HUNDREDS OF NATIVES DEAD

Victims of Rubber Squeezing Raids in the Congo Free State.

900 Slaughtered by one Expedition and 800 by Another—Endless Barbarities Cause a Regret of Terror.

London, Nov. 7.—Edgar Canisius, an American who recently retired from the employ of the Congo Free State, confirms the terrible stories told about the condition of the natives especially in the portions termed the state domain, where strangers are seldom admitted.

Canisius, who accompanied Major Lechaire, commander of the Belgian troops in the Congo on his earlier expedition after rubber, says nine hundred natives were killed in six weeks during that expedition, while a smaller expedition, commanded by a Belgian lieutenant, killed 300 natives in three weeks.

The district is practically under martial law, on the strength of which such endless barbarities are committed, that the natives are absolutely terror-stricken. Canisius further declares that the so-called punitive expeditions are in reality rubber-squeezing raids conducted with such inhuman methods that the natives are in a constant state of revolt.

While the conditions are somewhat improved in the territories worked by the concession companies, the lot of the natives in the state domain Canisius declares, is far worse than before the advent of the whites. The natives are practically forced to work rubber at the muzzle of rifles, receiving two cents per pound for what is sold at 75 cents at Antwerp. Thousands of natives have died in the bush and live like wild animals. Along the jungle paths the bodies of those who have died of starvation are frequent sights.

Mr. Canisius, who comes from Illinois, was recently a resident of Washington.

SPEEDILY END THE CAMPAIGN

The British Government is Considering Plans More Cavalry to Be Sent out.

Mr. Chamberlain Believes the end of the Struggle is Approaching—Roberts "Boo-hoed," Buller Cheered.

London, Nov. 7.—The meetings of the British Cabinet recently have been chiefly devoted to South Africa, and to drawing up plans for more strenuous efforts to end the campaign. One of the immediate results will be the despatch of four thousand cavalry from England to South Africa.

THE END APPROACHING.
 London, Nov. 7.—Presiding yesterday afternoon at the presentation of a sword of honor sent from Australia, to Major-Gen. Baden-Powell, the defender of Mafeking, Mr. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, said now that the long struggle in South Africa is approaching its termination, neither the country nor the government had any right or wish to make any settlement which would render futile the sacrifices which had been made.

CHEERS FOR BULLER.
 London, Nov. 7.—At Nottingham today, where Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief, distributed a thousand war medals, he was repeatedly "boo-hoed," and cheers were raised for Gen. Buller. The recipients of the medals, at the luncheon subsequently given in their honor, repeatedly broke into cheers for Gen. Buller.

NO CONFIRMATION.
 Ottawa, Nov. 7.—The Dominion Government has as yet no information confirming the cable from London, England, that a contingent of cavalry had been accepted from Canada for duty in South Africa. Both the Militia and the State departments say that the first thing they heard of the matter was when they saw it in the Hon. Dr. Borden said that he did not know anything about it.

THE PLANET has made special arrangements for publication of the magnificent serial story

IONE; A BROKEN LOVE DREAM

Author of "A Broken Betrothal," "Parted by Fate," "Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Parted at the Altar," etc., etc.

This beautiful and charming love story is thoroughly characteristic of the author. It is all story from beginning to end. Miss Libby is one of the fortunate ones who has but to begin a story and thousands of readers follow her to the end. IONE is a story of fascinating interest, full of incident, variety and feeling, and gathering in intensity as it approaches conclusion.

The opening chapters of this splendid serial will be a feature of THE BIG SATURDAY PLANET TO-MORROW.

ABOUT CHICKENS GREAT GAME

Their Ownership all in a Tangle—The Court Case Which Didn't Materialize.

It has been said and long been believed that "chickens will come home to roost." Mr. Macpherson, a farmer living near Thorncliffe, Chatham township, believes he has discovered the fallacy of this statement and he thinks that chickens will roost with your neighbor but won't come home.

Mr. Macpherson claims that some of his spring chickens went over to his neighbor's place, lived there and grew up. They had evidently never learned the old adage. Mr. Macpherson says that he recognized among Mrs. Wise's brood several pullets of his own particular breed. All the chickens looked alike to everybody except Mr. Macpherson and Mrs. Wise. They recognized them differently. Mr. Macpherson consulted Justice of the Peace George R. Shaw, and Mrs. Wise was summoned to appear before the magistrate. This happened yesterday and then it was discovered that no information had been laid against anyone and there was no reason why Mrs. Wise should be present. The Justice of the Peace at once drew up an information and wanted Mr. Macpherson to sign it, but he stoutly refused. He said that he had never accused his neighbor of stealing the chickens. The magistrate insisted that the information be sworn to, but the man was obstinate and there was nothing to be done. The Squire said he would consult the Crown Attorney about the case. Mr. Macpherson said he only wanted his chickens, which he believed had been living all summer with Mrs. Wise's chickens, but the chickens hadn't been stolen. Mrs. Wise claims that only her own chickens are in the flock, and for the present the matter rests there.

GOLD BRICK

Sergt. Coltart Revelling in Good Luck These Days—His Friends not so Fortunate.

Will Coltart is one of the happiest young men in town these days. He received a box through the express office yesterday, from a friend in Heidelberg, Germany, and ever since then he has been a happy boy. He goes around doing his work wearing a smile on his countenance, and humming short snatches from comic operas. Every little while he is seen to steal away in some secret hiding place, open the mysterious box, and taking from it something evidently pleasing to his taste, eats it with a relish which can only be realized from experience.

He then, carefully wraps the remainder in a number of sheets of tinfoil and replaces it in the box, secures the lid and resumes his work with added enthusiasm and energy. The secret of the box is told in the following incident.

"What have you got in the box?" asked a friend of his as he was seen striding down King street in the opposite direction of the express office.
 "Why," said the popular sergeant of the 24th, "that's a gold brick. I just got it from a friend in British Columbia and am taking it home."
 "Why, you carry it in a box? You were afraid some one would go to rob you," said the other.
 "Well, I have to hold it rather tightly as it is pretty strong, and might get away from me," replied Will, a broad smile creeping over his countenance. "Perhaps you would like to test the strength of it," he added.
 "Yes! Let me see it," cried the enthusiastic and inquisitive friend.
 "Well, look out!" and with this he opened the lid of the box, and produced a piece of Limburger cheese.
 "Is that a gold brick?" said the friend, after he had recovered sufficiently from a fit of coughing and sneezing.
 "Well, it's as dear as gold to me," replied the Sergt., but the friend failed to see the force of the argument.

