Once Behind a Counter, Now Peeress of the Realm.

An Interesting Real-Life Chapter That Reads as Well as a Bit of Fiction-The "Humble" Dudleys.

London, Aug. 1 -Lady Dudley, whose husband has received one of the minor Parliamentary offices in connection with the new Salisbury Administration, is probably the only peeress of the realm who has risen from the ranks of a bona fide shopgirl to her present social eminence. True, she bore prior to her marriage the name of Gurney, on of the most ancient in Norfolkshire, on of the most ancient in Northesiante, one of her ancestors having been that Thomas de Gourney who murdered King Edward II. in such an appalking manner with hot iron bars. The young countess' father, however, met with business reverses, and was compelled to resign his partnership in the Gurney Bank, as well as to surrender all his possessions for the benefit of his credi-Mrs. Gurney thereupon opened a milliner shop in London, but met with scant success, her two daughters who had acted as assistants ultimately becoming saleswomen in the Regent street store of the modiste, Mme. ## Holmes-Mudgett.

THURSDAY

Another Important Witness Against the Alleged Multi-Murderer.

Janitor Quinlan and His Wife Pass the Sweat-Box Ordeal.

How Holmes Accounts for the Disappearance or Miss Cigrand.

Chicago, July 31.—Detective Rea, of Fort Worth, last riight telegraphed that Allen, now under arrest at Little Rock, Ark., is the much-wanted "Mascot," and that he has given valuable information. By agreement between States Attorney Kern, Mayor Swift, Chief Badenoch and Attorney Capp, who represents the heirs of the missing Minnie Williams, the latter will leave for Little Rock tonight with credentials and authority for granting him the power to represent the State of Illinois in requesting the absolute and permanent release of Allen from the Arkansas penitentiary on condition that he fastens the crime of murder on Holmes by unmistakable and existing evidence in this city. Attorney Capp says: "We will prove absolutely that Holmes murdered the two Williams girls, Mrs. Connor and her daughter Pearl. We will bring Allen to Chicago, and he will tell the story of the murders as they were committed, and point to the place where the bodies were buried."

It is learned that arrangements were completed today for the taking of the testimony of John C. Allen, the Little Rock (Ark.) convict, whose testimony is expected by the police to convict Holmes of murder. Chicago, July 31.-That Mrs. Quinlan, the wife of the janitor who is supposed to know so much about the misdeeds of H. H. Holmes, made a partial confession to the police this morning, is almost certain, although Chief Badenoch and Inspector Fitzpatrick refuse to say whether or not this was the case. Chief Badenoch declared that nothing had transpired which he could give to the press without injuring the police status of the case. He admitted, however, that Quinlan broke down completely under examination and wept like a child, but he denied that he had said anything which would implicate either his wife or himself in the various murders which have been laid at their doors.

The interview with Mrs. Quinlan which followed was sensational in the extreme. The statements of both Quinlan and his wife were taken by a stenographer. "Mrs. Quinlan was very much affected," said Chief Badenoch. "She not only wept throughout the whole interview, which I need not say was un-God to witness that I know nothing more of the murder than I have already told. If Pat says I know anything more than I have told he simply lies, that's all." This remark was called out by the decoy statement made to her that her husband had confessed everything. At least, this is the story told, but it is believed from the whole circumstances of the interview, and from the way the police conducted themselves after coming out, that much more was said than the inquirers cared to give out.

Philadelphia, July 31.—The finding in the Little Rock (Ark.) peniter.tiary of the mysterious individual Hatch, who has figured so prominently in the celebrated Holmes case, has apparently upset the plans of the prosecutions of the self-confessed conspirator and multi-murderer. H. H. Holmes. If it can be proved that Hatch is the individual whom Holmes has dragged into the case as the custodian of the Piteel girls, whose bodies were found in Toronto, a new line of work will have to be started upon. Philadelphia, Pa., July 31.—Holmes has an explanation for the disappearance of Miss Emeline Cigrand, one of his alleged victims. Holmes' explanation is clever, but Yacking in essential particulars. Today Holmes said that he had led Miss Cigrand astray. The girl was a Catholic, and in her confession to her priest she told him of her downfall. The priest waited on Holmes and insisted upon him righting the wrong he had cone by marrying the girl. He pretended to be willing to do so and so lulled the priest's suspicions. To satisfy the girl Holmes went through the ceremony of marriage with her, but unknown to the girl the man who officiated was not an ordained clergyman, but only a complaisant friend. Holmes and the girl lived together as man and wife for a short time, but when Miss Cigrand learned that she had been twice deceived and was not his legal wife she was overwhelmed with shame and remorse, left home and entered a convent Where this convent is Holmes failed

HOLMES' MILD MANNERS. Little Rock, Ark., Aug 1.—The prisoner Allen, known as the "Mascot," said today: "Holmes had the most winning ways toward women of any man I ever saw, and never mixed up with any that were not good looking. He was also mild mannered, courteous and affable towards men."

There is perhaps no manner of swind-ling that Allen is not familiar with. Some people believe he is now engaged in a slick attempt to gain liberty bartering his knowledge of Holmes' criminal career—knowledge that may have to be taken after all with a grain of salt.

CANNOT CONVICT HOLMES. Chicago, Aug. 1.—The police acknowledge their complete defeat, so far, in their efforts to secure direct evidence of murder against H. H. Holmes. Dozens of promising clues have been carefully investigated; witness after witness, who was confidently expected to "tell all," has been examined without result, and at last the detectives are forced to admit that their efforts have been unavailing, so far as real proof of guilt is concerned.

Inspector Fitzpatrick said today: "When we started on the case we knew it would be almost impossible to get anyone who could positively connect Holmes with any case of murder, vet we thought it our duty to investigate, and we have done the best we could. We believe several crimes have been committed, and believe that Holmes and his confederates are guilty of several murders. So far we are unable to prove our belief. We have no evidence that would cause even an indictment against any one under suspicion if it were presented to the grand

According to the latest reports upon the coal industry, England is the largest producer in the world, her output dur-ing 1894 having been 188,277,525 tons. This was mined by 705,244 persons. The United States comes second in the list with 164,000,000 tons. Germany produced during the same year about 73,-000,000 tons, exclusive of lignite. The other coal-producing countries mine practically the same amount from year to year, as follows: Austria-Hungary, 10,700,000 tons; France and Russia, 6,-250,000 tons each; Australasia, 4,000,000; Japan, 3,250,000; Nova Scotia, 2,250,000; Spain, 1,300,000; British Columbia, 1,-200,000; Italy, 300,000; Sweden, 200,000. The consumption of coal per head of population is lowest in Austria, where it is only one-sixth ton per annum, and highest in Great Britain, where each person averages three and three-tenths tons each year. In the United States the average is two and one-fourth tons

Magistrate Parke Has a "Big" Tim at the Police Court-

Lots to Do the Day After the Show Crooks Still Follow the Circus-Hodge's Mistake and the Ride He Had to Pay For-Many Drunks.

Barnum & Bailey's show held forth at Cheapside street Wednesday, and Magistrate Parke had another circus this morning at Carling street. Wednesday the procession came before the show; this morning it came afterwards. It led to the county jail, out of town, and into the clerk's room, where fines are paid. The dock was full. So was the bench in front of it; and delinthe bench in front of it; and delinquents sat all the room. The magistr ate dealt with the case sharply and very leniently.

