ARSON SQUAD
BURNS DOWN
BIG MANSION

Splendid Residence Near White Abbey in Ireland Totally Destroyed.

The Grounds Had Been Used to Drill the Ulster Volunteers.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
BELFAST, Ireland, March 27.—A militant suffragette arson squad is believed to have been responsible for the destruction by fire early this morning of Abbeylands, a splendid country residence belonging to Major-General Sir Hugh McCalmont, near White Abbey on Belfast Lough.
The house, although fully furnished, was not occupied except by caretakers. The damage is estimated at $75,000.

No evidence of suffragette handiwork were found, but as the women recently threatened to start war against the Ulster Unionist leaders because of the refusal of Sir Edward Carson to support the movement of the suffragettes, the authorities lay the blame on them.

The grounds of Abbeylands, which is only four miles from Carrickfergus, a British army station, have been used recently for drilling the Ulster Unionist volunteers.
General Sir Hugh McCalmont took part in the Red River expedition. He is retired from the army.

FINAL BRIEF FOR HARRY K. THAW

Was Filed Today in the United States District Court.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
CONCORD, N.H., March 27.—The final brief on behalf of Harry K.
Thaw on his petition for a writ of habeas corpus and for admission to bail, pending a decision on the matter of extradition, were filed in the United States district court by counsel today. The document lays stress on the claim that the statute under which Thaw originally was committed to the insane asylum at Matteawan, N.Y., is unconstitutional, and therefore it was no crime for him to escape from custody; that an insane person cannot commit a crime, and accordingly cannot be extradited on a charge of committing a crime; that Thaw's sanity or insanity must be decided before it can be determined that there is jurisdiction to extradite him, and that he is not a fugitive from justice within the meaning of the federal constitution.

As to bail, counsel maintains that bail in a misdemeanor case is a matter of right. The brief concludes:
"The purpose of the state of New York being to return Thaw to Matteawan, it is making a misuse of the extradition laws to accomplish its end. We confidently assume that upon the facts and authorities Thaw should be discharged."

HINDU IS LET OUT ON $1,000 BAIL

He Claims That Bryan Himself Wrote Against the British Rule in India.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.— Har Dyal, the Hindu advocate of radical and social reform, who was arrested Wednesday night by immigration officials on the ground that he is an undesirable alien, was released yesterday on $1000 bonds. A following of more than 200 Hindus accompanied Dyal to the pier where he boarded the government tug for the Anglo Island immigration station.

In the preparation of his defence, Dyal said he would submit to the secretary of labor at Washington a copy of a pamphlet written by William Jennings Bryan in 1908 in which he says Mr. Bryan denounced the British rule in India.

Dyal's arrest is said to have followed a countrywide investigation into the actions of Hindus in the United States who are suspected of fomenting sedition against the British Government in India.

Kitchner May Succeed French

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
MONTREAL, March 27.—A cable to the Daily Mail says one of the most persistent rumors in political circles last night was that Lord Kitchner is to be brought back from Egypt to replace General French in the War Office and restore order in the army. Another report stated that Mr. Asquith is contemplating the appointment of John Burns, now president of the Board of Trade, as Secretary of State for War. Mr. Burns worked in a London factory as a boy, and his appointment as the head of a Government department whose tendencies are all on the sides of the aristocracy would be a severe blow to the army clique. There is also a rumor this morning that Col. Seely will go to the Colonial Office in place of Mr. Lewis Harcourt, who, like John Burns, is named as a possible candidate for the war ministry.

WILD TALK OF COUP D'ETAT IN LONDON

New York Paper Gets Report About Setting Up a New President.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
MONTREAL, March 27.—A London cable to The Daily Mail says:
A correspondent of The Financial News states that city circles which are usually well informed, believe that Premier Asquith's stern reproduction of republican manifestations in the House of Commons is not merely the official utterances of the Premier, but are profoundly and personally inspired. It is beginning to be surmised that there is on foot an effort to secure a recrudescence of the republicanism of forty years ago. This idea is that King George has not acquired his grandmother's supreme personal dominance nor his father's unbounded personal power. It is conjectured that while King George is comparatively young on the throne, there is a chance to effect a coup d'etat placing at the head of affairs a president whose identity well informed people can guess. He could be assisted by a vice president whose essential qualifications would be coarse language and coarser actions. The writer admits that these conjectures need not cause anxiety, though he thinks it is worth while to know the kind of joints that are cooking in the political pots.

Villa Orders
A Monoplane

Mexico Doesn't Know the Fate of Rebel Troops at Torreón Yet.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
JUAREZ, Mexico, March 27.—As the wind blows a stray so did every message concerning the probable events at Gomez Palacio, where Gen.
Francisco Villa is fighting his decisive battle with the Huerta government, sway rebel sympathizers in this town to-day, and through it all not one reliable scrap of information was gleaned from the maze of unconfirmed reports which hourly were received.

From federal sources came the news that Villa had been beaten from rebel sources came declarations of victory for the Constitutionalist general, and whence no one knows came scores of unconfirmed reports.
One brief message came from Villa himself. It was curt and contained nothing concerning the fortunes of his battle. It was a command for speedy shipment of the military monoplane from Juarez, and an order that all equipment for rebuilding railroad track be hurried south.
The fact that the message was sent from Gomez Palacio, gives rise to the belief that the rebel leader had captured that suburb of Torreón, and hope ran higher among constitutionalists than it had for 62 hours of complete silence from the soldiers at the front.

Clerks in city post offices and railway mail clerks are to be increased from April 1, the minimum to be $500 and annual increase $50.

SITUATION VERY GRAVE IN HOME RULE CRISIS

Was Col. Seely Inspired by the King?
—Rebellious Temper of Officers of the Army is Again Stirred Up by Asquith's Repudiation.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
NEW YORK, March 27.—A cable to The Tribune from London this morning says:
The political situation continues to be one of utmost gravity. The resignation of Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the general staff, makes the army still the centre of interest, but the temper of the Liberal radical and Labor supporters of the government makes the position of the King one which is in reality of more vital interest, thought slightly removed from the actual storm centre, while the fate of the government itself also hangs in the balance.
It is perfectly plain that Col. Seely inserted in the Gough letter, as a result of his conference with the king, the paragraphs repudiated by the government, for Col. Seely inserted the paragraphs immediately after his return from Buckingham Palace and it is equally plain that Seely took the blame to save the King, of whom such violent attacks have already been made.
Premier Asquith's repudiation brought a brief semblance of order into army situation, but the resignation of Sir John French yesterday, though on the grounds that he put his name to a paper since disavowed by the government, has renewed the rebellious temper of the officers at the Curragh Camp and given them reason to believe they have backing from the "higher quarters."
There were reports in Dublin last night that the Curragh officers are planning to resign again, while numbers of all kinds are flying about here concerning the prospects of resignation. Ten general officers called at the war office yesterday

C.P.R. Purchase Of M.C.R. Affects City

The rumor has again cropped up of the purchase of the Michigan Central line in Canada, which runs from Ft.
Erie to Windsor, this giving that road 200 miles of territory through the most fertile part of the province. As is well known, the T., H. & B. railway through Brantford is a feeder of the M.C.R. and C.P.R., and the purchase of the M.C.R. by the last-named road may have considerable bearing on the railway situation from a Brantford standpoint. With the connection between the Lake Erie & Northern established as it is with the C.P.R., this city would have access at Waterford with a trunk line over two roads out of this city, and also access with the C.P.R. main line at Galt.
The despatch from Toronto referring to the matter says "the C.P.R. has acquired an important portion of a leading United States railway."

Want Holiday For Demonstration

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
MONTREAL, March 27.—A cable to the Gazette from London says:
A special appeal has been issued by a prominent stockbroker to members of the Stock Exchange, Lloyd's, the Corn Exchange, clerks generally and all city men, to abandon their business, sports and other engagements on Saturday afternoon, April 4, to assist in a proposed demonstration at Hyde Park against Home Rule.

KRAFCHENKO HAD LOTS OF NERVE

Story of His Escape From Plum Coulee is Told
To-day.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
MORDEEN, Man., March 27.—William Dyck's sensational story of his trip with the alleged Plum Coulee bandit immediately following the robbery and murder at the bank in that town on December 3, was continued under direct examination when the trial of Jack Krafschenko was resumed.
Dyck took up his story at the point where he left off at the adjournment yesterday, when his passenger, whom he said positively was Krafschenko, discovered he had lost a watch. Krafschenko then, he said, told him a story
he was to tell on his return to Plum Coulee, which was to the effect that he had taken two passengers. Krafschenko, said Dyck, told him that if "he didn't do what was right, if he didn't get him, some of his friends would." His passenger, continued Dyck, emptied Dyck if he wanted the bag. Dyck refused it, whereupon the other took a handful of coin and put it into one of Dyck's overcoat pocket-ets and then he threw the bag under the seat, remarking that stuff was too heavy. He kept his revolver in his hand all the time.

A GOOD REPORT

First Inspection of the New Brant Sanatorium Made by Miss MacMurphy.

The report of Dr. Helen Mac-Murphy after a recent visit of inspection of the Brant Sanatorium, is considered by the trustees as a splendid tribute to the institution and its operation in this city. Miss MacMurphy made some minor recommendations, which had been previously contents plated, and which are now being carried out, but she also made comment on what she considered the excellent conduct of affairs at the hospital. The location was described as beautiful and the surroundings excellent. There were four women and two men present at time of inspection. The food served is of excellent quality and the service is good. The staff consists of one surgeon, one assistant, two maids, a porter and a laundress. Outdoor shacks for the accommodation of more patients are in process of erection. The trustees after the result of the official inspection for the first year, believe that an excellent augury of success is contained in the inspector's report.

THE GENERALS ARE OBDURATE IN RESIGNING

British Government is Said to be Coaxing Them to Reconsider.

Rebuff They Received
Was the Cause of Their Quitting Office.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
LONDON, March 27.—Field Marshall Sir John French, who has tendered his resignation as head of the British Army, was called into the meeting of the cabinet ministers today to discuss his position with them.
At noon it was announced that the statement on the subject which Premier Asquith had promised to give to the House of Commons had been postponed until 5 o'clock this afternoon.
The session of the cabinet ministers was called at about ten o'clock and they were still together at half past twelve. It was deduced from this protracted meeting that they found difficulty in repairing the rift in the army organization, caused by the blow given to it by the resignations of Sir John French, chief of the general staff and Lieutenant-General Sir John Spencer Ewart, adjutant-general of the forces. The two generals to-day seemed determined not to withdraw their resignations as they considered they had received a rebuff by the government's repudiation of the guarantees they had promised to Brigadier-General Gough and the other officers of the Third Cavalry brigade at the Curragh, who had been told they would not be called on to fight the Ulster Unionists.

No solution of the difficult problems confronting the British Government was reached at the cabinet council held in the forenoon and it was announced that another meeting of the ministers would discuss the matter before Premier Asquith made his appearance in the House of Commons. The lobbies of the houses of parliament were crowded and all kinds of rumors of possible developments were in circulation.

MONTREAL FIRES
THE GRAFTERS OUT OF THE CITY HALL

All Kinds of Money in Civic Land Expropriations Was Received.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]
MONTREAL, March 27.—J. H.
Prenoveau and J. O. E. Payette, city assessors, found guilty by Judge Fortin, appointed by the city to inquire into charges of malversation against city officials in connection with civic land expropriations and Etienne Pelland a city engineer, denounced by the judge for "grave infidelity" against the municipal corporation, has been dismissed by the board of control, while J. H. Charette and C. Duque, also guilty of irregularities in connection with city land purchases, have been censured. Prenoveau was, according to the report of the judge, associated with Charles Larin, a contractor in selling land to the city and agreed to take half the profits. Larin paid a city assessor $5,000. Payette received $300 for giving advance information as to the city's intentions, while Pelland allowed a third party to profitably intervene in the purchase of land for a city sewage farm, taking what he called a loan of $5-500 from this party.

A gravity clock which winds itself as it moves by its own weight down standards is a novelty, all the attention which it requires being to lift it to the top every eight days.

Duke of Connaught

Mayor Spence received a wire from Ottawa this morning to the effect that the Government will be pleased to pay a visit to Brantford on Saturday, May 16th. The Duke is making cities. The Mayor will take the matter up with the aldermen at once.

Special Edition Will Be Issued on Friday Next—Watch
For It.

Subscribers of the Courier as well as progressive retail merchants will no doubt remember with a certain amount of interest and pride the Autumn fashion number of this paper, issued last September.
Next Friday the Spring fashion number of the Courier will be issued and every man and woman who desires to know what fashion decrees will read it with interest. It will be in three sections, one section larger than the Fall fashion edition, and there will be no increase in price.
The Daily Courier is always one cent. Also there will be no increase in rates to contract advertisers, and five retailers should send in their copy at once. No advertising matter for the 16 special pages will be accepted later than on Wednesday at 5 o'clock.

New Sewer Started.
A new sewer will be started to-dayday or to-morrow on Edin street between West Hill and Spring Sts.

Awarded Contract.
John McGraw and Son, of this city, have been awarded the contract for extensive additions to the Church of the Sacred Heart, Paris.

Baseball at Drill Hall.
E company will play Brantford Old Stars to-night at baseball—the in Drill Hall. The Stars are anxious to have a go at the company as they fancy their chances, but they will probably receive their quietus.

Want New Hydrant.
Acting under the advice of several insurance inspectors, Stedman Bros. have written to the Fire and Light committee asking that a new hydrant be placed at the corner of Grey and George streets for further fire protection of their factory.

No Pumps Here.
John Morrison, City Clerk of Woodstock, in a letter to City Clerk Leonard asks as to whether this city permits gasoline pumps to be placed on the curb in front of garages, etc., with a gasoline tank buried in the ground. The Woodstock City Council, after considering the advisability of allowing this to be done.

Goes to Grimsby.
Assistant District Representative of Agriculture, Clark, who has been working in Brant county for some time past, has been appointed district representative for Grimsby, and will leave for that place shortly. He was well known throughout the county, having done excellent work, and Mr. Schuyler and the county have been deprived of the services of a valuable man in his departure.

Would Not Give Up Picture.
It is not necessary for a picture to be a Rubens or a Van Dyck before its possession is coveted, in Brantford city. At the recent auction of the goods and chattels of the late Mr. McMeans, a second hand dealer, purchased a picture which was subsequently taken by L. E. Jones from the barrow upon which the dealer had placed it. He claimed it for his own and would not deliver the piece of art to its rightful owner. Maintaining that it was his Jones would not deliver and the police had to be resorted to and he will appear at the court tomorrow charged with the theft.

