

PORTE WANTS SACRED SPOTS IN ADRIANOPLE FORTRESS

In Reply to Balkan Allies' Latest Note Turkey Offers a Compromise Proposition—Not Acceptable, Says Chief of the Balkan Plenipotentiaries.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Jan. 30.—"Emphatically the Turkish reply to the note of the European powers is not acceptable," was the comment made by Dr. S. Danef, leader of the Bulgarian peace delegation here, when he was shown the terms of the Ottoman response. He continued: "Speaking on behalf of all the peace missions of the allied Balkan nations, I state that the Turkish reply is not of a character to form the basis of fresh negotiations. We have said that the fortress of Adrianople and the Turkish islands in the Aegean Sea must be ceded, and without this the negotiations will not be resumed. Moreover, this cession must be made before hostilities are resumed, as the first shot will change our conditions."

Constantinople, Jan. 30.—The Turkish Government displays a spirit of compromise in its reply to the note handed to it by the representatives of the European powers on Jan. 17. The response was presented by Mahmoud Shekhet Pasha, the grand vizier, to Margrave Johann Von Pallavicini, the dean of the diplomatic corps in the Turkish capital this morning.

THIRTY MEN WILL RAISE $8,000 TOWARD S. S. BUILDING FUND

Members of Centennial Methodist Church Will Begin Canvas at Once.

Thirty men, members of the Centennial Methodist Church, will conduct a canvass among the members of the congregation on Monday next to raise $8,000 towards the $20,000 fund required

The Porte stipulates for the retention by Turkey of those quarters of the fortress of Adrianople, in which the holy shrines are situated. It proposes to leave in the hands of the powers the disposal of the land on the right bank of the Maritza River, which runs through Adrianople.

At the same time the Ottoman Government consents to the dismantling of the fortifications of that city.

In reference to the Turkish islands in the Aegean Sea the document insists on the maintenance of Turkish sovereignty owing to the proximity of the islands to the Turkish main land, but it intimates the readiness of the Ottoman Government to leave the settlement of the insular regime to the powers.

The reply takes note of the promises made by the European powers in their recent joint communication respecting the giving of aid in the future development of the territory of the Turkish Empire.

The religious and historical grounds which compel the Porte to stand out for the retention at all events of that portion of Adrianople containing the sacred shrines, are then recapitulated at the end of the reply, which is a lengthy document of four pages written in French.

TURKEY MENACED BY A CIVIL WAR

Revolt Amongst Sultan's Troops More Grave Than First Reported.

REPLY UNSATISFACTORY

But May Have the Effect of Suspending Denunciation of Armistice.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Jan. 30.—Events in the Balkan Peninsula are being precipitated with such rapidity that the world may soon be confronted not with the question of peace or war, but with a catastrophe which will lead Turkey to civil war.

Those who know the Ottoman Empire believe that the revolt among the Turkish troops on the Thracian lines was much more grave than is to be gathered from the short dispatches allowed by the censor to trickle through. Close observers of events in Turkey expect that similar revolts will occur in the Turkish Asiatic provinces, where the elements opposing the Young Turks are stronger than in the case in European Turkey.

None of the delegates of the Balkan nations has yet received official communication concerning Turkey's reply to the note of the European powers, but when the gist of the document was communicated to them today, they declared that another note handed to the Turkish plenipotentiaries yesterday, in which they officially broke off the peace negotiations, they cannot make a further move without instructions from their governments.

Answer Unsatisfactory.

The Balkan delegates for the most part do not consider the Turkish answer to the powers a satisfactory one, but some of them admit that it might have the effect of suspending the denunciation of the armistice which was expected to be announced today, and so give time to Mahmoud Shekhet Pasha to reconsider the situation after he has listened to the fresh advice which the representatives of the powers at Constantinople are expected to give to Turkey.

In case Mahmoud Shekhet Pasha should yield to the pressure of the powers some of the delegates might postpone their departure from London in view of a possible reconversion of the armistice and the conclusion of a treaty of peace without the resumption of hostilities.

BOMB AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Men, women and children were thrown from their beds, hundreds of Italians driven in terror to the streets, and windows shattered when a bomb was exploded early today in the three-story brick building at 746 Forquer street. No one was seriously injured although the explosion shook buildings for blocks around.

It is believed that a time fuse was used, enabling the man who placed the bomb to get blocks away before the explosion occurred.

"HIM ALL KLAZY" SAID THE CHINAMAN

Told Professor at the Medical College What He Thought of the Students.

A certain Chinaman in this city has his own opinion of medical students, and he expressed it feelingly to a certain prominent medical man who delivers lectures at the Medical College.

This morning, the students, being in a somewhat hilarious mood, saw a Chinaman with his laundry bag, and they immediately decided that a lecture on anatomy or therapeutics, or something of that nature, would be a first-class thing for his heathen soul. So they forced him to attend. When the teacher arrived he spotted the Chinaman in the bunch, and, quietly taking his bag, he motioned the Chinaman to follow him to the corridor. The latter did so, and when he was handed his laundry, he gave the professor a knowing wink, and, pointing to the students, said:

"Him all klazy."

Now the students are not laughing at the Chinaman.

TORONTO MAY HAVE A CIVIC BANK

Institution Would Accept Deposits From Citizens on 4 Per Cent Basis.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Jan. 30.—A banking institution paying about 4 per cent deposits owned by the citizens, and running under the direction and supervision of the civic financial authorities or a special board of directors, is a scheme which the city council of Toronto, it is said, will consider very shortly.

The idea has been brought to the front owing to the money crisis in London, and Mayor McKinnon thinks that if the scheme were put in operation it would remove the present dependence on London and foreign money markets.

The city would use the surplus after paying 4 per cent interest to the depositors for improvements. This would insure the city getting money, at 4 per cent instead of the present high rate, and would be a much easier system for the financial interests of the city.

GIBRALTAR IN PERIL

CONNAUGHTS GO HOME IN SPRING

General Feeling at the Capital That Their Highnesses Will Not Return.

A PRINCE MAY SUCCEED

Vice-Regal Party Have Not Found Life in Canada Altogether Congenial.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—There is general regret in Ottawa that the Duke and Duchess of Connaught will leave Canada in the spring.

The presence of British royalty at Canada's capital had added brilliance to the social atmosphere and increased the distinction of the political situation. In addition, their royal highnesses have made themselves personally popular. The ill-health of the Duchess of Connaught has been generally regretted, and it was feared that the result would be the curtailment of the stay in Canada of the Duke and Duchess.

While the announcement indicates that their royal highnesses will leave Canada only for a time, there is a general feeling that they will not come back here to remain in England, and a new Governor-General will be named. Not only has the Duchess suffered ill-health while in Canada, but it is understood that their royal highnesses have not found the atmosphere quite as entertaining as the atmosphere they have been accustomed to in England and upon the continent.

There is considerable speculation as to the Duke's successor.

Many people believe that another member of the British royal family will be sent out, while others insist that the duty of presiding at Government House will be assigned to a titled member of the British aristocracy below the rank of prince.

The Announcement.

The official announcement reads: "Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught is making steady progress towards recovery, and it is hoped their royal highnesses will be able to return to Ottawa at no distant date. It is proposed that the duchess should return to England in the spring for further medical advice. His royal highness will accompany her, going home on leave of absence. The date of their royal highnesses' return to Canada cannot be definitely fixed, as the date of their departure and the length of the Governor-General's leave of absence have not yet been determined. (Signed), H. C. LOWHER, military secretary."

MR. HENDERSON OFFERED A JOB

But Publicity Commissioner Has Made No Decision in the Matter.

Mr. J. Grant Henderson, commissioner of industries, who returned last night from a business trip east, denied today that he had decided to go to Hamilton to assume the office management of the Eversharp Pencil Company, who are establishing a large branch in that city.

"I have been offered a good thing," he declared. "However, I have not come to any decision in the matter yet, but will do so within the next few days. I cannot say now what I will do."

Mr. Henderson declared that his trip was a profitable one, but he could not give anything out for publication at the present time.

SUFFRAGETTE MILITANTS RAISE ROW AT DUNDEE

Pandemonium During Ceremony of Conferring Freedom of the City on Premier Asquith—Some Sharp Scrimmages Between Women and Police.

[Canadian Press.]

Dundee, Scotland, Jan. 30.—Well-organized bands of suffragettes raised a pandemonium during the ceremony of conferring the freedom of the city of Dundee on Premier Asquith here today. The premier had hardly risen to acknowledge the honor when shrieks of "Traitor! Traitor!" resounded through the hall.

Stewards and policemen were soon her suspended.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY COMES OUT FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

[Canadian Press.]

London, Jan. 30.—The British Labor Party today officially declared itself in favor of woman suffrage. By a vote of 850 against 437, a conference of the representatives of the trades unions of the United Kingdom now sitting in London adopted a resolution instructing the Labor member of parliament to oppose any franchise bill in which women were not included.

The significance to the women suffrage movement of this resolution of the labor unions is very great. The trades unions in the United Kingdom comprise between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 members, nearly all of whom are electors, and these would carry enormous weight in case woman suffrage were made a plank in the program of any party at a general election.

BRYAN ACCEPTS U. S. SECRETARYSHIP

Has Given Positive Assurances That He Will Take Portfolio Under Wilson.

[Canadian Press.]

Miami, Fla., Jan. 30.—Conferences between William J. Bryan and other prominent Democratic leaders, including Henry E. Alexander, of Trenton, N. J., close personal friends of President-elect Wilson, resulted in the announcement last night that Mr. Bryan had given a positive assurance that he would accept the portfolio of secretary of state in the Wilson cabinet. Mr. Alexander left early today for Trenton, and he is believed to be the bearer of Mr. Bryan's answer to Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Bryan will, it is said, remain at his winter home here until the last of February, when he will leave for Washington, to attend the inauguration ceremonies.

CHAMBERLIN, SMITHERS AND MELLE RE-INDICTED

Grand Jury Again Charges the Systems With Violating the Sherman Law.

New York, Jan. 30.—Charles S. Melten, president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company; E. J. Chamberlin and Alfred W. Smithers, president and chairman respectively of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada, were re-indicted today by the federal grand jury for violations of the Sherman anti-trust law.

An alleged monopolistic agreement between the Grand Trunk Railway and the New Haven system. The indictments supersede those returned several weeks ago and attacked by the defense. Assistant Attorney-General Adams announced that he would make every possible effort to have the case tried by the middle of February.

NEW ONTARIO DESTINED TO BE THE WEALTHIEST

Mr. J. L. Englehart, Chairman of Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission, Gave an Interesting Address Before the Canadian Club of London Today.

Mr. J. L. Englehart, chairman of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission, was the guest of honor at the Canadian Club luncheon at noon today, and gave a most interesting account of the railway and the country through which it passed. Its future was brilliant with promise, and it is easily one of the best assets of the province. Mr. Jared Vining presided, and congratulated the Canadian Club in having as their guest a man of such importance to address them.

Mr. Englehart esteemed it a privilege to visit London, to meet so many of his old friends, and to speak about a subject dear to his heart. The people of Southern Ontario were deeply interested in this northern country. It was a splendid addition to the province, and was destined to be one of the wealthiest portions. It was hard at first to convince the people of Ontario exactly what this portion meant. They were getting over that, however, and were now becoming more familiar with it, and in consequence more enthusiastic over its possibilities.

ARSCOTT ISAAC DEAD AGED 83 ONE-TIME CLERK OF EAST END

Settled in This City in 1853 and Resided Here Ever Since

The death occurred in Victoria Hospital on Wednesday of Mr. Arscott Isaac, 755 King street, after an illness of a little over two months.

Mr. Isaac, who was in his 83rd year, was one of London's pioneer residents, and has played an important part in the municipal life of East London. He was born in Devonshire, England, in the year 1830, and at the age of 23, he came to Canada, and settled in London. He was widely known throughout the city, and was for many years clerk of East London, when that part Ontario Widows Are Said To Be Out With Snare Hooks in the West.

[Canadian Press.]

Edmonton, Jan. 30.—Ontario widows appear to be of the opinion that the Edmonton Board of Trade is being run as an adjunct of a matrimonial bureau. The secretary of the board has just received a letter from a young and eligible widow living in London, Ont., asking for a husband, following by just a few weeks a similar communication from a Hamilton widow, who seems to have set the fashion.

The London lady wants "a good man with a good position," and would prefer to remain east until spring, presumably to prepare her trousseau. She has, she says, "a fairly good education in both French and English," and would appreciate any assistance the board might give her. The secretary will give her name and address to any marriageable male applying.

WILL LOSE LICENSES IF LIQUOR SALES CONTINUE

Unusual Action Taken to Save Men Working on Walker-ton Contract.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Walkerton, Jan. 29.—A provision of a clause of the liquor licence act not often carried into force, was made active today by a direct order from the Provincial Secretary.

There has been under construction for a year or more a dam about a mile above the town. Some trouble has been caused to the contractors by the men getting drunk. Recently a new steel bridge has been started over the Saugeen.

The men had not been paid for a long time, and on Sunday they quit work, but the same day were paid up to Jan. 1. A few of them got into a wrangle and made some disturbances.

It is thought that as a result of this an application was made to the Government, and today all the hotels got orders that they should sell no liquor to men working on either construction under penalty of losing their licenses.

SAYS HE DIDN'T KNOW HE WAS MARRIED

Louis Brock Claims He Was Intoxicated For Two Weeks.

Detroit, Jan. 29.—Alleging that he was intoxicated and did not know of his marriage until two weeks after the ceremony, Louis Brock has filed a petition in the Wayne circuit court asking for divorce from Elizabeth Brock. In his petition Brock recites that he was married Dec. 5, 1912, in Windsor, by P. C. Cameron, of Bruce Avenue Baptist Church; that he became drunk the day before, and had no idea that he had engaged in a marriage ceremony until one day two weeks later a woman came to his residence and insisted that she was his wife.

HELD FOR BIGAMY

Josephine Lucier Is in the Hands of Police at Windsor.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Windsor, Jan. 29.—As a sequel to their marriage in Windsor last spring, Bartholomew Grasse, 40, and Josephine Lucier, formerly of Sandwich South, must answer charges of bigamy in Windsor police court, Grasse was arrested by the Windsor police this afternoon. The girl is being held by the Amherstburg police, and will be brought to Windsor on Thursday. The couple were married on April 3, and lived in Windsor for several months.