CROOKS LET GO.

The two men—Ben amin J. Thompson and Wm. Reily—who were arrested yesterday on suspiction of being pickpockets, were charged with vagrancy, there being no direct evidence against them. They had money and were althem. They had money and were allowed to go. They purchased tickets for Sarnia—(the circles is in Port Huron)—but Chief Detective Day, of the Grand Trunk system, told the "Advertiser" that he would telegraph to Sarnia for the police to be on the watch for them there. John Gray was fined $1 and John Murphy $2 for Working horses with sore shoulders.

PAID FOR HIS RIDE. Charles Hodge abused a Grand Trunk baggageman Wednesday night and used filthy language. A quiet, plainly dressed man who was standing by began to talk to him, unging him to degan to talk to him, urging him to desist. Hodge only swore worse than ever, and before he know where he was he was whisked into a rab by the quiet man and driven to the police station, where he was lodged in the cells. The quiet man was Chief Detective Day, of the G. T. R. This morning Hodge paid $2 and another 50 cents for the cab fare.

A LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Cameron, states: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs. and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than a half-bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I and N doubted the power of any remedy to do jurors me any good."

A DEADLY RACE RIOT

Between Whites and Colored Men in Ala bama-Several Shot Dead.

Birmingham, Ala., July 31.-Further details of the race riot at Brookside waged flercely for nearly two hours

Biggars and his men were sheltered by the dense foliage, and the white miners were forced to retreat. They gathered reinforcements and again re-newed the attack. Two negroes fell dead under the heavy fire. The ranks of the whites were thinned by several being wounded. While the miners were caring for their wounded the negroes other posse was formed, and headed by determined and stalwart miners, the pursuit was again resumed. Word was telegraphed to this city for help, and Sheriff Morrow, with 85 of his men, left for the scene. At midnight they came up to the rioters. The whites had captured several of the negroes, but Biggars was not among them. The captured negroes were bound hand and foot, and a dangling noose from the limb of a tree overhead told of their impending fate when the sheriff arrived. Sheriff Morrow demanded the surrender of the prisoners. His request was received in sullen silence. Another demand was made with a flat refusal from the leader of the white miners.

The sheriff then threatened to open fire on both parties unless the prisoners were given up at once. Not until his men presented their arms did the spokesman of the white miners deliver up their continue.

up their captives. They were brought back to the camp, where another demonstration was made by these miners who had not joined the pursuit.

A horse, attached to a grocer's wagon, lay in the center of the car track on Tremont street, Boston, one afternoon. A blockade of electric cars formed rapidly on either side, the conductors expostulating and the drivers swearing. Passers-by, who possessed some knowledge of horse flesh, became ment. The driver was a modest looking man, and as he stood gazing at the fallen animal he unconsciously stroked his bionde mustache. He didn't appear to be at all excited, but was apparently studying the situation. The crowd in-creased, and several thought it was their bounden duty to suggest, or act, as the line of cars and other vehicles was becoming longer every moment.

"Somebody hold his head down," was the first suggestion, but whether the remark referred to the man or the orse, no one knows. However, a big, burly motorman jumped on the animal's neck, precluding any possibility of its rising, had it so desired.

"Shove a blanket under his legs, so he won't scratch himself when he gets up," came from another. This was immediately done. "Loosen the throat latch." "Unfasten the tugs."

"Take off the harness."

"Run back the wagon." "Bleed him, he's got the staggers." "Unbuckle the girth."

'All of the suggestions came together, but it didn't bewilder the modest driver, He toyed with his mustache and let the volunteers carry them out. When the last vestige of the harness had been removed the wagon rolled back, and the crowd scattered sufficiently to let the animal scramble to its feet; the big motorman stepped off its neck, and with a flourish of his arm, shouted:
"Ge' up." The horse did not "Ge'."
A second admonition, supplemented by a kick, failed to bring the animal to its feet. Then the big motorman saw the point. Turning to the modest driver he said, somewhat emphatically: "The durned horse is dead. "I know it," quietly responded the man, and he gave his mustache an ex-

We are asked to believe that it is usual for every man, even the coarsest, to cherish dreams of some semi-divinity who will share his life, and that when, in due course, he marries, and discovers his wife to be a woman, not a goddess, the shock is so great that his love suffers permanent eclipse, and he takes to drink, or to the club, or to wife-beating, or to playing the bully in other ways, driven thereto by the acuteness of his disappointment. This amazing view of the matter was pro-mulgated to an astonished public through no less dignified a medium than the Atlantic Monthly some time ago.

Those questions were asked of me by a man with a scientific mind the other day, and ever since they will pop out and expect to be answerd. Why we are beginning to slash our skirts and set in a front of another material has been vexing me, but the explanation is simple-it takes too much of one material to make a skirt sufficiently wide, and we piece it out in front with another. And I am thoroughly convinced that the piecing was first done on an old gown which was being renovated.

Be that as it may, however, we shall all find the idea useful with old gowns whose skirts are too narrow.

When the green and white silk plaid of this costume first saw the light of day, it was quite independent of black satin or any other material, and a very pretty costume it made. But, alas! Times changed, and the

An Up to Date Wedding Trip.

A couple of young Americans, married last spring, took their wedding journey on wheels from Havre, through Paris to Germany. It was so successful that it should be copied by other young brides and their husbands.

The girl wore next to her skin a combination suit of white silk underwear, reaching to her ankles, but sleeveless and decollette. The neck was trimmed with dainty deep open work. A waist of white coutil, trimmed with Hamburg, fitted tightly and smoothly to the figure, and was boneless-she was very slender and supple. Side garters tastened to the waist held up the long stockings of coarse hand-knit gray wool. A cambric shirt waist gray cheviot knickerbockers (tight ones, with fulness at the knee), a long skirted coat, gray Tam-'o-Shanter, low stout Oxford shoes in tan, with tan gloves, and she was complete. She looked like her 'husband's twin, tall, straight, slender, and no doubt, felt decidedly comfortable. Strapped to her wheel in a kid case were a brush, comb, tooth brush, cold cream, night gown, a pair of fresh stockings, etc.; and every two or three days they reached a town where they could get at their trunks and fresh clothes. On warm days her coat came off and she rode through the woods in her cambric shirt sleeves; and on rainy days, rest at a queer little French inn broke the long silver bells. "Baby books" are popular. They are bound in white and gold, satin or leather, and there are illuminated pages within which to record the hour, day and date of birth, the first and each successive photograph, when the first tooth appears, the first step is taken, and each eventful occasion of the infant's career. Small families are hardly the rule among the English "upper ten." The average is seven or eight. The Queen is the mother of nine, and the Princess of Wales of six children. Lord Abergavenny is the proud father of ten, the Duke of Argyll of twelve, the beautiful Countess of Dudley is the mother of seven, the Earl of Ellesmere boasts of eleven, the Earl of Inchiquin of twelve, the Earl of Leicester of fifteen and the Duke of Westminster of eleven.

