TURKS WILL SIGN ALL PEACE TERMS IS LATEST REPORT

France Notifies Great Britain of the New Ottoman Agreement.

ONLY INTERRUPTION

Turks Seem To Realize They Have Nothing To Gain by Refusing Signature.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Feb. 6.—France has notified Great Britain that the Ottoman delegation at Lausanne has agreed to all the peace terms.

By PAUL SCOTT MOWLER.

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Paris, Feb. 6.—The Lausanne rupture seems to have become a mere interruption. French diplomacy was exceedingly active both in Lausanne and London Monday trying to repair the broken threads of the negotiations.

Thinking matters over, the Turks seem to have realized that they had much to lose and nothing to gain by persisting in their refusal to sign. The British Government was found to be in a conciliatory mood, and it is expected that the compromise proposed by Italy in the question of capitulations, on which conference broke up, will now be accepted.

The French dislike the Lausanne peace, which makes it impossible to obtain any concessions from the Turkish Nationalists and risks in the Near East. Nevertheless they are in favor of signing even this treaty for the sake of obtaining peace. French leaders believe that the signing of peace will soon terminate the menacing Turco-Russian alliance and that the Turks in descending the snows of Angora to the breezes of the Bosphorus, will willingly lose something of their present ferocity.

CLEAN UP CLAUSES OF INAUGURAL SPEECH

Council Will Make Effort To Deal With Remaining Items.

Another big informal session of the city council is set for tomorrow night, when a determined effort will be made to "clean up" the several remaining clauses of Mayor Wenige's inaugural address. The items are so numerous, however, that it seems doubtful if everything can be dealt with at one session. London's transportation problem, including the mayor's motor scheme, will be considered. It is proposed to stage a preliminary investigation of the police and departments as well, and the mayor stated today that in all probability members of these departments would be in attendance to substantiate evidence, if required.

Absence of Light Ends In Two Fines

Magistrate Graydon Quickly Shows Force of Bylaw.

Lights out—without a bugle," a drama in one act, was rehearsed before Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon this morning. One single person for the class of two sets the principals in the play back just $5. There was no musical comedy out of the little affair, and the sound. Nor was there even a single introduction to make the "lights" sound realistic. The plot centered around "lights" that were not discovered on two motor cars. "Two-and coster" sang out the part, after a lesson that set the cord for brevity. The costs amounted to $4. The "lesson" money was paid and two motorists were permitted to depart.

PALMERSTON COMPANY SUFFERS $5,000 LOSS

W. Palmer and Sons Partly Destroyed by Early Blaze.

Special to The Advertiser.
Palmerston, Feb. 6.—T. W. Palmer and Sons, men's furnishing and shoe store, was damaged by fire this morning to the extent of between $4,000 and $5,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

The Palmer store, which was in operation at 9 o'clock this morning, when the fire broke out, was completely gutted. The stock in the store below was damaged by water. The cause of the fire is not yet known. The store was owned by W. J. Ortwine. The quick and efficient work of the brigade was well, and had it not been for the fire might have been a disaster.

CHEROKEE INDIAN CRIES "I LOVE HER" AND DIES A FEET

Unrequited Love for Grass Widow Ends in Department Suicide.

WROTE LOVE LETTERS

Called Woman Who Played With His Affections. "My Indian Moon."

Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Feb. 6.—Unrequited love for Mrs. Norma Pearl Moore Smith, 27, soda fountain cashier, caused Chief Gabriel White Horse Hattling, 39, Cherokee Indian, to shoot himself to death at her feet in Bloomingdale's department store here last night, police declared today.

"I love her—I love her," White Horse, who came here from Oklahoma and New Mexico, fired three shots, starting a panic among the 300 women shoppers. Two bullets went wild and the third killed him instantly. Mrs. Smith, who declared she had been separated from her husband and admitted, police said, that she had exchanged love notes with White Horse, addressing him as "My Indian prince."

"My Indian Moon."
He called her "My Indian moon." She asserted she failed to realize he was serious and carried on the affair just for fun.

"I am Chief White Horse of the Cherokee Indian tribe of Oklahoma," read a scrawled note found on the Indian's body. "I am an overseas veteran, and in case anything happens to me ask the United States government to take charge of my body. Bury me with Buffalo Bill. I was a member of his gang. The girls in the store are kidding me how wild can I get? I am as wild as any fighting wildcat."

Letters found in the clothes of the Indian, some of them signed, "Miss Pearl Moore and Norma Smith," bore such salutations as "Dearest Rain-in-the-Face," "Sitting Bull," "My Indian Prince," and "My Papa." One of these that reiterated passionate love ended, "Take me away out west and make me as wild as you are."

Only Kidding.
"I was only kidding him," Mrs. Smith told police.

Authorities who took charge of the letters said they grew less endearing recently and that Mrs. Smith advised her to stop to end the affair when she found the chief was "serious."

Cherokees also show that White Horse is a son of Chief White Horse of the Cherokee of Oklahoma, a world war veteran of the Canadian and American expeditionary forces. He had been decorated for bravery under fire and at the end of the war took treatment for being gassed.

COLD NIGHT, OLD COAT CAUSE MAN'S ARREST

Leo Thorsell Pleads Guilty to Theft Charge in Police Court.

Leo Thorsell, who was arrested by Detectives Down and Bolton on a charge of stealing an overcoat belonging to Gordon Axtell, was remanded for a week by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court this morning, so that his past might be looked into.

Thorsell promptly pleaded guilty when the charge was read to him. Saturday night was a cold night, and his own overcoat was a poor one, he said. The court commented upon the apparent respectable appearance of the prisoner, and regretted that he should so far forget himself as to help himself to anything not his own. Bail was offered by a friend of Thorsell's, but was refused.

According to Axtell's story, the affair happened at a local dance hall, where he had been dancing until the plaintiff was about to leave. Instead of his own coat, another greeted him, rather the worse for wear. The thief had been kind enough to place Axtell's scarf and gloves in the old coat. Information was placed with the police, however, with the result that Thorsell was rounded up at work yesterday.

TEMPORARY COMPROMISE OVER MEMEL PROBLEM

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Feb. 6.—The preliminary compromise has been reached between the Lithuanian government and the Entente ministers at Kovno for the regulation of the Memel problem, pending the decision of that territory's future, either by the ambassadors' conference or the League of Nations, says the diplomatic correspondent of the Telegraph today.

TO CANCEL CERTIFICATES OF INTOXICATED DRIVERS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—Without dividing, the legislature last night passed a proposal for imposing additional penalties on persons convicted of driving automobiles while in an intoxicated condition. The penalties take the form of cancellation of driving certificates for six months in the case of a first offense, and for twelve months in the case of a second offense.

A PEEP INTO THE NEW "WENIGE" BUS.

Here is the interior view of one of the fleet of 62 modern motor buses which, according to Mayor Wenige and Engineer R. W. Knowles of Cleveland, can be operated in London satisfactorily throughout the year, at a 5-cent fare. The machine has a seating capacity of 25, and a total capacity of 40. Mayor Wenige and his associates, who are now in the city, maintain, despite opinions to the contrary from Sir Adam Beck and E. K. Bunnell, that this type of omnibus can give the people of London decent and continuous service at a minimum expenditure. They stand prepared, they say, to submit their plans, figures and other data to the scrutiny of all experts and authorities. They base their computation upon local conditions and experiences of other communities throughout America.

LOOK FOR FORTUNE ALLEGED HIDDEN BY AGED RECLUSE

Believe Eccentric Woman Was Choked to Death and Burned.

SLEPT ON RAG PILE

Believed Dead Husband Would Return as Reincarnated Animal.

Special to The Advertiser.
Chicago, Feb. 6.—Search for the $200,000 fortune of Mrs. Elizabeth Joran Wilson, aged recluse, whose charred body was found in her once palatial home, was stunted by authorities today.

Police believe the fire which caused Mrs. Wilson's death was of incendiary origin. Friends of the eccentric woman declared she sold at least $80,000 worth of real estate during the last few months, and this could not be accounted for today.

Authorities hoped to bring out at the inquiry today that the eccentric was choked to death by robbers, who later burned her body in an effort to hide the crime. Mrs. Wilson, 84, lived alone in a fourteen-room house in what was once the fashionable residential district of Chicago. She was the widow of James Wilson, one time prominent attorney, and believed that he would be reincarnated as an animal and return to her. For this reason she kept the house exactly as it was when he died.

Cherbourg, Feb. 6.—Miss Florence MacDonald of Chicago arrived here today aboard the Cunard liner Berengaria, having talked with her brother at the Drake Hotel, Chicago, each night of the voyage by means of wireless telephone.

A private set, constructed by E. F. MacDonald of the Chicago radio laboratory, connected with the Berengaria's aerials, enabled the girl to perform the unique feat. "My brother in Chicago talked to me every night at one o'clock Chicago time," Miss MacDonald said. "He would tell me the personal news and bid me good night. I could recognize his voice and hear every word, except part of the time last night."

POSTPONES MESSAGE ON DEBT FUNDING LAW

President Harding Will Bring Matter Forward Following Discussion With Leaders.

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, Feb. 6.—President Harding decided today to postpone until tomorrow at least his message to Congress asking for modification of the debt funding law to permit final approval of the funding settlement recently negotiated with Great Britain.

It was said at the White House that no definite time had been fixed for transmission of the president's recommendations, which generally had been expected to go forward today. It was indicated, however, that the message would be sent to the capital as soon as further conferences with leaders in the senate and house had established what form of amendment of the law would be least likely to meet with serious opposition. While admitting the probability of considerable opposition developing to the plan in both houses, administration leaders were confident today that its merits would be so revealed in discussion as to assure its approval.

What specific recommendation, if any, the president would make as between congressional approval of the settlement by specific resolution or by amendment of the debt funding act had not been indicated. Administration leaders in Congress apparently were not agreed as to which course was best.

London's Most Beautiful

Not a girl this time, but motor cars. You'll find them at the Motor Show in the Armories all this week, the most beautiful cars in the city. Sleek, shining, luxurious limousines, chummy little roadsters, cosy coupes and the big open models—they are all there, and under the smooth enamel and glittering glass is hidden the tremendous power of combustion motors which represent the last word in engineering skill.

The Motor Show has a wider interest than that, however. It is an institution for the benefit of the city as a whole. It is based on co-operation, and that is why you are invited to

Journal Points Out Danger of

Paris, Feb. 6.—From a reliable Latin-American source the writer learns that the American Government, through one of its principal European ambassadors, has informed the League of Nations that the presence of representatives of this international organization at the Pan-American Congress in Chile in March would be viewed with disfavor by the United States.

On the initiative of the Latin-American states the League Assembly voted last September to place its technical services at the disposition of the forthcoming congress.

Owing to the opposition of the United States, the League will not be represented officially at Santiago, but the Chilean, Augustine Edwards, President of the last League Assembly, will perhaps be a member of the Chilean delegation to Santiago.

The semi-official organ, France-Amérique, in its publications, has been pointing out the dangers of United States hegemony over Latin America. Emphasis is placed on the fact that Mexico, Bolivia and Peru refused to attend the Santiago meeting because of the popular antagonism between Brazil and the Argentine republic over the Martin Garcia stand. The strategic key to the river, it has been fully explained and the admission of Canada to the Pan-American union as a useful counter-poise to the United States hegemony has been urged.

MARSHAL BEGINS INVESTIGATION OF INCENDIARY FIRES

Will Look Over Ground Carefully Before Issuing a Statement.

NEED INFORMATION

Provincial Chief To Spare No Expense in Probing Fire Causes.

E. P. Heaton, the provincial fire marshal, is in London.

He came this morning, and along with his two deputies, E. D. Jordan and R. E. Dingle, is starting at once upon an investigation of the many incendiary or supposedly incendiary fires that have occurred in this city since July.

"I will be unable to issue any statement until I have looked the ground over carefully," Mr. Heaton said to The Advertiser. "In the last epidemic of fires was in Brantford two years ago," he continued, "but they seemed to die out after it was known our department was conducting an investigation."

"I am here to size up the situation and direct activities, but as yet have no definite idea as to just how things stand. We intend to start our investigation by looking into the city records of each fire, and all other possible sources of information."

"I have two men assisting me at present, but if this number is found to be insufficient I will call upon as many more as is necessary. The department will spare no expense in time or men in an endeavor to sift this matter to the bottom. We are going to do everything that is humanly possible to clear up the question and stop the occurrence of so many disastrous conflagrations."

"As soon as I have made inquiries and obtained some definite idea of the situation I shall make a statement to the newspaper."

Since July, 1922, there have been six fires in London which showed indications of having been started by an incendiary, and six more are strongly suspected of being such, according to Fire Chief Aitken.

LIBERALS RETAIN POWER IN QUEBEC WITH 41 MAJORITY

Government Headed by Taschereau Again Assumes Command in Eastern Province.

ONE LABOR ELECTED

Conservatives Increase Their Representation in House to Twenty-One Members.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, Feb. 6.—With only one constituency to hear from, the government of Premier Taschereau has again been returned to power with 42 seats in a legislature of 85. Conservatives have increased their representation in the next House to 21, while Labor has one member. Fifty-five Liberals were elected yesterday, as against the 21 Conservatives, seven of the former having previously been returned by acclamation. The Labor member was successful in Quebec, St. Sauveur. Thirteen of the Conservative seats were won in the city of Montreal.

The return of Premier Taschereau will bring no alteration of the Quebec liquor laws, which are themselves the enactments of the Liberal government.

Commenting on the result of the provincial polling here yesterday, which gave the Opposition a gain of seventeen seats and a total of 22, against the 42 of the Taschereau administration, Hon. E. L. Patenaude said, in thanking his supporters:

Not Finished.

"We have not finished our work; we will continue it. I am convinced that we can increase the number of our representatives with your help. Let me tell you that if we have an opportunity again we will rise again to the attack, because we know that the Opposition will one day win by its valor and sincerity, and because we are fighting for the cause of liberty and truth. I desire to thank all those who helped us today. We should, I think, congratulate our friends in the province before long to a general reunion, at which we can express our determination to continue this campaign and enlarge the victory which is ours today."

The defeat of Irene Vautrin by Dr. Beaudoin in St. James division, means that a new organizer will have to be chosen for the district of Montreal, says a writer in the Montreal Gazette.

The two supporters of the Taschereau administration to be returned in Montreal, P. Beaudoin and Adam Hushion, won their seats in decisive fashion. Both were men who are very highly regarded in the respective constituencies they now represent.

A curious feature of the local elections was the fact that two aldermen running in the Liberal interest lost their deposits. These were Aldermen Elie in Verdun and Serbold in Westmount.

Taschereau Comments. Premier Taschereau's comment on the results of the provincial elections was as follows:

"The renewal of the mandate which has just been granted us by a non-equivalent appreciation of the work we have accomplished, and a fine testimony of confidence in the Liberal party in our government."

"There must be taken into account the kind of campaign which our opponents have waged against us, and the manoeuvres to which they have had recourse. A certain number of our friends were the victims of rumors spread on the radio, and the circulation of a letter which the province has lost in their excellent representatives."

"We are entitled to see in this result a definite approval of our law, and the law of public assistance which were the only two administrative questions which our opponents have really attacked."

"We shall be glad to face opponents who will now have to fight us in parliament, and who will not be able to continue a campaign of base calumnies."

"The most noteworthy characteristic of this election is the return to strong party lines."

SCHOOL ESTIMATES DISCUSSED IN SECRET

All Members of Committees Are Not in Favor of This Plan.

