SEEKS REST IN DEADLY DRUG

Pathetic Suicide of a Ridgeway Girl Who Sought Employment in Detroit

Was Discouraged and Had Only Money Enough to Purchase the Poison

Detroit, Sept. 29.—Discouraged, footsore and heartick because of her failure to obtain employment, Blanche Haines, twenty-one years old, who came to Detroit three weeks ago from her home in Ridgeway, committed suicide here to-day by swallowing enough arsenic to kill a dozen men.

With her last ten cent piece she purchased the poison at a drug store late last night, and a few hours later was unconscious, dying at three o'clock this morning.

When Miss Haines came to Detroit she went to stay with Mrs. David Ford, of Fort St. West, an old friend of her family. Miss Haines met with no success in her efforts to procure employment. For fourteen days she walked the streets, but met only rebuffs at every turn.

GIRL WAS DESPERATE.
Last night she came home tired, discouraged and desperate. With 14 cents in her purse she started for a nearby drug store shortly before nine o'clock. She wanted the arsenic to kill rats she told the clerk and he handed out the poison without a word.

Early this morning Mrs. Ford was aroused by groans from Miss Haines' room, and rushing in she found the girl in convulsions.

Dr. F. L. Blamchard was hastily called, and though he worked assiduously over her was unable to save her life.

Her last words were: "Tell mother I love her."
The girl's parents have been notified, and the body will be shipped to Ridgeway.

GOOD WORK

Arthur Bedford Developed and Drove Irene D. Who Broke Peninsular Track Record

Chairman John H. Glassford, of the Speed committee of the Peninsular Fair, calls The Planet's attention to the fact that it was Arthur Bedford, who so successfully drove Irene D. to the new track record on Thursday.

"Mr. Bedford," declared Mr. Glassford heartily, "deserves all the credit for the development and training of Irene D. He drove her in all her winning races and a better could not have been found. It is to his credit that the track record was beaten."

Mr. Bedford is one of the Maple City's most popular and capable horsemen and The Planet joins his many friends in heartfelt congratulations.

GOLDEN WEDDING

A very pleasant and enjoyable golden wedding anniversary was celebrated on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gerber on the 3rd concession, Harwich. Mr. Gerber, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gerber, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerber, Mr. and Mrs. John Gerber, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Zimmer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zimmer, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Zimmer, Jr., and Paul and Henry Gerber. Two honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Zimmer, Sr., who celebrated their golden anniversary just a week ago. Many useful and beautiful presents were received. Mr. Gerber is 50 years of age and Mrs. Gerber is 75. They both thoroughly enjoyed the reunion.

After an elaborate wedding supper had been partaken of a number of young folks from the vicinity arrived and prolonged the festivities with a dance, which lasted until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

EXECUT SCHOOL BOARDS, DECREE OF CITY COUNCIL

Public School and Collegiate Institute Representatives Wiped out of Corporate Existence—Mayor Cowan and Ald. Austin Carry Through Their Project—Chatham to Elect Board of Education Next January—Ald. King Questions Position of County

Any real, live, strenuous battle to the death which may have been contemplated between his worship Mayor Cowan and the Public School Board will now have to be pulled off in fairly short order, as the School Board will be unable to supply targets and firing line for him much longer. In three short months the Board will give up the ghost—not, alas, one of those passive, peaceful, pleasant passings to a well-merited reward with a popular verdict as good and faithful servants; but because they were urged—urged at the sharp and deadly point of the stiletto, wielded with the death-dealing accuracy and skill by the battle-scarred and fearless swordsmen who occupies the civic executive chair.

Accompanying the Public School Board cortege will be the somber procession of the C. C. I. representatives who will fraternize with their confreres at the death. Executed on the 11th of the month. "Carried unanimously." Yes; there was a trace of a triumphant smile on his worship's face and a stentorian and satisfied emphasis in his voice as he sealed the decree that united his corporate foes in death. And he smiled graciously towards Ald. Austin, the sponsor of the motion that did the deed.

All the members of Council were present at the special session last night when Ald. Austin introduced the motion to do away with the Public and High School Boards and form in lieu thereof a Board of Education to be elected by the city at large next January.

Only one point of force had been urged against the proposition, he pointed out. This was the matter to which The Planet recently called attention, as to the complications which might arise over county representation. To clear up the matter, Ald. Austin had written to the Minister of Education, and his deputy, John Miller, had replied that if the city desired to adopt the act there would cease to be any county representation. He then wrote asking what position county pupils would be in and learned that the county was still liable to pay for them and the matter of adjusting rates would be in the hands of the Board of Education and the County Council.

At the present time, said Ald. Austin, dissatisfaction with the county was felt on the C. C. I. Board and case was going before the judge. It was quite apparent, too, that the accommodation at the C. C. I. was inadequate and the use of the assembly room was only consented to temporarily by the Inspector. The city would have to hold an additional cent, and the county wouldn't contribute a cent, and their pupils are coming in while they only pay 80 per cent. of their actual cost, the city paying 20 per cent. of the cost of county pupils.

Ald. King said that without county representation on the Board would not trouble result with the county? Would they still be responsible for their share of maintenance? Would it not cause unpleasant complications? Would the county not feel that they were unfairly dealt with in having no representative on the Board? Was there any chance of trouble or a lawsuit?

Ald. Austin—No more trouble than they are having now. The city solicitor has been asked to enter action and he has been holding off in the hope that some settlement may be arrived at. The new Board of Education will say whether they are willing to take county pupils at a fair price or not. The city is now paying 20 per cent. of the cost of each county pupil. We say, we want you to pay your fair share.

The Mayor—This has been a bone of contention for some time and they are now on the verge of a lawsuit. City Solicitor Wilson has been persuading the Board not to get into a lawsuit and litigation, and holding them back.

Ald. Edmondson—There is no conflict regarding separate school representation, I understand, and the city has the right to pass legislation in their own interests. It will be easier to dictate terms to the county under a Board of Education.

Ald. Potter—I believe it to be in the interests of the city to form a Board of Education, but I think we should do our best to keep on good terms with the county. I do not want to see any trouble or complication. We can better work together for mutual benefit.

Ald. Austin—For every $2 maintenance the city pays $1.20 and the county 80c. I do not think that fair or right.

Ald. King asked that the act be read, which was done by the city clerk.

Ald. King—Can we apply this act? Are we not in a High School district, which is specifically excluded? City Clerk—No, this is not a High School district. It applies to towns.

The Mayor—The city solicitor was very definite about that, and if a mistake occurs we can repeal it.

Ald. Austin—If we find we're wrong we have three months to repeal our action.

Ald. King—I think that responsibility by direct representation is undoubtedly the proper thing. The Board of Education as such looks like a good thing, but I counsel that we go carefully and seek to avoid all unpleasant complications and litigation and, moreover, endeavor to work harmoniously and loyally together with the county. Surely the county won't want an unfair advantage any more than the city. I would like to see an amicable settlement arrived at.

FINANCIAL BREAKDOWN

Real Reason Why Japan Made Peace at Portsmouth.

Fear That Rice and Cereal Crops Were Doomed to Failure and the Unexpected Costliness of the War Worked in Favor of the Settlement With Russia—Hard Times With Six Months More of War.

Tokio, Sept. 30.—Notwithstanding the silence of the Government, the real fact is disclosed that Japan made peace at Portsmouth in fear of a financial breakdown. The war proved more costly than had been calculated, and the rice and cereal crops seemed doomed to failure. Instead of sunlight and warmth during the month of August, when the crops ripen, there was continuous rain and exceedingly cold weather. While some improvement may still be in store, it is certain that the rice crop promises to be from fifteen to twenty per cent. below the average and far below last year's crop, when it was marvellously large. Six months more of war would have meant very hard times for the masses of the people are very poor and rice is their bread and meat.

Should Have Taken All.
Tokio, Sept. 30.—Lieut.-Gen. Hara-guchi, commander-in-chief of the Japanese military forces on Sakhalin Island, accompanied by his staff, arrived at the Ueno Railroad station yesterday morning. The general said: "We are sorry that only one-half of the island has been taken, but that was no fault of yours," a statement which created much merriment.

CHIEF OF CZAR'S CABINET.

New Post Said To Be In Store For Peacemaker Witte.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 30.—M. Witte left St. Petersburg at noon by boat to meet Emperor Nicholas, who, with his family, is prolonging his yachting trip in the Finnish Gulf. M. Witte had not expected when he arrived here to be received in audience until the Emperor's return to Peterhof, but Thursday evening he received the Imperial command to come yesterday to Bjorker on board a vessel which was sent for him. His Majesty desiring to hear immediately from his envoy's lips in account of his important and successful mission.

It has been reported that M. Witte will be made a count and receive the order of St. Andrew, but a more substantial honor may be his nomination to the post of chief of the Cabinet of Ministers, the details of which are now being elaborated, and which would place him in the "black" in the room, with the right of naming all the Ministers except the court and war Ministers.

THREE ACCIDENTS

Automobiles Cause Considerable Excitement in the City Yesterday and To-Day

There were two automobile accidents in the city yesterday and one to-day, but in no case was any serious damage done.

Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock a dog was run down by a machine near the Rankin House. The little animal, a water spaniel, received a broken leg and was later on shot and released from its suffering. The other accident yesterday also happened in the afternoon. One of the Maple City chauffeurs was engaged in turning his machine around when the noise frightened a horse which was standing near. The motorist immediately stopped his machine but the horse made a dash and ran into a telegraph pole. In the buggy was a woman, an invalid, she escaped without any injury, largely through the prompt and courteous action of Ald. O'Keefe, who sprang from the auto to her assistance, although she was thoroughly frightened.

The other one happened this morning about ten o'clock, when another machine ran into a buggy on King street. There was a lady in the buggy and she also received a thorough "hook" in no case can any blame be attached to the owners of the automobiles, and in each case the drivers acted in a gentlemanly way in trying to undo the damage that had been accidentally done.

