DAYLIGHT SAVING

To the Editor of Times:—Sir,—Now that we are to be subjected to the cost of a plebiscite on daylight saving, no doubt due to the reason, as expressed by one of the speakers at the Opera House on last Thursday evening, that "they had at last been able to make their influence felt," I would suggest that the voters of St. John exercise their franchise.

Such confidence as expressed by speakers at the Opera House, as to the result of the plebiscite, is justified, if past experience are to be regarded, in the absence of voters from the polls when matters other than provincial or federal are under consideration.

He maintained that this government had not only produced the first deficit in fifteen years, but had increased the debt of the province by $36,000,000 in the first year of their administration.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbloom, "a terrible calamity befell me yesterday." "The Inspector didn't get you," queried Hiram. "No," replied the reporter. "Get your tax-bill," asked Hiram. "Far worse than that," said the reporter. "Well," said Hiram, "that's the worst thing that has happened to me in this town—to hear 'em talk. What did happen?" "My watch," said the reporter, "gained an hour in the night. When I looked at it in the morning I didn't know the difference. I got up at what I thought was the usual hour and came to work an hour sooner than I did the day before. I didn't find out my mistake till last night. When I did my appetite left me and I lost six pounds in weight."

"But think," said the reporter, "what would happen if all our watches and clocks jumped ahead an hour some night?" "Well," said Hiram, "we'd feller the clock. But you needn't think you're going to get me into no argument. You kin make up your mind to that right now—by Hen!"

THE BUSINESS COLUMN

EDITED BY MANSFIELD F. HOUSE

Co-operation is Key-note of This Plan.

A new wrinkle in merchandising has appeared in Iola, Kan., and is unusual, but it has proved several problems for local grocers.

Mr. Burcher, presiding, asked the business of the meeting. D. R. Landon wished to buy two cases of corn and A. Z. Groves one case.

That's co-operative buying as practiced in Iola by the grocers. It is working to their advantage in keeping stocks in good shape and not being heavily loaded.

The members meet at the office of the secretary as often as they wish and talk things over, see what is needed and what can be done to help some other grocer.

When a grocer has ordered several cases of goods in a co-operative way it has arrived at the store of another grocer and the owner has no car, some other grocer volunteers to take it around to the store of the purchaser.

LOCATE A GOLD CLAIM IN THE HEART OF DENVER

Denver, Colo., Feb. 26—Peter Noonan and William Wikersham have recorded a gold claim in the heart of the city of Denver. In the ground beneath the territory containing the City Hall, the Union Station and a great part of the business district, the men allege they have struck a rich find of gold.

The two men, who look like typical old-time prospectors, appeared at a window in the Recorder's office and dumped the contents of two canvas sacks on the counter. "We dug these out of lots in the heart of Denver," they explained, "and claim the ore bodies from which they came by right of discovery. We want the ore and our claims recorded." Later they presented the proper papers.

The Proper Ratio. "I see by the papers that there are two hundred families for every one hundred apartments." "Well, it takes the combined income of two families to pay for one apartment these days."—New York World.

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 26, 1921.

VOTE ON MONDAY

The question whether we are to enjoy an extra hour of daylight in recreation in St. John during the summer months will be settled on Monday.

An entirely new interest has been given to the subject by the announcement that the Canadian railways may adopt daylight time.

One of the canvasses against daylight saving does not put the case fairly. It is not true that the only people who want it are those who work short hours or are the owners of automobiles and summer homes in the country.

Everybody interested in sport is reminded that unless we have daylight saving there will be very little baseball during the summer.

As the Times has already pointed out, daylight-saving does not injure the health or lessen the earnings of any citizen.

Whoever believes in having the extra hour of daylight for enjoyment should go to the polls on Monday.

HOUSING IN ST. JOHN. There are two distinct questions involved in the discussion of rentals, which was before the Commercial Club last evening.

THE WILDERNESS SHRINKS The Beaver, the magazine published by the Hudson's Bay Company indulges in these reflections concerning the change in the fur north.

HERE'S ANOTHER WALLPAPER. The Liberal papers seem to be well satisfied with the appointment of a resident of Nova Scotia to a New Brunswick constituency.

SHOPPING STRIKE OFF London, Feb. 26.—A despatch from Melbourne, Australia, to the Central News, says the shipping strike which has been in progress for some time has been settled.

CAOCH, THE PIPER.

(By John Keegan, Irish poet, 1809-1848.) O Caoch's day, the 10th of 1819, When I was a little fellow, A piper wandered to our door.

Oh! God be with my childhood! When I, bare-headed, roamed all day— Bird-nesting in the wild-wood! I'll not forget those sunny hours, However years may pass!

Old Caoch, with "Pinch" slept well that night; And the morning early He called me up to hear him play.

Old Caoch, but oh, row woe-begone! His form is bowed and bending, His feeble hands are stiff and wan.

ARE WE TO LOSE TRAFFIC? A very grave statement was made by the secretary of the Commercial Club last evening.

LIGHTER VEIN. The experts say a broad, flat nose indicates lack of curiosity.

Suspicious Symptom. Doctor—He'll be up in a day or two, Mrs. Jones. Why all this distress?

NEW FREEMAN ON APPOINTMENT TO THE SENATE

In the course of an article on the recent senatorial appointment the New Freeman says: "It would surely be drawing the long bow to assert that because Senator McDonald was born in New Brunswick and has a summer home at Shediac that he is therefore entitled to be one of the representatives of the Province of Canada."

RECENT DEATHS

Sussex, Feb. 25.—The death of Mrs. Walter Craig, which occurred at her home this evening at 7 o'clock, will be learned with deep regret by her many friends throughout the province. Her sudden and unexpected passing came as a great shock to all in this community. Mrs. Craig was around her home today in her usual good health and shortly after eating supper was stricken with heart failure and passed away very suddenly.

Mrs. Craig was sixty years of age. She was a woman of fine Christian character, an earnest and devoted member and worker of the Presbyterian church and was to the front always in every good cause.

She is survived by her husband, four daughters and three sons. The daughters are: Mrs. H. O. R. Bealey, of South Bay; Mrs. F. G. Mahoney, of East St. John; Miss Nan, of Newburyport (Mass.) and Miss Nellie, of Sussex. The sons are Thomas A. of Houlton (Me.), Ray and Harold, of Sussex.

The death of Mrs. Margaret, widow of Dr. J. A. Draper, occurred yesterday after a brief illness, at the residence of Mrs. Nell Brodie, 164 Duke street. Mrs. Draper, who was formerly Miss Margaret Wilson, was twice married, her first husband being Rev. Mr. Barker of Sheffield (N. B.). She had many friends throughout the city who will learn of her death with sincere regret.

Digby, N. S., Feb. 25.—(Special)—John Daley of this town received a telegram today announcing that his younger brother, Richard, had died yesterday in Denver (Colo.), following an operation for gall stones. He was born in St. John sixty-eight years ago and was the youngest son of the late Richard Daley. He went to Rawlins (Wyo.), about forty years ago and had ever since made his home there. Besides his brother John, here, he leaves another brother, the Hon. William Daley, in Wyoming, and one sister, Mrs. Letitia Smock, in Los Angeles, as well as a wife, two sons and a daughter.

The death of Adjutant Kate W. Ritchie of the Salvation Army occurred in Toronto recently. She attended the Salvation Army training school in St. John. She was fifty years of age, and leaves her husband and four sons to mourn.

RECIPES FOR PARLOR GAMES

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)
Fashions that are new, and this generation is not as well acquainted with the dime museum wonders as the one before it. Yet the sword swallowers survive with the travelling circuses and elsewhere, and now and then there appears some wonder-worker of sufficient skill to become a headliner in vaudeville. The most important of them for some years has been Houdini, known as the Handcuff King. Houdini has long been a student of all kinds of stage trickery, and lately has blossomed out as an author. "In Miracle Mongers and Their Methods" he reviews the careers of some of the most celebrated of freaks and explains what parts of their acts were genuine and what parts were faked. The reader will be more surprised at the large percentage of genuineness in these performances than at the present age of fraud. Men do swallow swords. Men do put hot irons in their mouths. Men do swallow stones as large as eggs. They do drink poisons with no ill effect. They do permit rattlesnakes to bite them.

Sword Swallowing.
The idea that sword swallowing is a fake, and that the supposed sword retreats into the hilt which gives it the appearance of passing down the throat, is a mistaken one. Houdini vouches for the performance of the Chevalier Cluquet, who swallowed a real bayonet sword, weighted with a cross bar and two eighteen-pound dumbbells. He also swallowed a gold watch, and later on recovered it by means of an almost invisible wire to which it was attached. Says Houdini: "To accomplish the sword swallowing feat it is only necessary to overcome the nausea that results from the metal touching the mucous membrane of the pharynx, for there is an unobstructed passage, large enough to accommodate several of the thin blades used from the mouth to the bottom of the stomach. This passage is not straight, but the passing of the sword straightens it. Some throats are more sensitive than others, but practice will soon accustom any throat to the presence of the blade." He says that the medical profession first learned of the possibility of overcoming the sensitiveness of the pharynx by studying the work of sword swallowers.

