Cantankerous Obstinate Watches.

If you are the owner of a cantankerous, obstinate watch, that utterly refuses to behave itself decently and tell time correctly, why not bring it to the and let our expert repairers diagnose its case? An erratic unreliable watch is little better than no watch at all. The longer you allow it to misbehave the more difficult the repairer's task will be in the end and the greater the cost of repair. Putting off the fixing of a Watch or Clock that has gotten out of order is a losing and shortsighted policy. Has this any home application to any of your timepieces? If so our Repair Department is ready and waiting.

Dr. Wood's

Norway Pine Syrup

Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Grogg, Asthma, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, Etc.

It stops that tickling in the throat, its pleasant to take and soothing and healing to the lungs. Mr. E. Bishop Brand, the well-known cell gardener, writes:— I had a very severe attack of sore throat and tightness in the chest. Some times when I wanted to cough and could not I would almost choke to death. My wife got me a bottle of Dr. Wood's NORWAY PINE SYRUP, and to my surprise I found speedy relief. I would not be without it if it cost $100 a bottle, and I can recommend it to everyone bothered with a cough or cold.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE BOYS' CLOTHES.

Mom always makes me mad clean through
The way she buys my clothing,
She always picks out things for you
That fills her soul with loathing.
It's happened time an' time again
When I want something sporty
She sets her mind on somethin' plain,
"Real cheap at seven-fry."
I try a suit that fits me right—
A fit there ain't no doubt of—
An' blamed if she don't say: "Too tight!"
Too easy to grow out of,"
She sez I'm jist "a little brute"
An' "I've her to distraction,"
But she ain't never brought a suit
That's gave me satisfaction.
I may be bad, but, Jiminee I
I ain't a-go' to bear it.
I guess I know the suit for me,
Since I'm the one to wear it.
I kicked so hard to-day, O my!
I tell you I don't wonder
She went right home an' told Pop I
Wez "gittin' quite beyond her."
Then Pop he sez a word, se he,
That filled my soul with laughter.
He sez he's goin' along o' me
To buy my clo'es hereafter!

One day a fussy creature met the famous Father Healy of Dublin by the seashore, and thus accosted him: "Father Healy, I'm undergoing a cure, and I take a tumbler of sea-water three times a day. Now I've had full allowance today; but do you think I might have one, just one tumbler more?"
Father Healy put his head on one side and looked at the ocean, lost in thought. "Well," he said at last with a gravelly judicial air, "I don't think it would be missed."

The giddy young graduate puteth on fine raiment and seeketh for a job and is employed by an impecunious young lawyer at four dollars per week, but the experienced stenographer getteth herself up like a trump, and seeketh a paying position with a business man of family. The "Limerick Leader" says: After the month's mind for the late Dr. MacRedmond, Bishop of Killaloe, May 20, the selection of a successor to the See took place at the Cathedral, Ennis. Dr. Fogarty, vice president of Maynooth College, got 25 votes; Dr. Kelly, 17, and Dean White, 6. Dr. Fogarty was accordingly declared elected, subject to the sanction of his Holiness the Pope.

Let us endeavor, all through this month of June, the month of the Sacred Heart, to make one visit daily to the Blessed Sacrament in church, or at least to turn our thoughts and prayers to the nearest altar where, for the love of our Blessed Saviour, dwells beneath the sacramental veils.—Sacred Heart Review.

"There seems to be good reason to be apprehensive as to the 'yellow peril' that threatens us in the pagan east," says the Pittsburg Observer. "But we have, unfortunately, a 'yellow peril' in our midst already—yellow journalism—and we have grown almost indifferent to the havoc which it is causing, especially to our youth."

The attitude of Russia toward the Catholic Church and Catholic people is being discussed rather widely at present. The Catholic Advance of Wichita, Kansas, believes Russia is kindly disposed toward Catholics, and it adds: "By the way, the best Catholic, the truest Catholic, the best-instructed Catholic in the State of Kansas, are immigrants from Russia, and, judging from their wonderful strength of body, they evidently had enough to eat and not much to worry them."

The Review of St. Louis finds fault with the new-fangled memorial exercises, the idea of which here and there a Catholic society borrows from secular organizations like the Elks. "For ourselves, old fogies as we are," says our St. Louis contemporary, "we prefer the practice of 'old-fashioned' Catholic societies who cause the holy sacrifice of the Mass to be offered up for their departed members and attend this most sublime and Catholic function in a body."