EAST KENT.

The East Kent nomination meeting held here on Monday proved a very tame affair, although the preceding days were prolific in rumors. First it was said that George Johns, of Bothwell, disgraced with the manner of his turn-down at the Liberal convention, would run as an Independent Liberal. Then Dr. McCully, of Harwich, loomed up from the horizon as a disturbing factor in the Liberal camp. The doctor was completely out of time and was determined to run against Mr. Lee. The Harwich veteran went so far as to seek a nomination among the prominent Liberals of Blenheim, and it was not until Saturday night that he was pulled off the track. The brand of soft soap used is not known, but it was evidently effective for the doughty doctor failed to even show up here on Monday.

On Saturday Mr. Johns authorized the statement that he would be an Independent Liberal candidate, and he possessed at least sufficient courage to drive over here on Monday and face the enemy. Mr. Johns, upon his arrival, was met by Mr. Lee and taken for a walk. The Bothwell man returned from it then only needed the persuasive powers of the officers of the East Kent Liberal Association and Mr. Lee's sponsors to convince Mr. Johns that it was in his interest as well as that of the party to stand aside and be good. For the second time Mr. Johns permitted himself to be jolted into inaction, and the result was the election of Mr. Lee to go to Toronto and Mr. Johns to return to Bothwell thinking things.

In spite of the success which crowned the efforts of the manipulators, the half-hearted cheers which greeted the announcement of Mr. Lee's election by acclamation, and the cold silence of fully one-half of those present bode no good to the future of the Liberal party in East Kent. A great many Liberals are as far as satisfied with the completed job as they were when it was in its half-finished condition, and will vote to reject it when the occasion is offered.—Ridgetown Dominion.

ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

The defeat of Tammany in New York is the hand-writing on the wall for the Tammany of Ontario. The people of this fair Province will banish the Ross-Mackie aggregation and their methods as emphatically as the good people of the American metropolis have dismissed the regime of corruption. And the Ontario Tammany has done much to earn this designation of disapproval.

One very serious feature of the doings of the present Government of Ontario is its interference with the administration of justice. It is a proud boast of Canadians that never since the country came under British rule has there been a lynching in Canada. That shows the wisdom of those whose duty it has been to see that all the machinery of the law, looking to its proper administration, shall be as nearly perfect as possible.

It is well known that the awful crimes committed by the lynchers in the United States are done in the

WHITE AND RED

Pale blood—pale face—poor health; Scott's Emulsion—red blood—rosy face—good health; that's the order of events.

Our first lines give a condensed history of many cases, chiefly young girls at school. For some reason girls of that age are frequent sufferers from pale blood—a real blood starvation.

Scott's Emulsion, a clean white medicine, makes rich, red blood and rosy faces. It is blood food.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.

name of justice, and done because the administration of the law is extremely faulty. Were this not the case people would wait patiently for the law to take its course. But, finding that the law is not carried out, and that parties, having influence with those who have the administration of these laws in charge, use this influence to have the course of justice impeded, and seeing many escape punishment for crimes committed, is it any wonder that the people come to view the laws of the land with contempt, and to have no confidence that justice will be dealt out impartially. Then crimes naturally result which have cast so foul a blot on the United States—the awful lynchings.

But it may be asked what has all this to do with Canada, and the province of Ontario in particular? Just this: Crimes have been committed by rascals here which should, by law, be punished with fine or imprisonment. But instead of these scoundrels being dealt with as the laws direct, the government and its appointed officials stand between them and the law, and even destroy the evidence of their crimes in order to protect them.

In the election in West Elgin and other places the most dastardly crimes were committed, rascalities, which even the men who by these means had been elected admitted, and yet the law has been prostituted to the protection of these villains. While the present Ontario government holds power it is impossible to punish the men who commit crimes in order to keep its members in office. They are bound to protect these men—ballot switchers, ballot thieves, ballot spotters, personators and perjurers who help to keep them in office, so far, therefore, as the election laws are concerned, they are a dead letter in Ontario, at least as regards punishing the scoundrels who are engaged in thwarting the will of the people. So far as this law is concerned it is treated with contempt, and if a change is not made the contempt, which is now felt for this law will extend itself to all law, and once the idea becomes general that the government favors the escape of criminals of a certain class, and that they are under the protection of the administration of the law, how long will a contempt for all laws be forming in the minds of the people. The present government is thus responsible for any troubles which may arise in consequence of this loss of confidence in the proper administration of the laws. This is a serious responsibility, but the Ontario government seems to be concerned principally in keeping in power. Law breaking is quite pardonable if it conduces to that end. It is time that the men who act on this principle are relegated to private life.

HOW LONG?

Mr. Average Ratepayer—Dear Sir—Part of your white man's burden this year is $100,000 of taxes which Premier Ross' scrap iron bluff lifted off the shoulders of his friends the corporations, and dumped on to you. You have been carrying that burden ever since the iniquitous scrap iron assessment act was passed by the provincial government eight years ago. Meanwhile the grateful corporations contribute to the Machine fund, while the Machine undertakes the criminal work of switching your votes so long as to keep you in bondage. How long are you going to stand it—Ottawa Citizen.

Be on the look-out for The Planet's new and splendid serial story. It's a daisy.

"One" is the title of the delightful serial story to be published in The Planet. Be sure and read it.

That London bank clerk, Couche, who tackled the armed bank robber though himself unarmed, deserves something resembling the Victoria Cross if such a decoration existed for civilian acts of bravery. Anyway, Couche is all right, all right.

Extravagance is creeping into the conventional world of evening parties. A new rule, as announced by a young society lady of Pennsylvania, will allow the young men to appear in the heated ball-room in shirt waists. The mid-winter shirt-waist party will be the name of the new function. But this modern move has been out-heroded by the young lady who has recently invented the Tribby pink-toe social. In this social extravaganza each man present is required to make a guess at the identity of the owner of a bare foot shown beneath the curtain. If successful he takes the lady who owns the foot to supper, but if the guess fails he is fined heavily, the proceeds going to a local charity. O charity, what foolishness is committed in thy name!

