A Sunset Reverie.

We watch the sunset marvels
In the western skies aglow,
With their masses of gold and crimson,
And the colours come and go,
Till at last, when slowly fading
From our gaze, our spirits long
For the ever-dying glories,
And the everlasting song.

While They are With Us.

Dorothy Maynard was lying on the table for supper, and as she passed to and fro between pantry and dining-room she glanced apprehensively from the window.
"There comes father out of Bruce's saloon again, mother," she said at last. "Sometimes I think I cannot live through the shame and disgrace of having father do as he is doing. I am getting so I actually dread to see him coming towards the house, especially when there is company, for he is almost sure to have been drinking. I have lost all patience with him, and feel almost as if I should never care to spend another vacation at home. I am sure Miss Wilde has noticed it, and must despise us all for father's actions."
There was no answer, and Dorothy, not looking at her mother, could not see the look of pain in the wistful eyes that were gazing through the window at the abby form coming up the back walk with slow, uncertain steps, as if dreading to enter the house.

Outside the window, on the vine-covered porch, Miss Wilde, the summer boarder, had overheard Dorothy's outbreak, and a sudden mistiness blurred for a moment her view of the peaceful green fields and woods beyond the village. She seemed to see again her girlhood's humble home, and because the memory caused her heart to ache with keen remorse, she resolved to make an effort to save the girl indoors from a fate such as her own. Accordingly, after the supper dishes were washed, she drew Dorothy to a seat beside her on the porch and said:

"Dorothy, I could not help hearing what you said concerning your father this evening, and because I know so well how you feel, and want to save you, if possible, a remorse that has been mine, I am going to tell you a bit of my own life, which has hitherto remained closed."
"When I was a girl of your age, I, like yourself, was away from my home trying to earn money. My object was to pay of the mortgage which rested upon our little home, so that father and mother, who were growing old and feeble, might never be homeless. For a few years all went well. Father saved all possible from his earnings to help with the mortgage, but as he grew more feeble and incapable, his wages were diminished, and he was obliged to contract debts for the ordinary necessities of life. This he did not confide to me, not wishing to add to my already burdened, but through weakness and discouragement he yielded to temptation and began drinking."

"I shall never forget with what horror and misery I realized the situation. In the strength of youth I could not understand and pity the weakness of age, especially when surrounded by poverty and misfortune. I did not stop to consider the allurements the saloon holds forth to tempt weary, discouraged men to forget their struggle and discouragement for a time at least, or try to counteract his influence by making home happier and more attractive. I loved him devotedly through it all—that thought in my only comfort now—but I did not tell him of my unchanging affection, or strive to win him back to home and love. Instead, when he came into the house with unsteady steps and staggering tongue, I was filled with relations anger against the habit of which he was the slave, and which was taking all the brightness and happiness from our lives, and maintained a moody silence in his presence, feeling a sense of relief when he left the house. O, if I had only put my arms around his neck, assuring him of my love, and using every means in my power to keep him in my power to keep him at home, instead of feeling glad when he went, I might have prevented him, many times, from returning to haunts of vice, for I was his only daughter, and could have influenced him for good, I am sure, if I had of tried in the right way."

"Poor father! How often I think now of his kindness and love for me, which never failed through all his wrong-doing, and my consequent flume of liquor, I often caught a wistful look in his eyes, and a tender note in his voice, as he called me his 'own dear girl.' Who knows but I might have pleaded with him lovingly, and established helpful relations between us which would have been a safeguard to him?"

"I recall one occasion in particular, when I discovered that the silver watch he had cherished for so many years was missing. I asked him where it was, and shall never forget the look in his eyes, or the brave effort at cheerfulness with which he replied: 'Oh, I owe Brown a little bill for groceries, and let him take it for security. I'll have it back in a short time, dear. I don't really need it, you know.' It is one of the keenest regrets of my life that I did not say to him: 'I will give you the money to pay your bill, but I will have the watch back for me.'"