As a result of several "secret" gatherings of the various committees of the board of education, the estimates, as presented at the regular meeting, are acceptable to the members. Just when these meetings were held was somewhat of a mystery, although the information had leaked out that they were being held. Some of the trustees at last night's meeting of the advisory vocational committee, however, let the cat out of the bag, when the figures were dropped in reference to another matter, that the estimates had been "carefully considered by a committee last week."

"Didn't that come up before No. 3 committee last Friday?" asked Trustee J. B. Wright. He was informed that the estimates were not "carefully considered" at that meeting.

From information available from the secretary of the board, W. A. Tanner, the committees were to meet this week, for the consideration of the estimates. As each committee meets, however, the figures are presented rather "for immediate approval," than for consideration.

It is quite evident that all members of the committees are not in favor of this method of procedure, as was clear from the strenuous objections raised by Arthur White, a member of the advisory vocational committee last night, against raising this year's estimates above last year's figures. He was practically alone in his argument, but nevertheless succeeded in having the Technical School estimates cut to the extent of $2,200.

SCHOOL ESTIMATES TO EXCEED $600,000

$622,786 Figure Does Not Include Building of New Schools.

Six hundred thousand dollars will in all probability not cover the public school estimates for 1923. The finance committee yesterday afternoon reported that the estimates for the building of new schools, which would be added to the $622,786, and it is admitted that this figure may be enlarged before the regular session tomorrow afternoon. These figures do not include the building of new schools. While some $100,000 is still available for the Memorial additions, a further expenditure of over $200,000 will be necessary, and a new Empress Avenue School is under consideration.

OFFICERS AT FORD CITY HUNT FOR MISSING MAN

Believe William Nelson Met With Accident—Now in Detroit Hospital.

Canadian Press Despatch. Windsor, Ont., Feb. 6.—Ford City police were searching today for traces of William Nelson, an employee of the Motor Products Corporation, who has been missing since Saturday afternoon.

Although Mrs. Nelson clings to the opinion that her husband has met with foul play, police discount this theory, believing that the missing man had been in an accident and is now in a Detroit hospital.

Nelson drew his pay at the factory on Saturday afternoon. He was not seen since. He was to have reported for work at 6 p.m.

Ice-Coated Ruts on the City Streets Becoming Big Menace to Motorists

"These ice ruts in the street are becoming more than a joke," declared a motorist in the city today. "Last night I saw a fine new car, after spraving down the street much in the manner of a crab, sideways, charge a telephone pole. It did not do the car any good and it was no help to the pole."

All day there were many number of cars which just escaped having accidents by the merest fraction of an inch or a minute, and pedestrians, even in the ordinary course of their daily lives, were in danger of being hurt in an accident. It was really and truly not the driver's fault.

Investigations today proved that spring save them the bother?

FRANCE PREPARED TO USE MILITARY FORCE TO GAIN ENDS.

Occupation of Frankfurt May Follow the Seizure of Baden.

By WILLIAM E. NASH. Special Cable to The Advertiser. Chicago Daily News, Copyright. Paris, Feb. 6.—Soldiers of the French of Tey in the duchy of Baden as a measure of reprisal against German interference with railway traffic between Paris and Prague.

"Well, madam," said my much-anxious friend, "if you expect men to do fool things like that, you must find a few gentlemen." Passing that way an hour later, we saw the cars were still there, each with a soldier evidently determined to have his and her own way. Don't know how they settled it.—A. MUSED.

"I did not come to Essen to confer with the French," said Stinnes. "We have had no preliminary conference with the French. I want this to be known."

In the course of the last week there have been many coal strikes between the German coal and steel barons, and doubtless they have discussed the situation menacing their industries.

"The point was raised that I was proposing to urge the return to the contract system of the city construction work. That is not so. We have invested thousands of dollars in a plant which would become so much junk if that were accomplished."

JUDGE RECALLS JURY IN ACCIDENT ACTION

Must State Whether Burrows or Grand Trunk Were Negligent.

$1,500 DAMAGE SUIT

Plaintiff Claims Injuries From Train of Cars Due to Carelessness.

Shortly before supreme court adjourned at the court house at 1 o'clock this afternoon, the jury which had been sent out in the $1,500 damage action brought by A. H. Burrows against the Grand Trunk Railway, as a consequence of an accident at Adelaide street crossing in October, 1921, was ordered recalled by Judge Mowat.

He explained he had a set of questions to put to them, and that he wanted them to answer them when they returned. The jury was then allowed to go to lunch.

While the jury was out, Mr. McCreedy, K. C., asked the stated questions to be put, so that if he lost the case he would be able to bring the questions and answers into appellate court. He asked that the jury be asked to state if the defendant was negligent and if so, how, and that if the plaintiff exercised reasonable care and diligence, and if so, how?

In his charge to the jury, Judge Mowat pointed out that the plaintiff must recover damages unless negligence was proved.

Burrows' son and a young man who was present at the accident, claimed that when a string of eleven cars backed into their car at the Adelaide street crossing, neither whistle nor car were sounded to give warning.

On the other hand, witnesses for the railway claimed that necessary signals and warnings were given.

Engineer Lee maintained he blew the whistle, and Fireman Thomas Petrick stated he kept the bell ringing.

Burrows claims the train did not give warning of whistle or bell when he approached the crossing.

In a string of eleven cars were pushed toward the crossing another Griffiths, who was on the leading car, stated when an auto shot across the crossing, he thought he had a narrow escape. Then another car, Burrows', followed, and despite the fact that he yelled and gave the signal to stop, it was struck and pushed against a lumber pile. He said another train, managed by George Turner, shouted to the driver of the first car.

Charles Smith, furniture dealer, driver of the first car, stated he had crossed the crossing when his wife drew his attention to the accident to which he was another train.

He heard the trainmen shouting previously, he said.

Mr. McCreedy, K. C., counsel for Burrows, objected to the photographs taken months after the accident being entered as exhibits.

THE REINER TASCHEREAU WILL CONTINUE WITH WORK

Leader of Quebec Government Not Expected To Retire—Purely Country Districts Still Retained Allegiance to Liberals in Yesterday's Election.

Special to The Advertiser. Montreal, Que., Feb. 6.—How long Premier Taschereau will remain to conduct the destinies of his party is problematic. The indications are that he will go through one more session of the house and then retire. Neither of the party's chiefs was in danger of personal defeat. Mr. Sauve had 550 more votes than Mr. Desrosiers, and the gain was not sufficient, and the organizer who conducted all over the province, followed by illness which was already attacking him before his meeting at the St. Denis Theatre last Friday evening had prevented him from giving much attention to his own constituency. Mr. Taschereau secured a majority of 700 votes over that fiery campaigner, Armand Lavergne, in Montmorency.

Two Returned. The two supporters of the government to be returned on the island of Montreal were Peter Bercovitch, K. C., in St. Louis, and Aid J. Hushion, in St. James, who defeated a former member in the person of Dennis Tansley. These two instances were due to exceptional personal influences.

Mr. Bercovitch entrenched in a Jewish stronghold, while in St. Anne, Aid J. Hushion had been paying considerable attention to the division in the hopes of gaining the convention.

Two outstanding features of the vote in the city constituencies and those on the island were the manner in which the electors displayed their disapproval of the government's policy as applied in this district, and the manner in which candidates who had the support of Hon. Medeiros, the mayor, were defeated.

SAYS IRISH-AMERICAN ARE CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Rev. T. J. Charlton Declares "Heart of Ireland Best in World."

UNABLE TO FORCE Speaker Urges Excellent Treatment of English in Century Be Remembered.

"The heart of Ireland is the best in the world, if people only understand it," was the declaration made by Rev. T. J. Charlton, rector of St. Matthew's Church, Monday evening, addressing the Rectory Mothers' Club on the subject of "Ireland, Her Troubles, Past and Present."

Disturbance of today, he attributed to two causes, the intermarriage through the centuries of the various tribes and races which settled in land from the days of tradition, the time of Christ, and more especially "outside interference" on the part of Irish Americans.

"It is most important to not say Mr. Charlton, 'that the present warfare isn't really political or religious. The Irish Free States to into account the good treatment they have received from Britain in the past century. Both Roman Catholics and Protestants among the stay-at-home Irish appreciate this."

The trouble has arisen through the intermarriage of those who, but for the grievances of their people, and their own in past century, left the country and went elsewhere to show the world the story to the descendants, and the tale told to their children the tale, who lost nothing in bitterness as years passed.

"The American Irish," he continued, "look to the past, and they do take into account as do the Irish. They handed down the story to the descendants, and the tale told to their children the tale, who lost nothing in bitterness as years passed."

SAVE CASH BY PUTTING METERS IN ALL HOMES

Ratepayers Without Meters Are Getting Water Ten Times as Cheap.

GREAT WATER WASTE

Gross Discrepancy Should Be Overcome, Declares Buchanan.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities, pointed out Monday that enough money can be saved through the meter system, either to reduce the water rate, or, after paying for the purchase and installation of the meters, within two or three years, turn a large annual surplus over to the city treasury, which would go to materially reduce the tax rate.

"Although the work begun by the Pittometer Company towards the end of the year, is not completed, sufficient was accomplished to show that the distribution system under the control of the commission was in excellent condition," he said, "but that the major portion of the waste was on consumer's premises, where the commission had little or no control. In one of the blocks where the Pittometer survey showed a high consumption, meters were immediately installed, and during the first week the meter on one house showed an average consumption of about 2,000 gallons a day, and another house showed over 600 gallons per day. Both these were small houses."

Only 37 per cent of London homes are metered, and these homes are paying at the rate of 60 cents per 1,000 gallons, and are using an average of 50 gallons per day. In striking contrast, Mr. Buchanan points out that the 63 per cent of homes that are not metered, and are paying only 6 cents per 1,000 gallons, on an average daily consumption of 200 gallons. This condition indicates not only a needless waste of water by unmetered users, but also that London's water supply is being lessened at the expense of those who are now metered users, since the cost of the water is getting off ten times cheaper per gallon than metered users.

FIREMEN SAVE WOMEN TRAPPED BY THE HEAT

Roomers Suffering From Colds Escape Flames in Night Clothes.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Feb. 6.—Fire fighters saved the lives of Miss Elsie Cummings, aged 20, and Mrs. Agathe New, when they were trapped by smoke and heat in their rooms on Shuter street, when fire broke out in the kitchen at 9:15 this morning. Two other women in the house, Mrs. Maude Lewis, landlady, and Mrs. Violet King, aged 25, managed to escape into the street in their night clothes.

The four women were alone in the house. All were in bed, and all were sick with colds and influenza.

ARRIVAL OF TWINLETS HEATS UP COLD HOME

Birth of Numbers 9 and 10 Takes Place With Cellar Exhausted.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Feb. 6.—When twins arrive in a coal-less house the situation is serious.

Property Commissioner Chisholm, civic food commissioner, found among his callers today a man who carried in his hand a doctor's request that coal be sent to the man's house. "A fine pair of twins just arrived," said the doctor's note.

"And I have eight children already," said the proud father. "How much coal have you left?" he was asked. "Just a small bagful," answered the man, who is a foreigner. "Well, we'll sure have to look after 'em," said Mr. Chisholm. "We can't let a family like that go cold with a fine pair of twins just arrived, and forthwith he manly in motion to get a supply of coal to the home of the new arrivals.

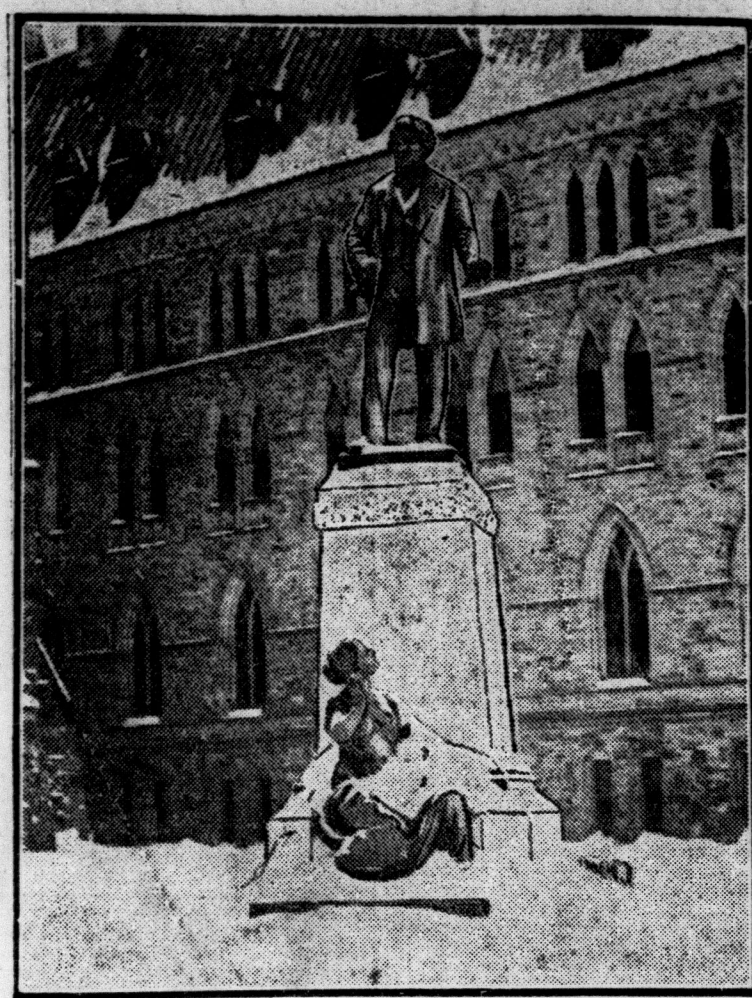

TO INVESTIGATE AFFAIRS OF IMPERIAL INSTITUTE

Associated Press Despatch. London, Feb. 6.—The Duke of Devonshire, secretary of state for the colonies, it is understood, will shortly appoint a sub-committee under the chairmanship of Hon. W. G. A. Ormsby-Gore, Conservative member of the House of Commons for Stafford, Staffordshire, to inquire into the affairs of the imperial institute.

It is recalled that in consequence of protests from the dominions who contribute to the maintenance of the imperial institute, the project mooted last year to remove the war exhibits from the Crystal Palace to the institute was abandoned. The institute is now objecting to the proposal to erect a special building adjacent to it for the accommodation of the war exhibits, and suggests that the science museum be enlarged for this purpose.

KITCHENER CITIZEN DIES IN STREET ON WAY HOME

Special to The Advertiser. Kitchener, Feb. 6.—While returning from his factory to his home for the weekend, Norman Lowe, aged 40, dropped dead on the street in front of the new Collegiate building, King street west yesterday. Lowe was an electrician at the Dominion factory here, and from his home in London, Ontario, he was returning to his home in Kitchener. He was married only a year.

OTTAWA STATUE ESCAPES GERMAN VANDALS. This bronze statue of Thomas D'Army McGee, one of the fathers of Confederation, has recently been erected on Parliament Hill, Ottawa. It was cast in Belgium just before the war, and during the war was buried, and thereby escaped being melted down at the hands of the Germans, who knew of its existence, but were unable to locate it.