The Detroit Free Press pays the following tribute to Colonel Benson, the heroic Ontario boy who has just gone to a soldier's death in South Africa: "American sympathy goes out to those whose loss was more direct in the death of Col. Frederick William Benson, of St. Catharines, Ont., who was killed in the engagement with the Boers. He was a brave and seasoned soldier, winning his laurels in numerous campaigns and doing as much as any other one man to establish the military prowess of Canada in the esteem of the empire and the world. In the record of such a man admiration sets aside the prejudices of partisanship and pays the honest tribute of the heart." It turns out that the Col. Benson was not the St. Catharines man of that name, and not a Canadian, but the intention of the Free Press was all right.

Lord Rosebery has been telling a British audience some unpalatable truths. "The nation which is satisfied is lost. The nation which is not progressing is retrograding. Rest and be thankful is a motto which spells decay." No man sees clearer than Lord Rosebery the peril that threatens England owing to her sluggishness and indifference to the doings and alertness of the wide world. The return of Lord Rosebery to politics is the best thing that could happen drowsy England, where the people are so dull that "when they are told that their house is on fire are apt to fall asleep again directly it arrives." When Lord Rosebery comes back to his own again and pulls the Liberal party out of the ditch it is to be hoped that he will acquaint England with the resources and greatness of the colonies as home lands across the seas for the surplus population of the British Isles.

THAT ALLEGED TORY. Goderich Signal (Very Gritty). Now, we don't know anything about The Ontario Tory, other than that the extracts from it which we have read have pleased us immensely, because they are doing the candid friend act to the Tory party, and are trying to put a tack in the tire of that grand old party on every possible occasion. We have time and again heard good firm old-line Tories condemning his utterances and swearing that so far as they were concerned The Ontario Tory was as far from them as the Jews were from the Samaritans.

IN TORONTO THE GOOD. The Westminster. In Toronto drinking and cards are becoming associated with wine-drinking and gambling. It is no secret that wines and liquors are more largely used, both at public functions and at private parties, than they were ten years ago, and that zest is given to afternoon and evening card parties by the stakes which are risked in the playing. The gambling habit has taken strong hold upon not a few of the women in high society. They had become jaded by the empty round of social vanity, and to play first for prizes, then for wine, then for money provided their escape from life's ennui, and now their tell-tale eyes betray the gambling fever in their blood. Some Toronto women are said to be inveterate gamblers.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. F. J. HENNEY & CO., Toledo, O. # HER PLEA WILL BE INSANITY

Jane Toppan is Said to Have Inherited the Ailments From Her Father.

What the Friends of the Alleged Wholesale Poisoner Have to Say.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—Insanity will be the defence should Miss Jane Toppan be indicted and made to face a jury on the charge of poisoning to death Mrs. Mary D. Gibbs, at Cataumet, on Aug. 13.

Although she has been reticent as to her family or herself, the fact that her father was known here as "Kelly the Crack" because of his idiosyncrasies and that a sister is now in a state institution for insane, was brought to light to-day by a correspondent with this becomes public the strange story of the separation of four sisters through the profligacy of a father who wasted a comfortable fortune, as it were, in a comfortable style half a century ago.

One sister, adopted from a city institution 36 years ago, has never been heard of since. Another, adopted from the same institution, is Jane Toppan, born Nora Kelley. Mary, another sister, who had been separated from those who were sent to the institution, spent in 25 years, thousands of dollars to locate Nora, whom she finally found as a nurse in the Massachusetts General Hospital. Now, when her sister is in the direct trouble, no trace can be found of Mary, who was last heard from in Niagara Falls, N. Y., about three years ago.

From the lips of relatives of the prisoner these facts came to-day, and one of these significantly said:

"I cannot believe Jane has committed the crime charged against her. But if she did she was insane, and she inherited her ailment from her father. There is much in the case that I cannot tell now, but it will all come out."

It is said that Jane Toppan's lawyer, James Stewart Murphy, an old friend of the family, will come here from Lowell to-morrow, when he will consult one of the few relatives that Miss Toppan has, Mrs. Jeannette A. Spoor.

A Lowell dispatch says: Dr. W. H. Lathrop, who frequently saw Jane Toppan at the home of O. A. Brigham, is inclined to believe the nurse insane and thinks that mental irresponsibility in her case would be limited to homicidal mania. Other physicians hold this opinion.

Miss Toppan knew in September that she was under suspicion in connection with the death of Mrs. Gibbs and other persons, but she bore herself with fortitude, only once giving way when the suspicions were the subject of conversation.

Dr. F. W. Chadbourne, who had charge of Miss Toppan in the General Hospital here early in October, said that he saw nothing in her actions to lead him to think her insane. He admitted that she was nervous.

Dr. Chadbourne said Miss Toppan, so far as he observed, was not a victim of the morphine habit. It was suspected that she was and precautions were taken to prevent her obtaining the drug.

The dizziness and faintness from which women suffer may be due to one of several causes. But the most common cause is disease of the delicate womanly organism. The story of Mrs. Brown, told in her letter below, gives a fair example of the conditions under which so many women work: "I had a sick headache nearly all the time, was so weak around my waist could hardly bear anything to touch me. I would work a little while and then lie down a while."

Failing to obtain more than temporary relief from her doctor's treatment, Mrs. Brown began the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the best medicine for the cure of diseases peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, dries offensive drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"A few years ago I suffered severely with female weakness and had at times dreadful pains," writes Mrs. Mary V. Brown, of Crawell, Hartford, Conn. "I went to my doctor, and he gave me medicine which did me good for a while, but I would get worse again. I had a sick headache nearly all the time, was so weak around my waist could hardly bear anything to touch me. My feet would keep cold and I could hardly do my work. I would work a while and then lie down a while; was completely run down, suffered from disagreeable discharge and also severe pains at times. After using five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of his Golden Medical Discovery and one of his Golden Pleasant Pellets, and following the advice on the wrapper of the 'Lotion Tablets,' I can truly say that I am cured. The doctor said it was uterine disease I had."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of postage and mailing only, or if cloth-bound volume is desired send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Theatrical

The Passion Play at the Grand Saturday evening.

