Spectators of Burglary Note Number of Car License.

Advertiser Staff Correspondent.
Elmira, Ont., May 29.—Entering the Schroeder Gents' Furnishing Store here at an early hour this morning, in full view of two women residing in an adjoining building, yet too frightened to give an alarm, three men armed with a pinch bar, got away with goods valued at $1,100.
So bold were the trio that they made two trips to the establishment in a large touring car, the number of which was obtained by the women witnesses, who have also furnished a good description of the men.
The loot included 75 rolls of cloth, one sample case of clothing, caps, straw hats, shirts, belts and other wearing apparel.
Provincial police, who were summoned to Elmira, are investigating the robbery, along with Chief Grasser who was in London when the crime was committed.
As a result of the information furnished by the women, who were awakened by the bandits, early arrests are expected.

HOLD MONTREAL MAN FOR MICHIGAN POLICE

Washington Authorities Believe A. M. Harris Will Fight Extradition.

Washington, May 29.—A. M. Harris, 29, of Montreal, said by the police to be the son-in-law of Albert White of that city, was arrested here last night at the request of the authorities at Hastings, Michigan. The police said he was wanted there on a criminal charge, the nature of which was not revealed.

Harris, who was said to have been here with his wife, formerly Miss Dorothy White, for about seven weeks, communicated with the British embassy here immediately after his arrest, and, according to the police, later said he would fight extradition to Michigan. He will be given a hearing before a United States commissioner.

WINNIPEG REGISTRATION SHORT.

UNUSUAL FOLK

LONDON, May 29.—Berkeley Basil Moreton was the Earl of Ducie's younger son. Sixty-seven years ago he came 21. Deeming it more than unlikely he'd ever inherit estate or title, he sailed for Australia to seek his fortune.
He raised sheep and prospered. Entering politics, he held several posts in the Queensland cabinet.
Meantime his father died and his elder brother became earl. Recently this brother died, aged 94. He had heirs, but they all died before him.
So Berkeley Basil Moreton is now fourth Earl of Ducie.

When London Babes Win Health At Victoria Public School Child Welfare Clinic

EVERY Friday afternoon, mothers of this city, and particularly those of South London, are afforded an opportunity of presenting their babies at a clinic held at the Victoria Public School, where each mite of humanity is carefully examined by physicians, who have volunteered their services for this laudable enterprise.
Above is shown a group of happy mothers and their children, snapped at this baby clinic. This child welfare work is partly supported by funds obtained from citizens in the last welfare campaign.
Infant feeding is one of the main features of the clinic which is emphasized. One of the babies shown in the photo above was, in the words of its mother, "a mere skeleton" when first brought to the clinic. Now, following advice on feeding given to the mother who carefully followed instructions, this child is the largest in its class, and has been judged the most healthy.

The infants are placed in classes, according to age, and are awarded points according to progress made under treatment.
Those babies who have been judged winners in their class, and who are included in the above photo are Jack Biggs, 19½ months old, son of Mrs. W. Biggs, 29 Cathcart street; Leslie Goldie, 17 months old, son of Mrs. A. Goldie, 315 Simcoe street, and Margaret Harrison, 20-months-old daughter of Mrs. A. Harrison, 41 Garfield avenue.

SIX KILLED IN IRISH CONFLICT

Battle Follows Occupation of Belleek Village by Constabulary.

Crown Forces Arrest 25 During Search of Falls Road Houses.

Belfast, May 29.—Sharp fighting between members of the Irish republican army and Ulster special constabulary occurred last night along the boundary between counties Donegal and Fermanagh, in the Belleek district. Five republicans are reported to have been killed and a number wounded. One constable was killed.
The fighting followed the action of the Ulster police in taking possession of Belleek village and Maghera Castle, nearby.
Special police from the Belleek force were ambushed and compelled to abandon their motor car, the driver of which was killed during the heavy firing.
Both wings of the Irish republican army, the insurgents and those under the free state government are believed to have been represented in the force which the Ulsterites encountered. The southerners attacked in horse shoe formation, the only side open to the police facing on Lough Erne, across which they have been receiving their supplies by boat.
The republicans intention to cut this line of communication was foiled by the northerners who repulsed their assailants after a pitched battle.
An exhaustive search of houses on streets in the neighborhood of the Falls road, about 25 men were arrested and some ammunition was seized. The prisoners included an Irish Republican army picket.

ATTACKS FLAPPER IN CHURCH SERMON

Montreal, May 29.—Girls who use powder and paint in general, and the "flapper" in particular, were made the target of some plain criticism yesterday in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul from Rev. George Duncan in a stirring address to a gathering of about 300 Girl Guides, whose spirit he praised, and whose organization he claimed would help to do away with "affectation, the eyebrow pencil, the lip stick, the powder puff and the rouge pot." Continuing, Dr. Duncan declared that while the average "modern" girl pouts and sulks when told to do or not to do things by her parents, the Girl Guide never questions her parents' authority.

CRUISER RALEIGH ARRIVES IN STATES

Washington, May 29.—The British cruiser Raleigh, with Admiral Sir William Pakenham, commander-in-chief of the British naval forces on the North Atlantic station, aboard, arrived at the Washington navy yard yesterday afternoon. The Raleigh was the first British naval vessel of its class which has come to Washington since 1814, when marines were landed here, and was the largest ship ever to attempt the passage of the channel up the Potomac.

OFFICE CLEANERS' REQUEST REFUSED

Ottawa, May 29.—The members of the Civil Service Office Cleaners Association have been advised by the civil service commission and the department of public works that their request for a two weeks' leave of absence with pay cannot be granted.
The office cleaners, who feel they are entitled to the same consideration as regards holidays as other classes of government employees, had requested a two weeks' leave of absence, and suggested that the work of the employees on holidays be handled by the other members of the staff.

REPORTS REVOLT OF HOTTENTOTS

London, May 29.—By the Canadian Press: A rebellion has broken out amongst the Hottentots in the southwest protectorate of Africa, according to a Reuter dispatch from Cape Town. The government of the union of South Africa has been trying to control it in a humane manner, in contrast with German iron rule. The outbreak is attributed to a tendency on the part of many natives to mistake kindness for weakness.

LONDONERS PAY 68 CENTS PER 1,000 DOLLARS ASSESSMENT TO MAINTAIN CITY PLAYGROUNDS

Valuable, Safe, Health-Giving Recreation Withheld From School Children On Account of Insufficiency of Funds.

This is the third and last of a series of articles on London's need of greater playground facilities.
EXPERIENCE with playgrounds in London, since their inauguration here, has proven that they render an invaluable service to the community, and that they have come to stay. The chief difficulty encountered by those responsible for their administration is in devising a method to maintain them to the best advantage of the city children and at the same time to keep within the bounds of the $20,000 per annum which has been allotted to them for this purpose.

The sum of $20,000 which is to be devoted to recreation centers this season, means an addition of 34 cents per one thousand dollar assessment to the tax rate. Nine playgrounds or bathing camps, properly supervised, will be in operation as a result of this expenditure.

In order that the kiddies may enjoy themselves all summer, each taxpayer is called upon to pay 34 cents per thousand dollars of assessment. That is to say, he is called upon to produce the price of one attendance at a motion picture theatre in order that the children might enjoy "a continuous performance" all summer.

The average assessment on the home of the workingman, who constitute the bulk of London's population, is in the neighborhood of $2,000. That means that he contributes in the neighborhood of 68 cents per year in taxes for recreation centers, which, in the majority of cases, his children enjoy. To avoid criticism this amount

Claims Time Saved By Use of Checks Is Worth Charge Imposed By Tax

Canadians are not having a burden unfairly placed upon them by the decision of the Liberal government to put a tax on checks of 2 cents for every $50. Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M.L.A. for London, contends.
For years Canadians have been saved much time and trouble by the use of checks. Instead of having to go to the place of payment with their cash they have been able to write a

CHURCH OPENS 9-DAY SESSION

London Methodist Conference Has Much Important Business To Transact.

Stationing Committee Will Make Fifty Changes in District Charges.

Ministerial delegates to the thirty-ninth annual session of the London conference of the Methodist church, which opened in the east end town hall Monday afternoon, and will continue in the Centennial Church for nine days, are arriving from points in Western Ontario on every train.

Prior to the ministerial session, which opens in Centennial Church Wednesday morning, various committees will labor to prepare reports, which will be submitted to the conference. Although approximately 450 delegates are expected to attend the conference, no more than 25 will arrive in this city Monday.

These delegates will be billeted in Methodist homes of the city, and during the conference will receive dinner and supper at the hands of the ladies' of Centennial Church in the basement of that edifice.

The first committee meeting of the conference scheduled is that of the probationers' (record committee), which consists of the chairman of districts, secretary of the examining board, and the conference secretary, which is being held in the east end town hall Monday afternoon.

This committee will review the record and standing of each probationer, also the recommendations regarding candidates for the ministry, and will report to the conference when the usual disciplinary questions are asked.

Possibly the body whose work will be of most interest to ministers and members of the laity in the district, is the stationing committee, whose report will announce to congregations in the district what new pastor will preside in their respective pulpits for the next four years, and will inform the ministerial delegates where they will be stationed for another year.

FINDS TARIFF CHANGES GIVE U. S. BAD JOLT

Tribune Washington Correspondent Claims Congress Warned by Businessmen.

BLAME AMERICAN BOAST

Observers Claim Canada Imposes Retaliatory Duties Because of Fordney Move.

New York, May 29.—(By the Canadian Press).—Canada has given the United States tariff framers "their worst jolt so far," declares a Washington correspondent of the Tribune, who believes the tariff changes proposed in the Canadian budget are of a retaliatory nature.

The Tribune correspondent says that United States manufacturers have been warning members of Congress that the tariff policy of Messrs. Fordney and McCumber was leading to retaliatory duties which would hamper if not kill United States exports of manufactured goods, but Senate leaders have not taken these warnings seriously.

Reviewing the proposed Canadian tariff changes, the correspondent calls attention to the fact that none of the articles in the list of reduced duties are manufactured for export by Great Britain. This, he said, is a particularly significant point for the United States. He says:

On every item of which the Canadian government could conceive, where the Canadian purchaser has the choice of buying from either Great Britain or the United States, the duty on the article from Great Britain is reduced while the duty on the article brought from the United States is kept the same.

"Britain has the advantage of most items of an increase of 2½ in the differential in her favor," The Tribune then gives a number of specific examples of the way in which the increase in the British preference is going to prove detrimental to United States trade with the Dominion.

"The whole line of the Canadian governments drive on the tariff is not to increase the cost of any imported article to the consumer in Canada," the correspondent adds, "but to make the British-made article cheaper than at present. Actually, the sales tax will just about eat up the reduction on farm machinery, so the Canadian treasury will not lose anything there."

"The tariff changes just made by Canada are regarded by observers here as brought about almost entirely by the boasts of leaders in the American Congress as to what the tariff bill they are now framing would accomplish. Canada has been viewing the claims made for this bill with some apprehension, it is said, and has decided not to wait before putting on retaliatory duties."

FIGHT ENFORCEMENT OF LORD'S DAY ACT, VICTORIA

Forty Storekeepers Keep Premises Open as Protest Against Sunday Laws.

Victoria, May 29.—A concerted move against the rigid enforcement of the Lord's Day Act in Victoria was apparent yesterday when forty storekeepers kept open house and hung out the "business as usual" sign, following a recent plebiscite on Sunday enforcement, when a majority in favor of a liberal interpretation of Sunday laws was obtained.

The three police commissioners of Victoria announced they would remain firm in their intention to enforce the Lord's Day Act to the letter. Flats were secured Saturday from the attorney-general for the prosecution of recent violators of the provision of the act. It is understood the "Anti-Blue Sunday League," which financed the recent plebiscite, will give financial assistance to merchants prosecuted under the act, and will take steps to insure the appeal of all cases in which a police court conviction is secured.

In what he terms an explanation of the Sunday observance plebiscite in Victoria, Rev. C. H. Huettis, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, speaking in Central Methodist Church last night, said the Victoria vote was only "straw" and that "we advise our people to take no part."

REMOVED FROM PRISON CELL TO HOSPITAL COT

London Man, Sentenced to Five Years, Wins Freedom Through Illness.

MAY GO TO SANATORIUM

Life Behind Bars Leaves Him But Shadow of Former Self.

William A. McDonald, the London man, sentenced at Windsor to five years in prison, and who relatives claimed was unjustly imprisoned for the crimes of another, is free.

The minister of justice, Sir Lomer Gouin, has granted McDonald a complete pardon. He is now in a hospital at Kingston, to which he was taken from the penitentiary. McDonald has been in prison less than a year. He was taken there last August, following conviction and sentence at Windsor.

Never of a robust physique, McDonald is said to be but a shadow of his former self. For some years he was known to be afflicted with a tubercular neck and lived and worked outdoors.

He was not long a prisoner before the confinement began to tell on him; He gradually grew worse, and finally the trouble spread to his spine.

Today he is said to be crippled from the hips down. This word was sent to his wife by the prison authorities, and just a few days ago an ex-guard from the prison called on McDonald's sister and told her of her brother's condition.

Informed of Parole.
A short time ago, W. H. Furlong, Windsor, who has been handling the legal side of McDonald's case in seeking a new trial that justice might be done, received word that McDonald would be allowed out shortly on parole. Just after that he was sent to the Kingston Hospital.

Later further representations were made to the department of justice at Ottawa, and as a result, Mr. Furlong was advised that McDonald would be pardoned.

The prison authorities are willing that McDonald should be immediately sent to his relatives in this city, or they are willing to send him to a sanatorium.

Because of his condition, it is being seriously considered having him brought to London immediately, and taken to a local sanatorium.

Mrs. McDonald took the matter up with Rev. J. D. McCullough of the Social Service Council. She was considering making a trip to Kingston and bringing her husband back.

However, Mr. McCullough believes that it would be best for Mr. McDonald's brother-in-law, W. Peck, to go down after McDonald, and he may be prevailed upon to do so.

The McDonald case, which has been reviewed from time to time, exclusively in The Advertiser, has aroused a great deal of attention. McDonald was convicted at Windsor of two cases of forgery.

When the alleged forgeries are said to have been committed McDonald was acting as the Windsor agent of the Labatt Brewery. It is said that in January, 1921, this time of the first forgery, he was in London, and in April, 1921, the time of the second forgery, he was in Waterloo.

Whiskey Causes Downfall.

However, it was a row over some whiskey that ultimately brought McDonald into the meshes of the law. The complainants told the court at the time that they wanted three

CONVERTS POPE PIUS INTO REAL BASEBALL FAN

Vatican Believes Game Will Benefit Physique of Italian Youth.

READS ENGLISH PAPERS

Pontiff Donates Site in View of St. Peter's So He May Watch Sport.

BY EDWARD L. HEARN,
European Commissioner of Knights of Columbus.

ROME, May 29.—Pope XI will go down in history as the Young Man's Pope—for he has made it known that one of his prime concerns is the welfare of the youth of his native land.

As European commissioner of the Knights of Columbus, it has been my privilege to have the longest private audience accorded so far by his holiness to a layman.

His holiness received me cordially. He is a tall, athletically built man, and he speaks English with very little accent, for an Italian.

"I am glad to see you," he said, shaking my hand. "As the representative of the Knights of Columbus you are welcome to the Holy See. I salute you, too, as a knight commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great."

The pope seated myself and my secretary comfortably.

I drew out of my pocket papers on which the report had been carefully prepared. The pope smiled at their bulk and, with a gesture, indicated that I proceed. He heard me patiently, occasionally nodding with the English equivalent of the Italian "bravo" or "good."

"When I reached the part of the report in which was stressed the importance of athletics as a medium of benefit for the Italian youth his face beamed.

"That is the thing for the boys!" he declared. "They must have games especially fitted for the climate of Italy."

Pope Pius XI is famous, among his human qualifications, for a fondness for strenuous exercise. That explains his enthusiasm for the part of the K. of C. program calling for the introduction of baseball.

"I had not gone far in explaining its merits as a health-builder and mental stimulant to youth when his holiness arose suddenly from his chair and beckoned me to the large window of his study.

He pointed out beyond the screen over the dome of St. Peter's to a large plot of sandy turf.

"The Knights of Columbus shall have that site for their field," he declared, "so that I can see for myself from my study window what progress they are making here in the heart of Rome."

It was the first time in history that such an offer had been made by any pope. I was amazed, but his holiness had evidently determined on this gift of papal land long before I saw him, for he reached into his drawer and drew out a large map.

"This map will be sent to you," he said. "It will show you clearly where this site is, and what its possibilities are for adaptability to the program of welfare work the Knights of Columbus undertake."

Headquarters in Rome.

I then explained to his holiness that the K. of C. had already taken up Roman headquarters at 25 Via Maretti, in the midst of the city and readily accessible to tourists. I informed his holiness that in this headquarters the K. of C. had made arrangements to assist the comfort of the scores of Canadian and English visitors who would visit Rome for the great Eucharistic Congress during the last week of May.

"That is achievement," said the pope. "I am delighted."

He then dwelt upon the appropriateness of the Knights of Columbus returning to Italy, after their war welfare work in that country for service men.

"It is very fitting that you undertake this task," he said, "for it is no less important than any other kind of relief work."

Italy in Hard Straits.

"Italy is still struggling from the economic disadvantages entailed by the war; and in coming to us with your strength you are bestowing upon us an unequalled blessing."

"Please," he asked me, before I quit the papal presence, "convey to the supreme knights of the Knights of Columbus, and to every individual knight and their families, my fervent blessing. Their achievements have aroused my admiration. I have for some years watched their progress as an organization devoted to practical, patriotic works."

"I trust their example in Italy will be as effective as it is meritorious."

Detroit, May 29.—Belief that a strike vote would be ordered by the executive council of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railwayshop Laborers, was expressed today by E. E. Six Firemen Killed When S. S. Welsh Prince Rammed

PORTLAND, Oregon, May 29.—Six firemen, asleep in the forecastle of the tug, Furness, Prince Line's 2,322-ton cargo steamer Welsh Prince, were killed and three injured late last night, when, according to meagre reports here, that vessel was rammed by the freighter Iowan in the Columbia River, off Astoria, Washington. The Welsh Prince sank within 20 minutes, and the Iowan was sinking slowly according to last reports.

BEGIN SEARCH FOR MYSTERY WOMAN

Police Seeking Woman Who Offered $500 to Have Murder Committed.

White Plains, N.Y., May 29.—Active search began today for a mysterious woman said to have offered $500 to a youth in a New York restaurant to commit a murder in the Ward home in New Rochelle. This search and efforts on the part of police to locate "Boss" reputed leader of the blackmail ring that squeezed $30,000 from Walter S. Ward, according to Ward's story, before he shot and killed Clarence Peters, mark the last developments in the most sensational criminal case in West Chester County in 25 years.

A check-up by New York police bears out the story told them by a waiter in a Broadway restaurant and transmitted to the police here, that a pretty young woman, dressed in black, had taken him to New Rochelle, pointed out the Ward house, and promised him $500 if he would enter the house with her and shoot the person she pointed out to him. He refused on the pretext that he was not prepared, and promised to meet her on Saturday night. He went with his story to the police, who watched for the woman, but she failed to appear. Other employees in the place where the waiter works corroborated his story that the woman had eaten in the place several times, and had an appointment with him.

The search for Peters began after William J. Fallon, representing the Peters family, failed to produce the man now out on a suspended sentence, following his conviction in another blackmail case.

daries, and this will come up Monday evening.

Expect Fifty Changes.

One proposed change which must be dealt with by the stationing committee, is that recommending elimination of Kinross circuit, by dividing it between Williams and Thamesford circuits. It is also expected that the stationing committee will make fifty changes in the district, in allocating pastors to new circuits.

At the same hour that this body meets Monday night the statistical committee will gather at Centennial church to prepare a conference report for the year.

Rev. J. W. Hibbert of Kingsville, elected president of London Conference last year, will preside during the nine days. Rev. I. W. J. Kirkpatrick of Ripley, conference secretary, is expected to arrive in London Monday afternoon.

