WATER VERY LOW IN ST. JOHN RIVER.

The river has perhaps never been as low at this time of the year as it is at present; in fact it is almost as low now as it ever becomes.

The recent frosts have caused considerable talk about the closing of navigation on the upper branches of the St. John slight formations of ice have been noticed but it is not likely that the heavy frosts this year have been unusually early.

IRISH GUARDS IN RAILWAY SMASHUP.

Their Special Train Off the Track in Maine.

Several Cars Jumped the Rails—Engineer and Fireman Hurt, But the Bandmen Escaped Injury.

Word reached the city this morning of an accident to the Irish Guards' band at five o'clock this morning at Aquilut, Maine. The band left here at 11:25 last night for Quebec, where they were to play the afternoon and evening. It is reported that the train was going at a very rapid speed when it jumped the track.

General Superintendent Downie, who was seen by a Star reporter, said the engine, baggage, commissary and the front of one of the sleeping cars went off the track. None of the classmen were hurt, but Engineer Cornier was slightly scalded and Fireman Barker had his shoulder sprained.

On account of the main line being blocked by the accident the bandmen were transferred to another train and sent on to their destination. It is probable that they will not reach there this afternoon for the performance, but they will arrive in ample time for the performance this evening.

AMERICAN METHODISTS HUNTING HERESY.

Methodist Episcopal College of Bishops Object to Boston College Professor's Views on Higher Criticism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The college of Bishops, the Methodist Episcopal church comprising the governing body of that denomination met in semi-annual conference here today. Several matters of interest and importance to Methodists are to be dealt with during the sessions, which are to be held during the week.

The disposition of the case by Prof. Hinkley G. Mitchell elected by the board of trustees for the Boston University to fill the chair of Hebrew, is perhaps the question of most popular interest. Six months ago the bishops refused to confirm the selection of professor Mitchell, on the ground that his interest in the "higher criticism" of the Bible unfitted him to teach the fundamental step of Methodism.

Five years ago Prof. Mitchell was before the bishops and explained his beliefs to their satisfaction. Since that time he has published a book called, "The World Before Abraham," in which it is alleged by many churchmen, he has made heretical statements concerning the Old Testament.

It was this work which was the basis of a diverse action six months ago, at which time the bishops were, notably, equally divided on the question. The sessions of the conference are all held behind closed doors.

Remarkable Discovery in Brooklyn—Has Lived all His Life With Girls.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—After living 34 years as a girl and woman, May Best, who resides in an exclusive district in Brooklyn, has been told that he is a man. The case has amazed medical experts and has caused keen interest in the city.

When he grew up he was sent to a boarding school and devoted his time to the fads and fancies of dress. He had a desire to go out into the world and work for a living when he became of age, but was restrained and told it was beneath the dignity of a woman. With enough money to satisfy all of his whims he came to Brooklyn and took lodgings with two girl friends from the south. There they entertained their girl friends and men. He gave most of his time and money to charity, learned to paint, and gathered books, papers, bric-a-brac and paintings, and made his own dresses.

DEAF MUTE KILLED BY FALLING TREE

Companions Had Played Tricks on Him—Did Not Need Warning.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 24.—Two weeks ago a firewood "feller" took place near Mahone Bay, Lunenburg, on the lands of Norman E. Fonyo. Among those taking part in the tree cutting were Charles Naas, his son Benjamin, Willis Durr, and William Naas, the last named a deaf mute. It is alleged that some of the people had been in the habit of playing tricks on the deaf mute, telling him a tree was falling when it was not, and anguring him in other ways. At last a tree near Wm. Naas' was actually about to fall and it seems he did not heed the warning to get away. As a result he was injured so that some days afterwards he died. Now Charles and Benjamin Naas and Willis Durr have been arrested on an information laid by a relative of the dead man, charging them with his murder. The case will come up tomorrow before Stipendiary Griffiths of Lunenburg.

HOW MARTIN FOLEY WAS KILLED. MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 24.—A number of facts have come out at the in-quest into the death of Martin Foley, policeman of Chatham, when Station Agent Quilty had such a miraculous escape.

The men on the trolley were depend- ing to a large extent on the headlight for the signal to leave the track, but Driver Geo. Milne testified that the headlight was out. On Saturday night last something happened the carbon and the engine men were unable to fix it.

Quilty caught a glimpse of light from the fire box and calling to his compan- ion he had barely time to jump as the engine struck the trolley. Quilty struck his head on a sleeper and was stunned for quite a time. Rising in a dazed condition he started back to- wards Newcastle. When he came to his senses he returned to Barnaby River and he himself sent in the news of the terrible accident to Campbellton. He had a bad cut on the head but has now resumed his duties as agent. The accident has caused considerable dis- cussion as to the advisability of mak- ing such a common use of these trol- leys.

ROOSEVELT AND THE NEGRO.

There is a large class of people in the Southern States who hold that everything done to educate and uplift the negro adds complications to the race problem which they claim is the greatest question facing North Amer- ica today. Every step taken by a negro toward a higher plane of living, they assert, is a step toward social equal- ity with the whites which in the course of time means intermarriage and eventu- ally a mulatto nation. The conclusion of their arguments is that the black race must either be kept in servitude or deported.

In fine contradiction to this bigoted view is the speech made by President Roosevelt yesterday at the Tuskegee Institute, Booker Washington's college for the negro in Alabama. With the same characteristic courage which led him to invite Mr. Washington to dine with him at the White House—an act which the inflammable Southerners declared a direct insult to them—the President went out of his way to visit this school and to lead, with his usual enthusiasm, its work. "It is of the ut- most importance," he declared, "to the white population as well as to the black, that the negro be encouraged to make himself a citizen of the highest type of usefulness. It is to the interest of the white people that this policy be conscientiously pursued, and to the interest of the colored people that they clearly realize that they have oppor- tunities for economic development here in the South, not now offered else- where."

After pointing out the greatly grow- ing demand for skilled workmen he declared his solution of the race prob- lem as follows: "Viewed from any angle, ignorance is the costliest crop that can be raised in any part of this Union. Every dollar put into the edu- cation of either white man or black man, in hand and in heart, yields rich dividends to the entire community. Merely from the economic standpoint, it is of the utmost conse- quence to all our citizens that institu- tions such as this at Tuskegee should be a success. But there are other and even higher reasons that make it our support. In the interest of human- ity, of justice and of self protection, every white man in America, no matter where he lives, should try to help the negro to help himself. It is in the in- terest and for the protection of the white man to see that the negro is edu- cated. It is not only the duty of the white man, but it is to his interest to see that the negro is protected in prop- erty, in life and in all his legal rights. Every time a law is broken, every in- justice in the community has the moral tone of his life lowered."

