Mr. R. H. Sampson's, Sydney, N.S., Advice to all Sufferers from Nerve Trouble is

"GET A BOX OF MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS."

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

The Messenger.

"The Messenger" is an excellent Catholic monthly magazine, published and edited by the Jesuit fathers, at 27-29 West Sixteenth Street, New York. Following is a summary of some of the articles in the November number:

A NEW RELIGION.

The reason why many people object to religious teaching in our schools is not that they suppose that there can be any moral teaching without religion, but because they wish to substitute their own religion for all others. The Rev. B. Guldner, writing in the November Messenger, says: "The ethical societies mean to found a new religion, 'the religion of morality,' as Salter says, 'requiring only the recognition that duty binds a man' (p. 107). 'Emerson,' says the same writer, 'has a faith that America shall introduce a pure religion (Sovereignty of Ethics), since a true nation loves its vernacular tongue and will not import its religion, as we have ours, from Judea.' (p. 91.) And again, 'He alone is an atheist who does not believe in the moral idea and the possibility of its realization. The world is tired hearing about the Kingdom of Heaven' (p. 19.). And Dr. Adler: 'The moral ideal is the only object worthy of our religious veneration.' And Stanton Coit: 'We set righteousness (i. e., right conduct) up as an object to worship. . . we can say that in our fellowship it takes the place which God or Christ holds in the prevalent view. (p. 288) 'The foregoing quotations have, I think, made it sufficiently clear that Independent Morality is to be set up as a new religion and to be taught in our schools. We know, moreover, from the utterances of public men who are not affiliated to the ethical movement, that the teaching in the public schools of some sort of ethics, distinct from religion in the received sense of the word, is urgently advocated. Which means that the public schools, which are supposed to be unsectarian, are to be handed over to this new sect professing the religion of Independent Morality."

"The Catholic Training School is distinguished from all others by its insistence not only on the complete development of the mental faculties, but also on the highest cultivation of the moral qualities, on which chiefly depends the formation of character. The ordinary training school is more concerned about the sum and habit of knowledge imparted to the pupils than about their ethical or moral culture. Though this latter is not neglected, it is not usually considered as important as the former. Even when it is regarded as of equal importance, it usually lacks the finer, more exquisite and higher qualities which religion only can infuse into it. It is all very well to insist on the personality of the teacher as the great influence in moral training. Given two persons equal in all other things, that one surely has the personality preferable for the teacher who adds to the ordinary good qualities of mind and heart, the valuable spiritual experience which can be obtained only by a thorough knowledge of the truths of religion and a habitual observance of its precepts. It is a very good sign of the times that teachers are required to inculcate reverence for God, even though He be spoken of but vaguely as the 'Higher Power,' to require of them respect for authority, humaneness, industry and other virtues. It is a formal and official recognition on the part of our school superintendents generally of the demand (which parents are only now beginning to make for a more definite religious and moral training in our schools than reading the Bible can give. It is far and away better what should be required, the lowest possible fraction of what ought to be taught in a Christian country. Indeed, without training schools to teach who God is and our motive for honoring Him or the authority constituted by Him, how hopelessly inadequate it is even for the minimum of religious and moral training of our young people! Still it is a promising sign of the times."

IS THE AMERICAN COURT BE COMING A THEATRE?

Asks the editor of the Messenger. The answer is:

"The decay of Greece began when her people ceased to take things seriously, or, rather, when they began to treat serious things frivolously, and to heed what was new, sensational, exciting in a public deed rather than its real significance and import. It would seem that France is experiencing the same manner of decay and demoralization as Greece. Even crime is not regarded seriously, and justice is not so much the object of the trials in her court-rooms as the tragic and dramatic, too often melodramatic, interest of her causes celebre. There are indications of a tendency of like nature in our own country. Preceding judges may be serious, as for the most part the attorneys are also; but the audience is often one that has been sated with the drama and tragedy of the theatre, and craves for either in real life. The courtroom is for them the theatre and the bench and bar simply a stage. Every possible pretext is offered as a reason for admission, and too easily accepted. The actual audience is small compared with the number who review the scenes next morning in the newspapers, and the evil is thus propagated indefinitely: the conscience becomes dull, the sensibilities are blunted, the moral sense is perverted, the nice distinction between right and wrong is lost, innocence is impaired. Most of our judges deplore this tendency. It is a mockery of their position as dispensers of justice, and it nullifies one of their chief purposes in passing sentence as a deterrent or preventive of crime. It is hard to regard their decisions seriously if the case adjudged be witnessed as a dramatic spectacle, artificial tragedy, or even farce."