A letter from Bishop Haillon, of Uganda, in equatorial Africa, tells of great havoc wrought by storms. On the night of Easter Sunday the church which served as the pro-cathedral at Nambya was blown down and the five thousand Catholics of the mission were left without a place of worship. For the present the Bishop's one-storied adobe house and improvised sheds are used to enable the Christians and catechumens to attend service and receive instructions.

In a letter to his clergy Archbishop Walsh, of Dublin, says: "The points upon which I have thought it advisable to obtain the decision of the Holy See before giving general effect in this diocese to the recently issued canonical regulations regarding sacred music are still under consideration by the Sacred Congregation of Rites. It becomes necessary, then, to extend for a further period the permission already granted for the continuance of the existing arrangements for the choir of the churches throughout the diocese. The permission is hereby extended to the end of June."

Mgr. Lacroix, Bishop of Tarentaise, who was received into audience by Pius XI. a few days ago, has addressed to his clergy a letter containing a report of his interview with the Pope. The most important part of this letter deals with the duties of the clergy in connection with political and electoral matters. Mgr. Lacroix gives the Pope's words as follows: "When I was Bishop of Mantua and later, Patriarch of Venice, I found that most of the difficulties and quarrels which arose between the clergy and the population had their origin in some electoral agitations. At these matters the faithful are inclined to resent priestly intervention, and if a priest endeavors to influence them so as to make them vote in a particular way, and above all, if he has the imprudence, after the elections are over, to jar them with having voted wrongly, he is almost inevitably awakened animosities and compromises his functional rights as a priest. Let the clergy by all means exercise their rights as citizens, but if they were to throw themselves into electoral campaigns, they would soon lose the sympathy and respect which they must command in order to adequately fulfill their spiritual mission. This does not apply merely to the Italian clergy, but to the clergy of all countries where universal suffrage obtains."

"Some of our parishes," says the Catholic Record, "are infested by the beings that are given to undue talking. Male or female, young or old, they are, when addicted to airing their ailments, tiresome and to be avoided by the sensible. When addicted, however, to tearing their neighbors' reputation to pieces and to carting hither and thither every bit of scandal they happen upon, they are a pestiferous brood, and a disgrace to Christianity. For they propagate distrust and enmities and hate. They are the enemies of man and God, and war against the interests of the Church."

"It is claimed that the visit of Loubet under the visit of Charlemagne," says the Leader. "Putting aside the absurd supposition that the work of eleven hundred years can be destroyed in a day, the boast rests on a fundamental error. It was not Charlemagne who on that memorable Christmastide of the year 800 humbled the Papacy; it was the Papacy that recreated the Empire of the West. The Pope did not owe their position to the Germanic Empire or the French Kings, but they prospered in spite of Kingdom and Empire. The greatest of the medieval Popes died a fugitive from the Emperor of Germany, and Boniface VIII., the last of that wide-ranging line, was struck in the face by the emissary of the King of France. The power of the Papacy does not rest on human foundations. It is built on the one corner-stone, Jesus Christ."

There was a great state funeral in Fremantle, Western Australia, on Wednesday, March 16, when the body of Monsieur Etienne Petit, a distinguished Frenchman, chevalier of the Legion of Honor and Governor of the French possessions in the Pacific, was laid to rest in the cemetery of the Australian port. The funeral procession started from St. Patrick's Church, Fremantle. All the high British officials of the Province were in attendance. M. Petit was on his way home with his wife and four children, in the hope of reuniting his health, when death seized him. He was an author of repute, having won the Gobert prizes of the French Academy for his work on "The Colonial Legislation of France." Over and above all, he was a sincere and practical Catholic; and yet on the most cherished principles of such men as he the present Government of France is waging an exterminating religious war. The Catholic Bishop of Perth, the Most Rev. Dr. Gibney, though invited by the Governor to take part in the official ceremony in honor of the deceased, courteously declined, explaining that though he understood with pleasure that M. Petit was an excellent Catholic to whom he was anxious to do honor for his private virtues, yet as he was the official representative of "the most anti-Catholic government in the world" (he the Bishop), as a protest against the anti-Catholic proceedings of that government, refused to take part in the official ceremonial.

