STRONG PASTORAL

Archbishop Bruchesi Issues a Pastoral Deploring Tendency to Frivolty.

Montreal, Nov. 19.-Mgr. Bruchest, Archbishop of Montreal, issued a pastoral today that has created a good deal of talk amongst his grace's own people.' Taking it altogether, Mgr. Bruchesi says, Montreal people are good, but he adds that, besides certain good qualities, there are many things which his grace deeply deplores. Are not, Mgr. Bruchesi asks, the commandments of God and the church frequently violated, and by those even who should be models of society? Sunday, he says, is not sanctified as it should be, and as it was in former years by our fathers. How few, alas, are the scruples in infringing upon the grave precept of being present at mass! On the day which the Lord has re-served to himself, the archbishop declares, people dispate its propriety, and give way to pleasure and to frivolous and dangerous amusements. Many parents, his grace adds, no longer look after the innocence of their children, while a great many children do not have that profound respect for their parents which is the fruit of a solid Christian education. The mutual duties of husband and wife are often misunderstood and transgressed, and what sad ravages have been caused in the souls of the young by impure plays and immoral publications! And how many shipwrecks in all classes of society by the gambling habit, by intemperance, by the greed for wealth and the love of luxury! His grace calls upon the faithful to attend the Mission of Advent, and asks all Catholic hotel-keepers and liquor-sellers to close their doors during the hours when this retreat is going on.

Estcourt, Nov. 18-1:40 p.m.-At ten o'clock this morning the Boers attempted to rush Estcourt, but one shot from our naval gun and several long range volleys fired by the Dublin Fusiliers sent them back precipitately.

The Boers had several guns posted on surrounding kopjes, but our naval men apparently astonished them and their guns were withdrawn.

On Nov. 14 the Boers made an attack near Colenso, but were repulsed with a loss of 800.

Fighting is proceeding at Estcourt. London, Nov: 19 .- The war office posted the following telegram today: From Hon. Sir Redwers Buller to the Marquis of Lansdowne: "Cape Town, Nov. 18, 9:35 p.m.-The following is from the general commanding at Pietermaritzburg:

"Today at 8 a.m., the officers commanding our northern outposts reported that the enemy's mounted patrols were advancing across the whole country from Gourton road to Ulundi, moving on Estcourt. My force stood to arms. The outposts reported various bodies from 500 to 700 strong, advancing on Estcourt from a north-westerly direction. One party, 500 500 Estcourt. Our outposts engaged a body of the enemy, and one of our guns fired a shell at 800 yards range, the shell bursting close to the enemy who then nurriedly retired. At 12 o'clock reports were received from three pickets that a large number of the Boers were in sight on a hill above Leslie's homestead. The troops have returned to camp."

THREE MORE MISSING. The following additional dispatch was received from Gen. Buller at 6 o'clock this evening: "Cape Town, Nov. 19, 3:30 p.m .- In connection with my telegram of Nov. 16, referring to the armored train at Estcourt, I have to report that three more men of the Dublin Fusiliers are missing, namely: Lance Comporal Brady, Private J. Fitzgerald and Private E. McGuire." Gen. Buller has also telegraphed as follows: "Cape Town, Sunday, 3:30 p.m.-A telegram from the British consul at Lorenzo Marquez, dated Nov. 18, reports that 56 prisoners, captured from the Estcourt armored train, have reached Pretoria. I believe Winston Churchill is missing, but as yet have been unable to ascertain for certain. A Pretoria dispatch of the 16th says 56 British prisoners, including Lieut. Winston Churchill, who is wounded, have arrived here.

ALL QUIET AT ESTCOURT. London, Monday, Nov. 20.-A special dispatch from Estcourt, dated Nov. 19. says: "All is quiet here. The enemy is believed to be encamped six miles away. Our position is good and our forces sufficiently strong to repulse at-

REPULSED AT ALL POINTS. Durban, Natal, Nov. 19.-The Times of Natal publishes the following, dated Nov. 15, from its special correspondent at Ladysmith: "The enemy made a determined attack on Thursday, Nov. Apparently all the Boer force participated. Their artillery opened at 4 a.m., pouring in shell thick and fast upon the British positions, although with no great effect. They adopted the unusual tactics of advancing under cover of their guns to positions on the ridges and kopjes adjacent to those occupied by the British croops on the left of our comp. Continuing their advance, the Boers crept on, using every available bit of cover. infantry opened with a steady, warm and accurate fire, which beat back the enemy notwithstanding a display of tenacity of purpose equal to their desperate stands on previous occasions. The Boer attack was most elaborate on all sides of the town. The main attack, however, was made between the Free State and Newcastle all the time he was suffering from a chiefly of Johannesburg volunteers. A brigade of the King's Royal Rifle Corps made a splendid defense. Boers were repulsed, but soon rallied, and returned to the attack. Again the British fire, which was very hot, forced them to retire. They had made a deep trench in front of the British lines, and while withdrawing for their horses they left this ungarded, where-upon the King's Rifles, advancing at double quick, occupied the trench.

This smart movement was not seen by the enemy, who soon returned with the horses. Carefully reserving their fire, the King's Rifles allowed the Boers to advance almost to the edge of the trench, and then poured volley after volley into the astounded Boers, who turned and fled from

AN AWFUL HAIL OF BULLETS, bolting across the open, where the artillery of the British poured in a terrible and effective shell fire. The enemy lost heavily. Meanwhile another section of the Boers had brought a mortar into action, firing heavy shells. Our guns soon silenced this weapon, the enemy's artilierymen fieeing headlong. The Boers then advanced in force with a view of repairing the mortar, but the artillery scat-tered them right and left. The fighting was all over at 11 o'clock.

THE SITUATION.

London, Monday, Nov. 20-5 a.m.-The morning's news gives little that alters the complexion of the situation. Since the fight of Nov. 9 matters so far as known have been fairly quiet as Ladysmith. It is not unlikely that the Boers, badly informed as to the nature and extent of the British preparations to march to the relief of the town, may be halting regarding their next move The situation in Natal is very complicated, more especially if the reports that the great Tugela bridge is de stroyed are true. The success of the next move on the other side will depend more upon strategy than upor superior numbers. The Boers have had strong moved toward the railway three lines of action open. They can bridge, half a mile to the northwest of hold the railway with the force they have at Ennersdale, falling slowly back before the British advance and threatening it from Weenen, or, in the second place, they can advance from Weenen and try to carry Estcourt, or, in the third place, they can advance due south from Weenen to Weston, cut the railway and blow up the bridge over Mooi River. If it be true that there are 10,000 Boers, under Gen. Joubert and Gen. Botha, marching south to meet the British relief force, heavy fighting is in store. Nothing is known with certainty regarding the progress of the relief column from Durban. GETTING READY TO FIGHT. London, Nov. 18.-A special dispatch from Orange River camp, dated Wedmesday, Nov. 15. afternoon, says: A brigade of the Guards arrived today by rail from Cape Town and marched to their quarters, looking perfectly fit. They were loudly cheered. Other troops under Gen. Methuen are rapidly pushing forward the preparations for the advance. Last night the Northumberland Fusiliers made a long march in the brilliant moonlight. It was a smart exhibition. All troops are being exercised daily.

RELIEF OF KIMBERLEY. Orange River, Cape Colony Nov. 15. -Gen. Methuen has decided that the Kimberley relief column is to march in as light order as possible. Gen. Methuen has decided that only four newspaper correspondents shall accompany the forward movement, which may now take place at any moment. No baggage, tents or servants will be allowed. Small bands of Boers are roaming in (Prigualand West annexing towns with-out opposition. They have already ta-ken possession of Barkley West and Douglas. A few police were captured at both places and the Boers appointed landrosts in each town.

INCIDENTS OF BRAVERY. London, Nov. 18 .- The full story of the ar mored train disaster has brought into relief a number of cases of individual gallantry. Among them is that of a crick rifle shot named Caegenhead, who furnished the range at three different points for the crew of the train, and kept firing until his trigger-finger was shot away. An old Black Watch veteran named Crow was conspicuous for bravery in helping to clear the derailed tracks. Winston Churchill, amid a hail of bullets, turned to him and shook his hand, calling him a brave o'd man. Another case was that of a volunteer named Wright, who, during the firing, knelt in the regulation position, re-

Northumberland Fusiliers, was killed. The special says: It was on the Spitzkop that we suffered the serious casualties of the day. Col. Keith-Falconer was reconnoitering there with a small party and advanced within 400 yards of the enemy before discovering them. The Boers suddenly opened fire. Col. Falconer was the first to fall, shot through the chest. Lieut. Wood, who had just replied to his major's orders to retire, was killed by a bullet through his head, and

Lieut. Hill was wounded in the thigh on the same spot.