While it is expected that the conference agenda will be concluded in nine days, as outlined by the program, Rev. A. E. M. Thomson, pastor of Centennial Church, points out that the General Methodist Conference of Canada meets at Toronto next September for legislation, and memorials to be presented to that session by the London Conference may entail extra meetings next week in order to prepare them.

The Lay Association of the conference will open Wednesday afternoon in charge of President William Heaman. The chief speaker of the conference is Rev. George Elliott, D. D., New York, editor of the Methodist Review, regarded as one of the most brilliant men in the church.

His first address here will be delivered at devotional exercises, which open the ministerial sessions in Centennial Church, Wednesday morning.

GRANT INDEMNITY FOR SINGLE EYE

B. of R. T. Decides To Pay Permanent Disability For Loss by Members.

Toronto, May 28.—An important and far-reaching step was taken by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in session here yesterday, when for the first time in the history of the brotherhood it was decided to pay total and permanent disability for the loss by one of the members of the organization of a single eye.

Hitherto total disability has only been paid in the case of the loss of a hand above the wrist, the loss of a foot above the ankle, or the permanent loss of both eyes.

It was learned that the recommendation of a special committee, suggesting the formation of a permanent appeal board, which came before the convention on Friday, will not definitely be decided until a much later date in the sessions. It will probably be embodied in a report and then ratified.

Tomorrow the question of tuberculosis members of the brotherhood will be dealt with, and the session promises to be an interesting one.

VALUE OF ONE EYE.

The value of eyesight has been recognized to the extent that insurance companies now pay full indemnity for loss of a single eye. Take care of your eyes now. See an optometrist who is an expert at his profession. For "Glasses That Satisfy," see E. Steele, 210 Dundas street.

ILDERTON MAN AGAIN ELECTED

J. N. Aitken Continues President of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies.

Delegates of Middlesex Organizations Conclude Sessions At County Buildings.

J. N. Aitken, of Ilderton, president of the Lobo Fire Insurance Company, was re-elected president of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Companies of Middlesex for the ensuing year, when that organization met in the county buildings here Saturday afternoon. There were about 25 representatives of the various companies of the county present.

Other officers elected were Edgar Silcox, of Sheddin, to be first vice-president; E. R. Sutherland, of Mount Brydges, second vice-president and T. G. Turnbull, of Komoka, secretary-treasurer. The session opened at 10 a.m., and business was concluded late in the afternoon.

The program included several interesting addresses delivered by the delegates present, on important fire insurance subjects, after which a discussion was held. During the day a question drawer was instituted, members passing in queries, which were answered by other delegates.

Harmony was the keynote of the meetings, all representatives striving for a common goal, to attain the best efficiency in fire insurance for their companies and policy holders.

Risks Discussed.

"Classification of Risks and Rates," was the subject of an address delivered Saturday afternoon by E. W. Sutherland, of Mount Brydges. He pointed out that in cases where insured buildings on a farm are far apart the fire loss hazard is decreased. Factors tending to increase the danger of fire are use of gas engines, shafting, machinery and windmills in close proximity to barns.

The speaker reminded that many farm buildings in the district are of steel construction, or possess metal roofs, which attributes reduce the fire losses. Figures quoted showed that there were 5,862 barn fires in Ontario in 1921.

"A barn is a more hazardous risk than a dwelling," said Mr. Sutherland. "Many are asking for reduced insurance rates on modern dwellings, but I do not think that they should be reduced."

Proposes Changes.

By concluding by outlining several proposed changes in rates where the decrease in fire hazard by the policyholder warranted more favorable terms in his favor, Mr. Sutherland recommended that stock be insured separately from other barn contents, arguing that no changes be adopted by any one company, unless other organizations did so.

Robert Douglas, of Ilderton, read a paper on "Live Stock Insurance," and J. C. Dance, of Kingsville, also spoke.

The session was concluded by R. S. Nicol delivering an address on "Adjustment and Payment of Losses," which was followed by a lively discussion. Another interesting feature of the afternoon was an address by G. B. Webster, of St. Marys.

LONDON PAYS 68 CTS. FOR PLAYGROUNDS

could be struck at one dollar per home.

Any citizen with children, after a talk with them on the fun enjoyed at city playgrounds, will declare that such a tax is money well spent. The main argument against expanding the playgrounds movement, to give every child in the city an opportunity to enjoy supervised recreation, is that it will boost the tax rate.

Any proposed factor in boosting the tax rate is vigorously opposed by citizens of London, or any other center on the continent. But strange to say, despite all this opposition and election promises of municipal candidates, the tax rate seems to climb just the same every year. If it is bound to soar as it has been, why not get something tangible out of it and urge more expenditure on behalf of the children? That is one method where money spent will bring its results directly home to each family.

Such a proposal does not mean to run wild in an orgy of extravagance and do the children more harm than good. It simply means a slightly larger playgrounds budget, in keeping with the size and good name of London, thereby bringing about sound improvements which have been contemplated and left at that because of lack of funds.

Divide City Into Centers.

The improvements would include a new playground opened at Aberdeen public school grounds. The city has been divided into centers, according to the number of children residing in each district, and that showing the greatest congestion is in the vicinity of Richmond and Simcoe streets.

Realizing this fact the officials responsible have so manipulated funds this year that they have been enabled to announce that a new recreation center will be opened this year at Simcoe street public school grounds, which will serve this congested area. Having eliminated this evil the officials have turned their attention to the second greatest area of congestion on a basis of child population and it was found to be within a half mile radius of Aberdeen public school.

But funds are limited, and nothing is contemplated here this year, with the result that the kiddies must hike to a distant playground, stay at home, or play on the street this summer. On the eastern limits of the city the children are in a similar position, as are also those residing in southwest London, or on the extreme north.

Right in the center of the city, in that area bounded by Richmond,

End Eucharistic Congress At Rome With Song By Massed Choirs

ROME, May 29.—The Eucharistic Congress, which has been in progress here since Wednesday last, was solemnly closed today with a te deum sung by the massed choirs of the Vatican.

The atmosphere was tense with feeling at this crowning ceremonial of the impressive world gathering of Catholics in the holy city. When Pope Pius entered St. Peter's an emotional wave seemed to sweep over the vast throng. The pontiff himself appeared profoundly moved as he lifted his hand to impart the blessing and cries of "Long live the pope!" "Viva Pius!" echoed throughout the edifice.

Ridout, Dundas and Oxford streets, there is no playground, but luckily, from a child welfare point of view, much of this area is occupied by the business district, and the younger element without playgrounds is not large.

Officials have cast longing eyes on property near the Saunby mill, ideal for playgrounds purposes, but up to date no headway in obtaining it has been announced.

Male Boys To Court.

Police court proceedings with boys of the city who will insist on playing baseball in the street as the principals, are also a fair but undesirable indication of the need of more and better equipped playgrounds here.

This spring, boys from Lorne avenue, residing in that eastern area mentioned above, were halted into court on this charge, as were a group from Woodman avenue, which is also in East London.

Magistrate A. H. M. Grayden, mindful of the days when he was a boy, and a "commons" about every two blocks eliminated the necessity of playing ball in the street, usually talks to the culprits as a parent, and dismisses them. He realizes the need of better playgrounds, but like many other good citizens, cannot solve the difficulty alone.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan, of the public utilities commission, who is responsible for playgrounds administration in London, admits that the city "is not covered as it ought to be" by recreation centers. He points out that there is need of a playground in the vicinity of Rathmine and Rathgar streets, off the Hamilton road, which is densely populated with children.

Mr. Buchanan includes this district in that area of the eastern limits in need of a playground, but while admitting the need, is of the opinion that Aberdeen school district is in greater need.

Stresses Need for Action.

It is pointed out that action on city playgrounds should be undertaken this year if the maximum benefit is to be gained. The importance of immediate action is stressed because during the past few years following the war there has been a plethora of uplift work, and striking presence of paternalism manifested throughout the Dominion. Now the reaction period is setting in, and philanthropic work and its allied undertakings throughout the community are falling off.

To strike while the iron is hot is to accomplish more for London's children along the line of recreation centers.

As a suggestion to bring this about every mother or father paying taxes in London, and naturally interested in the children of the community, should be urged to convey to their respective ward representatives on the city council their sentiments in favor of better playgrounds and bathing camps, and for additional playgrounds.

Then, knowing that they have the majority of the people behind them, these public men will vote in favor of any reasonable additions to the city playgrounds program, or the expenditure involved. Parents who have not yet seen with their own eyes just what their $20,000 each year for recreation centers is paying for, are advised to visit these centers some afternoon this summer and look around.

It is the tendency of the average citizen to read pleas for the children's playgrounds with interest and say: "Yes, that is right; we need more playgrounds and equipment, and there is a lot of information there that I did not know."

Matter Is Forgotten.

Next day the matter is forgotten, and only recalled to mind by a news clipping stating that somebody's boy has been drowned in the Thames, or the fellow employee at the warehouse lost his son, who was run down by an auto while fielding a ball in the street.

It is up to every father and mother to give the boys and girls a chance. If every father and mother in London realized that more and better playgrounds are along these lines, and clamored for them, as they should, the improvements at present held up for lack of money would soon be instituted, and such articles as the above would not be necessary.

WOMAN DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Miss Emma Kompass Killed in Crash Near Bridge At Kilworth.

Four Others Hurt When Car
Turns Turtle Following
Blowout.

When an auto, driven by Fred Reynolds, 509 Maitland street, turned turtle following a blowout near the bridge at Kilworth, Saturday afternoon, Miss Emma A. Kompass, 189 Elmwood avenue, bookkeeper at the Helena Costume Company, who was a passenger in the car, was crushed to death.

A sister of the victim, Miss Mina Kompass, as well as Mr. Reynolds and his wife and baby were injured, but not seriously.

The party was returning to the city after an afternoon's motor trip when the accident took place. As soon as the front tire blew out the car swerved and overturned. Reynolds stated he was not driving fast owing to the bad condition of the hill and the proximity of the bridge.

All the occupants of the car were thrown clear except Miss Emma Kompass, who was crushed under the rear of the car.

Residents of the district came to the assistance of the victims, rendering first aid until physicians arrived. An ambulance conveyed members of the party to London.

When the car was examined by garage men the front wheel was found broken, but this is believed to have happened when the auto was overturning.

The funeral of Miss Kompass will be held from her residence, Monday. Services will be conducted by Rev. W. Leslie Armitage of St. James' Anglican Church, South London, assisted by Rev. J. Edmonds.

LEADS JOE MEACHOFF TO TRAFFIC COP FOR ARREST

Alex. Koloff Grabs Man Who, He Alleges, Ran Away With Mother-in-Law.

Alex. Koloff thought he was doing the right and proper thing when he grabbed Joseph Meachoff by the arm and walked him under the nose of the law in the person of Constable Langford, who was directing traffic at Dundas and Richmond streets Saturday morning.

According to Inspector of Detectives Thomas Nickle, Koloff was in London hunting for Meachoff, who he alleges ran away from Hamilton with his mother-in-law.

Joey, whose head reaches the shoulder of Alex, objected to being hauled out for the traffic officer to inspect and took a few healthy wallops at the police officer. The officer looked on the pair and made sure they took them both to the police station.

"We don't fight," proclaimed Alex, when asked by Mr. Graydon what the fight was about.

"He cut the shirt," declared Joey, looking up at Alex with anything but a friendly glance.

Constable Langford told of the approach of the men, with Alex doing the leading and Joseph being a trifle sore, so much so that he handed a few jabs to Koloff.

"He took my wife from Brantford to Hamilton," said Koloff. "I see him on a motor truck. He jump off and run. I catch him and take him in front of policeman."

"He was after his mother-in-law," stated Detective Nickle, who endeavored to interpret the Russian language for the court. "She ran away with the little fellow from Hamilton."

"You mustn't fight any more," decreed the court. "You can go this time."

THINK MERCHANTS TOO TRUSTFUL

There are some merchants in London who apparently believe in the honesty of each and every citizen. Police officials state that time and again articles are left in front of stores after business is over for the day.

However, the constables know from experience that there are a few individuals who are always willing to pick up anything they can lay their hands on, so no chances were taken when a grocer left a bundle of brooms in front of the store Saturday night.

An officer picked them up on Richmond street and took them to the police station, where the sergeant denied that they had been used to sweep out the cells.

Tobacconists Give Public Chance To Stock Up At Old Price

BY COMMON consent London retail tobacco dealers raised their prices for cigars and cigarettes Monday noon, in accordance with the new federal government tax.

While the wholesale price was raised May 24, the majority of the retail men were in favor of allowing the smoking public a few days at the old price in which to get in a stock. A few of the dealers were desirous, however, that Saturday should be the last day, but the majority ruled Monday as the last chance.

THINKS OFFICERS SHOULD BE TAXED

"The fact that the provincial government very carefully exempted disability allowances from taxes, shows that the matter was given due consideration and meant that other allowances to military men were to be taxed," was the opinion expressed by Assessment Commissioner S. Grant Monday in regard to the claims presented by an officer at Wolseley Barracks from exemption from all but school taxes.

Mr. Grant pointed out that there are some officers who get living quarters, fuel, light, and have a batman, and yet pay no general taxes. He thought it reasonable that they should pay income taxes.

PAY TRIBUTE TO POPULAR CITIZEN

London Masonic Brethren
Conduct Funeral of Thomas G. Davis.

His loss mourned by Londoners generally, Thomas G. Davis, former collector of inland revenue, and one of the city's most respected residents, was buried Monday afternoon. The funeral, which was under Masonic auspices, was held from his late residence, 515 William street. Services were conducted by Rev. E. W. Jewett and Rev. Dr. D. C. McGregor.

Active pallbearers were John Hobbs, Hugh McPherson, C. E. A. Webb, George Finnegan, E. T. Essery and Archibald Simmie. The honorary pallbearers were: A. E. Cooper, J. L. Richmond, Thomas Rowe, A. R. Greer, J. B. Keays, Dr. Santand, H. C. McBride, all of London, and William Legg and W. Campbell of Hamilton.

Mr. Davis had been ill only ten days, and his death was quite unexpected. His condition Friday was not considered serious, but he suffered a relapse late in the afternoon, and died a short time later.

Mr. Davis had been a resident of London since 1883, and during that time had formed a large circle of friends. Although he was 74 years old, he retained an active interest in lodge and other affairs up to the time of his illness.

He was born in Prescott and entered the inland revenue department while a young man. He worked in Toronto, Hamilton and Waterloo before coming to London.

Mr. Davis was one of the charter members of the Temple Lodge, U.D.I., A. F. and M., which was recently formed in London.

He was well known in masonry, having entered the order in 1883. He was elected grand senior warden of the Grand Lodge of Canadian 1912. He held the position of ex-first principal of St. John's Chapter No. 3, of the Royal Arch Masons, and was a member of the Knights Templar. In Scottish Rite Masonry, he filled all offices of the local body, and in 1912 was elected honorary member of the supreme council of 33rd degree Masons for Canada.

Mr. Davis was also an active member of Mocha Temple and of the Rose Croix Chapter and Lodge of Perfection and a past master of King Solomon's Lodge No. 378. He was also a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Besides a wife, he is survived by two daughters, Misses Ella and Minnie, at home, and one son, Dr. J. J. Davis, Gananoque.

YOUTH GAINS FREEDOM TO GET JOB AT RACE TRACK

Thomas Ramsay, Picked Up by City
Police, Used To Exercise Horses in "Old Kentuck."

Thomas Ramsay, who used to exercise race horses in "Old Kentuck" before fickle fate dropped him in Detroit, and later in London, told Magistrate Graydon Monday that he was on his way to Toronto to get a job with a racing stable there.

"I used to exercise horses for F. R. Doyle at Louisville, Kentucky," stated the young prisoner, who was decked out in a striped sweater, and who was picked up with another vagrant at 3:20 Saturday morning. "Mr. Doyle paid me $24, but he still owes me $38," stated Ramsay, with a soft southern drawl.

His companion, Wm. Nicholson, said his home was in Toronto, but he had lived in Detroit for the past five years.

The races are all over in Toronto, and you do there? Inquired the court of young Ramsay.

"No they aren't sir," contradicted the lad. "They are racin' at Thorncliffe, and I was promised a job there."

"We'll let him go," observed the court, "or the races will be over before he gets there."

Nicholson was allowed to accompany his companion.

A number of speeders contributed the usual "Y's" to police court coffers Monday morning.

Lombardo, who was hurrying to escape the rain. Constable Knight stated that the car of DuImage Jones cut the corner of King and Talbot streets within three feet of the curb on the morning of May 23.

Mr. Jones stated he was not there at any time during the morning and the case was dismissed.

Proper Feeding of Baby Means Health In Summer

Your Baby in Hot Weather.

SUMMER DOESN'T WORRY ME.

THE one serious danger to the average baby in summer arises from disturbances of the digestion. Someone has said, however, that many of the deaths every summer which are said to be caused by "gastric and intestinal diseases," should really have been attributed to "bad feeding."

In other words, a pitifully large number of these illnesses and deaths could be prevented if the baby had been fed in the best way from the start. Since a disturbance of this sort may become serious in a few hours in very hot weather, there is greater need than ever for care at this time of year.

Breast-fed babies are far less likely to have an attack of this kind than the one who is fed otherwise, but even a breast-fed baby may become ill if the mother nurses him too often or at irregular hours, or in the night, and especially if she lets him eat solid foods too early.

Bottle-fed babies appear most liable to attacks of summer diarrhoea, and on this account every mother of a baby who is artificially fed should have the soundest advice about the feeding of the baby in hot weather.

It is quite possible to take a bottle-fed baby through the hottest weather in perfect health, but to do this it is necessary for the mother to observe with unvarying attention, the rules which make this sort of feeding safe.

If the number of stools increase markedly, and the baby is having four or more a day, the amount or strength of the milk mixture should be at once reduced. If the baby is having frequent stools and they show undigested curds, or are loose, stringy or slimy, the mother should send at once for the doctor, or in some other way get food advice at once.

The food should be stopped, and the baby given nothing except a thin barley gruel, or broth, or nothing but cool water. One or two teaspoonsful of castor oil may be given, to rid the body of the offending substance, while waiting for the doctor, if the baby seems very ill.

The sick child should be kept as quiet and as cool as possible. It will probably be best to boil all the milk for some time after the attack is over.

Tomorrow: Concerning older babies.

FAILS TO MEET LONDON CARMEN

President Currie of Street Railway Leaves Without Conference.

Despite hopes extended for an early settlement, it now appears that all differences as to wages and working conditions between the motormen and conductors employed by the London Street Railway Company and the management of the latter must be threshed out by the federal board of conciliation.

Arriving in London on Saturday from Cleveland, Ohio, Charles Currie, president of the corporation, conferred with the various members of the company's management, leaving the city again on Sunday morning for home.

While it was announced a few days ago, following a conference between the union executive and company officials, that a certain proposal for an immediate settlement was sent to the chairman, for consideration, it now develops, notwithstanding his visit here, that the same failed to meet with his approval, and the situation consequently remains as when the negotiations first opened.

R. G. Ivey, legal adviser for the company, stated on Sunday that no settlement had been reached, despite the president's presence in the city over the week-end, and in his opinion the board would have to be continued as speedily as possible.

John Colbert, president of the street railwaymen's union, reports that the president did not seek a conference with the men or their representatives while in the city, and he was somewhat surprised to hear that he had left for Cleveland again, as he had intended that arrangements were being made for a meeting on Monday.

The union president, as well as members of his executive, was equally dispirited that the board of arbitration, composed of the men or their representatives while in the city, and he was somewhat surprised to hear that he had left for Cleveland again, as he had intended that arrangements were being made for a meeting on Monday.

When the company instituted a 3 cents an hour wage reduction on Monday last, the men entered a counter-claim in the form of an increase in wages, to bring their weekly earnings to a level with those of a year ago.