Women Wonderers.
One of the most famous of sword swallowers was a German performer known as Victorino. She had a throat so toughened that she could bend a sword after swallowing it. Once a blade snapped in two, but she seized the lower end with her fingers and retrieved it. Another genuine woman performer was Thardo, well known some twenty years ago. Her specialty was permitting herself to be bitten by rattlesnakes. Houdini studied her act with the utmost attention for several weeks, never missing a performance. His conclusion is that the woman's immunity from a horrible death was due to the fact that she performed upon an empty stomach and that immediately after being bitten she drank huge drafts of milk. The idea is that the milk acts as an antidote. One pauses to wonder at the taste of people who were willing to pay money and throw to see a woman being bitten by a poisonous reptile.

Stone Eaters.
In London some year ago he watched a performance of some stone eaters. One of them consumed with apparent relish

Spring Frocks Display New Charms

This year you'll want a new frock earlier than ever, on account of the early Easter. There is every reason why you can find one to please at this store.

Satins, Taffetas, Crepe-de-Chines and other soft, crepe fabrics, are sharing equal popularity as foundations for the very smartest afternoon and semi-evening frocks.

Different versions of the popular basque are evident and new skirts cut on circular lines. Pleatings, frills and touches of colored embroidery; either of silk or wool, add softening touches you are bound to admire. As for color—black, navy and greys remain popular, but there are lovely browns and other shades, too.

For street wear, some exceptionally smart frocks are fashioned with long lace-up basques. These are developed in Tricotine and are embroidered or beaded in stunning designs.

It's a logical time for a new frock and the prices are very moderate for spring.

half a handful of stones nearly the size of hen's eggs, and then jumped about to produce an agreeable rattling or chiming effect from the stones in his stomach. By strengthening and toughening the linings of her mouth and throat performers are able to eat cats, razor blades and other highly unappetizing comestibles. They are later disgorged. Sometimes, however, they do not come back, in which case they are likely to give trouble to the performer as they make their procession through his system. A poison eater who seemed to be little commended by taking large doses of poison claimed to overcome all evil effects by eating cornmeal mush. Of course it is difficult to give a certificate of character to the alleged poison swallower. The substitution of a harmless powder for the poison being so easily accomplished by sleight of hand.

Fire Defiers.
Perhaps the most amazing of the genuine performances, and yet the most easily explained are those of the heat defiers. Science explains this with molten metal at a certain temperature, the bare hand may be thrust into it with impunity. The reason is that the heat forms an invisible cushion of steam about the hand and protects it from the metal. It would be interesting to identify the original scientist who, having satisfied his reason on this point, ventured to make the actual experiment. The skin may be rendered almost immune to the action of heat by rubbing it with various drugs. Magus, one of the early heat defiers, gave the following recipe: "Take three of marshmallow and white of egg, sea-bone seeds and lime; powder them and mix juice of radish with them and mix all thoroughly, and with this composition anoint your body or hand and allow it to dry and afterward immerse in molten metal, and after you may boldly take up hot iron without hurt."

It Has the Kick.
Those who wish to astonish and delight their friends and family by walking on burning coals are advised to consider the recipe offered by another expert: "Take half an ounce of camphor, dissolve it in two ounces of aqua vitae, add to it one ounce of quicksilver, one ounce of liquid storax, which is the droppings of myrrh, and hindlers the camphor from firing; take two ounces of hemattus, a red stone, to be had at all druggists', and when you buy it let them beat it into powder in their great mortar, for it is so very hard it cannot be done in a small one; put this to the aforementioned composition, and when you intend to walk on the bar you must anoint your feet well therewith and you may walk over it without danger. By this you may wash your hands in boiling lead." The breathing of fire is shown to be always and ever a trick. No person may inhale flames and get by with it. He can only create the illusion. Liquid storax will permit the tongue to be applied to a red hot iron.

WALDORF BURGLAR CAPTURED IN FIGHT

Battle Rages All Around Room in Which Detective Surprises Armed Intruder.

(New York Times.) After a dangerous battle with an armed burglar in which men guests joined while women screamed in fright, detectives in the Hotel Waldorf, Astoria last night captured a man whom they suspect of having committed a series of recent depredations in which the Waldorf, the Claridge and the McAlpine all suffered.

In the West Thirtieth Street Station, whither Detectives Doyle and O'Connell took him after he had been beaten almost into insensibility, the man gave his name as William Baker, twenty-five years old, his address as the Mills Hotel, Seventh Avenue and Thirty-sixth Street, and his occupation as a laborer.

Joseph Smith, head detective at the hotel, falling to find any trace of the man and believing the intruder would return stationed one of his men on each floor of the big hotel night after night.

Their vigil was vain the first three nights, but last night, Tony Cappuro, one of Smith's lieutenants, saw a man approach Room 633 stealthily, glance hurriedly around, then unlock the door and enter.

As he entered he found the room in darkness, except for a single light at the dresser over which the man was bending intently. As the detective came in the intruder whirled, thrust one hand into his right hand pocket and regarded the visitor steadily.

That was the end of the fight. The local senior skating championship of Rothesay was won by W. F. Russell with fourteen points when the second half of the championship programme was run off last night at the Rothesay community rink.

A special exhibition race over the 440 yard was won by the former champion, F. C. Green, who also captured first prize in another special feature for married men more than thirty-five years of age.

The events skated last night were as follows: Senior 440 yards—1, Burbridge; 2, R. A. Bell.

BRITISH PAPER'S COMMENT ON QUEBEC LAW

London Telegraph Contrasts Province With the United States — Says Exchequer Will Benefit By Liquor Legislation.

London, Feb. 25.—(By Mail, Canadian Associated Press)—The Daily Telegraph in a recent issue discusses at some length a despatch from its Montreal correspondent stating that a general caucus of supporters of the administration has been held to discuss the proposed policy of government control of the liquor business throughout the province, and that the result has been the definite adoption of that policy, which will have the full support of the majority in the legislature.

The Telegraph says of the scheme: "If the proposed legislation comes into force in Quebec, the United States will for the first time, have a Canadian neighbor whose government is directly interested in the sale of liquor—a strange proximity for a country which has done what is possible to make liquor wholly unobtainable within its borders. But it need scarcely be said that the authorities in Quebec do not propose to stand behind the vast organization of 'boot-legging' which is carried on at present on both sides of the frontier. So far as Quebec is concerned, that organization is likely to disappear."

"The trade done by the government is, of course, to be a legitimate one, and it is intended to enforce the law with severity when it comes into operation. One industry which is doomed to destruction, according to our correspondents, is that of the large number of physicians in dry areas who profit by the exception made in favor of persons who need liquor for medical reasons. These practitioners, it is stated, sell signed prescriptions at a dollar apiece, with a special blank for the name of the particular medicine required—a particularly unsavory example of the vast growth of fraud and hypocrisy which seems inevitably to follow on the enactment of dry legislation."

But when all forms of legitimate business are ruled out, there appears to be no question that the Quebec exchequer stands to benefit very largely by the policy which is about to take statutory shape. The province will still be, as our correspondent put it, the Mecca of the people of the United States and the dry provinces who need a respite from prohibition sufficiently to seek it in Quebec; and of these there are apparently enough to create a busy tourist traffic from all parts of the English-speaking North America. The experiment whatever may be said of it—and it will come under hot fire of criticism from widely different bodies of opinion and interest—will be highly interesting to observe in its development; and it may very easily be more successful in its practical social results than prohibition at present seems to be."

one to whom you could tell your troubles would go more smoothly. Would you like to talk it over with him or must we find some other way out?"

John, who has heard threats of the reform school, is quite willing to try anything else once. "Domestically unadjusted" doesn't sound quite so bad as "tough," "sneaky," and "no good."

More than 350 boys who were in trouble of one sort or another in 1920 went out from the Children's Court under the supervision of a Big Brother, and this 350 comprise only 21 per cent of the boys helped by the Big Brothers.

The movement began in 1904 and today the "Big Brothers Incorporated," occupies a suite of offices at 200 Fifth Avenue with a general secretary and seven assistants under whose supervision 600 young men are working with boys in all the complex conditions of life in New York.

In 1909 the Jewish Big Brothers began their work and six years later the Catholic Big Brothers became an active organization. In Brooklyn all three are combined. The Elks, Elmal Brith, the Rotary Club and the Knights of Columbus and other Catholic societies throughout the country are furnishing young men for the work and co-operating in other ways.