Father Claims Daughter Kidnapped; Husband Says He Paid $3,000 For Her

Special to The Advertiser. Flint Mich., Feb. 6.—Detectives here refuse to recognize the ancient custom of gypsies that gives fathers the right to give their daughters in marriage for a stipulated price, without the usual civil marriage ceremony being performed, and Joseph Stevens and his 13-year-old bride, Mary, are held in the county jail pending investigation. The couple were arrested here Saturday night in what is known as the "gypsy camp," on the request of the girl's father, Michael Adams of St. Louis, Mo., who charged that Stevens had kidnapped his daughter, bringing her to Flint a few days ago. Stevens denies the charge, claiming he paid his father-in-law $3,000 for the girl.

Officers say that following Stevens' arrest he asked for a revolver that he might kill the girl's father because of charges made against him. "No one has any grounds for saying that," answered the inspector. "It is a crown case, and will be handled just the same as any other crown case."

THINK HON. MR. GRAHAM TO BE RAIL MINISTER

Hon. Tom Low Likely To Succeed Defence Chief When Change Comes.

Special to The Advertiser. Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 6.—The question of filling the position of Minister of Railways left vacant by the death of the late Hon. W. C. Kennedy has been canvassed extensively among Liberal members since the session opened, and the general impression seems to be that the Hon. Geo. P. Graham, minister of militia, will be appointed to the position. It is freely rumored that Hon. Tom Low, minister without portfolio, is anxious to secure control of the defence department and will be appointed thereto. In such case, Mr. Low would have to stand for election in Renfrew, which, however, is regarded as a fairly safe Liberal seat.

INURED IN RUNAWAY, CITIZEN WILL RECOVER

John Flannigan, Traveler, Reported Resting Quietly At His Home.

John Flannigan, 50, of 13 Garfield avenue, who was seriously injured yesterday, when thrown from a sleigh at the corner of King and Ridout streets in the course of a runaway, is resting quietly at his home, and will recover.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Flannigan got on a delivery wagon belonging to Tamlyn's butcher shop, with the intention of riding uptown with the boy who was in charge of the rig. On Ridout street south of York the sleigh slid ahead and struck the horse, frightening him and causing him to run away.

Seeing the delivery boy could not manage the horse, Mr. Flannigan took the reins and endeavored to stop the runaway. At York and Ridout the boy jumped from the sleigh, and at the next corner the runners of the sleigh struck the horse, and he struck a telephone pole, hurling Mr. Flannigan to the roadway. He suffered severe injuries to his head and shoulders, and it was thought at first that these might prove fatal.

Mr. Flannigan was removed to Victoria Hospital by a passing motorist, and there it was found that he would recover after house surgeons had examined him. The victim of the accident is a commercial traveler, and well known in local business circles.

BLUE RIBBON CURLING BEGINS AT WINNIPEG

Associated Press Despatch. Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—Play commenced this afternoon in the 25th annual bonspiel, the blue ribbon event of the curling world, with several links participating in the Dingwall, one of the two primary competitions. There are approximately two hundred and twenty rings attending this year's meet, including the Scottish curling club, which falls far below the record last year of two hundred and fifty-two. Six links from the United States are also attending, as well as quartets from as far west as Calgary and as far east as Fort William.

The Scottish players make their first appearance this morning when they play a friendly match with the honorary life members of the Manitoba Curling Association.

PROBE SUPPLIES LOSS OF NORTH SUFFERERS

Two Men Are Charged With "Illegal Possession of Car of Supplies."

IS PECULIAR CASE

Unsuitable Goods Shipped to Toronto To Be Disposed Of.

Special to The Advertiser. Cobalt, Ont., Feb. 5.—It will be a peculiar case in the Cobalt police court this afternoon, when the crown attorneys will probe the loss of a car of supplies sent to the fire sufferers. Provincial Inspectors Moore and Grier, who are in charge of the case, will make no public statement, beyond that A. N. Davis, of Cobalt, and Charles Goldring are together charged with "illegal possession of a car of supplies."

The story as told to The Advertiser by a prominent businessman of Cobalt, is that the whole thing arose out of the sending of some supplies for the protection of the women in the fire area against the cold and wet and snow of the northern autumn. Anyway there were some such unsuitable supplies here at Cobalt that the storage of them was hampering the work of the relief commission. A. N. Davis, who was in charge at Cobalt, decided to get rid of what he felt they had no use for.

In this it is said that he had the consent of W. A. Young, who at that time was chairman of the Northern Ontario Fire Relief Committee. A carload was accordingly disposed of to Charles Goldring, an old rag and shipped to Toronto. Just what led to the charge being laid is not being stated by the provincial police.

The car of supplies in dispute is being held in Toronto by the Red Cross, until its ultimate disposal is settled, and the police court case is to be heard at the end of the month. "I have heard around Cobalt that the case will not be pressed very hard," suggested The Advertiser reporter to Inspector Moore, of the provincial police.

"No one has any grounds for saying that," answered the inspector. "It is a crown case, and will be handled just the same as any other crown case."

CABINET TO REMIND ALLIES OF THEIR DEBTS

Impending Move Is Foreshadowed by Stanley Baldwin Saturday.

By HENRY SOMERVILLE. Special Cable to The Advertiser. Copyright. London, Feb. 5.—The British government will issue shortly, it is believed, a new statement on the lines of the Balfour note, reminding France, Italy and other Allies of their obligations, and requesting early proposals for a debt settlement. This was foreshadowed by Stanley Baldwin on Saturday, who said that now we had practiced debt repayment, we could begin to preach it. He was anxious to say that the Lamsdown breakdown means a continuance of the armed truce, but no active hostilities unless the Turks attack, which they are not likely to do. They cannot threaten Mosul, for there is a hundred miles of most difficult country between Mosul and the nearest Turkish base. They have only weak forces in Thrace, and they cannot bring a large army across the straits while the British command the seas and hold the Dardanelles. The evacuation of the Allies of that city is a possibility.

TIDAL WAVE LOSSES INCREASE TO TWELVE

Thousands of Fish Washed Into Village With Wreckage.

Special to The Advertiser. Honolulu, Feb. 6.—Reports of loss of life in the tidal wave which swept the windward side of the Hawaiian Islands Saturday varied widely today. Four Japanese are known to have lost their lives, but various unconfirmed reports brought the list of missing up to twelve. One message from the island said seven bodies had been recovered, and the principal street of the town of Hilo, largest city on the island, was entirely inundated.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of the late Mr. Rodolph's daughter's residence, with interment in the Friends Cemetery, Sparta.

RODOLPH NOW SPURNS PICTURE CORPORATION

Movie Sheik Declares He Will Not Renew Contract With Lasky.

Special to The Advertiser. Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—Rodolph Valentino, the Famous Players' star, will not accept future offers of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation to make pictures, he declared yesterday. "I have been offered a contract to make pictures for the next two years," Valentino, accompanied by his wife, professionally known as Miss Hudson, began his engagement last night at the Majestic Theatre of Dancing. This is the sheik's first professional appearance on his own behalf since the injunction against him to refrain from professional work was modified. The injunction forbids Valentino to perform in any motion picture house or on the speaking stage. "That is why I have come to dancing school, because I do not want to be cited for contempt of court," he declared. "There are two more years to my contract," with the Famous Players, yet I will not accept their offer to return. I know what they would do to me next two years—try to ruin me."

CHURCH SOCIETIES HOLD INSTRUCTIVE MEETING

Special to The Advertiser. Watford, Feb. 6.—The Congregational Church of Watford held a joint meeting of the church prayer meeting and the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor at the home of Mrs. James Brush, Simcoe street, Thursday evening.

The young people had charge of the first half of the program, Miss Lena Healey presiding. An excellent paper on the topic, "What are the rights of our church upon us?" prepared by Russell Duncan, was read, in his absence, by the vicar, Miss Elsie Brown. The second half of the program was in charge of the pastor, Rev. T. De Courcy Rayner, who conducted the regular Bible study from St. John's gospel.

BEAN GROWERS FORM COMPANY TO AID WORK

Huron, Elgin and Kent Farmers Co-operate To Combat Market Dumping.

CAPITAL OF $300,000

Organization To Educate Public To Value of Beans As a Food.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Feb. 6.—The bean growers of Huron, Elgin and Kent have decided to organize a bean growers' co-operative company for the express purpose of endeavoring to prevent dumping of beans onto the market in the fall of the year, and to co-operatively attack some of the other problems which are to the forefront at the present time.

Thursday afternoon last a meeting was held in the township hall, Ridgetown, for the purpose of adopting a constitution and bylaws and to propose a permanent board of nine directors. The provisional directors are now making arrangements for incorporation, and will carry out a plan of campaign for securing membership. It was generally decided that at least 75 per cent approximately should be signed up before the company commence operations.

The capital is to be $300,000, divided into 3,000 shares of $100 each, and $10 is paid at the time of signing the marketing agreement. It was decided to fix the contracts at five years, and it is expected that under reasonable management there should not be further calls on the stock.

The new organization expects to co-operate with any existing bean agency in order that the very best possible system may be worked out for the handling of beans quickly, and as necessary, to the trade. A certain definite guaranteed grades of beans. It is also likely some definite educational work will be taken up in order to place before the consuming public the value of beans as a food. The proposed permanent board of directors are: Huron—John Laporte, Zurlind, J. A. King; Elgin—J. A. King; Kent—J. A. King, Ferguson, Port Stanley; Edgar Johnstone, Union; Kent—D. McElmird, Ridgetown; Wm. Churchill, Blenheim; W. R. Reek, Ridgetown.

BALDWIN SAYS PEOPLE PROUD OF INTEGRITY

British Have Carried Through Greatest Financial Transaction.

Associated Press Despatch. Birmingham, Feb. 6.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at the jewellers' annual dinner Saturday night, said that although the question of the British debt to the United States was to a certain extent sub judice, it satisfactorily settled, it left the way clear for closer co-operation between the two peoples than was possible before.

This settlement was a necessary prelude to the settlement of European questions. "If the debt was not funded, arrears would roll up against Great Britain for years to come and the country might have drifted to possible default, but that was over now, continued the chancellor, and they would feel with pride that they had carried through the greatest financial transaction in the history of the world."

WABASH TRAINMEN MAY STAY IN WINDSOR

General Manager Cotter Denies That Employees Must Reside in St. Thomas.

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, Feb. 6.—Employees of the Wabash Railroad Company whose homes are now in this city may continue to live here, notwithstanding the protests by St. Thomas. A statement to this effect was received today from St. Thomas, general manager of the Wabash Lines at St. Louis, by Windsor Board of Commerce.

"We are not contemplating any change that would require our employees to live at St. Thomas instead of at Windsor," Cotter's telegram stated. This is the third time an effort has been launched and has failed to compel Wabash trainmen living here to make their homes in St. Thomas.

JUDGE GARY CONFIDENT OF PEACE IN NEAR EAST

Special to The Advertiser. New York, Feb. 6.—Bilbert Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation, is so confident of a European settlement and continued good business that he feels these problems no longer demand his presence in America.

Departing on a trip to the Mediterranean, he predicted a quick clearing of the Central European situation, provided Congress will permit the president to apply the policies he has outlined. Demand for steel, both here and in foreign countries, will remain "remarkable" for the next few months at least, Gary said.

He has, therefore, tendered his resignation, which will be considered by the church board this week. He expects to take up his new charge immediately after Easter.

WOMEN MAY HANG. Unless Ottawa intervenes, two women, Mrs. Florence Lassandra (left) and Mrs. Irene May Christensen (right), now in Alberta jails, will be hanged within the next two months. As only four women have been hanged in Canada since Confederation, it is thought that the sentences will be commuted to life imprisonment.

Americans Laud Canadian Government For Assistance to the Agriculturists

Canadian Press Despatch. Washington, Feb. 6.—More than passing attention has been attracted here to the recent address read by Governor-General Byng at the opening of parliament in Ottawa.

It is further pointed out that with Canadian agriculture being given the fostering attention of the Canadian government, the United States government will find itself more and more under the necessity of doing the same thing if the United States farmer is to keep pace with leaders of the farm bloc in Congress and by-standers in farmers' organizations in the United States.

Comment among the farm bloc on the fact that the speech directed the attention of parliament to a series of important measures for the benefit of Canadian agriculture, is that it sets a good example for many of the high officials in Washington and leaders in the Senate and House, some of whom fail to take sympathetic interest in United States agriculture.

MAY FREE MITCHELL FOR DEATH OF KEYES

County Officials Claim Authorities Lack Evidence For Conviction.

HAD RIGHT OF WAY

Police Fail To Obtain Proof of Accused Being Run-Runner.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, Feb. 6.—Doubt is expressed by county officials as to whether Michael William Mitchell will be prosecuted on the charge of manslaughter preferred against him after his arrest in connection with the death of H. J. E. Keyes, who was killed when Mitchell's car struck that of the highway department official on the provincial highway. It is pointed out that the authorities have no evidence by which they could hope to secure a conviction. Nobody saw the accident, and evidence adduced at the recent inquest was to the effect that Mitchell had the right of way. His friend Joe Young swore that the speed of the Cadillac car that Mitchell was driving was only 23 miles an hour.

The police have not been able to secure any evidence to confirm suspicions that were originally aroused that Mitchell was engaged in rum-running. Although accused admitted there were two bottles of liquor in the car untouched, the explanation which the police have of these is that they were bought to provide a drink for the guests at Mitchell's wedding, which was scheduled to take place on February 12 in Detroit. A charge of violating the O. T. act, which was made against Mitchell, is still standing against him. It is probable that that charge will be pressed.

DIDN'T KNOW I DRUNK, SO PAYS COURT $50

Daniel Kallis Charged With Being Intoxicated Fined by Brantford Magistrate.

Special to The Advertiser. Brantford, Feb. 6.—Today a foreigner was accused in police court this morning of having assaulted and used abusive language to another foreign woman, Agnes Patchuk, a woman much larger than the defendant. The complainant, also a foreigner, called only one witness. This witness said that when she first saw the fight the complainant was severely beaten, and that she lay on the ground. After hearing the defendant's denial of the accusation, Magistrate Blake dismissed the case.

"Where did you get the liquor?" was the next question. "I don't know," was again the response. "Fifty dollars and costs," ruled the magistrate. Pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving, Alfred Finch was assessed $20. "This reckless driving must cease," said the magistrate in passing sentence.

FREES PICKERSGILL OF SELLING LIQUOR

Ingersoll Magistrate Dismisses Case After Two Adjournments.

Special to The Advertiser. Ingersoll, Feb. 6.—After hearing additional evidence following two adjournments, Magistrate Paterson today dismissed the case against Allen Pickersgill of North Walsingham, Norfolk county, who was charged with disposing of liquor in Dereham township. The last adjournment was made to enable the crown to produce John Smith, of whose place the liquor in question had been left. Mrs. Smith, who had previously testified, was of the opinion that the man who had appeared to be Pickersgill, Smith, testifying today, denied any knowledge of how the liquor got there. He found it there when he went home, but to his knowledge it was not brought there by Pickersgill.

Kelley, it appears, disordered and fled through the institution, and was perceived only after a hard struggle. Exerting superhuman strength, he smashed the bed and the furniture in his room, and tore the mattress to shreds.

Hiring Government Help.

Robert Porke, in his address at Ottawa, took occasion to warn the government that there must be nothing take place that would lead to a return of patronage. Just what prompted the remark is not stated, unless it was simply put forward as a statement of the political faith of the Progressive leader.

There can be no general desire on the part of the Liberals to reach out for the old pork-barrel form of patronage. The Liberal party in the country knows, and the Liberal party as it is constituted in the House at Ottawa knows, that such a thing is not desirable nor possible.

Those responsible for the conduct of departments feel, though, that they are not well served by the civil service commission. We have built up a great and expensive machine that must cost almost a third of a million dollars a year to operate, and it is simply an employment agency for the government.