Sydenham Bowling Club.
The Sydenham St. Bowling Club at their annual meeting on Tuesday elected the following officers: President, Mr. John Laing; vice-president, Mr. Richard Gowman; secretary, Mr. Wilfred Scruton; treasurer, Mr. James Osborne. Eight slips were also elected. It was decided to use hydro-electric power for lighting and a groundsman was appointed. The improvements made last fall have been paid for through subscriptions largely secured by Wilfred Scruton, and the clubs will begin the season in fine shape financially. Arrangements were made whereby the club would get a good start and the year promises to be one of exceptional pleasure for the bowlers on the Hill.

Helps Local Institution.
In answer to the numerous deputations of the year appears an industrial school bill introduced in the Legislature to equalize the maintenance cost of schools between the town and the municipalities interested. From this time for each child taken in charge the municipality will give 30 cents per day, that being also the government contribution. An amendment to the present act governing Sanatorium for consumptives changes the rate paid for maintenance of indigent patients from 70 cents to $1 per day. The increase in rates will be welcomed by the trustees of the Brant Sanatorium.

Favors Fire Marshall.
Fire Chief Lewis is highly pleased with the decision of the legislature to establish a provincial fire department to investigate all suspicious fires and take such steps as will tend to prevent the great fire waste. "It's all right," said the chief, "and one of the best pieces of legislation ever enacted in Canada. The Ontario Association of Fire Chiefs, has been fighting for the creation of such a department for the past four or five years, and I am well pleased that something is going to be done. We will do away with a lot of nonsense with which we now have to contend and will be able to cope with some of the gentlemen who now get away with it, through the investigation that will be made by the department of all questionable fires."

Got Good Reception.
Says the Montreal Daily Mail of yesterday: There could be no further proof of the undying interest and undiminished admiration for the great achievements and heroic deaths of some of the Scott Antarctic party than the attendance at the Canadian Club luncheon to Commander Evans yesterday. For once the large Rose room of the Windsor Hotel was of insufficient capacity for the members who attended, large numbers of whom were content to stand at all points within hearing. A practice that is almost law was broken when, at the conclusion of the luncheon, members stood and cheered this one, who was so well in touch with the deeds in the Antarctic that are an Empire's boast. Commander Evans, whilst in Montreal, had fifty Boy Scouts to act as guard of honour,

At a late hour the gathering broke up and wended their way home after voting their host and hostess many thanks for the pleasant evening enjoyed.

The residence of Mr. James D. Ansell, Erie Avenue, last evening was the rendezvous of a delightful and exciting Chequer Tournament, staged by Class No. 13, Immanuel Baptist Church. The final brought together Messrs. Henry Rancier and Arnold Smith, and resulted in a draw. The usual method of deciding was then brought into requisition and the verdict given to Mr. Smith. Mr. Rancier taking second prize. The Booby prize was also hotly contested, but was easily won by Mr. Webster. The consolation contest held in connection with above was annexed by Mr. Percy Hainley. Dainty refreshments were then served and following this event, Mrs. Davis presented the prizes. Mr. Smith receiving the brass jardiniere and stand, first prize, responded to call for a speech, and remarked how pleasantly and smoothly

Laid at Rest
Reginald Rowe.
Many sympathizing friends were present yesterday to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of the late Reginald Rowe whose funeral took place from the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rowe, 224 Park Avenue. Impressive services were conducted by Adjutant Hargrove, assisted by Rev. Mr. Bowyer. The pall bearers were Messrs W. Hall, J. Bond, J. Fitness, H. Fitness, E. Peirce, J. Aikens. The floral tributes were very beautiful, and included the following: Pi-low, parents, brothers and sisters; wreaths, wife and children, grandma, aunt and cousin, A. O. F.; sprays, steel range dept., Buck's Stove Works, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cunningham, Calvary Baptist senior Baracca class, Calvary Baptist S. S., Bon Marche Grocery, Mrs. Ritchie and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dawson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Aikens and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Williams, Calvary Baptist junior Baracca class, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Wakely, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Dixon and Mrs. C. Bearcroft.

Three Montreal officials were dismissed by the Board of Control as a result of Judge Fortin's findings in the civic land inquiry.

The Tournament had taken place. The evening closed with the passing of a vote of thanks to Mesdames Davis and Ansell these ladies being responsible for the catering.

TO BE HIGH COMMISSIONER
VICTORIA, B.C., March 27.—A statement made by a prominent politician is that there is no doubt that Sir Richard McBride can have the high commissionership of Canada for the asking. In fact the party that McBride has in his pocket, and has had for some time. He added significantly that Sir Richard had attended his last session of the provincial legislature.

NEW STRENGTH IN THE SPRING

Nature Needs Aid in Making New Health Giving Blood.

In the spring the system needs a tonic. To be healthy you must have new blood just as the trees must have new sap to renew their vitality. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism or the sharp, stabbing pains of neuralgia. Often there are disgusting pimples or eruptions on the skin. In other cases there is merely a feeling of tiredness and a variable appetite. Any of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has lessened your vitality. What you need in spring is a tonic medicine to put you right, and in all the world of medicine there is no tonic equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. This new blood drives out the seeds of disease and makes easily tried men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Geo. Burns, Albany P.E.I., writes: "I was terribly run down and so weak that I could hardly drag myself around. I was so nervous that I was afraid to walk across the floor for fear I would fall. Our family doctor treated me but without success and finally I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Gradually they brought me back to good health and now I am as well as ever I was and have every confidence in recommending these Pills to other sufferers."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A world wide wireless appeal in behalf of the blind will be sent by the King from London Saturday night.

WIDOWS LOST THEIR ACTIONS IN SUIT FOR DAMAGES

An Echo of the Fatal Fire in Chatham Newspaper Plant.

TORONTO, March 27.—Sir Genholm Falconbridge, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, to-day gave judgment at Osgoode Hall in two cases of exceptional interest, arising from the destruction by fire on the night of May 8th last of the office of The Chatham Planet and the death of two employees. His lordship has dismissed the actions brought by each of the widows for $10,000 damages. The plaintiffs were Mrs. Lena McDougall, widow of Alexander McDougall, superintendent of the composing and Elizabeth Birch, widow of Robert J. Birch, a typesetter operator. McDougall had been for 36 years in the employ of The Planet and Birch had been in the same office for 30 years.

The claim is based on the allegation that the place was of flimsy construction and not fitted for the use to which it was put and that it was not supplied with fire escapes.

Chief Justice Falconbridge says: "I am of the opinion that the casual connection between the alleged negligence or breach of duty of the defendant and the deaths of the plaintiffs' husbands had not been established. The alleged want of fire escape appliances and non-compliance with the provisions of the factory, shop and office building act is not proved to have been the cause of their deaths. Action dismissed with costs if exacted."

A Concert Held At the Citadel

A concert, promoted by the ladies of Zion Church, their was held in the Salvation Army Citadel last night and proved a great success. The artists were excellent and the audience was correspondingly appreciative. Encores were the rule of the evening.

A selection by the entire company, "O Canada," opened the proceedings, which Miss Marian Tobias delighted in with a piano solo. Miss Bates, in excellent voice, rendered "Hold thou my Hand." A recitation by Miss Gould, "He was Scotch and So was I," was superb, and called forth very hearty approval. "There's a Land," played a very good performance.

A duet by Mrs. Bates and Miss Anguish was greatly appreciated, and Master Errol Gamble, the popular young violinist, gave another exhibition of his talent with two selections, The Bohemian Girl and Spanish Dance. Miss Anguish showed her splendid range when she contributed the "Shepherd of the Fold," and the old Scottish song, "My Ain Folk."

"The White Rose," a recitation by Miss Gould was exceptionally good. Mrs. Bates sang sweet and melodiously, "A Perfect Day" and one of the finest vocal concert heard in Brantford closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

City News Items.

Brigadier to Visit City.
Brigadier Hargraves of Toronto, will visit Brantford on Saturday and Sunday. He will be entertained by Adjutant Hargrove at the Salvation Army Citadel where he will conduct services during his stay.

River is Rising.
Since seven o'clock this morning, the river has risen about two feet and now about four feet of water covers the Newport Road. Old barrels and drift wood, but no ice at present, has come down. The ice at Wilkes' dam is expected to break this afternoon.

Sidewalk Caved In.
Either the water from the river or the rain which has been falling since last night, undermined the sidewalk on the south side of Colborne street at Lorne bridge and caused it to cave in. The drop occurred this morning, and the abutment of Lorne bridge now has a large crack in it caused by the swift current of the river. The water at this point has assumed a great speed, and the mortar between the stone of the bridge has become loosened. No serious results are expected.

English figures credit British shipyards with launching a greater tonnage of new vessels in the last two years than all the rest of the world combined.

A deputation of some two thousand Ontario farmers waited on the Government urging the construction of a system of deep water ways, Hydro radial railways, conservation of water power for the public, and a subsidy of $6,400 per mile for municipal radials.

Free Notices For The Amateurs

In order to promote the grand old game, and to encourage local football enthusiasts, also to give the numerous football readers of the Courier the very latest in what is going among the Brantford clubs, this paper will be pleased from time to time to publish all notices of club meetings and practices free of charge. This, of course, applies to all other amateur sporting organizations. Send them in to the Sporting Editor.

A Parody On City Council

Was Given by the Brotherhood at Brant Ave. Church.

A very successful event was promoted by the junior Brotherhood at the Brant Avenue Church last night, when a splendid evening entertainment was provided. The principal item on the programme was the parody on the city council, which was composed of the junior members of the church. If the city was run under the control of a body such as that composed last night, things in Brantford would hum.

The street railway would be a luxurious service, free of charge, and many other vast improvements of their kind would soon be effected. The police force, however, would be reduced, as there was really no need for a force in the city, which under the Brant council would be model. Various members of the august body were very cleverly portrayed, and all were the subjects of considerable witicism and criticism, from which it is doubtful if they would benefit. Cliff Slemis as the worthy mayor was perhaps some what more athletic than the original and Janitor George Smith was impromptu by Lorne Watson, and the would probably pick up some of the money about kicking up a dust were he to learn of his understudy. All the various parts were taken and played with distinct ability and great merriment was caused. A capable list of performers completed a very good programme and included Miss Hilda Harley, who sang "Under the Rose," and Du'An Quartette rendered some numbers. Mr. Harry Silles whose reading was excellent; Messrs. Jordan and Diamond who played a splendid duet on the piano, and Miss Hicks who presented with a bouquet in appreciation of her recitations.

Mr. E. A. Hughes, the genial chairman of the evening, proved an excellent raconteur, and his little amusing stories created a great deal of amusement. The evening was concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

A German patent has been issued for a process for producing a sand useful in building operations by sprinkling molten furnace slag with a salt solution.

ASQUITH HAS BLUNDERED.

Sir Robert Perks, a well-known engineer, and for many years a Liberal member of the British House, is on a visit to New York, and in an interview expressed himself very freely with reference to the Home Rule situation. He voted for Gladstone's scheme in 1892, but thinks that Asquith has "woefully mishandled the Ulster situation." Sir Robert points out that in the main the Asquith administration receives the support of the Nonconformists of Great Britain, and that by the ill-advised course of the Government that has become lost. He added:

"There is only one solution of the trouble, in my opinion, and that is to allow Ulster to remain an independent province, associated with Great Britain as she is to-day, and represented in the British Parliament. If Mr. Redmond proves to be right, and the new Parliament of Dublin shows by its administration that it is tolerant and successful, and the danger which the Protestants of Ulster fear proves to be only imaginary, then in the years to come the province of Ulster can always come into the Irish sphere of Government, but at present it would be as impossible to coerce Ulster into a union with the other provinces of Ireland as it would be to coerce the Catholic Province of Quebec to unite with the Protestant Province of Ontario in one scheme of local Government."

THE BRITISH ARMY.

It begins to look as if one of the many results of the Home Rule crisis in the Old Land might involve a big change with regard to the army. It is only the part of frankness to say that the officers have hitherto been recruited practically altogether from what is termed the "aristocracy." It is true that the old time system of purchase has been abolished, but on the other hand it still for the most part requires wealth to maintain mess obligations. It is equally true that men from the ranks have the chance to acquire Commissions, "rankers" they are termed, but their lot is far from a happy one, and as for their wives and children! Well, anyone who has ever lived in a garrison town is fully aware of the fact that the "military set" is the most exclusive thing of the kind in the entire world. General Macdonald or 'Fighting Mac' as he was generally termed was a "ranker" and if report speaks truly, it was partly the constant humiliations to which he was subjected that finally led him to take his own life. This is not to say that British officers are not a fine class of men, fearless to the extent of rashness, but that they cling to the shibboleth of caste with often cruel tenacity. One of the world's greatest generals, perhaps the greatest, was Napoleon and it is well known that with one exception, all of his famous Marshals came from lowly spheres. The story is told of one of them, that at a public dinner, he was seated next to a young man of title, who kept boasting of his ancestors. The Marshal stood it for some time when he remarked in effect "Young man, look at me, I don't have to depend upon any ancestry, but am starting one of my own."

Ney was a non-commissioned officer when he commenced to get promotion. Soult was a private in a cavalry regiment and so on. That they all made abundantly good during years of arduous campaigns, the pages of history fully relate. It may be, that in the near future promotion in the British army will become more general, and some present unpleasant features for the "ranker" be eliminated.

BLAIR'S ACTION.

The labored attempt of Hon. Mr. Graham to explain away the damning report with reference to the Transcontinental line recalls the famous speech of the late Hon. A. G. Blair in 1903 when the project was launched and Sir Wilfrid Laurier said "the country can't wait." Mr. Blair had previously resigned as Minister of Railways, and this action he followed up with a denunciatory speech.

Referring to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's explanatory speech, Mr. Blair said: "He (Laurier) did not deny there had not been deliberation, he did not affirm that the government had availed itself of all proper sources of information, and had waited until they had exhausted all the means in their power er to ascertain what the conditions were in the various parts of the country which the road was to traverse.

"He did not tell us the need of jumping headlong into a scheme of this kind. He did not tell us that he had summoned to his assistance the wisest counsel the country afforded; he did not tell us he had sought the assistance of experts in order to know what were the traffic conditions which would make this railway justifiable.

"What does the hon. gentleman mean when he says, 'we cannot wait because time does not wait.' I think, and I say it with all respect to my Right Hon. Friend, that it would have been as correct, if not so poetic, for him to have said, 'We cannot wait because Senator Cox cannot wait.'