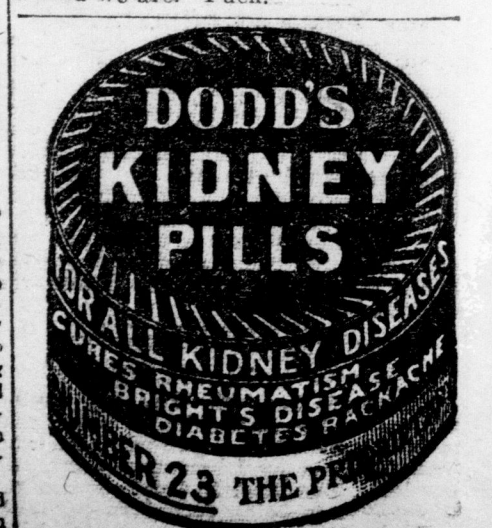

The police charge that the girl had a husband, Noah Lucier, living in Amherstburg at the time, and that Grasse knew it when he married her. Information which led to the arrests was furnished by Noah Lucier who claims to be the husband of the girl.

WAR TO A FINISH?

The Balkan Allies, having given up waiting on the Turk, he can now have war to a finish if that is what he thinks he wants. It is reported that the Turkish forces at Tchataldja now number 170,000, put into as good shape as Nazim Pasha could manage before his death. In an immensely strong position flanked at both ends by the sea, and by the Dardanelles, such an army if united and well fed is a very serious obstacle to a rush upon Constantinople.

How well the Roman Emperor chose the site of his eastern capital and stronghold! By sea the approach is by a narrow strait either north or south; on land the city may be reached only from the west, over a tapering neck with a line of hills. Commercially as well as strategically the place is a marvel. With a fine harbor it stands at the meeting point of east and west, and is the outlet of the Thracian region, naturally one of the richest agricultural territories of the world. In ancient times Thrace was the wheat granary of the Athenian Empire. Today the Turkish blight is upon it, but even yet Constantinople holds its own.

It watches the trade of Odessa go by its doors. With an agricultural and manufacturing civilization government like Bulgaria's there is no knowing what advance both Thrace and Constantinople might make. A great wheatland in an ideal climate awaits redevelopment behind the city. With free scope to their energies, Greek businessmen will make the most of Constantinople's trading and shipping possibilities, and Russia in her Black Sea backwater may well want the city for her own.

The Turkish army stands on guard, and if discipline holds good, it will take a human thunderbolt to break them. But will discipline hold? The troops have every reason to think that a renewal of the war is both causeless and useless. Though they may hold Tchataldja, they have no chance of moving forward against superior forces of the Allies. Constantinople would have been saved without any fight. The Moslem inhabitants have largely cleared out of the Adrianople region and mostly gone over to Asia. Why fight for what is lost? The only motive would be the sheer love of combatting the glau, and it is doubtful whether such a motive will weld the defending force into such cohesion as is necessary.

If the Allies can burst through the Turkish defence both by land and sea, there will be a spectacular occupation of the sacred metropolis. If, again, they can agree on some joint or neutral management of the city, it is very possible that the great powers in their jealousies will not interfere with force. Most of the civilized world would be glad to see the Constantinople question finally settled by the upbuilding of a strong Balkan union around it as centre. This would block off Russia on the one hand, and on the other, act as a counterpoise to the Triple Alliance.

THE NATURALIZATION PROBLEM.

The Minister of Justice is hopeful that legislation by the Imperial Parliament will soon confer upon naturalized citizens of Canada the full status of British subjects in the United Kingdom.

Under the present laws such distinguished naturalized Canadians as Sir William Van Horne and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy are only aliens in the mother country. The anomaly would be even more strikingly called to public attention if a Canadian cabinet minister, Hon. George Perley, born in New Hampshire, were made the Canadian member of the Imperial defence committee.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier raised the question in the last Imperial Conference, not for the first time. The Imperial authorities promised redress, but frankly indicated some of the difficulties of the problem. There are millions of British subjects in India, born under the flag, who are denied political rights in the British self-governing colonies. The Hindus are practically excluded from Canada, Australia and South Africa, but they are freely admitted into the United Kingdom, as are all the black and brown races. While Canada asks that the full rights of British subjects be conferred on naturalized Canadian citizens who go to the "mother country," she is not prepared to fully reciprocate. For instance, Chinese and Japanese can be naturalized in Great Britain as readily as white aliens, but Canada will not admit Chinese and Japanese merely because they have become British subjects under the easy laws of the United Kingdom.

These circumstances suggest some of the difficulties of government in a world-wide empire of diverse races. The Imperial authorities may be excused for moving deliberately, even though anomalies exist that seem to outrage the principle of British unity.

HON. JAMES YOUNG.

Hon. James Young, of Galt, who has passed away at the age of 77, was not a veteran who lagged superfluous on the political stage. Elected to the first Parliament after Confederation, he voluntarily retired from active politics in 1886. During that period he sat continuously, with a year's interruption, in the House of Commons, and later in the Legislature, where he held the portfolio of Provincial Treasurer for a few months. But he continued to be an influential voice in public affairs till his death. His reputation perhaps owed more to his literary work than to his earlier parliamentary labors. His pen was unceasingly active. His volume "Public Men and Public Life in Canada," published some years ago, is a very readable combination of history and biography, and likely to be of permanent value. Mr. Young became interested in politics in early manhood, and came into close contact with most of the eminent Canadians of the pre-Confederation era. He frequently attended the Legislature of Upper and Lower Canada as an eager student of public affairs, and his volume contains vivid descriptions of its outstanding personalities, and the fierce rivalries of that day. He throws a clearer light on the vexed question of that time than some of the more pretentious historians.

Mr. Young was a Liberal by instinct and intellectual conviction, though he was not a staunch partisan. His death is a loss to the higher life of the country.

The new Turkish cabinet has been given Hobson's choice.

The president of the Canadian Defence League says the Canadian militia system is wrong and extravagant. But the voluntary principle is worth a good deal.

A French scientist says the legs and arms of the human race are destined to shrink. Emerson said that the modern man had built himself a carriage and lost the use of his legs. That was before the street car, and the automobile, too.

The London Morning Post gives four columns of its space to a letter from Hon. W. S. Fielding. The readers of the Post, like other British machine imperialists, need a diet of this kind. May they inwardly digest it. It may not agree with them, but it is good for the Empire.

Premier Asquith has published with great effect a letter from the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association, asserting that they will oppose any scheme that will give them a higher price for their grain at the expense of the British workman. The grangers give an example of real Imperial thinking.

The dumb animals have had in Rev. W. L. Steeves a vigilant friend, and he will be hard to replace as secretary of the Humane Society. Mr. Steeves, who has accepted a call to Philadelphia, has been a good pastor and a good citizen. Young, able, and energetic, the future should hold much for him in his chosen work.

Sir Rodolphe Forget, having accused the editor of Le Soleil, Quebec, of being a deserter from the French army, the editor produces a copy of his discharge as an officer, signed by the president of the French Republic. Sir Rodolphe has sadly abused the privileges of Parliament, which were granted in the first place to protect its members from tyranny. These privileges are too often perverted today by members into a covert for slander.

NEW LEGAL MAXIM.

[Ottawa Free Press.]
The old axiom of all men being equal or equal, or equal before the law, should be changed to "All men are to be considered on a graduated scale of worth, their mark fixed according to their earning capacity, with no consideration as to the means—so long as they are legally employed to earn this money."

A FOND FAREWELL.

[Montreal Herald.]
It is easy to believe that the Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, is eager to bid his distinguished cabinet colleague, Hon. George E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce, bon voyage and soon see him off at the departure for Australia on a trade mission.

VANISHED FEARS.

[Stratford Beacon.]
Sir William Van Horne, who is at the head of a large paper company in Quebec, now demands of the Provincial Government the abrogation of the exportation of pulp wood laws so that his company may reap the benefit of the United States concession on paper incorporated in the reciprocity pact. A year or more ago he was stumping the country denouncing the agreement and posing as an imperialist of the imperialists, though under British naturalization laws he, being of United States birth, is only half a Britisher. Evidently his inherited desire for personal gain has overcome his suddenly developed fear of his brother Yankee gobbling up, and he now wants to have "truck with the Yankees"—in paper. He has not as yet shown any desire to give the Canadian farmer a look-in to the same profitable market.

BRITAIN'S BOOMING TRADE.

[Manchester Guardian.]
The condition and volume of the home trade can only be measured by a variety of indirect evidences such as we have already glanced at, but of our foreign trade we have a direct measure in the board of trade returns. These statistics point to a total external trade for the United Kingdom of no less than £1,320,000,000 sterling—figure exceeding by nearly £100,000,000 the total for 1911, nearly £125,000,000 more than the total figure for 1910, and no less than £168,000,000 more than the record of the "boom" year 1907. Compared with 1903 (the year in which Mr. Joseph Chamberlain proclaimed the imminent decay of British industries and raised the banner of "reform"), the increase in our total external trade (imports and exports) is no less than £428,000,000, or almost 50 per cent. If we look at the exports alone (and Mr. Chamberlain insisted that these were the true test of commercial and industrial progress), we find that from a value of £360,000,000 in 1903 they have now grown to £536,000,000, an increase of 66 per cent.

THEY'LL GET OVER IT.

[Toronto Star.]
Earl Grey is not worrying. He has lived in Canada, and knows that the Tories will not remain permanently offended with an earl.

"STATISTICS PROVE."

[Amos R. Wells in Life.]
"Statistics prove" so many things—The size of towns, the height of kings, The age of children in the schools, The skull development of fools; The salaries that parsons get, The number of abodes to let, The wealth of lucky millionaires, The price of hens and mining shares; All things below and things above, It seems to me, "statistics prove."

But, no! Statistics never yet Appraised a single violet, Measured the glances of an eye, Or probed the sorrows of a sigh, Statistics never caught the gleam That dances on a meadow stream, Or weighed the anthem of a bird In forest aisles devoutly heard; Statistics never proved a soul In high or low, in part or whole; Sin, beauty, passion, honor, love, How much statistics cannot prove!

FORGET ME NOT.

[Olivier Herford in Scribner's.]
"I wish that we had never met, All that I ask is to forget— To be forgot!"
She sighed, and turned away her head; He did not see her eyes that said, "Forget me not!"

"Why have you come again," she said, "Now bowed his head, his pain to hide; He did not see her eyes that cried, "Forget me not!"

Now at his side she kneels and cries His name, and white and still he lies, His eyes will never look again Into her eyes, that cry in vain, "Forget me not!"

ALL HE HAD.

[Exchange.]
An Irish barrister speaking on behalf of his client, said:
"Gentlemen of the jury, think of his poor mother—his only mother."

ROWELL—FIGHTER.

[Chatham News.]
Men of British blood love a man who puts up a game fight. Hence N. W. Rowell commands the admiration of a lot of people who don't agree with him on every political issue. The man who in December, 1911, took the leadership of a forlorn hope, showed his mettle in big things. The man who the other night drove seven cars or so through a blinding snowstorm to keep faith with an audience showed that he possessed the same quality in regard to lesser things.

"ONWARD, CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS."

[T. P.'s Weekly.]
"Onward, Christian Soldiers," the hymn which is figuring in the present political campaign, was written by the Rev. Sabine Baring-Gould, then a curate of the Church of England. The hymn was composed for an Easter confirmation service, and was submitted for approval to the bishop of the diocese. The bishop was of decidedly Low Church opinions, and he objected to the word "cross" in the first stanza:
"Onward Christian soldiers,
Marching as to war,
With the cross of Jesus
Going on before."

He argued that its use inferred papistical tendencies.
"Very well, sir," said the author. "I will change it. How would this do?" and he recited these lines:
"With the cross of Jesus,
Left behind the door."

The bishop did not agree, and the Rev. Dr. Baring-Gould soon found himself without a curacy. While waiting another appointment he made his first venture in the world of letters, where he later became distinguished.

LONDON MAN HELD IN CONNECTION WITH THEFT

John Howard, Alias Duncan, Was Arrested by Police at Wingham.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Wingham, Jan. 30.—John Howard, of London, who also claims Detroit as his home, is under arrest on suspicion of being implicated in connection with the recent attempted robbery of the Brussels postoffice. Howard, while at Brussels, registered under the name of Duncan. He walked from Brussels to Wingham and soon after his arrival here was taken in charge by Chief Allen. So far nothing which would implicate the man has been discovered, and it is expected that he will be released tonight. Howard is known in this district as he is of a wandering disposition and usually comes up through this country once a year. He is a man about 60 years old.

DEATH OF D. McLEAN

Operation Performed at Local Hospital Was Followed by Relapse.
Mr. Daniel McLean died suddenly Wednesday at St. Joseph's Hospital, after an operation performed on Jan. 7. The operation was thought to be successful, as the patient was doing well, when he suffered a relapse. Late Mr. McLean was born in Perth, this district, on Sept. 9, 1843, and came to Canada in 1868, locating in Orford, Kent County. He married Mary McLaren, eldest daughter of Robert McLaren, prior to immigrating to Canada. Of the family of five born to them, but one survives—John, on the old homestead. For upwards of 20 years the late Mr. McLean was an elder in the Duart Presbyterian Church, and connected with all that was for the welfare of the congregation.

Besides his son he is survived by one brother, Peter, of Tacoma, Wash., who is the last of a family of seven. The remains were forwarded to Duart from W. J. Ball's undertaking parlors, and interment will be made in the Duart Cemetery on Friday.

F. L. SIGEL DEAD.

Denver, Jan. 29.—F. L. Sigel, who "grub-staked" hundreds of prospectors during the last 30 years, died yesterday, leaving an estate valued at $3,000,000. In addition to mining, he was largely interested in live stock and water-power companies.

Literature's Debt To the Clergy

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

English literature is under a great debt of gratitude to the church. When we tell over the names of great poets, novelists and critics of the past we are astounded at the large number who were ministers of religion. It is, of course, a natural thing that the members of a learned profession should take an interest in arts and letters, and of all the professions that of the Christian ministry offers largest opportunity to a man with literary tastes. Congregations expect their ministers to spend a great deal of their time in reading the best that has been thought and said by the master minds of the past, and this reading habit in many cases leads to the desire to write books. I do not know that I have ever heard the statement made, and I do not know that I could prove it to be a fact, but I am strongly of the opinion that outside the realm of fiction more books have been given to the reading world by clergymen than by any other class or profession.