Dr. Sinclair of North Oxford is a reasonable and sane businessman.
He is a Liberal thinker in the best sense of the word. The member for North Oxford does not believe that the present system is one that is conducting the clerical and executive business of the country in the best possible way. He looks upon the civil service commission as something that is unwieldy and complicated and increasingly expensive.

His idea would be that a trained business executive in each department should be able to tell, as in any ordinary business establishment, what assistance would be needed, and that assistance would be secured just as any other concern would make selection, viz., on the basis of merit.
Dr. Sinclair, from views held by him, is in doubt as to the need for all the elaborate system of special examinations insisted upon by the civil service department. This country is spending more and more on education each year, and in many lines is becoming highly specialized.
Surely with all this outpouring in a province like Ontario we are training our young people sufficiently to fit them for government service should they desire to enter it.

The ministry at Ottawa is roundly criticized for the expenditure of money, and yet here is one great source of expenditure, increasing each year, and the government of the day is practically powerless to deal with the matter because it is in the hands of an independent commission.

Liberals see these things, and yet they fear to express their views, because it is certain that opposition forces will at once cry out that patronage is desired and the days of the old pork-barrel regime are about to be restored.

The civil service commission is a highly expensive organization that has not shown results for the money the people have poured into it.

The Day After the Fire.

How does it feel to be burned out?
Well, that was the experience of Reid Bros. & Co., London, so to answer the question let us ask George Reid, for 45 years the president of the company, which was started by his father 75 years ago. The president will always hasten to tell you that his son, Col. Eric Reid, runs the whole thing now. Just the same, George Reid is very much around, and he will find it a hard matter to retire. Men of his type simply don't take to cover, or if they do, they don't stay there.

The day after the fire George Reid was watching the ice-covered safe being pulled out of the ruins. We imagine it contained valuables, such as Victory bonds and choice pieces of Grit literature. And as it was coming down the steps Mr. Reid stopped for a minute or so to remark that it was almost worth while having a fire to find out that you have real friends.
"This place wasn't through burning before I started to receive wires from all points. Then came men in London in our own line of business offering to handle all our work at cost until we could get started again. They wanted us to go right on making our usual profit on the work. I've been at the head of that business over 45 years myself," said Mr.
Reid, "and I tell you it's a pretty fine thing when your whole thing goes up in smoke, to feel that there are people around to see if they can't make it easy for you to get started again. Yes, sir, the day after the fire has been one of the best in my existence."

Rather a worth-while testimony to any business community. That is, in a concrete way, what people try to describe when they use the rather vague phrase, "community spirit."

Where Will It End?

Southampton councillors voted to pay themselves $3 a meeting, while Shelburne, a village of scarcely over a thousand, has a council that granted its own members $50 a year.
Not much in itself, but driving in the thin edge of a wedge that in the aggregate may amount to a big thing in future.
Canada has too many agencies now with the right to levy taxes and take money from the people. A recent survey of the situation places the number at over 5,500.

The Citizens Research Institute counts them this way: The national government, nine provincial governments; 58 cities of 10,000 or over; 200 municipalities of 2,000 to 10,000;
600 of from 400 to 2,000; at least 4,500 rural municipalities, districts and school districts with independent taxing powers.

These taxing bodies, of course, are spread over a very wide area, but it is quite possible for three or four of them to have the same name as an active prospect.

That is the reason why each of these spending bodies must see to it that new ways of spending money are kept outside the camp. In this age we are hemmed about with efficiency. The first thing we know a board of education or a city council has appointed an inspector or some sort of an official, and of course that official never feels fully established until he has a desk, a stenographer and a filing cabinet, along with some printed stationery. It's just the way we do things—when we make an appointment, why these other things seem to hear the call and at once fall in behind, so that the procession arrives before we've had time to think about it.

As a general thing these added appointments become permanent fixtures, and the bills for the upkeep come along at regular intervals. That is one reason why the municipalities of Ontario must learn to shake their heads and say "No," and the same thing applies right on through.

It means also that we have got to cease our excursions to provincial and federal capitals for the purpose of showing how money can be spent to advantage in our own particular section of the country.

Governments of all sorts can do their share, but the people themselves can accomplish a tremendous amount.

A Ton of Coal.

We called up the coal dealer a day or so ago. You can't talk to this class of nobility like you used to.

So a certain amount of sob diplomacy was used. Had some sickness in the house; afraid of pneumonia; leaving town for a few days, but hated thoughts of wife having to throw chairs and kitchen table into the furnace; would pay something on that old account right away; shame the day it had been allowed to run; knew dealers were trying to be fair with all their customers; general public had no idea of the trouble they must be having in such a season as this.

All ready to start in on another tack.

Voice from the coal office: "What kind do you want? Yes, we'll send it this afternoon."

After all, things are generally worse before they happen than after they arrive.

Poor Jack Dempsey.

Jack Dempsey and his manager, Kearns, are down in the mouth because no easy mark is showing up on the horizon offering a half-million for Dempsey to punch some other pug's head.

They whine because some of the promoters make "promises" which they do not keep, and they whine some more because they are not getting enough action in connection with the professional fighting game.

Boxing, in itself a clean, exciting sport, is a long way removed from the brand of goods Dempsey and his manager are trying to shove off on the public.

Imagine a great big healthy man and his manager, another able-bodied man, sulking around because some person is not coming forward and offering him some hundreds of thousands to stand up and punch some other chap who also wants some thousands of the easy public's easy money.

Will some person second the motion that Mr. Dempsey go to work until such time as he has occasion to use his fists?

Note and Comment

We used to turn a fine old phrase on "the battle of the ballots." That's exactly what took place in Quebec.

Some of those robins who stayed here all winter instead of going south must have put their money into oil stocks.

It's bad to gather up a reputation for being a deep thinker. Some person's sure to drop in some day with a real sizzler.

The only difference between a man and a woman getting ready for a party is that a man puts more on while a woman takes more off.

And while we talk and argue and discuss and look wise, a farm sale ad.
in the Milverton Sun tells what happens: "Everything will be sold as the owner is going to reside in the city of Stratford."

Toronto man, because of his sweet-heart's coolness toward him, got a loaded revolver to help matters. Of course it didn't work, because a gun's no substitute at all for blushes and orange blossoms.

London's motor show is on, and it is a credit to the men who organized it. Primarily it is a selling agency, and the dealers and public regard it as such. At this exhibition there is everything in the 1923 auto world.
The man who is thinking of buying has a pretty complete bill of fare spread out before him.

BARRED FROM THE FEED TROUGH.

REAL PATRIOTISM.

Editor Advertiser:

Sir,—Will you allow me, please, a few lines in reply to Dr. Norwood's remarks on patriotism? I would like to say that there are two kinds of patriotism; there is that super-patriotism that is exploited and fan-ed into flame by various international al groups, and that nationalism and love of race that is in every individual, and that only asks to be left alone to enjoy peace and quietness in the land
the Lord their God has given them.

The great trouble with the world today is that certain groups of men, and certain religions, will keep on pursuing that will of the wisps of ages, a world ruled and controlled by a central figure. Heedless of the repeated failures, and the destruction and misery caused by past attempts, they still continue to follow that great mirage of history, a standardized humanity controlled by a small body of perfected supermen. It is nothing to them that the individual nations disappear before each wave of world conquest, only to reappear stronger than ever before on the ruins of their conquerors. It is nothing to them that individual religious convictions disappear before each wave of standardized creed and fanaticism, only to reappear stronger than ever. The central control fiend still chooses his moonbeam, but fortunately for a distressed and stricken humanity, a new day is beginning to dawn in the new nationalism, whose creed is individual nations, individual business, individual church and individual opinions.

Let us hope that the day is not far distant when the nations of the world will meet and draw up an international Magna Charta, similar to that which governs the group of independent nations known as the British Empire, giving to every race full national liberty, and to every man and every woman full civil and religious liberty. Then and only then shall we have reached the highest degree of perfection that is possible for our poor human mortals to obtain, until the time comes when the good Lord shall descend on the Mount of Olives to rule the world.

BARNEY'S BIG JOB.

Barney Oldfield relates that he was once in partnership with Henry Ford, but afterwards dissolved that union and went with someone else. Some time later a friend of the Detroit manufacturer made the statement to him:

"Well, Hank, Barney Oldfield helped to make you."

"Yes," replied Mr. Ford, "and I helped to make him."

When next Barney saw his former such a thing, and Mr. Ford readily admitted that he had.

"Well, all I've got to say," an-

I helped to make you and you helped than you did!"—Judge.

HOW TO TREAT A BURN TO BANISH THE DANGER.
By Royce S. Copeland, M.D.

Just as there are more destructive fires in the winter time, there are more burns of human beings at this time of year. One of the common accidents of life is burning the body surface. Matches, not stoves, spittering lard, curling irons, firecrackers—there are innumerable ways of meeting with this uncomfortable experience.

The seriousness of a burn depends on its depth and the extent of the surface involved. The age of the patient and the part of the body damaged play a part. Very old persons and very young ones are more likely to suffer badly even moderate burns.
Not only is the immediate outcome disagreeable, but also the secondary of a burn are sometimes exceedingly grave. Infection, due to carelessness, in the management of the burn, or from accident, may result in pus formation and blood-poisoning.

If the burn is not extensive, the chief indication is the relief of pain.
To this end, the air should be excluded. Almost any local measure recommended for burns is intended to serve this purpose. Various powders are used. Saleratus, or baking soda, flour, alum, bismuth, talcum powder, boracic acid—one of these substances may be sprinkled thickly over the burned surface.

If the hand has been burned it may be immersed in a vessel containing soda or saleratus solution.
Subacetate of aluminum is a good remedy to relieve the pain. Compresses are dipped in a 5 per cent solution, and these are laid on the burned surface. They should be kept wet with the solution. Evaporation may be prevented by covering the compresses with a dry towel.

If the skin is unbroken, sweet oil, vaseline, lard or zinc oxide ointment may be applied. Such applications should not be used if there are ruptured blisters, deep burns or broken surface from any cause. Their use may be followed by infection of the wounded tissues and by pus formation.

When the surface is broken, picric acid may be employed. Gause's wet with a 5 per cent solution and applied to the burn. Cotton is placed over this, and the whole dressing is covered with a bandage.

There are various secret remedies alleged to have special virtues in the treatment and healing of burns. Most of them consist of paraffin with the addition of olive oil, eucalyptus and other substances. Some authorities contend that equal parts of mineral oil and hard paraffin are just as valuable. To be used they are heated till they run together.

All these paraffin remedies are applied by spraying with an atomizer.
First, the skin is sprayed. Then cotton is thinly spread on the burned surface, and this is sprayed. It will be seen that this covers and thoroughly protects the injured parts from the air.

If the patient suffers from shock, that is, if he is pale, cold, faint, sick at his stomach and very weak, he needs careful treatment. Put him to bed, keep his head low, cover him with hot water bottles and send for the doctor.

trouble.

A.—Constipation is a great factor in this condition, but it may be due to an eye condition. Correct the constipation if it is present and consult an eye specialist or attend an eye

The Daily Story

THE BLONDE TEAMSTER.
By RUBY DOUGLAS.

Jerry Dane had driven the big black team belonging to Crosby & Co. for the past five years, and there was only one trip in his weekly rounds that he thoroughly disliked to take.

"Well, Jerry," chaffed the girl in the office of the milling company,
"grouchily because it's Broad Brook today?"

The big blonde teamster smiled through his gloom at the way the girl had hit the nail on the head.
"Suppose you had to drive all the way down the brook to the end of nowhere to deliver flour to a lot of campers who don't care whether you come or go. Would you like it? I'm thinking not."

"What do you want them to do—give you a party, Jerry?"

"No. But we're used to being noticed up here even if we do drive a team for a living, and not one of those New Yorkers has so much as noticed that I am alive. A lot they care for the rocky road I have to drive over to get to the camp."

Perhaps Jerry's discontent was heightened by a coat of sunburn he had acquired on a Sunday fishing trip. He went out and climbed up to his high seat on the wagon behind the black team.

As he approached the shack where the group of campers spent the summer enjoying the wonders of Green Mountain scenery, he heard music.
Someone at the camp was playing and singing. It was unusual.

He drew up before the rear door of the shack, and as he turned to lift the flour from the back of his wagon a voice from the pine woods at the rear called: "Who is that, please?"

Jerry was startled at the friendliness of the voice and the sweetness of its tone. A lovely girl was approaching, guitar in hand.

"I have brought the flour," he said, his cap in his hand for some unaccountable reason. His blonde hair was a mass of curls, and his ruddy skin was the ruddier for his embarrassment.

"Will you put it inside, please?"
the girl asked, smiling.

Jerry did, silently. He seemed not to know what to say.

The girl was walking beside his horses. "Do they like sugar?"

Jerry gulped. "They like anything," he stammered.

The girl stepped into the kitchen and returned with a handful of sugar lumps.

"You come down here often?" asked the girl, looking into Jerry's sky face with admiration. He did not know which way to turn.

"Every week," he said.

"I have just come—I am the cook," she explained.

"Oh," gasped Jerry, "and you like it here?"

"It's lonesome—that's all," she said, and Jerry thought her tone was wistful.

"I have come up for my health and am doing a little outdoor cooking for some people I know. That's all—and it seems far from anywhere when they are all away fishing or tramping."

"My gosh!" I should say it would," Jerry exclaimed. "And you was playing to keep up your spirits, I reckon."

The girl laughed. Then she nodded.
Her eyes filled with tears in spite of her bravery.

Jerry twisted his cap about unconsciously.

fortably. "They do say homesickness is awful. This is home to me and I've never been away from here.
Ever been up to the burg—Brattleboro?"

The girl smiled through her glistening tear drops. "No—but I'd love to go," she said.

Jerry hesitated for a moment. "I'll be coming down this road tomorrow night, and if you'd care to drive back with me why—I could give you a lift."

"Would you really?" asked the girl, searching his eyes.

Jerry had queer little electric currents running strangely about his being when she looked at him thus.

He had no more thought of coming to Broad Brook on the following night than he had of falling into that same brook—until he saw the tears of loneliness in this girl's eyes.

"I'll come by the road up there," pointing beyond where the path turned in, "and I'll wait till you come along. Tell the folks it's all right!"

He laughed his funny Vermont pronunciation of the "and" and they can ask anyone about Jerry Dane, the blonde teamster for Crosby & Co.

Jane sang over her steak as she broiled it on the coals that night for the hungry campers. They noticed the light in her eyes and the flush on her cheeks. "Doing Jane good already—this air," they remarked.

Jane met the big blonde at the appointed spot on the following evening.
She quite thrilled as she realized how romantic was this meeting with an almost stranger in these wonderful pine woods.

"Right on time," said Jerry as he turned the bend in the road.

He had been holding back his horses for twenty minutes, so as not to seem too early.

Jerry had never been in love until now, and at this moment there was nothing he knew so well as that he had found the only girl in the world —and at the one time he had de-tested driving to of all others.

"My name is Jane—Jane Drew," she said, "just in case you want to introduce me to any one," she explained as they drove. The moon was peeping from behind a mountain top.

Jane was very happy.

"And mine is Jerry Dane," he said.
To himself he explained that she would never need to change her initials.

They did not see much of the town nor of the moving picture show to which he took her. But they saw some wonderful paths turning into the future for them. Neither one said much as they drove home. It seemed too soon to say the things they were feeling, and nothing else mattered.

