel them to remain at their studies longer than they may at present.

If the employers pay a "decent wage," as the labor leaders term it, the fathers of the children would be placed in a better position to keep their children at school, and not allow them to leave at an early age to work in shop or factory.

Ask for Scholarships.
That the authorities, either provincial or civic, should proffer as added inducements, scholarships for high standings, of a substantial financial nature, that would enable more children of the working class to attain a college training, is the firm contention of the delegates who will voice their opinion Wednesday, and the same will be submitted to the city council.

Not long since the latter endorsed the stand of the Chatham councillors who protested against the enforcement of the new regulations of the adolescent act, which elevates the age at which children may obtain working permits, from 14 to 16 years.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS
Sufferers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble. CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic 'acid stomach,' says a well known authority.
Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepper or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.
Instead neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. It acts up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive. Adv.

World Stars Merge in Giant Circus

THOUGH not generally known, it is a fact that the circus family antedates the best-known names of the stage. One hears a great deal about the aristocracy of the footlights. The Barrymores, the Drews, the Jeffersons and others point with pride to the long line of ancestors who trod the boards before them. Yet, the people of the white tops trace their names still farther back.

In Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Shows combined are gathered all the foremost artists of Spangland. The consolidation of these famous institutions has made this possible. Now, and for the first time in circus history, one finds such names as the following on a single program: The Ernestos, Rooneys, Clarks, De Koes, Siegrists, Silbon, Bradnas and many others whose grandfathers wore the spangles of the sawdust realm. Here the patron finds the entire aristocracy of circudom in ensemble.

It is the rule rather than the exception for the son or daughter of a performer to follow in the footsteps of his parents. As soon as they leave school the children join their elders to be put through the mysteries of their first somersault or to feel the yielding back of a horse beneath their feet. This is the way the "business" is kept up.

The teachers are the most willing in the world, for each parents lives in the hope that his child may become a greater performer than himself. The combining of the "world's greatest shows" and the "greatest show on earth" has resulted in bringing hundreds of performers under one "big top," yet, out of the vast number, a census would discover that the total includes no less than 47 families.

The aristocracy of the family extends to those who are prominent in the brilliant introductory revue, which opens the main tent program. Yvette Gerra, who is a prominent figure in the mammoth pageant, is of a family well known in the annals of European pantomime. Her uncle, Jules Turnour, aged 70, is one of the business. Delegate R. Hessel, representing local carpenters, introduced for discussion the "fair wage" problem.

"At the last meeting," he pointed out, "we directed a communication be sent to the minister of labor seeking information upon a certain subject. We have received no reply."

Criticize Rollo.
"I would like to see his hand forced in this manner. As a public servant and a cabinet minister, the least that the Hon. Walter Rollo could do would be to have the common courtesy to reply to our letter. It appears to me that they are trying to evade the issue in Toronto, and we should give it back to them as strong as they give it to us."

It was directed that another communication be sent to the department of labor asking Mr. Rollo to send a full copy of such legislation pertaining to the "fair wage" clause in all government contracts as claimed to have been passed by the provincial government in 1900, and also to furnish a wage schedule for the work of construction of Western University buildings complying, however, with local rates of pay and conditions.

Delegate Hessel explained that at a conference in Toronto last January the government representatives admitted that legislation had been passed in 1900, but no copy of the same was produced at the time.

DISMISS PLEA OF MAURICE BALDWIN

Privy Councillors Uphold Judgment of Appeal Court of Quebec.

MONTREAL, July 5.—The privy council has dismissed with costs the appeal of Maurice Day Baldwin, grandson of a former prime minister of Canada, and son of a former Bishop of Huron, against a judgment of the court of appeals of Quebec, granting Mrs. Baldwin separation from her husband, $75 a month and the care of her children, according to a cable received at the office of Ewing & McFadden, lawyers for Mrs. Baldwin.

A majority judgment of the court of appeal in Montreal on Dec. 30, 1920, reversed a decision of the superior court, and granted the appeal from Mrs. Day Baldwin for separation from her husband, Maurice E. Day Baldwin.

Mr. Baldwin was ordered to pay his wife $75 a month, and the care of the three children was confided to Mrs. Baldwin, with permission to the father to visit them three times a week, "but," the judgment added, "under the supervision of a person to be named by the appellant, seeing that it is to be feared—taking into account the father's past conduct—he may take possession of the children."

PREDICTS DEFEAT OF DRURY REGIME

G. Howard Ferguson Raps Ontario Premier As Idealist in Vancouver Speech.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 5.—"Ontario is tired of group government and when we have our next election, which will be either this fall or next, the issue will be which of the two old parties will be returned to power," declared G. Howard Ferguson, K.C., of Toronto, leader of the Ontario Conservative party, yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have just returned here from a visit to Alaska and Attlin.

"Premier Drury, while an educated man and clever, is an idealist, a Fabian socialist whose legislation is always utopian in its objectives," said Mr. Ferguson. "He has been compelled at the last two sessions to abandon a large portion of his legislative program because it savored of scores upon scores of clowns with the show. Yet, old as he is, Turnour was not the first to bring the family name to the land of spangles, for his father was a performer before him. The Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows exhibit in London Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 12.

