Thief at Large In Yarmouth

Caught in Higgin's Factory
Was Wounded By Revolver
Shots But Managed to Escape.

Yarmouth, Sept. 5.—Quantities of leather have been disappearing from Higgin's shoe factory for several weeks and Supt. Graves, anxious to discover the thief, resorted to the factory for a week with a string attached to his wrist and the window through which it was thought the burglar effected an entrance. Mr. Graves waited patiently on Monday evening. He left the factory for some time, and on his return observed a man in the leather room.

FATAL ACCIDENTS ON THE G. T. R.

(Special Despatch to the Monitor.)
St. Thomas, Ont., Sept. 5th.—The eight year old daughter of A. J. Krautz, Grand Trunk Railway agent at Wabash, was playing on the track with a kitten at 7.30 Friday evening, when No. 8 Wabash train came along, struck the little one and instantly killed both her and the kitten. Mrs. Shipper, a lady of 75 years of age, of West Lorne, was instantly killed at a crossing in that village at 10.30 yesterday morning.

The Man Who Drinks

The manager of the Toronto street railway is of the opinion that the recent decrease in the number of accidents on his line is due to his action in discharging all motormen who were addicted to drink. Already this year twenty men have been permanently laid off for this reason, he says, and more are to follow.

The man who drinks has always been handicapped, but never so much as today. The positions of trust and responsibility open to him are continually growing fewer. In many lines of business he is practically black-listed; in all he is at a disadvantage compared with his temperate competitor. That the man who drinks, even in moderation, cannot be trusted at the front end of a trolley car, in the cab of an engine, in any position where constant alertness and clear-headedness is necessary in a conviction that is steadily growing. The day is coming when the flush of alcohol on a man's face or the smell of it on his breath, will be a certain bar to his worth as a bookkeeper.

Under these conditions a man who, for the sake of so-called sociability or for the temporary exhilaration obtainable from strong drink, sacrifices money, time, health and clarity of brain, is a fool, and the community, widening public appreciation of this fact is doing more for the cause of temperance than could all the laws the legislature could enact.

THE TOWN COUNCIL.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening. Councillors DeWitt and Candler were absent.

R. Allen Crowe was present. He spoke regarding the wooden box to be placed in at the lake. He suggested that the six inch spikes be supplemented by several long bolts. He contended that the wooden box would not be satisfactory, and claimed that a box of concrete with walls eight inches thick, be substituted. It would take, at the most, four barrels of cement, and be understood from Mr. Beeler that if the town would furnish the cement, he would do the work.

The mayor asked if Mr. Beeler would be at any more expense, considering that the proposed concrete box was so much smaller than the hemlock box called for.

Mr. Crowe thought so. The mayor thought there was no doubt but the concrete box would be more lasting.

The clerk said there was no doubt in the matter. The specification especially said that anything omitted necessary to make a workmanlike job, should be supplied by the contractor.

On motion it was decided that Mr. Crowe should use his judgment in the construction of the box.

The following bills were ordered to be paid:

Municipality of Annapolis	$400.00
Elias Ramey	2.50
Gilbert Foster	2.50
Orty Burrill	2.50
Western Union Telegraph Co.	7.50
Richard Shipley	1.25
James Robertson Co.	1.75
Everett Snow, for $111 and 68 respectively, were again brought up. Councillors Chute and Harlow moved the bills be paid, and the motion passed unanimously.	292.29
Montreal Pipe Foundry Co.	572.94

Northwest Passage Accomplished

(Special Despatch to the Monitor.)
New York, Sept. 5.—A Christiana despatch to the Sun says the Norwegian Polar expedition on the ship Gipsa, has reached the Behring Strait, having thus accomplished the North West Passage.

Railway Prospects

Track-laying on the Halifax & South western was completed to Barrington Head some days since, and had the rails been on hand, the small gap between that place and the Passage would have been filled in ere this. As it is the whole line will be finished in a few days, and open for through traffic before winter sets in.

This road will furnish the one thing necessary to the progress of the towns and hamlets along the route, which have thus far had to depend on slow locomotion for the material blessings of modern life. One day has come when the prospects, with such certainty, will be the marked feature of the shores of Nova Scotia and Lunenburg, and perhaps farther east. Of late, these shores are of regular yearly occurrence there, and this season have been very large. They were mostly routed by the Central and Dominion Atlantic to Yarmouth, a haul twice as long as by the shore line to Yarmouth and then to Shelburne. Either of these ports could do the transshipping of receipts by the new road at a great saving of time.

Bothschilds Won to Zionism.

New York, Aug. 25.—The Chronicle, a Hebrew weekly, has received information from London that the Rothschilds have joined the Jewish Territorial organization.

Only two months ago Lord Rothschild, together with many other leading Jews in England, issued a statement against the Zionist and the Territorialist movements, which provided for the establishment of Jews on their own land. The credit for winning over of the Rothschilds is given to Israel Zangwill, president of the Jewish Territorial organization.

FOUR STELLARTON BOYS KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION

Stellarton, N. S., Sept. 3.—A terrible accident occurred here this afternoon, in which four boys, between the ages of twelve and sixteen years, lost their lives.