Despite these losses the officers and men never faltered, but retreated coolly, covered by the cavalry. The enemy did not attempt to follow them.

Another dispatch says that when Col. Keith-Falconer was shot through the breast he was just going to the as-

A FEARFUL HALF HOUR!

Graphic Story of the Battles of Talana and Elandslaagte. How the British Commander General Symons Met His Death.

London, Nov. 20 .- Now, for the first time, the true story of the war is benig told. It is more than three weeks old, and comes by mail, but it loses none of its thrilling interest thereby. We know at last why Gen. Symons ordered that terrible charge at Dundee, and how he received his death wound, and we have a vivid picture of the strange battlefield at Elandslaagte, which was unlike anything in the previous annals of war. The following is the Times' corresspondent's unemotional account of the bloody day's work when Gen. Symonds

'As soon as the Boer guns were silenced by our artillery, Gen. Symons gave the order for an assault on Talana Hill. The hill was distant eight hundred feet, and the distance to the top is more than a mile. The first portion of the ascent is gentle and over open ground to a homestead sur-rounded by broken woods. Above the woods, the ground is rough and rocky, the ascent is steep, and half-way up a thick stone wall runs around the hill as the fringe of a wide terrace of open ground. Above the terrace the ascent is almost perpendicular, and at the end of this was the Boer position on the flat top, so characteristic of African hills. "Altogether the position seemed impregnable, even if held by a small body against large forces, and Gen. Symons must have had extraordinary dered 2,000 of them to take it in the y resolved to show the Boers that Majuba Hill was not the measure of what British infantry could do, and, if so, he more than succeeded. To find a parallel for the endurance, tenacity and heroic determination to press forward over all obstacles, and at all hazards, one has to go back to Wellington's invincible infantry in the

"The men had to go through eight hours of fighting without breakfast. The wood was the first cover available; and in the rush for this posi-tion the Dublin Fusiliers led the way, though afterward the three regiments went practically side by side. The advance of the infantry was covered by a vigorous cannonade, but the appearance of our men in the open was the signal for a storm of rifle fire from the Boors. The was a storm of the Boors of the storm the Boers. Though our losses at this stage were extraordinarily small in the wood, which for some time marked the limit of the advance, they were considerable, and here, about 9:30 o'clock, Gen. Symons, who had gal-loped up to tell the men that the hill must be taken, fell mortally wounded. Throughout the morning he had exposed himself perhaps unnecessarily. His position, was always marked by a red flag, carried by his orderly.

"By 10 o'clock our men, creeping up anch by inch, and taking advantage of every available cover, had gained the shelter of the stone wall, but for a long time further advance seemed impossible. As often as a man became visible, the Boers poured a dealy fire in his direction, while, whatever their losses from our artillery fire, they rarely afforded a mark for the rifle.

"About 12 o'clock, however, a lull in their fire afforded our men an op-portunity for scaling the wall and dathing across the open ground be-yord. Then the almost sheer ascent of the last portion of the hill began. Here our losses were greatest, the Here our losses were greatest, Rifles losing most heavily. Col. Gun-ming, who was always in front of his men, was shot through the head. Near the top of the hill Capt. Pechell, who had only arrived two days before from the Soudan, also fell. Out of seventeen officers the battalion lost five killed and seven wounded.

'As our men neared the top of the hill our guns were compelled to slacken their fire, and the Boers, of course, were enabled to strengthen their rifle fire accordingly. The last portion of the ascent was rushed with the bay-onel, but the Boers did not await the charge, a few, who stood ground to mear the end, being seen flying precip-ltately across the top of the hill when our men reached the crest. About 30 dead and wounded were lying on the ground, and cases of ammunition and Mauser rifles, strewn about, showed the hurry of the flight. Boer ponies were galloping about, and one of the humorous sights of the day was to see the Dublin Fusiliers gaily riding back the captive steeds."

ELANDS LAAGTE.

It is a much more vivid account G. W. Stevens gives of the battle at Elandslaagte, which did not begin until nearly 5 o'clock in the afternoon. He says:

"Our guns moved to a position toward the right, and the Boer guns opened fire. Lord, but those German gunners knew their business. The third or fourth shell pitched into a and engineers has increased the rein-wagon full of shells, with a team of eight horses hitched to it. We held transport was dispatched to Duchan our breath for the explosion, but when the smoke cleared away only the near wheeler lay on his side and the wagon had its wheels in the air. Our batteries bayed again and the Boer guns

"The attack was to be made on their front and left flank. The Devenshires formed for the front attack, and the Manchesters on the right. The Gordon Highlanders edged to the extreme rightward, with a long boulder-freckled hill above them. The guns flung shrapnel across the valley. The cavalry were in leash, straining towards the enemy's flanks.

"It was about a quarter to five and it seemed curiously dark. No wonder, for as the men moved forward the heavens opened and from the eastern sky swept a sheet of rain. With the first stabbing drops the horses turned their heads, and no whip nor spur could Them up to it. It drove through mackintoshes as if they were blotting paper. The air was filled with a hissing sound, and under foot you could the solid earth melting into mud and the mud flowing away in the water. The rain blotted out hill, dale and the enemy in one gray curtain of that the heavens opened to drown the wrath of man.

They clung to the cover, firing; then arose and were among the shrill bullets again. A major was left at the bottom of the ridge with a pipe in his mouth and a Mauser bullet through his legs. His company pushed on. Down again; fire again; up again, and on. Another ridge won and passed, and only more hellish hail of bullets More men down; more men pushed into the firing line; more deathpiping bullets than ever. The air was

A TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER. Lieut. Webb, a well-known Johannesburger and a member of the Imperial Light Horse, who shared the charge up the precipitous hill at Elandslaagte, writes that the battle was a terrible slaughter, too terrible for the victory, which yet had to be won: "The artillery shells burst within yards of us all around," he says. "yet some of our men had to sit on their horses at attention under this fire for an hour. I saw some horrible sights. One Gordon Highlander got a shell right in the face, knocking his head clear off. We charged to the cannon's mouth, the Gordon Highlanders using the bayonets. The Boers were very plucky, shouted to us to come on, and stood to the last. The Lancers charged those who ran. Some who went on their knees and prayed for mercy were let off. Others did this, and then shot our men as they went away. One cur killed a Gordon Highlander officer who had spared him. Col. Schief played the part a man, when badly wounded, refusing help until our men had been attended We killed and wounded all their officers.'

TRADE BOOMING IN THE DOMINION

Bradstreet's Review of the Business Situation in Canada.

Toronto, Nov. 20.-Bradstreet's weekly review of Canadian wholesale trade says: A good many urgent orders to be filled for down-the-river points and lake towns have been coming forward at Montreal the past week, and they have kept wholesalers busy, while the sorting trade from other points has kept up well, considering the lateness of the season. The trade are beginning to push spring goods a little more freely now, and sales so far have been very good, better than for the same time last year, notwithstanding the higher prices quoted. Reports coming to the wholesale trade here indicate that the retail sales in this country have been large, and that retailers are in good shape. Ontario flugby Football Union.

The Nationals' First Defeat Was London's Greatest Victory-A Brilliant Game.

The London Juniors are champions. By a complete victory over the Nationals at Tecumseh Park, Saturday afternoon, they established their claim to the championship in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. Not only did on Saturday, O'Connor won four out they win, but they defeated their opponents with such utter completeness dula, Kitchener, Mr. Stoffel, First that it made the Londoners present wonder how the Nationals ever gained the reputation for being a hustling, while running in second position, and husky aggregation, whose strength and knowledge of the game caused them to be feared by those teams, who allowed themselves to be beaten before. This was the first defeat for the Nationals. It was London's most decisive victory.

Every one in London knew that a first-class team would represent them in the game. Everyone had full confidence in the team, but they knew also that the Kingston boys were fast and plucky players, and therefore they expected the local boys to have a hard fight for it. They were not disappointed. To read the score one a team they did work such as made the success of the Londoners all the more gratifying. The victory was not the only pleasing feature of the game. Everything combined to make New York. Nov. 20.—At the Pelican Fashion and beauty, the fickle followrepresentatives. Unlike previous contests this game was favored by the weather gods, and a glorious speci-men of Canada's unrivaled autumn weather made more agreeable the pleasant task of cheering London to the championship.

The Nationals won the toss, and kicked with the wind, and without the ball ever passing London's line, it was rushed behind the goal, and London scored a touch-down, which was not converted. By clever and rapid following, Hobbs repeated this, and the score wande 8 to 0 almost before the Kingstons had rid themselves of the taste of the lemon juice. a meeting Jeffries' manager sought the kick off there followed scrimmages. #### THE GAME LAWS

Facts of Interest to Hotel, Restaurant and Cold Storage People.

