TRIANGULAR FIGHT

Two Liberals and One Conservative

IN RESTIGOUCHE.

It is Understood that William Murray Will Enter the Field

From present indications it is very probable that there will be a three cornered contest in Restigouche in the coming elections.

It was understood in 1900 that Mr. Jas. Reid would retire in favor of Mr. William Murray at the end of the term and now it appears that the Reid faction do not want their man to retire. Of course a convention has been called to select a candidate, and it is probable that Mr. Reid will carry the convention, but this will not unite the party, as it is generally understood that Mr. Murray will also be nominated.

The Conservatives have also called a convention and the names most prominent as candidates are John McAlister, ex-M. P., Geo. Moffat and W. A. Mott. It is thought that Mr. Moffat would be the choice of the party if he would consent to nomination, but thus far he has refused to entertain the idea.

In Bonaventure County Mr. Chas. Marcell has already been chosen as the standard bearer and we understand there is some talk of offering the nomination in the Conservative interest to Mr. Thomas Crockett of River du Loup. Gaspé of course will be contested by the Solicitor General, Hon. R. Lemieux on the Government side. We have not heard who will be his opponent.

In Gloucester, Mr. O. Turgeon the present member will likely be opposed by Mr. Narcisse Landry.

WHO IS HE?

A Strange Individual Makes His Appearance at Point La Garde

The residents of Point La Garde would like to know something about a mysterious personage who lately came to their neighborhood. He has rapidly avoided divulging his name, but on one or two occasions has informed the eager interrogator that he is a detective. He has brass buttons all over him and makes his abode in a little hut on the outskirts of the forest prison. A visitor to his premises says that he has a cellar dug the full size of his hut.

ADMIRAL BURNED.

AT MONTREAL.

(Special to Events.)

Montreal, Oct. 5.—The Steamer Admiral, which has been running between Dalhousie and Gaspé this summer, took fire at seven o'clock last evening and after burning for a time, broke from her moorings and turned turtle.

She arrived here on Monday from Quebec with a cargo of fish and oil in charge of Capt. Sears, who ran the Restigouche and was to leave on the return trip last night.

Night Watchman Hughes, while lighting the lamps, threw a match near the oil tank and fire started. The masts fell and the volume of water caused the boat to roll and break away from her moorings and finally turn turtle. She went aground opposite the jail.

The Admiral was built at Wilmington, Delaware, in 1864 and served as Gen. Grant's despatch boat. In her he visited South America after the war, and she had still on board several survivors of the late President. She ran for twenty years on the Gaspé-Dalhousie route.

There was but light insurance.

ALEXANDER McCURDY DEAD.

Mr. Alexander McCurdy died at his home 17 Sayward St. East Gloucester, Friday. He had been in failing health for some time due to a complication of diseases.

The deceased was a native of Belledune, N. B., being the son of William and Mary (Budroe) McCurdy. He came to the United States when a young man, and gave his services to his adopted country in the Civil War, enlisting Mar. 1864, in Company C, 37th Wisconsin Regiment, for three years and became a sergeant. He was discharged by general orders on July 25, 1865. Shortly after the war he came to this city, where he has since made his home. By trade he was a blacksmith, which vocation he followed without interruption until failing health made it necessary for him to retire.

The deceased was a prominent and respected citizen of East Gloucester. He took an active interest in municipal affairs, serving in the common council from ward one for three years, 1879, 1884 and 1885. He also served on the first board of license commissioners from 1894 to 1897, being appointed by Ex-Mayor Benj. F. Cook.

He was an ardent and enthusiastic yachtsman and at one time probably no man was better known in local yachting circles. He was a familiar figure in many races and at different times owned several yachts. He was a member of the East Gloucester Yacht Club, being commodore for a long period and by his energy to a great extent, the new club house was made a realization.

He was a member of Col. Allen Post 45, G. A. R., Acacia Lodge, A. F. and A. M., and the Gloucester Veteran Firemen's Association.

Mr. McCurdy was a man well liked by all who knew him. He possessed a genial and obliging nature, was upright and honest in his dealings, and his demise will be a loss among his coterie of friends.

He married Miss Laura J. Bates, who survives, together with two sons, Charles E. and James E. McCurdy, two daughters, Mrs. Fred B. Spates and Mrs. Geo. E. Waldon, and three grandchildren.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Shocking Fatality at Moores' Settlement.

ALCOHOL EXPLODED

A shocking fatality occurred at Moores' Settlement last Thursday, Wellington Moores, the five-year-old son of William Moores, being burned to death at his home. It appears that one of the girls of the family was lighting a fire in the stove and the fire being slow to start, poured a few drops of alcohol on the embers to hasten matters, whereupon the flames burst forth, igniting the clothing of the little fellow who was sitting in front of the stove. The girl in her endeavor to call for assistance became excited and fainted and when the inmates of the house arrived on the scene the young lad was terribly burned. Medical aid was immediately summoned but we understand the little sufferer died before the doctor reached there.

The affair has cast a gloom over the village and surrounding country.

MINISTER'S EXPOSE.

(Special to Events.)

Montreal, Oct. 6.—In the investigation of the Canada-Cape Breton collision at Sorel in June last, Capt. R. Salmon, wreck commissioner, found owners of steamship Canada in fault. He handed out letters and telegrams from Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, seeking to prevent rendering of judgment before the decision of the Admiralty Court at Quebec. Mr. Prefontaine and the legal firm of Aroker, Ferrout & Taschereau, represented the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co., and when they failed to move the Commissioner the minister took a hand in compelling his official to meet their wishes. The expose is the topic of conversation here.