"I remember telling mother at that time that father's wrong-doing was spoiling my life and unfitting me for either work or pleasure—that not only were my vacations made miserable, but, after returning to work, my thoughts were constantly with him, dreading some new shame and disgrace resulting from his habit of drink. I can see and hear yet the address in her eyes and voice as she answered me, 'yes I know dear; I have it to bear, too.' I can understand, now, how wrong and selfish I must have been not to realize that her sorrow was, after all, greater than mine, and endeavor to bring about a brighter state of affairs, instead of dwelling solely upon my own discomfort, and accepting the darkest view of the case, without making the least effort to brighten it."

"It was not long after this that I went to my work one bright June morning with a letter from home which I read on the way. It was from mother, and in it she gave me father's message as usual. This time it was, 'Tell my own dear girl that I would love to see her. Tell her I am falling.' My first impulse was to go to him immediately. Then my heart rose in rebellion as bitterly I remembered that liquor was undoubtedly hastening his infirmity."

"That was the last message I ever received from father. A few days later he died this morning. Kind words were nothing more. But all the desolation that had ever come into my life before was as nothing compared with the anguish that filled my heart at sight of those words, and which has never quite left me since that day."

"After hours of weary travel I stood by my father's casket in my gray robe of June morning. My hot tears fell upon his quiet face. 'How I missed his greeting, which had never before failed me! I had not known what a large place he occupied in my heart, until he had slipped away from me. The faults that had seemed so grievous to me in the past were small now, compared with the man's acts of loving kindness and unselfishness. I could recall I realized as never before how the dear life now gone out forever, had been full always of poverty and disappointment and hard work, so pitifully empty of anything like ease, or pleasure, or even the ordinary comforts of life, and I might have warmed and cheered and filled it with my love. I mother had done her best. She had loved and lovingly filled the wife's place, but she could not do the daughter's part; that was for me, and the opportunity was past. I lifted the hands that had toiled to make my childhood comfortable and happy, and in my anguish I called 'Father, Oh, father!' and then I realized the kind voice would never answer my call again. The lips that had no kind word, when I was the kiss of welcome were silent forever. Over and over again I sobbed out my love for him, but it was too late. The dull ears heeded no longer the message that might have been sent me such to him in life."

"That seems long ago, Dorothy. Twice a year, since then I journey to the little country churchyard where we laid him, and place flowers on his grave. Often I kneel above the mound trying to look through at the kind face beneath, always with the same bitter remorse for the work of love left undone."

"As Harriett Wilde stopped speaking, a slow, uncertain step was heard on the back porch. Dorothy's face was buried in her hands, through which tears were streaming. She arose at once, and placing a quick kiss on her friend's cheek with an earnest 'Thank you,' went swiftly through the house. A moment later Miss Wilde heard a cheery greeting: 'Is that you, daddy?' There she saw Dorothy seated herself on the top step beside her father, and heard her say: 'I am glad you came home early tonight, because mother has gone to the neighbors' and I shall want you to go with me to bring her home by and by.'

"And Harriett Wilde, closely clasping in her hand an old-fashioned silver watch, knew that her story was not told in vain, and although her heart was aching with the re-opening of the old wound, she was filled with a great joy and gladness and through her effort her friend might be taught the lesson of love's influence.

ST. VITUS DANCE.