This nature and there was no hope of the house ever letting it through." Mr. Ferguson said that while Ontario undoubtedly was confirmed in its prohibition views for many years to come, the administration by the present government has been a scandal which was doing much to weaken respect for the law.

"Coming west I traveled with medical men bound for their convention and was surprised to hear them say that the prohibition law was weakening the moral fibre of the younger generation rather than strengthening it," he said. "They spoke of the appearance of the flask at dances and secret drinking undermining respect for the law."

Delorme To Occupy "Furious Ward" With Holland, Slayer, As Companion

MONTREAL, July 5.—According to competent authority, Adelard Delorme is to be placed in the "Furious Ward" of the St. Jean de Dieu Hospital. There he will have as companion Major Griffith, the murderer of the stockbroker, Holland, and other hopelessly insane persons.

The patients at Longue Point are constant readers of at least three of the Montreal dailies and are therefore as fully in touch with the tortuous windings of the Delorme case as the general public. They now take added interest in the problem of the disposal of the priest on account of his being marked out as a resident among them, probably for all time. It was stated today, and not denied by counsel for Delorme, that the three sisters of the accused are under interdiction for a number of years, and cannot act for him in any business relations. They are therefore unable to dispose of his property, place mortgages or carry out any of the behests which the priest might be inclined to make.

The matter of a trade treaty between the two governments has been discussed to the extent of approaches having been made to the government by the French consul-general at Montreal some weeks ago. At that time the government intimated its willingness to enter into negotiations "at a convenient time," but since then no action has been taken.

Referring to this matter, which was raised in the House of Commons during the recent session, Mr. Fielding said he anticipated that "one of these days the French government will take some further action; that they will give us some information as to what they suggest and our desire is to have again with France as comprehensive a treaty as we had a few years ago."

There is also the question of a treaty with Greece which may be taken up while the minister is overseas.

WILL FLOAT LOAN EARLY IN AUTUMN

OTTAWA, July 5.—If it is decided to raise the money required by the government to meet loans maturing on Dec. 1, in Canada, the domestic loan will probably be floated in the early autumn. This was the statement of Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, today.

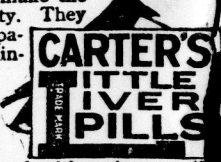

He stated that the government had not yet taken any steps in regard to the new loan, but that the early autumn would be the best time to raise money through a domestic loan.

Automobile Ride and "Edge-wood's" Hospitality Give "San" Men Happy Afternoon.

A memorable afternoon was spent by 50 or more soldier patients of the Byron Sanatorium on Tuesday. On the perfect summer afternoon the drive, postponed from last week, was provided by a regular fleet of automobiles, which carried the merry party many miles through the beautiful country surrounding London, making a stop finally at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. John White, Edgewood, London Township. A cordial welcome was extended each and every man by the host and hostess, who had also thoughtfully provided soft drinks to quench the thirst of their guests. Members of the hospital visiting committee, of which Mrs. J. Studley Asplund is convener, produced cakes and ice cream, and a jolly half-hour was spent over the refreshments, after which a tour of inspection was made of the interesting place, personally conducted by Mr. White.

The roundabout way taken was all too short for home-coming, both for the patients, who enjoy most of all motor rides, and the good-hearted people who had provided the automobiles. Warmest thanks were expressed to both Mr. and Mrs. White and the hospital committee for the outing.

Last year Mrs. F. P. Betts offered the hospitality of the Green farm for a similar outing. It is stated by the Red Cross that, with the freedom of a country place put at the disposal of the visiting committee for a picnic, further responsibility upon the part of hosts is optional. The automobile ride is an inestimable boon to the patients who are passing through a long, long process of getting cured.

WITH THE BRIDES

DOYLE-ATKINSON.

St. James' Catholic Church, Seaforth, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Monday at 9:30 a.m., when Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mrs. J. Atkinson, was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph Doyle of Detroit, son of Mr. Michael Doyle of Hiltner. The bride, who was led to the altar by her brother, Mr. Lewis Atkinson, to the strains of the wedding march played by the organist, Mrs. O'Connell, looked charming in a gown of white canton crepe, trimmed with lace. She wore a bridal veil and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses. The bride's sister, Miss Anna Atkinson, who was her attendant, wore a pretty gown of peach-colored organdy, with white picture hat, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Gerald Doyle of St. Columban, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The nuptial mass was sung by Rev. Father Gietz. Following the ceremony luncheon was served at the home of the bride's mother, after which Mr. and Mrs. Doyle left on the 3:15 train for Detroit.

WILSIE-BROOKE.

A very happy event took place on Monday afternoon, July 3, at St. James' Church, South London, when Lillian, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Brooke, Emery street, given away by Ernest, her eldest brother, became the bride of Ivan C. Wilsie, also of this city.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Edmund in the absence of Rev. W. L. Armitage, in the presence of a large number of friends, including guests from Windsor, Detroit, Belmont, and other points.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of pearl gray with hat to match, and was attended by her sister Florence, who looked charming in a gown of periwinkle blue. Each wore a corsage of Ophelia roses and sweet peas. Mr. V. White acted as best man.