Continuing Mr. Blair said in part: "I cannot help feeling that it is a condition of sentimental exaltation that has inspired the hurry and haste with which this measure is pressed forward. I cannot help feeling that it is rather a condition of hysteria than of calm reason and judgment. What foundation is there for the statement that our conditions when this road is built will be any different from what they are to-day? We have already a railway that traverses the continent. We have two railroads which run to N. Brunswick with both of which connection could be made if need be, and we do not pass over American territory, even if restrictions were thought to be applied by the American government.

In dealing with the question, Mr. Blair criticized especially the eastern division duplicating the Intercolonial Railway. The report of the commission, while primarily concerned with the manner in which the line has been constructed, rather than its expediency, does justify fully what Mr. Blair said in regard to the division east of the St. Lawrence.

In part he said: "It has been my first hope and my first desire that the government of the country should take up the question of the Canada Atlantic Railway and acquire it, as they could acquire it, upon reasonable terms. The expenditure of a very moderate amount of money would have connected it with the Intercolonial and you would have then a railway which was running through our own territory, picking up the traffic, just where the people wanted to have it picked up, and which could have given you an outlet and gateway through our own ports."

"I am satisfied that I have done my duty, and I leave the matter in the hands of Parliament, and of the people."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Ty Cobb, the world's greatest baseball player, was called upon to make a speech when he was visiting the House of Representatives in Mississippi. He stammered a few remarks, and no doubt never in his life felt more like making a home run.

The German Crown Prince has got into another row with "Dad," who has cancelled a proposed trip to Africa. Pretty soon this young man should learn to realize just what those fierce moustachios of the Kaiser mean.

Certain Grit papers seem to take great delight in the fact that Hon. George Graham spoke for over seven hours in an attempted defence of the Transcontinental Railway scandal. That only goes to show that the Hon. George had a bad case, and that he tried to conceal the fact in a mass of verbiage. The most effective orations, as a rule, are short, such as Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, and phrases often do the entire business, witness Caesar's "I came, I saw, I conquered," and D'Israeli's "Peace with honor," after his return with Salisbury from the Berlin conference. However, although a genial and bright man, Graham cannot exactly be classed with the above trio.

Other Opinions

What Montreal Needs.

Brockville Times: That increased hospital accommodation is one of the pressing needs of Montreal is evident from the statement in The Daily Mail of Saturday that ten people per day have been turned away from the Montreal General Hospital all during the winter.—Montreal Mail. Judging from the number of gunmen and the amount of killing in progress in Montreal what that city needs is more cemetery accommodation.

Orange Organ Is Angry.

Orange Sentinel: For the first time in the history of Canada, a Frenchman has been appointed King's Printer. This is a serious matter, because the French never let go of an office every filled by a member of their race, and a man in this position can do much to exalt French as an official language. We cannot help feeling that the never-ending series of concessions to the French race is not only poor patriotism, but foolish partisanship. The people will not stand for it.

Tarzan of The Apes

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright, 1912, by the Frank A. Munsey Company.

Slowly the tiger was emerging from the window. At last his shoulders were out.

And then Clayton saw a thing done which not even the eternal heavens had ever seen before. Tarzan, racking his brains for some means to cope single handed with the infuriated beast, had suddenly recalled his battle with Terkoz, and as the great shoulders came clear of the window, so that the tiger hung upon the sill only by his fore paws, Tarzan suddenly released his hold upon the brute.

With incredible swiftness he launched himself full upon Sabor's back, his strong young arms seeking and gaining a full nelson upon the beast, as he had learned it that other day during his bloody victory over Terkoz.

With a shriek the tiger turned completely over upon his back, falling full upon his enemy. The black haired giant only closed tighter his hold.

Pawing and tearing at earth and air, Sabor rolled and threw himself this way and that in an effort to dislodge his antagonist. Always tighter and tighter drew the iron bands that were forcing his head lower and lower upon his white breast.

Higher and higher crept the steel forearms of the ape man about the back of Sabor's neck. Weaker and weaker became the tiger's efforts.

At last Clayton saw the immense muscles of Tarzan's shoulders and biceps leap into corded knots. There was a long sustained and supreme effort on the ape man's part—and the vertebrae of Sabor's neck parted with a sharp snap.

In an instant Tarzan was upon his feet, and for the second time that day Clayton heard the bull ape's savage roar of victory, and then he heard Jane Porter's agonized cry: "Ceel!—Mr. Clayton! Oh, what is it? What is it?"

Running quickly to the cabin door, Clayton called out that all was right and bade her open. As quickly as she could she raised the great bar and fairly dragged Clayton within.

"What was that awful noise?" she whispered, shrinking close to him. "It was the cry of the lion from the throat of the man who has just saved your life, Miss Porter. Well, I will fetch him that you may thank him!"

The frightened girl would not be left alone, so she accompanied Clayton to the side of the cabin where lay the dead body of the tiger.

Tarzan of the apes was gone. Clayton called several times, but there was no reply, and so the two returned to the greater safety of the interior.

"What a frightful sound!" cried Jane Porter. "Don't tell me that a human being made it!"

"But it did, Miss Porter," replied Clayton, "for at least it was not a human throat that uttered a cry of that kind."

And he told her of his experiences with this creature—of how twice the wild man had saved his life, of his wondrous strength and agility and bravery, of the brown skin and the handsome face.

"I cannot make it out at all," he concluded. "At first I thought he might be Tarzan of the apes. But he neither speaks nor understands English, so that theory is untenable."

"Well, whatever he may be," cried the girl, "we owe him our lives. May heaven bless him and keep him in safety in his jungle!"

"Amen," said Clayton fervently. "Fo' de good Lawd's sake, ain' Ah daid?"

The two turned to see Esmeralda sitting upright upon the floor, her great eyes rolling from side to side, as though she could not believe their testimony as to her whereabouts.

CHAPTER XI.

"Most Remarkable," SEVERAL miles south of the cabin, upon a strip of sandy beach, stood two old men arguing.

Before them stretched the broad Atlantic, at their backs the dark continent; close around them loomed the impenetrable blackness of the jungle. Savage beasts roared and growled. Noises, hideous and weird, assailed their ears. They had wandered miles in search of their camp, but always in the wrong direction. They were hopelessly lost.

Samuel T. Philander was speaking. "But, my dear professor," he was saying, "I still maintain that but for the victories of Ferdinand and Isabella over the fifteenth century Moors in Spain the world would be today a thousand years in advance of where we now find ourselves. But, bless me, professor, there seems to be some one approaching."

Professor Archimedes Q. Porter turned to the jungle in the direction indicated by the nearsighted Mr. Philander.

"But, tut, Mr. Philander!" he chided. "How often must I urge you to seek after absolute concentration of your mental faculties? And now I find you guilty of a most flagrant breach of courtesy in interrupting my discourse to call attention to a mere quadruped of the genus fells. As I was saying, Mr.—"

"Heavens, professor, a lion!" cried Mr. Philander, straining his weak eyes toward the dim figure outlined against the dark tropical underbrush.

"Yes, yes, Mr. Philander. If you insist upon emp'—" course, a 'lion.' But, as I was saying, 'Bless me, professor,' again interrupted Mr. Philander, 'permit me to suggest that we postpone discussion of Moors until we may attain the ennobling view of you fells carnivora which distance proverbially is credited with lending!'

In the meantime the lion had approached with quiet dignity to within ten paces of the two men, where he stood curiously watching them.

"Most reprehensible, most reprehensible!" exclaimed Professor Porter, with a faint trace of irritation in his voice.

"Never, Mr. Philander, never before in my life have I known one of these animals to be permitted to roam at large from its cage. I shall most certainly report this most outrageous breach of ethics to the directors of the zoological garden."

"Quite right, professor," agreed Mr. Philander, "and the sooner it is done the better. Let us start now."

Seizing the professor by the arm, Mr. Philander set off in the direction that would put the greatest distance between themselves and the lion.

They had proceeded but a short distance when a backward glance revealed that the lion was following them. Mr. Philander tightened his grip upon the professor and increased his speed.

"As I was saying, Mr. Philander," repeated Professor Porter,

THE TOWN ROW.

We had an ancient, vicious fray, at Punktown-on-the-Heights, and people raised Old Ned by day, and filled with strife the nights. I helped to paint the village red, and fought out faction's foes; one day I had a busted head, the next a ruined nose; and oft my eyes were in a sling, and life was so intense I couldn't smile or dance or sing for twenty-seven cents. One day I sat me down to rest, a poultice on my face, and then there came a stranger guest, a man of wondrous grace. "I've watched you scrapping far and near, to put your foes so rout, and now," he said, "I'd like to hear what all the row's about."

"Seizing the professor by the arm, Mr. Philander set off in the direction that would put the greatest distance between themselves and the lion. They had proceeded but a short distance when a backward glance revealed that the lion was following them. Mr. Philander tightened his grip upon the professor and increased his speed. "As I was saying, Mr. Philander," repeated Professor Porter,

"As I was saying, Mr. Philander," repeated Professor Porter,

White Dove whizz!" And then he went upon my neck, and I shed tears on his. We thus might squelch most village rows and shake our load of care; but we kept wrangling till the cows came home, their tails in air. WALT MASON.

RETAIL GROCERS DEMANDS TORONTO, March 27.—The Retail Grocers' Association made a canvass of some of the legislature and asked that legislation amending the garnishee law under which they will be able to collect through the courts fifty per cent of a man's wages for a grocery debt. The present law leaves the matter pretty much in the hands of the workman, who, the grocers say, after running an account and being tided over the winter months, goes elsewhere with his ready money.

WAS A HORSE TRAINER.

INGERSOLL, Ont., March 26.—The body of the man found mangled alongside the Grand Trunk tracks a short distance east of here, yesterday morning, was this morning identified as that of Jerry Fitzpatrick, a well-known ex-horse trainer of London, Ontario, where he had lived most of his life and was well known in horse racing circles. How he came to his death remains a mystery, but it is supposed that he was walking on the track when run down by a freight train. Fitzpatrick was about fifty years of age and unmarried.

EVIDENCE OF A BOY THREE YEARS OLD CONVICTS FATHER

Geo. Nelson Fournier Pleads "Guilty" to Perjury After Child Testifies.

WOODSTOCK, March 27.—Heavy sentences were meted out yesterday afternoon by Justice Kelly, presiding at the spring assizes in the North and South Norwich courts, in perjury cases. Five years on a charge of perjury and three years on a charge of theft was the sentence meted out to George Nelson Fournier. Three years on a charge of perjury and two years on a charge of theft, was the judge's order in the case of John Fournier. One year on a charge of theft was the court's decision in the case of Oliver Sherry.

The cases against George Nelson Fournier, John Fournier and Oliver Sherry came to an abrupt ending soon before time for adjournment yesterday afternoon, the climax being reached when the prisoners decided to change their plea of "not guilty" to that of "guilty."

The decision to fight no longer came on trial on a charge of perjury. The crown had called several witnesses in an endeavor to prove that the accused had sworn falsely in the county court some weeks ago, in an effort to clear himself on a big stealing charge. As their final witness they called Lewis Fournier, three-year-old son of the prisoner. Up to the time his son was called, Fournier senior seemed confident of acquittal. His son's evidence, however, proved to be the strongest link in an already strong chain of evidence against the accused, and it was then decided to change the plea and throw the prisoner upon the mercy of the court.

"There were but two pigs killed, and my father is wrong when he said he killed three," was the evidence of Lewis Fournier. J. G. Wallace, K.C., acting for the defense did his best to shake the testimony of the boy, but he would not change his evidence. Mr. Wallace had a hurried conversation with the prisoner, and then informed the court that Fournier would plead "guilty."

As he was taken to jail, John Fournier, another son, was placed in the dock. To the charge that he had also pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing 20 bushels of wheat, a similar plea was made. Then came Oliver Sherry, a Indian boy of 18. He had no counsel, and in answer to questions of the judge, replied that he did not want one.

"How do you plead to this charge that you stole 20 bushels of wheat?" asked the clerk of the court.

"Yes, I did; I am guilty" replied the Indian.

Crown Prosecutor Gwynn immediately asked for the sentence of the court, and Judge Kelly, after briefly referring to the depositions carried on by the accused in South Norwich Township, imposed the foregoing sentences.

Stole Cheese, He is Deported

Windsor Man Must Come Back to Support His Family.

CINCINNATI, O., March 27.—Just because he stole a cheese in Montreal, Oscar Kessler, a glass worker of this city, is awaiting deportation at Windsor, Ontario, as an undesirable citizen, and will soon be brought here to answer a charge of non-support of his family. Two years ago Kessler committed to officials of the Ohio Humane society that her husband did not support her.

Kessler heard of her action and escaped to Canada and wrote boasting letters to the humane society officials that he was outside of their jurisdiction. High Canadian officials were communicated with but nothing could be done with Kessler until he stole the cheese and was arrested and convicted and then declared an undesirable citizen.

LENTEEN SERVICE AT GRACE CHURCH

Rev. F. Brewin Delivered an Inspiring Address to a Large Audience Last Evening.

At Grace church last night the Rev. T. Brewin, M.A., delivered a mid-Lenten address. The text was from Isaiah, "Mine eyes shall see Thee writ in this book." Speaking, he said, "We are in the season of Lent. How are we to spend this period—by fasting, prayer and alms giving. Day by day the Father hears unto his children and their souls, if they earnestly strive, will know that He has heard and is near. God is a giver; he gives all we value, homes, friends, labor, the faculties of thought and of action. What do we give? Do we try to realize Him, and visualize his majesty as we can that of the king who is ruler over these dominions. Sometimes we do; but to see him rightly we must see Him in his beauty as "King of Kings." To the eyes of those that try to follow, there will come the spectacle of the Christ in the beauty and full tide of his imperial monarchy. They shall see Him reviled, beaten, crucified, but triumphant and supreme above his pain. Yes, that is the spectacle you who have eyes to see can see for ourselves, but for the truth you must wait; wait till the graves give up their dead and the multitudes of those who have gone down to the sea in Gods and never returned, rise and go before the Throne of Grace—they shall see He in his beauty, real and in the image we have grown to love.

Life's humiliations and bitter sorrows make us alive to Him; if for these sorrows we served Him with a faithful heart, they raise in us the spirit of the Cross. So will it that you shall see: "in his love, live and suffer forgiving in his name and bring to your world around, Christ whose teachings day by day are becoming the true standards of human life.

GRAND RIVER IS NOW ONE FOOT HIGHER

Mild Weather and Rain Will Clear Ice Out of River Very Quickly.

Following yesterday's rains, which continued last night and to-day, the Grand river rose about one foot during the night and as a result the ice in Kerby channel is all cleared away and floated down the river.

As yet the ice at Wilkes' dam has not yet broken up, but prospects are that a break will come inside of 24 hours. The ice at Galt is also as yet intact, but may break at any time.

The river has risen to such a height that the ice slips over the dam at Lorne bridge without any difficulty.