John M. McEvoy, K.C., chairman of the federal board of conciliation, called to settle disputes as to wages and working conditions between the employees of the London Street Railway Company and the management of that corporation, declared Monday afternoon that there would not be another sitting of the board until such time as Charles Currie, president of the company, made a reasonable answer in regard to the proposition recently submitted to him.

"If it actually so that he has been in the city," said Mr. McEvoy, "and since gone home again, I have received no report as to how he received the proposal for an immediate settlement. Until I do, there will certainly be no gathering of the board."

"If it so develops that he does not regard it favorably, I will then call another session," he concluded.

FIVE LONDON LAW students succeeded in passing their examinations at Osgoode Hall recently. They are, in order of merit, H. C. Logan, J. F. McMillan, W. E. Dyer, J. A. Morrison and F. E. Murphy.

SENTENCES SLONE TO 3 YEARS IN JAIL

Court Sends Youthful Burglar
From Hamilton to Kingston Penitentiary.

Three years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence meted out to Harry Sloane, alias Harry Darwin of Hamilton, Ontario, by Magistrate Graydon Monday morning. Sloane pleaded guilty a week ago to breaking and entering the premises of Harry Ranahan at 515 Richmond street, and the home of P. Lewis, Waterloo street. When caught, Sloane had a complete burglar's outfit in his possession.

Sloane, who is a mere youth, was captured in the Ranahan cellar by Constable Chamberlain. Jewelry found in his suit case was identified by Mr. Lewis.

"There have been other attempts which we attribute to this man," stated Acting Crown Attorney Douglas, "but we have no positive proof. Some of the jewelry found on him has been sent to Hamilton, but we have not heard from the police there."

"Have you anything to say, Sloane, before sentence is passed on you?" asked the court.

"No, sir," was the reply in a steady voice.

"It seems a particularly sad and unfortunate thing that a young man of your appearance should deliberately launch into a life of crime," declared Mr. Graydon.

"Burglary is a particularly serious offence and sometimes ends up in a charge of murder or manslaughter being laid. There are two convictions against you, and I can't look with leniency on you. You seemed to be well equipped when caught, and I can hardly believe that a young man of your appearance would commit such crimes. I am going to sentence you to three years in Kingston Penitentiary on each of the charges, the sentences to run concurrently."

Sloane appeared to be indifferent as he was led away to the cells.

55 BOYS ENJOY WEEK-END HIKE

More than 55 boys of the Y. M. C. A., accompanied Wilfrid Spearman, assistant boys' secretary, on the weekly hike to Sage's farm Saturday afternoon.

Swimming, a baseball game and a treasure hunt were the main events on the program arranged by Mr. Spearman. The treasure hunt, which was a novel one, was the "big thing" of the day, and the keenest interest was taken in it by the boys. Among the valuable prizes won by the boys were two memberships to the "Y," a yearly one and one for six months.

The hikers cooked their own supper in the open and left for home at 6:30 o'clock.

SHOWS GROWTH OF SCOUT MOVEMENT IN DOMINION

Prof. J. H. Stiles of Ottawa Holds
Informal Meeting of City
Scoutmasters.

Prof. J. H. Stiles of Ottawa held an informal meeting of the scoutmasters of the city in St. Peter's Hall on Saturday afternoon.

Prof. Stiles, who has had a wide experience in scout work, outlined the progress scouting has made in Canada from 1918, and pointed out the many things which had been responsible for its remarkable growth in this country.

Two or three years ago he said the yearly order for scout books used to be in the neighborhood of $800, while at the present that amount is sometimes spent in one day. This fact would give the people some idea of the interest that is being taken in Boy Scouts.

He also explained to them the work that is being done in other cities and advised the scoutmasters on many questions relating to scout work that the local officers had to deal with.

Among those present were Messrs. Gallagher, Potter, Bell, Rodda and Metcalfe.

All members entered with much enthusiasm into the sports, which were in charge of Morcon Taylor, assisted by Kenneth McKay and Charlie Wilson.

Peanut Politics.

CONSIDERING the trouble that the Conservative party went to in order to secure a seat for Sir HENRY DRYTON in the House of Commons, it would be reasonable to look for something in the way of real performance from this gentleman now that he is in the house. It will be remembered that the Conservatives had placed their own man in the field in West York, and an independent Conservative was also in the running until the Conservative machine came along and rolled the two homebrows out of the race, and stated that the holy and approved hands of the Conservative machine would rest upon the head of one, Sir HENRY DRYTON, and no other.

So, considering the snatching and the fixing that was necessary to put this man in the house, it would be only human to anticipate that when he spoke on a subject such as the budget, on which he should be well informed, he would have something to say that would be of use, benefit, direction and value.

Instead, we find this man in a loose talk, moving an amendment, in which he laboriously went over the things he thought the King government would do when it was returned to power, concluding with the following:

"That the Liberal party, having been returned to power, the budget proposals of the finance minister now brought down constitute on the part of the government, an utter failure to implement such pledges by legislation."

"That the making of such solemn pledges, the utilization of them to secure support, and their flagrant violation after the attainment of office reveal a disregard of politicians' honor, and tend to lower the standard of public life."

Such, then, is the measure of this man's appreciation of the place he occupies in the house. Such is the value he places upon the efforts made by the Conservative machine to place him in the house instead of a man the people of South York would have selected had they been left to themselves.

The fact that Canada faces a staggering national debt, that the present sources of revenue are falling behind in their colossal task of pouring in enough money to sustain our national credit; that agriculture must be placed in a premier position in this country as our one big chance of creating new wealth—none of these things seem to weigh at all. All Sir HENRY DRYTON sees in the whole thing is the chance to move a purely partisan resolution, planned, mapped and charted to embarrass the government as much as possible. He has given one of the most lamentable exhibitions of a man failing to measure up to what the country should reasonably expect of him; he has taken the lead from his leader, and is going to play small politics, just the same as HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN has been playing them from the very first day of the present session of the house began.

Mr. DRYTON does not even give attention in his amendment in the way of substituting something else or something better. He does not suggest any other way that the government should go. He does not tell how the money can be raised and not hit any one section with any more severity. He has absolutely nothing to offer, contenting himself with the approval and collusion of the leader of the opposition, who seconds his move by offering a slippery sort of amendment which, in brief, calls upon the house to attend seriously to the affairs of the Dominion by agreeing to a vote of censure on the King government.

If there are any more exhibitions of this kind in the game of small politics, by all means let us have them at once, so that they may be done with. Sir HENRY DRYTON has clearly demonstrated that he has no capacity for dealing seriously with a serious position; that as far as he is concerned, he elects to play for small political advantage, leaving to other men the task of getting the Dominion out of the hole into which Conservative administrations helped to plunge it.

Canada has a right to expect larger things from men to whom it is paying its good money in the form of an indemnity.

Sir HENRY DRYTON plumes himself against a fool rule, whereas the measure of men in these trying days must be taken in yards and rods.

Lloyd George on a Mountain.

"Lloyd George says he is a tired man on a mountain top, but he may be just up a tree."

—Newspaper Enterprise Association.

THE ABOVE is taken from the Literary Digest.

"Great things are done when men on mountains meet; They are not done by jostling on the street."

LLOYD GEORGE has been on the mountain top all through and ever since the war. His optimism has sustained the world. He is the greatest man in the British Empire, and therefore the greatest man in the world.

He may be tired. He would not be human if he were not, but how grandly he stands out amid them all, and, like the British army itself, he never knows defeat.

NAPOLEON said of the British army that they did not know when they were beaten.

LLOYD GEORGE is a whole British army in himself, and what a legacy to the world he has been. With Lloyd GEORGE humanity and democracy have been saved. Without him both would have perished.

America still looks to Great Britain for its highest ideals, and as long as Lloyd GEORGE lives the whole world will do the same.

Specialists in Flowers.

A FEW DAYS ago we were talking of gardens, vegetables and flowers to a London man. In about two minutes it was evident that this Londoner was a florist, and a specialist in peonies and gladioli.

From his pocket came a little notebook, carefully prepared. It ran according to the rows where his stuff was planted in the garden, and in all accounted for some fifty varieties of each of these splendid flowers.

He has a correspondence list a yard long, and regularly exchanges bulbs and roots with specialists all over this country, many points in United States and also in Holland, many of his gladioli being imported from the latter country.

His garden is a wonderful place. It is his workshop in spare hours, where he lives among his flowers, coaxes them along, crosses the varieties, and delves deeply into the mysterious secrets of floriculture.

He is simply following out the well-known idea that if a thing is worth doing it is worth doing well.

Mr. Man, do you ever get that much interested in your garden? You have a backyard, and every spring you have a bit of an ambition to make it look decent and respectable. Did it ever occur to you that it is just as easy to grow the best as the poorest, or the ordinary?

You dig up your plot, rush downtown and get a dozen of this, that and the other thing, and in they go. Of course, they'll grow and you get a certain amount of satisfaction out of them. But you are only dabbling, whereas you might far better invest a little more time, a little more care, and start and specialize in something worth while.

It is an education, and a delightful relaxation at the same time. Better think it over next time you are planning for your summer garden.

Senator Archie

AWARD the palm for long service in the ranks of his majesty's loyal opposition to Senator Archie McCoig of Kent, says a writer in a recent article. After fourteen years in the House of Commons, during which time his party never had the good fortune to be in power, he goes to the Red Chamber, there also to take a seat with the Opposition. But just as he was ever one of the forces to be reckoned with in the House of Commons, Archibald Blake McCoig, at the age of 48, promises to be one of the "live ones" in the Senate. He has promised as much, and he does not go back on his promises.

Archie McCoig has had an interrupted public career of twenty-two years' duration, and in all that time he has never had to face the necessity of living up to the traditional characteristics of the "good loser." He has always won; first as alderman of the city of Chatham, then as member of the Ontario Legislature for West Kent, then as member of the House of Commons for Kent. The only time he has been found on the government side of the chamber was when the provincial Liberal party was returned to power in 1904. At time he could not count his majority by hundreds, but in the latest election his lead over his nearest rival was 3,882, so that he goes from the Commons to the Senate at the zenith of his popularity.

In the federal election of 1911 Messrs. McCoig, Pardee and Guthrie were the only successful Liberals in Ontario ridings that could by any stretch of imagination be called urban.

It is said that on the night of the election Mr. McCoig received a telephone call from his old friend, Fred Pardee of Lambton, who was anxious to know how the battle went in Kent. Archie was first with his question and inquired how Lambton went.

"I got in by 64 majority," replied Mr. Pardee.

"Well, if I were to get only 64 of a majority, I should hesitate to take the seat."

"What majority did you get?" queried Mr. Pardee.

"Me?" said Archie. "Why, I got 65!"

It was the smallest majority he ever received.

Senator McCoig follows in the footsteps of his father, the late Daniel McCoig, in that he began as an implement dealer. He was a success from the start, and the farmers in Kent soon learned to trust his judgment and his honesty. Later in the capacity of county auctioneer he mixed with the people of Kent to such an extent that there was scarcely a rural resident within the boundaries that he did not call by his first name. He became known as the "Farmers' Friend," and made no attempt to disgrace the reputation as such. Later he acquired a farm himself, near the city of Chatham, which is said to account for the designation of his occupation which invariably appeared on the ballot paper, "Farmer and Manufacturers' Agent."

Mr. McCoig married Miss Addie M. Demaree, and they have one son. The Senator is a Presbyterian and is regularly found in his church pew on Sunday, from which he rises, however, to officiate with the collection plate when the minister announces, "We will now worship with our offering."

During the 1921 campaign Mr. McCoig found himself addressing a section of the riding where some of his old workers had been estranged to the Progressive ranks. With trembling voice he announced the sorrow he felt at being opposed in a quarter which he had always had reason to regard as friendly.

"It is the last time I shall ever ask you to give me your votes to enable me to fight the big interests, the trusts and corporations of this country. If this is the reward I get I am through."

It is hardly necessary to state that his old friends of the section in question gave him the biggest vote he had ever received there. But his words, nevertheless, were prophetic, for when the chance came to retire to the Senate in order to open a riding for Hon. Jas. Murdoch, Mr. McCoig accepted the opportunity gracefully, and wears the title of Senator in a manner entirely worthy of him.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

By Digby Phillips.

NO. 226—SELLING THE SHORT-LIPPED.

If you are a salesman, no matter how many prospects you are calling on, no matter how limited your time for the study and observation of your prospects may be, you always have time to note the lip. It's hard not to, in fact.

And lips are eloquent in more than the words you utter.

How, for instance, would you sell the man with the short upper lip, particularly if that lip is slightly concave, or turned up?

A previous article has explained that this is the sign of a nature which likes flattery and praise. Your cue is quite obvious. You flatter these people.

That does not mean that you must tell them they're handsome or beautiful, necessarily. But if your prospect is a woman, a respectfully admiring glance will be well worth your while. Depending upon the mentality and intelligence indicated by the other signs, you should make your flattery broad or subtle, also depending upon whether a "course" or "fine" nature is indicated. With the former you can quite safely "plaster it on thick," with the latter you want to do it more by innuendo and a casual word here and there. Flatter them in connection with the points or subjects in which they seem most interested, judging either by their conversation or by their other indications of character.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE.

NIGHT TERRORS

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

HAVE been asked many times by anxious mothers whether "night terrors" are indicative of any constitutional ailment in a child.

True "night terrors" are often of very serious import. They certainly indicate an unstable constitution. They may be the forerunner of mild epilepsy or St. Vitus dance.

The child wakes in vague, wild alarm, screams and clings to its mother, but evidently fails to recognize anyone and cannot at once be quieted and reassured.

With the lapse of a few moments the excitement spontaneously subsides and the child returns to sleep.

Nor does the victim recollect the attack in the morning. During its terror it may get out of bed, run from the room, or climb upon the furniture in a wild attempt to escape from something in its dreams.

True night terrors are sometimes induced by difficulty in breathing, because of adenoids or bronchitis or laryngitis or weak heart or general weakness.

Night terrors may only be nightmare, a kind of vivid dream, usually traceable to indigestion, bad ventilation, some previous terrifying experience or mental shock. The child has a feeling of great weight on its chest, of suffocation or of falling. It then suspends respiration or makes strange sounds in breathing and wakes with a start or in wild fright.

BANNER PIPELESS FURNACES

What Others Think

After all, it is the actual user of a furnace who is the final, supreme judge. This is what Mr. George W. Robinson of Hamilton, finds:

"Our house is sixty feet long and twenty-seven feet wide, two floors; a difficult proposition. The Banner Pipeless Furnace does the work satisfactorily; it does not heat the cellar, a good draft is easily controlled. Your guarantee stands behind it and has made good."

The BOOKSHELF

CHILDREN OF TRANSGRESSION.

By G. Vere Tyler. New York: Henry Holt & Co., publishers.

AGAINST whom make ye a wide mouth, and draw out the tongue? Are ye not children of transgression, a seed of falsehood?

From the book of the Prophet Isaiah Mrs. G. Vere Tyler has taken a text for her new novel, "Children of Transgression."

The basic idea of the story is that the barrier between sin and innocence is as unstable as a wall of sand, and that neither women nor men should be too hardly judged for breaking through it.

It is meant to be, in a way, typical.

The publishers say of it that it is "exceptionally frank and powerful." It is frank, but it is not powerful, because it is not convincing. The plot lacks what the professors of writing term "motivation." The characters are without sufficient outward cause, and as we cannot find in their natures the causes of their actions we lose interest and belief in them.

The book opens very well, with so pathetic a picture of the village outcast and her beautiful boy, shut out from human intercourse, not even permitted by the neighbors to go to church, that by the end of the first chapter we are with the author in her premise that it is cruel injustice for the woman to be hounded so while the man goes free.

And perhaps it is because our sympathy is so completely won by young George Lindsay that we are not willing to admit that, no matter how the iron might enter into his soul, he would ever stoop in cold blood to dastardly revenge against the innocent.

But it is not because of him that the book is weak. It is because of Ruby Dangerfield.

Mrs. Tyler fails utterly to make it credible that, without so much as a pretense of love on either side, she should haunt deserted negro cabins with "poor white trash." Golden hair and starchy nights can't make us believe it. And we have to believe it for the book to make its point.

Mrs. Tyler's philosophy is that the one great duty in the world is to be happy, that neither sin nor sorrow must be allowed to interfere with that. In the mouth of Dick Marshall, who seems to have sacrificed so much for Ruby's happiness, it sounds rather fine, till we come to examine what he really has sacrificed, and find it is mostly dollars and cents. You could buy anything, including forgiveness, from Ruby's family for dollars and cents.

The old darlings are the big-hearted folk to the book. The horses are delightful.

Apart from the story there is considerable charm in "Children of Transgression." The Virginia homestead and countryside, where most of the scene is laid, have been drawn through eyes that have seen and loved. Mrs. Tyler writes pleasantly, with an ease that is really easy and not merely careless.

PAYROLL ON U. S. LINES TO BE CUT BY $48,000,000

400,000 Maintenance of Way Employees Will Be Affected.

LABOR MEMBERS DISSENT

Railway Board's Decision Follows Extensive Investigations of Some Weeks.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Readjustment of the wages of approximately 400,000 maintenance of way employees of the railways of the country, effective July 1, in accordance with decreases in the cost of living and wages in similar outside employment since the decision of the board last July, was provided for in a decision by the United States Railroad Labor Board and made public tonight.

The decision is expected to reduce present payrolls of the roads about $48,000,000 per annum, and to reduce the pay of the majority of the maintenance of way men 5 cents an hour, but important classes of the employees were given a smaller cut.

Labor Members Dissent.

Under the majority head were included track laborers and other classes usually designated as "common laborers." The decision was signed by the three railroad members of the board and the three members representing the public. The dissenting opinion was filed by the three members representing the labor group. The dissenting opinion

Denies Ontario Can Cet $500,000 From Week's Racing at Woodbine

TORONTO, May 28.—The provincial treasurer, Hon. P. Smith, has already been figuring his income under the new five per cent tax on wagers from the Woodbine spring meeting, which closed last night, and he is counting on drawing down a sum pretty close to half a million dollars.

He is understood to have arrived at this conclusion from the amounts turned in to court by the Ontario Jockey Club as the proceeds of the tax for the first five days on the meeting, during which about $7,000,000 is said to have been wagered, and $347,000 paid into court.

This estimate, however, is characterized by Secretary W. P. Fraser, of the Fraser declared that not more than $4,000,000 was wagered at the Woodbine in the seven days of the meeting and consequently the government percentage would not total more than $200,000.

contended that the wage scale provided in the decision was insufficient to sustain life on the basis of American standards.

The board's decision followed the hearings held on the request of the railroads for wage reduction and the counter-proposals of several classes of employees for increases in pay. The hearings began in Chicago on March 6, and ended April 29. All except three or four of the larger railway systems of the United States were affected by the hearing, which included all classes of employees except those in train, yard and engine service who were then conducting negotiations with the railroads which had not terminated when the hearing began.

Announce Separate Decision.

In announcing a separate decision for maintenance of way employees in advance of its decision as to the other classes, the board complied with a request made by the United States Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railroad Shop Laborers, which asked that its case be given precedence and be decided as speedily as possible.

The classes now embraced in the hearings number from 30 to 50 per cent of the total of railroad employees.

In announcing the decision the board called attention to the fact that the present adjustment was based on previous wage adjustments, the first of which, on July 1, 1920, increased the wages of all classes of employees approximately $600,000,000 a year, and the second, the decision of July 1, 1921, which slashed $400,000,000 from the wages of some 2,000,000 employees in all parts of the country.

These decisions, it was pointed out, were based on horizontal increases or decreases of the scales prevailing prior to federal control of the roads, all of which were different for different divisions of the same road. Thus, it was said, the minimum rates authorized in the present decision will apply only on a very few divisions of a few roads in small groups of states, principally the South and Southwest.

All of the former differences were continued in the present decision, it being stated that the wages of this class of employees have not been standardized and uniform throughout the country, and will not be made so under the decision. The wages of track laborers at present rates range from 28 cents to 40 cents an hour. Under the decision they will range from 23 cents to 35 cents an hour.