Some of our leading authors in Canada today are ministers. It is in England and Scotland, however, that the clergyman author is most numerous. In those other countries where life is not so strenuous, and where good old leisure has not yet been frightened out of the parish, the bookish minister is to be found in his glory. All the big ministers are voluminous authors, and many a little parish in Scotland has for its spiritual leader a man whose learned books are read by scholars in the far places of the earth. There are two famous writers who are joint pastors of Free St. George's Church in Edinburgh, Rev. Alexander White and Rev. John Kelman. These preachers are as well up in English literature as they are in the Bible, and whenever one of them sends out a new book it is sure to have a big sale not only in the United Kingdom, but in Canada and the United States. They represent the very finest tradition of the Scotch literary minister, and, as I have said, his name is legion.

Nothing could illustrate the wide-reading and the catholic taste of the modern minister better than the Rev. Dr. Kelman's new volume, "Anonymous Famous Books" (Hodder and Stoughton, London). The chapters of this book were originally delivered as lectures. The general theme of this series of what are really bookish essays, "Books Which Literary Charm and Spiritual Value have made them conspicuous in the vast literature of England is that constant struggle between paganism and idealism which is the deepest fact in the life of man and whose story, told in one form or another, provides the matter of all vital literature. To illustrate this age-long conflict between paganism and idealism, the Edinburgh preacher has dipped into three periods of time: (1) Classical, (2) Sixteenth Century, (3) Modern. In his first chapter, "The Gods of Greece," he has interpreted the Greek myths with wonderful imaginative skill. His treatment of the story of Orpheus and Eurydice is particularly suggestive. Another chapter which deals with Rome is his illuminating review of Walter Pater's masterpiece, "Marius, the Epicurean." Other chapters in the book are as follows: "The Two Fausts," "Celtic Revivals of Paganism," "John Bunyan," "Pope's 'Dunciad,'" "Sartor Resartus," "Pagan Reactions," "Mr. G. K. Chesterton's Point of View," and "The Hound of Heaven."

It is interesting to note that Dr. Kelman singles out Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" as a book of incalculable importance. It inspired the men of the last generation, and if it finds fewer readers today, the Edinburgh divine advises us to return to it. "It is for want of such strong meat as this," he says, "that the spirit of an age tends to grow feeble." Here is an eloquent description of the life of the modern man, "standing in the shadow, he sends forth his great voice to his times, now breaking into sob of pity, and anon into shrieks of hoarse laughter, terrible to hear. He, too, is bewildered, and he comes among his fellows 'determined to pluck out the heart of the mystery'—the mystery alike of his own times and of general human life and destiny. He is a spiritual interpretation of what to many has been a very puzzling book, Dr. Kelman places Carlyle squarely on the side of idealism and makes the claim that no volume could be so good as a background against which to view the modern surge of the age-long battle."

It is impossible to give more than a faint idea of the engaging contents of this book. I should be glad to indicate Dr. Kelman's opinions of up-to-date writers like Shaw, Wells and Chesterton, but space forbids. Let me say in conclusion, however, that this is a most valuable work of literary criticism that has appeared this season. It is full of weighty and suggestive thought, and is written in a clear and graceful style.

BY MRS. ALICE P. NORTON.
Head of the Department of Home Economics of the University of Chicago.

Some rainy day when your ten-year-old girl is tired of staying in the house and is teasing you for something interesting to do tie a big apron on her and give her half a cupful of flour in a bowl. Tell her to mix it in very slowly, stirring all the time, two table-spoons of water.

Then let her gather it up in her hands and knead it till it is very smooth and elastic.

Now give her a dish of water and let her wash the dough ball in it. A white powder will be washed away to the bottom of the pan, while the dough ball will grow smaller and smaller.

When fresh water no longer becomes clouded there will remain a brownish substance that can be stretched, though it is quite tough. Bake part of this in an oven just hot enough for bread, and see the light loaf it makes.

The little daughter will have spent a happy hour and will have found out something about two important constituents of flour—the sticky, elastic gluten that entangles the gas formed by the yeast and so makes the bread light, and the starch that is partly changed into sugar and furnishes the food for the yeast.

The presence of these two, particularly the gluten, since starch is abundant in most vegetable foods, makes the importance of bread as a source of food.

MRS. NORTON'S OWN RECIPE FOR BOSTON BROWN BREAD.—One cup graham flour, 1 cup rye flour, 1 cup cornmeal, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-1/2 cups brown sugar, 1-2 cup molasses and 2 cups sour milk.

Beat thoroughly, put in a brown bread tin or in baking powder cans that do not leak, filling them not more than two-thirds full. Cover tightly and steam for four hours. If you wish to bake the brown bread in a very slow oven instead of steaming it, you may make a somewhat thinner mixture by adding a half a cupful more sour milk and another 1-4 teaspoon of soda.

Food has two chief purposes—it must furnish the material needed for growth and the material needed for warmth and activity. Gluten is one representative of a substance called protein that is necessary for building the muscles and making good, firm flesh. Starch is burned in the body, giving heat and power to work, something as coal is burned in the stove, only the burning is very slow and takes place in every portion of the body.

In making the bread the bowl must be thoroughly cleaned so that no particles are left in it. A flexible flat knife, called a spatula, is excellent for cleaning mixing bowls as well as for many other purposes. It would soon save its cost in prevention of waste.

Particles left in the mixing bowl, a few peas thrown away with the can, cereal remaining in the cooking dish when it might be all removed if the dish were allowed to stand and cool a moment before it is emptied, all these are types of waste that seem to count very little, but that in the course of a year amount to a sum well worth saving.

Any stale bread you have, though there should not be so much of it if the loaf is carefully cut, may be made into French toast, scalloped dishes such as tomato, crumbs for mixing salmon loaf or hamburger steak dressing for a stuffed heart, or croutons for soup. If too much accumulates dry it and roll it fine, put it into a jar, and it will keep for some time. Dried

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

Dinah's Address.

Will "Dinah," who wrote me about her spinning-wheel, please send me her address once more? I find that I have mislaid it, and I should like to forward her a letter which I have received.

Answer to "A Mother."

A Mother.—Regarding the advertisement which you inclosed to me, it very plainly intimates that applications must be made to Rochester. I know nothing of it, but should judge that it is a sort of correspondence school. However, the only way to obtain correct information is to write them direct.

Dress Trimmings.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Can a Catholic girl train for a nurse in Victoria Hospital?

2. What would be suitable color to trim a white cashmere dress, with a black skirt?

3. What would be suitable color to trim a black cashmere dress?

LUCIAN.

A.—1. Yes.

2. A pretty shade of brown or cardinal velvet is suggested, or if you do not object to black, why not black satin or velvet?

3. If for a young person, shepherd's plaid silk, with a touch of cream lace, or a soft, French cretonne, something gayer, pipings of scarlet silk or cashmere, with small self-covered buttons, would be pretty. For an elderly woman I would suggest mauve trimmings.

A Valentine Social.

Dear Miss Grey: The Mission Band in our church were thinking of giving a Valentine social on St. Valentine's Day. We intend to serve refreshments and so far have not been able to think of any amusements. We thought it would be nice to have something different from the ordinary talent and program. Could you suggest some new way of spending the evening?

A.—I would suggest that you vary your program by having part of the entertainment hearing on St. Valentine's Day, the remainder of the time to be occupied with other amusements. You will, of course, want your decorations to be suggestive of the day, and this is not difficult to accomplish. If you purchase several sheets of red paper, first make a heart-shaped pattern, say about three inches across, out of stiff cardboard, and by this cut out strings of hearts, folding the red sheets as you used to do to make paper dolls. If the lights can be shaded in red, with the addition of a few flags and Chinese lanterns, your hall should look very festive without much expense.

A good feature to begin your evening's fun is to provide everybody with a card, bearing the words "I am giving you a Valentine." By the time every body has introduced himself or herself to everybody else the atmosphere of stiffness is entirely absent.

One Valentine game is to give each person a pencil and sheet of paper, and the words "St. Valentine" at the top. Announce that twenty minutes will be allowed in which to form small groups of four or five. The person making the largest number of words might be awarded a prize.

Have a stiff cardboard heart suspended from the ceiling or unused doorway by a string. Blindfold one person, and turn him around two or three times and bid him cut the string. The attempts are invariably amusing. While this is occupying a person, the others might be engaged in a "heart-hunt" for candy hearts hidden in unlikely places about the room.

Some kinds of games in which everybody takes part, and which require no preparation beforehand are musical chairs, guessing proverbs, acting charades, or even that one beloved of children "drop the handkerchief," and something called "the game of the grown-up" appears to enjoy these informal amusements. You might fill in your evening with various selections of music, and—well, if you do all these things, I think your program will be quite full.

For refreshments you will, of course, require sandwiches and coffee, and iced cakes, and urge some of your mothers to make a quantity of little heart-shaped cookies with pink icing. I trust these hints may be of use to you, and that your entertainment will be really successful from every point of view.

Making Over a Dress.

Dear Miss Grey: I know you have helped others, so I come to you now. 1. Suggest a nice way to make over a shantung dress that has a V-shaped yoke of net with high collar. I would like a low-necked style.

2. Do you know any formula that will promote the growth of the hair? Thanking you.

A.—I can think of nothing better than to alter the appearance of the dress by means of an applied yoke, in somewhat fancy shape, made of tan silk, or a piece of foulard in harmonizing or contrasting color. Outline this yoke with a pretty crew leading or insertion. Finish the sleeves at the elbow with turn-back cuffs of the new material, and for the skirt, either make narrow pipings of the fabric, or apply a wide band of it, finishing at the hem with the insertion.

2. This tonic has often been found an excellent remedy for stimulating the hair follicles and causing the growth of the hair: resorcinol 1-6 dram, castor oil 12 drams, spirit of wine 5 ounces, balsam of peru 8 grains. Shake well before applying to the scalp. Give treatments at night before retiring.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over SIXTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING. IT PERFECTLY SOOTHES THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold all over the world.

ONE OF THE ECCENTRIC SPRING HATS

Some of the new spring hats show great eccentricities of trimming, one that will be worn in early spring is covered with a crown of feathers, and a peculiar feather contrivance that looks very much like the tail of a guinea fowl is put directly on the back. This hat is in shades of green, and the feathers are of mottled green with black outlines.

Table Covers

White coverings are not best for the table in the living-room and it is not necessary that the cover should hide the whole surface. There are many attractive materials which can be utilized as covers for table tops. Pieces of old brocade or embroidery can be picked up at reasonable prices at upholstering prices, and if bound in a plain color or with wide gold braid are charming. Oval or oblong pieces of plain color or with soft felt flannel make attractive and equally satisfactory covers for the oriental environment.

For small tables, Japanese mats, with their rich blues, greens and golds, or strips of oriental embroidery are just the thing. And what is more appropriate for the little old-time sewing table than an old sampler with its soft bits of color?

In the living-room of a certain country place the table cover never fails to attract notice. It is made of an old Persian shawl.

Old-fashioned chenille covers, if the colorings are right and not too gay, are a "vogue" again. French cretonnes come in such soft, rich colorings and sometimes in such odd designs that they have the appearance of tapestry. When finished with gold galloon, no handsome cover could be found than these cretonne squares.

For rooms furnished in the mission style strips and squares of heavy crash bound with coarse colored linen make suitable covers.

Miladi Wears Grandma's Shawl

Shawls have reappeared in fashionable quarters, but they are not worn in the fashion of former days. As a matter of fact, they take the place of long scarves and are worn with evening gowns—whenever there is the slightest reason for supposing that a draught may chill the shoulders. Miladi does not propose to acquire a cold in this way, and she is not likely to. Therefore the psychological hour for getting out grandmother's cherished store of shawls and making use of them has arrived. Had grandmother a Paisley shawl? Then promptly cut it into two diagonally across—and edge one of its halves with a dull-hued charmeuse ruching. If the dear old lady owned a shawl of white Canton crepe, wondrously embroidered by hand, it deserves an edging of fine lace—her own duchesse or point if she left any behind her. Lacking the ancestral square to be halved and ruched-edge, have a shawl-scarf of chiffon bordered with huge flowers in raised velvet, outlined with gold. Then line the small wrap with gold tissue and edge it on all sides with white feathers or marabou or fur, and you'll have something that a queen might be proud to own.

Gold net, darned with colored floss after the manner of Italian filet, and lined with two layers of chiffon, makes a stunning shawl-scarf.

Revival of Beauty Patches

Patches are back. And a good thing, too, for there is no vanity peculiar to the eighteenth-century beauty which is more fascinating. None knew better than she how well the tiny specks of black court plaster served to emphasize the pink of her cheeks, the red of her lips, and the lustre of her eyes. She would have been quite as liable to forget her high-heeled shoes as her patches, as she kept the latter in a small little box attached to her claspnet. For patches are prone to drop off and must be promptly replaced on precisely the right spot of the cheek, the chin, the throat, the shoulder or the wrist. The twentieth-century girl, like her forebear, the eighteenth-century beauty, knows how to shape her own patches, with tiny scissors, cutting the sheet of court plaster into the smallest of half-moons, squares, diamonds and hearts. The huge patch of unique shape is just now considered extreme, but since many women have revived the rouge and not a few women have revived the powdered hair of the eighteenth-century beauty, why should they not ultimately copy the flower-pots, constellations and equipages in black court plaster which were the height of fashion during the Louis XV. and Louis XVI. periods?

Heavy ostrich plumes are a bit passé, heron feathers, osprey and single uncurled ostrich feathers being more popular as hat trimmings. Often single ostrich wreathe encircle the crowns of small hats or the brows of large ones. One of the very best and most reliable remedies for the treatment of coughs is

COMMENT

By "The Nomad."

I sincerely hope that the mothers of London are taking an interest in the "New Public Health" department which The Advertiser is conducting every Saturday. It is a column which the editors of this journal desire to make of practical benefit to every man, woman and child in London by bringing before them guiding rules for good health, by pointing out the unseen dangers that surround us, and all with a view toward the prevention of disease, and a better knowledge of the methods required to combat illness of varied sort.

Good health is a matter which vitally concerns each one of us, both as citizens and individuals, and what a transformed world this would be if physical suffering and deformity were unknown. Perhaps one of our most cherished ideals of a Paradise is that "there will be no more pain." But in the meantime, disease and suffering are present with us, requiring all man's skill and science to successfully fight them. And how can we "lay members' help?" By learning to take precautions by living according to the rules of health, and the only way to acquire this knowledge is by reading and asking questions of those who study the wonderful, yet simple, means of prevention professionally.

So, mothers, and others who cannot but be interested in the vital question of health, do not fail to write to the "New Public Health" column about your perplexities. Your queries will receive careful consideration, and the answers will help not only yourselves, but also all others who read them.

