THE WEEK IN QUEBEC ONE DARK CLOUD REMOVED *

The Late Mr. Monk's Political Letters-Sir Hugh Graham and the Borden Cabinet-Was Godfroy Langlois Appointed at the Demand of Archbishop Bruchesi?-Big Companies Stealing Montreal Water.

MONTREAL, July 25 .- Political and municipal life in Quebec has been quiet this week. However, publication of interesting letters written by the late Hen. F. D. Monk, ex-minister of public works in the cabinet, has thrown further light on his resignation as a minister of the crown, and has stirred up Quebec ministerial circles. Rumors about the appointment of an official agent for Quebec in France have been circulated. And at Montreal the discovery of another scandal has added to its regular crop of municipal abuses.

Mr. Nantel, one of the Borden ministers for Quebec, has of late asserted positively in many meetings that Mr. Monk had resigned as a member of the Borden administration because of his failing health, not on account of Borden's stand on the navy question. Hurt by such an allegation which they claim threw an unmerited slur on Mr. Monk's memory, some of his friends have published letters of his written after he had left the cabinet. Part of this correspondence has been printed first in Bourassa's paper and reprinted in other papers this week, and it has created a deep interest in French-Canadian and English political circles of Quebec. It appears from them that the Mr. Mont was in bad state of health on account of overwork, many months before give ing in his resignation to Mr. Borden, he wanted to stay in the cabinet up to the day the attitude of his colleagues would be defined on the navy issue so as to try and convince them to adopt his own views on the subject. The late minister wanted a referendum on this issue as he had promised time and again during his campaign in Quebec, in 1910-1911, together with Pelletier, Nantel and most of the then French Conservative and Nationalist candidates in Quebec. He did not obtain it, and he left the cabinet.

WHY DID MONK RESIGN?

The publication of his letters leaves not a doubt as to the real motive of his resignation. Writing to a Mr. Carignan, on of his friends, on Jan. 6 1913, Mr. Monk says: "I know that my conduct has been appreciated and judged in multifarious ways. We, at present, are living in an era in which personal interests and egotism are the paramount considerations. But, despite

sonal interests and egotism are the paramount considerations. But, despite the numerous criticisms of which I have been made the subject, I do not regret having sent in my resignation—I, who have so loudly proclaimed, both in parliament and elsewhere, the absolute right of the people to be the judges of just what participation the country would take in the activities, the life and the wars of the empire, felt that there was but one course to take; this course I took and I am giad that I did take it. In this young country of ours it is high time that we should conduct ourselves in political life as we conduct ourselves in the relations of private life, that is to say, with honesty and straightforwardness." And Mr. Monk added to that this severe judgment on our political life: "Our public life is rotten, overridden with gangrene, dis-graceful. A reaction is required." About the same time, in the course of a long correspondence with Armand Lavergne, Mr. Monk wrote, on Dec. 17, 1912: "I have to fell you that for over four months I have felt my force failing for I have not had rest for some years, and my nervous system has been absolutely run down. I persisted, nevertheless, in remaining in charge until the return of my colleagues and the deliberations on the naval question, for I was absolutely determined to assist in these deliberations in spite of the fact that I foresaw the issue. I have never had any hesitation touching my resignation, in the circumstances, but I avow to you that I did not expect that which has since happened amongst our friends (the French cabinet ministers), and I was extremely surprised at it, It is impossible for me to give you an idea of the discouragement which I feel." Later on he writes about weighing "the chances of a reaction against the shameful and degrading stupor which seems to have seized our men high-placed in all domains." LINER ARRIVES placed in all domains."

These extracts, as well as the full text of the late Mr. Monk's letters now published, show how he was disgusted with politics and especially with the way his French-Canadian friends in the cabinet broke their solemn pledge on the navy issue. He left, not on account of his being sick, but because he pre-ferred to go back to private life "rather than to deny his past and the declar-ation of other days," as he writes it himself.

RESIGNATION MADE PLAIN

These letters make the thing plain. Others will probably follow, These letters make the thing plan. Others will probably follow, the French ministerialists would now prefer silence on this matter, especially Mr. Nantel. The Star Sir Hugh Graham's paper, writes, with regard to those of Mr. Monk's letters addressed to Armand Lavergne: "It will be recalled that Mr. Lavergne's friends made a dead-set to get him in the Borden cabinet mation. This, from Sir Hugh Graham, is most amus-ing because, as very few men know, on the very day the Borden cabinet formation was made public, in October, 1911, Sir Hugh Graham was so angry at Borden for having included in it Monk, Pelletier and Nantel, especially Pellet-tier, with whom Sir Hugh had had a famous law-suit about election funds in 1994 that have dered The Star to publich a peep artic. tier, with whom Sir Hugh had had a famous law-suit about election funds in 1904, that he ordered The Star to publish a noon extra with this eight-column bold-face type head-line at the top of its first page: "BORDEN SOLD TO THE NATIONALISTS." This extra was ready and was going to press when Mr. Hosmer of the Bank of Montreal, together with a few directors of the C. P. R., having had a tip about it, rushed to Sir Hugh's offices, held an emergency meeting with him about it, and after great difficulties, finally in-duced the knight to "kill" his extra and wait a little while before waging war on Borden. Sir Hugh a few months after had made it up with the prime minister, and at the same time, thru acquiring by means of a dummy board the control of The Herald-Telegraph-Witness, had signed a peace treaty with the Liberal party and Sir Wilfrid, playing then and now, both ends against the middle.

OUEBEC'S REPRESENTATIVE IN FRANCE

Quebec has its official agent in London, Dr. Pelletier. A few weeks age Sir Lomer Gouin appointed Mr. Godfroy Langlois, editor of 'Le Pays, Quebec's agent in Belgium, where our province never had one before. This move was de to take out of Sir Lomer's way a man who, tho being of the same poli tical faith as the premier, entertained on educational questions views which Sir Lomer had formerly held himself, but which he apparently threw overboard so as not to make enemies with Quebec's hierarchy. Mr. Langlois' appointment so as not to make enemies with Quebec's hierarchy. Mr. Langlois' appointment was roundly denounced by many French papers in Quebec, on the ground of Mr. Langlois not being in sympathy with the majority of Quebec people's religious beliefs. He was suspected and accused of having been a member of the Montreal French Freemasorry Lodge of l'Emancipation, affiliated to the "Grand Orient de France," and ought not to have been sent as official eccent to 'Grand Orient de France," and ought not to have been sent as official agent for Catholic Quebec in Catholic Belgium.

In Liberal circles Sir Lomer's friends claimed that Mr. Langlois' ap-pointment to Belgium was due to clerical influence and that Archbishop Bruchest was directly responsible for it, having asked Sir Lomer to send Mr. Langlois away so as to kill "Le Pays," his anti-clerical paper. Archbishop Bruchesi being away in Europe at the time Mr. Langlois was appointed, could not deny this rumor, which seems incredible. As to Mr. Langlois, he is now in Europe and was to open his office in Brussels this week. Many Roman Catholic papers of Belgium are prepared, it is said at Montreal, to extend him a warm reception, having been primed to it by some of his opponents in Quebec. Sir Lomer, during his trip on the continent, will probably see that held here today, with election of offihese attacks are minimized. In France, Quebec for many years past had as its official agent the late compliment the convention adopted an

It was decided a few months ago by the Quebec house that a gew one should be appointed in the very near future. Rumor comes along this week that M. D'Hellencourt, editor-in-chief of Le Soleil, a Quebec Liberal paper, is to be the province's next official agent in France. M. D'Hellencourt is an old-country Frenchman and has lived in Canada for the last ten or twelve years. According to inside information, his appointment seems as good as if it had been published in the official Gazette. It is going to provoke in numerous French-Canadian circles as many protests as Mr. Langlois' appointment, on account of the fact that the editor of Le Soleil is not a French-Canadian, has not lived very long in Quebec, and is not at all known outside of a narrow Liberal group. But he has served his master well and faithfully. And when