SHALL WE LEGITIMIZE MURDER?

"No sensible person," writes the editor of the Messenger, "will take alarm at the suggestion to drug the helpless and miserable into speedy and painless death, even though the proposal be made and applauded publicly, and advocated by men whose misfortune it really happens, is to save rather than to destroy. Said to say, the very fact that a minister advocates this plan of lessening pain for others and trouble for ourselves is our best reassurance that it will not be widely or permanently adopted: the people have grown so accustomed to mind what their ministers preach. The medical profession will never assent to it; indeed, they are consistently and earnestly opposed to it. In their view there is no one so helpless that some remedy cannot be found to relieve, no one so incurable as to be altogether beyond hope; and surely the marvelous discovery of efficacious remedies which so many of them have been making, and their own earnest endeavor to alleviate suffering and conquer disease, justify their view and their hope that gradually they will find means not only of deferring the hour of death, but also of making the physician for the need that hast of him," says Holy Writ. S range that our need of him in this instance should be to protect us from false expositors of religion who advocate legitimized murder!"

The Messenger for November has a fine profile of Pius X. Two excellent illustrations of "The Holy Carpet" and five half-tones of "The Virgin's Tree," on both of which subjects Rev. O. M. Dalgault writes after visiting the scenes.

The chronical is an authentic and permanent record of events in the United States, Italy, Rome, France, England, Ireland, Austria, Switzerland.

There is a fine dramatic poem by P. J. O'Leary.

Items of Catholic Interest.

Mgr. Canon Johnson has been appointed Provost of the Cathedral Chapter of Westminster, London.

A Vienna correspondent announces the death of D. Egecio V. Luzzi, Prince Bishop of Trent, at the age of 66.

Signora De Bai, one of the two sisters of the Pops living in his former parish of Salzano, is reported by the "Giornale di Venezia" to be out of danger.

According to press cablegrams, Monsignor Sgarzo, for many years Apostolic Vicar in the Sudan, where he actively participated with Wingate Bay in the liberation of European prisoners from the M. d. h. has been appointed by the Pope to the presidency of the Academy of Noble Ecclesiastics.

According to a news agency despatch, an extraordinary scene was witnessed in St. Teresa's Church, Rome, on Saturday. A man suddenly went up to the English Carmelite prior and struck him several violent blows with a stick. He then rushed from the church, jumped into a cab and disappeared. The motive of his strange conduct is not known. Several ladies who were in the church at the time fainted.

Reporting a recent reception at St. Bonifacio, Manitoba, in honor of Archbishop Sbarretti, Apostolic Delegate to Canada, the "Northwest Review" says: "Of course the great attraction of the evening was His Excellency's reply he had been addressed in three languages. He replied in three. His Latin was, we need hardly say, perfect. He is less familiar with French than with English, but he is always forceful and attractive."

The deplorable incident which has taken place at Urmoston should be a warning to Catholic congregations to be on their guard against disturbers during religious services, says the London "Catholic Times." According to the statement laid before the magistrates on Friday, an Urmoston painter named John Dinn entered the Church of the English Martyrs there during the celebration of Mass by Father Charles Rothwell, walked up to the sanctuary, kicked open the altar rails, pushed the priest violently, and at the solemn moment when the consecration was about to take place, grabbed at the chalice, so that the wine was spilled all over the altar. The perpetrator of this shocking sacrilege was forced to leave by two members of the congregation. He certainly was fortunate. He would have faced differently in some congregations and would have received a lesson that he would have cause to remember till his last day. Dinn was bound over to keep the peace, the penalty in default of reconversion being a month's imprisonment—a punishment by no means excessive.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't eat 'em if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for years, and tried every remedy I heard of but never got anything that gave me relief until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. I cannot praise this medicine too highly for the good it has done me. I always take it in the spring and fall and would not be without it." W. A. Noyes, Belleville, Ont.