I wish to inform my friends and customers that owing to illness that came to myself and family, I in consequence closed my hotel until the first of October. My hotel is now opened and ready to receive guests as heretofore. My house has been thoroughly renovated and my friends and customers will be received with the same old welcome.

THE POLITICAL POT.

Meetings Called to Select Candidates.

PREPARING FOR FIGHT

Both Sides Organizing and a Lively Contest is Expected.

The political pot is rapidly approaching the boiling point in Restigouche as elsewhere. Both parties are actively engaged in the work of organizing for the campaign and by the beginning of next week the fight will be in full swing.

Parish meetings for the election of delegates will be held throughout the County on Saturday. Each parish elects seven delegates who will attend the Convention at Dalhousie on the 11th inst, for the election of a candidate.

To-morrow afternoon in the Curling Rink, Campbellton, delegates from the different parishes will meet to select a candidate for the opposition. In the evening a public meeting will be held in the rink to be addressed by the candidate, Mr. H. A. Powell, of Moncton, and others.

In Mr. Murray's interests nothing will be done till after the Liberal Convention, when if Mr. Reid is the nominee, his friends will take an active part in the campaign. No doubt the plan of campaign has already been decided upon.

The man in the street no doubt wants to know something of the standing of the parties and the probable result of the general election. The composition of the House of Commons when it was dissolved was—

Mr. John O'Neill, the well-known merchant, had a lucky hunting trip north this week. He shot and secured a large moose about 14 miles from Lacquet River. He was in the woods about three hours on Tuesday when he had secured his prize. Mr. O'Neill had Mr. Andrew Roy, of Lacquet River, with him as guide. Two moose came out on the edge of the meadow, when they were spied by the hunters, with the result that Mr. O'Neill brought to Moncton one of the finest specimens of the "antlered monarch" that has been brought out of New Brunswick woods this season. It weighed 550 pounds dressed. The antlers measured 50 inches across. He will send them to a taxidermist in St. John. #### SELLING THE APPLE CROP

The Co-operative Plan. Dividends from Power Spraying.

On Sept. 21st, the farmers in the vicinity of Ingersoll, Ont. assembled to the number of about 75 or 80 to inspect the work done by the power spraying outfit managed in that vicinity by the Dominion Fruit Division. The object of the demonstration was to show that spraying might profitably be done as, threshing is usually done in Western Ontario, one man taking the contract for doing the work of a large number of his neighbours. A circuit embracing 3300 trees was contracted for and Mr. J. C. Harris was employed to do the work. He succeeded in spraying the whole number of trees four times with one outfit at a cost of something less than 20 cents a tree. The apples in the unsprayed orchards in that district are so scabby as to be practically worthless. The contrast between the sprayed and unsprayed fruit is therefore very marked.

The audience assembled at one o'clock at the orchard of Mr. J. C. Norworthy and inspected very carefully a large number of trees, counting and grading the apples. Some unsprayed orchards were visited and again some sprayed orchards, until six or seven had been inspected. The results may be summed up as follows: In the sprayed orchards 90 per cent of the fruit would grade No. 1, while in the unsprayed orchards not more than 15 per cent would grade No. 1. In some cases only 10 per cent of first class fruit was found and on some trees it was difficult to discover a perfect apple. The cost of spraying was about 20 cents per tree or 10 cents per barrel, and it is a fair estimate to say that for every 20 cents expended in spraying there was an increased value for about a $1.00.

The inspection was witnessed by Prof. Hutt, O. A. C., Guelph, Mr. G. A. Putnam, Superintendent of farmers' institutes, Mr. P. W. Hodges, Secretary Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, and a half dozen correspondents of agricultural papers.

Incidentally many points in general orchard culture were taken up. Prof. Hutt drew attention to the fact, even though cultivation and pruning were neglected in some of the sprayed orchards, the trees were well loaded and the specimens large. He pointed out that had the season been dry these fine samples could not have been obtained. Mr. Putnam spoke of the success which had attended the operations of the fruit shippers' associations of Walkerton, Chatham and St. Catharines, and especially commended this system of disposing of fruit.

Mr. McNell spoke briefly on the "topic How to sell the apple crop." He strongly condemned selling a product, the quantity of which he was not in a position to estimate to the buyer who had spent years in buying and was very apt in estimating the quantity of apples on a tree. He also condemned the formation of co-operative selling societies, which would erect store houses and packing sheds at some central place and have the fruit packed and graded by men who were used to the work. This method would not only effect a great saving in the quantity of fruit to be marketed but by giving a large number of packages of one variety and of uniform grade would attract larger buyers and secure better prices. With reference to the crop around Ingersoll this year, Mr. McNell said that he could not conscientiously urge buyers to make an offer, inasmuch as in the unsprayed orchards there was almost nothing to buy. Many of the sprayed orchards had been sold, and no doubt with proper management the rest could be sold, though the individual farmer was at a disadvantage as compared with the co-operative associations.

A much better plan for the farmer was to pick, pack, grade, and mark his own fruit, and then offer it for sale. The best way was, undoubtedly, the formation of co-operative selling societies, which would erect store houses and packing sheds at some central place and have the fruit packed and graded by men who were used to the work. This method would not only effect a great saving in the quantity of fruit to be marketed but by giving a large number of packages of one variety and of uniform grade would attract larger buyers and secure better prices. With reference to the crop around Ingersoll this year, Mr. McNell said that he could not conscientiously urge buyers to make an offer, inasmuch as in the unsprayed orchards there was almost nothing to buy. Many of the sprayed orchards had been sold, and no doubt with proper management the rest could be sold, though the individual farmer was at a disadvantage as compared with the co-operative associations.

