The Fox Educational Board for good boys and girls. Educate your children while they play.
The Sentence and Wordbuilder consists of 48 letters and pictures from which the groups of words and sentences may be built, separate, and rebuilt, while the child plays until his interest in spelling and in writing, as well as in the meaning of words, is forever rightly fixed.
Introduce the Letters and easy words slowly. As soon as the child gets acquainted with a few letters and words, and the process of Word Building, he will be able to build his own thoughts into words and sentences.
The board is in the form of a circle, is strongly made, of a bright color and is nicely decorated. A most attractive looking game and one that will stand a lot of hard wear.
The price is $1.75 each, and there are only ten in stock.

CHAPTER XXI.

Once more the captain looked down upon the dead body and distorted face with calm, grave complaisance.

The lawyer asked a few questions. "Can I see the hat?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," said the coastguard, approaching the cupboard.

While he was unlocking it, a thin, cadaverous looking man entered, in a quiet, careless sort of fashion, and went up close behind the lawyer.

"There's the hat, sir," said the guard. "It was found close near the corpse, and— Hello! Who are you?"

This was addressed to the intrusive stranger, who had suddenly pushed closer and stretched out his hand.

"What's that?" he said, pointing to a flower in the cupboard.

"That's a flower," returned the coastguard. "Praps you didn't hear me ask who you was?"

"Yes, I did," retorted the stranger mildly. "Where did you find that flower?"

The coastguard stared. "If you must know," he said, with dignity, "that flower was clinched tight in the dead man's hand!"

"It was, was it?" said the stranger, quietly, pushing up to the cupboard, and taking up the flower. "A Lily," he muttered. "I thought so."

Then, to the astonishment of the coastguard, he quietly shut the cupboard, locked it, and dropped the key in his pocket.

Then he turned, touched his hat to the gentlemen, who stood regarding him attentively, and said:

"My name's Dockett, gentlemen— Detective Dockett."

The captain made a gesture of assent. "Please not to mention that I'm here, gentlemen," said the detective. "I'd like to walk round quietly a bit before the yokels gets the scent of it."

"Certainly," said Mr. Thaxton, gravely. "Any assistance I can be to you, I shall be glad to render. My name is Thaxton, and I am Mrs. Mildmay's solicitor."

The detective touched his hat again. "Thank you, sir," he said. "I think I'd like a light trap in a quarter of an hour, and a smart chap who could show me the way to Coombe Lodge."

"Lord Lackland's?" said the captain. "The nearest magistrate," said the detective.

The captain glanced at Mr. Thaxton. At that moment the police inspector entered, hurriedly.

"Well," said the detective, "you can speak out."

"He's gone," said the inspector. "Leastways, I cannot find him, or any tidings of him."

The detective brightened up, as if by magic, and a sharp, ferrety expression came upon his face.

"What, already?" he said, quietly. "Have you posted a man at the station?"

"I did that last night," said the inspector.

"And telegraphed a description of him?"

"Yes," said the man.

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Flover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Flover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"Then I must have that light trap at once, if you please, gentlemen," said Mr. Dockett.

Hurriedly, the party left the station and ran down the path to the village. "For whom are you looking?" asked Mr. Thaxton of the detective.

"Mr. Leicester Dodson," said the detective, shortly. "It was his hat, and he was seen on the cliff road."

"But—but," said the captain, "it is impossible!"

The detective glanced at him, and smiled. "Nothing's impossible in a murder, sir, I think I can get a trap of a horse here quicker than going up to the Park. Here, saddle me a horse, sharp, boy, and I'll give you a shilling."

There was confusion instantly all around the "Blue Lion," at the door of which stood Martha, grim and fierce, as usual.

A horse was saddled, and, after giving a few instructions to the inspector, Detective Dockett dashed off.

The captain looked at Mr. Thaxton with perplexity and dismay.

"This is preposterous and ridiculous! Mr. Leicester Dodson is the most respected man in the place."

Mr. Thaxton shook his head gravely.

"The course the detective is adopting is inevitable," he said. "We had better get to the Cedars, and see his father or mother."

"Come along, then," said the captain, and the two gentlemen hurried off.

At the gates of the Cedars they found a policeman, and it was some moments before he would permit them to pass.

At last they succeeded in overcoming his scruples, and made their way to the house.

Mrs. Dodson came to them, pale and agitated, but her scorn at the mere idea of Leicester's committing such a deed helped to keep her up. She answered all their questions as she had done those of the inspector.

"Leicester is not here," she said, "and I cannot tell you where he is. He often goes away suddenly and unexpectedly. He may be in London, but, if he is, he will come down at once. I have telegraphed for him and his father, who went up with Mr. Lennox. What is all this silly story about a murder, Captain Murpoint?"

The captain did his best—or pretended to do—to reassure and soothe her, and Mr. Thaxton, after a few moments' silence, asked if he could see the valet.

Mrs. Dodson dispatched a messenger to find the valet who soon appeared, looking as bewildered as every one else.

He, however, threw some light upon the matter by informing them of the dispatch of the portmanteau.

"What!" exclaimed Mr. Thaxton. "Why did you not say so before?"

The man hung his head. He was a faithful fellow, and had hoped, by concealing his master's destination, that he should give him all the more time to get out of the way, "if so be as he had committed a mistake."

"Foolish fellow!" said Mr. Thaxton. "It is to your master's interest to return and clear up the matter. We must telegraph to the Isle of Man. If, as I suppose, Mr. Leicester started last night, he would not reach there until midday. Do not be alarmed, madam: he will assuredly hurry back posthaste, and set the affair straight, so far as he is concerned."

"That I am confident of, sir," said Mrs. Dodson, with simple dignity.

The two gentlemen rose and departed, the captain still excited, the lawyer very calm and thoughtful. They telegraphed, through the police, to the Isle of Man, and waited feverishly for an answer.

An answer came late that night. The "Wave" had come in, telegraphed the skipper of the yacht, but Mr. Leicester had not arrived by it.

Before midnight the hue and cry was in full voice, and the police were on the alert to arrest Leicester Dodson, wherever and whenever he might be found, on a charge of willful murder.

CHAPTER XXII.

The days rolled on in the little fishing village, and the terrible drama which had convulsed it was still talked of and remembered, but with less vividness every day.