One of the first things a big brother does is to talk with the parents. Often he is able to show them, with the help of Mr. Sheldon, that their boy is not altogether to blame.

Perhaps a boy is not adjusted to his neighborhood. Either he doesn't get along with good companions or he gets on too well with bad ones. The boy is once slated for an examination for "emotional instability," and "low inhibition."

A physician who makes a specialty of such cases examines and prescribes for him. Sometimes there is a medicine. Often malnutrition even in a boy who has all he needs to eat is found to be a cause of his condition.

Here is a case and its treatment: Mr. Sheldon and the big brother get together and look over a report on the boy. He has seen the physician. He is emotionally unstable, and malnutrition is found to be responsible in part. Because he is emotionally unstable and to everyone who is "easily led," he is unadjusted to his environment.

"Take malnutrition," the secretary suggests, "often the mother has enough food but doesn't cook it properly, and that is brought to the attention of a settlement in her neighborhood. She is invited to attend lectures by a dietist or perhaps through the settlement house we arrange for a dietist to visit her in her home."

Just now the city is filled with boys who are out of work, and the Big Brothers are carrying on a fair-sized "see-employment" agency. Those under working age who don't get on at school receive some objects for which to strive.

"By involuntary contributions. We send out personal appeals and form letters to a great number of people who all contribute a little. From a balance consisting of a two-dollar note our reserve fund has been brought to about $20,000."

The work is expanding. This month the Big Brothers, Inc. are holding parents' meetings. On Feb. 8 there is to be a father's meeting and a little later a mothers' meeting.

STOLEN SAPPHIRE FOUND IN PARIS

Heirloom of Count Branicki of Warsaw, Discovered in Jewelry Store.

Paris, February, 25.—A sapphire which was lost in Warsaw in July, 1918, has been found in Paris, with this difference, that when it was lost it was a stone weighing 291 carats, and when it was found in Paris it was in half a dozen pieces, which together weighed only 186 carats.

The stone belonged to Count Xavier Branicki, who when the Germans entered Warsaw, slipped it in his trouser's pocket for safety. It was his most precious possession and had been handed down in his family since his grandfather bought it in 1840 in Frankfurt.

For a time he walked around Warsaw with his fortune thus hidden from the Germans; but he forgot the danger he ran from ordinary footpads. It was one of them, he says, who eventually got the sapphire.

When he came to Paris he decided to tell the Paris police about it and inquirers were made. A few days ago the stone was run to earth in the hands of a jewel dealer, named Feuschwanger, no longer entire, but cut into a number of pieces, which had been set in necklaces and pendants.

Feuschwanger's story is that he bought the stone from a Lithuanian merchant from near Kovno for 185,000 francs and cut it up because he recognized it. How it got into the Lithuanian's hands he did not know and did not inquire. In these days Russians and Polish stones often changed hands, and that sufficed him.

A judicial enquiry has been opened, but how much Count Branicki is going to get out of the affair is very uncertain.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF MONEY
New Matter in Connection With Kings County Arrest—Fred. Shafner Accused.
 Fred Shafner, arrested yesterday on suspicion of law violation in a section of Kings county, along the St. John river, was in the police court this morning, charged with stealing $70 from Myrtle Long, of Black's Harbor, who resides with the accused's stepfather, W. Lewis, 121 Millidge avenue. He pleaded not guilty. Myrtle Long told of being out skating on that evening and the accused was there. She said he complained to her that his skate was loose and she said she told him to go up to her room and get a skate strap which she said he had given her to keep for him. He went to get the strap and the witness said she had not seen him since until this morning. Her money, which she said was under the bed where she kept the strap, was still missing.
 Sergeant Harvey McLeis told of arresting the accused and when he was taking him back to the Seaman's Institute for identification he told him that he was sorry he joined the gang as he had $70 when he left with them and now he had spent it all. The case was postponed for further witnesses and the accused was taken to Hampton at noon today to stand trial in the Kings county court.

THE LATE REV. J. C. BERRIE
 Friends without number amongst all classes and creeds, and he was everywhere held in the highest esteem. He was active and untiring in his work and had accomplished a great deal of the good. This community has suffered a grievous loss in his passing.

Mr. Berrie was born in Tamworth, Warwickshire, England, on December 28, 1840. He was the second son of Charles James Berrie, analytical chemist, and Sarah Russell, daughter of John Howitt, of Long Eaton, Derbyshire. His great-grandfather was a sister of the Earl of Kilmarnock, the family name being originally deBerri, of French origin.

Mr. Berrie received his early education at Tamworth and Horlock's Academy, Reading, Berkshire, on the completion of which he was apprenticed to Pythian & Co., grocers, The Strand, London. He was afterwards in the employ of Elizabeth Lazenby Co., Italian warehousemen, and later was appointed manager for Wace & Co. In turn he became a junior partner in the firm of John Howgate & Co.

He took up theological studies under the direction of T. M. Albrighton, of London, and was local preacher of the Great Queen street and Baywater circuit. In October 1871 he was one of twelve ministers that came to America.

Mr. Berrie was stationed in Summerside and Souris, P. E. I., where his health broke down and he was compelled to undergo a serious operation. On his recovery he was stationed in turn at Little York, Murray Harbor and Montague, P. E. I., and later at Shediac, Jacksonville, Sussex, Milltown, Hillsboro, Fairville, St. Andrews, Woodstock, Jacksonville, Gibson and Marysville. While at Marysville he was again forced to retire on account of ill health in 1911. For a year he lived in Jacksonville with his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Good, before coming to St. John where he had been residing with his daughter at 29 Carmarthen street. He supplied at Centenary church for the last eight years as supernumerary. He was president of the N. B. and P. E. I. conference in 1908.

Rev. Mr. Berrie was married in May, 1876, to Hannah S. L., daughter of Rev. A. MacIntyre, M.A., and grand-daughter of a former attorney-general of Prince Edward Island. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. C. Good, 69 Carmarthen street, and one son, J. Charlton Berrie, 102 Carmarthen street. Mrs. Berrie died on November 14, 1919.

Does Your Taste In Pictures Run to Serious or Comic?
 Each has its place—the serious, thoughtful masterpiece would be out of its element if placed on the wall of the den; and likewise one of mirth provoking qualities would be out of place in the parlor.
 This store duly appreciates these distinctions in selecting its stock of pictures and is pleased to introduce the line for your attention.
 Surprising what a change a good picture will make in a room's appearance, and possibly we have the very one that will just fit that lonesome spot on the wall.
GOT A PHONOGRAPH? Hardly a home but has—but if yours hasn't it owes itself one—and if you let the McLAGAN (sold here) tell its story you'll get a McLAGAN. Plays all makes of disc records.

MUCH COAL YET TO BE UNCOVERED IN CAPE BRETON

Prediction of Large Stores There in Cumberland and Pictou Counties.

Glac Bay, N. S., Feb. 25.—"I believe coal seams as yet unknown will be discovered in Cape Breton, in Cumberland and in Pictou counties," said T. J. Brown, mining expert, at a recent meeting of the Nova Scotia Mining Society.

Mr. Brown, who has collected an amazingly complete compendium of data covering every feature of the exploitation and development of the coal deposits of Cape Breton Island, is recognized as perhaps the keenest observer of conditions and details respecting the Sydney coal fields in Nova Scotia.

Piles Cured Permanently Without Drugs

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause.

Mr. A. N. Steele Cuper, Sask., writes: "I had been troubled with my Stomach Piles and Constipation for years until I had become very thin and looked 30 years older. A leading Doctor in Regina told me that the main cause was badly ulcerated. I gradually became worse until one day, while purchasing a threatening outfit from Mr. Russell of Regina, Mr. Russell noticed my condition and said: 'I can cure you. Get a J. B. L. Cascade.' Well, I did so, and the first night I used it I slept all night for the first time in weeks, and in a short time felt quite myself again. It also cured my piles, which had troubled me for years."

If you are troubled with constipation, don't drug yourself. Internal bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade is the only permanent way. This wonderful appliance is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, New York. It cleanses the bowels and will serve the whole family. It should be in every home. See the J. B. L. Cascade at C. E. Brown, New Brunswick, where it will be shown and explained to you. Ask for 25-cent booklet all about internal bathing. It is free or write Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto, Ont.

NEWMAN CLARK'S CASE RESERVED

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Ottawa, Feb. 25.—The Supreme Court of Canada today reserved judgment in the case of Clark vs. the King, in an appeal brought from the appeal court of New Brunswick. It hinges on the ability of a trial judge to charge a jury that the prisoner must prove insanity, where such a plea is used, "beyond a reasonable doubt."