STEALING WATER FROM MONTREAL

Montreal has had its weekly municipal scandal. This time, it did not oc-cur in the city council, which in the years gone by raised a regular crop of them at the time aldermen, now higher up in municipal politics, used to steal away cart loads of ashes, when there was no money at hand. This week rich ratepayers have been caught stealing water from the city mains. Big corporations, rallway companies used to the slicing of melons—probably water-melons—industrial firms, manufacturing establishments, breweries and the life are the culputing this time. the like are the culprits this time. The city accused them of having filched Montreal water for months and months without paying proportionate water taxes. These firms were caught wet-handed. Each of these pure-minded corporations has two water mains in its establishment, one for the supplying of fire-preventing apparatus, the other to give water for domestic purposes No meters are used on the fire mains. And the meters checking water consumption for domestic purposes in these establishments used to register a surprisingly low quantity of gailons consumed. This for the last three years A recent inquiry has shown that these big firms, instead of using water for domestic and manufacturing purposes from the meter-checked mains, wer taking in from the fire mains. It is estimated that in this way the pureminded and highly conscientious companies caught at it have defrauded the city of thousands and thousands of dollars. The city will not wait for these companies' conscience-money, but will ask them for a prompt settlement without any regard to the amount of their high watered-stock capitalization Robbing the city is a time-honored and all-round practice in Montreal. But stealing its water is a trick probably borrowed by big corporations from Chinese laundries and unscrupulous milkmen. As says the French fabalist: "On a souvent besoin d'un plus petit que soi," which might be translated, un-"Much is to be learnt, sometimes, from the smaller fer present circumstances: fry." Most of the Montreal papers, so quick at denouncing the tiniest real or alleged scandal amongst aldermen, have this time virtuously and with admirable unanimity kept very silent about the water stealing. There was not a single leakage in their news items. True it is that most of them are big business-owned or controlled papers, to name but the Star, the Herald-Telegraph" and the Gazette.

LOVE LETTERS ARE READ IN COURT

PARIS, July 25 .- The chief judge challenging one of his colleagues to a duel, the reading of the "mysterious" letters which were supposed to affect the case so profoundly, and the physical collapse in court of Madame Caillaux, were three incidents which today stirred the emotions in connection with the trial of Madame Caillaux for the murder of Gaston Calmette. A peculiarly French atmosphere was lent to the affair by the quarrel of the judges. This was added to by the piquant contents of the former premier's love letters, whose recital before the public caused the prisoner to fall unconscious and to remain for a long time in a swoon.

Beyond the reading of the letters little progress was made and it was generally expected that the trial would extend far into next week. The letters ether. Madame Caillaux appeared to have broken down completely and was breathing with difficulty and such was her condition that her husband was admitted to her side, When she re-turned more letters were read. The letters were written in the second person singular, indicating the closest friendship. The first of them said:

Adams Makes the Popular Announcement of Another Hoosier Model Kitchen Club

Being the Second and Last of the 1914 Series

Monday we open this well known plan for easy purchase of a "Hoosier" Kitchen Cabinet, which combines the most liberal arrangement for payment and the most generous free gift of groceries anyone could wish for. The terms of the Hoosier Plan are these:

1. One Dollar puts the Cabinet you choose in your home.

2. One Dollar weekly dues quickly pays for it

3. No interest. No extra fees.

4. The low cash price fixed by the factory prevails strictly.

5. This Sale is under direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.

6. Your money back if you are not delighted with your 'Hoosier.'

You may choose between the celebrated "White Beauty," whose picture is shown here and the "Oak Beauty" which is similarly constructed, but finished inside in oak.

This Club Open to Three Hundred Members

Although this year's selling plan called for the formation of two clubs of 250 each-one in April and the other in July-we have by exerting every influence with the Hoosier Company succeeded in securing enough cabinets to bring the number for the July Club Sale up to 300. This will insure our pleasing a great many more but does not guarantee against disappointment for those who put off joining until the last moment.

Two weeks only are given over to the Club Sale-no longer.

If the 300 Memberships are complete before that time the Club automatically closes.

Those who want to come in on this easy-way-to-get-one plan should enroll early. There is no formality or red tape whatsoever about joining the club. A payment of $1.00 down and agreement to pay $1.00 per week until cabinet is paid for covers every requirement. The cabinet will be delivered to your home as soon as the first payment is made, and you can begin to enjoy its comfort and help right away.

Wonderful Kitchen Cabinet is the

It is the most perfect and popular cabinet in the world. All other makers of kitchen cabinets have attempted to imitate it, but, of course, as most of the special features are patented and controlled by the Hoosier Company, it is impossible for other cabinets to even approximate it in any particular. The "Hoosier so far outpoints every other kitchen cabinet that no one wants the other kind at all. It combines every good point that tends to save time, labor and materials in kitchen work. Some of the "Hoosier" patented features are: The sanitary self-cleaning metal flour bin, with sifter attached; a self-feeding metal sugar bin, 10 crystal glass air-tight jars for spices, large glass tea and coffee air-tight jars and aluminum covered work table, size 40 x 39 inches, a metal bread and cake box, a daily reminder and want list, as well as plate racks, cupboards, sliding shelves, etc., etc. A most complete kitchen cabinet in every way.

SEEN HIS DUTY AND DONE IT. This Included a Ride for Barker's Wife in Dog Catcher's Wagon.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., July 25 .- Michael Shanahan, the city dog catcher, has been in the county jail on a charge NY. of assault and battery.

Shanahan was going his rounds catching stray dogs without muzzles. He came upon the pet of Mrs. Nickolo Rosata, wife of a prosperous local banker. Her dog was not tagged or muzzled and Shanahan made a grab for it. Mrs. Rosata seized her pet and held fast. The catcher became incensed, and when the woman further refused to give up her pet he bundled her forcibly into his wagon. Then he drove off.

The cries of Mrs. Rosata drew the attention of a great crowd. The police soon halted the cage and rescued the fainting woman.

Shanahan was pulled from his seat and bundled off to jail. He said he had been sworn to do his duty, and "by the powers" he was going to do it, come what wight come what might.

HE LEAVES CANES TO HIS SON. Noted Lawyer Wanted His Estate Settled Up Speedily.

ST. LOUIS, July 25 .- The will of Martin L. Clardy, former representative in congress, and general solicitor for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which was filed here today, leaves the entire estate, estimated at $500,000, to the widow. Each of Clardy's sons is bequeathed a gold headed cane and the will expresses the hope that "they may find no more use for them than I

At the end of the will Mr. Clardy Wrote the following: "I, will have been court a good many years when I die, and I am going to ask that my state, as far as the administration it is concerned, may be closed in a teasonable time and my name dropped the docket, not to appear any in any earthly court."

All These Best Grade Groceries Given Free to Each One Joining the Club

the year.

A somewhat similar situation ex-ists in the ranks of the St. Louis Browns. A year ago the first house of the Browns was done by Stovall and Brief. Shortstop was covered by several players, with Bobby Wallace and Mike Balenti doing most of the work. When the team went south on its training trip last spring the names of Jack Leary and Wares were regarded as many other strange names on the Browns' roster. Few thought then that these two players were to be prominent in the greatest uplift the Browns have experienced since 1908. Today Leary is recognized as one of the most promising young players in the game. He is batting close to .280, and he has been a regular since the opening day. Wares at shortstop has not batted up to the standard of the other youngsters, but his ability to get a regular place with a batting average of only .211 is elequent testi-mony to his worth as a fielder.

youngster to break in with a rush. His case is not so much of a sur-prise as these of O'Mara, Leary. Burns and Kavanaugh, as he was a star in a class A A league last season. He has played a strong fielding game for the reds, and has batted about 270. Many of the dopesters picked Herzog as the regular third baseman of the Reds, with Berghammer, who did so well last season a short. But Nichoff proved himself worthy of a regular position and he has held it well.

clares that English horsemen are much interested in the National Horse Show in America, and that the show this year will have an unusually large number of British entries.

Numerous English sportsmen whom Mr. Hyde interviewed, have declared their intention of sending some fine stock here this season. It is hoped that William Arthur Barron, whose coach, Vivid, won the Coaching Marathen from Hampton Court to Olympia last month, will come over with some but these will not be announced at

Special to The Sunday World. BALA. July 25 .- Mrs. York of Hame lton was killed at 2 p.m. today on the C.P.R. tracks, a hundred yards from Bala Station. She was coming into town to buy provisions for her cottage at Sandy Point, near Bala Park, and was using the railway. The C.P.R. ex-press whistled to warn her and she stepped to the side of the rails. As the train neared her she became extion successful, altho it will be a num-ber of days before the patient is out of danger. Miss May Roche, his daughter, is at his bedside.

