

The Nugget Circulates From Skagway to Nome

NEW ROADS AND TRAILS.

Liberal Policy Inaugurated by Mr. Ross is Being Carried Out—Network of Wagon Roads and Trails Connecting Far Distant Discoveries.

Commissioner Major Wood is pursuing the liberal policy in regard to roads and trails which was inaugurated by James Hamilton. Mr. Ross not only believes that roads should be provided wherever a public need for them, grew out of the necessities of the country, but he is strongly believed in being a benefactor of the people, and making the roads themselves aid as factors in the development of the country. The road which was made to Skagway last summer was an instance of this. There was very little cost for it at the time it was under construction; furthermore, there was no appropriation to meet the cost of building it. But Mr. Ross is "going ahead," and the road was built. That it has led to a large development of the mineral lands to the west of the Yukon and as far as the international boundary is now apparent to everyone. It undoubtedly led to the discovery of Boucher creek, and following the same wise policy the government immediately after that discovery had a trail constructed to serve the pioneers of the new Klondike, and those which will shortly be discovered in that neighborhood. It was the same with the Sulphur road which was built last year. There was very little call for it at the time it was proven of value as a developer of activity in the district. And so with many other roads all over the country. Major Wood has been preparing an estimate of the roads to be built next year, of which the following is a copy as far as it has gone, but there are likely to be several additions to it. This, as will be seen, adds up to an expenditure of $193,000 for the roads already decided upon, which are as follows: Wagon road from the mouth of Steel creek to its head connecting with Henderson creek, distance about 55 miles, estimate of cost per mile $250, estimate of cost $13,750. Pack trail and winter road from Gordon's Landing to Duncan creek, distance about 20 miles, estimate of cost per mile $250, estimate of cost $5,000. Pack trail and winter road from steamboat slough, opposite Dawson, to Boucher creek, via Swede creek, distance about 28 miles, estimate of cost $250 per mile $7,000. This road will reduce the distance to Boucher creek by about 14 miles with easier grade and in winter will be best route to Glacier, Miller, Gold creeks, and to all the creek producers on the boundary. Pack trail and winter road from Moosehide to Twelvemile quartz mines, distance about 35 miles, estimate of cost per mile $250, estimate of cost $8,750. These quartz mines are very promising. Winter trail from Livingston creek to Whitehorse, distance about 68 miles, estimate of cost of the trail $4,000. Winter trail from Hootalinqua post to winter road, distance about 32 miles, estimate of cost $2,000. Glacier trail, repairs to the extent of about $10,000 would make of it a fair wagon road. Winter road and pack trail from McQuestin to Gordon's Landing, distance 60 miles, estimate of cost $250 per mile $15,000. It is necessary to build this road immediately, on account of the large number of miners on Duncan creek who depend on it for their supplies, the steamer Prospector having failed to reach Gordon's Landing. Winter road and pack trail from Boucher creek to Miller creek, distance 12 miles, estimate of cost $250 per mile $3,000. Winter road from 8 above discovery on Last Chance up creek, distance 3 miles, estimate of cost $250 per mile $750. Winter road and pack trail from Whitehorse to Dalton post, distance 120 miles, estimate of cost $250 per mile $30,000. $193,000

NO WONDER THESE [WOULD-BE] CONCESSIONAIRES ARE OPPOSED TO ROSS.

TO BLAME FOR EXPORT TAX

Opposition Party Try to Saddle it on Ross, While as a Matter of Record he Recommended That Royalty Should be Wiped Out Altogether.

