The folly of buying goods wherever offered I ne tony of buying goods wherever offered so long as the were cheap has been realized by Great Britain. For years she bought her dyes from Germany because the German dyes were cheaper. The result was her own dye factories were ruined. But when War broke out no more German dyes could be obtained and Brit-ish factories worth billions were helpless from lack of dyes. Britain needed practical patriot-ism.

In the same way, the buying of goods from the Upper Canadian pro-vinces is proving a serious menace to your community and your province. Your merchants feel it keenly and stagnation is bound to come to your town if the people persist in buying anywhere but at home. In some towns of this province the effects are already apparent. The danger is a real one. Are you practical enough in your patriotism to see that your duty is to "buy at home"? This is part of a big, earnest campaigne of appeal to the people of this province to "BUY AT HOME."

To realize the danger you must consider your community as if it were a country. It was real-ized in practically every country in the world that if people were given permission to buy wherever they thought they could buy cheaper, that the result would be prosperity for some and poverty for others. The result was each nation put up a high tariff wall. That is, each nation said to the other, 'If you try to sell goods to my people. I am going to charge a heavy duty and make it so expensive to buy your goods that people at home will buy only homemade goods.' They did it. And the result everyone knows. That policy has built up enormous industries in Canada so that we have kept our money at home and have become a rich nation.

The community is a nation in min-iature. We cannot put up a high tariff wall to protect our own mer-chants, but we can appeal to the high sence of patriotism among our peo-ple. That high sence of patriotism will show them the permanent ad-vantage of buying from their own town merchants and demonstrate the weakness of buying from other cities, for a possible temporary ad-ventage. The community is a nation in min-

The Bitter Made Sweet.

Just to give up and trust All to a Fate unknown All to a Fate unknown, Plodding along life's road in the dust, Bounded by walls of stone; Never to have a heart of peace; Never to see when care will cease; Just to be still when sorrows fall— This is the bitterest lesson of all.

Just to give up, and rest All on a Love secure, Out of a world that's hard at the best, Out of a worig that a hard at the best, Looking to beaven an sourc; Ever to hope, through cloud and fear, In darkest night that the dawn is near, Just to wait at the Master's feet-Surely, now, the bitter is sweet, --Henry Van Dyke.