The lads who were killed were two sons of Neil Gunn, a son of Joseph Frew, and a son of Neil Patterson. They with another boy, by the name of Merritt, were playing ball near the west end of the town, near the Episcopal church. The ball entered the slope and they went in search of it.

HURLED 400 FEET.

After entering and proceeding a short distance down the slope one of the boys hit a switch. This ignited the gas in the mine, which has not been worked for a number of years, having been abandoned, and a terrific explosion ensued, which could be heard distinctly throughout the town.

Fewer than 400 feet, falling in the picnic grounds beside the High School, while one of the Gunn boys was thrown over the top of a grove of trees some distance away, and his body was terribly mangled.

ESCAPED WITH HIS LIFE.

Patterson and the other Gunn were still alive when found, but died shortly afterwards, while Merritt, who began to ascend the slope, when he heard the talk of lighting the match, escaped with his life, but sustained a broken arm and severe bruises. The bodies were brought to McQuarrie's undertaking rooms, where they were prepared for burial.

Lame Back

This is an ailment for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has proven especially valuable. In almost every instance it affords prompt and permanent relief. Mr. Jake LaGrange of Chicago, Ill., writes: "After using a plaster and other remedies for three weeks for a bad lame back, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and two applications effected a cure." For sale by W. A. Warren, Phil. B.

ONE OF GREATEST BATTLES IN THE HISTORY OF RINGS

Goldfield, Nev., September 3.—The long-talked-of fight between Battling Nelson and "Joe" Gans for the lightweight championship, and a $20,000 purse, Nelson to receive $20,000, win or lose, Gans the balance, came off today according to schedule, and ended by Gans winning on a foul in the forty-third round. Both men fought desperately, and the battle will go down as one of the greatest of the ring.

The negro was able to inflict terrible punishment on the hero, but the latter stood it stoically. However, in one respect the go was by no means one-sided. Nelson also inflicted severe punishment on Gans. Gans was the favorite in the betting.

SUICIDE IN A HALIFAX HOTEL

(Special Despatch to the Monitor.)
Halifax, Sept. 5.—W. M. Archer, a native of Richmond, Virginia, blew his brains out yesterday morning in one of the city hotels where he had been stopping for the past six weeks. He was 38 years old, of good address, and made many friends here. He reported some time ago that he had been robbed, and expressed regret that he had not been able to liquidate his obligations. The remains will be forwarded to Richmond by this morning's train. Archer had registered under another name. His father is wealthy.

The Pandora Thermometer

The thermometer on the Pandora range oven means precisely in accuracy to the cook what the square and compass mean to the draftsman. Without the square and compass the draftsman would have to work entirely by guess, just as you do without an accurate and reliable thermometer on your oven.

The Pandora thermometer reduces cooking to an exact science. You know precisely how much heat you have and what it will do in a given time. It is one of the small things which makes the Pandora so much different and better than common ranges.

The Wings of the Morning

By LOUIS TRACY Copyright, 1903, by Edward J. Child

Down in the saloon the rarer passengers were striving to subdue the hum of an interval before they sought their cabins. Some talked. One hard-earned reprobate strummed the piano. Others played cards, chess, draughts, anything that would distract attention. The stately apartment offered strange contrast to the warring elements without. Bright lights, costly upholstery, soft carpets, carved panels and gilded cornices, with uniformed attendants passing to and fro carrying coffee and glasses—these surroundings suggested a floating palace in which the raging seas were defied. Yet forty miles away, somewhere in the furious depths, four corpses drifted about with horrible uncertainty, lurching through battling currents and perishing convulsed by fighting sharks.

The surgeon had been called away. Iris was the only lady left in the saloon. She watched a set of whist players for a time and then essayed the perilous passage to her stateroom. She found her maid and a stewardess there. Both women were weeping. "What is the matter?" she inquired. "The stewardess tried to speak. She choked with grief and hastily went. The maid blubbered an explanation. "A friend of hers was married, miss, to the man who is drowned."

"Drowned? What man?" "Haven't you heard, miss? I suppose they are keeping it quiet. An English sailor and some natives were swept off the ship by a sea. One native was saved, but he is all smashed up. The others were never seen again."

"In by degrees learned the and chronicles of the Jackson family. She was moved to tears. She remembered the doctor's hesitancy and her own side phrase, "a large coffin."

meter each half hour. The telltale mercury had sunk over two inches in twelve hours. The abnormally low pressure quickly created dense clouds, which enhanced the melancholy darkness of the gale.

For many minutes together the bows of the ship were not visible. Masthead and side lights were obscured by the pelting sleet. The engines thrust the vessel forward like a lance into the vitals of the storm. Wind and wave roared about the vortex with impotent fury.

At last soon after midnight the battered steamer showed a slight movement. At 1:30 a. m. the change became pronounced. Simultaneously the wind swung round a point to the westward. The captain rose and called his steward. His face brightened. He opened his oilskin coat, glanced at the compass and nodded approval. Then he turned to the chief officer. Both men examined the chart in silence.