ROME, May 18.—Pius X. has so accustomed us to surprises that it should be hard indeed to surprise us now—and yet the latest rumors circulated among competent ecclesiastical authorities in Rome are almost enough to do it if anything can. The rumors say that it is the intention of the Holy Father to call all the bishops of the Catholic world to Rome to conclude the sessions of the great Vatican Council. Everybody knows, of course, that the Vatican Council is merely suspended—not finished. In 1870 the Fathers were obliged to discontinue their labors owing to the disturbed state of Italy and the imminent fall of the temporal power and the occupation of Rome by the Piedmontese. Happily they had been able to define the great dogma of the infallibility of the Pope, but they were obliged to defer a settlement of a great part of their programme, such as the enactment of disciplinary laws and the definition of many important points concerned with the Sacred Scriptures. Vix Urbs has done his best to trace to their source the rumors of the continuation of the Vatican Council, but his efforts so far have failed to make the rumors a certainty. The matter is discussed among many ecclesiastical circles, who consider that the idea is one which would appeal to the apostolic zeal and energy of the present Pontiff, and who are agreed that the times are more propitious now than they have been since 1870. But it is generally felt that at least a couple of years of preparation will be necessary. If the Council does meet now it will certainly surpass all records in the number of bishops who will attend it. The Catholic hierarchy increased by leaps and bounds during the Pontificate of Leo XIII. He added two new Patriarchates, 13 new archdioceses, 22 dioceses raised to the dignity of archdioceses, 118 episcopates, 32 abbeys nullius, five apostolic delegations, 50 new Vicariates apostolice, 16 Vicariates created from Prefectures apostolice, and 32 new Prefectures apostolice, thus increasing by about 200 in round numbers the hierarchy of the Church. It is estimated that at the future sessions of the Council some three thousand ecclesiastical will be present, either as Fathers, theologians, stenographers, etc.

"Among the papers left by a woman suicide in New York," says the Catholic Universe, "was a newspaper clipping detailing the circumstances of the self-inflicted death of another woman, which occurred a few days previously. The second suicide furnishes another proof of the vicious effects of the kind of publicity with which the newspaper supplies us. The daily paper, designated as a feeder of morbid curiosity, inevitably fosters a criminal morbidity among the more weak-minded of its readers. How can we expect a healthy state of public feeling when our journals constantly emphasize only morbid phases of life?"

Alluding to Mr. Hill's gift of $1,500,000 to Archbishop Ireland to help in the erection of a $3,000,000 Cathedral in St. Paul, Minn., the Catholic Transcript, says: "We have had within the fold more wealthy than Mr. Hill—men who lived and departed this life without bestowing a dollar upon the Church which claimed their allegiance. The donative faculty of the Catholic millionaire is slightly undeveloped. How long will a Catholic be suffered to bear the palm for generosity to the Catholic Church? America? The distinction which Mr. Hill enjoys is 'a tribute to him' as it is distinguished to the Catholic 'money king'."

"Edward VII." and his Queen were again sociably, not to say enthusiastically, received in Ireland, remarks the Catholic Transcript. "The King is positively popular among the Channel. He betrays a profound interest in the 'social and commercial well-being' of Ireland. 'What is more,' the people of the distressed country believe that he is sincere in his good wishes and in his efforts for their prosperity. There is among them a growing conviction that if His Majesty could have his way Ireland would be governed more justly and that many of her ancient grievances would be buried. English statesmen may count it good government to restrain and defeat the benevolent intentions of their sovereign, but humanity and the voice of wisdom are on the side of the King—one of the most amiable, if not

Lord Dundonald and the Government.

Considerable excitement has been aroused in military circles, especially in Ottawa and Montreal in consequence of the friction between the Federal Government and Lord Dundonald, Major General commanding the Canadian Militia.

When a nation is in peril, said Lord Dundonald, "the commanding officer has the supreme control of the military appointments and he is responsible to his country for its efficiency in war. In time of peace, unhappily, through political intrigues, we are in their WEB, and appointments are made without regard to military efficiency and to the great peril of the nation's safety."

It appears that the minister of Militia was absent when the list of officers here referred to, came up for confirmation, and he had entrusted to the minister of agriculture, the duty of attending to the matter.

The Rhodes Scholarship.

MR. CAMERON THE SUCCESSFUL MAN.

In our last issue we stated that Mr. William E. Cameron had passed the required examination for the Rhodes Scholarship at Oxford University, and that the local board of examiners, representing the Rhodes Trustees, would select from the competitors the one in their estimation, entitled to go to Oxford this autumn.