The decision asserted that under the new scale common labor on the roads will still be receiving a rate higher than that paid similar labor in most other industries.

LEYLAND LINER GETS FREIGHTER SAFELY TO PORT

Winifredian and Oxonian Battle Heavy Seas For Days.

BRITISH COURAGE TESTED

Ship Has Close Call When Twenty-Ton Tow Line Breaks.

ST. JOHN'S NEWFOUNDLAND, May 28.—An interesting story of ten days' battle with hard gales and heavy seas to make 450 miles with an unmanageable mass of 20,000 tons deadweight at the end of a 20-ton towline—most of the time going it blind through dripping fogs, shrouding wild waters strewn with the peril of drifts, bergs, was brought here when the Leyland and passenger liner Winifredian arrived in port, dragging after her the big freighter Oxonian, of the same line, rudderless and helpless.

British seamanship of the highest order was bent to the task, and British pertinacity, as well as seamanship, was required to accomplish the tow; a heart-breaking tussle, interrupted when, within a few miles of St. John's, the big freighter snapped the 20-ton towline like pack-thread, and then plunging away towards the ice fields in the east.

The arduous character of the struggle is indicated by the fact that 15,000 messages conveying orders, directions and warnings, passed by wireless between the two ships—to say nothing of many urgent messages passing between the bridge officers by Morse lamp and somaphone.

Small Line Passed.

When the Winifredian in response to a wireless call, reached the Oxonian, disabled by the breaking of her rudder, a moderate sea was running. She launched a boat and transferred one of her Marconi men to her disabled sister, giving two operators to each ship. Then a small line was passed between the two ships. This served to enable the Oxonian to haul aboard the end of a stout hawser which in turn served to haul the end of a big wire cable to her forecastle head. Meantime, the Oxonian had unshackled the end of her chain cable from an anchor and brought it to her forecastle head, the right being left in the hawse pipe. The wire hawser end was shackled to the end of the anchor chain and the tow line was complete.

When the Winifredian went ahead the Oxonian paid out her anchor chain till there was a quarter of a mile or so between the ships; and the long tow began. The high-powered passenger liner found the big freighter a heavy drag, but while the sea was moderate the tow went along fairly well with her cable leading down into the water as if she were riding at anchor. Before long, however, a head wind began to pipe up, whipping up an ugly sea, and the tow began to take broad sheers, putting a tremendous strain on the towline, though never lifting it to the surface. The Winifredian would then stop her engines and sometimes came astern to avoid parting the towline; then she would have to manoeuvre carefully and tediously to straighten out the rudderless and refractory Oxonian in the direction of St. John's again. When the Oxonian opened up her own engines she sheered more wildly, and the engineer was told to merely let enough steam into them to keep them warm for an emergency.

Constantly On Duty.

The ships made slow progress, and to add to their troubles a thick fog shut down. At times they were invisible to one another, and then the disposition of the Oxonian to take the bit in her mouth and go off at a tangent was a constant menace to the towline. Not only were the demands upon the alertness of the deck officers increased, but the wireless operator had to remain constantly on duty, with men standing by to relay messages between the bridge and the radio-room.

Through the long watches, fearing any minute they might blunder a berg, the Winifredian and her lumbering tow struggled slowly towards St. John's—so slowly, that by the end of the second day, the captain fearing a fodder famine, ordered that the 850 cattle on the liner and 750 cattle on the freighter be put on short rations. And soon to the howl of the winds, the uproar of angry waters and the groanings of the laboring ships, was added the mournful howling of hungry animals. The castlemen found their work becoming increasingly difficult and dangerous, for the beasts began to develop a vicious temper.

After a weary week the ships arrived somewhere off the entrance to St. John's, but the fog was too thick to tell just where they were. So they sent out a wireless call for tugs to help steer the Oxonian through the Narrows and waited for the fog to clear.

Cold Fog.

That night a gale came out of the east, and the Winifredian labored mightily and warily to hold her tow up to it, manoeuvring delicately, yet powerfully, because to part the tow rope would leave the Oxonian helpless on a pitiless lee shore, while if she did not hold her own against the head wind and sea, both ships would be gradually set back upon the coast. Gloom and tripping fog enveloped them—a fog bearing waves of biting cold air, alarmingly suggestive of ice drifting down the wind.

Shortly after day dawned, the fog lifted, and they saw the high coast under their lee—too near for comfort. The Winifredian put her engines ahead some revolutions to work out to sea, and about the same time the Oxonian took a wilder sheer than usual, and a vicious squall swept down upon them. Then as the freighter lifted her prow high on a sea, the long towline came hissing out of the water and, twanging like a mighty fiddle string, parted near Poles Claim Oldest Man Veteran of 132.

PARIS, May 28.—Although Poland, in its present form, is among the youngest countries of Europe, the Poles claim among their citizens the oldest man in the whole world. John Krasinski, the last survivor of the Napoleonic armies, fought 110 years ago in the Battle of Borodino. Age 22 then, he therefore today counts the venerable number of 132 years.

Taken prisoner by the Russians—not in the World War, but during Napoleon's Moscow retreat—Krasinski settled down in Russia and fought in Crimea. Last year his "young wife," as he calls her, died at the age of 98. Having then learned that the Polish government was making grants of land to veterans, Krasinski thought himself of his original nationality, and the old man is today busy tilling land in the province of Posen.

where the wire hawser joined the cable. The ships were shaken as if they had run full tilt into a berg. On the Winifredian, passengers aroused from sleep by the jarring vibration, hastened on deck in alarm, while the chinaware clattered in the pantries.

Broadside on, rolling heavily, the Oxonian was drifting toward a high cliff, against which the rollers were spouting hoarsely. But apparently a part of her hundred fathoms of cable hanging out of her hawse pipe caught the bottom and dragged her bow around; at any rate, her head swung off shore, away from the foam-fringed cliffs, and Captain Parry put his engines ahead full speed. Out to sea went the big freighter, while the mate and his crowd went on the forecastle head, and started the windlasses and hove up the dragging cable.

Breeze Springs Up.

And then the easterly gale suddenly died out, the squall that nearly settled the fate of the freighter was its fury. When the Oxonian began to turn broadside to the sea again and Captain Parry stopped his engines, it was nearly calm. And not long after a breeze came out of the west and grew in force until the freighter was drifting to set at a rapid rate.

The Winifredian took several hours to get her heavy hawser aboard, and the Oxonian was ten miles out when she caught up with her again. A high, confused sea was running, and it was considered too dangerous to launch a small boat. The weather prospects indicated that the sea would not moderate for a long time. Captain Parry of the Winifredian faced the question of manoeuvring his big ship near enough to the freighter to throw a line aboard, or leaving her adrift another day and night, with the chances that she might drift into an ice field or be set back on the shore by a change in the wind. He decided to try to put a line aboard the freighter, a difficult and delicate operation, and sufficiently dangerous. But he tackled it. The drifting freighter many many times, only to be compelled to sheer off in a hurry, owing to some lunge of the wind, or some erratic movement of the helpless freighter. But with dogged determination and consummate skill he returned to the dangerous task, and at last, after eight or nine hours a heaving line flung from the stern of the liner was caught by the men of the freighter. It took more hours of hard work to couple the Winifredian's hawser to the Oxonian's anchor chain, eleven hours in all.

Presently the fog shut down again, and it was three more days before it cleared, and the Winifredian and her tow arriving off this port, were joined by tugs, which took hold of the freighter astern and steered her through the Narrows.

SIDE LIGHTS AT OTTAWA

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL, Staff Correspondent The London Advertiser.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa.

May 28.—Up to the present time approximately sixty Progressive members and sixteen Liberals have signified their intention of participating in the budget debate.

In addition to this number it is estimated that forty out of the fifty-five Conservative members will speak.

Because of the long list of speakers the debate will last for ten days at least. The majority of the members will speak when the budget is under consideration in the committee of ways and means, and their talks will probably be confined to one or two resolutions which affect their own constituency in particular.

To expedite the debate the whips have listed all members of the various parties who wish to speak, and so some semblance of order will be kept.

The few Liberals who are listed will speak in defence of the government's policy. Others will speak if there is necessity for further defence, but for the time being the majority of the party will remain silent so that the debate will not be prolonged unnecessarily.

PROTESTS against the tax on beet sugar have already been received by B. W. Fansher, member for East Lambton, which includes a portion of Kent County, from sugar manufacturers in his riding. Mr. Fansher will speak on the budget, but until he completes a thorough analysis of the resolutions he will make no statement on his policy.

WITH one amendment in the form of a resolution of censure, moved to the budget as a whole, there can be no further amendments until the budget has passed into the committee of ways and means. In com-

MEMBERS for Western Ontario breathed more easily when the agricultural committee, which for some weeks has been considering the request of the Western farmers for a compulsory wheat board, decided to divorce flour and all other wheat products including bran and shorts from the control of the proposed board.

A vast number of farmers in Western Ontario depend almost entirely on Western Canada for their supply of grain feed, and it was feared by their representatives in the house that if bran and shorts came under the jurisdiction of the wheat board, Ontario farmers would be forced to pay a much higher price for feed and perhaps would experience some difficulty in securing an adequate supply.

The Western Ontario members believed also that a compulsory wheat board controlling flour, would perhaps destroy the market for the coarser grade of flour manufactured by the Ontario miller, which is now sold for the most part in Europe for a comparatively good price.

Youthful Husband Is Sent To Juvenile Home Until Age Question Is Settled

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, May 28.—A most unusual development occurred in a police court case here Saturday. A young, well-dressed chap was charged with breaking into a house and stealing liquor.

In his own evidence he had convicted himself, and when the crown asked that he be remanded to jail for a week for sentence, the prisoner produced a birth certificate which showed that he was only 14 years of age, but his father maintained he was 15. In addition to being a juvenile he is also a husband, and his girl wife was in court. He had to be sent to the Coombe Home at Hespeler instead of the jail, and the matter of his age will now be investigated.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Jordan, Mrs. Jordan and O. Leo Herbert were the examiners.

Oak Halls, Limited

The New Name Which a Great Financial Deal Gives to an Old Established Business

OAK HALLS, LIMITED, is the title of a new Company, lately organized, the story of whose inception will be of interest to tens of thousands of Canadians, and to the whole mercantile trade of Canada.

Fifty years ago the late Hon. Senator Sanford, one of Canada's commercial kings, formed the "W. E. Sanford Manufacturing Co." of which the Oak Hall Stores, the largest and brightest chain of retail clothing stores from Halifax to Vancouver, have been the most picturesque and prosperous feature.

Under that familiar name these stores have increased from time to time in number. Beginning almost with Canadian Confederation, they themselves have been a confederation bound together by the highest standards of commercial honor, the loftiest ideals of square dealing and public service, now having supplied the wants of two generations with an enterprise and honesty which have made their goods synonyms for worth, and their name for reliability and honor.

The announcement made here and now is this: That, after prolonged negotiation, this chain of stores has been secured by, and passes into the exclusive control of a new company, chartered, and to be hereafter known as the OAK HALLS, LIMITED.

It is due to the public that the personnel of the outstanding officials of the new company, which has taken over the entire assets of over $800,000, should be defined.

The President of Oak Halls, Limited, is Mr. Walter A. McCutcheon, whose whole active life has been given to the department of mercantile life in which he now becomes so outstanding a figure. Born at Listowel, Ont., Mr. McCutcheon gave six years in his native town, twelve in Galt, nine in London, and the last five with the W. E. Sanford Co., in Hamilton (at the very fountainhead of this line of commerce), thus becoming master of its every detail, and equipped by experience, to say nothing of character and ability, for discharging the duties of the responsible position to which he has been called. Beginning at the bottom, his career has been one long series of successive promotions.

The Vice-President is to be Mr. James Paterson, whose career in this work, begun in Brantford, was enlarged by ten years in prominent American cities, and further crowned by fourteen years with the W. E. Sanford Co., in Hamilton. It is of happy significance that his special work has been that of buyer of men's outfitting goods.

This new enterprise, involving as it does the extensive plants and stock of such stores as those in Toronto, Hamilton, London, Windsor, St. Thomas, Welland, St. Catharines, Galt, Owen Sound, Peterboro and Brantford, is one of the greatest ever consummated in the history of Canadian retail merchandise. The momentum of half a century of business genius and business honor is behind it. The opportunity of an ever-expanding nation, of the most enterprising of modern business methods, coupled with the most venerable and fundamental principles of business ethics, lies before it—and the public are assured that the new captains of this staunch and sturdy bark, that so long has braved the breeze, will steer by the same chart and compass as have guided this great organization in the half-century of prosperity and progress that they hope to emulate and surpass in the years to come.

ST. GEORGE'S GUIDES CARRY OFF HONORS

Win Both Pennants At Teen Age Girls Outdoor Rally.

St. George's Girl Guides have every reason to feel uplifted over the honors they carried off in the grand outdoor rally of 'teen age girls of the city, held on Saturday afternoon in the Western University grounds. Two pennants were offered for competition, open to 37 groups, with a total enrollment of 757, represented in the London Girls' Cabinet. St. George's Girl Guides carried away both, one for the best showing in the grand march, the other for the best report submitted of the year's work. "Showing" in the grand march involved appearance, marching, drills, songs and percentage of representation. Seventeen groups participated in this, presenting a striking picture of alert, intelligent, well-set-up Canadian young girlhood, as they stood at attention, or moved forward in the procession, the majority in middie costumes with distinguishing marks of their group colors, flags and banners waving.

Of course it was a perfect day, genuine "queen's weather," and difficult to please indeed would the princess have been who could find fault with the university grounds in their loveliest early summer dress. But, so filled with action and interest was the program, there was little time for either the girls or the dozens of interested spectators to think of the scenery.

Judges were stationed on the university veranda, the march-past beginning at 3:30 o'clock. Heading the parade was the C. G. I. T. of Maitland Street Baptist Church, with caps in red and white, Miss Helen D'Avignon acting as marshal, ably assisted by L. Liddle of the Y. M. C. A., and Rev. W. Leslie Armitage. Next were the Comrades in Service of Talbot Street Baptist Church, 24 strong, distinguished by striking purple and gold caps. The "Ever Ready" group of New St. James' Presbyterian Church was a small band, but it made its name well known in the course of the afternoon.

"Clover Leaf" Popular. Next in line came St. Andrew's Pathfinder, Chelsea Green Girl Guides, a young group of much promise; the Girls' Friendly Guides of St. John the Evangelist, smart in appearance and marching, led by Capt. Alma Price; St. Paul's Presbyterian "Thistles," with purple and green as their colors; The Clover Leaf Club of St. James' Anglican Church were natty blue caps with four-leaf clovers in green, their tiny drum-major, Catharine Armitage, about half as big as anybody else, having an important part in making this group very popular.

Glowing red and gold were the cheery colors of the cheery-looking Sunshine Spreaders of Christ Church.

Seeing Week-End Market With Aunt Maria's Eyes

"Aunt Maria" queried a woman, politely, the week-end market Saturday morning. "Aunt Maria," corrected The Advertiser's chronic marketer. "Oh," laughed the woman, who stood beside piles of rhubarb, lettuce and other garden appetizers, "I wanted to tell you I read the other day what you wrote about the cheaper cuts of meat. It wasn't signed, but I recognized who did it. I wanted to write and tell you how I cook pot roast, and you couldn't ask anything nicer when it is done the right way."

"Supposing you tell me right now," said Aunt Maria, her pencil poised over the copy paper that sticks to her like a Siamese twin.

"I never buy anything but pot roast at twelve and a half cents a pound," said the new acquaintance in businesslike fashion. "I get a three or four pound roast and put it in the pot over the fire with three cups of boiling water. The boiling water sears it up. The mistake a lot of people make with pot roasts is that they pour on cold water to start and that takes out all the juice. After a couple of hours I add the amount of salt I think will be needed. I let the roast simmer away down to the fat, and with turning frequently, get the meat nicely browned all around. If necessary, I add a little more water. I put on the roast at nine when I'm going to have dinner at twelve. One thing to watch is that it doesn't burn. When it is done just right, the gravy is delicious, made by taking the roast out of the pan, then adding water and thickening. It slices beautifully when it is cold."

What About Fireless Cooker?

One thing, the woman who gave the recipe evidently has plenty of fuel. Cooking three hours on gas in the city might not appeal as a very great economy. That reminds of the fireless cooker, a boon in hot weather, an economy all the year round. Wouldn't the fireless cooker be ideal for a pot roast, and the very method for cooking the cheaper cuts to perfection?

Judging by the amount of fowl displayed, there must have been a big killing of the country around London on Friday and early Saturday morning.

"How much?" was asked of one woman with eight birds piled in front of her at 12 o'clock. "Pick out what you want and we'll try to make the price right," she said crisply. There was chicken, much of it, that was just "chicken," a considerable amount that was frankly "stewing chicken." There were comely birds which made the mouth water to think what they would taste like after being properly prepared, steamed a little while, perhaps, then taken out of the oven delicately browned.

There was one duck, a very worthwhile looking duck. In this connection a new method was discovered in the answer to the "How much?" of a passer by, the answer came back, "32."

"How much does it weigh?" "I don't know how much it weighs, but I can assure you that it is young."

Spinnach has made a big tobaggon. From 40 cents a half peck a week ago, it came down Saturday morning to 25 and 40 cents a whole peck, or 20 to 25 cents a half peck, according to where you made inquiry. And it was much better spinach than any that had previously appeared of the wilted, imported variety.

"How much for asparagus?" was asked at several market stands. The reply in each case was "Two bunches for a quarter, sparsely, was seems to be scarce this morning." It did, in the week-end market, and Aunt Maria thanked her stars she had the wisdom to buy it in the grocery store, where she had a wide choice, and got three bunches delivered for 25 cents.

Lettuce (straight) was 10 and 15 cents a bunch, two and three bunches of 25 cents; radishes, 5 cents.

Grow Your Own Cabbage
Why impoverish yourself buying cabbage and cauliflower to cook when you can grow it so cheaply in your own garden? One dealer in plants was selling cabbage plants at the rate of twenty-five for 15 cents. Think of it, twenty-five cabbages for the outlay of 15 cents and a bit of work on that back yard or vacant lot! Who would pay aeroplane prices for cabbage in the spring when they can be grown the summer before for a mere trifle?

But that wasn't the best news. Cauliflower, much more aesthetic and socially elect than cabbage at any price, might be purchased at the rate of twenty-five healthy plants for 25 cents, all well started in life.

The satisfactory dealer who had "grown 'em all himself and guaranteed their quality," was taking orders for strawberry plants at $5 a thousand. Not many city folks will need a thousand.

Lively competition was manifested in the butter market.

"How much is your butter?" asked a cross-eyed person standing directly in front of two bright-looking young women.

"If you mean her," said the more nimble-tongued of the two, indicating her neighbor to the right, "she is asking 37 cents. I'm selling mine for 35."

Several other farm home-makers were found who were quite willing to strike bargains ranging from 35 cents to 38 cents a pound.

Fewer eggs were in evidence, the prices asked being 28 to 32 cents.

Fish Settles Down.
Aunt Maria got such a pleasant surprise in the fish market she forgot all about going to find out if potatoes had taken a further jump, and if as prophesied, they reached $2.25 or even $2.50 a bag.

For the first Saturday this season, the sign was hung out in the fish market, "Fresh Caught." But it had been a bigger sign, higher up, right in the middle, so small people would not be obliged to stand on their top-toes and get their heads bashed with other people's elbows, trying to look over shoulders.

Fresh caught whitefish was posted at 17 cents a pound; fresh caught salmon trout at the same price, and fresh caught herrings two pounds for 25 cents.

With fish showing such sane tendencies another solution is offered for the problem of cutting down the high cost of choicer cuts of meat bills.