Therefore, they chose silence.
He seemed to want to linger in his lonely eyes?

CITY ENGINEER TENDERS RESIGNATION TO COUNCIL

H. Brazier Announces Determination To Leave City's Employment On April 30.

OPPOSE REDUCTION

Councillors Defeat Action To Eliminate Five Civic Offices.

London will require another city engineer after April 30. Henry A. Brazier, the present incumbent, tendered his resignation at last night's session of the city council, and it was accepted unanimously without pay. The engineer asserted most emphatically that he desired to leave.

His announcement followed as the climax to a meeting that was marked by the first real opposition to be encountered by Mayor Wenig since his inaugural address. His recommendations urging the reduction of positions in the city engineering department were hopelessly defeated in every instance.

Led by Ald. Albert Judd, the finance committee opposed Mayor Wenig as a unit, while Ald. Edmund Hayden and Frank McKay voted with him on every count.

But two members of the city council supported the mayor to the last ditch—Ald. Leonard Douglas, chairman of the board of works, and Ald. John T. May. Ald. Thos. Patterson and P. J. Watt upheld the mayor in certain instances.

Accepted Resignations.
Early in the game the councillors accepted resignations from Stephen Grant, assistant commissioner, and Martin O'Sullivan, senior assessor. The question of adequate superannuation allowance was referred back to the finance committee after a prolonged and heated discussion.

The gathering extended until midnight and was not without its thrilling moments, particularly when a member of an unusually large body of spectators offered a suggestion unsolicited and his removal from the hall was proposed by Ald. Judd.

By unanimous vote, it was ruled to ask William Hunter, paving superintendent, to reconsider his resignation.

The aldermen then followed upon the five proposed reductions in the city engineer's department:
For elimination of garbage superintendent's office: Yes, Mayor Wenig; Aids, Douglas, May and Patterson; no, Wilson, Drake, Burdick, Colbert, Greer, Judd, Watt, McKay and Hayden.

Paving superintendent: Yes, Wenig, Watt, May and Douglas; no, Wilson, Drake, Burdick, Colbert, Greer, Judd, Hayden, McKay and Patterson.

Superintendent of sewers: Yes, Wenig, Watt, May and Douglas; no, the same as above.

Timekeeper: Yes, Wenig, Patterson, May and Douglas; no, Wilson, Drake, Burdick, Colbert, Greer, Judd, Watt, McKay and Hayden.

Ald. Greer fired the first gun for the opposition maintaining that the advice of the city engineer should be accepted at face value.

Ald. Burdick followed, holding that the should go about the matter in a business manner. The department heads should be consulted. He had heard no complaint about the present superintendent, and he wanted such in writing.

"May I ask the special committee how they propose to do this work if the position of the superintendent is eliminated?" questioned Ald. Judd.

"The aldermen were told to arm themselves with all data, and this is the recommendation from the board of works," replied the mayor.

Was Not At Probe.
"Am I right when I state that the engineer was present at the investigation?" persisted Ald. Judd.

"Yes," replied the mayor.

"Why not?" asked Ald. Judd.

"The committee deemed it advisable to get the information from his office," was the reply.

"Well then, can you tell how they propose to do the work?" continued Ald. Judd.

"Under the direction of the engineer," replied the mayor.

"Was the latter consulted?" asked Ald. Judd again.

"He was, and he said that it could not be done," explained Ald. Douglas.

THREE BODIES REMOVED FROM RUINS OF BLAZE

Associated Press Despatch.
Wichita, Kas., Feb. 6.—With three unidentified bodies recovered, firemen still searched the ruins of the Getto Apartment Building all day yesterday. All persons seriously injured were in hospitals. Al Brownwell, fire chief, said he did not believe that more than four or five persons had been killed.

Reports last night that 27 persons were missing, but a re-check today accounted for most of them. The bodies recovered were burned beyond recognition.

divided and declared that he would not vote for the recommendation. Mayor Wenig left the chair, leaving Ald. Wilson to preside. "We have adjourned ourselves," he said, "when elected to do certain things, affecting chiefly the tax rate, notably not to pay $2 where $1 would do. This report comes from No. 2 committee. It is their recommendation, and if you are going to lay it over or vote otherwise you are not fulfilling your obligation."

Ald. Greer again stated that he never heard of any directors not consulting their chiefs. Mayor Wenig replied that the engineer had been asked, but the aldermen, as directors, had the final say.

"Yes, but with the advice of your heads," cautioned Ald. Judd, "and he was not there at the investigation session."

At the juncture the engineer was invited to participate at the suggestion from Ald. Wilson.

"If you expect efficiency you can't do it with a staff of five," stated Ald. Judd. "Even if we did as Ald. Douglas has suggested, delegate the work to foremen, we would need four or five of them."

The other recommendations were considered and disposed of in a similar manner. Ald. Douglas moving the adoption in each case, presented the combined opposition of the finance committee, aided by Ald. Hayden and McKay, and in two instances Ald. Watt.

"Bylaw, bylaw. Whose got the bylaw?"
This is a new pastime in "civic circles"—a new sort of tag. Now it is the police commissioners who are "it." That famous omnibus bylaw has gone back to them again for adoption, following the wish of the councillors last night.

At the instigation of Ald. A. M. Judd, the "decline to assume any responsibility in connection with proposed change in the 1922 legislation" passed in secret session of police commissioners last December.

"Is this the same one back from the commission?" questioned Ald. Greer, when the question was introduced.

"What do they want now?" queried Ald. Watt.

"$5 fee was quite reasonable. Under the $50 fee for each bus, we are not charging what is fair."

"I don't think that we should assume any responsibility," declared Ald. Judd. "The city will be liable jointly under this insurance arrangement, and if there is any failure on the part of the operators to pay damages, the commission will be blamed for it. The commission can set the fee, and it is up to them. They have the right to rule from Hamilton has been obtained."

Send Project Back.
Ald. Judd moved, and Ald. Wilson seconded, that the entire project go back to the commission. Ald. Drake opposed the ruling single-handed.

Despite the efforts of Mayor Wenig and Ald. Drake, the aldermen voted 8 to 4 against an appropriation of $20,000 to be used toward an effort to stage the plowing convention in London.

One of the most remarkable events of the evening was the successful passage of the motion from Frank McKay, seconded by Ald. Judd, that every effort be made this year to get additional school taxes from industrial concerns.

The annexed districts of East London. There was no opposition, both Ald. Greer and Burdick being accused from expressing an opinion as they are property owners in that district.

While in accord with the proposal, Ald. Judd questioned to what extent the city might be involved in litigation.

Urges Action.
Ald. Colbert urged his colleagues to take favorable action. "This was up in 1922," he said, "and while the within our rights, there was no power there to remedy things. The county judge held a similar view, and suggested the authority of the supreme court be sought."

Ald. George Burdick recalled that this same prospect claimed certain rights in 1916. He referred to the city's agreement with the people in the annexed district, and questioned how this would be circumvented.

Ald. W. A. Wilson directed attention to the fact that he was also a member of the 1916 council, and he cited an extract from the school act to show that the East London industries should not be exempted.

Ald. McKay's motion follows: "Be it resolved that the council of the municipality of the city of London do instruct the city engineer, commissioner, the city clerk and the city tax collector to take such steps and proceedings as shall be necessary to spread the estimates of the board of education on all exempt valuation of improved factory properties as shown on the assessor's rolls for the annexed territory for the current year, and to serve tax notices in accordance with this instruction, and to collect the said school rates on all such property as has heretofore been exempt from the school rate in the annexed territory for the year 1923."

Board Divided.
Ald. W. A. Wilson expressed the opinion that the board of works was Principal Obstacle To Signing of Treaty Is Now Removed.

Premier Poincare Transmits Favorable News To British Officials.

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, Feb. 6.—M. Poincare, head of the French delegation at Lausanne, had a long talk with Ismet Pasha before leaving for Paris, details of which he telegraphed to Premier Poincare, who received his message late yesterday afternoon. Ismet was more completely informed of the intention of the Allies in the event a settlement was not reached. He did not persist in his uncompromising attitude of last night, and accepted the text of the capitulations previously submitted to him, thus removing the only obstacle to the signature of the treaty.

The reservations of the Turks on other points, such as Mosul, have already been accepted by the Allies. Premier Poincare hastened to transmit this favorable news to London, and it should be in the hands of the British government tonight, although perhaps too late for the arrival of Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, from Lausanne.

Ismet Pasha told M. Poincare that if he would take a hurried trip to the Mediterranean, he would continue in force at least during his absence.

According to an earlier dispatch to Havas, Ismet Pasha, head of the French delegation, after today's conference, that the Allied treaty as finally presented, with Sunday night's last-minute concessions included, might not be refused. The negotiations were then renewed, and as at present believed, with successful results.

DEFEAT STEVENSON'S BILL FOR FIXES ASSESSMENT

Hon. Howard Ferguson Causes Stir in Toronto House by Accusing Government of Using Public Funds To Advertise Ministers' Propaganda.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The Ontario Legislature this afternoon discussed the sale of securities act, but postponed action until the members had an opportunity to study it further. The bill sponsored by Dr. Stevenson of London, which provides for correction of the municipal voters' lists nearer the date of election, than the law fixes at present was given a second reading. His other bill which would enable municipal councils to order the assessment lists to stand for a term of years, instead of a new assessment every year was defeated.

Night Sitings Begin.
Premier Drury stated that night sittings of the House would probably begin next week. He said that he will continue the debate tomorrow. The premier pointed out that delays in the bill by private members being present when the bill is called. There was an interesting debate on the government advertising, Hon. Howard Ferguson accusing the government of using public funds to advertise ministerial propaganda, the charge being vigorously denied by the premier and other ministers.

Mr. Curry (Toronto) went minutely into the provisions of the sale of securities bill, commonly known as the blue sky law. Mr. Curry was chairman of the special committee of the House which framed the bill during the recess, and which, he said, meets with no objection from the members of the Toronto Stock Exchange or the mining industry.

The object of the bill is to see that companies which sell stock to the public do so honestly and the money they receive is used for the purpose of developing the plant or the mine, and is not frittered away in promotion expenses. It will endeavor to see that the company gets away with a reasonable chance of success, but will not guarantee success. He emphasized that a strong man would be needed as securities commissioner if the bill is to be the benefit to the province that is hoped.

Abolished Patronage.
Hon. Peter Smith claimed that under the former government such advertising had been given only to Conservative members. Mr. Lewis was asked to abolish patronage. Mr. Drury, defending the government's action in giving the advertising to the Conservatives, said that while the government had abolished patronage it should not be expected to go so far to the other extreme as to give it to the Liberals. He stated that the government was not advertising, but was merely passing on the government's credit for passing the bill.

Mr. Lewis said his statements were entirely misconstrued. In support of his denial he pointed out that he had voted for the bill. He explained that what he did intend to do was to have members who had formerly opposed the bill had changed their attitude, and the Labor branch of the party.

Premier Drury said the government was considering the consolidation of the two bills under one department, but were working under one department. He stated that he had announced a definite decision to go ahead with it at the social service conference in Ottawa, when replying to Mr. Ferguson's objection that Drury was ignoring the Legislature by making announcements on public platforms that should be made in the House.

GIFTED ARTISTS MERIT
APPROVAL OF AUDIENCE

Capacity Audience At First Presbyterian Church Hears Brilliant Concert.

The First Presbyterian Church held a concert last night, which from the opening chorus, by the choir to the last notes in the duet from "Lakme" was an inspiration and a pleasure to all those who were fortunate enough to be present.

The honors of the evening rested evenly on the shoulders of every artist, and there was unstinted appreciation of each number as it was given by the large audience that filled the church.

The choir were heard to great advantage in Smart's "Salvation to Our God," in which they proved the efficacy of their training, and the thoroughness of their preparation, and in Mendelssohn's "Hear My Prayer," they were again in evidence in fine choral singing.

Both the visiting artists, the Misses Gertrude and Victoria Stares of Hamilton, endeared themselves to their audience with the beauty of their numbers and by their charming personality.

Gertrude Stares was especially appreciated in her rendering of a group of three songs, "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me," Handel's "A Little Gray Dove," Louis Saar, and "Angus McDonald," Rickett. She was also favored with an enthusiastic reception for her brilliant "Lo The Gentle Lark," by Bishop, in which there was a flute accompaniment by Jose Acosta.

Her sister, Victoria Stares, a mezzo soprano, made her debut to the audience in two colorful songs in French, "La Filomela," Yradier, and "Clavillon," Valverdi, sung with voice and action, imparted the wonderful spirit of these themes to enraptured listeners.

A flute solo of the quality of the Sixieme Solo di Concert, J. De Meresseman, as played by Jose Acosta, was unusual. All through his playing silence prevailed, which, together with the burst of applause that greeted him at the close, proved conclusively that he had played to a good purpose and delightfully impressed his hearers.

George Lethbridge, the church organist, gave two numbers on the organ, the first, "The Good Shepherd," (Berceuse, Gottfried H. Federlein), and "Scherzo," E. Comette, both in keeping with the quality of the concert, and winning the approval of the audience.

SECOND VICTIM OF GAS
EXPIRES IN KITCHENER

Miss Mary Martin Succumbs in Hospital Without Regaining Consciousness.

Special to The Advertiser.
Kitchener, Feb. 6.—Miss Mary Martin, who was found unconscious on the floor of her home on Church street Friday afternoon at the same time as her half-brother, Anthony Schnarr, was found dead in bed as a result of gas poisoning from a defective furnace, died at the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital here at noon today without regaining consciousness.

Investigation of the case has revealed that the clean-out box in the dome of the furnace was cracked, with the result that the coal gas leaked into the hot air pipes and circulated throughout the house. It is now believed that Miss Martin was partially aroused and made an effort to reach her brother to rouse him when she felt unconscious to rouse him from his bed. The fact that she lay on the floor kept her living longer than her brother, as a slight current of air passed along the floor and prevented the gas from taking such quick effect upon her as on her brother.

She is survived by three brothers and one sister. The funeral of both victims will be held here on Wednesday.

DISCOVER "SPANISH GIRL" WAS LOU'S STEPSISTER
Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Feb. 6.—Reporters, fighting to lift the veil of secrecy from the divorce proceedings of Geraldine Farrar against Lou Tellegen bugged in far enough Monday to solve the mystery of the "Spanish girl."

Tellegen's Long Beach cabin, two summers ago, was one of the causes for the suit, was declared by Tellegen to be none other than his stepsister.

When the principals in the case walked into the room or Referee Thomas Mahoney Monday, they found a row of newspapermen seated before them.

"Get out of here," commanded Alvin Untermyer, Geraldine's lawyer. The reporters did neither, but said they were there to test the right of the referee to keep the proceedings secret.

Mahoney then turned the records of the case over to the press, and adjourned the hearing until a definite decision on publicity can be made.

MEN'S SOCIETY APPROVES CRONYN HALL EXTENSION
The Men's Association of St. Paul's Cathedral held their regular meeting last night in the Cronyn Hall. Dinner was served at six-thirty, which was followed by a sing song led by H. T. Dickinson and George Matthews. There was a round table discussion by the Rev. Denny Bright spoke on the work among the boys of the church.

The association agreed to sanction the extension of the hall, which has been proposed in connection with the enlarging of Cronyn Hall, a work that is estimated will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000, and the canvass for which is expected to commence shortly.

A committee was appointed to go into this matter of canvassing, and the Canadian National Railways, under the leadership of Russell Beattie was also appointed.