WELCOME HOME

Last evening the William street Baptist church was the scene of a bright and most enjoyable occasion. The members and friends turned out in large numbers to greet Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt on their return from a long summer holiday in the British Isles. After devotional exercises a short program was entered upon, Judge Hoyt on being chairman, Miss Barassin gave two eloquent numbers, which were well received. Mr. Phelps and the Misses Nevills and Swan contributed instrumental numbers in good style. Mrs. J. E. Oldershaw and Mr. Beeve were well received in two vocal numbers and the choir gave a chorus. The chairman gave a hearty address of welcome to the pastor and his wife, to which Rev. Mr. Hoyt responded in fitting terms. Refreshments were then served and an enjoyable evening ended.

CLEVER CAPTURE

Policemen Darr and Dodson Round up a Thief at Half Past Five This Morning

Policemen Darr and Dodson made a very clever capture this morning about half-past five o'clock, as a result of which a young Englishman, named Andrew Owens, is locked up in the Police Court cells awaiting his removal to Toronto, where he will have to answer to a charge of theft.

At one o'clock this morning the police received a telegraph message from Toronto, telling them to be on the lookout for this man, who was supposed to be on his way to Chatham. It was said that the man had a trunk of carpenter's tools with him. Darr and Dodson at once visited both depots and found the trunk of tools at the Grand Trunk station. They heard that a man had arrived on the 9:19 train and had inquired at the station for a boarding place.

The policemen started out to hunt for him and finally located him in Matt. Hatton's boarding house. The man was supposed to have stolen $53 and the officers found $42.22 on his person. He had paid $3.50 for a week's board in advance and had paid $5.30 for his ticket from Toronto. It is supposed he squandered the rest. Owens said he had come from Toronto to accept a position with the William Gray & Sons Company.

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow. Daniel and Belshazzar.—Daniel 5, 17-30.

Golden Text—"The face of the Lord is against them that do evil."—Psalm 34, 16.

We again study an incident in the life of Daniel. Two weeks ago we left him a youth promoted by Nebuchadnezzar to the Council of the Empire. We find him in this lesson over 60, having spent more than 40 years witnessing for God in this idolatrous Empire: City of Babylon.

Teachers and scholars should read prayerfully right through this wonderful book of Daniel. We find Satan then, as now, one way or another, deceiving nations, and he will keep at it until he is bound.—See Rev. 20, 3.

Nebuchadnezzar's grandson, Belshazzar, now reigns. He is a proud, ungodly, sensual ruler. While the armies of the Medes and Persians, under Darius, besieging his capitol, he has such faith in its immense walls and strong gates, surrounding enough land to sustain its inhabitants, that he makes a great drinking feast to a thousand of his lords, and goes out of his way to insult God Almighty, by bringing the golden and silver vessels captured from His temple at Jerusalem to drink from in this drunken carousal.

Suddenly, amidst shouts and praises to their old heathen images a phantom finger writes on the most conspicuous place in his banquet hall a mysterious, startling message. The king's face drops, his brain reels, his joints are loosed, his knees smite together, his fears chill him to the bone, his doom has come, and he cries out for help from his poor, deluded wife men, who are fools like himself before God.

If there is any lesson taught clearly, both in scripture and in history, it is that swift rain drenches the man whose heart is lifted up in pride. When any man becomes proud and boastful his doom is sealed. God, in mercy, must humble him to the dust, that he may know that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men.

If Belshazzar had repented, as the King of Nineveh had before him—see Jonah 3, 6-10—or as Nebuchadnezzar—see Dan. 4, 34-37—there would still have been mercy for him.

Reader, teacher, scholar, remember that he may weigh us in His balances. Eternal life or death—which shall it be? Accept the Lord Jesus as your personal Saviour and "my God shall surely all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." He alone turns the scales in our favor.

BLOWN UP IN SUEZ CANAL. Passage Will Be Cleared of Debris in Four Days. Port Said, Sept. 29.—The wreck of the British steamer Chatham, which was sunk in the Suez Canal September 6, in order to prevent an explosion of a large quantity of dynamite, which formed part of the cargo while the ship was menaced by flames, was blown up yesterday morning.

No serious damage was done to the canal, and the authorities anticipate that the passage will be cleared of debris in four days.

The enormous displacement of water was visible from a spot five miles distant, whence the operations of blowing up the vessel were conducted.

A huge column of water, sand and the ship's wreckage was thrown 2,000 feet in the air, and in falling destroyed 600 feet of the east bank of the canal. Divers immediately commenced removing the debris.

IT'S IN THE BLOOD. DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS DRIVE OUT RHEUMATIC POISON.

Rheumatism is rooted in the blood—any doctor will tell you that. Nothing can cure it that does not reach the blood. It is a foolish waste of time and money to try to cure rheumatism with liniments, poultices or anything else that only goes on the skin.

It is the blood that carries the poison to the skin only helps the painful poison to circulate more freely. The one cure, and the only cure for rheumatism is to drive the uric acid out of your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They actually make new blood, and the new blood sweeps out the poisonous acids, loosens the stiffened, aching joints, cures the rheumatism and makes the sufferer feel better in many other ways.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Some times I was so stiff I could hardly move. The trouble seemed to be growing worse and finally seemed to effect my heart, as I used to have pains in the region of the heart, and sometimes a smothering sensation. I grew so weak, and suffered so much that I began to consider my case hopeless, and then one day a little pamphlet, telling of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, fell into my hands, and I learned that they would cure rheumatism. I sent for a supply, and in about three weeks found they were helping me. The trouble seemed to be growing soon disappeared, and gradually the pains left me and I could go about with more freedom than I had done for years.

It is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood, that they cure such troubles as rheumatism, anaemia, indigestion, kidney troubles, backaches, headaches and sideaches, neuralgia, erysipelas, and the special ailments that burden the lives of so many women and growing girls. But only the genuine pills can do this, and these always have the full name Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around every box.

The Cedar Springs Baptist church was re-opened for divine service last Sunday, when excellent sermons were preached at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. by Rev. L. S. Hughton, of Windsor. The services were well attended and highly successful.

Mr. E. E. Newman, manager of the Traders' Bank, Ridgeway, formerly in the Leamington branch, will move to Prescott in about five weeks.

As Viewed in Berlin. Berlin, Sept. 28.—The Anglo-Japanese alliance in its extended form is regarded by some commentators as tending to bring Russia and Germany closer together.

Paris, Sept. 28.—The Anglo-Japanese treaty was widely commented upon yesterday. The official view is that the treaty is conformable to French interests. It is pointed out particularly that France does not seek territorial expansion in Asia and therefore the status quo provisions of the treaty carry out French policies.

ERRONEOUS BELIEFS.

SOME QDD NOTIONS THAT ARE FIXED IN MANY MINDS.

Popular Ignorance as to Law in Everyday Occurrences—Cashiers' Mistakes in Banks—The Finding of Dead Bodies—Sunday Contracts.

It is an American predilection to believe the outlandish and fantastic stories that are based solely on hearsay testimony and to reject often the commonplace matter of fact. A list of the cheerful lies that are commonly believed would fill a volume. Only a few of them are given below.

How often have you been inflicted with the story of the man who was overpaid when cashing a check at the bank and the cashier telling him that no mistake would be corrected after the customer left the bank? According to the story, the cashier laid down the mandate before the cashier. It makes an excellent yarn, but diligent search discloses that it never had any foundation in fact. Banks have no such rule. If a customer is underpaid or overpaid the mistake will appear when the balance is struck at the end of the day's business, and the error will be cheerfully rectified. But the majority of the public believe the fictitious story of "how the fellow got the best of the bank" simply because it is a good story and they like to believe it.

Probably the most common error on the part of the public is the belief that when a dead body is found no one has a right to touch or move the remains "until the coroner comes." There never was any such law, is not now and probably never will be. The citizen who is of an inquiring turn of mind has a perfect right to examine the dead body as it lies across in the course of his travels, to move the remains and even search the pockets of the deceased, provided, of course, that his motives are honest. That is all that is necessary.

There is also a prevalent belief that a note signed or contract entered into on Sunday is void and that either party can plead the fact of the sacred day to get out of a bad bargain. This is not true. If a man enters into a contract or signs a note on Sunday he is legally bound and can have no defense that he would not have if the transaction had occurred in the middle of the week.

"I had my back again to my own house when I struck this man," says the defendant in police court. He believes that his proximity to his castle gives him more rights than he would have if he were in the street. This belief has been the cause of much tankard litigation, and it has ever resulted in the ruling that a man has a right to defend himself in a reasonable manner if he is attacked, whatever may be his geographical position, and the incidental contiguity of his home "cuts no ice" in the case.

The public has great confidence in the magic number three, and without any reasonable basis for the belief. It is commonly believed that if a drowning person sinks for the third time he is gone for good and all. The facts contradict this. Many persons die in the first sinking, and if one dies in the strength and vitality to rise to the surface of the water twice it furnishes an excellent presumption that he will be able to do so again. In an eddy or rapidly moving waters people have sunk from sight a half dozen times and lived to tell the experience to their grandchildren.

Then there is the third congestive ill, commonly believed to be fatal. Most people who die from this cause succumb to the first or second attack. If a man survives in weathering two of them the odds are in favor of his coming out victor in the third. Almost every community possesses a citizen who boasts the fact that he has a silver plate in his skull. Surgeons say that very few attempts were ever made at such an operation, and all of them were failures. There does not exist a man who has a silver plate in his skull, although many men honestly believe that they are carrying this species of paraphernalia in their craniums. The bone of the skull cannot live and be healthy in the presence of a foreign body. It is said by surgeons to be a physical impossibility, but this serves in no way to overcome the common and erroneous belief.

The medical fraternity has another false belief to combat in cases of "shingles." This disease consists of a skin eruption, always following affected nerves and commonly appearing on the body. It is a very common belief that if the "shingles" completely surround the body and strike a meeting point the patient will die instantly. The belief is untrue.

Considerate. After the tea things had been cleared away the young wife came over and sat on hubby's knee, put her plump arms about his neck and kissed him half a dozen times. "Well, what is it now?" he queried. "A new dress, dear," she answered. "But don't you know that times are awfully hard just at present?" he queried. "Of course I do," she replied. "That's why I want to give the poor dressmaker something to do."