A SWEETLY PRETTY PICTURE

"The Princess at work," is the title of one of the most beautiful pictures ever before the Canadian people. Great credit is due the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, for having secured such a gem for their subscribers this season. We understand they have put the price of two or three pictures which they have been in the habit of giving in previous years into one really good picture, and there is no doubt about the wisdom of their decision. "The Princess at work," is certainly a gem. A year's subscription to such a paper with such a picture included is certainly a big dollars' worth.

With crick in the Back.

You are up against a whole lot of trouble unless you have a strong remedy like Nervine to settle pain and dislodge stiffness from the muscles and joints. Just rub Nervine on the painful spot—not much rubbing because Nervine has much more power than ordinary remedies. You won't suffer long after Nervine is applied for it relieves almost instantly. Mr. Philip Adams of Oakville says: "If I had it used Nervine I guess my back would be stiff yet. A few applications of Nervine took out all the soreness and stiffness. I can now depend on Nervine for any kind of Muscular pain, also for rheumatism. Price 25c."

How the Russian Peasant is Taxed

The average homestead then, consisting of three male members and several women and children, has $201 yearly income and $199 annual expenditure. Over one-fourth of the outlay is spent on articles which are heavily taxed by the state, and the amount thus contributed to the government is on alcohol drunk $10.82; on tea, $5.35; on sugar, $3.58; on calico prints 95 cents; on petroleum, 77 cents; on tobacco, 15½ cents; and on matches, 10½ cents. The expenditures being underestimated, the amount really goes in this indirect taxation is greater, but taking it as stated it runs up to 32 per cent of the entire yearly income of the peasant homestead. If we now add to that the direct taxes, which are $11.58, the entire sum paid by the peasant to the state is about $36.04 out of an income of $201. And of this only some 15 per cent finds its way back again in the form of government outlay on local needs. In another district of the Moscow government (that of Kila) the mean budget of the homestead is $113.29, out of which $38.56 or 34 per cent, goes towards helping the state accumulate its free balance of several hundred millions. The private landowners, on the whole, we read, "make a certain profit, but as for the peasants, the budgets of the great bulk of them are balanced by a shortage which is covered partly by work which they do in other districts and partly by chronic failure to pay their direct taxes."

Those are concrete examples which are valuable because typical. They are rather understated than exaggerated, for very many districts are worse off. In the government of Saratov, for instance, there is a large district—that of Balashev—the inhabitants of which deduct for taxes $31.14 per homestead out of an average income of $58.88, so that their incomes swallow more than half of the yearly earnings available for expenditure. As a matter of fact the sum disposable for general expenditure is less than $29.73 per homestead, and is less than $4.40 per head of the population. And it is out of this miserable pittance that the peasant has to pay for his clothing and boots, for the repairs of his hut and outhouses, for agricultural implements, and for live stock; he has, further, to pay off arrears of debt and interest on them; to lay something aside in case of fire, the loss of horses or of horned cattle, and other accidents. And that represents only the average. In reality, the income and taxes are all unequally distributed, the peasants are in even worse straits than those just described. At least 50 per cent of the peasant population of the Balashev district have a great deal less than $12 per head free remainder, and the individual lives in a state of chronic hunger.

The Royal Bank of Canada Secures a Valuable Contract from Cuban Government

(Havana Post)
The contract awarded a few days ago to the Royal Bank of Canada for the payment of the cheques that are to be issued to the holders of the certificates of the army of liberation, was yesterday formally signed by Mr. J. Garcia Montes, the secretary of the treasury, on behalf of the Government of the Republic of Cuba, and Mr. F. J. Sherman, the manager of the bank in this city.

The payments of the cheques are to be made in Havana, near the Rio Matanzas, at the Santa Clara, Santiago de Cuba, Baracoa, Gibara, Guantamano and Remedios by the bank's agents in those cities. It is understood that the distribution of the first $10,000,000 will begin on Oct 1st, and the cheques, payable to bearer, being issued in the principal towns of the island, will be paid at the point of issue nearest to the place named on the cheques.

Pulled the Bell When She Was Hungry

An old lady on her first railway trip remarked the bell and over head, and turning to a boy, she pointed to the bell and said, "Sonny, what's that for?"
"That, mammy," he said, with a mischievous twinkle in his eye, "is for pulling the bell when you want anything to eat."

Shortly afterwards the old lady reached her umbrella up to the door and gave a vigorous pull. The whole train began to slacken its speed, windows were thrown up, questions asked, and confusion reigned among the passengers. The old lady sat calmly through it all little dreaming that she was the cause of the excitement.

Presently the conductor came rushing through the train and asked, "Who pulled the cord?"

"I did," replied the old lady meekly.

Coal's Commercial Supremacy

Has the reader ever stopped to consider that, viewed from whatever standpoint it may be, coal is of more value than gold? It may seem a strange thing, perhaps, to put it in this blunt fashion, but the facts will bear one out in the assertion. Coal is of greater value in its initial feature, as an article of production; the output of coal in the United States last year was 355,000,000 tons, worth at the pit's mouth $306,000,000, while the value of gold produced was perhaps $80,000,000. This is taken only as the initial value, and in the case of coal there is an increase in its value use and service out of the question for the moment, at every point distant which is reached from the place of its production, while the gold valuation remains the same wherever it is used. In fact, coal is of so great importance as a mere item of product that other things one hears much of sink into nothingness when compared therewith.