"My desire being that the students who shall be elected to the scholarships shall not be merely bookworms, I direct that in the election of the student to a scholarship regard shall be had to (i) his literary and scholastic attainments, (ii) his fondness of and success in many outdoor sports, such as cricket, football, and the like; (iii) his qualities of manhood, truth, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy for the protection of the weak, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship; and (iv) his exhibition during school days of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in schoolmates for those latter attributes will be likely in afterlife to guide him to esteem the performance of public duties as his highest aim."

Cyrus J. McMillan studied at Prince of Wales College, and subsequently at McGill, whence he took his B.A., and last was awarded his M.A. by the same institution. He was and is prominent in athletic sports, and twice won the Maritime Championship for the 1/4 mile run, and for four years Provincial Championship in the 1/2 and 1 mile, still holding the Provincial record in the latter event.

PREMIER PETERS returned from Ottawa on Monday evening, and the Patriot informs us that he brings the information that the arbitration on the Fishery Award has vanished into thin air. Nova Scotia is blamed for blocking the way inasmuch as that Province refused to be a party to the scheme.

There were at first six candidates for the scholarship awarded to this Province, but they had narrowed down to three for the final selection. These three were William E. Cameron, B. A., Cyrus J. McMillan, M. A., and Louis Brehaut, B. A.

when he matriculated in 1895 to the Prince of Wales College standing second on the list of successful candidates for the province. While in college he took first place in nearly all his classes and at the examination for second class license in 1896 led the list.

In 1900 while attending that college he led the list for first license and graduated in 1902 with B. A., from Laval, and in competition with 350 candidates from 17 affiliated colleges stood second on the list of graduates and led all in mathematics and sciences.

Louis Brehaut, B. A., of Murray Harbor, has had a brilliant record as a student. He won a county scholarship, entering the Prince of Wales. He graduated from the latter institution, after two years, with honor diploma and the Anderson Gold Medal for highest standing.

The scholarship carries with it a three year course at Oxford, and $1,500 a year with which to pay expenses. We most heartily congratulate Mr. Cameron on his eminent success, and we congratulate his Alma Mater, St. Dunstan's College.

Our Ottawa Letter. "It is for the people to decide, let them determine whether Canada shall have a Government owned railway or a railway owned Government."

THE WEEK IN PARLIAMENT. During the week a number of Government bills were considered and passed.

In private legislation considerable progress was made. The opposition members pressed several bills in the interest of the public. These were fully discussed but at the instance of the Government were buried in committee instead of being dealt with directly by the committee of the whole house.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was roundly denounced for concealing the original application of the Grand Trunk Pacific promoters for Government aid for the building of a line of railway from North Bay to Port Simpson.

motion was made for all papers of any kind having any bearing on the railway deal.

A motion in favor of further protection for the market gardeners of Canada was voted down by the Liberals. Mr. Archibald Campbell, who was elected to push this very question, sought refuge from a vote by taking the Speaker's chair.

FLOODING CANADA WITH PAUPERS. The city of Montreal is fast to face with a very serious problem, as a result of the insane immigration policy of the Government. Thousands of poverty stricken Italians are walking the streets and have become a charge on the public.

THE GREAT PATH IN THE FUTURE. The Government has a boundless faith in the future. So great is it that they do not propose to bind the Grand Trunk down to any arrangement that will protect the large stake the public will have in the new transcontinental railway.

LAURIER'S HONOR IMPUGNED. The oldest parliamentarian now at Ottawa, fails to recall a more scathing denunciation of a cabinet minister, than that which was hurled at the head of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on a motion by Mr. Burke for all papers not already brought down in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific contract.

STILL DECEIVING THEIR COUNTRY. The Liberal party since it came to power, has apparently learned nothing and forgotten nothing. For years the leaders of the party were wont to condemn, for political purposes, the land of their birth.

DIED. At Fort Augustus, on the 10th, inst., James Wilfrid Cumiskey, son of Hon. James H. Cumiskey, aged 18 years. May his soul rest in peace.

fact that the deal means an increase in the national debt of some $150,000,000, but so notorious has been the neglect of the Liberal side of the House, that on one occasion Sir Wilfrid Laurier was forced to adjourn at six o'clock owing to the indifference shown by his followers to the expenditure of such vast sums of the people's money.

News of the War. St. Petersburg, June 8.—The Government has no more information than the public of the happenings in the neighborhood of Port Arthur. The lack of official news from Southern Liao Tung has spread the usual rumors throughout yesterday.