Much interest is attached to the forthcoming production of The Passion Play, which will hold the boards at the Grand to-morrow evening.

The entertainment is a sacred drama of pictorial order and is an idyl in its ways. Advance criticism of the performance speak in glowing terms of the constructive effects. Among the special features are the singing of the popular favorites like "The Holy City," with special scenic effects by Mr. Handel Hastings, the eminent baritone.

"The House That Jack Built," Geo. H. Broadhurst's latest musical farce, will have its first presentation at the Grand on Saturday evening, Nov. 10.

In his previous farces Mr. Broadhurst has used a distinctly satirical theme as the basis of his plays. In this one, however, instead of aiming his shafts at the tyranny of domestic servants and the various labor unions, he wings them at the folly of the would-be socialists. The cast is headed by George H. Summers, who will appear as a paperhanger and Miss St. George Hensley as the rich widow.

Other members of the company are Bessie Lockwood, C. F. Lorraine, Hugh Cameron, Alonzo Gloria, Albert Amberg, Mildred Keith, May Courtney, Robert Brower, Joe Williams, Arthur Cline, Fred Jones, Harry Hopkins and others among whom are many vaudeville headliners.

FIGHT NEAR BRAKENLAAGTE

The Boers Killed and Wounded Number 144 Including Gen. Opperman.

The Secretary of War on the Mortality in the Refugee Camps.

London, Nov. 7.—Lord Kitchener, cabling supplementary details of the recent fight near Brakenlaagte, Eastern Transvaal, says:—"The Boer loss was forty-four killed, including General Opperman, and one hundred wounded. The Boers got nothing beyond the guns. The Boer attack was easily repulsed until the arrival of Louis Botha with 600 men."

MORTALITY IN REFUGEE CAMPS.

London, Nov. 7.—Secretary of War Brodrick, writing to the Bishop of Rochester in regard to the mortality in the refugee camps in South Africa, states that certain recommendations of the ladies' commission, which was sent there to investigate the matter, have been adopted. Mr. Brodrick says the loss of life has been mainly due to causes incident to the war. Many families were ill-clad and short of food before they came in, and were unable to combat disease when they were attacked. The War Secretary states that everything possible is being done for the refugees, but no Government can secure the inhabitants of a country from privation when a small number of desperate men are sparing no means to render it unhabitable.

DELUDED LUTHERANS.

Cologne, Nov. 7.—At a church conference held at Gadbach yesterday it was decided to call upon the entire Lutheran clergy to denounce the conduct of the British in South Africa, and the "slandering utterances" of Joseph Chamberlain, the British Colonial Secretary, in regard to German soldiers. The German universities contemplate taking similar action.

TWO LADIES ARRESTED.

London, Nov. 8.—The Daily News says:—We learn that Miss Hobhouse and lady companion have been arrested in South Africa and presumably deported. Miss Hobhouse was the first to agitate regarding the condition of the British concentration camps.

FIERY TEMPER

It Won out at a Debate of the C. O. I. Glee Club Yesterday.

A meeting of the C. O. I. Glee Club was held in the assembly hall of the school yesterday afternoon, an excellent program being rendered. The debate, the subject of which was,—"Resolved that a quick and fiery temper is an element of greatness rather than of weakness"—was conducted by Chas. Farquharson and J. Lannigan, affirmative, and Chas. Heath and Will J. Mounteer, negative. The affirmative won with a special mention being made of the ability of Mr. Farquharson. The judges were Messrs. Chinnick, Campbell and Wheeler, of Form III.

The program was as follows:—Minutes of last meeting.

Report of committee.

Competition of recitation of "The Diver," by a delegation from I.I.A. and I.I.B.

PERVERTED IDEAS.

London Advertiser.

A southern newspaper, apropos of the subject of President Roosevelt's dining and winning Booker T. Washington, the negro reformer, states that "a dinner given in his honor and privacy of his family means that the guest or his son may win and win the host's daughter." The same journal goes on to state that there is but one more step to miscegenation. What can be more absurd than such a contention? What obligation can the mere entertainment to dinner place either the host or the guest under than merely the bonds of friendship? If such hospitality could possibly point to a mixture of races, what can be said of the fact that eastern princess have been repugnant at the festival board of British royalty?

Perhaps the most demoralizing and hurtful result of mob violence is the hardening effect which it has upon our youth.

Do You Wear Glasses?

If not, do your eyes ever have any of the following symptoms of eye trouble: A sense of drowsiness, heaviness of the lids, spasmodic twitching of the lid muscles, and if the eye strain has been of long duration, reflex nervous disturbances of great variety and not limited to the eye and frequently the eyes are not suspected of the trouble. The most common result of eye strain is headache, and it is probably safe to say that defective eyes are the most frequent cause of headache. Treatment will not remove these troubles, as we cannot change the shape of the eye, but we can by proper glasses remove these troubles and also correct any other required by glasses.

4. One who has not passed the Departmental Examinations may, on examination by an Inspector, proving the necessities of the case require it, may be licensed for a particular school, by a "Permit" from the Inspector, the consent of the Minister of Education having first been obtained.

Those whose names appeared in the report of the Board meeting were licensed by the Board under Regulation 87, having passed their examinations in the regular way and did not require Permits. During the 16 years that I have been in office as Inspector for East Kent I have not had occasion to give a Permit, as there has always been a sufficient number of teachers who have passed their regular examinations.

STOMACHS THAT WON'T WORK

That Retain the Food and Refuse to Digest it. Makes the Head Heavy and the Nerves Weak. Need Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

There is a cure for dyspepsia. Sufferers who have tried various nostrums will probably be skeptical but skepticism vanishes when Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are tried. Whether the trouble is dyspepsia of long standing, or merely a simple case of indigestion, relief is prompt and pronounced. The less the trouble the fewer tablets need be taken.

Heaviness after eating; sour stomach, as indicated by belching, fatigue with slight exertion, or with no exertion at all, disturbed sleep, nervousness, constipation, depression, "blues" these can commonly be set down as symptoms of dyspepsia. And dyspepsia is merely indigestion in an aggravated form.