The acquiring and keeping of health of mind and body is your first duty to yourself, your family and your maker. Ill health means a great deal besides the physical suffering of the invalid. Except in exraordinary cases, it means a blight upon the family circle; it means work hindered or unaccomplished; it sometimes means ignorant, careless or willful martyrdom, the woman with bodily ailments measuring her sarcifices for her family by her sufferings. PROGRESS OF THE OIL, SALT, CLAY, AND OTHER WESTERN ONTARIO MINING

The annual report of the Director of the Ontario Mining Bureau is about as interesting a volume as is issued by Government in this country, Mr. Blue has the faculty of putting his facts plainly, of marshalling them in a simple, effective manner, and of bringing the information up to date. To all who are either directly or indirectly interested in mining in this country this report will be most valuable. Take our own Western Ontario industries, for example, we find full details as to the nickel, gold, silver, copper, cobalt, petroleum and other products of the earth. The value of the oil product from the Petrolea region last year is given as follows:

Quantity. Illuminating oil, gal. 14,349,472 $1,337,040 242,688 Lubricating oil, gal. 3,817,181 All other oils, gal. 10,632,141 Paraffine wax, lbs... 2,754,300 343,416 152,467 Fuel product.... ..

The total value of distilled product Increased from $1,400,435 in 1892 to $2,-146,937 last year. Improved methods of refining resulted in a gain of all oils extracted from the crude in 1894, as compared with 1892, of 4.10 per cent, and in illuminating oil alone 2.43 per cent. The Director expects good results to flow from the use of the new method for extracting crude petroleum.

Though the number of gas wells increased from 107 to 110 during last year, Mr. Blue shows that there is a decrease in the year of gas products from M 2,342,000 cubic feet to 1,653,500 M cubic feet. The total decrease is thus 688,500,000 cubic feet. The chief places benefitted by the natural gas industry are Detroit and Buffalo, whose citizens enjoy the cheap and clean fuel and light. Formerly these offies drew their supply from the Ohio and Pennsylvanta fields, but these in time became so far depleted that the supplies are cut off. To reach Detroit from the gas field on the shore of Lake Erie piping 35 miles in length has been laid down. It is not expected that the natural gas supply here will hold out for many years, though no doubt well-owners will hope for a different result. Already the pressure of the Welland wells has fallen very much owing to the quantity sent to Buffalo, and the erection of a pumping station has been necessitated to maintain the flow.

Another industry in which we in the West are interested is that of the production of salt. The Director points out that the salt area was at first supposed to be confined to portions of the counties of Huron and Bruce, but borings made during recent years have shown that it extends into parts of Middlesex, Lambton, Essex and Kent. It appears likely indeed that the thickest beds are in the last named county, but they are at a much greater depth than elsewhere. A well bored two years ago at Windsor, in Essex, struck a very good deposit, and a large quantity of salt was produced last year at the works erected there. In Huron and Bruce the industry was less active than in former years, and the total product of the Province was less than in any year since 1891. In the latter year the product was 44,167 tons, valued at $157,000; in 1892, it was 43,387 tons; in 1893, it was 48,450 tons; while last year it was only 35,215 tons, valued at $115,-

Mr. Blue makes some pertinent referonces to the clay industry of the Proince. He points out that we have the necessary raw material to put on the market all the Portland cement that this country requires, and that, too, of first-rate quality; and he remarks on the importance of the clay industry, thich now markets one-fourth of the egate value of all the mineral proin the Province. Common and pottery to the value of $1,produced last year, the ving employment to 2,800 ginning in the production k in this Province. Many nakers of paving brick. clay mixtures which ilts, as well as the > heat to produce a impervious brick. Portland cement marls and clay to which it is required and paving brick s to cover the conindependent as we ying ourselves with the materials of such everyday requirements as are called for in the building of good roads." Recently, the Director states, a course of practical and scientific instruction in the art of clay-making and crematics has been added to the educational work of the Ohio State University, and he suggests that the professors in our scientific schools should at once prepare to enter upon similar work.

The depression in trade has adversely affected mining as well as every other industry, and has tightened the purse strings of capitalists who, under ordinary circumstances, might have aided in the development of the great natural resources in our new territories which Sir Oliver Mowat so pluckily fought to retain for the advantage of the Province of Ontario. But the Director is optimistic as to the future, and we join him in the hope that many of our own capitalists may be added to those of Europe and of the United States in intelligent development of our mining industries. We have iron, silver, copper, gold and other minerals in greater or less abundance. We have the means for producing calcium carbide, from which acetylene, that wonderful product, is obtained. All that is needed is the intelligent investment of capital. The circulation of Mr. Blue's report should have a powerful effect in inducing that investment.

POINTS.

The Toronto men who thought to usurp London's municipal management have been taught a lesson by the court to which they appealed.

London is becoming increasingly popular as a summer resort. With our healthful surroundings and splendid drinking water there is no reason why we should not have many additional visitors. This is a splendid pleasure and health center, as well as a most advantageous city in which to buy.

The Winnipeg Free Press rightly argues that no Government in Manitoba can take action to improve its school law, so as to do full justice to the minority, until such time as the Dominion Administration unconditionally withdraws its foolish remedial order. The sending of that ultimatum was worse than a blunder.

Detroit business men, in a petition to the Chamber of Commerce, pay a well merited tribute to the efficiency of the Canadian trunk lines. Detroiters now receive the bulk of their letters from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other important business points by way of Toledo. They want the mails to be carried through Canada, to be sorted on the way, and by this means six hours will be saved on each delivery. The Canadian route is the swiftest for mails, as it is the safest and most attractive for through passengers. The Detroiters will get their way. They are hard to resist when they are united in favor of a public improvement.

"Canada's shame," says the Toronto Star, "is complete with Sir Adolphe discharging the duties of Premier." Our contemporary can get rid of its share of the responsibility for this condition of affairs by henceforth aiding in the movement to have Sir Adolphe Caron and his associates removed from office. A change would be healthy.

Glum Fifeshire furnishes the nearest approach to a good joke. The Tory candidate on the last day placarded the walls with "Vote for Wilson and Save the Church." Within an hour the Radicals nad rival posters everywhere, "Vote for Ferguson and Let the Church Save Us." Ferguson and his sharp repartee triumphed.

In the August number of the North American Review the Rev. Dr. H. Pereira Mendes, the well known Jewish preacher, discusses "The Solution of War." The restoration of Palestine to the Hebrew people, and the establishment there of an international court of arbitration would, Dr. Mendes thinks, result in a general disarma-ment of the nations of the earth.

TWO MISERABLES.

The Statement of Guthier, Who Killed His Sweetheart.

Montreal, July 31.-Isate Guthier, the cigar maker who shot five times at his sweetheart, Corinne Consigny, and killed her yesterday, made a statement today to the effect that he and his girl had decided to die, and that he was to kill her first and himself afterwards. "We were two miserables," said the prisoner afterwards. "I was suffering of consumption and she of some terrible incurable disease. The cure to whom we went to get married refused to marry us on that account, and, as loved one another madly, we decided to die. In my excitement, however, emptied the revolver, and no bullets were left for me; therefore I live. I am ready to die, however, and the sooner the better. My lungs are gone, and I probably will not live over a week under any circumstances."