It was arranged that the next meeting of the association should be held on March 5, when Dr. F. Noble, professor of physiology in Western University, will give an address.

RICKEY SIGNS AGAIN FOR FIVE-YEAR TERM

St. Louis Pins Faith in Leader
To Bring Victory To the Cardinals.

By JOHN B. FOSTER.
Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, Feb. 6.—Branch Rickey has been given five more years in which to bring to successful completion his theories on how to lead the St. Louis National League club to a championship. The renewal of a managers' contract for five years is an unusual thing, for the majority of owners are unwilling to tie up with a manager for more than one season.

This is not due to lack of faith in the ability of a manager; it is due to feeling that personal differences may arise that may result in antagonism between owner and leader.

Rickey has been with St. Louis as leader since Miller Huggins stepped out of that job. Each did well with St. Louis, according to the material each had. Since Huggins left St. Louis he has won two championships, while Rickey has won one.

Rickey brought the Cardinals into first place, however, although he could not hold them there until the end of the season, possibly because his policy at times has been less resolute than it should have been.

In 1922 he undertook to build a team around Hornsby, and while it may be possible in football to build a team around a star, it is not a hopeful task in baseball. There is no instance in baseball of a champion team being won by one man, even though he was an expert fielder and the best batter in the league.

Opposing managers now and then say of Rickey that if they can get him to change his players often enough they can beat him. That criticism is given only for what it is worth, because it is not always a good idea to believe too faithfully in what an opposing manager may say.

He usually has reasons for spreading his own ideas abroad. Rickey is a fine sportsman and a manager of fine ideas. He is in reality an amateur working among professionals, and it is not always an easy task for him to mingle his amateur theories with the blunt demands of professionalism.

It is very different to play a game for the enjoyment of it and for the sake of victory beautifully won and to play it for the necessity of winning by giving full value for the thousands of dollars which come in at the gate in payment for display of expert athletic skill. Being hired to do a thing is not the same as doing it for fun.

SPORT SNAP- SHOTS

Yankees Are Bostonians.

The regular Yankees pitching staff is composed almost wholly of former Bostonians. Jones, Bush, Hoyt, Mays and Pennington, three outfielders and three utility men are ex-Red Sox. With these men the Yankees would be as far down as the Red Sox now are.

Wine Billiard Title.

Edward F. Reynolds won the U. S. National Amateur pocket billiard championship title at New York when he defeated J. Howard Schoemaker, holder of the championship since 1914.

Brings Record Price.

Prince Tili, Tili, Mose Goldblatt's 3-year-old horse, was sold today for $20,000, establishing a new high record for the new Orleans race track.

John McKee, the purchaser, announced that he intended to jump the horse to the Juanos on Tuesday to start in the March Derby. He will be run in the colors of the Meadowbrook stable.

Robertson Is Held-Out.

Charles Robertson, Chicago White Sox pitcher, who in his first season in fast company—last year—hurled a no-hit, no-run game, today verified reports that he is a hold-out, but denied rumors that he intended to jump to the professional baseball. Robertson said the contract tendered him provided for an increase of $100 over his last year's salary, and that he had turned it back with a request that another clipper be added to the rise. During the off-season Robertson is a bond salesman.

Manager's Path Hard.

Good managers in these days are generally regarded to be managers who steer their charges clear of all dangers and traps in the path.

Harry Greb and Gene Tunney cannot get their managers because they didn't get them hard enough.

Greb got peeved at George Engle because he didn't get a chance with Jack Dempsey, and decided to handle his own affairs.

Tunney broke off his relations with "Doc" Bagley, because the Doc didn't get him the engagement with Floyd Johnson that Tom Clabona stepped into.

Speaker Signs Roth.

The signing of the veteran Frank Roth as coach of pitchers by Manager "The Speaker" of the Indians should prove a much more important deal than any put over for new playing material.

Speaker's list of rookies include Phil Bedgood, Big Jim Edwards, Lute Boone, Edmondson, Shaute and Metevier, all great prospects.

Fencer Gets Prize.

Lucien Gaudin, a left-handed fencer and for many years champion of France, has been awarded the 1923 one-thousand franc prize by the Academy of Sports in recognition of his sportsmanship and high moral value.

Gaudin has been considered by the French as the world's fells champion since he won a sensational bout against Aldo Nadi, the Italian amateur champion, in Paris last year. For this victory the French government decorated Gaudin with the Legion of Honor.

Gaudin recently was unofficially given a decision over M. Beneton, champion of the fencing masters, but refused to meet Beneton in a bout for an official decision before judges.

Toronto Has Holdouts.

Both Catcher Mike Vincent, Driscoll and Outfielder "Red" Wingo have returned their contracts to the Toronto Blue Jays, and each suggests a substantial increase over last season. Driscoll, for his first year in baseball, was exceedingly well paid, and his holding out is a surprise to the Toronto club.

MRS. MCCLARTY MEETS CHILDREN AT HAMILTON

Stratford Mother Sees Babes For First Time Since Disappearance Two Weeks Ago

SICK WITH COLDS

Cannot Understand Reason For Husband Taking Youngsters Away.

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, Feb. 6.—With tears glistening in her eyes, Mrs. William McClarty, who has charged her husband with abducting her children, described yesterday morning her meeting with Donna and John in St. Joseph's convent, Hamilton, on Saturday afternoon—the first time she had seen the children since they were taken away by her husband almost two weeks ago.

"I saw my children for almost an hour and a half," said Mrs. McClarty. "Of course, they were very, very glad to see me, and I was very, very happy. It was with a great deal of difficulty that they finally permitted me to go. They wanted me to stay with them, and I said, 'I wanted to stay as long as I could.'"

Sick With Colds.
Mrs. McClarty said that both Donna and John were quite sick with bad colds.

"Though I was treated very discourteously and not allowed to even see my children on two previous occasions when I visited the convent, I will say that I was treated with every consideration upon this visit," said the mother. "The secretary, who received me, was most obliging."

"When do you intend to visit them again?" asked the reporter.
"I don't know. Whenever the convent's lawyer, Mr. O'Reilly, allows me to, I guess," replied Mrs. McClarty.

Mrs. McClarty said that the children were anxious to come home with her.

Can Give No Reason.
"I can give no reason for my husband taking the children away," said Mrs. McClarty. "He went off with them on Friday morning. The night before we had some people in to play cards, and he was the merriest of the crowd. He didn't seem to be planning any move like this. It seems as if some influence had been brought to bear on him, for he went away so suddenly. He had no reason to do it. We have always had religious difficulties, but I had agreed that the children be brought up Catholic."

"We had completed plans to buy a business in some town, where we could live quietly together with the children. It seemed as if we were to have a happy future. Then he took the children away."

UNEARTH STATUE AT LUXOR OF TUT-ANKH-AMEN'S QUEEN

Beautiful Life-Sized Bust, Exquisitely Carved in Wood and Colored To Imitate Living Model Astonishes Beholders by the Artistry of Work.

By ARTHUR WEIGALL.
Special Cable to The Advertiser.
(Copyright, 1923, by North American Newspaper Alliance and London Daily Mail.)
Luxor, Egypt, Feb. 6.—At noon yesterday the crowd about the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen was just dispersing after its sun-bathed vigil, when a native carrier appeared at the mouth of the sepulchre carrying one of the most astonishing objects which has yet been brought out of this astonishing tomb. It was an almost life-size bust of a queen, presumably Akhnaton's daughter, Tut-Ankh-Amen's wife, exquisitely carved in wood, over which is a thin coating of plaster pasted in a life-like manner. On her head she wears a crown which was specially designed by Akhnaton for his queen, Nefertiti, this being painted yellow to represent gold, and at the forehead in a royal cobra. The face and neck are colored that brownish yellow, which is the conventional hue for the feminine skin in Egyptian art, and the eyes and curving eyebrows are painted black. The arms are intentionally cut off sharply below the shoulders, like those of sculptures of the gods, and the body, which is painted a plain white robe, fastened at the neck ends at the waist, the breast being only slightly indicated.

Mouth Smiles Slightly.
The features of the face show that soft, languorous expression which Akhnaton's artists loved to portray.

CLAIMS FRANCE MUST LOOSEN STRANGLE HOLD

British Editor Declares Present Policy Will Not Bring Desired Results.

By JOHN ST. LOE STRACHEY.
Editor of the London Spectator.
Special Cable to The Advertiser.
London, Feb. 6.—If France had agreed to restore German credit, instead of ruining it, the mark would have gone up, or at any rate would have stabilized itself. On that foundation, Germany could have borrowed and France could have at once received some of that which is due her in cash and kind.

Instead, her rulers have chosen the plan so wittily and so truly described in "Punch." In the cartoon M. Poincaré insists that if the goose will not lay as many golden eggs as he requires he will wring the abandoned creature's neck.

Certainly the British people and the government are not going to join France in wringing the neck of the goose, and so making it quite certain that no golden eggs will ever come from Germany.

The British people are beginning to get into a very ugly frame of mind towards France. "You refuse to accept our advice? You began against our wishes to try out a policy that was bound to lead to ruin. You must now get out of the mess as best you can."

We shall not intervene unless our policy toward Germany is adopted, and it will have now to be a far more lenient policy than it was when first formulated, for good and sufficient reasons, such as that of Germany has so greatly changed for the worse. What is France going to do next? Alas, there seems nothing left for her but to founder deeper in the morass, with nothing but the pitiable consolation that she is pushing Germany into it deeper still.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT LEADERS OPTIMISTIC

Cabinet Members Believe Peace Will Yet Be Signed With Turks.

By RALPH H. TURNER.
Special Cable to The Advertiser.
London, Feb. 6.—Lord Curzon, British foreign minister, who is back in London after spending nearly three months at the Lausanne peace parley, carried the woes of the Near East to the cabinet of Premier Bonar Law Monday.

The cabinet considered the situation which has arisen because of the refusal of Ismet Pasha, Turkish representative at Lausanne, to accept the treaty drafted by the Allies at Lausanne.

And in spite of the precipitation of another Near Eastern "catastrophe," there was a feeling of optimism in government circles. It was pointed out that the breakdown of the parley does not necessarily mean that the Allies and the Turks may not get together on some peace program at a later date.

Even the most pessimistic in government circles are not inclined to believe that the turn of events in the Near East will bring about a war between the Turks and Britain.

It is thought unlikely that Lord Curzon or the British government will formally announce that the Near Eastern peace negotiations have collapsed. In case no announcement is made, the terms of the Mudania armistice would remain in force until a final peace is drafted.

An advance from Lausanne state that Ismet Pasha is awaiting for some declaration of the British government before going back to Ankara. M. Bonpar, representative of France, left Lausanne for Paris Monday, and the Italian delegation is to leave Tuesday.

EGYPTIAN MINISTERS TENDER RESIGNATIONS

King Fuad Declines To Permit Members of His Government To Quit.

Associated Press Despatch.
Cairo, Feb. 6.—The Egyptian ministry tendered its resignation today, but King Fuad declined to accept it. The crisis is believed to have arisen through differences with Great Britain over the Sudan.

The new constitution prepared by the Egyptian government provided for Egyptian sovereignty over the Sudan, but the British government opposed this claim as inconsistent with the agreement acceding independence to Egypt, and through Lord Allenby, gave the Egyptian government a virtual ultimatum, expiring at 7 o'clock last Saturday evening, to eliminate the objectionable clause. The Egyptian ministers yielded, agreeing to a compromise, and reserving the question of sovereignty of the Sudan for future negotiations.

Mutual Life of Canada Rolls Up Over Three Million Dollars Surplus Earnings

Company has record-breaking year

POLICYHOLDERS in the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada have every reason for congratulation as a result of the remarkable showing in all departments of the Company's business last year.

The fifty-third annual report, presented on February 1st at the Annual Meeting to the policyholders of the Company, who alone constitute the Company, shows that in each of the three financially important divisions of the business, namely, death claims, expenses incurred and the rate of interest earned on invested funds, the Company had an unusually favorable experience, the combination resulting in a wonderfully prosperous year, as shown by the Record Surplus Earnings of $3,040,273.98

This is equivalent to $56.72 for every $1,000 of total assets held at the end of the year, an unparalleled achievement in the history of the Company.

14% Decrease in Operating Expenses

In harmony with the spirit of the times the affairs of the Company were conducted with a due regard for economy. While the business was expanded to the extent of over $34,000,000 of new assurances written, the ratio of expense to income was reduced from 18.60% to 15.96%.

Increased Interest Rate on Investments

Owing to the favorable opportunities for investment prevailing during the past few years, the average rate of interest earned on the Company's invested funds has been steadily rising. This condition continued during the year 1922, when the average rate of interest earned over the entire investments increased from 6.60% to 6.74%.

Increased Distribution to Policyholders

The steadily increasing factor in the economic life of our country, which the institution is becoming, and the magnitude of the great public service it performs find illustration in the following facts:

1. During the past year the Company distributed in cash among policyholders and their beneficiaries the sum of $5,289,441.21, being an increase over the previous year of $1,320,164.20.
2. The amount of money invested by the Company in Canadian securities, all working for the general good and up-building of Canada, is over $50,000,000.
3. The Company stands pledged to distribute to citizens of this country and Newfoundland, where it also does business, the large sum of $246,486,654, when existing policy contracts mature.

The Strength of Canada's Only Mutual Life Company

After providing for all liabilities in accordance with Government requirements on a stronger reserve basis than called for by the Statutes, and setting aside a special investment reserve of $611,776.34, there remains a

General Surplus Fund of $6,603,718.60

which has been assigned as follows:—

1. Provision for dividends under deferred dividend policies issued prior to 1911 $3,545,408.89
2. Provision for interim dividends under quinquennial policies $342,773.33
3. Provision for dividends payable in 1923 $2,000,000.00
4. Provision for mortality fluctuation and other contingencies $715,536.38

Total $6,603,718.60

He Darkened His Gray Hair

Tells How He Did It.

Mr. J. A. McCrea, a well-known resident of California, who was called "Daddy" and "Grandpa" on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a home-made mixture, recently made the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orif Compound and 1/2 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Adv.

NEW MODELS DELIGHT EYE AS MOTOR SHOW OPENS

London's Third Annual Exhibition Bigger and Better in Every Respect Than Preceding Ones—T. A. Russell of Toronto Reviews History of Industry.

When the doors of the London Motor Show opened at 5 o'clock last night they uncovered an array of glittering cars, a representative magnificence in motor creation that delighted the eyes of an enthusiastic crowd of visitors anxious to get a first peep at 1923 models.

The most inveterate motor show habitue could find nothing to complain of and much to admire in London's third great motor show. Long lines of highly-polished bluebloods greeted the onlooker, attended by demonstrators eager to point out the merits of their specialties. Before the close of the parade a number of cars had been sold and merchants agreed that the first evening of the exhibition augurs well for its success.

Show Manager Sam Rowed officially proclaimed the show open at 8 o'clock from the balcony of the large structure. He expressed appreciation of the keen support of the exhibition as indicated by the crowd that turned out for the initial display. The success of the motor car industry was closely allied with that of the province and London. By their hearty support of the show Londoners showed that their interest in progress was not wanting.

Mayor George Wenig distributed eulogies among the various dealers responsible for the showing and recalled the days when he was commercially interested in automobiles. He said the exhibition reflected greatly to the credit of the citizens by whom it was sponsored.

T. A. Russell, manufacturer of the Russell motor car and the first promoter of the industry in Canada, followed his worship. He delivered a brief summary of the automobile industry from its inception until the present time. The show, he said, was the only one of its kind within the Western Ontario peninsula and vied for the honor of being Canada's most representative exhibition with Toronto and Montreal.