Not that there have not been a great number of late, for the press has daily reports of accidents; but if pedestrians were to use a modi-cum of the care that is reasonable to expect, the unfortunate number would be reduced considerably. The safety crusade now being car-ried on by the Ontario Safety League has as its primary object the reduc-tion of accidents upon the public high-ways. The officials of the league re-port that one of the chief difficulties encountered is the persuading of each class of street users, viz, the motorless be a worthy successor to the ex-cellent bands that have preceded it. All visitors to the point this season will agree that the free concerts and features offered are of a very high order and not generally found in the average amusement park. It is the management's policy to maintain a class of street users, viz., the motor-ists, the teamsters, the street car men and the pedestrians, to recognize the, rights of the others. Of course, someone will answer by remarking that the pedestrian gets the worst of any mishap, but that is beside the question. Do you, when you cross a road, use the regular intersection? If you do, you are simply exercising consideration for others, and obeying the old rules of courtesy. In the United States they have coined a new term, which is applied to a certain class of pedestrians—the "jaywalker." A "jay" walker" is one who crosses the street at other points than the regular cross. Ings; who stands in the middle of the story of the Story of the Story told. Nearly Everybody is Married. In the land of the rajahs, in the first place, practically everybody is married. The age statistics show that than the result of a census. The one item therein that most of us care to hear about is how the numbers of a people or a community have increased or decreased, and when this is known the details remain a dry mass of figures, with nothing to lighten the tale except, perhaps, some official speculation as to how many of the fair sex concerned have returned their ages at lower figures than the actual facts

The cost of thus enumerating the inhabitants of an area of over 1,-$03,657 square miles was $675,000, and the result is the discovery that, since grace to the state! the result is the discovery that, since 1901, when the last census was taken, the population of this amazing land three times as large as the United States has increased from 294,361,056 to 315,156,396, of which number, by the way, the "literates," i.e., those able to write a letter and to read one (which is the test employed), number only slightly over 18 million. Comic and Tragic Incidents. The incidents of the taking of the census were both comic and tragk. It census were both comic and tragic. It was the more difficult, as the officials explain, "on account of the long lines of railway, the big rivers on which boats travel sometimes for days without coming to the bank, the forests to which wood-cutters resort often for weeks at a time, the numerous sacred places which, on occasion, attract many thousands of pilgrims," and, they might have added, the ferocity of many of the tribes and the dangers from wild beasts. Likewise, the terror with which the mere idea of being counted spired some communities. Fearing that some dire disaster would befall them if they suffered themselves to be enumerated, one small various. For it is done by tying the bride's waist-cloth as many coccanuts as there are years in the difference between her are years in the difference between her age and the bridegroom's. Why Child-Marriage Exists. Another reason for child-marriage in India is a dread of increasing the num-ber of unhappy ghosts which walk the earth, no spirit, according to Indian be-lief, being quite so miserable and bothersome as one who has been denied the bliss of realized love. The hus-bands of most of these girl-wives, by the way, are adults, the figures show-ing that whereas nearly 10,000/000 girls under sixteen are wives, the boys under that age who are husbands number only three and a half millions. These facts explain the appailing number of only three and a half millions. These facts explain the appalling number of child-widows in India, those under twenty numbering no less than 800,000; of these, moreover, more than 94,000 are aged between five and ten, while more than 17,000 child-widows are aged five and under. Miserable, too, to the last degree is the lot of child-widows, expectably those who lose their husespecially those who lose their hus-bands while extremely young. They generally are treated as family drudges the great majority of the unmarried of both sexes are quite young children, three-quarters of the bachelors being under fifteen years of age, while a somewhat larger proportion of the spinsters are under ten. Only one bachelor in 24 is over 80, and only one spinster in 14 is over fifteen. This, to us amazing state of things is due Many Child-Widows. While, however, the vast number of these child-widows, who represent 17 per cent. of the total number of fe-nales, is due partly to the early age at which girls are given in marriage, and partly to the disparity which gen-erally exists between the ages of hus-bands and wives, it is attributable most to us, amazing state of things, is due to the fact that, in India, marriage is erally exists between the ages of hus-bands and wives, it is attributable most of all to the prejudice against the re-marriage of widows. Many castes, es-pecially the higher ones, forbid it alto-gether, and even where it is not ab-solutely forbidden it is unpopular. The prohibition of widow-marriage, in fact, is a badge of respectability. Castes bronibition of whow interactive. Castes is a badge of respectability. Castes who do not allow it rank higher on that account in social distinction.

Many of these census statistics are heerly amazing, for instance, those about lepers. Regarding the actual workers among these unfortunates, about reperts. These unfortunates, is workers among these unfortunates, is some gruesome information is given. Nearly 6,000 of them are engaged in agriculture in different forms, "which," remarks the chief enumerator, "is probably the safest outlet for their en-ergies," but 155 are raisers of farm-stock, (which implies that they con-stantly handle animals supplying milk, cheese, etc.) 281 are connected with in-dustries of dress and tollet, "59 with food industries, and 422 with trade in food stuffs." Fourteen male lepers are hotel or restaurant keepers, 17 practice ... Slaughter of Girl Babies. In many parts of India, especially among the Hindus and Pathons, the comparative scarcity of women was found to be out of all proportion to the number of men, this being ex-plained by the terrible extent to which, hotel or restaurant keepers, 17 practice n spite of stringent laws prohibiting nedicine, 38 are school masters, 11 are policemen. Seventy-seven are engaged in religious duties, and six find places under "public administration."

PARIS, July 25.—A challenge to a duel was sent today by Judge Louis Albanel, presiding judge of the court trying Madame Caillaux for the wilful nurder of Gaston Calmette, to Judge Louis Dagoury, one of the three othe udges sitting on the bench with him

The quarrel between the two judges arose out of an incident which oc-curred at the palace of justice late last night, but the nature of which could not be ascertained. The seconds appointed by Judge Al

When the discussion concerning the reading of Madame Gueyden's letters seemed to be going unfavorably for the defence during yesterday's hearing Judge Albanel announced that there would be a recess. The Figaro affirms today that Judge Dagoury then said in low tones, "You dishonor us, sir." announced that

Another version of the affair says that yesterday while the discussion the reading of the letters was at its height Judge Albanel interposed a remark that the time for a recess had arrived. Judge Dagoury, who was seated beside him on the bench, bent over and said in an undertone, 'You disgrace us, sir

The two judges, after they had gone into their private rooms during the recess, engaged in heated discussion. Eventually Judge Dagoury admitted that he had said more than he had meant to say and apologised. Maitres Henri-Robert, Labori and Chenu intervened as peacemakers be-tween the two judges and the incident was regarded as closed. Nevertheless, it has been assumed that mixed milk from an average herd is of fairly uniform composition. Dr. Pearl of the Maine Experimental Sta-tion has recently demonstrated in a herd of 70 cows that the fat condent of the milk fluctuates on the average about 3.75 per cent. of its usual amount at each milking, and the total butter-fat varies from $ to 10 per cent. of its ordinary yield at the same time. herd by breeding. He said: "One feature noticeable in most of the large record cows of the Ayrshire breed is that they are animals of good type and vigorous constitution. I would warn breeders to exercise great care in their ambition to make big re-cords. There is a danger of not only injuring the animal herself, but also her progeny, as by overfeeding and forcing too great a strain may be put upon the cow, and her organs of re-production may be weakened. "I wish most strongly to emphasize the value of type. This is where the Ayrshire breed excels and what breed-ers of other breeds are striving to es-