One by one the ridiculous charges brought by the opposition party are squelched by the facts or by the contradictory statements of its candidate or his supporters. But a little time ago they were taking all the credit for having done away with the royalty of five per cent, and having had an export tax of only two and one-half per cent substituted. They did deserve some of the credit for that change, inasmuch as they were of the community which favored that measure. This export tax, however, did not remedy for the existing evil, in operation it worked an injustice to the smaller miner. Their the industry, southerly claimers for the credit of having obtained it sought, they disclaimed the credit. They did not accept the responsibility and called another meeting to make new representations to the government. They pointed out that the tax was not working as they expected it would work and that therefore it should be repealed. They kept quiet. There was not a word said about it by Joe Clarke or his assistant demagogue Mr. Peddoo until the candidacy of Mr. Ross was announced. It was then a still and stealthy hunt for charges which could be brought against his official record. They could not do this one thing, they had listened to their appeals, had sympathized with their endeavors to rid the country from the incubus of the royalty tax. Here was their chance. Throw the whole responsibility of the export tax upon his shoulders. Make his act ignominious and infamous. This was at once accepted as the slogan of the opposition campaign. In doing them a kindness Mr. Ross receives in return this demonstration of utter ingratitude. For the men who make this charge against Mr. Ross are thoroughly well acquainted with the facts. They know that Mr. Ross was not in favor of maintaining the royalty tax. They knew, because they had it from his own lips, in consultation with him upon the subject, that he was far in advance of their own views, that he was in favor of recommending to the government a far greater reduction of the taxation than had been asked for. They knew that he was in favor of wiping out the royalty altogether. The following excerpt from a letter written to the minister of the interior by Mr. Ross shows the masterly way he introduced the subject, and the boldness with which he declared his own view THAT THE ROYALTY BE DONE AWAY WITH ENTIRELY. "The question of royalty upon gold is one that has received a good deal of attention, both of the government and the parliament of Canada; and it is also a very live question in the Yukon amongst the people from whom the tax is taken. When we consider the richness of such claims as those on Bonanza and Eldorado creeks, and the immense expense which was necessary for the government of Canada to make in the opening up and providing for the peace, order and good government of the Yukon, together with the fact that it was the general belief that the placer mines would be worked out in a very short time—for these reasons the government acted wisely in making a provision that the people who benefited most largely by the opening of the country should pay the heavy tax. "During the last year the government have seen fit to reduce the royalty from 10 to 5 per cent, and I am satisfied that the move was in the right direction, in the interests of the development of the country, and has done a great deal towards making the miners much more contented with the conditions. The very rich claims are now practically worked out and mining is more of a business undertaking than a speculation. There are large areas of what is called low grade ground, and it is simply a question of moving dirt cheaply to make it pay, in many instances the profits are small, and in many cases the receipts do not cover the expenses. "In all such cases the royalty is, without a doubt, a great burden upon your government was of the opinion that a sufficient revenue was being raised from the Yukon through other fees I would be pleased to recommend THAT THE ROYALTY BE DONE AWAY WITH ENTIRELY."

File The r Shackes Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 18.—Officers of the Federal penitentiary discovered last evening that Gilbert Mullins and Bob Clark, two of the five convict murderers about to be tried for murder, had fled from their shackles and were making preparations to escape during the progress of the trial yesterday. A file was found in the cell of one of the prisoners, and it is believed by the prison authorities that it was slipped to the convicts during the crowding about the corridors of the courthouse. The convicts had the chain shackles filed off and tied with a string where it was fastened about the ankle. The deputy marshals helping guard the convicts while at the government building believed they discovered signs of a plot Thursday when a man was noticed trying to signal to the prisoners. The man was watched closely but was not arrested. The five men are to be tried for murder for killing Guard Waldrop during the outbreak last November, when 10 convicts escaped. Ten other prisoners were today indicted for the murder. One of them is still at large. Dawson Amet or (The) Company A special chorus, in honor of the ladies of the Dawson Amateur Operatic Society will be held tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 3 o'clock at Mr. Searell's residence opposite the Presbyterian church, when instruction in the various dances to be introduced in the forthcoming production of the "Bohemian Girl" will be commenced. OPENED NOV. 18th I shall appreciate an away of free operated in conjunction with the quartz mill charge can be tested free of charge. James Hamilton Ross.

LARGE MAIL ARRIVES IS VERY MUCH ALIVE Seven Days En Route From Whitehorse Roads Are Still Rough and Slow Time is Made—Second Class Mail Due Tonight. The overland stage arrived at 1 o'clock this afternoon seven days out from Whitehorse with 17 sacks of mail for Dawson and three for the lower river, weighing 686 pounds, and 897 pounds of express matter. The only passenger was Mrs. Brenner from Stewart, there being none from the outside. The driver reports the road very rough though the snow yesterday has made a tremendous improvement. Last night we spent at Indian River and the run in from that point was made in five hours. The main reason for the delay in the stage reaching here sooner has been on account of the rough roads and the time lost in making the crossings. Both the Yukon and the Pelly were ferried in a small boat which on account of the large mail and amount of express required a number of trips. Each trip was slow and laborious and not without an element of danger, the crossing in the midst of a field of ice being anything but a pleasure trip. Hereafter the run will be made in much nearer schedule time as the crossings are now all closed and in a day or two will be so solid teams can proceed directly across. The next mail was expected at the Yukon crossing this morning and should arrive by Monday or Tuesday. Calderhead's stage with 700 pounds of second-class matter is expected this evening.