The chief officer finally took a pencil. He stabbed its point on the paper in the neighborhood of 14 degrees north and 112 degrees east. "Nothing in the way tonight, sir," he added.

"Nothing whatever. It is a bit of good luck to meet such weather here. We can keep as far south as we like until daybreak, and by that time—How did it look when you came in?" "A crisis better, I think."

There was an awful race by the engines before the engineers could shut off steam. The junk vanished into the wilderness of noise and tumbling sea beyond, and the fine steamer of a few seconds ago, replete with magnificent energy, struggled like a wounded levitation in the grasp of a vengeful foe.

self to a sitting posture, for he was bruised and stiff. With his first movement he became violently ill. He had swallowed much salt water, and it was not until the spasm of sickness had passed that he thought of the girl.

By their calm courage they attracted the attention of another vessel she would find the disabled Sirdar and render help when the weather moderated.

When the captain ascertained that no water was being shipped, the damage being wholly external, the passengers were ordered and the passengers admitted to the saloon, a brilliant palace, superbly indifferent to the wreck and rain without.

The hours passed in tedious misery after captain Ross, who was in command, was eager to get a glimpse of the unknown terrors without the deck. This was out of the question, for the tables to listen eagerly to Experience and his wise saws on drifting ships and their prospects.

Some cautious persons visited their cabins to secure valuables in case of further disaster. A few hardy spirits returned to bed.

He staggered blindly on. Then he tremulously endeavored to open the neck of her dress. She was startled, and surveying him with shadowy alarm. She was quite conscious.

"Thank God," he cried hoarsely. "You are alive!" "Her color came back with remarkable rapidity. She tried to assume a sitting posture, and instinctively her hand reached to her disarranged costume.

"How ridiculous!" she said, with a little note of annoyance in her voice. "Please try not to faint again," he said. "Don't you think I had better loosen these things? You can breathe more easily."

A ghost of a smile flickered on her lips. "No-no," she murmured. "My eyes hurt me—that is all. Is there any water?"

ble number of insensate human forms lay huddled up amid the relics of the steamer.

This discovery stirred him to action. He turned to survey the land on which he stood, and with his helpless companion. To his great relief he discovered that it was lofty and tree clad. He knew that the ship could not have drifted to Borneo, which still lay far to the south.

"I am so cold and tired," murmured Iris. "Is there any water?" My throat hurts me."

"Try to lie still for a very few minutes," he said. "You are not long to suffer. I will return immediately."

His own throat and palate were on fire owing to the brine, but he first went back to the side of the lagoon. There were fourteen bodies in all, three women and eleven men, four of the latter being Lascars. The women were the first officer, a third officer, and a stewardess.

With his knife he severed two of the bodies and increased to Iris with the revived beverage. She heard him and intended to raise herself on an elbow. The paralytic eyes glistened at the prospect of food.

"The water revived Iris like a magic draught. Her quick intuition told her what had happened.

"You have had none yourself!" she cried. "Get at once and get some! And please bring me some!"

He answered readily enough. "There was an accident on board during the gale, madam. I am a fair sailor, but a poor steward, so I applied for a transfer. As the crew was short handed, my officers accepted of me."

"You saved my life," she repeated slowly. It seemed that this obvious fact needed to be indelibly established in her mind. Indeed the girl was overwrought by all that she had gone through. Only by degrees were her thoughts marshaling themselves with lucid coherence.

"Come, come, my dear lady," he exclaimed, and there was a tinge of studied constraint in his voice, "you must not yourself. It is the fortune of shipwreck as well as of war, you know. We are alive and must look after ourselves. Those who have gone are beyond our help."

"But not beyond our sympathy," wailed Iris, uncovering her swimming eyes for a fleeting look at him. Even in the utter desolation of the moment she could not help marveling that this queer man, who spoke like a gentleman and tried to pose as her inferior, who had rescued her with the utmost gallantry, who carried his only food to the point of first supplying her needs, should be in so far from case himself, should be so utterly indifferent to the fate of others.

"Now, madam," he said, "it is essential that we should obtain some food. I don't wish to leave you alone until you are better acquainted with our whereabouts. Can you walk a little way toward the trees, or shall I assist you?"

"Iris immediately stood up. She pressed her hair back defiantly. "Certainly I can walk," she answered. "What do you propose to do?" "Well, madam—"

"Skidoo" a Syrian Insult The origin of the word "skidoo" has at last been established. The discovery was made in the Essex Market Police court, New York city. It is of Syrian origin and if you don't want to get into trouble don't say "skidoo" to a Syrian, because the is apt to take it seriously. At least Samuel Solomon, who was the cause of the discovery, took it that way. Solomon is a shawl merchant. Loaded with a choice collection of prayer shawls and rugs, he invaded the ghetto. He reached Stanton and Ridge streets late in the forenoon. He was hungry and the luscious bananas on the cart of Jacob Smith made his mouth water.

THE FARM

FOREST SERVICE.

Planting on Rough Lands and Over Coal Deposits.