Turning from his discussion of the duties of the white race in this matter he reminded his hearers that, whatever the attitude of their white fellow citi- zens, their salvation rested chiefly with themselves. "You are in honor bound," he said, "to join hands in fa- vor of law and order, and to war against all crime, and especially against all crime by men of your own race; for the heaviest wrong done by the criminal is the wrong to his own race. You must teach the people of your race that they must scrupulously observe any contract into which they in good faith enter, no matter whether it is hard to keep or not. If you save money, secure homes and lead clean, decent, modest lives, you will win the respect of our neighbors of both races. The colored people have many difficulties to pass through, but these difficulties will be surmounted if only the policy of reason and common sense is pursued. The hope of advancement for the colored man in the South lies in his steady, common sense effort to improve his moral and material con- dition and to work in harmony with the white man in upbuilding the com- monwealth."

Even in the South, with its violent, though partially excusable, prejudice against the negro the splendid com- mon sense of a speech like that from the head of the nation cannot fail to have a strong effect for the improve- ment of conditions which, though not as bad as many Southerners would have the world believe, are certainly deplorable enough.

NELSON AND THE FRENCH CAN- ADIANS.

Le Canada, a prominent Montreal French Canadian paper has made a bitter attack upon the celebration in Canada of the Nelson centenary. Re- ferring to this the Ottawa Journal points to the strong contrast between this expression and the feeling of the French Canadians toward Nelson a hundred years ago. When the news of the battle of the Nile reached Canada the Bishop of Quebec caused a mande- ment to be read in all the Catholic churches returning thanks to God for Nelson's victory, and accompanied by a solemn mass. The clergy throughout the province were ordered not to fail to take advantage of the occasion to impress upon their parishioners the obligations they owe to Heaven for his services.

having placed them under the Empire and protection of his Britannic Ma- jesty and to exhort them all anew to maintain it with fidelity and grate- tude. On that day sermons were preached in the same strain, likening Nelson to the Moses by whose instru- mentality Pharaoh was overthrown, and declaring that the success had assured the happiness of Quebec. But now, comments the Journal, after a hundred years more of freedom and comfort and prosperity under British rule, some unfortunately of our modern French Canadian journal- ists can see only "brutality" in the commemoration of Nelson.

A NEWSPAPER MAN.

The witness Charles J. Smith, who confessed to the insurance investiga- tions yesterday that he had been paid thousands of dollars to disseminate to the press false reports favorable to the Mutual Life, is described as a news- paper man. The title may have been correct yesterday; it certainly is not today. To all decent newspaper men he will be henceforth as a leper. In no other profession do men take their work more seriously than in journal- ism. To the honest newspaper man, and the great majority come under that name, nothing is more dishonorable than the deliberate falsification of news and nothing is more despicable than the man who can be bribed to prostitute his position and cheat the public it is his duty to serve. There may be room for this man Smith in high finance or the insurance business after the admissions extorted from him yesterday, but never any more newspaper work.

THE FIGHTING TEMERAIRE.

Henry Newbolt. NOTE.—The "Fighting Temeraire" was a line-of-battle ship of 84 guns captured by the British fleet under Nelson from the French fleet at the battle of the Nile, Aug. 1, 1798. After that she became famous in several fights on the British side. She fought next to the Victory, Nelson's ship, in the battle of Trafalgar, Oct. 21, 1805, and was terribly battered. But she served thirty-three years more. One of the greatest of Turner's paintings is of her, and created a sensation when exhibited at the Royal Academy in 1839, the year after the ship's breaking up. Ed. Journal.

It was eight bells ringing. The morning watch was done, And the gunner's lads were singing As they belated every gun. It was eight bells ringing. And the gunner's lads were singing. For the ship she was a-swinging. As they belated every gun.

Oh! to see the linstock lighting. Temeraire! Temeraire! Oh! to hear the round shot biting. Temeraire! Temeraire! Oh! to see the linstock lighting. And to hear the round shot biting. For we'll all be in love with fighting. On the Fighting Temeraire.

It was noon tide ringing. And the lads were singing. When the ship her way was winging. And the gunner's lads were singing. As they belated every gun. It was noon tide ringing. When the ship her way was winging. And the gunner's lads were singing. As they belated every gun.

There'll be many grim and gory. Temeraire! Temeraire! There'll be few to tell the story. Temeraire! Temeraire! There'll be many grim and gory. There'll be few to tell the story. But we'll all be in love with fighting. With the Fighting Temeraire.

There's a far bell ringing At the setting of the sun, And a phantom voice is singing Of the great days done. There's a far bell ringing. And a phantom voice is singing Of the great days done. To the great days done.

Now the sunset breezes shiver. Temeraire! Temeraire! And she's fading down the river. Temeraire! Temeraire! Now the sunset breezes shiver. And she's fading down the river. But in England's song forever. She's the Fighting Temeraire.

DIAMOND ADVICE. PUT YOUR MONEY INTO DIAMONDS. Diamonds in your possession represent money—more money than you pay for them after you have worn them a while, for the advance in prices is very marked and there is positively no danger of Diamonds depreciating in value in our time. Of course it is always necessary to choose wisely and pay the right prices when you make your selection; therefore it is es- sential that you should choose the gems at a responsible house and I have a record and a reputation I think enviable; and my very large stock of set and unset gems allows for the best selection in this city or province.

WAS CALLED PRISON.

The long-haired young reformers were holding an informal debate, and when they had agreed that the world was just about as corrupt and bad a place as it will be, a grim-faced man rose. "When you seem to want friends," he said, "is a place where everyone has to be good by law." "That's it!" chorused the reformers. "Where no one need worry about food and raiment, and where money does not exist." "That is just what we want." "Well, I've just come from such a place—"

POETRY AND BUSINESS.

A young Newcastle collier with literary aspirations courted a buxom waitress, who refused for a long time to believe that he was really in earnest. But one morning she turned up to work with a smiling face, and surprised her friends by proudly announcing her engagement. "Then you're going to risk it, Sal, although you believe he'll grow tired of you some day?" remarked one of her companions.