Leroy Pelletier Writes a Dawson Friend Is Now Thinking of Undertaking a Journey to the North Pole. Leroy Pelletier, well known to all old timers in Dawson, writes the following letter to a friend in Dawson. Mr. Pelletier is in New York City and instead of being dead as reported is evidently very much alive. The letter is as follows: "I have about decided to accept a proposition from a syndicate of New York newspapers and magazines, and make a try for the 'pole.' I'll go, I will start in the spring, and there are two or three of my dogs that I should prefer to take than strange ones if I can get them. "I left them with Mr. Tinkham, but during a long and severe illness which I had, I lost track of him and about everything else—altogether. "I understand he went down to the lower country. Do you know who his dogs now? I would like to get 'Sammy'—the leader, 'Quo Vadis' the little short legged black (or brown) one, and 'Skookum' the wheel dog. If not all, would like to get any one of these three. Will pay what good dogs are worth. "Will you be so kind as to let me know if you are aware of their present whereabouts? I shall esteem it a great favor and will return it at the first opportunity. "I heard that I was 'dead.' Would be glad to have a copy of the paper with the obituary. I am very much alive, however, though I have gone through enough in the last two years to kill an ordinary man. Guess his Satanic Majesty is just a little afraid to get me down there too soon. I generally manage to make trouble you know. "Give my kindest regards to any of my friends in Dawson (there are a few—only a few—who understand) and who are therefore friends. As for the others—well they never did worry me much. "I see Adney frequently. He is doing fine. Is lecturing just now on Animal Life, for the S. P. C. A. and writing 'twelve times. I have written one play and three vaudeville sketches—all successful. So I have no kick coming. "This last offer, however, best suits my restless spirit, and I think I shall accept it. If I do, will send you particulars. "With kindest regards, I am as ever, yours very sincerely, "LEROY PELLETIER."

CHILDREN'S RINK Petition to Major Wood Immediately Grant-d. Acting Commissioner Major Wood and Mayor Macaulay are working together to give the public school children the skating rink they so cleverly petitioned for. Late this afternoon an officer from the barracks with two prisoners came up and staked off a portion of the playground in front of the school, and the two prisoners with pick and shovel worked away at leveling the ground and raising an embankment around the rink site. Tomorrow Mayor Macaulay will have the firemen flood the ground, and on Monday morning there may be a good ice surface for skating. But the boys must not forget their part of the contract with Major Wood. It would be a poor return for his kindness, if they permitted the snow to gather on the ice and spoil it. Makes Good Time. J. R. Tingley, who is delivering the ballot boxes for the two polling sub-divisions on the upper Pelly, has been heard from at Tantalus. He wired Sheriff Ellbeck from that point last night stating that he had had no trouble so far and would leave the following morning for the Little Salmon and thence directly across country for his destination. Tantalus is the last point from which a message from Tingley can be received until his return.

REPAIRS NEEDED Murry Ends Charged With Violating Fire By-law. Murry S. Ends was in the police court this morning charged with violating the fire by-law. When called upon to explain why he had been so negligent he stated that he had only been notified a few days ago to put in a new safety. He had ordered one from one of the local hardware firms but they had neglected to fill the order promptly. It was being put in this morning and was probably completed by this time. He had not intended to violate the law, but it was simply a matter of dollars and cents. He was dreadfully hard up as things in the dance hall line were not what they used to be. Fire Inspector Bullock told of having notified the accused several times to make the needed repairs but he had given no heed to him. Up to yesterday evening things were just as they had been and he had accordingly laid an information. His lordship allowed the matter to stand until tomorrow in order to see if the repairs had been effected. "Is it true that your cashier has eloped with your daughter and a large sum of money?" "It is quite true. But he is an honest fellow and means to repay me. He has already returned me my daughter." A genuine snap in hay at Barrett's, Third Avenue. Job Printing at Nugget office.

CLARKE AND THE POLICE.

It would seem to be the extreme of courtesy for Major Wood to have accorded to Joe Clarke the privilege of addressing the men at the barracks tomorrow afternoon.

But what is more striking is the extraordinary gall of the man who was a deserter from the ranks of the Mounted Police to appear before the manly men of the service and ask their votes.

In the Mounted Police there is a precedent for the action of Major Wood in permitting this. At Regina, at the same courtesy has been extended to candidates. But nothing approaching a debate is permitted.

Mr. Clarke is to appear tomorrow and deliver a carefully prepared written speech. This will undoubtedly be strictly confined to "principles," in the belief that high sounding words are the best to juggle an audience with.

It is now said that the colonel's ambition is looking beyond the mayorality and in the direction of the Yukon council. Candidates, look well to your laurels.

STAMPEDE DOWN RIVER

Staking First Island Below the City. Locators Will Have to Give Security to Present Owner of the Land.

There was a stampede this morning to the first island below Dawson, called since last summer Smallpox Island, which is opposite Mendenhall and nearly opposite Mendenhall on the other side of the river.

CONDEMNED BY HIS RECORD. The Clarke speakers studiously avoid any and all affirmative declarations in behalf of their candidate.