London, June 9.—The sudden interruption of the cable between Korea and Japan is considered significant in view of the intense operations at Port Arthur, the Japanese having taken precautions as usual to cut the only means of communication with the outside world and thus enable her naval and military forces to work with secrecy.

St. Petersburg, June 10.—General Kurapatkin telegraphs to the Emperor that the Japanese Brigade attacked the Russian detachment occupying Sinaia on June 7th. The Russians retired slowly because the enemy were in great superiority towards Fort Chulin Pass.

Lia Yang, June 11.—The suddenly increased Japanese activity in the neighborhood of Sin Yen, west of Feng Wang Cheng is believed to be rather in the nature of a feint to distract attention from Port Arthur while it is believed that more than half the enemy's forces have gone to a serious forward movement.

At Sammerville, Let 51, Thomas Dunn, aged 83 years. May his soul rest in peace. At Donaldson, on June 9th, Mr. P. C. Kelly, aged 61 years. Deceased was in poor health for more than a year, but he bore his illness with the fortitude that marks the true Christian.

against Canada. For political purposes, they began an attack on Mr. E. B. Oslar, which involved the denunciation of the great prairie section as a place from which the prospective settler could not hope to export his produce.

St. Petersburg, June 9.—One of the most prominent officials of the War Office told the Associated Press correspondent that important news from the front is expected within three days.

THERE has been filed in the United States District Court in Boston by the Canada Atlantic and Plan Steamship Company against the Steamship Republic, of the White Star Line an action to recover twenty thousand dollars damages for injury to the Halifax resulting from a collision between the two steamships in Boston Harbor.

We are in receipt of the prospectus and price list of Prince Edward Island Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition to be held at Charlottetown on Sept. 27, 28, 29, and 30, 1904. It is a pamphlet of 74 pages, neatly prepared and contains all information necessary for exhibitors and visitors. Any one desirous of procuring a copy can do so by writing to the Secretary Charles R. Smallwood, Charlottetown.

In a dimly lighted shack on the shore of Kearney Lake N. S. a terrible tragedy was enacted during the early hours of Sunday morning. Herbert Parr aged 35 years was shot and instantly killed by Albert Bradley aged 22 years, a blacksmith residing on Kempt Road. Three hours after the deed, Bradley was taken in charge by the police and is now held a prisoner at the Halifax Police Station.

At a party at East Baltic, two young men named Grady, seem to have disagreed in some way and one fired a revolver at the other. Fortunately the bullet, which struck near the eye, glanced off leaving a dark mark. This took place early yesterday morning when the party broke up. The names of the men are Austin and Oliver Grady, and were aged respectively 20 and 22. The older man came to Souris and had his wound dressed.

The Opera House was crowded on Wednesday evening last on the occasion of the musical and dramatic entertainment by the pupils of Notre Dame College. The entertainment was excellent throughout and reflected much credit on all who took part. In the beautiful drama, "Dolores" the different actors rendered their parts exceedingly well and elicited the unstinted praise of the whole audience. Professor "Vincennes" Ouchterlony, during the intervals, contributed largely to the evening's enjoyment.

Previous to his departure from St. Dunstan's College to assume pastoral charge of St. Joseph's, Kelly's Cross, and St. Anne's, Lt. Col. Rev. Father O'Connell, was visited upon by the students and presented with a very complimentary address, accompanied by a shaving stand and Morris Book. The address was couched in choice language and admirably composed. The complimentary references in the address to Father Campbell's high qualities as a scholar, teacher and disciplinarian, plainly indicate the esteem in which he was held at the College and the warm place he had in the affections of the students.

SATURDAY afternoon a man giving his name as John E. McDonald, came on board the schooner, Brilliant, Capt. Bourdault at Peak's No 1 wharf. He asked the Captain if he would allow him a passage to the mainland, as he was anxious to work his way home to Cincinnati. The Captain acceded to his request, but said him he had no place for him to sleep except on some sacks in the fore-cabin. He expressed himself as satisfied with this and he would come on board that night. He came on board after all had gone to bed, and all was quiet till Sunday morning, when the cook rising early found his wash and a new suit of clothes were gone, as well as the stranger. The police were notified and it was discovered that the offender had served a term in the penitentiary for larceny of a horse in St. John. At that time he gave his name as Alphonse Levine. He has not been caught.

