DRESS and MANTLE MAKING

The Fashionable West End.

To the Ladies: We have during the past two years contemplated the establishment of a Dress-Making Department, in connection with our other branches. The difficulty of obtaining a suitable person to manage the same, has, up to the present time, only prevented us from doing so.

We have now great pleasure in informing you that we have secured the services of Miss Morrison, of Toronto, a lady of first-class abilities, highly recommended to us, and we believe eminently qualified to give complete satisfaction in every respect. Miss Morrison has for the past ten years occupied the position of cutter and fitter in one of the leading Fashionable Dress-making Establishments in the City of Toronto.

Miss Morrison is also an experienced Made-maker, and all orders entrusted to her will be executed in a style equal to anything that can be obtained in the largest cities.

Orders for these departments will be received on and after Monday next, the 4th of May.

A. O. BUCHAM, Fashionable West End Dress, Mantle and Millinery Establishment.

ACCIDENT AT ACTON—Mr. W. H. Story, of Acton, met with a very serious accident on Monday afternoon. Seeing several young men jumping, he joined them and made several jumps, but overrestraining himself, fell down, and was carried into the house in an insensible condition. Drs. McFarlin and Carter were called in, and on examination found he had sustained serious internal injuries; he remained insensible for a long time, but eventually recovered sufficiently to be able to speak, and is now doing as well as can be expected.

COWARDLY ACT—Some despicable rascals, with more malice than brains, committed the cowardly outrage of throwing down the boards erected by Grace Egerton's agent, for posting her bills upon, and then, not content with this piece of weakness, made a tour around town, and either tore down or defaced all the bills they could find. Grace Egerton offers a reward of $10 for the conviction of the parties who perpetrated the act, and we sincerely hope they will be punished, as such acts should be frowned down by all right thinking communities.

The mail and a portion of the baggage was saved, but the remainder and all the express packages were either burned or greatly damaged. San Francisco, May 14.—A despatch from Yreka to-night says the Modocs are in another rocky fortress, which they are making still stronger. The troops will not attack them before the arrival of reinforcements. The new position is about twenty miles south of their last stronghold. Burgess has seen Bogus Charlie on the Upper Klamath, who said he knew nothing about the contemplated massacre of the Commissioners, and that there were thirty Modocs left who would fight until the last man was killed.

San Francisco, May 14.—Despatches from the Lava Beds to-day state that 875 soldiers and Warm Spring Indians are now scouting the Lava Beds and surrounding country. The total number of troops in the field is twenty officers and 890 men.

Lava Beds, May 10, 11 p.m.—Lieut. Bacon, of troop K, First Cavalry, who has arrived in camp with his detachment, having been on scout duty between here and Capt. Cook's old stronghold, brings a report from Lieutenant Chapin, commanding the latter camp, that his pickets heard firing in the direction taken by Col. Mason's command, in the present scout after the Indians, and it is generally supposed an engagement has occurred.

Lieut. Harris died on May 12th. Obsequies of Gen. Canby took place at 5 p.m., and were solemn and imposing.

Steamer Japan arrived from China, and is quarantined, there being five cases of small-pox on board.

The Colliery Explosion in Nova Scotia. New Glasgow, N.S., May 14.—The fire at Drummond Colliery, continues to burn, but is slowly abating, all the openings being filled up and the stream of water being turned into an air shaft lately worked. The men who have escaped with great difficulty from the slope, report that on their way up they passed bodies of their comrades who had probably become stupified by smoke. Since the explosion none have come up alive. Of the four men who volunteered to go down the shaft shortly before the second explosion, three were killed instantly, and one died after lingering some hours. Several violent explosions took place last night, one being perceptibly felt four miles distant.

Halifax, May 14, ev'ng.—The latest reports from Westville say the flames issuing from the mine are much reduced. The number killed is now put down at about 70. When the fire broke out, the greater portion of the men and boys usually employed below were above ground at dinner. Had the disaster occurred an hour earlier or later, the whole force of the mine would have been at work, and the loss of life would have been greater.

THOUGHTS.

Morning for labour, evening for repose. Early risers are the healthiest men.

He who is in good health, and is willing to work, need have nothing to fear. A steady, hardworking man can always find friends.