The groom's gift to the bride was a jeweled sunburst, and to the bridesmaid a string of pearls.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple were taken to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty luncheon was served in the dining-room, which was tastefully decorated with flowers.

The happy couple left on a honeymoon trip through the Canadian West to Vancouver and will return by way of Chicago, Baltimore and New York. They will reside in London. In traveling the bride wore a suit of navy blue with hat to match.

WHITTESEY-JOHNSTON.

One of the prettiest weddings of the year took place at 4 o'clock on Monday, July 3, at Thamesville, when Jessie Victoria, eldest daughter of Rev. E. O. Johnston, D.D., and Mrs. Johnston of Croton, became the bride of Federal Lee, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Whittesey of Corry, Pa. Rev. C. C. Kaine, pastor of the Methodist Church at Thamesville and Croton, officiated, assisted by the bride's father.

During the bridal procession the wedding march was played by Mrs. J. A. Pollock of Thamesville, the young couple taking their place beneath the pines and maples of the lawn for the ceremony. The house and spacious lawn of the beautiful home of the bride's parents were decorated with flowers and ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in her wedding gown of white satin and silk georgette. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweet peas, also a kerchief which had been carried by the groom's mother at her wedding. The bridesmaids were Miss Ivah Butler, cousin of the bride, and Miss Maude Johnston, the bride's sister.

Miss Butler wore a dress of flesh-colored georgette and chantilly lace, with a picture hat to match. Miss Johnston was gowned in Nile green and peach satin. The bridesmaids' bouquets were of gladioli and roses.

Dr. Norman H. Amada of Detroit, Mich., acted as best man.

Little Miss Florence Holden, piece of the groom, was a dainty little ring-bearer, in white organdy, and carried a basket of sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served. Assistants were Misses Helen Snary, Irene Moore, Yulu Young, Loreen Gregory, Reta Houston, Dora Law and Messrs. Murray Logan, Frank Smith, George Brooks, Andrew Wilcox, Glen Houston and Alvin Houston.

Mrs. Johnston, mother of the bride, was gowned in rose satin, and Mrs. Whittesey, mother of the groom, wore a gown of blue duchess satin.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, to the bridesmaids, best man, flower girl and pianist, gold pieces.

Which Hoodoo Would You Choose?

WHICH would you prefer—to get married on Friday or the 13th of the month? This is the plight in which a young Western Ontario couple have found themselves placed. Owing to professional engagements, the groom-elect cannot find time for a honeymoon in connection with the wedding, fixed to take place in July. Do his best, all he can manage is a couple of days to get to his destination and home again, having the solemn ceremony properly performed during his absence from duty. The two days available for taking such a serious step in life as entering the holy bonds of wedlock are Thursday the 13th and Friday. The bride-elect and groom-elect are healthy-minded young folks, who laugh at superstitions. One father-in-law points to his own happy and successful life, though he was married on Friday the 13th. But the mother-in-law-elect are more anxious for the welfare of their babies, and fear a bit they will because the youthful ones most concerned have made all preparations for the grand plunge on Friday. Bride and groom-to-be consider the passing up of the inauspicious 13th sufficient concession to maternal nerves.

motor for St. Thomas, Cleveland, Corry, Pa., and Lake Findlay, N.Y., where they will spend the month of July. The bride traveled in a smart suit of periwinkle baronette, crepe, and French hat to match. They will be at home the first of September at Wheaton, Ill., near Chicago, where both will enter Wheaton College.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Conn of Stuttgart, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Holden and daughter Florence of Corry, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Williams of Corry, Pa.; Mrs. Elizabeth Whittesey of Corry, Pa.; Dr. N. MUNRO-PEARSON.

On Wednesday, July 5, 1922, at 2 o'clock Edith Madeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pearson, and Archibald John Munro, eldest son of Mr. John Munro and the late Margaret Munro of London, were quietly married at New St. James' Presbyterian manse, Rev. James Mackay officiating. The bride wore a navy blue canton crepe dress and a becoming hat to match. Her corsage bouquet was Sunset roses and valley lilies. A reception for the immediate relatives of the bride and groom was held at the home of the bride's parents, 173 Maitland street. A wedding dejeuner was served in the dining-room, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The happy couple left on the 4:25 G. T. R. train for Toronto and points east, the bride traveling in a tricot-tailored suit with a smart hat.

Curtis-Simson Church Wedding
Is Picturesque Midsummer Event

For sheer loveliness and beauty of setting, seldom has a wedding taken place in the city which equalled the Curtis-Simson wedding, an event of Wednesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church. It was the occasion of the marriage of Margaret Melrose, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simson, to George Salmon Curtis, younger son of the late Major George A. Curtis and of Mrs. Curtis, The Pines, Simcoe. Rev. (Col.) William Beattie, D.D., C.M.G., minister of the church, was the officiating clergyman.

Into the church, laden with summer flowers, came the charming bride, promptly at 4:30, with her father, who gave her in marriage. Summer flowers and stately palms banked the chancel steps, and graceful clusters of sweet peas and delphinium were caught to the guest pews. The fair young bride was lovely in her wedding gown of ivory satin, with short sleeves and side panels of radium lace. The neck was cut in batteau mode, and the graceful train of satin, lined with coral georgette, fell in full court length. Her wedding veil was arranged in Dutch fashion, caught at the sides with orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley completed her costume.