A Severe Case Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

St. Vitus dance is a disease of the nerves brought on by a morbid condition of the blood. It is a common disease with children, and attacks females oftener than males. The only cure lies in plenty of pure blood, because good blood is the life food of the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure even the most severe forms of this trouble because they enrich the blood supply, thus carrying the necessary food to the nerves. In proof of this we have the statement of Mrs. Alex. Cameron, Summerside, P. E. I., who says:—"Some years ago my daughter Lena, then a child of ten years, became afflicted with St. Vitus dance. At that time she was attending school and the first indication I had that something was wrong, was that she appeared easily discouraged in her studies. She was naturally a spirited child, not given to tears, but she would cry over what I thought should be easy work for her. The disease progressed so rapidly that in the course of a few weeks she became unable to hold anything in her hands, and we were obliged to take her out of school. She became so afflicted that she could not hold a cup to her lips without suddenly losing hold of it. I knew from the first by the symptoms that her ailment was St. Vitus dance, and despaired of seeing her cured, as it was looked on as such a hopeless ailment. She became so bad that she could not hold herself still for the space of ten seconds. Her hands or feet were continually moving and last of all she would contort her features so that she was losing her natural expression. At this stage I chanced on a paper containing a testimonial in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, describing the cure of a little girl afflicted as mine was. I hastened to get a couple of boxes of the Pills, and by the time she had used them I noticed a decided change for the better, and purchased a further supply. By the time she had taken seven boxes she was entirely cured. Although she seemed thoroughly cured I was afraid the disease might return again, but it never did, and she has since enjoyed the best of health. I cannot thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enough for what they did for my child, and I hope my experience may be of benefit to someone afflicted as my daughter was."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be obtained by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Look Ahead for Illness.

Sudden illness and pains come in every family—to parents and children alike. But if you have looked ahead, and have right in your home and ready for immediate use a bottle of Peppermint Nervine—there is no need to worry over it. If it is a sore throat or contracted chest, apply Nervine and put on a Nervine Plaster. If its cool, cramps, or any other stomach disorder, just administer ten drops of Nervine in hot water. No family medicine are more useful or more depended upon in emergencies than Nervine and Nervine Porous Plasters. They keep the doctor bill small. etc. each at all dealers. Renew all substitutes.

John and Mary had been sharing one chair all the evening. John sat on the chair, and Mary sat on John. After about three hours of this, Mary suddenly exclaimed:

"Oh John aren't you tired?"
John smiled a brave, patient smile. "Not now," he said gently. "No not now. I was about an hour ago, but now I'm only paralyzed."

Manitoba wheat
food value than any other. It makes the most nutritious Bread and Biscuits. But it contains so much Gluten (Nourishment) that the dough won't rise properly, and the bread is both heavy and starchy.
That is the reason, too, why Manitoba wheat flour does not yield good pastry.

Beaver Flour

is both a bread flour and a pastry flour. It is a blend of Ontario Fall Wheat and Ontario Spring Wheat. It contains just the right proportion of each to make the most nutritious Bread—the whitest Bread—and the lightest, most delicious Pastry of all kinds.

Beaver Flour also yields MORE Bread, etc., to the barrel, than any other.

No matter what other flour you are using, you are not getting the best results because you are not using the best flour.

Order a trial sack of Beaver Flour. The first baking will prove its quality.

The Colchester Case.

Mr. John Stanfield, Conservative, was elected in Colchester, N. S., as a member of the House of Commons on November 28th, 1907. His majority was 203. The towns of Truro and Acadia Mines gave him a majority of 437, but this was reduced by the vote in the rural districts, which generally favored Mr. Hill, his opponent. For many years Colchester was regarded as a sure Conservative seat. Mr. Seymour Crutley, who started Parliament from time to time, sat for Colchester. He was succeeded by Mr. A. F. Lawrence, a Liberal, and on his death the seat was carried by Mr. Stanfield.

Nine months after the election the Liberals have caused the arrest of a man named A. R. Payne on the charge that he used money and while corruptly to influence the election of Mr. Stanfield. Some sensational evidence has been adduced, and naturally the Liberal press is 'festering' it. At this distance it is difficult to say how much importance is to be attached to the case, for ex parte statements, particularly when touching on politics or elections, are notoriously untrue. But the case bears some remarkable features that are worthy of mention.

First of all, be it understood that the News does not defend rascality of any kind in elections. If a Conservative buys his way into Parliament he stands on the same level as a Liberal who has adopted that path to statesmanship. This country has been cursed by a devilish ingenuity in thwarting the will of the electorate, as the records of the Ross Government in Ontario will show. It is time that the methods of Walpole were dropped forever. For that reason citizens of every political stripe should welcome the exposure of crookedness and impropriety in elections, for only by constant exposure will the evil be crushed.