No Repentance. "She married in haste and repented at leisure, didn't she?" "She hasn't repented any that I know of." "But she is divorced?" "Yes. But she gets $200 a month alimony."

VEGETABLE CATERPILLAR.

A Curious Combination of Animal and Plant Life. Vegetable caterpillar is the name given to a fungus—Cordyceps robertsii—found in New Zealand. It exhibits a curious and mysterious combination of animal and vegetable life and is invariably found associated as a parasite with the burly caterpillar. How the spores of the fungus enter the insect, which has never yet been met with as a grub or moth, is not certainly known. Sir Joseph Hooker suggests they get lodged in its neck as it buries itself. At any rate, the fungus springs from the head of the buried insect and gradually absorbs its inside till the whole body becomes full of purely vegetable tissue, though in outward appearance it remains unchanged, head, legs and claws being seen clearly in detail. The pulpy vegetable matter has a nutty flavor and is eaten with relish by pigs and greedily devoured by the Māori wood hen. The fungus, after growing to a height of about six inches, dies and dries up.—London Standard.

Sarcasm. At the sidewalk of one of the ferry houses in New York recently stood a police vehicle, backed against the curb awaiting its load. Walking leisurely in the center of the pushing, racing mob from a landing ferryboat was a tramp, all rags, but placid of manner. At his side walked a bluecoat, who led him to the waiting patrol wagon. As the tramp was about to enter he bethought himself, and, standing on the wagon steps, he leaned far out to one side and to the driver he called in the drawing voice of a bored boulevardier, "Home, James!"

BLOOD WILL TELL.

It takes lots of vitality, nervous force and strength to win a race. Blood must be pure and good. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anemia, is common in men and young women, and all those who work indoors, who do not get enough good oxygen in their lungs, consequently have too many white blood corpuscles. Keep the nerves nourished, the heart strong, the head cool, the stomach vigorous, the liver active with a tonic which has stood the test of time and has a wide reputation, such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Tonics consisting of large portions of alcohol, iron or cod liver oil, do not bring the desired changes in the blood, because they do not enter the system and are not absorbed into the blood, with the exception of the alcohol, which shrivels up the red blood corpuscles when it does come in contact with them. Therefore do not allow the dealer to insult your intelligence by telling you he has something better than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cost of mailing only. "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," 600 large pages, is sent free on receipt of thirty-one one-cent stamps, for the paper-covered book, or fifty stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure. No other pill can compare with them.

"LITTLE DORRIT"

Mrs. Mary Cooper, Aged 92, Original of Dickens' Novel, is Still Living in England.

Few people are aware that the original of "Little Dorrit" is still living. She is now 92 years old, but still active, and of all things in the long life that lies behind her is proudest of the honor conferred upon her by Charles Dickens.

Mrs. Mary Ann Cooper is her name, but in her maiden days, when she first became acquainted with Dickens, she was a Miss Milton. Her father lived at Sunbury, some eighteen miles from London, and Dickens was a frequent visitor there. He bestowed the name of "Little Dorrit" on Miss Milton, who is mentioned in the book which he intended to call "Little Dorrit" and "that he should put her in it."

There are several people still living and more or less prominent who have figured in famous novels of the past. "Angela Marsden, Messenger," the heroine of the late Sir Walter Besant's most popular story, "All Sorts and Conditions of Men," was modeled after the Duke of Rutland, then Lord George of Rutland, then Lord Henry Sidney of Disraeli's "Coningsby," and the "Duke of Brecon" was Lord John's father, the then Duke of Rutland. Cora Dillingham, a Victoria cross hero still living in London, is the hero of James Grant's novel, "Violet's Story."

The Clare family in Mr. Hardy's "Tess" was drawn from that of the Rev. H. Moule, vicar of Fordington, "brilliant brother at Cambridge," who is mentioned in the present bishop of Durham. It generally understood that the "Lord Lintthorpe" of Morley Roberts is no other than Lord Rosebery. The late Lady Dillon was the wife of the late Lord "Middlemarch," and "Lady Grey" of Mallock's "New Republic." She used to express a hope that she was neither a duke nor a duchess in any event she should not be a lady.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle evidently is as great a devotee of "speed" as was the late W. E. Henley, and this devotion promises to prove costly. In plain English, the creator of "Sherlock Holmes" is scorching into a determined "scorcher" of the motor car variety. Not long ago he was "up" before a police magistrate in Surrey for exceeding the legal speed in his automobile and the other day found him in the local police court at Epsomstone on the similar charge. It being his second offense, Sir Arthur was fined $50 and costs.

Mrs. Katherine Cecil Thurston, author of "The Masquerader," who is spending the winter in London, is a determined "scorcher" of the motor car variety. Not long ago he was "up" before a police magistrate in Surrey for exceeding the legal speed in his automobile and the other day found him in the local police court at Epsomstone on the similar charge. It being his second offense, Sir Arthur was fined $50 and costs.

All admirers of his works will be rejoiced by the latest news of the health of George Meredith. The veteran novelist quitted his home, his Surrey home, a month or so ago, where he had been feeling unusually feeble, and went to St. Paul's for a change of air. He returned this week, I am told, greatly benefited.

Did the late R. D. Blackmore create the Doones or did such a robber band actually exist in Exmoor? It generally has been supposed that the latter was the case and that the author of "Lorna Doone" relied, in the main, on well founded traditions for his account of the brotherhood in that and other parts of the county. Quite recently, however, E. J. Rowe, who has published a work on the subject, declared his conviction that the whole of the Doone stories had sprung from Mr. Blackmore's brain. The London Athenaeum has just published a lengthy and detailed statement to the contrary by the Rev. J. Charles Cox, a clergyman of the Exmoor district.

During the last few weeks this gentleman visited every parish in the Carhampton Hundred and inquired as to the Doones in every direction, and of a great number of the older Exmoor folk. In the course of his statement he says: "In every single case I met with a more or less indignant man, who any one who knew the district possibly could doubt as to the reality of a band of Doone robbers infesting the Clare district and as to the stories of them being common to the present day before Mr. Blackmore wrote his novel." Quite an unusual number of houses with literary associations have come to the market of late, and to these must now be added the "Villa Palmieri," which is supposed to have been the scene of the telling of the tale of Boccaccio's "Decameron." The mansion which the peasants call the "Villa Boccaccio," stands near Florence and belongs to the Dowager Lady Crawford, who is an English peeress. It is an old Medicean villa of considerable architectural magnificence, and was bought in 1874 by the late Lord Crawford, who spent a large sum in modernizing it. Queen Victoria resided in it during two of her visits to Florence. The place is to be sold next month.

Justin McCarthy has finished the two concluding volumes of his "History of our own Times," and which will appear shortly. They cover the period from the diamond jubilee, 1847, to the accession of King Edward VII, and will contain a retrospect of the important changes which the reign of Queen Victoria saw in the public life, the literature, art and science—more especially the applied science—of that period, the changes which have come about in the habits and the manners and customs of the time; and he describes also the leading characteristics of the men and women who have grown into celebrity during these later years. Mr. McCarthy thinks the reader thus will be enabled the better to appreciate the place which these more recent years are destined to hold in the world's history.—London Correspondent.

Too Much Love. He—You never seem to care a straw whether I am comfortable or not. You are not the sort of a wife your sister was. She was perfectly devoted to him and never tired of seeking his happiness. She—Yes, and what was the result? He got to loving her so much that he made a provision in his will that she should not marry again.

A Young Lady Transformed!

All the charm of Girlhood restored. This is only one of hundreds of cases in which "Fruit-a-tives" changed Pale, Sallow Skin into the Rosy Bloom of Health.

Too many women have sallow skin—bad complexions—dark circles under the eyes—headaches—backaches—sick stomachs. Too few women have the robust health and rosy bloom of girlhood—that "Fruit-a-tives" preserve. Some women don't realize how surely Constipation undermines the health and brings premature old age. The intestines do two things—give up nourishment to the blood—and carry off waste matter. But—If Constipation keeps the waste IN the intestines, the blood takes up poison instead of nutriment.

It is this waste—carried all over the system by the blood—that causes Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Bad Breath, Headaches, Backaches, Sallow Skin, Pimples, Paleness and Thinness. The woman who wants— a fine complexion —to be free of headaches and backaches —to eat well, sleep well and look well —to feel well ALL THE TIME can have her wish if she takes "Fruit-a-tives."

Miss Jamison tells how she found the happiness of health in

Fruit-a-tives

MASSON, P. Q., Nov. 16th, 1904. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Gentlemen: I have much pleasure in reporting to you the great benefit I have received from "Fruit-a-tives"—and I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of a medicine which has done me so much good. I was a martyr to that distressing complaint, Chronic Constipation, accompanied by severe headaches, backache, sick stomach and all the symptoms of dyspepsia. I had also a dreadful complexion, sallow in the extreme and black under the eyes. I had every symptom of kidney disease. I had been told by physicians that my kidneys were affected. I consulted a number of physicians and took various remedies but received very little benefit. Last May I was advised to take "Fruit-a-tives" and when I began to take them I had a great relief, but anything to give me permanent relief, but after I had taken them for a few days I could sleep as soundly as when I was a child. Also, my complexion began to clear up again, all the sallowness disappeared and the black circles under my eyes went away. The pain in the back gradually left me and all signs of kidney disease disappeared by the first of August after I had taken three boxes. Since then I have continued to improve and now I have none of my old symptoms and my complexion is as clear as when I was a young girl. Also the constipation from which I had suffered so long has been entirely cured and it is not necessary for me to take the "Fruit-a-tives" now as I am quite well in every way. I took a medicine which I followed the directions as to diet, etc., given in the pamphlet which accompanied each box of "Fruit-a-tives." To all persons suffering from constipation and indigestion, headache and backache, and particularly those with sallow complexions, I would strongly recommend them to try "Fruit-a-tives" and faithfully carry out the directions in the pamphlet, and feel certain they will find this medicine simply marvelous. "Fruit-a-tives" is very mild and non-irritating, no griping is felt and the stomach is sweetened by taking them.