"Tall oaks from little acorns grow" might well be the creed of a little woman residing in a Chicago suburb. Starting with a capital of five cents she has built up a business in hosiery in three years that now nets her a good income yearly. How did she do it? You ask. Simply by making the most of what she had. Finding herself in very needy circumstances through the illness of her husband, Mrs. Snyder, for that is the little lady's name, made a batch of divinity fudge, took a boxful into a store in Chicago and asked the manager to taste it. He did so, and asked for a second piece. Then she made her bold request for sufficient space in his store for two weeks in order to sell her candy. Her desire was granted and Mrs. Snyder hastened home to spend the night. In the morning she made other candies than the "divinity fudge," which was the basis of Mrs. Snyder's success, but the motto "Fresh every day" adopted by her three years ago remains the same today and is probably responsible to a large extent for the growth of her enterprise.

We like to read these little accounts from real life of how women can make their own pluck and ability make a fortune in the business world, and the wisdom of starting with the material on hand and building up the business gradually, as did Mrs. Snyder, is most commendable. "From my own experience I can frankly say that if women only knew how easy it is to succeed they would not be afraid of business. But, of course, you must be content with small beginnings, pleased over small successes, and willing to work," the lady of the fudge declares.

"There are three things which a woman should and should not resemble," says an exchange. "First, she should resemble the small which never leaves its home, but she should not, like the snail, put on her back all that she possesses. "Second, she should resemble the echo, which speaks only when spoken to, but she should not, like the echo, try always to get the last word. "Third, she should resemble the town clock in its perfect regularity; but she should not, like the clock, make herself heard by the whole town."

—Oh, dear, oh, dear, how evident that a man wrote this code of manners! Now, if a woman can leave home, who'd give the baby its necessities?

Handkerchiefs
For Wee Folks

"Week handkerchiefs," meaning those with corner decorations supposed to suit the days of the week, are of finest white cambric, daintily finished with hemstitched borders in colors—red, blue, violet, brown, yellow, green and pink—that are repeated in the corner decoration which clearly denotes for which day of the seven they are intended.

Sunday and dinner handkerchiefs for small boys have narrow hemstitched borders, and one-corner embroideries showing three initials. These are always in pure white, whereas the handkerchiefs for little girls have scalloped-embroidered or narrow lace edges and corner initials embroidered in pale tones of a color.

At a dancing school classes the small boy uses his hemstitched handkerchief of finest white linen, but his little sister flourishes a tiny square of muslin bordered widely with real duchesse or point lace. And while the embryo man is provided with a case of blue satin-lined dark silk for his moustaches, the wee woman has a handkerchief envelope of finest white linen, exquisitely hand-embroidered in a penwork.

A woman's discretion is often born of previous indiscretion.

AN IMPORTANT PURCHASE

You like music, play yourself, and are contemplating buying a piano! That piano will probably "live with you" a long time, so it is advisable to hear all the best "makes" sold in London.

We want you to do that because our prices and terms are right, and we have every confidence that the Martin-Orme Piano will make its own sale.

What the Baby Knows

[Copyright.]
The baby can breathe and can grasp, but that does not exhaust the list of the infant's accomplishments. He can nurse. And he wants to. Many an infant, as soon as he has announced his arrival by the first cry—(which President G. Stanley Hall, who appears to be in the baby's confidence, says is a shout of victory, and may be translated, "Hurrah! I have arrived!")—will next proceed to give a distinct and suggestive smack of the lips. How often do we amidst the silence of the chamber of birth, when we hear that sound, turn with a smile to each other, in the grateful relief of hearing something which slackens the tension of feeling in that hour when the Angel of Life and the Angel of Death come together to the door and there is none but the doctor and the nurse to draw in the ore and bar out the other.

Wealth can do much—yet there is much more that it cannot do. It is not wealth, but life, that babies need. Of being burned or strangled, like Rachel and like Leah, which two did build the house of Israel. The power of Nature has placed in the newborn that instinct of nursing at the mother's breast which is the surest guarantee for its life and safety during the first year, and for "a good constitution"—whatever that means—in future years.

DREADFUL POSSIBILITY.

When Aunt Elvira takes the train. She always has a vision (She's told me, time and time again).

Of being in a collision; She doesn't seem to feel much dread.

And fear of being mangled. Of broken bones, a broken head.

Of being burned or strangled. "I always think," she says to me, "That 'twould be dreadful shocking."

If folks should pick me up and see A big hole in my stocking.

So Aunt Elvira takes her yarns When plans are made for starting, and darts and darts and darts and darts.

Before she risks departing. —Grace McKintyre, in Judge.

The Birthday Calendar

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Your health will require attention and outdoor activities will benefit you. Risks and disagreements will result unfavorably, but new friendships will be valuable.

Those born today will think deeply and discover truths and make inventions. They will be correspondingly careless of everyday affairs, and any habits of health or politeness, which are taught them in childhood, will be of great advantage to them, for after youth they will not study such things.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME ECONOMICS CHAT

The Professor or the Cow

That Austrian professor who, by mixing certain portions of fats, albumin, sugar, chlorhydrate and phosphate of ammonia has succeeded in producing milk will, I fear, not meet with feminine approval. Yet the professor claims that his chemically produced milk is as creamy and more palatable than that of the cow. Moreover he assures us that his artificial milk will not turn. Now, undoubtedly it would be a good thing to have milk upon which a bacterium or excessive heat would have no effect. But this is the very claim which will render the milk manufactured by the professor suspect in the eyes of women. There would be something uncanny about milk whose sweetness was undisturbed by weather conditions. Women are "kittie cattle" to use a Scottish phrase and you never can tell just what is going to arouse their suspicions or dislike. You could not get a woman to believe that milk which remained sweet indefinitely, that defied all changes of temperature, that neither curdled nor soured, that required no surveillance, no care, could possibly be a proper and nourishing food for her babies. The fact alone that the professor claims so many virtues for the milk, that he protests so much, like the lady in the play, would lay the milk open to doubt and question. Woman is incurably prejudiced in favor of milk foods for her children. The well-cared-for healthy cow in the meadow, cropping the fresh juicy grass under summer skies, seems to her to be a much more reliable and proper creature to make milk for her babies.

FATHER OF BILL BORLAND
HEARD NEWS IN WINNIPEG

Wired Local Hockey Club About Son's Injuries—Winnipeg Fans Send Regrets in Dispatch—London Player Is Recovering Nicely.

The old saw that bad news travels fast was demonstrated to the London Hockey Club management yesterday, when the report got around that Billy Borland was seriously injured and suffering from concussion of the brain as a result of the game at Paris Tuesday night. Secretary Vining received a telegram from Mr. A. F. Borland, father of the London player, whose home is in Winnipeg, anxiously asking if the report were true. A news dispatch had reached Winnipeg in which it was stated that Borland was badly hurt. Mr. Borland stated that he would come to London as soon as possible if his son was injured. However, Secretary Vining wired back and told him that there was no truth in the report and that Bill was getting along fine. Borland is leaving the hospital today, fully recovered. To show how well-known Borland is in Winnipeg sport circles, the following special wire dispatch was received last evening by The Advertiser:

"Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 29, 1913. "Winnipeg hockey fans and Rugby enthusiasts regret to learn of Billy Borland's plight. He is well known in this city. Probably better in Rugby football than in hockey circles. "Two seasons ago he played with the Tigers Intermediate Rugby champions, and was heralded as a coming star. Last season he played for the London Rugby Club. "He is a brother of Claude Borland, and gave every promise here of developing into a player of the same caliber as the famous little rover."

PARIS AND WOODSTOCK TRIM
LONDON'S O. B. A. QUINTETTES

A Big Surprise Handed Out to Local Basketball Teams.

London's representatives in the O. B. A. were treated to a rude shock last evening when they were defeated by the Woodstock Juniors and Paris Intermediates. Quite a number of spectators gathered at the Y. M. C. A. to see the games, which were interesting and well played.

In the first game, the Woodstock Juniors defeated the London Juniors by the score of 28 to 17, repeating the loss they handed to the London team in Woodstock last week. The half-time score was 10 to 7 in favor of the visitors, and in the second half they increased their lead. The London team made a big effort to come back, but were unable to do so.

The teams: Woodstock—Sage, forward; Coles, forward; Jones, center; Hissack, guard; Aitkin, guard. London—Steele, forward; Thomas, forward; Ferguson, center; Morris, guard; Eastwood, guard.

Paris Sprang a Surprise. The London Y. Seniors were handed a real surprise. Judging by what they did to Paris last year, their defeat last night was something of a shock. The Paris team won by the score of 26 to 21, the loss from the under-ward village showing surprising form.

The London team could not get the combination working, and it was this that practically lost them the game. At half-time the visitors were leading by a 14 to 13 score, and in the second half they were never headed.

Was a Victim of Bronchitis.

HAD TO BE PROPPED
UP IN BED.

Bronchitis is an acute inflammation of the membranes lining the air tubes of the lungs, and begins with a tightness across the chest, and a difficulty of breathing accompanied by a hard dry cough which later develops into the raising of a greenish or yellowish phlegm.

On the first sign of bronchitis you should check it immediately by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and thereby preventing it becoming chronic and perhaps turning into some serious lung trouble. Mrs. John Fawcett, Salisbury, N.B., writes: "A year ago I was a victim of Bronchitis. I was so bad I could not lie down, and had to be propped up in bed. As the doctor failed to do me much good a friend, who came to visit me, advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The first bottle helped me so wonderfully I took five bottles in all, and was cured. I have not had an attack of it since."

Price, 25 and 50 cents a bottle. See you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A. M. C. LEADS CITY LEAGUE

Defeated the First Hussars in Overtime Game Last Evening—Hymans and Orients Were Other Winners—A Large Crowd Present.

The largest crowd the City League has attracted this season witnessed the three games played at the Simcoe street rink last evening. Hymans, A. M. C. and Orients were the winners, while the Seventh Regiment, First Hussars and Meds were the victims. The games were all good exhibitions, the A. M. C. and First Hussars affair being the star attraction of the evening, and going into overtime before it was decided. The A. M. C. team now leads the league with a clear margin of one game.

Hymans 7, Seventh 1. In the first game Hymans outlasted the Seventh Regiment in a very hard-fought game. The final score was 7 to 1 in favor of the Tanners, with the half-time count 4 to 0.

The Hymans team is developing into a strong organization, and they will be a hard one to beat. Their next game is with the M. C. team. Parkinson, Morrison and Wilson were the stars last evening, while the work of Higgins, Henry and Groshov in goal for the Seventh stood out prominently. Homer Pearson handled the game to the entire satisfaction of players and fans alike. The teams were:

A. M. C. Beat Hussars. The Hussars and A. M. C. teams met for the first time in the second game, and it was some game. The Hussars were without the services of their star point man, and were crippled as a result. Frank Manley was played on the forward line, and he played a fine game. However, the strong defense work of the Hussars was not noticeably weakened by the absence of Wells. The final score was 6 to 2, with the half-time score 2 to 0 in the A. M. C.'s favor.

In the second half, however, the Hussars changed around somewhat and had the Ambulance men on the run. Before full time the score had been tied, and overtime was necessary. In the first five minutes neither team scored, but in the last three minutes of the second period Chantler broke the tie on a nice shot from the side, and the Hussars went to pieces. The score was 6 to 2 in favor of the A. M. C. at the end of the game. The teams were:

St. Thomas—Goal, Honsford; point, A. McLaughlin; cover, Smith; rover, Sweeney; center, Carry; right, M. McLaughlin; left, Mallory.

Referee—Chas. Welby.

INGERSOLL EXPECTS BIG CROWD AT GAME

Tomorrow Night's Junior Game With London Is Causing Much Interest in Park Packing Town.

Ingersoll, Jan. 30.—A bumper crowd will be on hand to witness the Junior O. H. A. game Friday night, when the home team will again have the speedy Londoners as their opponents. Notwithstanding the overwhelming defeat of the Ingersoll seven in Woodstock the players are undaunted, and their supporters look for a keen contest.

The final game of the evening resulted in another defeat for the Meds, who played six men to the Orients' seven. The score was 6 to 2 in favor of the orange and black. The half-time score was 3 to 2.

Despite the fact that they were a man short, the Meds put up a good game, and only the superior combination work of the Orients gave them the victory. If the Meds ever make any attempt at a team play they might accidentally win a game. They have a fast forward line, but their greatest weakness is inability to play together.

For the winners, Hagerman, Callahan and Legg played good hockey, and figured largely in the scoring. While Thompson, Hill and Martin were the pick of the Meds.

Homer Pearson handled the game capably, and his work in all three games was loudly praised by the spectators. Homer is one of the best referees in the city.

The teams were:

The standing of the league is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	For.	Agst.
A. M. C.	4	0	25	11
Hussars	3	1	25	11
Hymans	3	1	14	8
Orients	3	2	16	16

ST. THOMAS C.I.
BEAT LONDON

Victory For Saints in First of Western Ontario Inter-Collegiate League Games—Score Was Close One, St. Thomas Winning by One Goal.

St. Thomas, Jan. 29.—Western Ontario Intercollegiate League had an auspicious opening here this evening, when the local collegiate lads crossed sticks with the London Collegiate. The locals outplayed the Cockneys, the score at half-time being 1 to 0 in favor of the Saints. At full-time the result was 2 to 1 in the home team's favor. The teams:

St. Thomas—Goal, Honsford; point, A. McLaughlin; cover, Smith; rover, Sweeney; center, Carry; right, M. McLaughlin; left, Mallory.

Trimmed Senators on Their Own Ice in Fast Game—Wanderers Beat Tecumsehs in Final Games of Six-man Hockey.

THE N. H. A. RECORD.

	Won.	Lost.	For.	Agst.
Canadiens	7	3	59	39
Quebec	6	4	49	43
Wanderers	6	4	49	42
Tecumsehs	4	6	34	41
Ottawa	4	6	47	47
Toronto	3	7	41	58

Games Saturday: Quebec at Tecumsehs, Toronto at Wanderers; Canadiens at Ottawa.

OTTAWA LOST AGAIN. Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Quebec defeated Ottawa by 5 to 3. The first period ended with the score 2 to 1 for Ottawa. In the second half the Senators again went to pieces after they had been playing about ten minutes. Tommie Smith led the score on penalty piece of individual work. The Ottawa defence cracked under the strain, and Smith got in another in two minutes. Smith went off at this juncture with a broken skate, but even without their best shooter Quebec forced the play. Only Lesieur's work in goal saved Ottawa from a bad beating. Smith resumed and immediately went through the Ottawa defence, making it 4 to 2 with a wicked shot.