But most summer-failows have been sufficiently worked at this sea-son to permit of taking a chance with the rape or buckwheat. Rape is one of the best cleaning crops which can be sown on any field. For best results, the land should be prepared much as it generally is for mangels or turnips. Once it has been harrowed fine and roll-ed down, it should be ready for the seeds. Best results are always obtained from sowing in drills, where a smothering crops to kill weeds and keep the land clean is desired. The land should be drilled up in the same manner as it is for root crops and the seed sown at the rate of a pound and a half per acre. Sown in this man-ner, the rape may be cultivated; in fact, it should be cultivated until the time that it reaches such a size that further works BREED QUEEN BEES Company Will Move the Bees to the Far South to Meet ner, the rape may be cultivated; in fact, it should be cultivated until the time that it reaches such a size that further works-ing with horses is impossible. This en-sures a rapid and stout growth, and the land will be so thickly covered with this rank-growing crop that weeds and all other forms of vegetation will have little chance to show themselves. The rape may be sown broadcast four, or five pounds to the acre, but ds a gen-eral thing this does not give anything like as good results as where it is drilled in and given subsequent cultivation. We would not hesitate to try this crop even yet. It may be pastured in the fall, and will yield a large amount of good feed when pastures have become dry and parched and green feed is much needed for the stock. The buckwheat is a good crop where the land is not too dirty. Where it is sown to smother weeds, a heavier appli-cation of seed must be put on. As a general thing shout be put to be sure of rapid growth and a thick covering of the growth and a thick to a subset is more reliable. This should be sown as a general thing about the first week in July, if it is intended to harvest it in the Summer Requirements. The A. J. Root Company of Medina Ohio, are working out a very interesting experiment with queen bees. They are perhaps the largest manufacturers of bee supplies in the world, and one very imsupplies in the world, and one very im-portant branch of their business is the supply of queen bees. Last year they sent out over 5000 queens. In order to keep up this supply they have to have a very large number of strong colonies. They are now trying out the plan of moving their bees to the far south to meet the approaching sum-mer, and to get the bees breeding at a time when if they were still in the north they would be still in the cellar. In the north the clover months are June, July and August, and it is the great effort of bee keepers to build up strong colonies for the approach of that season. In the south, in Florida, the Messrs. Root ex-pect to get their colonies three storeys high and to extract a crop of honey from black and white tupelo and then to double or treble their colonies and bring them back to Chilo for the clover season. Probably the most difficult part of the experiment will be the sending of the colonies home during the hot weather. a general thing about the first week in July, if it is intended to harvest it in the fall. Later than this will do if grown as July, if it is intended to harvest it in the fall. Later than this will do if grown as a green crop to plow under, which is quite a common practice in some locali-ties where the summer-fallows are sown to fall, wheat. Buckwheat is, a rapid grower, and soon gets such a start that weeds have little chance to get the sum-light necessary for growth. Even with the thick seeding, a fairly satisfactory, yield may be harvested if it is decided to use the crop as a grain crop, and it will be found that the buckwheat is, when mixed with other grains, a quite satisfac-tory feed for cattle and hogs, and fed alone is one of the best single grains for laying hens. However, it is not for the grain crop that most summer-fallows are sown, but rather to avoid the extra work necessary to keep them clean, under the system of clean cultivation for the entire summer, We would suggest to those having large summer-fallows, which are likely to give ithem trouble, or which are likely to be neglected or to cause other crops on the farm to be neglected, to try either one of these two crops this summer, and we feel sure that results would justify the under-taking.—Farmers' Advocate. BY FEATHER INSPECTION The department of agriculture has issued an interesting bulletin by Vic-tor Fortier on How to tell the Age of Hens and Pigeons. The author be-lieves that he has found a certain way of telling the age of fowls, chiefly by means of the appearance and length of the secondary feathers, but also by the general appearance of the bird, the skin, the legs and the spurs. year and not miss every other year as do most of the apple orchards now. There can be no doubt but that the practice of thinning will give better fruit which is more highly colored and of a more uniform size than where it is not done. Usually thinning is new glected more than any other orchard operation and is one of the most im-

tion. The finishing touches are being put on the new live stock department that last year gave so much satisfaction to the exhibitors. The show ring has been doubled in size and the breeding diasees of horses, as well as the cattle, will be judged there, thus allowing spectators to view the judging with-out extra charge. operation, and is one of the most im-portant in producing high quality

The sheep pens that were burned down last year are being rebuilt. They will cover an area of about 20,000 square feet, providing 144 pens, ac-commodating 432 sheep. The pens are arranged in four blocks, with a wide covered sidewalk all around and paved portant in producing high quality fruit. To remove one-quarter to two-thirds of the set of fruit apparently requires a greater courage and far-sightedness than is possessed by the average grower. Still this must be done when the tree is too heavily loaded. The removal of such a large amount of the fruit is not attended by a cor-covered sidewalk all around and paved aisles between. The poultry building is also being rebuilt in improved style; also an extra wing is being aded, giving an addi-tional area of 6000 square feet. In re-building the steel columns have been omitted, the roof being carried on trusses from wall to wall and north light is being provided for in the roof. The building when completed will be a great improvement on the original of the fruit is not attended by a cor-responding loss in the total yield, for the food that would have fed/the whole crop will now be diverted to feed the remaining fruits and will be able to give them a better size. When thinned the fruit takes on a better color, as each fruit hangs separately and is not shielded from the sun by some other a great improvement on the original, being five feet higher to the roof, with shielded from the sun by some other fruit hanging beside it. Thinning must be done systemati-cally so that every branch on the tree is gone over and all the clusters of fruit thinned

To effect the work first remove all diseased, insect-infested or deformed fruits and then thin the remainder, so that each fruit has a distance of four to six inches between it and the next fruit, in the case of apples, pears and peaches and other larger fruits. Thin-ning is attended by some very con-siderable cost, but the most progressive orchardists, both in the east and the west, state that there is no doubt about the commercial value of the operation.

In the west the practice of thinning is almost universal, and this is one of the reasons that the fruit is so uni-form and can so easily be graded for box packing. The percentage of small and deformed fruits is very small when the tree has been thinned, as most of these will have been picked off early in the season, and none of the energy of the tree will be wasted in developing them. Those orchardists who have not given thinning a trial should make a test of a few trees this summer and note the difference in the size and color of the fruit as compared with the rest of the orchard. They should

It is better to kill one beetle early

It is better to all one beetle early in the spring than five hundred later in the year. The time to spray them is before they become adults and are able to fly into other fields.

There are two effectual remedies for this pest. One can spray the vines thoroly with either arsenate of lead or

It is yellow in color with wing covers orna-mented with ten longitudinal stripes of black. The larvae, or immature stage, is a yellow red slug, soft, slimy and plump and very disgusting in appearance. The eggs, about as large as the head of a pin, are orange-colored and are deposited on the under side of the leaves.

THERE A WIDOW'S known perhaps as the mother of the "richest boy in the world," but that "richest boy in the world," but that is no fault of hers, rather of the idle tongues that wagged when a lavish will endowed her offspring with more money than he will be able to count if he lives to be five times his present sixteen years. The youngster hasn't all the money left in the family. Mrs. Brown is the mistress of Harbor Court. one of the really palatial cottages in the colony and of all things according. Mrs. James P. than the old. Her cottage on Ochre Point has seen some noteworthy gatherings and among them the most-noteworthy feature has been the sharp-eyed mistress of the house. She has lived thru the Ward McAllister, the Mrs William Astor and all the more re-cent periods of New York and Newport society and if anything worth white has escaped her notice then it isn't really worth while. She is one of the few rich widows in the colony who has old frashioned ideas of women's sphere and doesn't believe in equal suffrage. NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.—Here's to the maiden of bashful fifteen! Here's to the widow of fifty! If the S. O. S. recently sent by the women of the cottage colony of New-port for men doesn't bring results it will be because the charm long im-puted to widows has lost its grip. Widows—yes, and rich widows. This is the City of Rich Widows, the habitat of weeds de luxe. Here ber-eavement would disport its sables, sure enough, except that sables are not de suffrage.

And More Still. And More Still. "The men are spoiling the Ameri-can women by being too good to them," is one of her favorito sayings. All the same she enjoys the suffrage gatherings—as she does every other sort of gathering where there are hu-men hence.

Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and de-post them all about the body—something. An important addition to the waterways of America is the new United States ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie, which is aproaching completion. This canal is being blasted out of the rocks on the American side of the St. Mary's River, at St. Mary's Falls, and it embraces an immess ship lock 80 feet wide and 1350 feet long, with a 20-foot drop from the upper to the lower level this community, which is a distinction indeed in the records of wealth. Perhaps the most striking feature of this canal project, from an engin-eering point of view, is the bascule bridge which spans the canal and which forms a part of the in-ternational railroad bridge. It is re-markable, because it is the longest bascule bridge in the world, and so-cause when closed it forms a continucause when closed it forms a continu-ous single span across the canal, al-tho built in two halves, much as the "jack-knife" bridges in Chicago. CLEVELAND, July 25.—Grand Opera, temperamental little grand circuit horse, from the Canadian shores, com-pels just as much attention as any of Oscar Hammerstein's million-dollar warblers. Two valets dress him morning and afternoon for his appearances on the track. One man does nothing but pre-pare appetizing meals and soothing liniments for his tired muscles after the races. His laundry work alone keeps another man busy. The dainty white pads under his back strap and around his slender legs are washed every day, as are his cooling blankets.