Up at the Cedars two sorrowful human beings, clad in black, were earning that bitter lesson which all must learn, to suffer and to bear.

Violet was their sole comfort in the hour of darkness.

She had given them the only explanation of the tragedy they would accept, namely that Leicester had slain Starling in self-defence and had himself fallen over the cliff into the sea.

Violet's plump roundness gradually toned down to a sparseness which was grace itself, but, alas! strangely different to her old healthy vigor.

One other person beside the relations of Leicester mourned for him, and that was little, lame Jemmie, Willie Sanderson's brother.

To the poor, afflicted lad Leicester had seemed to be a beneficent god. The child adored the man who had, in so kindly and true a fashion, ministered to his wants, and no one shed more tears than little Jemmie.

In his little chair, which he could propel himself, he would haunt the Cedars, and the walks which had been favorite resorts of Leicester, and there weep over the memory of his great friend and hero.

One evening, the lad set off in his quiet, sad way for a walk, or, rather, ride on the cliff.

Impelled by an awful curiosity, the boy drove close to the edge of the cliff, and looked down.

He drew back, with a sob of grief, and was about to return, but, as he made the movement, his tear-dimmed eyes caught the glimmer of some object lying under the edge of the cliff, half hidden by the overhanging tufts of grass.

With a mechanical curiosity, he drew near to it, and saw, with a beating heart, that it was a knife.

Instantly it flashed upon him that it was the very knife with which Leicester had, in self-defence, slain Jim Starling.

With the knife hidden in his bosom, he returned home, determined to destroy the weapon, with its telltale rust of blood, on the first opportunity.

Of course, the doctor was not at all satisfied with the outward calm and serenity with which Violet bore her grief.

"It is all very well," he said to Mr. Thaxton, as he and that gentleman were smoking a cigar on the lawn and conferring together as to the state of Violet's health, "it is all very well to say that she is resigned, but I must confess that I do not like the word when it is applied to the numbness of a young girl. Could you not get up a little difficulty of some sort? Anything would answer the purpose to divert her mind from this terrible subject."

"Hem!" said Mr. Thaxton. "I have always avoided business, though, as you are aware, I was summoned to go into some matter. Every day I offer to touch upon the subject with Mrs. Mildmay she entreats me to wait a little and to remain."

"Yes," said the doctor, "and I am very glad you are here, but still I think I would attempt to interest her. Cannot Captain Murpoint assist us? He seems to have taken the management of affairs."

"Yes," said Mr. Thaxton, and his brow clouded slightly. "Captain Murpoint is invaluable; he is extremely clever, and seems to obtain implicit obedience here."

At that moment Captain Murpoint came on to the lawn.

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Feb. 8.

The Governor, Newfoundland: The French Government reports capture by the British of an enemy position in a brickfield east of Cuiuechy.

The Russian Government reports very fierce fighting in East Prussia, where the enemy were repulsed, and further progress on the left bank of the Bzura (where an important point, D'Appui, was captured).

Fighting has proceeded along the whole Carpathian front, the Russians capturing guns, about fifty officers and two thousand five hundred men.

In Bukovina, where the Russians have fallen back, fighting proceeds in their favor. Many guns, and over ten thousand prisoners were captured by one Russian Army Corps between January 26th and February 5th.

In Egypt no further fighting is reported, but the Arabs and Turkish Anatolian soldiers are deserting and surrendering.

AVIATORS IN EGYPT.

CAIRO, Feb. 8.

Three Turkish batteries, east of the Suez Canal, were wrecked and another badly damaged in an attack by two British aviators on Saturday, who covered a distance of 132 miles in their flight, returning safely.

ADDITIONAL FORCE OF 32,000.

LONDON, Feb. 8.

The naval estimates issued this evening, ask Parliament to vote for an additional force of 32,000 officers and men. This would bring the total personnel for the present year up to 250,000 men. Concluding his speech on the Army estimates, Mr. Tennant, Parliamentary Secretary to the War Office, said: I shall make no forecast of the duration of the war, but I am convinced that not a single member of this House is despondent; that there is not a member but is determined that there shall be only one issue, and that the Allies shall dictate terms of peace. The efforts of the Nation are worthy of her past, and the exploits and bravery of the Army are worthy to rank with the best records of any army at any time.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

PARIS, via St. Pierre, Feb. 8. Official.—From the sea to the Oise, artillery duels are quite violent.

In Cuiuechy region, west of La Base, at southwest of Carency, we have succeeded in a raid on a German trench which has been captured by a mine, and of which all the defenders were killed or captured.

On the remainder of the front of the Aisne and in Champagne there have been intermittent bombardments, and the efficiency of our artillery has been noted on several points. West of Hill 191, north of Massiges, our batteries have stopped a fresh attack.

In Argonne a German attack has been repulsed near Fontaine Madame.

At Bagatelle a violent infantry action has been engaged in since early morning by the Germans. At latest communiques, all our positions were maintained. On the rest of the front there is nothing to report.

Quickest, Surest Cough Remedy is Home-Made

Quickly Prepared in a Few Minutes. Cheap but Effective!

Some people are constantly annoyed from one year's end to the other with a persistent bronchial cough, which is wholly unnecessary. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make you wonder what because of it. Get 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any druggist, pour into a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking it at once. Gradually but surely you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether, thus ending a cough that you never thought would end. It also loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals the inflammation in a painful cough with remarkable rapidity. Ordinary coughs are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, winter coughs and bronchial asthma. This Pinex and Sugar Syrup mixture makes 16 ounces—enough to last a family a long time—at a cost of only 54 cents. Keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant. Easily prepared. Full directions with Pinex. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in gualacal, and is famous the world over for its ease, certainty and promptness in overcoming bad coughs, chest and throat colds.

Get the genuine. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces Pinex" and do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

ratified code of law," Neil Primrose, Parliamentary Under Secretary for the Foreign Office, to-day told Admiral Beresford, in the Commons, in reply to a question. Primrose added that, subject to certain modifications, the British Government was prepared to adopt the Declaration of London during the present period of hostilities, but in view of the recent German announcement of an intention to disregard the laws and customs of the sea, a further modification of British practice might be necessitated. The Declaration of London, which is an international agreement governing the taking of prizes in naval warfare, was adopted at a Conference of the chief naval Powers of the World in 1908-1909.