The line-up: Ottawa—Goal, Lesieur; point, Lake; cover, Shore; center, Ronan; right, Broadbent; left, Darragh. Quebec—Goal, Moran; point, Hall; cover, Mummy; center, Malone; right, Smith; left, Egan.

Referee, J. Brennan, Judge of play, H. Palford.

WANDERERS BEAT TECUMSEHS. Montreal, Jan. 29.—It was Wanderers all the way in the final game of six-man hockey tonight, when they defeated the Tecumsehs by a score of 6 to 2, outscoring them in two of the three periods. The Tecumsehs showed marked signs of their recent overtime matches, and with the exception of the McNamara brothers, they were not up to the task. They did not show the dash and vim of the match played on Saturday against the Canadiens.

The teams: Wanderers—Goal, Boyes; point, Ross; cover, S. C. O'Brien; center, Hyland; wing, O. Cleghorn. Tecumsehs—Goal, Nicholson; point, H. McNamara; cover, O. McNamara; wing, Thrope; center, Hunt; wing, Galt.

Referee—Eddie Phillips, Ottawa. Assistant—Reg. Percival.

MANY DISTRICT CUP MATCHES DECIDED

Lindsay, Guelph Unions, Paris and Orillia Are Winners in Their Respective Groups.

Lindsay, Jan. 29.—The competition for No. 2 district is over, the final game being played last night. Lindsay winning the cup for 1913. Lindsay and Peterboro played in the early afternoon, a fine game resulting.

The primary games in this group in the competition for the Ontario tankard were played in Peterboro yesterday. Lindsay won with a good margin.

QUELPH DISTRICT CUP. Guelph, Jan. 29.—For the second time the Guelph Unions won the district cup. This morning they put it all over Waterloo, and qualified for the Ontario district cup competition.

PARIS CURLERS WON. Hamilton, Jan. 29.—The final in District Cup No. 7 was played at the Victoria rink today. Paris defeating Drumbo by 29 to 25, an extra end being needed to decide the winner.

ORILLIA DISTRICT. Barrie, Jan. 29.—Play in the district cup competition, No. 4, concluded here this afternoon, Orillia being the winner.

COMMISSION WILL APPOINT ALL REFEREES

New York, Jan. 30.—The state athletic commission may take upon itself the assignment of referees for all boxing bouts in New York. The plan, which has already come up at meetings of the commission and received favorable action, will be finally acted upon next week. It is proposed to reduce the official list of referees, of whom there are now more than sixty holding licenses, to fully one-half the number, and to have the latter not only assigned to duty by the commission, but wholly responsible to it, rather than to the club owners, as is now the case.

If they're not good,
we'll make them good,
for nothing.

PLAYERS' FRATERNITY
HONORS "HONEY BOY"

Made Him an Honorary Member of Baseball Players' Fraternity on Suggestion of Ty Cobb.

The Baseball Players' Fraternity, which was conceived with such seriousness by the participants of the national pastime, has taken a turn toward facetiousness by its election to the honorary presidency of George ("Honey Boy") Evans, of minstrel fame, than whom no more rabid fan ever existed.

Notice to this effect was served on the black-faced entertainer by David L. Fultz, active head of the organization, in a letter of recent date.

This action was taken by the fraternity upon the suggestion of Ty Cobb, with the hearty endorsement of several other major league athletes, who wished to honor Evans for the various courtesies extended by him to his many friends of the diamond.

BRESNAHAN WILL BURY
HATCHET WITH MURPHY

Former Cardinal and Cub Boss Were Unfriendly Until Roger Signed With Cubs.

St. Louis, Jan. 29.—The peculiar part of the deal that takes Bresnahan to the Cubs is that Bresnahan and Murphy have been unfriendly for years, and only last winter Roger threatened to lick the Cubs' boss on the steps of the Waldorf Hotel in New York.

However, all these grievances have been forgotten.

"I would rather play with the Cubs than any team in the National League," said Bresnahan, "because I think they are the 1913 pennant winners. I did not accept Murphy's offer without thinking. It was the best I received. I believe I will have a chance to cut in on the world's series money. The Giants won't have it easy next year, and actually I look for the Cubs to fight it to the finish and win."

"Tell the fans in Chicago that I am not going there with any intention of becoming a manager. I will give Johnny Evers the best I have, and you know what that is. John is the grand little fellow, knows more about baseball, and I will hustle to the limit for him."

THORPE CHARGES WERE NOT MADE IN TIME

Olympic Committee Cannot Accept Return of Cup Until Meeting Next Summer.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Jan. 30.—It will be impossible for the Olympic games authorities to accept the return of the prizes which James Thorpe won at the all-round championship at the games in Stockholm until the full Olympic committee meets in Lausanne next summer, according to advices received here from Stockholm. Charges that Thorpe played professional baseball, to which he confessed, should have been made within 30 days after the Olympic games, according to the rules of the Stockholm contests, in order to have such charges formally recognized. It is believed that the only way to have the prizes recalled is to have the American Amateur Athletic Union make a request to this effect at the next meeting of the Olympic committee.

RED ROWE PLAYED ON TEAM WITH THORPE

Ottawa Catcher Was Teammate of Indian During His Professional Career.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Now that Jim Thorpe has confessed his professional association, it is not out of place to hear what Red Rowe has to say about the great athlete's diamond ability. Rowe played with Thorpe in the Carolina Association on the very occasion the Indian was pulled up.

"Thorpe is a great ball player, and it is a surprise to me he has not broken into the big leagues," Rowe said. "In fact, like his ability on the athletic field, he is an all-around man in baseball. He is a bad man when he sulks, and I remember one occasion he got six policemen to handle him, two of them going to sleep from coming in contact with Jim's right fist."

Chief Garlow, the Hamilton pitcher, was a great friend of Thorpe's, and both played on the Carleton Place team last summer. It is somewhat surprising Coach Clean Warner, knowing Garlow played professional ball in the Canadian League last summer, permitted him to play against all the American college teams on the gridiron. The only game in which he didn't participate was against Toronto University.

ST. THOMAS DIRECTOR DISPOSES OF STOCK

Change Made in Ownership of Saints' Ball Club—Election of Officers Shortly.

St. Thomas, Jan. 30.—An important transfer in the stock of the St. Thomas Baseball Club was made today. John E. Turton having disposed of his holdings in the company, owing to the fact that his absence from the city will prevent him from giving the attention to the affairs of the club that they require.

The stock of the company has heretofore been held by E. C. Killingsworth, W. Swift, J. E. Turton, and C. O. Stanley. The latter having been held by Messrs. Turton, Killingsworth and Stanley, and the other quarter by Messrs. Killingsworth, Swift and Stanley. The election of officers will be held shortly.

Had Weak AND Dizzy Spells.

Those feelings of weakness, those dizzy spells and "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves.

One dizzy spell may pass off, but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, before their case becomes hopeless. They have no equal for reviving and strengthening the heart, and invigorating the nerves.

Mrs. A. E. Martell, Rockdale, N.S., writes: "I was troubled for a long time with my heart, had weak and dizzy spells, could not sleep, and would have to sit up the greater part of the night. At last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and they did me so much good I got another, and after taking it could sleep as well as before I was taken sick. They are the best medicine I ever heard of for heart or nerve trouble."

Price, 50 cents a box; 3 for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.

SHAUGHNESSY HAS SCHEDULE DRAFTED

Meeting Will Be Held in Toronto Next Week for Purpose of Approving of It.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—The Canadian League will meet early next month at Toronto for the purpose of tackling the schedule. Frank Shaughnessy has drafted one, and the western clubs will also present a proposed set of dates. The same number of games will be played as last season, and the Ottawas will open up out of town about May 12, coming home for their first game at home on Ascension Day. It rained like six-forty on the two first days of the local schedule last year, otherwise the Ottawas would have been two or three thousand dollars to the good.

NO OTTAWA CONTRACTS HAVE BEEN RETURNED

Catcher Rowe Only Man to Have Signed Up for 1913.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—None of the members of the Ottawa Baseball Club, except Catcher Rowe, have yet returned their contracts. They were sent out last week, but have hardly had time to be duly considered by the players, who have until Feb. 15 to return them. Those who have not signed up by that time will be suspended and sent out of baseball until such time as they send in their signatures. Some of the Ottawa salaries have been reduced, but it is not expected that Manager Frank Shaughnessy has a score of applications for positions on the Ottawa Club and will go after new men in case the regulars of 1912 fail to come to terms.

BERT HEAMAN'S RINK WON THISTLE 'SPIEL

Captured the Strong Prizes With Large Score.

The first bonspiel the London Thistle Club has held since the Menhennick bonspiel, was won by Bert Heaman's rink last evening. The prizes were donated by Mr. W. T. Strong. All the games were good ones, the winning rink scoring a count of plus 22. The second rink was away behind with a score of only plus 8.

The rinks and scores were as follows:

G. C. English, C. E. Sterling, W. McCutcheon, A. M. Heaman, skip, plus 22.
J. S. Brown, A. M. Trick, R. D. McDonald, W. T. Strong, skip, plus 8.

FRONTENACS GAVE POOR EXHIBITION IN TORONTO

St. Michael's Had No Trouble Beating Them by Big Score.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—"Uncle Jim" Suchan's Kingston Frontenacs put up the worst exhibition of hockey yet shown by a Kingston team when his O. H. A. Michael's 17 to 2 at the Arena last night. Despite the fact that the local team were present, which shows the patriotic following that the "blue shirts" have.

St. Michael's—Goal, Thompson; point, Murphy; cover-point, Disette; rover, Richardson; centre, Laflamme; right wing, Kingston; left wing, McCumie.

Referee—Lawson Whitehead, Toronto.

A new rule proposed by the committee of the American Trotting Association is to the effect that a person under suspension for unpaid entries shall be permitted to race with the provision that one-fourth of his winnings shall be retained to apply on the back bills.

URGE NECESSITY OF BEAUTIFYING STREETS

More Parks and Better Kept Thoroughfares Have Been Suggested.

SARNIA BRANCH OFFICE, 209 Front Street, Office hours, 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., 3:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Jan. 30.—A local paper has pointed out that it might pay to beautify Sarnia with a park or two, well-kept streets, and so forth. The idea has aroused a certain amount of interest. The town is one of the most favorably located in the Dominion, and the natural scenery surrounding it is unexcelled.

The municipality itself, however, is far from what it ought to be so far as cleanliness and neatness is concerned. Front street in particular is far from prepossessing in appearance, and this is about the first street that a traveller entering the town would notice. It has been suggested from time to time by certain progressive citizens that an esplanade be built along the river side of Front street from that point near the entrance to the Northern Navigation, where the sidewalk is now discontinued. It is at the Northern Navigation Company's dock that the White Star Line boats stop in summer, and many think it would pay to beautify this particular portion of the street.

GATE FACTORY TO DOUBLE ITS PLANT

More Men Will Be Taken On in the Spring.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Jan. 30.—The Regal Gate Company, one of Sarnia's growing industries, intends to enlarge its capacity during the coming spring. The concern was formerly located on the shore of Sarnia Bay, but some time ago moved to a new site to the south of the Sarnia Fence Company. The industry is now turning out on an average of 70 gates a day, but it has been decided to double the capacity of the plant. An addition of one hundred and ten feet in length will be built, which will mean an increase in the working force. About thirty men are now employed at the place.

EXPECT A SHAKE-UP

Dissatisfaction Alleged Among American Immigration Officers at Border.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Jan. 30.—There are rumors of a shake-up in the American immigration office at Port Huron. It is said that a certain amount of dissatisfaction exists among the inspectors, but just what the seat of the trouble is, remains a mystery to those on the outside. It is said that the inspectors do not pull well with their chief, and that an important change may be made.

GOING TO CHATHAM.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Mitchell, Jan. 30.—Vivian Young, of the Merchants' Bank staff here, leaves for Chatham shortly to take the position of cashier in the Central Bell Telephone Company's office.

Gus Macey is of the opinion that Gold Dollar, 2064, will stand training this year, and he will give the chestnut gelding a chance. If the trotter does stand up there are few that can take his measure.

BY FREDERICK ORIN BARTLETT

CHAPTER XXIII.

With still five miles of the fifteen to walk before he reached the home of Julie, Nat met Al Foley, who was coming in his mare Belle Marie. Nat never saw these two together, the fine blooded horse clean and delicate in all her parts, and the weak-faced man with pimply face, but what he wondered why the mare didn't take the bit in her teeth and end it. Nat shook his head and he in response to the big tender hand brushed his ear with her velvet nose. "Didn't know but what ye might be in a hurry," suggested Foley with a significant leer.

The attentions of Nat to Julie Moulton were known to all the world. "No," answered Nat. "You're on your way to pay yer respects to the young couple."

"No," answered Nat. "I'm going to see Julie Moulton."

Foley drew a deep breath. He could scarcely believe in the good luck which had befallen him as the bearer of the news.

"Ye don't mean to say ye ain't heern?" he drawled.

"Heard what?"

"That she and 'Gene' is married—married yesterday?"

"Who?"

"She," interrupted Foley gayly. "Julie and yer brother."

Foley shrank back from the heavy hand which suddenly fell upon his shoulder.

The grip and the white face and the burning eyes searching his soul for the truth made him wince. He felt himself lifted from the sulky to the ground when he was held at arm's length.

"Foley, if you have left, God help you! If you haven't—if you haven't, Foley, then God help me!"

Nat stepped into the sulky, lifted the reins, and Belle Marie in surprised response to the new look took the round as though winged.

Mile after mile she sped on with the joy of a freed thing, and, obeying the reins of a fallow deer, she rode to the front door and brought the knocker down with a report that rang through the house like a pistol-shot.

It was Silas Moulton who answered it. Heavy-eyed, he asked:

"Have you heard?"

"Then it's true," demanded Nat.

Silas Moulton nodded and ushered him in as into a house of death.

The father knew the boy as well as the brother knew him, and both knew there was in him little of brave good. He had the strength of an ox, but the heart of a fallow deer.

He was well enough on the outside, but all wrong within—almost wrong within.

When Nat came into the darkened parlor where Julie sat, he saw that the door on the opposite side of the room was just closed.

He rose to meet him with her cheeks flushed but her head well up. She looked now more like a mother brought to bay in defence of her young than a bride.

dropped her hand. He saw that there was nothing to be done here. He forced a smile, because he would not hurt her even with the pain of his own hurt.