"There's no risk about it," the girl serenely answered. "I know he loves me now. I didn't believe him when he said he'd go through fire and water for me, or walk over hot ploughshares, or throw himself under the feet of wild horses, 'cos I knew he'd got all that sort of rubbish out of a book. But when he dropped talkin' poetry, and said he'd sell his dog and buy a Sunday hat with his money, I'd only walk out with him, I knew he meant business."

LOCAL NEWS

Joseph Naves, a teamster for F. E. Sayre yesterday morning met with a nasty accident on Main street. As he was about to turn his sloven down Long wharf on the way to Sayre's mill, the wagon was run into by an electric car and the driver thrown from the seat, striking the pavement. He was taken to McMillin's drug store, where he was found to be quite badly bruised, but to have no serious injuries. On Monday afternoon Mrs. Wm. Jarvis of Holderville, while driving alone, was thrown from her carriage and had a leg broken. Yesterday afternoon the transportation committee of the board of trade was called to consider the car service schedule recently sent here for approval, and other important matters. This committee consists of twenty-five or thirty prominent citizens interested in transportation. In response to the call the chairman, Mr. Wm. Jarvis, the members appeared. It is understood that the meeting did not reach any definite conclusions. The schedule was presented chiefly by Montreal merchants and shippers, and was sent to the various boards of trade in the city for their approval. It is understood that the railway commission is in the process of preparing its report on the matter. It is calculated that the merchants are evidently not worrying much over the matter.

In connection with the Centenary church a very pleasant social took place last evening. The Sports Club presented a dress of welcome, and Miss Lillian Sprague rendered a very fine piano solo. Then came a recitation by Mrs. Macine and a duet by Mrs. Wood and Miss Cochrane. After the programme was gone through coffee and cake were served. The ladies of the church and a very enjoyable time was spent by the large number of church members who attended. The hall was very prettily decorated with Union Jacks, and the stage, which had a background of green, was lit up with a background of red. Among those present were Rev. J. C. Berrie of Jackson, the pastor of the church, and Rev. Wm. Jarvis of Charlottetown, P. E. I. Walter Roberts, formerly of North York, who is now in the employ of the carriage building business at Hammond River to Worden Brothers of Charlottetown, P. E. I. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Colwell, of Gagetown, and Mrs. E. H. Cross, of St. John, left last evening for Southern California. Mr. and Mrs. Colwell will be in the city for a short time on their way to Fresno, and she will probably remain a year with her aunt.

The largest freight of the season was brought to Indiantown on the str. Victoria of the Star Line yesterday. The cargo consisted of 1,182 packages, including 1,065 barrels, 43 bales of hay, 39 boxes of butter, a head of beef, 100 cattle and 15 hogs. It took five hours to unload the freight. There was the usual number of accidents, and on Saturday the Victoria brought down 1,168 barrels. Four members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew gathered at the residence of Lady Tilley last night to hear the reports of the annual convention of the Brotherhood at Ottawa. The delegates were H. C. Tilley, F. A. Kincaid, Dr. F. H. Scamman and Rev. J. A. Richardson. After the reports, which were very interesting, the delegates were read, Rev. A. G. H. Dicker, of the Star Line, read the marks were made by Mr. Thomas, of Fredericton; W. G. Smith, of Truro; and Rev. G. A. Kubring, of St. John's church. After refreshments had been partaken of the meeting broke up after passing a hearty vote of thanks to Lady Tilley for her hospitality. The council of the board of trade has appointed a committee to inquire into the feasibility of obtaining cheap power from the reversing falls here, a project brought in recently by Wm. Thomson & Co. With the view of ascertaining the question whether the scheme is workable, the committee will be made up of experts. The peculiarities of the situation have been discussed before them and an opinion as to whether the power can be turned to account or not has been reached. It is in no way yet a matter, but as soon as a letter reaches the city it will be placed before the committee with a view to further action. Several of the Miramichi lumber operators have crews in the woods at work in this section, and they will be about the same as last year. Wages are running high, $22 in some cases being paid. The lumbering season is winding up in the Miramichi. The ladies of the Tabernacle United Baptist church will hold a Thanksgiving supper on Thursday, Oct. 26th, supper will be served from 6 to 8 p. m. in the vestry of the church. Admission 25c.

NO WONDER. "If you argued for 2,000 years," said the sorrowful passenger. "I would still be an ardent advocate of prohibition." "But," protested the hardware drummer, "prohibition hurts a town. It drives away trade." "Don't you believe it," rejoined the sorrowful party. "My trade has more than doubled since our town went dry." "Excuse me," said the hardware drummer, "but what business are you engaged in?" "I'm a druggist," answered the other, as he drew a pink flask from his coat pocket. And the drummer "smiled."

NEW CANADIAN BANK. The United Empire to be Established With Capital of $3,000,000.

TORONTO, Oct. 24—The United Empire Bank is to be the name of Canada's newest monetary institution. In order to facilitate preliminary work incidental to the materialization of such an institution the charter of the Packard Trust Corporation has been purchased and the name will be changed by application to parliament in due course. George F. Hervey, general manager of the Standard Bank, is the initiator of the new project, which is estimated at $3,000,000, and includes among its directors E. A. DuVerney, Rev. Provost Macklem, Samuel Barkin, M. P. (Hamilton), Lord Ernest Hamilton, Evan H. Lewis, M. P. (London, England). A large amount of capital has been offered in England by London financiers. The distinguishing feature of the new bank is that while its head offices will be in Canada it will have a branch in London, thus affording it opportunity to fulfill the purposes embodied in its name.

VALUE OF "OZONE." An experienced writer once referred to his professional work as "grinding out copy." It may seem a little out of place to term it such but those who put much time and thought to advertising construction will agree that he was exactly right. Grinding out is about it. There is no constant, easy flow of practical link for print. It's more of a grind out by weight and measure. Taking time, too. It is a mistake for merchants to imagine that because he can't just sit down and write up an attractive and successful advertisement in short order that he hasn't the knack of production in him. The expert doesn't do it that way. Can't be done without thought and time by anybody. The little two-inch ad that takes less than a full sheet of scrap paper in getting its bearings will be found wanting. Some use papers, others do it mentally. Nevertheless, there must be doing. And practice makes good. There's really less done for profit scrambling in the small city papers than in the large city dailies. Papers are smaller. Less advertising matter carried. Everybody knows everybody else, or has heard of them. They can't clear through the paper in a half hour and turn all of attention, marriage license, births, deaths and so-

POSITION AND GOOD COPY.