This case is that of Newman Clark, of Four Falls, convicted of shooting and killing Miss Phoebe Ball at Grand Falls on March 25, 1920.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to mix E.C. and get the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 10 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.00.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosen a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, loosens the mucus, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat ticks, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

WAS OF GREAT ASSISTANCE TO CANADA

High Commissioner Perley Presides at Banquet to British Railwayman.

London, Feb. 25.—(Canadian Press, by mail.)—James Wright, who recently retired from the service of the London and North-Western Railway Company after forty-two years' work, was entertained at dinner at the Hotel Cecil recently by friends in railway, shipping, emigration and theatrical circles, among them several Canadian officials who gave him an illuminated address, which is to be followed by the presentation of a grandfather's clock.

Sir George Perley, high commissioner for Canada, who presided, said that the fact that Mr. Wright had managed to keep so popular with the public for over forty years was a proof of his good nature and sincere desire to be generous to everybody. Mr. Wright had successfully handled the Canadian passenger agent's work for many years, and in that capacity he had been of great service to Canada. He had charge of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association's tour fifteen years ago, and he managed it to the satisfaction of everybody. He also piloted Canadian school teachers through this country more than once, and had charge of the tour of the Empire Parliamentary Association delegates from Canada. During the war he greatly helped the various military authorities in their various transport troubles. Mr. Wright had also arranged successfully for the transportation of thousands of Canadian immigrants, including those sent out by Dr. Barnardo's Homes and the Salvation Army, and he was instrumental in bringing about the improved facilities for passenger traffic between the railway station and the docks.

James Glover paid a tribute to Mr. Wright's work for the theatrical profession in such matters as the provision of special trains, Sir Herbert Tree, the one day received a Royal command to appear at Ballarat, which threatened to interfere with an opening night in Dublin. The telegram was private and confidential, and Sir Herbert Tree, "with true theatrical instinct" showed it to everyone in the club smoking-room. One of his friends remarked, "Any fully-developed idiot when he gets a telegram like this would send for Jimmy Wright." (Laughter.)

Sir Thomas Fisher mentioned that Mr. Wright entered the railway department about the same time that the Canadian Pacific Railway extended its enterprise to Vancouver, and that Canadian migration began to develop. It took him two years' hard work to get special trains for the boats. Mr. Wright was awarded a telegram to this by the competition of Southampton. He hoped competition would be maintained in spite of all the ministers of transport.

WILLIAM PALMER IS NOT GUILTY

Dorchester, Feb. 25.—In the supreme court this afternoon before Mr. Justice Chandler, in the trial of William Palmer, charged with stealing from the tills in the Moncton post office, the jury acquitted the accused on all counts. Palmer was defended by Senator George W. Fowler and C. S. Sturges. T. T. Goodwin acted for the attorney-general.

The court adjourned until next Tuesday, when the trial of the other post office cases will, it is expected, be proceeded with when the court resumes.

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM

"I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over fifty years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. It took Mr. Ashburn fifteen years to find out the truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from 'The Inner Mysteries' now being distributed free.

Will Dearer Coal Mean More Coughs?

With coal so dear, no one wants to light the furnace early in the season, in spite of cold, bleak days. The result is, hundreds have caught cold, and now have bronchial coughs.

If you would just realize it, no man, woman or child needs to endure the misery a day longer, Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture is the one remedy which never fails. It works like magic. Actually one dose brings relief, even in the most obstinate cases, and starts you immediately on the road to health. It has succeeded in cases where other remedies have failed.

Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture is not a spray, but a scientific mixture with twenty times the healing qualities of other remedies. You don't have to take it. It comes in a bottle, a box or a tin. Price 75c a bottle. Take no substitute, or save at all Drug Stores, or by mail from W. K. BUCKLEY, LIMITED, 142 MUTUAL ST., TORONTO.

PRICE DEFLATION MUST CONTINUE

Concluding an article in which he presents reasons why prices generally must go still lower, a staff correspondent of the Journal of Commerce says—

"What this means is that the average individual today cannot afford, at the very best, to pay anything over $1.00 for an article which cost $1 in the year 1914. Let anyone take up a newspaper of the 1st of February, 1914, and compare the store advertisements therein with the advertisements in a paper of the 1st of February of this year. Prices must inevitably follow the course as, history tells us, they have followed after great wars. Whatever upward tendencies are entering on the down grade, prices will simply have to do the same thing. There is no other way. They will have to go down until in comparison with the salaries, wages and purchasing power of the general body of the people, they are no higher than they were before the war. The factors that are going to bring price deflation to this standard are economic factors, from which there is no escape. The wise merchant is the one who can read the signs of the times and govern himself accordingly. We all know that, in nearly all lines of raw materials, there is no genuine shortage. In some lines, there is actually a super-abundance. But speaking by and large, a merchandising policy of set lower prices and a reduction of profits is a condition precedent to the resumption of the normal flow of goods from the factory to the store and from the store to the home."

Near the Continental Divide in the Rockies, Enos A. Mills, a naturalist, says he saw a giant leech, 200 feet long and twenty feet in diameter. Nearby there were others, but little smaller. All of them were due to a spring slowly flowing over a cliff.

NURSE SETS 3 FIRES TO GET EXCITEMENT

Miss Hickey, Employed in a Brooklyn Dentist's Office—Sobbingly Admits Guilt—Blaze Imperilled 100.

(New York Times.) Admitting that she had started three fires in the office of Dr. H. C. Parker, a dentist, at Gates avenue and Broadway, Brooklyn, because she wanted some excitement, Miss Mary U. Hickey, a nurse, was held in $5,000 bail yesterday on a charge of arson. Thirty families were driven from their homes on Tuesday by the fires, which gutted a station on the Ralph avenue station. "Something flashed through my mind that made me want excitement and well, I got it!"

The fireman to reach the burning building told Thomas Brophy, fire marshal, that there was something suspicious about the fire, and he retained Miss Hickey, Dr. Parker and two other dentists, Dr. Arthur R. MacKenzie and Dr. George Webb.

"This is one of the saddest cases that has come to my attention in my fifteen years as fire marshal," said Mr. Brophy. "Here an educated woman seized with an impulse and desire for excitement who sets fire to a building and imperils the lives of 100 persons."

Fire Marshal Brophy made a charge of arson against the nurse, and Magistrate Doody, in the state avenue court, said she would hold her in $5,000 bail. Corroborating affidavits were filed by Mr. Brophy, Thomas Brophy, Dr. Parker, and Dr. Webb and Dr. MacKenzie. Bail was furnished by Dr. MacKenzie, who put up a piece of property valued by him at $2,000.

Miss Hickey told the police she had studied dental surgery in a Boston college, but she never obtained her certificate when she came to this state. She became nurse for three dentists, and was in the office of Dr. Parker. She is young and good looking.

HARVARD STUDENT NOW MASTER OF TWENTY MILLIONS

Newport, R. I., Feb. 25.—John Nicholas Brown, Jr. of this city, now a sophomore at Harvard, joined the ranks of the very wealthy men of this country last Monday when he became twenty-one years of age. He was the only child of John Nicholas Brown of Newport, who died when the student was twelve months and the nephew of Harold Brown, also of this city, who died before the young man was born.

John Nicholas Brown, Sr., and Harold Brown had inherited nearly all the millions of John Carter Brown of Providence in Newport. Mr. Brown's estate included real estate in Providence and elsewhere, and the young man writes verses, but has no other funds.

His mother, who has a handsome villa here, is living in Boston this winter so as to make a home for her son while he is in college.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF GOLD STANDARD

Financial Expert Says That of Britain Must Be Restored to Remedy Financial Position.

London, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press Correspondence.)—Need of restoration of gold standard in Great Britain was emphasized at a meeting of gold Currency Association recently held here.

Sir George Paish, financial expert who visited the United States about a year ago, said the financial position of this country would not be sound until the gold standard was restored. "We could then be able to pay for things we require from other countries in goods or services without needing credit operations and without fearing the gold drain from this country," he said. "The gold standard of Europe must also be reestablished. We will not be able to resume the gold standard here until we are able to cut out new capital abroad to the extent of $400,000,000."

D. M. Mason, who presided, said the Chancellor of the Exchequer had decided that he would have at the end of the fiscal year a surplus of £284,000,000 which he proposed to use for the reduction of the public debt.

Mr. Mason suggested that if £50,000,000 or £100,000,000 were set aside for the purpose of gradually reducing the redundant currency, in a comparatively short time there would be parity of exchange between Great Britain and the United States and other gold standard countries.

Tells the Secret Of Their Success

QUEBEC LADY SAYS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ALWAYS RELIEVE.

Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Has Been For Over Thirty Years on Trial in Canada and the People Are Still Praiseworthy. "I have used with success Dodd's Kidney Pills. They always relieve."

St. Edouard de Frampton, Que., Feb. 25.—(Special.)—"I have used with success Dodd's Kidney Pills. They always relieve."

"I can also recommend Diamond Diner Pills. I have used them with splendid effect for constipation, bad headache and biliousness."

Short and sweet are these two tributes to two of the Dodd's Remedies. But they go right to the point.

Mme. J. T. Lehoullier, who makes the statements, is well known and highly respected here. She gives the reason why Dodd's Kidney Pills are in such general use all over Canada, where they have been on trial for more than thirty years: "They always relieve. They are Mme. Lehoullier's friends. They are the secret of Dodd's Kidney Pills success."

For kidney troubles and the ills that spring from kidney troubles are very common in Canada. Among them might be mentioned rheumatism, backache, dropsy, urinary trouble, diabetes and heart disease. The way to avoid them is to keep your kidneys strong and well.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

WAS SUFFERING FROM INDIGESTION No Fear of Pains Now

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble, and many people suffer terribly after every meal they eat. The rising and souring of the food, pains in the stomach, heartburn, water-brash, belching of wind, vomiting shortly after eating, etc., are some of the symptoms.

There is no need for any person to be troubled with indigestion, dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble if they would only take Burdock Blood Bitters, which contains a combination of nature's roots, herbs, barks and berries; a combination which cannot help but put the stomach right.

VETERANS MUST REGISTER TO VOTE

Names of Very Few Returned Soldiers Appear on Lists For Daylight Plebiscite, as 1919 Records Are Being Used—Workers Organize.

Under the auspices of the St. John Hardware Clerks' Association, a meeting of the committee of workers for Daylight Saving was held in the rooms of the Commercial Club, Prince William street, last night.

Arrangements were made to circulate the city with hand bills and marked ballots for the use of those in favor of Daylight Saving. Plans were made to have a representative at each of the polling booths. The matter of the returned soldier's vote was considered as owing to the fact that the 1919 list is being used, no returned soldier not then on the list would have a vote unless he makes application to the city hall to have his name placed on the voters' list. One of the committee had interviewed the common clerk and was informed that all soldiers and citizens who had paid taxes in 1920 would be qualified to vote. The reason that the 1919 list was being used was because the delinquent tax payers had been taken off the 1920 list and, as it was not necessary that the taxes should be paid to qualify to vote on Daylight Saving, the old list was being used.

More than thirty names were added on Friday afternoon of soldiers who paid taxes in 1920, but were not on the 1919 list. It is thought that city hall should have made public the fact that the soldier voters would have to have their names added.

Several members of the committee disputed the inaccurate statement of one of the speakers at the recent labor meeting that eighty five per cent of the community was in favor of Daylight Saving. The figures should be revised was the opinion of all present. It was estimated that not more than fifteen per cent of the citizens really objected to the new time, this being based on the reports of the workers.

The belief was expressed that the fact that the railways were to adopt the daylight saving time will have a big effect on the vote, and that voters who might have based an objection on the grounds that the trains would be on old time, would now vote in favor.

R. M. Bartsch spoke at some length, giving a large list of names of merchants and manufacturers who were giving all the support possible to the movement, and making arrangements so that all their staffs could get off in order to cast their ballots.

Reports showed that many of the labor men were in favor of the Daylight Saving time, especially the teamsters. It was felt that in the interests of health, gardening and sport, many of the labor

SOME SINN FEIN FAVOR THIS PLAN

Suggestion of Government Scheme Similar to Switzerland's, With Federal Assembly.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Cork, Feb. 25.—An original scheme of government for Ireland proposed by Professor Alfred O'Rahilly, registrar of the University of Cork, is arousing great interest in Ireland. This correspondent has been informed that the plan has been endorsed by many men prominent in the Sinn Fein movement, in which Professor O'Rahilly is recognized leader.

By the scheme calls for an Irish confederation, and according to Professor O'Rahilly, who discussed it at length in an interview with a correspondent, it provides the only solution of the north-east Ulster question.

Professor O'Rahilly is not opposed to the idea of partition. "Our proper attitude," he said, "should be to insist on more partition. Ireland should be divided not into two but into forty regions. By tradition, instinct, faith and circumstances we ought to aim at decentralization and regionalism and uphold the sovereignty of the people."

"What may quite fairly-minded Ulster business men feel is the possibility of an all-powerful central parliament in Dublin. And, to tell the truth, Cork men are really enthusiastic about a Dublin Westminster, nor are Connemara peasants likely to favor a central government controlling all the minutiae of Irish life."

"It is a mistake to think there is merely an Ulster problem. There are about forty problems. We are a heterogeneous people, and to remain true to ourselves we must have far more local liberty and regional autonomy than is allowed in the ideal of a central parliament or two assemblies in Belfast and Dublin."

In Switzerland, he said, there are twenty-two sovereign states differing in religion, language, size and economic position, although Switzerland is only half the size of Ireland.

"Every Irish county," he went on, "has much right to partition as County Down or Belfast. The real objection to the Partition Act is that it doesn't give Belfast and Ulster enough local liberty and power. In an Irish confederation they ought to get far more."

The proposed federal system, Professor O'Rahilly said, might be either dominion or republicanism. There would be a federal assembly consisting of a national council and a council of counties.

SPEAKS FOR A GROSS TAX ON THE TURNOVER

Chicago, Feb. 25.—Meyer D. Rothschild of New York, representative of the Business Men's National Tax Committee, in an address before the Chicago Association of Commerce, argued against the proposed increase in taxes on so-called luxuries and advocated the passage by congress of a measure providing for a 1 per cent gross sales tax on business turn-over.

Mr. Rothschild recently led the fight of the jewelers before the Ways and Means committee of congress against the bill increasing the luxury tax to 10 per cent. He declared the taxation of jewelry as a luxury was class legislation and consequently unconstitutional in view of the fact that high-quality goods in other lines might fall as logically under the classification of luxuries.

"The income tax is here to stay," said Mr. Rothschild in his Chicago address. "But during the war congress got its surtense so high that it drove out of industry into non-taxable securities and investments. The result has been that the very men carrying the tax burden have been punished by inflicting a tax that may aggregate 77 per cent on their entire incomes by paying very little money to the government. Many of them are paying no taxes whatever."

"A gross sales tax in place of all other business taxes will greatly lighten the burden of the consumer. Careful estimates show that the cost to the consumer by the operation of the 1 per cent turn-over tax pyramided from the original producer of raw materials to the ultimate consumer will run from 2 per cent to 3.29 per cent.

FIRE DEPARTMENT IS ALWAYS READY

Its Motto of Preparedness Should Be Applied to Protection of Public Health.

"There hasn't been a fire in the city for weeks," said a citizen the other day. "It seems a waste of money to keep up a fire department that does nothing. I don't disband the fire department because we have a run of luck, relying a ratpinner. It pays to have those firemen ready, whether they are doing anything or not." And the ratpinner spoke wisely.

Just as the fire department stands ready to protect your property, so does Grip-Fix stand ready to protect your health, being an equally ready remedy for colds. Why Do Women Fail To Heed Nature's Warnings Of Iron Starvation Of The Blood

In so many cases, UNTIL THE CRASH IS UPON THEM, and their nerves are all played out, their health impaired and their strength and energy gone!

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE WOMAN IN THE PICTURE BELOW?

She hears the BLOWING OF THE LOCOMOTIVE WHISTLE, the FRANTIC RINGING OF THE ENGINEER'S BELL, the GRINDING OF THE WHEELS, and she says:—"There is no time enough yet! I'm all right now."—until at last DOWN SHE GOES CRUSHED and writhing beneath the ruthless iron horse.

I almost hear you say THIS WOMAN WAS A "FOOL," but WHAT DO YOU SAY? She was a woman who disregarded nature's warnings of IMPENDING ILLNESS, which in many cases say as plain as those given by the fast approaching locomotive.

For example, in iron starvation of your blood, Nature may loudly ring the bell of SHORTNESS OF BREATH or HEART PALPITATION; she blows the whistle of WEAKNESS, NERVOUSNESS and PALENESS with a long, sharp, shrill sound; you hear the grinding wheels of HEADACHES, PAINS ACROSS THE BACK, DISTURBED DIGESTION, etc., but you give no heed until at last you often collapse with a bad case of NERVOUS PROSTRATION or perhaps pernicious anemia may sink its claws into your vital, or in your WEAKENED WORKOUT CONDITION you contract some serious illness, like pneumonia, fever, or kidney trouble.