A DOG WITH A BAD NAME. Isaac Danford Will Be Sentenced for a Crime Committed Seven Years

(Chatham Banner, July 27.) On April 18, 1888, Isaac Danford, then of Chatham township, stole some beef. He was tried and let out on suspended On Saturday last he was again tried for stealing pork from one Kyle. Danford was supposed to have sent some ladies to Kyle's house to get some pork, which he said was his. The ladies took it, and next day a constable arrested Danford, as the pork was taken to his house. On trial Danford denied any connection with the crime, and said that the women brought the pork to his house without his knowledge. There was not sufficient evidence to convict him, although the judge had no doubt the man was guilty. In trying Dan-ford's accomplices evidence came out which proved this beyond a doubt.

As Danford could not be tried again on the same charge, the suspended sentence was thought of, and a search through old papers in the archives of the police court this morning revealed the document, seven years old. A warrant for Danford's arrest has been issued and the police are after him now An interesting fact in connection with people let out on suspended sentence appears in this case. It is only about once in 100 times that a man returns to have the sentence lifted. Anyone could do so by serving one hour in the cells. or putting in some such time at the jail. Had Denford done this seven years ago he would now be a free man. He, like all the rest, thought he would never get into trouble again, so did not attend

THE CANADIANS WIN EASILY. Chicago, Ill., July 31.-The Canadian cricketers won again today with far more ease than in the two previous contests with Chicago players. The St. George's team, against which the visitors played, was made up of two non-members, Cummings and Fraser, to make it more of a match for the crack players from Canada, and the score shows that Cummings made just half the St. George's runs in the first inning, besides bowling out four of th visitors. The score was 218 to 92 the first inning. Falling short of 126 to tie the Canadians, the St. George's eleven went to bat again, and when time was called their score stood 81 for three wickets down, but this was chiefly due to the fact that Capt. 2:14 1-4. THE WHEEL CYCLING AND POOR TEETH. Bicycle riding and poor teeth are about the last two subjects one would place together, but that an over-fondness for indulgence in exercise upon the wheel is developing a diseased condi-tion of the gums and teeth can be testified to by many unfortunate victims and their dentists.

It is caused by the extra effort necessitated in ascending hills or in running races, and the short, quick breaths of cold air that strike the open mouth develop a congestion of those parts. The face swells as with an ordinary toothache, pus forms around the teeth and loosens them, and in many cases leads to their extraction later, and the pain is equal to having all one's teeth ul-cerating at once. A prominent dentist stated, when interviewed upon the subject, that he had had several cases of that kind. "It comes," he said, "from an abnormal current of air, from fast riding, striking the gums, and if the popularity of the bicycle continues, it will develop a new feature in dentistry. At a private meeting of several dentists the other evening, we found, upon comparing notes, that these cases were increasing. The only preventive is a difficult one to follow, and that is, always ride with the mouth closed. The same effect, however, is caused by an un-natural draft of air, as, for instance, sitting in front of an electric machine for a long period. I have had several cases of that nature from hotel stewards and their assistants, whose offices are generally situated in the basement, where a change of air can be brought by artificial means."—New York Herald.

Entries have already begun to come in for the Londons' big diamond meet the latter end of this month, and Secretary McCormick is kept busy answering correspondence in connection therewith. It promises to be the largest meet ever held in London.

At Listowel on Wednesday atternoon a blcycle race was run off between A. Ross and Harry Ackert, of Palmerston, for a purse of $50, which resulted in a victory for Ackert. HOMING PIGEONS.

A 500 MILE TRIP. Buffalo, N. Y., July 31.-One of the longest speed trials ever given to pigeons was started in this city this morning. Six birds were liberated 7:01 o'clock, their destination being Boston, Mass., which is an air line flight of about 500 miles. The test was made by some Boston fanciers for the purpose of demonstrating in a practical way the utility of using birds of this kind in war. It is understood that the War and Navy Departments of the United States are interested in this experiment, and the outcome, therefore, is looked upon with much interest.

A GAME AT MIDNIGHT. A golf match at midnight in Great Britain sounds incredible, but at Lerwick last week (says Golf) four members of the Shetland Golf Club engaged in a foursome on the club's course at Annsbrae at that unusual hour. The players were Messrs, J. C. Manson and D. Morrison against Messrs. F. J. Smith and G. Kay. In these northern latitudes at the present time there is practically no night. The sun sets about half-past nine, but long after the hour of sunset proper the sun's rays are refracted above the horizon, and the northern sky is aglow with the most beautiful olors, which have scarcely disappeared before the rays of the morning sun are seen. A game of golf at this hour was. therefore, possible of accomplishment. The first ball was driven off from the tee at five minutes to twelve, and the full round of eighteen holes was played. The match terminated at 2:30 a.m.

GREY FARMERS DISTRESSED.

Toronto, July 31.-A deputation farmers from Grey county waited on the Ontario Government this afternoon to lay before it the distressed condition of the farmers of the county as a result of the plague of grasshoppers during the summer and the continued drought. The deputation dwelt at length on the condition of the different townships, and asked either a cash grant from the Government or leave for the county to pass a bylaw granting financial aid Hon. Mr. Dryden, who represented the Government, promised the matter should be carefully considered.

MOST INVALUABLE.

The New Specific Remedy Is BeingEx tensively Used at Ottawa.

Ottawa, July 29 .- The marvelous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset. Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favor of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and has been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appear during the summer.

A $500,000 FIRE.

Marietta, Wis., July 31.-Fire in Menominee this evening destroyed a number of saw and planing mills, and 25,-000.000 feet of lumber. The loss will reach nearly half a million dollars.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly, and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market. "Do you know, Miss Suste," said young Mr. Van Braam, "there is enough electricity about me to stop a watch." "Are you sure it is elec-"Are you sure it is electricity, Mr. Van Braam?" asked the guileless girl.

TIME IS MONEY.

Very true. Because we realize the truth of this saying we have made our premises commodious and added numerous popular departments in order to save our patrons as much time and inconvenience as possible. We sell hosiery, and we thought that the ladies who buy hosiery for their own and children's use would just as soon take the elevator and patronize our shoe department, which is without doubt the most private in the city. Nothing but the guaranteeable kinds of footwear are kept, and we don't keep men's sizes at all. Just a well-selected stock at close prices for the ladies and children. You might as well save time and money by placing your order with us

STYLISHLY DRESSED.

To be stylishly dressed costs a woman no more now than to go about with ill-fitting clothes. It's simply a question of buying of a dealer who knows what proper garments are and who is unwilling to sell the slouchy sorts at any price. That is our position, and we save you every possible cent of cost, but only on worthy goods. No matter what your requirements in dress goods, millinery, underwear, etc., we are in business to secure and to keep your custom.

RAIN

COATS.

In Heptonettes we have a number of the very latest to hand. A lady in one of these of the striking Brotherhood of Tailors cloaks is well protected from dust, rain or cold. It's a most serviceable garment for traveling. You cannot buy Heptonette anywhere else in London. It's a good thing, so we control it.

Write for what you want. A letter or even a postal card will command the resources of the house. Orders of $5 or upwards delivered free to any place in Ontario reached by railroad or express.

DEANERY OF MIDDLESEX.

Convention of Church Helpers at Byron. A union meeting of the Sunday School Association of Middlesex Deanery and the Lay Workers' Association of London was held in St. Anne's Church, Byron, on Tuesday afternoon and evening. A large number went by steamer to Springbank, and thence those who desired to ride were conveyed in carriages to the church, where they were received by the Rev. A. H. Rhodes, Messrs. Kains and others of that congregation.