By W. E. Repass in the Advertising World.

The smaller town merchants are still giving themselves much concern about what position their advertisements shall occupy in the daily paper. Seem to imagine their townspeople only read a given side or corner of the paper and chances are seven to fifteen pages against them. All want about the same place, of course, and are unreasonable enough to forbid advertising where the other fellows are coming in (my kingdom for anything but an editorial) in towns where the position (problem has not been worked out.) A certain clothier, who does some fastidious advertising, has a most peculiar newspaper contract: spring and fall as though that was all the copy must appear in a fixed position under contract. If the intervening time has not developed a suitable line of ad, he must appear in a head clerk, then he agrees to just run his name until copy is patched up. He must do, sure as one's nose, while his ad is running. Guess he thinks nobody else does either. But they do, sure as one's nose, while his ad is running. Guess he thinks nobody else does either. NOT TO BE CAUGHT.

A certain London corn chandler had just engaged an assistant, who hailed from a small village near Leeds. He was not remarkable for his intelligence. His friends, realizing this deficiency, had evidently warned him against being caught by the sharp London people who would be certain to try and take a rise out of him. Full of this resolve not to be caught, he began his duties. A customer entered the shop. "I want some bird seed, please," he said. The assistant grinned. The customer repeated his request, and the knowing villager spluttered with suppressed merriment. The customer, not quite knowing what to make of this extraordinary display, asked him in somewhat forcible language what was the matter. "It's no use," answered the verdant one; "the knows that I can't catch 'em. I know 'I do."

Brewster's Millions

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON (RICHARD CRAVES)

Copyright, 1905, by Richard S. Stebbins & Company

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Young Montague Brewster falls heir to $1,000,000, left him by his grandfather Edwin Peter Brewster. He is Gray, the daughter of an old friend of his mother, with whom he has made his home when he receives word that his uncle James T. Bedwick, a bitter enemy of his grandfather, has died in Montana leaving him $1,000,000 on condition that on his 30th birthday, just one year away, he is absolutely penniless. The money is left in trust of a peculiar character, Swasey Jones, of Montana, who makes several restrictions as to how the money shall be spent. He must take no one into his confidence, must not be more than ordinarily dissipated, nor give to any charity. Brewster starts to spend his money and is worried that he can't get rid of it fast enough.

He sees the idea of a young society woman, Mrs. Dan DeMille, to help him entertain on a most elaborate scale which makes him not understand his predicament. He is fascinated by and proposes to Barbara Drew, who gives him leave to try and win her and on whom he lavishes his money. He gambles in stocks but has the ill luck to gain instead of lose and thus gains a reputation as a good business man. Many of his schemes for losing money fail, turning out to be money-makers instead. One bit of luck is the failure of a bank in which he had deposited $100,000. The last chapter tells of a run on the bank of which Barbara Drew is the cashier. Monty steps in and saves the institution. Barbara hears of an mysterious party Monty's motives, quarrels with him. Monty surmises the shock and prepares to give the most expensive ball New York ever saw.

"Well, if Monty Brewster is still in love with Miss Drew he is a mighty poor way of showing it," said Van Winkle. "I don't think it is a very good thing to do that. I don't think it is a very good thing to do that. I don't think it is a very good thing to do that."

"I don't think it is a very good thing to do that," said Van Winkle. "I don't think it is a very good thing to do that. I don't think it is a very good thing to do that."

and gradually emerged from the mists of lassitude. He found it harder than he had thought to come back to life. The burden of it all seemed heavy. The trials and tribulations that some more powerful stimulant than the medicine was needed to awaken his ambition, and they discovered it at last in Peggy.

"Child," he said to her the first time she was permitted to see him, and his eyes lit such a bad world after all. Sometimes as I've lain here it has looked twisted and queer, but there are things that straighten out. Today I feel as though I had a place in it—as though I could fight things and win out. What do you think, Peggy? Do you suppose there is something that I could do? You know what I mean—something that some one else would not do a thousand times better."

But Peggy, to whom this chastened mood in Monty was infinitely pathetic, would not let him talk. She soothed him and cheered him and touched his hair with her cool hands, and then she left him to think and brood and dream. It was many days before his turbulent mind drifted to the subject of money, but suddenly he found himself hoping that the surgeons would be generous with their charges. He almost suffered a relapse when Lotless, visibly distressed, informed him that the total amount would reach $20,000.

"And what is the additional charge for the operation?" asked Monty, unwilling to accept such unwarranted favors.

"It's included in the $3,000," said Lotless. "They knew you were my friend, and it was professional etiquette to help keep down expenses."

For days Brewster remained at Mrs. Gray's, happy in its restfulness, serene under the shadow of the roof and satisfied to be helplessly behind in his daily expense account. The interest shown by the inquiries at the house and the anxiety of his friends were soothing to the prodigal. It gave him a little of his lost self respect. The doctors finally decided that he would best recuperate in Florida and advised a month at least in the warmth. He leaped at the proposition, but took the law into his own hands by ordering General Manager Harrison to resign at once and instead that he needed the companionship of Peggy and Mrs. Gray.

"How soon can I get back to work, doctor?" demanded Monty the day before the special train was to carry him south. He was beginning to see the dark side of enforced idleness. His blood again was tingling with the desire to be back in the harness of a spendthrift.

"And what is your occupation, pray?" "Making other people rich," responded Brewster solemnly.

"Well, aren't you satisfied with what you have done for me? If you are as charitable as that you must be still pretty sick," said the doctor, who was on your feet again in five or six weeks.

Harrison came in as Lotless left and asked at him from the window. She had been reading aloud from a novel so garrulous that it fairly cried aloud for the ball every day. "Nopper, Nopper, what became of the ball I was going to give?" demanded Monty, a troubled look in his eyes.

"Why, we used it off," said Nopper in surprise. "Don't you remember, Monty?" asked Peggy, looking up quickly and wondering if his mind had gone sailing off.

"I know we didn't give it, of course, but what did you do with it?" "We didn't postpone it at all," said Nopper. "How could we? We didn't know whether to mean, it wouldn't have been quite right to do that sort of thing."