"Well," he said, "then I guess I'll be going."

His words sounded so final that she thrust out her hand and placed it on his arm.

"You will come and see me often?"

He considered a moment. It was difficult to refuse, because he had just present this seemed an impossible thing to promise.

"Go into camp next week," he answered.

"Oh, but—"

She checked herself. "I wish you luck in your business."

"Thanks," he answered.

Because he stood before her so sturdily and without complaint, because he neither questioned her right of action nor whined over the past, because even now he sought not his own happiness but hers, Julie with a pain in her throat came to a new knowledge of what a man might be.

He turned to go, but half way to the door stopped.

"If ever you should need me, I will come," he said.

At that she raised her head proudly.

"Why should I need you?" she asked.

"If I can help it you won't," he answered.

She walked steadily because he knew exactly what was before him to do. As he passed through the kitchen he grasped Silas by the hand and placed his other on the drooping shoulders of the mother.

"I have wished Julie happiness," he said. "I guess this will turn out better than you think."

"If it had only been you," exclaimed the mother.

Nat turned away his head. "You mustn't talk like that," he pleaded.

Silas' eyes leaped to the clenched jaw of the young man, and with sudden understanding he whispered to the mother.

"He's out there—the barn."

"I know," nodded Nat. "I shall see him and wish him happiness."

Nat turned the door half open, but as he entered he could see little because of the heat in his eyes. He stood there, helpless, listening to the mother's halting chains about him, to the low bleat of greeting from the ever-hungry sheep, to the restless moan of the wind.

Presently the shadows began to dissolve, and he made out the bulging masses of the kitchen.

Then the feed box to the right, and near the feed box the mother, who was sitting on the floor.

He saw it was "Gene." He saw it was "Gene." He saw it was "Gene."

He was leaning against an upright, with a placid face which was clearly, for he was not fool enough to take chances on being exposed.

He had too much in him for that. He studied his brother's face with curious interest. The boy looked older than when he left, but he had lost much of his freshness.

It was the age of the city he showed and not the age of the hills. He seemed heavier and harder, and Nat was glad that he was still shifty and the mouth loose. Yet over and over to himself Nat declared there must be something which had attracted the girl, something which had made himself must have missed. He must cling to this fact or the temptation to batter down the man would overcome him.

So long he was able to reason, he realized that this course would do little good; he could not batter down with the man Julie's love for him. It was probable, unless Gene had greatly changed, that if allowed to go on in his own way he might accomplish this himself. But neither would that do. He might by this course gain the woman too. Nat knew how deeply she must love to have been so blinded to the true nature of the man which even had read his face in other men's eyes. He knew her contempt of weakness, of hypocrisy, and had heard her denounce him up to his ears in other men. Even if Gene had deceived her by lying, why, that made no difference now. The point was that the man must be made to live up to her ideal of him. That was what remained for Nat himself to accomplish. That and nothing else.

He found his voice.

"Gene," he began, "they tell me that you are married to Julie Moulton."

"They tell you right, Nat," answered Gene.

BALLOT STUFFING AT THE CAPITAL

Warrant issued for the Arrest of Well-Known Citizen.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Ottawa has a real ballot-stuffing scandal arising out of the recent municipal elections when J. H. Ellis, M. P., was elected mayor. The stuffing is alleged to have taken place in Ottawa Ward, one of the Lower Town divisions, and it is alleged that the stuffing was done by two after the elections there were rumors of fishy-looking figures in some of the polls of Ottawa Ward, and Mayor Ellis announced that he would investigate. A few days ago, Inspector Henry Reburn, of the provincial force, arrived in Ottawa. He went quietly to work, and is said to have made some surprising discoveries.

REPLIES TO LEMIEUX

Mr. D'Aoust Says He Did Not Operate a Lottery.

Montreal, Jan. 29.—Mr. C. B. D'Aoust, characterizes as astounding and untrue the reported statement of Mr. Lemieux in the House of Commons that he (Mr. D'Aoust), had once run a lottery. "A few years ago," said Mr. D'Aoust, "I was elected president of a Canadian company, dealing exclusively in bonds guaranteed by the French Government or else in bonds such as those of the Credit Foncier, city of Paris debentures, and Panama Canal Company bonds. Apparently it was this company Mr. Lemieux had in mind when he spoke of a lottery."

"If this can be called a lottery," added Mr. D'Aoust, "then such an understanding of it differs from that of people with an average amount of common sense. At the present time this same company has for its president Mr. C. H. Branchaud, a member of the Montreal Stock Exchange, and for vice-president a close friend of Mr. Lemieux and myself in the person of Mr. Joseph Lamarche."

As to the $200,000 note, Mr. D'Aoust maintained that the Banque Internationale had at all times been amply secured, and further, that Mr. Lemieux was well aware, when he made his speech, that the note had already been paid off in full.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Miss E. R.: A lotion that will help your red hands, dark face and neck perfection can be made at home by the use of a mixture of one-half pint of hot water (or witch hazel) and adding two teaspoonsful of glycerine. This will whiten and beautify your skin and take away that coarse, muddy look you have. This is much better than face powder, as it is inexpensive, creamy, and will not rub off easily, like the powder does when you wear a veil.

The perfume lotion is made by adding a few drops of perfume to the water and will give you a soft, pinkish, youthful appearance. It is fine for cold noses, chaps, freckles, and protection to the face against harsh winds and changes of weather. I am sure you will like this perfume lotion very much.

Virginia: Lack of exercise and eating too much solid food during the summer months accounts for your being so fat and complexion and loss of energy. What you need is a reliable system of blood-purifier. Try this. Dissolve 40 ounces of kaffrine in a half-pint of alcohol (not whiskey), adding one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and in a short time you will feel like a new person. It will give you rich, red blood, and you will have energy and the color and look of health into your face.

Sylvia: Never wash your hair with soap. The "free" alkali in soap is injurious to the hair, and in time will eat the very life out of it, causing your hair to become streaky and split at the ends. For a really good shampoo, simply dissolve a teaspoonful of castile in a cup of hot water. Shampoo and rinse with clear water. This shampoo lathers abundantly, gets rid of dandruff and excess oil, and will leave your hair soft, glossy and ruffy. This shampoo dries so quickly that it makes shampooing a pleasure. After using it once you will imagine you have twice as much hair as you ever had before. This is the shampoo used by many of the best hairdressers.

After shampooing, an application of a quinine hair-tonic will give you a healthy and refreshing to your scalp.

Kate: (a) Reducing your weight without plenty of exercise and dieting will appear quite difficult, but I have a formula that has worked wonders where other remedies have failed. Put four ounces of paraffin in 1 1/2 pints hot water. When cold, strain out the sediment and take a tablespoonful of the liquid before each meal. It is a harmless remedy and leaves the skin free from flabbiness. (b) To make your eyes bright and healthy, use crystals eye tonic regularly. It is sold by all druggists.

PULP QUESTION IS NOW "UP" TO PRESIDENT

Taft Will Decide Whether Free Entry Will be Retained or Dropped.

Washington, Jan. 29.—As the result of complaints against the recent order of the Quebec Municipal Government, purporting to remove all restrictions or export tax from the timber of certain crown lands of that province, President Taft personally will decide whether or not the pulp and paper made from the timber affected will be entitled to free entry into the United States.

According to representations to this Government, Quebec's action amounts to a discrimination against American holders of crown lands, and to grant the free entry privilege, it is declared, would simply defeat the real intent of the wood pulp and paper clause of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

The state and treasury departments have investigated the situation, and will make a joint report to the President.

ICEMEN ARE BUSY GETTING IN SUPPLY

Splendid Cut Is Being Stored Away at Ingersoll.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Jan. 30.—The ice harvest is all right. Not a little alarm has been felt because the fact that ice was not harvested as early as in previous years. However, if the present weather continues for a couple of days, the supply of ice will be well under cover. The ice is of first-class quality and is free of snow.

The contest for the wardenship of the county was followed with intense interest by the voters. The contest was in itself an occurrence so out of the ordinary that interest was bound to develop even among those who probably have been indifferent heretofore. The new warden, Mr. C. H. Denton, of Tillsonburg, is widely known to the people of Ingersoll and very popular here as well as throughout the townships.

C. P. R. ANNOUNCES IMPORTANT CHANGES

Switch of Officials in Sleeping, Dining

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Montreal, Que., Jan. 28.—Changes in the sleeping, dining car and news service officials on the Canadian Pacific Railway are being made. The tremendous growth of the sleeping, dining car and news service departments of the Canadian Pacific Railway has made necessary the reorganization of the control of the services in order to properly take care of the great additions both in the staff and equipment that have recently been made to these departments.

W. A. Cooper, formerly general superintendent, has been made manager of the entire service, and A. Rutledge and H. F. Mathews have been appointed general superintendents, the former with office in Montreal, and the latter located in Winnipeg.

These changes are effective February 1, and indicate these departments will be fully equipped to take care of the great increase in business, which is anticipated this summer.

DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR A BAD LIVER OR SLUGGISH BOWELS

This Gentle, Effective Fruit Laxative Thoroughly Cleans Your Stomach, Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels of Sour Bile, Poisons, Gases and Clogged-Up Waste.

A harmless cure for sick headache, for biliousness, for a sour, gassy, disordered stomach, for constipation, indigestion, coated tongue, sallowness, pimples—take delicious Syrup of Figs. For the cause of all these troubles lies in a torpid liver and sluggish condition of your 30 feet of bowels. A teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs to-night means all poisonous waste matter, the undigested, fermenting food and sour bile, gently moved on and out of your system by morning, without griping, nausea or weakness. It means a cheery day tomorrow—many bright days thereafter.

Please don't think of gentle, effective Syrup of Figs as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself, for delicious figs, senna and aromatics cannot injure anyone.

This remarkable fruit preparation is a wonderful stomach, liver and bowel cleanser, regulator and tonic, the safest and most positive ever devised. The day of violent purgatives, such as calomel, pills, salts and castor oil, is past. They were all wrong. You got relief, but at what a cost! They acted by flooding the bowels with fluids, but these fluids were digestive juices. Syrup of Figs embody only harmless laxatives, which act in a natural way. It does what right food would do—what eating lots of fruit and what plenty of exercise will do for the liver, stomach and bowels.

Be sure you get the old reliable and genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Company, Hand bank, with score, any Fig Syrup imitation recommended as "just as good."

MORE "ROGERISMS" IN THE COMMONS

Public Works Minister Refuses to Answer Questions of Opposition.

GAVE OUT ESTIMATES

Evades Direct Reply When Asked About Recent Pre-Election Letter.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—Hon. Robt. Rogers has again evidenced his apparent contempt for parliamentary and political decency. The making public in advance of presentation to His Royal Highness the Governor-General and the Parliament of both main and supplementary estimates totalling over $200,000 to be expended in Antigonish County, Nova Scotia, with a view to influencing the recent by-election there, was in itself a brazen breach of ministerial propriety hitherto unrivalled in Canada. This afternoon in the House Mr. Rogers, when questioned by Mr. William Chisholm, of Antigonish, as to whether the Minister of Public Works or his secretary had authorized the publication of the estimates, declared that he had not personally authorized it, and bluntly declined, when pressed, to say whether or not his secretary had sent or authorized the sending of the letter published on the eve of polling.

Rogersism. To these questions Mr. Rogers replied by the statement that the minister himself did not authorize the publication. Senator Girroir had been asking for a memorandum as to expenditure, and the memorandum was forwarded in response to his request. But Mr. Chisholm was not satisfied with this Rogersism. He accused the minister of "evading the question." He thought he was entitled to straight answers to his questions.

Mr. Rogers engaged in a whispered conference with Premier Borden. "The minister did not authorize or send the communication," he replied, finally. "My question was not to be put off," Mr. Chisholm said he, "is also as to whether his secretary sent or authorized to be sent the letter and its inclosure."

"I did not know that that had any bearing," was Mr. Rogers' response. Mr. Chisholm again rose, when the speaker called him to order. The minister had given his answer, and the member could not debate the matter with him.

"My question was, Mr. Speaker," persisted Mr. Chisholm, "whether the minister or his secretary had sent or authorized the sending of the advance information. I hold I am entitled to an answer."

"I will be glad to supply any information," put in Mr. Rogers suavely. "My question is not answered," Mr. Chisholm maintained.

"There is no use in asking questions if honorable members cannot get an answer," observed Hon. Geo. P. Graham. But the speaker ruled further discussion out of order.

The main estimates alluded to in the communication have not yet been presented to Parliament, while the supplementary estimates are not expected before March.

The Conservative candidate was successful in the Antigonish by-election.

HIS RECORD CLEAN

Quebec, Jan. 29.—As a reply to Sir Rodolphe Forget, who accused him in the House of Commons yesterday during the debate on the Lemieux charges against the Forget enterprises, of having deserted the French army, Mr. D'Héliencourt, editor of Le Soleil, publishes a photographic reproduction of the letter of the President of the French Republic granting him his discharge as an officer. He also announces that, having recently been appointed an officer of the French Academy, that is evidence of his clean record.

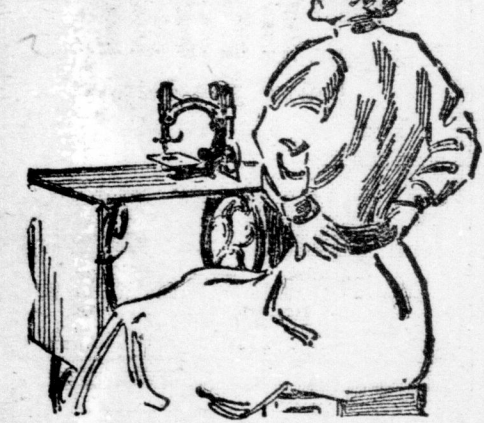

Steps are being taken to invite a member of Parliament to ask for a retraction of his allegation against D'Héliencourt from Sir Rodolphe.

NATURALIZATION LAWS SHOULD BE UNIFORM

Liberal Speaker Points Out Necessity of an Empire System—Minister of Justice Says Concurrent Legislation Is Planned.

Ottawa, Jan. 29.—That by concurrent legislation between the United Kingdom and the self-governing nations of the empire a British subject anywhere may before long become a British subject everywhere was the gist of an important announcement made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice. His statement was elicited by the debate which arose upon a resolution by E. M. MacDonald, of Pictou, N. S., calling for the production of all recent correspondence between the Dominion Government and the home government on the subject of imperial naturalization.