He that lives in the fear of death, every moment feels its tortures. "Be ye always ready."

Influence—good or bad—comes not from the opinion a man possesses, but from the character he has formed, and the life he leads.

Let your journey through life be like footsteps in the snow—a mark but no stain.

Time is like a river, in which metals and solid substances are sunk, while chaff and straws swim upon the surface. The slightest sorrow for sin is sufficient if it produce amendment—the greatest is insufficient if it do not.

NORTHERN RAILWAY STOCK.—The question of disposing of the Northern Railway stock, at five cents in the dollar, now held by Toronto, in accordance with Col. Cumberland's proposition, is the occasion of considerable discussion.

ON STRIKE.—All stevedores and batmen men, in Quebec, have struck for higher wages. Peter-street is thronged with them, and an exciting time is looked for, as the merchants will hold out for a while.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 14th.

Sir John Macdonald moved the resolution appropriating 49,000 acres of land in the North West Territory to the descendants of those persons, not being half-breeds who settled under the auspices of Lord Selkirk. The lands are to be granted on the same principle as that previously appropriated to the half-breeds. The motion was agreed to, and a bill founded thereon passed through all its stages.

It was then agreed to go into Committee on Thursday to consider the resolution increasing the salaries of the several Ministers of the Crown from $5,000 $7,000, the Premier to receive an additional $1,000.

On the motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. Costigan moved his amendment in favour of the disallowance of the Act lately passed in New Brunswick affirming the legality of the obnoxious school law, and proposing to submit the whole question to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. In making this motion, he entered into a long history of the New Brunswick school law legislation and the proceedings in the House of Commons last session, when he had first brought the subject before the attention of the Parliament. He then sketched the course pursued by the majority in the Local Legislature, and urged that the Parliament of the Dominion should come to the relief of the minority and redress the wrong under which they were suffering.

Sir John Macdonald, after expressing the warmest sympathy with the grievance under which the Catholics of New Brunswick were suffering, proceeded in a tone of unusual moderation to show the reasons for rejecting the motion. He did not deny he had been open at times to the charge of favouring centralization, and he went so far as to assert that if the motion before the House was carried, and the Federal authority ventured to interfere in this local controversy, the Federal system established in 1867 would be at an end, and the foundation laid for legislative union. He believed the New Brunswick Legislature had acted most unwisely in taking the course they had done, but he held that, however impolitic, it was strictly within the power of the New Brunswick Legislature to pass the Acts he was now asked to advise the Governor-General to disallow. He professed to see in the motion an attack on the Royal prerogative, and held that it would be unconstitutional to interfere, even in the interest of the Catholics themselves. He alluded to the success of the Separate School system in Ontario, and hoped by the intelligent and peaceful assertion by the Catholics of their rights the same result would be obtained in New Brunswick.

Messrs. Anglin, Masson; Langevin, Mercier, Conchan, and Hillyard Cameron took part in the debate, after which, Mr. Dorion said this controversy arose out of a clause in the Confederation Act inserted for the special protection of minorities. He showed that not only had the New Brunswick Legislature paid no attention to the desire expressed by the Canadian Parliament last year, but they had actually passed Acts in defiance of the decision of a Court of law, adverse to the statute so obnoxious to one-third of the population. He then alluded to the hurried and entirely ex parte statements submitted to the law officers of the Crown, and to the fact that no opportunity was offered to the opponents of the Bill to make their views known. Even when the judicial committee declined to interfere, except judicially, no information was given to the parties most interested. No more reasonable demand was ever made than that contained in the motion now under discussion.

After some further debate, Mr. Mackenzie said he had listened with the greatest possible attention to the speakers on both sides, and found it generally conceded that the ninety-third section of the Confederation Act would give the Federal Parliament power to interfere in the interests of the minorities with the Local Legislature. The question then only remained whether the case of New Brunswick had justified such interference. The motion carried in the House last year came very near declaring that the Act of the New Brunswick Legislature had violated the privileges of the minority in New Brunswick. That point remained undecided, and although so far, the legal opinions of the land returned indicated as probable the affirmation of the original law, but this was not yet certain, and meantime all they were asked to do was to suspend the operation of the subsidy laws arising out of that statute, of which the minority disapproved. His own feelings were against such an unconstitutional education, but it had been found necessary to effect a compromise with the Roman Catholics on this question. If the decision were unfavorable to the legality of the New Brunswick law, the result would be a sectarian feeling in abeyance, but while the Judicial Committee upheld the law it must be maintained. He could not but regret the course pursued by the New Brunswick Legislature while the question was still undetermined by a judicial tribunal. He must, seeing the state of the question at this moment, vote for the motion.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries thought the question should be settled by the people at the polls, and while he was bound to vote against the motion as unconstitutional, would use his influence with his fellow countrymen in New Brunswick to induce them to do justice to the minority.