By the way, did you notice all the ferns which were on sale in the week-end market? The cut-rate man who sold his at six for a quarter, or three for a quarter, according to the size (right from the swampy woods, with lots of rich loam clinging to them), assured they'd grow anywhere but on the pavement. Nearby a young woman had a whole load of beautiful maiden-hair ferns, roots and all, five, ten and so on a piece, according to the size. And nothing in the world gives greater satisfaction than ferns in the sunless corners where flowers refuse to bloom.

CROWN ALMA GIRL QUEEN OF THE MAY

The May court festival by the students and faculty of Alma College was a brilliant success.

Miss Margaret Macfie of Apin was chosen by the students as the girl who displayed the cardinal virtues of true womanhood and was crowned Queen of the May.

Mrs. Stanley Oliver, vice-president of the Alma Daughters, directed the coronation ceremony. After the ceremony a program consisting of drills, folk-dances, physical culture exhibitions was given.

Those taking part in the coronation ceremony were: Counsellors, Miss Aileen Armstrong, Bettina Michigan; Miss Audrey Smith, Lenora Dages; Barbara, Hillesheim; Marion Still, Doris Mary Martin and Marjory Allison.

During the evening Mrs. Macfie, mother of the May Queen, was presented with an exquisite bouquet of flowers, Tom Tindal of London making the presentation. The college grounds were beautifully decorated for the occasion, and a large crowd witnessed the ceremony.

Personals
Dr. Nelson George and Mrs. George leave Tuesday on a six weeks' trip to California, returning by way of the Canadian West.

Miss Alice Kelso was called to Toronto Friday evening, owing to the serious illness of her aunt, Mrs. F. W. Merchant, Jarvis street, formerly of this city.

Principal C. C. Waller and Mrs. Waller leave Saturday, June 3, for Muskoka, where they will spend the summer at their cottage at Gregory, Lake Joseph.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

CHILDREN AT CHURCH.

Dear Cynthia and Readers,— It is a long time since I have written to the page, but I have not missed many of the letters. I enjoy reading the page very much, and wonder if I have been forgotten? I used to write to "Mother of Six Boys," but I have had poor health and neglected to answer. I am busy cleaning house, also trying to get my garden in, but believe me it's some job where there are three children. My baby is just three months old and at the age of two months had two teeth cut. She cut them so easy I never noticed any difference in her, but I guess she has reason to start early for the weighed 11½ lbs.

I was wondering if any of the readers have had any of the following experiences, and also would they give me their opinions. We usually go to church each Sunday, and, of course, my little girl must climb over and under the seats, if allowed, and when I try to stop her she makes all kinds of noises. Now I have whipped her twice for doing it, but I don't believe it is any use. I have coaxed her with cookies and story books, but she just seems contented when on the move. I inclose mite for S. C. H. and must say we have spent a small fortune on sickness and operations in the past two years. I certainly am in sympathy with those in sickness and trouble.

MRS. ALL TRADES.
It is hard to keep a young child quiet during church services, and although it is distracting to the congregation, one likes going to church, and it is too bad to be kept away by children, so perhaps some of our mother boxites would give you some advice along this line. I am mailing the seeds you asked for and many thanks for the hospital mite.

INTERESTED IN KIDDIES.
Dear Miss Grey,—Received the violet from Esme all O. K., and I think it will do nicely. Thank you so much, Cynthia, for your kind help. Esme also put her address on the package, so I have written to her personally to thank her.

Inclosed is a dime for the kiddies' fund. Am so pleased to see it growing. You see I have two very lively youngsters, aged 9 and 7 years, so, of course, am always interested in other folks' kiddies. Wishing your Mail-Box every success, I remain, a friend.

DARKIE NO. 1
Esme has been more than generous with her roots. I also received some of them. Thank you for the hospital mite. Your children are darlings, I am sure.

PLEASED TO SEE LETTER.
Dear Miss Grey,—I am inclosing 20 cents for two kinds of flowers and seeds. I live in North Dorchester, but used to live in South. I saw my last letter in print, and was pleased to see it. How do you like this weather? Wishing you and all the boxites every success.

A BROWN-EYED DAISY.
I am mailing you the seeds you asked for, and many thanks for the hospital mite. This weather is lovely, isn't it, Daisy?

has already arrived, Miss Doris Auden will be the guest of Miss Edith Anderson for a fortnight before going to Muskoka, and Miss Gwynedd Auden will pay a visit to Miss Bertha Walker, Oriole road, Toronto.

Hale Street Mothers' Club met last week at the home of Mrs. J. Dissing, 248 Hale street, to sew for the War Memorial Children's Hospital, after which the executive held a special meeting to make plans for a garden party on June 15 in the Hale Street School grounds. The next sewing tea will take place Thursday, June 1, at the home of Mrs. James McNiven, 1232 York street.

Wednesday, June 7, is the only date that Mrs. Sidney Small has free to come to London in the early part of the summer as the guest of honor of a luncheon to be given by the Local Council of Women at the Hunt Club to launch the Y. W. C. A. building campaign. The executive of the Local Council meets at the home of the president, Mrs. E. B. Smith, "Tuesday," Tuesday evening to consider the National Council agenda, and at that time will endeavor to arrange to hold the luncheon the day that suits Mrs. Small's convenience.

Miss Annie Warne of Ottawa, general secretary of the Grenfell Mission, is coming to town Wednesday, May 31, and will address a meeting at 3:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church Hall, under the auspices of the London Auxiliary. Miss Warne, it is stated, will have a most interesting story to tell of the work. Following the meeting tea will be served in honor of the visitor, and an invitation is extended to all to attend who are interested in hearing the story of "The Labrador" to date, and in meeting Miss Warne personally. While in the city she will be the guest of Mrs. A. T. Little, president of the London Grenfell Mission Auxiliary.

A charming springtime tea and sale of fancy home-made cooking was held at the home of Mrs. L. R. Jones in Hellmuth avenue, Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Builders' Class of the Talbot Street Baptist Church.

The table was charmingly centered with shaggy masses of lilacs, surrounded with apple blossoms and valley lilies. Mrs. A. T. Edwards and Mrs. Will McFadden presided over the tea, while Mrs. Jones received the many callers who dropped in during the afternoon.

An exceptionally good program of music was rendered, many of the guests lingering for a chat after the program was finished.

Rich Cream That Will Keep Sweet All Summer

Summer Resorts!

IS your milk and cream supply uncertain at your summer home? Perhaps you are not sure of its purity? Then for convenience and safety's sake, take a supply of Keepsweet Cream with you. We can also supply you with Keepsweet Milk, the sister-product of Keepsweet Cream. It is also absolutely pure, rich and sweet, and is a splendid food for babies and children.

Think of it! Your summer's supply of milk and cream in a small packing case!

Managers of summer hotels! Now, at last, you can serve pure, rich, natural cream! If you are anxious to please your guests, and wish to cut complaints down to a minimum, serve both Keepsweet Cream and Keepsweet Milk on your tables. Your guests will be delighted. Place your order at once. The better retail and wholesale grocers handle all Keepsweet products.

Picnickers: Rich, natural cream for your berries, for your pie and for your coffee! It will not be a real picnic, now, without Keepsweet.

YOU'LL be simply amazed when you try Keepsweet. It's cream! Rich, pure, sweet, natural cow's cream! Not milk, mind you, but the finest cow's cream and it's put up in sanitary cans. In fact, it is the first and only product in a sanitary can that the Dominion Government permits to be labelled "Cream." It is the sensation of the year.

It is not Condensed
It is not Evaporated
It is not Medicated

Keepsweet is whole, natural, liquid cream, just as it comes from the cow, only it's purified to the last degree. The remarkable thing about it is that it will keep sweet all summer long. Without ice, without special care, it will keep sweet and pure and wholesome in its sanitary can for an indefinite period.

No preservatives of any kind are put into Keepsweet Cream. Absolutely nothing is put into it and absolutely nothing is taken from it.

Pour from the Can and Use

You simply punch two holes in the top of the can and empty the cream into a cream jug. Then use it as you would raw cream—on porridge or cereals, in coffee, cocoa or tea, on puddings or fruit—in fact, any place where you would use ordinary raw cream. Don't add water. It's all ready to use.

Of course, once you've opened the can, Keepsweet requires the same care as ordinary cream.

The Flavor is Delicious

You will be captivated by the delightfully rich flavor of Keepsweet Cream. It has the tang of Devon! It contains a larger percentage of butterfat than the average table cream and it is safer to use, because it contains no germs. They were all killed when the cream was sterilized.

Inexpensive, Too

Compare the price of Keepsweet with ordinary cream and in most localities you will find the prices almost identical.

But the great thing about this really marvelous product is that it will keep Sweet for months on end. Violent thunderstorms can't affect it—nor can terrific summer heat.

A Godsend in an Emergency

There comes a time almost every day in every home when all the cream is used up, when the ice man fails to call, when the ice melts away and the cream sours—when a jug of cream is badly needed.

That's the time when Keepsweet comes into its own! Rich, pure, delicious in flavor, it is all ready for the table.

Thrifty, efficient housewives from now on will keep half a dozen cans of Keepsweet always handy. Many have already adopted Keepsweet Cream for permanent table use. They enjoy its delightful flavor and richness, and they like to have pure, sweet cream always handy.

How it is Done

At our creameries away out in the quiet country we receive the milk from rigidly inspected dairies. We at once separate the cream from the milk. We first pasteurize the cream, then homogenize it and after canning, sterilize it, container and all. It is thus made literally pure, as all disease germs are killed.

Pasteurizing temporarily prevents fermentation and souring, homogenizing makes the cream more readily digestible, and the final sterilization destroys all germ life. Thus the cream will keep all summer long in all its original freshness and rich flavor.

Order from your grocer. He will supply you. Don't be afraid to order half a dozen tins, because after you've had one sip you'll be glad you ordered a supply.

Grocers—The Dominion Government has ruled that as Keepsweet Cream is "true to its name" and in nowise an evaporated product, being just pure, natural cream, it is exempt from the Sales Tax. Your wholesaler will supply you.

Dr. Bowley Green Urges Christians To Point Out Way of Master to Others

From the words, "I say unto you, up your eyes and look on the sky, for the harvest is plenteous," Dr. Bowley Green, Talbot Street Baptist on Sunday morning, concluded a series of sermons on the subject of the Christian's duty to point out the way of the Master to others. In his sermon, Dr. Green, who has a reputation, he had referred to many temporal matters in order to point out the way of the Master, and he had shown the light, ever under the value of temporal things, advised the pastor, let them have their right place, in so doing be sure you have the light of perspective of life. This woman, Sychar, left her property and went to the city to come out and see the man who told her all things she had done. Some of the world's greatest epochs have been when men have left their surroundings and moved for Christ. It was an epoch-making event when George Whitfield left his father's public house and started out to preach; it was an epoch when New York and gave life for the down and outs, and was an epoch-making time when a woman of Samaria, born again, left the first impulse of a person on the way of things eternal. The first impulse of a person on the way of things eternal, said the pastor, "when a great, assuming zeal like that was yours, your great desire that others should see the light as it is in Christ. You may have been timid and unobtrusive, but you were an evangelist. My friend, where do you stand today? Why is it that so many of us are so indifferent to the carrying of the message. It is because the secondary things are driving out the essentials. Days, and weeks, and months pass on into years without it ever occurring to many of us that it is our sacred duty to carry the word to others." Dr. Green related an experience in Providence, where he had called on a business man of 70 years, to talk of spiritual matters. The answer was that in all these years no person had ever spoken on this matter about the relationship of himself to God.

"We are taking too much for granted," he concluded. "Many a man may come to church and never get the personal invitation that he needs in order to get him to decide. I often wonder what the world thinks of you and me, who profess to have something that has a power to save and hold men, and who claim that men are either saved or lost. With all this equipment, what are we doing? Do we believe, or do we only profess to believe? Are we in earnest, or are we only playing at religion? It is not your business to wonder what people will say if you mention the matter of salvation to the way to the Master, and it is His work to convert, unfold Himself and to reveal your great desire that others should see the light as it is in Christ."

IRACLES TEACH LESSON OF FAITH

From the text, "That will by no means clear the guilty," from the 24th chapter of Exodus, Rev. Denry Bright, preaching at the evening service in St. Paul's Cathedral, depicted vividly the modern tendency to allow compassion to assume too great a place in judgment.

"Compassion is the master moral force of the time," Mr. Bright continued. "We must admit that when defenceless peoples are overrun, the world is stirred with indignation. When men hear of other men's need, whether they be black, or white, or red, they are stirred to benevolence. Compassion has invaded our thinking. It may be discerned in the young man's choice of a profession. It dominates our literature and art, and has entered into our religious thought, so that man is inclined to look upon God as merciful only, and to turn aside from the God of infinite power, purity and justice, to call Him a God of infinite pity alone. But God showed himself a just God in that he drove man out of the Garden of Eden. When the whole world became corrupted He sent the flood. He destroyed the wicked cities of Sodom and Gomorrah. He drove out the Canaanites because of their unutterable corruption and sin, and sent Israel into exile because of the time again they had disobeyed His laws. We cannot elude the fact that guilty nations are punished for their sin, and the Son of God himself says, 'I will surely punish and yet will be merciful to the multitude.' It is the solution of all difficulties, declared the minister—just to them to Christ.

"A Christian's life should be a joy and a burden. It should be an inspiration to the person instead of a trial to the person, then that person keeping the leaves and the fruit of the tree, and not putting them in the hands of Jesus Christ.

The followers of Christ thought they did not enough to feed themselves, yet they delivered what they had into the hands of Jesus, it was found that there was enough to feed the multitude, and that was necessary for the disciples left over. It will be found in the life of Christ that if we will share with others there will be enough left to spare for all our wants."

Spirit Reveals.

The preacher declared that Jesus did not have been blamed if he had turned away from the man who was hungry, and was looking for a few moments of rest after a difficult day, a spirit in which he received the multitude reveals the wonderful heart of Christ.

The second lesson to be learned from this incident is the lesson of faith. The disciples advised sending away the multitude and wearying themselves, and yet they were able to feed them, using only the five small loaves and fishes, but they had overlooked the presence of Jesus with them.

"The life of Jesus is found in the life of the church, but if we take us into our task we will find that it is living up to its responsibility as it takes up tasks that are impossible as feeding five thousand with five small loaves and two small fishes. The church of today needs to undertake the impossible and to launch into the deep.

Solution of Difficulties.

The disciples said to Christ, "We have five small loaves and two small fishes with which to feed the multitude." He just answered, "Bring them to me." That is the solution of all difficulties, declared the minister—just to them to Christ.

A Christian's life should be a joy and a burden. It should be an inspiration to the person instead of a trial to the person, then that person keeping the leaves and the fruit of the tree, and not putting them in the hands of Jesus Christ.

The followers of Christ thought they did not enough to feed themselves, yet they delivered what they had into the hands of Jesus, it was found that there was enough to feed the multitude, and that was necessary for the disciples left over. It will be found in the life of Christ that if we will share with others there will be enough left to spare for all our wants."

MAKES THIS STATEMENT FOR THE BENEFIT OF OTHER POOR SUFFERERS

CRACKEN COUNTY WOMAN WAS SO NERVOUS COULD NOT HOLD PEN STEADY ENOUGH TO WRITE, AND MY HEART FLUTTERED ALMOST CONSTANTLY.

"I have used only two bottles of Andes and come for my third today. All the bad symptoms have about disappeared. I sleep all night, have a healthy appetite, my stomach, bowels and kidneys are doing fine. I consider Andes the best medicine I ever used and give this statement with the hope that it will be of benefit to other sufferers."

"The many ailments attacking mankind in the spring prompt the Andes man to lay special stress upon the merits of Andes for the stomach, liver, kidneys and constipation. It has wonderful reconstructive properties, and as a general tonic for weak, run-down, anemic persons, and as a blood purifier and strengthener, Andes is excellent at this time of the year."

The Andes expert is meeting the London people at Strong's Drug Store. He gives full information in regard to this new medicine, and explains just how it should be used to obtain good results.—Adv.

DECLARES HOME IS WOMAN'S THRONE

Dean Tucker Addresses Girl Groups at St. Paul's Cathedral.

An impressive service was held Sunday afternoon, when more than 700 girls, representing the 35 teen age groups of the city, attended the girls' service of worship at St. Paul's Cathedral. Very Rev. Dean L. N. Tucker conducted the services, assisted by Rev. W. L. Myles, Rev. N. S. McKee and Rev. T. A. Symington.

"The tendency of modern life is to extend the sphere of women," stated Dean Tucker in his address. "At one time the woman's sphere was the home, but now it is reaching out to all human tendencies, including doctors, lawyers, journalists and members of parliament. All avenues of research and of study are now open to women as well as men, but there is all the difference in the world between their activity and influence. You may be very learned and still have a little influence, and it is the influence that counts."

Permeates All Ages.

"The influence of women has permeated through all ages," he stated, "due to two causes; first, the gift of sympathy given by God. It is this gift in woman that gives her inspiration and insight, which men do not possess. Men have to reason things out, while women have the gift of intuition and insight, together with sympathy."

"This, together with unselfish service, has given to woman an irresistible influence. When you find a bold woman claiming her rights, she is instinctively opposed to her, but where you have a modest and self-sacrificing woman, every one gives away to her influence."

"The home is the woman's throne, and is her most important agency, for there she deals with the origin of life. There women's service reigns supreme."

Our Need for Obedience.

"Our modern age needs to learn obedience and reverence to those above us. The home is the great school of life, and the mother is the model, and from this centre woman radiates, out to the nursing service, where sympathy is one-half the battle. A woman is needed in the larger spheres of life, and she is to have her place there, and when she takes her place human rights will predominate."

"The great need of women at the present time is in child welfare work, to help little children to be stronger and better."

"When a woman has reached the height of her power many wrongs will receive redress."

A delightful feature of the service was a solo given by Miss Kathleen Gibson, with 'cello obbligato played by Rev. Quintin Warner.

REV. HILES HOLDS CANDLE SERVICE

Sunday the congregation of Robinson Memorial Methodist Church held their Sunday school anniversary. The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of flowers and a pretty flower-covered fence was erected, through the gates of which about thirty little children passed when they were received from the cradle roll into the beginners' department of the school. A choir of fifty boys and girls led the singing.

The minister, Rev. W. L. Hiles, gave an illustrated candle talk. A large lighted candle represented the "Christ, the Light of the World," while smaller candles were one by one lit from the large candle and represented boys and girls and men and women, who were taking seriously the words of Jesus when he said: "Ye are the light of the world."

Mr. Hiles spoke of the need of each one "letting his light shine," and drove home the truth that if we would be most beautiful and effective in our "shining," we must not be lone candles, but must get together in Sunday school and in church and help each other.

In the afternoon general promotion took place throughout the school, and a very interesting address was given by J. F. Maine of the Askin Street School, who took as the subject of his address the lad with the loaves and fishes. In the evening, Rev. Geo. W. Grey of the Express Avenue Church preached an inspiring sermon along the lines of Sunday school endeavor.

"The National Way."

Pastor of First Congregational Traces Growth of Sunday School

"The Sunday School in Modern Life" was the subject discussed in First Congregational Church Sunday morning by Rev. M. Kelly.

In discussing this theme, the pastor pointed out that Jesus took the children up in his arms, put his hands upon them and blessed them, and it has been suggested that they have been there in his arms ever since. In the days of Jesus certain of the Greek and Roman states valued their children from the standpoint of the kind of soldiers they would make; and the weaklings were put to death. Had such a custom been followed in modern life, we would have been without some of our greatest men, for it has been proven that with intelligence and care a weak child will often become a strong man, and render a fine service; such is true of Dr. Samuel Johnson, Nelson, Roosevelt, and R. L. Stevenson.

"We are indebted to Robert Raikes," said the pastor, "a Gloucester printer, as the originator of the Sunday school. At that time there were many such—were ragged, dirty, and generally grew up like topsy. Raikes gathered the neglected and uneducated children together from the streets and on Sunday afternoon these children were taught by paid teachers how to write; and also the church catechism. The social improvement which took place immediately in those districts where such schools were established was so marked that other cities and countries followed the lead of Raikes; and today the Sunday school is established wherever there is a Christian church, and it is frequently found even where there is no church."