Word comes from Vancouver, B. C., that William D. Ross, a young lawyer, formerly of this City, was drowned at Vancouver, yesterday morning. Mr. Ross was a native of Stanley Bridge. He studied at Prince of Wales College and Dalhousie, and subsequently studied the law in the office of A. McLean K. C. After being admitted to the bar he practiced his profession here for a short time in partnership with H. J. Palmer. E. J. and left for the west about two years ago.

The trial of Cyrus L. Ryan, formerly of this City, accused of murdering a Chinaman at Hanover, Mass., commenced at Plymouth, Mass., on Tuesday of last week, 7th, inst. It will be remembered that, on January 28th, the Chinaman was found dead in his laundry, his head being in a tub of soapy water and a box of soap across his shoulders. The case was opened by District Attorney French, who described the condition of affairs at the dead laundryman's place of business, on the 28th, of January, and intimated that robbery must have been the object of the murder. A revolver was found in Ryan's possession, formerly owned by the dead Chinaman, and the Attorney, and also a watch. Several witnesses were called, who, in a general way, testified to seeing the prisoner at the laundry on the day of the murder. The defence opened on Thursday the 9th. In his opening address, Ryan's lawyer admitted that Ryan killed the Chinaman but he said the defence, Ryan, himself, called for a shirker the laundryman was doing up for him; but it could not be found. He called three times for it, on the day in question; but, through some mistake in delivery, the shirt was gone. Some words ensued, when the Chinaman produced a revolver and threatened to shoot Ryan dead. The latter greeted the Chinaman by the throat, and fell to the floor dead. Ryan then, realising what happened, put his head in the tub of water and placed the box of soap over his shoulders, took the revolver and went away. The prisoner on the stand, gave good evidence, along the line indicated by his lawyer. Rev. J. Johnston, of St. Margaret's, Mayor Kelly, Marshall Cameron and Donald Nicholson of this City were present at the trial, and all testified to the good conduct and character of the prisoner, before going away. The trial concluded on Saturday, when the prisoner was found guilty of murder in the second degree.

A terrible story of man-slaughter and homicide comes from Gloucester, N. B. It is to the effect that John McRae was killed on Saturday night by his son Jack, in a drunken row. The McRae's belonged to West River, in this Province, but the young man went to Gloucester Bay, four years ago, and for a time worked as a carpenter. He then went into the liquor business and up to Saturday night was running a large bar room. The father had a good farm at West River, but generally followed work as a ship carpenter. He also worked at crib and breakwater work. It appeared he was quarrelsome when in liquor, and in consequence of his numerous fights in Charlottetown, was known by the name of "Bully McRae". The story goes that the older McRae left twenty dollars with the son for safe-keeping about a week previous to the trouble, and on Saturday night went into the bar room and demanded it back. Jack refused and a quarrel at once commenced. One man present interfered, but was beaten off by Jack. A policeman hearing the row tried to get in but found the doors locked. He then went and brought the chief of police when they forced an entrance. The younger McRae was found standing over his father apparently trying to restore him to consciousness. Pools of blood covered the floor and was on the walls. Jack and all others present in the bar room were placed under arrest. The dead man was very much battered and broken. A coroner's inquest was held on Monday.

Montreal Chinese Enter the Fold.

Sixty-two Chinamen were baptized in St. Patrick's Church, Montreal, on Sunday, May 22.

Father Callaghan, says "La Presse" of Montreal, comes of a family famous for having given three sons to the Church...

Father Callaghan is credited, under God, with being the means of the conversion of nearly five thousand persons from all stages of belief and unbelief...

The difficulties encountered, the labors and exertions necessitated by this sort of ministry can hardly be exaggerated, especially when we consider that the work is individual in every case...

CHINESE-SPEAKING MISSIONARY COMING. Despite the difficulties, however, Father Callaghan has succeeded admirably, as the results show.

The provincial of the Jesuits in Canada has interested himself in the matter, and the Jesuits in China have picked out a man who will soon leave that country for Montreal.

Recently a delegation of 140 of them, headed by Father Callaghan, waited on the Archbishop and read to him the following address:

Your Grace: The Catholic Chinese of Montreal are happy in offering your Grace the homage of their profound respect and of the sincere esteem in which they hold your person.

us have received baptism and a greater number long for the same happiness. "But a great obstacle stood in the way of our spiritual advancement.

ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI'S REPLY. The Archbishop thanked them kindly for their address and spoke of the happiness it afforded him to see around him so many of them whom he could now call his own children.