"I understand. Well, what has become of the orchestra and what is downers and that?" "The orchestra is gallivanting about the country, quarrelling with itself and everybody else and driving poor George and me to the insane asylum. The fiddlers have lost their bloom long ago."

"Well, we'll get together, Nopper, and try to have the orchestra back. I think I'll be well by that time."

Peggy looked appealingly at Harrison for guidance, but to his silence seemed the better part of valor, and he went off wondering if the illness had completely carried away Monty's reason.

CHAPTER XVII. IT was the cottage of a New York millionaire who had died in England. Brewster, the owner had, for the time, preferred Italy to St. Augustine and left his estate, which was well located and lavishly equipped, in the hands of his friends. Brewster's lease covered three months, at a fabulous rate per month. With Joe Bragdon installed as manager in chief, his establishment was transferred bodily from New York, and the rooms were soon as comfortable as their grandeur would permit. Brewster was not allowed to take advantage of his presence and the new automobile which preceded him from New York, but to his guests they offered unlimited opportunities.

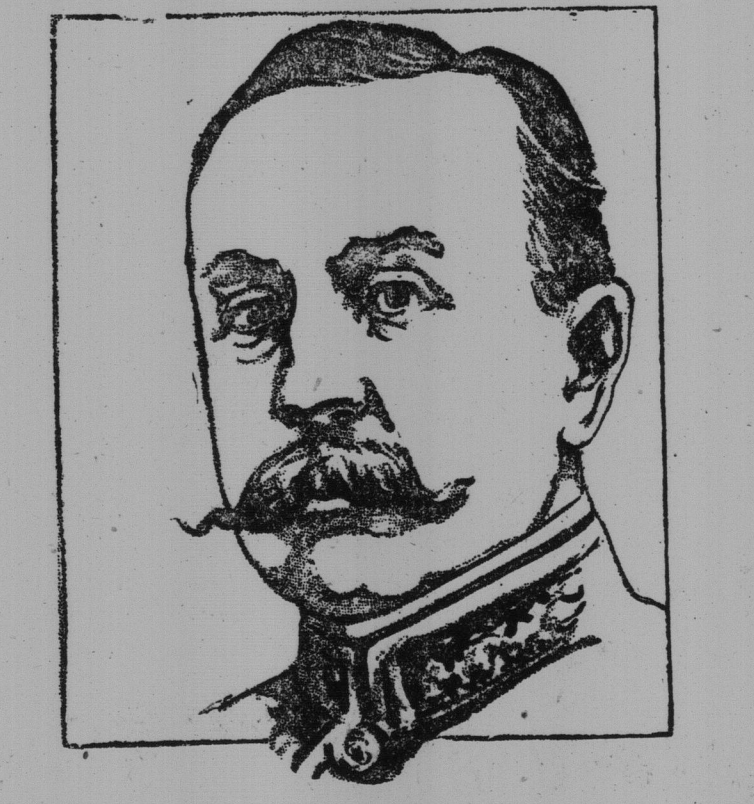

Nopper Harrison had remained in the north to renew arrangements for the now hated ball and to look after the advance details of the yacht cruise. Dr. Lotless and his sister, with Subway Smith and the Grays, made up Brewster's party. Lotless dampened Monty's spirits by relentlessly putting him on rigid diet, with most discouraging restrictions upon his conduct. The period of convalescence was to be an exceedingly trying one for the invalid. At first he was kept indoors, and the hours were whiled away by playing cards, but Monty preferred bridge to the ponies and conferred to play piquet with Peggy. It was one of these games that the girl interrupted with a question that had troubled her for many days. "Monty," she said, and she found it much more difficult than when she had rehearsed the scene in the silence of her walks. "I've heard a rumor that Miss Drew and her mother have taken rooms at the hotel. Wouldn't it be pleasanter to have them here?"

A MINTO APPRECIATION.

Career of Viceroy and Governor-General of India —Life of Mintos in Canada.

The recent resignation of Baron Curzon of Kedleston as viceroy and governor general of India and the appointment of the Earl of Minto as his successor were the outcome of a political movement of considerable importance. The Earl of Minto was the office which is one of the most highly prized gifts within the province the crown bestows. In 1899, he had been under-secretary of state for India and had shown seal and intelligence in the office. His selection as viceroy was due to his fitness rather than to political preference, and his appointment was received with marked approbation from all quarters, both in England and in India. The new viceroy has been in existence for 200 years. The Elliotts have always maintained a close connection with the military. An ancestor of the first earl was the Baron Heathfield, who defended Gibraltar in 1783.

The same year he was in the military reputation. He became an ensign in the Scots Guards in 1807. Ten years later he served with the first earl was the Baron Heathfield, who defended Gibraltar in 1783. The same year he was in the military reputation. ENGLISH FOOTBALLERS.

Invasion of Canada by Some Noted British Visitors—Team of Famous Players—Association Game.

The English Pilgrim Association football team which has invaded Canada with a cricket eleven picked from the crack players of City, Sheffield, Queen's Park, Edinburgh, London, Birmingham, Manchester and Corinthian teams, is accompanied by Sir Ernest Cecil Cochrane. Sir Ernest is a keen supporter of the game in England, and it was he who donated a silver cup valued at $500 for a game to be played by the United States team and a picked Canadian eleven.

It is the intention of the visiting team to play games in Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Peterborough, Toronto, Winnipeg in Canada, and Chicago, Boston, New York, Philadelphia and St. Louis in the United States. Sir Ernest is one of the greatest exponents of soccer football in England, and he has been playing it since he was a boy.

Among the members of the team that are accompanying Kirkpatrick are such well known players as Dr. Ross, Victor Fliche, P. Hornsfield, the Farnham brothers, Fred H. Milnes (captain) and C. B. Fry, one of the greatest all round athletes in England.

The team is said by experts to be the best that was ever gathered together in the two countries. Sir Charles Kirkpatrick, baronet, is a versatile player who has earned high honors at the game; indeed, he is good at almost anything in the way of athletics. Sir Charles Sharp Kirkpatrick, of Clossburn, Dumfriesshire, represents the main line of the family to which the Empress Eugenie belongs. The old mansion of Clossburn, built by the first baronet (the creation dates from 1685), was burned to the ground through the carelessness of drunken servants in 1748. Sir Charles was born in 1874 and resides at Forest Hill. He is a big fellow with a genial smile, and puts a terrible amount of weight into the ball every time his foot comes into contact with it.