At present the prospects are that the ice will go away this year without doing any damage along the river and with the weather continuing mild, the river will in all probability be clear by Sunday.

UNIVERSITY COURSE FOR CONVICTS.

Prison Classes at Folsom Penitentiary Are Visited Once a Week by an Instructor.

FOLSOM, Cal., Mar. 27.—Inmates of Folsom penitentiary take kindly to the university extension course of the University of California, says a report of Warden J. J. Smith to Governor Johnson.

The report covers prison improvements of the last two years, made possible largely through legislative appropriations.

The prisoners, it is reported, specialize in a large variety of subjects offered by the extension courses, and their efforts are aided by weekly visits from a university lecturer, who holds classes in the prison.

Entire segregation of tubercular prisoners and those suffering from other infectious diseases is now possible at the institution for the first time in its history, according to Warden Smith, and a complete ventilating system sends pure air through every cell.

The prison farm of 300 acres is now ready to produce all the vegetables for the prisoners' mess, and the convicts also will grow their own tobacco.

The new cellhouses, to cost $800,000, are nearing completion.

With the City Police

A picture which was purchased by Mr. Grady at the sale of the late Andrew McMeans' effects, caused quite a case at the police court this morning. There was no special merit in the picture, it being an ordinary colored print with a pretty gilt frame. L. E. Jones, of 240 Darling Street, had seen the picture at the sale and mentioned the fact that he would like to have the print. It was subsequently missed and found in a barn about a block away from the scene of the sale on Dalhousie St. Mr. Grady then asked Jones to return it to him as he suspected that he had taken it. Jones denied taking it, and said he had never been near the scene of the robbery when it occurred.

The Evidence. A young man who was commissioned to take the articles purchased by Mr. Grady away from the sale,

Having "No Place to Spoon" Thousands Now Stay Single, Says New York Clergyman

There are 300,000 unmarried men and 450,000 unmarried women in New York city. Most of these don't seem to intend to get married, according to the Rev. D. George R. Van De Water, who considers this a most unfortunate state of affairs. In a sermon which he preached recently in St. Andrew's Episcopal church he declared that the lack of opportunity for members of the opposite sex to meet one another socially is largely responsible for this condition of things, and he suggested that, since social centres are not otherwise provided in sufficient number to bring young persons together and set them on the road to matrimony, it might be to the advantage of future generations to provide centres where, under proper supervision, young men and young women who are eligible for marriage might meet.

"The apartments in which most families live in New York," said Mr. Van De Water, "are so small that there is absolutely no place for the young members of the family to do their courting unless they sit on the kitchen range. Now that they are introducing kitchenettes instead of kitchens into the apartments not even the range will be left. The apartments are going up in greater and greater numbers and, on the other hand, there were less than a hundred houses built in New York last year. This means that there is less an less opportunity for social life in the home. Young women cannot entertain in their homes, there is no place for social life, no place to receive their callers, apart from the rest of the family.

"Another reason why fewer and fewer young men and women are marrying is that many young women now are engaged in self-supporting labors outside of the home labors which leave them exhausted at the end of the day so that they have not enough strength to seek the social life that will afford them opportunities to marry. In their hearts they know that marriage is the goal to which they should look forward, but the economic struggle leaves them neither time nor strength to travel toward this goal.

"There are also in the City of New York great numbers of young men and women who come here as strangers, with no means of meeting attractive young persons of the opposite sex in the right environment and where there is proper supervision. Because we have chosen to disregard the fact that of bringing these young persons together so that they will marry is of basic importance to the State, we have made no provision for affording them any social life, at least the provision has been altogether inadequate. In short, everything in New York is combining against the happy married life which is absolutely necessary if happy and healthy children are to be brought into the world. The children are fewer and fewer, which means that the very foundation of the State is attacked.

"The churches of course, should give every possible opportunity for young men and women to have the pleasure of one another's society. Where is a better place to fall in love than the house of God? I would like to see every room in my church filled every night with young persons happily enjoying one another's companionship, falling in love, getting engaged, and preparing for the happy homes of the future."

SALARIES PAID THE CABINETS OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Claim Made That Canadian Ministers Are Not Sufficiently Remunerated

The current number of the Canada-West India Magazine (Montreal) contains an interesting article on Canadian ministers salaries. It recalls the fact that the Prime Minister receives but $12,000 a year, and his colleagues in the cabinet but $7,000, an states that in a country where high salaries are the rule, it may seem surprising that the high offices of state should carry with them such meagre returns. The truth of the matter is, that these salaries were fixed a great many years ago, and not only have not been altered to coincide with the huge increases which have taken place in the general salaries and wages of the country, but also have not been increased to make allowance for the rise in living costs which has taken place in that time, or to compensate for the increased demands in personal expenditure which are now made upon public men.

The Canada-West India Magazine goes on to assert that as the Canadian ministers salaries are fixed at present, it is safe to assert that there are even hundreds of men in charge of even the comparatively mediocre commercial institutions of the country whose remuneration equals that paid by Canadians to their Prime Minister pale into relative insignificance. Great honor is, of course, attached to a Canadian cabinet position, but the fairness of compelling men because of their great patriotism or ability in public walks of life to accept salaries far lower than could be earned in commercial spheres—or in other words to take part payment in such an uncouthly (to the people) thing as honor—is to be questioned. Specially would this seem to be the case where the men fill these positions are sufficiently luckless to possess little or no private fortune. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden are instances among those who have held the post of Canada's chief executive who possess little or no private means of their own.

The article then inquires into the way the other British dominions treat their ministers, and finds ample material for its statement that the pay of the other Dominions treat their ministers much more liberally than Canadians do. Mr. Botha, for instance is paid a salary of $20,000 a year as head of the government of South Africa, while each of his colleagues receive $15,000, or double what Canadian ministers receive. The hard pressed British people pay their ministers $25,000 a year, which is about eight times as much as Canadian ministers receive, if the difference in general wages and living costs is taken into consideration. Even little New Zealand pays her Prime Minister $6,000, and her other ministers $5,000, excepting the minister of Railways, who receives $6,500. So that considerable levelling up is necessary, the article concludes, if Canadian ministers are to be paid in like proportion to their colleagues in other of the British Dominions.

Expects to Cover Thirty Miles a Day on Foot and Has Bought Three Pairs of Stout Shoes.

MADISON, Wis., March 24.—A 2,000-mile walking tour faces Henry F. Roethe, of Fennimore, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Wisconsin, who is running on a platform of economy and lower taxes.

Mr. Roethe opened his pedestrian campaign March 15. His average walking rate is 30 miles per day, but he will slow down to 25, so as to disburse lower taxes at country stores and tack up placards.

He has bought three pairs of cow hide shoes which he thinks will last throughout his journey.

He plans to visit every county in the state before August 15. Mr. Roethe limited his campaign expenses to $1,000. He figures he can save $600 by walking.

MT. VERNON

(From our own correspondent.)

On Tuesday evening a large number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Newstead, Mt. Vernon, in a surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Philip Newstead and family to spend a pleasant evening and bid good-bye, prior to their removal to Brantford. The evening was spent in music and games of different kinds. After refreshments had been served, Mr. Bert Meadows read an address and Messrs. Peter Lawrence and A. Klott presented Mr. and Mrs. Newstead each with a beautiful upholstered chair.

Mr. and Mrs. Newstead and family: "Farewell" has been well defined as a sound which makes one linger. And never could this come home to us with more convincing force than now, when we have come together to express our feelings of deep affection and regret on the eve of parting with those we have learned to honor and to love.

The friends of Mt. Vernon, on this occasion desiring to convey to you some visible expression of the esteem and affection in which you are held by them, have commissioned me for them and in their name to ask your

A Thrilling Story

Of Revolution, Intervention and War

By FREDERICK STARR, of the University of Chicago

MEXICO AND THE UNITED STATES

Tells not only what is known of the earliest inhabitants of the country, but it also gives a careful, most absorbing account of the course of government and the conditions and modes of life of the people since the invasion and conquest of the Spaniards. It traces the development of railroads, commerce and progress, and the vital part which foreign capitalists and adventurers have played. It portrays the cruel rule of the Spanish viceroys, the terrors of slavery and peonage, and the oppression of the working people. It describes the winning of freedom in Mexico, the Texan revolution, the war with the United States, the French invasion, the empire of Maximilian, the rise of Diaz and the development of the peculiar, complicated conditions that have resulted in the present situation.

A Country Exploited for Benefit of the Few

It is in the revelation of Mexico's intolerable political and economic conditions that the book possesses one of its chief values. The story of the evils which exist in Mexico has never been adequately told. All previous attempts have been suppressed by powerful influences. Now, however, in this volume is given a complete description of the conditions which exist—a description which will arouse a nation and compel reformation.

The Eyes of the Civilized World are upon Mexico.

All nations are to-day watching unhappy Mexico, where bullets are more potent than ballots, and where the force of arms has replaced the consent of the people in maintaining a form of government. The struggle which is being carried on for the establishment of justice and civil rights is of greater moment than merely its effect upon Mexicans.

To be fully informed on this very vital question one must read this book. Over 400 large octavo pages. $3.50. Fine super paper. Over 100 great photographs, maps and portraits. Artistically EDITED bound in fine book cloth.

After the presentation and address, Mr. Newstead made a suitable reply, thanking his friends for their kindness. Speeches were made by some of the men present. A couple of duets were given by Messrs. Dairy and Jack Lawrence which were enjoyed by all. In the early morn the gathering came to a close by singing "God Save the King."

GOVERNMENT WILL STAND FIRM ON THE LANGUAGE ISSUE

Long Debate on Bilingualism in the Ontario Legislature

TORONTO, March 27.—Bilingualism strode rampant on the floor of the Legislature yesterday afternoon and last evening, and the debating of racial and creed matters in general stirred up such a storm of oratory as has not developed since the Government measure of 1911, when Sir James Whitney took his firm stand on the handling of French-Canadian schools.

There was declamation and perivid speeches at times, but there was little bitterness. French-Canadian members of the House, however, united in declaring that they as a race, were prepared to fight for the retention of their language as long as a handful of them remained. Nevertheless they desired to have a thorough English education.

Liberals Attacked.

The Liberal party, however, came in for some rough handling from Napoleon Champagne, of Ottawa, who threw a challenge for an answer on a statement which was supposed to have been made in Opposition headquarters. This was followed by a similar challenge from Hon. Dr. Reaume, who said he would be willing to resign his seat if he could be told of a single French family that wished to have French taught alone.

"I believe this question has never been so near solution as it is to-day," declared the minister, "and I appeal to you, the people of Ontario, to give me an instance of a man or woman who only wants French taught in a school. The rays of light are on the horizon and this problem will be settled in Ontario. Everything will be all right.

He then attacked the leader of the Opposition for sitting this lipped and dumb as an oyster when he had had the opportunity of speaking.

Forbes Godfrey, of West York, came out in flat-footed style to insure the English language being thoroughly taught. It was not a matter of creed, thank God, but of language, and every child should get his training.

W. D. McPherson, Chas. McCree of Sudbury and Henry Morel, of Nipissing, followed up in the same sentiment. At an early hour in the morning Mr Rowell was continuing the debate.

Z. Magueau (Sturgeon Falls) expressing his disapproval of the inequal the bilingual school discussion of equality in the law which allowed the separate school supporter to pay taxes for the support of the public school, while the public school supporter could only be assessed for the maintenance of public schools. He took the same position with regard to municipalities not being allowed to guarantee debentures for separate school boards. The separate school had to pay on a three fifths assessment, while the public school paid on two fifths only—a condition which in the course of 10 or 15 years would operate against the separate schools in such a way that it would be possible to appoint another Dr. Reaume who would be able to make his report without visiting the schools at all, because he would naturally find the French schools poorer in every way, shape and form.

The fact that they had not gone forward was due to their own cowardice and failure to face the question.

"What we want," he declared, "is not a matter of religion, but a matter of qualified inspection. We want a man who can talk both languages fluently to inspect the schools from top to bottom. Let the government appoint a commission in the same way as has been done in Nova Scotia and I can assure you that the result will fully compensate for the trouble."

Damase Racine, of Russell, took a brief share in the discussion by claiming that an injustice was done in the appointment of inspectors who did not understand French.

With a great show of vigor, Napoleon Champagne of East Ottawa, waded into the subject, and from the beginning he kept the House in roars of laughter at his sallies.

"It is not much for me to say that French-Canadians get justice in this country," he began. "I go even farther and say that they get it in Ontario."

Had More Rights.

"Are we aliens or are we British subjects?" he asked. "there is no doubt we are all good fellows when they want to make use of us. But I want to say that our rights are superior to those of the English by the Treaty of Paris."

"Did that apply to Ontario?" called a voice.

"Most decidedly," roared back the Ottawa member.

He took the ground that if the English would abolish French in Ontario the French could also abolish French in Quebec. By pursuing his historical review he showed that Gaelic still was taught in Ireland and Wales and no patriots had questioned their right. Ontario, hot spurs should start their reform over there. If a Frenchman were to talk as freely here as they did there it would be a case of a trial to-day and a hanging to-morrow.

"I am not satisfied with the treatment we have got from this government," he went on. "I have said publicly that if the leader of the Opposition would give us more I was willing to follow him, but I want to know beforehand what I am going to get."

"I want to know from the leader of the Opposition," he demanded, "when he was elected as Mr. McKenna's successor if somebody didn't get up and move a resolution that the French language be abolished in Ontario. I want something definite I am tired of this mawkish, jellybag sentiment."

Dr. Merchant has given us four years, but if he will give us four hours and say so I am prepared to support him."

At 2 o'clock this morning the debate was being continued.

MRS. SAVAGE SET FREE.

Poor Widow of Holloway and Her Children to be Befriended.

Lord Selborne's moving appeal in the House of Lords and other humane influences have resulted in the release of Mrs. Sarah Savage, the poor widow of Holloway who was sentenced at Clerkenwell Police Court to six months' imprisonment for cruelty to her children.

After due consideration, Mr. McKenna exercised the prerogative of mercy, and the poor woman was set free on Tuesday, to be taken care of by Miss Neal, a lady who has interested herself in the pathetic case. The letter in which the Home Secretary conveyed his decision is as follows:

Dear Miss Neal—The Home Secretary has, I am glad to tell you, decided to advise the remission of the remainder of Mrs. Savage's sentence, on condition that "she places herself under your care and control, and that she obeys your directions in the in the treatment and education of her children." The Governor of Holloway Prison has been directed to discharge Mrs. Savage to your care when you call for her to-morrow morning.