"Fruit-a-tives" are NOT cathartics. They contain NO calomel, jalap, cascara, "oil," or salts. "Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. They are a discovery that deserves to rank with anaesthetics and vaccine. "Fruit-a-tives" are a tonic for the bowels. They tone up the intestines, make them move regularly and naturally.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Constipation just as surely as chloroform deadens pain. If you are suspicious of your health, don't wait for proof of sickness. Take "Fruit-a-tives." All druggists have these health preserving, pleasant tasting fruit tablets. 50c. a box—and worth ten times 50c. to any woman who wants to enjoy the luxury of perfect health.

GALLOWES FOR BENNETT Faith

Jury at Brantford Brought in a Verdict of Guilty.

For Five Hours Twelve Men Debated the Question of His Guilt or Innocence—Backbone of the Alibi Broken by David Garlow—Preliminary Shudder in Crowded Court Room—Sentences Pass To-day.

Brantford, Sept. 30.—The jury in the Bennett case, after being out for five hours, returned a verdict of "guilty." The charge of the judge finished at 6:30 last evening and the juryman at once retired. At 11:30 they came back and asked for information regarding the evidence of David Garlow, who contradicted the story of Kieck, the backbone of the alibi. This was given and a shudder passed over the crowded court room as a premonition was seen in this regarding the coming verdict. Five minutes later the jury returned with the verdict of "guilty."
While the foreman pronounced the fateful word, the condemned man sat with impassive countenance and never once betrayed his emotion. No scene was made by the crowd in the court room.
Justice Anglin declared the court adjourned until 9:30 this morning, when Doyle and Bennett will receive their sentences. In commenting upon the verdict, he stated to the jury that he did not see how any other verdict could have been reached by them. The afternoon was taken up with the speeches of the counsel and the charge of the judge. The judge charged heavily against Bennett.
Committed For Trial For Murder, Toronto, Sept. 30.—Charles De Marco was yesterday committed for trial for the murder of John Hoban, the magistrate incidentally remarking that he wished he could grant bail as there was evidence both for and against the accused. Eight witnesses were examined, but Arthur Lafferty, an important one, was absent in Port Perry.
Reckless Shooting at Windsor, Windsor, Sept. 30.—Two colored men, employed at the race track, quarreled Thursday night. One drew a knife and the other a revolver. The latter fired three shots, one of which struck a man named Ballentine, who was attracted by the row, in the hand. Another shot grazed his head. At this point Victor Balliaren, a motorman, who had just arrived with his car, seized the shooter and delivered the man, who says his name is Washington, to the police. Ballentine was taken to the Hotel Dixie.

The Letter-Box

MR. WHITE BOWS AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—Seldom is it the lot of mankind in this mundane sphere, to read an article so replete with such marvellous powers of description, combined with apt alliterations, port-fol aid, as was so picturesquely portrayed in your edition of the 29th inst. in reference to my claim and right to the MacIntyre cup. Then, to think of your spontaneous magnanimity of attributing all of it to me. No, Mr. Editor, I humbly confess, I am not entitled to such unanticipated encomiums, much less am I able to unite with such mellifluous. I commend you for the "aesthetic culture," therein displayed, and for your esteemed regard for me.

Yours as ever,
J. W. WHITE.

HOME TRADE MAXIMS.

A Few Hints On Helping Yourself and Your Neighbors—Above All Don't Lose Hope.

Don't lose hope in the future of your town, but study conditions that need correction and set about to apply a remedy.

He who would set a good example before his neighbors will patronize every home industry that is worthy of support.

If your neighbor is a grumbler and cannot see any good in the town or its people and if he is not of the kind that can be reformed, let him seek a home elsewhere. A change of air will be good for him, for yourself and the town in general.

When there is any work to be done, don't wait for your neighbor, Tom Jones or Dick Brown, to commence. Get a move on yourself and go to them and put hand in hand with them.

Don't think that enterprise consists of sending your money from your home town to help build up business enterprises and add to the wealth of capitalists in large cities. No, this is not enterprise; rather lack of public spiritedness.

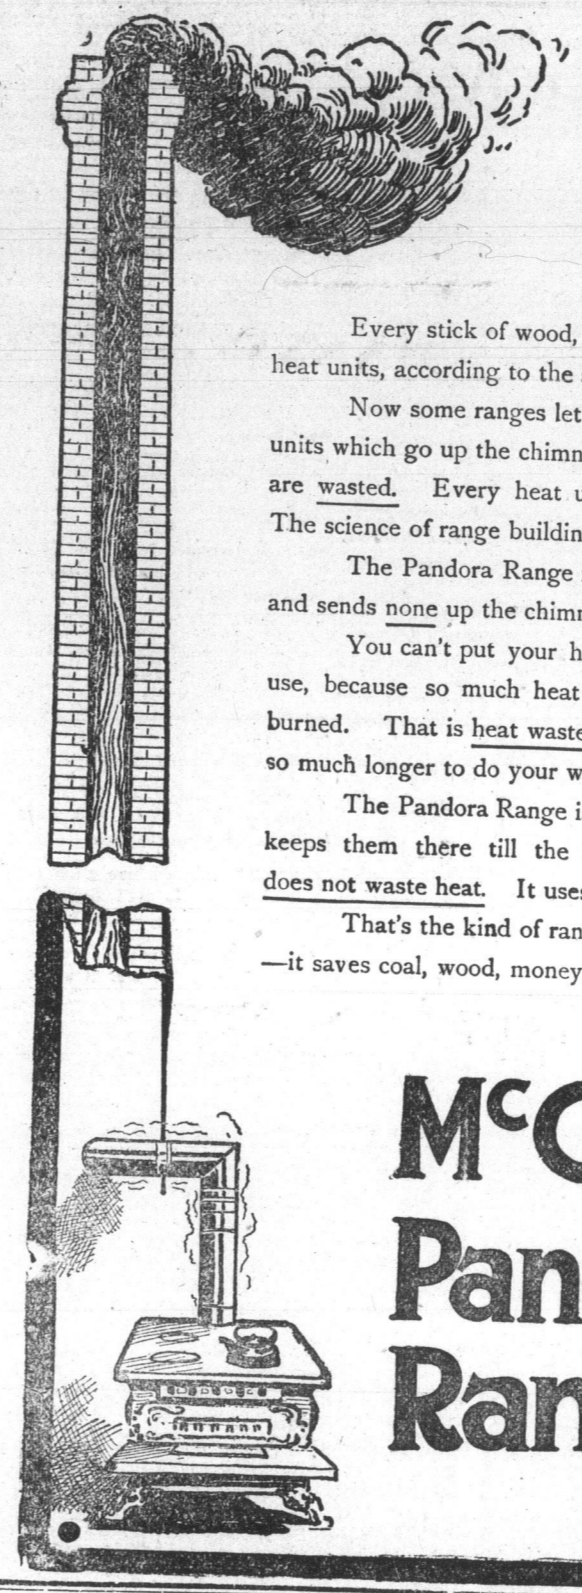

Don't be afraid of criticism. Study well your duty as a citizen and go about it without fear or favor and you will find that those simpatons who may first call you a busybody will be willing to give you credit for your work.

There is little use in feeling sorry because your neighbor has been successful. He may have worked intelligently and hard to succeed while you have been idling your time and doing a lot of grumbling instead of trying to build up trade and your town.

Sometimes the retired farmer who comes to town to live feels that it is not his place to take an active part in town affairs. A few encouraging words may change his attitude and make him one of the progressive factors in the town.

Your town will not lose out by impressing each and every farmer in the neighborhood with the fact that the place is for his benefit as much as for those who reside within its corporate limits.

Business men of a town should make the farmers feel that they are always welcome visitors and not mere factors in bringing money to the place. The farmers are the mainstay of agricultural towns, and are to a great extent the ones on whom the merchants are mainly dependent for support. They are quite as much interested in the prosperity of the town as are the residents of the place and should be made to feel that the town is as important to them as to the residents of it.

Where does your Heat go to?

Every stick of wood, every piece of coal contains a certain number of heat units, according to the size and quality of the stick or chunk.

Now some ranges let these heat units escape up the chimney. Heat units which go up the chimney do not heat the oven or the frying-pan. They are wasted. Every heat unit that is wasted is money lost, money burnt. The science of range building is the successful utilization of all the heat units.

The Pandora Range is the only range that utilizes all the heat units and sends none up the chimney.

You can't put your hand over the chimney when some ranges are in use, because so much heat goes up the chimney. Your hand would be burned. That is heat wasted, money wasted, time wasted, because it takes so much longer to do your work when a large part of your heat is lost.

The Pandora Range is built to keep all the heat units in the range—keeps them there till the heat is exhausted—it is the only range that does not waste heat. It uses all the heat there is in the coal or wood.

That's the kind of range you want in your kitchen—it is economical—it saves coal, wood, money, time. It makes kitchen work easy.

ASTOR'S ENGLISH PALACE.

Amazing wonders are being wrought by William Waldorf Astor, the American millionaire and naturalized British subject, upon the historic Hever estate in Kent, which he recently purchased.

The artistic owner is spending money with a lavish hand in beautifying the expanse of 2,000 acres that spread around the old moated castle. Though the cost of the undertaking is probably not definitely known to Mr. Astor himself, the popular estimate is that a million and a quarter pounds will be expended upon the improvements during the next two years.

There is no busier area in industrial England to-day. About a thousand men of all trades have taken up their residence in the neighborhood. The place nestles at the foot of a hill. The road which hitherto led close to the castle has been diverted, and now passes some hundred yards farther away.

To make this new road is has been necessary to build two bridges over the River Eden, which winds through the estate.

Round the castle masons and carpenters are building a picturesque model village, toned to harmonize with the grey old walls of the castle.—London Mirror.