The Rev. Canon Smith presided, having associated with him Mr.C. H. Armitage, vice-president, and after de-votional exercises and reading of the minutes by the clerical secretary, Rev. G. B. Sage, the programme was taken up. The reports of officers and committees showed the associations to be free of debt and in good active working order. The first address was given by the Rev. J. H. Brown, of Delaware, who took for his subject "What parents and teachers can do for the school,' The address was very favorably received and contained much that was helpful to the workers. Rev. Canon Richardson opened the discussion, urging the duty of both parents and teachers working together in the good cause. Mrs. Thorpe, Mrs. Mason, Rev. Messrs. Sage, Moorhouse and Rhodes, and others took active part in the discussion.

Rev. G. W. Racey, of Belmont, followed with a paper on "What shall we do with unruly scholars?" This per-plexing question was dealt with very fully and judiciously, and in a con-vincing manner, which was much appreclated.

The discussion was led by Mr. Armitage, who gave instances of the results of different modes of treatment of unruly boys. Miss Gower, Rev. Messrs. Moorhouse, Sage and Brown, Messrs. Hannah, Fax and Kains discussed the subject from various standpoints, and while it was conceded that the question could not be considered as finally settled, yet much light had been thrown upon it, which would be useful in the good government of the school. The question drawer was then opened and answers given by the vice-president, Mr. Armitage, to the satisfaction of all. This proved, as usual, an attractive feature of the programme.

At 8 o'clock the meeting adjourned for recess, and at the invitation of Mrs. Griffith, repaired to her house, near by, when the spacious rooms were thrown oren and a cordial welcome was accorded. Refreshments contributed by the teachers of Byron school and brought by the visitors, were then partaken of, after which an hour was spent in walking about the lawn and by many of the company in an exhilarating game of baseball in an adjoining field.

At 7:45 the evening programme was taken up, many others having come from the city and from the neighbor-hood to attend the evening session. After the opening hymn and prayer, an admirable paper was read, prepared by Miss M. McMillan, entitled, "Spiritual, or heart power in Sunday school work." In the unavoidable absence of Miss Mc-Millan, her paper was read by her brother, Mr. Wilmot McMillan, and gave evidence of careful thought and experience.

The discussion was opened by Mr. Walter Crawford in an earnest address, which emphasized the various points in the paper read. Mr. R. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Smith, Calon Richardson. Rev. Mersrs. Moorhouse, Brown and Sage, continued the discussion in the same strain, and warmly commending the sentiments contained in the paper. Mr. Harry Softley followed with a paper on "How to secure and retain the interest of the class." The subject was ably handled and evinced much thoughtfulness, and the paper was well received.

Miss Gower opened the discussion in a neat address, giving pleasing instances of different methods adopted to secure the interest of the scholar. A number present followed with expression of their views, when the subject was brought to a close. The question drawer again proved a pleasant and profitable feature, and the questions and answers were much enjoyed. Very hearty votes of thanks were passed to Mr. and Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Merriam, to the lady organist and choir, to the rector and workers, and to those who reed papers. A very enjoyable convention was brought to a close with devotional exercises. Capt. Foster, with his usual kindness, detained the boat until the meeting was over, and the party from London reached home in due season.

LABOR MATTERS.

A New York State Labor Law that Is Unconstitutional.

Pennsylvania Iron Workers' Wages Increased-New York Tailors' Demands Conceded.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 31.-A city ordinance and a state law prohibits the employment by contractors on municipal work or state work of persons not citizens. Judge White today decided that the law was unconstitutional, when the state or municipality enters into a contract with private individuals. uals it relinquishes its sovereign character, and as a general rule can claim no exemption from the rules of law applicable to private parties under like circumstances. The judge holds that the state has a right to enact and enforce such law when the work is done by the state direct, but cannot compel contractors to become a party to it. York, Pa., July 31.—Notice was posted at the York rolling mill today that on and after Aug. 12 the price of puddling will be $3 per ton, instead of $2 75, as at present, with a proportionate advance in other mill work. This will be the second advance within a short time, making an increase from $2 50 a ton to returned to work this morning as a result of the signing of an agreement by nearly 100 contractors. This and other indications point to an early close of the strike.

CLOUDBURSTS AND FLOODS

Result in Serious Loss of Life and Property. Denver, Col., July 31.-A telegram from Cripple Creek reports a serious landslide and washout along the line of the road between Russell and Adelaide yesterday afternoon. A succession of cloudbursts occurred near the head of Eight Mile Creek, and swept the track for six miles, catching a de-railed freight train. Engineer Reub Gore and Brakeman James Dolan were drowned in the terrible rush of water along the track. The damage is reported at $100,000 Albuquerque, N. Mex., July 31.-A special from Socorro says: Late yesterday afternoon a heavy rain from the east met a cloud from the west near Snake Ranch, eight miles west of Socorro, causing a disastrous flood. A wave twenty feet high came down in the arroya and submerged Chihuahua and Cuba, two small suburbs, washing down houses and rushing through others. The arroya also broke at Spring street, in the northern part of the town Several bodies have been recovered and several persons are missing. Forty houses were destroyed, and 100 more will fall, while others are badly damaged. Hundreds of people are in dis-tress. The damage to the town is estimated at $700,000.

CURIOUS AND INTERESTING.

Mr. David H. Wyckoff recently wrote that a million horse power could not produce the effect that a single flash of lightning has been known to accom-He believed that we have yet hardly begun to utilize the forces of nature. By actual experiments it has been ascertained that the explosive power of a sphere of water only one inch in diameter is sufficient to burst a brass vessel having a resisting power of 27,000 pounds.

Bicycle weddings are increasing in popularity in France. At the close a wedding ceremony recently the bridal couple started off on their honeymoon on a "bicycle built for two." A sporting Boer in the Transvaal has. according to the Cape newspapers, two racing ostriches, one of which has a stride of fourteen feet, and can go 22 miles in an hour. According to Aristotle women in some Grecian cities owned a great deal of real estate, voted, held office and enlisted in the army. The "new woman" was so unpopular in Athens that a play was written satirizing her desire to control the city. Firemen's clothes in England are in the future to be made of asbestos, or mineral wool. The efficiency of suits composed of this material depends on three facts. It is non-combustible, a non-conductor of heat, and in no way injured by water.

ADVISED TO LEARN ENGLISH. Some Roman Catholics of foreign birth recently appealed to the Bishop of Hartford, Conn., for a priest of their own nationality. He declined on the ground that the assistant priest was of their race, and that others, including several teachers, spoke their language. They then appealed to Mgr. Satolli, who made the same general reply, and said that they could not expect more to be done for them in a country which did not use their language; and that as they voluntarily entered the United States with the intenion of becoming citizens, it was to the best interest of all to learn the national language as soon as possible and conform to the national customs, keeping up their native tongue out of reverence for their native land, but not out of contempt for their adopted country, nor with any desire to annoy their spiritual and civil superiors .- New York Independ-

Hopkins Company. Chicago, July 31.-The crowd were as anxious to sell wheat today as they were to buy on Saturcay and Monday. They have probably sold out, and it is likely some have taken the short side for a turn, which leaves the market in shape to respond readily to any bullish news that may turn up—of rather firm, notwithstanding our weakness. Bradstreet's world's visible decreased about 2,500,000 bushels, against an increase a year ago of over 3.000,000 bushels. Primary receipts are increasing and exports still light, with Europe manifesting little interest in the American situation.