Mr. MacDonald pointed out that the authority conferred upon the Dominion Parliament by section 91 of the British North America act extended only to the naturalization of aliens in Canada in a restricted sense. The settler from the United States, for example naturalized in Canada, became a British subject and so remained as long as he was in Canadian territory. If he returned to the United States or went to England or to any other place inside or outside the empire but not within the territorial limits of Canada he ceased to be a British subject.

The Case of Hon. Mr. Perley. This anomalous state of affairs Mr. MacDonald illustrated by reference to the case of Hon. George H. Perley, who, he said, was slated for appointment as Canada's representative in the imperial defence committee.

Mr. Perley was born in the United States, but came to Canada at an early age, was naturalized here, had resided here continuously for many years, and occupied a prominent place in the business activities and the public life of Canada. "Yet," Mr. MacDonald observed, "this prominent Canadian and an American citizen would become an American citizen if he went to the United States."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: "Or to England."

Mr. MacDonald reviewed the discussions which have taken place at the last three imperial conferences and complained of the slow progress made in arriving at any solution of the problem.

Will Remove Disability. Hon. C. J. Doherty insisted on the other hand that considerable progress had been made. He read to the House the bill which had been introduced in the British Parliament and which would be the model for similar legislation by the overseas dominions. This bill provided that any alien might be naturalized in the United Kingdom after living there for one year provided that he had lived for four out of the seven preceding years in any part of the empire. The Dominion Government had represented to the imperial government that the bill should not apply to Canada unless sanctioned by legislation of the Canadian Parliament and had been assured that the naturalization thus conferred would not be made effective in any of the self-governing dominions without the consent of that dominion. The plan was to have concurrent legislation by all the self-governing nations of the empire so that, through the operation of substantially similar statutes, an alien naturalized in Canada for example would acquire an imperial citizenship.

One Year's Residence. At present an alien must reside continuously for three years in Canada in order to become naturalized here. The proposed statute would only require one year's residence in Canada, but at least five years' residence within the empire. Mr. Doherty was asked whether the present statute conferring a restricted naturalization would also be retained. He said this point had not been decided by the Government, but his personal preference was for only one system of naturalization. He intimated that a bill might be introduced this session. Such a measure would, however, only come into effect upon proclamation after similar legislation had been enacted by the other states of the empire.

JESUITS TAPPED THE WIRELESS

Vienna, Jan. 29.—The Government has called down the Jesuits for alleged interference with the official wireless installations. The military authorities at Graz noticed that radiograms sent from southern garrisons to Vienna did not arrive, or when they did they were in mutilated form. Investigation disclosed that there was a tapping apparatus on the roof of a Jesuit college. It seems that the Jesuits maintain a regular wireless service between their branches in the dual monarchy.

Orders have been issued to remove all such apparatus.

HON. I. B. LUCAS WAS PLACED IN CHARGE

Will Act Temporarily as the Treasurer of Province of Ontario.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—The Government met yesterday and decided that Hon. I. B. Lucas should be installed as acting provincial treasurer. Hon. Mr. Lucas stepped into the breach last session when Col. Matheson was taken ill and delivered the budget speech.

The name of Hon. Mr. Lucas is still generally mentioned for the post of provincial treasurer, but some difficulty seems to stand in the way owing to the fact that he represents a constituency in the western half of the Province. The late Col. Matheson was the member of the cabinet who came from Eastern Ontario, and it is probable that there will be a demand that an eastern man be elevated to the vacant portfolio. In this connection several names have been mentioned, among them Dr. Preston, of North Lanark, the Conservative whip; Mr. J. A. Ellis, member for East Ottawa, and T. W. McGarry, of Renfrew. Mr. Ellis, who is recognized as a particularly able man, has been elected as member of Ottawa and it is hardly likely that the honor will go his way. Dr. Preston appears to be the strong candidate of the three, if his ambitions run in that direction.

GEORGE TUCKETT TAKEN BY DEATH

Well-known Tobacco Manufacturer Passes Away Unexpectedly in Hamilton.

Hamilton, Jan. 29.—George Thomas Tuckett died here tonight shortly after 8 o'clock. He had been ill only a short time, and his death was wholly unexpected. His wife predeceased him by a few months only.

Mr. Tuckett was a notable figure in the business life of Hamilton. He was a son of the late George E. Tuckett, the founder of the great tobacco firm of George Tuckett & Son, and mayor of this city in 1896. George Tuckett was born in Hamilton in 1859, and was educated in the public schools here and at Upper Canada College. His business career was started with the firm of Tuckett & Billings, and he showed a remarkable aptitude, which later warranted his father in making him the general manager of the firm of George E. Tuckett & Son, which succeeded Tuckett & Billings. He was made vice-president of the company in 1888 and president in 1900.

A Man of Affairs. Mr. Tuckett was a director of the Hamilton Steamboat Company, and president of the Tuckett Cigar Company, and was identified with other important business interests in Hamilton. He took a deep interest in yachting, and was an ex-commander of the Royal Yacht Club. Among the many organizations with which he was associated were Temple Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and St. George's Lodge, being a past president of the latter society. Mr. Tuckett was a member of the Hamilton Club and the Albany Club of Toronto. Mr. Tuckett was married in 1881 to Jane Ann Hoodless, and leaves one son, George Joseph, and two daughters, Miss Thylis McNeely and Mrs. (Dr.) Bragg, of New York.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Lumbago Cured Every Ache Gone

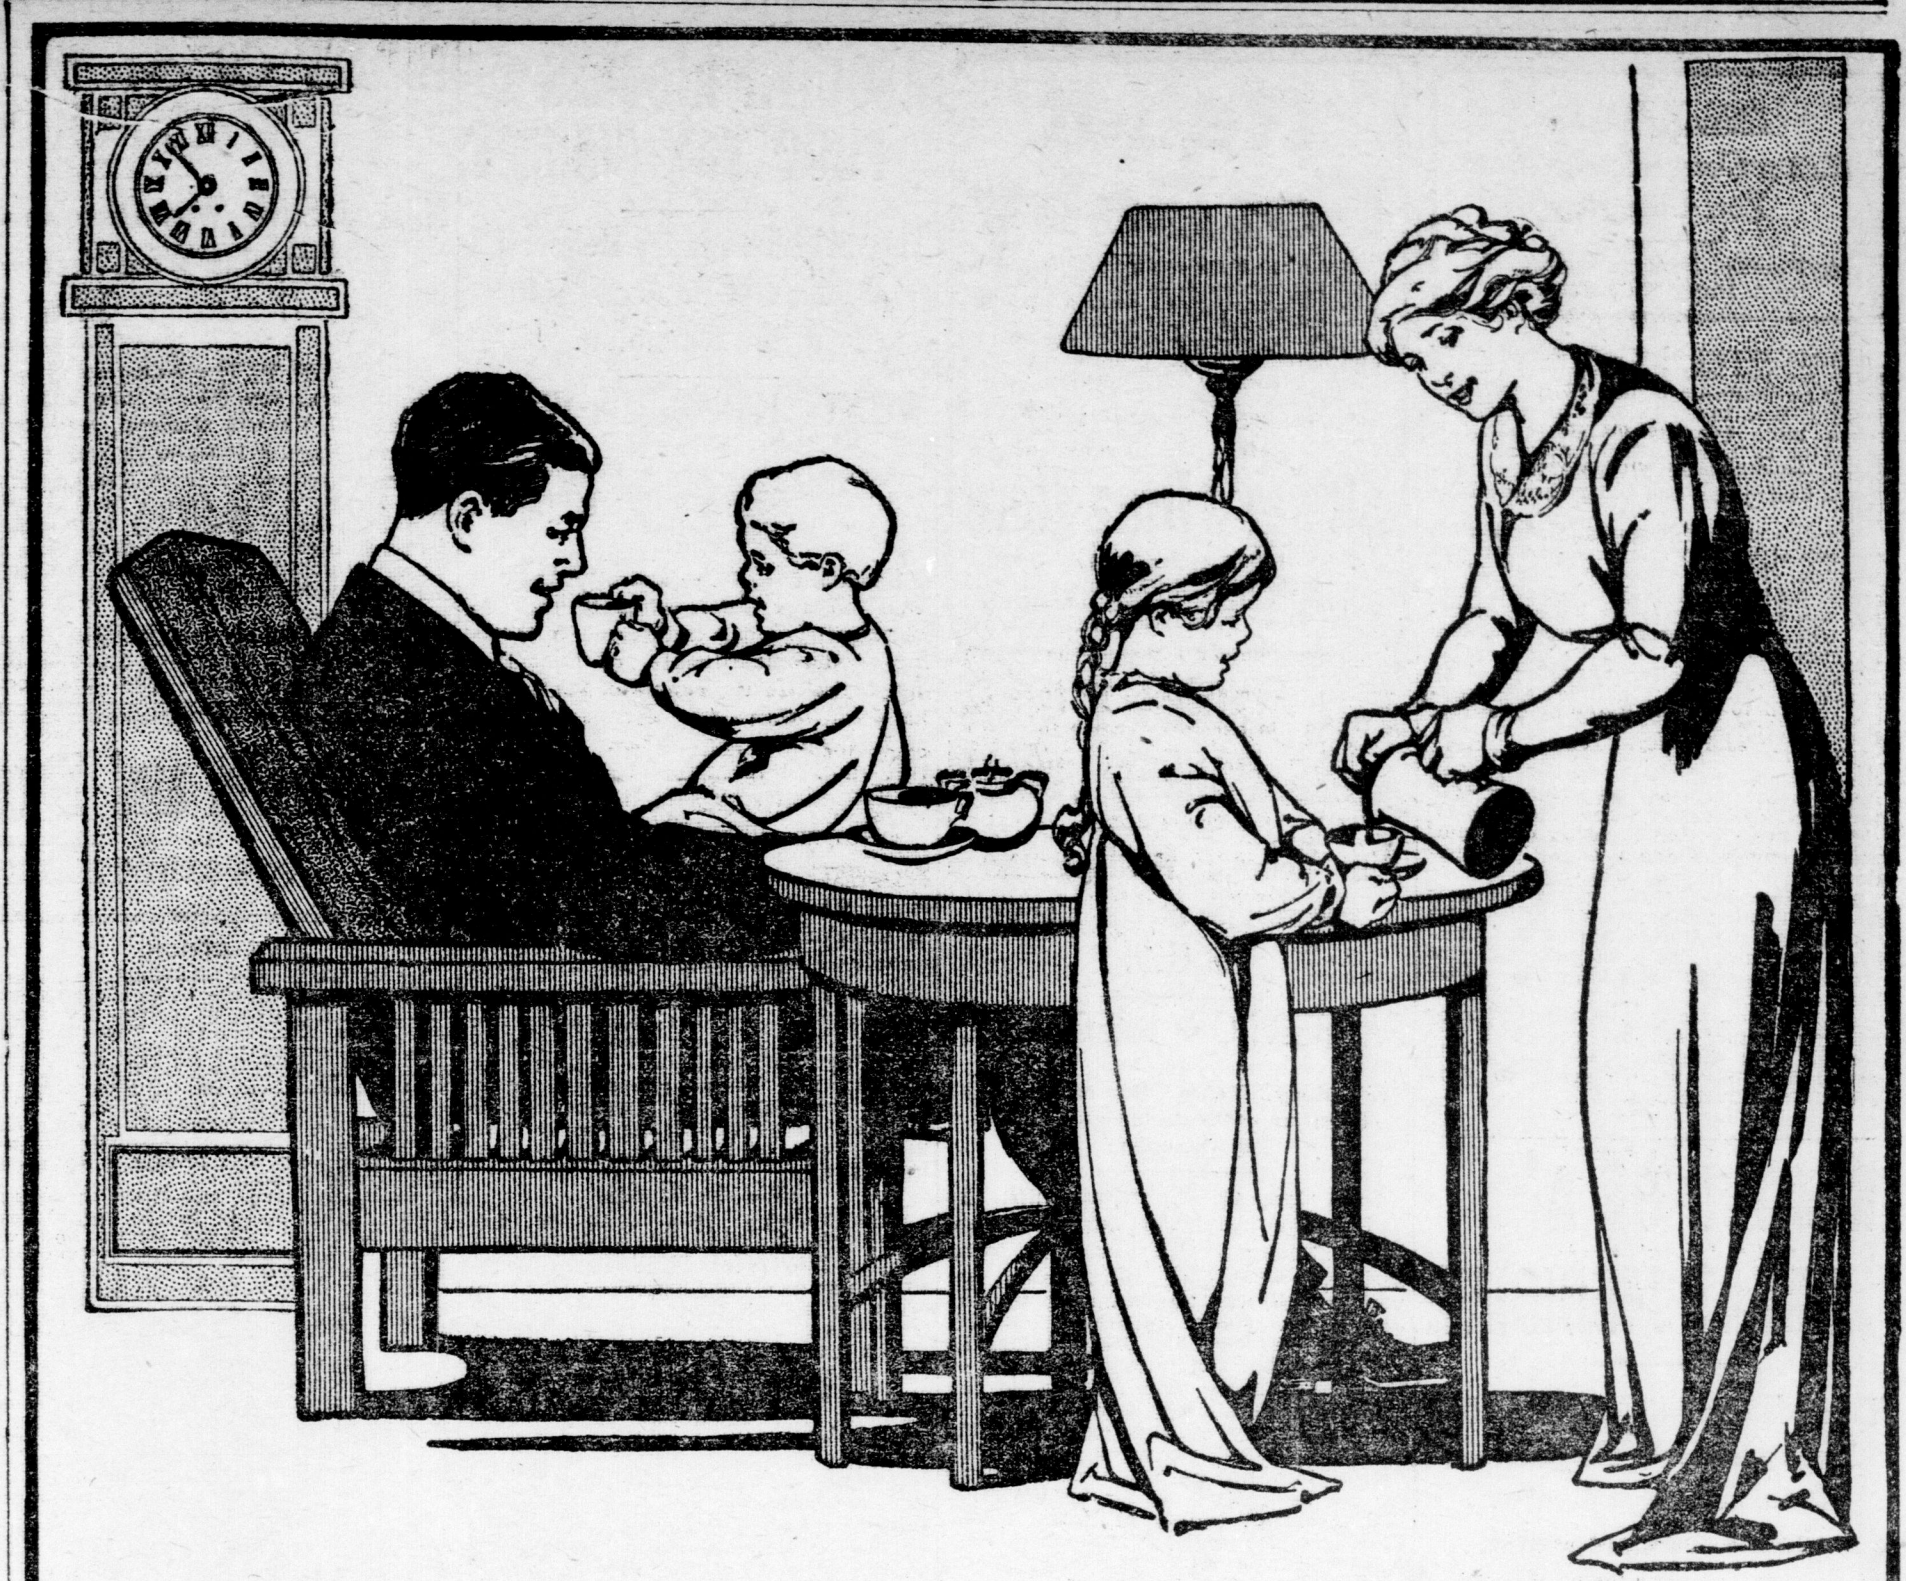

Thousands Still Suffering That Can Be Quickly Cured By "Nerviline."