A division being taken, the motion was carried, and the Government defeated by Yeas 49, nays 63; majority against the Government, 36.

The House then went pro forma into Committee of Supply, took one or two votes, and adjourned at five minutes after two o'clock.

MANSLAUGHTER.—It seems that Armstrong, who had his back broken by falling across the chisel of a truck, in Montr'ep, was pushed over in a quarrel with one Quigley, about the ownership of the truck. The latter is now arrested.—Armstrong died on Tuesday night, but, however, before making a deposition against Quigley.

Held to-day, and the latter will likely be tried for manslaughter.

"Who dat his me?" "Where's dat lantern?" were the exclamations of an astonished colored man after being thrown something like a hundred feet by a locomotive.

Defeat of the Government on the New Brunswick School Law.

The Government have sustained a defeat on their policy in reference to the School Laws of New Brunswick. On Wednesday Mr. Tilley moved that the House go into Committee of Supply, whereupon Mr. Costigan moved an amendment that the people in New Brunswick who feel themselves aggrieved (the Roman Catholics) should have an opportunity of bringing their case judicially before the Privy Council in England, and that in the meantime the Governor-General should disallow the several acts passed during the last session of the N. B. Legislature to legalize assessments made under the Common School Act of that Province.

Our readers will remember that this question gave rise to some very excited debates last session, and that for some time the Government were in a quandary what to do about it, and were at last obliged to accept the suggestions of their opponents else they would have suffered defeat.

Previous to Confederation the system of education prevalent in New Brunswick was one by which all religious denominations were free to inculcate their religious principles in the education of their children, and to provide teachers who would give instruction in accordance with such views. These separate denominational schools were maintained by grants from the Legislature.

The Catholics in the Province strongly opposed this measure. They protested and petitioned against its provision. They held that they could not conscientiously take advantage of the educational facilities held out by the Government, while at the same time they had to contribute a dollar for a dollar for the support of Schools in which they derived no benefit.

Such are the facts of the case, briefly stated. Mr. Costigan's motion was carried though the Government stoutly opposed, and tried by every possible means to defeat it. The whole matter will now be judicially brought before the Privy Council in England, and the Governor-General will in the meantime, be asked to disallow the acts of the New Brunswick Legislature, authorizing assessments on Catholics for school purposes, until the decision of the Privy Council is obtained.

The North Perth Election Committee have reported that the petition was insufficient and defective, and that the sitting member, Mr. Daly, was duly returned.

Mr. John Crawford, of Toronto, is being largely supported by Ontario members for the Governorship of this Province on the expiration of Mr. Howland's term of office on the 1st of July.

The petitions against the sitting members of Addington and East Toronto have been thrown out. Messrs. Shibly and Bealy retaining their seats. In the former case each party paid their own costs.

The Government having decided to defer the passing of the new Election Law till another session, notice has been given for the passing of a temporary measure for the election of members of the House of Commons. The enactment of such a measure is rendered necessary by the expiry of the Interim Act of 1871.

It is now no longer a secret that the Hon. A. J. Smith, member for Westmoreland, will shortly succeed to the Lieut Governorship of New Brunswick. Mr. Smith has, in past sessions, voted with the Opposition. It is hardly necessary to say that his recent votes have been in accordance with the party to whom he prospectively owes his elevation.

ANNABEL'S JOURNEY TO ENGLAND. As she sat there bewildered, motionless, yet with a rush of fearful sensations passing through her soul, she was conscious that the vessel had got into motion.

This motion of the vessel made her fully realize how helpless she was, how entirely cut off from human aid if any evil was intended her. She was powerless under whatever aspect she viewed the case; but despite her fears and the just ground she had for cherishing them she was wholly puzzled to come to any understanding either of motive or purpose to be served by these extraordinary movements of which she was the subject.