With this security being given claims may be granted, but as they cannot be classed as river claims the dimensions allowed will be only 250 feet square.

It is suggested by an experienced mining man that no grants at all be issued. There are other islands in the Yukon that undoubtedly have gold bearing gravel, but they can only be worked in the winter.

It is now said that the colonel's ambition is looking beyond the mayorality and in the direction of the Yukon council. Candidates, look well to your laurels.

Will Reduce Army. Washington, Oct. 18.—The war department is considering the reduction of the army.

Good government depends in a large measure upon such a body of men as the Mounted Police.

There is no other police force referred to in such highly complimentary terms as this which is the pride of the Dominion.

There is only one episode of the past upon which he can appeal to the feelings of these men, and hope to inflame their passions.

There are now in the service who were among the first contingents sent here, claim that they accepted the service under an implied condition that they were to be allowed to stake claims for themselves.

AGAINST CONCESSIONS.

I shall advocate the thorough investigation of the charges of fraud made in respect to the concessions in which certain concessions are alleged to have been obtained, and if such fraud is established, the immediate commencement of such proceedings as may be required to vacate the grants, and the enforcement of strict compliance with the conditions embodied in all crown grants in the Yukon.—James Hamilton Ross.

Folks Who Are Never Seen. One day in the early fifties a Cambridgehire lady passed from human ken. For over thirty years she had been seen by none, her meals having been left outside her room.

Another curious instance of mania was that of a gentleman whose family was well known to the writer. He was stricken with the strange fancy that he possessed a Gorgon's head, so that everyone who beheld him would be turned to stone.

The victim through an accident of a ghastly disfigurement, a wealthy Parisian made a vow never to be seen again by man.

The late E. P. Whipple, the American lecturer and critic, used to tell of an eccentric New Yorker who, having read a pamphlet on infidelity, was practised by the medieval religious orders, was possessed by an irresistible desire to copy their procedure—though not in his own person.

A strange fancy seized a Viennese watchmaker some years back. He had himself up in his house, and till his death, seven years later, was never again seen by mortal eyes.

A curious means of moving boats is employed on the river Elbe. A chain 200 miles long is at the bottom of the stream, which is too swift to navigate in the usual way.

"Is it possible, miss, that you do not know the names of your best friends?"

"Possible? Why, of course it is. I do not even know what my own name may be a year or so hence."

Stroller's Column.

He is probably the only sea captain who has piloted steamboats ever since navigation opened who is left in town so he has a right to the role of the Man-Who-Knows-It-All in Yukon navigation. He tackled the Stroller. "I don't think Governor Ross did the best he might have done, and I have good reasons for saying it," he began.

"Now I have no vote," he went on by way of apology for his rash statement, "but I want to tell you something—something that he ought to have done and that you and I will possibly see done by his successor."

"Yes, I know what you want to say. But look yer here for a minute. It has cost so many thousands of dollars to build that government road to Whitehorse, ain't it?"

"Oh, more than that," was the encouraging reply of the Stroller.

"Well, then, I am ready to prove how he could have got better returns for the money. I am not sayin' that government roads are not good things anyway. They open up a country."

"What for make me my heart go quick when woman speak picture come? Me breath come quick and noises in head come when twig snap make that way, but squaw never. What makes it, Ayten?"

"Two sleeps; all right," said the white medicine man. They had taken up their quarters in a deserted cabin near where the Ogilvie bridge now stands.

"Well, Mr. Stroller, when I met you in the lobby of the house of commons in Ottawa in '78, you remember we were talking of an ice boat—a steamer that would cut its way through the ice and maintain communication with Prince Edward Island through the winter."

"But the thing worked all right eventually, and for the last ten years they have been faking a load of cars all winter over the straits of Mackinac. So ice boats are all right."

"I see that; but I don't see how it would keep the Yukon open."

"Why, just give a subsidy, a moderate subsidy, for carrying the mails on the Yukon during the winter. Give it to some outside company, or give it to all the companies—Get a government appropriation for building booms at the mouth of the rivers to keep the ice in. This done, one steamer leaving Dawson every day would keep the river open all winter."

"There are only a few of them now. It comes of sitting on the fence so long."

"Dan Matheson made a bet that the river would not close before midnight of the 19th. On that date the better with him went to collect, as there was no doubt the river had closed within the city limits. Like many others Dan was unwilling to give in with open water in front of the docks, and to be fair he offered to shake for the stake money. To this the other demurred, saying that he would wait until midnight. He was wise. Providence, not for the first time in history, decided the bet. There came a north wind that afternoon that blew a great mass of ice right across the current in front of the Ladue dock, and within an hour or so after people, and even teams, were crossing over it."