It is the iron in your blood that helps it take nourishment from your food and change it into LIVING CELLS AND TISSUE. Without iron, your food merely passes along without doing you any particular good. In fact, SOMETIMES THE MORE YOU EAT THE MORE YOU STARVE, as your digestive organs cannot handle much food when the iron in your blood runs low and you often think you have stomach trouble, when in fact you are simply eating less and taking iron.

It is the iron in your blood that PUTS COLOR INTO YOUR CHEEKS and gives you the strength and vigor that MAKES YOUR EYES BRIGHT AND SPARKLING. Without iron in your blood a woman soon commences to look PALE, OLD and HAGGARD and loses that FRESHNESS OF GIRLHOOD BEAUTY.

Indoor life, over-eating and modern methods of cooking are sapping the iron from the blood of hundreds of thousands of women. Our forefathers, to whom iron was as common as NATION OF RED BLOODED AMERICANS, ate the husks of grains and the skins and peels of vegetables and other coarse foods, rich in strength giving organic iron, which the modern woman strong, sturdy men and women of "blood and iron" who could stand hardships and dangers which would quickly kill most modern people.

To make up for the great loss of iron caused by a life woman is compelled to lead she should eat more such iron-containing vegetables and fruits, like spinach and baked apples and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron from time to time to help enrich her blood. But be sure the iron you take is organic Nuxated Iron and not metallic iron which people usually take, and which is made merely by the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Organic Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach and apples.

Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent in iron content to eating half a quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Nuxated Iron also contains a principle which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force for FEEDING THE NERVES, so that it might be said to be both a nerve force and a NERVE FOOD. This remarkable nerve force product was brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Dr. Robin. It not only quickly helps revitalize weak, tired, worn-out, exhausted nerves, but it undoubtedly increases the efficiency of the iron itself.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron, and it not only builds the teeth nor disturbs the stomach. It often increases bodily and mental vigor, strength and endurance of weak nervous "run-down" folks in two weeks time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always look for the word "NUXATED" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

NUXATED IRON ENRICHES THE BLOOD—GIVES YOU NEW STRENGTH AND ENERGY

LONDON VIEWS ON THE TERMS PUT UP TO GERMANY

Satisfaction Gives Way to Critical Examination

Private Means of Men in Public Life in Motherland—Fine Site for South African Offices in London—Who Will Succeed Leverhulme?

(From our own correspondent.)

London, Feb. 25.—The satisfaction felt at the successful outcome of the Paris Conference is giving way to critical examination of the scheme of reparations, and although people hesitate to express definite opinions as yet, there are some points which must not be overlooked. With those who already are playing Germany's game in declaring the scheme to be unworkable, it is no use arguing, but the fact remains that the history of indemnities shows that the original schemes are invariably modified so soon as payment commences. For the first few years, however, the Paris scheme will probably be strictly adhered to, and those are precisely the years during which Great Britain stands to gain least under the Allied agreement reached at Boulogne last year. Not only are we to give priority to our Allies in the division of moneys received, but we are also pledged not to capitalize our share of the indemnity until France and Belgium have had the first call on the money markets of the world. Far from receiving any substantial relief from the Paris settlement, we may perhaps, feel some ill results to our trade when the European market begins to absorb German goods as part of the reparations. This settlement brings appreciably nearer the inevitable international conference on inter-Allied war debts, in which America must play a predominant part, and she may take advantage of it to abandon her present policy of isolation.

Germany's Outcry. Not much importance should be attached to the hysterical protests of the German press, for these do not represent the real attitude of intelligent Germans, any more than certain newspapers in this country voice British opinion on the same subject. As a matter of fact

Germany has received a not inconsiderable concession by the fixing of the total she must pay, and there can be no doubt that her economic recovery will be stimulated thereby.

German View. A high official in the foreign office told me today that, according to a semi-official despatch from Berlin, the only feature of the Allied reparations agreement that pleases Germany is the fixing of the total amount of her reparations debt. This she has all along been demanding. All the rest of the agreement her government regards as unacceptable. First of all it is opposed to the payment of annuities in gold and to the fixing of their amount until the industrial and financial experts at Brussels have determined Germany's ability to pay. It contends that the negotiations of these experts have only been suspended pending the settlement of certain preliminary technical questions, and have not been superseded by the decision of the Paris Conference. It calls for the German reparations promised at Spa.

The latest estimate of Germany's ability to pay "in kind" is somewhat between one and one-half and one and three-quarter billion marks a year. Of this probably one billion marks would be represented by coal obtained from German mines other than those of the Saar Valley. The remainder would be paid in timber, agricultural, and other machinery, and labor to be used in the construction of houses in the devastated areas. The government says it will make the retention of Upper Silesia a condition of its agreement on all questions of the reparations issue, and it is preparing to show that without the retention of a small portion of her pre-war possals to levy a twelve and one-half per cent. duty on German exports, the British government is said to be unconsciously promisingly opposed. But it is awaiting the Allied explanations of this proposal. My informant added that if the Germans persist in this attitude at the proposed London Conference on February 28, the Allies will without further waste of time take steps to enforce the Treaty of Versailles as it stands.

Mr. Churchill. The dramatic turn of events, owing to the terrible railway accident in Wales, Winston Churchill has become less to a considerable fortune is recognized by everyone as meaning a possible change in his political position. It is scarcely realized outside political circles how much the possession of private means, counts in political advancement. It is not that the money buys power or influence in itself, but it means freedom from anxiety, the ability to refuse an offer of office when the sound political strategy is to maintain one's independence, and when holding office, freedom from the anxiety of personal money difficulties, which is present in many more cases than one suspects. I could name ministers now, and prominent ministers, who are continuously anxious from this point of view.

With Andrew Carnegie's legacy of two thousand a year free of income tax, to Lloyd George, and the thousands a year that have come to Mr. Churchill, two of our prominent statesmen, who up to that time when out of office would have had a very small income indeed, are now in possession of what may easily reach upon their policy in the course of the next year.

The leading case in this matter is, of course, Disraeli. It was partly a legacy, partly money brought him by his wife, and partly money given him by a constituent, whom he ultimately in gratitude raised to the peerage (quite candidly stating to Queen Victoria his reasons for doing so), that enabled him to survive long years of opposition and to devote his talents during these years entirely to parliament. If a minister without means goes into office nowadays he has either to do business and accept company directorships, which occupy his time and tie his hands, or else to devote himself to journalism, which gives him a platform in the country, but decreases his influence in the House. Altogether, for people occupying positions which demand intellectual activities, few blessings are greater than that of private means.

The leading case, outside politics, I suppose, though it was on a much smaller scale than Mr. Churchill's legacy, was that of Wordsworth's. If it had not been for a small annuity left him free from the anxiety of earning his living in the years when his poetic inspiration was at its highest, we should certainly not have had the best of his poetry.

'Twas in Trafalgar Square. The Union Government of South Africa have undeniably secured the finest site in London for their new London headquarters offices. They are taking over Morley's Hotel, fronting the Nelson Column from the east side of Trafalgar Square, the Strand, and they are in the process of erecting a handsome building worthy of the location. London is already indubitably the most desirable city for some of its most presentable new buildings, one notable instance being Australia House, at the Fleet street end of Kingsway.

The passing of Morley's Hotel must send a thrill through spiritland, though for it is one of the oldest and most famous of our existing London hotels, was at its heyday a sort of early Victorian Claridge, a great resort of the sporting bucks of former days, and always eminently respectable. Coaching folks used to frequent Morley's in the old days, and many famous people have been among its patrons. In later times one celebrity, who was a regular Morley's man, was the Lord Rhondda, who was anything but popular with the waiters, owing to his objection to the tipping habit.

Lord Leverhulme. It is difficult to believe that Lord Leverhulme will be seventy this year. If and when His Lordship decides to take a well-earned rest, whose personality and brains will succeed to the active control of the enormous Lever interests? One hears that his successor would probably be someone altogether outside the giant syndicate, and that the gentleman who might afford the position, if he accepted, would be a man with a rather wide and general experience of politics and international finance, rather than anyone with a specialised knowledge of soap-making. During the last ten years Lord Leverhulme has interested himself in so many directions, some of them having little or no connection with the soap industry, in which he made his original fortune, that his place will not readily be filled.

Political Wit. One grows used to the complaint that the present House of Commons is dull. Perhaps things will liven up a little now the Cecilian Brothers are going into opposition. We may have something crisp off the ice.

Stinie Morrison. The death in prison of Stinie Morrison recalls a very sensational police case. The allegation was that Morrison, a tall, handsome man in the twenties, with a considerable gift for music and a desperately adventurous character, murdered a mysterious foreigner on Clapham Common one midnight ten years ago. The murdered man's face was marked with an "S," and there were rumors of his being killed as a police spy in connection with the historic Sidney street revolver fight between the police, reinforced by Scots Guards, and alien desperadoes, at which Winston Churchill, then home secretary, was present.