His bay coat is brushed immaculately and his mane and tail trimm

all the boxes on the front of the stand were filled with the elite of Cleveland. Four races were carded for the first day. The Edwards Stake, for 2.10 pacers, $3000, with nineteen horses arded and fifteen facing Starter Walker for the first heat, Peter Stevens, b. h., by Peter the Great-Roxie, by Allerton, was installed the favorite from past performances. It might be noted that Peter Stevens started once n the Canadian Circuit this season. Is was staked at Chatham and won is race so easily that he was looked on as a sure winner at Cleveland. In the pools he sold for $100, Eel Di-rest, $30; Camelia Walter Cox, S. C. of C. candidate, $35; Grand Opera, $20; Walnut Grove, $20; Baron Alcyone, $15; Gilbert M., $10, and balance of the field for $35. There was considerable of a breeze blowing in the tace of the horses down the back face of the horses down the back stretch and altho the record for the event (2.03½, made by Vernon Mc-Kinney in 1911) was not beaten it was considered a great performance. As weather conditions were different and by horsemen in a position to give an opinion it was considered the equal of the 1911 record, Baron Alcyone drew the pole, while Peter Stevens, the favorite drew fifth position. Little favorite, drew fifth position. Little Bernice (all the way from Los Angeles) shot to the front when the word was given and had taken the pole be-fore the first turn with Peter Stevens blanketed on the outside and the entire field in a bunch. They went to the the in 31% seconds. They raced this way to the half in 1.04, three-quarters in 1.35¼. At the head of the stretch Peter carried Little Bernice to a break, while Camelia and Walnut in the minds of his backers as having Grove came with a rush on the outside and it was a great drive thru drawn the pole. He made every pos the stretch and the result was in a winner and won eased up in both the stretch and the result was in doubt until the decision was given from the stand. NTIRELY new equipment issued this summer to two of Toronto's regiments, following upon the new uniforms and equipment issued to the Queen's Own Rifles, have made the equipage of the Toronto militia up-to-date in every detail. The department of ilitia this year sent the paraphernalia just in time for the summer camps, and it has been unanimously decreed that the new order of things is a great improvement upon the

The outfit of the infantry man will benceforth be thoroly modern, and so arranged that the cartridges carried in the belt, mostly , in front, balance the weight of the food, clothing, and utensils carried on the back. The 56 pounds that eaceh man carries will then be as little burden as possible. From the belt, suspenders pass over the shoulders and sustain the packsack which contains the heavy overcoat, shirt, two pairs of socks, towel, soap, comb, razor, and canteen. This is made of khaki, and is "practically waterproof. In some cases a blanket is substituted for the overcoat, altho the Highlanders' carry the coat as part of their regular equipment. On the left side, suspended from the suspenders, and also fastened to the belt is the haversack. This contains also the mess kit, comprising tork, spoon and n the haversack, also, the soldier in service carries his rations, which in ordinary cases is one pound of meat and a pound and a half of bread or biscuit, with an additional pound of emergency rations, the latter being half chocolate and half compressed soup. In the Canadian service kit the soldier does not carry his own "pup" tent, this being relegated to the transport wagons. At the top of the haversack is the bayonet, of the short sword variety, held in a scabbard which may be hooked onto the belt. The water bottle, also brown, holds three pints, and is fastened onto the belt on the right side along with the short-handled entrenching tool which is a sort of combination pick and shovel, that are made entirely of khaki which is comparatively cheap, the expense would not necessarily be much greatr than in times of peace. Practically all the uniforms for the use of Canadian soldiers are made in England and are done on the contract system, that is they are tendered for, and as a result the low prices for a full outfit would almost stun a man who has to pay thirty or forty dollars for an outfit. In this way we get the benefit of the large orders Toronto Men Wear Khaki for the British army.

When the soldier goes into action he may be required to carry addi-tional ammuniton in bandoliers, but under ordinary conditions he carries but 150 rounds. One of the hardest problems in a battle is to keep the firing line supplied with ammunition, and in making their rushes to the front the soldiers are often compelled to carry as much as 300 rounds. The soldier thus goes into the fight provided with food and water for twenty-four hours, and emergency rations for an additional thirty-six hours, and enough ammunition for several hours' firing. As well as the equipment each man carries for himself, there are also additional stores and supplies carried for him in the wagons. War is hard on clothes. Nevertheless, the soldier's allowance for clothing is no greater while he is engaged in fighting than during the piping times of peace.

He wears out three or four times as many shoes and other garments.

The day of fancy and colored costumes in the battlefield has passed, and the addition of the khaki apron to the dress of the Highlanders, to be worn when in battle, has done away with the last bit of color, and the last bit of pageantry.

56 Pounds.

War is no longer a spectacle, but a grim business entered upon to gain an end, and that as quickly as possible, so except on dress occasions the modern soldier does not deck himself up in red and green and blue, but wears the somber khaki that proved its value beyond doubt upon the yeldt.

The peace allowance of the regular soldier for clothes is based upon the idea that he will require principally dress clothes, and these are relatively expensive. Providing clothes, both dress and otherwise, for the thousands of men over the Dominion is a complicated job, as every man must be "fitted." If Canada should, at any time, be called upon to provide a large force to defend her borders, every man would have to be provided with clothing that would fit him. There would then be no "best" clothes, and as the service outfits

Fitting the Men

If 10 or 50 men were to be fitted, it would hardly be possible to give a guess as to how many different sizes of trousers, coats, shoes, etc., would be required for them. But where 10,000 men are concerned it is easy to compute just how many garments of each size will be needed to clothe them all. Thus, if 10,000 coats are ordered under a contract, there must be so many of size 36, so many of 38 and so on. It is very simple to talk about. Nevertheless, there are times when it is hard to get a fit for a man who is unusual in measurements, and in this case the clothes must either be made over or made to measure.

While the volunteer soldiers of Canada are supplied absolutely free nain with clothes, the regular soldier is

The Wonderful Catacombs of the Birds

The U. S. War Equipment.

E VERY one has heard of the cat-acombs of Rome of the cat-Appian Way, under the Campagna, which, during the third and fourth centuries, served as burial places for the Christians, and how Alario's sack of Rome in 410 marked the end of the catacomb's graves -Indeed, that of the powerful city itself! Then there were the lofty corridors and spacious halls of the Neapolitan catacombs, the famous Grotto of St. John, under the ancient City of Syracuse in Sicilya subterranean city in itself.

But the most curious of all catacombs is the one in Egypt-the Catacombs of the Birds.

Wandering among the pyramids of Secchara, which stand on the edge of the desert, a little south of the ancient City of Memphis, a traveller. nearly a hundred years ago, was passing over a then unbeaten path. He was seeking, among the tombs, one of the most curious and interteresting objects in Egypt. He was seeking for the burial place of the birds-the sacred ibis of Egypt.

This pyramid has no door, but a square aperture nearly 100 feet from about on hands, and knees, he was its base, and about 40 feet deep. At the end of this a small hole. It was obviously an untraveled route and the explorer was curious to descend within.

Commanding his dragoman to enlarge the opening, he passed thru and down an inclined plane, a passage cut thru the rock, into the vaulted chamber. Thru another excavation he made his way and found himself in a second chamber, the floor of which had been cut away to form a large square pit.

Descending into this pit, by bracing his arms and digging his toes into the sides, where little holes were made for that purpose, he reached the bottom. Here, crawling at last among the mummies of the sacred ibis, the embalmed deities of the ancient Egyptians.

to the quartermaster at the end

Every regiment in Toronto ha now the khaki service dress. The new uniform of the Royal Grenadiers is almost identical to that of the Queen's Own Rifles, the equip-ment is the same as that described above and is the most up-to-date known to modern students of warfare. Canadians are also ahead of the times in one way, they carry the new Ross rifle which has been the subject of so much comment, and so many protests from those who have been compelled to compete with the Canadian marksmen using the weapon.

Military balls, however, will los none of their picturesqueness, and the ladies who "love anything that wears a uniform" will have their artistic taste fully satiated, for the georgeous "dress" clothes still re-

VACATION CAMP PLATFORM

We will "go light." We will take what we need rather than what we may use. We will stand on our own feet. We will use brains. We will study woodcraft, We will achieve something. We will not shirk; we will not sufk; we will do our share of the our brains.

camp work thoroly and cheerfully; we will meet the challenge of the wilderness like sportsmen-the gentlemen of outdoors.

We will keep the camp clean. We will burn and bury our garbage; we will not pollute sparkling lake or running stream. We will have pure drinking water and well-cooked food.

We will remember that we are facing the extinction of our big game and of our game birds and fishes; that posterity has rights, and that sportsmanship has reesponsibilities.

The market-hunter and the game-hog are a stench in the nostrils of the sportsman. We will treat them as they deserve. And we ourselves will take only what we need from forest, field and stream.

"The catching of fish is not all of fishing." We will use light tackle and give all fish a fair chance; we will throw back the small ones-when trout, with a wet hand. We will obey all game laws.

We will take of the forest to build the camp and to cook and to keep the campfire bright. . But we will not needlessly or wantonly mar or disfigure the fair face of Nature.