CHURCHILL IS RETICENT.

LONDON, Feb. 8.

Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, refused in the Commons to-day to disclose the result of the investigation made by the Admiralty into a report mentioned in the Commons last week by Mr. Stewart, that a German submarine operating in British waters, had received fresh supplies of fuel oil from a vessel direct from a British port. He said it would not be in the public interest to make this known. The export of fuel oil from this country was prohibited, the speaker declared. He declined also to discuss the sinking of the British battleship Formidable, except to say that the Admiralty had considered the circumstances of the loss of this vessel. She went down in the English Channel on the first of January, with the loss of six hundred men, having been struck by a mine or a German submarine, and it did not propose to hold any inquiry or court martial. Other questions relating to the war asked in the House to-day, revealed the fact that 30 out of 36 interned German steamers had been placed in the British coasting trade with the result that freight rates had been reduced.

Economy

GAS COKE yields 44 per cent of radiant heat, whereas coal gives only 19 per cent, under the same conditions.

GAS COKE is clean to handle. GAS COKE is smokeless. GAS COKE gives a clear red glow. GAS COKE lasts longer than coal. Light the fire with paper and sticks and a little coal. When once burning make it up with Coke, the cheapest solid fuel.

For a limited time only, the St. John's Gas Light Company will deliver in any part of the town at $6.50 per ton, or $3.25 per half ton.

AMBULANCE CALL.—The ambulance was called to Battery Road yesterday and conveyed to the General Hospital Mr. James Nichols, who will be operated on for a serious internal ailment.

BACK FROM CAMPAIGN.—There arrived by last night's train Mr. J. C. Morris, of the Recruiting Committee, who had been conducting a campaign along the West Coast for the past four weeks.

VESSEL JAMMED.—The name of the vessel reported by the s.s. Bellaventure jammed in the ice off Placentia Bay, on Sunday morning, while that steamer was on her way here from North Sydney, is the Annie Marcia, bound from Louisbourg to this port with a cargo of coal.

PORTA REACHED PLACENTIA.—The loosening of the ice floe at Placentia enabled the coastal steamer Porta to get in there yesterday afternoon. Owing to the heavy ice reported between Cap Race and Cape Spear, the ship is not expected to reach here before some time tomorrow morning.

TUESDAY, Feb. 9th, 1914.

Man for Man.

According to recent messages, the British Parliament is being asked to provide for Three million soldiers and a quarter of a million sailors. Even for the Navy this is an addition of 100,000 men to the 150,000 standard before the war. But in the case of the Army the increase is almost four-fold what was considered the war-footing of the Army before the War. The fact that Germany and Austria has been kept busy by France, Russia, Belgium and Serbia and the British Expeditionary force, and that the British Navy has maintained a supremacy at sea has given time for extensive recruiting, training and organizing, so that within six months of the commencement of the war, quite a formidable British army even on the continental scale has been brought into being. Apparently the voluntary system has been highly successful for little is heard now in the Press of the need of conscription. Indeed, a million men outside of military age, have voluntarily organized themselves, paid their own way, equipped themselves at their own expense, and forced a reluctant recognition from the War Office, which in giving recognition to them, insisted that they should make no calls on the War Office for money for any purposes. These men are training themselves for Home Defence. It is a splendid tribute to the spirit of voluntarism. We are glad to find that Mr. Rowell, K.C., in his address at Halifax advocated that Canada should respond man for man with the Old Country. His estimate was that it would call for an enrolment and training of 300,000. His estimate is however much below the mark. If Canada is to provide for men for the army at the rate Britain is providing, it will call for a Canadian Army of at least 500,000 men, and even this would leave out of account any response for the Navy, and not reckoning any voluntary organization, like the Home Defence Army, for which there is no call in Canada. It is, however, pleasing to note the strong advocacy by Mr. Rowell of a man for man response by Canada to put itself nearer on a par with the Home Country.

Rather Sensational.

When the mystery surrounding the wholesale thefts that have been going on in the city is cleared up, there will be some startling disclosures made. Since the young woman, who was arrested a week ago, charged with embezzling goods from Blair's store and remanded, the police detectives have been busily engaged making a searching investigation. An examination of the home of the accused has discovered four large boxes full of goods of various kinds. Last night and this morning the authorities have been busy itemizing the articles. A considerable amount of goods has been found in connection with the Garland robbery, also, and a long inventory of it made. The accused in the Blair case will be arraigned before Judge Knight on Thursday.

Mechanics' Society Nominations.

The regular quarterly meeting of the St. John's Mechanics' Society was held last night. The Treasurer submitted the quarterly financial report which was considered satisfactory, after which the following were nominated as officers for the ensuing year: President, John P. Scott; V.P., Maurice Colbert; 1st Ass. V.P., Andrew H. O'Keefe; 2nd Ass. V.P., Francis Gushner; 1st Treasurer, Michael W. Myrick; 2nd Treasurer, Thos. Dunn; 3rd Treasurer, William Mackey; Secretary, James A. Leahy; G.M., John Priston. After the regular routine the meeting adjourned until March 3rd, at 8 p.m.

REIDS' BOATS.—The Ethie sails from Placentia for the westward after the arrival of to-day's regular traffic; the Glencoe sails from Placentia at 5 p.m. to-day; the Kyle arrived at Port aux Basques at 7.35 p.m. yesterday, and sailed again for North Sydney at 9.05 a.m. to-day.

A BLANK CHEQUE FOR THE ARMY.

LONDON, To-day. For the first time in 200 years, Britain to-day invited the Commons to give it a Blank Cheque for army purposes. This virtually is the effect of the new precedent set up by the introduction of army estimates without details and without aggregates of expenditures, and after Parliament has voted a nominal sum of 1,000 pounds sterling under each of 15 groups of expenditures, it will then vote supplies without limit for an army of three million men to be accounted for when the war is over.

TURKS RETREAT.

LONDON, To-day. The Official Press Bureau has made public an official despatch received from Cairo, which states that the Turkish Army is in full retreat eastward. There are no enemy forces within 20 miles of the Suez Canal, except small scattering rear guards.

TRENCH FIGHTING.