Mr. McKenna wishes me to thank you for all the trouble you have taken in this case, and for undertaking the responsibility of guiding and controlling Mrs. Savage's future treatment of the children. He issues that, with the assistance you have secured, you will be able to prevent any possibility of a return to the painful conditions which were disclosed in the police court proceedings—I am, yours very sincerely, Edward Troup.

Evidence was given at the police court that Mrs. Savage kept her children confined to a dark room, that they were in a lamentable condition, that they never went out and, that even their existence was not known to the landlady or the neighbors. Subsequently investigations tended to show that the woman, who was in a state of extreme poverty, had apparently taken this course, not from cruel motives but from a haunting fear that she might be separated from her children if the true facts were known.

Mr. Neal states that Mrs. Savage has "never been out of Islington in her life, never seen the country, even for an hour never seen the sea, never seen the sunshine on meadow and hill side, never picked a wild flower. She has never had a decent pair of shoes, and told me she never had a dry stitch on her when it rained, and had to let her clothes dry on her, as she never had a change."

Boxer's Fatal Collapse.

"The fight was very fair and no foul blows were struck," said J. T. Hells, a boxing referee, at a Plymouth inquest on Private Sampson, of the Royal Marine Light Infantry, who died after collapsing in a boxing match on March 6. Sampson was winning on points and suddenly collapsed in the twelfth round. A verdict of "Death from misadventure" was returned.

ULSTER DAY IN THE OTTAWA HOUSE ON THURSDAY

Minister of Militia Refers to Liberal Slander Headquarters.

OTTAWA, March 26.—There was three-quarters of an hour of intermittent uproar in the House of Commons yesterday. The storm arose over some emphatic comments of Colonel the Hon. Sam Hughes upon Liberal orations delivered on Friday last in his absence from the Chamber, and based entirely upon an unverified cable despatch published in a Montreal newspaper. Yesterday the Minister of Militia, was on hand and handed back the Opposition's strictures with interest, asserting that this was only another of the activities of the "slanderband," engineering from the "boozorium."

Mr. Pardee demanded a retraction of the words and his interposition in the discussion provided an opportunity for members of the Opposition to create a scene, apparently with a view of keeping Col. Hughes from personally denying the truth of despatches in question. That despatch stated that the Yorkshire Post said he had assured the Ulster Orangemen that the government would not prevent the departure of volunteers from Canada to Ireland.

That Poster Again.

At the opening of the House, Hon. H. R. Emerson rose to make further enquiry as to a poster circulated in his own constituency of Westmoreland county by Captain Carey, of E. Company, 74th Regiment calling upon able-bodied men to signify their willingness to enlist in time of war, if ever called upon.

"I am delighted to see my honorable friend take such an interest in this matter," said Colonel Hughes. "I presume he will join the Army Service Corps—that's where the rascals are kept." He went on to point out that according to the rules of the service divisional officers were required to acquaint themselves with the resources of their command and this was the method that Captain Carey had chosen to do so.

Col. Hughes—Well, I didn't dislike him. I just took two out of him and he took one out of me.

Mr. Emmerson—You ought to be in the ambulance corps.

Captain's Tom's Telegram.

Mr. Edmond Proulx (Prescott), then enquired about the report that Captain Tom Wallace of Centre York had sent a cablegram yesterday evening to Sir Edward Carson.

"Hear, hear," shouted Conservative members while Speaker Sproule called Mr. Proulx out of order. The latter then asked whether the Minister of Militia had authorized Captain Wallace to send the telegram. The Speaker again ruled that this cablegram was about something the House was not concerned in and Mr. Proulx then asked whether the Minister of Militia had cognizance of this telegram.

Premier Borden suggested that it be put on the order paper in the regular course and the Speaker also advised that this be done. To this Mr. Proulx consented.

Col. Hughes then rose to reply to a statement he had read in the press, to the effect that Lieutenant Greenwood, M. P., had in the English House of Commons stated the Minister had appointed a new commander-in-chief without consulting the Imperial authorities and that there were now no English officers in the Canadian army. To this Col. Hughes replied that he had appointed no commander-in-chief, but a chief staff officer, and had done this after consulting Sir John French and Lord Seely, though not in any sense bound to do so. Seventy of the best British officers in the Empire were serving in the Canadian forces, and he hoped the day would be long before he would be without their services.

"There is another thing I want to reply to while I am on my feet," said Col. Hughes. "Some of this outfit in the House the other evening brought up 'one of the many slanderbund cables' which they are in the habit of sending around the country from the boozoriums or other—"

Liberal Whip Excited.

Mr. F. F. Pardee, chief Liberal whip, here jumped to his feet on a point of order. "The Minister of Militia has just referred to the matter brought up in the House the other night. When he says it comes from a boozorium or slanderbund—"

"I don't know the correct title," said Colonel Hughes.

"If you don't you ought to," said Mr. Pardee, vehemently, amid cries of "Order." I read the cablegram and I have nothing to take back. The Minister knows, when he says it comes from a slanderbund or boozorium he is making a statement that is absolutely false."

"Sit down!" yelled Government members, and nothing could be heard for some moments.

The Speaker ruled Mr. Pardee out of order in stating that Col Hughes' assertion had been to his own knowledge, false.

"Is boozorium in order?" asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Speaker Sproule ruled that it was not, and said he would have done so immediately had any member risen to point it out.

"I demand a withdrawal of those words," said Mr. Pardee, and there was another uproar.

The Speaker said the remark was unsuitable and should be withdrawn.

"If the Speaker will point out what language was unparliamentary I will withdraw it," said Col. Hughes.

The Speaker—"Boozorium." "I withdraw it," said the Minister of Militia, "but these gentlemen in

Redistribution Bill Brought Down In the Legislature by Mr. Hanna

TORONTO, March 27.—Redistribution will be a subject for discussion before the present session of the Legislature. A bill dealing with the representation of the people in the Legislative assembly was brought in at the opening of yesterday's session by Hon. W. J. Hanna, but its contents were not made known.

On being asked for a word of explanation the provincial secretary stated that the intention was to bring the matter up for attention, and on the second reading of the bill to appoint a committee which would go into the different matters with a view to considering them for ultimate embodiment in legislation.

He could fairly say that the disposition of the government was to make only such changes as were necessary, and where strong reasons existed, all matters would be considered and the minimum of change was the object in view. Of the number of changes he would say nothing nor could he give any idea of how it would be worked out.

The whole matter would have to await the report of the special committee appointed.

discussing a news clipping without making any attempt to verify it violated every rule of Parliament. I would like to have it pointed out where directly or indirectly, in any question that has ever come before this House concerning the affairs of the Empire or the Motherland—"

"This is out of order," said Mr. German, of Welland, and again there was an outburst of shouts from the Opposition.

Col. Hughes stated, as soon as he could make himself heard, that he had never once violated the constitutional rule by sending such a cablegram, directly or indirectly, in regard to volunteers going from Canada to Ulster or had anything to do with it. "In any event," he added, "if any men were leaving Canada for Ireland you wouldn't find any of the parties who were discussing this here the other night among them."

REBELS REPULSED.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—This message from Mexico City last night was received at the embassy here today. "Rebels once more routed and repulsed at Gomez Palacio with heavy losses, while trying to approach Torreon."

Tracks Nearing the City. The L. E. and N. tracks are fast nearing the city. Steel is laid within three miles of Brantford now, and will likely reach here early in April.

Died at Edmonton. Word has been received by Sheriff W. Ross, of the death at Edmonton, of his brother, John Ross, who was born at Cookstown, and resided there for many years, being a member of the Simcoe County Council and also warden of that county. He left a widow and family of three boys and two girls. He had not resided in Brant county but he was well known here and many friends will extend sympathy to Sheriff Ross in his bereavement.

Tutela Club Meets. An enthusiastic meeting of the Tutela Football Club was held last night at the club's headquarters, about 30 members being present, with President G. A. Ward in the chair. Considerable business was transacted and discussed. Plans were laid for the coming season, which looks very promising for the club. All the old members have re-signed, also several new players, who should considerably strengthen the club and make them real contenders for the league and cups. It was decided to commence practice on Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., when a good muster of players are expected to turn out. Mr. P. A. McLeod has resigned the position of secretary-treasurer to the club, owing to the lack of time to devote to these duties. Mr. F. Clark, 75 Balfour street, was elected to fill this position, to whom all communications should be sent.

Young Men's Class Banquet

The annual banquet of the Young Men's Class of Colborne street Methodist Church was held last night in the lecture room of the church at which a large number of the members and friends of the class gathered.

After a splendid supper was served by the Ladies' Aid of the church, a splendid program of toasts, music and readings, were given.

Miss Pearl O'Neil of Toronto delighted her hearers with a number of humorous readings which were greatly appreciated.

The toast to "The King" was proposed by Mr. R. J. Frayne, president of the class, who occupied the chair and was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem.

A piano duet by Miss Irene Turnbull and Mr. Geo. C. White, was heartily received and encored.

The toast to "Our Teachers and Class" was proposed by Dr. J. E. Amos, who briefly congratulated the teachers and the class for the splendid year just completed. Mr. Frank Leeming responded on behalf of both bodies.

A vocal solo by Stewart Sanderson followed and was well received.

Mr. Fred Youmans occupied the chair for the second part of the programme which opened with a humorous reading by Miss O'Neil.

The toast to "Our Opportunities" was proposed by Mr. Wray Youmans, who briefly outlined a few of these opportunities for the extension of the class and the years work. Mr. H. J. J. Bassett responded in a few fitting words.

A vocal solo by Mr. Harry Houlding was rendered in excellent voice.

The toast to "Our Guests" was very fittingly proposed by Mr. Howard Farley and responded to by Rev. T. E. E. Houlding and T. R. Logan.

A very successful banquet was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

By the use of steel instead of brass in rifle cartridges the German army has increased the number of rounds of ammunition that a soldier can carry from 120 to 160.

Matty Matteson Will Not Be Seen In '14 Canadian League

Star Catcher of the London Club Has Been Signed By Manager Morrissey, of Lansing Club, of the South Michigan League.

Canadian League baseball fans who have been at sea regarding what will become of Matty Matteson, who was London's mainstay behind the bat last season, will undoubtedly be pleased to hear that he has been grabbed by Jack Morrissey, manager of the Lansing, South Michigan League Club. Morrissey has been a great boon in a measure to Manager Deneau in his trials as a leader of Canadian league clubs ever since the league has been in existence, as many players have been turned over to Deneau by the Michigan pilot in times of distress. In 1911 Chaput was secured from

Boy Knight Notes

The Independent Order of Good Templars held an open meeting at the Boy Knights armory on Wednesday evening. The attendance was good and the programme first class. Mr. John Hawke occupied the chair in a most capable manner. He introduced a programme which was of a varied and most interesting nature. Number of good addresses were also given, at the conclusion of which the ladies served refreshments and a social hour was spent together.

Next Thursday evening a rubber social will be given a fine programme is being prepared.

On Friday evening a mass meeting of the Boy nights will be held at which the work for the coming year will be outlined, committees and leaders appointed and other matters pertaining to the general interest of the boys arranged.

Dufferins Met Second Defeat

It Was a Sensational Indoor Battle Played Last Night.

After one of the best games of baseball ever seen in the Ambitious City, the Duffs were defeated by C. Company of the 13th Regiment. The interest created was immense and a great crowd assembled in the armories, to witness the contest. C Company, although they won by 8-3, were not by any means superior to that degree. A great helping of luck handed them the victory, which they certainly did not merit. With both teams playing hard, the eighth inning was reached and the scores stood level at three each. Two men were out, two men on the bases and two strikes on the batter and no balls when Lamonde, the star pitcher of the 13th, who was batting, made a homer and cleared up the bases, giving his side the lead by three runs. It was his first hit of the evening, and he came in for an ovation. That was practically the end of the Duffs' hopes. In the ninth innings C Company managed two more runs and won by the score of 8 against three. Such a game has never been seen in the armories for many a day. The most notable thing of the game was the tying up of Lamonde, the pitcher who worked with such effect when the team visited Brantford. The locals got right up to him and struck his style, and he was never as good as he appeared here. Hetherington pitched a great game, whilst the whole team batted well. Appell made a wonderful catch in the outfield and Clawsey made the first home run. One of the regrettable features of the game was the encroaching crowd at times the first and second bases could not be seen, whilst outfield work was almost impossible, several catches being missed owing to the public. It is probable that another game between the teams will take place on Good Friday, as the Duffs are pretty sure they can beat the Company at home, and their opponents are quite willing to give them a chance.

LONDON CLUB HEAD RETURNS FROM SOUTH
President Stevely Reports a Fine Trip to California—Met Empire Bill Phyle.

President Sam Stevely of the London Baseball Club returned home yesterday after a three-weeks' trip to Southern California. Mr. Stevely reports a splendid outing and states that while in Los Angeles he saw the Chicago White Sox play an exhibition game. He had splendid weather for his trip and he says that baseball is in full swing in that part of the world at the present time.

LONDON CLUB HEAD RETURNS FROM SOUTH

President Stevely Reports a Fine Trip to California—Met Empire Bill Phyle.

While in Los Angeles, Mr. Stevely met Billy Phyle, the former Canadian League umpire, who is now umpiring in the Pacific Coast League. Phyle is looking fine and doing well on the coast. Matt Hynes, the former London pitcher, spent the winter in Venice, Cal. Mr. Stevely did not meet him but according to Bill Phyle, Hynes is looking just as well as ever and he expects a great season with the Dayton Club in the Central League. He will report to Dayton at the end of this week.

Lots of Canadians There.
One of the striking features of the south and one which impressed President Stevely greatly was the number of Canadians who are in that country. Nearly all the big men there are Canucks, bank presidents, fruit ranchers, merchants and other successful men in the cities being Canadian born for the most part. Several Londoners are also doing well in that region.

Met the Racing Men.
On the return trip Mr. Stevely stopped off in El Paso and took a peek at Mexico across the river. American soldiers patrol one side and Mexicans patrol the other. Nearly 4,000 Mexican refugees are sheltered in a big inclosure just outside of El Paso on Monday afternoon. Mr. Stevely took the same train which brought the racing men north from Juarez, where the racing closed on Sunday. They were a lively bunch, according to the London Club president and his sojourn among them was an interesting one.

A WONDERFUL COLD CURE.
Just think of it, a cold cured in ten minutes—that's what happens when you use "Catarrhzone." You inhale its soothing balsams and out goes the cold—sniffles are cured—headache is cured—symptoms of catarrh and grippe disappear at once. It's the healing pine essences and powerful antiseptics in Catarrhzone that enable it to act so quickly. In disease of the nose, for irritable throat, bronchitis, coughs and catarrh it's a marvel. Safe even for children. 25c and $1.00 sizes at all dealers.