A variety of causes are arousing an interest in forest planting on land owned primarily for some other purpose than the use of timber, but capable of yielding an added revenue from crops of trees. In Pennsylvania especially large forest plantations are actually under way. There are enormous areas in Pennsylvania from which the original timber has been cut and which are too rough for profitable farming. In the east region of the Province, an overlying the coal is useless for farming at any time. Both these classes of land may be planted to trees with advantage and the timber used in the mines, the old fields on which farming has been attempted being particularly desirable for planting.

Water sheds owned to prevent further denudation and the contamination of streams and reservoirs rarely yield direct returns to water companies, but if properly planted their water conserving power would be increased, and at the same time future revenue would be in prospect.

The possibilities of forest planting have been realized by several large companies which have applied to the forest service for assistance.

Detailed information and application blanks for assistance of this kind can be secured by writing to the forest, United States department of agriculture, Washington.

Hanging a Hay Door.

There has been great trouble in finding a suitable method of hanging doors for unloading hay with fork or slings from the outside of the building. The method shown by my diagram will think the very best, says a Rural New Yorker correspondent.

Remedies For Vegetable Poison.

Animals and children frequently eat the stems and leaves of poisonous plants, with fatal results. To know just what to do to relieve vegetable poisoning is highly important. For animals not much can be done. A draft of warm milk and cream or milk, if the patient becomes drowsy, give strong strychnine and keep patient walking. Children should be taught to avoid eating strange plants and stock should not be turned out too early, when hunger forces them to eat plants they instinctively avoid at other times.

How Plant Lice Feed.

Man is liable to do not understand that plant lice feed in a very different manner from a caterpillar or a potato beetle. Plant lice are not provided with jaws for biting off pieces of a plant, but their mouth parts are drawn out into a long slender beak, and the juices are forced into the plant, and the insect is able to suck up a sucking insect a poison spray on the surface of a leaf, but it is necessary to get the insect under the leaf, so that it will cover up its breathing holes or sink into its body and thus kill by actual contact with the insect.

When Pigs Get Out.

Of the very necessary things to provide for the pigs during the hot weather is a good shade where they may keep cool during the heat of the day, says Farming. It is well known that a hog cannot stand much heat for the reason that he cannot perspire like most animals, and therefore a cool place must be provided for him. Natural shade is of course the best, but if sense enough is exercised to place for them during the heat of the day the better, but here seldom used is a good shade until toward evening, at which time you will find them out grazing like a drove of cattle. After the evening feed they will remain out until about the evening, and the very first thing in the early morning one will find them out grazing on the farm, but if they are made to feel that they are adding the pounds to their weight and making money for their owner.

The Stalk Borer.

For several years complaints have been heard of a borer that attacks potatoes, tomatoes and flowering plants, notably dahlias. The insect is also found in rhubarb, ragwort, cocksfoot and corn. When the tunnel is cut open and the larva taken out, it is found to be an inch in length, fleshy colored, with four longitudinal brown stripes extending from the head to the anal extremity. When ready to change to the pupal form the larva deserts the plant, that it has made and buries itself in the soil. After a time the adult emerges.

WORK OF BEETLE IN TOMATO STALK.

As this takes place in the fall, the adult beetle hide away and hibernates in the form. There is reason to suppose that there is a life history of this pest seems to reveal no weak points where a spray can be made to avail. The fact that works on many of our common weeds indicates that clean culture over wide areas will curtail the supply materially. Other than this we shall have to depend on cutting out the larvae, as well as the pupae, and examining all such systematically and regularly.—R. H. Pettit, Michigan.

CHEAP CHUTE FOR HOLDING HOGS.

The accompanying illustration shows a cheap chute for holding hogs while they are being ringed, says the Orange Judd Farmer. It is easily made and, being comparatively light, can be moved from one hog to another without much effort. It is placed at the opening of a permanent stock chute, and the hogs are easily run into it one at a time. As the animal puts his head through the opening the lever is pushed over and secured and the door at the rear closed and fastened. The material used should be two inch pine, free from knots.

When Pigs Get Out.

Of the very necessary things to provide for the pigs during the hot weather is a good shade where they may keep cool during the heat of the day, says Farming. It is well known that a hog cannot stand much heat for the reason that he cannot perspire like most animals, and therefore a cool place must be provided for him. Natural shade is of course the best, but if sense enough is exercised to place for them during the heat of the day the better, but here seldom used is a good shade until toward evening, at which time you will find them out grazing like a drove of cattle. After the evening feed they will remain out until about the evening, and the very first thing in the early morning one will find them out grazing on the farm, but if they are made to feel that they are adding the pounds to their weight and making money for their owner.

COD LIVER OIL and IRON Add PHOSPHORUS and you have FERROL

For many years it has been recognized by physicians everywhere that Cod Liver Oil and Iron should be given in combination if possible, as where one is required the other is in all probability needed, too, each enhancing the value of the other.

Strange to say, although many attempts have been made, no one ever succeeded in combining the oil and iron until, quite recently, a Canadian physician, after some years of study and experiment, managed to solve the problem. He then added just a little phosphorus; the result is which contains in an elegant, palatable and easily digested emulsion Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus, the exact constituents necessary to increase the Weight, Enrich the Blood and Build up the System.