Colchester, as a part of Nova Scotia, is ruled by a Liberal Government. Of the eighteen seats in the House of Commons, all but one, Colchester, are occupied by Liberals. The election of Mr. Stanfield was a direct blow at the Liberal Government in Ottawa, and particularly at the prestige of Mr. Fielding, who, it was supposed, held Nova Scotia in the hollow of his hand. Every opportunity for investigating the methods used in the election was convenient to the Liberal politicians, who were surprised and annoyed at Mr. Stanfield's success.

Yet on action was taken. Evidence now submitted is intended to show that any one could get whisky during the campaign. If that were so why were the authorities so surprisingly deliberate? Another point. It is practically certain that the general elections will take place in a few weeks. Undoubtedly if it could be shown that the Opposition employed the same brazen and conscientious electoral methods as the Government agents did in London, the hostility of the voters towards the Administration might be modified.

But while a protest was entered in due form against the election of Mr. Stanfield, it was not pressed. Why not? There is generally one of two reasons why such a case does not go to trial, either by arrangement with the opposing party for a 'saw off' or for lack of evidence. What saw-off could be offered by the Conservatives in a bye-election? Plainly none. So that the Colchester protest must have been hung up for lack of evidence. Yet nine months after a man is arrested, and a line of evidence which has all the grace and polish of a campaign document is sent to the public. And the latest rumor is that the general election will be held on October 23rd. Toronto News.

Most Women Worry.

Worry is a disease—and it's more—it produces other diseases, because it breaks down the nerves and saps the vitality of the body.
"What a pity women don't realize that if they were well—it the blood was nutritious—if the nerves were strong—if all the organs were active—then little things that irritate and prey on the mind wouldn't receive a moment's thought.
The woman who worries has a poor appetite—she sleeps poorly. If it only lasted for a day or two it might be of small consequence—but she grows thin, miserable, unhappy—worse day by day.
She needs Ferreroze which cures worry by curing the conditions that render worry impossible. For nervous, weak women, no tonic is so good; thousands it has cured just like Mrs. M. E. Etherington, of Troy, who writes: 'I am quite willing to give a public testimonial for Ferreroze, believing it to be a tonic of superior excellence, and one that will rapidly build up strength and supply new energy to anyone not feeling well. Last spring I was in a poor condition of health. I was nervous, felt tired, and completely worn out. No doubt it is quite a common complaint with ladies of my age, but I placed great reliance in Ferreroze, and took it for several weeks. It made me quite strong, and in fact I have been in better health ever since. I can heartily recommend Ferreroze.'
Ferreroze cures by making good blood, strong nerves and a healthy body.
This is why it gives color, clearness to the skin, buoyancy to the step, brightness to the eyes—because with good digestion and activity of the bowels in the parts there's health. Price 50c. per box at all dealers.

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 4, 1908.

Town Council Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Council was held on Wednesday evening with the Mayor and Couns. McKenna, Abbott, Hales and Ford present.

Owing probably to the reported liveliness of late meetings an unusually large number of rate-payers were present.

Reports were presented by the Water, Police and Finance committees.

The Water Committee reported the replacing of the one-inch pipe on Casperau avenue by a four-inch pipe with proper connections. A one-inch had been laid from the main on Elm avenue to Dr. Payzant's tenement on Front street; also connection with fountain at Capt. R. Pratt's.

The Committee on Police and License reported the sum of $17.00 received for licenses, $57.50 for dog-tax and $2.00 for fine—in all $76.50.

The Finance Committee reported receipts from various sources during the month $107.79 and expenditures $76.51. The debit bank balance on Aug. 31st was $1965.16.