LONG ago we realized that the baking and roasting qualities of the oven of a range are of greatest importance to the range user. We brought our knowledge, gained by years of experience, to bear on this one point. The result was the Imperial Oxford Diffusive Oven Flue. With this exclusive feature, the Imperial Oxford stands to-day the most perfect baking and roasting range on the market.

After getting this most important feature of a range to such a point of perfection we naturally did not neglect any other improvement which could add to the working of the range. These improvements were incorporated in the

because they added to the life of the range, simplified its operation or economized fuel.

Of these improvements the draw-out oven rack is one which will instantly appeal to the cook. The handle of this rack is outside the range—always cool enough to hold with the bare hand. By pulling this handle forward anything roasting in the oven may be drawn out onto the oven shelf to be basted, without touching the hot pan or reaching into the oven. The same applies to the testing of bread, cake or pies.

We would like you to see the Imperial Oxford Range. If your dealer doesn't handle it, write us for illustrated literature and the address of the nearest dealer who does.

Who Have Found Relief From Their Indigestion and Dyspepsia in DODD'S Dyspepsia Tablets. "I suffered for several years with Dyspepsia. Nothing I ate would digest without giving me great pain. I could not get any thing to relieve me till a friend of mine advised me to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One box cured me and I have had no return of the trouble since." Such is the experience of Miss Lizzie Watling, 177 King William Street, Hamilton, Ont. It should come as a message of hope to thousands of Canadians. It is only one of thousands of similar statements that prove conclusively that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets never fail to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia of all stages. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food themselves. They do the stomach's work and give it a chance to rest and recuperate. They are thus a natural cure. Help your stomach and it will help you. If you would eat what you like when you like use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Scott Runs In Lumsden. Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 25.—At the Liberal meeting, called for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the constituency of Lumsden, the name of Hon. Walter Scott was unanimously endorsed as the standard-bearer of Liberalism for the constituency. The Battleford Liberal convention has selected A. Champagne to contest that riding. The Liberals of Maple Creek electoral district have nominated John Nixon as their candidate in the coming provincial election.

SPRAINED HER ANKLE. "I slipped on a icy step and sprained my right ankle very badly," writes Miss Minnie Bargeone, of Glenwood. "It swelled to a tremendous size and caused intense pain. I applied Eucalypti-Nerve and got prompt relief; the swelling was reduced, and before long I was able to use my foot." For sprains, swellings and muscular pains Nerviline is the one sure remedy. Strong, penetrating, swift to destroy inflammation, Polson's Nerviline. Fifty years in use.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED. By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional means. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by the best ear cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toronto, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Buffalo Printers Strike. Buffalo, Sept. 25.—The conflict between members of the International Typographic Union and the National Typothetate over the question of an eight-hour day, has spread to Buffalo, and yesterday 200 men employed in the job offices walked out.

The profit of a gold mine depends not on the amount of rock crushed under the stamps, but upon the amount of gold which can be extracted from the rock. In a similar way the value of the food which is eaten does not depend on the quantity of food which is taken into the stomach but upon the amount of nourishment extracted from it by the organs of nutrition and digestion. When these organs are diseased they fail to extract the nourishment in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the several organs of the body, and these organs cannot work without nourishment. The result is heart "trouble," liver "trouble," and many another ailment. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, acting on every organ of the digestive and nutritive system, restores it to health and vigor. It cures diseases remote from the stomach through the stomach in which they originated. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains neither alcohol nor narcotics. Irregularity in some things soon gets to be a regular nuisance. Lever's Y-Z (Wise Head) Disinfectant Soap Powder dusted in the bath, softens the water and disinfects. EDUCATIONAL FRILLS.

How New York and Chicago Seem to Regard What Some Folk Denominate Fads. "It may interest citizens of Ontario to know how manual training and the so-called fads are looked upon in two great American cities," said Albert H. Leake, of Toronto, Inspector of Technical Education, the other day. "The New York Globe made a special canvass of the parents of the New York City schools last spring on the subject of manual training in the so-called 'fads.' Here are the results:—"

Subject. For. Against. Drawing and manual training... 6,267 1,234. Music... 6,241 1,234. Sewing... 5,336 1,234. Physical training... 6,556 1,234.

"These figures mean that the people in the city are in favor of the manual training in the ratio of five to one—just what the world moves." The following is taken from the Chicago Daily Tribune of Sept. 25:—"To meet the unprecedented demand for parents and pupils in all sections of the city, the Board of Education is taking steps to increase manual training within the reach of every one of the 230,000 children enrolled in the public schools. Already 125 new centres have been opened within the last few days, and the total number 128. From the day the doors of the Public Schools were thrown open, letters from parents began to pour into the offices of Superintendent Cowley and of Superintendent of Manual Training R. M. Smith, demanding that opportunity be given to all children to receive manual training."

Mothers and fathers from the congested districts thronged the Board rooms in the hope of finding a way for their children to get more manual training than is provided in the school program. These demanded that one day each week be given to the children, and the Board is making plans to comply with this demand. The Supervisor has arranged a program which will permit the children of every school in the system, with the exception of thirteen which are in the outlying districts, to spend one day each week at the nearest manual training centre. The demand for manual training, household arts and domestic science was greater than that during the first week of any preceding school year. As a result the Board will make an effort to establish more domestic science centres during the coming year. At the present time household arts are taught to the pupils of all but twenty-three schools."

A Mark Twain Story. How that prince of humorists, Mark Twain, neatly scored off a well-known lawyer, who endeavored to write his expenses in relation to the trial of some recent recollections of the author of "The Innocents Abroad."

It was at a society dinner that Mark Twain was called upon to make a speech, which he did in a very able manner. On seating himself the lawyer arose and, thrusting his hands into his trousers' pockets, as was his habit, laughingly enquired of "these present" if he strike this company as a little unusual that a professional humorist should be funny? "When the laughter that greeted this reply had subsided, Mark Twain drew out a note and said: "Don't it strike this company as a little unusual that a lawyer should have his hands in his own pockets?"

The Sneezing Tree. The sneezing tree is a native of Natal and other parts of South Africa. Its odd name was given to it because we cannot see it without sneezing. Scientifically the dust of its wood has just the same effect as the strongest snuff, and is so irritating to the nose that workmen are obliged to sneeze even when they are planing it. If a piece of wood of this tree is put in the mouth it is found to have a very bitter taste, and no doubt it is the bitter which prevents the insects from attacking the timber of the piece-wood tree. The fact that insects find it so disagreeable makes its wood very valuable for work that is required to last a long time.

Caution Reason For a Strike. A serious strike of colliery workers occurred a few years since at Cefn, where, as in many other remote parts of the Kingdom, to meet a woman early in the day, before meeting a man, is considered a bad omen. At one of the collieries a woman was employed as messenger, and every morning on her way to business she was met by colliery workers going to their work, which very much perturbed them, and often they returned home in consequence for the rest of the day. At last they combined to send in a requisition to the manager of the colliery where she was employed demanding her dismissal, and that not being complied with, they struck work.

Avaricious to the End. "So strong is the avarice of the miser," said Uncle Joshua, "that we are not surprised at its often developing itself as 'the ruling passion strong in death.' Mr. Watson, a man of very large fortune and uncle to Lord Rockingham, had before he died desired his attendant to give him a shirt out of a drawer he pointed to. 'Lord, sir,' said the attendant, 'what do you mean, to think of putting on another shirt now?' 'Why,' said Watson, 'I understand it is the custom for the shirt I have on to be the perquisite of those who lay me out, and that is an old ragged one and good enough for them.'"

The European Nose. An Austrian scientist has been attacking the European nose. He says that it is a miserable degraded organ and a disgrace to civilization. He admits the large, full nostrils of the negro and says that it is the sort of nose to have. That is the nose that can smell. The nose of Europe cannot smell. Its olfactory sense is gone. The London nose could never sniff the London atmosphere, nor, he might have added, the much more complicated odors of Cologne. He attributes this degeneration to cigarette smoking; and to life in crowds.

ACCORD UPON MOROCCO

Keen Satisfaction Over Franco-German Agreement. Text of Accord Shows That There Are Advantages to Both Sides Although It Is in the Nature of a Compromise—Conference Is to Be Held at Algiers If Spain Consents—To the Sultan.