The Case of Harold P. Bushy.

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive." These words open the sincere, straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well-known man in the plumbing and tin-smithing business.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline, and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine. I could feel its soothing, pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date penetrating pain-destroyer like Nerviline."

"Please publish my letter the world over. I want all to hear of Nerviline." Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large family size bottles, 50c; trial size 25c; all dealers, or The Carterhorne Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

For Everyone at Bedtime—FRY'S

Little bodies and big bodies alike get great good from this rich, pure beverage. Taken at bedtime FRY'S Cocoa satisfies that need for "a little something" that the appetite craves. It's a drink, yet it's a food too—the ideal way to take nourishment just before sleep.

Fry's THE Cocoa

So finely prepared, so soluble is FRY'S, that it is ready for immediate absorption into the system. Isn't it better to drink FRY'S, the food beverage beyond compare, than just tea or coffee—which are simple infusions, without nourishment? But, of course—

Methven, of Mimico, a former Grand Trunk conductor, was today found guilty of criminal negligence. Sentence will be imposed tomorrow. Methven was charged by the company with leaving a freight train standing on the main line instead of waiting to see that it was shunted off, thus endangering human lives. His defence was that he did not know it was the main line. Methven had charge of a freight train bound from Port Erie and finished up his run here.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

No Headache, Bad Taste, Sour Stomach or Coated Tongue By Morning.

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction. Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver, bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

age, took place yesterday at his residence, 99 Leonard street. The funeral is to be held Friday afternoon. He is survived by a wife, two sons and three daughters, all of whom, with the exception of one married daughter, reside in Winnipeg. Mr. McIntyre was a pioneer of Winnipeg having come to this city 23 years ago, taking up a farm near the city. He was born in Lobo, Ont. He retired from active work some time ago.

STOMACH SICK, SOUR, UPSET AND FULL OF GAS? PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

In Five Minutes! Time It! All Indigestion, Heartburn and Dyspepsia Gone and Your Stomach Feels Fine.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is astonishing. Please don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary

Shiloh The Family Friend for 40 years. A never failing relief for Croup and Whooping Cough.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

Sixteen ounces of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for rough, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in quinine and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

Doctors Could Not Help Mrs.
Templeton—Regained
Health through Lydia E.
Pinkham's Compound.

Hooper, Nebraska.—"I am very glad to tell you Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. For five years I suffered from female troubles so I was scarcely able to do my work. I took doctors' medicines and used local treatments but was not helped. I had such awful bearing down pains and my back was so weak I could hardly walk and could not ride. I often had to sit up nights to sleep and my friends thought I could not live long. At my request my husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I commenced to take it. By the time I had taken the seventh bottle my health had returned and I began doing my washing and was a well woman. At one time for three weeks I did all the work for eighteen boarders with no signs of my old trouble returning. Many have taken your medicine after seeing what it did for me. I would not take $1000 and be where I was. You have my permission to use my name if it will aid anyone."—Mrs. SUSIE TEMPLETON, Hooper, Nebraska.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinate ills of woman—ills that deal out despair.

It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

Vapo Cresolene A Simple, Effective Treatment For Bronchial Troubles.

QUICKLY CURES THE WORST BACKACHE

Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder
Disorders and Rheumatic Pains Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back, and aches, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, or are nervous, tired and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at the nearest drug store or by mail. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

HON. JAMES YOUNG HAS PASSED AWAY

The Veteran Parliamentarian
Closes Life at His Home in Galt.

FATHER OF REFORMERS

For Many Years Represented the Counties of Waterloo and Brant in Commons.

Galt, Jan. 29.—At "Thornhill," the picturesque family residence, Hon. James Young passed peacefully away early this afternoon. Death came not unexpectedly, as he had been in ill-health for some months, gradually growing weaker. On May 24 last he celebrated his 77th birthday. Full of years and vigor, a former parliamentarian, publicist, gifted man of letters and kindly, cultured gentleman, his passing is deeply regretted in the community in which he was born and lived all his life. The county of Waterloo and the sister county of Brant, whose able and devoted parliamentary representative he was for long years, mourn him sincerely and deeply. He will be remembered gratefully as one of the makers of Canada.

James Young died veritably in harness. He has just witnessed the fruition of one of the great literary labors of his life—publication of the final volume of his work, "Public Life and Public Men in Canada," an historical review, comprehensive in scope, interesting in details, refreshing in tone and a model of plain, terse diction before the ripe scholar and trained journalist.

Self-Made Man.
Hon. James Young rose from the ranks and was essentially a self-made man. From printer's apprenticeship to editorship and ownership of the newspaper on which he worked was his first achievement. He made no secret of cherished ambition to become a public man, and through various municipal offices he won his way to Parliament. At the first general elections after confederation in 1867, he was elected to represent South Waterloo in the Commons, and in the general elections of 1872 and 1874 was re-elected by acclamation. Defeated at the general election of 1875 by a small majority he was presented by Reformers of the riding with a series of petitions in relation of his second election to the Commons. He took an active part in the conduct of business, more especially during the five years of the Mackenzie administration. He was chairman of two important committees of public works and committee of the whole House in supply.

Father of Reforms.
Among his legislative measures were abolition of the old system of queen's printer and letting of public and departmental printing by public tender, a bill confirming naturalization of all aliens who had taken oath of allegiance and naturalization before confederation, a bill in favor of the ballot, the Government, however, taking the question up, the passage of addresses to her majesty in 1873 and 1878, praying that the Imperial Government would confer on Germans and other aliens naturalization the same rights in all parts of the world as British subjects enjoy. Appointment of a special committee which resulted in publication of "Hansard's and resolutions in favor of the establishment of the Government bureau of statistics."

At the provincial general elections in 1879, he was returned to the legislature for North Brant. Re-elected at the general elections in 1883, he entered Sir Oliver Mowat's cabinet as provincial treasurer on June 2 and was re-elected after accepting office. Owing to sickness he resigned the treasury and retired from the Government in October following, but remained a member of the House till the close of the fifth Legislature in 1886, when he declined re-election.

He was all his life a contributor to leading magazines, and journals, and was the author of much literature dealing with trade questions and international relations, always taking the Canadian view. For 37 years he was president of the Gore District Fire Insurance Company.

Hon. Mr. Young leaves a widow, Margaret, second daughter of the late John McNaughton, Brantford, to whom he was married in 1858. He was an active member of the Central Presbyterian Church.

TO SAVE THE BIRDS

Pledges Taken Not To Use Plumage of Egret and Paradise Bird.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Jan. 30.—Pledges never again to wear the much-prized feathers of the egret and the paradise bird are being signed by many women prominent in society here. Mrs. H. Fairfield Osborn, wife of the president of the American Museum of Natural History, started the pledge-taking at a club meeting yesterday. It was resolved that everything possible should be done to protect from extinction two birds whose plumage has been much sought by women of fashion. The women pledge-takers are mainly members of the ladies' auxiliary of the New York Zoological Society. By formal resolution they endorsed the principle of federal protection embodied in the McLean bill, now before Congress.

ASQUITH RIDDLES FOOD TAX SCHEME

The British Premier Believes It Would Not Be Acceptable to the Dominion.

WHAT FARMERS WANT

Canadian Agriculturists Believe British
Trade Policy a British Question Entirely.

London, Jan. 30.—Premier Asquith, who receives the freedom of the city of Dundee today, addressed a meeting of his constituents of East Fife last night. In the course of his speech he dealt with the recent speeches of Bonar Law and Austen Chamberlain on food taxation. He had failed to understand, he said, why the burden of the responsibility was to be thrown upon the overseas Dominions.

He said: "I do not believe the Dominions would consent for one moment to enter into such a position. I have received a remarkable document from the Manitoba Grain-Growers' Association, signed by the president, who tells me that it is an association representing the wheat and barley farmers in the province. These are people who, if the food taxes were imposed, it is believed would benefit by them. This is the voice of Manitoba. Hear what they say."

Vital to Canada.
The Premier then read as follows: "Newspaper dispatches indicate that a movement is afoot in Great Britain to tax the foreigner's wheat in order to give a rest to the British farmer. The intention is to refer the question to the overseas Dominions. This is a vital matter to the farmers of Canada, who are the backbone of the association. I wish to call your attention to the resolution unanimously adopted on Jan. 8, that this convention opposes any preferential tariff scheme that will give western grain-growers a higher price for their grain at the expense of the British workman."

Then the letter to the Premier proceeds as follows: "Manitoba farmers believe that the British trade policy is a British question entirely, and resent any attempt on the part of Canadian interests to interfere with matters which affect the British people alone. When it is suggested that the question be referred to the overseas Dominions, we consider we should give an expression of our views, particularly as the grain-growers of Western Canada are the largest grain exporters in the British Empire, and that Great Britain is our chief market at the present time. We wish the people of Great Britain to distinctly understand that we have no desire to place any additional burden on the British consumer for our benefit. We believe that any preference given to the Canadian wheat and barley would simply result in an increased cost to the British consumer. We are quite willing to face the world's competition in the British market, and are anxious only that British manufacturers should be given free access to the Canadian market."

Triumph of Liberalism.
In concluding, Mr. Asquith said the relations between Great Britain and the great Dominions have never been more intimate and affectionate. "In the creation of the South African Union, upon the granting of responsible government to the Transvaal, we see the triumph of Liberal principles and Liberal policy, and throughout the Empire there is everywhere growing up a resolve for closer co-operation in the great and common task of imperial defence."

BARROOM SQUAD TO HANDLE THE LOAFERS

Addition to Moose Jaw Police Force Is Placed on the Hotel Beat.

[Canadian Press.]
Moose Jaw, Jan. 30.—A barroom squad of three members is the latest addition to the Moose Jaw police force.

Annoyed by the presence of loafers and chair-boarders in their hotel, the hotelmen of this city appealed to the police commissioners, a short time ago for protection. They agreed to foot the expenses of an addition to the police force of three men, who were secured by the commissioners, and assigned to the hotel beat. They make their first appearance at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and spend the remainder of the "open" hours in the bars.

The scheme has proved a success, for in addition to police officers have cleared up several robbery mysteries and have taken in a number of dangerous thugs.

SUFFRAGETTE MARCH

Will Outdo George Washington By Crossing Delaware Thrice.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Jan. 30.—The suffragettes who march to the city of Washington by crossing the icy waters of the Delaware three times. The schedule of the "General" Josephine Jones has drawn up calls for crossings at Trenton and from Bristol, Pa., to Burlington, N. J., to Philadelphia. "We expect to rival the continental army in history-making," said "General" Jones. The march was a success, for in addition to police officers have cleared up several robbery mysteries and have taken in a number of dangerous thugs.

CAPTAINS MAY STRIKE.
Honolulu, Jan. 30.—Disagreements between the Inter-Island Steamship Company and its captains, who are members of the Master Pilots' Association, reached a crisis yesterday, when the company declined a proposition to allow the association to control the appointment of captains. The threatened strike would stop inter-island traffic entirely. The trouble also may involve the American Trans-Pacific steamship service, as the captains of the Oceanic and Nelson Line steamers are members of the association and may join the strike.

BODY OF ST. MARYS YOUTH WAS FOUND UNDER THE ICE

Hockey Stick Was Discovered by Searching Party and Later
Remains Were Seen—Boy's Mother Is Seriously Ill at Her Home.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
St. Marys, Jan. 30.—The body of 13-year-old Eugene German, who had been missing for three days, was found late last evening by Hugh Treanor and Dan McCarthy. The search in the river kept up all night by the fishermen and volunteers, at dark they gave it up, after finding German's hockey-stick near an air-hole, near the G. T. R. bridge piers.

Messrs. Treanor and McCarthy, seeing lanterns, commenced breaking the ice, and finally came upon the body near the north shore edge of Trout Creek about 8:20.

The boy's hat was off, and one part of his sweater was frozen to the underside of the ice. The body had evidently been carried under the ice by the current to the edge of the stream and where it was found. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of J. O. Mitchell. It is not thought that any inquest will be held.

The parents are almost distracted over the sad event. The mother is lying in bed very ill, and was to have been taken to a sanatorium this week.

Cattle and Produce Markets

FOR OTHER MARKETS SEE PAGE ELEVEN.

LIVE STOCK.
MONTREAL, Jan. 29.—East End market: Receipts—Cattle, about 500; milch cows and springers, 100; sheep, 200; hogs, 100. There were no prime beefs on the market today, nor were there any really good lambs. The market was about the same for cattle, the common stock selling at 3½c to nearly 5c; milch cows, $35 to $40; calves, $25 to $35; sheep, about 5c; lambs, 7c to 1½c; hogs, 9½c to 9½c, a few small choice lots at 9½c.

PRODUCE.
TORONTO, Jan. 29.—There is a dull trade in grain generally on the market. Cables from Liverpool are lower for wheat and higher for corn. Winnipeg wheat futures stronger today. The world's visible supply of wheat has decreased over a million bushels last week. Flour—The trade in Ontario wheat flour continues very quiet, 90 per cent patents are quoted at $4 to $4 10 at the mills; export trade quiet, at about $3 90 at the seaboard. Manitoba wheat unchanged, first patents, in jute bags, $5 30; second patents, in jute bags, $4 90; strong bakers, in jute bags, $4 50. Ontario wheat, No. 1 northern, quoted at 95c, on track at 90c; No. 2 at 82½c and No. 3 at 80c. Ontario wheat—No. 2 white and red wheat quoted at 95c to 96c outside, and sprouted at 12c to 12½c. Oats—Receipts are moderate, with demand fairly good; Ontario oats, 33½ to 34 outside, and on track at 33c to 34c; Western Canada oats quoted at 41c for No. 2 and 39½c for No. 3, bay ports. Peas—There are buyers outside for No. 2 at $1 20 to $1 25, but offerings are nil. Barley—Trade is quiet; 48-lb barley of good quality is quoted at 50c to 55c outside, feed, with prices nominal; No. 2 quoted at 70c outside. Buckwheat—The market is unchanged.