During all the time they had been in France, Dick had kept so much aloof both from his sister and herself that Annabel had no opportunity of forming an opinion as to his character, and he being Ellen's brother, she was not naturally inclined to think other than well of him.

This, we say, would have been the case any time previous to yesterday. But now, in the circumstances which surrounded her, she allowed the Litherio unrecognised impression to assert itself, and sought for what might tend to justify and confirm it.

During the railway journey through France he had occupied for most part of the way a seat opposite her. She had thus an opportunity of viewing him more closely and steadily than she ever done; and the strengthening of the unfavorable impression was the result.

MISSIONARIES TO JAPAN.—It will be the general feeling of all who knew them, that we are sending out two good and true men, as our first missionaries to Japan. Bro. Cochran, pastor of the Metropolitan Church, is well known throughout the country as a devout and earnest pastor, and an able and studious minister of the gospel.

A bright little boy, hearing his father say that a man ought to "stick to his business," emptied a bottle of naveline in the old gentleman's office chair. The old man says he has not been stuck so badly since 1857, and rewarded his offspring by taking him on a whaling trip to the back cellar.

BRANSTAF.—EPPE'S COCOA.—GHEBELLE AND COMFORTINO.—By thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, food is assimilated by the system of the Church, that God may open up their way, and make them greatly successful in bringing the ignorant and superstitious Japanese to a saving knowledge of the world's Redeemer.

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps & Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Easton Road, London.

DENIS COFFEY, Guelph, April 18, 1873.

Toronto Correspondence.

Whenever any of your Guelph friends are troubled with snuff, let them take a run down to Toronto, and I promise that if vanity of amusement will shake it off, this is the spot to do so.

Foremost on the list of entertainments proper must be mentioned the English Opera Company, which have just completed a series of operatic performances that have commanded great applause from bumper houses, and which have left such a large residuum of enjoyment, that it is said arrangements are being projected for further instalments of operatic prices from voyageur performers of note on the lyrical theatrical stage.

Election has had two of its most eminent living Professors displaying its attractiveness in our midst, and we are glad to be able to report that appreciation of this high literary art was manifested by assemblages worthy of the cause. I had not the pleasure of listening to Mr. Bellow, but he seems to have won golden honours from those who did. Mr. Bellow is said to be the same gentleman that recently caused such a consternation in the Church of England on account of his excessive ritualistic practices and which ultimately led to his expulsion as a clergyman from that communion, and to his entrance for reception by that of the Roman Catholic.

Mr. Vandenhoff has just completed a series of three Readings under the auspices of the Toronto Mechanics Institute, and on each occasion was rapturously applauded. Public speakers of any profession would do well to closely imitate the admirable style, these elocutionary exhibitions are well calculated to emulate.

On Wednesday the annual meeting of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held in the Wesleyan Metropolitan Church, which was crowded, especial interest centring on this occasion, as in all probability the last on which the eminent and popular Dr. Punshon would likely address the claims of the Bible Society before a Toronto audience.

The first resolution was moved by the Rev. Dr. Waters, a clergyman of the Church of England, in a speech remarkable for the local catholicity of spirit, and his genuine outspokenness on the coldness and even antipathy of some of his own persuasion to co-operation with dissenters or members of other denominations in the good work of evangelical religious enterprise.

Mr. Waters also paid a graceful, glowing tribute to the great loss, not merely Wesleyanism, but the evangelical church generally, throughout Canada, will sustain by the departure of so unusually gifted a man as Dr. Morley Punshon. The only drawback to the gentleman's speech was its length, a fault that was somewhat characteristic of the speech of the succeeding speaker, Rev. Theo. Baker, that the audience manifested its impatience by the most unmistakable ironical applause, but which the dullness of hearing of the speaker evidently led him to interpret into the reverse!

EXTENSIVE FIRE.

An extensive conflagration occurred at Aylmer, (East) on Wednesday, and about one half the village is in ashes. It is estimated that the losses will reach $20,000. Fire engines were telegraphed for to Ottawa, and were dispatched immediately, but owing to the high winds prevailing at the time, the flames had almost run their course before they arrived.