ONE of the cases argued before the Judges of the Supreme Court now in session is that of Isaac L. Lane vs. Hon. J. F. Whear. F. L. Haszard, K. C., appeared for Mr. Lane and the Attorney General for Mr. Whear.

The last mentioned case was disposed of at the last term of the court, and now the case of Lane vs. Whear has been heard. It is for the recovery of a penalty for which Mr. Whear is alleged to be liable under the act respecting the Legislature in as much as he received public money for conducting certain crown cases before the court, while a member of the Legislature.

Railway Station At Pictou.

As we pointed out in our last issue, the Federal Government are very slow about making any move in the direction of giving Charlottetown a new passenger station.

As already stated, there is about 34,000,000 feet of the past season's cut stranded above the falls. It is owned by the following parties in the proportion named: Kilburn for Murray 4,500,000; Cholmond for Murray 4,000,000; Coabing 3,900,000; Charles Miller 4,500,000; J. R. McConnell 5,000,000; Randolph & Baker 4,000,000; Stetson, Outler & Co 1,000,000; Other parties 2,600,000.

Last Will and Testament

The will of the late James E. McDonald, of Cardigan, has been probated. He bequeathed absolutely all his property, real and personal, consisting of lands, property, houses, goods, ready cash, notes of hand, book debts, life insurance, and vessels to his wife, Georgina G. McDonald, whom he appointed administratrix and sole executrix.

Shortly before the fall of the Republic of Panama was formally proclaimed over the prefecture at Colon, Colombia, on Friday forenoon last, the new civil and military governor, Porfirio Melendez, delivered an oration. He said: "Isthmians—In the year 1821 the population of the Isthmus of Panama severed the tie that bound it to the government of Spain and spontaneously adhered to the then new Republic of Colombia."

New Brunswick Lumber.

W. H. Murray, the well known St. John lumberman, in an interview at Fredericton Saturday, expressed the opinion that the lumber cut on the upper Grand Falls during the coming winter would fall short of that of last season by about ten million. The cut last year totalled about 130,000,000 feet, and about 80,000,000 came through the booms, the remainder having been hung up above Grand Falls.

Death from Hazing

The police of Baltimore are investigating the cause of the death of Martin Lewis, 27 years old, a student in the dental department of the University of Maryland, whose lifeless body was found Sunday in his room at his boarding house.

The Award.

On the Pacific Coast, where the boundary award is a somewhat practical question, they began as soon as the decision was announced to take stock of the situation. Mr. Gossnell and Mr. Legrin, who have acquired some personal knowledge of the locality, and Bishop Riley, who sees the affair from a Fort Simpson standpoint, are of the opinion that Canada gets a fair award.

An English Author Wrote.

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from ostarria, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that ostarria is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption, being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that which is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures ostarria, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly America's Greatest Medicine for America's Greatest Disease—Ostarria.

Other staples are about the same as last quotations.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

ATTENTION is directed to the call for a Liberal Conservative Convention at Morell on Friday 20th. inst.

It is announced from Halifax that the midland Railway is to be extended to Brule to make a short connection with the Island.

Referring to the observations of our correspondent "Justice" regarding the ringing of the "angelus bell" in this diocese we are of opinion that the practice prevails very generally. It is certainly rung in Charlottetown and we have heard it in several other places.

Two thousand men were laid off by the Illinois steel works at South Chicago Saturday night. In addition to this reduction 1,200 men were discharged two weeks ago, and who expected to return to work last Monday morning, have been informed that there is no work for them. The officials of the company refuse to talk about the retrenchment going on. It is said by the men that they are being laid off because of curtailment in the output.

SATURDAY last was certainly a most disagreeable day. Rain fell in torrents almost all day, and in some parts thunder and lightning of the heaviest were in evidence. At Georgetown, Cardigan and St. Peter's the thunder storm was most severe. At St. Peter's Bay, the thunder and lightning were terrific and were at their worst between twelve and one o'clock. The spire of the Catholic Church there was struck by lightning. The electric fluid passed to the inside of the tower doing considerable damage.