No argument is needed to prove the value of such a preparation in the treatment of Bronchitis and Pulmonary Diseases, Scrofula, Rickets, Anæmia and wasting diseases of any kind.

For Croup, Whooping Cough and Chronic Coughs and Colds Ferrol is an absolute specific.

FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in prominent Hospitals, Sanitariums, etc.

S. N. WEARE, Medical Hall, Bridgetown

The Coast Guard says: Last week's immense run of herring at Gannet Rock, from which 50 Tusket boats made hauls of 50 barrels each for two nights, did not hold out. Numerous craft from different places thronged there and by Thursday no less than forty boats and two small steamers were on the ground. Next morning the nets were almost bare. It is likely the school will reappear. Young men are leaving Nova Scotia this year by the thousands. If sounds pretty, to keep saying to these young men that Nova Scotia is a beautiful country to live in, and that it is very rich in natural resources. The young man resentfully answers that he cannot live on scenery, nor by undeveloped resources.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

It is interesting to compare the Dominion Fisheries blue book for the year ending June 30th, 1876, with that issued for 1904-5. Then the total value for all Canada was $11,147,500, only half the amount in the last report. Nova Scotia fell far and away, having to its credit $8,022,440, not much less than at present. New Brunswick and Quebec had about $2,000,000 each, and leaving just over a million to be made up by the other four provinces. British Columbia at that time got only $104,000 from its fisheries, nearly all salmon. The great staples were cod, $4,128,100; herring, cured and fresh, $1,843,295; mackerel and haddock, a million each, and lobsters, all canned, $800,000 in round numbers. As will be seen these five branches furnished within about two millions of the whole yield, few of the others reaching $100,000.

Compared with the present all these kinds except lobsters show more or less of a decrease—cod $100,000, a loss of nearly half the former value of the last named.

Lobsters have made the phenomenal rise, from $800,000 to over $3,000,000 divided, as the figures stand quite evenly, between the canned and the live exports. When it is remembered that the latter continue to be entered at less than half the market value, the growth of this division is simply wonderful.

The next curious page in the old book is where the exports are tabled. For that year the fish shipments abroad amounted only to $5,501,221, just half the catch. The United States took the worth of $1,475,330, and the British West Indies, $1,348,637. The bulk of cod, dry salted, went to the West Indies, and half a million dollars worth to the United States. The chief markets for lobsters were, Great Britain $460,641, and United States, $106,099. Bear in mind these figures are for the whole Dominion. What a revolution has taken place by the live lobster trade! Nova Scotia alone now gets $1,000,000 out of it, all from the United States.

Comparing the countries, now and at that period, Digby has doubled its output, that of Lunenburg has increased only $150,000; Yarmouth and Guysboro have made a good gain; Queens has fallen from $211,332 to $76,619, and Shelburne barely holds its own, some sections of it showing a great shortage and others an enormous advance, thus evening up the general result.

RATES OF TRAVEL LOW TO THE DOMINION EXHIBITION.

The buildings for the Dominion Exhibition are in splendid shape for the Fair, which will open on September 22nd. That the live stock show will be the largest ever seen in Canada, herring, mackerel, East or West, is assured. The railway rates to Halifax will be very low. Return tickets from St. John to Halifax will be as low as $1.00 by the D. A. B., and $1.75 on the I. C. R.

It will be possible to come from Sydney to Halifax, enter the fair, and return for $3.25. From Amherst to Halifax and back, with exhibition entrance, the railway charge will be 91.75. Every day during the exhibition visitors may come from Yarmouth and return for $3.00. These are but some of the low rates that will prevail all over the country during the two weeks of the Dominion exhibition.

The I. C. R. is doing for the Dominion exhibition what it never did before in the history of exhibitions in Eastern Canada. It is, in addition to the low rates that prevail all through the show, giving four special excursions from Amherst, New Glasgow and the East. These are as follows:

1st Excursion ..... Sept. 26th.
2nd Excursion ..... Sept. 29th.
3rd Excursion ..... Oct. 1st.
4th Excursion ..... Oct. 3rd.

Ask your station agent for all information as to rates for excursions, and other days.

The horse racing will be the very best ever seen in Eastern Canada; the Yandeville and "Carnival of Venice" will be magnificent; and the whole exhibition, with its premium list of $100,000, will be on a splendid scale.

CLEMENTSPORT

The entertainment given by Old Colony Division on Friday evening last was a success. The hall was well filled, and all seemed to enjoy the performance very much.

We notice several repairs and changes being made around the village as regards to buildings. The rectory (Episcopal) has a new roof, and several other repairs. Mr. Lowe is making several changes in his residence. Mr. James Rawling, who is home for a short time from the States, is painting his house, and Mr. W. C. Jones has put a new roof on his house.

Several of the tourists who have been spending the summer here, have left for their respective homes.

Mr. Gilbert Bismarck, of Boston, made a flying visit to his aunt's, Mrs. Gilbert's, last week.

Mr. Forbes Tupper has been changing residences. He is now living in the house formerly known as Clementsport Hotel.