LONDON, To-day.—(Official.) During the night of February 6th, the enemy exploded three series of mines at La Boisselle in front of a village which we occupied. Two companies and a half were then sent against our position but were not able to get beyond an excavation formed by the explosions. During the course of the afternoon, Feb. 7th, the counter attack executed by one of our companies drove the enemy from the excavations which we immediately occupied. The Germans left 200 dead on the ground. To the north of Mesnil Les Hurles, on the night of Feb. 5th, we captured the forest where the enemy had been solidly established. In Argonne the action in which infantry were engaged at Bagatelle, was prolonged throughout the night of Feb. 7th and 8th, the Germans, after having made some progress, were able to occupy at day-break of the 8th only a particularly part of our more advanced line round which the struggle continued during the day.

QUEBEC GOVERNOR DEAD.

UNDER SECRETARY ON WAR FORCES.

LONDON, To-day. Tennant paid a warm tribute to the Territorial troops, whose value and efficiency, he declared, had been proved by recent events to be unquestioned. The British design of aeroplane, the Secretary contended has been found superior to that used by any other country. The speaker said also that as a result of the excellence of the sanitary services, cases of enteric fever were rare, and that evidence was accumulating that inoculation ought to be made compulsory. Tennant said he was debarred from dwelling upon the size and the distribution of British forces. The enemy desires more than anything else to know the force we may have in future. The speaker explained the recruiting on the whole had been satisfactory. No cause for discontent still exists, but we want more men in this life and death struggle. Tennant said that Lord Kitchener was considering the possibility of issuing a medal at the end of the war for technical workers employed by armament firms who were serving their country faithfully. In making the declaration that the troops have been brought from India, Australia, South Africa and Canada without a single casualty, the Under-Secretary remarked what the total number of these men is known, this will be thought an extraordinary feat.

SILENCE AT DANZIG.

LONDON, To-day. The Mail's Copenhagen correspondent considers it a significant fact that since Sunday all telegraphic communication with Danzig, near the mouth of the Vistula River, bordering on the Baltic Sea ceased. Danzig is a base for a great part of the German fleet. All neutral steamers lying in the harbour there have been prohibited from sending out telegrams or letters. All timber shipments between Denmark and Danzig have all stopped according to correspondent.

CANADIAN THIRD CONTINGENT.

HALIFAX, To-day. Instructions for recruiting for the third contingent of the 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles and the 40th Infantry Battalion in the Maritime Provinces has been issued. The Mounted Rifles will consist of 500 men and the Infantry 1,000.

WILLIAM REDMOD'S COMMISSION.

DUBLIN, To-day. William Redmond, brother of John Redmond, has been made a commissioned officer in the Royal Irish regiment.

FOUGHT GERMANS TO A STANDSTILL.

LONDON, To-day. The Daily Mail's correspondent at Petrograd telegraphs: The Russians have fought the Germans to a standstill, but their force which crossed the Bzura has a difficult task before it. The German second line of trenches in this quarter are of immense strength. The Kaiser's arrival in Poland suggests that the Germans intend to make a final attempt to capture Warsaw in his honor. The correspondent of the Times at Petrograd says it is thought in authoritative circles that a fresh lull on the Bzura may be due to the withdrawal of part of the German troops from the Bzura and the Rawka in order to reinforce the armies in Eastern Russia and the Carpathians. The retirement of Russian sections in Bukovina is not regarded here as an indication of failure, but rather as a manoeuvre directed by a desire to occupy a more advantageous position; for instance, to fall back to the plains in order to facilitate the deployment of Russians during the operations in the mountain regions. It often happens that positions adapted for artillery are unsuitable for the assumption of an active movement.

Volunteer Meets With Accident.

At noon to-day a young man named Stephen King, belonging to No. 2 Company of the Second Contingent, met with a painful accident that will incapacitate him for, at least, a few weeks. He was passing along Water Street when a horse, with a long cart attached, suddenly came out of a water-front archway. In trying to avoid being run over by the horse, King got his leg caught beneath one of the wheels, which passed over the leg, breaking it between the knee and ankle. Passersby hurried to the young man's aid, after which Sergeant Furlong put him in a carriage and drove him to the police station. No doctor could be had there and the injured volunteer was conveyed to the General Hospital for treatment.

Supreme Court.

Court met at 11 a.m. to-day pursuant to adjournment. Present, the Chief Justice.

Thomas Freeman vs. the Government of Newfoundland.

This is an action to set aside and have declared null and void certain mining locations situate at Juke's Seam, being about 20 chains northeast from the junction of Small Brook and Little Barachois, in the electoral district of St. George's. The petitioner therefore claims: (1) That the application of Samuel J. Foote of date Oct. 13th, 1913, was irregular and should have not been accepted by the Minister of Agriculture and Mines; (2) That the receipts for the license fee and stamp issued on the 13th day of October, 1913, and the receipt for the rent and stamp issued on October 1914 be set aside and declared void; (3) That the petitioner is entitled to a lease of the said location for 99 years from the 17th day of October, 1914; (4) The execution of a lease for the said location; (5) such further and other relief as the case may require.

Kent, K.C., moves that the further K.C., for Government of Nfld.; H. E. Knight for S. J. Foote.

Kent, K.C., moves that the further hearing of the matter be adjourned till Thursday next, the 11th inst., at 11 a.m. Furlong and Knight consent. It was ordered that the case be adjourned till Thursday next, at 11 a.m. Abraham Temple, et al. vs. The Reid Nfld. Co.

On motion this cause is adjourned sine die.

ALLIES HAVE FIVE MILLION FRESH TROOPS.

London, Jan. 28.—The French and British armies, reinforced by nearly five million fresh troops, are preparing to launch a terrific offensive against the Germans in the western theatre of war.

This was reported here to-day, after it had become known that President Poincare of France paid a secret visit to London last week and conferred with King George, Premier Asquith and the Secretary of State for War, Earl Kitchener.

The exact date of the general offensive is not known, but it is believed that it will come later in the winter or early in the spring.

GERMAN LOSS OFF FALKLANDS.

Amsterdam, Jan. 29.—The Handelsblad says that news has reached Kiel to the effect that the admiral and nine staff officers of the German squadron were killed in the naval battle off the Falkland Islands between the British and German squadrons.

The commanders of four cruisers also met death in the battle. The newspaper says the commander of the German cruiser Nurnberg, when leaving Honolulu Sept. 1, declared to the German Consul there "the Nurnberg will be our coffin, but we will not surrender."