The venerable secretary of state O. saws was visited upon Saturday by the staff of his department presented with a gold fruit dish in commemoration of his golden wedding, which took place Sunday. The address was read by Under Secretary of State Jos. Pope, and the presentation made by Mr. Pelletier, chief clerk. Hon. Mr. Stott was deeply touched by the evidence of good feeling on the part of his staff and replied in appropriate terms. The minister closed his remarks with congratulations, including telegrams from Strathcona and Bowell.

A VERY prominent figure in French Canadian political life has passed away in the person of ex-Governor Massey, who died in Montreal on Sunday evening. Mr. Massey was born at Terrebonne, November 7th, 1831—he that he had just completed his 70th year. He studied law in the office of Sir George Cartier, made a brilliant reputation at the bar, in the House of Commons and in the Senate. He was also a Lieutenant-Colonel and took active service in the militia of Quebec at the time of the Fenian invasion. He was also a Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, his record is excellent. He was for some time leader of the Conservatism of Quebec and his political career was a success as a political leader. He is a personal character was above reproach and he was a gracious and cultured gentleman.

The King's Birthday honours are officially announced from Rideau Hall Ottawa. There are no knightships and no companions given. Colonel Pinaut and Mr. Herbert, Sculptor, are made C. M. G., while seven civil servants and eight men who died in the service of Canada have received the medal of order. Following the official list. C. M. G.'s Colonel Pinaut, Louis Phillips, Herbert, Sculptor, Montreal. Companion Imperial Service Order Dr. Robert B. H. Acting Director of Geological Survey; Edward Gilpin, Deputy Commissioner of Public Works and Mines, Nova Scotia; John George Hodgkin, Toronto; David Ewart, Chief Architect Department of Public Works, Ottawa; Col. Harry Smith, Sergeant-at-Arms, House of Commons, Ottawa; Col. Irvine, Warden Manitoba Penitentiary; J. N. Gregory, Agent Marine and Fisheries Dept., Ottawa.

Foster in England.

Hon. George E. Foster's speeches are making a decided impression in England, especially as he is looked on as a representative of the political party in opposition to Laurier's government and is mainly supported by the manufacturing and mercantile interests. Mr. Tarte will also visit England in warmly received, Canada would then speak with practically one voice on behalf of the preferential policy. Foster is refusing in his speeches to take any narrow colonial line and appeals on the broadest grounds to imperialist mission. Speaking at Newport, Foster said, "The best thinkers in Britain's over the sea Dominion believe that the decision of the fiscal question depended the future. Canada was determined upon the development of her own industries and commerce, and a hundred million more people. Was it well for the Mother Country to cut the painter in the case of Canada where lay the Empire's future?"

Correspondence.

EDITOR OF HERALD.—Sir I often notice selections in the Herald re the "Angelus Bell." These selections appear from time to time in the form of poetry and prose. Why do you print these selections so often on this particular subject? Is it for the benefit of your readers; that is to bring to their minds this mystery of "angelus bell"? I sorely need at the question. Whenever I see these selections in the Herald it reminds me of my trip through Quebec last summer when I would always hear the "Angelus Bell" morning, noon and night from some church spire or distant. I don't suppose you would publish these selections if you thought they would be of no benefit to your readers, and if these are your honest convictions and your belief that you do good in this way why is not the "Angelus Bell" heard from every church in this diocese? I don't think they ring in Charlottetown. But you consider Mr. editor that some benefits would be derived from the help to this Province. It would make you reflect in spite of yourself for a moment at least on one of the greatest mysteries that ever took place. It don't take much time to ring the bell and if this is going to be of any benefit in helping us over the crooked path it looks a little selfish to deprive us of such benefits. Quebec is surely in the lead of us in this particular line of help. I must say Mr. Editor that your selections on the outside of the Herald are all a person want in reading of this nature. The inside is made up of honest and able statements along political lines. I don't know what your circulation is, but it should be sufficiently large in this Province to enable you to give us either an eight page or a semi-weekly paper. There is no need to go outside of this Province for a paper running on lines such as those of the outside pages of the Herald. All you want is more space and that requires cash. There is any amount of the necessary help to this Province to make the Herald such an educator. The material of the right kind is on the spot and anxious for the opportunity. Why enrich foreign publishers that we have nothing in common with when we have a man of our own who in their equal every day in the week on any subject from the most simple to the weightiest philosophical questions of the day? Why not rally to his support and give him a chance to enlarge the Herald and make a semi-weekly which is the desire of his heart and his highest ambition? Send your subscription to the Herald first and see what you will get in return and then if you have any surplus cash give your help to foreigners. Don't run away with the idea that you can't get as good on the Island. If you do you are laboring under a very false delusion.