Corn and oats are relatively firm, not being materially affected by the weakness in wheat. The continued excellent demand for corn, mainly for excellent demand for corn, mainly for excellent demand for corn, mainly for excellent. port, is rather surprising, but as long as it keeps up and our stocks continue to disappear it will be dangerous to short the near options of corn.

Provisions heavy, with increasing offerings and less demand. Packers appear to be looking for a further decline.

Mr. Scatcherd the Buffalo Capitalist, Commends the Barber Asphalt Company.

Mr. John Scatcherd, the well known capitalist, of Buffalo, is spending his vacation with his family, as usual, at his summer residence in Westminster, in his native county.
An "Advertiser" reporter, who met

Scatcherd yesterday, incidentally asked his opinion of the Barber Asphalt Company's work in Buffalo, where so much of it is in evidence.

ing the contract to the Barber com-pany. They are a firm of capital, experience and reputation, and their guarantee may be relied on to the letter. Buffalo is the greatest asphalt city in America, and most of its pavements have been laid by the Barber company. No contractors have ever given such satisfaction. If you want testimonials of the Barber company's efficiency you have only to see Buralo's fine roadways. Of course, I know nothing of the other companies whose tenders were lower and not accepted; but I do know that it is better to be certain of a first-class pavement than run any risks. Inferior asphalt is very costly in the long run. The best is the cheap-

"I am glad to see the beautiful city of London is progressing so," added Mr. Scatcherd. "Aspnalt paving will make a wonderful improvement in its appearance, and I think the citizens will like it so much that they will have nothing else but asphalt in fut-

THE WRECK OF WORLDS.

What Would Happen in a Collision of Stars.

Even the Most Learned Astronomers Can Merely Speculate as to the Nature of the Gigantic Results.

The Gresham lectures on astronomy are a great institution in the British scientific world. They were this year gien by Prof. Ledger, one of them being entitled, "Knocks in Their Rela-tion to Astronomy." So replete with new ideas as to what is going on above, below and around us was this lecture that it has caused considerable interest, not alone to scientists, but also to the intelligent world at large. Prof. Ledger is of opinion that the universe, instead of being fixed, is alive with motion, each star, with its attendant planets, hurrying through space. If star should knock against star, the intense heat and fierce fire generated by the enormous velocity and vast momentum of the two masses would be such as to pass human conception. It may be that the sun was formed by the collision of two stars. The effect of two such bodies attracting each other and meeting would be to reduce them to a violently agitated mass of gas, which would oscillate, first inwardly, producing inconceivable heat, and then outwardly, ultimately assuming the condition of the sun. The general result would be that the two bodies would revolve around their common center of gravity-that is to say around each other-creating a double star. Lord Kelvin claims to have calculated that if 20,000,000 solid globes, each of the mass of the moon, should be scattered over a spherical surface 100 times the radius of the earth's surface, they would come together and be raised to a temperature of 100,000 degrees. They would oscillate outwardly and inwardly, reaching to a less distance each time, and ultimately settle down into a sphere. A COLLISION OF SUNS The nebulae we see around us may, Prof. Ledger suggests, have been produced by the knocking together of two great bodies, rather than by the aggregation of many smaller ones. The collision of two huge suns would thus lead to the formation of a new system. Phenomena indicating that something very much in the nature of a collision had occurred are the outbursts of temporary stars such as those observed by Tycho Brahe in 1572, by Kepler in 1604, and those of 1848, 1866, 1876, 1885, and 1892—the last having been the new star Aurica, which declined through ten magnitudes or became 100,000 times less bright in two months. The great increase in hurned, the grave filled up, and Lee the light of a comet as it approaches the sun may be due to a tidal dishold of Joss. other and thus generate heat and light.

In the same way the stars may be caused by the knocks of the molecules of the atmosphere on the ether, whose undulations carry their light to us. The excessively great and exceeding small are will independent, and the past, present and BASEBALL.

future of nebulous bodies all hinge Snowling. upon the relations they bear to the knocks of the molecules of their gases. while the knocks of immense bodies depend ultimately upon the knocks of constituent atoms.
PURELY SPECULATIVE.

Prof. Ledger's theories as regards the knocks of the molecules of the atmosphere being responsible for the twinkling of the stars may be correct. He may also be right as to the causes of some of the outbursts of temporary stars, but as for the heavenly bodies rushing wildly through space. administering knocks to each other at their own sweet will—well, it is at least more consoling to believe in that supreme law of order with which mankind has always credited the Director of the Universe with having so high a regard. It is decidedly uncomfortable to think that we are being recklessly hustled through the wild ocean of space and are liable at any moment to come to grief by having our planet smashed into smithereens by one of infinitely greater magnitude and velocity. No, in spite of Prof. Ledger, the world will continue to believe that the stars have their proper bounds, beyond which they cannot pass; that Arcturus is still being guided with wisdom, that the bands of Orion are yet unloosed, and that the influence of the Pleiades will continue to be as sweet as when the morning stars first sang together .-Philadelphia Ledger.

ENGLAND'S RICHEST MAN.

The Great Fortune Made by Col. North in South America.

(From the Chicago Times-Herald.) Few stories of today are more romantic than that of the rapid rise to wealth of John Thomas North, who was defeated for membership in Parliament by Herbert Gladstone. North is known as the "Nitrate King," both because it is to that product that he owes his fortune, and because of his open-handed way of distributing his wealth.

Although now the richest man in Great Britain, his origin is humble. A Yorkshire mechanic, he went to Chill when he was 23 years old, 28 years ag and riveted boilers in the town Huasco. At this time the nitrate fie of Peru were beginning to be talked of as a good field for speculation. He believed that he could employ his machanical ability there, and left as soon as he could afford to make the venture. His work was largely in the nitrate fields, and he was one of the first to purchase nitrate. For twenty years he continued to purchase it. He mastered every detail of the nitrate business, and began to erect works here and there in Tarapaca. It is needless to track the progress of the "Nitrate King" in detail through the successive stages which have led to his possession of a fortune exceeding $100,000,900. His far-sighted business sal gacity enabled him to see opportunitie for money-making that were not ap parent to others. Gradually he secure centrol of the greater part of the ni trate beds. Water is a precious com modity in that region, so North go control of the water companies. He needed ships and railways for transportation of freight and passengers, and he built them. When the war be-tween Chili and Peru broke out he found new openings for the rapid accumulation of wealth and promptly availed himself of them, getting control of railways, gas works and other corporations, which, in his hands, paid as they never had done before.

After Col. North had become one of the world's richest men, he placed his South American affairs in competent hands and returned to England to en-resting, however, he engaged in new enterprises, the chief of which was the manufacture of cement in Belgium, which as proved almost as lucrative as which as proved almost as lucrative as the production of nitrate of silver. Even to this day he personally supervises all of his vast business interests. In Great Britain Col. North quickly became famous. His prodigal liberality, the magnificence of his entertainments and the palaces which he built for himself quickly made this Monte Cristo the cynosure of all eyes. His Cristo the cynosure of all eyes. His wealth opened the doors of society to m, he became a friend of the Prince of Wales, and from that time his name has been on the public tongue, though of late it is said he has been more judicious and less lavish in the distribu-tion of his favors. Col. North is well known as a patron of the turf, his racing stables being the best in England. He is also a dog fancier, and an admirer of the works of artists. His country house at Elham is filled with costly objects of art, and he is always ready to buy any that come into the market.