Sporting Comment

This continued mild weather is doing wonders toward drying up the ball parks around the city and the youngsters with a ball and glove may be seen any where there is a dry spot.

Now that we have that out of our system, what about the city baseball league? One thing that ought to be impressed upon the officials of the league and that is to get an early start.

The youngsters already have a start on the city league and have a school league formed and they are almost ready to go on the field. There are enough players in this city to get up an exceptionally fast league. Last year the league went along in first-class style but this year with some new material which has been added to the city, a better league could be formed. The churches should each be able to organize a team and thereby increase the standard of the league.

Since the Y.M.C.A. opened the bowling alleys, bowling has become one of the popular sports of the city. It is not too late yet to have a tournament and at least four good teams would be ready to enter namely Cockshutt Office, Clerks, G.T.R., and a team from the Y.M.C.A.

Peanuckle Canella announced yesterday that he had been approached by prominent business men of the city who asked him to "umpire" the game between the World Champs and the Red Sox on Aug. 11th, but

OTTAWA CHAMPIONS WILL TRAIN AT CHATHAM

Manager Shaughnessy Meets Maple City Council at Ottawa Yesterday and Accepted Invitation

CHATHAM, March 27.—A telegram was received in the city today from Ottawa to the effect that the Ottawa Baseball Club had definitely decided to come to Chatham this spring for training. Manager Shaughnessy and other officers of the Senators met the Chatham city council at Ottawa yesterday and an invitation was extended to the club and immediately accepted. The team will arrive in Chatham on April 20 and will have a squad of 20 players.

Football

The Cockshutt United Football team will have a practice at Mohawk Park, Saturday March 28th at 4.30 p. m., weather permitting.

All players are requested to be on time.

The Scots United Football Club will hold a practise match on Saturday afternoon at Agricultural Park. All players are requested to be present.

It is likely that Charley Herzog will keep a string attached to every young ball player going to the minors from the Red camp. He is planning as much for 1915 as he is for the coming season. The youngsters in camp at present look too good to discard entirely.

on account of other pressing business "Pete" had to decline. However he announced that he would umpire the game in Hamilton, last night, provided someone did not throw the ball at him. Guess he got along alright. No details were reported to-day from Hamilton.

An attempt is being made to form a factory bowling league amongst the factory men who are members of the "Y."

Manager Jennings of the Tigers in an interview in the South, says that the only team that will be able to give the Athletics any trouble this year is the White Sox.

SEATON REFUSES TO GO TO BROOKLYN

Says He Will Play With the Chicago Feds. or Not at All.

CHICAGO, March 27.—Determination of Tom Seaton, pitcher, "to play with the Chicago Federals or not at all," reported in despatches from Shreveport yesterday, further complicated affairs in the Federal League.

Even Manager Tinker advised Seaton to join the Brooklyn team, but Seaton declared he would play only with his old team mate, Ad Brennan who is definitely attached to the Chicago club.

Seaton's declaration came after an announcement by President Gilmore that the pitcher rightfully belonged to Brooklyn and must play with President Ward's team.

COMPETITIONS IN FIELD CROPS

Rules and Regulations Are Announced by the Ont. Associated.

Field crop competitions will be conducted by the members of the Ontario Vegetable Growers' Association in the following classes of vegetables: Onions, tomatoes, celery, and early potatoes. The onions may be of any color and must be grown from seed but not transplanted. The potatoes are to be judged before July 1st. In any district where crop matures before this date judges will be sent earlier on notice being given to the secretary of the Central Association by the secretaries of the branches.

The Province is to be divided into five districts as follows:—

District No. 1—Cyrville, Ottawa, Picton, Kingston.

District No. 2—Bellville, Brantford, Simcoe, Toronto.

District No. 3—Aylmer, London, St. Thomas, Stratford.

District No. 4—Blackwell, Ojibway, Canard River, Sarnia, Tecumseh.

District No. 5—Dunnville, St. Catharines, Welland.

The members of the branches in each district will compete among themselves for the field crop prizes offered in their district.

The plots entered for each of the above named vegetables must not be less than one quarter of an acre.

There must not be less than ten entries in each class of the above named vegetables from each district.

Members may compete in one, two, three, or all four of the four crops mentioned.

The entrance fee will be one dollar for each crop.

Secretaries of branches who see members are desirous of entering the field crop competition must notify the secretary of the Central Association promptly and forward the individual entries carefully filled in with name, post office address, township, concession and lot, on or before the 15th May, 1914, accompanied by entry fees for same. Entry forms will be supplied to secretaries of all branches.

Secretaries of each branch must notify the undersigned at least one week before the crops are ready to be judged.

Judges will be supplied free of charge by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The following are the prizes offered in each district for each of the four crops, namely, onions, tomatoes, celery and early potatoes: 1st, $25; 2nd, $20; 3rd, $15; 4th, $10.

We expect that substantial prizes will be offered by the Canadian National Exhibition, Central Canada Exhibition and Western Fair, open to the prize winners in the districts. Of this further notice will be given. If the prize lists of these fairs are satisfactory to the executive, it will be necessary for the prize winners to compete for the prizes offered at the above mentioned fairs.

Express charges on the prize winning vegetables entered at the Canadian National and Central Canada Exhibitions and the Western Fair will be paid by the Ontario Government.

As the number of entries from each district is limited, members wishing to compete must act promptly. J. Lockie Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer and managing director, Ontario Vegetable Growers Association, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario.

Canadian League News Notes

(Toronto News).

Fisher has reported at last and Manager Kelley is happy.

He is expected to be the leading shortstop in the league. The Feds. were hot-foot after his services.

The Leafs had two hard grinds yesterday and went through their paces in fine style.

Fred Schultz, the outfielder secured from El Paso, is of the scrappy type of ball player. He is more aggressive than his brother who was with the Leafs last year.

Toronto's infield with Jordan, Fitzpatrick, Fisher and Pick, looks about the strongest in the league. Timothy closed a couple over the short right field fence yesterday and ruffled generally like a colt. Little chance of Schneider beating him to the first basing job.

Fisher is a great grounder coverer. There was never any question as to his fielding ability. He should bat better in the International than in the big league.

Southpaw Castleton has a puzzling assortment of slants but like all porters, he is shy in control. Gaw, it is reported, is moving along in fine shape.

Pitcher Herbert is not due to report until to-day. He was given permission to delay reporting until this week.

The Leafs will line up against the Giants to-day for a practice game.

Pitcher Sullivan shapes up well and may make the grade. He bats well, has speed, a nice assortment of curves and fields his position like a veteran.

Tim Jordan was back at first yesterday, and his presence stimulated the whole squad. He drove a couple over the short right field fence, and was pleased with himself.

Manager Kelly is inclined to be enthusiastic over Snell, who started equally well as catcher. Kelly, the collegian has a nice easy style, throws well, and bats viciously.

Kelley is offered a couple of youthful southpaws from up north, but has declined them, as he already has a super-abundance of untried material and wants no more green pitchers.

The New York Giants go north to-day. Their discards will not be turned over before opening day. Manager McGraw shows a disposition to avoid the Hearne matter.

The Leafs play Waco on Saturday and Sunday.

It is not likely Shag will swap Kubat unless he gets a real good trade. In case nothing is forthcoming Cobby will be brought on to training camp. The fact he is a port sider stands in his favor, for south paws are in his class at all have a big edge on the right handers around the Fitzgerald wheel.

The Ottawa helmman hits the trail for the baseball belt located between the Ohio river and great lakes two weeks from Friday. Owner Varnell just back from the Detroit training camp at Gulpport, has invited Shag to look over his array of talent which includes fifteen pitchers. Manager Jack Hendricks, of the Indianapolis A. A. club, has also placed some of his surplus stock at the Ottawa man's disposal. Shaughnessy will be resident Navin's guest at the opening of the American League season in Detroit, and there will also be some Class B eligibles there ready for distribution. It's a cinch when reporting time arrives, there will be an array of hand-picked men at the Ottawa camp, all of the new ones having already put in their anti-season training preps.

The ad. clubs will be drafting Cosy Dolan at the end of the season. Cosy is putting in his time during the near-spring days in getting out an advertising sporting card, and is meeting with success through his originality. He horned in at Ketchum's the other day and asked George Henzell for an ad. George declared they had advertised in so many similar lines the appropriation had been exhausted.

"But don't overlook this one," urged Cosy. "I'll have a cut made of a cop chasing a bunch of kids, and right after it, will put in bold type, 'Ketchum! Ketchum! Ketchum!'"

"I'll take that space right there," said Henzell.

Last year, when Frankie Smejkal was in the most discouraging depths of his "batting club" the fans, with whom he was immensely popular, all applauded when he stepped up to the plate. Frank either breezed or pooped a feeble one to the infield. Nevertheless he didn't lose his courage, and battled for everything coming his way. In one game Umpire Jocko Halligan called a third strike on him, making his third whiff of the game. Smejkal turned around and looked Halligan square in the eye for a full thirty seconds, then said:

"I'm going to give my next month's salary to have you sent down to Gene setter Reete and let him examine your eyes. You're stone blind, and you don't know it!"

Dave Hilliard the big Peterboro fence buster drafted by Toledo says Frank Dolan, of Ottawa, robbed him of a five base hit last year. The incident happened in Ottawa when the Petes were having a tough old argument with the Shagmen. A man was on third with two down when Hilliard pried off a wallop that was labeled for the Bank street bridge. Dolan was playing very deep almost back to the grass in right field. The drive was about 12 feet high and just starting to take on height as it sped up.

Cosy made one gigantic leap, thrust out his gloved hand and ping—the ball hit and stuck there. Hilliard already had it added to his home run record when the war whoops from the crowd apprised him he was out.

Last year Shaughnessy was presented with a floral horse shoe on opening day and upset traditions by ripping off a home run. Shag set a bad precedent as Ottawa fans will discount anything less than a triple after a presentation in future.

Pitcher Stan Cresswell arrived home yesterday after spending the winter on the north shore. The big southpaw looks fit and well. He has put on weight during the winter and says he is in fine shape. He will spend the next few weeks at his home here, leaving to report at Youngstown on April 15th.—Peterborough Examiner.

The Senators have practically determined upon a new ball park for next season. While the big grand stand at Lansdowne Park is an excellent athletic grand stand for rugby, lacrosse or other sports of that nature, a good ball park stand must be erected in the V shaped style, and there are numerous other reasons for the ball club deciding to own their own diamond in the future.

While the majority of the Canadian league teams are worrying about their pitching staffs, the Petes' management are not "bibling" much about the local box squad. The only anxiety is over Bob Sterling, who has not yet come to terms. The big curve ball pitcher was one of the mainstays of the team last year and

There are a good many men who are right up-to-date in all but one thing—they're behind the times in buying clothes, and they don't know it. They haven't discovered that at Graftons they can purchase a Ready-to-Wear Suit, that in fabric, tailoring and style is quite equal to any purchased elsewhere at from 25 to 50 per cent. more. We have always had a reputation for quoting the lowest prices, but we like to emphasize, now and then, this praise-worthy feature of our storekeeping policy; want to drive home the conviction that our prices are absolutely the lowest, quality considered, by example rather than by talk.

in Lonie Schettler, whose record speaks for itself. In 1912 he won 10 out of 13 games in the Central League, won by Shaughnessy's Fort Wayne team, and last year he grabbed 12 out of 15 in the Inter State league, giving him a total of 22 wins and 6 losses in the two years. Then Blount has three or four young pitchers with good records to look over. Last year's four finished the season in grand shape. Belting and Cresswell were ill in mid-season, but they wound up in fine style. Cresswell's parting performance of the season was a double victory over Hamilton.

The site of the park has not been announced as yet, but it is understood that the Senators' management have the site selected and that some work may be started upon it this summer. With a new park the "dead head" fans would be very much less numerous. The stand would be constructed of a size to fit the crowds, and would also give the fans a better view of the game.

An interesting situation has developed by the Hamilton club signing up George Dolan, a brother of Cosy's. The Tiger recruit is billed for the same position as his brother, and will hold down first sack if he shows enough. Cosy says that it is dead certain that his brother will fill the bill, as he is young and fast.

The Senators will wear practically the same home and road uniforms as last year. Mackinaw coats instead of coat sweaters will be used.

Cady, the Boston catcher, claims that he refused $12,500 a year and a bonus of $5,000 to play with the Feds.

Two of the Senators' pitchers are hard at work down where the weather is milder. Tom Kane is limbering up his old salary whip at Tenafly, N. J., and at his own request will be allowed to remain there and train with an Atlantic League club till April 27th, when he will have to go to Chatham for spring training. This appears to be about the only location open. Chatham, while the hotel accommodation is good, is not a good camp. The diamond is anything but classy, and the weather during the last camp was cold.

Sterling, the Pete's pitcher, is a hold-out. Manager Blount isn't worrying, however, for the big twirler will have to come to terms. Blount has two dozen players under contract.—Ottawa Journal.

Down at St. Louis, "Smokeball" Joe Lill ain't waiting on anything—not even the Robt. E. Lee. Joe is preparing himself in earnest this spring and when he reports three weeks hence, should be pretty well domesticated. So far as having "stuff" went, Joseph ranked with some of the autocrats of the big show. Welch, Johnson and Lill, heaving balls at a coon, would mean sure death for the nigger, but Lill would be the outsider in the betting on account of his untamed aim. If he ever connected with the black man, death would be instantaneous.

Joe Lill is only 20 years old and last year was the first occasion he ever threw a ball off a college campus. His four months' experience with Ottawa and Brantford, where he experienced the best and worst to be found in the minors, must have educated him considerably. Like all collegians it took a season for him to find out that all the baseball to be learned is not on the college diamonds. He should, therefore, be just one hundred per cent. better pitcher this year, than last.—Ottawa Free Press.

RUSHED KRAFCHENKO AWAY FROM SCENE OF THE MURDER

Dyck Tells Court of Promising Aid at Pistol's Point.

MORDEN, Man., March 27.—William Dyck, who carried away in his automobile the Plum Coulee bank robber and the murderer of H. M. Arnold, to-day told on the witness stand the story of his fear-compelled drive with the bandit.

like an old Jew. Dyck was to drive him away immediately he got into the car.

There With the Car.

The next day, the day of the robbery, Dyck's car was standing in the appointed place, the engine running, and Dyck ready at the wheel. A man dressed as described the night before by Krafchenko, came out of the lane mentioned, jumped in the car and pointing his revolver at Dyck, forced him to drive away. Dyck speeded up his car, and on the stand to-day, described the route taken, told of the "man in black" being loaded down with bundles of bills and two bags of silver, of his taking off his beard, when they cleared the town, and of his recognizing him as Krafchenko.