Slayer of Her Husband

The Marquise de Mores, who was the beautiful Miss Medora von Hoffman of New York, has made an extraordinary request of President Loubet. It is that he pardon El Kheir, who was condemned to death last July as one of her husband's assassins. It is not because of any sentiment of clemency that the Marquise makes this request; on the contrary, it is because she feels that full reparation has not yet been made. She wishes Kheir saved in order that he may be used as a witness against others accused of, but not yet arrested, for the murder of her husband.

Despite the denials of the French government that the massacre of de Mores, and his companions in June, 1896, was due to anything other than the treachery of certain Tunisian tribesmen, his widow has always held that his taking off was part of a deep-laid plan.

De Mores, who was a Frenchman, though bearing an Italian title, was an old-fashioned hater of the English. In 1896 the power of the English in the Sudan was a prominent factor, and the story goes that de Mores was employed by the French government on the "wilds" of rounding up the Arab Sheiks and inciting them to wage a holy war against the Anglo-Egyptian forces.

Then came the massacre and the persistent efforts of the Marquise to bring her husband's murderers, actual and official, to justice.

Last July El Kheir was condemned to death, Hamma Cheikh was sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment, six other tribesmen were sentenced "in default," and the public prosecutor declared the allegation failed to substantiate the allegation that there was any official collusion with the death of the Marquis. Evidently the Marquise either does not believe the public prosecutor or is determined to present him with evidence which he must believe.

"Ah, Mees Hobartone, you climb re Matterhorn? Zat vas a foot-to be proud of."

"Pardon me, Count, but you mean feat."

"O-o-h! you climb it more san once?"

Improvement in Trade Anticipated

Prices Remain Unchanged Generally Speaking, But Little Advance is Looked For.

The change in prices and market conditions since last week have been so slight as to be scarcely worth mentioning. Trade has not been as good as usual, and in fact the same might be said of the past month, a condition which can be largely ascribed to the roads. Until night before last the fall of snow this year had not been sufficient to take any account of and the jobbers and heavy consumers from the creeks naturally deferred placing their orders until such time as the goods could be delivered at the minimum of expense...

Water Supply

I shall secure all data, surveys and opinions upon the question of adequate water supply for mining purposes and lay the whole matter before the government and parliament with a view of having some practical method of supplying the same to those engaged in the mining industry at the least possible cost, adopted as early a date as possible.

The Ross Platform

Whereas, in the opinion of this convention, the continued prosperity of the Yukon territory depends chiefly on the efforts of individual miners and prospectors, whose work is conducted under most difficult conditions, and the stability of the business of the country will be insured by furnishing regular employment to workmen; therefore, be it Resolved, That every effort should be made by the government to secure, and such changes adopted as would secure, the ends desired.

Government Aid for Smelter

Whereas, Large copper deposits are proven to exist in the vicinity of Whitehorse, and the work already done on the same has demonstrated their immense value; and Whereas, in order to secure the working of such property, the establishment of a smelter is necessary, and the establishment of such smelter would create large employment for workmen, and create a market for the coal known to exist in the territory, and lead to the large development of the southern portion of the district; therefore,

Test Mill and Assay Office

Resolved, That the interests of this territory demand the establishment of a quartz test mill by the government for the free testing of ore in order to encourage and develop quartz mining and the establishment of an assay office, to be conducted by the government in connection with the government mint.

Cancel Treadgold Concessions

Whereas, The supply of water and power to the mines on the creeks is one of the most serious questions of the day in the Yukon territory; and Whereas, in the opinion of the convention, the matter of such supply on fair and reasonable terms should best be dealt with by the government itself, and should not be left to private individuals; therefore, be it Resolved, That the government be requested immediately to make careful examination and obtain reports upon the subject with a view of cancelling forthwith the Treadgold concession, and undertaking such supply as a national enterprise.

Others Held by Fraud

Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention many of the concessions now held were obtained by fraud and imposition; that it is in the interest of this territory that such concessions should be annulled, and to that end that inquiry should be set on foot to ascertain the circumstances of such fraud and imposition, and action taken by the attorney general of Canada in the premises.

Mining Machinery Duty

Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention it would greatly tend to assist in the working and development of mines in the territory, to permit the importation of mining machinery of a class not manufactured in Canada, free from all customs duty.

Wholly Elective Council

That the convention views with satisfaction the increase of the number of elective members of the Yukon council, and urgently recommends that the membership of the council be made wholly elective, without delay; and further, that all matters of a purely local character be committed to the council for deliberation and determination.