Oil, which, according to its friends, was to drive coal out of business, has not realized all that was expected. The state of Ohio seems to have passed its meridian, and the oil promoters and gushers of Texas no longer gush as they did a year or two ago. The oil industry can no more snuff out the coal industry than the planet Jupiter can hurl itself against and snuff out the sun. Geologists calculate that enough coal remains in the bowels of the earth to last a thousand years. Dares they predict, with equal confidence, that the petroleum supply, at any given place will last five years? Petroleum is the only possible competitor to coal, and its flow is speculative and uncertain that it actually will never jeopardize the coal interests of the country.—Frederick F. Savard in October Cent. Per Cent.

The Black Watch Pipers Astonish the People of Detroit

The Black Watch Pipers leave did not extend to the United States, and the nearest point they touched the border line was at Windsor, Ontario. After the concert the Pipers were allowed across the river to Detroit and there the crowds on the streets were astonished and delighted with their appearance. The pipers marched up the principal streets playing their tunes and the arduous spectacle was seen of thousands of people following them and cheering them till long after midnight. The pipers in their marches and dances are a very unique feature of the Black Watch concerts and will delight the people here when they appear at the Victoria rink, Moncton on Saturday Oct 8th.

The Black Watch Pipers Astonish the People of Detroit

The Black Watch Pipers leave did not extend to the United States, and the nearest point they touched the border line was at Windsor, Ontario. After the concert the Pipers were allowed across the river to Detroit and there the crowds on the streets were astonished and delighted with their appearance. The pipers marched up the principal streets playing their tunes and the arduous spectacle was seen of thousands of people following them and cheering them till long after midnight. The pipers in their marches and dances are a very unique feature of the Black Watch concerts and will delight the people here when they appear at the Victoria rink, Moncton on Saturday Oct 8th.

Here's a Puzzle For Somebody,

AND ALL ON ACCOUNT OF "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD"

"The hold upon the people of Annapolis county which this 'ROYAL HOUSEHOLD' flour has secured of late, is one of the most remarkable things I have seen in my eighteen years business experience," said an Annapolis county merchant who attended the Halifax Exhibition. I find that the majority of my customers absolutely refuse to take anything but 'ROYAL HOUSEHOLD' and I tell you it is a serious problem with some of us as to how we are going to sell the stocks we have of other fairly good flours.

DISRAELI AND DUFFERIN.

Amusing Story of Their First Meeting as Told by Latter.

The late Lord Dufferin used to tell an amusing story of his first meeting with Disraeli. The occasion was a wedding in one of the old Jewish families in London. Sitting on the opposite side of the table to Lord Dufferin—who was then a very young man—was Mr. Disraeli, while next to that distinguished man was a lady who seemed to prefer the conversation of her other neighbor, a gentleman, who was rather a loud talker. This gentleman told the lady that his duty was to respond for the bridegroom, and he condescended to her the jokes, the lines of poetry, and even the bon mots he meant to introduce into his speech. As the proceedings went on Mr. Disraeli rose, and in a hesitating manner, which conveyed the impression to those who listened that he was repeating a speech carefully prepared beforehand, he, in proposing the toast of the bridegroom, managed to introduce into his remarks every little bit of the lady's friend had announced he was to give, with the result that in attempting to reply he was a distinct failure. As the guests were leaving, Lord Dufferin said to Mr. Disraeli how he had enjoyed his speech, and in reply the great statesman said with a Sphinx-like smile, "How important it is to be always prepared."

One of the Jewels.

Shortly after Mr. Burdett succeeded to the editorial chair of Punch, Sala wrote a parody of the "Notes" which he was himself contributing to The Illustrated London News. It was attributed to the editor, and friends who knew Sala's short temper were anxious, not as it soon seemed, without reason. At the breakfast Club Sala politely asked for the author's name.

"It is a personal attack on me," said Sala apparently waiting with Peacemaking friends suggested that any popular author's style was fair game.

"I join issue," replied Sala. "Burdett ought to have rejected it."

So the debate went on growing hotter and hotter. When Sala declared that when he was young he would have pulled the nose of anyone who attacked him, and the editor replied that if Sala wished to carry out his threat he had the matter in his own hands, it seemed that a crisis had arrived.

"I can't," exclaimed George, rising up excitedly, "and will." Everyone jumped to his feet. It was as though he were going to assault him there and then. What was their surprise at seeing George, first with one hand, then with the other, writing his own nose, and, murmuring humbly, "I apologize," drop down abashed into his seat. "Recorded and Reminiscences of Sir E. C. Burdett."

Enough Inside.

In England the Lord Chancellor, by virtue of his office, has a right to inspect all public asylums and hospitals. One day, while the late Lord Herschell was paying a visit at the house of a friend near Norwich, he went for a short afternoon, and happened to pass by the great insane asylum at that place, the thought struck him that it was good time to perform an official duty. Incidentally, it may be said that Herschell bore the reputation of being somewhat pompous at times. He knocked at the door, which, after a long delay, was opened by an attendant.

"You can't come in," he was informed. "It's not visiting hours."

"That makes no difference," answered the functionary, "we're four of you inside already."

How He Went.

When going about officially Lord Wolsey was very particular about appearing in uniform and expecting all officers invited to meet him to come similarly attired. Some years ago he arrived at his country house in the neighborhood of a large dinner party to pay homage to which the party had been invited. One of the men were told that when he informed his soldier servant he should dress at a certain hour, as he was going out to dinner, the man at once inquired whether he was going as "an officer or a gentleman."

MY METHODIST GIRL.

My Methodist girl is trim and sweet And as light as an eagle's plume, As gold as the grain, as red as a rose, And as white as a snow-dream in bloom.