CELEBRATE END OF EUCHARIST PERIOD

The exposition of the Blessed Sacrament in the Catholic churches of the city on Sunday marked the closing of the diocesan eucharistic period of prayer which was held simultaneously with the large international congress which concluded in Rome on Sunday.

The different masses in the morning were marked by a solemnity of 8:30 and 9 o'clock masses, when practically the whole congregation approached the altar rail.

The Knights of Columbus made it their annual communion Sunday at St. Peter's Cathedral. They gathered at St. Peter's Hall and marched to the cathedral. Rev. Father Mahony was the speaker at the mass.

All day Sunday the Blessed Sacrament was exposed in the different churches, and the concluding services consisted of vespers, benediction and sermon. Mons. McKee was the speaker at the cathedral, and Father Barry, redemptorist at St. Michael's.

SAYS WORLD LIFE GOOD FOR SOUL

Rev. J. W. Magwood of the Central Methodist Church, Stratford, conducted the services at the Dundas Centre Methodist Church Sunday.

Rev. Magwood took as his text for the evening service the 36th verse of the eighth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Mark: "For what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his soul only."

During his sermon, however, he declared that it was possible to gain both, and that the world was not to be gained at the expense of the soul, and that a man would only humiliate himself who had to say that he gained his soul but lost his world.

"What is the use," he said, "of having a world at all if you have no soul with which to enjoy it? Without a soul no world would be needed. The world, in fact, would be wasted on men and women without souls. If no body had a soul, then food and drink would be the only essentials in life. If you were to take all the virtue out of London tonight, then by the first train tomorrow morning the moral profligates would be leaving the city for some place where immorality was exciting."

The past was to preserve the soul of the world and make it a fit place for man to live in. Every man now has a soul and a world. Despite what Sir Oliver Lodge and Conan Doyle are saying, we know that the responsibility for the world must be carried on the shoulders of those actually living who have souls. The most inspiring task of life is the developing of one's soul, and that is the primary responsibility that we have. The older and bigger we get in soul capacity the larger our world becomes.

The twofold process of developing the world and the soul is going on all the time. In the olden days it was not believed to be possible to save one's soul and one's world at the same time. This same idea obtained also in the Middle Ages. Men who wanted to save their souls in those days shut themselves in monasteries. There are some like-minded people who are still of the same idea today.

It is often predicted that Jesus Christ is coming to the world again, and coming in the near future. If that is so, I think we'd better clean house right away. The world today is not worthy of our Lord. As for the question of judgment day, the day when all souls are supposed to be judged by the Lord, I think that this is judgment day today. God knows what we are doing from day to day, and is watching all of us all of the time, and he knows what we are doing now.

CHINESE FOREIGN MINISTER RESIGNS

LONDON, May 28.—A Reuter dispatch from Peking says that Dr. W. Yen, the foreign minister, resigned Saturday and left for Shanghai today.

The dispatch adds that Dr. Yen apparently is making way for Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, who arrived in Peking Sunday morning.

FLAMES SWEEP BORDEAUX WHARF

BORDEAUX, France, May 28.—Fire broke out this morning on one of the piers in the harbor and spread quickly to various other structures. A high wind was blowing at the time. Thousands of barrels and hogsheads of wine on one of the wharves were destroyed. Although wharves were control early in the afternoon the losses were already computed at many millions of francs.

URGES COMMUNITY WORK FOR CHURCH

Rev. T. A. Symington Declares Every Individual Should Take Part.

"Making the Community Christian" was the subject of the sermon delivered at Knox Church, South London, Sunday morning by Rev. T. A. Symington.

The pastor declared that every individual has a duty towards the community in which he resides.

"If we will only do it," he said, "we can all do more to make things better. What is needed is the spirit of leadership and the ideal of service. Our duty to the community surely does not end with merely attending meetings. The work with the young people and boys of this congregation is an example of what can be done by leadership."

"We are seeing the results of co-operation in many phases of life. During the war we got together and upheld the morals of the Dominion. Since then such organizations as the Rotarians and the Kiwanis and others have been working splendidly to establish and maintain an esprit de corps in the business world. Splendid work has been done among the young people. These are all examples of what can be done."

Need Recognition.

"We need something in the way of a community recognition of Christian work. Communities, groups, congregations, are just as different as individuals. Esprit de corps is the spirit of the group or body. It is a morale. A community must be and may be led into the right spirit. Public worship has a great and a real effect in a community. We are not always as God-fearing as we should be to public worship. This work of creating a devout, God-fearing morale is at 15 or 16 years of age many boys and girls have broken away from parental authority. If they never broke away and acted for themselves what a sorry exhibition they would make of manhood and womanhood. They cannot always be tied to their parents. If they were they would remain children. But what a sad kind of a world it would be if we all stopped developing at 15 years of age. We would remain self-assertive, egotistical and opinionated, knocking the views of others and worshipping our own. We must do more with our boys and girls than train their minds or make them good athletes. An educated athlete is not necessarily a good citizen. He must in his heart and life have an appreciation of the gospel."

Is Essential.

Community responsibility is an essential to young people and adults as athletics to teen age boys. We must find our tasks and help others to find their tasks which they do not for us. We must be if we are to work for the Master. There is work for everyone. All authors of the New Testament works were, with the exception of Paul, ordinary laymen. Matthew was a Government official, an assessor; Mark was a rich young physician and John a fisherman. All of these saw the work to be done, and did it."

During the morning service, P. O. Kester rendered "The Will Be Done" most acceptably and an anthem by the choir was much enjoyed.

BANKERS' HOPES OF UNITY WANE

Financiers At Paris Disheartened by Unfavorable News From Berlin.

Optimism of Last Few Days Not Shared in Official Circles.

PARIS, May 28.—The hope of a settlement of the reparations crisis without the necessity of action by the allies together, or by France separately, raised by the auspicious opening of the bankers' conference, diminished yesterday on receipt of news from Berlin indicating that, though a German cabinet crisis has been avoided, agreement is not complete on the understanding between Finance Minister Hermes and the reparations commission.

The optimism of the last few days is not shared in official circles here, and the impression still prevails that the Germans will do only what is necessary and prolong the negotiations. The climax will come only after the deliberations of the reparations commission, which, in case of final default by Germany, will probably require a fortnight or longer, until just about the time of Premier Poincaré's visit to London for the Verdun commemoration.

This trip was arranged some time ago without reference to politics, but it is regarded as unlikely that the French premier will return from London without seeing Mr. Lloyd George and exchanging views on the situation.

Spiritualist Says Destiny Cannot Be Shelved By Committing Suicide

Reference to the adverse criticism received by spiritualism as a result of an aged and lonely Toronto matron taking his own life after reading of the beautiful conditions of life beyond the grave, pictured by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, was made by Mrs. Ellen Whitmore of Paris, Ont., in her address before the Progressive Spiritualist Church, Rectory street, Sunday evening.

It was hardly fair to blame spiritualism for that unfortunate tragedy, Mrs. Whitmore claimed, since spiritualism offered no justification for suicide, but rather taught that each human being had an unalterable destiny to carry out and was sent into the earth-plane of life for a definite purpose. He must fulfil that purpose, or he would have to reincarnate and return again to the earth-plane, according to the doctrines of spiritualism.

No one could cheat destiny by committing suicide, declared Mrs. Whitmore. Those who attempted to do so would simply be sent back into the world again and again until they carried out their prescribed mission.

Heaven was not a particular place, anyhow, the speaker further declared. It was a condition, the condition of harmony, and hell was a condition of discord.

Nobody was entirely good or altogether bad, Mrs. Whitmore said. The best people had some bad qualities, and there was some good in the worst types of humanity.

God was imminent in everything, the speaker stated. Jesus was the greatest medium who ever lived, she also claimed.

The service was presided over by Mrs. M. Rawson, the local pastor.

widespread relief throughout Northern France.

The thermometer, which made a record for the past 116 years by reaching 94.1-10 degrees Fahrenheit on Friday, dropped below 90 yesterday, while today was only moderately warm.

GENEVA, May 28.—While attempting to reach the summit of Brenner Pass by a short cut, Countess Zelleki of Hungary was killed by a fall of 500 feet over a precipice.

A guide led the way, but the Countess refused to accept the rope, as she was an expert Alpine climber. Suddenly the guide heard a shriek and saw the countess disappear in the abyss. Her mangled body was recovered.

The countess, who was but 29 years old and reported to be wealthy, had recently returned to Innsbruck from Canada.

LONDON, May 28.—All British officers and soldiers who died in the air service of the great war have been honored by a permanent memorial in Westminster Abbey, through the generosity of Mrs. Louis Bennett. Mrs. Bennett's only son was killed in France in 1919 while acting as pilot with the British forces.

The memorial was dedicated by the deans today with impressive services. It is a massive stained glass window with allegorical figures and a figure of the Archangel Michael who has become known as the saint of the air.

The window is in the west part of the nave directly overlooking the tomb of Great Britain's Unknown Warrior, and is next to the window presented by George W. Childs Philadelphia in memory of the William Cowper and George Eliot.

MADRID, May 28.—The mysterious and sudden death here of a prominent young Canadian, Yves Lefevre Bellefeuille of Montreal, was today occupying special attention of the Madrid police. A doctor certified the man's death was caused by tetanus, but symptoms of his having taken strychnine later were found.

A Spanish doctor and a Russian woman were detained, and have been placed provisionally in the Canadian's body can be exhumed and an inquest held. The doctor's name has been mentioned in connection with an alleged insurance policy of a large amount on Bellefeuille's life.

PARIS, May 28.—The municipality of Yonnax, near Lyon, whose mayor is a Communist deputy, has passed a radical ordinance "to protect the liberty of thought" of the ill and infirm in the town's hospital and asylum.

According to the ruling passed no cults are allowed to impose their doctrines on inmates except in the chapel. All religious emblems and attributes are to be removed. In the place of names of saints, which are used to designate the various rooms, names of famous scientists, including Pasteur, Bichat and Claude-Bernard, will be substituted.

PARIS, May 28.—Paris apartment and mansion dwellers alike will be without water from midnight to 6 a.m. until further orders, it was announced today. The Prefect of the Department of the Seine decided to cut off the water supply between those hours owing to "excessive use and abuse of water during the recent heat spell," which made the Paris water supply run low. Water will be turned on during the restricted hours only in case of fires.

The heat wave of the past two days was broken overnight by cold winds from the northwest, bringing

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

With an ease that in a queer, detached way she found surprising, she managed to break his embrace. Nevertheless the effort left her faint. She faltered to the fireplace and rested a hand on the mantel, her forehead upon the hand. Lynn followed, stood by her side. Over and over he murmured gently: "Lucinda, Lucinda."

"No, Lynn. Wait. Tell me something. . . You say your wife agreed to divorce you?"

"I made her promise," Summerlad asserted grimly.

"When was that? The day she disappeared?"

"The day I found her lying senseless in her room?"

"I suppose so. Well, then—yes."

"Did you have much of a scene?"

"I'll say it was some stormy young session."

"Is that why you found it necessary to strike her?"

"Summerlad started. 'What! Strike her? What do you mean?'"

But his eyes winced from her importunate regard.

"She—Nelly had a bruise on her cheek, that afternoon; and it wasn't an old bruise, Lynn; you struck her?"

"Perhaps. Maybe I did forget myself, I don't remember. What if I had?"

"I'd have killed her if she'd stuck to her refusal to go back east."

Realizing that his tongue was again running away with his discretion, he curbed it sharply.

She started back in repulsion, but he overtook her in the middle of the room.

"Lucinda, Lucinda! What do these things matter?"

The fury of her antagonism found him unprepared. And this time when he started in pursuit, something he couldn't see struck him.

Back he came, and then he heard a heavy, crashing noise he couldn't account for. An inhuman sound. It shook the room, beat deafeningly upon one's ears. As if someone had overturned a heavy piece of furniture. Only one had. And that was Lucinda. Lucinda hadn't. She was flattened against the farther wall, watching him with a face of horror blanched and gaping.

Enraged, he put forth all his strength to recover from that inexplicable blow. And instantly it was repeated. And again. Each time accompanied by that savage, crashing noise. Like thunder cut off short. And each time he reeled under the impact, and sickening pains shot through him, like knives white-hot. He felt himself sinking . . .

In expiring flashes of consciousness he saw Lucinda still flat against the wall, staring out flat against the French window nearby. Between its curtains a woman's arm was thrust, the hand grasping an automatic pistol with muzzle faintly flaring. There was a face of shadowed pallor dimly visible beyond the curtains, a face with wild, exultant eyes . . . Nelly's . . .

XXXI.

To the woman plumed to the wall by shock the moments immediately following that fusillade were a welter of horror.

Between two heartbeats she saw Lynn, with a face as blank as paper, spinning, toppling, beating the air with aimless arms, pitching to the floor like something blasted, resting there in a sickening, inert crumple; and was keenly aware of Lucinda's look of smothered cutting, as if she had cut the scent of the roses that dressed the room in her honor; and all the while was conscious of the pistol nosing in between the draperies like an animate thing of infinite malice, and the pallid oval of the face behind it, that seemed to float in the air, might the mark of some mad ghost.

As the din of those three shots lost weight and volume, a thin shouting became audible from some point outside the house, and Nelly Marquis, with the sweep of a fury, her eyes burning like black sparks, broke out of the hall, powder-broke, and pulled up with pistol leveled point-blank at Lucinda's breast.

A single thought persisted: Another instant and I shall be as Lynn . . .

Then abruptly through the window a dark and heavy body hurled and fastened upon the woman's back, swinging her aside, the pistol plumed into the wall close by Lucinda's head.

She heard a voice crying out again and again, "Bel! Bel! Bel!"

Her own voice . . . and for a long time hung in dread upon the issue of that swaying combat; while Bel clung to the woman's arm, muttering and panting in futile efforts to wrest her weapon away; while Nelly clawed, bit, kicked, pounded her free hand repeatedly into Bel's face, and wrenched madly at her captive wrist.

Of a sudden, from her hand a spiteful tongue of fire licked out at Bel, his right arm flailed back and fell useless, agony convulsed his features. Free, the woman bounded away with a laugh of maniac glee, swinging the pistol to bear upon his head.

Without knowing what she did, Lucinda flung herself upon Nelly's arm and bore it down. With deflected muzzle the pistol exploded for the last time. Dropping it, Nelly turned on Lucinda and dealt with her as might a mad woman. Impressions grew confused beyond assortment, of flopping wildly this way and that, of hot breath beating into her face, of her bare flesh suffering a rain of cruel blows.

Thrown off without warning, how she couldn't guess, she felt herself sailing back, tripping, falling. Something struck the back of her head a stunning blow, and she knew flickering nausea while dense night like a moving cloud on every hand closed in upon her.

Choking and coughing, she unclosed her eyes upon the vision of Bel's face. A hand holding a bottle of smelling salts dropped away from her nose. Bel saluted her reviving intelligence with an even growl: "You'll do now, I guess. Try to pull yourself together. No time to lose."

"My head aches," she saw Bel in his shirt-sleeves, with the cuff turned back above his right elbow, the forearm rudely bandaged with torn linen on which a deep stain was spreading. "But Bel—your arm—"

"Hurts. Bullet plowed through the underside from wrist to elbow, nearly. I'd be dead if you hadn't jumped for her."

"And I, if you hadn't come through the window when you did. But . . . Lynn?"

Bel laughed shortly. "The excellent Mr. Summerlad's still breathing. That's all we can tell till the surgeon gets here."

"What became of her?"

"Got away clean, worse luck!—ducked past me and through the window like a shot."

Summerlad lay where he had fallen, on the far side of that piece of furniture. His face, upturned to the staring light, was like a thing of sculptured ivory, expressionless and blotted.

"You think . . . O Bel! do you really think I will live?"

"No fear," Bel sneered. "He'll make a fool of many another woman before he's finished. My chauffeur will run you down to the hotel. I think he's the trusted. Wish I felt sure of that Jap."

"Sure of him?"

"Why do you suppose I'm hurrying you away? Do you want the papers to get hold of the fact that his wife shot him?"

Lucinda let her wrap fall. "If my relationship to Lynn is what you imply—then my place is here with him."

"Please yourself. But remember, the papers are going to make big capital out of this scandal in the movie colony. They've been itching for it for years. Knowing it was bound to break out some day . . . How long do you imagine it'll be before the reporters will ferret out the fact that 'Lucinda Lee' is Mrs. Bellamy Druce? Do you want to sit in the witness-box and testify against that demented creature when she's tried for murder?"

"What do you think?"

"What do you care what I think? If you aren't what people are going to say you are, what are you doing here?"

"The Lontaines were coming to dinner, but—"

"But? Bel snorted. "Oh, all right! I'll give you the benefit of the doubt, if that'll induce you to clear out of this before it's too late. And it isn't as if you could do Summerlad any good by staying. His fate's all up to the surgeons. I'll keep you posted, I'll come and tell you what the surgeon says."

HAS WESTERN ONTARIO ANY GENTLEMEN?

SINCE the propounding of the question, "What is a perfect gentleman?" by The London Advertiser two weeks ago to readers in Western Ontario, hundreds of letters answering the query, have evidenced the fact that there is a wealth of room for serious thought in the proposition. Wherever eyes have lighted on it, it has caused a mind to halt and ponder.

The Contest Editor's decision, arrived at after many perplexed hours, on account of the huge number of replies will be made public on Tuesday, May 30.

A wide range of qualifications for that few-and-far-between personage, "a perfect gentleman," are discovered in the definitions.

Love never faileth. Love possesses all the qualities necessary for a perfect gentleman, and if any man's heart is full of love to God and his fellowman, he will qualify as a perfect gentleman. MRS. J. J. Camblachie, Ont.

MAN WHO NEVER PRETENDS. A gentleman is a man who pretends he is nothing more than he is, and pretends he has nothing more than he has. MRS. L. C. M. T. 286 Huron St., London.

SMILES AT DISASTER. My opinion of a gentleman is a man worth while. When every thing goes dead wrong. MRS. MARGARET MCINTYRE, Ridgeway, R. R. No. 1.

WHO HAS CLEAN SOUL. A perfect gentleman is one who has a clean soul and a pure mind, who is kindly and courteous in both word and deed. J. R. TAYLOR, R. R. No. 1, Science Hill.

CONSIDERATE TO EVERYBODY. My idea of a perfect gentleman is a man who is considerate to everybody. True to his wife and children and honest in business. I know a gentleman who died for the betterment of the world, but he was one, and no other can be like him. I know some gentlemen in Western Ontario. They are real gentlemen, who would not hurt anybody's feelings for anything. MRS. S. LEVINE, 123 Charlotte St., Brantford, Ont.

ONE WHO RESPECTS GOD. A gentleman is a man who respects God, and respects his fellowmen, and has great respect for himself. A SUBSCRIBER.

NOTHING TO BLUSH FOR. What is a gentleman? It is a thing. Dressed in a scarfpin, a chain and a ring. Dressed in a suit of immaculate style, sporting an eye-glass, a lip and a smile. Sunning himself at at homes and bazaars. Whistling music and smoking cigars. What is a gentleman? It is a thing. Dressed in a scarfpin, a chain and a ring. ONE WHO FEARS GOD. A gentleman is a man who fears God, and respects his fellowmen, and has great respect for himself. A SUBSCRIBER.

NEVER USES BAD LANGUAGE. A gentleman should be clean in thought, deed and person, courteous to every man, woman or child, kind in mind and thought, never using bad language, always trying to think well of people. If he acts up to these points at all times, the love of God shines on his face, and one cannot mistake a gentleman. M. HOLNESS.

DEFINITION OF GENTLEMAN. "A gentleman is a sinful man." Truth. "A gentleman is a man who makes mistakes." Common. MRS. JAS. REID.