We will set no forest fires. Every fire kindled will be watched while burning and be put out before being left. Matches and tobacco will be handled by us with scrupulous care. We wil relax and be our natural selves, and rest, remembering that Nature preaches many a sermon of honesty and of simplicity and of contentment. So shall we return better men.

We will relax and be our natural selves, and rest, remembering servation of the forests and of wild life and the creation of additional game preserves and national parks.

The "Speed Boys" are to be given a dinner by the Chicago Automobile Club previous to the great Elgin nati-onal road races in August and at that dinner Gil Anderson will turn over to the club the Elgin National trophy, for competition this year, and receive in return a $500 gold watch and fob pre-sented by the Elgin National Watch Company on which will be engraved a reproduction of the trophy. In the past Mulford, Zengel and De Palma have received the tokens.

Some salesman in the employ of a Lozier dealer in the United States is going to travel in Europe as ambassa-dor of the company, at the clope of a sales contest inaugurated May 15 and to close Sept. 1. His expenses will be paid by the Lozier Company, and his time will be paid in full by the deal-er. Second man in the contest will receive $200 in gold, and a free trip to the factory; third man $100 in gold and a trip to the factory, and fourth to twelfth in the contest, trips to De-troit. All who win the Detroit trip will be guests of the Lozier Company, and honored as guests with a banquet and honored as guests with a banquet with liberal entertainments. During their Detroit journey the dealers will pay for their time as tho at home.

An illuminating feature in connection with the wave of interest in good roads building which has passed over Canada and the United States in the last few years, is the fact that the work is nearly always referred to as "The construction of permanent highways." The reason is not hard to find. In the early stages of good roads work a large percentage of the improvements made proved to be anything but permanent. Basing their ideas upon the demands made upon a road by horse traffic, communities thruout the country built their new highways on old-fashioned lines. It did not take long to discover, however, that for the newer, heavier, faster traffic an entirely new method of highway construction would have to be devised.

The highway traffic of the future is to be motor traffic, and with the coming of motor traffic has come a new set of highway problems. In the first place, a motor vehicle is heavier; highways must be constructed that will bear its weight. Secondly, the motor vehicle travels at four or five times the speed of the horse-drawn vehicle. Thirdly, it runs on broad-surfaced tires, which at high speed have a peculiar disintegrating effect on any road surface unless specially designed to stand the strain.

When it became evident that old styles of road construction would not suffice, road builders had, perforce, to try experiments along other lines. They discovered that the ideal material must meet certain conditions. As thousands and thousands of miles of highway have to be built, it must be cheap; it must be repairable without the aid of cumbersome and expensive machinery; and it must also be easy to lay and permit of rapid work in its construction.

After many experiments, the material which has emerged to best meet these conditions is cement. All thru the United States, where the permanent road idea is being rapidly advanced, cement has become, almost without exception, the material used. This has passed the stage of controversy. Perhaps the greatest tribute that has been paid to cement as a road material is the fact that it has been officially stated by the men who are behind the great Lincoln Highway movement that the new highway is to be cement wherever prac-ticable. This of course means by far the greater portion of it.

The strength of this tribute to cement as a material for highways can be guaged when one considers the new Lincoln Highway is to be one of the greatest traffic arteries the world has ever known; no expense is to be spared in its design and construction. The Americans intend to make it a fitting memorial to their greatest president. In Canada, our highway problems are practically those of the States. We must have good roads, and we must have them quickly, if we are to develop our rural communities. It is absolutely essential to the interests of the farmer that he should be able to market his produce irrespective of the demands of transportation companies. The cement road and the motor truck offer him an ideal method of achieving this, and without burdening him with a heavy first cost of road con-struction, or the continual drain of expensive road repairs.

The bad roads in the Province of Ontario, and in fact in the whole of Canada, are at present one of our greatest drawbacks. All over the world it is being advertised that Canadian roads are bad roads. The harm thus done us cannot be estimated. The town or village which is approached in two or more directions by high-class permanent roads offers to the manufacturer who desires to locate a plant attractions which any community surrounded by bad roads cannot hope to meet. This has been proved in the States, and will be proved here. We have learned that permanent highways are necessary; we have learned that permanent highways can be built at a reasonable cost; and we have learned that the most efficient material for the construction of permanent highways is cement. With these matters settled, the only thing to do is to go ahead with the work. Let every community combine in stimulating its governing, bodies to give every assistance to the creation of a system of permanent highways which will change and improve life in Canada to a marvellous extent.

The "Coming Car" Has Come

The HEDSON Siz-40 of last season revealed to you the typical modern car. It was a forecast of the coming ideal

It was built by the man who far many years had led in motor car designing. Howard E. Coffin and his 47 engineers had devoted three years to the model. It revealed a new type Six, made light and economical. It introduced, in lines, finish and equipment, a new ideal of a distinguished car.

a distinguished car. It fixed a new price on a quality car- $2,200 last year. Thist was lower than any comparable car-either a Four or a Six-had been quoted. It established a new price standard in the high-grade field. And it brought smooth-running sizes within reach of legions of more who, up to that time, had been forced to buy Fours.

3,000 Were Disappointed

Men flocked by the themeands to this light, handsome Six. As the cars went out, the damand became overwhelm-ing. Orders were placed for 3,000 cars beyond the fectory output. At the end of the season, men were bid-ding for cars. And premiums as high as $200 were paid to get them. That was because a Six-a quality Six-for the first time was selling below Fours of its class. Countiess men who envied Since waited that candition.

We combined these attractions in We combined these attractions in the handsomest car of the year. We brought out many new ideas in equipment. So the HUDSON Str-40, in every way, typified the ideals of the times. The majority of mo-$2,100 . fully equipped. torists recognized there the coming type of car.

New 31 Refinements

Now our famous corps of engineers has spent another year on this model. They have made it lighter still. The new-model weight is 2,890 pounds. They have worked out 31 important refinements beauties, conveniences, conducts.

They have taken part by part and studied ways to improve t. Our 46 designers did this all last year. Now the HUDSON Six-40 for 1915 fulfills all our dreams

A Trebled Output This Year Saves $200 Per Car

Now comes our best announcement. The welcome extended this HUDSON Sin-40 has compelled us to treble our output. The car is so standardized that building three three years ago not a Six was sold under $4.50. And the Sixes of these days were not equal to this.

Some 1915 Features

An artistic streamline body. Invisible hinges. Improved "One-Man" tep with quick-adjusting curtains. Gasoline tank in dash. Extra tires ahead of front door. Disappearing extra tonneau seats.

Finest body finish.

A roomier, wider car. Dimming searchlights. Simplified Dolco starting, lighting and ignition system with wiring in metal conduits.

Lights and ignition lock. Even better carburction. Automatic spark advance. Speedometer drive from transmission shaft. Tubular propeller shaft.

90 pounds less weight - now

This price is beyond competition. There will be other cars of this type because motorists demand them. But the call is for HUDSONS, and our mammoth output means a price which no quality car can meet. COME NOW Come see this new model and all its new features. It will show you all the latest developments. Note in hew many ways these HUDSON engineers have bettered the best they knew.

A better car-not a cheaper car-is offered in the Paige "36" for 1915.

Just now prices are being slashed right and left in the automobile field and there is red hot competition among many manufacturers to bring their selling price down to the very lowest point.

The "Ten Associates," however, are not content to sacrifice quality in order to present to the public alluring "bargain" inducements. They prefer to offer more car value for the money rather than a skimped product at a decreased price.

Rome and Madrid are about to follow its example. In nearly every case the engineers directing these works have made use of our own experience and cought advice from British Government apperts. Extensive operations in road construction are in progress in vari-ous parts of the east, and tar products, seconding to the specifications drawn to the road crust. The road machine has proved that whereas an old ma-cadam road was destroyed in six months by heavy motor traffic it will have a life of at least five, and prob-ably 10 ykears if the surface has a bitu-minous binding. The process is an ex-pensive one, but its value has been amply proved by trial on roads in and round London. The Upper Richmond road, which carries nearly a thousand omnibuses a day, has been treated in this way, and the surface after 22 months' use shows no sign of wear. The same system has been successful-ly applied on the Thames Embank-ment, the crust of which has already resisted the heavy traffic on that busy thorofare for five years. The great-est development in this direction took place last year, and today there are 40 or 50 miles of roads in the environs of London and other large towns laid to the road crust. The road machi

Less Dust With The Master Tire

F you are in the car ahead you are making less dust, not only for yourself, but for the other fellow.