Morrison always protested his innocence, and his sentence to hanging was commuted to imprisonment for life, after his counsel, Mr. Abinger, was able to prove that the prisoner suppressed a good alibi because it involved confessing to a theft of bank notes.

Since then a woman has made another statement to the police in which she incriminated her missing husband as the murderer. In the ordinary course, Morrison would have been released five years hence. He refused to sign a petition for his own reprieve because he protested his innocence of the crime for which he was sentenced. It may be a case in which the law has erred.

Clifford's Inn. Most Londoners must have felt a twinge of real regret today at the thought of so old and historic as well as picturesque a relic of London coming under the auctioneer's hammer as Clifford's Inn. This ancient haunt of law and habitat of gentlemen of the long robe and crimson bag is now a quiet backwater on what the Scottish sub-editors call "the Edinburgh side of Fleet street." It is used mainly as chambers by all sorts of interesting people—writers, artists, and Bohemians generally. Sometimes late at night, when the London moon shines through the old trees in the inn gardens and upon the quaint old lattice windows, one may catch the sounds of sweet harmony in the Inn—harmony that is never rag-times and "hath a dying fall" suitable to the historic environment of ancient decay.

The inn was originally the town house of the Lords Clifford, who were the ancestors of the Earls of Cumberland, and was given to them by Edward the Third. Harrison, a regicide, was as a youth a clerk to a Clifford's Inn attorney. It is the oldest of all the inns of chancery, and all the six stories of the Marshalsea Court, better known as Palace Court, had their chambers there with their satellites, who paid so much a year for using their names.

JOHN McCLELLAND WORTH WATCHING

New Chairman of the Toronto School Board Not Swift, But Footsure.

BUILT UP HIS SUCCESS
Rose From Messenger Boy to Head of Publishing Firm While Yet Young.

IT WOULD not be surprising if John McClelland became mayor of Toronto some day," said a friend in discussing the new chairman of Toronto's Board of Education. Which is one way of saying that John McClelland is worth watching.

Some years ago some of the employees of the Methodist Book Room were discussing the Premier of Canada when John McClelland cut in with, "Oh, anyone can become Premier." The remark was not made disparagingly, for John like all Scots and good Presbyterians believes in constitutional authority, but simply illustrated his attitude of mind towards the possibility of attainment.

Mr. McClelland is a striking example of what the average man may achieve if he starts out right and sticks to it with sufficient tenacity of purpose. Born in Glasgow of Irish parents he came to Toronto when little more than a baby. Then with only a public school education, to back him up he started in as a lad of fourteen in the Methodist Book Room earning the humble sum of $2 a week. He finally ended up in charge of the library department. More than ten years ago he helped to found the publishing firm which now bears the name of McClelland and Stewart, of which he is still the senior partner. Such in brief is his life story. Cramped into it is a world of "plugging." In his early days as head of his own publishing house Mr. McClelland read manuscripts without taking home the efforts of budding authors of all sorts and wading through them far into the night. In spite of having handled so many books and would-be books he has scarcely ever reads a book from cover to cover. He has the knack of digesting the salient points by instinctively turning up the lines where they are buried.

Mr. McClelland's aim has always been to educate the public and make better citizens. His effort has been to develop Canadian ideas and Canadian thought. Hence he has always been on the lookout for Canadian authors. The wall of his office is literally covered with the photographs of those whose work he has handled: Ralph Connor, Arthur Stringer, H. A. Cody, Marshall Sauter, A. Beverley Baxter and many others.

Work and Aims
His desire to become a member of the Board of Education followed as a sort of natural sequence. Five years ago he stood for the first time and was elected. At Brown school where he made his first campaign speech he said "The reason I am seeking this office is because I am interested in children. I have taught a Sunday school class for twenty-five years."

"Why, he doesn't look twenty-five!" ejaculated a man at the back of the hall. To-day he certainly does not look the forty-four years that he is.

Mr. McClelland's work and aims are all inter-related. He is interested in education. He has been connected with Sunday school work for nearly 30 years. He first started in with St. James' Square Presbyterian Church. About fifteen years ago he joined Bonar for the past ten years he has been superintendent of its Sunday school. He is an elder as well and one of Rev. Dr. MacGillivray's right hand men. He is interested in mission work. He is the most loyal of churchmen, yet he is an enthusiast for church union.

Mr. McClelland's relaxation is found in golf. He makes this office to the Mississauga Club two or three times a week. He turns in some pretty good cards and it is counted upon him for righteousness that whenever he foules a shot instead of using strong language as even the mildest of men do usually under the circumstances he merely says: "Oh, shucks."

By his friends Mr. McClelland is credited with having force of character, initiative, energy, concentration. The secret of his rise from messenger boy to publisher in comparatively few years is said to be in his capacity for application and hard work. As a youngster he was not noted for his aggressiveness;

Woodstock Defeats Woman Candidate

Mrs. V. L. Francis, a Prominent Lady There, Makes First Plunge Without Success.

Mrs. V. L. Francis.

WOODSTOCK had its first experience with a woman candidate at the recent municipal elections. Mrs. V. L. Francis was a candidate for the Board of Education and the result was a surprise.

Mrs. Francis has all her life been a public service worker, and since she went to Woodstock when quite young she has been a leader among women. Of striking personality, with a pleasing manner and a gift of speaking seldom found among women, she has held almost every position of importance in the women's organization of Woodstock, and when a feeling arose in the city that it was time for women to take the plunge into public affairs she was the first to take dates for municipal office, she was the logical choice of the women.

Mrs. Francis, who is the wife of V. L. Francis, clerk of the Division of Orangeville, Ontario, but she has lived practically all her life in Woodstock. Her first appearance in the city was in a sphere of public service, for she came as a nurse-in-training to Woodstock General Hospital. Ever since she has been identified with the work of that institution.

Mrs. Francis, in a speech at the public meeting called to hear all the candidates, made a fine impression. The ladies who were backing Mrs. Francis in her campaign are at a loss to explain her defeat, for they were well organized and had been assured of ample support. Mrs. Francis evidently still much feeling in Woodstock against the principle of a woman serving on public boards. The women interested in public affairs are determined to undertake a thorough campaign of education and hope for a more favorable result in the elections for next year.

"Treat 'em Rough," Says Movie Lover

Tom Meighan Believes in Saying About "a Woman, a Dog, and a Walnut Tree."

THOMAS MEIGHAN, in a recent number of Everywoman's World, says that women are not really enjoying their economic and political liberty for which they fought so hard. He declares that every last one of them longs to be back in a state of more or less dependence upon man, their natural master. The gist of his remarks is that women love to be bossed and banded around, that the rougher they are treated, the more they like it, and that when all is said and done it is infinitely better for a woman to have a master who is her slave, than for the secret to be "equal"—better for both. He quotes: "A woman, a dog and a walnut tree, the harder you beat them the better they get." Tom being an idol of feminine screen-fans, these observations ought to carry some weight. His handiwork is a rugged sort, and he wears anything in the way of clothes from a mere leopards skin to a dress suit, with princely grace. All his flappers sigh ecstatically—we have often heard them—when he makes his appearance in a rage or makes love as only Tom can. No doubt he knows what he is saying, when he comes out flat-footed like this.

since he has grown up his vigor in going after what he wanted has astonished his friends. Yet he is an example of the fact that the race is not so old as it is painted. He is sure footed. For example, in his early days, when he played checkers with his friends, he frequently annoyed them by the time he took considering a move, but he often won.

"We hope to be able to say by autumn," said Mr. McClelland when asked what was to be the aim of the Board of Education this year, "that we have provided accommodation for every child in Toronto. It will be our aim to co-operate with the Mayor and the City Council so far as I am concerned our motto this year will be 'Let us pull together.'"

Sculptor Makes Busts of Bolshevist Leaders

MRS. SHERIDAN, the widow of Captain Wilfred Sheridan, a first cousin of Mr. Winston Churchill, has just been to Russia to make busts of Lenin, Trotsky, and other Bolshevist leaders. She tells a fascinating story in the London "Times" of her adventures and talks with these men.

"Lenin was sitting at his desk," writes Mrs. Sheridan. "He rose and came across the room to greet me. He has a genial manner and a kindly smile which puts one instantly at ease. He said he had heard of me from Kamenoff, and I in turn apologized for having to bother him. He laughed and explained that he had occupied his room for weeks, and that he got so bored with it that he had sworn it never should happen again. He asked how long I had been in Russia, and I told him I worked quickly and should not require so much, he said laughingly that he was pleased.