CLEAN INSIDE AND OUTSIDE. A gentleman is a man who is clean inside and outside; who neither looks up to the rich, nor down on the poor; who can lose without squealing; who can win without bragging; who is to be loved by all; who is to be feared by none; who is to be loved by all; who is to be feared by none. MRS. RUSSELL BOLSTON, R. R. No. 1, Cairo, Ont.

MUST BE OBEDIENT. To be a gentleman a man must first of all be obedient to everybody, especially to his parents, and obey them whenever he sees his duty to do so; also be good to his brothers and sisters. Many a man acts like an angel on the street, but they are generally the worst kind at home. You must learn to know a man in his everyday work and clothes before you can judge what he is. Now what I'd call a gentleman would be a man that loves his neighbor as himself, not be proud, especially not of his own acquisitions, but be respectable at all times, never letting himself go down as far to be called a loafer by drinking, gambling, smoking, using profane language. Now, many a man leaves his pipe aside, and wants to be temperate and wants to be a gentleman when there are ladies in sight. These I call loafers and cowards.

A man must always be the same whether you meet him on the street or at home, always ready to lend a hand to the needy, always be polite, generous, true, and honest, and above all, always be respectable whether amongst young or old, rich or poor. A man like this, I think, I'd call him a gentleman, and I also think that if we would look for some we would probably find a few in Western Ontario. MISS CLARA M. SCHERRER, R. R. No. 1, Ariss, Ont.

TRUE TO GOD. The name, "perfect gentleman," not meaning perfection, as there are none of us perfect, I think could be given to a man that lives true to his God, to himself, and to all people, as much as is possible. By so living he should be a real, everyday, unselfish gentleman, and that should include being honest, courteous, just, righteous, faithful, loving, etc., to one and all. M. E. B.

SHOWS LOVE IN HOME. A gentleman is one that is considerate for everyone in all things, and shows love and kindness in his home, as well as on the street. If a man is a gentleman everyone will know it; but, of course, we all have our faults. There is no one perfect (no, not one). L. N. R. D. Dresden.

TREATS EVERYONE ALIKE. A gentleman is a brave, honorable, Christian man of any station in life, who treats all classes of people with

WHERE are the laces, frills, flutings and flouncings of yesterday? Gone, evidently with the well-known snowstorms of the same period. At any rate, they no longer and ready to stand up for the right at any time. He must be honorable and trustworthy in all things. A Christian man has the foundation of a gentleman. A person who is not a Christian is not a true gentleman.

The gentleman may be found in any walk of life pursuing any honest occupation. Money, fine clothes and nice manners do not make a gentleman. He may be only a poor laborer, but he is a gentleman just the same.

A gentleman tries to make those around him comfortable and happy. He treats rich and poor, great and small, young and old, with equal consideration and respect.

A gentleman is a gentleman at heart, not just to outward appearance. The Canadians are brave, honorable, and in most cases they are Christians, so most of them must be gentlemen.

Our soldiers in the late war showed some of the best qualifications of gentlemen when they nobly laid down their lives for their country, and when, at the risk of their lives, they saved their comrades.

SCHOOL GIRL. I would consider a man a gentleman if he prayed himself by his words and actions to be generous, courteous and self-respecting. I think such a man should be regarded as a gentleman even if he were guilty of such an imperfection as smoking.

Why set an exacting standard which we ourselves would not be able to live up to? Rather than that, let us make allowance for others. S. E. MC. R. R. No. 2, Brussels, Ont.

IDEAL NOT CONSTANT. The name "gentleman" may be applied differently with correctness, but the element of wisdom essential in the gentleman will probably not permit him to set up an ideal of conduct and character impossible of carrying out. He may set himself a high ideal, but in speaking, perfect; but to each is reserved, because of the hidden life, the right, in part, to be his own judge as to his attainment of the ideal perfect gentleman.

NEVER LOSES COURAGE. The perfect gentleman is one who always proves himself such in need and danger, but never loses his courage, honor, scrupulously avoiding all mean actions, and is honest, upright and straightforward. Riches and rank have no necessary connection with genuine gentleness and courage. The perfect man may be a true gentleman in spirit and in daily life.

He may be honest, truthful, upright, and of a high character, but if he is not a gentleman, he is not a gentleman. He may be a gentleman in spirit, but if he is not a gentleman in daily life, he is not a gentleman.

To sum up: The perfect gentleman is chaste in his life, just in his dealings and true of his word. JOHN HART.

POLISHED DIAMOND. A gentleman is a diamond polished that was first a diamond in the rough. A gentleman is gentle, modest, slow to surmise evil, as is one who never thinks that a gentleman subjects his appetite, refines his taste, subdues his feelings, controls his speech, deems every other better than himself.

A gentleman is one whose nature has been fashioned after the highest models. His qualities are not built upon fashion, but upon moral worth; not on personal possessions, but on personal qualities. The gentleman values his character not so much as if it only as a means to other ends, but as he sees it himself, and as he respects himself so by the same law does he respect others. He who has lost all but retains his courage, cheerfulness, hope, virtue and self-respect, can still walk erect a true gentleman.

One quality of a true gentleman is honesty. Do we not all admire an honest man? Again there is kind-

Radio Radiations

Amateurs are requested to make their queries as brief as possible to facilitate the publication and answering of the questions. Address your communications to the Radio Editor, The London Advertiser.

BY THE RADIO EDITOR. MANY campers this summer will take radio outfits as part of their camp equipment. They will be wise in so doing, for I can imagine no place where a radio will be more desired, particularly during the occasional inclement weather which is bound to come during a vacation period.

During these spells, nature's interference may often prevent the satisfactory reception of signals. But the interference will only be temporary. During the rest of the time the camper will be able to get the weather forecasts, time signals, baseball scores and other broadcasted material if within range of Toronto, Detroit or Pittsburgh.

Due to the nature of the terrain, the erection of the antenna frequently offers serious difficulties, particularly if it is necessary to receive the radio reports from a great distance.

Kite Aerial. If trees of fair height are available, they may serve as antenna which it is desired to receive.

Good Reception. Antennae supported by kites have been used successfully for the reception of signals from European high-power and semi-high-power stations. Under these circumstances, as much as 1,000 or more feet of wire may be fed up into the sky. With an antenna of such excellent characteristics as to height, surprisingly strong signals may be received with even the simpler types of vacuum tube receivers.

Ground connection may be made by stretching a wire 300 feet long over the surface of the earth in a direction away from the station as soon as it has served its purpose.

HOLDERNESS IS NEW GOLF CHAMP

Caven, Young Scotchman,
Provide Thrilling Final Contest At Prestwick.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, May 28.—Great Britain's new amateur golf champion is Ernest W. Holderness, of Englishman. His rival, John Caven, a young Scotchman, stuck to him like a burr throughout the final round of the tournament this afternoon, the match providing one of the most sensationaly interesting bits in golfing history. Holderness won on the eighteenth hole.

Holderness, who was born in India in 1894, won the tournament from Walton Heath. He played for the Oxford-Varsity team three years, beginning in 1910 and against America in last year's tournament. He won the Oxford and Cambridge tournament three times.

Cavaycho is 27 years old, is a member of the Cochrane Castle Club. He is an engineer employed by the Paisley firm. Although he won the Eden tournament at St. Andrews, he was comparatively inexperienced in big championship matches.

FLINT STOPS UP TEC WIN STREAK

Carmen Allowed Two Hits After Second Frame— Whiffs Eight.

FLINT, Mich., May 23.—London's champions suffered their first defeat in the last ten games here today, when PLINTZ stopped them in 3 to 2 victory.

Behind stellar pitching by Lefty Martin, timely batting in the first and second innings and sensational outfielding by Harry Brown, the Powell tots collected enough runs to keep ahead of the Wetzel crew.

Carmen pitched magnificently after the second frame, permitting but two hits and fanning eight batters. But he helped beat himself and his ball club by a bit of wildness, hitting two men in the first frame.

Stricker scored in the first for Flint.

1st W. O. R.'S WIN.
The W. O. R.'s, in their third trip to St. Thomas, won their first cup tie, 6-2, Saturday from United Vets.

The Blue and White shirts kicked off with the Vets' defense, but after a few minutes' play around the Vets' goal Boulton relieved most of the Vets' defense and scored. This player opened the score with a terrific shot for the W. O. R.'s. From the kick-off the Vets got going with great combination between the Davy Brothers and the latter scoring a well-deserved goal, which tied the score. The W. O. R.'s settled down, and continued to play some nice football. Taylor, Moore and Perkins resulted in the latter scoring a hot shot, giving the Vets a 2-2 tie. The Davy Brothers got going in a great style for the Vets, but were robbed of the lead by Herring, who passed to Turner, the latter taking a shot which went wide. Half-time score, 2-2 in favor of W. O. R.'s.

Start Bombardment.
After the Blue and White pressed hotly and started a great bombardment at the Vets' goal, Moore, Perkins and Turner shooting in turn, and Darlington, the Vets' junior goalie, saved splendidly time after time. Ashton, playing a sound game, drove the leather out to Herring, who at great speed entered to Moore, and he scored with a fast shot. The W. O. R.'s still continued in cup fighting spirit, pounding the Vets' goal, Moore sending in a shot one which hit the crossbar and rebounded out to Short, who fed Taylor. The latter passed to Moore, who scored from the kick-off, Broomehead received the ball through and fed Moore, who added another goal for the W. O. R.'s. The Vets woke up and broke away, with Davy taking the ball. He scored through in fine style and scored the second goal for the Vets. The Londoners had the best of the play, and a combination between Moore, Perkins and Turner ended in the scoring of the sixth goal for the Blue and Whites.

The whole W. O. R.'s team played wonderful football and great combination, and were far superior to the Vets. Mr. C. Butler, president of the W. O. R. football team, wishes to thank the

READING PITCHERS OFF.
JERSEY CITY, May 28.—Lack of control by three Reading pitchers, combined with timely hitting by the Skeeters, accounted for Jersey City's easy victory today, 14 to 6. Zellars held the visitors safe except in two innings.

STIRRING NINTH.
BUFFALO, May 28.—The Buffalo club won a stirring game from Syracuse today, the score being 8 to 7. Urban, pinch-hitter for the Bisons, broke up a tie with a two-bagger in the ninth, Helman, having hit double just ahead of the young catcher.

LEAFS WIN IN TENTH.
ROCHESTER, May 28.—Toronto defeated Rochester here today by 8 to 6 in ten innings. The Leafs now go into second place as a result of their victory. Wingo's hitting was a feature, he getting a home run and two triples.

HEARTBURN A SEVERE CASE
Many people are troubled with heartburn who really do not realize just what it is.

In cases of this trouble there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite. It is generally caused by great acidity of the stomach, and whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and becomes extremely sour, causing heartburn. In such cases vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter.

The one way to get rid of heartburn is to keep your liver active by using MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS, and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles such as constipation, jaundice, water brash, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, foul breath, etc.

Miss Agnes Cutting, Shallow Lake, Ont., writes: "I have had heartburn for a long time. There were gnawing and burning pains in my stomach, and then when I vomited there was a sour and bitter taste. I used two vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of my heartburn. I don't think I can be beaten by any other medicine."

SCOTS WIN 4-2.
St. Andrews beat M. C. R. 4-2. The game was an hour late in starting. Saints immediately made tracks for M. C. R.'s goal and forced the Saints' end to concede a corner, but nothing came of it. The Saints were doing most of the pressing at this time, but the M. C. R. defense kept them at bay. The M. C. R. now finding their bearings, and after some pretty football on their part, carried the penalty to the Saints' end, where they had hard luck in not scoring, the outside left of M. C. R. sending in some lovely centers, but the other forwards did not seem to be there to handle them.

After twenty minutes of good football on both sides, the Saints' forwards left wing got the ball and after some good work Jimmy Holt sent in a rocket, which the M. C. R. goalkeeper had no chance to save. After this the M. C. R. forced play and had hard luck in not scoring, their forwards being very erratic in their shooting. From a breakaway by Saints and a scrimmage around the M. C. R.'s goal, Saints were awarded a free kick for a play, handing the ball to J. Croall took the kick and scored. Saints forced matters and had another goal to their credit, J. Whiteley doing the trick. M. C. R. now awake to the fact that they were three goals behind and about a half hour from the kick-off made a rush for the Saints' goal, where Winters had no trouble in beating Adamson. Half-time score—St. Andrews 4, M. C. R. 2.

Second Half.
M. C. R. started the second half in a determined manner, and it was only the sterling play of the Saints' halves and backs that kept them from scoring, but they were not to be deterred. The Saints seemed to put Saints on their mettle, for they bombarded the Saints' goal, where J. Holt had hard luck in not scoring. After some end-to-end play the Saints were pressing M. C. R. defense hard, and it remained for J. Whiteley to find an opening, and he made no mistake.

About 1,500 spectators witnessed this game.

The teams were:
St. Andrews—Goal, Adamson; backs, Wilson, and Knight; half-backs J. Smith, Croall, D. Smith; forwards, Mackintosh, Morgan, Whiteley, Holt, and Owen.

M. C. R.—Goal, Campbell; backs, Skidmore and Robinson; half-backs, West, Sutherland, and Winters; forwards, Robertson, Arnold, Adams, Almond, and Branton.

Referee—Spillsbury.

HAMILTON BLANKED 4-0 BY PORT HURON CREW SATURDAY.

BRANTFORD, May 27.—Errors by the Brants were costly on Saturday, but Schwartz was effective in the pinches, incidentally, and the Brants lost to Saginaw 5 to 0. The game would have been a real pitchers' battle had it not been for indifferent outfield work by the Brants and a couple of misplays by Ryan at short.

HAMILTON BOYS LEAD AT MCGILL

MOLSON STADIUM, Montreal, May 27.—Records fell tumbling in the second annual scholastic games between Ontario and Quebec School boys, under the auspices of the McGill track club, here this afternoon. The star performers were the boys from Hamilton schools, who set new figures for these games in a number of the events, and had things their own way in the senior competitions. The Province of Quebec, however, was doing well, and runner of merit in W. Fuller, who captured the senior 100 yards dash in record time. The games took place in ideal weather, and were witnessed by a large crowd. Sir Arthur Currie, principal of McGill University, presented the prizes.

GALT TEAMS START WITH TWO WINS IN INTER-COUNTY

Seniors Defeat Brantford, and Intermediates Trim Paris.

GALT, May 28.—The inter-county baseball season opened here on Saturday with a double-header senior and intermediate, before a crowd of 1,500 fans, and it was a most auspicious start, the locals winning both games. Before the games there was a parade of the E. L. C. bands and motor cars containing the players of four teams. Mayor S. E. Charlton opened the game, with Aid. W. S. McKee catching, and president W. A. Wilson of the G. A. R. at bat. He hit the second ball pitched to center for an out. By the most sensational finish ever witnessed in a ball game on the local grounds, the Terriers won from Del Orent's Brantford nine in the ninth, 6-2. The visitors took the lead in the first, when, with two out, Scott drove out a homer. In the fourth the locals had a blow-up and through bad fielding the visitors added three more runs. After that Galt, steadied, and by an uphill fight were one run behind entering the ninth. With one down, Himes got on through a bunt, and then Wilkinson became hero of the day, tripling and sending home the tying run, and the Terriers scored with the winning counter on Buck Graham's hit to Shortstop Scott, which he muffed.

Graham, for Galt, put in a busy afternoon, and except in one inning, was good. He had nine strike outs and nine assists. Young pitched splendidly but for the visitors, who have a fifty nine, which will have to be reckoned with in the league race.

In the intermediate fixture the locals obtained revenge for their defeat on the holiday, trimming Paris in a loosely-played game by a score of 14-8. The score:
Galt..... 100 310 000..... 5 8 4

GUELPH LEAFS OPEN UP SEASON WITH 9-1 WIN

Fred Dyson, Old-Time Player, Has Honor of Hurling First Ball.

GUELPH, May 28.—The official opening of the inter-county League, which was interrupted last Saturday by rain, took place here on Saturday afternoon, and, with excellent weather, the ceremonies which were to have taken place last week ago were carried out on this occasion. The honor of pitching the first ball was given to Fred Dyson, an old-time player, with Dan O'Connor at the bat, Mayor Howard doing the catching, and George Chamberlain doing the umpiring.

There was an attendance of about 1,500 people, and the game proved to be an easy victory for the Maple Leafs, the score being 9 to 1. "Lefty" Goyer was in the box for the Leafs, and he pitched a masterly game from start to finish, striking out a dozen of the Kitchener batsmen and allowing but four hits. He was always master of the situation, and was stronger at the finish than when he started. He received splendid support from his team mates, in fact the game was nothing more than a workout. The Leafs hit the ball hard and timely, with Lindsay starring both in the field and at the bat. Dunbrook, the Kitchener team's star left hander, was knocked out of the box, lasting but five innings, and Steinberg, his successor, was not much of an improvement.

The Leafs play their next game on Wednesday at Brantford.

Suitcases of Italian Slain Near Hamilton Found in Guelph Station.

C. P. R. Officials State Luggage Was "Checked" About One Month Ago.

Special to London Advertiser.
GUELPH, May 28.—That Jimmy Loria, the young Italian who was brutally murdered near Hamilton a week ago and whose body was found in Beverley swamp, had visited Guelph quite recently, is evidenced by the fact that two suitcases owned by the deceased were discovered by Provincial Officer Strachan of Toronto, who came to Guelph with two keys found on the dead man's person.

The number on the keys indicated that they were secured at the Guelph station. It was in this way that the authorities were aware that Loria had left some of his belongings here. When opened at the local police headquarters the grips were found to contain a number of articles of clothing belonging to the murdered Italian, and several photos, which were identified by Guelph Italians as having been taken at Welland, Ont.

After examining the contents of the suitcases and securing whatever information he could in the local Italian colony, Officer Strachan left last night for Hamilton with the two grips. It is possible that the finding of the luggage may lead to new developments in the case.

According to the officials at the C. P. R. depot, the grips had been placed in the lockers in the waiting room of the depot about one month ago.

Police Search For Further Clues in Kent County Murder.

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, May 28.—Although county officers under Chief Peters and Inspector Side are still searching the country for further clues which may help to forge links in the chain of evidence against Clayton Croft, charged with the murder of Gustave Noel, they reported today that there were no new developments.
According to reports received from jail officials, Croft maintains a perfect calm and does not appear to be worried. Relatives were permitted to visit him yesterday and were given permission to talk to him through the bars of his cell. A strict guard is being kept over him.
Provincial Officer Low and other officers spent a greater part of yesterday at Charing Cross interviewing several neighbors of the Crofts in the hopes of securing further evidence.
The theory so far expounded by the county police is that on May 16, Noel was in the act of milking a cow in the barn, when he was brutally attacked from behind, the bloodstained hammer now in the possession of the police being used as a weapon. Croft told the police the hammer had been used to kill a pig a few days previously.
The body of Noel may be exhumed for the purpose of having the skull re-examined by experts was intimated by the police today. This is being done with the view of more or less definitely establishing the fact that the bloodstained hammer found was the actual weapon. The police will also have examined the overalls of Croft, as they show some suspicious marks which they are inclined to believe are stains of human blood. These will probably be analyzed by chemists at an early date.

Reports Prospects Good For Kent Crops.

BLENHEIM, May 28.—There is a splendid showing for wheat and spring grain, as well as hay, in this district this year. The wheat wintered well despite the setback given by the spring frosts. The rains of late have revived the fields so that now they give every prospect of a good yield.
There was a splendid bloom on fruit trees, and the reports coming in to show that there has been a good setting, and the prospect for peaches, strawberries, and raspberries was never better.
A large acreage of potatoes has been planted, and early varieties are making a good showing. Onion growers on the marsh lands are now busy wedding the large crop of onions on these fertile lands.

EARL FRENCH IS TORONTO GUEST

British Field Marshal To Be Given Reception in Queen City.

Will Guard Against Contentious Remarks in Address.