BURIAL OF A CHINESE MASON.

Body of Lee Jin Mun Interred With Unique Ceremonies.

Lee Jin Mun, treasurer of the Chinese Lodge of Freemasons, No. 8, Chee Kong Tong, who died at Derry, Pa., last Week, was buried at Pittsburg, Pa., with all the pomp and ceremonies of Chinese Masonry. While Lee Jin Mun was only an humble Laundryman, he was a Mason of the highest Celestial sort, and his countrymen testified to this by a befitting burial. After the ceremonies at 303 Grant street, which lasted over an hour, the body was deposited in the casket. A table was spread on the walk with the provisions which are to sustain the spirit in its new home. There is a big slab of fat roast pork, another of raw pork, two chickens, cooked with the heads on, and all kinds of sweatmeats. At one end of the table was a box of sand in which burned colored candles and joss sticks. Before this the officials knelt and said prayers. Grand Master Dan Do, of New York, performed the princiral part of the ceremonies. Toilet articles were then placed in the coffin, and all was ready for the start to Uniondale Cemetery, Alleghany.

At the head of the procession was a horseman with a triangular red banner painted with Chinese characters. Then followed the grand master and Lee Tom Ma. grand missionary, who is known in Cincinnati under the Christian name of Rev. G. S. Thomas. The Marine Band followed, and then the members of lodge 8 with flags, banners and paper lanterns. There were about twenty carriages in line. All the way to the cemetery tamtams were beat, terrifying the horses and exciting much profanity among the drivers.

There were at least 8,000 people at the cemetery when the ceremonies began! After deciding to place the coffin endwise in the grave Lee Tom Ma delivered the funeral oration. Candles and joss sticks were again burned, and small brass coins scattered on the ground to keep the devil busy picking them up, so he will let Lee Jin Mun rest in peace. Then the worldly possessions of the deceased were placed in two piles at each end of the coffin and burned, the grave filled up, and Lee

The Secret Out.

Dr. Cameron started; so did the detective. Genevieve sat and shivered si-

Took a phial containing prussic acid from a box she found in the room?"

"And how came prussic acid to be in your room, Mrs. Cameron? It was a question for which she seemingly had no reply. Though she opened her lips, no words issued from them, and she sat the image of shame and despair. The doctor, struck aghast, started impetuously forward, and he would have spoken himself but that the detective forestalled him. "You do not think I have the right to ask that question," he remarked. "Well, I withdraw it, and will simply inquire what sort of a box it was which held this phial, and where in the room it was kept?"

This time the answer came in but quivering tones that were almost in-The box was a jewel casket, and it

It was a fatal admission, and at once stamped her whole story as improbable. She saw it when it was too late, and turning to a ghastly white before their eyes, swayed so that her husband forgot to press the question, still trembling on his lips. The detective was not so merciful. "I beg your pardon," said he; "bu this fact you mention is so remark able, when you consider that the per son thus accused by you of opening your drawers and ransacking its trea

But her knowledge of things! Ho But here, the doctor, seeing from wife's condition, that he must speak once or not at all, hurriedly interpos with the ejaculation: Genevieve, Genevieve, answer this: Was it the bottle of prussic ac I had given you for-It was useless to continue. A great snot of vivid red had broken out on either of her cheeks, and she seemed neither to hear or motice. "I am ill, Walter; I am ill," came her lips in a broken murmur and the next moment she had fallen into a heap at his feet.

CHAPTER XXI. A day passed; a sciemn day for Dr. Cameron, who in it saw his wife brought very near to the verge of the grave. She was so ill that they walked with hushed steps and bated breath through the house, but the worst was and Dr. Cameron felt that he could leave her long enough to keep an appointment he had made with Mr. For, mingled with the anxiety of the last 24 hours, was the uncertainty called out by her last admission and he felt that this must be set at rest as soon as possible. He knew it could be. He not only remembered perfectly well the circumstances under which he gave Genevieve this powerful medicine, but he also remembered a certain peculiarity of the phial which held it. To be sure, the phial found by Mr. Gryce was broken; but for all that he was confident he would know if it were his, if that portion which held the stopper was still intact. For there had been a nick in its rim, the very shape of which he recollected, and if that nick were still there he would need no label to identify the bottle. The label had once had the word poison on it and the most minute directions for taking the requisite quantity. But the label had been rubbed off of the one broken in Twenty-second street, probably for the sake of severing any clue it might furnish, the phial having come from his own office and the words on the label having been written by his own hand.

Mr. Gryce was prepared to receive him. He had a great respect for Dr. Cameron, and at present a profound pity. A noble husband and an incomprehensible wife. That is the way he put it to himself at present. In the fut-ure he might be obliged to put it stronger. His greeting, therefore, was cordial, but very grave. Dr. Cameron noticed this and at once came to the

"Have you those pieces of broken glass here which are supposed to represent the phial out of which Mildred Farley drank the poison that killed

"We have; do you want to see them?" "I should like to; that is, if you consider it of any moment to know whether it is the same bottle of acid I gave my wife before we were married. "I certainly do. I should consider that we had got hold of a most important fact if we could establish an identity between the bottles."

"Very well, then; look at the pieces

eron he certainly succeeded.

"How, serious?" repeated that gentleman.

"It is important as all links are, and valuable as estblishing the truth of my wife's testimony, but seri-

Why did the detective remain silent? Did he own a thought or a suspicion he was fain to conceal? Dr. Cameron felt his heart stand still. Could it be that they did not believe his wife? that he had aroused rather than allayed whatever doubts they cherished? He leaned forward and forced the detective to look at him.

"I am an unhappy man," he de-clared. "I have a wife whose testi-mony you doubt, and that wife is laid up with almost a mortal sickness. What up with almost a mortal sickness. What shall I do to prove my trust in her word? It is absolute I assure you; so absolute that if ten persons told me they saw her give the poison to Mildred Farley, and she told me that Mildred Farley, and should be fixed to the fixed to the fixed to the mysterious place, I would believe my wife and not them, and this without doubt or hesitation.' Mr. Gryce's eyes fell, and he nodded thoughtfully to himself. It was evidently hard for him to continue a conersation that must inflict such bitter humiliation upon a man he regarded

"You speak of your wife's testimony." ne remarked at last. "Can you venture upon a guess as to when she will be in condition to take up this subject

"It will be weeks," was the grave esponse. "I pray God it may not be months. But for any facts about her health and the possibility of getting lucid and reliable answers from her to any questions you might put, I must refer you to Dr. Weston. I have called him in in consultation, and upon his unprejudiced judgment I beg you to rely. I wish too strongly that the subject might never be reopened, for me to be the adviser you want." Mr. Gryce looked more and more em-

"If I can make it accord with my duty to leave you and your sick wife in reace, be sure I will do it. Nothing would give me greater pleasure; for you have my unbounded esteem and sympathy." But he did not look as if his duty and wishes agreed, and Dr. on lost heart more and more. Camer think," he remarked, "that something fatal in the identifiof this bottle with the one I cation to Miss Gretorex some months gave

"I think," slowly observed Mr.Gryce, "that it is a great pity that Mrs. Cam-eron did not preserve her strength long enough to explain how this poor s wing girl. albeit her constant visitor, had the presumption, as well as a sufficient knowledge of the interior of her bureau drawers, to seize with such an instantaneous touch upon the one thing that would do the deadly business she desired."