The following sections from the Ontario game laws may prove interesting to those engaged in the business of cold storage, and to hotels and restaurant keepers:

The chief warden may issue to any person or corporation engaged in the business of cold storage of perishable articles a license authorizing such person or corporation to keep during the commencement of the next open season any of the animals or birds here-

1. That the chief warden and any warden or deputy warden shall at all times be allowed to inspect any cold storage premises owned or kept by the licensee and all game kept therein.

2. There shall be recorded in a book kept for the purpose and open to the inspection of the chief warden and of all wardens and deputy wardens, the name and residence of each person from whom game is received to be so kept, the quantity and description of such game and the dates at which the same or every part thereof is received and delivered, together with the name of the person to whom the same is de-

3. That written notice shall be sent to the chief warden of all game brought for cold storage during the close sea-

Application for such licenses shall he will comply with the above conditions, and will not knowingly permit any violation of this act with regard to any game to be kept, in cold storage, as aforesaid. The above declaration shall be made by the owner of the cold storage premises, or in case of a corporation, by the manager or other officer in charge of the business. No hotel, restaurant or club shall supply for, or as part of any meal for which a charge is made, any of the birds or animals hereinbefore mentioned, no matter where killed or procured, during any period in which the sale of any such birds or animals is prohibited, except by license to be issued by the chief warden for any one close season upon application verified by statutory declaration of the owner or manager of such hotel, restaurant or club specifying the game to be so supplied, the place where the same then is.

No license under this section shall be issued to any person, or to any corporation employing any person who may while in such employment have been convicted of an offense against ease, has been entirely satisfactory. this act within two years next preceding the date of an application for such license.

The fee to be paid for each license issued under this section shall be the sum of $5, or such smaller sum as the board of fish and game commissioner; may from time to time determine.

GROWING TIME IN THE DOMINION

Large Increase in Circulation of Government $1 and $2 Notes-Marked Increase Shown by the Trade

[Special to The Advertiser per C.P.R.] Ottawa, Nov. 20.—One of the most unmistakable signs of a growing time is the circulation of Dominion notes, that is, the government one and two dollar dotes. From a statement prepared by the finance department, the following will show the increase which has taken place for the month of October since 1894:

October, 1894 .....$7,031,368 October, 1895 ..... 7,295,368 October, 1896 ...... 7,583,712 October, 1897 ..... 7,940,520 October, 1898 ...... 8,612,602 October, 1899 ..... 9,421,885 It will therefore be seen that the circulation for October last was $809,283 greater than for October in the previ-ous year and $2,500,000 greater than in

The trade figures for the first quarter of the present fiscal year also show another satisfactory evidence of the prosperity of the country. The ag-gregate trade of the country in that time has increased by over $12,000,000, and the revenue by over $1,000,000, as compared with the first quarter in 1898, which was also a record-breaker. For October alone the increase in revenue from customs was over $500,000. The incease in the expots of animals and their produce for the four months was over $6,000,000, as compared with the same time last year.

A DINNER PILL-Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healing nutriment, it becomes a poison healing nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion.

An Austrian Appreciation of England. It is seldom the British hear a friendly voice from the continent of Europe. The reasons are well set forth by Professor Vambery, a distinguished Austrian scientist, who is not afraid to avow his pro-British sentiments in an orticle in the Pester Lloyd, Vienna. In his opinion this general antipathy to Great Britain is due in the main to the envy and spite excited among her rivals by the extraordinary prosperity, power and prestige of the British Empire. The true motive of English pollcy are willfully ignored, and England is accused of an ungovernable landhunger and blind covetousness. The civilizing influence of the British flag calumny, it remains an injustice, and Professor Vambery considers it the duty of those whose office it is to inform the public mind to give a plain then proceeds to defend England and unjustly attacking the Transvaal, and the emperor, who only despises us for in which she takes occasion to express of desiring to destroy the poor, pious our servility."

The First Pitched Battle. [Montreal Witness.]

The Ross Government has won in the first pitched political battle it has had with the Whitney opposition. Mr. Latchford, its candidiate in South Renfrew, has been elected over Mr. Mc-Garry, the Conservative candidate, by a majority of 311. This is a large marity in view of the fact that Mr. Mc-Garry was regarded as an extremely popular local candidate, while the outsider cry was raised against Mr. Latchwhose name is also new to the public. Mr. Stratton, another new min-ister, was elected in West Peterboro', at one time considered a Conservative stronghold, by acclamation. It seems of Ontario.

QUEEN SHOWS GREAT ENERGY. The war seems to have given Queen Victoria a new lease of life. The trying ceremonies at Bristol were preceded by a long journey from Scotland, yet the Queen showed no signs of fatigue after undertaking what would have tired out women of half her age. Her short speeches, many of them impromptu, were never more pointed, and they have, apparently, deeply touched the heart of the nation. After such an exhibition of vigor, the talk of her retirement in favor of the Prince of Wales, naturally, has no part in the gossip of today.

ENGINE SPARKS DESTROY CROPS The rapid increase of light railroads has been attended by an increase in the destruction of English crops by fire from engine sparks and the farmers are unable to obtain compensation from the railroads. That aggressively British sheet, the Globe, commenting on this, says plantively: "The only hope is that mechanical science will come to the rescue and that all engines will, as the American constructed, consume their

THE CHANTANT A SUCCESS. Mrs. James Brown-Potter's chantant, at Claridge's Hotel, Saturday, for the benefit of the American hospital ship Maine was a great success. The exquisitely decorated rooms were thronged with the exclusive set of fashionable persons in brilliant attire, growing and the buik of the press is including the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, Princess Aribert of Anhault and Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein. The last trio were accompanied by Mrs. Hopkins, of 'New York, the Duchess of Marlborough, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Lady Randolph Churchill looked in for a few minutes, but was deeply distressed owing to her anxiety as to the fate of her son, Winston Churchill, believed to be a prisoner the hands of the Boers, and left before the guests arrived. NURSES FOR THE MAINE. Among the passengers who sail on the Atlantic Transport Line steamship Manitou from New York are Dr. Hastings in charge of 29 dispensers, orderlies and male nurses, who are going to join the English hospital ship Maine, loaned to the British Govern ment by the Atlantic transport line for use in the South African service. SENSATION IN BERLIN.

A great sensation has been caused in Berlin by the empress' letter to the municipality acknowledging the congratulations on her majesty's birthday, Royal University ridiculed the Bible, "in a manner to most deeply injure all morality, and, above all, Christian feeling." This refers to a speech of Dr. Preuss, a Jewish tutor, who paraphrased the passage of Job: "His excellency at night, while Pago Pago is the finest gave and his excellency taketh away; blessed be the name of his excellency."
It appears that the empress was displeased at the hostile attitude of the municipality in regard to the levying of taxes to support the Lutheran lege on naval matters, declared during churches, as the councilors, mostly the week that the present greatness of Radicals and Socialists, opposed the British pavy is directly attribut. not send the empress any more con-

DON'T LIKE IT.

The reassembling of the reichstag on Tuesday hardly caused a ripple on the surface of political life. It seems, that neither the reichstag nor the government is anxious for a conflict over the pending measures, anent which there is much heated difference of opinion. It was different with the emperor's departure for England, which probably unrestrainedly abusing Great Britain fact that the people are still over-whelmingly against the visit and against Great Britain in the matter of the war. The inspired press is trying hard to convince its readers that visit is purely personal and totally devoid of political meaning. GERMAN VIEW OF THE CAM-PAIGN.

The comment on the war news during the past week has been more cautious, but not more friendly. A military writer in the Kreuz Zeitung, reviewing the situation, says: "The Boers' neglect to utilize their advantages after Nicholson's Nek argues ill for their military ability. But the attitude of the British troops in a number of recent engagements, according to English accounts, is nothing to brag about. The discipline seems poor." Continuing, the writer says that he believes the British will hereafter advance in compac masses, numerically superior to the Boers, whose tactics hitherto have been to split up their forces, and he thinks that this will tell against the latter As to the outcome of the war, writer thinks it is by no means certain, as the enormous size of the seat of action makes a guerrilla war likely.

WITH THE BOERS. The sympathies of the Germans are strikingly shown in the large number of popular subscriptions for the aid of the wounded Boers. The Deutsche Zeitung has collected, within a fortnight, 25,000 marks, and the Hamburg subscriptions amount to 53,445 marks. In Berlin the consul-general of the Transvaal daily receives contributions, many coming from the poor, which already foot up a large sum. In many towns, including Leipzig, Berlin, Cologne, Duisburg, Hamm and Stettin, meetings of sympathy with the Boers have been

TO DOUBLE GERMANY'S NAVY. The movement to increase the German navy has not lost its vigor. The agitation started by the emperor is being skillfully managed. Dr. Von Heeringen, of the marine ministry, who has done most of the literary work in connection with the movement, has, by the emperor's order, published a pamphlet arguing powerfully in favor of the necessity of a large navy. By the liberal use of parallel columns, shows the navy should at least be doubled in order to accomplish its proper work. Capt. Heeringen has gone to Munich to explain to the Prince

Regent of Bavaria the features of the naval plan and its necessity. He also goes on the same mission to Stutt-gart, Carlsruhe and Dresden. In the meanwhile, the sentiment of the na-tion in favor of the plan is steadily apparently convinced.