Against Unnecessary Concessions

Resolved, That a policy should be adopted which would prevent the obtaining of concessions for hydraulic mining, except in places where the dirt is of such low grade that it could not profitably be worked by other methods; and that before any hydraulic lease should issue, notice should be given by the applicant by publication in the newspapers of his intention of applying for such lease, so as to enable protests to be entered against the granting of the same; and that the owners of hydraulic concessions already granted should be compelled to carry out the strict terms of their leases, and that in default of their so doing, their leases should be cancelled.

THE ROSS PLATFORM

Whereas, in the opinion of this convention, the continued prosperity of the Yukon territory depends chiefly on the efforts of individual miners and prospectors, whose work is conducted under most difficult conditions, and the stability of the business of the country will be insured by furnishing regular employment to workmen; therefore, be it Resolved, That every effort should be made by the government to secure, and such changes adopted as would secure, the ends desired.

Government Aid for Smelter

Whereas, Large copper deposits are proven to exist in the vicinity of Whitehorse, and the work already done on the same has demonstrated their immense value; and Whereas, in order to secure the working of such property, the establishment of a smelter is necessary, and the establishment of such smelter would create large employment for workmen, and create a market for the coal known to exist in the territory, and lead to the large development of the southern portion of the district; therefore,

Test Mill and Assay Office

Resolved, That the interests of this territory demand the establishment of a quartz test mill by the government for the free testing of ore in order to encourage and develop quartz mining and the establishment of an assay office, to be conducted by the government in connection with the government mint.

Cancel Treadgold Concessions

Whereas, The supply of water and power to the mines on the creeks is one of the most serious questions of the day in the Yukon territory; and Whereas, in the opinion of the convention, the matter of such supply on fair and reasonable terms should best be dealt with by the government itself, and should not be left to private individuals; therefore, be it Resolved, That the government be requested immediately to make careful examination and obtain reports upon the subject with a view of cancelling forthwith the Treadgold concession, and undertaking such supply as a national enterprise.

Others Held by Fraud

Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention many of the concessions now held were obtained by fraud and imposition; that it is in the interest of this territory that such concessions should be annulled, and to that end that inquiry should be set on foot to ascertain the circumstances of such fraud and imposition, and action taken by the attorney general of Canada in the premises.

Mining Machinery Duty

Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention it would greatly tend to assist in the working and development of mines in the territory, to permit the importation of mining machinery of a class not manufactured in Canada, free from all customs duty.

Wholly Elective Council

CLARKE'S GOLD DUST RECORD

Favored Withdrawal of Dust and the Trans-action of All Business on a Currency Basis—Had to Pay His Printers in Coin of the Realm.

An attempt has been made by supporters of Clarke to shoulder the responsibility of removing gold dust from circulation in its place onto Mr. Ross.

As a matter of fact Mr. Ross had nothing whatsoever to do with that movement.

The withdrawal of gold dust from circulation came about as the result of a meeting held in the board of trade rooms last spring.

Hon. James Hamilton Ross' Address to Yukon Electors

To the Electors of the Yukon Territory: I have received a copy of the platform adopted by the convention which honored me by its nomination as a candidate for the house of commons of Canada. I freely subscribe to every measure suggested therein. In respect to most of the planks, they are in perfect accord with the policy I have sought to have adopted in the Yukon. I recognize that the whole business life of the Yukon depends upon the success of the prospector and miner, and they above all others must be encouraged. With this in view I shall advocate the reduction of fees, which, I think, may now be safely done without impairing the revenue; the adoption of regulations compelling the actual working of claims; the establishment of an assay office in Dawson, where miners may obtain full value for their gold, such office to be operated in conjunction with the quartz mill where ore may be tested free of charge; the thorough investigation of the charges of fraud made in respect to the manner in which certain concessions are alleged to have been obtained, and if such fraud is established, the immediate commencement of such proceedings as may be required to vacate the grants, and the enforcement of strict compliance with the conditions embodied in all crown grants in the Yukon.

the government and parliament with a view of having some practical method of supplying the same to those engaged in the mining industry at the least possible cost adopted at as early a date as possible. I shall continue to endeavor to secure for the Yukon such generous appropriations as will insure the construction of such roads as are now or may from time to time be required, and shall lend every assistance to all reasonable plans for the improvement of transportation and the reduction of rates. I believe the Yukon is only in its infancy and that so far from its resources being exhausted, they have scarcely been touched, and the prosperity of the future will dwarf into insignificance all the success of the past. I was engaged in an endeavor to revise and codify not merely the mining laws but all the laws specially applicable to the Yukon when my illness interrupted the work. I think this work most essential in order that the laws may be fixed, clear and certain. With respect to the mining laws I propose to have them codified and then submitted to representative miners for criticism, alteration and approval in order that they may as far as possible meet with the approval of the mining community. I shall be greatly honored by being elected as your representative. I have the assurance of the government that so far as possible the direction of the Yukon affairs will be in my hands if I am elected, and I can assure the electors of the Yukon that I shall use such trust wholly for their interest and for their benefit. J. H. ROSS.