By promoting perfect digestion, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets produces strong nerves, mental refreshing sleep, pure blood and good sound healthy flesh. They make the skin clear, the eyes bright, the mind cheerful.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a medicine and more than a medicine. They digest the food and make it easy of assimilation, and they relieve the inflamed, diseased condition of the membranous linings and the glands of the stomach and bowels. They help the digestive organs over the hard places, and put them into a healthy, active condition. They effect a quick and permanent cure. You don't have to continue taking them forever, still it is well to have a box handy and take one at the first return of the trouble.

Perfectly well people are made sick by eating too much, or unwholesome food, but not if they take a tablet after eating. Treatment with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets does not necessitate dieting, or any change of habits. They digest the proper food and act upon the other kind in such a way as to make it pass off quickly and easily. You may eat and drink what you like, when you like, and as much as you like, if you take a tablet after eating.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents for full sized packages. Send to F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases, mailed free.

A STORY TELLING CONTEST

Man With the Solemn Face Easily Beat All the Others.

One evening at a well known hotel a number of traveling men were spinning yarns, and the talk turned upon self sacrifice and with various good friends had undergone to contribute to the worldly success of an associate. One solemn faced man told the following:—"I had two schoolmates," he began. "One of them aspiring to be a lawyer and the other had aspirations for a high place in the medical profession. The college we attended was one at which the discipline was severe and the regulars were few and far between. Well, those two boys managed to worry along until the day of the final examination came. The young law student had perfected himself in his studies and was well up in his work. The medical student, however, was in a far less enviable plight. He found that the examination would be for the most part upon the anatomy of the leg, and this was the one branch of his course he had neglected. He confided in his roommate and waited out his sorrows.

"If I only had a leg to dissect," said he, "I would pass that examination at the head of my class."

"It was here that his roommate rose sublimely to the occasion. He rolled up his trousers and insisted that his friend amputate his leg at the knee. His medical friend demurred, but the lawyer student insisted that the amputation was performed and the medical student captured his diploma.

"Years afterward this same doctor was sitting in an office surrounded by all the evidence of a prosperous practice. The door opened and in came his old roommate at college. The greeting was, of course, affecting, and then the doctor inquired how the lawyer was getting on in the world. The lawyer said he had been practicing several years in the petty affairs of the law and would rise to distinction if he could secure a good case. "I want a murder case," said he; "one that will attract special attention and involve some well known citizen."

"The doctor excused himself and, picking up a heavy poker, left the room. He proceeded down stairs and killed his landlady, resorting to all the atrocities that ingenuity could devise to make his crime one that would create a sensation. He was successful. The papers teemed with the awful details of the deed and the tragic events of the trial. His friend, the one-legged lawyer, defended him, and he was cleared. Both of these men occupy leading places in their professions today. If you don't believe this story, you can come up to my room and I will show you a picture of a picture of these two friends of mine attended."

Selling Your Diamonds. People who buy diamonds are apt to answer reflect upon their extravagance with the remark that diamonds are a good investment and that they can always get their money back on them. This is plausible and partly true, but not entirely so. The ring that, though the design may be elaborate, as it sometimes is in men's rings, and of the finest and most artistic of workmanship, will seldom bring more than the worth of the gold unless sold to an individual who styles of setting change enough to make old fashions of little value.

A woman in reduced circumstances recently sold a ring which cost at the time $150 for $40. It is a cluster ring, with nine small diamonds surrounding a larger one. The ring was appraised at a jeweler's, who set the price at $150. It is a pretty ring, with white stones and brilliant, but it is not worth a third of what it was forty years ago, when it came into the possession of its original owner. Dealers in stones say also that what rings are bought perceptibly with wear, and for that reason become less valuable.

Got What He Deserved. "You know Throggins? Smooth fellow. Great jollier. Tries to keep on the good side of everybody. Well, he went to church last Sunday morning and slept through the whole sermon. Then he had the grace to tell the Rev. Dr. Fourtly, that the congregation had been dismissed, that he had never enjoyed a discourse so much in his life, and he would like to borrow the manuscript of it and take it home with him, he would read it again during the day. What do you suppose the doctor did?" "Can't imagine."

"Well, sir, I think he'd seen Throggins nodding and knew he hadn't heard a word. At any rate, he took Throggins by the arm, led him into his study, made him sit down and then he read every blessed line of that sermon over again to him, which was a pretty good thing. Oh, you don't get ahead of Dr. Fourtly—not much!"—Exchange.

A Legal Angel. Frances and Mel had had a discussion recently. They are playmates and visit one another frequently. Frances' parent is an attorney, while Mabel's parent is a clergyman. In some manner the talk turned on angels, and the conversation which was overheard by Mabel's mother, was very profound.

"Is heven full uv angels?" asked Frances. "Yes, it's full av 'em," replied Mabel. "Do you want to be an angel sum day?" "Why, of course, an' I'm goin' to be, too, cos my papa's a preacher, an' he'll go to heven sure."

"Well, you bet my papa'll go to heven, too, cos he's a lawyer."

Husband and Wife. Husband and wife are equal; the one not inferior to the other; the wife not a slave; not a housekeeper—but an equal; a companion. And just so far as a young man starts out with that idea fixed firmly in his mind—to make a companion, a comrade, a chum of his wife—just so far does he start out right.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Then Elder Sister Subsidized. Elder Sister—Mr. Bilmore and you were in the parlor a long time last night, but I don't suppose you used much gas. Younger Sister—The reason you didn't see any burning of gas, was because Harold carelessly hung his hat on the doorknob!

Many a man spends half his time anticipating tomorrow and the other half in regretting yesterday.

Incredulity robs us of many pleasures and gives us nothing in return.—J. E. Lowell.

If You Have Asthma

Bronchitis, or a Severe Cold on the Chest and Lungs, Doctors Will Point You to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as the Most Effective Treatment.