What a comfort it would be to the proprietor and editor of the Herald to see new subscriptions pouring in so that he could carry out his wishes. What an interest he would take to give back in return good reading matter. It is a mistake to let politics interfere when a paper such as the Herald is wanted in your homes. It is a mistake to allow a mind to run in such a narrow groove at the expense of certain knowledge. What political matter that appears in the Herald can always be relied on as truth, and what we should all be after, regardless of any party. If you allow one part of the brain to develop along certain lines the other part will atrophy, decay, and with that condition of things takes place a man is of no use to society.

Yours etc, Justice.

Sunday's Prayer.

BY CAROLINE S. BRADY.

There is, in Sunday's atmosphere, A calm, a still, a holy cheer, A sacred hush, a silence blest, A quiet deep, a world of rest.

All nature, one cathedral grand. The trees, like priests adoring stand. The flowers, their million centers swing, The birds, their rev'ent music sing.

The hills, like altars towering high, The fragrant earth, the vaulted sky, Each forms a part of one great whole, Reflecting each, the one great Soul.

On Sunday morn I love to roam Beneath this vast cathedral dome, And let my soul with joy expand, Until it rests within His hand.

I know, then, all things by their worth, Or if of heaven, or if of earth; There's nothing sordid, mean, unjust.

What seems not good is only dust. No great is there, and yet no small, I nothing am, I'm part of all; For I, the earth, the sky, the sod, Are creatures all of One, of God.

All things return to their own place, 'Tis cycle keeps the world in space, All things return whence they had start, And all began in one Great Heart.

To that Great Heart must all belong; What leads not thither must lead wrong. It matters not, then, come what will, The soul lacks peace and rest until,

With perfect care and cycle round I's Lord, Creator, God is found; And finding Him the soul finds all, And rests at peace and knows His call.

As thus I stand, or sometimes kneel, His love I know, His presence feel. Small wonder if I then can say: 'Tis long the road, and rough the way,

'T matters not, nor how 'tis past, My soul must reach its Goal at last. It matters not, whatever sent, I know His love, I am content.'

And thus I lose myself, to find My true self within His mind, And this my prayer on Sunday morn: 'Let, Thou, my true self, be born,

'Let not the false outweigh the true, But let me live and let me do In such way my life may be A clear reflection, Lord, of Thee.'

WHY CENSUS COST SO MUCH. The erstwhile Liberal economists at the head of the government by a solid party vote declared that the census of 1901, which cost $1,198,268 to date, while the census of 1881 cost only $511,550, and that of 1891 cost $49,991, was conducted on a money saving basis.

Table with 3 columns: County, Population, Cost. Rows include Halton, South Perth, Peel, Cardwell, Prince Edward, Bothwell.

Table with 3 columns: County, Decrease in Population, Increase in Cost. Rows include Halton, South Perth, Peel, Cardwell, Prince Edward, Bothwell.

Thus Hon. Sydney Fisher bungled the census. In those same six counties 124 enumerators were employed in 1891. In 1901 671 enumerators to the tune of 200 were required to enumerate a smaller population.

GETTING INTO THE PUBLIC TREASURY.

In 1896, Sir William Mulock submitted to Parliament a resolution condemning appointments of members of Parliament to positions of emolument in the gift of the crown. He declared that the practise was "a crying disgrace," and that "the electorate, noticing these things, are coming to the conclusion that the highest simon a man can have in seeking public life, is that he may through Parliament, find his way into a comfortable position for life."

Since 1896, the cabinet of which Sir William Mulock is a leading member have placed no less than twenty-four Liberal M. P.'s in positions worth from $1,500 to $3,000 a year, to say nothing of defeated candidates. Just now this same administration has on hand a deal by which five out of fifteen Liberal representatives from Nova Scotia to participate in the "paying disgrace." These persons, whom Sir William Mulock referred to as "mere parasites on the administration," are to be looked after thus:

Dr. B. Russell (Hants), Chief Justice Nova Scotia, $5,000. D. C. Fraser (Gaysboro'), Judge N. S. Supreme Court, $4,000. Dr. Kendall (Cape Breton), Post-office inspector, Nova Scotia, $2,600. A. J. S. Copp (Digby), County Judge, $2,400. Hon. Wm. Bass (Victoria), Senatorship, $1,500.