The following accounts were read and voted on:

J. W. Beech	5.25
J. J. Ritchie	20.00
B. M. Archibald	31.00
Contingent Account	2.20
Valley Telephone Co.	1.00
Acadia Electric Light Co.	44.79
Bear River Granite Works	892.80

The report of E. M. Archibald, the engineer employed by the committee to make surveys and furnish estimates on electric-lighting plants for the town, was read by the town clerk. This report was a voluminous one, and gave a vast amount of information. Three schemes were proposed, viz., water-power, steam and gas producer—the estimated cost being $38,730, $24,200 and $36,300 respectively. On motion the report was laid on the table pending its discussion at a special meeting to be called for the purpose.

Coun. McKenna brought up the matter of the resolution passed on June 3rd, referring to the prohibiting of the use of the school playground, and urged that since it had been unanimously re-considered at the last regular meeting of the Council, the original motion be now voted on. The motion being put to the meeting it was passed, Couns. Ford, Abbott and Hales voting for and Coun. McKenna against.

On behalf of the building committee of the New Science building, Dr. Cochran, Prof. F. R. Hales and Mr. C. R. H. Starr appeared before the Council with regard to their petition to recent meeting for a four-inch main on University avenue. This petition was granted on the condition that the governors pay for the eighty feet of two-inch pipe laid down last summer at the request of the college authorities. The committee objected, to taking over the old pipe as they have no need at some length, in which members of the Council and committee took part. No action was taken.

Layman's Missionary Movement.

The banquet held on Monday evening in the Baptist church in the interests of the Layman's Missionary Movement was largely attended and the scheme was successfully launched. Tables were placed in the vestry and the dinner was prepared by Mrs. Rod, Chabolin, and served in a manner reflecting great credit upon those who had it in charge.

After the wants of the inner man were satisfied the chair was taken by Dr. G. E. DeWitt, who called upon Rev. Dr. Austen K. deBlois, of Chicago, as the first speaker. Dr. deBlois made an earnest and eloquent address. Speaking of his recent journeys in Missionary lands he said: "Knowledge of conditions here bears home the terrible reality that we are only playing at missions, and the awakening cry in these lands must be, in India for instance, either, 'India for Indians, or 'India for Christ.'"

In a discussion which followed, Rev. R. A. Smith, of Philadelphia, participated. Mr. Smith is another distinguished clergyman who has recently visited the mission field. He said: "The East is awakening; and the so-called 'yellow peril' is Christianity's golden opportunity. Now is the time to advance against the crumbling walls of heathendom—to-morrow will be too late."

Mr. Blackhouse, Superintendent of Western Missions in Canada, said that it would cost the Baptist church members in this country only about $2.00 each, per annum, for the evangelization of the world. We have the men, but we have not the money to send them.

The following resolution was then moved by W. H. Chase and seconded by J. D. Chambers:—"Believing it to be the duty of the Church of Christ to preach the Gospel to every creature, this meeting fully endorsed the Layman's Missionary Movement to pray, to give, to study, and to work, as God may give an opportunity, that the church of this generation may obey God's command, and in view of the imperative demands upon the churches of Canada to meet the conditions created by the rapid opening and settlement of our own country, and the ever-increasing immigration. We concur with the Canadian sin of the movement in embracing the whole of the mission work carried on by our churches both at home and abroad."

We also agree to identify ourselves with the Layman's Missionary Movement when organized and to initiate it where it is not, till every man in our churches is embraced in its purpose. This resolution was passed unanimously by the meeting.

THE BIG EXHIBITION AT HALIFAX IS NOW ON.

The Provincial Exhibition at Halifax by the time this reaches our readers will be on its full swing. The management has left nothing undone that could be accomplished to make the exhibition thoroughly good in its great regular as well as in its amusement features. The exhibition comes at a season of the year when a visit to Halifax is specially pleasant and a large attendance is expected. For the accommodation of visitors the Commission has opened a Lodging Bureau on Hollis street, near the big hotels, under the Superintendency of Mr. W. J. Bell. Those in need of accommodation should immediately proceed to Mr. Butler's office, 135 Hollis St., where they will be promptly and satisfactorily provided for.