Lady Kirkpatrick, who accompanies her husband on the trip, is a very well known English society lady, and is sure to make many friends during her sojourn in Canada. As an organization the "Pilgrims" are of the same caliber as the famous Corinthians, who have played in all parts of the world, South Africa and Australia included, but not America or Canada.

BRIDGE IN THE KITCHEN. Mrs. Belva a Lockwood, corresponding secretary of the Universal Peace Union, in an interval at the recent meeting in Philadelphia, talked about servants. "I know a woman who got a modern servant, a cook, from a noted cooking school. This cook, the third day, announced that she was going away."

NEWS OF SPORT.

Protest Against the Neptunes Not Allowed by League Committee—Strong Hockey Team—Marvin Hart to Box Kaufman

FOOTBALL.

PROTEST NOT ALLOWED.

After debating the question for two and a half hours the executive of the local league last night voted against sustaining the Beavers' protest of Saturday against certain members of the Neptunes' team.

The protest against the Neptunes was read, also the reply of the Neptunes' secretary to the effect that all the players protested against were bona fide members of the Neptunes Rowing Club.

The protest and reply brought out a brisk and somewhat heated debate. The Beavers' delegates argued that they had been informed that one player on the Neptunes team last Saturday had stated after the game that he was not a member.

The Neptunes replied warmly that as their club recognized the players referred to as members the executive had nothing to do with that phase of the question.

The Carleton representatives wanted the executive to decide as to whether a football member of a club was a bona fide member.

The Beavers stated that they knew that some Neptunes players had signed applications on the Victoria grounds before the game, and said that such methods were questionable and that this fact alone would warrant the executive in disciplining the rowing club by throwing out the game.

The main difficulty seemed to be in the interpretation of the section bearing on the point. However, a motion by the Beavers to sustain the protest was defeated. The members seemed to think that while this question was an intricate one there was nothing for it but to accept the Neptunes' statement that the protested players were bona fide members. After the vote the meeting adjourned.

BEAVERS TO PLAY TABS.

A game has been arranged between the Beavers and a team from the H. M. S. Cornwall for Thanksgiving day. This, with Mount Allison on Friday and U. N. B. on Saturday should be sufficient football for the most ardent enthusiast.

WANT GAME WITH "OLD BOYS."

The Rotherham Collegiate school team, the winners of the Moore cup in the junior league, are desirous of a game with a team composed of "old boys" of the school.

AT U. N. B.

FREDERICTON, Oct. 24.—Much interest is taken in the Mount Allison v. U. N. B. football game on Thursday. So far as can be learned, the lineup of the U. N. B. team on Thursday will be as follows: Full-back, Hayward; half-backs, Joe Dewey, Dymart Turner and Dunphy; quarter-backs, McBeath and Everett; forwards, Mason, Bealey, Baird, Gregory, Clark, Billy Woods, Logie and Frank Smith. The spare half-back may be Harry Smith, while Rigby and Joe Wood are good candidates for line substitutes.

MONCTON WILL HAVE STRONG TEAM.

MONCTON, N. B., Oct. 24.—Indications point to Moncton having a strong hockey team in the provincial league this winter if one is organized. An enthusiastic meeting of hockeyists was held tonight and it was decided to organize and make an effort to secure some strong players to fill up the weak spots in last year's team and take the place of some who are out of the game. Of last year's team Brockie, Way and Wortman are left, which means that point and three forwards are needed.

St. Philip's bazaar, which was held last evening, was a great success. In spite of the rain and wind, there was a large attendance, and everyone seemed to be having a jolly good time.

The bazaar opened with devotional exercises by the pastor, Rev. T. W. Johnston, followed by a short address, in which he assigned the ladies to the different booths, which are placed on the left of the church, and which are four in number. The first and largest booth is where fancy goods are for sale.

THE TURF. NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 24.—Several hundred enthusiasts were present today at the opening of the light harness meeting at the track at the Nashua fair grounds. There were two events on the card, the 2:17 trot and the 2:39 pace, the latter event being unfinished.

HART AND HAUFMAN MATCHED. LOUISVILLE, Oct. 24.—Marvin Hart, the champion heavyweight pugilist, today accepted the offer of the Colma Club of San Francisco for a match with Al. Haufman, the club's offer, made through Bill Roche, calling for an unlimited round fight for a purse of $10,000. The offer is contingent on Kaufman winning Friday night over Jack O'Brien in San Francisco.

BASKET BALL.

TWO GAMES THURSDAY. One of the important events of Thanksgiving evening will be two basket ball games to be played in St. Paul's (Valley) school house, commencing at 7 p. m. The first game will be played between St. Paul's young ladies and the second team of St. Paul's Y. M. A. The ladies know that this will make it a warm fight for the boys. The second game will be played between the Moncton Y. M. A. and St. Paul's Y. M. A. (1st team). This has been specially arranged, and will be a very exciting game. The local boys will be putting in some hard practices and should receive liberal patronage.

MARRIAGE OF MARY HOWE-LAVIN.

Well-known Soprano Singer Weds South Lancaster Man. The marriage of Mary Howe-Lavin, the soprano, to Edward O. Burton of South Lancaster, is announced to take place in Boston this morning. Only a few intimate friends will be present. This will be the second marriage of the bride, for Mary Howe was wedded to William J. Lavin in Cleveland, in December, 1891.

The bride is known far and wide as one of the sweetest voices that ever came out of the Green Mountain state. It was in 1890 that Mary Howe attracted attention as a singer with the Murgie club. At first she sang only in New England, but so great was her success that she soon captured New York and the western cities.

She is a daughter of C. L. Howe, an old-time photographer of Brattleboro. She learned to sing almost as soon as she learned to speak, and counts among her early successes her appearance as Josephine in a juvenile Pinafore company. She has studied abroad under some of the best teachers and has sung with wonderful success in several of the European capitals.

Edward O. Burton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Burton. His father was for many years in the basket and brush business at South Lancaster. He is about 35 years old and is employed in the office of the Clinton woven wire company at Clinton—Boston Globe.

CANDYMAN LOSES WAITRESS WIFE.

BOSTON, Oct. 24.—The kaleidoscope of matrimony was on exhibition in the divorce court presided over by Judge Gaskill yesterday, but harmony in the blending was lacking, caused in most cases by cruel and abusive treatment on the part of the husbands, superintended by the courts, and there were revealed scenes sad to contemplate. Even babies were numbered among the sufferers, and were finished, and at the afternoon session the contested cases were taken up.