To a Recruit.

Now is your time of trial, now When into the dust the glamor pales And the first glow of passion falls And lit your eyes and flushed your brow In that great moment when you made your vow.

The Vision fades; you scarce recall The sudden swelling of the heart, The swift resolve to have your part. In this noblest quest of all By which our word is given to stand or fall.

Your mother's pride; your comrades' praise— All that romance that seemed so fair Grows dim and you are left to bear The prose of duty's sombre ways. The labor of the long unlovely days.

Yet here's the test to prove you kin With those to whom we trust our fate. Sober and steadfast, clean and straight, In that stern school of discipline Hardened to war against the foe within.

For only so, in England's sight, By that ordeal's searching flame Found worthy of your father's fame With all your spirit's armor bright Can you go forth in her dear cause to fight.

PRUSSIAN LIST OF CASUALTIES NEARLY REACHES MILLION.

Amsterdam, Jan. 29. — Prussian casualties in the war up to January 21 had reached the enormous total of 988,960, according to figures published by the Nieuw-Rotterdam Courant. It says that these figures are taken from 141 lists of Prussian losses, and continues:

"This total comprises, killed, wounded and missing, the wounded numbering 615,059. Of these about 40 per cent have already returned to the front.

"To the total of 988,960 will have to be added 140 Bavarian, ninety-six Saxon, ninety-nine Wurttembergian and fourteen naval casualty lists to show the complete losses of the Teutonic armies."

British is Lightest.

It's Heavy, But Not as Burdensome as Other Soldiers Carry.

When the British soldier goes on active service his outfit is very different from that which he wears in times of peace. A war outfit is severely practical. Everything ornamental ruthlessly goes by the board.

While wagons are provided for spare kits, in the field the soldier has to carry nearly all his wardrobe. Although the men may "grouch" at the weight of their arms and equipment, it is nothing compared with the loads carried by Continental troops. The French, Belgian, and Russian soldiers are not only burdened with heavy knapsacks, but they also have to fight in their greatcoats.

Every member of the British Expeditionary Force wears an "identification disc." This is a small circular piece of aluminum, suspended round the neck by a cord.

Other items of active service kit which the soldier always has on his person are a field dressing packet and an emergency ration. The field dressing packet consists of a cotton bandage, a pad of gauze, and a safety-pin; and the emergency ration contains a small quantity of compressed meat and vegetables.

War equipment is officially divided into two classes—"personal" and "regimental." Under the former heading come the belts, arms, ammunition and accoutrements that the soldier carries with him in the field. Regimental equipment means additional clothing, blankets, tents, saddlery, rations, forage, etc., and the necessary transport wagons to convey such stores. Until actually wanted, regimental equipment is kept in camp.

Tents, blankets and spare kits are also carried in baggage wagons. An officer's field-service kit is a good deal larger than a private soldier's. The principal items are the following: Service jacket, trousers, breeches, greatcoat, drab shirt, puttees, "Sam Browne" belt, haversack, water-bottle, lanyard and whistle. Most officers who know what campaigning means will add certain extras. Among such are a knitted jersey or sweater, a money belt, spare shirts, socks and handkerchiefs, a tin of dubbin, a sleeping cap, a small medicine case, and a "housewife." This last item is very necessary, as socks and shirts wear out very quickly on the march and have to be constantly repaired.

An officer also wants a certain amount of camp equipment in the field. These various items are divided into "war-kit" and "field-kit." The former consists of a sleeping-bag, cork mattress, blanket-bag, pillow and bucket, and costs about $32.50. A flask, aluminum cup, brush and comb and shaving tackle, etc., are other desirable adjuncts. The "war-kit" is rather more elaborate, as it includes such articles as a mirror, basin, bath, bedstead, sheets, lantern, canteen, hold-all, and small tent. The two kits together cost from $60 to $75.

$500,000,000 Drop

In Russian Revenue in Abolishing Liquor.—Plan to Keep Finances of Various Countries Running Smoothly.

Petrograd, Jan. 28.—The official report made by the ways and means Committee of the Duma last night, indicated that despite the war the Government estimates of its ordinary income from direct taxes during the coming year will exceed that of last year by 55,457,000 rubles ($33,228,500). The direct taxes will be approximately 342,365,000 rubles ($171,232,500).

This is the first budget in which the income from alcoholic drinks will be eliminated. From nearly a billion rubles ($500,000,000) from this source the Government revenue will drop to a few million rubles, which will accrue from the sale of industrial spirits.

The Government anticipates no difficulty in raising by indirect taxes a sufficient amount to cover the deficiency due to lack of revenue from the sale of liquor. Notwithstanding the great percentage of laborers in the ranks of the army it is pointed out that the efficiency of those remaining owing to the enforced sobriety, has been increased from fifty to one hundred percent. Unofficially it is learned that at a meeting in Paris between David Lloyd George, the British Chancellor; Alexandre Rebot, the French Minister of Finance, and Pierre L. Bark, the Russian Minister of Finance, there will be elaborated a plan to create a means of continuing the war, keep the finances of the respective countries running smoothly, and maintain the currency of the countries at near par.

CHAPPED HANDS AND COLD SORES

Are your hands chapped, cracked, or sore? Have you "cold cracks" which open and bleed when the skin is drawn tight? Have you a cold sore, frost bite, or chiblain, which at times makes it agony for you to go about your duties? If so, Zam-Buk will give you relief, and will heal the frost-damaged skin.

Miss B. Stroja, of East Hamford, N.S., writes: "My hands were so badly chapped I was unable to put them in water. All remedies failed to heal until I tried Zam-Buk. Perseverance with this balm completely healed the sores."

Zam-Buk heals cuts, burns, bruises, cures eczema, piles, chapped hands, cold sores, frost bites, and all skin diseases. It is a sure relief. See substitutes. At all drugists and stores, 50c. box.

The Social Highway—Woman.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

There is a certain species of highway-man—usually by the way, they are of the gentler sex, so perhaps I better say highway woman—while, though it is less dangerous to society than the ordinary kind, is rather more obnoxious and annoying. I refer to those marauders who go about holding up their friends and acquaintances for information at the point of a conversational revolver. And that conversational revolver is a point blank question.