The farmers in this vicinity are now busy harvesting their grain. There are several threshing mills in operation, and are all doing a very good business. The grain, so much wanted, is selling as well as usual.

Our schools are again in session. Miss Eiter has the advanced department, and Miss Lamberton, the primary. This is the third year that Miss Lamberton has had charge of this department.

Two Children Die Suddenly
Seized With Convulsions They Died Within Few Hours of Each Other

Last week the home of Mr and Mrs. John Garber, North Williamston, were made doubly sad by the death of their two youngest children, Hazel, aged six, and Eva aged four, whose deaths occurred within a few hours of each other, and under rather peculiar circumstances. Hazel attended school on Wednesday and while there complained of a pain in her head. Shortly after returning home in the afternoon she was seized with convulsion and died the following morning at six o'clock. Little Eva was taken suddenly ill at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning in a similar manner and passed away the same evening at 11 o'clock. The funeral which took place on Friday afternoon was conducted by Rev. C. H. Haverstock, assisted by Rev. M. W. Brown, and was the saddest sight ever witnessed here. The pallbearers were, Elbert and Charles Whitman, Harry Green and Reginald Hilsley. The interment took place at Nictaux.

We extend our heart-felt sympathy to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters in their sad and sudden bereavement.

A Mother's Story

Anaemia is the doctors name for bloodlessness. It is an ailment that affects almost every girl in her teens. Wornness makes new demands upon her blood supply that she cannot meet. Month after month her strength, her life, are being drained away. No food and no case can do her any good. She needs new blood. New blood is the one thing—the only thing—she can make a healthy woman of her. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. That is why they never fail to cure anaemia. That is how they save young girls whose health and strength depend upon their blood supply. Mrs. Amos Clark, Arden, Ont., sent a great blessing to my family as two of my daughters have used them, with marked success. When my eldest daughter was a year old she began to fail in weight and strength. Her blood seemed to have turned to water. She was treated with iron, but she would not take it. She grew pale and thin and she could not sleep. She was treated for upwards of a year, and the doctor said she did not have a drop of blood in her body at the end of one year. The doctor's treatment did not do her a particle of good. She became afflicted with salt rheum and her hands were almost raw. About this time a neighbor advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and she began taking them. After using the pills for a few weeks she could see an improvement, her appetite began to improve and a trace of color came to her cheeks. She continued taking the pills until she had used thirteen boxes when she was as well and strong as ever. Every trace of both the anaemia and the salt rheum had disappeared and she had since enjoyed the best of health. Later on my youngest daughter aged fifteen began to lose her health, but she thanks to our experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills we knew where to look for a cure and after using four boxes the pills she was all right again. I have also used the pills myself for nervous troubles with complete success.

Rich red blood is the secret of health. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the secret of rich, red blood. That is why they cure anaemia, headaches and backaches, indigestion, nervousness, tremulous heart palpitation, neuralgia, rheumatism, scurvy, St. Vitus Dance and the ailments that make the lives of so many men and growing girls miserable. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

Recipes For Warm Days—A Fruit Punch.

A fruit punch that makes a refreshing summer beverage may be made as follows: Boil one pint of water with a heaping cup of sugar for five minutes. Into this stir a cupful of minced pineapple, one of strawberries, one of maraschino cherries and one of white grapes. Add six unpeeled and thinly sliced oranges, four thinly sliced lemons and one cucumber peeled and cut into dice. Stir in two cups of claret, a tablespoonful of maraschino and, if desired, a half pint of brandy. Let it stand for two hours, then pour over a lump of ice a punch bowl and permit to stand at least an hour before serving. If too strong add any kind of effervescent water desired.

Wine and Cheese Salad.
An appetizing dinner is made of cream cheese. Roll the cheese into little balls with butter paddles, heap the balls on lettuce leaves or endives and pour French dressing over them. A rather more elaborate salad is made by mixing with the cheese minced parsley and paprika, mashing this mixture in little egg cups and placing on ice to chill. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing. Still another way of serving the cheese balls is to line small tinned tinbake molds with aspic, then, when this is set, place in the center a ball of cheese and on the cheese a stoned olive filled with aspic. When serving turn on to a dish and place about the cheese mounds celery finely minced and mixed with mayonnaise dressing.

Wind and Rain.
A famous German cookbook contains a recipe called windbeutel, or in English "windbags." A more graceful name and one just as appetizing would be "wind puffs." For these puffs use half a pound of butter, half a pound of fine flour, the same weight in water and eight newly laid eggs. Clarify the butter and let it come to the boiling point with the water. Then gradually stir in the flour until the mass cleaves from the sides of the pan and through from the stove and allow the puffs to cool a little. Flavor slightly with nutmeg or grated lemon peel and begin to beat the eggs through and through it with a steady motion. Put the mixture on to a well buttered plate and divide it into cakes the size of walnuts.

Orange Salad.
Select sour oranges for this salad or use sweet ones liberally sprinkled with lemon juice after they are sliced. Cut the oranges in thick slices, carefully remove the seeds, arrange the slices in rows and turn over them a dressing made of one tablespoonful of lemon juice to three of oil, with salt, pepper and paprika to taste. This salad is a welcome addition to game.