Ah! so that was the point that troubled him. It was a mercy to know it. Dr. Cameron cast a look of gratitude at the speaker, which the old man probably saw, though he gave no token

"My wife may not have been able to hastily replied: "She gave no excuse explain it," the former now ventured, It was all done so quickly, she neither with an appearance of ease he was far with an appearance of ease he was far from feeling. "She herself spoke of the fact as incredible." "I know," the detective's bow seemed

"Have you talked with Molesworth? Has he been told that Mrs. Cameron has contradicted his version of the afand acknowledged that the girl died before he ever came to the house?" "This is something we are not ready to confide to you, Dr. Cameron. Till your wife is able to make clear to us one or two further mysteries concerning this affair, we must look upon her as a possible witness." He did not say suspected person. "And this being the case, we are not permitted to take her husband into our confidence."

Cowardly Epistles Penned by People of High Degies.

Of course, you know that an enormous number of cases are submitted to us, about which the public never hear a word, and of these a most surprisingly large proportion, so far as the wealthier classes go, have relation to the receipt of anonymous letters, said one of the head officials of Scotland Yard.

Your faith in human nature would be not a little shaken did you see the number of cowardly anonymous letters. evidently written by highly educated people, that pass through my hands. But writing these letters is a mania with some persons. Not long ago a number of people, amongst whom might be named some of the most illustrious of the land, received unsigned letters of the most shameful and dangerous character, in which scandals that had been dead for years were ruthlesssly shaken up. It was evident that whoever wrote the letters, he or she must have had the most intimate personal acquaintance with the parties. Ultimately we found that a most distinguished officer, a very old man, related to all manner of aristocratic families, had deliberately sat down and amused himself by writing scandalous letters. He is now under rigid guard, for he—and his case is typical of this sort of mania-does not acknowledge any offense, and is mentally irresponsi-

But as regards the more malicious anonymous letter writers, I may tell you that one of the most beautiful and apparently amiable women in English society, three or four years back, was clearly convicted in private of writing as shameful, cruel and scandalous a set of letters-letters which certainly brought about a rupture between one of the most popular noblemen we have and his wife—as were even penned. This lady had lived abroad with her husband for some time, for the truth leaked out in a certain elevated set. One of the most remarkable cases ever investigated here was one where a wife, by means of anonymous letters, had endeavored to blackmail her own husband. She was in reality jealous of him, wrote the letters, and he at an endless bother this lady, who moves in the highest circles, confessed that the letters were hers. You can take as an absolute fact that there are few rich men, pronenent or popular men, who do not receive shameful anconveyous letters periodically, and in half an hour I could show you sufficient, addressed to princes, statesmen, noblemen and millionaires, to fill a huge

Johnston, of St. Andrew's, was asked to represent the foreign mission committee, but as he is on his vacation he may not be present. Friends from London are invited. The 7:15 train on the L. E. and D. R. R. will bring them in time, and they can get the late train reaching London about 11 p.m. SUCCESSOR TO GREENE PACK.

President Everett, Vice-President Moore, of Cleveland, and S. R. Break, Detroit, were in town yesterday afternoon and attended a meeting of the directors of the London Street Railway Company. The chief business before the board was the election of Mr. Chas. W. Wasson, Cleveland, as a director, to succeed the late Hon. Greene Pack. Mr. Break remained in town over night, and in reply to a query as to what he was doing now, he said, with a smile, that he was taking a well-earned rest. months with all the proofs that may be required, Peter Lamothe, my grandfather, was killed at Sault Ste, Marie, Mich., while driving, many years ago, leaving my flather his only heir. I can well remember when the family plate and jewelry were sent to us, and we have yet in our possession a good por-tion thereof, bearing the family arms. As the oldest son of my generation, I am, under the laws of the Dominton, my father's only heir, and there can therefore, be no doubt as to my title to whatever claim my grandfather may have had in the disputed estate. There were originally 6,000 or 7,000 acres in the tract of land in question, and our family sold 1,200 acres when I was yet a very small boy." The captain is a genial old gentleman, and has been most of his life a follower of steamboating on the Mississippi, but retired some years ago and has since resided here, spending his old age in peace. He is 70 years of age, but still perfectly hale and hearty. Recently he sold some land just across the river from this city on which the town of West Alton has been esablished. It is said he received $100,000 for it.

A CROOK RECOGNIZED. The crook arrested yesterday by the local detectives on suspicion, has been recognized. When the circus was in Adrian, Mich., on the 13th inst., Detective Hook, who travels with the show saw two men trying to work in the crowd. He gave chase and was joined by the chief of police of that city. The crooks were run down, and, after several shots had been fired by the officers, were landed in prison. When the show was in Kingston, less than a week ago, two more pickpockets were arrested by Hook and turned over to the local authorities. From what happened yesterday morning one of them, at least, was let go within a day and the other discharged yesterday. When Detective Hook got off the train here he saw his late prisoner from Adrian talking with another suspicious-looking character on a street corner. The crooks fled upon seeing him, and Hook left a description of the men with Chief Williams. Detective Rider was put on their track, and about 10 o'clock saw the men, whom he instantly recognized from Hook's description, on the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets, at the C. P. R. ticket office. Their arrest followed, as chronicled in last evening's "Advertiser." The other man gave the name of Thompson, but nothing is known of him except his bad company. A pair of seissors and $5 in cash were found in Rodgers' pockets. He tried to make away with a telegram found on him when arrested, but Detective Rider was too quick for him and prevented its destruction.

"Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 1.-C. F. Cox, of the Marine Department, a well-known cricketer, was drowned about a mile from the city this morning while bathing. His wife and family, who witnessed the accident, were powerless to help him. It is supposed that he took oramps, and sank before assistance from shore could reach him. He came from London, Ont.' The Mm Cox referred to is a former well known Londoner, a brother of Mr. A. B. Cox, of Blackburn & Cox, barristers, and son of Mr. George Cox. of Waterloo street north. He was an architect, and while in London was associated for a time with the late Geo. Durand. After that he was in partnership with Mr. Ormsby Graydon, now city engineer. He was about 36 years of age and leaves a wife and family. Mrs. Cox was a Miss Simpson, of London, and at one time of St. Thomas. Her father was a well known broker here, but the family is now living in Vancouver, where a brother is associated with Col. Tracey, formerly of Lon-

Mr. Cox was camping with his family many military friends in this city, who will hear of his untimely end with gen-uine regret. He was a Northwest veteran, and served with No. 4 Company, of the Seventh Battalion during the troubles of 1885, and on the return of the battalion he was promoted to the captaincy. He went to Ottawa about eight years ago, and was secretary of the Ottawa Cricket Club for some

Mr. A. B. Cox left for Ottawa this afternoon. The body will probably be buried here.