Oh, she is the blindest, dear little Methodist, Ever knit down to pray!

Oh, she is the blindest, dear little Methodist, Ever knit down to pray!

Oh, she is the blindest, dear little Methodist, Ever knit down to pray!

Oh, she is the blindest, dear little Methodist, Ever knit down to pray!

Last British Lottery.

I have in my possession, writes a contributor, a notice bearing date Oct. 17, 1826, inviting persons to take part in the last state lottery which was held in this country, says a writer in the London Chronicle. The invitation is very elaborate affair. It is printed in green and yellow. At the top are the royal arms, while below, in the center of the paper, is the announcement: "Positive! By order of the lords of his majesty's treasury, on Wednesday next, 18th October, lotteries close forever in this kingdom. Six prizes of £30,000 will be distributed on that day as the parting gifts of Fortune." The advertisement concludes with a footnote to the effect that Sturtevant is selling lottery shares and tickets at 37 Cornhill, London. This man Sturtevant was a well known stock and share broker of the day, who made a specialty of lottery tickets. He was very fond of attracting clients by the publication of doggerel verses, mostly of the simplest character, of which the following is a fair example:

Then gallop on, my boy,
The fault is your own.
If you don't get a good share

One of Japan's Jewels.

The great attraction of Kamakura and one of the jewels of Japan is the Daibutsu, or great bronze Buddha. We approach it through a tree-lined avenue and get the first and best view of it at a distance of some 200 feet. It is a sitting figure, 49 feet 7 inches high, 97 feet 2 inches in circumference. The face is 9 feet 5 inches long and from ear to ear 17 feet 9 inches wide. The eyes, which are pure gold, are nearly two feet long. The circumference of the thumb is three feet. These figures give some idea of the size, and the figure is elevated on a stone platform some twelve to fifteen feet above the person approaching it. But as description can convey an idea of the majesty of the face, it is best gently to describe as it is in brooding contemplation of the infinite. It represents perfect peace—the repose of the attained Nirvana.

Fortunes in Picture Frames.

Some splendid picture frames may be seen every year at the Royal academy exhibition, but the finest and best-made frame ever made for a picture was the one which encloses the "Virgin and Child" in Milan cathedral. It is made of hammered gold, with an inner molding of lapis lazuli. The corners of this valuable frame have been designed in large pearls and precious stones. Some of its value may be gained when it is stated that the frame is eight feet long and six feet wide. Its estimated value is £25,000. One of the pictures given to the Vatican by a French king, and studded with jewels. The picture is a valuable one, but the frame nearly equals the value of the painting.

Willing to Be Hanged.

Phil May, the great English artist, carried his first frame in Australia. One day a broken down minister applied to him for charity, and May engaged him as a model. As a joke he also demanded that his eighty-year-old pensioner agree to leave him his skeleton when he died. When May left Australia he called his model in. "You've played me a dirty trick," said May, "by availing me out of that skeleton. I could have bought one in second order and condition for half the money you've cost me." The old fellow, conscious of his base ingratitude to his best and most patient friend, answered: "Don't be angry with me, Mr. May. It's not my fault. I meant to keep my word. Stay in Sydney a few months longer and give me another chance to show you that I am a man of honor."

THE CANADIAN CAMPAIGN

Mr. Dooley's logic is seldom questioned. We all agree with what he says and admire the terse and original manner in which it is said. In the course of his observations on the American campaign he tells us that "after all, the great issue before the American people next November will be 'Ar-re there more republican than dimmyrats, or ar-re there not?' The burning question in Canada to-day is 'Are there more Liberals than Conservatives?' It will be answered on November 3rd. Taking several matters into consideration, most important among which is the outcome of the last general elections we are inclined to venture the opinion that the question will be answered in the affirmative. Unfortunately the great majority of the electors of Canada are ultra partisans. Two factors combined to give the Liberal party a substantial majority at the last general elections, viz. a preponderance of independent voters in favor of the victorious party and the presence of a greater number of ultraists of Liberalism than of Conservatism. We see no adequate reason why the independent vote or the straight party vote should have materially changed since 1900. Of course there have been a few disgruntled office seekers who have flopped from Liberalism to Toryism, but to offset this loss the government has gained recruits from among the ranks of the Opposition. As to the independent vote, which by the way is manifestly very small—well—what could have changed it since 1901? The only great difference between the two parties, if we except the transportation question, is that one is in and the other is out. The difference of opinion about the tariff are inconsequential and no more worthy of serious consideration than the perfunctory topics of debate which have characterized the sessions of the House of Commons. As Goldwin Smith has said of the Republican and Democratic parties of the United States—"the Liberal and Conservative parties of Canada are two standing machines waging everlasting war for the Premiership and an immense patronage. Platforms are made up when an election impends simply with a view to carrying that election." All serious and thinking men should be inclined to smile at party loyalty. It is unhealthy to treat it seriously. True there seems to be one clear cut question to absorb public attention and that is the transportation question. Premier Laurier has given us another much needed transcontinental railway. The route of the road is not all that is to be desired. But does Mr. Borden offer anything better or as good? Indeed would the transportation question have been a live issue with Mr. Borden if he had not been engendered by the progressive policy of Premier Laurier? But the whole question at issue is simply this: Have Premier Laurier, Mr. Fielding, Mr. Ramsay, Mr. Fisher done as well on the whole for the country as Mr. Borden, Mr. Casgrain, Mr. Foster, Mr. Haggart and Mr. Clarke would probably have done, or have they not? During the next month political happenings of the past and present will be particularly distorted by the partisan press for there is special interest in distorting them and it behooves the reading public of this country to swallow all political effusions with several grains of salt, if indeed it is necessary to swallow them at all.