Katie G. Pierce, a waitress in Gridley's, asked for a divorce for cruelty from James P. Pierce, a Greek, who once kept a candy store on Tremont

PRINCE VISITS HALIFAX SCHOOLS.

Presented With Address by One of the Scholars. HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 24.—Prince Louis of Battenberg this morning visited some of the city schools. At ten o'clock Prince Louis in company with his worship the mayor and Chairman Taylor, went the rounds of a number of the schools. At St. Joseph's the children were assembled in the hall to greet him, and after singing the National Anthem, one of the scholars delivered an address, welcoming the prince. One of the little girls then presented his highness with a handsome bouquet of flowers. His highness at the close of his visit, expressed his great pleasure at having had the opportunity of visiting the schools. He regarded it as particularly kind that the children should have been given a half-hour in his honor. At one school he said it would give him great pleasure to tell His Majesty the King on his return to England the very hearty manner they sang the National Anthem, expressive of that deep and loyal affection for the King which he and everywhere saw in this city and in Canada. He hoped it would not be his last visit to Halifax, and wherever the boys and girls met him he hoped they would speak to him and remind him of this occasion, no matter in what part of the world they might at afterwards meet.

NEW MANAGER FOR BANK OF N. B.

R. B. Kesson to Succeed W. E. Stavert—Bank Will Increase Its Stock and Extend Its Business. As foreshadowed in the Sun a few weeks ago the much discussed merger of the Bank of New Brunswick with the Bank of Montreal is not to take place. The contrary theory local in situation, in which the people of St. John take pride, is to branch out into other fields and become a bank of national character.

At the meeting of the directors held yesterday morning, was decided to call a meeting of the shareholders for the 6th of November to consider this matter.

There seems to be little doubt that the shareholders will endorse the decision of the directors, and the result will be made to parliament for power to increase the bank's capital, which is now $500,000, to an amount commensurate with their proposed aggressive policy. While the directors are reticent as to the details of the plan, it is thought that the present capital will be at least doubled. Legislation was recently passed enabling the bank to increase its capital, without any increase in the amount of taxes paid at present.

R. B. Kesson, at present manager at Montreal of the Bank of Ottawa, is the man that has been selected to succeed Mr. Stavert.

In securing Mr. Kesson the Bank of New Brunswick brings to its attention a man whose life has been devoted to banking interests. The new general manager was born at Bathgate, Scotland, and he received his education at Bathgate Academy, later on finishing his studies in Edinburgh University. After leaving the university he entered commercial life and spent four years with a mercantile house in Leith, Scotland, and the end of this time he left the old country and went to Australia, where he became a partner in a mercantile firm, and in 1892 he came to Canada and he has since been connected with the Bank of Ottawa almost since the first year he landed in this country. He has held various positions in the Bank of Ottawa, and after which he went to Toronto and opened a branch office, remaining there a year. His residence in Montreal dates from seven years ago, when he came here and opened a branch in that city in the Bank of Ottawa, and which, under his management, has attained a high degree of prosperity.

It is expected that Mr. Stavert will sever his connection with the bank about the first of the year, and Mr. Kesson will probably take office a week or two earlier in order to acquaint himself with his new surroundings, and meet the bank's principal patrons.

FREDERICTON'S GREETING FOR PRINCE LOUIS.

FREDERICTON, Oct. 24.—F. R. Powell, organist of Christ Church Cathedral, has received the sad intelligence of the death at Norwich, England, of his mother, at the age of 89 years.

Arrangements are quickly being completed for the welcome and entertainment of Prince Louis here on Friday. A private special train conveying the prince and his party will arrive from St. John by the C. P. R. about 4 p. m. The party will be met at the Queen Hotel, where rooms have been engaged, and will enjoy an informal luncheon.

The prince will be taken for a drive by the Lieut. Governor, when the old Government House here will be visited. Before His Serene Highness goes driving, Mayor McNally, accompanied by the city clerk, will call at the hotel, and the courtesy will be returned when the prince will visit the City Hall and the Opera House. A public reception will follow at the same place. The citizens will probably be presented by Mayor McNally, upon the stage during the presentation of the address and reception, will be Judges Gregory and Wilson, Senator Thompson, representatives of York county in the legislature, police magistrate, city treasurer, city auditor, the principal assessor, warden and county clerk, secretary-treasurer of York county, and the city clerks. The Lieut. Governor and his executive council and the members of the civic corporation will also be on the stage. An orchestra will furnish music during the reception, and the building will be decorated with bunting, flags and potted plants. For the state ball about 5,000 invitations will be issued. Work has been commenced at fitting up the Parliament buildings for the function and the furniture of many of the rooms has already been removed. Prince Alexander of Battenberg will accompany Prince Louis here as A. D. C.

It is expected that Sir William W. Horne will meet Prince Louis here and escort him on Saturday to St. Andrews.

THE SALE OF SEATS IS NOW ON.

Forty of the most talented children to be found on the stage constitute the Pollard Australian Juvenile Opera Company, which will present "A Runaway Girl" on the opening appearance at the York Theatre on next Monday night.

They are all direct from Australia, and it is the only organization worthy of the name in the business. They present a number of the latest musical compositions in a way that puts many an adult opera company to the blush. Their acting, dancing and singing below are marvellous to all who see them. They opened their American tour at the Tivoli Opera House in San Francisco, Cal., and press and public have nothing but praise for them. Every best style, and the performances are said to be perfect in every respect.

"The Ball of New York," "Finchford" and "The Lady Slave" will also be presented during the first week. The sale of seats is now on.

AT THE THEATRES.

FOR TOMORROW. For the Thanksgiving matinee the Haskins Co. will repeat their great success. The Cowboy and the Lady. In order to avoid the usual holiday rush, matinee tickets have been placed on sale at the box office. Those who purchase these seats before the performance will save time and inconvenience. For Thanksgiving evening the bill will be The Gentleman Burglar, and Mr. Haskins promises another dramatic treat, fully as good as those he has already given us. This in itself should be a guarantee of a full house. The name indicates. A number of burglaries are committed in the highest New York society. Plainly they are the work of some one in society, but who? Detectives are called in and are at a loss to find the culprit, although several members of society are under suspicion. Every robbery that takes place in New York and that remains unsolved is placed to the credit of The Gentleman Burglar, whether he is guilty or not. Those who are fond of mystery will have in The Gentleman Burglar, even after the close of the play, and each and every one can solve it for themselves. Seats are rapidly selling for this performance, and an early visit to the box office would be advisable.