Krafchenko Told of Shooting.

Dyck told of Krafchenko counting the money and of his finally taking off the black coat and hiding it in some willows. He identified the coat which was produced in court. This coat being the one which was yesterday identified by witnesses as one found under a clump of willows by a party of detectives taken there by Dyck. It is also the same coat identified this morning by Winter Humboldt, an actor and his wife, as the coat loaned to John Krafchenko and which had never been returned. Dyck said that Krafchenko told him as they sped along that he hoped he had not killed the "son of—" Dyck asked him who.

Dyck said that Krafchenko replied: "Arnold; I shot him through the shoulder."

The court adjourned with Dyck still on the stand.

Military Notes

A very enthusiastic and well attended meeting of C Co., 38th Regt., took place on Wednesday evening. Capt. Shultis, presiding. A large amount of business was gone through several new resolutions being passed. Capt. Shultis, Lieut. Wallis, and James and Sergeants A. Speedley have offered prizes on a generous scale to the men who introduce new recruits to the company during the year, and it is expected that these prizes will be keenly contested for. Capt. Shultis appointed Pte. R. Cross as Secretary to the company.

After the first parade, which takes place on Monday evening next, a further meeting of this company, will be called when several matters of great importance will be dealt with.

HIS LIFE IN PRISON KINGSTON, Ont., March 27.—Yesterday morning an old man named White entered the provincial penitentiary at Portsmouth to serve three years for stealing an overcoat at Arnprior. He has served half his life since his school days behind the bars, having been imprisoned for terms aggregating twenty five years.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and nobody can tell Brush it Through H.Hair.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantage of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend it as the ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Agent T. Geo. Bowles.

Government Makes Provision For Prison Farms For The Counties Redistribution Bill Brought Down In the Legislature by Mr. Hanna

TORONTO, March 27.—To encourage co-operation in the establishment of the industrial farms a bill was introduced in the Legislature yesterday which will allow that where the Government appropriates land for industrial farm purposes in a provincial judicial district, without having the consent of the owner, the compensation will be based on the last assessment roll with the addition of 30 per cent.

The clause advancing co-operation provides that the councils of contiguous counties, cities or towns may on the approval of the provincial inspector for management maintain and equip such an institution. One person is appointed by each council for a term of three years to sit on a board of management with the sheriff and to appoint the superintendent and other officers.

Music and Drama

The Colonial Theatre has for the latter part of this week an entertainment of an unusual variety and exceptional standard. The feature act is one which is rarely to be seen in this city. A full blooded Indian Princess together with a retired lieutenant of the United States Army. These persons are Princess Wauna-a, daughter of Chief Victory, the head of the Comanches tribe of Indians and Lieut. Robt. Griffin retired second lieutenant of Troop Two, 5th United States cavalry.

Princess Neta as she is known, has spent 21 years of her life in stage work, having joined Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show when she was but 13 years of age. During off seasons she has educated herself to a high standard being a graduate of one of the Montreal convents. The Princess in her stage work performs a number of difficult feats in sharp shooting which are very clever and also sings two songs one in her native tongue, besides doing the waltzes of her tribe.

Lieutenant Griffin carries around a sash to-day which shows where a bullet entered his neck and came out through his back, forcing him to retire from active service while serving in the Philippine Islands. Lieut. Griffin is the proud possessor of every marksmanship medal that is attainable in the United States cavalry, but one, and that is the artillery medal. Lieut. Griffin is the possessor of the $500 club cup of New York City, and also holds the congress medal for service in the Philippine Islands.

Of no less merit are the other acts which Manager Symons has booked. The American Harmony Four, which are booked for all week, again delighted the large crowd with their numbers and were brought back repeatedly to respond to encores.

Robinson and Briggs presented a clever comedy sketch of song and talk which is exceptionally good.

Don Santos presents a splendid banjo and mandolin act which is very clever.

LENTEN BRIDE

King's Messenger Married to Miss Henniker Heaton.

The first fashionable society wedding to take place during Lent, was celebrated on Tuesday at Christ Church, Down street, W., when Major Adrian Porter, one of the King's messengers, married Miss Rose Henniker Heaton, daughter of Sir John and Lady Henniker Heaton.

It was a very picturesque wedding. The bride was attended by six children, who wore most becoming Romney costumes. There were four bridesmaids—Miss Evelyn Stevenson, Miss Mildred Sholto Douglas, and the Misses Bertha and Madeline Collings Wells—whose very pretty frocks were of grey charmeuse. The bride was given away by her father, and wore a wedding robe of cream broche and lace with a train of gold embroidery.

Lady Henniker Heaton, wearing mole and gold brocade and a pink feather in her toque and ermine furs, held a largely attended reception at the Curzon Hotel afterwards.

In the last 25 years the population of Germany has increased from 48,900,000 to 66,000,000.

Are You a Modern "Ailment Faddist?"

By WINIFRED BLACK

MISS JULIA MARLOWE started to New York from the West recently to have an operation for appendicitis. When she got to Chicago she found that she didn't have appendicitis at all—only indigestion. Here's looking at you, Miss Marlowe. We're all glad of it—you beautiful, buoyant, wonderful creature, you. Besides, it really wouldn't have done for a woman of your exalted position to have appendicitis. Appendicitis has gone out; it isn't done any more, as they say in England.

It is hopelessly out of date, as far behind the times almost as old-fashioned influenza—and who has thought of having even a touch of that since the gripe came in. Appendicitis stayed in fashion for quite a while didn't it? There was a time when nobody who pretended to be anybody at all would dream of admitting that he had such a thing as an appendix. I knew a woman who had a little gold corkscrew which she wore as a single dangle on her vanity chain. She said that corkscrew fitted the cork of the nice little cut glass bottle which held her appendix. The fashion went out soon after that. But it was the rage while it lasted. People had appendix parties—as they have alimony dinners now—and everybody sat around and told about the other and what they dreamt when they were under the influence of it. It was so stimulating to the imagination, they said.

Others couldn't bear it; they found it irritating to the nerves. It was all very interesting and "smart." It was really rather a bore when appendicitis went out. But Pekin Pugs came in soon after that and we managed to live through it. The next fad the doctors introduced to us was the uric acid idea.

Now It Is "Blood Pressure"

Everybody had uric acid. Did you have the headache after a big dinner? It wasn't what you ate or what you drank that was the matter with you—it was the uric acid.

Pneumonia, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, gout, rheumatism—they all came from our brand new and highly interesting friend, uric acid. It was uric acid that made you lose out in the market; it was uric acid that drove your husband to making love to another woman.

It was uric acid that turned a perfectly good wife and mother into a heartless and brainless flirt. It was uric acid that made you stupid when you should be brilliant, and old when you should be young.

Just as we had all worked ourselves up into a perfect fury of hatred of the whole uric acid family, we found out that it was all a mistake. Uric acid wasn't anything new at all; it has always been and always will be. A good thing it is, too—so some of the doctors say—for if we didn't have it we might all be toothless dotards at eighteen, or some such unhalloved thing.

Now it's blood-pressure. Everybody has "blood-pressure." They won't insure you, because you have blood-pressure. They won't sell you a home on the installment plan, until some doctor has found out about your blood-pressure, to be sure you're going to live long enough to pay the installments.

You can't have anything the matter with you, mentally, morally, physically or financially, that the doctors won't tell you that there is just one thing at the bottom of all your troubles—blood-pressure.

You have blood-pressure; your sister has it; your brother is struggling with it; your father would have been twice the man he is if it hadn't been for blood-pressure, and that is the reason your mother died after she'd been thrown out of the automobile.

The accident had nothing to do with her death; if her blood-pressure had been all right, she'd have lived with every bone in her body broken. You may not know you have it; you may think you're all right, but you're all wrong, every way, all the time, and it's blood-pressure that's doing it.

What Will Be Next?

I can't find out what there seems to be to do about it. If your blood-pressure is bad, it's bad. That seems to be all there is to it.

It's too high and you mustn't get excited, or it's too low and you mustn't mope, or it's just in between—and you've got to be careful to keep it so. But nobody seems to know just what to do about it anyway.

There it is, registered, with the queer instrument that is its special pho-phoet—and that's all there is to it.

Go and get blood-pressure, if you want to be in the fashion. I suppose in a month or so—these things move rapidly these days—we shall find that there isn't any such thing after all, or, if there is, it is the only thing that is keeping the race alive.

Like sterilized milk I've a friend who almost drove her family to madness with the sterilization fad. She boiled everything, even the front door bell, and once, when there was an epidemic in town, she sent her children to school with cotton batting in their ears and nostrils to keep out the germs.

One day one of her children, the littlest one, was ill and a real doctor came to see my friend, and he told her that she had sterilized all the nourishment out of the child's food.

I don't think the world has ever stood on the same firm foundation to that woman since that fatal day.

Remember the old story, don't you, about the woman who went to the World's Fair somewhere, and on one amazing day she attended a congress of religions, a dress reform lecture and a Christian Science meeting.

She went home dazed and all night long she lay and muttered, so they say: "No hell, no quinine and no corset! What shall we cling to now?"

Appendicitis, uric acid—how soon will blood-pressure disappear from view, and what shall we "ailment faddists" have to cling to then?

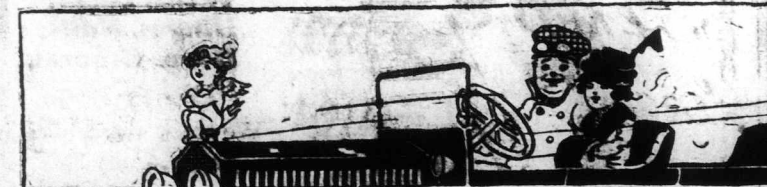

An Up-to-Date Romance

By Tom Jackson

IN a city full of brewers, trolley cars and evil-doers, a young girl wandered at the close of day. She would have walked much faster, but she'd worn out her corn plaster, for many miles she'd walked that day. She was tired, wan and weary, sad hearted, pale and dreary. She felt all in and also very blue. She had blown in her last nickel for a cruiser and dull pickle; that evening, too, her room rent was due.

She was having no enjoyment; she was looking for employment—she'd lost her job the very day before. While waiting on some tinkers, she had dropped a plate of "sinkers," and the dinky lunch man said: "Work here no more."

As she hoodled along, sad hearted, down the street an auto started. It hit that girl a fearful, awful rap. In the air, well, for a minute, the poor, sad maid was in it—then landed down, plump, in a young man's lap. She was naturally excited, but the young man shook himself. He said: "Don't cry, I am not hurt a bit. This is the first time that I've met you, but I never can forget you. With me you've made the biggest sort of hit."

Then he began to chin her, then he blew her off to alibier. She married him—he was a millionaire. Gee! Whizzer! It was some marry. Say, don't it beat Old Harry, how some fair maids succeed in getting there!

This once a clear-headed maiden with diamonds now in her teeth; about her ears she is now perplexed. In society she's prancing and the tango she is dancing, and goodness knows what she'll be doing next.

HER HERO

By Michelson

YOU never can tell about heroes until a great crisis comes. Your heroes on canvas, or the heroes of the imagination which you fit into the machine-made armor paper bought in Belgium, never have a chance. When something really happens it is different. Of course, there's always an excuse for heroes. Even the mighty elephant is afraid of a MOUSE. And if you didn't leave the field clear what opportunity would a hero have to prove that he WAS a hero?

Don't criticise your hero's gestures in a crisis. Valor is not always graceful. Nerves of steel often express themselves grotesquely. Just murmur to yourself what a wonderful thing it is to be a MAN. Be grateful that SOME ONE is near to face the awful peril, to shield you from a menacing danger. Such moments remind you how essential it is to have a HERO handy.

Newest Smart Smoking Suits Follow Demure, Girlish Lines

By MADGE MARVEL

TWO sedate, middle-aged women walked slowly through the costume salon of one of the most exclusive big shops in New York. Their attention was arrested by an unlined skirt of dull blue charmeuse fashioned with the high front draping and having the slight curving slash directly over the instep.

It was topped by a straight blouse of cerise crepe meter with the lines of the middie blouse. There was a pocketing at the side, no collar, a V-shaped opening at the neck and buttons of the material which fastened it straight up the centre front. It was caught low on the hips into a band of blue and dull gold and red Oriental embroidery done on black net. The sleeves plain and three-quarter length were banded with cuffs of the same.

The ladies admired it. They said it seemed so sane after all the minarets and tanks. It might be developed in different and more sedate colorings and would be charming for any one. In different color, such as a darker red with a blue skirt in a deeper shade, it would be just the thing for Mary who was in boarding school. It impressed them as being altogether girlish and unassuming and smart.

A tall, elegant blonde, with trailing draperies and a new collar in the new red, approached them.

"May I show you the new smoking suit?" she asked. "Oh, yes. Yes, indeed. We have had wonderful success with it. It is charming, is it not? We have made it in several combinations. You see it is so perfect for the uncorrected figure. May I show you one in black with the blouse in jonquil yellow?"

But the two ladies were gone. The saleswoman shrugged her shoulders and touched the carefully dangled curls over her left ear.

"Are they really bought by people?" she asked.

"They are," she replied. "Why else would we show them?"

Well, whatever you call them, the design is good. I agree with the lady who liked it for Mary. It does look girlish and demure.

In this same shop I saw the nearest approach to the bustle I have yet noticed. It was on an evening frock of white silk shadow lace. There was a very short tunic of pale blue taffeta which was tucked up around the hips with very bouffant effect in the back, for all the world like the bustles' name of us are foolish enough to admit, remembering—except "in pictures and old gowns in the attics when we were we children."

Below the fluff of silk the lace was draped in a series of loops which all made for fulness.

I saw something like the same style displayed in a coat costume of green moire poplin. There was a deep pleated fan arrangement on each hip and a full drapery in the back of the skirt which reached half to the knees and joined the pleatings on the sides. The coat had a very full back skirt portion which stood well away from the figure below the waist line. The front of the skirt was slightly draped and the coat was scarcely more than an Etom.

There were sleeve frills of charmeuse in the same color, and where the skirt of the coat was a deep blue, the body there was a twisted rope of taffeta.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Your Muscles Betray Your Character

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

DO YOU believe in fairies?" asks Peter Pan. Of course you do. To believe in fairies is not so bad as to believe in fortune-telling, star-reading, astrology, ghosts and other "credulous" nonsense.

Santa Claus, Easter Bunnies and fairies are like religious-legendary objects of belief. All of the other pot-pourri of superstitions are observations misinterpreted.

Most of these fallacious "pseudosciences" and supposedly supernatural phenomena are facts that you explained by false premises. In fine, when you are predisposed beforehand, or even "dead set agin" a phenomena beforehand, your explanations lean toward the very point of view you most like or dislike.