Mr. Russell dwelt at some length on the tremendous boon to society and commerce the motor car has afforded. It speeded the wheels of industry, brought an undreamed-of measure of happiness to residents of rural communities as well as citizens. Before the birth of the self-propelled vehicle farmers were compelled to negotiate long distances by horse and carriage. The motor car had eliminated distance, saved time, given comfort and pleasure. Commerce had been revolutionized, leisure had been made the privilege of the many instead of the few as formerly, and convenience had become a popular element in society through the evolution of the automobile.

As soon as the speakers finished the W. O. R. ten-piece orchestra played selections for the remainder of the evening.

The change that had come over the armories since yesterday afternoon, when the exhibits were still in a disorganized state, speaks well for the efforts of the committee. Everything was regular, all cars in their places, and the great area was tastefully decorated with a wealth of colorful hangings and banners. Even the most particular inspector would find it difficult to choose one from that unexampled collection. Some of the body designs were novel in their departure from the conventional.

New accessories were attached to the bodies and illustrated by demonstrators. All acquisitions, the most exacting motorist could demand were there in profusion. Electric heaters, special cushions, hat and coat hangers and even a small phonograph were included.

The ancient Oldsmobile was the cynosure of interested glances. When it arrived this morning it was dilapidated indeed, but after it had been given a party scrub and embroidered with explanatory signs it presented a very satisfactory picture. The vogue for closed cars was emphasized by the preponderance of that sort on display. Despite predictions of sensational color schemes, the shades on practically all were extremely sombre. One azure-colored car and a couple of reds stood out prominently against a background of their more conservative decorated competitors. Yellow, white and all other easily distinguished colors are apparently taboo.

No radical improvements in mechanism were noticed, the majority being vitally interested in design, general appearance and size. The aristocrats of the road were, of course, the most popular with the crowd, but the many new features in the less expensive varieties were, too, favorably discussed.

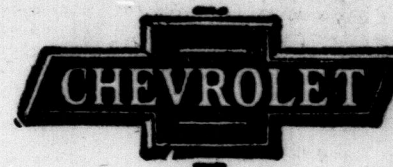

Members of the I. O. D. E. were on deck purveying flowers for charity, and a refreshment booth loaned color to an already colorful show.

In the annex the accessories held out and attracted a good deal of attention. The show will continue every day this week until Saturday evening.

Aunt Maria At Motor Show Finds Thrift Goes Wobbly

Can't Decide Between $550 and $8,300 Models Super-Saleman Offer, Finally Compromises On Old "27."

In this day and generation, breathes there a woman with soul so dead
She never to herself has said:
"This is my own, my very own car."
There is, and her name is Aunt Maria.

But she has been to the Motor Show, and she fears for her fine exclusiveness. Given the necessary vulgar cash, she might easily step regularly on an accelerator of her own.

What's the difference between a motor show and the week-end market?

If common sense is a valuable guide (coupled with faith in human nature) in sizing up chickens, ducks, potatoes, butter and eggs, why not in getting an idea of the relative merits of motor cars?

The answer is that from youth up one has been accustomed to poultry, potatoes, eggs and things. Through long association they fall to dangle. A background of experience renders the system shockproof.

Not so when one has lounged comfortably on elegantly upholstered seats, experimented with the illuminating button, made critical remarks about the quality of the mirror, and acted blasé about the cigarette lighter and ash tray.

It's a dull, sickening thud to earth to have the price in disguise who acts as exhibitor pompantly reply to a carelessly uttered question, "Let me see, JUST $8,300 delivered at your door."

Disapproved of Seven.
"I think," said Aunt Maria, "it is too large for the purpose for which I want it. I never did like taking seven people out at once, and less people in a car built for seven make it rattly. Anyway, you haven't provision for a trunk and hat box on the back. Unless I could travel comfortably in this car to Florida or California it really wouldn't be much use to me."

It wouldn't under any circumstances, so it wasn't worth the mark, this comment, as Aunt Maria and Cynthia grandly stepped out to go in search of something that more nearly fitted in with their alleged preconceived ideas of what constitutes elegance combined with utility.

The hand playing was somewhat confusing, if very festive and enlivening.

The radio was more so. Cynthia said it sounded like dogs growling and distracted her when she came to a critical survey of tires. She felt that about one tire was all she could dream of affording. She had a fine constructive idea of thus assembling an automobile part by part, and not being entirely out of the running.

She pointed out that even a hind motor tire was better than no motor at all. Aunt Maria was inclined to take the view that if the installment plan were adopted it might be better for obvious reasons to begin with the horn.

That, now, was a motor part that could always make its presence felt and there was a tendency on the part of rubber to deteriorate. But Cynthia stood stubbornly in the line, and there was always an opportunity of turning them over to advantage, provided you could achieve the happy conjunction of the time, the place, the motor car in distress, and the installment plan tire. You would be that much farther ahead on your grand purchase.

Provides "Close-Up."
The cynic had remarked earlier in the day of the opening of the grand show that there really wasn't any sense in going to the exhibition in the Armories. "You can stand on the street any day," he said grandly, "and watch exactly the same type and model cars go by."

But standing on the street has marked disadvantages. For example, you can't ward off the dust that attracts your fancy or arouses your antagonism, open the door and step inside and proceed to punch the upholstery, examine with critical eye the interior fittings, grumble to your heart's content at the height, narrowness, shape or arrangement of the seats. You can't pry into the pockets and experiment with the curtains. The

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—Adv.

Paris, Feb. 5.—The "curtain veil" is with us again just as demure as when it proved an aid to beauty some half century ago. It is just long enough to cover the eyes, though in the back, it may wish, it may hang to the waist. Often the coquettish little veil is fluted, making it more coquettish than ever.

AFFECT SUBDUED TONES.

Paris, Feb. 5.—In the second and third empires, colors were quaintly subdued. There were soft pinks, looking a little faded, restful moss greens, yellow of mellow tint, and dim rust tones. These shades are favorites in millinery today, especially in straw.

TRIM WITH SHINY RIBBON.

New York, Feb. 5.—Black lacquered ribbons today trim many of the tailored gowns and suits. The ribbon is put on in three or four half circles of assorted sizes upon the cuff or the tip of the collar, or upon the edge of the skirt at one side of the front.

THAT RIBBON COCKADE.

New York, Feb. 5.—Cockades of taffeta ribbon, tightly accordion plaited, trim some of the crepe de chine gowns in the shops today designed for Florida and California wear. One of these gowns has a huge blue ribbon cockade over each hip of a beige gown.

SUCH A FETCHING NEGLECT.

New York, Feb. 5.—Four layers of chiffon make up the latest gorgeous negligee. The first layer is black. Over this are placed orange, pale yellow and turquoise. Each layer is slashed into long points tipped with black tassels. The layer beneath is glimmering through the slashes.

FRONTS BEHIND.

London, Feb. 5.—Among the remarkable street costumes seen here today is that with a short jacket topped by a collar fastened in the back. The collar of fur is wide and flat like a bertha, or like to pilgrim type of collar, except that it has no opening at the front. The fastening is usually one big ornamental button.

Also practical woman might be inclined to ask specific questions about the amount of "gas" required. Aunt Maria congratulated herself she got through the ordeal of a whole night at the motor show without once being so unsophisticated as to call "it" gasoline.

The super-salesmen impressed by their modesty and evident desire to tell the truth and nothing but the truth. They hovered around sixteen and eighteen miles to a gallon with amazing unanimity.

Approaching Richmond on Dundas street, wending her slippery way back to earn some more crust at The Advertiser, Aunt Maria spied old "27" ambulating cheerfully along, even negotiating the corner with happy-go-lucky indifference to ruts and bumps. Through the trolley chimney the smoke curled up in a reassuring cloud.

"Not elegant," murmured Aunt Maria, "but thrifty, very. Just about what I can conscientiously afford."

"I do wonder how much an automobile must cost before it is equipped with a heater. I must go back tomorrow and see."

HER HEART SKIPPED EVERY THIRD BEAT

Mrs. James Burleigh, 248 King St. E., Chatham, Ont., writes: "I think it my duty to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me."

I suffered for years with palpitation of the heart, my nerves were very bad, and I could not be left alone at any time. I doctored for over a year, and the doctor said my heart was very bad as it skipped every third beat.

I gave up, just at this time, and then my mother advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, saying my oldest brother had been relieved by using them when he was very bad with his heart and nerves.

I got a box and started to take them, and when I had used it I felt a lot better; could sleep a little and felt stronger. I continued taking them for about three months, and felt better than I had for years.

When I think of the misery and suffering I went through before I started Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I feel like letting everyone know what they did for me.

MY THIRTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

By JOHN J. MCGRAW.

Humorous Incidents—'Steve' Brodie Forgets to Score—The Umpire Who 'Talked Back' to Dummy Taylor—McGraw's Fifty-Dollar Umbrella Joke—Wilbert Robinson and the Balloon Ascension.

Before I got entirely away from the old days when I was a player and got into the days when my real troubles began—my experience as a manager—I must answer a suggestion sent to me by Chick Evans, the great golfer. In answer to our questionnaire Mr. Evans says: "I would be interested most in knowing what McGraw considers the funniest thing he ever saw on the diamond."

The things that give me the biggest laughs now, when in a reminiscent mood, were not funny at all at the time they occurred. The fact that we took them so seriously, though, is probably what makes them funny now.

For my best laughs my mind naturally drops back to the days of my association with Walter Brodie—'Steve.' Don't get the impression that Brodie was a humorist. No, indeed. He was so deadly serious that he never knew he was funny.

One afternoon in a game at Baltimore Steve was on second and Roger Bresnahan at the bat. We needed two runs to win.

Bresnahan got hold of a fast one and slapped it far past the outfield. Upon reaching third Brodie turned to see where the ball had gone. He could see that it would be a three-base hit and probably a home run. After passing third, he stopped and began rooting and waving for Bresnahan to come on. In his excitement he forgot all about running himself.

"Come on, Roger!" he yelled. "Come on—atta boy, Roger!"

Roger came steaming around the bases in answer to Brodie's urgent cries. He passed third and ran right on past Brodie and slid into the plate for a home run.

"Atta boy, Roger!" chuckled Brodie.

Then, to the amazement of the stands, to Brodie and to all of us, the catcher walked up and touched Brodie with the ball, putting the side out without a run. Brodie had stood there and let Bresnahan go past him!

You can imagine what we said to him. Just what he had done did not dawn on Steve until he reached the bench.

I can see that picture now and it is the funniest that I can remember, but, believe me, it was not funny then.

Another humorous picture that sticks in my mind was a rainy day at the Polo Grounds when Dummy Taylor, the pitcher, tried to show up the umpires. We were well in the lead that day when, after a slight drizzle, rain began to fall in torrents. The game was called or suspended, and the crowd waited for fully a half-hour. Water stood in pools all over the field.

From the bench we kept yelling to Umpire O'Day to call the game and let us go home. Naturally, we wanted it called as the Giants were in the lead. But O'Day was stubborn.

A few minutes later, to our surprise, Hank ordered play resumed.

"DUMMY" TAYLOR, Giant pitcher, who was deaf and dumb

We protested in vain that it was too wet to play. Out of the corner of my eye I saw Dummy Taylor dart under the stand. I knew he had something on his mind. In fact, he had gone to the club house to see the grounds keeper.

During a very serious moment the crowd was treated to the sight of Dummy Taylor starting for the coming lines wearing a huge pair of rubber boots. Those things are not nearly so funny to tell as to see. The ridiculous appearance of a ball player in rubber boots threw the stands into a roar of laughter. Umpire O'Day scowled. Just the same, Dummy started coaching, slapping his hands, jumping up and down and so on.

"Get out of there!" O'Day motioned to the deaf-mute pitcher. "Get out there, I tell you!"

I could see from his eye that Taylor knew what was going on, but he pretended not to have noticed, and kept right on, the stands rocking in laughter.

Finally O'Day walked toward Taylor. Catching his eye, he indicated by sign what he had said.

Taylor turned to me and began telling me on his fingers what he thought of O'Day. All of the Giants had learned the deaf-mute finger language and the players on the bench laughed at the terrible things he was saying about the umpire. Suddenly O'Day flew into a rage, apparently.

"That'll cost you $25!" he yelled, and then, to the astonishment of Taylor, and all the rest of us, he started using his fingers.

"You are out of the game—out of the field," he said in the deaf-mute language.

The umpire had understood everything that Taylor had said about him. It developed that O'Day had a relative who was a deaf-mute and he had learned the finger language perfectly.

With head bowed, Taylor had to stroll all the way across the field in his gum boots, his mind on that $25 fine.

Some ways back I mentioned the benefits of having a good memory. There was one incident, though, where my memory worked with reverse English.

Many of you will probably recall Umpire Bausewein. He is now a policeman in Philadelphia and I see him often. When he came to the National League for the first time we proceeded to ride him, of course.

After hearing his name, I suddenly remembered a game that he umpired in a minor league some ten or twelve years before. He had made a bad decision, so bad, in fact, that the owner of the home club left the stand and ran out on the field, hitting Bausewein over the head with an umbrella.

That incident stuck in my mind so clearly that I wanted to make sure that Bausewein remembered it. He made three or four bad decisions. In answer to our protests he waved us to the bench.

"Say, Bausewein," I turned and yelled at him, "you better keep your head up. There's an old guy with an umbrella up there in the stand."

"Get out of here!" he screamed at me. "Get out of the field!"

Evidently I had set off a bomb. Very well, did he remember the old fellow with an umbrella. The laugh, though, was on me. It cost me a $50 fine.

The players had a good laugh on Wilbert Robinson one day—a laugh that gave them a catch phrase for several years.

Robbie, if you will recall, came back to join the Giants as coach. In the meantime he had grown much stouter. Robbie always was chubby, but a few years away from the diamond and in business had added much to his weight. Still, he got a uniform and showed up on the coaching lines the first day in Chicago.

He stooped over to pull a sprig of grass. Just as he did so the fans got their first sight of him.

"Holy Moses!" yelled a fan in the front row, his eyes glued on the round coach. "Say, McGraw, what time does the balloon go up?"

There was a roar of laughter by spectators and players at this. Robbie burned up, despite his wonderful sense of humor.

He often tells that on himself and laughs much more than he did then. For months after that if the players wanted to get Robbie's goat they would come to the bench, ask something about the balloon ascension and beat it as fast as they could.

Even to this day the players make that crack at any player who is obviously over weight.

sure enough, was Reddy Fox. Reddy was running, but not fast. It was clear that Reddy thought that Peter and Mrs. Peter might be just ahead of him. And as he approached each clump of bushes he slowed down, so as to make sure that Peter and Mrs. Peter were not hiding in them.

In the soft snow Old Man Coyote made no sound. Reddy was so intent on looking ahead that he didn't once think of looking behind. So it was that he knew nothing of Old Man Coyote until an ugly snarl right at his heels made him jump.

"Those Rabbits are mine!" snarled Old Man Coyote.

"It is no such thing! They are mine!" I found their tracks first!" snarled Reddy.

Old Man Coyote showed all his teeth and sprang at Reddy. Reddy dodged, and in his turn showed all his teeth. Then they faced each other, snarling and growling, each looking as ugly as he knew how.

They called each other names. They called each other thief and robber and a lot of other bad names. Again Old Man Coyote sprang at Reddy, and this time Reddy ran, for he knew that he was no match for Old Man Coyote. Old Man Coyote chased him a short distance, then turned back and once more took up the trail of Peter and Mrs. Peter.