For every class of disease there is one medicine which stands pre-eminent as being superior to all others. In the case of Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung ailments the recognized treatment is Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Doctors do not hesitate to say that when the patient becomes flushed and exasperated in his struggle for breath, wheezes loudly and experiences intense agony in his chest and lungs there is no preparation available that will give such prompt and thorough relief as

Mrs. G. H. Reid, North Augusta, Ont., says:—"Being troubled with bronchitis and asthma for a long time, have tried several remedies, but all failed to touch the spot, until I tried Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I got relief from the first bottle. I can highly recommend it to all humanity suffering from throat or lung troubles. And you are at liberty to use this testimony as you see fit."

Mrs. George Budden, Putnamville, Ont., says:—"I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as I had the Asthma very bad; could get nothing to do me any good. A friend of mine persuaded me to try this remedy, as he had tried it, and it proved successful. I tried it and it cured me. I am thankful to-day to say I am a well woman through the use of this remedy. I keep it in the house all the time and would not be without it."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is so well known in the homes of Canada that it seems unnecessary to add further comment, but a word of warning may be needed. There are other preparations of linseed and turpentine, imitations of Dr. Chase's. Be sure the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase are on the bottle you buy. Twenty-five cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60c. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

PUNISHMENT FOR CRIME

Some of the Barbarous Laws That Used to Be Enforced.

Sir Samuel Romilly was the first who endeavored to soften the rigor of the criminal law. In 1808 he passed a bill repealing the statute of Elizabeth, which made larceny punishable by death, and three or four years later he carried other bills of a similar nature. Indeed, it is chiefly owing to his efforts that our criminal system is indebted for its present characteristics of humanity.

One or two of the former punishments are so curious that it may be interesting to notice them. In the time of Henry VIII. poisoning was made treason, and the punishment was to be boiled alive, which was carried out in the case of John Bous, who threw poison into a pot of broth prepared for the bishop of Rochester's family. This, in common with many more of Henry VIII's barbarous laws, was repealed by Edward VI. The law of retaliation was introduced by statute 37, Edward III., as a punishment for those who preferred malicious accusations. It did not answer, however, and was repealed after one year's trial.

Crimes of an unnatural nature, such as a wife killing her husband, a servant in master, an ecclesiastic his superior, were held petit treason, and a man was drawn and hanged and a woman drawn and burned.

We see something of a similar nature in the ancient Roman law that enacted that the murderer of a parent should be scourged and then tied up in a leather sack with a dog, cock, viper and ape and then thrown into the sea. Publicus Malcolus, who killed his mother, was the first who suffered this punishment in the year Rome 622.

But this punishment has existed in modern Europe. Thus, in Spain, at Jaen, on March 1, 1832, a man, for murdering his daughter-in-law, after being placed in a barrel with a cock, a snake, a monkey and a toad, was thrown into the river.

Another common punishment, now long obsolete, was disfigurement, as every one acquainted with the records of the star chamber knows. Ears and noses were most frequently cut off, the excuse being that the loss of them does not tend to weaken the culprit, whereas the loss of an arm or finger does. Early law always advocated member for member, forgetting that on a repetition of the offense the punishment cannot be repeated.

RAISING POULTRY.

Build the poultry house so that it can readily be cleaned. Young ducks eat more than chickens, but are marketable sooner. The best way to feed corn to young chickens is crushed or cracked. When poultry does well under your plan of management, do not try other plans. One meal of soft feed a day is enough. It should be given as soon as the chickens fly down from the roosts. Eggshells are very good for the fowls. Crush them very fine before feeding them lest the fowls get into the habit of eating eggs. Introduce new blood into the poultry yard by buying some good, vigorous males. Some pure bred fowls might be purchased also. One of the little licks is in keeping surplus males. Sell off every one not needed as soon as they can be put into marketable condition. Geese cost very little if allowed the liberty of the fields, with access to a pond or stream. The best breed for fowling is the Embden, being entirely white. The size of the yards depends somewhat upon the breed and also upon the manner in which the flock is managed. Generally the larger the yard the better the fowls will thrive.

It is sound philosophy to "know thyself," to know nothing but self, however, the stupendous folly of the egotist.

SPILLING THE SALT.

THE ORIGIN OF AN OLD AND VERY COMMON SUPERSTITION.

Some of the Ancient Signs and Omens That Still Hold Sway Over Mankind—Breaking a Looking Glass and the Crossing of Knives.

There is a "wherefore" for all things, even for those "signs, omens, superstitions," which some men call frivolous and foolish. Some men object to walking under a ladder. Well, is there not the danger of the ladder falling on you or of the man at work on it dropping his paint pot or his soapuds on you? It is regarded as a sign of bad luck to cross knives at table. This superstition came about in this wise. The original knife was nothing else but a dagger which men wore in their belts, ready for carving the mutton or their acquaintances. The crossing of blades meant a fight, and it is no wonder that women found crossed knives a sign suggestive of misfortune.

Spilling the salt once meant the worst of bad luck, and today there are many people who throw a pinch over their shoulder "to break the charm" if they happen to tip over the saltcellar. Salt was until recently an expensive article and a dear necessity. So important was it that the finding of salt wells in Cheshire, England, first brought the merchants of Europe into savage Britain and led to the civilization of the island. The very phrase "worth a salt" means worth his salary, and the word salary itself means "salt money."

Because it was so important ancient usage placed the saltbox in the middle of the table so that it might be within reach of all. The "gentles" sat above the salt and the "simples" below it. In the regalia in the Tower of London the saltcellar is one of the most gorgeous pieces, being built like a castle of silver and heavily encrusted with diamonds. The importance of the saltbox the upsetting of it was something more than an accident. It was an event, and, being bad luck in itself, soon came to be regarded as a sign of bad luck.

Some trace the beginning of the superstition to the picture of "The Last Supper," by Leonardo da Vinci, in which painting the saltcellar is represented as overturned. But the superstition is older than the picture, and it was undoubtedly because of the superstition that Leonardo so depicted the salt in his celebrated painting.

To break a looking glass is regarded in some households as a sure sign of death in the family. The superstition regarding the looking glass came about in this way. Before there were any porcelains there were plenty of old women, poor and friendless and long past the age when they could make their living by manual labor. But they knew the world and the credulity and the passions of mankind. They also knew the herbs of the field and the garden which were possessed of medicinal virtues, and so between their knowledge of medicine and their knowledge of the human heart they managed to make a living by selling simple remedies for the body and dealing out advice, prophecies and spells for the mind.