GERMANY SNUBBED BY FRANCE. Conversing with a prominent diplomat on the subject of the Anglo-German entente, the latter said to the correspondent of the Associated Press: "It is a fact well known in all the diplomatic corps and the various cabinets of Europe, that Germany, having recently met several distinct checks from France on occasions favorable to make common cause against the common enemy, Germany, has of necessity had to turn to England. This is so patent to anyone who has studied the events of the last fifteen months that it is folly to pretend that Germany is backward in seeking an entente with England. It is well known that the emperor is vexed with the peoples' unreasonable spite against England, and this sentiment is shared by his advisers." WAR SITUATION REVIEWED.

The Runians, Gray, Carrie Go.

New York Tribune, reviewing the South African situation under Sunday morning's date, says: "Public anxiety over Ladysmith has been relieved in a large measure by the intelligence that Gen. White is keeping the Boer artiflery well under control. First came a positive assurance from the war office that all was well at Lady-smith Sunday and Monday, and this was followed by Reuter's tidings from Estcourt that a runner had come from the garrison with two days' later news of the reassuring nature. There had been an engagement Tuesday, with a Boer repulse and a successful sortte by the garrison, which was not only safe on Wednesday, but in high spirits. When full allowance has been made for the elasticity of the native runner's imagination in talking with the correspondents, a sure margin remained for conviction that the Boer artillery fire had been signally harmless, and that the attempts to tighten the circle of investment had failed.

BOERS WASTING SHELLS. The Boer dispatches describing Tuesday's engagement and the progress of the siege could be read with composure here with the strong sidelight Gen. Joubert occupied on the front. from the British headquarters thrown upon them. These bulletins were scanned with intense satisfaction by the loungers at the military clubs last evening, where the light causality list was regarded as a signal proof that the Boers were supplied with defective shells, and were wasting a large stock of poor ammunition. perts were anxious to learn whether the six-inch quick-firing guns from the ships were in the Ladysmith batteries, and in full operation, and one of the Boer dispatches from Lorenzo Marquez was considered good proof that they were. The shells were falling, in any event, thick and fast from the British batteries, where was no apparent lack of lyddite or other ammunition. situation in lower Natal was considered reassuring at the war office, where any feeling of uneasiness was disclaimed. The news from Estcourt was under the embargo of the censorship, but there were no signs that the gar-rison was falling back, although it was evident that it would do so if menaced by a superior force with guns of greater range. ENEMY'S STRENGTH AT EST-COURT.

Estimates of the strength of the Boer commands converging upon Estcourt are untrustworthy, ranging from 2,000 to 10,000, but even at the highest their force would be exceeded by the British column when once massed, with the three fresh batteries of field artillery in working order. Military men, while admitting that Gen. White has failed to hold back the Boers at Estcourt at the last moment, were confident that the only object gained by the enemy would be increased resources for retarding and harassing the advance of the relief column by destroying bridges and hanging on its flank, and menacing its communication with the sea. They were forced to concede that the relief of Ladysmith would be delayed by the admirable Boer tactics, but comforted themselves with the reflection that Gen. White's army was holding its ground well, and that pressure upon it had been relieved by the weakening in the besieging force for raiding operations below Colenso. THE PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

The London correspondent of the World claims to know just what are Gen. Buller's plans. He cables as fol-"The war correspondent was attempt to achieve it, and it has aplows: The London correspondent of the enabled

The force detached to proceed by way of Durban to relieve Ladysmith is expected to begin active measures in a day or two in the British naval brigade are no less Gen. Joubert engaged, while a more is directed | important movement again Pretoria. Gen. Buller is now at De Aar Junction, Northern Cape Colony, whence he has sent a column to relieve Kimberley and Mafeking.

He himself intends to go with the main body through Bloemfontein, the formerly intended to do. But at Wynburg, sixty miles beyond Bloemfontein, a column will be detached to cut off the retreat of the Free Staters, the British occupying the level veldt unsuitable to Boer tactics. The World's informant says the main obto Boer tackies. ject of Gen. Buller's plan is to get in the rear of the Transvaal and Free State columns, while Gen. White, aided by strong reinforcements, keeps The war department is confident that this plan is practicable, and Gen. Joubert has not yet shown a great interest in getting the heavy guns back to Pretoria." THE BRITISH ADVANCE. The World's correspondent says that the British advance is in a much more forward state than the public has beat back an attack by the Boer force been permitted to know. Even the now facing it. But on the other hand been permitted to know. Even the now facing it. But on the other hand, news of the arrival of the troopships the advices pay testimony to the ceasedated back, so that a much larger move is being made to the front than is expected. The British expect little smith, and, if possible, to isolate or opposition to their advance through headquarters' estimate is that Pretoria will be taken and the war ended within a month of Gen. Buller's crossing the Orange River. BRITISH FEELANG MORE HOPE-FUL

London, Nov. 20 .- The passing of another week without any material change in the status of the beleaguer- ing. ed British force at Ladysmith is responsible for a much more hopeful feeling in Great Britain regarding the fate of Gen. White's men. On all sides the opinion is now expressed that they will be able to withstand attack until relief arrives. It is hard to see the justification for such definite optimism, for as far as can be gathered from the meager reports from the scene of action the Boers have not yet attempted a determined attack, which it seems certain they all along intended to be the climax of their deliberate strategy. That they have put off such an attack until the last moment seems only probable, for, if they are driven to assault Ladysmith they would doubtless desire to attempt it when the British ammunition is at its lowest ebb. The diversion of Boer units from Ladysmith toward Estcourt cannot, it is claimed, be taken as any indication that the Boers have given up hope of capturing Ladysmith, for their plan of campaign appears to be too skillfully mapped out and tenaciously adhered to, to admit the supposition that they have suddenly and without sufficient cause renounced their main objective. The present tack of developments around Ladysmith can well be believed to be the lull which precedes the storm. The signs point to the quick relief of Kimberley or the defeat of the British highest officers of the headquarters must take its chances, and Col. Badenstaff of the army an outline of the Powell probably be given several more

This force is than seven midshipmen at Ladysmith, only ostensibly supposed to raise the investment of Ladysmith. The real motive in dispatching it is to keep also two naval engineers. This is the first occasion on which naval engineers have been actively engaged at the front in a purely land campaign.

The admiralty has quietly bought 10,-000 suits and equipments for the men of the naval reserve. Though these are scarcely likely to be used in the immediate future, the purchase is one capital of the Free State, to Pretoria, more indication of what thorough prethe capital of the Transvaal, as he paration Great Britain is making for any eventualities.

A correspondent with the British Channel squadron says: Though lying quietly moored at Gibraltar, every precaution is taken to prevent surprises, the crews being practically under war discipline.

The naval critics declare that the belated chartering of the White Star Line steamer Majestic shows that the subsidized lines should not only be available as government armed cruisers, but as transports.

ACTIVITY OF THE BOERS. Another correspondent says: The latest news from the seat of war in South Africa is, from one view, favorable to the British, showing that Kimberley is able to hold its own easily against the Boer bombardment, and that Escourt is also in a position to at the South African ports has been less activity of the burghers on the capture Estcourt, which is the nearest the Free State, calculating even on town to Ladysmith still held by the the railroads not being destroyed. The British. A number of small Boer commandos from the east and west are converging on Estcourt and the railroad just south of that place. They already aggregate at least 2,000, with a few guns, which they evidently, from the intrenchments they are throwing up, mean to mount on hills dominating any advance north of Estcourt, where Gen. Hildyard is still command-

TOUGH TIME AHEAD.

Even with the strong relief column now hurrying up from Durban the British will have a tough job to pierce the Boer force thrown across the roads to Ladysmith, while crossing the Tugela River on pontoon bridges in the face of the Boer artillery and rifles fires from the northern ridge commanding the rivers will probably prove one of the stiffest enterprises of the war.

From the Free State frontier comes news that reinforcements are rapidly arriving at the Orange River camp. where Lord Methuen is hurriedly preparing to push a relief force on to

The Scots Guards arrived from Cape Town on Thursday, and the force at Kimberley ought now to be almost strong enough to tackle the Boers besieging the town.

G. T. R. TRAINMEN

Satisfied With the New Arrangements Made With Regard to Their Wages.