Preceding the bride up the aisle, as "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played by Mr. George Lethbridge, came the bridal party headed by the pretty bridesmaids, Miss Geraldine Glover of Peterboro and Miss Margaret Innes of Simcoe. Following them was the maid of honor, Miss Madeline Simson, sister of the bride. The attendants made a pretty picture. Mink Swallows Fish-Bone, Calls For Dr. Snuffles

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"TING-A-LING—A-LING," went Dr. Snuffles' telephone in his little house by the hazel bush.

"Nick, answer that, please," called Dr. Snuffles. "I'm busy taking a splinter out of Scramble Squirrel's foot."

"Hello, is that Dr. Snuffles' office?" said a voice excitedly.

"Yes," answered Nick.

"Well, tell him please to hurry over to Rippie Creek. Marty Mink's got a fish-bone in his throat, and he's carrying on something awful."

"All right," said Nick, hanging up. Just then Scramble Squirrel came limping out of the office, his foot all nicely bandaged, and he heard what had happened.

"Marty Mink!" he exclaimed. "A fish-bone in his throat! Goodness alive me! Is that very dangerous, doctor?"

"Oh, not very," answered Dr. Snuffles learnedly. "Why, are you thinking of starting on a fish diet, Scramble, instead of nuts?"

"No," said Scramble. "I was just wondering what would happen if you couldn't get the fish-bone out of Marty Mink's throat."

Dr. Snuffles called to Nancy to bring him his hat and medicine case before he answered.

"Well," said he, "it's this way—one is likely to lose his appetite as long as the fish-bone sticks."

"Can't he eat anything at all?" exclaimed Scramble.

"No," said the fairy doctor, "not a thing."

"Couldn't he eat frogs or field-mice or moles or blackbirds or chipmunks or rabbits—or anything. Not even squirrels!" asked Scramble.

"No, nothing!"

Suddenly Scramble departed without as much as a goodbye and running as fast as he could tear. He'd completely forgotten all about his sore foot.

"Well, I declare!" exclaimed the doctor. "What do you suppose he's up to? He even forgot to pay me my 50 cents."

Serving Food To Please the Eye!

THE serving of food—how important! Often a dish excellent as to taste and quality of material, loses by not being properly served.

The psychology of cooking, serving and eating is a big consideration. "Hunger is the best sauce," but not every one is hungry, and food must be made attractive to those whose appetites are fickle.

Sometimes it is just a matter of garnish, sometimes it is the shape, or individual serving, and often it is the beauty of the dish in which it is served.

Sonny reader will say, "That may be true, but not all of us can afford pretty dishes." True, not expensive ones, but often the less expensive one is the prettier.

Cheap novelty stores have very attractive individual glass dishes and fruit glasses with the stem like a champagne glass, which make an ordinary dessert look elaborate.

The writer remembers with pleasure the surprise on a hot June night of seeing at a friend's house cold meat served on locust leaves, and garnished with the blossoms. The friend had in her back yard a locust tree and had made good use of it.

Grape Leaves.

Fruit served on grape leaves, and a salad garnished with nasturtium leaves and blossoms will delight the esthetic sense of some persons.

Many find it better for their health to eat very little if any meat. This has created a demand for vegetable dinners. In every such dinner there should be one vegetable as peas, beans and lentils, or eggs, milk or cheese, which will supply the protein which builds up the body and repairs the waste.

The vegetables must be part root vegetables, and part green or above ground vegetables. The process of cooking should differ, do not have them all boiled, or fried, or baked, but a mixture.

Avoid Bad Mixtures.

Do not put tomatoes and beets, or tomatoes and carrots together; but beets with spinach, or tomatoes with cauliflower or cabbage, make good combinations.

It is a good place to start with some one vegetable as a center and build around it. Spinach, after being boiled, chopped and seasoned, may be molded in a pan or bowl and kept hot until served. As a center piece can arrange around it a most attractive dinner.

New cabbage boiled whole, then cut in quarters without completely separating the pieces, is a good center piece. Pour over it melted butter in which are chopped parsley and hard-boiled egg. Serve around it carrots or peas and strips of boiled bacon.

Many combinations may be worked out using what one has in the garden, and even if meat is not entirely eliminated, the amount can be greatly reduced.

Coming later into that upstairs room that was common to all the troupe, Andre-Louis found M. Binet talking loudly and vehemently. As he entered Binet broke off short, and wheeled to face him.

"I wait your explanations of the disgraceful scene you provoked to-night."

"Disgraceful? Is it disgraceful that the public should applaud me?"

"The public? The rabble, you mean. After the play tonight M. de La Tour d'Azyr came to me, and spoke to me in the severest terms about your scandalous outburst."

"I was forced to apologize and . . ."

"The more fool you," said Andre-Louis. "A man who respects himself would have shown that gentleman the door."

"M. Binet's face began to empurple."

"And I say further," Andre-Louis went on, "that a man who respects himself, on quite other grounds, would have been only too glad to have seized this pretext to show M. de La Tour d'Azyr the door."