In connection with the present political campaign it is significant to note that since 1900 the Opposition have won three seats from the Government while the Government has captured six seats from them.

IMPOSSIBLE TASK JUST NOW

We undertook last week to suggest the advisability of the union of the three Maritime Provinces. One ardent supporter of the suggestion observes: "We of the Maritime Provinces have always been regarded by Ontario and the West just simply as the tail of Canada and of little or no account. Now if we are to be the tail of Canada let us wag vigorously and do honor to that appendage. We can make ourselves feel much better by concerted action than by divided action. With our wealth of mine and forest we should be enabled to show the rest of Canada that we are of some account and not the natural front door and not the back door of the country. Yes, by all means let us unite." Disregarding the sentimental aspect of the question there is every advantage to be gained by a union of the Maritime Provinces and we believe the day will come when the advisability of a closer and more united relationship will be clearly and unmistakably established. The value of the pulp exported in 1891 by Canada was about $300,000. In twelve years it has increased ten-fold and is now over three millions. What proportion of that increase can the Maritime Provinces boast of? A very small one indeed. We believe the result would have been different if the three Lower Provinces had been united. It is an impossible task to discuss the question of union of the Maritime Provinces at the present time but we hope to dwell fully on the subject after the general elections.

CUPID'S ACTIVITIES.

COCHRANE-TRENHOLM

The marriage of Miss Ida Trenholm of this town to Mr. Henry Cochrane of Campbellton, N. B., was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride. About fifty friends and relatives of the principals witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. Chapman of Amherst, assisted by Rev. Geo. Steele and Rev. Charles Flemington. The house was prettily decorated with asparagus and dog berries and presented a pleasing appearance. While entering into the solemn compact the bride and groom stood under an arch of asparagus and nasturtiums. The bride was becomingly gowned in white voile du chene, wore a bridal veil and carried a handsome bouquet of roses and carnations. She was given away by her uncle, Dr. H. R. Carter of Port Elgin. Miss Edith Trueman played the wedding march. After the ceremony the company partook of a tempting feast.

The bride was the recipient of a large and handsome array of presents, the groom's gift being a gold lock and chain set with diamonds. Mr. and Mrs. Cochrane left by the Ocean Limited for a trip to Halifax. Miss Trenholm graduated in piano from Mount Allison Musical Conservatory in 1887. She had charge of the organ in the Sackville Methodist Church for some time and has always taken an active interest in the Epworth League. She will be greatly missed in Sackville and vicinity where she has numerous friends. Sackville Tribune, 27th ult.

After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the Waverly Hotel where the following menu in chef Jardine's best style was served, and speaks volumes for the capacity of the hotel when it is considered that less than two hours' notice was given for the spread:

MURRAY-McMILLAN.

A wedding which will be of interest to many people in Sackville, took place at 78 Pine St., Portland, Me., on Thursday eve, Sept. 29th, in the presence of about sixty friends and relatives, when Miss Isabel McMillan, daughter of Jas. R. McMillan of New Mills, was united in marriage to Mr. Richard Murray of Bradalbane, P. E. I. The rooms were tastefully decorated with autumn foliage, the color scheme being red and green. The bride stood in an alcove banked with green and red and surrounded by potted plants, palms and ferns, with a pretty arch over her head. The bride looked charming in a gown of white crepe de chene with chiffon trimmings. The bride's bouquet was white roses tied with white satin streamers. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bessie McMillan, who wore pale blue albatross with white silk and lace trimmings and carrying pink carnations. The groom was supported by his cousin Mr. J. H. Murray. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Fred Sommer, a short reception was held; after which the guests repaired to the dining room where refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. J. B. Henderson and Misses Thirsa Nichol, Margaret Hodgkin, Ethel Lamer. Miss Annie Ingram presided at the punch bowl. The happy couple left next morning on the Bar Harbor Express for a visit to Mr. Murray's home at New Mills. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Murray will reside at 78 Pine St., where they will be at home to their friends after Nov. 1st. The bride's travelling suit was navy blue nuns veiling with hat to match.

DEATH OF MR GEORGE McNAUGHTON.

From the Quebec Telegraph.—The many friends in this city of Mr. George McNaughton will regret to learn of his death, which occurred yesterday at Villa Mastai, where he has been undergoing treatment for lung trouble during the past year. Deceased, who was born in New Liverpool, South Quebec, some fifty years ago, was the son of one of the oldest and most respected Irish families who were among the first to settle in Quebec and Quebec and a pupil of the late Mr. Thomas' famous Commercial Academy, and like his late father and brothers he adopted the lumber business consequently was known far and wide and highly respected by those engaged in that trade. Deceased for many years was in the employ of the firm of King, brothers, who esteemed him for his personal worth as a confidential employee and a gentleman of sterling integrity. Two years ago he commenced to complain of illness and finally was informed that his lungs were in such a condition that he would have to seek rest. He however fought the disease until a year ago, when he became so ill that he was obliged to cease work, and went to the Adirondacks in hope that he would recover. Becoming worse he was removed to Quebec, where he was taken to the Villa Mastai for treatment, and after months of battle gradually commenced to get better, and finally became quite strong. He was able to leave the hospital in July last, and though he continued to reside at the Villa could be seen about town every day apparently getting better. He had a relapse on Friday last, followed by several hemorrhages, which in the end carried him off to his "eternal home, deeply regretted by a large circle of personal friends, as well as by every body who knew him.