EMILE COUE IN AMERICA

Coue Discerns Dangers In U. S. Efficiency Methods

Famous Frenchman Outlines Impressions After a Careful Study of the American System of Standardization of All Activities in Business Life.

By EMILE COUE.

From the moment he lands in America a European feels the impression grow upon him that he is a part of a machine; he feels compelled to fit himself into its complicated works and become one of its little wheels—or resist the movement and be shot off into sterile isolation. Efficiency, system, standardization—these are, perhaps, the main reason for such an impression. There seems to be no room for anything or anybody inefficient. They would throw the machine out of gear.

Efficiency begins directly you step off the gangway from the ship. System directs you to the exact spot where your baggage will be found and guides you to the customs officer who is to examine it. The porter who handles your belongings handles both them and yourself like a machine, and before you realize what is happening you find yourself in a taxi cab which has drawn up to a curb at the precise moment of your own arrival. As for the luggage, it has slid down a chute into the arms of a squad of stalwart men who have only just time to rescue it from an avalanche of other people's trunks and bags trying to overtake it. If you were not there at the right second to claim your property I suppose it would be hopelessly lost, for there can be no time to put all aside and sort it out afterwards. That is the danger of extreme machine-like systemization. If a hitch occurs everything goes smash.

The core of America is efficiency. It goes right through everything. You encounter it at every turn. In my hotel room I take up the telephone receiver, and almost before I put it to my ear the operator's voice is asking what number I require. That is the little things that strike a stranger—little things that are unnoticed by the native inhabitants. And those apparently insignificant details that spell efficiency are innumerable in every city of America that I have visited.

Lauds Prompt Service.

In the hotels and restaurants there is promptness of service, an absence of blunders or misunderstandings, smooth-running organization which is very impressive. The theatres, the moving picture shows, the subway, the surface cars, the taxicabs, are a few among a host of examples of the efficiency and system found in every phase of human activity.

There is a general desire to please which is most soothing amid the bustle and turmoil of American life. "Smile" commands a big cardboard notice inside the doorway of the cafe and other public rooms of the hotel, which I know the best in New York. And the suggestion has its effect. On the menu cards at the same hotel, as well as on other leaflets issued by the same establishment, is a notice to the effect that the management welcomes any report from visitors of special attention or service rendered by any member of its staff, because it wishes to recognize efficiency. Now, that is a new conception. It is good psychology. It also denotes a comprehension of the principles of auto-suggestion. Hitherto it has been the custom to invite clients or visitors, or customers to report inattention or negligence, with a view to the punishment or reprimand of the offender. Mark how much more effective the new way must be. First, on the employee, who is encouraged by positive suggestions of good service and its reward; secondly, on the client, in whose mind is thrown the suggestion of contentment, and the desire to look for efficiency, instead of a negative suggestion of fault-finding. In every way the idea is sound, and the use of it clever.

A particularly interesting feature of the all-pervading efficiency here is the part played in it by the foreign element. It is a well-known fact that the United States absorbs and assimilates foreigners more thoroughly and more quickly than any other country. But I confess that I am amazed to find how completely Italians, French and people of other nationalities who have made their homes here have absorbed the peculiarly American temperament, copied American methods and adopted American ideals. In the matter of efficiency, for instance, the foreign employee in New York is as keen and convinced as the true-born American. Efficiency seems to be equally as natural to him as to the latter.

Discerns Dangers.

This is all very admirable. But I am wondering if there is not a tendency to overdo things. System, standardization and clock-work efficiency are certainly desirable, and they do much to make life run smoothly. Yet, intuitively, perhaps, I seem to discern danger in overstraining to reduce abstract qualities to mathematical-perfect equations in actual practice. It may become an obsession, like any other notion, however good in itself. I often have to remind patients of this when I see them making of auto-suggestion into a kind of monomania. Extreme measures, if pushed to excess in complicated elaborations, to break down completely, simply because it seeks to provide for every contingency except human intervention. No room is left for play in the joints. The other day I heard of a man who was lost to all his friends for a whole day in a large New York hotel, famous for its terrible efficiency. What was the reason? Merely that, as a result of personal influence on the part of a member of the staff, he had been allotted a room without going through the regular machinery of the establishment.

I believe this danger of subjecting everything and everyone to machine-like rule is real in America. But I also believe that Americans are far too idealistic at heart not to curb the tendency in time. Efficiency will stay, but not the excesses of a materialism and a rigid "mechanicalism" due to the exuberant vigor of a young, pushful and perfection-loving people.

MISSION TO LEPERS GETS BIG DONATION

Canadian General Secretary Tells Local Auxiliary Encouraging Story of Work.

An encouraging message with regard to the progress of work in Canada on behalf of the mission to lepers was delivered Monday afternoon to the London Auxiliary at the regular meeting held in the Wellington Street Y. W. C. A., by the general secretary for Canada, Rev. H. N. Konkle.

The speaker referred to the substantial subscriptions in the past year amounting to between $16,000 and $17,000, in addition to sums sent direct to the head office in London, England.

This year had begun in an especially auspicious way, he continued, with contributions for January alone piling up to $9,000. These included a gift from a woman in the West interested in the work amounting to $4,000, and a legacy, as well as other subscriptions.

Mr. Konkle referred to the deep interest in service for the lepers taken by many individuals and groups throughout the West in centres where as yet no auxiliary has been organized. Mention was made in this connection of the strength of the organization in Winnipeg, Brandon, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Wherever he had gone, Mr. Konkle had found people sympathetic, once the great need of the lepers was brought prominently before them.

Touching upon the subject of physical improvement in the lepers through the Chaulmoogra oil treatment, the speaker stated that officials will not yet permit cures to be called "permanent." As yet, he said, "the term used is 'temporary,' until it is fully demonstrated through time that there is cure as well as no relapse."

Mr. Konkle, who was paying his second visit to London since his appointment as general secretary for the Dominion a year ago, was introduced to the meeting by Mr. George Wood, who presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. W. Jones.

Twenty-four bottles of good beer were found in the bag and the man placed under arrest.

SET TECHNICAL SCHOOL ESTIMATES AT $104,973

White's Policy of Economy Results in Cuts Totalling $3,250.

DISCUSS LIGHT BILL

Committee Member Takes Exception To Account, Suggests Installing Transformer.

After considerable cutting and revising, the 1923 estimates of the London Technical High School were finally set at $104,973.04, or roughly, equal to last year's estimates, with the addition of $2,100 automatic increase in teachers' salaries, and $3,200 adolescent teachers' salaries. Arthur White was consistently holding to a policy of "economy before bankruptcy," and finally numerous cuts were found to be possible, amounting in round figures to the sum of $3,250. The revised estimates were recommended to the board.

The question of getting the hot water supply from the heating plant boilers during the term that the heating plant is in operation was referred to a special committee, comprising Arthur White and Harry Hayman, and a report will be presented at the next meeting.

Add New Teacher.

Principal H. B. Beal reported that in accordance with authority granted, Miss M. Morrison, B.A., had been engaged as a temporary teacher from Jan. 1 to June 30, at a salary of $200 per month. He also recommended that H. Marshall, who has been temporary assistant in the machine shop since Nov. 1, 1921, and has taken the prescribed teacher's training course, be made a permanent assistant, effective Jan. 1, 1923. This recommendation was passed by the committee. It was also agreed that Miss E. G. Leggett be paid the sum of $100 per annum, provided for in the salary schedule for cafeteria services, and the taking charge of the building during the noon hour.

The thanks of the committee were extended to the following donors of prizes and scholarships: J. B. Hay, Wendell Holmes, F. G. Jewell, John Nash and Mrs. W. T. Strong. Accounts totalling $1,299 were passed for payment. Of this amount, $448.01 was for equipment, repairs and renewals; $408.51 for supplies and expense, and $442.48 for light, power and fuel.

Arthur White took exception to the power and lighting account of $111.92, claiming that it was a higher amount than seemed reasonable. Principal Beal explained that there was a very heavy night usage of power, and the high account was explainable by that fact.

However, Mr. White still claimed that the account was high—higher, in fact, than many large industries operating in the city.

Suggests Transformer.

"My power bill is not larger than that," asserted Mr. White, "and my business covers four acres. I would suggest that you put in a transformer and run your lighting off your power load. You will save money."

It was pointed out that this proposition was gone into before, but nothing was done. However, figures will be presented at the next meeting relative to the cost and saving to be effected and information as to when the peak occurs.

CHARGE GUELPH MAN OPERATED LOTTERY

C. Pennylegion Fined $10 For Selling Tickets For Phonograph.

Special to The Advertiser. Guelph, Feb. 6.—On information sworn out by the provincial police, Clayton Pennylegion, a local young man, was charged before Magistrate Watt yesterday with publishing a plan for disposing of an Edison phonograph by mode of chance.

According to information given out in court, Pennylegion, who was acting as organizer for the Associated Master Barbers of Western Ontario, was sending out circulars containing information about the new organization and was also furnishing prospective members of the association with a number for a chance on the phonograph. A charge of $1 was suggested on the circular for membership into the association, which gave the purchaser a chance on the talking machine.

Nicol Jeffery, K.C., who represented defendant, entered a plea of guilty, but before doing so explained to his worship that his client was together ignorant of the fact that his scheme was regarded as a lottery, and that money collected was to go toward putting the new organization on its feet. Under the circumstances, as explained by Mr. Jeffery, the magistrate placed the fine at $10 without costs.

CASGRAIN DECLINES TO CONTEST ESSEX

Expected Conservative Candidate Doubts If There Will Be Election.

Special to The Advertiser. Windsor, Feb. 6.—Col. H. R. Casgrain, considered the most likely candidate to oppose Albert F. Healy of Sandwich, Liberal nominee for the vacant North Essex seat in the Commons, said yesterday he would not accept the Conservative nomination if it is offered to him at the convention Wednesday.

"I doubt if there will be an election. I do not believe the Conservative party will nominate a candidate to oppose Mr. Healy," Col. Casgrain said, adding that he was not in favor of an election at this time.

When Healy returns from Ottawa he will announce his campaign plans, Liberal executives said today. Meetings are to be held early next week at which several cabinet ministers will speak. Final arrangements, however, have not been completed by Liberal campaign officials.

Other prominent Liberals said an election was considered not probable.

Finance Committee of Board of Education Present Figures.

CUT TO THE LIMIT

Advances in Salaries Are Made To Inspectors of City Schools.

The finance committee of the board of education decided yesterday afternoon to recommend to the board estimates amounting to $437,750. This is an increase of $35,724 over last year. Senior Inspector of Public Schools V. K. Greer was given a salary raise of $200 and Junior Inspector Wheelbarrow $100. Secretary W. A. Tanner's salary was left where it was, at $2,750, and the matter of providing an assistant for the secretary's office was left over for further consideration.

The estimates presented were considered in detail. Inspector Greer pointed out that they had been gone over several times and there was absolutely nothing left that might be cut. Trustee Thomas Rowe, Dr. A. J. Grant and Chairman Ward Casselman all agreed with him. The estimates were composed largely of teachers' salaries, $353,100 being allotted under that heading. Expense and equipment estimates for the art, kindergarten, library, manual training and dental departments were pared as low, he said, as was safe to do.

A communication from the city clerk, asking that the various spending committees submit detailed reports to the treasurer each three months of the year, so that the city council estimates might be strictly adhered to with no opposition, and, on Trustee Thomas Rowe's motion, the secretary was directed to submit the information periodically.

"It is only reasonable that we give all the information asked," claimed Trustee Rowe. "We will have to let the board know of our action," he added, with a gleam in his eye.

A. N. Udy, chairman of the board, wended his way to the front of the board room and said: "Has this come from the board?" he asked. And then he remembered. "Oh, yes, last session; I remember."

"This is one of the few very few recommendations that have come properly from the board," informed Trustee Rowe. "They'll all come that way after the next board meeting."

Inspector Greer brought in a further recommendation that the Boyle and London West school accommodation be considered. Additional teachers would be required when the Boyle addition and the proposed new Empress Avenue School were built, and as the capacities of the two present structures were taxed now, the condition was certain to be acute after September. Answering Chairman W. Casselman, the inspector said that the greatest need was at Boyle, but that at Empress the lighting and ventilation was very poor.

"Boyle" questioned Trustee Rowe, thoughtfully. "Hasn't it passed the board?"

"The specifications have—" began the senior inspector, but Trustee Rowe interrupted him. "Why bring it up again?" he asked.

Well, I repeated the request to get action," explained the inspector. Both schools have been under consideration for some time, but the members of the finance committee felt that the matter was somewhat beyond their reach, and the request was referred to the joint committee "to get action."

DETROIT POLICEMAN SHOT BY NEGRO THUG

Isaac Kruka Removed To Hospital in Dying Condition Following Attack.

Special to The Advertiser. Detroit, Feb. 6.—Patrolman Isaac Kruka, 26 years old, was shot and seriously wounded in an alley between Catharine street and Gratiot avenue, when he was ambushed by a negro, who fired from the second floor of an apartment building.

The policeman, with a bullet lodged close to his heart, is in a dying condition in a hospital. Kruka was investigating a disturbance in the alley, according to an incoherent statement he gave at the hospital. Suddenly two negroes looked out from the second floor of the building, over his head, and one opened fire. Kruka dropped to the ground, shot in the back. A passerby heard firing and discovered the wounded policeman.

Reservists searched the neighborhood, but failed to find the assailant.

Kruka is married and is the father of two children.

"Angel of Siberia" Recommended For Nobel Peace Prize of $40,000

By WILL JOHNSON. Special to The Advertiser. New York, Feb. 6.—The "Angel of Siberia" has become an "angel of the world." Miss Elsa Brandstrom, the slender Swedish woman whose soul lit the bleak plains of East Russia for hundreds of thousands of starving German and Austrian war prisoners after 1914, has come to ask American angels for help in her work.

No sooner had Miss Brandstrom set foot in New York than she was informed that she had been recommended for the 1923 Nobel peace prize of $40,000, awarded for the best international effort against war. The "angel" was too amazed to comment fully upon the honor that may come to her from the Norwegian parliament.

"I've been recommended. How could that be? I've done nothing," was all she said. "Besides, I'm only 34 years old and the prize should go to someone who has given a long life toward peace." And here briefly, is Miss Brandstrom's record of "nothing done" as drawn from her reluctant lips.

She is the most decorated woman in the world. More than 1,500 medals have been awarded her by all the nations of Europe. She is the only woman who has been decorated with the order of the Seraphim, the oldest order in Sweden. At the outbreak of the world war she organized a Red Cross unit that in six years traveled into every village and hamlet of rough, inhospitable Siberia, bringing aid and messages of hope to 2,000,000 hard and discouraged soldiers of the central powers. Once she was imprisoned for seven weeks by the Russian government.

Schmidt is to be the leader of the economic war with France, and he will exercise supreme authority over the inhabitants and local officials in the "lost provinces."

SOLDIERS AWAIT ORDERS TO OPEN SAILOR'S GRAVE

Special to The Advertiser. New York, Feb. 6.—Soldiers are still waiting for orders to open the grave of Seaman Jones in the Government Cemetery at Brooklyn to find Russian Czarist jewels, reported buried there by smugglers.

And they expect to wait indefinitely.

Captain Roberts Field, in charge of the squad, branded the story of the buried jewels as "bunk—pure bunk."

"I have no reason to believe a grave will be opened," he said.