"What do you mean by that?" There was a rumble of thunder in the question.

Andre-Louis' eyes swept round the company assembled at the supper-table. "Where is Climecne?" he asked, sharply.

Leandre leapt up to answer him, white in the face, tense and quivering with excitement.

"She left the theater in the Marquis de La Tour d'Azyr's carriage immediately after the performance. We heard him offer to drive her to this inn."

"That would be an hour ago—rather more. And she has not yet arrived."

"Not yet?" Andre-Louis sat down, and poured himself wine. There was an oppressive silence in the room.

Platters were pushed toward him. He helped himself calmly to food, and ate in silence, apparently with a good appetite.

At long last came a rumble of wheels below and a battle of halting hoofs. Then voices, the high, trilling laugh of Climecne floating upwards. Andre-Louis went on eating unconcernedly.

She came in, a leading lady taking the stage, head high, chin thrust forward, eyes dancing with laughter; she expressed triumph and arrogance. Her cheeks were flushed, and there was some disorder in the mass of nut-brown hair that crowned her head. In her left hand she carried an enormous bouquet of white carnations. On its middle finger a diamond of great price drew almost at once by its effulgence the eyes of all.

Her father sprang to meet her with an unusual display of paternal tenderness. "At last, my child!"

He conducted her to the table. She sank into a chair, a little wearily, a little nervously, but the smile did not leave her face, not even when she glanced across at Scaramouche.

Andre-Louis, however, still went on eating stolidly, without so much as a look in her direction. Gradually the company came to realize that just as surely as a scene was brooding, just so surely would there be no scene as long as they remained. Within two minutes none remained in the room but M. Binet, his daughter, and Andre-Louis. And then, at last, Andre-Louis set down knife and fork, washed his throat with a draught of Burgundy, and sat back in his chair to consider Climecne.

"I trust," said he, "that you had a pleasant ride, mademoiselle."

"Most pleasant, monsieur." Impudently she strove to emulate his coolness, but did not completely succeed.

"And not unprofitable, if I may judge that jewel at this distance."

worth a formidable sum even to so wealthy a nobleman as M. de La Tour d'Azyr. Would it be impertinent in one who has some notion of becoming your husband, to ask you, mademoiselle, what you have given him in return?"

M. Binet uttered a gross laugh, a queer mixture of cynicism and contempt.

"I have given nothing," said Climecne, indignantly.

"Ah! Then the jewel is in the nature of a payment in advance."

"My God, man, you're not decent!" M. Binet protested.

"Decent?" Andre-Louis' smoldering eyes turned to discharge upon M. Binet such a fulmination of contempt that the old scoundrel shifted uncomfortably in his chair. "Did you mention decency, Binet? Almost you make me lose my temper."

Slowly his glance returned to Climecne. "Mademoiselle," he said, slowly, "I desire you purely in your own interests to consider whether you are going."

"I am well able to consider for myself, and to decide without advice from you, monsieur."

"And now you've got your answer," chuckled Binet. "I hope you like it."

Andre-Louis had paled a little; there was incredulity in his great sombre eyes as they continued steadily to regard her. Of M. Binet he took no notice.

"I bow to your choice, mademoiselle. I pray that you may not regret it."

"Regret it?" cried M. Binet. He was laughing, relieved to see his daughter at last rid of this suitor of whom he had never approved, if we except those few hours when he really believed him to be an eccentric of distinction. "And what shall she regret? That she accepted the protection of a nobleman so powerful and wealthy that as a mere trinket, he gives her a jewel worth as much as an actress earns in a year at the Comedie Francaise?"

Andre-Louis looked at him in silence for a long moment. Then he laughed again. "Oh, you are fantastic," he said. "You are not real!" He turned on his heel and strode to the door.

Andre-Louis turned, his hand upon the door-handle. "No," he said. "I was mistaken. You are not fantastic. You are just vile—both of you."

And he went out.

CHAPTER X.

TWENTY-FOUR hours with La Binet had been more than enough for the fastidious and discerning taste of M. de La Tour d'Azyr. He looked back upon the episode with nausea—marveling at himself that until yesterday he should have found her so desirable, and cursing himself that for the sake of that ephemeral and worthless gratification he should seriously have imperiled his chances of winning Mademoiselle de Kercaudou to wife.

The Chevalier de Chabrilaine sat opposite to him in the enormous traveling berline. As they were rattling over the cobbles of Nantes' streets, he remembered a promise to La Binet to witness her performance that night in "The Faithless Lover."

He had led the mercenary little strumpet—it was thus he thought of her at present, and with some justice—to expect favors from him in addition to the lavish awards which already he had made her. The baggage had almost sought to drive a bargain with him as to her future. It became necessary now to come to an understanding, since he was compelled to choose between his trivial passion for her—a passion quenched already—and his deep, almost spiritual devotion to Mademoiselle de Kercaudou.

He pulled the cord. The carriage rolled to a standstill; a footman appeared at the door.

"To the Theatre Feydau," said he. The great traveling carriage drew up at the lighted portals of the Feydau, and M. le Marquis stepped out. He entered the theatre with Chabrilaine, all unconsciously to deliver himself into the hands of Andre-Louis.