How Much Rent Do You Pay?
A letter friend tells me that she has one such acquaintance who stops at nothing. "How much rent do you pay?" was one of her holdups. Another was, "Is there a mortgage on your home?" And on still another occasion she fired the point blank question, "Is your sister engaged?"

Of course the most obvious way out is to refuse to quail before the highway-woman's point blank questions and firmly deny her the information she demands. But this is not always so easy as it at first appears, for there are some questions which to refuse to answer is to answer. To be sure you can balk her desire to know how much rent you pay by saying that you prefer not to tell her. But how about "Is there a mortgage on your house?" or "Is your sister engaged?" If you refuse to answer will not the inference be that she hence gives assent?

Your Information or Your Reputation?

Besides, the social highway-woman demands your information or your reputation. Give her one or she may try to take the other. And she is not at all a good person to anger.

Once upon a time there was a perfectly shameless highway-woman and she asked a young girl if she loved a young man who frequently called on her, enough to marry him. As the young man had never even remotely hinted that he wished to marry her, the girl was much upset at the question and told the social highway-woman that of course she didn't love him and that it was none of her business anyway. Whereat the social highway-woman, who knew intimate friends of the man in question, re-venge herself by permitting the information to leak through to him that the girl disliked him and was, with difficulty, concealing her aversion to his visits.

That was some years ago and the girl, after a period of grief at the break which followed, has since married a better man, but you can be sure that wasn't the social highway-woman's fault.

Of course, we would like to ignore the social highway-woman or treat her with the scornful contempt which she deserves, but then that's what germs or snakes deserve, yet when you meet diphtheria germs or a rattlesnake you do not ignore them or treat them with scornful contempt.

What is one to do, then, with the social highway-woman? Don't ask me. I entirely lack the fibre to cope with her. Of course we—meaning society in the big sense of the word—ought to be able to punish social highway robbery with social imprisonment; in other words, ostracism. But I'm afraid we haven't yet reached that stage of civilization where such concerted action for the punishment of moral crime is possible.

Ruth Cameron

Banker Thinks Germany

CAN FIGHT A YEAR LONGER.

London, Feb. 8.—Sir Edward Hopkinson Holden, chairman of the London City and Midland Bank, Ltd., in a review of Germany's war finances at a meeting of the bank, expressed his opinion that there would be no cessation of the war within twelve months owing to the gold position of Germany. The war, he said, might last even longer, but it might come to a close for other reasons.

Sir Edward estimated that Germany had already made financial provisions until June, when the Reichsbank, he thought, would doubtless be again called upon to provide funds. The question was, how often could this operation be repeated. The war was costing Germany £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) a day.

Sir Edward expressed the hope that if the question of exporting gold should come up English bankers would be of as much assistance to their country as American bankers had been to theirs and would place their gold at the disposal of the Bank of England. He continued:

"Germany's exports undoubtedly will fall off to a much greater extent than her imports, and the adverse balance will have to be paid in gold. Superhuman efforts are being made to increase the gold reserve in the Reichsbank, which now amounts to $30,000,000.

"Plans for the financial mobilization of Germany were worked out long before the war. When hostilities began war banks were created in all the important towns and war bank notes were issued for the purpose of driving gold from circulation. There was one defect, however—the Reichsbank note which replaced the gold became inconvertible into gold and the note thereupon fell to a discount."

Sir Edward said he expected the first weak spot would show itself in Austria-Hungary and that the war would begin to break down there. Even if Austria-Hungary pledged its properties and securities as Germany has done, and found enough gold to pay the balance of imports, it is difficult to believe that the country would be able to continue the war for any great length of time, unless Germany helped her financially.

Faultlessly Correct.

An American paper, the "Rochester Post Express," says that Japan is all right, and says it in this wise:

The Japan Times points out that the Japanese freeholders in America have less than twenty thousand acres, and that the land in Japan held under perpetual lease by American missionaries, hospitals, churches and schools is of about equal area, while the leaseholders have a security of property and an equality of opportunity which no Japanese land owners in our Western States possess.

"The entrance of Japan into the war at the request of her ally and in fulfillment of her treaty obligations is so deeply resented by the Teutonic alliance and Americans in sympathy with it that no pains are spared to find any fault or falling which can be charged to the Mikado's government. But Japan has thus far been impeccable and correct beyond criticism, as if resolved to show the world that she was as honorable and scrupulous as any Western power could be. When Japan suggested the German retirement from Tsing Tau in precisely the same language in which Germany had requested her withdrawal from Port Arthur, Japan had one million dollars in gold in German banks. Germany seized this at once and in addition arrested every Japanese who was sojourning in the empire. But German money in Tokio banks was not touched, German teachers and tutors were not discharged, German business men were in no way interfered with, and Germans in the islands were free to go and come as they chose, politely treated, unbothered, unharmed, and were permitted to sail for home on Japanese ships in order to do military duty. On top of this Japan paid, a fortnight ago when it was due, her annual interest on obligations held by German citizens or banks.

In all her relations with Western peoples or powers Japan's course has been exemplary, her courtesy perfect, her consideration complete. No nation, as far as known, has found Japan amiss in anything which the highest standard of ethics is held to require of civilized Christianized States.

FROM THE UNITED STATES. New York, Feb. 3.—The World this morning says editorially: "No international complications can possibly result from the attempt of a German to blow up the Canadian Pacific railway bridge which spans the St. Croix River. The man is a foreign subject who went from the U. S. into Canada and committed a crime, then he returned to the United States where he was arrested. The Canadian authorities demand his extradition and the United States government will naturally grant the request. He will be taken back to Canada, which has jurisdiction over his crime, and be tried for the offense that he has committed. The fact that he calls himself a German officer and pretends that his criminal exploit was a political act is no concern of the United States. He might have gone over to Canada and robbed a bank or forged a check or killed a policeman and call it a political act, but the United States government would be unlikely to agree with him.

Sir John French

ON SECRET VISIT TO LONDON AGAIN. London, January 20.—Again unknown to the British public, Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces in France and Belgium, has paid another flying visit to London, conferred with the King and the War Council and returned to the front without a word of his trip appearing in the newspapers. Contrary to precedent, the King called on Sir John at his residence, 94 Lancaster Gate W., instead of Sir John going to Buckingham Palace. Sir John crossed the Channel and reached London on Tuesday morning, January 12. Dressed in a dark suit and a Derby, no one recognized him either on the train from the coast or when he stepped from a motor car in front of his house.