"My stands and things were then brought into the room by three soldiers, and I established myself on the left. It was hard work, for he was lower than the clay and did not revolve, nor did he keep very still. But the room was so peaceful and he on the whole took so little notice of me that I worked with great calm till 3.45, without stopping for rest or food.

"During that time he had but one interview, but the telephone was of great assistance to him. When the few buzz, accompanied by the lighting up of a small electric bulb, signified a telephone call, his face lost the dullness of repose and he gestaculated to the telephone as though it understood.

"I remarked on the comparative stillness of his room, and he laughed. 'Wait till there is a political discussion,' he said.

"During these four hours he never smoked, and never even drank a cup of tea. I had been told that I could not hold out any longer. I was blind with weariness and hunger and said good-bye. He promised to sit on the revolving stand and I thought if all goes well, I think I ought to be able to finish him. I do hope it is good. I think it looks more like him than any I have ever seen before. He has a curious little Slav face, and how ill he looks. 'Never did I see any one make so many faces. "When the comrades left the room, he stopped and looked at me and said the only word that I understand, which is 'carasho,' which means good, and then said something about my having the character of the man, so I was glad to amuse him very much. He said he never had set so high. He knew I knew down in front of him to look at the plane from below his face adopted an expression of surprise and embarrassment.

"I laughed and asked, 'Are you not accustomed to this attitude in women?' At that moment a secretary came in, and I cannot think why they both were so amused. They talked rapidly Russian together, and laughed a good deal.

"When the secretary had gone, he became serious and asked me a few questions. Did I work hard in many hours a day? An average of seven. . . .

"I then showed him photographs of my busts of Aquilino, Winston, Marconi, Dick, and my 'Victory.' He was emphatic in not liking the 'Victory' as his point being that I had made it too beautiful. . . .

"I protested that the sacrifice involved made victory beautiful, but he would not agree. . . .

first tier, and the house was packed throughout. The audience consisted of working-people who had admission free through the distribution of tickets to certain unions. They were a motley crowd, chiefly on horse, in the royal box reserved for commissars and their wives, there was a man with a cloth cap. The women were eating apples. In the box next to ours there was an old woman with a shawl over her head.

"It was immensely moving to see the absorbed attention of the audience. People leaned their elbows on the staves of the boxes and watched the ballet with an almost devouring interest. There was not a cough, not a whisper. Only when Coppelia came to life as the mechanical doll there were delicious slow ripples of controlled laughter from the children. At the ends of the acts people left the stalls to rush, not for the exits but to the gangways, the nearest possible to the stage to see the dancers close to, and to applaud them. The people were tired people, who had worked six days and had endured a good evening, and were enjoying it to the full.

"My only contretemps was with a little stenographer from the Foreign Office who was in our box. She observed that I had on the red enamel star of Communism, and that I wore white gloves. One, she said, contradicted the other. The white gloves were bourgeois, I argued that it only mattered what was in my heart, and not what was on my hands. . . .

"Presently he said to me: 'What does your husband think of your coming to Russia?' 'I replied that my husband was killed in the war. . . .

"We then discussed the wonderful spirit of self-sacrifice and patriotism with which England entered upon the war of 1914, and he wanted me to read 'Le Feu' and 'Le Clair de Barbusse,' in which that spirit and its development is so wonderfully described. . . .

"From here we jump to Mrs. Sheridan's impression of Soviet Russia: 'This evening I was invited with the house party to the Foreign Office box to see the ballet. It was 'Coppelia,' beautifully produced, and the orchestra one of the finest I ever heard. The theatre is the size of Covent Garden, and decorated with crimson and gold boxes all round the

No. 17—SIR WILLIAM MACKENZIE

By Emil Longue Beau

SIR WILLIAM MACKENZIE shook hands heartily. He always does for he isn't the cold-blooded fish most Toronto people imagine him to be. He seldom says mad, which happens sometimes. Noel Marshall says of him: "If he's your friend he isn't your friend." But suppose he isn't your friend? He was a little Napoleon. One is not so sure about the "little" for Napoleon wouldn't have been a partner of Dan Mann's for thirty years, and let the public believe that it was a David and Jonathan combination on rails.

But let Sir William, sitting in his room on the north-east corner of Adelaide and Victoria, with the painting standing behind him that stood near his chair in the Canadian opera-house and Toronto—a picture of a farmer's boy scaring crows—let him speak for himself.

"I don't like this business of being interviewed. In the old days, when I wanted to say anything about it, or affairs we had a man who would ask me a few questions and would . . . I met Friend on the street a couple of weeks ago and he reminded me of the beginning and said last year's pay-roll on the Canadian Northern lines was thirty million dollars. That's something to have bequeathed that to Canadian labor, isn't it?"

"Sir William was talking more freely than usual and was doing it with unabated vigor. You'd never think he's in his seventy-second year. I asked him if he ever lost his nerve during the years of big financing. He laughed mightily—and Sir William laugh is the most resounding in the wide world. BRITISH MEN OF BUSINESS ON THE SITUATION

Believe Worst of Depression Has Been Seen—Some of the Comments.

London, Feb. 25.—(Associated Press.) Many British bankers and industrial leaders say they believe the worst of the recent trade depression in this country has been reached and that the outlook is brighter.

At the annual meeting of the Bank of Liverpool and Martins Bank, the chairman, Edward Paul, while admitting the extent and severity of the existing trade depression, did not despair of the power of Great Britain to emerge at no distant date from the difficulties through which it is passing.

He said there were some reassuring features and a "deal of sound business" was being done in various directions. The cost of food was coming down gradually, and the fall in prices in many commodities, while it caused serious loss to many individual traders, was a relief to other sections of the nation. He pointed to the rise in the American exchange as a favorable factor and said, while there had been a few failures, the fact that there had been no general catastrophe was a great tribute to the economic stability of the country.

Frank H. Houlder, chairman of the Houlder Shipping Line, presiding at the annual meeting of the line, said: "My hope and belief is that the present depression has been overdone and that we may look for some little rebound which will enable business to be resumed and developed, with a moderate margin of profit. At the moment, however, there is no gainsaying the fact that the outlook is very unpromising."

Lord Colwyn, presiding at the annual meeting of the Lancashire and Yorkshire Bank, said from a trade standpoint 1921 had opened in depression, but he could see no reason to be unduly despondent about the future. Lancashire had weathered worse storms in the past. Sir Herbert Austin, of the Austin Motor Company, said there was a certain amount of depression in the motor trade, and throughout the country at present, but he was certain that the majority of firms in the trade were selling more cars today than they did in the same time of the year previous to the war.

"I believe," he continued, "we have come to the bottom of the depression and that we are going to see a recovery in our particular trade and in many other trades of the country."

H. Dixon, presiding at the annual meeting of James Tattersall & Sons, cotton manufacturers, said Germany must get moving again before there could be any real steady trade. Given that, with the excess profit out of the way, and the bank rate reduced, he thought there would be a very prosperous trade.

F. J. Blackmore, president of the National Chamber of Trade, said: "I am glad to see that the index figure at the ministry of labor is now eleven points down from the highest point it reached. I forecast that during 1921 the present dark clouds of unemployment will rapidly pass away and that when this year has passed into history we shall unanimously agree that it has been one of the best years this country has ever experienced."

organization. This agreement subsequently was broken largely because of the fears that Mme. Kurz entertained a voyage across the sea.

The Viennese coloratura soprano arrived in New York several weeks ago when she planned to make a concert tour of the United States. On Jan. 9 she appeared at the Hippodrome with the National Symphony Orchestra and received a cordial reception from a large audience that included, among others, Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House.

Notwithstanding the hospitable reception of that audience, Mme. Kurz feels that she was not at her best on that occasion, because she was suffering from the after effects of a cold contracted soon after she landed in this country. This affection is still troubling her, she explained yesterday in her apartment at the Hotel Peter Stuyvesant, and, as a result she has abandoned her plans for an American concert tour, and is now making preparations to sail for Vienna about March 1. Soon after she returns she plans to go to a watering place near Trieste to recuperate.

Mme. Kurz said that she anticipated with pleasure her prospects for appearing again before the American public.

Since her arrival in this country she has become an admirer of the United States and its citizens, who, she says, have treated her with great kindness and hospitality. Her appearance at the Metropolitan Opera House next winter will be marked on her part by an expectancy somewhat like that she experienced on the occasion of her first appearance at the Vienna Opera House after which her fame was assured.

Mme. Kurz has been heard at Convent Garden, London; at Paris, Moscow and Petrograd. During the reign of the czar she received gifts of jewels which she sang in the Russian capital. Her advancement in her art has been more remarkable because she comes of humble parentage, and her gift of song was discovered almost accidentally by a rabbi of her native town, Bieliza, Poland, who interested wealthy benefactors in her voice and assured her of vocal training, under the masters of Europe.