A change has been made in the Racing Programme. One of its features is the 2-30 Station Trot for Saturday afternoon of this week.

Monday of next week, 'Labor Day', will be one of the greatest days of the Exhibition. The attendance from the City and Province will be large, and in addition to the Horse Races, patrons of the Grand Stand will see the great long distance foot-race. The Commission are expecting to be able to hold 'Logboats' and some of the other runners who are here to compete in the Canadian Championship, over next Wednesday to take part in the Road Race at the Track.

The Japanese tea given in the Baptist vestry on Tuesday evening was a very successful and interesting affair. The proceeds, which are to be devoted towards the educating of a little girl in India, amounted to the creditable sum of $43.00.

The annual business meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Monday afternoon, when reports were presented and officers elected for the ensuing year. The report of the year's work with list of officers elect will appear in the regular column next week.

A mass meeting under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the Baptist church next Sunday evening, at the close of the regular services. An address will be given by Rev. H. P. Laflamme. Music will be furnished by a choir and solos by Miss Annie H. Murray and Mr. Fred Bishop will be rendered. There will be a collection in aid of the world's mission. It is hoped there may be a large attendance.

The Wolfville public schools reopened on Monday of this week, there being a good attendance in all departments. Quite a number of pupils from outside the town are taking advantage of the benefits of the school. This, however, by the way, appears to be decidedly unpopular with the citizens and will likely be repealed at the next meeting of the School Board. If the members of the Board consider the wishes of the rate-payers in this matter, the former rate will be returned to. The present efficient staff of teachers is as follows:

- R. W. Ford, Principal. Miss Rosamond Archibald. Miss Rible Cochrane. Miss Rible Cochrane. Miss Alice Spurr. Miss Vera M. Sulist. Miss Spurr, who was a valued member of the staff last year, is substituting for her sister, Miss Hortense Spurr, who is unable on account of illness to be present at the beginning of the season.

It is to be hoped that the teachers and members of the Board may receive the fullest co-operation of the citizens in their efforts to make our schools efficient in every particular. One of the most worthy institutions of the town, and much more importance should be attached to its conduct on the part of the citizens than is now the case.

The contracting parties this time being Miss Mabel Potter, only daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Alfred Potter, and Dr. Brill Bassett Loomer, of Sheffield Mills. The Upper Baptist church, the scene of the wedding, was attractively decorated with golden glow, asparagus and potted plants and an arch of evergreen under which the bridal party stood. Gaspereau.

Perhaps a few items from the valley will prove interesting to the many readers of this valuable paper.

Last week we were glad to welcome back our pastor, Rev. J. W. Brown, and family, who have been spending their vacation at the sea-shore. We were glad to hear him once more on Sunday and learn that the vacation had given him the much needed rest.

The holidays are now to a close, and the sound of the school bell is again heard calling the children to studies. The teachers for the advanced and primary departments are Mr. Ross F. Caldwell and Miss Grace Hennigar, of Chester Basin. The two successful candidates for 'C' at the recent examinations are Miss Hattie Benjamin and Miss Mattie Kinzie. Congratulations.

Mrs. Frank Caldwell and two children, who have been visiting relatives here, returned home last Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Austin Eagles and family. They intend making their home in Mass.

Mrs. F. M. Davidson and daughter, Mrs. J. Barnes, left on Tuesday for their home in San Francisco. They have spent two months visiting friends in and around the valley and think after all there is no better place to live than in Nova Scotia.

Among the recent appointments to the staff of teachers at Acadia Seminary we notice that of Miss Cassie Benjamin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin, of this place. We wish her every success in her new work.

Miss Winnie MacGowan, of Hillton, has been visiting at the home of her uncle, Mr. Judson Millet.

Rev. and Mrs. E. Pryor Caldwell have been spending a week in the valley at the home of Mrs. Delight Caldwell. They returned to their home at New Ross on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pleadwell and daughter Lovora, of East Aurora, N. Y., are visiting at Mrs. Pleadwell's home here. We hope she will be benefited by this much needed rest.