All fear of a strike on the part of the conductors and brakemen on the Grand Trunk is now at an end, says a dispatch from Toronto. On Sunday afternoon meetings of the Toronto branches of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Railway Brakemen were held, when the agreement reached last week between the representatives of the men and the management of their line was submitted and approved of.

Superintendent Jones, of the Grand Trunk, who returned from Montreal on Saturday, where he had been on business for the past two weeks, in connection with the adjusting of the rate of wages to be paid to the company's employes, said all the relations between the employes and the company were most cordial, and he expects that everything will be all right from now According to the new schedule of rates the men in the various departments will receive a substantial in-

From the distance the immense building appeared a blaze of light, while from within the brilliancy was dazzling owing to every light being in use for the occasion.

Under the main rooms of the administration department the commodious engine room is located, where, noiselessly, the immense engines and generators operate continuously.

Two multipolar iron-clad, compoundwound, automatic electric generators of 32-killowatt capacity, direct connected to self-oiling, inclosed type, highspeed engines, form the motive power from which, by means of the beautiful marble switchboard and electric wiring, the whole system of lights and motors throughout the entire building are under control of the engineer, The elevators, two in number, are provided with multipolar, cast steel, iron-clad motors, direct connected to the gearing, and operated from the car; they are very compact and noiseless. There are two fan motors, direct belted to large exhaust fans, which keep the air of the building constantly in circulation.

The entire plant, including generators, switchboard, elevator motors and motors, was manufactured and installed by the Electrical Construction Company of London, Limited, and is giving excellent satisfaction. They deserve very great credit for completing and installing the plant in such a workmanike and efficient manner. This firm were also contractors for the en-When it is remembered gines. When it is remembered the fight which was necessary for this local firm to secure the contract, even when their price was lowest, is a matter of wonder.

Gen, MacArthur Using the Railroads-200 Insurgents Captured by a "Coup."

Manila, Nov. 20 .- The American occupation of the country between Manila and Dagupan is proceeding with a rush. Gen. MacArthur is within five horse thief. He was arrested for vagmiles of Dagupan, which Gen. Wheat-on or Gen. Lawton will probably oc-cupy. The railroad is practically intact beyond Bamban, except for a distance of five miles to the north. Large quantities of nolling stock had been de-

Gen. MacArthur is moving his troops by train and roads within Gen. Lawton's territory are becoming passable. Capt. Leonhauser accomplished one of the best coups of the war. Reaching O'Donnell by a night march, from Capas on Nov. 18, he surprised the in-surgent force, numbering 200, and captured all of them, with their arms, 10,-000 rounds of ammunition and four tons of subsistence. One Filipino was but there were no American casualties. THE SPANISH PRISONERS. Madrid, Nov. 20 .- An official dispatch from Manika says that 200 Spanish prisoners have been sent to the Province of Panay, and that the Americans have consented that a vessel with food and clothing shall be sent to get them. Manila, Nov. 20.—Only fragmentary reports reach Manila of the operations north, which when the story shall be known will be seen to have been the most remarkable campaigning in the Philippine war. Gen. Lawton's di-vision is spreading thinly over the territory beyond San Jose, where the tele-graph ends. Gen. Young's two regiments of cavalry are continuing their rapid sweep into the new towns, and the infantry is being shoved forward to hold the towns, the cavalry takes in a country whose natural difficulties are increased indescribably by tropical rains, making rivers of creeks and swamps of fields. Wagon transportation is supposed to have been practically abandoned, the American troops LIVING ON CAPTURED SUPPLIES, and the little produce the insurgent levies have left: Major Samuel M. perior force at Pozorubio, northeast of Dagupan. These troops have fought three engagements. It is believed at headquarters that this Filipino force is covering the retreat of the insur-gent leaders to the Binguet Moun-tains; that the insurgents planned to retreat northeast along the Taguya road, which is stocked with store-houses, three of which the Americans have secured to draw upon en route, and that only the insurgent advance force had passed Taguya before the American occupation.

The main body of Aguinaldo's army being within our lines, the majority of these insurgents may disorganize pose as amigos when the Americans overtake them.

Capt. Henry A. Leonhaeuser, with a battalion of the 25th Infantry, is on his way from Damban to O'Donnell, the insurgent cartridge-filling works there.
Mindanao villagers have seized a

THIS KRUGER IS A HORSE-THIEF

His Career of Crime Was Long-Berlin Police Are Hunting Up His

Hespeler, Ont., Nov. 20.—Twenty-two years ago Karl Kruger was arrested for stealing sheep from J. P. Phin, who resides near Hespeler. He was convicted and sent to the penitentiary for two years, but before he left he threatened to have revenge. Shortly after he was released Mr. Phin's barn aches and pains, becomes weak and lame, was burned down, and a fine structure was erected in its place, which was also burned to the ground. Kruger was suspected of the crime.

About twelve years ago he went to Maberley, and started a merchant tailor shop, and about the same time the horses and cattle began to disappear in various parts of Waterloo county. Kruger, who was doing busifinally pinched by Chief of Police Winterhall, in Puslinch.

Detective Klippert, of Berlin, assisted by another officer from London, repardoned.

On Friday, when Mr. Phin was dining rancy, and sent to Berlin for six months. In the meantime the county officials will hunt up evidence to send him back to penitentiary for a long term, as it is suspected that he had a hand in a recent horse-stealing case at Marden. Besides horse-stealing, he COYNE-McCANN. The residence of Mr. Peter McCann, 152 John street, was the scene of an interesting event on Saturday after-noon, when his youngest daughter, Beatrice, was united in marriage to Captain J. H. Coyne, of Mount For-est. The ceremony was performed by the Very Rev. the Dean of Huron, and only the relatives and most intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. The bride was attired in gray silk, trimmed with steel and white satin, with gray chiffon hat to match. She was attended by nieces, Misses Mary Meredith and Dorothy McCann, the former being dressed in pin kand cream, with black picture hat, while little Miss Dorothy's dress was of white organdie, with white satin sash, her bonnet being of white silk chiffon. Lieut. A. B. Perry, of Trinkty Medical School, Toronto, was groomsman, and Master John Meredith acted as page. The ceremony over, the guests sat down to a bounkiful wedding breakfast. Numerous costly presents were indicative of the bride's popularity. The newly-wedded couple left on the 4:30 train followed by the hearty good wishes of their assembled friends-wishes in which the bride's hosts of admirers in the city will join. Captain and Mrs. Coyne will reside in Mount Forest. The bride was a social favorite in London, and will be missed from the Woman's Morning Music Club and from numerous charitable societies, of which she was a member.

HEART HUMBUG.

It is fashionable today to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month, A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. Justice Armour's Address to the Engagements With the Enemy Grand Jury.

Rights of Employers and Employes-The Law in Relation to Strikes and the Eoycotts.

The Middlesex fall assizes opened at the court house at 1 o'clock today before his lordship Chief Justice Armour. Among the counsel present were B. B. Osler, Q.C., of Toronto, and Mr. J. F. Hanna, of Sarnia. A large number of spectators were present. The grand jury was sworn in quickly, and Mr. Simon McLeod, of West Williams, was elected foreman. John C. Ovens was the only juror absent.

Chief Justice Armour, in his address, explained to the jurors that their duty was not to try the cases; merely to decide whether or not there was sufficient evidence to warrant placing the accused persons no trial. Many defendants were out on bail, and many of the cases were triable at the general sessions of the peace. This latter court was less expensive than the assizes, but his lordship did not think that had much effect with the publi as extravagance seemed to be the order of the day. nowever the interests of the county that the cases referred to go over to the sessions. The law bearing on the cases to come before the jury was outlined by his lordship. The cases of George and McDonald, burglary, and Jordan Pickell, bigamy, were first referred to Then the cases arising out of the street railway strike were dealt with. these latter cases the accused should have been bound over to the sessions Some of the persons were charged with forming an unlawful assembly, rioting and various other offenses. It was a very deplorable thing when these strikes occurred, said his lordship. They were injurious to the persons employed and to the employers. the long run more injurious to the former than the latter, as the employers were better able to stand the great loss of money. Under the common law it was an indictable offense for anyone to interfere with commerce or trade. Any employer might employ who he chose and discharge whom he chose. The laborer had the same right. It was his privileege to give his labor to whom he pleased and on what terms he pleased. It was lawful to enter into a combination to change the relations between the employers and employes. Employes could combine to say that they would no longer work unless paid higher wages, or with some particular person. The masters could combine to say that they would pay lower wages, or for the Grand Opera House is Tim Murphy, some other reason. In no case, however, should violence be committed. There should be no breach of the peace on the part of either combination in vantage in London since the days of an attempt to effect its purpose. It was said this was a struggle of labor against capital. Capital produc-ed labor. Upon capital invested in factories, railways, etc., labor depended. If there was no capital so invested, labor would go without employment. Capital and labor were interdependent one upon the other. It was one of the difficulties of this country that people were slow to invest their capital in factories, railways, street railways, etc. They preferred to put their money in mortgages, government bonds, etc. To encourage the investment of capital in factories or railways was desirable for the interest of labor

FIGHTING AT

The Latter Described as the Heaviest Battle Yet Fought.