This may not be clear to you for a moment. Yet the moment you think about or against "spirits" your thoughts give these, absurdly, an undue prominence.

When, therefore, you sit in a semi-darkened, silent room with a woman in black bombazine called a "spiritualist," you are, no matter how sceptical you may be, half-way in her power.

Every Thought Betrayed.

When the table rattle, banjos play, tambourines jingle, tables walk or "manifestations" appear, you observe certain results and succumb, hook, line and sinker, to the interpretation which fits your educated ignorance of the true state of affairs.

When savants such as William James, Sir Oliver Lodge, Alfred Russel Wallace, Cesare Lombroso, Camille Flammarion, Sir William Crookes, Hamilton Garland and others endorse Eusapia Palladino, it is because, in their laboratory experiments and philosophy, the peculiar ways and tricks of "spiritualists" are not dreamed of. Hence, lacking a correct explanation, they accept some one else's.

Comes now the real point, physiologically speaking, Prof. John B. Watson of the Johns Hopkins laboratory of psychology, says that if the man in the moon came tumbling to the earth and could not speak one ordinary language, a good "mind-reader," "magician," "conjurer," "psyche" or "psychologist" would know his every thought.

This is true, not because there would be anything occult or mysterious about it, but because these people recognize the value of each muscular twitch, the movements voluntary and involuntary of every muscle in your anatomy.

Trained horses and dogs do not perform their stunts. From the corners of their eyes they spot the every muscular quiver, even those which the masters were not of.

Process Really Simple.

Every activity of your muscles is stamped indelibly upon your brain. Every thought, on the other hand, reshapes your muscles, and, of course, the flesh attached to them.

It is plain then, that all behavior—this is only the aggregate action of several muscles—alters your thoughts. Similarly all thoughts change the outward appearance of your face and form, plus the motion of your muscles, at any given moment.

See how simple all this is for the alert fortune-teller, his experience, "art," his superintendent who reads character for future efficiency, and the psychologist—or, as these scientists now prefer to be called, behaviorists—reverse the knowledge of human nature.

Answers to Health Questions

W. M.—My father has "disappeared into a shadow" almost. He and I came here from Ireland only a few months ago. Do you think we should return to the old country?

No. Stay where you are. Take your father to the university clinic at once. Great loss of weight often presages the same serious ailments in Ireland as they do here. He will, no doubt, be well and strong within a few months.

R. H. K.—How can I cure warts?

Ordinary warts are easily removed by means of a plaster of salicylic acid, or 20 grains of this acid as a ounce of collodion. If this fails, use acid nitrate of mercury with precautions to limit the range of its destructive action.

If warts are moistened with vinegar or strong acetic acid, a stick ofatum afterward may destroy them.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. K. Hirschberg, care of this office.

Freddy—Why, 'a p'rise me—it's named after Robinson Crusoe's faithful servant, of course.

"Did you divide your bon-bons with your little brother, Mollie?"
"Yes, ma; I ate the candy and gave him the molasses. You know he is awfully fond of reading."

"Mamma?"
"Yes, dear?"

"Daddy's Good Night Story" by GEORGE HENRY SMITH

WHAT are you doing?" asked Jack Rabbit of Billy Bunny, one morning.

"I am looking for Mister Sunshine Man," said Billy.

"You are always calling the sun 'Mister Sunshine Man,'" answered Jack.

"Yes," replied Billy. "I have a great imagination. I am writing a story."

"What is imagination?" asked Jack.

"It is making images out of things that are not real. All great writers have imagination," replied Billy. "You see, when I call the sun by his pet name I am using my imagination."

"Is your story about Mister Sunshine Man?" asked Jack.

"No," replied Billy. "It is about a good little Rabbit."

"Read it to me," said Jack, sitting up in bed. Then Billy read:

THE GOOD LITTLE RABBIT

BY BILLY BUNNY.

"Once upon a time there was a LITTLE Rabbit and he loved to slide down the banisters.

"One afternoon he slid down so fast he went off the end and killed himself. He got up and as he went across the front porch he stumbled over the root of a tree, and—"

"Wait a minute!—Wait a minute!" said Jack Rabbit. "How could he stumble over the root of a tree if he was dead?"

"I didn't say he was dead," answered Billy. "I said he was killed. Now keep still or I won't read you any more."

"Hey there! you boys come down to 'breakfast and stop your noise!' shouted Brer Rabbit from down stairs.

"Let's hurry up and dress," said Jack, "and you can tell me the story while we are dressing."

So Billy began again: "After the Good Little Rabbit had gone off the porch he went down to the river and poor little thing was drowned."

"That's twice you killed him," said Jack, laughing.

"I didn't say he was killed, I said he was drowned," replied Billy angrily.

"Well, what happened next?" asked Jack.

"I won't tell you," said Billy. "You can get the rest yourself."

"I'll use my imagination!" laughed Jack, as they started down stairs.

Demand for "King's" Wagons. The Agricultural Labourers' Union sent out a demand to all employers of farm labour throughout North-West Norfolk and a considerable area beyond on Monday for an increase of wages, from 14s. 16s. weekly and a Saturday half-holiday to place them on the same conditions as exist on the King's Norfolk farms.

Faithful Servant's Lapse. At Folkestone on Monday Sir Squire Gancroft gave evidence at an inquest on Jane Dawkins, who had been in his and Lady Bancroft's employ over twenty years. She showed a faithful attachment to Lady Bancroft, but she gave to intemperance, and he wrote to her that failing a solemn promise to abstain from stimulants some arrangement would have to be made.

Police and Public-houses. A policeman in the Isle of Ely has been reprimanded for spending too much time in a public-house, and his officer constable who wanted to join a club, has been told that such membership is also most undesirable. The Chief Constable, Captain Mander, said he did not object to a constable having a drink in a public-house but he did object to a man staying long in a house.

Oil for Whooping Cough. A verdict of "Manslaughter" was returned at an inquest at Chelmsford against Bertram Ambrose and his wife, members of the "Peculiar People" sect, in respect of the death of their infant daughter. It was alleged that the baby, aged seven months, had whooping cough, and that beyond putting it in a warm room, feeding it, and calling an elder to anoint it with oil, nothing was done. The parents were committed for trial.

A Mother's Sacrifice. The story of a woman's sacrifice for her child was told at an inquest at Coseley, near Wolverhampton, on Martha Smith. She was crossing the street when a runaway horse approached her. But for her two-year-old child in a perambulator she could have escaped injury, but she stood by her child, and was knocked down, death occurring at once. The perambulator was smashed, but the baby, although injured, was not killed. The jury verdict of "Accidental death."

MR. LLOYD GEORGE MAKES REPLY TO A SERIOUS CHARGE

His Inaccurate Statements—
A Resolution in House of Commons.

The Opposition spent two or three hours of Parliamentary time on Tuesday night Lloyd George bating, and gave the Chancellor an excellent opportunity of turning upon his accusers and reading them in a manner that delighted his followers immensely and dejected his opponents in the same ratio. Sir John Randles, U. N. W. Manchester, moved—

That this House contemplates with regret the repeated inaccuracies of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and his gross and unfounded personal attacks upon individuals.

He reminded Mr. Lloyd George that he wore the robe of great man like Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Goschen, Lord St. Aldwyn, and others, yet it had been truly said, he stood with one eye in the gutter and the other blinded by limelight. (Ministerial laughter.) Sir John complained particularly of Mr. Lloyd George's references to the Duke of Sutherland and the Duke of Montrose's estates.

Mr. Cassel (U. W. St. Pancras), in seconding the motion, said the Chancellor had made it a practice to select a large landowner in the district and to hold that man up to public odium and ridicule, and his speech at Limehouse in regard to the Duke of Westminster and the Goringe lease was a travesty of the actual facts. The Chancellor said Mr. Goringe had been paying a few hundreds in rent, and that the duke made him pay £4,000 on a renewal of the lease, but, as a fact, Mr. Goringe had been paying £3,600.

Mr. Lloyd George said he was glad these charges had been formulated at least on the floor of the House. He

SCENES AND PRINCIPALS IN GRAVE SITUATION AT ULSTER.

SCENE IN AN ULSTER VOLUNTEER CAMP

That the Ulster situation is exceedingly grave is exemplified by recent developments. Hardly had Sir Edward Carson arrived in Belfast when troops were moving from the centre of Ireland to strategic points in the North. Ball cartridges and ammunition were served out, the motor transport service was called up and troops, embarked at Kingstown, arrived aboard two cruisers in Dublin Bay.

Perhaps the most sensational news, however, was that, following an order from the War Office to the officers in the Curragh camp, that if any of them were unprepared to undertake military service in Ulster they could resign and they would be dismissed from the service with forfeiture of pension.

John Redmond, the nationalist leader, is hopeful of an amicable settlement of the entire situation and trusts there will be no blood shed.

had delivered twelve speeches during the recess. Nine passed without question; three were the subject of the present debate. He had only mentioned the name of the Duke of Bedford in order to state that he was reputed to be a good landlord.

With regard to the Goringe lease said the ground rent in respect of these premises was originally £350, and the tradesmen who occupied them, largely by their own exertions, created a value to which not a penny was contributed by the Westminster estate. Mr. Goringe came along and bought on the lease at the improved value. Then the lease expired. The ground rent was raised to £4,000 and a premium of £50,000 was demanded. Mr. Goringe, of course had to pay he had built up his business there.

The Goringe case was a good illustration of the injustice of landowners receiving great values created by local and municipal enterprise without contributing at all towards them and it was also an illustration of the injustice from which traders were suffering.

A Unionist seated on one of the gangway steps interjected a remark: "The hon. and learned gentleman needn't skulk there," came the hot retort from Mr. Lloyd George, and instantly the House was in a blaze of excitement. The Deputy Speaker commanded silence. "Will the right hon. gentleman be good enough to address the Chair, and then I can follow him," he admonished Mr. Lloyd George, who accepted the rebuke with a bow, but rejoined that he was only answering an interrupter.

In the Loch Arklet case if he made an apology at all it would be to the Duke of Montrose for having blamed him instead of the learned gentleman

SMOKERS' MINDS LOSE 10 PER CENT. OF POWER

Prof. Bush's Tests Show Cigarettes Worst of Nicotine Foes to Brains.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Tobacco smoking causes a decrease of 10.5 per cent. in mental efficiency, according to a series of experiments by Dr. A. D. Bush, the results of which are set forth in the current number of the New York Medical Journal.

There was a series of 120 tests on each of fifteen men in several different psychic fields. The subjects volunteering for the experiments all were medical students ranging in age from twenty-one to thirty-two years of varying previous experience, from the farm laborer to the life long student; of divergent mental capacity, and of differing habits as to tobacco addiction. The subjects were attendants at the University of Vermont, where Prof. Bush is an instructor in physiology.

Among the findings are: The greatest actual loss was in the field of imagery, 22 per cent. The three greatest losses were in the fields of imagery, perception and association.

The greatest loss in these experiments occurred with cigarettes. Nicotine was not found in the smoke of any tobacco except that of cigarettes, and then only in traces.

Pyridine was found in the smoke of all tobaccos tested.

Pyridine is one of the decomposition products of nicotine, the latter being almost twenty-two times as poisonous as pyridine, so far as its action on the human body is concerned.

This was the first extensive investigation of the mental effect of smoking. The recent tests at Columbia University and elsewhere were chiefly for the physical effects on students in athletic training.

Bomb at a Vicarage.

The Malvern police are investigating the discovery of a bomb at Malvern Link vicarage. One of the servants found it near the front door. The bomb consisted of a tin of gunpowder and shot of various sizes with a piece of lead pipe and unlighted fuse. The vicar, the Rev. A. Day, removed it to the lawn, and it was subsequently placed in water.

Vermont's first marble quarry, opened about 1795, still is being profitably operated.

Smith quoted one of Mr. Lloyd George's parentheses.

"Oh, these dukes. How they harass us!" "The Government, I fancy, only creates barons," Mr. Smith remarked caustically, and recalled that Mr. Lloyd George had said of the transaction: "it is blackmail." When he published that speech in book form the version was altered.

"Altered by the right hon. gentleman who never runs away, not even at Birmingham," sneered Mr. Smith. Ministerialists shouted "Withdraw!" with taunts of "Gallop!"

The corrected version, pursued Mr. Smith, read: "This system—it is the system I am attacking—is not business, it is blackmail!"

"Whenever I hear the Chancellor in his pathetic platform mood," said Mr. Smith, "I always recall a line from 'The Ingoldsby Legends.' It is from a poem called 'The Vulgar Little Boy.' (Roars of laughter from both sides.) 'This is the line he recalls,' went on Mr. Smith: 'Recoils he gammons so the flats, We call him Weepin' Bill, The division resulted, 304 to 240— Government majority, 64.'

Horseman's Mishap.

Returning to Chertsey, after following the hounds, Lieut.-General Sir Edward Hutton was thrown by his horse into a ditch. The animal also fell, but the narrowness of the ditch kept Sir Edward from feeling its full weight. He was supported by one arm and leg, but with his free hand he stroked the horse and kept it quiet until a man in charge of a passag motor-delivery van came to his aid. Sir Edward broke a tendon in his wrist.

To prevent death by poison tablets taken in mistake, an inventor has brought out tablets coated with rubber, which is said to resist the stomach acids long enough for a tablet to pass out of the system.

Mr. Chamberlain Apostrophised.

He (Mr. Chamberlain) was compared by the Leader of the House to Jack Cade, and Lord Salisbury said he was an inveterate Cockney. Another called him an unscrupulous demagogue, and another said he was weeping crocodile tears for electioneering purposes (Loud laughter).

The answer given by Mr. Chamberlain to Lord Salisbury was worth repeating. He said he could not call to mind a single beneficent reform promoted by the landed gentry, and he said it was two inveterate Cockneys, Bright and Cobden, who aroused the nation to a sense of the iniquitous system which taxed the bread of the people in order to raise the rent for the landlords.

The offer of the Sutherland acres to the Government excited Mr. Lloyd George's scorn. The land was offered at 25s. an acre. The late duke had sold 10,000 acres of land in the same district to the Government for 17s. 5d. an acre. When the Government took it there were over thirty-four. At the same rate 1,400 people could be put on the land offered to the Government by the duke.

In conclusion, he complained that instead of trying to remedy the admitted evils they attacked the Minister who was trying to root up the evils.

Mr. F. E. Smith, rising from the Front Opposition Bench, asked when the Government's new-found affection for the agricultural labourer began. From 1906 to 1914 they did nothing. Now they only took it up for the sake of an election cry. Mr.