FRIGHTFUL CRIME

Rights of Bicyclists Ruthlessly Disregarded.

Norman McLeod was in police court this morning charged with that heinous offense of pulling a sled on the sidewalk. Constable Mapley stated that he had caught the offender red-handed in the act yesterday afternoon on Third avenue. He was pulling a sled, a long sled, a Yukon six-foot sled and there was a load on it something less than a box car in size. The constable warned him that he was ruthlessly breaking sub-section 17 of section 24, clause 42 of city bylaw No. 9, and that the sidewalk was not for the use of sleighs and malamute dogs, but with a bravado claim to recklessness he persisted in his perambulations. Wishing to save him from the fate to which he was rushing with such madness the constable again warned him, but to no avail. The officer of the law had to do his duty and he regretfully placed the awful offender under arrest. Asked this morning by his lordship if he had anything to say, the accused replied no. The usual $2 and costs was assessed, the tariff being the same as for plain drunk without any trimmings.

Report of Expert

London, Oct. 18.—The report of E. L. Walker, the expert sent by the London & Northwestern Railroad to America to investigate railroad conditions there, has been published. Mr. Walker sums up as follows: "It will be seen from the figures before you that the American companies have nothing to boast in the safety either of their passengers or employees. On the contrary, human life seems to be considered of much less importance there than here, and I am of the opinion that in this respect the British railway officials have nothing whatever to learn from their American confreres."

Mr. Walker gives figures showing that twice as many passengers are carried on the United Kingdom lines, though the Americans have a nine times greater mileage, while American figures show a much larger proportion of accidents and fatalities to passengers and employees. The large number of accidents at crossings receive considerable mention. Mr. Walker attributes the larger proportion of accidents in America to almost general absence of block working, and to the fact that the permanent way is neither laid nor maintained in the efficient manner usually adopted by the British railways.

The English expert believes that the agitation going on in Great Britain for the adoption of the automatic couplings used in America is not justified by statistics, the old-fashioned screw couplings showing a much smaller percentage of accidents to employees.

Curiously enough, the same day that this justification of the British railway system appears in the Times, the Saturday Review prints a letter from a well-known engineer, in which the writer makes an urgent plea for the introduction of automatic couplings and quotes the figures as showing that a decrease in the number of accidents had resulted therefrom. The engineer declares that millions are lost to British shareholders by the failure of the roads in Great Britain to adopt up-to-date safety appliances.

Auction Room Comedies

Many a competent actor and entertainer who has started out in life with brilliant hopes is only too glad, in these times, to take a comfortable berth as a "shop actor" or as an "auction-room comic." The latter berths are particularly sought after, as they mean a permanent salary. Through the length and breadth of the provinces, and especially in the teeming towns of busy Lancashire and Yorkshire, auction vans that remain for a month or so at a time in each place, and sell jewellery and other articles, attract vast audiences night after night. Indeed, there are a good score of them that take as much as £300 a night regularly.

In order that the crowd of potential buyers may be kept in good temper, and that the proceedings may not become monotonous, comic singers and entertainers are provided. In some cases a regular salary of £3 or £4 a week is paid, and the present writer knew an auction room comic who realized no less than £32 out of a benefit and testimonial that the auctioneer allowed him to have in a Lancashire town.

Last year alone many an actor who in minor parts has walked the boards of celebrated London theatres took an engagement to make up as Father Christmas or as Santa Claus in some great children's bazaar or toy emporium. And each year the demand for regular actors for such work increases, the usual engagement being from early in December till late in January.

The proprietors of these fancy shops and bazaars have apparently found that it pays vastly to have their Father Christmas correctly made up, speaking in refined accents to the ladies, and ever ready to amuse the children with small jokes and pleasant antics. The writer knew one really sound comedian who had a ten weeks' engagement at four guineas a week, and he received many presents in addition.

Hunker Miner Enters Suit Against an Old Timer.

Lewis Malmgren brought suit today against W. W. Tinkham, of 39 above on Hunker, alleging that he was in his debt to the extent of $225.50 for labor performed. Mr. Tinkham was represented by Mr. Arnold who presented to the court a letter received from him in which he stated that he had suffered a severe injury to his foot and would be unable to attend court this morning and asking that Mr. Arnold use his best endeavors to have the case enlarged until such time as he would be able to appear. His lordship while regretting the accident to the defendant was not at first disposed to grant the indulgence desired, stating that the court by special provisions was in such matters one of summary judgment. He did not desire to work any hardship upon the defendant but at the same time the man to whom the wages was due might be hungry and in sad need of his wages. Upon consent of the plaintiff the case was enlarged until Tuesday next.