Boer Dead Number Hundreds, While the British Losses Were Light.

Weather Favorable for the Wounded Men-Basuto Scouts Seen Working for the Boers.

London, Nov. 20 .- A special from Estcourt, dated Nov. 20, says a report has reached there of a battle at Lady smith Wednesday, Nov. 15, lasting from daybreak until 2 in the afternoon Many Boers are said to have been killed, and many are reported to have been taken prisoners. The British losses are reported to be much less.

Another battle is said to have occurred Thursday. It is described as the heaviest yet fought. The Boer dead number hundreds, while the British losses were comparatively small.

REVIEWING THE SITUATION. London, Nov. 20.-The present week, according to the dispatches from the front ought to see a change in the defensive tactics hitherto maintained by the British in South Africa.

It is said that the task allotted to Gen. Cleerey, that of relieving Ladysmith, will tax his generalship to the utmost. The Boers are developing a great deal of strength in the neighborhood of Estcourt, and Gen. Joubert is reported to be moving southward himself in order to direct the movement REPEL THE BRITISH ADVANCE after, it would seem, attempting to isolate Estcourt. This latter movement is already in progress. The Boers practically surround the town. Another small Boer force was discovered at Willow Grange, south of Estcourt, Sunday evening. Major Thorneycroft, with a detachment of infantry, made a sortie, and engaged the Boers, but without any material result. The socalled Boer attempt to rush Estcourt on Saturday was apparently merely a reconnoissance. It resulted in the Boers obtaining the information which they desired, namely, that Estcourt is fairly strongly held, and has naval guns in position. The Boers then withdrew out of range, but remained at points commanding the exits from the

GOOD WEATHER FOR THE WOUNDED.

Cape Town, Nov. 20.-The weather at Cape Town is cool, which tends to hasten the recovery of the British wounded in the Wynburg hospital.

Many of the wounded soldiers will be able to again take the field in a week. The surgeons maintain that certain of the wounds sustained in the fighting at Elandslaagte are ascribable to explosive bullets. Some of the bullets have been sent to Gen. Sir Redvers Buller, the British commander.

The Government of Natal has decided that parcels intended for soldiers shall be admitted into the country free of duty

The South African News expresses admiration for the action of Sir William MacCormack, president of Royal College of Surgeons, in giving his services at the front. The doctors report that the wounds made by Mauser bullets are humane. The recoveries are almost incredible.

Estcourt, Sunday, Nov. 19-5:55 a.m.
-Yesterday Inspector Mardell, of the Natal police, rode up the road to Co-He saw the enemy in strong force. There were a thousand Boers above Leslie's farm, and about 2,000 in the Little Bushman Valley. Four miles from the latter place there was another line of the enemy in extended order reaching three miles northwesterly.
Troopers Tarrant and Elgie, of t Natal police, who went on a scouting expedition from Gourton camp, have returned. They report that when they were passing Springfield, traveling in the direction of Colenso, they saw many Basutos scouting for the Boers. BOERS.

The troopers encountered two mounted Boer scouts, who were crossing Sterk's spruit, with their rifles slung across their shoulders. The troopers rushed upon them and compelled them to surrender, at the muzzles of their revolvers. They took from the Boers one sporting and one repeating rifle. They then rode six miles with their prisoners, under a running fire directed at them by Boers in the adjacent hills. The prisoners offered their captors £10 and their ponies, all they had, for their release, which offer, it is needless to say, was not accepted. "NO REAL WAR YET."

New York, Nov. 20.-G. M. Alexander, a Cape Town architect, arrived from South Africa a few days ago on his way around the world. He said last night: "I shall return to the Cape nine months hence, in time to see the beginning of the war with the Boers. There has been no real war vetnothing but skirmishing-though we have lost many of our best men. "Why, I should be able to recover all I have lost, of course," said Mr. Bultitude. He thought his brother-in-law had grown very dull.
"Ah, but I mean what's to become

"You?" repeated Paul (he had not thought of that). "Well, hum, from what I know and what you know that I know about your past life, you can't expect me to encourage you to remain "No," said Uncle Marmaduke

"But," said Paul, willing to make all reasonable concessions, "anything I can do to advance your prospectssuch as paying you passage out to New York, you know, and so on—I should be very ready to do."

"Thank you," said the other.

"And even, if necessary, provide you with a small fund to start afresh upon with a small fund to start afresh upon. Honestly," said Paul, "you will not find me difficult to deal with." "It's a dazzling proposition," remarked Paradine, dryby. "You have such an alluring way of putting things. But the fact is, you'll hardly believe it, but I'm remarkably well off here. I am indeed. Your son, you know, though am indeed. Four son, yet an indeed. Four son, yet an indeed form, really makes, as they say of a marmalade in the advertisements, an admirable substitute. I doubt, I do assure you, whether you yourself would have received me with quite the same warmth and hospitality I have met with from him."

"So do I," said Paul; "very much." "Just so; for, without your admirable business capacity and extraordinary firmness of character, you know, he has, if you'll excuse me saying so, a more open, guileless nature, a more entire and touching faith in his fel-low-man and brother-in-law, than were ever yours."

"To say that to me," said Paul, hotly. "is nothing less than sheer im-

"My dear Paul (it does seem duced odd to be talking to a little shrimp like you as a grown-up brother-inlaw. I shall get used to it presently, I daresay) I flatter myself I am a man of the world. We're dealing with one another now, as the lawyers have it, it arm's length. Just put yourself in y place (you're so remarkably ple's pl cus, you know). Look at the thing from my point of view. Accily dropering in at your office to loan from anyone I chanced to meet on the premises, I find myself, to my surprise, welcomed with effusion into what I then imagined to be your arms.

More than that, I was invited here for an indefinite time, all my little eccentricities unnoticed, overlooked. I was deeply touched (it struck me, I confess, at one time that you must be touched, too), but I made the best use of my opportunities. I made hay while the sun shone." "Do you mean to make me lose my temper?" interrupted Paul. "It will not take much more."

'I have no objection. I find men, as a rule, easier to deal with when they have once lost their temper, their heads so often go too. But to return: a man with nerve and his fair share of brains, like myself, only wants a capitalist (he need not be a million-aire) at his back to conquer the world.

It's not by my means my first campaign, and I've had reverses, but I see victory in my grasp, sir, in my grasp at last!" Paul groaned. "Now you—it's not your fault, I know, a mere defect of constitution;

but you, as a speculator, were, if venture to put it so, not worth your salt: no boldness, no dash, all caution. But your promising son is a regular whale on speculation, and I may tell you that we stand in together in some little ventures that would very probably make your hair stand on end-you wouldn't have touched them. And yet there's money in every one of them."

"I daresay there is," said Paul savagly; "I won't have any of my money in them" "You don't know much about these things, you see," said Marmaduke; "I tell you I have my eye on some fine openings for capital." Your pockets were always very fine openings for capital," retorted

'Ha, ha, deuced sharp that! But, to come to the point, you were always a sensible kind of a fellow, and you must see that, for me to back up and upset this young rascal who has stepped into your slippers, might be morally meritorious enough, but, treating it from a purely pecuniary point of view, it's not business."

"I see," said Mr. Buititude, heavily; [ ] then you side against me."
"Did I ever say I would side against you? Let us hear first what you propose to do."

Paul, upon this, explained that, as he believed the stone still retained its ne beneved the stone still retained its power of granting one wish to any other person who happened to get hold of it, his idea was to get possession of it somehow from Dick, who probably would have it about him somewhere, and then pass it on to some one whom he could trust not to misuse it so base-good idea that, Paul, my boy," said Paradine, smiling; "but you don' imagine our young friend would be quite such an idiot as not to see your game. Why, he would pitch the stone in the gutter, and stamp it to powder rather than let you get hold of it."

"He's quite capable of it," said Paul;
"in fact, he threatened to do worse than that. I doubt if I shall ever be able to manage it myself; but what am I to do? I must try, and I've no time to lose about it, either."