Paris, Sept. 25.—The Franco-German accord upon Morocco, signed yesterday, aroused the keenest satisfaction, not only on account of Morocco, but chiefly because it terminates the suspense of months which threatened to disturb the peace of Europe. Both the Foreign Office and the German Embassy were equally gratified to close the controversy. The accord is interpreted as a compromise in which each side secures advantages. Chancellor Von Buelow's proposition to admit Moroccan questions to a conference is finally realized, and M. Rouvier has carried his point of keeping France's special interests in Morocco and restricting the remaining questions within exact limits. The diplomats consider the result highly advantageous in removing obstacles to a rapprochement between France and Germany. Text of the Accord. The official text of the accord says: "The negotiations between France and Germany on Moroccan affairs have successfully terminated. Accord is reached upon a program comprising the organization of the police, the regulation and repression of contraband arms; financial reforms, consisting principally of the organization of a state bank and also the best means of collecting duties, and the creation of new means of revenue and also the termination of principles destined to safeguard the economic liberty of Morocco. Algeria For Conference. The agreement then makes a special reservation on the subject of Algeria between Algeria and Morocco, where the maintenance of police will be regulated directly between France and the Sultan without submission to the conference. The regulation of contraband in the same region also remains for France to determine with the Sultan. The two Governments unite in asking that Spain accept Algeria as the place for the conference. Upon the question of the recent German loan to Morocco it is agreed that French bankers shall participate with the Germans, and there is to be a similar participation of the French firms in building the harbor works at Tangier if a French company offers terms equal to those of the German contractors. To Sultan at Once. Finally the accord provides for the submission of the program without delay to the Sultan and the signatories of the convention of Madrid. Upon its submission to the Sultan both the French and German missions now at Fez will return to Tangier. REFUSED MORGAN BOOKS. Mr. Hughes, Legislative Committee's Counsel, Shows Anger—They Must and Will Be Produced. New York, Sept. 25.—George W. Perkins, vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Co., and a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., created a stir before the Legislative Investigation Committee yesterday, when he objected to a request that he produce certain books of J. P. Morgan & Co. to explain some of that firm's dealings with the New York Life Insurance Co., in connection with the sale of Navigation Syndicate bonds to the life insurance company. He said he would furnish copies of the entries referring to the transactions in question, but preferred not to bring the books. Mr. Hughes, counsel of the Legislative Committee, for the first time during the investigation, showed signs of anger and said loudly: "I shall have to require that those books be produced." "All right," replied Mr. Perkins. Testifying to the purchase of $4,000,000 of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis bonds from J. P. Morgan & Co. by the New York Life Insurance Co. Mr. Perkins said that he obtained the bonds at $40,000 less than the price stipulated by the life insurance company's finance committee. Questioned by Mr. Hughes, Mr. Perkins said that he had purchased and sold himself represented both the New York Life Insurance Co. as purchaser and the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. as seller. Money Was Borrowed. Testimony was given by Henry Rogers Winthrop, financial manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, to the effect that when the Navigation Syndicate, which turned out to be unprofitable, made calls for money on the George H. Squire trustee account for payment on account of syndicate participation, the money for the payments was obtained by borrowing $250,000 from the Equitable Trust Co. Of this amount $27,500 has been repaid. Mr. Winthrop said that in his opinion the money advanced to the George H. Squire trust account on this transaction was really the money of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. The Ryan Purchase. A statement showing the transfers of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, which accompanied the purchase of control of that society by Thomas F. Ryan, was made by the society. It showed that 502 shares of the stock purchased by Mr. Ryan from James H. Hyde, stood in the names of at least thirty-five persons who were or recently had been directors of the society, each of them being the owner of at least five shares of the stock. By the transfer of this stock to Grover Cleveland, George Morgan, J. O'Brien and Judge Westinghouse, a majority of the directors would have ceased to be stockholders of record. It was deemed wise by the trustees and by counsel that a majority of the recognized board of directors should be the actual owners of five shares of stock each until the question of eligibility of policy-holders as directors has been settled by the courts. Accordingly, an effort was made to purchase the necessary amount of stock. This resulted in the purchase of a block of eighty shares of stock for the aggregate price of $212,500, approximately $2,500 a share. Allotting the Stock. Mr. Ryan furnished the money for the purchase and the stock was at once offered to the directors of the society at cost with the result that the following directors have acquired five shares each of this block: George J. Gould, Levi P. Morton, Thomas P. Eckert, Valentine P. Snyder, F. W. Roehling, T. J. Albright, Ebon B. Thomas, Joseph Bryan, Thomas Spratt, H. Cady Herriek, Nicholas Murray Butler, Charles H. Zehnder, Sir W. C. Van Horne, C. Ledyard Blaire and James B. Forgan. The remaining twelve shares out of this block of 87 shares of stock stand in the name of Mr. Winthrop and are owned by Mr. Ryan. Five shares of stock were also purchased by President Paul Morton from M. E. Ingalls.

BABY'S TERRIBLE FACE HUMOUR

Would Scratch and Tear Away the Flesh—Neighbours Called it Worse Case Ever Seen—Grew Worse Under Doctors. CURED BY ONE SET OF CUTICURA REMEDIES. "My baby's face was a mass of sores. The doctor called it eczema, but the child grew worse, the disease eating the flesh away from his nose, and spreading to his body. Neighbours said it was the worst case they had ever seen. His suffering was terrible, and he would scratch and tear away the flesh. We then used the Cuticura Remedies, one set curing him completely, and healing his face without scar or blemish.—Wm. Cridland, 35 Winchester St., Pentonville Rd., N. London, Eng."

Quirk, No. 1 West End Cottages, Ruywood Road, N. Southampton."

QUAINT FUNERAL CUSTOMS

An interesting description of ceremonies at burials in Argentina—different styles for mourners

Buenos Ayres being a semi-tropical city, the law requires that burial shall take place within twenty-four hours after death, and if the body is to be buried in one of the cemeteries within the city limits or placed in a vault, it must be put not only in a regular coffin, but, in addition, in a hermetically sealed lead coffin, which fits closely inside the other, a glass sere permitting the face only to be seen.

As soon as a person dies the room which the body is to be laid out in is transformed by the undertaker into a "capilla ardiente," or lighted chapel; that is, the room is darkened, the walls are all hung in black, an altar is erected at one end, in front of which the body is laid, and the whole is lighted up by from six to a dozen candles in heavy silver candlesticks three feet high.

At the time between the actual death and the burial is so short, there is usually not time to send individual notices to friends, so the invitation to take part in the funeral services, as it is called, is printed in the papers in the following form:

GUILLERMO BIZARRO,
Q. E. P. D.

Died February 16th, 1905.

His wife, Mariana V., his children, Manuel, Benedicta and Amanda, his mother, Francisca G. G. Lavelle, his father-in-law, Antonio P. Valdez, his brothers, Louis and Carlos, his sister, Maria, his brother-in-law Jose, his grandchildren, uncles, nephews, cousins, and other relatives, invite you to accompany the remains of deceased to the Recoleta Cemetery, Friday the 17th, at 2.50 P. M.

In the Church of the Holy Cross a mass for the eternal repose of the soul will be sung from 7 to 8 a. m., the body being present by card. The family will take only part in the one at 10 a. m.

Q. E. P. D. means "Que en paz descanse" (May he rest in peace).

If the death has been long expected, so as to give time to have early printed, one about 3 by 6 inches, with a mourning border three-quarters of an inch wide, with the same wording, is sent to the nearest friends, in which case the words "only invitation" are omitted from the death notice in the paper.

It will be noticed that the funeral services and the burial are two distinct ceremonies, it not being the custom for women to accompany the body to the cemetery.

The expression "leave-taking will be by card," means that friends attending are not expected to come up personally and condole with the family at the funeral, but there is usually a servant in black livery, furnished by the undertaker, either at the se or at the church with a silver card on which visiting cards can be placed.

Default of this, on arrival at cemetery on one side of the entrance gate is a high wooden desk, ated black, and on it a pencil and paper, and fastened to one side a regular kind of letter box, also black, with a slit in the top.

Into this the card is dropped, or name written on a piece of paper and these are collected by an attendant, and sent to the house after the funeral.

In a few days, to all whose cards have been received, as well as to those friends who have written notes of condolence, the visiting card of member of the family to whom they have addressed you is sent in the card of the member of the family who may know you best, single word "agradecido," "Thanks for kind sympathy."

A procession of the well-attended by a large covered glass sides, in which are placed offerings, and just before the hearse, drawn by black horses, with two boxes in black and silver and wearing cocked hats.

There is a huge affair, open sides, the top or canopy being supported by four life sized figures of Ethiopians, carved out of ebony, and it is surmounted by six huge plumes, two feet in diameter, made of black ostrich feathers. The coffin lies on a black cloth, with the initials of the dead, in full view at the sides, worked in silver.

The cemetery itself is a veritable city of the dead, for, instead of having a mound with a headstone or monument, regular little mortuary chapels, called "panteones," are built by every lot owner, completely covering the plot of ground he holds.

These are of stone or marble, about five feet square, and from five to seven feet high, and they are built like city houses, and laid out square like city streets, with sidewalks and a roadway between.

Each of these "panteones" contains an altar of marble on which are candles, flowers, sacred pictures and other religious emblems and symbols of the Catholic Church.

In front of this altar is a large slab, which, when lifted, discloses a ladder or stairway, leading to a whitewashed chamber with spaces one above the other in the walls, of sufficient size to receive a coffin. After each space is filled, it is sealed up with a marble slab, giving the name, age, and date of death.

Private vaults will usually hold from a dozen to fifteen bodies, but as these are expensive, the various benevolent societies have erected mortuary chapels in which their members can be buried, the expense for the individual thus being much less.

Some of these chapels are as big as a church, with a vault two stories deep and room for 1,500 bodies, the vaults under these large edifices being finished in marble and entered from the interior of the chapel by a wide flight of marble steps, the whole being well ventilated and lighted.

For the poorer classes, who can neither afford to erect a "panteon" of their own or belong to one of these societies, there is a long peristyle on each side of the entrance gateway, and here niches can be rented or bought, these niches being about two feet square at their outer end, and arranged in groups of five hundred, the niche when filled being walled up with the usual slab. In front of this slab there is often a photograph of the dead, covered with glass, and under each one is a small shelf on which flowers, votive offerings, or little oil lamps, kept constantly burning, are placed.

When a near relative dies, like a parent or child, the men wear crape bands about six inches wide on the left arm, half way to the elbow, and the women a crape veil, falling over the face and reaching to the ground, and usually a large black shawl hiding the figure, indicating that they have entirely withdrawn from the world and its fashions.

A godly heart is better than a golden tongue.

There is no profit in telling our sorrows. Everybody we tell them to has got one that he thinks weighs more.

THE AUTOMOBILE IN TEXAS

I have just returned from a tour of the great ranching region of Western Texas, and the salesman, and, as it is my custom to make that belt at least twice every year, it is easy for me to note progress.

No man who has not visited it in recent months can even surmise the great change worked by the automobile. Why, the latter has now brought points more than a hundred miles distant from the railways into the easiest touch with civilization. What used to be days of travel between distant ranches and railway stations is now merely a matter of a very few hours.

Nearly all the ranchmen own their automobiles, and you can see them skimming the broad prairie in every direction, at times frightening the jack-rabbits and the coyotes and striking consternation to the hearts of hoot owls and the rattlesnakes.

With the passing of the cowboy has almost come the passing of the cowboy pony, too, for on several big ranches I actually saw men rounding up the herds in automobiles. For the most part, the country in the great ranching region of Texas is level or slightly rolling, making the finest place in the world for the automobile. All along the Southern Pacific to the West and the Texas and Pacific and Fort Worth and Denver Railroads dozens of automobiles are to be seen from car windows, standing at stations where the buggy and ranch wagons used to be.—Houston Post.

BORN IN THE STATES.