Besides a large circle of friends to mourn his loss, the late Mr. McNaughton is survived by two brothers and two sisters, William of Pabos Mills, Gaspé, Co. P. Q., manager for King Bros. & Co., Cornelius of Lyster P. Q., manager for King Bros., Charlotte of Dalhousie, wife of Hon. C. H. LaBilios, chief Com. of public Works and Miss McNaughton Quebec.

CHATHAM EXHIBITION.

Formerly Opened on Monday Evening.

BY GOVERNOR SNOWBALL

Hon C. H. LaBillois Represented the Government on the Occasion.

Chatham, N. B., Sept. 26—The second Miramichi agricultural exhibition was formally opened this evening by Governor Snowball, who was attended by a guard of honor from the 73rd battalion and the Citizens' Band. Mayor Murdoch presided, and reviewed the efforts of the association in erecting such a fine building, always aiming at the advancement of agriculture in Northumberland, the banner county of the North Shore.

In introducing His Honor, he referred to the many industries in which he has been engaged, viz: lumbering, farming, canning and exporting fish, etc. In 1850 His Honor landed from Newfoundland on the spot on which his saw mill now stands. He attended Sackville College and on his return was taken as clerk in the MacDougall store and five years later became one of the firm, which at that time did business from Campbellton to Point du Chene. In 1878 he was elected to the House of Commons, in 1898 to the Senate, and a few years later received his present appointment.

Governor Snowball, in reply, thanked Mayor Murdoch for his flattering personal references, and referred to St. John's late successful exhibition, also to Northumberland's comprising one-fifth of the area of the province, and the important place it occupied in the business and political life of New Brunswick.

He pointed to the twenty-one important prizes awarded at St. John to Chatham exhibits as denoting the progress the county was making in agriculture, and referred to the enterprise with which Chatham men had taken hold of the exhibition, as exemplifying the devotion of this building to the successful exhibition of last year and the great promise of the present one so auspiciously opened. He thought the fruit growing encouragement which the government was giving to the province would lead to the increased interest in that department of agriculture.

He said our farmers might do more in the way of exhibits for all agricultural shows, and there should be more attention given to the centralization of their efforts to excel in one, two or more specialties. He praised the superior manhood and womanhood of the province, particularly of the North Shore, and more particularly of Chatham, and predicted a very successful show.

DEAR MISS PINKHAM:—A BROTHERLY FRIEND, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, has cured me of my ovarian troubles. I suffered for four years with irregularities and Uterine troubles. No one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental misery those troubles were to me. I was fully restored to health and strength, and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to be able to obtain such a remedy when so many doctors fail to help you. I am, I ever had. Very truly yours, Miss Mary Whitaker, 601 2nd St. W., Savannah, Ga.

Hon C. H. LaBillois expressed regret that Hon William Pugsley and Hon Mr Harris were unable to be present. He congratulated the association on their evident success and assured the people of the good wishes and support of the local government. He suggested that Chatham endeavor to have agricultural exhibits from Restigouche, Gloucester and Madawaska at the next exhibition.

Governor Snowball then declared the exhibition open. A large crowd was in attendance.

North Sydney, Sept. 26—The steamer Restigouche, which has been under time charter to Bowring Brothers, St. John's, Nfld., for their coastal service during the summer months, arrived here on Friday to load coal for Montreal.

Papers were issued that morning for the arrest of her Captain, E. D. Sears, on the information of the mate, Peter MacMahon, on the charge that on Tuesday, the 20th on the high seas, out of the jurisdiction of any district or county of Canada and within the jurisdiction of the Admiralty of England he did wrongfully and unlawfully shoot Peter MacMahon with intent to do bodily harm. The case was to come up Friday afternoon before Mr. LeBoutillier, J. P., but before the necessary papers for the arrest of Captain Sears could be served the steamer had sailed. It is understood that the Captain will be arrested on her arrival at Montreal.

A well known man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but he was not sure of its value until he was asked to give it to a child for a cough. There is no less danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

He delivered a short farewell address to the lawyers assembled in court and spoke of his pleasant relations with the members of the profession during his term of office, and the regret, it occasioned him to leave the bench.

The friends of Hon Mr Justice Routhier were responsible for a rumour circulated to the effect that this morning that he would succeed to the Chief Justiceship instead of Hon Mr Justice F. Langelier, and his appointment would be gazetted at the end of the present week.

There was certainly a mistake made in the heading of the Dee Side notes in issue of Sept. 22nd, as most of the people mentioned do not belong to Dee Side at all. THE LICENSE LAW

The Proposed Changes in the Act

GOVERNMENT'S ANSWER

Explanation of the Reply to the Delegation of Temperance Party

(St. John Globe)

On March 28 last a delegation from the St. John Temperance organizations waited on the local government and asked for a number of changes in the license law. The government a few days ago made public the answer. Nobody reading the reply could tell the meaning of the answers given except by comparing it with the present act and the demands of the temperance people. L. P. D. Tilley, who framed the proposed amendments, some of which the government has practically promised to enact, went over them with the Globe, and readers will therefore be able to see for themselves what was asked and what view the government took on each request.

In the first place the temperance delegation asked the enactment of a prohibitory law, but anticipating the refusal that they have since received, they asked many amendments to the existing license law.

The first, and to some extent the most important amendment asked was one making the license commissioners elective by a majority vote of those qualified to vote at any civic election. At present they are appointed by the government, and the government will not give up this patronage. It was also sought to give them power by a new section to refuse to grant licenses in any district if they thought fit. This the government refused.