Here Is What You'll Wear in Fall

EVEN so early as this there are "advance fall styles"—imported models judged by designers to show what is newest and will be popular this fall.

They are usually shown in lighter materials for late summer wear and in heavier materials for autumn.

The two models illustrated are of this type—adaptable to either light or heavy weight materials.

They have low waist lines, longer skirts with uneven hems and noticeably elaborate sleeves.

Only one shows the round neck, which is reported to be sharing its vogue with square and "V"-shaped necks.

more explicit. What precisely is the Third Estate?

"Nothing," said Leandre.

There was a gasp from the audience, audible in the wings, and then swiftly followed Scaramouche's next question:

"True. Alas! But what should it be?"

"Everything," said Leandre.

The audience roared its acclamations.

"True again," said Scaramouche. "And what is more, that is what it will be. Do you doubt it?"

"I hope it," said the schooled Leandre.

"You may believe it," said Scaramouche, and again the acclamations rolled into thunder.

The enthusiasm worked up when the public was "let in" on radio was so

CLAIM CLINKERS NARROW RIVER AT FRONT ST.

Residents Dispute Statement of City Engineer to Contrary.

DIVERTS RIVER'S COURSE

Brazier Still Maintains Stand
That Property Is Not Endangered.

Despite the fact that City Engineer Brazier denies that city employees are dumping clinkers from the incinerator along the north bank of the River Thames and endangering Front street property, Raymond Smith, a resident of the above thoroughfare, disputes his denial, and declares that the alleged dumping is a menace.

Mr. Smith asserts that the clinkers are falling into the river, thereby diverting its course, and increasing the danger of flooding each spring when the ice comes out.

Speaking on behalf of Front street ratepayers, who desire a breakwater to protect their property, Mr. Smith says: "We dispute the statement of Engineer Brazier when he says the dumping of clinkers at the rear of Victoria Hospital is not endangering the property on Front street, directly opposite."

Danger Increased.

"The clinkers are being dumped it is true, at the foot of Colborne street, but as the hole is being rapidly filled in, occasional loads must find their way into the river. What the owners claim is that the clinkers of the past nine years have been put there from the Wellington street bridge, east to Colborne street, and have narrowed the river bed. We claim that we are endangered 100 per cent to what we used to be."

"There is no danger on Front street or elsewhere, so long as the water in the river is low," continued Mr. Smith. "But when a prolonged storm or the thaw of spring comes, we must watch out. Protection must be given, and as soon as possible."

"A section of the area requiring a breakwater is on city land at the east end of Front street, and any stranger could easily walk off into the river after dark."

Will See It Through.

"We have waited all this year to see what the city is likely to do, and we are waiting to hear what the engineer has figured out on the cost of two or three types of breakwater. We intend to see this thing through," Mr. Smith concluded.

When informed of Mr. Smith's charges regarding the danger from dumping clinkers on the river bank City Engineer Brazier declared he had no reply to make.

"I have nothing to say at all," he declared. "Whether Front street residents dispute my statement or not does not alter the facts of the case. The matter is now in the hands of No. 1 committee. I stand by my previous statement that dumping of clinkers on the river bank is not endangering Front street property. I do not even admit that it has ever endangered this property."

UNIONISTS MAY LEAVE COALITION

London, July 6.—Political significance is attached to a promise given by Premier Lloyd George yesterday to a Lancashire deputation, headed by the Earl of Derby, that the proposed duty of 33.3 per cent on fabric gloves from Germany would not be enforced until the claims made against it by Lancashire interests had been fully examined.

Unionist members of the House of Commons are already protesting against the proposed duty, and it is regarded by them as a concession to the free traders, and they threaten to end the coalition if the cabinet reverses its decision to enforce the order.

The Muskoka Lakes

The Muskoka region of the "Highlands of Ontario" was for centuries the chosen hunting ground of the Hurons. It was the red man who gave the musical name Muskoka (signifying "clear sky") to this land which held supremacy over all others in his affections, and he christened the islands, promontories, massive rocks, lakes and rivers in a manner that showed his appreciation of the beauties of his forest home. No happier appellation than "clear sky" could have been adapted as the altitude of the region—one thousand feet above the sea level—gives splendid atmospheric conditions. Muskoka spreads its manifold charms to blue skies flecked with soft, white clouds. It is a delectable land, brilliant with rich coloring, its air pungent with the fragrance of the pines, its waters cool and clear, moreover, a land of many pleasures, offering a wide variety of health-giving, open-air sports and pastimes suited to all ages. There are about 100 hotels in the district that cater to those of modest taste as well as to those who are most fastidious. The Canadian National Grand Trunk Railways have issued a handsomely illustrated booklet with list of hotels and which can be had free on application to any Grand Trunk ticket agent or C. E. Vera Cruz, July 6.—Fighting among the striking members of the tenants syndicate resulted last night in the death of an army officer and the serious wounding of two other officers and seven civilians. The tenants have been refusing to pay rents.

Ottawa, July 6.—The depreciated currency law as it affects imports of goods into Canada will apply to goods from Germany, Austria-Hungary, Yugoslavia and Russia, according to instructions to collectors of customs which have been issued by the department here.