French Tart.
Cook one pound of finely chopped rhubarb very rapidly with sugar and a little water. Add a squeeze of lemon juice. Line a round tin with good short pastry, fill it with rice and bake. When the rhubarb is cold pour it into the pie, cover with a lattice-work of a few narrow strips of pastry and put a fancy rim to the tart, brush over with beaten white of egg and bake till the strips are ready.

The Petticoat.
The most fashionable petticoat of the moment has a deep founce of net or eyelet embroidered lawn. The founce may be made up of insertions and tucks, of lace and embroidery insertions alternating, or it may be frilled. But in all cases it covers the side foundation, to which it fastens by means of two lace headings (one on the skirt and one on the founce) threaded together with ribbon. A dress can be cleaned indefinitely, or there may be any number of founces of as many kinds with which to vary it.

Handy Home-made Satchel.
The little commodity illustrated here will be found to be a special use when visiting the seashore. It is a little satchel made in linen with a back of cardboard. Its use is to carry note paper, envelopes and pencil or pen, the fat board underside forming a novel and useful little knee desk. By its use letters can be written with comfort while sitting by the sea without fear of paper and pens going astray. The satchel itself is finished with a neat nap and is fastened by string in a bow the two strands of ribbon. A handle may also be made, as shown. This latter is made of ribbon on a neat band of canvas or linen. The interior of the bag may be divided into compartments, one for pens and pencils, another for envelopes and yet one more for note paper. The exterior of the satchel, too, may bear the initials of the owner worked in some fancy stitch, and if further embellishment is needed a spray of daisies, worked in mercerized cotton, might find a place on the lower part of bag. The finished article will be found to be compact, of very little weight and quite easy to carry.

then the whole effect is completed with a coronet plait and a high tortoise shell comb with a design of lovers' knots in silver.

The coronet plait can, needless to say, be made up of hair comings to match the hair, and this innocent deception can well be pardoned, especially in the case of very scanty locks.

The Mixture in Roumania.

It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. ## The Cuban Revolution

Havana, Aug. 24.—A force of government artillery under command of Captain Pujillo today captured San Juan De Martines without resistance. This town was taken Aug. 23 by a band of insurgents operating under Pino Guerra.

At San Antonio De Los Baños, Havana province, 21 miles southwest of Havana, a detachment of rural guards today encountered a band of insurgents. Of the latter two were killed, their comrades dispersing.

While the troops were being conveyed by railroad train from Pinar Del Rio to San Juan De Martines, ordinary traffic on the railroad was suspended. There has been no interruption of railroad communication by insurgents. There is grave doubt if the force of government troops now at San Juan De Martines would be able to withstand an attack by the force of Pino Guerra. Aside from Havana and Santa Clara, nothing of importance has transpired there today. The enlistment of rural guards and volunteers is going on very slowly in the provinces, but in the city of Havana enlistments are somewhat better.

The city council this afternoon appropriated $50,000 for the support of the city militia, of which there are two divisions, the interior and exterior, under command of General Sanchez Agromonte.

The government expects that the steamer Mexico, which will sail from New York on Saturday will bring eighteen rapid-fire guns, 10,000,000 cartridges and 12,000 Lee rifles.

The insurgents have been absent from San Luis since early this morning, but no troops have yet occupied the place.

Havana, Aug. 24.—Col. Jose Estrampes, with forty-five recruits from Havana was fired upon by eighty insurgents ambushed behind a wall near Guanabacoa. The recruits were routed and three of them were killed and six wounded.

Saskatoon Is Booming

R. D. Isaacs, local manager for the Northwestern Land & Investment Co., stated that Saskatoon is forging to the front faster than any of the other Northwestern cities. The percentage of the increase in population during the last three years was the phenomenal rate of two thousand five hundred and eighty-two per cent. The next largest gain in the population of a city being a four hundred and two per cent.

Such facts, supported by figures of the Dominion government census, make plain to everybody the reason why investors, both large and small, in Saskatchewan real estate are reaping such a golden reward. These facts further point to Saskatoon becoming the railway centre and commercial metropolis of Western Canada.

Saskatoon is spending two hundred and fifty thousand dollars this year in public works, and building a one hundred thousand dollar traffic bridge to accommodate the three big railways and also to be utilized as a passenger bridge.

Mr. Isaacs further stated that local and provincial people are recognizing that Saskatoon offers today the best opening for investment that can be found, and are investing their money accordingly. The liberal plan of payment, viz., ten dollars down and five dollars a month, when required, brings the proposition within easy reach of anyone that is desirous of making a cash profit in the course of a very few months.

AEROGRAMS TO EUROPE, DIME PER WORD

London, Aug. 30.—For a dime a word it will be possible in a short time, according to Marconi, to send a message across the 3,000 miles of sea that separate America and the continent.

Marconi is now usually superintending the erection of a new wireless telegraph station on the west coast of Ireland. The site is Ballyconeeley, a bleak spot, three miles west of Clifden, County Galway.