"I tell you this," said Marmaduke,
"If you let him see you here it's all up with you. What you want is some friend to manage this for you, some one he won't suspect. Now, suppose I were willing to risk it for you?"
"You!" cried Paul, with involuntary distrust. "Why not?" said Marmaduke, with a touch of feeling. "Ah, I see, you can't trust me. You've got an idea into your head that I am a thoroughpaced rascal, without a trace of human feeling about me. I daresay I deserve it, I daresay I do; but it's not generous, my boy, for all that I hope to show you your mistake yet, if you give me the chance. You allow yourself to be prejudiced by the past; that's where you make your mistake. I only put before you clearly and plainly what it was I was giving up in helping you. A fellow may have a hard, cynical kind of way of putting things, and yet, take my word for it, Paul, have a heart as tender as a spring chicken underneath. I believe I'm something like that myself. I tell you I'm sorry for you. I don't like to see a family man of your position in such a regular duce of a hole. I feel bound to give you a lift out of it, and let my prospects take their own chance. I leave the grattude to you. When I've done kick me down the doorsteps, if you like. I shall go out into the rld with a glow of self-approval (and rapid motion) warming my system.

"If I could only make up my mind to trust you!" muttered Paul. "The old distrust," cried Marmaduke; "you can't forget. You won't believe a poor devil like me can have any gratitude, any disinterestedness left in him. Never mind, I'll go. I'll leave it to you I'll send Dick in here, and we will see whether he's such a fool as you think him." "No," said Paul, "no; I feel you're right; that would never do." "It would be for my advantage, I think," said the other; "but you had better take me while I am in a magnanimous mood; the opportunity may never occur again. Come, am I to help you or not? Yes or no?"

"I must accept," said Paul, reluctantly. "I can't find Boaler now, and it might take hours to make him see what I wanted. I'll trust to your hon-or. What shall I do?" or. What shall I do?"

"Do? Get away from this; he'll be coming in here very soon to see me. Run away and play with the children, or hide in the china closet—anything but stay here."

"I-I must be here while you are managing him," objected Paul. "Nonsense!" said Paradine, angrily.
"I tell you it will spoil all, unless you -who's that? it's his step-too late now-dash it all! Behind that screen, quick-don't move for your life ill I tell you you may come out!" Mr. Bulttude had no choice; there was just time to set up an old folding screen which stood in the corner of the room and slip behind it before the door

(To be Continued.) A SONG OF WAR.

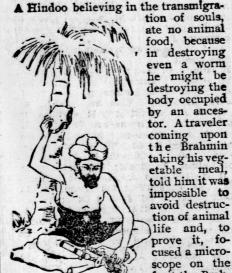

Wars and rumors of wars, And slaughter the men like cattle! A little of glory, but more of gain, So away-away to the battle! Away! till the rivers shall all run red With the blood-the blood of the nations shed!

Wars and rumors of wars-Swords gleam, and the rifles rattle! And what are their lives to the weeping wives,
Who sigh for the slain in battle? Away-away to the battle brave,

And earth to the soldier gives—a grave! Wars and rumors of wars. Till the fancied wrongs are righted; And bitter tears through the lonely years In homes, by the red wars blighted. Away—away to the frenzied fight, Till the bugles sound the last "Good

There are people who are suffering with weak lungs. They have an obstinate cough, are weak, emaciated, hopeless. They have been taught there's no hope for them. Some one puts into their hands one of Dr. Pierce's books or advertisements and through this medium they see healthy, happy men and women, who declare that their lungs had been weak, they had been racked by coughs, had been emaciated, feeble, hopeless, and were positively and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. These cures can be numbered by scores of thousands.

Are you sick? Will you throw aside the advertisement, break the microscope, or will you make one effort for health? Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y. There is no charge for consultation by letter. You'll get a prompt answer, with fatherly sympathy and medical skill combined.

There is no alcohol, or other stimulant in "Golden Medical Discovery."

Kruger.

Democratio Ways of the Transvaal's President.

Lives in a Modest House and Is Devoted to His Family and Also to Coffee -Hatred of the English.

Imagine a man less than 5 feet 7 inches in height, but in build like a giant; his hair white with years; his features homely and coarse, wearing an ill-fitting black double-breasted frock coat reaching beneath the knees; such a man is Oom Paul. Void of booklearning, apparently not gifted above the average man, armed only with his natural craftiness, he has been a thorn in the side of the greatest diplomatists and statesmen in England for years. He was born on Oct. 10, 1825, near the present town of Graff Reinet. Colony. His parents were South African farmers, who left their home in Holland a few years before Paul was born, hoping for good fortune in the new country. But it did not come. They remained mere squatters, and at the time Paul was born his parents owned only two or three slaves, which meant little. The future president of the Transvaal was christened S. J. Paul Kruger, but at an early age the first two initials were dropped. He uses them now when signing state papers. He was taught early to pray and to handle a gun. He was a fearless boy. When he was nine his parents resented British regulations and moved to the northeastern part of Natal, not far from Ladysmith, the first important strategic point in this war. There were two other children in the family, a girl and a boy, both younger than Paul. The brother was killed in a native fight in the Natal colony, and the sister lived to see her brother made president of the Transvalal.

When Kruger was about 15 years of age his father, sister and he went with the bullock team some distance into the Orange Free State. The senior Kruger was forced to remain and told Paul to take the team home and to look after his sister. Take my advice, don't attempt to tackle Master Dick yourself. Leave "I'll take care of her, father," was the reply. Everything went well until Paul and his sister were about five miles from home. Then a panther appeared in the road. The sixteen bullocks in the team took fright and ran away. The jolting of the wagon threw the sister from the seat into the roadway, where she was at the mercy of the panther. Paul, though unarmed, ran to her rescue and tackled the panther. It was a flerce struggle, and Kruger believed once or twice that the panther was going to prove too much for him. But finally he managed to kill the animal with his knife.

It was in the latter part of 1879 that I first met Kruger. The Boers at that time were on the verge of a war with the British. When I was introduced to Kruger he was suspicious of me, and it was only when assured that I was an American that he became at all talkative. In those days Kruger would talk English, but since the visit of Sir Henry Lock to Pretoria in 1893 he has positively refused to utter one word of English. The Kruger of 1879 was a poor man. He had difficulty in supplying his family with the necessities of life, for besides his wife he had ten children to care for. He lived then in a farmhouse, but he left the farm to care for itself, for he had a more important matter to attend to—the creation of a revolution against the English. Gen. P. J. Joubert, com-mander of the Boer forces, and vice-Gen. P. J. Joubert, compresident of the Transvaal, young Pretorius, son of the republic's first president, and Kruger were planning the Boer uprising which came the follow ing year, resulting in the independence of the Boers in 1891. It was these three that managed the campaign against the English forces at Majuba Hill. 1894. Although he was now the presi-

The next time I met Kruger was in dent of a ration, and reputed to be worth $5,000,000, I found him as simple and as democratic as he was in the days of 1879, when he was unknown to fame and had hard work to support his family. It was on this occasion that I realized the great qualities of this man. He cordially invited me to become his guest during the short time that I was to remain in Pretoria, an invitation which I readily accepted. He would not talk English to me on this occasion, so I had to carry on conversation with him through other members of the family. The old president never tired of talking about the United States, designating the republic as his big brother, and wishing that he were in a position to make a treaty with America in order that he might favor American merchants in trade. He often talked of the days when he drove his falther's old bullock team, and now prides himself on the fact that he is still able to crack a 30-foot whip over sixteen bullocks. Kruger is devoted to his wife, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, while they in turn adore him. He lives in a modest house, which stands black from the sidewalk about fifteen feet. There is a grass plot in front and a sentry-box inside of the iron railing. This house was presented to him by a syndicate. When the volksraad is in session a soldier is stationed in front of the president's house and no one, excepting officials, may enter the residence during the day without permission. After 7 o'clock in the evening all are welcome to the chief executive's home.

Every morning at 6 o'clock a negro servant takes a cup of black coffee and a big pipe filled with tobacco to the president's room. As soon as he has drunk the coffee Kruger rises, and smokes the pipe while he is dressing. He is down stairs by 6:30 o'clock, and is ready to lead the family prayers at 7 o'clock. Breakfast is served about 7:30 a.m. His morning hours are taken up with maltters of state and the dictating of letters. The dinner hour is 1 BENEFITS AT END OF 25 YEARS. o'clock. At all the meals Kruger says grace before bread is broken. He takes a short nap after the noon meal and is ready promptly at 3 o'clock in the afternoon to receive callers. The supper is served at 6 o'clock, and the conclusion of this repast ends all the worriment of the day for Kruger. Many writers have told how hot cups of thick, black coffee are served at frequent intervals. Every person received is served with coffee. Besides his salary of $40,000 a year, Kruger gets $10,000 annually for coffee money. There is a two-gallon kettle of coffee always hot in the kitchen.