CONFERS DEGREE ON DUKE OF YORK

Cambridge, July 6.—Cambridge University today conferred the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon Wm. Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States. Honorary degrees were also conferred on the Duke of York and various others.

While walking to the senate house to witness the conferring of the degree, Sir John Sandys dropped dead. Sir John was a distinguished scholar and was Lane lecturer at Harvard in 1905.

DEMONSTRATES VALUE OF NEW LAW ON INDIGENT

Measure Prevents Township Man
From Becoming Charge on City.

Although the city bylaw which placed all city indigent patients for Victoria Hospital under the direction of the medical officer of health was passed Monday night, the first patient of this type called on Dr. Downham Thursday morning.

Inquiry by the medical officer of health revealed the fact that this man is a charge of London Township, and Dr. Downham's action in preventing him from being admitted to the hospital at city cost demonstrates the value of the new law.

"The first indigent came to me this morning," said Dr. Downham. "He really belongs to the township, and therefore I did not send him to the hospital. He has been there before, and wanted to go back. Had it not been for the bylaw I think he would have been sent to the hospital as a city indigent."

"He is really not sick enough to go to the hospital, but I referred his case to the township authorities after consulting with his doctor."

FRENCH TROOPS FIRE ON GERMANS

Berlin, July 6.—Six persons were killed in fighting between civilians and French troops at Pelskretschan, near Oppeln, Upper Silesia, Monday. The French were marching through the town when a shot was fired at the column. This caused the troops to halt and open fire.

The firing continued for three hours, the house of a manufacturer being completely destroyed. The troops then resumed their march.

WILL GIVE KING HEARING IN U. S.

Great Lakes. This information was obtained by inquiry this morning at the departments of marine and fisheries and of trade and commerce.

The demand that Canada's coasting privileges should be given to American vessels, as indicated in a dispatch from Toronto, has come from those interested in the shipment of grain on the Great Lakes. It has been pointed out to the department of trade and commerce that while the rate on grain from Port Arthur to Buffalo is only 24 cents a bushel, that to Georgian Bay ports is 24 cents, and to Port Colborne three cents.

This, it is claimed, constitutes a discrimination against Canadian ports, and as a considerable section of United States shipping is inactive at present, it is urged that these vessels would be glad to come into the Canadian grain trade at the lower rates than now charged by Canadian vessel owners.

While the grain rates are higher to Canadian ports than to Buffalo, there are counterbalancing advantages to the vessel owners to Buffalo. They obtain return cargoes there, and in addition are given clearance for the return trip much earlier than at Port Colborne or at Georgian Bay ports.

Life and Character Reading.
JULY 6.
The governing sign of this date is Cancer, known as the sign of the Crab. Cancer people who have not given themselves to the work of development are apt to talk of personal self, and this tendency becomes a habit which grows into a disease in mature life. It is very hard for them to work under the direction of others, and correspondingly difficult for them to live harmoniously in a house that they are not at the head of.

Women born on this date like to wear sparkling gems, and are always striving to show them to the best advantage. The men, as well as the women, are immediately fond of seeing their names in print, and are always seeking the plaudits of the mob.

The governing planet of this date is the Moon, and the birthstone is an emerald or black onyx.

HOTELMEN ASK
PROVINCIAL AID

London Proprietors Offer Many Suggestions To Legislature Committee.

Will Take Moving Pictures of Port Stanley and Springbank.

Many suggestions for the betterment of hotel conditions, both in this city and the province, were received Wednesday afternoon by the parliamentary committee on hotel and tourist facilities, of the Provincial Legislature, now touring the province, from the hotel proprietors of London in a round table conference in the Tecumseh Hotel.

Some dozen hotel proprietors of the city met with the committee. Under consideration were suggestions of the cash bonusing of hotels, pool license monopolies, tax exemption, near beer monopolies, the sale of 4 per cent beer and others.

It was found that the proprietors were unanimous against the return of conditions as they were during the days of the open bar.

The suggestions the committee received in London, according to Chairman Edgar Watson, were similar to those of hotel proprietors elsewhere. Previous to the prohibition he stated a majority of hotel proprietors depended solely on the bar for their revenue, losing on the guests they put up.

It was the general opinion of the hotelmen that some provision should be made to assist the hotelkeeper, not so that he would have a greater net revenue, but that his surplus would enable him to make improvements on his establishment in order to accommodate the traveling public better.

Visit Springbank.
Wednesday night the committee left at 4:20 to visit Springbank. Thursday morning the committee will leave at 6:30 a.m. for Chatham, going from there to Windsor.

It is expected that the committee will continue two months on its tour going into every part of Ontario with its investigations.

The committee decided to take moving pictures of Springbank, Port Stanley and part of the Sarnia Gravel road in this district. Moving pictures of picturesque spots are being taken all over the province, and will be shown to the people in the United States. The pictures of Springbank, Port Stanley and the Sarnia Gravel road will be taken by the committee's cameraman next week.