The station will be the biggest yet built. Eight masts, each 200 feet high will discharge and collect the electric waves, a 500-horse-power engine is being laid down to generate electricity, and all the apparatus will be on a similar scale, Marconi says. A special railway one and a half miles long, has been built to carry material from the main line, and two hundred men are employed in building the station.

Marconi, Wireless Wizard, Tells of Plans to Annihilate Distance by Invention—Regular Service in Short Time Promised

London, Aug. 30.—For a dime a word it will be possible in a short time, according to Marconi, to send a message across the 3,000 miles of sea that separate America and the continent.

"It is true that we have now transatlantic communication between Poldhu and several points in America," said Marconi in an interview. "But this service is uncertain, spasmodic. To Children will belong the distinction of inaugurating the first regular over-ocean service. We will be able to send and receive messages with the same regularity as the cables."

"For short distances on land our system is likely never to come into general use. The telegraph department of the government can send messages at a cent a word, and we can never compete with that rate. On the other hand, the cable rate between here and America is twenty-five cents a word, and it will pay us well to send messages at a much smaller price. In fact, we have contracted with the Canadian Government to send messages for ten cents a word."

AGED NUNS RESCUED FROM LIVING TOMB

Had Lived 36 Years in Dismal Convent, Unknown to Villagers

Rome, Aug. 30.—Ten aged nuns have just been rescued from a veritable living tomb of a convent at Castel Gandolfo, where they had lived thirty-six years unknown to the villagers and absolutely forgotten by the Vatican.

The convent was the dampest and dimmest part of the Papal summer palace at Castel Gandolfo, whither Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, went for his vacation. His Eminence was astounded to find part of the palace barred against him and inhabited by ten venerable sisters.

It seems that in 1750 Pius IX granted the use of the palace to a community of nuns from Terni. They had lived there in complete seclusion, never setting foot even in the garden.

Cardinal Merry del Val found the poor old women in a wretched state, infirm and nearly starving. He reported their sad case to the Pope, and shortly afterward they were removed to Terni to end their days in better circumstances even if their vows permitted no comforts. The nuns left the palace after dark, heavily veiled, and with no lights.

His Excellency Earl Grey, while in Winnipeg, met with a painful accident. An incandescent light globe near which he was standing exploded, and a piece of the glass struck him in the right eye. It is hoped, however, that the accident will have no serious effects.

London, Aug. 30.—Earthquake shocks were felt this morning at Matlock, the Derbyshire watering place. A slight shock was felt at Derby.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE GIRL FROM BANDITS

Young Russian Officer Hearing of Her Beauty, Climbs Mountain to Rescue Her

Odessa, Aug. 30.—Gerasimoff in the Caucasus produced a modern Andromeda in the Princess Mariadom, daughter of a rich chieftain, who was carried off by Tartar raiders during a recent feud.

Next day the Russians appeared in a valley underneath, but were ambushed and obliged to retreat. A young officer who had heard of the Princess's beauty thereupon swore that he would deliver her alone.

The capturers of the Princess demanded a ransom of 10,000 rubles, which her father was willing to pay. The Russian authorities, however, refused to encourage the abductors and announced they would recover the captive by force. The Tartars conveyed the Princess to the high hills, bound her to a tree, refused to give her food and said that she might die if that ransom was not forthcoming.

He climbed the mountain at night, penetrated the bandit's camp and cut the captive's bonds. The pair fled. The bandits pursued, and by a chance shot unknown to themselves, struck the rescuer in the chest. The Princess bound up the wound, waited beside her deliverer all night, and in the morning ran to the Russian camp and brought back help.

Kaiser Stops Girl's Suit Against Duke

Berlin, Aug. 30.—The Kaiser has intervened to prevent an action for slander being brought against Duke Ernst Gunther of Schleswig-Holstein by Fraulien Milewska, formerly maid of honor to the late Princess Amalia of Schleswig-Holstein.

This action has been pending for some time and its origin dates back six years. While Fraulien Milewska was attending her mistress in Egypt she was charged by the Princess. She was arrested by the Egyptian authorities and expelled from the country, whereupon she brought counter-charges of slander against the Duke and his chamberlain, Major von Blumenthal, stating that they had denounced her to the Egyptian authorities as an anarchist whose arrest was expressly desired by the Kaiser.

Now the judge, before whom the case was brought has checked the extradition of honor with a criminal reputation dating from 1895, which makes it illegal to proceed against the Duke without the consent of the Kaiser.

Fraulien Milewska then wrote to the Kaiser asking his consent to her prosecution of the Duke, but through the Ministry of Justice he has emphatically declined to sanction such a course.

Child's Dream Leads To a Curious Find

Rome Aug. 30.—What is looked upon in the district as a miracle is reported from a village near Benevento. A child, named Angelina Parrella, declared that the Virgin had appeared to her in a dream, and said that a sacred picture was buried in a certain cave. At first nobody would listen to Angelina, but as the dream was repeated several times the peasants decided to dig in the place indicated. At first they discovered nothing, but the child insisted on their digging deeper, and at last the ruins of an old building were found, and among them a stone slab upon which was graven the image of St. Francis.

Since then thousands of men, women and children have been on a pilgrimage to the cave.