YORK THEATRE OFFERING TO NIGHT.

At York Theatre last night the Pauline Hammond company played The Palace Wedding, and the performance was much better than the opening bill. The bill for tonight will be The Gambler's Daughter, and on Thanksgiving day there will be matinee and evening performances. The Power of Gold will be played in the afternoon.

N. Y. SHOP WRECKED BY DYNAMITE BOMB. IRISH GUARDS AGAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The seven story tenement house on the corner of Grand and Mott streets, was blown to smithereens by an explosion of dynamite, which some unknown person had placed on the steps of the butcher shop on the ground floor. The explosion threw the hundreds of tenants in the building and in the house adjoining into a panic. The butcher shop was wrecked by the explosion, but the rest of the house was uninjured, save for the smashing of many windows.

Dr. Vincenzo Sellaro, who has an office and apartment in the building, informed the police that the dynamite was probably meant for him. He said that he had received several threatening letters, the first demanding $5,000 and the sums afterwards ranging down to $100. He ignored all the letters, and finally one came telling him that he must not think he was forgotten and that he would yet feel "the mighty vengeance of the Black Hand."

One Italian was arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the explosion.

Fair Visitor—Here, my poor man, are some roses for you. What can I do to make you comfortable? Prisoner—Guess you're makin' a mistake, lady. Fair Visitor—Mistake—how? Prisoner—I'm only here for porch-climbin'. You'll find the guy that killed his wife in 't' next cell.

WEDDING HOUR CAME BUT NO BRIDEGROOM.

Unexpected Postponement of a Marriage Set for Last Night—Reason for Groom's Absence Not Known

There was one very unhappy young lady last night. It was to have been her wedding night, but the groom did not put in an appearance and what was to have been the happiest event in her life was a sorrowful one.

The engagement between the young couple has been known to a host of friends for months and it is further said by Dame Rumor that a pretty little flat had been rented and furnished. The groom to be is an agent and while a great deal of his time is spent in the city, he is frequently called out of the city on business and while some say that his business is responsible for his non-appearance last night others say that his business is of such a nature that he could spare enough time from it to get married.

It is said however that the chief reason for his non-appearance is the work of relatives who object to the match on religious grounds and have effected a delay if not the abandonment of the marriage.

Just what was done to keep the young man away from his promised bride has not yet got out.

SPLEANE-MCAULAY.

A pretty wedding takes place tonight at nine o'clock at Milford, when Miss Gertrude Elizabeth McAulay, daughter of George McAulay, of Cushing's mill, will be married to James McMaister Splaine, of the Sulphite Pulp Mill Co.

The wedding will take place at the home. The young couple will be attended. The bride will wear a handsome cream gown. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Mr. Bishop, of Fairville. Mr. and Mrs. Splaine will reside at Milford.

COLEMAN-REYNOLDS.

At 10 o'clock this morning a pretty wedding took place at 397 Rockland Road when Blanche A., eldest daughter of H. A. Reynolds, was united in marriage to E. LeBaron Coleman, business manager of the Sydney Publishing Co. The young couple were unattended and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Howard. The bride wore a blue travelling suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman were passengers on the 11.25 train for Sydney where they will reside. A large number of friends were at the station to see their departure. The young couple live the recipients of many presents. The groom's present to the bride was a furnished coat with mink trimmings.

POLICE COURT.

At the police court this morning two men were fined four dollars each. One was an old woman.

Mrs. Dismore Chapman appeared in court with a badly bruised left eye, and while she held an infant in her arms she swore out an information against her husband whom she says struck her and caused the damage.

It was only a couple of weeks ago when the Star mentioned about Mrs. Chapman being in court laying information against her husband for non-support and how she magistrate after considerable advice had the couple promise to leave the court and try and live happily in the future. From the present appearance the couple with their four little children do not happily reside on Main street, North End, and Chapman works in a Union street blacksmith shop. He will be summoned to court and in case he is found guilty and sent to jail his wife and children will doubtlessly have to depend on charity.

ST. JOHN MAN WAS PRINCE LOUIS' SHIPMATE.

Charles H. Williams Was Bandman on the Royal Alfred, When the Admiral Was a Midly.

If there is one man in St. John whom Prince Louis of Battenberg should be pleased to see, it is Charles Williams, bandmaster of the City Corset and St. Mary's brass bands, as for four years they were shipmates together.

Knowing that Mr. Williams was at one time in the royal navy a Star reporter asked him yesterday if he had ever met Prince Louis during the time he was in the navy. "Why," said Mr. Williams, "I met him I don't know how many times, as for years we lived together on the same ship and we met frequently each day, and," continued the old bandmaster, "if Prince Louis is as nice an admiral as he was a midshipman he is certainly beloved by all of his men."

It was in the year 1893 that Mr. Williams came out to Canada as bandmaster on the flagship Royal Alfred, with Admiral Wellesey, in charge of the British North American squadron. It was on the flagship that the prince was a midshipman. "If you didn't know who the young fellow was," said Mr. Williams, "you would no more take him for a prince than any of the other midships. He was a very fine young man and a good worker."

"Do you know," said Mr. Williams, "my duties were to instruct the musicians on board the ship, and many a morning when I was snugly rolled up in my blankets the young prince was on deck in his bare feet, with trousers rolled up superintending a squad of Jackies scrubbing down decks. The prince was very musical and took a great interest in the Royal Alfred's band and as a pianist he was an expert."

"It was when a party had been formed to play in the captain's cabin that the prince would take a particular part in making the arrangements with Mr. Williams. After making a pianoforte copy of a piece the prince would sign his name to it. Mr. Williams has some of the prince's music now in his possession at his Leicester street home. One piece is a Haydn symphony arranged for a quintette and the prince's work as a music writer was well accomplished. Mr. Williams prizes the prince's music very much."

After the Royal Alfred had been out on this station for four years and a half she was ordered to Portsmouth, England, to pay off the crew. Prince Louis was summoned to Osborne House by Queen Victoria and could not see the ship paid off, for which he seemed very sorry. Among those whom he shook hands with and said good-bye to was the bandmaster, and Mr. Williams has never since seen the midly of '89 and the now admiral.