"If you have a proud face to make tracks, if you melt a rich uncle in wax, or if you had the stomach ache, you had to do 'was to call in one of these 'wise women,' as they were termed. Sometimes the 'wise woman' got too wise and was drowned or burned as a witch. Here was a perilous business, but the only one by which the poor old hag could make a living. If you wanted to get rid of an enemy in those days, you called in the local practitioner, witchcraft and told her your symptoms. She made a little image of wax or a rag doll, which was named from the person whom you desired to 'get off the earth.' Set the image by the fire, and as it melted away so would your enemy or your rich uncle pine away and die. Stick pins in the rag doll, and the objectionable one would suffer the pains of 'pins and needles.' Smash the doll to pieces, and the hated or superfluous one would meet with a violent and sudden death.

Another school of witchcraft held that a surer way to smash an enemy was to break a looking glass into which the hated one had just gazed. It must be done before his image had vanished from the surface of the glass and with proper incantations, was held to be more effective than any other magic. Hence the superstition regarding the breaking of a looking glass.

Why does a horseshoe bring good luck? One explanation of the use of this prosaic piece of ironmongery as a talisman is that the Russian peasants used to paint outside their doors a picture of the Blessed Virgin. The halo around the head of the child, the rains and snows washed off the paint eventually, but the gilding remained in the shape of a horseshoe, and the peasants regarded it with the same reverence as they had the whole picture. From Russia the travelers brought stories of the peasants having horseshoes at their doors as a protection against evil fortune, and so the superstition of the horseshoe spread over the world.

The other explanation, and probably the true one, is that the symbol is of a far more ancient origin. The Greeks and the Romans who pinned their faith to the goddess Diana used to wear as a symbol of their loyalty to the divine huntress her symbol of the crescent moon. As the ages rolled in the crescent became a horseshoe. One is at liberty to accept either of these explanations or to reject both of them, but whatever the origin of the belief in the horseshoe as a portent of good luck, whether it be the symbol of the heathen goddess Diana or of the Christian Virgin, there are hundreds of thousands of people throughout the world who would "never take the horseshoe from the door."

Among the Italians a horseshoe is supposed to be a protection against the evil eye, and when they feel in need of such an amulet and have not a horseshoe handy they point out with the little finger and the first finger, tucking away the second and third fingers under the thumb and thus making a passable sort of horseshoe of the hand. They always do this in the rural districts of Italy when they meet an Englishman, a man with a snapshot camera or anything else doubtful.

Deafness is Curable!

Sufferers from impaired hearing will be glad to know that their affliction is probably not due to any organic defect in the ear, but results probably from a thickening of the lining of the middle ear caused by catarrhal inflammation. Hundreds of perfect recoveries as a result of the inhibition of Catarrhose are reported, and on the highest authority we recommend this treatment to our readers. Catarrhose quickly restores lost hearing, and its efficiency is placed beyond dispute by the case of Mr. Foxall, of St. Thomas, who recovered perfect hearing by using Catarrhose, after years of deafness. THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whate'er threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman remains distressed of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the coarse and unpleasant examinations, and the fensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence, all letters being treated as strictly private and secretly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been hailed as a God-send to women. It makes weak women strong, and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither cocaine, opium or other narcotic.

FACTS FOR CATARRHAL SUFFERERS.

The mucous membrane lines all passages and cavities communicating with the exterior.

Catarrh is an excessive secretion, accompanied with chronic inflammation, from the mucous membrane. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts on the mucous membrane through the blood, reduces inflammation, establishes healthy action, and radically cures all cases of catarrh.

NERVOUSNESS.

A State of the System That Calls For Medical Treatment.

What may be called a minor degree of neurasthenia is the indefinite condition called "nervousness." Sufferers from it are not incapacitated for business or social duties, nor are they seriously ill, like the confirmed neurasthenic, yet their existence is often a pitiable one. They are restless and unable to fix the mind on any subject, sleep is disturbed, and often there is an indefinable fluttering sensation within the chest.

They may have a good appetite and not feel ill physically. And herein lies their greatest danger, for they persuade themselves that all they need is a nerve tonic of some sort or a little stimulant, and they lose themselves with various remedies, one after another, or begin to drink a little wine or spirits.

The stimulation makes them feel better for a time, but the inevitable reaction comes when they feel worse than before and run again and again to the bottle of tonic or drink until they become confirmed drug takers or dram drinkers, and which is worse it would be hard to say.

The fatal mistake which these persons make is in assuming that they are not ill physically, but only "nervous." In almost every such case a careful examination by a physician will bring to light disorder of organ and show that the patient is physically ill and should be treated accordingly. It is not nerve tonics or stimulants that he needs, but a course of medical treatment—dietic, hygienic and perhaps medicinal.

In the majority of cases it will be found that the digestion is at fault. There may be no evident symptoms of dyspepsia, nausea, distress after eating or eructations, yet the food may be scarcely digested at all. The stomach does its work perhaps in the preliminary digestion of the food, but the intestines, where the assimilation of nutriment is or should be effected, are at fault.

The food is not elaborated into such shape that it can be taken up by the lacteal vessels and carried to the nerve and other structures that need constant re-feeding, and the tissues suffer from partial starvation.

Furthermore, the imperfect intestinal digestion results in the manufacture of various poisons, which are absorbed and cause a morbid condition of the nervous system.

Treatment should be directed to the intestinal trouble and not to the "nervousness," which will speedily disappear when once the causal condition has been cured.

FREE CULTURE.

In setting out an orchard keep together all of the same variety.

A dead limb is a source of disease, and it shows lack of vitality in the tree. Never crowd the fruit trees. Give plenty of room for air and sunshine.

If the cherry tree is set in ordinarily rich soil it will not need fertilizing. The willow, alder, poplar or locust should never be planted too close to wells or drains.

Rubbish of any sort should not be left in the orchard. It harbors vermin and insects.

A tree with an open head is not as likely to be attacked with mildew as one that is crowded.

Pruning when the tree is growing or in leaf checks growth. A feeble tree should never be pruned after growth begins.

In taking up a tree for transplanting the greatest care must be exercised to secure as much of the root system as possible.