Chairman Watson stated that facts and suggestions obtained by the committee in its tour will be carefully noted and compiled, and recommendation made to the Legislature. It is likely that a volume will be published for distribution through automobile clubs and hotels in both Canada and the United States, giving all information regarding roads, tourist camps, hotel accommodations and other facts. The hotelmen will probably be graded according to their standards of accommodation, and later steps may be taken to compel hotelmen who are not supplying adequate accommodation to either improve their places or lose their licenses. This, however, is a matter to be worked out later.

The committee arrived in London late Tuesday night and began its survey work in London Wednesday morning. The first activity of its members was a tour of the city as the guests of the London Motor Club. Accompanied by C. E. Bernard, the secretary of the Motor Club, the committee visited Thames Park, the crystal springs site, Springbank Park, Saunby flats on Ridout street and Queen's Park.

May Recommend Camp.
Springbank Park found the most favor with the committee, and it is possible that if they recommend a summer camp for London they will also recommend that it be somewhere in this neighborhood. In the idea that London be chosen the members of the committee are influenced by the position of the city, it being the first city of large proportion that tourists from the Michigan border encounter.

At 12:30 the committee met the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and the executive of the Motor Club at a banquet in the Tecumseh House. Present also were J. Franklin White, M.P., and Hugh Stevenson, M.L.A.

E. S. Little acted as chairman of the meeting and as president of the Chamber of Commerce welcomed the committee to London.

Ald. Holmes welcomed the guests on behalf of the city.

London facilities for the accommodation of visitors and for the traveling public were entirely inadequate, said Ald. Holmes.

Outlines Purposes.
E. Watson, the chairman of the committee, outlined to the gathering the purposes of the investigation they were carrying on.

"There is a change in the methods of transportation today," he stated, in making general remarks on the survey. "Traffic is going from the railroads to the highways. It is significant that more people traveled on the highways of the United States last year in motor cars than on the railroads."

very with regard to hotel accommodation and make improvements by legislation. As for the tourists, the speaker showed statistics and spoke of revenue to be acquired from them. It is probable that the government will establish a publicity bureau to bring tourists to Ontario, he said.

At the close he called for suggestions concerning hotel accommodations from the directors of the chamber and others present.

The committee is composed of Edgar Watson, M.P.P., chairman; Samuel Clarke, M.P.P.; Col. W. H. Price, M.P.P.; Joseph Cridland, M.P.P.; Malcolm Lang, M.P.P.; W. S. Dingman, and W. A. Lane, secretary.

SPORTS OCCUPY
CENTRE OF STAGE

Summer sports occupy the center of the stage for the Y. W. C. A. girls, the many who earnestly devoted themselves to educational work in winter leisure hours. Playing the principal roles are baseball and tennis, with Tuesday and Thursday evenings devoted to league baseball matches on the Federal Square, and every afternoon and evening witnessing exciting games on the tennis court at the Wellington Street Y. M. C. A. residence. Under the circumstances, the Y. W. C. A. physical director is kept so busy between baseball and tennis, especially when the summer schedules are just getting nicely under way, that it has been necessary to pass up the hike this week for junior teen age girls. A jolly morning outing, it is stated, is assured for some day early next week.

Great interest was manifested in the first game of the Y. W. C. A. league on Tuesday evening, when the McCormick Manufacturing Company team of girls defeated the London Life players by a big margin, owing in a measure to the lack of opportunity for practice of the latter. The "Shamrocks," which have kept their name from the now famous basketball team, are entering the contest for honors on the diamond Thursday evening.

"Y" FEDERATION GIRLS
PAID FINE COMPLIMENT
Prepare to Conduct Two Council Sessions at Provincial Camp.
A special compliment has been paid representatives of the Federation of Girls' Clubs of the London Y.W.C.A., who will attend the Industrial Business Girls' Summer Camp at Port Maitland, opening July 15, in asking them to take charge of two or the six council sessions for the discussion of "standards." A letter received by Mrs. Mattie Rose Crawford, industrial extension secretary, from the Dominion Council, comments most favorably upon the advance of the London "Y" girls in the way of developing methods of educational and religious study work. The London representatives will preside at the councils on educational and religious standards and, with a view to getting their program into good shape, held a meeting Wednesday evening for thorough discussion. In connection with the subject of standards of education, they will consider four phases, the educational required to make a business or industrial girl a better homemaker, a better craftsman, a better citizen of her own community and country, and a better world worker. Religious life will be considered from the standpoint of a girl's relation to her home, Sunday School, missions and the practical expression of her own spiritual life in these relationships. Mrs. Mattie Crawford is a member of the committee which is planning the summer camp and will have charge of the daily inspirational addresses. Associated with her are Miss Margaret McDonald of the Dominion Council, Miss Jennie Pearce, general secretary of the Toronto Y. W. C. A., Miss Leon at Kitchen, Miss Burridge, The Hamilton camp is being used and Miss W. Porter of the Hamilton association is to be camp director. Local club representatives who are going are: Miss Bertha Lyons, "Optimistic," Mrs. Martin, "Echo," Miss Raw, "Follyamas," Miss Y. Plaine, "Nightingale," Miss Jo Sease, "Count on Me," and Miss McVicar, city representative. A will be made at 7 o'clock on morning of the fifteenth, going way of Brantford and Dunnville.