Lord Fairfax was born in the United States, and has a residence in New York. He is twelfth baron, is 36, and unmarried. The Fairfaxs are a marvellous race. The sixth baron inherited nearly 6,000,000 acres of land in Virginia from his mother, and the romance of the family can be read between the lines Thackeray's Virginians. The present Lord Fairfax was formerly in the employ of a firm of bankers in New York; but he came over to London for the coronation, made many friends, and now has a house of his own in Upper George street, Bryanston square.

You can't insult some fellows more than by asking them for the money they owe you.

Failures are often God's fitting for future successes.

ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL The Inventor of the Telephone

Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, comes from a family that has made a special study of sound and speech for three generations. His grandfather, Alexander Bell, invented a method for removing impediments of speech; his father, Alexander Melville Bell, was the inventor of "vibrating speech," a system to teach deaf-mutes to speak; and the third of the Alexanders, really "Alexander the Great" of his family, taught a piece of wire to carry the human voice many miles and deliver the message without a change.

He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1847, and after receiving his education at the High School and the University of his native town, went to London at the age of twenty to attend the University, but left on account of ill health, and in 1870 came to Canada with his father. Two years later he went to Boston, where he introduced his father's system of teaching the deaf, and supported himself by private classes. But the broader field of science attracted him most; in England and Canada he had carried on experiments in multiple telegraphy which grew more fascinating as he proceeded, and in Boston he interested two wealthy men who supplied funds for his experiments; but he had to teach by day for his own support.

In 1874 came the first faint elusive form of the telephone; it seemed such a will-o'-the-wisp to his partners that they would not listen to it; they were practical men with no time for such dreams. In 1875, after completing his multiple telegraphy, he went to Washington and found his application for a patent had been contested by Elisha Gray, the great scientist. He was in despair, but while talking to Professor Henry, he mentioned his theory of sending sound by telegraph, and the few kindly words of encouragement he received, breathed into him new life and purpose.

He returned to Boston with a glint of energy but an almost empty purse. To complicate the situation he had fallen in love with Miss Hubbard, daughter of his friend and benefactor, and had a feeling of desecration about asking the father of his fiancée for a loan. So in desperation he renewed the struggle, and in June, 1875, almost by accident, stumbled on a clew that solved the problem. On February 14th, 1876, he filed his application for a patent; one hour later Elisha Gray filed a caveat on precisely the same plan, and on March 7th, 1876, Mr. Bell received his patent; it was number 174,465 one of the most important ever allowed in the history of America.

HOW TO SLEEP AND WHEN

The following brief quotations are from "Sleep," by Dr. J. Madison Taylor, in the September Popular Science Monthly:

"During childhood and exhaustive states too much sleep is rarely possible. For those in full tide of vigor too much sleep is often distinctly hurtful.

The action of narcotics presents none of the characteristics of normal sleep except the temporary arrest of consciousness; hence narcosis is not true sleep.

The best position to assume in sleep to invite the least disturbance of the functions of the great organs is on the abdomen, or nearly so.

Many obscure forms of digestive or circulatory disorders may have been initiated in infancy through lying too long upon the back.

To secure the most perfect repose the temperature of all parts should be equalized before retiring. Cold feet induce delay in securing sleep, and it is then shallow when attained.

It is most unwise to overfill the stomach before retiring; this disturbs sleep almost as much as hunger, but moderate eating before sleeping is not hurtful, and is often salutary.

Body clothing at night should be loose, not dense, permitting the ready passage of air, never of wool next to the skin.

Red clothing should not be too close of texture, blankets being preferably of dense, comfortable, and not "lumpy" wool, closely. Air should be allowed to pass occasionally under the sides at least as one turns about more or less freely.

Early rising is a salutary custom, especially when the day comes early, not otherwise.

More sleep is required in winter than in summer. The best sleep is had during the hours of darkness.

The sleeping room should be cool, abundant air being always admitted. This should not be interpreted to mean that the room may safely remain intensely cold.

In the modern treatment of tuberculosis fresh air is recognized to be imperatively needed all day and all night. Artificial heat can, and should, be supplied along with the fresh air, till the temperature of the room be at or near 50 or 55 degrees Fahrenheit, for some even 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

To accept good advice is but to increase one's own ability.

PERSONALITY OF THE SULTAN

The Sultan of Morocco's name is Mulai-Abd-el-Aziz, though the world at large calls him just Abdul Aziz.

As Sultan of Morocco he rules 6,000,000 black people dwelling in a territory something larger than the combined areas of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri and Arkansas.

And he stands to-day in the political game which European diplomats are constantly playing as one of the most important pieces on the board. France wants to control his country; England, Italy and Spain are willing she should, but Germany is to be reckoned with on the other side of the question—and it is a contest for so great a stake that the world looks on with keenest interest.

Abdul Aziz is the most entertaining of royal figures. Only twenty-seven years old, he has for eleven years governed an empire where still exist conditions like those pictured in the "Arabian Nights." The ways of his land are those of the fifteenth century, while the monarch himself is as progressive as a modern Parisian or New Yorker.

This may be due to the fact that his grandmother was a clever Irishwoman, or, perhaps, to the young man's fondness for European advisers. His favorite councillor is a Scottish soldier, Harry MacLean, who not only has trained the Moroccan troops into a creditable body of men, but has encouraged Abdul Aziz in his liking for present-day scientific amusements.

The sultan is an expert swordsman, as expert a billiard player, a photographer as clever as a professional, while the royal "stable" includes an automobile coupe, two petroleum bicycles, a captive balloon, a naphtha launch and a miniature railway train.

The grounds of the Imperial palace at Fez are never so jolly as when the country's ruler is playing engineer on his twelve horse power locomotive, which puffs along three miles of private track, the laughing members of the Royal household packed close into the diminutive cars.

We are never so ridiculous by the qualities we have as by those we affect to have.

Falseness has an infinity of combinations, but truth has only one mode of living.

Even lusk won't push a man up hill very far.

CRICKET.

The return match was played between Mr. Mercer's eleven and Mr. Walker's eleven on Tuesday in North Chatham and resulted in favor of Mr. Walker's eleven with five wickets to go down.

The first of August passed off this year in Chatham with unusual quietude, the emancipation celebration being extensively celebrated at Windsor, for which a special train left Chatham at an early hour that morning. In Chatham an open air demonstration was held in McGregor's Grove, where the principal speech of the occasion was delivered by Dr. Delaney, who also spoke to a well filled house in the Town Hall in the evening.

THE JAPAN WAR.

A correspondent of the Army and Navy Gazette says that the Japanese will be troublesome customers and that 20,000 men must be employed to bring them to terms.

The summer term of the Chatham Senior County Grammar school started on the second Monday in August under the mastership of Alex. McBain, M. A.

On Wednesday evening last a complimentary dinner was given at the Rankin House to P. B. Brodie, station master at the Great Western Railway in Chatham. There was a goodly number present, among whom we might name the following gentlemen, viz.: Mr. Sheriff Mercer, Hon.

A WORKING GIRL'S CREED.

I believe in the dignity of labor, the nobility of toil, the justness of employment and the honesty of earning for self. I believe that to consume the earnings of others without giving in return an equal recompense shows weakness and destroys ability to cope with difficulties.

I believe in the curse of idleness, the sin of laziness and the uselessness of dormant talents. I believe in doing with a will whatever the hands find to do. Do that thing that liest nearest thee with cheerful grace and the joy of serving shall be added to you.

I believe in the beauty, devotion and patience of the mothers of the past, the present and the future—each mother stands as the insignia of a nation's honor.

I believe in shorter hours of work, longer vacations, better wages and more sociability between the employer and employee. I believe that all work and no play makes Jill a dull girl and blinds her to the best interests of her employer.

I believe in educating the working girl, not so much for the benefits it will bring her in dollars and cents but for its returns in higher living.

I believe in a girl's laughter, low, rippling, fresh from the heart of the fountain. I believe in all things which tend to make her more womanly, good and true.

I believe in the coming of a better day, for whoever toils with brain or brawn, and the joy of living a useful and helpful life.—P. Dutchess Westfall.

THE PERSUASIVE BILL-OFF-FARE.

The first thing a hungry guest entering the dining room of a hotel looks for is a menu. Nine times out of ten you go home. She said: "He gets drunk; he breaks the household furniture and he mistreats me shamefully."

Pat saluted and started to leave the room, but on reaching the door turned and said:

"So, can I speak to ye—not as if to an officer—but as man to man?"

"Go ahead," said the captain.

Pat went close to the captain and lowering his voice said:

"Well, son, what I am after sayin' is this: That you and I are two of the most illigant liars the Lord ever made. I am not a married man."

Don't depend upon other people to do your kicking for you.

Walter McCrea, Police Magistrate, Edwin Larwell, ex-Mayor Askin, Councilors McIntosh, R. Stephenson, James Higgins, R. O. Smith, John Smith, Capt. Glendenning, C. R. Atkinson, Esq., T. Monck, and Thomas McCrossin. The dinner was gotten up in Messrs. Ross and Hamilton's best style, and was really superb, doing great credit to the hosts of the Rankin House. From the chair the following toasts were given and all heartily responded to, viz.: The Queen, Mr. Monck, the Prince and Princess of Wales and all the Royal Family, the Governor General, the Army and Navy. The last was responded to by Capt. Glendenning, who is an old Waterloo man, and Mr. Larwell sang a song.