Anything in the nature of live will destroy the sap borer or the young borer before it penetrates the bark very far, but once well in the bark a wire must be used.

Deep holes in planting a tree are a disadvantage, especially in a clay subsoil. It is not well to have a tree stand in a well from which the water will not settle away. The soil for trees needs to be well drained.

One Minister Who Was Not Well Posted in His Nomenclature. Another Who Wanted Footprints to Announce Themselves.

It is not for the lady to throw stones at the parson about his slip, due either to plain fright or to absence of mind, for the brethren and sisters who are not of the cloth make plenty of mistakes of this kind.

Yet there are more recorded slips made by ministers, perhaps, because a ridiculous thing said from the pulpit has become an announcement made by a country clergyman just before the benediction that Mrs. Blank, a poor widow of the parish, desired him to thank all the members of the church who had so kindly "assisted" at the death of her husband.

In another Illinois church a social was to be held. Knowing that the small fry was much in evidence at such times and that it often became boisterous, treading indeed upon the ecclesiastical and other toes and sitting upon the ecclesiastical silk hat, the Ladies' Aid society, which was managing the affair, determined to word the notice that parents would not feel at liberty to bring their offspring.

The Saviour said, "Suffer little children to come unto me," and it is the glory of the Christian church that it cherishes these tender little plants and that never does it wish them to feel that they are not welcome within her gates.

There is a story, not a new one, certainly, and probably not a true one, but one which is applicable, of a minister whose discourse was upon the wonders of creation and God's care of the least as well as of the greatest of his works.

When God created the mountains, he made the tiny grain of sand. When he made a Niagara, he also made the little dewdrop. When he made the huge elephant, his hand formed the tiny gnat, and when he made me he made a daisy.

English religious monthly, gives a few genuine slips made by the clergy of his acquaintance. One of these stories is of a young pastor who labored among the fisher folk of the east coast and who was much given to metaphors.

Then there was the brother who gave a series of sermons on the prophet Jonah, and, coming to the part about the storm, told with fervent gestures how the sailors "rowed and rowed to bring the sea to land."

Once a minister in picturing Nemesis overtaking the guilty spoke of the "sound of footsteps approaching" and was dismayed at the smile which went round.

But let not the maker of slips worry too much about them," is the advice of an old minister, "for it is the really earnest who do it most, and for every such slip there is likely to have been enough of forcible speaking to make an impression and perhaps to live forever."

Most housekeepers have wondered what the white powder covering the nutmeg is. An old spice dealer is authority that it is soon as the nutmeg is gathered it is rolled in a lime made from burned oyster shells in order to prevent its destruction by the weevil, and it is this dust that remains upon it.

Considerate. "The portions of steak are rather small this morning," said Mrs. Starvon apologetically. "I'm sorry." "I think it's very considerate of you," replied Mr. Starboard "since it's so very tough."

AGAIN UP AGAINST IT

City Council now Runs into the Realm of the Water Commissioners.

And the Latter Propose to Permit no "Impertinence"—Engineer Will be Notified and he Can Act Accordingly.

"I think it an impertinent piece of business," chairman, Dr. Bray, of the Water Commissioners, last evening in regard to a communication from the council to the effect that they (the Water Commissioners) should obtain a permit from the city engineer when they wished to open a street, "that the council should do such a thing."

After some discussion it was decided to give the engineer notice when they intended to open a street, and let him look over, if or do what he liked. A communication was read from the G. T. R. acknowledging the receipt of Mr. Weil's letter.

Messrs. Blonde and MacIntyre were heard in regard to putting a main on Emma street, so as to make water connection with their place and others who might take it. After some discussion it was decided to put the main part way down the street at a cost of $200, if the gentlemen would sign an agreement to take the water at extraordinary rates.

They said they were willing to sign and their request was granted and they went away satisfied. Dr Bray called attention to the state of the wells at this time of the year being almost dry and very unhealthy.

Several complaints were made about a leakage in their metres and thus making their assessments for the month about three times as great as they should be. Mr. Jones had looked into the matter and brought in the following report:

MR. JONES' REPORT. For some time past there has been complaint to the management of the waterworks, by those taking water by meter, to the effect that they are surprised at the amount of water consumed during a given time, and claiming they could not possibly have used this amount and that the meter had registered more water than was actually used.

In looking up the matter in the meter record book, it was noticed that in certain cases it showed the amount of water used during one term, three months, was from two to three times in excess of that used in many of the preceding terms. This state of affairs was hard to account for, unless the party complaining had actually used the water.

The motive power of a meter is water in motion. It is simply a form of water motor, and as in the case of other motors, it does not move when the water is shut off, therefore it registers only when in motion. The meters referred to were tested. The pressure being 40 pounds, etc., in the premises complained of were examined and found in apparent good order, and no evidence of a leak was found. The mystery deepened, and the question appeared impossible of solution. The thought occurred, What would be the effect of 110 pounds (fire) pressure on the mechanism of the closets that opens and closes the water supply valve, the normal water pressure being 40 pounds. The mechanism that shuts off the water in a closet tank is a small valve that is operated by a long lever. To one end of this lever is attached a ball float. When the flushing valve is tripped the water lowers in the tank, and the ball float on the end of the lever lowers with it, opening the little valve that connects the waterworks system with the tank. The water in the tank then rises, carrying the ball float with it until the water has attained the normal height. The little valve should then close. But if the ball float has not sufficient floating power to close the little valve against the water pressure, it remains open till the water pressure is reduced, then it will close and remain tight until the pressure again rises and forces it open and lets the water run to waste.

To prove the above theory a test was made at the several premises examined before; 110 pounds pressure was put on the mains, the closets were then examined, and it was found that they were leaking badly and defective as explained above. The pressure was then reduced to the normal pressure, 40 pounds, and they ceased to discharge, proving conclusively that the waste of water as registered by the meter was due to defective closet attachments. In nearly every case the defective closets can be repaired at a very small cost. A great saving of water could be effected by those using meters, and others, by an occasional examination of the water fixtures and meters.

E. B. JONES, Supt. A communication from Wm. McKeough asking for an extra hydrant, after some discussion, was granted. The following is a list of accounts