These "office seekers, and place hunters," for various political reasons, must be disposed of in the interests of the Liberal party, and it follows that another Liberal pledge has been given the most serious twist it has yet received. It looks as if the stalwarts, conscious of the result of the impending elections, are going in out of the cold.

MR. PREFONTAINE'S CHANGE OF FRONT.

Less than twelve months ago Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, minister of marine and fisheries, was preaching the gospel of protection to the electors of Maisonneuve. He pledged himself to secure for the cotton and other industries an increase in duties, which would prevent their goods from being swamped by slaughter products from the United States. He assured his constituents that he was about to enter the cabinet to take the place of Hon. J. Israel Tarte, as the advocate of the protectionist wing of the Liberal party. A week ago Mr. Prefontaine addressed a political gathering at Longueuil, and there he endorsed the present so-called policy of protection for revenue only. By doing so Mr. Prefontaine lived up to the forecasts of those who knew him. He has been forced by his confederates to abandon every pledge he ever made in regard to our fiscal policy.

LAURIER ALONE TO BLAME.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his followers are playing a small part in trying to fix responsibility for the Alaskan boundary decision on Mr. Chamberlain. As far back as May 29th, 1899, Sir Wilfrid refused to consent to the appointment of a commission such as he accepted on January 21st, 1903. Moreover, on February 22nd, 1901, Lord Lansdowne, who was responsible for the Alaskan boundary treaty from first to last, in negotiating with the United States for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, declared that until the Alaskan boundary and other matters in dispute between Canada and the United States were settled, Great Britain would concede nothing.

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago. Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion. Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

It looks as if the stalwarts, conscious of the result of the impending elections, are going in out of the cold.

BOOMING A MINISTER'S ORGAN.

Hon. Sydney Fisher's organ, the Montreal Herald, will never be satisfied until it gets the earth. Since Mr. Fisher became minister of agriculture, it has been subsidized by the government at the average rate of $20,000 per annum. The minister also chipped in a few thousands as a personal contribution to the paper, and donated a brother to act as a director of the concern. Lately the management has been using Liberal members of Parliament as circulation agents. It is a money saving device and has the advantage of enlisting the influence of public men in a manner heretofore unheard of in Canada. The Parliamentarians simply franked Montreal Herald circulars to their constituents and personally advised them to become subscribers for that great political organ. The net result of this sort of thing from the standpoint of Mr. Fisher's newspaper, which sings his praises in season and out of season, are not known. But this much is certain, that it is high time that a paper in which a minister of the crown is so deeply interested should be debarred from making tools of the post-office department and public men elected and paid to transact public business. Such transactions will not serve to raise Parliament in the eyes of the electors. Neither will they tend to bring to Mr. Fisher that respect which should be the due of the man in his responsible position.

GET READY FOR THE FIGHT.

There has been an exodus of ministers from Ottawa. They have been scattered about the country, and during the next few weeks they will endeavor to size up the political situation. They will then return to the capital and hold a council of war, and if the reports received are favorable to a general election, the writ will be issued at once. If the chances of the Liberal party are considered slim, the evil day may be postponed. That is exactly how things stand at present. Before the last general election, Sir Wilfrid Laurier took no such precaution. He and his colleagues were so sure of success that they did not reconnoiter the country. But a change has come over Canada, and nobody knows it better than the Prime Minister. The reckless blunders and his broken pledges have estranged many who formerly supported the Liberal party. The cabinet will endeavor to stem the adverse tide, but in their weakened condition they can hardly hope to do so. It is, therefore, highly probable that the elections will be held at an early date in order to escape the deluge. The Conservative party will be taken unawares if possible and should put forth every effort to organize their forces with an irresistible thoroughness. With a good leader, a good cause, and a magnificent country to fight for, there is lots to inspire workers to united and prompt effort.

DISLOYALTY OF THE LIBERALS.