Hundred Thousand British in Egypt.

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 17 (Correspondence)—Great Britain has at the present time more than one hundred thousand troops in Egypt to repel Turkish attacks. Cairo has assumed the aspect of a garrison town. The big hotels have become the quarters of the higher officers, while the Australian soldiers, with much spare time and plenty of money, have monopolized every bar, music hall, picture palace and dancing hall, almost wholly replacing the civilian element. Instead of the misery that the outbreak of the war seemed to presage, Cairo has acquired a military-tourist population with some $25,000 a day to spend. In the last six weeks some fifty new bars and taverns have been opened. At the foot of the Pyramids lies the camp of the Australians, stretching out against the gently sloping hills, the tents from the distance seeming like giant white birds on the red brown sands. On the border of the cultivated land, as near as possible to the water, is the cavalry, and more to the west lie the bell-shaped tents of the infantry. The famous road to the Pyramids has been entirely altered in appearance. What was once a week ago the show ground of the aristocracy of Cairo in its carriages and automobiles, has now become the great artery for an army of thousands, carrying an unending stream of hay, meat and flour to the small military town on the edge of the wilderness.

Have You an Itchy Spot?

Somewhere on your body? If so, attend to it at once. In Eczema—and itchy spots, whether dry and scurfy, or moist and inclined to "weep," are generally eczematous—delays are foolish, allowing the disease to spread and affect more of the good skin. Your best chance for a cure is to use Zylex, which will give almost instant relief, and if used in the earlier stages of the trouble will almost certainly bring a cure, and in any event will greatly ameliorate the trouble. Ask your druggist about it. Price 50c. a box. Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake. ZYLEX, London.

GERMANS USING NEW PROJECTILES.

London, Jan. 29.—A recital of recent developments in the war by the official observer attached to British military headquarters, given out here to-day, includes a description of new projectiles employed by the Germans. "In some parts of our front the Germans are firing a new type of high explosive shell, detonating with a cloud of thick white smoke," the report says. "The mine thrower also occasionally throws a very large grey bomb or aerial torpedo, three feet nine inches long, and nearly ten inches wide. It weighs more than 200 pounds." ### At the Crescent.

The Crescent Picture Palace was well attended last night and patrons were delighted with the fine show presented. "The Menace to Carlotta" is a fine picture of Italian life in a big American city, and held the audience from start to finish. The story is splendidly portrayed by the Rex Co., featuring Pauline Bush and Murdock MacQuarrie. "Nugget Nell's Ward," a frontier Western melodrama full of interest and certainly a beautiful love story. A full reel of "Universal Animated Weekly" showing happenings of interest all over the world. "The Girl Bandit" is certainly some comedy; the girl, for a joke, turns bandit, but loses her nerve at the wrong time.

J. O'Neil Farrell sings "The Man Who Fights the Fire," and delighted patrons last night. This show will be repeated this afternoon and to-night, and big houses are assured. Don't miss seeing this and watch the Crescent ads. for our mid-week show.

Wonderful for the Blood.

Cares Sallow Skin, Headache, Languor and Tiredness. You don't need to be told how you feel—blue, sort of sickish, poor appetite, vague pains, tired in the morning. This condition is common at this season.

Fortunately there is prompt relief in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which immediately relieve the system of all poisons and disease-producing matter.

Thousands have been so utterly depressed, so worn out as to be dependent, but Dr. Hamilton's Pills always cured them. "I can speak feelingly on the power of Dr. Hamilton's Pills," writes C. T. Fearman, of Kingston. "Last spring my blood was thin and weak, I was terribly run down, had awful headaches and a stinging, empty feeling about my stomach. I couldn't sleep or work until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they did me a world of good." At all dealers in 25c. boxes.

Hockey Notes.

On account of the mild spurt of weather, the Feltians-St. Bon's intercollegiate match and the Victoria-Feldian League game set down for this forenoon and evening, respectively, have been postponed and will be played as soon as conditions are suitable. The League contest is being eagerly looked forward to, as the result will have an important bearing, the Feltians not having lost a game thus far.

The Night School.

Under the direction of Rev. Dr. Greene and the Christian Brothers, the opening session of the night school was held at the Star of the Sea Hall last night, and was largely attended. The number of teachers who came forward to assist in the laudable work augurs well for its success.

After a few brief remarks by Rev. Dr. Greene the work of classification began, and in this respect it is pleasing to note the enthusiasms with which the adults took the places assigned them by the teachers who have sacrificed so much of their time in their interests. The lay staff is in charge of Mr. W. F. Tregean, who has with him several teachers of many years experience.

At the close last night Rev. Bro. Kennedy addressed those present, emphasizing the importance of education, and exhorting them to attend regularly. The school is undenominational and will be open from 7.30 to 9.30 on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Star Tournament.

Nearly two hundred players took part in the card tournament at the Star of the Sea Rooms last night. Five prizes: half ton of coal, box of cigars, tub of butter, leg of pork, and half barrel of potatoes were offered, and the competition was keen throughout. The winners were Messrs. Lettridge, Healey, Noftall, Power and Butt.

Dernburg Denies He Made Statement

Requesting United States to Aid Germany in Attempt to Control Seas.

Minneapolis, Feb. 1.—That any idea of involving the United States in the present European war would be "quite criminal, and every well wisher of this country should be entirely foreign to that idea," was the assertion made to-night by Dr. Dernburg, former Colonial Secretary of the German Empire, who was a guest of honor at a banquet given by the Germanic Society of Minneapolis. This statement was brought forth by published reports, quoting from Dr. Dernburg's address before the Civic Association here to-day to the effect that the combined fleets of the United States and Germany could curb Great Britain in her "arrogant policy" of controlling the seas. In reference to this, Dr. Dernburg issued the following statement:

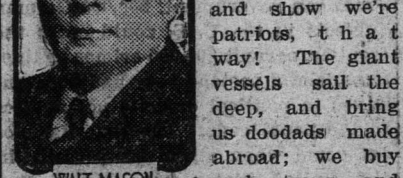

"There is no truth in the statement purporting to come from me that I had asked the United States aid for freeing ocean traffic through the combining of the fleets of the United States and Germany. What I said was that Germany was engaged in a fight over Great Britain's control of the seven seas; a topic in which the United States also is interested. But I never suggested, nor hinted, that the United States should be dragged into the war."