TORONTO, May 28.—Field Marshal Earl French, commander-in-chief of the British forces in France in the early days of the war, who will be tendered a public reception at the city hall, Toronto, and later will address the Empire Club, reached the city today from New York. He was accompanied by Colonel Arthur F. Cousins, his aide-de-camp, and was met at the Union Station by a few personal friends.
Lord French's visit to this continent, he said, was strictly private, and he was not permitted to talk on political affairs or subjects of a contentious nature.
"I am just a sort of globe-trotter just now," he said. "I have been on this continent for three weeks, but I felt I must pay a visit to Canada before returning to England, which I shall do at the end of this week."
His chief object in coming to Toronto was to express his most hearty thanks to the Canadian people for all they did during the war.

They Want what they read about

The Merchant re-orders by Long Distance

The standards of living for the average family in Canada grow higher each year. The luxuries of yesterday are the necessities of today. People in the smaller towns and on farms want the newer things they read about.

Dry Goods Stores, Grocers, Shoe, Hardware and Paint Stores, in the smaller towns, all find they can show the newest things by carrying small stocks of them and re-ordering by Long Distance. The jobber or manufacturer's warehouse is at their elbow—their order departments are alert for telephone trade!

Shipments are often made the same day. Up-to-dateness of merchandise is no longer confined to the big city stores—and large sums are not locked up in stock.

Try it. Have a big store in a small town. "Use the Bell to Sell"—and to Buy. Most of your calls can probably be made at the lower Station-to-Station rate.

YOUTH DROWNS IN LAKE LISGAR

Death of George Downham
Reveals Absence of Pulmotor in Tillsonburg.

Nine-Year-Old Girl Succumbs
To Attack of Meningitis.

Special to London Advertiser.

TILLSONBURG, May 28.—George Downham, aged 16 years, a popular employee of the Tillsonburg Shoe factory, was drowned in Lake Lisgar Saturday evening while swimming with companions. Getting in about ten feet of water he sank and went down the third time before his companions could reach him. Aid was summoned and Harry Brooks, an excellent swimmer, brought him up in his first attempt, but despite the best efforts of Dr. Bennett, life was too far gone.

The remains were removed to Kellam and Ostrander's undertaking parlors awaiting funeral arrangements. The town does not possess a pulmotor, and it is felt his life could have been saved if a motor could have been secured. His parents live in England, and one brother resides in Windsor.

Frederick, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. William of Tillsonburg, died this morning of cerebral meningitis. Three weeks ago he was struck on the head by a ball at the public school, but it is not definitely known whether this was an indirect cause of death or not.

McCall Bros. of St. Williams, whose plant was destroyed by a disastrous fire a few weeks ago, have purchased the Tillsonburg Mills, and have a large gang of men demolishing the plant preparatory to rebuilding in St. Williams. The planing mills have not been operated for the past few years, but were the scene of much activity for many years previously.

REPORTS U. S. TOURISTS PASSING THROUGH CITY

Secretary of Motor League Believes
Decorations Day Holiday
Cause of Influx.

Until the present date there has been few American tourists entering Canada who passed through London, according to C. E. Bernard, secretary of the London Motor League, but Saturday he states quite an influx was noticeable.

The increase was probably due to the fact that Tuesday is decoration day in United States and a holiday. The secretary believes many American tourists and car owners are taking advantage of the holiday in the beginning of the week for a week-end trip extending until Tuesday. Special trains will leave Detroit to carry automobile officials and others to Indianapolis where the big speedway will be run off Tuesday. No automobile parties are leaving London for the event this year.

Considerable attention is being directed to the metal plates attached to the licenses hearing which they are selling.

CHARGES FARMERS ALLOW CATTLE TO GRAZE ON ROADS

George Tustin Declares Practice of Turning Unattended Animals
Onto Highways Must Cease.

Explaining that Saturday afternoon last he encountered no less than 14 cows and 5 horses grazing at large on the main road between Lambeth and Wardville, George Tustin, assistant to the local provincial officer declared at the court-house Monday that if the farmers of this county did not exercise greater care in having their herds in charge of some capable person, prosecutions will follow.

"This thing has got to cease," the officer asserted. "Why the farmers apparently think nothing of turning out five or six cows or horses to run free and easy on the provincial highways, let alone on the county roads. These animals are dangerous to the public."

County Constable William Fifield pointed out to him that certain of the townships have a tag regulation permitting such freedom.

Officer Tustin warned, however, that prosecutions will undoubtedly follow unless the practice ceases, while the county police suggested that he had better exercise great caution if he would discover himself "in wrong" with the townships.

While the latter points out as another nuisance, the promiscuous use of firearms in the woods adjacent to the county, despite the fact that this is the closed season, Officer Tustin held that he had been in every section of the county and had not heard a shot fired in the last week or he would have investigated the same.

The county police aver that they have a long list to submit for prosecution in any event.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PLANS FALL WORK

A mass meeting of young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday school is to be held in the church Monday evening, at which the seven groups of young people connected with the Sunday school will be represented. The object of the conference is to prepare plans for the extension of the young people's work in the fall and to draw up a program of activities.

The department of young people has assumed a place as one of the most potent factors in the church work, and Rev. F. W. K. Harris, head of the religious education of St. Andrew's Church, is anxious for a large attendance at the meeting so that as much co-operation as possible may be secured.

City Treasurer Locates Man Alleged To Owe London $1,936 In Income Tax

City Treasurer James Bell has located the $55,000 income man whom he wished to mulct for $1,936 income taxes. He is living at the Biltmore Hotel, New York City.

Furthermore there is some doubt as to whether the city will get back the amount of the postage stamps, etc., employed to locate the gentleman.

In a letter to the treasurer he declares that he was asked as to the amount of his 1920 income and he told it. He did not then know that it was for the 1921 assessment for the 1922 taxes. He declares that he was not legally resident, within the meaning of the assessment act, and therefore, is hardly liable for the tax.

"He may be right," said Mr. Bell. "But I guess I'll take another whirl at it before I drop it."

The owner of the income is a blind man. He made his fortune in oil, not a little of it around Petrolia.

CONFERRING DEGREES MONDAY NIGHT

Knights of Pythias Gather in City To Hold Ceremony.

The Knights of Pythias of the London district will gather in the city tonight, when the third degree will be conferred upon several of the members. More than 500 knights from all over Western Ontario are expected to be present at this important event.

Rathbone Lodge, No. 12, of St. Thomas, will have the honor of exemplifying the degree. The degree team of this lodge was also honored at the Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge in Hamilton recently when the members were selected to confer the rank of knight on more than one hundred candidates.

The ceremony this evening is being staged under the auspices of Prospect Lodge, No. 10, and Myrtle Lodge, No. 2, of this city. All lodges from, and as far east as Hamilton, have stated that they will send candidates to receive the third degree, and visitors will be here from Sarnia, Strathroy, Petrolia, Seaford and other cities.

In addition to conferring the third degree other methods of entertaining the evening, and jewels will be presented to several veteran members of the order.

Arrangements have been completed by the local committee whereby the Federal Square may be used by the visitors for parking their cars.

An invitation to every Knight of Pythias in the district to attend and make St. Thomas night a success is extended by the officers of Myrtle and Prospect Lodges.

EXPECT FREIGHT TRAFFIC TO INCREASE AFTER JUNE 1

Local Railway Officials Declare
Arrival of Oil Cargoes Will Require
Many Cars.

Freight traffic over the London division of the G. T. R. will be greatly increased on and after June 1, when the ore boats from the upper lakes will begin to dock at Point Edward, according to local officials.

The Midland Prince, the first boat of the Canada Steamship Lines' fleet to carry a full cargo of ore this season, is due to arrive at the Point on the first of the month. She will have 225 carloads on board, and this will be immediately shipped to Hamilton and other points in the province.

The greater part of the ore shipments this summer will go to the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton. The ore boats will continue to arrive at Point Edward at frequent intervals until late in the fall.

A steady increase in freight is noticeable on this division, more than 600 cars of freight being handled out of the Sarnia terminal on Saturday. It is believed by local officials that within the next few weeks the local freight will be back to normal.

The boat trains to Sarnia will begin to operate about the third week in June, when the passenger season opens on the Great Lakes, and already many resorters have been made by the holiday travelers.

As a token of esteem for a former president, Ernie Wainwright, Raymond Smith, who succeeded him in the chair, placed the first rose on the grave.

Instead of small groups visiting the graves as was done a week ago at Mount Pleasant Cemetery the members carried out the decoration services in a body, everybody witnessing the ceremony.

SICK SOLES.
"The soles of the people, I keep in

For I am the doctor of boot and shoe.
I sole the living, but not the dead—
With the best of leather, wax and thread
I can sew on a sole or mend it fast.
Do a good job and make it last!
There is nothing sadder about what I do.
Doubt not this—my work proves it true.
I can give you a lift in this changeable

Not only you, but your children and

A good many patients have come to my

Worn out, run down and feeling quite sorry.
Though I don't use poultice, plaster or

Life and Character Reading.

MAY 29.

The Gemini person who has not come into a knowledge of spiritual truths is exceedingly apt to think he is associated with. If the external appearance is pleasing, and grace and beauty charm the eye, there is nothing more to be desired.

Many Gemini women come to grief by their superficial judgment in such matters. As they are very affectionate and demonstrative, they suffer jealousy from the neglect and indifference of those they have mistakenly elevated to places they were never intended for.

The governing planet of this date is Venus, and the governing sign is Gemini, the dual sign of the Zodiac. The astral colors are black, crimson, and light blue.

The one friend that will never change, that will never quarrel, that will never cause tears other than those of joy, is the Want Ads. Use them daily, and you will be well recommended.

STINNES RULES CITY UTILITIES WITH IRON HAND

Has Entire Communities in Germany Pouring Money Into His Coffers.

GETS CITIES TO INVEST

Controls Firm Producing Yearly 626 Million Kilowatt-Hours of Energy.

This is the fourth of a series of five articles exposing the attempt of Hugo Stinnes to control the mammoth industries of Germany.

BY MILTON BRONNER.

Special to London Advertiser.

BERLIN, May 28.—"Every little pfeffering added to what you've got makes just a little bit more," seems to be the favorite motto of Hugo Stinnes, the uncrowned king of German business.

Like many shrewd businessmen, he early found the formula—convert coal into gas or electric power or set it to pumping water and you will soon have entire communities pouring their money into your coffers.

There are syndicates in Canada which own and control all kinds of public utilities, but it is doubtful whether any of them found such a rich field as Stinnes has discovered.

BRONNER. The far-famed Ruhr region is peculiarly fitted for syndicated control.

Ruhr is Ideal Location.

The coal is right there in the Ruhr. It doesn't have to be hauled for miles before being available. So coal is cheap. In the next place the Ruhr Valley and the neighboring country is studded with large busy manufacturing towns, in which most of the people are workers either in mines or steel and iron mills.

Consequently they are highly paid laborers, live in comfortable homes and want all the conveniences of electric lighting, abundant water supply, and gas for cooking purposes. Furthermore, the entire region is a network of street car systems and of electric narrow gauge railways, which haul material from mill to mill.

Twenty-five years ago Stinnes became active in forming several companies to undertake this public utility and as usual with Stinnes concerns they were finally combined into the big Rhenish-Westphalian Electricity Works Corporation.

Its present field is enormous. It covers a region from the Dutch frontiers as far south as Ahrthal and is especially strong around Düsseldorf, Cologne, Dortmund, Essen and Bochum. In several places its electric power plants actually stand at the edge of coal mines, so the fuel goes from pit to boiler.

Gets Cities To Invest.

The electric plants not only supply lights for many cities of the Ruhr and for the illumination of big mines, but also the power used in the street railways, most of which are owned and operated by the municipalities. Stinnes succeeded in inducing the town fathers to invest in his next story Bronner tells of the "truck ships" Stinnes now is building in an effort to corner Russia's trade.

GALT RESIDENT SEVERELY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Reid Hunter Hurlled From Car as it Crashes Into Stone Fence.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, May 28.—Reid Hunter, son of ex-Alderman W. A. Hunter, lies in the hospital dangerously injured as a result of a motor accident on the Preston Road at 11 o'clock Saturday night. He was driving to Preston with Stewart Clark of that town, and when opposite Dr. Mackendrick's new residence, the king bolt on the front right wheel broke and the car plunged head-on into a stone fence.

The car was badly damaged, and Hunter was picked up unconscious, while Clark did not receive a scratch. Dr. Were was on the scene and the ambulance was summoned and Hunter was rushed to the hospital. He received a frightful scalp wound, 18 stitches being required to close it. He also had three ribs broken, and it is feared may be internally injured. He was as well today as could be expected.

WIN SUIT TO FORECLOSE MOTHERWELL MORTGAGE

Financial Agents Succeed in $25,000 Suit Against Bankrupt Estate.

TORONTO, May 28.—Judgment in favor of E. Zimmermann and Frank Malloch, a firm of financial agents, against the bankrupt estate of Andrew Motherwell of Canada, Limited, on a mortgage for $25,000, was granted today by Justice Fisher at Osgoode Hall. The suit was for foreclosure, immediate payment and possession. The judgment is for the relief asked, with a reference to the master at Hamilton.

The Motherwell Company had been advanced $150,000 by the bank, which was insisting that this be reduced to $125,000. To accomplish this the mortgage was negotiated. The authorized trustee resisted the claim on the allegations that the mortgage had not been authorized by a disinterested quorum of directors, and that the mortgage was vitiated by contemporaneous issue of stock to the mortgagees. This defence failed. The mills are at Dundas.

Court Claims Water Became Wine Only Once In History of World

QUEBEC, May 28.—Before Judge Choquette, in the court of sessions, a chauffeur, named Bisson, was accused of obtaining money under false pretences.

The case arose out of the selling of 32 gallons of alleged liquor by Bisson to a man at St. George, Beauce. When the consignment arrived at its destination, it was seized by a customs officer who, on investigation, discovered that water was in the casks, and not liquor, and that municipal money in the Rhenish-Westphalian.

Thus the towns have a decided interest in the prosperity of the corporation. As consumers they buy electric current for their street lighting and their street railways.

As stockholders they participate in the considerable profits of the company. This is true of big cities like Essen, Mulheim, Ruhrort, Solingen, Gelsenkirchen and all the other steel towns of which one heard so much during the war.

The company has also gone extensively into the gas business. In the past ten years it has erected and still owns the gas plants for about 25 cities in the Ruhr region.

Acquires Lignite.

It also constructed and partly owns a considerable number of water reservoirs. The far-seeing Stinnes also brought into the concern the big lignite company of Bruhl. This not only gave him another immense electric power station, but assured the combine an annual supply of 9,000,000 tons of lignite.

The last available report showed that the Rhenish-Westphalian produced the tremendous yearly sum of 626 million kilowatt-hours of energy. Of this 250 millions were used by its own street railways and similar organizations.

Going into southern Germany, Stinnes acquired a big interest in the South German Railway Corporation of Darmstadt. This concern owns street railway systems in 15 German cities.

As the big figure in the Siemens-Rhine-Elbe-Schuckert Union, Stinnes also derives income from still other municipalities. This last named corporation owns power stations in Turingia and the Harz mountains, electric light plants in Mannheim and street railways in Vienna, Elberfeld, Barmen and Wuppertal, besides which it owns a big share in the Berlin underground railway system.

He Fell in Love With Her Bare Feet.

NEW YORK, May 28.—He fell in love with her bare feet, so they were married. He is Charlie Mosconi, dancer with the Keith circuit. She is Margaret Young, also a vaudeville headliner.

Miss Young knew Mosconi slightly when she began to play golf in her bare feet. Mosconi was one of the many who followed her over the links every morning. The more he followed the more infatuated he became, and finally he told her so.

Following the wedding they left today for Detroit, where the bride's family live.

"When we get back to New York," Mosconi said, "there will be no more of this barefooted golf playing. I am going to keep this pair of lovely feet all to myself."

Seven lines of hose were used to subdue the flames that threatened the Hartley Foundry and the Scarfe Paint and Varnish Company's plant. Luckily the wind was blowing in the opposite direction, or the damage would have totalled over $100,000 at the most conservative estimate.

While the fire was in progress an alarm was sent in from the home of W. Creath, 22 Oak street. Sparks for his $600 paid in advance, the Beauce man had obtained not a drop of whiskey.

Bisson claimed that he had shipped the liquor, and that he did not know how water could have got there, unless it had been substituted for liquor en route.

Judge Choquette, adjourning the case until next week, said that there was only one case known of water being turned into wine, and that turning whiskey into water would bear investigation.

GRANT BONUS OF $600 TO M.L.A.'S

Long Session of Legislature Given As Reason For Extra Pay.

Item Will Cost Ratepayers of Ontario $65,000.

Special to London Advertiser.

TORONTO, May 28.—The members of the Legislature are to get another sessional bonus this year to help their $1,400 indemnity over the demands made by the cost of living in Toronto, the high cost of traveling, and the other incidentals which a member has to meet. The amount will be the same as last year, namely $600, making a total of $2,000, which each member will draw for his session's work.

The decision to again grant a bonus this year was largely determined by the extra length of the present session, which has now eclipsed previous records and run about fifteen weeks, with the prospect of another week at least before prorogation.

Of course, the matter has not been sanctioned yet by a vote of the Legislature, but evidence that the government looked favorably on the proposal was contained in the further supplementary estimates tabled in the house early Saturday morning. These contained under the head of legislation an item of $67,000, entitled "Bonus to members of the Legislature."

The members have a lot of work to do yet, however, before they bring the present session to an end. There remains a lot of legislation on the list to be dealt with, and although it is practically certain that a considerable amount will be abandoned for the time being, in an effort to expedite the closing of the session, it is a question whether or not the work that remains can be finished this coming week as was hoped.

Premier Drury was not prepared on Saturday to make any predictions as to when the house would prorogue.

SEVERELY BURNED IN BRANTFORD FIRE

Mrs. F. Hall in Serious Condition Resulting From Gas Stove Explosion.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, May 28.—About 8 o'clock yesterday morning a coal oil stove in the home of Mr. K. Silverthorne exploded while it was being lit by Mrs. F. Hall, the housekeeper for Mr. and Mrs. Silverthorne. She was very badly burned about the face and hands and was rushed to the hospital, where she now remains in a serious condition.

As a result of the explosion, the house, which is a frame structure, caught fire, and damage to the extent of over $500 was caused. The fire was reported by a little niece of Mrs. Silverthorne, who was staying with the above on vacation. Mrs. Hall was rushed to the plant of the Niagara Silk Mills, where she received first aid treatment, and Dr. Wiley was called and ordered her to the hospital.

George Silverthorne, who was asleep when the fire broke out, was also burned, his head and face being scorched, but not seriously burned. He did, however, inhale fumes from the burning fire, and it is thought that this may affect his lungs. He was scarcely able to speak to the firemen because of the smoke he had inhaled. His little niece came off best of the three, being alarmed more than hurt.

The firemen were called out and found the Silverthorne home well ablaze. Two lines of hose had to be laid, and though the fire was kept confined to the rear of the house and additional damage.

Fire swept the ice house owned by Nightingale & Co. here yesterday at noon, doing damage in the neighborhood of $40,000. A small portion of this is covered by insurance.

The building was owned by the Lake Erie and Northern Railway, a subsidiary of the C. P. R., and was erected about two years ago after a serious fire. The permit to erect the structure was given only after much consideration on the part of the city council and other municipal bodies.

When the fire was first noticed smoke was seen coming from the rear of the structure near the Grand Trunk tracks, and a moment later a small explosion took place, and the building was a mass of flames. When asked about the explosion, Mr. Nightingale could not explain the reason for it, and stated that there was nothing in the building to cause it. It is the opinion of Fire Chief D. J. Lewis that the explosion was caused through the excessive smoke in the building.

Seven lines of hose were used to subdue the flames that threatened the Hartley Foundry and the Scarfe Paint and Varnish Company's plant. Luckily the wind was blowing in the opposite direction, or the damage would have totalled over $100,000 at the most conservative estimate.

While the fire was in progress an alarm was sent in from the home of W. Creath, 22 Oak street. Sparks