The following extended account of the above referred to cricket match appears on August 13:

As was announced the return match between Walker's eleven and Mercer's eleven came off on Tuesday last and resulted in favor of Walker's eleven by five runs and five wickets to spare. The game throughout was very well contested. Walker's umpire having won the toss, sent Mercer's men to the wickets to the bowling of Messrs. H. J. Eberts and A. Northwood. Towards the end of the first innings D. Walker was put on at Northwood's end, when in a short time the last wicket fell for 45 runs—Vester and McCrea making the principal scores. Walker's men then took the bat and ran up a score of 51, thus leading their opponents by six runs. Jordan showed himself to be a promising cricketer by his active fielding and good batting. The batting of W. Northwood was particularly admired, his score of 18 not out was composed of three twos and twelve singles. Mercer's eleven again went to the wickets, scoring 53. McCrea's score of 25 and not out was got by very good batting; it consisted of two threes, five twos and nine singles. R. Mercer also made the good score of 17. This left Walker's eleven 48 to make to beat, which was done with a loss of five wickets. The bowling was not as good in this innings as in the former one, the ball being slamed around the field for twos and threes pretty freely. The bowling of H. J. Eberts for Walker's side is worthy of notice, he having taken 12 wickets in 14 overs. R. Cross at point made some very fine catches. The fielding on both sides was good.

THE TAMENESS OF NEW ZEALAND BIRDS

It is not a little strange that in New Zealand and Australia, as well as in Canada and South Africa, the word "bush" is used in the same sense as "forest" in the mother country. The word does not seem to have gained that use with us. This, however, is by way of quoting from "Sport in New Zealand" some remarks by the author, Col. Montagu Craddock, on the birds of those islands.

"It is curious how extraordinarily tame are the parrots, pigeons and flightless birds as soon as you penetrate into one of these dense bushes—they have no fear whatever of man, and they regard him simply as a curiosity. The small birds—the New Zealand robins and fantails, for instance—will actually perch on you if you keep perfectly still; and it is very comical to see the robin—which, by the way, is almost exactly like our British robin, except that he wears a white waistcoat instead of a red one—put out a wax match.

"The trick invariably comes off. Just light a match and put it down near you and stand still and the robin, which is almost certain to be near you, will invariably fly down to it and put it out with his beak, or fly away with it. He is a delightful little bird and his little bold black eyes twinkle every bit as brightly as those of his British counterpart. If you chirp with your mouth in the same way that you persuade a weasel to look out of a stone wall into which you have seen him run, the little fantail gets desperately excited, and after flying close round you a minute or so, will just light on your head or shoulder for a moment, and then dart off, to return directly and repeat the process."

HORSE FLESH AS FOOD.

Within a few years past the relative scarcity of cattle and the high price of meats in Germany have led to a large regular consumption of horse-meat in some of the chief cities of the Empire. In Berlin the number of horses slaughtered for the market has increased from 7,267 in 1895 to about 13,000 in 1904. In Breslau, which has only one-fifth of the population of Berlin, the number of horses slain by the butchers last year was 3,800, or one for about every 150 inhabitants. The best cuts command in the German capital from 8 to 10 cents a pound, but inferior meat sells as low as three or four cents a pound.

ABOUT JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.
The Windsor Record having stated that "Dr. Anderson, the defeated Conservative candidate in South Essex, has appointed 105 squires," the Editor makes the following reply:—"In the first place I have no power to appoint Justices of the Peace and, secondly, the number appointed was not 105 but 67. Of this number 45 are new appointments and 22 are former Justices of the Peace re-appointed. This is in striking contrast to some appointments, who rarely, if ever, appointed a Conservative to any office. The Liberals had a total of 91 on the list, and the number has been increased, as stated, to 67."

It was the same in East Kent. To appoint any new men, and at the same time keep from increasing the number, let alone reducing it, a reformer favored by many, all of the old J. P.'s could not be re-appointed. As it was re-appointment was offered scarcely one-half the old ones, only seventeen offering to serve. The re-appointments and the new ones had to be, and were, at least fairly distributed over the various municipalities. As for the contrast, during the entire thirty-three years of Liberal rule not a half-dozen Conservatives were made J. P.'s in East Kent.—Ridgetown Dominion.

DUAL GOVERNMENTS.

Norway and Sweden have settled their differences without coming to blows. Like sensible neighbors who refuse to quarrel over a line fence. A quarrel between these countries would have been fratricidal, and would have turned hereditary friendship into feasting and mutually destructive enmity. The treaty to which Swedish and Norwegian delegates have assented, after much friction, establishes a neutral zone between the two countries from which fortifications will be razed, excepting a few which have an historic interest. These latter will not be put to military use. Laplanders will have the right of pasturing their reindeer in Norway and there are guarantees that transportation between Norway and Sweden, especially the movement of goods in transit, will be facilitated. The agreement is subject to ratification by the Swedish and Norwegian parliaments, but the temper of both peoples is pacific and no obstruction is feared.

The dissolution of the bond between Norway and Sweden and the recurring conditions of deadlock between Austria and Hungary, are urged as a warning against dual parliaments by English Unionists, and in some quarters as an argument for imperial federation. Against these might be set that of the Russian empire, where a policy of unification, enforced by all the might of Russia, has failed to suppress the national instincts of the Finns, the Poles and the other conquered races. The German empire has been welded together, but it is not a mixture of races. The Norwegians and the Swedes have a separate ancestry, history and language, and the Magyars of Hungary are ethnically distinct from the mass of Austrians. In the self-governing portions of the British empire, the bulk of the people are of one race and language, with a common history and tradition. These constitute a bond of sentiment stronger than any process of unification which might interfere with the freedom of action enjoyed by each of the groups into which the empire is divided by geography. If the British empire, like the German, were a geographical unit, the problem would be a simple one. In Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa, every move in the direction of greater self-government is not a step away from true imperial unity, as some would have us believe. The history of the empire teaches differently.

THE BOY REARED BY HAND.

Kansas City Journal.
An old farmer in Nemaha county remarks that a home-grown, hand-spanked, bare-footed and hard-fisted country boy makes a much better fighter in the battles of life than does the pampered, high-collared, creased-trousered youth of our towns and cities, whose clothes have always been dusted with a whisk broom instead of a shingle.

THE SMALLEST COIN.

Lahore Tribune.
The natives of the Malay peninsula have in use the very smallest current coin in the world. It is a sort of wafer, made from the resinous juice of a tree, and is worth about one-thousandth of a penny. The smallest metal coin in circulation at the present day is the Portuguese three-reis piece, worth twelve-onehundredths of a penny. The smallest coin circulating officially in any part of the British empire is the five-milliosima piece of Gibraltar, worth about half a farthing.

A FABLE OF TWO MAIDENS.

Baltimore American.
Once there were two maidens who sought to catch a nice young man who also was a good thing. And it was a false start in the eyes of the underscaring, for the one was exceeding fair to look upon, and dressed stylishly, while the other was plain of countenance, and her hat was always showing through her pompadour. The pretty girl smiled sweetly on the nice young man, who was also a good thing, and talked to him, till she dazzled him with her beauty and charmed him with her wit. The plain one gazed wonderingly at him, and made him talk to her of divers things, while she listened, entranced at his wisdom and learning. He took the pretty girl out riding and to the theatre, and bought her candy and flowers, and all the knowing ones said she had struck a winning gait on the homestretch, when one day he married the plain girl and took her on an automobile wedding tour of Europe.

The pretty girl had made him very much pleased with her, but the plain girl had gone her one better, and made him very much more pleased with himself.
Moral: The people who read Human Nature as they run generally get first to the wire.

YOUR KINGDOM.

There is some place for you to fill. Some work for you to do. That no one can ever will do quite as well as you. It may be close along your way. Some little, homely duty that only waits your touch, your sway, to blossom into beauty. Or it may be that daily tasks cheerfully seen and done, will lead to greater work that asks for you, and you alone. Be brave, whatever it may be, the little or the great. To meet and do it perfectly. And you have conquered Fate.

Humor and Philosophy

TOMORROW.

Tomorrow I am going to do— Well, easily enough for two. Soon as the eastern sky is red I'm going to jump right out of bed. Throw on my clothes in double quick And start to make the work look sick. And then at night I'll pause to say, "Old man, you did a lot today."

Tomorrow loafing I will shun, And every moment on the run From task to task I'll lightly skip Like racers underneath the whip. One thing accomplished, at the next I'll rush without the least pretext. Enough for two? It seems to me That I can do enough for three!

It isn't hard to make things fly, If you but resolutely try. I'll pass the day without repose And at the grindstone keep my nose. Some it might gall to work that way, But it for me is only play. With resolution hard as rock, I'm going to keep things mighty warm.

So, as I am resolved to toil Tomorrow, this day I'll not spoil; But, sitting underneath a tree, I'll think how easy it will be To work tomorrow by the clock With resolution hard as rock. It seems like such a simple game, Though yesterday I said the same.

His One Regret.

Nero was dying. His courtiers who were waiting to divide his effects among them stood around in respectful silence, for he had still power to order them run through the sausage machine.

"You have been a great ruler," ventured one-by way of consolation. "I have indeed," replied the dying tyrant, brightening up, "considering how I have been handicapped, but think how much more I might have accomplished if I had not lived before automobiles were invented!"

And he turned his face to the wall and shed a few tears.

The Limit.

Not Afraid of Work.
"My husband is very fond of pre-digested breakfast food." "Thank goodness my husband is not as lazy as that."

No Charity Customer.
He went to the place as a stranger and said: He was one of the upper crust. Society took him on faith all right, But the grocer wouldn't take him on trust.

One Accomplishment.
"He is a self educated man." "But he doesn't talk good grammar." "No, but talks a pretty fair line of geography."

Not Bankable.
"The wind was blowing so hard you could almost see it." "Must have been a sight draft."

Needs Good Underpinning.
No amount of advertising will sell a book of poems unless it has merit. "That's right. Poetry must stand on its own feet."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.
Faith is a good thing to have in an enterprise, but hard dollars also will add to its ultimate success.

A good piano player is a delightful aid to conversation.

When a man is in love he is either so happy or so miserable that he does not notice how the world wags.

It is all very well to speak softly, but sometimes a hard, firm tone works as well as the big stick.

Neither Indian nor Ceylon tea alone produces the Red Rose flavor. To produce a tea with the "rich fruity flavor" of Red Rose Tea from either Ceylon or Indian alone is impossible. Neither Indian nor Ceylon in itself possesses the Red Rose flavor, but combined in proper proportions they produce the "rich fruity flavor" that has made Red Rose Tea famous—that makes Red Rose Tea the only tea used in any home where it is once tried.