This touching allocution was interpreted by Mr. Gibson J. You, who then presented each member of the delegation to His Grace.

women in Church Choirs.

The Rev. correspondent of the London Tablet writes as follows under date of May 8 on the question of women in church choirs:

In English-speaking countries especially the exclusion of women from church choirs has become one of the most burning questions arising out of the Motu Proprio on Church Music.

The ideal to be aimed at in all churches is a purely liturgical choir consisting of men or men and boys, and the Holy Father expects this ideal to be realized in all churches blessed with the means of attaining it.

Our English word "choir" corresponds with the Italian "capella" rather than with the "coro." The "coro" is intimately connected with the choir of the priests and the members of it should there be not only men, but should also be the cassock and cotta.

And in order that this union of spirit between father and son may be sensibly apparent he grants to the Archbishop who will officiate the power to impart to the thousands of clients of his diocese a solemn manifestation of love and confidence the Papal Benediction with a plenary indulgence for all who after Communion and Communion will then pray for his intention.

In order that there may remain in this votive chapel a pledge of the beneficence he feels for the powerful intercession of the Great Queen, treasurer of the Divine graces, he has presented a challenge to the world.

Mother's Ear. A word in mother's ear, when nursing an infant, and in the months that come before the time. SCOTT'S EMULSION.

is possible to observe them, because they are enjoined by the Holy Father. Public criticism of them by the laity, and public disparagement of the Gregorian Chant as compared with other music, and especially as compared with music that has been condemned by the Pope, is both impertinent and disrespectful.

THREE POINTS EMPHASIZED. One of my informants begs me to emphasize especially these three points: (1) The traditional Gregorian Chant is for the most part very easily learned and executed; (2) the different parts, such as the Gradual, Alleluia, and Tracts, may according to the dispensation conceded in the rubrics, be supplied by organ, the words being merely repeated in monotone in the choir; and (3) all the Gregorian melodies of the choir may be rendered either in ancient or modern music fulfilling the condition prescribed in the Motu Proprio.

Parish Schools and Closing Exercises.

We have been so interested in the manner of closing the parish schools in connection with St. Mary's (Augustinian) Church, Lawrence, that we think other parishes and teachers may like to know about it, also.

WE WEDNESDAY. Doubtless our unworthiness is very great, but God's mercy is greater still. Have confidence, then, since our Creator has descended so low to reach us, could we not in our own minds ourselves a little to mount to Him? To us is so accessible!

FRIDAY. Does not our indifference to this Real Presence constitute an offense against the King Who solicits our loving acknowledgment of His residence among us in the Sacrament of His lowest? O wisest Jesus, bring me home to Thee!

SATURDAY. How can we live in the love of our King? By giving of His love, living in the Eucharist, our centre of life, the only centre of consolation, in pain, in sorrow, in deception. He invites us: "Come to Me, all ye who labor and are burdened, and I will refresh you."

Dear Sir, When the pasteurizer I know of three fatty tumors on the head having been removed by the application of MINARD'S LINIMENT without any surgical operation, and there is no indication of a return.

Religious Maxims.

SUNDAY. In presence of the Blessed Sacrament, let your heart be inflamed with great admiration for the most wonderful work which God has perpetrated throughout the world.

MONDAY. Our Lord abides with us, because He loves us. 'My delight is to be with the children of men.' This mystery is a mystery of love of prodigious height.

TUESDAY. The royalty of the Blessed Sacrament extends over all centuries. The royalty of the Blessed Sacrament extends over all nations.

WEDNESDAY. Doubtless our unworthiness is very great, but God's mercy is greater still. Have confidence, then, since our Creator has descended so low to reach us, could we not in our own minds ourselves a little to mount to Him?

THURSDAY. A long and strong chain of love links us to heaven; we were not created for the vain and deceptive happiness of earth, then let us be true to our higher destiny, bravely renouncing the world's pomp and vanities.

FRIDAY. Does not our indifference to this Real Presence constitute an offense against the King Who solicits our loving acknowledgment of His residence among us in the Sacrament of His lowest? O wisest Jesus, bring me home to Thee!

SATURDAY. How can we live in the love of our King? By giving of His love, living in the Eucharist, our centre of life, the only centre of consolation, in pain, in sorrow, in deception. He invites us: "Come to Me, all ye who labor and are burdened, and I will refresh you."