Men and Women—Auditorium

Kingstown, St. Vincent, Oct. 18.—The eruption of the Soufriere volcano October 15 and 16, the fourth terrific outburst since the catastrophe of May 7, has plunged the colony into deeper distress than before existed, crippling its agricultural resources by further devastating the arrow-root fields, and completely destroying wide areas of growing crops on lands which had been considered outside the volcanic zone. Of these lands, thousands of young cocoa, coffee and other economic plants were buried under the almost impenetrable mass of sand, which, while hot, fell in the windward district on the morning of October 18. Even the Mesopotamia Valley, an ideal garden of tropical vegetation, although 12 miles from the volcano's crater, is buried with sand, in some places six inches deep, and the lands to the eastward, bordering upon the previously devastated area, are covered to a depth of nine inches. Traced on all of the roads in the Windward district, the only regular means of communication between Georgetown and this city, has been rendered extremely difficult.

Many refugees and other persons left Georgetown for Kingstown, a distance of 20 miles, October 16, and many of them fainted on the way from hunger and thirst and the fatigue engendered by trudging through the hot sand. Animals even broke down under the strain of the journey. Hundreds of poor persons were driven from their homes by falling cinders, stones, etc. The situation is desperate. Comparatively no damage was done on the leeward coast by the outbreak. No lives were lost.

This eruption was equal in duration and violence to that of the night of September 3, but, owing to the brilliant moonlight, the electrical discharges were less terrifying.

TWO ROSS MEETINGS

One held on Bonanza and the Other on Bear Creek. A meeting of the Ross supporters was held at the Croymen roadhouse, 29 below on Bonanza, last night, which was attended by about seventy-five miners. The speakers from Dawson in support of the candidature of Mr. Ross were Arthur Wilson and F. T. Congdon, and for Clarke Joe Gibson and W. A. Beddoe.

A meeting of the Ross supporters took place on Bear creek last night, which was attended by twenty-six miners. There were only local speakers in support of Mr. Ross, Joe Clarke and George Black and George Black appearing for the opposition party.

Tore Down a Notice of Sheriff's Sale

George Angelo the Greek Restaurant Man Contributes to the City Treasury.

The case against George Angelo, the Greek, charged with having interfered with a police officer in the discharge of his duty by tearing down a notice of sale that had been posted in his place of business, which had been seized under a writ of execution, was disposed of this morning by Mr. Justice Macaulay. The case was heard early in the week and was taken under advisement by his lordship until today. In giving his judgment the court said he had grave doubts as to whether the charge would lie under the section under which the action was brought. It was an offense, however, and he felt that instead of dismissing the prisoner the information should be amended so that a sentence could be imposed. It would not do to pass up such matters so lightly. Counsel for the accused reminded his lordship that his client had already spent two days in jail and he also said that the prisoner had a statement he wished to make.

Angelo was called to the stand and for two minutes he poured out a polyglot mass of unintelligible English that was absolutely untranslatable. His dialect was a wonder and Stenographer Blankman nearly broke his fingers trying to take it. Shorn of its superfluous affixes and prefixes, the shrugs and gestures, and boiled down to plain English by Sergeant Smith, it appears that according to Angelo's story, when he first saw the notice it was hanging by but one tack and fluttering in the breeze. He took it down so as to be better able to read it and had intended to put it up again, but having no tacks at hand he put it under a cigar box for a moment while he went in search of some fasteners. Then he forgot it and that is where the trouble began. His lordship said that he had felt disposed to impose a heavy fine but he would take into consideration the statement of the prisoner that he had not intended to tear down the notice for any malicious purpose and the further fact that he had already spent two days in jail and he would let him off with a fine of $2 and costs. Angelo went out for the purpose of digging up and within a half hour he returned with the necessary mazzina.

"John, I'd like you to wake me at five o'clock tomorrow morning. I want to catch the early train." "All right, sir, all right," replied the able servant, expressively, "all you got to do, sir, is to ring."

Second Class Mail, No. 30 Above Bonanza, Nov. 20, 1902.

Editor Nugget:— Dear Sir,—Will you kindly state through the columns of your valuable paper: First, whether a newspaper coming from the outside and having first-class postage paid on same comes as first-class mail, and second, providing there is not enough letter mail to make up the seven hundred pounds, will paper mail having first-class postage paid take precedence to that which has only second-class postage. By answering the above you will greatly oblige A. J. MAIDEN.

(According to the rules of the department all papers are brought, as second-class matter irrespective of postage paid on them. It is anticipated by the local postoffice authorities that the second-class service for the balance of the winter will be equally as effective as the first-class service.)