If the other fellow is in the car ahead, he is making less dust, not only for himself, but for you.

All this depends on the car being equipped with Dunlop Traction Tread.

The peculiar construction of the Master Tire makes for minimum dust disturbance.

Take any make of plain tire---and the surface or tread of the tire is always on the road.

Take a so-called Anti-Skid---one of the "buttoned" tires---and the many little obstructions found thereon are churning up dust with every revolution of the wheels.

Take a Dunlop Traction Tread and riding, as you do, only on the series of "V's," the road friction is 50% less.

It is very easy to understand the difference in the "dust" result when you consider that between each "V" on a Dunlop Traction Tread there is as much space as represented by the thickness of the "V" itself. These spaces check the life of the dust in a most effective way-in a way that no other tire can do.

True, Dunlop Traction Tread costs more, but when you've used the Master Tire you readily discover why that extra charge was necessary.

"Most Envied Tire in All America"

ities of rust on the radiator, which is so common on cars, otherwise neatly kept. It is rather interesting to note the same change by a foreign manu-fucturer of high-priced cars in his 1915 model. When you pay more-from $5 to $15 more-you waste that extra money. You lose, in addition, the four great features which made Goodyear the leading tire. Look at the facts-the records. There is no way known to build a better tire than Goodyears, measured by cost per mile. Not at ten times our price.

18 Higher Prices We make these facts emphatic, because 18 American and Canadian makes are selling \ now at more than Goodyear prices.

No-Rim-Cut prices have gone down and down, to one-half former prices. We have built new factories, installed new machinery, and multiplied our output. We have reduced our profits. And we are content with small profits.

Now, with the increased capacity of Goodyear plants, no rival can compete on an equal grade of tire.

That's the reason for those higher prices. They do not mean that others have excelled us.

What Extra Prices Never Buy No extra price can buy a tire with our No-Rim-Cut feature. That has wiped out com-pletely the costliest item in upkeep.

No extra-price tire gets the "On-Air" cure. We employ this process, at a tremendous extra cost to us, to save the countless blow-outs due to wrinkled fabric.

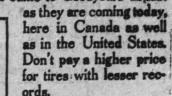

No other tire, at any price, contains hundreds of large rubber rivets created to combat tread separation.

And no price buys another tire with our All-Weather tread. This anti-skid, tough and double-thick, is as flat and smooth-running as a plain tread. Yet it grasps wet roads with deep, resisting, sharp-edged grips.

All higher-priced tires lack all these features , found in No-Rim-Cut tires. And they are the greatest features known in tire making.

Millions of Records

Millions of Goodyear tires have been tried out on hundreds of thousands of cars. The result is shown by Goodyear sales-the largest in the world. And there was never a time when men came to Goodyears as fast

MOTORCYCLING By A. N. B.

The average motorcyclist is one of the hardest persons to satisfy in the world. Before he has had his machine a faw weeks he sometames tries to get more power and speed, but his me-thods for satisfying his cravings are peculiar, and are nearly always in one direction. Barclay confesses that his wife had a great deal to do with his capture of the $1000 winner's purse in that series, because he stop-ped only once during the 187 miles of riding in the four great events. It was a great event for the Barclay family when Bob drew his big prize at the pay wicket last Wednesday night. First thing, Thursday morning, every cent of the money was deposited in the bank, and Mrs. Barclay assured her Robert several times that she didn't even want a new dress-yet. Mrs. Barclay is a great little economizer, and their savings form a considerable percentage of Bob's earnings. Since Barclay won the big purse, he has re-ceived many offers from real estate nen, Calgary oil boomers, and other promoters, for opportunities to invest their money, but the entry in the bank book looked good enough. Mrs. Barclay was delighted beyond measure when Manager Kreamer ar-ranged the sweepstake feature last Wednesday night in her honor, and the climax came when she was pre-cented with a large bouquot of beauti-ful ross-almost as large as herself. Men Ask These Motorcycle Tire Questions

Time has taught men the things to seek in motorcycle tires. Seasoned riders now ask these motorcycle tire questions: What is the make ?- What men ride them ?- What is their record ? What is the factor of durability and safety ?

Goodyear-Answered Goodyear Motorcycle Tires have solved every problem of right buying for these men. These are the tires which in four years have become world leaders. Three of every four of this year's meter-cycles are Goodyear equipped.

As in Automobile Tires The same quality standards by which Goodyear Automobile Tires have won the world govern the making of Goodyear Motor-cycle Tires. Every road condition is anticipated and met in the making. Road leadership has been won through factory leadership.

TORONTO BRANCH-COR. SIMCOE AND RICHMOND STREETS

THERE is a before-seven o'clock delivery all over Toronto and suburbs, and in the city of Hamilton, of the Toronto Daily World. If you would be abreast of the times and keep informed of the other fellow's movements you should read Toronto's brightest and most up-to-date daily newspaper. All the successful men read a morning newspaper; that is why they are successful. Thus they learn the happenings in the business world before the business day commences. The closing prices of the various markets are truthfully recorded. The sports and amusements of the previous afternoon and evening appear first in the morning newspaper. The Toronto Morning World is also a Woman's newspaper, for where is the woman that is not interested in the daily happenings? The special Woman's page and the Magazine page which appear daily in The Morning World will be of absorbing interest to them. The daily articles on housekeeping by Christine Frederick is sufficient in itself to command your attention. Other special features are: "The Nursery," by Elenor Murray, "The Garden," by Rachael R. Todd, M.D., Secrets of Health and Happiness, by Dr. L. K. Hirschberg. The movements of Local Society, by Mrs. Edmund Phillips, and scores of other special features, which appear exclusively in the Daily World. Form

A wedding took place on June 24 at "The Orchards," Port Perry Ont., when vOllia, daughter of Mrs. James Mc-Brien, and sister of Capt. James Mcplant at Arlington, across the Po-tomac from Washington. But to speak with the voice is quite a different matter. Only a few days ago Sig. Mar-coni himself succeeded in telephoning by wireless over a distance of 600 miles between London and Berlin. Previous to this Commander Q. Marjorana, director of the Italian Telegraph and Telephone Institute, covered a distance of 100 miles with the voice, without aid of wires. the voice, without aid of wires. Very promising, certainly. Why, then, should we not be able to look forward with confidence to telephon-ing across the Atlantic? Penhaps we may. But the difficulty involved is of a kind not at all understood by the nuble at large

The plant at Arlington employs 180 horse-power. This tremendous energy can be sent out in a single impulse, making a vibration of the ether which is felt by the "antenna" of a suitably constructed apparatus on the other side of the Atlantic. By a succession of these etheric waves a message is conveyed. The power rises suddenly from nothing to its full energy, drops to nothing again, and so on. This principle, however, cannot be applied to wireless telephoning. The voice cannot jump across space in a series of tremendous impulses. Its vibrations are restricted within very narrow limits. The more power could be put behind it to project it, say, from Washington to Paris. At the same time, it is to be real-ized that even the idea of wireless telephoning is extremely new. Very likely the method employed in a few years from now will be entirely dif-ferent from any yet thought of, and. with the help of fresh discoveries along this line, people in New York may be able to talk with friends in London or Berlin as readily as in London or Berlin as readily as they do now over the ordinary tele-phone with people in Philadelphia.

It is rather interesting to note that the two names by which this animal is known are really much nearer alike than we are likely to think. Woodchuck is supposed to be the name first given by the early settlers and derived from "chuck" or "chucky," used by the English farmers to designate little pigs, which were sometimes spoken of as barnyard chuckies. Little pig of the woods is, therefore, not so very much unlike the common designation, groundhog.

TRAIN THE MIND BY WORD STUDY

Careful Reading and Close Word Study Keeps Your Brain Alert.

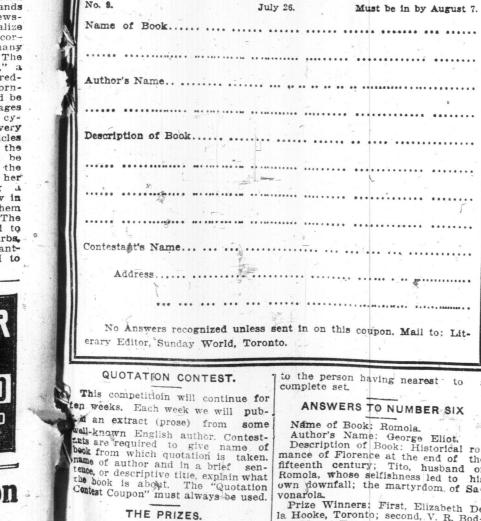

The habit of turning up words you do not know the meaning of can be combined very advantageously with the definition-making exercise by keeping a list of words you turn up, and ther making definitions of your own for them a day or two afterwards. This will fix meanings in your minds. It will be well worth your while the make a daily practise of these two things for a few months. Do not think it is not worth doing, and that it will be "just as good" to make up the de-finitions in your mind without writing them down and comparing them with those given in the dictionary. Very often the simplest things are best worth doing, and the foregoing is a case in point. If it is worth doing an all it is worth doing as well as it can passibly be done. If you want to make yourself great, it is worth a little trouble, and the habit of doing things in the best possible manner will make you do everything you undertake in the same spirit of thoro perfection.