The Toronto Globe, the leading Liberal organ, is out with an editorial in which Great Britain is openly threatened with the "deep and fixed resentment" of Canadians. Evidently the Grits have not forgotten their long cherished hatred of anything British. From time to time the slumbering embers of disloyalty break out, and a little over a year ago, October 15th, 1902, the Halifax Chronicle, Hon. W. S. Fielding's personal organ, quite in keeping with the present attitude of the Globe, attacked the Motherland in this harsh language: "The great Dominion has its own life to lead; its own future to develop; its own history to make; its own part to play in the world. And the Canadians are quite capable of managing their own affairs. They do not need the interference of incapable, bungling British politicians who have achieved a ghastly record in South Africa, in Ireland, and even in England, by their inept essays in government."

The Globe is moved to violent language, because of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's failure in banding the Alaskan boundary award. The Chronicle's outburst was due to the bungling of the Canadian ministers in the matter of the British preference. Seemingly, the only tie which binds the Liberal party to British institutions, is the success of their undertakings in matters concerning this country and Great Britain. Failure on the part of our so-called statesmen, means a fling at the flag under which all races and creeds enjoy equal liberty.

John Morley, in his "Life of Gladstone," just published by Macmillan, quotes Gladstone himself as saying that it was in entering St. Peter's in Rome, at the age of twenty-three that he experienced his "first conception of the unity of the Church." "I had previously," wrote Gladstone, "taken a great deal of teaching direct from the Bible as best I could; but now the figure of the Church rose before me as teacher, too and I gradually found how incomplete and fragmentary a manner I had drawn divine truth from the sacred volume, as, indeed, I had also missed, in the Thirty Nine Articles, something which ought to have taught me better. Such, for I believe that I have given the fact as it occurred, in its silence and its solitude, was my first introduction to the august conception of the Church of Christ. It presented to me Christianity under an aspect in which I had not yet known it; its ministry of symbols, its channels of grace, its unending line of teachers joining from the Head; a sublime construction based throughout upon historical fact, uplifting the idea of the community in which we live, and of the access which it enjoys through the new and living way to the presence of the Most High. From this time I began to feel my way by degrees into or toward a true notion of the Church."

Notes From France

TRUE CHRISTIANITY.—According to the Paris correspondent of the London "Monitor and New Era," the nuns, whom Combes and his Government have so needlessly and cruelly persecuted are taking their revenge, in some cases, by returning good for evil. On the occasion of the outbreak of the bubonic plague at Marseilles, some weeks ago, sanitary measures of the greatest severity had to be taken. The Ste. Marguerite Hospital was transformed into a number of nurses were ordered for service there. All the nuns of Marseilles refused to obey the order, and the authorities were in the end compelled to apply to the Bishop of Marseilles, Mgr. Andrieu, for nuns for service in the plague hospital. Mgr. Andrieu selected eighteen among a large number who volunteered, and placed themselves at the disposal of the Prefect and of the Municipal Hospital's committee. In order to appreciate the significance of the incident one should know that a fortnight before the same municipal hospital's committee had voted the expulsion of nuns from all the city. It will also be remembered, that Mgr. Andrieu is one of those whose stipe the Government has lately seen fit to confiscate.

Our readers may recall, that last week we made mention of the remarkable reply of Mgr. Andrieu to the Government, in which he quoted the words of St. Louis of France, to the effect that with regard to those who persecute her the Church has her revenge and her triumph—her revenge consisting of praying for them and her triumph of surviving them. What a timely illustration has been given of this grand principle of elevated Christian charity. Not only does she—through her religious—pray for them, but she risks life, health, ease and everything for them, and she certainly will survive them by centuries. It may be said that the nurses who refused to go into the plague hospital were not patriotic, nor brave, nor disinterested. How could they be? And who could require the same of them? The profession of nursing is their means of livelihood, for that and no other purpose do they take it up. They may run great risks for the sake of the stipend that they receive; but they are not obliged to incur almost certain death. On the other hand, the nuns do not nurse for gain, nor for a living, nor for any material or earthly reward. They moreover, have the law of obedience that sends them and they simply go. They braved all such risks the day they made their life sacrifice and pronounced their vows. Hence the difference; and it is one that only accentuates the more the blindness and the ingratitude hatred that characterize the Government; a Premier and all such enemies of God.