The Nova Scotia "Lumber King" says: "I consider MINARD'S LINIMENT the best LINIMENT in use. I got my foot badly jammed lately. I bathed it well with MINARD'S LINIMENT and it was as well as ever next day."

Yours very truly, T. G. McMULLEN.

HOME MADE.

Why send afar, to Cork or Rome, for Sunday hats or bales of hay? Let's buy the goods we make at home, and show we're patriots, 't h a t way! The giant vessels sail the deep, and bring us doodads made abroad; we buy such traps, and fall to keep our money on our native sod. Those ships take back our hard earned cash, to pay the freight for Europe's kings; to pay for bottled succotash, and stuff we grow at home, by jings. My wife's new lid was made in France, and 't is a phony thing, indeed; the broadcloth in my Sunday pants was manufactured by the Freed. The sautee the grocer sent to-day was brought from Lannon in a crate; it costs like blitzen—I must pay the duty added to the freight. We sing our patriotic songs, and boost the wares of Europe, or Greece, and we ship them in from Southern France. And, as I write, a hundred barks bring curleycons across the foam; oh, profit by these junk remarks, and learn to buy your junk at home!

The Search-Lights.

(By Alfred Noyes, in the "Times," London.) "Political morality differs from individual morality, because there is no power above the State."—General Von Bernhardi.

Shadow by shadow, script for fight, The lean black cruisers search the sea. Night long their level shafts of light Revolve and find no enemy. Only they know each leaping wave May hide the lightning and their grave:

And, in the land they guard so well, Is there no silent watch to keep? An age is dying, and the bell Rings midnight on a vaster deep; But over all its waves once more The search-lights move from shore to shore:

And captains that we thought were dead, And dreamers that we thought were dumb, And voices that we thought were fled Arise and call us, and we come: And "Search in thine own soul," they cry, "For there, too, lurks thine enemy."

Search for the foe in thine own soul, The sloth, the intellectual pride, The trivial jest that veils the goal For which our fathers lived and died; The lawless dreams, the cynic art, That rend thy nobler self apart.

Not far, not far into the night These level swords of light can pierce: Yet for her faith does England fight, Her faith in this our universe, Believing Truth and Justice draw From founts of everlasting law.

Therefore a Power above the State, The unconquerable Power, returns, The fire, the fire that made her great, Once more upon her altar burns. Whole, whole, She moves to the Eternal Goal.

How To Read Character

FROM THE EYES. Character reading from the features is an interesting study in which most people indulge, though perhaps unconsciously. A man is heard frequently to remark that he never judges a person by external appearances; but let a person apply to this same man for a position, and the first thing he will do will be to make a mental estimate of the character, ability, and general condition of the applicant. And he does this from outward appearances entirely.

When a man applies for a job, look at his eyes. More signs of character are expressed through the eyes than any other feature. The eye is the window to the brain, and through it an expert character reader can often see a tale that would be lost to the average person. A guilty eye has sent more than one criminal to meet his fate, and a steady, unflinching one has helped many a man through a serious difficulty.

No two pairs of eyes are exactly alike, and it would be impossible to give any fixed set of rules for reading character from the eyes. A person must rely upon his own keen judgment for that. However, here are a few general hints on the characteristics that usually accompany different types of eyes.

Large, clear, blue eyes usually denote sensibility of character, and a capacity and willingness for work. Their owner is also likely to be fond of enjoyment, jealous, and often inquisitive.

Deep-set eyes receive impressions accurately and definitely. Great thinkers usually have had cold gray eyes, for gray is the color of shrewdness and talent. Eyes of this description generally denote better heads than hearts.

Green eyes are rare, and are seen more frequently in women than in men. They denote courage, energy and pride. Occasionally they accompany a jealous, vengeful disposition.

Black eyes are difficult to read. They often show a quick disposition, and sometimes are treacherous.

Round-eyed persons are not great thinkers. They are open hearted, observant and often sensual.

People with narrow eyes see less, think more, and feel with greater intensity.

Brown eyes denote a loving though judicious temperament.

Women who have light-brown eyes are fond of gaiety, shrewd, and often coquette.

WUNDEROUS PERSONAGES—GOETHE.

BY GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash." Goethe is to the German people in literature what Shakespeare is to the English and what someone ought to be to America some day.

Goethe is most famous as a poet. Some men can produce good poetry by sitting their hair long and neglecting their bills. But this was not Goethe's way. He prepared himself carefully in his youth for the business of writing poetry. He went to several universities and perfected himself in science, languages, art, architecture, drama, medicine, politics, law, history, geology and love. He was most thorough and painstaking in all these branches. He made important discoveries in anatomy and anticipated Darwin's theories. He practiced law and was director of a theatre. He studied researches in comparative morphology which still remain authorities. Those young men who intend to leap lightly into the business of becoming one of the world's greatest poets should consider Goethe and reflect. This might encourage them to select some easier task, such as becoming president, or accumulating $100,000,000 and a torpid liver.

But all of Goethe's other labors were trivial compared with his researches in love. He was an ardent, romantic man with an imagination which carried him ruthlessly after and on by the neck if necessary, and wherever he went he discovered the most beautiful woman in the world and wrote a series of the most beautiful lyrics in the world about her. Other poets have attempted similar careers and some of them have succeeded to some extent, but most of them have failed to produce poems of a sufficiently entrancing nature to keep them from becoming defendants in breach of promise suits. This is a very dangerous field of investigation and only a genius like Goethe, Shelly and Byron can get away with it.

Goethe was born in Frankfort in 1749. The large comfortable Goethe

HIGGIN ALL Metal Weather Strips

for doors and windows.

Read this testimonial. We have others.

MESSRS. DIRECT AGENCIES, LTD., CHY. Feb. 5th, '15.
Dear Sirs,—Replying to yours of to-day's date regarding Higgins' Metal Weather Strips for doors and sashes, we have to say that door stripping installed by you on front door is a perfect success: it is absolutely proof against draughts, snow, rain or dust. I would like to have it on my windows also, and would be obliged if you would send your man to take the necessary measurements at your earliest convenience.

Yours very truly,
COLIN CAMPBELL.

Estimates of cost cheerfully given.