Altho Canadian history is short, as compared with that of European nations, and still more with that of Eastern lands, it is yet numbered in centuries. But we are only now beginning to realize the immeasurable possibilities and potentialities of the Dominion. Within the memory of living men, what are today the wheat granaries of the empire, were universally believed to be barren wildernesses of ice and snow, and only enjoying the brief but brilliant interlude of an Arctic summer. Only the late Lord Strathcona perceived and realized the agricultural wealth of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, and his prescience and boundless confidence brought them out of the night of ignorance into the sunshine of knowledge. For years later the notion prevailed that the lower portions of the prairie provinces represented the ultimate of Canada's productive area. But, still further north, are even vaster tracts rich in promise and destined to be the home of millions.

Mackenzie, offer greater attractions to the pioneer settlers than did, or do, the better known parts of Western Canada or of the North Central States of the neighboring republic. The Peace River opens two weeks earlier and closes two weeks later in the fall than the Ottawa River, at Ottawa. This means that it enjoys a summer a month longer than that, of the St. Lawrence, and, he adds, that it is certain already it has a better climate than the Saskatchewan country had before it was settled. For, with cultivation, the soil itself becomes a storehouse of heat, which keeps the night temperature, as a rule, above the frost line. Not only for cereal crops, but for all kinds of garden produce, these distant north lands promise to be among the best in Canada.

Britain The World's Creditor

In the recent Empire number of The Financier, of London, England, the total British investment abroad reaches the almost inconceivable sum total of $18,500,000,000. Of this, nearly half.

or $8,900,000,000, has been invested in countries that are under the Union Jack. Canada and Newfoundland have received $2.570.000,000; India and Ceylon, $1,890,000,000; South Africa, $1,850,000,000; Australia, $1,660,000,000; and New Zealand, $420,000,000, the balance going to the smaller crown colonies. These colossal sums have been employed for purposes. of government, railway construction, industrial development, municipal loans, and the financing of the enterprises that are opening up the imperial resources of mine, forest, and field. It is remarkable to find that last year, for the first time in history, Britain advanced more money to the overseas dominions than to foreign countries, the figures standing at $495,000,000, against $490,000,0000.

Eligible applicants will, where necessary, be assisted finan-cially, and all new-comers will have the benefit of expert advice in the cultivation and marketing of their crops. The holdings will be fenced, and water and stock provided, and they may even be partially cultivated, to relieve the early hardships of inexperienced settlers. The scheme has been favorably received, but has caused some protest from those who fear that it will attract the class that are needed in England to rebuild the land population. Some such plan is badly required for the agricultural development of New Ontario.

of the greatest in the world. Its reputation is international, and no intelligent citizen of the province can fail to take proper pride in the high place occupied by Toronto University. But the rapid expansion and the necessity of keeping fully abreast of modern discoveries and methods means adequate money supplies. There is an increasing deficit, which must be shouldered by the provincial government or the university must decline in prestige-or, what is equally or even more important, must impose greater disabilities on the student of little means. Neither of these is desirable, and both must be avoided. A niggardly policy towards the university should be unthinkable, and the government must measure up to its responsibility.

X & X

Among the links of empire must certainly be put the annual meeting at Bisley. This year the concourse from the mother country, the overseas dominions, crown colonies, and dependencies, is more representative than ever before. Every year the interest taken in the rifle matches increases, and their inter-imperial aspect cannot be disregarded. Trouble has arisen over the expressed intention of the British war office to alter the conditions and make them more conformable to service requirements. No one will deprecate the necessity of thoro training of that nature, but Bisley should not be, and, indeed, cannot be, of much use in filling the bill. That can only be secured in the regiments themselves, and if Bisley is to remain the scene of friendly rivalry among the far-flung domains of the King, it must retain its representative character under conditions that maintain approximate-equality.

spere's Death

William Shakspere, greatest of dramatic poets and the loftiest peak in the long range of English literature, died at Stratford on April 23, 1616. The exact date of his birth in 1564 is not known, but his baptism is recorded as having taken place on April 26, so that it is well within the bounds of possibility that his death happened on the fifty-second anniversary of his birthday. In 1916 three centuries will have passed since this best known of Englishmen shuffled off his mortal coil, and already a movement is in progress to have that event appropriately commemorated. Recently a company of distinguished men met in the rooms of the Royal Society, Burlington House, London, to make preliminary arrangements, and there is no doubt that the movement will find a ready response not only in English-speaking nations, but in all civilized countries. For Shakspere was not of his own age, but is of all time.

Among those who addressed the gathering was Mr. Walter Hines Page, the United States ambassador, who said he had been much struck by a remark made to him by Professor Gollancz, to the effect that there was no creed, nor piece of literature, nor social organization, nor hero, nor religion, nor any other thing in all the world that came so near to winning the unanimous approval of the human race as Shakspere. It appears, on the surface, a startling proposition, yet it is true. Shakspere is not only, as Mr. A. J. Balfour observed on the same occasion, one of the greatest links joining together in a bond of sympathy those of his own race and his own language, scattered over the globe, but his fame is as secure among peoples who/ are not their kin. Germany, in-deed, has practically annexed Shakspere, whom they regard as the truest and deepest interpreter of the Germanic spirit. And a great French critic asked, with a genuine note of surprise, why it was that the England of the Elizabethan age should have produced a man so catholic in genius and appeal.

Municipal Ideals

Altho the late Joseph Chamberlain was not, as some have represented, the originator of the policy which placed his adopted City of Birmingham in the forefront of progressive British cities, he was certainly responsible for the manner in which it laid hold of the imagination of the people. Long before he became mayor, Glasgow and other large municipalities had taken over their water and gas undertakings, and carried thru schemes for the removal of vantage of the then recently-enacted measure of Lord Cross, the Artizans' Dwelling Act. What so greatly stimulated public interest thruout Britain was the magnitude of the proposal, and the moral fervor of Mr. Chamberlain and the men who held up a new ideal of civic possibility and civic duty.

the latter endeavor he was able also to take ad-

This is the note taken by Professor Ashley, dean of the faculty of commerce in Birmingham University, of which Mr. Chamberlain was the first chancellor. Mr. Chamberlain, Dean Ashley wrote in The London Daily News, not to "Englishmen only, but to the whole civilized world, stands for good municipal government; for municipal government, not simply honest and economical, but also positively bent on promoting the well-being of the people, ready to assume a large responsibility and determined to claim a great place in the life of every man, woman, and child, within its area. And, as the world has become progressively more and more urbanized, Mr. Chamberlain's fame in this respect has grown and will continue to grow." Men of Mr. Chamberlain's type are needed quite as much in Canada as in Britain-men of vision, of capacity, and of courage, able to foresee the needs of the future as well as the necessities of the present.

Utilizing One's Vacation

That is an excellent suggestion made in the last weekly bulletin of the New York bureau of municipal research. Many people make use of their vacation to visit other cities than their own, and too often they are satisfied with a cursory inspection of the show places, theatres, and music halls. But, why not utilize the occasion to enlarge one's civic perspective and to awaken new interest in the working of one's own local government? This is the pertinent query asked by the bureau, and it adds: "When you come to a new city, note the particulars in which it seems to surpass your own. Look also for points in which your city is superior. Develop a set of standards of civic housekeeping." This, we take it, would add the zest of interest to the mere gratification of curiosity.

Nor is it necessary to make a task of this, as if one were a student at work on his quest or an official investigator charged with the duty of reporting to the powers that sent him. Keep an observant eye, and, now and again, when opportunity offers, ask a judicious question. The bureau presents quite a number of points. in connection with the police, fire prevention, public and private buildings, unnecessary noises, smoke, health, streets and sidewalks, and parks and playgrounds. And, having stored up a harvest of observation, let it be used on returning to the home city by a mental comparison with the cities that have been visited. Give the mayor or any alderman the advantage of your conclusions regarding civic betterment.