An amendment was asked that would prevent wholesalers from selling to any but licensed retailers. The government was favorable to some stringency in this respect, but not to the selling clause, that is, to the Scott Act clause.

An amendment that the temperance people asked for that would have been an important change in the act was one requiring applicants for licenses to present a certificate from a majority of the ratepayers in their district favoring their request, such certificate to be signed by the mayor or clerk of the town or city. The government was not in favor of this, as it would be a serious hindrance to the business and the desirability on the ground of public convenience, of their being a tavern in the place requested. The genuineness of the signatures was to be established under oath. The government says they do not think this would materially improve on existing conditions, but will give the subject further consideration.

A request for the repeal of sub-section 1 of section 12 of the act is refused. This section provides for the reconsideration of cases on which the Board of Commissioners has passed judgment. Repeal was also asked and refused of sub-section 3 of section 14 of the act, which provides that the Board of Commissioners may, at its discretion, suspend the license of any holder of a license for a period not exceeding six months.

A new section asked that no license be issued for premises within two hundred yards of a church, school or place of public amusement, and the government expressed themselves as favorable to the proposal.

Amendment was asked and refused of the section preventing license holders from filling certain public offices. The temperance people desired to shut liquor vendors out from holding any office under the government.

The government agreed to verbal changes in section 17 of the act. At present no license can issue to or can a commissioner vote on a license for premises of which he is the owner. The amendment will add besides owner "or mortgagee or collector of rents."

The temperance people sought some changes in the provisions under which the number of licenses is fixed, tending to curtail these somewhat. The government declares the present restrictions are reasonable.

Executive favor is expressed of a proposed new section preventing the commissioners from granting more than one extension of time to any license holder. At present when an extension expires the commissioners may renew it.

Sub-section 2 of section 24 prevents communication between any tavern or inn and other store. It is sought to have this apply to any licensed premises, which will include wholesalers. The government favors this change, provided liquor dealers are allowed to sell cigars and tobacco.

Sub-section 3 of section 24 prevents communication between licensed premises and other premises, except in the case of clubs and hotels and where there is a wholesale and retail establishment under one management. The desire of the temperance people was to have all communications cut off even in the excepted places, and to allow licensees to place one entrance which must be on the street. The government sees no good purpose to be served by this, and say it would close all the St. John hotel bars.

A new section asked for, but refused, required that all bars or rooms in which liquor is sold, must be on the ground floor, and must have windows fronting on the public streets, and that no screens or other obstructions to a clear and uninterrupted view from the street be permitted.

The government sees no objection to a provision giving the public the right to inspect the official records regarding applicants for licenses, or to a provision that copies of the commissioner's annual reports be available for general distribution.

A new section asked that not more than one license be granted to any one applicant. The government is willing but sees no objection to the same person holding both a wholesale and a retail license.

Another new section asked that no person other than those authorized be allowed to sell any beverage containing 1 per cent. or more of absolute alcohol, and that the fine for selling such a beverage be increased from six months for a second. The government promises careful consideration, but says they are not satisfied that 1 per cent is a practical limitation.

The government are willing, or at least not unwilling, for a change in the law making the time for opening bars in the morning 7 o'clock instead of 6. The government also agreed that sub-section 3 of section 48 be amended so an inspector failing to carry out the provisions of the section shall be liable to a fine of $50 for a first offence and double for a second, instead of fines of $10 and $20 respectively.

The temperance men sought to have section 55 of the act dropped, but the government declares it is essential. This section declares it is wrong for a dealer to sell for resale to one not licensed, but declares if it is shown that the seller did not know that the buyer was not licensed, no fine shall be exacted.

It was sought to have the penalties for violating the law made more severe. At present three offences are provided for, with fine ranging from $50 to forfeiture of the license. The temperance people asked that the fine for the first offence be from $100 to $200 and costs and for a second eighty days imprisonment with hard labor, together with forfeiture of the license. The government considers the penalties severe enough.

A request was made that no licensed person be permitted to employ a minor. The government thinks a provision thus sirable preventing the employment of persons under eighteen years of age.

At present if a licensed dealer is found to be out of the premises, he gets him permission to occupy temporary quarters elsewhere. The government agrees that these temporary quarters should not be within two hundred yards of a church, school house or place of public amusement.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

Examined Brothers, the enterprising taxidermists, whose skill in the work is known all over Canada and the United States, are starting a new venture over the river at St. Mary's. In the building, which a few years ago did service as a soap factory, this firm has started a tannery for skins and hides. The building has been entirely refitted and new machinery has been put in for every kind of work. A dyehouse has been put in the building, and is operated by the firm. All tanning will henceforth be done by electricity, and all hand work is every department will give way to machinery. The firm has been in the business for many years, and has a reputation for quality and price. The new enterprise is a very important one, and will give employment to many men. The firm has been in the business for many years, and has a reputation for quality and price. The new enterprise is a very important one, and will give employment to many men.

Everything in the new building is up-to-date and modern, and is being going extensively into the wholesale trade. This firm does first class work and deserves to be well patronized.

On the 22nd inst. from the bridge leading from a platform to a loaded car while assisting a man in unloading a load of grain. The bridge went down as well as the load on top, back and I struck on the ends of the sleepers, causing a serious injury to my leg, only for its being very fleshy would have broken it. In an hour could not get up. Commenced using MINARD'S LINIMENT, and the third day went to Montreal on business and got about well by the use of a cane. In ten days was nearly well. I can sincerely recommend it as the best Liniment I know of in use.

Yours truly,
CHAS. H. GORDON.