Since Kruger was elected president in 1881 he has been confronted with some trying times. In 1883 his country was in a bankrupt condition. It looked as if a famine was going to overtake the land, but then gold was found in the Barbeton district. A messenger from the new gold fields took a sack of gold, containing twenty ounces, to the president, presenting it to him as the first yield of gold from the Transvaal. Kruger was astounded when he saw the gold. He asked where it came from, and was informed that it was from the Barberton district. "Is there any more left?" asked

He was told that the country was rich in gold ore, and that millions of pounds could be secured where that "Thank God! My country is saved!" was his reply.

Kruger often expressed his regrets that he was not able to receive an early education. His only book for years was a Bible. On the occasion of laying the last bolt in the Pretoria-Delagoa Bay Railroad, Nov. 1894, the president went out in his private train to perform the act. At Bronkher Spruit a delegation of Boers met the presidential party. Kruger had to speak. Out from the railroad station, about a mile distant, could be seen the three grouped graves of the rear guard of a British regiment, which had been annihilated by the Boers. The present trouble was beginning to make itself manifest, at least Kruger was far-sighted enough to realize that the storm would burst before very long. Looking significant-ly toward the graves of the British soldiers, Kruger said to the two hun-

"This is our country. Never give it up. Remember that we fought for it and made it what it is. I will never! never!! never permit a foreign foe to take the Transvalal from you so long as I shall live." JOHN E. OWENS.

-Charles Patrick, of Euclid avenue, South London, arrived home on Saturday from a lengthy sojourn in Dawson City and the goldfields. He has been in ill-health for several months.

-The production of the great oratorio, "The Redemption," which will be heard at First Methodist Church, tomorrow night, will be a great musical event. It is one of the masterpieces of musical composition, and it being its first performance here, should be received by a full house. The soloists, who include the famous tenor of New York, and local artists, who are well known to the musical public, should be enough to guarantee it a success.

-Referring to Mr. W. H. Hewlett's accompaniments at the Clara Butt concert in Massey Hall, Toronto, last week, the Toronto Saturday Night says: "After the programme was finished the au-dience kept their seats until at last Miss Butt obligingly came forward and sang Sullivan's "Lost Chord." This was the climax of the evening, and was received with a degree of enthusiasm that has rarely been paralleled here. This impressive and beautiful song has never been rendered before with such majesty, such breadth and beauty of tone, or with such elevated expression. It is worth noting, as showing the readyresource and excellent memory of Mr. Hewlett, who played the accompaniment on the organ, that Miss Butt had only one copy of the music with her, which she required for her own use on account of the words, and that Mr. Hewlett, although taken alt a disadvantage, successfully accomplished the feat of reproducing the organ part so cleverly and with so little variation from the original that the audience would not have been aware that he was playing wilthout the music had attention not been called to the fact by an apology." MOTORMAN TALBOT ARRESTED.

Detectives Nickle and Rider arrested Motorman Freeman Talbot on Saturday on a charge of having caused grievous bodily harm to Col. Leys. Talbot was in charge of a car which

TOO ANTI-BRITISH.

A meeting of the library committee of the public library was held Friday night, when it was decided to make some change in the list of periodicals for 1900. The New York Sun was struck off and the Tribune added. The Sun's tone is decidedly anti-British, while the Tribune has shown itself friendly. About 200 volumes of new books were passed to be ordered. There were present Messrs. Henry Macklin, Taibot Macbeth and Dr. A. O. Jeffery. DRUMMOND CLUB OFFICERS.

Lady Hampton, the winner of the reserve cham-pionship, was sired by Beck's imported Grand Falconer, son of Old Hampton, the Derby winner, and was bred by Brown Bros., of Shedden, Ont. DECISION NEXT SUNDAY.

Rev. E. C. Oakley, of Detroit, who was extended a unanimous invitation to become pastor of the First Congregational Church some time ago, preached two able sermons at the anniversary services at that church yesterday. The evening congregation was the largest for some time, and the morning service was well attended. Mr. Oakley expressed himslf as very much pleased with the church and its people. He stated that he would not, however, give his decision regarding the call until next Sunday, as there were a number of things to be considered. The members of the congregation were very much pleased with the man whom they hope will become their pastor. Mr. Oakley will be present at the anniversary tea and concert to be given in the school room of the church tonight, and will take this means of getting better acquainted with the congregation of the church.

AN INQUEST WAS ORDERED

Into the Circumstances Surrounding the Death of Peter Peterson.

Late Saturday afternoon, Dr. Ferguson, coroner, South London, received instructions from County Crown Attorney Magee to hold an inquest into the death of the late Peter Peterson, employed at the Canadian Packing Company's factory. The inquest was opened in the evening, at the family residence, London Junction, and a jury empaneled as follows: George Cairneross (foreman), Chas. Clay, Wm. McCormick, Jas. Cottar, John A. Little, lor, Samuel Spicknell, John Slater and Maxwell Angus. Constable Ward summoned the witnesses. The jury viewed the body, and an adjournment was made until Wednesday evening, when the factory will be visited and evidence heard in relation to the accident.

OF MANHOOD AND PATRIOTISM

Seventh Battalion.

The Seventh Battalion, under the command of Major Little, paraded to the First Methodist Church yesterday morning. The men turned out in most gratifying numbers. On all occasions when the good name of the battalion is at stake, each company is on hand in who was shot in the eye recently full strength. It is apparent that every private in the ranks, takes as deep an interest in the battalion as do the commanding officers.

The route of march was straight through Victoria Park to the church. Upon arriving there, each man was given a neat booklet containing the order of service, and having on its cover the arms and names of the officers of the Seventh, and the names of those who have gone from it to the Trans-

The service, in its entirelty, was a most interesting one to all, and was especially so to those who are attracted by a military life. The music had been chosen with discretion and was appropriate throughout. Master Lloyd Ames, of Brantford, assisted the choir. He has a voice of rare sweet-ness, which, combined with excellent expression, rendered his singing most enjoyable.

Rev. Dr. Smith chose as the founda-tion for his sermon, the words, "For this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater," found in Esther, ix., 4: He would consider the growth and development of mankind. There was nothing greater than man, the image and superscription of God. His mighty genius defies all opposition. Even though the power and immensity of the firmament were pointed out to him, with the knowledge that one of those brilliant planets would shame into insignificance thousands of such worlds as ours, yet for all that he would believe we are greater than they. An ideal manhood did not depend on mere physical development. The body was not the man. It was but the wire along which the electricity ran. It was not the skelanimated discussion, in which all took part. Officers for the current year are: Honorary president, Rev. G. C. Workman, Ph.D., Toronto; president, G. N. Weekes; vice-president, J. A. Cottom; secretary-treasurer, F. W. Daly; executive committee, Rev. George Jackson, Messrs. A. Screaton and C. E. German. The requisites for character were then enumerated—the resolute, regal will with the ability to accomplish truth, without the dangerous fallacy believing the doctrine that it mattered not what belief a man entertained so long as he was sincere in it; faith, the abiding trust in that which was unseen but real, that revolted from the radical theory of the separation of mind from matter, and by which man attained to God through Christ, and gave to life its first impulse to success. These were but a few of the qualities that gave great character, and the preacher in-stanced the results of such character in the lives of Vicars, of Havelock, and of Gordon. He spoke of the causes leading up to the present war in South Africa, and prayed for the victory of the British, a victory that would insure for both Boer and British the inestimable privilege of living happily under the Union Jack. The reverend gentleman closed with a stirring appeal to the young men to allow their steps to be so guided as to insure a realization of the results of a noble and Christlike character. AMONG THE MINERS. At the first Presbyterian Church, yes terday, the pulpit was occupied by Mr. Wm. Beattle, who will graduate from Knox College next spring. Mr. Beattie is a strong and capable speaker, and both services were much enjoyed. The morning's discourse was on the peti-tion in the Lord's Prayer, "Give us this day our daily bread." In the even-ing Mr. Beattie, who had been a missionary in the Slocan mining district, of British Columbia, under the auspices of Knox College Missionary Society, gave a most graphic and interesting ac count of his pioneer missionary work among the miners and prospectors of Rev. Dr. Johnston, of Jamaica, occupied the pulpit of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church last evening, and gave a most interesting address. Mr. Johnston has spent a quarter of a century in the West India Islands, principally in Kingston, where, as preacher, magistrate and member of the legislature, he has led a busy life. His account of the marvelous growth of Christianity in these islands was greatly encouraging to those who have the cause of Christ at heart. The reverend gentleman, in the course of his address, spoke of his trip across the African continent—four thousand miles—made on foot, and the perils of the journey. Mr. Johnston spent two years among the Boers, a number of them being in his employ He is familiar with the causes that have led up to the present war, and expressed his firm conviction that Bri-Robert Tremaine, David Clarke, Hiram tain was fully justified in her deter-Shane, Donald McDonald, Henry Tay- mination to uphold the rights of her subjects in that country without regard to race or creed.
